BETHMANN-HOLLWEG BUYS U.S. WAR BONDS

Caretaker of His Real Estate Holdings Invests $75,000

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The former German Chancellor, von Bethmann-Hollweg, has subscribed to American Liberty bonds.

The caretaker of the ex-Chancellor's real estate holdings in Waco, Texas, has asked that the total income from the property, approximately $75,000 a year, be converted into the bonds which are being used to fight the Kaiser.

In stating this today officials of the Alien Property Custodian's office here, declared some of the money already has been turned into bonds. It is assumed that the caretaker acted on instructions from Hollweg himself.

Second Lieut. E. B. Denison, R.F.C., previously reported a prisoner, is now reported wounded and a prisoner in German hands.

SHERBROOKE, Feb. 22.—The city of Sherbrooke is again without gas, and this state of affairs may continue for some time. During the night an explosion destroyed the main building and the whole eastern wall and roof of the gas house. The boilers and machinery will have to be replaced. Two men, James Mutt and Jos. Dunn, on duty at the time were seriously burned and are now in hospital. Many citizens had to go to bed of a cold night last, the large majority of householders using gas for cooking. The newspaper offices are held up and only curtailed editions of the evening papers can be got out.

RUSSIANS ORDERED TO FIGHT TO DEATH

FAMINE STARING WORLD IN FACE, HOOVER DECLARES

Short Food Deliveries Have Caused Alarmingly Serious Situation

RAILWAY BLOCK IS SOLE CAUSE

Appeal to American People—Europe Held as Example

Special to The Star by United Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22. Throwing aside the secrecy which for weeks has covered a rapidly developing world food crisis, the Food Administrator, Mr. Hoover, today laid bare the alarming seriousness of the situation. Breakdown of transportation, especially railroads, was blamed by Mr. Hoover. Food deliveries are short. Corn and potatoes are rotting. Some districts are virtually on the verge of famine because of exhausted food reserves.

Mr. Hoover's startling revelations, known here confidentially for some time, are intended, it is believed, to spur on the roads, the ships and the American public to get behind the Food Administration and push through the food that will win the war.

In some quarters it was believed Mr. Hoover also was aiming at Congress in an effort to stop proposed legislation to increase the price of wheat, which, it is claimed, would completely upset the food program.

ENORMOUS SHORTAGE.

The situation, characterized by Mr. Hoover as the worst in history, is briefly as follows, according to Mr. Hoover's statement:

The next sixty days will be the most critical period in our food history. By Feb. 28, we will be short 45,000,000 bushels in cereals promised to the Allies. The deficiency is due solely to railway congestion.

The law of supply and demand have been suspended by the interrupted flow of distribution. Food reserves in large consuming areas are approaching exhaustion.

The movement of food over the National railroad to the practical exclusion of much other commerce is the only solution.

Mr. Hoover's statement follows reports of anxiety over the food situation from Lord Reading, the British Ambassador, and frantic appeals from heads of the Italian Government to its Embassy here, urging quick action.

MAY EAT LAMB AND MUTTON.

Lamb and mutton may be eaten on "meatless" days until April 15.

The Food Administration, in making this announcement today, indicated clearly that there is no chance now for lifting the ban on beef and pork, however. Since November the Food Administration declares, America's beef exports to the Allies have amounted to less than five per cent of the total cattle slaughtered. The per capita consumption of beef and pork during 1917 increased over that of pre-war years.

Beef and pork must be left off the menu on meatless days indefinitely, it is indicated. Rations in Europe, the Food Administration explains, have been reduced to approximately one pound of meat per capita a week or less than 30 per cent of the American consumption.

European rations today are "so low as to tend to diminish the morale and resistance of the Allies," Mr. Hoover declared.

The situation in mutton and lamb is different, however, he explains, and in those States in which this western product is available, lamb and mutton can be eaten on the meatless days for a time.

Lamb and mutton, moreover, are not exported to the Allies, and their prohibition heretofore on meatless days has simply been to leave more of these meats for the other six days, saving beef and pork.

BLAME MEN'S APPETITES.

Masculine appetites are blocking food conservation. As a result, diplomatic relations are threatened between patriotic housewives and husbands who want white bread and meat every meal. Incidentally, the food-saving campaign is endangered.

To avert the catastrophe, forty-eight State home economy directors have conferred with the Food Administration officials to begin a drive on the marauding appetites of men.

Diplomacy will be tried first. Then, if the man across the table refuses to weaken, lettuce leaf camouflage, tasty puddings and war dishes armed with the latest tasty inventions of food experts will be launched. If the housewife still is foiled, ruthless publicity of man's duplicity will follow.

CANADA NOT SO BADLY HIT.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22. The acute food situation which is reported in the United States is not reflected in Canada. Conditions here are not such as to call for apprehension, so the chairman of the Food Board stated today.

"The difficulty in the States," said Mr. Thomson, "is largely one of transportation rather than actual shortage of food.

"As far as Canada is concerned, the conditions are not parallel. Our railways, too, have their difficulties, but they are coping through very well. We are not faced by any acute shortage, but I may say that the supplies of food are not so extensive as some people imagine. The stocks of beef and hogs, for instance, have been heavily drawn on. When the railway congestion cleans up I believe the United States will be all right.

"It all leads to this. We have got to go in for production for all we are worth if we are to take care of the demands upon us by the Allies and meet the needs of domestic consumption. Our powers of production are immensely greater than our powers of conservation."

It is well known that the policy of the Food Board is against any system of rationing because of the difficulty of enforcing it in a producing country. The need of conserving food is not overlooked, and it is being urged persistently, but the great remedy lies in increased production to which every possible effort is now being directed.

GOVERNMENT HAS FIFTY MAJORITY AS COUNT STANDS

Military Vote in Canada Gives Net Gain of Four

MANY CHANGED FACES IN HOUSE

Notable Scrappers Will Be Missing from Opposition Benches

Special to The Star From Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—The Union Government has a majority of fifty in Parliament, as the count stands today. The tabulation of the military vote in Canada has resulted in a net gain of four for the Government, two seats that were in the Opposition column—Cumberland and West Edmonton—going to the Unionists. There are the only changes that may be anticipated as a result of the military vote at home. Any further reversals will occur only as a result of the overseas vote.

The standing by provinces is as follows:

Provinces.	Gov.	Opp.
Prince Edward Island ..	0	4
Nova Scotia.	8	8
New Brunswick..	7	4
Quebec	3	62
Ontario..	71	11
Manitoba	13	1
Saskatchewan..	16	0
Alberta..	12	1
British Columbia..	13	1
Yukon.	0	1
Total..	143	93

Opposition members whose seats are imperilled are Carroll and possibly Kyte, in South Cape Breton and Richmond; McKay, in Pictou; Martell in Hants; Atkin, in South Essex, and Molloy in Provencher. There is a chance that Col. Martin, who commanded an overseas battalion, may pull in with the soldiers' vote in South Renfrew, but Pedlow, Laurier Liberal, still has a lead of nearly six hundred.

In the Unionist column, a change is just possible in North Oxford, where E. W. Nesbitt, Liberal Unionist, leading by about 150, is opposed by Col. Sutherland, who is expected to get a large personal vote overseas.

The defeat of Hon. Frank Oliver in Edmonton marks the disappearance of one of the conspicuous figures of Parliament. It was a rare day when, on the call of the orders, Mr. Oliver was not on his feet with some pointed query. They were usually western subjects which he would bring up, but last session, for over a month, his daily long suit was "The Fiddlers," and why that publication was banned. His attitude on selective conscription was characteristically peculiar. He believed in conscription, but opposed the Bill outright on the ground that it din't go half far enough.

SEVERAL OLD FIGHTERS GONE.

When Parliament assembles, the Opposition benches will be peculiarly deficient in their broadside, outside of Quebec. Most of the old fighters have gone—some to official life, some to voluntary retirement, and others to defeat. Hon. Wm. Pugsley, hero of a thousand battles on points of order and the like, and perhaps the most resourceful of Parliamentarians, is Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick, a position removed "far from the madding crowd's ignoble strife."

"Fighting Frank" Carvell is a member of the Union Government. F. M. Macdonald, of Pictou, did not seek re-election, but as he was recently admitted to the Quebec Bar and proposes to move to Montreal it is mooted that he may run for one of the two seats of Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux.

Mr. Pardee is with the Government, likewise Hon. A. K. MacLean, M. Guthrie, Mr. Turriff and other doughty fighters. Mr. German is defeated. Hon. W. S. Fielding returns to Parliament, but as a Government supporter. Mr. Graham is out of public life.

The Opposition front benches will, apart from the leader, be filled more conspicuously by Mr. Lemieux, Mr. Murphy, Mr. Sinclair, Mr. Lapointe, of Kamouraska, Mr. Bureau, Mr. Boivin, lights of lesser candle power but most of the Old Guard will be conspicuous by their absence.

COMPLICATED PROBLEM.

The question of French representation in the Cabinet, if there is to be any, presents a complicated problem. It is quite evident that the soldiers' vote will not save Messrs. Sevigny and Blondin, and there are no French-speaking Unionists elected in Quebec.

While it is considered most desirable that all the provinces and predominant races and creeds be represented, the situation as regards Quebec is largely up to the Laurier Liberals who are showing no great anxiety to participate in Cabinet honors. One way out would be to bring some of the French Senators into the Government, but representation in that way is little favored.

The situation has been discussed a great deal, but no definite conclusion has been reached.

The special returning officers are counting today the Military vote in British Columbia. The only seat which may be affected is that of Stork, Liberal-Labor candidate, who leads in Skeena.

Some military voter in Westmount-St Henri is evidently an admirer of John H. Roberts, the Montreal prohibition advocate and moral reformer. Soldiers had the right of voting either for the Government or Opposition as such, or to write in the name of the candidate they favored. When the Westmount box was opened yesterday one ballot was cast for Roberts, though he was not a candidate.

A Lanark military voter wrote in the name of Col. Matheson, who has been dead for five years and was formerly Provincial Treasurer of Ontario, representing Lanark.

A third soldier wrote on his ballot the word "wigglers," while in another case the voter started to deliver a message and got as far as "I take this opportunity." He cut off his sentence abruptly.

JERICHO CAPTURED BY BRITISH TROOPS AFTER QUICK MARCH

Didn't Have to Walk Around Seven Times, But Simply Went Right in — Turks Offering Little Resistance—German Raiding Activity

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The British have captured Jericho, in Palestine, the War Office reports.

"Australian Mounted troops entered Jericho at 8:30 this morning, establishing themselves on a line between Jericho and Wadi Auja," General Allenby reported today.

Wadi Auja is a small tributary of the River Jordan, which runs about five miles north of Jericho.

The official statement reports the continuation of bad weather.

North and northwest of Jerusalem the British advanced positions were extended slightly and rendered secure.

During the fighting of Wednesday the casualties of the British troops were again slight.

STRIKE AT TURKS COMMUNICATIONS

Since the capture of Jerusalem, the British have been pushing ahead steadily, striking out to the north and east. Official statements from London in the last few days have reported rapid progress, and apparently the Turks have offered no determined resistance.

Aside from its historical importance, in connection with the British plan to free the Holy Land from the domination of the Turks, the capture of Jericho is of little significance. It consists merely of a group of squalid hovels and a few shops, with about 300 inhabitants.

Its chief strategic value lies in the fact that it gives the British domination of the valley of Jordan, and also control of a network of highways radiating from the town. A further advance eastward of twenty-five miles, however, would take the British to the railway from Damascus to Mecca, which would cut off the Turks' line of communication with Arabia, and greatly assist the revolting Arab tribes which are co-operating with the British. Jericho is near the northern extremity of the Dead Sea, fourteen miles northeast of Jerusalem.

The ancient Jericho, which was situated to the west of the modern Jericho, was a town of considerable size. It was the first Canaanite city to be reduced by the Israelites, who, the Biblical story relates, by marching around the city with the Ark of the Lord once a day for six days and on the seventh day, encompassing the city seven times, the priests blowing on their trumpets.

When the last encircling march had been made, the Israelites shouted in unison and the walls of the city fell in ruins. Thereupon, the besiegers rushed into the city and put all the inhabitants to death with the exception of Rahab, who had hidden Joshua's messengers from the Canaanites.

GERMANS RAID BRITISH LINES.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—"Early last night a large party of the enemy raided two of our posts in the neighborhood of the Ypres-Roulers railway and a few of our men are missing," says today's War Office report.

"A raid attempted by the enemy early yesterday morning against posts held by Belgian troops in the Merckem sector, was repulsed by artillery and artillery and machine gun fire."

AUSTRIAN EMPEROR MAY TRY "IRON HAND" METHOD TO STILL MURMURINGS

Threaten to Dissolve Reichsrat to Curb Insurgents —Socialists Grow More Revolutionary—Dissatisfaction with German Annexationists

Special to The Star by United Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22. Austria's internal situation grows constantly more desperate, according to advices reaching here today. The Socialists, the Czechs, and the Slavs are becoming bolder in their desire and demands, and there is a growing feeling among the populace that Austria should cast off the ties that bind her to the Germans.

That the Emperor, however, is inclined to curb the insurgents, is manifest from his reported threats to dissolve the Reichsrat and put into effect an iron handed rule if the provisional Budget is not supported.

The Socialist demand for opening peace negotiations with the United States is by far the strongest step the Liberals have taken, and there is in the whole situation an element of revolution. This, though, is as yet not sufficiently mature to indicate that the Government, with its Berlin alliance, will be unable to control it.

Dissatisfaction with the German annexationist policy, with the Teuton advance into Russia, and with the Ukraine settlement, are the immediate causes of the present demands for peace, though the more fundamental cause is an increasingly serious economic situation, and a general discontent over continuing to look upon the cannon.

The problem offers Germany one of the most serious hindrances her program has encountered, in the view of many international experts here. While the Kaiser and the Emperor will doubtless continue to keep the recalcitrants in line for some time, their growing boldness and insistence means that the Teuton plans will become more beset with troubles.

The German military leaders are therefore, ploughing into Russia as fast as possible, so that they can present new "victories" to their people to still the growing clamors for peace. Reports here indicate that both the German and Austrian Liberals, however, are less content than ever before to be fed on a "victory" such as the German invasion of defenceless Russia.

The Austrian Socialists' demands are likely to influence Count Czernin's expected answer to President Wilson. Count Czernin has already reflected the pressure under which Austria labors, and this new sign of internal distress will doubtless make him even more conciliatory than before, it is felt here.

Peace negotiations, however, can not materialize unless Austria definitely casts aside her alliance with the military masters of Germany.

BOLSHEVIKI ISSUE NEW PROCLAMATION CALLING NATION TO FIGHT HUNS

Commissioners Urge Soldiers to Destroy Railways and Provisions and Compel Civilians to Dig Trenches—Meanwhile Germans Continue Advance — Ukrainian Forces Join Teuton Army Against Russians

By Associated Press.

PETROGRAD, Feb. 21, Thursday Midnight.—A proclamation ordering resistance to the German advance, calling on all Russians to defend the Fatherland and declaring Petrograd in a state of siege, was issued tonight from the Smolny Institute, the Bolsheviki headquarters. The proclamation was issued at the order of the people's commissaries, and is signed by Premier Lenine and Ensign Krylenko, the Bolsheviki commander-in-chief.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—"Defence to the death" against Germany is ordered in the proclamation of the Russian commissioners, Reuter's Petrograd correspondent telegraphs. The commissioners appeal to the soldiers to destroy railways and provisions, and compel the bourgeoisie to dig trenches under penalty of death.

Special Star Cable by United Press.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Germany has demanded the occupation of Petrograd as a guarantee of its peace treaty with Russia, and a thirty-year trade agreement, according to a despatch from Petrograd, dated Thursday, received here today.

GERMANS STILL ADVANCING

Special Star Cable by United Press.

BERLIN, via London, Feb. 22.—"Hapsay, Esthenia, has been captured and the First Esthonian regiment is now under German command," the Berlin War Office declared today.

"Livonia has been suppressed beyond Kenneburg," the statement continued. "Wolmar, Spandan and Riezitza have been entered amid the rejoicing of the inhabitants.

"Lluzzin and Minsk have been occupied. We have made a juncture with the Ukrainian forces at Novogradvolwnsk."

BERLIN, Feb. 22, via London.—A regiment of Esthonian troops has gone over to the Germans, the War Office announces.

UKRAINIANS JOIN HUN INVADERS

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Austrian and German troops are advancing in the south simultaneously with the Germans in the north and Ukrainian troops are reported to have joined them against the Bolsheviki, according to a Petrograd despatch to the Morning Post.

The Polish Legions of the Russian army have offered an armistice in the prevailing civil war on condition of free passage in any direction, and are now trying to reach Warsaw.

GERMANS HOLD NORTH RUSSIAN F[illegible]

Special Star Cable by United Press.

PETROGRAD, Feb. 21 (noon).—The Germans have occupied the entire northern portion of the Russian front, it was reported here today. The Russians are retreating in disorder. Russian cavalry is being rushed northward.

Russian forces were reported yesterday to be evacuating Pskoff and Polotsk.

The capture of Minsk gravely endangers Homel and Mohileff, where huge supplies of ammunition and foodstuffs are stored.

The Austrians were reported to have taken Lutsk and Dubno.

Pskoff is 75 miles southwest of the capital, on the Riga-Petrograd railway. It is about the half-way point and is more than 100 miles beyond Volmar, before which the Germans were reported in yesterday's Berlin official statement. Polotsk is sixty miles northwest of Vitebsk, capital of the province where the Russian armies were reported to be concentrating under General Bonchbruyevtxh.

Minsk is 125 miles southwest of Vitebsk. Mohileff is 50 miles south of Vitebsk and 100 miles east of Minsk. Homel is 125 miles southwest of Vitebsk. Lutsk and Dubno are cities in Volhynia, both a short distance west of Rovno, which the Germans claim already to have captured.

LATEST BOLSHEVIKI PROCLAMATION

By Associated Press.

PETROGRAD, Thursday, Feb. 21.—In a proclamation announcing that they had agreed to sign German peace terms, the people's commissaries declare they are firmly convinced that the German working classes will not permit the Russian revolution to be crushed by the militarists. Appeal is made to local councils to increase efforts to reorganize the Russian army.

The proclamation, which is addressed to Russian workmen and peasants, says:

"We agreed to sign peace terms at the cost of enormous concessions in order to save the country from final exhaustion and the ruin of the revolution. Once more the German working class, in this threatening hour, has shown itself insufficiently determined to stay the strong criminal hand of its own militarism. We had no other choice but to accept the conditions of German Imperialism until a revolution changes or cancels them.

APPEAL FOR REORGANIZATION.

In the appeal for reorganization of a defence of the revolution against Germany, the commissioners say:

"The Socialist fatherland is in danger. In order to save the country in its exhaustion from further trials of war we resigned ourselves to making immense sacrifices. Our delegates on Feb. 20, left Brestitsky for Dybsk, but up to the present no news from them has been received."

After stating that it is the duty of workmen and peasants to defend the republic to the death, the appeal continues:

"German militarism wishes to smother the working classes and the Ukrainian masses, to give back the land to the landowners, factories and workshops to the bankers and power to a monarchy."

Following are the points urged in the appeal:

"First—All the forces in the country in their entirety must place themselves at the service of the defence of the revolution.

Second—All the councils of workmens and soldiers' revolutionary organizations must enter into the compulsory defence of each position to the last drop of their blood.

"Third—Communications on railways and the streets connected therewith are placed with all their strength to check attempts of the enemy to profit by the equipment of lines of communication. In their retreat they must destroy the railways and blow up the stations. All rolling stock and locomotives must be sent eastward and into the interior of the country without delay.

"Fourth — Corn and provisions in general are placed on the same footing as valuable property when in danger of falling into the hands of the enemy and must then be destroyed without hesitation. The local Soviets must see that these decisions are carried out and the responsibility falls upon their representatives.

"Fifth—Workmen and peasants of Petrograd, Kiev and all towns, villages and hamlets on the line of the new front must raise battalions to dig trenches under direction of the military Socialists.

DIG TRENCHES OR DIE

"Sixth—All members of the bourgeosie class, the women as well as the men, must enter these battalions under surveillance of the Red Guards and in case of resistance must be shot.

"Seventh—All institutions which offer resistance to the action of the revolution on the defensive and pass to the side of the German bourgeoisie or which have a tendency to profit by the invasion of the Imperialistic masses in order to overthrow the authority of the Soviets, must be closed.

Directors of and collaborators with these institutions who are capable of work must mobilize themselves to dig trenches and engage in other defensive works.

"Eighth—Foreign agents and speculators are counted as revolutionary agitators and German spies must be shot at sight. The Socialist fatherland, is in danger. Long live the national Social revolution!"

TORONTO BOARD OF EDUCATION IN RIOTOUS SESSION

Alleged Disloyal School Teacher Reinstated After Stormy Debate

ONTARIO SCHOOLS SITUATION BETTER

Toronto Gets Big New Shipbuilding Plant—General News

Special to The Star.

TORONTO, Feb. 22.—The Board of Education, after a debate in which the subject matter was hardly discussed, decided last night upon the reinstatement of Miss Frieda Held, of the Carlton Street School, whose resignation was "accepted" some time ago after allegations of disloyalty had been made, supposedly backed up by the investigation of a self-constituted committee.

There was very little time wasted upon the alleged offence, or the manner in which the resignation was obtained, most of the night being spent in disregarding bylaws and all the rules and regulations provided for the board's guidance.

Before the matter was disposed of, some of the trustees didn't know whether they were dealing with a school teacher or defending themselves from conspiracies, gunpowder plots and devilries. The chairman's ruling was upset more than once, and on one occasion he voted himself to make the two-thirds majority against sustaining his own ruling. A final vote of nine to three put Miss Held back on the staff of teachers. It is a good thing for the discipline in the schools that the youngsters do not attend the meetings of the board.

IMPROVING ONT. ROADS.

The Lambton County Council meeting at Sarnia yesterday decided upon the adoption of a county system of improved roads plan, which under the name of "the Good Roads movement," and to which the Government pays a proportion of the cost, is being carried on through most of the settled parts of Ontario. John McCallum was appointed county Road Superintendent at a salary of fifteen hundred dollars per year, exclusive of expenses.

Plans will be made for the work, but it is not the intention to start the scheme until the end of the war. The Good Roads scheme, started by the late Ross Government some years ago with a vote of one million dollars as the Government's contribution, was at the time largely regarded as an election dodge. It has borne good fruit in this province, however, and the many good highways that have been laid as the movement progressed are fitting memorials to the long sightedness of the late Sir George W. Ross.

MAY SALVAGE SUNKEN SHIPS.

Capt. Alex. Cunning, well known in marine engineering circles, left Sarnia yesterday on a mission to the lower St. Lawrence and Prince Edward Island for the U. S. Government. Upon his report will depend the attempts or otherwise to salvage a number of former Great Lake steamers that were sunk in the river and also off the island during storms while they were on their way to the coast. Some of these boats were taken over since the war started, and some were sunk before the war began.

SCHOOL SITUATION BETTER.

Sir Wm. Hearst, Ontario's Prime Minister, who found on the doorstep of his office when he became Premier an unfortunate child known as Bi-lingualism, thinks the baby is in much better condition than it used to be, and he said so in the House today in reply to Mr. Marshall, of Lincoln. What the Premier really said was that conditions in the English-French schools of Ontario were improving generally.

The schools in Essex and Kent County, where there is a strong French-speaking element in the population, are obeying the law, and there is general improvement in the Bi-lingual schools in the Northern part of the province. The chief difficulty is the lack of teachers with the necessary qualifications.

Sir William seemed to breathe more easily when he had answered the question, but there is no knowing whether he has got through with it for the balance of the session. The bi-lingual baby is liable to upset the quiet of the Legislature at any time with its squalling.

ONTARIO LOAN DETAILS.

Hon. Tom McGarry spilled some information on the provincial loan, at first proposed to be two millions, but finally made three millions. The larger amount was sold through Toronto brokers at 97, and the million at 99. Mr. McGarry told of consultations with Hon. Mr. White, who worries about the Dominion's income and outgo. Prices demanded by New York and other non-philanthropic brokers were dealt with, and in a burst of confidence, not unmixed with pride, he said that far from having to part with the eight per cent. that New York wanted, the cost was 6.31. The loan arrangements had only been concluded on Wednesday. During the course of his explanation, he said that they had to bear in mind that the Dominion Government would have to go into the market this year for about $400,000,000, according to the estimate of Mr. Carvell, and he added that Ontario itself would require about $8,000,000, mostly for hydro-electric expansion.

SAD BURNING FATALITY.

Ex-Alderman George Weston, who resides on Palmerston avenue, Toronto, had a grievous experience yesterday when his eleven-year-old boy died as the result of burns sustained when his night gown caught fire from a gas stove before which he was dressing himself. Mr. Weston and his wife were burned in trying to save the lad. Mrs. Weston is in a critical condition, but Mr. Weston will recover.

PROSECUTING LIGHT USERS.

Several merchants who overlooked the order prohibiting the use of electric signs or the lighting of windows during the period in which the power conservation plan is in operation, will appear in the police court today.

It is not certain that Col. Denison will be satisfied with less than life imprisonment for them. It must be said, however, that Toronto and the Ontario towns and cities are generally living up to the order.

HAS NO OPPOSITION.

Jimmy Simpson appeared before his friends of the Trades and Labor Council last night, and was given a cordial hearing when he discussed labor problems in the old land. Jimmy had no opposition, as he is a favorite with the members of the Council.

OHI THE CAR SERVICE.

During the C.N.R. stock arbitration hearing yesterday, Malcolm H. MacLeod, one of the western officials of the line, in reference to the car shortage, made the statement that the Dominion Government's order for four thousand cars placed with a Fort William concern was being filled at the rate of ten cars a day.

This is sad news to Torontonians, who are waiting yet for the one hundred extra street cars that the Ontario Railway Board ordered the Toronto Railway Company to build months ago, and none of which have made their appearance. As the citizens understand it, the idea now is that the city should build the cars, give them to the street car company and then take what they can get in the way of a service. The citizens may not have the right dope, but that's what it looks like.

NEW SHIPBUILDING PLANT.

The Dominion Shipbuilding Company which is backed by New York capital, has obtained a permit for the erection of its first shop near the foot of Bathurst street, Toronto. It is declared that the plant, when finished, is to cost two million dollars, and is to be the most modern in Canada. Toronto does not care who calls her "hoor own" so long as the industries come.

BREAD QUESTION

Western Labor Would Have Government Take Over Flour Mills

WINNIPEG, Feb. 22.—The bread question occupied the attention of the Trades and Labor Council for a considerable time last evening after which a committee of eight including members of the Women's Labor League, the Council executive and the Baker's Union, was appointed to draft resolutions.

The first resolution petitioned the mayor and city council for the retention of the 20 ounce loaf.

To petition the Government at Ottawa to take over the flour mills and bakeries of the Dominion and assume control of same during the period of the war and that no increase in the present price of bread be permitted.

It was also decided that telegrams be sent to the Food Controller at Ottawa and to Premier Borden in the same connection.

EXAMINE BOLO DOCUMENTS.

PARIS, Feb. 22. — The documents and evidence in the case of Bolo Pasha, convicted of treason and sentenced to death, will be submitted to the Court of Appeals today. It will be about three weeks before the appeal will be acted upon. Captain Rouchardon, of the Paris military court, yesterday sent for Joseph Caillaux, former Premier, and also accused of treason, and submitted him to a long examination.

MADE BONFIRE OF PAPERS.

GENEVA, Feb. 22.—Tracts and newspapers violently attacking President Wilson, Premier Lloyd George and Premier Clemenceau have been found by Swiss mountain climbers in a balloon basket on the summit of Mount Dole, the highest peak of the Jura Alps. It is supposed the balloon became stranded on the mountain while on its way to France. The Alpinists made a bonfire of the papers.

MUST HAVE DEMOCRATIC VICTORY.

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—America must not, will not fail to support her pledge to fight until victory—a democratic victory—is won. This determination was voiced by speakers who delivered a terrific indictment of Germany's crimes against international law, before the Congress of National Service today.

SARAH FISCHER SINGS NEW MUSIC

Wordless Song by Stravinsky on Montreal Singer's Program

SARAH FISCHER, soprano; LEOPOL MORIN, pianist; Ritz-Carlton, program Prelude and Fugue, E Minor, Mendelssohn; Je Connais Beaucoup de Chansons, Blumenfeld, Cara Sposa (Rinaldo) Handel; Comment, Disaient-Ils, Liszt; Reflets dans l'eau, Debussy; La Maja et le Rossignol (Goyesca), Granados; Recuerdos (Souvenir) Grovlez; Oh, Half of Song (Tannhauser), Wagner; Sonatine, Op. 16, Rousse!; Chanson Indoue (Sadko), Rimsky-Korsakow; Even Little Things (Italian Lyrics), Wolf; Pastorale, Stravinsky, Mandoline, Debussy; Ariette de Snegourotchka, Rimsky-Korsakow; O Sleep, Why Dost Thou Leave Me (Semele), Handel; Noel des Enfants, Debussy, Mazurka, Chopin-Viardot. At the piano, Miss Olga Gullaroff.

In looking over the programs given by the younger generation of musicians in Montreal, one is recurrently obliged to take note of the wide-awakeness exhibited. Broadly speaking, it is not far-famed guest concert-givers who have introduced new writings, but the players of instruments and the singers whose homes are in the city. Assume, for the sake of argument, that much of the music loosely described as "modern" is transient, one is still under the necessity of learning something about it, and the ultimate test is that of performance. Robert Schumann's advice, "Reverence the old" was not concluded without the qualifying "but meet the new half way."

Even a cursory glance at the program under consideration shows the broad-mindedness of the artists. Schumann's counsel might have been at the root of its construction; and in meeting the new, Miss Fischer went a little farther than anyone else has gone, — even to the wordless Pastorale by Stravinsky. Percy Grainger's choral "Marching Song of Democracy" runs to nonsense syllables, "diddle-te-um, umpty," or similar sounds, which are left largely to the discretion of the singers to formulate; and the notes of Stravinsky's song are wedded simply to the vowels "Ah,—u." Certainly the effect was novel and the music invited closer inspection.

The first thing that strikes one about Miss Fischer's voice is its clearness and purity. It is of ample range, and she has temperament. Miss Fischer is the winner of the Strathcona Scholarship and we understand that she will go abroad for more study when war conditions permit. In the meantime, her singing, which is not without obvious flaws, takes on the nature of encouraging promise.

Mr. Morin played his Granados, Grovlez and Roussel numbers con amore. A tinge of monotony in the Grovlez piece might have been due either to the composition or to absence of more color in the playing, —it is difficult to say. The Sonatine was disappointing as a whole, but the "Goyesca" extract was engaging and tuneful. Mr. Morin's earnestness is never questioned and he was, on the whole, at his best. — P. K.

LET WOMEN DO IT

Forbes-Robertson Wants Female-Run Britain

LONDON, Feb. 22.—"Why is the workingman in America so well under control?" asked Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, at a meeting to promote the work of the Young Women's Christian Association. "Because," he continued, "there the workingman is under the thumb of his wife; because the working woman in America is a highly intelligent woman, and the consequence is that Gompers is having practically no trouble now in the vast and powerful unions all over America.

"America is practically a woman's country, and in my view, it is a jolly good job, too. And I contend that the women's vote in this country will stem violent scenes of revolution.

"Personally, I am prepared to give over everything to the female, because I believe they are saving the situation. If we had realized the value of women in 1914-15 we might have been saved millions that have been wasted in our army canteens."

RETURNS TO CANADA

Major G. A. E. Bury, who has been sent back to Canada a second time to recover from a severe attack of illness.

MAJOR A. E. BURY BACK FROM FRONT

In a party of returned officers reaching the city last night was Major George A. E. Bury, son of Sir George Bury, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Major Bury, who was on staff duty, was ordered home last December on account of illness. He returned to England on January 12, believing that he had fully recovered and was able to resume his duties. He, however, took a relapse and, after a brief time spent in the hospital he was ordered to return to Canada for a further rest of two months. After reporting at headquarters in Ottawa, Major Bury will leave for Vancouver to rejoin Mrs. Bury and his family.

Among other officers arriving on the same train were several from New Zealand and other overseas Dominions. Major Cruickshanks, of Toronto, was among the party, as well as Capt. Wigham, M.C., both of whom are members of the Royal Flying Corps.

SOLDIER STOLE 95 CENTS—TWO YEARS

OTTAWA, Feb. 22. — Arthur Dubois, of a Montreal battalion, pleaded guilty to stealing 95 cents from the poor box in St. Francois d'Assisi Church at Hintonburg on Wednesday last, and was sent to Kingston penitentiary for two years, less one day. He pleaded to be allowed to rejoin his regiment, so that he could go overseas and fight the Huns, but Magistrate Askwith stated that his offence, which was of a despicable nature, could not be lightly passed over, and that he was a disgrace to the uniform he wore.

Obligation Rests on Citizens —How it is to Be Done

Every married person with an income exceeding $3,000 a year and every unmarried person whose income is over $1,500 a year is now called upon to furnish the Government with full information as to his revenues for the purposes of the federal income tax. The responsibility lies upon the taxpayer to secure the necessary forms and to return them, properly filled out, to the Inspector of Taxation, Montreal.

As the law was first passed at the last session of Parliament, these forms must be filled out and returned prior to February 28, but the time has since been extended to March 21. Some 20,000 forms have already been distributed in Montreal. A supply of forms provided by the Government is available at the office of P. McCaffrey, Montreal, representative of the Commissioner of Taxation, Room 308, Post Office.

There are five forms in all, three to be filled in by the taxpayer and returned to the Commissioner of Taxation and two to be filled in by employes and sent to Ottawa.

ANOTHER WOMAN ABOUT TO GIVE EVIDENCE GONE!

Emma Boucher Follows in Edna Robinson's Footsteps—Subpoena Servers Could Not Find Her—Sensations Promised at Police Enquiry

The stage is set for the opening of the inquiry into Controller Villeneuve's charges against Capt. Savard of No. 4 Station before the Board of Control at 3 o'clock today. Unless something goes wrong there will be a sensation sprung at the very outset.

The investigators will be told, for one thing, that Emma Boucher, a prominent figure in the Tenderloin, summoned as a witness in the investigation, is not to be found. According to subpoena-servers who went to find her, she left her house with the message that she had "gone west." This woman is a sort of Queen in Babylon, and is reputed to be proprietoress of a number of interesting resorts.

This is the second instance within two days when a witness has disappeared in like manner. Edna Robinson was not to be found yesterday when required as a material witness in the trial of Carl Epstein, charged with attacking Controller Villeneuve.

WARNED TO GET OUT.

But that is not all. It is alleged that in both these cases the women were warned to get out before the time to give their testimony. The life of the Robinson woman was, it is stated by detectives, threatened if she dared to appear as a witness for the prosecution in the Epstein case. The allegation in the case of Emma Boucher is even more sensational.

The statement will be made at the inquiry, it is said, that Mme. Boucher was called up on the telephone yesterday by a well known Montrealer, who will also be a witness before the Board of Control, and advised to "make herself scarce." Direct charges to this effect are to be made in the course of the inquiry, it was declared this morning.

"Such are the ramifications of the vice system in Montreal," said Controller Villeneuve this morning, "that the public must come to the assistance of the Board if this inquiry is going to have its proper result."

OPEN TO THE PRESS.

The Board decided today that the inquiry is to be held in private, so far as the public is concerned. The press will be admitted, however. John Lomax, of the Police Court stenographic staff had been named official reporter for the inquiry, but when Paul Emile Lamarche, K.C., of the civic law department, pointed out this morning that the city charter ordained a stenographer of the Superior Court in such cases, a change was made, and J. H. Kenehan, of the Superior Court staff, was assigned to the position.

Mr. Villeneuve expressed regret that the exigencies of the statute should work a hardship on Mr. Lomax, whom he knew to be a very capable official.

The inquiry will be under the direction of the law department, and it is probable that Mr. Lamarche will be present.

Mr. Villeneuve in the Board of Control meeting today renewed his attack on the administration of the police department. He presented the following interpellation to Controller Ross:

"Would Commissioner Ross explain to the Board why he did not report to the Board on the circumstances whereby a constable in the employ of the city stole in the month of November or December last, eight automobile tires, belonging to the city, which he sold for his personal benefit, and that on the theft being discovered six of these tires were returned to the city; the man was never suspended or dismissed, and is still in the employ of the police department?"

"Before I reply," said Mr. Ross, "are you ready to swear whether this charge is founded on an actual fact or not?"

Mr. Villeneuve—I am a member of the Board of Commissioners, and I do not have to swear in a matter of the kind.

Mr. Ross—Then tell me whether your information was obtained at first hand or second hand?

Mr. Villeneuve—It is for you to answer the interpellation. I merely place the facts of the matter before the Board.

The Mayor remarked that he had heard nothing of such an incident.

Controller Ross stated after the meeting that his reason for challenging the interpellation was that he had never heard of such an incident and did not want to waste time "chasing up wild and vague rumors."

COULD TELL MUCH.

Although it was generally stated when Edna Robinson failed to appear yesterday at the Epstein trial that she had left the country, there was some reason to believe that she was still in the city, lying low. Detectives interested in the case declared that she was at her house at 2 o'clock yesterday morning.

It was this woman who furnished Detectives Tierney and Forget with the information on which they arrested Carl Epstein on Jan. 24 last, tracing him to a saloon at the corner of Clarke and St. Catherine streets. They took him up to the Villeneuve house on Esplanade avenue, and there, after Mr. Villeneuve had identified him as the man who attacked him two days before, placed him under arrest.

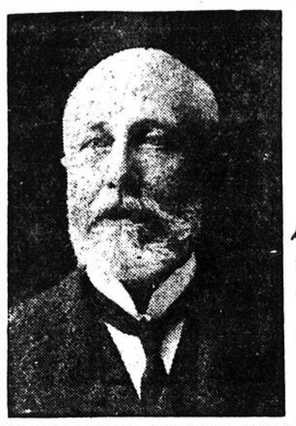
Mme. Robinson was regarded as the star witness for the prosecution. According to detectives, on Thursday night she received a telephone message informing her that if she appeared to testify against Epstein she would not live a week longer. She did not appear.

A bench warrant was issued by Judge Choquet and the trial was adjourned until Monday in order to give the authorities a chance to find the woman. The U.S. immigration authorities were asked to assist in the event of her having gone, as was rumored, to Shenectady, N.Y.

LONG LIST OF WITNESSES.

Further witnesses who have been summoned to testify before the Board this afternoon are: Chief Campeau, of the police force; Deputy Chief Grandchamps, Chief of Detectives Charpentier; L. A. D'Amour, secretary of the Superintendent of Police; Pierre Belanger, O. Poirier, Thomas Campeau, C. A. Morin, A. Riopel, Edgar Lapointe, Joseph Colangelo, formerly of the "Morality Squad," Avila St. Georges, Julien Vandal, Euclide Poulin, E. Carducci, also one of the old Squad, and "Tony" Frank.

THE LATE HON. DANIEL GILLMOR



Dominion Senator, who died suddenly at his home in Westmount at an early hour today, aged 69.

SENATOR GILLMOR DIED SUDDENLY IN MONTREAL TODAY

Prominent Merchant and a Member of the Upper House Since 1907

The Hon. Daniel Gillmor, a member of the Dominion Senate, died suddenly at an early hour this morning at his residence, 4149 Dorchester street, Westmount. He had not been ill and had attended to his business all day yesterday in his usual way. When seized with heart weakness this morning his physician was summoned in haste. He retained full use of his faculties to the last and it was while conversing with the physician that he expired. He was 69 years of age.

Interment will take place at St. George, N.B.

Senator Gillmor was of Irish descent and a son of the late Hon. Senator A. H. Gillmor, and his wife, Hannah Dawes Gillmor. He was born at St. George, in Charlotte County, N.B., on July 1, 1849, and received his education there. He entered mercantile life at an early age and was for many years a member of the firm of O'Brien and Gillmor, of St. George, N.B. Besides owning a large amount of property at St. George, he also acquired a leading interest in the extensive granite quarries of that place. Many years ago he came to Montreal and became a member of the firm of Chase and Sanborn, retaining this connection to the present time. He retained his summer home at St. Stephen, and spent part of every year in New Brunswick.

He was a Liberal in politics and in 1904 unsuccessfully contested Charlotte County, N.B., for the House of Commons. He was summoned to the Senate as a New Brunswick representative, on January 11, 1907.

Senator Gillmor in 1877 married Miss Catherine Sophia Duffy. He is survived by Mrs. Gillmor and three sons and one daughter. The sons are Captain Dawes Gillmor, who has been on duty at the internment camp at Capuscasig since the beginning of the war; Captain Daniel Gillmor, a member of the law firm of Brown, Montgomery and Michael, who went over seas with the 148th Battalion under Lieut.-Col. Magee and returned home invalided from England last autumn; and Pte Horace Gillmor, who went overseas with the 6th Field Ambulance under Dr. Andrew Macphail, and, after winning the military medal, returned home invalided a short time ago. The daughter is Mrs. Phalen, wife of M. A. Phelan, K.C., Montreal. He is also survived by a brother, Dr. Gillmor, of St. Martin, N.B., and a sister, Mrs. Dick, of Ottawa.

Senator Gillmor was a member of the First Baptist Church, of this city, and took an active part in its work.

MUTINY IN AUSTRIAN NAVY IS REPORTED BY SLAVS WHO SURRENDERED

Special to The Star from Our Own Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—A special cable to the Evening World from Rome says:

Three Slavs who managed to escape from Cattaro and gave themselves up to the Allies state that the Austrian fleet at Cattaro has mutinied, and that the disaffection has spread to Pola, Fiume and other Austrian ports.

These men affirm that the discontent now rife throughout the Ausrtian Empire is not an incipient revolt of the various oppressed nationalities against the rulers, but a movement of strongly defined Bolshevik character.

Prisoners say this movement already has made great progress among the working classes, and that all the Austrian nationalities, who are utterly tired of the war, are becoming imbued with anarchy from Russia.

NO DANGER HERE OF FOOD FAMINE DUE TO RAILWAY TIE-UP

There is no danger of a food famine in any part of Canada, due to railway tie-ups, such as is feared in the United States, according to W. M. Neal, general secretary of the railway war board.

The condition overseas regarding food supplies, however, is such that for the next few weeks, a food drive on an unprecedented scale is to be carried on by the Canadian railways in concert with the Admiralty, to supply the Allies in Europe. For some time now, wheat and other foodstuffs for the seaboard will be given preference, absolutely, over all other commodities.

This will not have the effect, it is declared, of interfering with Canada's own food supply, but it will necessitate further reduction of passenger service. Such reduction will not take the form, as has been rumored, of a so-called passengerless service on certain railways; that is the running of passenger trains between certain points on only one of two parallel lines, while the other line is left free to carry freight.

That scheme was considered as affecting traffic between Montreal and Toronto, Ottawa and Toronto and Montreal and St. John; but it was discovered that passenger travel on all these lines was so heavy that the adoption of the plan would result in a necessity of running two trains on the passenger carrying railway, which would cause no saving at all.

The plan, which has been decided on, involves lengthening the time schedules of fast through trains, enabling them to handle local as well as through traffic, and the cutting off of the local trains wherever possible. It is estimated that a great saving in coal will be effected by this speed reduction, as high speed is responsible for very heavy fuel consumption which in these times is considered wasteful.

The schedules covering these changes will go into effect on the C.P.R. and the C.N.R. on Sunday, and on the G.T.R. on March 3.

DECIDE TO REVISE ALL EXEMPTIONS GRANTED THUS FAR

All Class One Men Will Have to Undergo Grill Anew—Must Answer Questionnaire on Which Their Cases Will Be Adjudged Anew

There is to be a complete review of all cases of men, who have been granted exemption by the local tribunals under the Military Service Act, in Military District No. 4. This announcement was made this morning by Eugene Godin, K.C., District Registrar. Mr. Godin stated that, in accordance with a new ruling just put into effect, it has been decided to send "questionnaires" to all men in the various categories who have been granted exemption. They will be given a certain time to answer the questions which will be put to them; then the question forms will be returned. The cases will then undergo a careful revision by the authorities. Only in cases, where reasonable grounds are shown, will the original exemption be sustained, he said. Mr. Godin stated that the questionnaire system had already been adopted by the American Government with good results. The new ruling would be acted upon at once.

MANY ROUNDED UP.

Inspector J. A. Belanger, in charge of the work of rounding up defaulters under the service law, issued a statement this morning covering the operations of his department for the past week. He said that, as a result of the work of his men the local depot battalions had been considerably increased in numbers, and that increased progress might be looked for from now on. The increasing number of absentees, he said, was due to the fact that the men were being notified to report for service in larger numbers by the District Registrar. The inspector's statement in part is as follows:

"Except in a few cases, the federal agents have met no serious difficulty in dealing with the numerous and various cases submitted to them and, for that reason, the Inspector is grateful to the public for their efficacious aid which avoids useless troubles to the parents or recruits themselves, and he hopes that such co-operation will be continued.

"News coming from rural districts is so far satisfactory. The district of Three Rivers, especially, has shown promptitude in answering the invitation of the military authorities, through the Dominion Police, and every day, young men of that district and other parts of the district are paying visits to the office of the Inspector.

BOGUS AGENTS OUT.

"The Inspector desires to warn all young men of military age against bogus agents of the Federal police, who operate principally around railroad depots or elsewhere.

"All federal agents wear badges marked 'Dominion Constable,' and are obliged to identify themselves, if asked to do so, before questioning any passer-by.

"Two impostors have been arrested so far and it is the intention of the authorities to be on a careful watch for them. Any report of such bogus agents operating on the street shall be dealt with rapidly and severely.

"While figures are available showing the continual increase of recruits the Inspector refers the public for statistics to higher authorities as official figures are supplied from time to time by Ottawa."

OFFICIAL RETURNS.

According to the official figures sent to Major-General Wilson, O.C., there was a total of 79 men added to the strength of both units yesterday. This is the record for some weeks. The total absentees are given as 779, an increase of eleven over the preceding day. It is understood that drafters are being ordered now to report in increased numbers, which accounts for the gradual increase in number of deserters. The strength of the 1st Depot Battalion, under Lieut.-Col. Piche, has noticeably increased during the past week, over two hundred men having been put into uniform. Some of these, however, were recruited in the United States, under the British-Canadian recruiting mission. The strength of the unit is 42 officers and 909 other ranks, with 328 absentees. The 2nd Depot Battalion, under Lieut.-Col. Gingras, shows a parade state of 34 officers, 480 other ranks, with 451 absentees.

On Friday, he goes to Kingston to address the student's of Queen's University.

WEST-END WORKERS WANT TRAM LINE

Must Wait Till "King of Quebec" Decides, Says Mederic

A petition with over 2,000 signatures asking for the construction of a street railway double track line over Seigneurs street bridge across the Lachine Canal was presented to the Board of Control this morning by Ald. O'Connell and Ald. Elie.

Representations were made in the petition that thousands of people employed in the large industrial establishments of the West End were subjected to great inconvenience by the present single track system over the bridge, which results in tieing up traffic at that point, more especially in rush hours. In many instances it is almost impossible to get to and from work in reasonable time or common comfort.

The Board appeared favorably impressed with the request, but decided that it should have been presented to the new Tramways Commission, the members of which have not yet been named by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

"The petition should go to the Commission," remarked Mayor Martin. "It is too bad that those men who are to be named by the King of Quebec have not yet been appointed."

The Board passed a resolution asking the Tramways Commission to give the request favorable consideration and asked the City Council to pass a similar resolution.

PRIMEAU WOULD SUE VILLENEUVE

Writes to Mayor Enquiring About Sprinkler System

J. A. Primeau, formerly secretary to the late Controller Cote, and later agent for automobile trucks, is meditating an action for damages against at least one of the present controllers. This possibility arises out of an inquiry regarding the purchase of certain street cleaning machines. Today Mr. Primeau wrote to the Mayor as follows:

"Kindly inform me whether the inquiry on automobile sprinklers and sweepers is finished, and in the affirmative what were the conclusions of the report that must have been submitted to you.

"Also, please let me know what was the cost of this inquiry. Please answer the same questions in regard to the same inquiry on automatic drills.

"I will be greatly obliged if you would give me the information asked for as soon as possible, as I wish to settle my score with a certain member of your board before the expiry of his term of office rids the municipal scene of his presence."

The member in question is Controller Villeneuve.

DERAILMENT BLOCKS C.P.R. LINE.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 22.—The C.P.R. main line is blocked today as a result of the derailment of twelve freight cars between Nerepis and Westfield, about sixteen miles from St. John. The wreck occurred at four o'clock this morning and auxiliary trains immediately were rushed from McAdam and St. John. It will be late today before the road is cleared. Meanwhile all passengers and mails are being transferred around the scene of the wreck.

BREWERS WILL SEE GOVERNMENT

Thought Likely They Will Ask That No Federal Measure Be Passed

The brewers of Canada will send a deputation to Ottawa next week to try to persuade the Government to hold its hand in regard to legislation affecting the manufacture and sale of beer and stout. The personnel of the deputation has not been definitely decided on, but it will probably consist of representatives from the breweries of Montreal, Quebec, Toronto, Hamilton, Calgary, Winnipeg, St. John, N.B., Halifax and other cities.

While the majority of the provinces of Canada have already adopted prohibition the province of Quebec will not go dry until May of next year, and there is a hope that before that time the responsible authorities will have been convinced—as they have been in England—that beer is a necessity for the man whose work entails physical labor. Such is the brewers' contention.

Whether it is their intention to ask the Government to allow them to manufacture beer with a less percentage of alcohol in it than the majority of beverages now sold, is not known, but as all matters affecting licenses have in the past been dealt with by the Provincial Government it is probable that all the brewers will ask the Federal Government to do will be to hold its hand, and as all the province have now passed prohibition measures, to allow them to go on without any interference from the Dominion Government.

The free course of Italian conversation and reading, which has just been organized by the Italian-Canadian Ladies Literary Society, will take place every Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, and not on Wednesday as formerly announced.

Ladies desiring to join should apply to the president, Mrs. Wm. J. Logan (Westmount 6222).

THEFT OF $3,000 IS CHARGE LAID

Two Arrested in Act of Carrying Consignment to Dray

Emile Noel and Joseph Dufresne, charged with having stolen boots to the value of about $3,000 from Gagnon and Lachapelle and the Eagle Shoe Company, appeared this morning before Judge Cusson, in chambers. Dufresne acknowledged his complicity in the thefts, but Noel pleaded not guilty. Both were remanded until February 26 for preliminary trial.

Noel and Dufresne were arrested last night by Detectives Martin, Trudeau, Laberge and Robillard, who had been keeping close watch on the pair for the last three days.

It is alleged that the same method was pursued by the two accused, as by the gang who were charged some time ago with the theft of goods from a number of local wholesale houses. Dufresne is said to be a driver in the employ of the Shedden Forwarding Company and it is alleged that he took advantage of his position to secure large quantities of boots from Gagnon and Lachapelle and the Eagle Shoe Company. These shoes were for shipment via the Grand Trunk Railway to places out of town. Instead of doing this, however, Dufresne is said to have taken the boots to an empty store on Montcalm street.

Noel is alleged to have aided Dufresne in selling the goods. Both are said to have been arrested in the act of taking 16 cases of boots from this store last night. The boots were taken to Detective Headquarters, where they were counted this morning. There are no fewer than 800 pairs of shoes in the cases, some of which were from the Eagle Shoe Company, of Beaudry street.

BELGIAN HEROISM LAUDED IN CABLE

Exiled Government Passes Resolution Expressing Pride it Feels

A further cable has been received by Clarence I. de Sola, Belgian Consul, through the Consulate General, regarding the recent efforts of agents of the German Government to try dismember the country on the pretext of giving separate government to Flanders. The cable specially refers to the brave stand made by all the Belgian people, both Flemish and Walloon, in spite of the strong efforts of the German soldiers to try and intimidate them by force. The cable reads as follows:

"The Belgian cabinet meeting at St. Adresse—Le Havre unanimously voted the following declaration. The Belgian Government is proud to hear of the energetic protest on the part of the members of the House of Representative and Senators, both Flemish and Walloon, in occupied Belgium, as also of the protest of the different municipal governments, and of the judicial body, against the usurping pretentions of the so called Council of Flanders under the instigation and the protection of the invader. The King's Government congratulates the regularly elected representatives of the Belgian people for having bravely revindicated their imprescriptible rights of national sovereignity against German enemy interference.

"It gratefully acknowledges the courageous attitude of the members of the Belgian judicial body, which did not hesitate to apply the rigors of the law against the disloyal citizens who, in connivance with the enemy, criminally attempted to dismember the country. It wishes to pay a tribute of admiration to the civic heroism of the Belgian people, who, after three years-and-a-half of hardships and sufferings, have once more affirmed their unalterable fidelity to the King, to the constitution and to the country, and have again shown the national will to maintain the unity of the people to continue unfailingly to the very end the fight for the liberation of our territory and the integral restoration of independent Belgium."

BRITISH EXTEND THEIR FRONT TO BELOW ST. QUENTIN

AERIAL ACTIVITY ON EVERY FRONT

Allies Score Heavily Against Germans in Airplane Fighting

By Associated Press.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, Feb. 22.—Another striking illustration of the co-ordination between the Allied armies on the western front has been given in the successful transfer of a considerable stretch of the front below St. Quentin from French to British hands.

From the inception of this delicate operation no hitch occurred. Thousands of French troops and scores of great batteries moved quietly and methodically out of the line, day after day, to make room for similar British units. It was done as easily as though the whole vast programme had been rehearsed.

Great credit is due the French for the excellent condition in which they left the defences in this important region. Untold confusion, perhaps disaster, might have resulted had the defensive system been inferior, but it is such as to draw the highest praise from the British command.

When the correspondent visited this sector a few days ago he found the British firmly established in their new home. The section is one of the most interesting on the British line. It is a country of wooded hills, pleasant valleys and quaint ancient towns, many of which are now in ruins, but still retaining some of the picturesque features which made them favorite stopping places for tourists in days before the war.

FASCINATING SPECTACLES.

St. Quentin, which formerly was dominated by both French and British artillery, is a fascinating spectacle, partly because of its magnificent ruins, and partly because of the great force of German troops which finds quarters there. Long continued gun-fire has reduced the principal buildings to a state of ruin, but the grandeur of the place has not departed.

The structures of the city are only shells of their former selves. The white walls of the wonderful cathedral still rear themselves high above the town and are visible for many miles, but they are badly shattered and the roofs have long since been blown away. The Town Hall, the Palace of Justice and other buildings are in a similar condition.

Occasionally one sees a dark figure framed in some window of one of the many towers in St. Quentin. Otherwise there is no sign of life, although it is known that thousands of men are hidden among the ruins. St. Quentin affords the Germans many excellent observation points, but none better than are possessed by the British.

AIRMEN'S AID TO ARMIES.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The great assistance which the air services, naval and military, now being combined under the Air Council, have rendered to the armies in the field was described in the House of Commons yesterday by Major J. L. Baird, Parliamentary Secretary of the Air Board, when he introduced the estimates for that department.

In September last 123 enemy machines were definitely ascertained to have been destroyed by British airmen, 13 were brought down by anti-aircraft guns, and 122 were driven down out of control. Through the direction of airmen in one day, 127 hostile batteries, said Major Baird, were successfully "engaged to destruction" (meaning that the airmen reported that the batteries were silenced), 28 gun pits were destroyed, 30 more were damaged, and sixty explosions of munition dumps were reported. On the same day 34 hostile batteries were "engaged to destruction" as a result of balloon observations.

In September 15,827 photographs were taken and 7,686 bombs were dropped on various military points on the German lines. There had been eleven raids into Germany in the past two months, while the Germans succeeded in carrying out only eight into Great Britain, despite the fact that London was more easily reached than anything Germany could offer.

ACTIVITY ON WEST FRONT.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The Entente Allies are not idle on the French front. The attack made by the French in Lorraine on Wednesday is reported to have swept the Germans out of their first line trenches over a wide front, but, except for the statement that 525 prisoners were captured, there is nothing definite as to the magnitude of the blow delivered by the French.

The New Zealand troops have been active in trench raiding operations near Polygon Wood, on the Flanders front.

Heavy artillery duels are going on along the British and French fronts, but except for the French advance there has been no infantry engagement of note.

The American front is apparently quiet, as no news of operations of importance has come through in the past 24 hours.

Northwest of Jerusalem, the British have continued their advance over a four-mile front, while east of the city a drive of nearly four times on a seven-mile front has brought them to a point within four miles of the city of Jericho. These operations are reported to be continuing.

BRITISH OFFICIAL REPORT.

The text of the statement reads:

"Yesterday, our advance east of Jerusalem was resumed, despite heavy rainstorms. Moving through a difficult country, in which the enemy offered obstinate resistance, our troops made progress to the extent of three and one-half miles on a frontage of about seven and three-quarter miles, approaching within four miles of Jericho.

"At the same time, our line was advanced to the northwest of Jerusalem, in the sector west of the Jerusalem-Nablus road to a maximum depth of one mile on a front of four miles.

"Co-operating with this advance our air service made effective bombing attacks against enemy camps and depots on the left bank of the Jordan, about Shunet Nimrim, ten and a half miles east-northeast of Jericho.

"Our losses in the operations of Tuesday were very slight. Those for Wednesday have not yet been reported.

"The operations are continuing."

The War Office statement issued last night said:

"A raiding party which attacked one of our posts south of Armentieres early this morning was repulsed. On other parts of our front a number of prisoners were brought in by patrols.

"The enemy showed considerable activity during the day in the neighborhood of St. Quentin and Arras, the Cambrai road, south and west of Lens, south of Armentieres and east of Ypres."

FRENCH OFFICIAL REPORT.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 22.—The War Office statement issued last night said:

"There was quite spirited artillery activity on both sides along the whole front, especially in the regions of Pinon, Vauxaillon, Malmaison, Pontavert, Guyencourt and the Butte du Mesnil.

"Yesterday our pilots brought down three German aeroplanes and forced two others to land in their own lines, seriously damaged and on fire.

"Eastern theatre, Feb. 20.—There was slight activity, owing to the snow and mist."

ROME OFFICIAL REPORT.

By Associated Press.

ROME, Feb. 22.—The War Office statement issued yesterday said:

"There was moderate fighting activity with frequent artillery actions in the Gudicaria valley and west of the Brenta valley. North of Valstagna our patrols made a few prisoners, and east of Capo Sile an enemy advanced post was destroyed by the explosion of a mine.

"The Italian and British airplanes attacked efficaciously the enemy's aviation camps near La Comina, Aviano, Visnadello and Motta di Livenza. Over the last place one navy hydroplane dropped two tons of high explosive bombs. All returned undamaged.

"Last night eight enemy airplanes flew over cities behind our line, causing considerable damage. Padua was bombarded three times, numerous bombs were dropped over Vicenza, and Trebaziegho, northwest of Mestre. Fortunately, we have to deplore only a few victims among the civilians, most of them being women. Anti-aircraft batteries met the enemy with intense fire. One machine struck came down in flames near Volpago.

"Yesterday morning one of our aerial squadrons bombarded the railway station at Innsbruck."

GERMAN OFFICIAL REPORT.

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, Feb. 22.—The Army Headquarters report issued yesterday said:

"Eastern war theatre—Army group of General von Eichhorn—Our regiments from Moon Island, having crossed the frozen sound, marched into Esthonia and occupied Leal. In the march along the Gulf of Riga, through Pernigal and Lemzal, there was fighting for a short time, in which 500 prisoners and 20 guns were taken. Our troops marched through Wenden and are now before Wolmar. Between Dvinsk and Pinsk we are pressing eastward.

"Army group of General von Linsingen—The movement continues along the whole front. Important railway and road junctions have been occupied. Rovno has been cleared of the enemy.

"It is impossible to give an approximate estimate of the booty. Up to now the following has been announced: Prisoners—three generals in command of an army, several divisional commanders, 425 officers and 8,700 men. Booty—1,353 guns, 120 machine guns; 4,000 to 5,000 motor cars, trains with about 1,000 carriages, many of which were laden with food, airplanes and an incalculable amount of other war material.

"Western theatre—Army groups of Crown Prince Rupprecht and the German Crown Prince—There have been artillery and trench mortar duels in the Argonne sector, and attacks by us were successful.

"Army group of Grand Duke Albrecht—There was increased fighting activity on the Lorraine front, and violent engagements in many sectors near Selle. Last evening strong French detachments attacked our positions near Moncel, Rechicourt and Mouscourt, and penetrated isolated points. Our infantry by a counter-attack drove out the enemy and took a fairly large number of prisoners. Southwest of Markirch, one of our raiding parties brought in prisoners. Elsewhere there is nothing to report."

AUSTRIANS WANT PEACE WITH U. S.

Emperor Issues Warning of Government by Absolute Methods

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 22.—The Austrian Socialists have convoked mass meetings to support their demand that direct peace negotiations shall be opened with the United States.

The Austrian Emperor has warned the leaders of the different Parliamentary parties that he will prorogue the Reichsrath and govern the country by absolute methods if a ... is not secured for the provision budget.

Wild scenes in the Reichsrath on Tuesday, on the occasion of Premier von Seyder's speech, are described in a Vienna despatch to the Berlin Vossische Zeitung. The Czechs and Slavs at one point ostentatiously quitted the House, and during the greater part of the Premier's speech maintained a continuous din. There were cries of "Lies! Treachery! Tell them that in "Berlin!" and similar expressions. The Premier was audible only to those nearest to him.

Czechs protests are loud against the advances of the German troops in Russia.

The Poles are extremely dissatisfied with the Austrian Government, and demand that the Ukrainian frontier shall be fixed at the River Bug and that Count Czernin, Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister, shall be dismissed.

CANADA NOT INCLUDED.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—Much anxiety has been caused to Canadian shippers by reason of the prohibition by the United States Government of importations into the United States of any freight of more than $100 value, unless accompanied by a permit from the War Trade Board, Washington. The Canada Food Board received advice yesterday that a mistake had been made in including Canada in this order; that a correction had now been made, and that imports from Canada into the United States will now be permitted, under the regulations which were previously in force.

SURPRISED ENEMY HAS AIR CONTROL

Washington Has No Official Knowledge of Conditions on the American Front

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Army officials showed every evidence of surprise yesterday at press despatches from France telling of German control of the air over the sector of the front held by the American troops. They would make no comment for publication, however, and Mr. Baker also was silent beyond saying that his advices from General Pershing made no mention of such a situation.

Disclosure of the conditions described by the despatches comes on the heels of Mr. Baker's announcement yesterday that American-built battleplanes had been shipped to France five months ahead of the original schedule and soon would be ready.

There are certain considerations, it was pointed out by some officers, none of whom claimed to have actual knowledge of the situation at the American front, which to their minds made it the more surprising that a complete lack of adequate air patrols should exist there. In the first place, General Pershing was fully advised as to all matters regarding the American air service and the degree to which he could rely upon it when he decided to put the forces into the line.

WOULD CALL ON FRENCH.

Also, and great stress was laid on this—he has been working in complete co-operation with the French Government in getting his men to the front. So far as known, the particular section of the line held by the Americans was fully patrolled by Allied airmen, presumably French, before it was taken over. If General Pershing regards the situation in the air as in any way a menace to his troops, it was suggested, it seemed certain he would call upon the French for patrols.

It is possible, of course, as was developed in Mr. Baker's conference, that a local concentration of air forces has been made by the Germans against the American sector. Such a condition might arise at any time on any section of the long battle line, Mr. Baker said. The despatches from the front, however, appear to indicate a continuing situation in which no aeroplanes for ordinary patrol work are available, rather than a sudden increase in the enemy's air fleet in that region.

AERO CLUB WANTS FACTS.

By Canadian Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—The executive committee of the Aero Club, roused by the reports that the Germans had secured control of the air above the sector held by the American troops in France, last night urged Mr. Baker by telegram to issue a statement covering the American aviation programme and to detail what steps have been taken to secure an appropriation from Congress and to place orders for the necessary airplanes and motors.

FOOD BOARD APPOINTMENTS.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—Mr. R. M. Ballantyne, chairman of the produce and cold storage committee of the Canada Food Board, has been appointed by the board to look after the interests of the Allied Buyers Export Provisions Commission of Canada. This commission is purchasing practically all foodstuffs, except wheat and flour, for Great Britain and the other Allies. G. W. Jones has been appointed corresponding secretary for the provincial organizations of the Canada Food Board.

OPPOSED ENTRY OF COOLIE LABOR

Union Organizer Urges Drastic Methods to Deal with Problem

The "heathen Chinee" and his alleged usurpation of the rights of white labor, were the cause of a heated discussion at last night's meeting of the Trades and Labor Council. The importation of foreign labor in general, past, present and future and the consequent depreciation in wages, were threshed out to great length. John Chinaman, however, coming in for most of the opprobrium.

John Potts, organizer for the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners in Canada, started the ball rolling by declaring that organized labor was now faced with one of the worst crises in its history, and all on account of the "heathen Chinee," whose ability to live on just a little less than nothing, was driving the working man to the street in many parts of the Dominion. Because labor was scarce, philanthropists, clergymen and business men, especially business men, were going to Ottawa to plead with Sir Robert Borden to introduce Oriental labor into Canada on a gigantic scale. It was their aim he declared, to import 500,000 Chinese coolies.

Mr. Potts then declared that the Hydro-Electric Commission had imported Chinese to Ontario. In order to get a job, laboring men had now to compete with them at $1 a day or starve. In the city of Hamilton, he declared, laborers on a big bank building got $1.10 a day, simply because the business men wanted the Chinese labor brought in. Mr. Potts then suggested a remedy for the evil, though a somewhat drastic one. He referred to the method pursued by certain laboring men in British Columbia, who, when a shipload of Hindoos was brought in by manufacturers, lined the dock and told the captain that the first Hindoo landed would be filled full of metal. "If they can do it there, why can't you do it here?" he asked.

Several other subjects were dealt with at the meeting, including a recommendation that a resolution of resentment at the alleged disfranchisement of citizens be forwarded to the Provincial Government. Three members were then elected by the Council to a conference of the labor party to be held in the Labor Temple on March 10, to form a municipal branch of the Quebec branch of the Labor Party in Canada. The delegates chosen last night were President Foster, and Delegates Buhay and Mathieu.

PERSHING TO GET SUPPLIES FROM SPAIN

Agreement Between That Country and U. S. Signed Yesterday

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22. — An agreement with Spain under which General Pershing will get mules, army blankets and other materials in that country in return for cotton, oil and other commodities from the United States, was signed yesterday in Madrid. The State Department was so advised by Ambassador Willard.

The terms of the agreement could not be learned last night, and it was not known whether they had any bearing on the rate of exchange between the two countries, which the United States has desired to adjust because of the recent depreciation of the American dollar in Spain, where it is now worth only about 75 cents.

Success of the negotiations for exchange of commodities was welcome news to officials here, as the ability of General Pershing to buy supplies in Spain will save ship tonnage and enable the General to build up his reserve stores much more rapidly than probably otherwise would have been possible.

The negotiations had been in progress for upwards of a month, and they followed refusal of Spain to supply a large number of mules, 200,000 blankets and other materials ordered by General Pershing last month. The official reason given for the failure to fill the order was said to have been that the Spanish railroad system had broken down, and it was impossible to handle goods destined for France.

Negotiations at Madrid apparently were going on when it became known that Spanish steamers were being held up in American ports for lack of fuel.

Through their control of bunker coal the United States and the Allies were in a position to stop not only the shipment of goods to Spain from the Allied countries, but from neutrals as well. Spain is dependent upon this country for large supplies of food stuffs, as well as other materials.

HUNS' INVASION SWEEPING ON TO RUSSIAN CAPITAL

Nothing in the Way to Stop Germans in Their Swift Advance

TALK OF GUERILLA WAR BY RUSSIANS

German Warships Nearing Reval—Trotzky to Resign, Report

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Like a great tidal wave, the German invasion of Russia rolls forward. From Leal in Esthonia, the Russian province on the south shore of the Gulf of Finland, on the north, to Rovno, one of the famous triangles of fortresses which stood as a Muscovite bulwark in the early days of the war, on the south, the Germans are still advancing.

The advance of the Teutons has taken the form of a crescent, with its convex face toward the heart of Russia. Minsk, which was occupied yesterday by German troops, according to an official report from Berlin, is at the extreme eastern curve of the wave.

From the official reports emanating from Berlin, it would seem that the Russians were not destitute of supplies with which to continue the war. Despatches received on Thursday were to the effect that the booty captured at Rovno is enormous. Among the items, enumerated were 1,353 guns, 120 machine guns, 4,000 to 5,000 motor cars, and trains with about 1,000 carriages, many of which were laden with grain and airplanes and war material of an amount said to be "incalculable."

ALLIES CANNOT HELP NOW.

The Daily Mail's Petrograd correspondent, telegraphing Wednesday afternoon, says that the latest developments there have made impossible measures of assistance which the Allies were preparing to give Russia in her fight against the enemy.

The decision of the Russian Workmen's and Soldiers' Deputies to accept the German peace terms, was not reached without a struggle, and the final vote on the question showed a majority of only one vote in favor of surrender.

Should the German armies continue to advance it is probable that the Bolsheviki leaders will order guerilla warfare against the invaders. It was announced on Wednesday at Petrograd that the advance of the Teutonic armies began a new war, and that there will be stern resistance offered before the Russian capital is given up.

OPPOSITION IN GERMANY.

In the meantime the situation in Russia has stirred up considerable opposition in Germany, especially among the Independent Socialists, whose leader, Georg Ledebour, speaking in the Reichstag on Thursday, said that the treaty of peace with Ukraine was not acceptable to his party. Dr. Edouard David, another Socialist leader, is reported to have expressed the hope that military operations in the East would cease.

Forty-five German warships were approaching Reval on Wednesday, according to a message received by the Express from its Petrograd correspondent. Troops have been landed at Reval.

The Daily News' Bolshevik correspondent telegraphs that Trotzky will probably resign.

When the Russian delegates to the Brest-Litovsk peace conference refused to agree to the conditions laid down by the German delegates, German Hoffmann, head of the German delegation, is reported to have said: "Within a week after the ending of the armistice we will occupy Reval."

The above despatch would indicate that the investment of Reval has actually begun.

A Berlin despatch states that the Russian written confirmation of the acceptance of peace terms has passed the German lines. This disposes of rumors of the fall of the Lenine Trotzky Government.

GERMANS DOUBT TROTZKY.

By Associated Press.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 22.—The belief that Leon Trotzky, the Bolshevik Foreign Minister, may have something in reserve and that his surrender is insincere, appears to dominate the Austro-German press.

The Vienna Fremdenblatt says:

"After Trotzky's procedure hereto... it will be wise to treat his wireless message with the greatest caution. Never did a statesman so ignominously expose himself, but just for that reason it would be a mistake to give way to premature optimism."

The Berlin Vossische Zeitung says:

"In view of past experiences with the Bolshevik Government, it is natural to assume that the new peace preparedness is nothing else than the old hostility to peace, namely, a device for the purpose of undisturbed dissemination of general anarchy."

The Tages Zeitung says:

"The Russian offer proves the manner in which the Bolsheviki yield only to direct compulsion. As soon as this compulsion ceased they would advance new subterfuges."

CANADIAN NORTHERN LACKED EQUIPMENT

So States Chief Engineer of Western Lines in Enquiry

By Canadian Press.

TORONTO, Feb. 22.—Resuming his testimony before the Canadian Northern Railway Board of Arbitration yesterday at Osgoode Hall, Malcolm H. MacLeod, chief engineer and general manager of the western lines of the Canadian Northern Railway, said the company had handled a very small percentage of the munitions and war materials from the Pacific coast. The Canadian Pacific Railway did the through business in war materials consigned to Russia, while the Canadian Northern Railway fared better in the matter of carrying troops.

Pressed by Sir William Meredith for a statement as to whether or not he was obliged "owing to the hard-up position of the country" to submit to the pressure of the directors and reduce the size of his section gangs, Mr. McLeod replied: "I was not obliged to submit to the dictation of the head office or any one else. I had a free hand without any interference."

When Sir William called his attention to his admission that some sections of the main line of the Canadian Northern Railway west of Port Arthur had not been kept up to a standard state of efficiency a year ago, Mr. MacLeod retorted: "The new car plant at Fort William ordered section men fancy wages that were greatly in excess of the standard rates paid by the railroads.

Other railroads had to face similar conditions. Of the appropriation for this branch of the work, over $350,000 which would ordinarily have found its way into the pocket of the section men, was not required, owing to the scarcity of labor. So far as the division under my supervision is concerned, it is not hard up for money, but is earning sufficient revenue to take good care of its maintenance."

BIG COPPER CAMP TOUCHED.

When Mr. MacLeod this morning resumed his inventory of the branch lines and their purposes, it developed that ninety miles north of Le Pas, the northern terminus of the Hudson Bay Junction, Le Pas branch, there is a copper camp, which F. H. Phippen, K.C., declares may prove one of the largest copper camps in Northern America. The ore is teamed fifteen miles, and is then brought by boat to Le Pas, whence it travels over the Canadian Northern Railway.

"I should think if there was a thing so good as that, Mackenzie and Mann would have had a finger in the pie."

THREE MILLION PEOPLE STARVING

In Turkey, Armenia, Persia and Syria Millions are Facing Death

By Canadian Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Information that three million persons in Turkey, Armenia, Persia and Syria now face death by starvation has been received here by the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions. In addition, a cablegram from John L. Caldwell, United States Minister at Teheran, transmitted yesterday to the board by the State Department, says:

"Beggars multiply and hundreds swarm the streets piteously crying for food, and at times in their desperation assaulting those beseeched. Similar conditions are reported from all provinces and cities of Persia."

According to Charles E. Vickery, secretary of the Armenian relief committee here, conditions are expected to grow worse before the harvest, which is not due for four or five months. The capture of Jerusalem by the British, Mr. Vickery said, enabled the American committee to feed 50,000 refugees in the Holy City, and the advance of the Allied forces has improved conditions in Southern Palestine.

"There are 350,000 Armenian refugees in the Russian Caucasus," said Mr. Vickery, "most of them centred about Erivan, near Mount Ararat. The famine is so distressing that even the once war-like Kurds have been driven by starvation to seek succor of the very people they have been accustomed to pillage and rob. Thousands of persons congregate daily outside all the relief stations begging food."

In Turkey, Armenia, Persia and Syria, women are leaving their infants dead in many places. Forty thousand persons are destitute in Teheran alone. Whenever dead animals are found, they are eaten by the starving people. Appeals for help come from Constantinople, Tiflis, Beirut, Teheran, Tabriz and Jerusalem.

commented Sir William Meredith, as the wealth of the prospect was dwelt upon.

The lack of equipment limited the percentage of western grain which the Canadian Northern Railway could move was established in the examination in the afternoon of Mr. MacLeod. He had shown that, in 1906, the Canadian Northern Railway had moved 20 per cent, and the Canadian Pacific Railway 80 per cent, according to Winnipeg inspection reports. By 1910 the Canadian Northern Railway was moving 31.8 per cent, and the Canadian Pacific Railway 59.8 per cent. From then to the present time the percentage carried by the Canadian Northern Railway had been fairly uniform.

"We could have carried a larger percentage if we had the equipment," he declared.

Sir William—"Why was the money spent on branches instead of on additional equipment?"

Mr. MacLeod—"That was since the war broke out. We were adding to the equipment year by year till the war broke out."

"If you had all the money in the world," asked Sir William, "would you be able to get the cars?"

Mr MacLeod said that the Government was getting 4,000, at the rate of ten a day, at the Fort William shops. These cars were loaned to the various railways.

MEDERIC STILL RAMPAGING, HITS AT MANY HEADS

Makes Another Onslaught on Sir Lomer in a Long Address

MODESTY NOT HIS LONG SUIT

He Alone Worthy of Holding Office; All Others are Unfit

Speaking in La Casquette hall, St. Jean Baptiste ward, last night Mayor Martin delivered a two-hour oration that was partly a jeremiad against Sir Lomer Gouin, the local members of the Legislature, and suggested mayoralty candidates, and partly an apology for the life of Mayor Martin. The text of the former portion of his speech was: "There is none that doeth good, no, not one," while the latter portion was devoted to proving that there was one scintillating exception, Mederic Martin, Mayor.

Last night's attack on the Prime Minister was the most direct to date in the Mayor's campaign of "hate." He accused Sir Lomer Gouin of favorizing big companies, especially fire insurance companies, and especially mentioned one company in which, he said, the Prime Minister, and the Hon. Jeremie Decarie, Provincial Secretary, are directors.

"Sir Lomer Gouin must disappear," he declared. "Another, and a better Liberal than he, must take his place."

The Star also had the full benefit of one of the Mayor's broadsides. Of this newspaper he said:

"The English-speaking citizens are not as much opposed to Mayor Martin as has been claimed by some. I respect our English citizens, but certain newspapers never cease from throwing stones at the First Magistrate of Montreal. I refer to The Star, which never stops tarnishing the French-Canadian race. They would have us appear as savages, when it was our ancestors who discovered Canada. We do not want to raise the race cry, but we have our rights and we want to have them respected."

MAKES NEW ATTACK.

Although he has been holding frequent verbal battles of late with Nap. Seguin, M.L.A. for St. Mary's, the Mayor let Mr. Seguin down easy last night, and went after J. W. Levesque, M.L.A. for Laval, instead. Neither of these gentlemen was present. Ex-Ald. L. A. Lapointe, who is a mayoralty candidate, was in the hall, but refused to come up to the platform. He had to listen to many a sally at his own expense.

"If the Liberals get into power at Ottawa, Mr. Lapointe may be made a Minister" was one of these. "But he'll never be Mayor."

As for the man who will oppose him in the contest of April 2, the Mayor declared he would be a creature of Sir Lomer Gouin, who would make the campaign with the influence of the local Liberal organization.

To begin with the Mayor was presented with a petition, of 25,530 signatures asking him to present himself as a candidate. Then Ald. Vandelac, acting as chairman, made a few laudatory remarks that would have made a more modest Mayor blush, and Albert Larose followed with still more complimentary references. Then came the star of the evening.

THOSE GOOD OLD DAYS.

The Mayor, reviewing the civic history since 1909, pictured himself as a martyr, shamelessly treated by the newspapers, while he traced his lonely furrow of reform at City Hall. He decided that the old committee system was the best method of administration. He thought it an insult to the population that the Prime Minister should have believed that no man but Laurendeau could save the situation in Montreal.

At this point Mr. Lapointe was seen to enter. The Mayor asked him to come forward, and take a seat, "even if you are not going to be called upon to speak." Mr. Lapointe declined, although there were cries of "Don't be shy," "Sans ceremonie," etc.

"We worked for centuries to obtain the franchise, and now the Prime Minister of Quebec is taking it away from us," continued the Mayor. "This man has no right to come here and insult us. He, and not we, is responsible for the situation we are in . . . I do not want to be a Kaiser, but I want the First Magistrate of Montreal to be respected. He is as important as the Prime Minister of Quebec, anyhow. The Prime Minister is elected in a little county of three or four thousand. The Mayor is elected in a metropolis of 700,000 population . . This is the beginning. We are returning to the Middle Ages."

Then the Mayor went over what he considered the causes of the financial impasse of the city, blaming each item on the Quebec Legislature. The annexation of Maisonneuve was one reason. For the trouble of that city an organized clique of politicians who put through the park project was responsible. The Government should name a Royal Commission to investigate the Maisonneuve administration.

The speaker admitted that he has set loose against himself by his attacks on the Government a powerful organization, that of the Liberal party of Montreal. He had antagonized the member for Laval (Mr. Levesque) by laughing at the latter's scheme for the annexation of Laval aux Rapides. The Liberal clubs had turned against him. He respected these clubs, but he respected the people more. Let the people judge.

ABOUT EXPROPRIATIONS.

Passing in review other annexations and causes of financial stress, the Mayor arrived at St. Joseph Boulevard, in which, he said, friends of Sir Lomer Gouin, an ex-mayor and an ex-alderman, chairman of the finance committee, were interested. In the Pie IX avenue expropriation members of the Legislature were interested in property on both sides of the street. In the expropriation of Monklands Boulevard, ten provincial and one federal member were interested. The Aqueduct Boulevard scheme was also due to Quebec, and was passed by the first Board of Control at the request of Judge Ouimet, ex-Ald. Emard and Sen. Belque.

"The Government should have named a Minister of Municipal Affairs, not today when all the harm has been done, but years ago when it would have been possible to prevent it," said the Mayor. "Beaten or not, my campaign will bear fruit, for it will open the eyes of the Prime Minister of Quebec. I am not afraid of the Prime Minister. He cannot deny what I say."

HIGH EXPLOSIVE STUFF.

At this point the Mayor turned all his guns on Sir Lomer.

"Those who are favored at Quebec are the big companies," he declared. More especially the life insurance companies. Three or four years ago and ever since Chief Tremblay asked for an extra one per cent on policies. The clause was defeated in the Legislative Council. Why? Because the Prime Minister is directly interested in fire insurance companies. I have the proof. He has a right to be interested in private companies if he wishes. There is nothing dishonest about that. But when it comes to touching a man's property he is tempted to consider his own affairs before those of the public."

Reading from a prospectus, the Mayor conveyed to the audience the news that the Mount Royal Fire Insurance Company has among its directors Sir Lomer Gouin, the Hon. Jeremie Decarie, and an ex-mayor of Montreal. He added that the Prime Minister was a shareholder in the Royal Trust Company and the City and District Savings Bank.

When he came to consider his own record the Mayor spoke in very enthusiastic terms. He had done much for the workingman, both at Ottawa and in Montreal. Mentioning his efforts to defend the people at the time of the Military Service Act, he remarked that a group of young men had been sent out by the Borden Government to raise trouble here.

Alphonse Bernier, one of the "antis" of last summer, was in the hall.

"That is absolutely false, Mr. Martin," he shouted. There was some confusion for a few minutes but the Mayor went smoothly on. He considered the qualifications of the various mayoralty possibilities.

The Hon. Charles Marcil, M.P., "a perfectly honest man," was too ill to run. Probably Alfred Leduc, M.P., would not run, because the candidate selected would be a creature of the Prime Minister. It was not likely that Controller Ainey would run. If he did, it would be because if defeated he would be assured a position on the board of administrators. Mr. Lapointe could never be elected.

"Why does not the Government name its board of administrators now?" asked the Mayor. "Are they afraid that Mayor Martin will expose them before you? I believe they are."

The Mayor modestly remarked that he did not want to be Prime Minister, not because he was not qualified for the job, but because Quebec "bored him."

A large maple leaf in bronze, on a granite base, to mark the grave of every Canadian soldier of the great war, whether major-general or private.

The maple leaf to follow every Canadian soldier to his grave, whenever and wherever he may pass to his rest.

A working commissioner, a landscape and cemetery expert, to carry the scheme into execution as a Government work, without remuneration.

The above are the outstanding features of a National Burial and Memorial Scheme for the Canadian Soldiers of the Great War, formulated by W. Ormiston Roy, of Montreal, and recently placed before the Right Hon. Sir Robert Borden and the Dominion Government. The scheme, which is far-reaching in its ramifications, involving important operations both at home and overseas, is an altruistic and patriotic one throughout, beautifully idealistic, yet thoroughly practical, with the element of trading and money-making rigidly excluded from it in every particular.

Mr. Roy communicated particulars of the National Burial and Memorial Scheme to The Montreal Daily Star on January 3rd, and the publishers thought the project so important that he was advised to have it brought before the Dominion Government. This was accordingly done on January 15th.

The scheme has been freely given to the Dominion of Canada, without condition or reservation of any kind, to be adopted in principle, with whatever modification or extension as may be later found necessary. In addition to giving his scheme to the nation as a gift, Mr. Roy, who is well known to the public as a successful landscape architect and cemetery superintendent, has volunteered his services to the Government to carry the plans into execution, without remuneration from the nation or from any other source.

MR. ROY'S OFFER TO THE GOVERNMENT.

"I have offered my services to the Dominion Government," says Mr. Roy, "and I am anxious to be given the appointment of Expert Commissioner, without remuneration, in order that I may have an opportunity of helping to inaugurate, organize, and carry out a national project, second only to the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. in its appeal to the hearts and sentiments of every Canadian who has had a relative in this terrible war. This, I believe, to be a great national duty, long enough neglected, and one in which I feel I am specially fitted to 'do my bit.'

"I am seeking no position of emolument, and make no appeal for private subscriptions. On the contrary, this is an effort to impress the Canadian Government with what a great number of people belive to be its plain duty — to give honorable burial to returned soldiers; and, after the war, to fittingly mark, beautify and care for, in a truly Canadian way, the portions of the battlefields in France and Flanders which all the world will concede should be Canada's peculiar pride.

"The underlying idea of the whole scheme is to provide a simple, artistic and dignified way of doing, at moderate cost, what the United States did after the Civil War, often in a very elaborate and extravagant way—and what the British Empire has never done at all."

A NATIONAL DUTY.

It is pointed out that heretofore, discharged soldiers, dying in Canada, British or Canadian alike, if they were poor or friendless, were almost certain to find a pauper's grave, unless some patriotic society came to the rescue; but it is felt that pauperism in connection with the burial of a Canadian soldier—or, in fact, of any soldier, sailor or Red Cross nurse, who has fought or served in the cause of the Allied Countries in this war—is something which must never be tolerated. The burial of the veterans, it is felt, must be made a national duty, and not be left to local effort.

Already local organizations all over Canada have realized the want of such a scheme, and have set to work, but a broadly national scheme is obviously called for to meet the needs of the situation. With the enrolment of an army of half-a-million men, representing every part of the Dominion, it is manifest that any such plan must be of a most comprehensive and far-reaching character.

SOLDIERS' PLOTS IN THE BEST CEMETERIES.

The Dominion Government, it is urged, should therefore provide a Soldiers' Plot in the best cemeteries, both Protestant and Roman Catholic, in the diferent Canadian cities from the Atlantic to the Pacific, such as Halifax, Sydney, Charlottetown, St. John, Fredericton, Quebec, Sherbrooke, Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton, London, Guelph, Port Arthur, Fort William, Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver, Victoria and other centres. The idea is to have all such plots located in the best cemeteries and in the choicest spots available in these cemeteries, and, by adequate landscape treatment, made places of quiet and restful beauty.

THE OVERSEAS CEMETERIES.

Regarding the overseas cemeteries, it is sought to have Canada join after the war in making beautiful the resting places of her fallen soldiers. There are parts of many battlefields in France and Flanders which will be conceded as belonging peculiarly to Canada, and these places, it is urged, should be treated from a Canadian point of view. The opportunities of planting now a maple tree or introducing some other touch of Canadian country life, will lend scope to the poetic treatment of these hallowed places.

"I like the idea of a young British Officer, killed nearly two years ago," says Mr. Roy, "who suggested in his letters home that a grand boulevard be built after the war, from the North Sea to Switzerland, approximately between the line of the opposing trenches; and let us hope that in the God's Acres that would fringe such a boulevard, Canada's portions may be treated in harmony with our ideals—which, when applied to cemeteries, make them as original and characteristic of the New World as skyscrapers are to New York city—the former as simple, restful and quiet, as the latter are bold, daring and utilitarian."

"As a labor of love, I am prepared, if necessary, to give half my time, for the next ten years, if I am spared, to put this project into effect; and if I should happen to be torpedoed on my next trip to France—the whole scheme is so simple and so clearly worked out that others could take up the task and carry on."

MAPLE LEAF FOR EVERY SOLDIER'S GRAVE.

A striking feature of the scheme is the bronze Maple Leaf marker, which it is proposed to have placed on the grave of every Canadian soldier of the Great War, wherever he may find his last resting-place. The use of this symbol would be restricted by legislation (as the use of certain flags is restricted) to soldiers' graves and to soldiers' graves alone. It would lie on a substantial granite base, and be of so solid and durable a nature as to defy the ravages of wind, weather and time.

In years to come this emblem, the distinguishing badge of a Canadian soldier's grave, would be looked upon with a veneration akin to that accorded to the Victoria Cross. The symbol of the Maple Leaf on a grave would indicate at once that the man beneath the sod, whether major-general or private, had been a warrior from the great Dominion in the memorable struggle for freedom, democracy and civilization; a man who had fought "that government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Local trustees or representatives, men of unimpeachable integrity, named by the Dominion Government, for their own community only, and giving their services to the nation without remuneration—would be consulted in every locality by the commissioner, and the best plan formulated for the needs of each community.

MR. ROY AND HIS WORK.

William Ormiston Roy is well known to the public of this city and district as Landscape Architect and General Superintendent of Mount Royal Cemetery, Montreal, and of Hawthorn-Dale Cemetery, near Montreal, and Manager of the Crematorium at Mount Royal Cemetery, while he has been widely known for many years to landscape and cemetery experts in the United States as one of the most active members of three great national societies, conservators of the landscape gardening and rural art of the republic, namely: The American Park and Outdoor Art Association (of which he has served as vice-president); The American Society of Landscape Architects; and the Association of American Cemetery Superintendents. The American Society of Landscape Architects is the only body in existence whose membership is exclusively confined to landscape practitioners.

Mr. Roy who was born in 1874, is a native of Dorval, Que., and of Scottish parentage. He is a son of the late Mr. Frank Roy, who was for some years superintendent of Mount Royal Cemetery, and whom he succeeded in that capacity in 1898. He has been Consulting Landscape Architect for the Grand Trunk Railway System since 1904. For the Grand Trunk he has laid out the grounds of the Royal Muskoka Hotel, in the Muskoka Lakes, and the Wawa Hotel, Lake of Bays, in the Highlands of Ontario. He was consulting landscape architect to Her Excellency the Countess Grey in decorating the Governor-General's quarters at the Quebec Citadel on the occasion of the visit of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales (now King George V) to the Tercentenary celebration in 1908.

STATE TO CONTROL WHEAT PRODUCTION

French Government Will Take Stern Measures to Increase Supplies

PARIS, Feb. 22.—The Government Bill, under which complete powers would be granted it by the Parliament over wheat production and wheat control in France, was debated in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday. Victor Boret, the Minister of Provisions, told the House that there must be an intensification of wheat production, and that the Cabinet was firmly resolved to use extraordinary measures to accomplish this end.

Wheat production in France, said M. Boret, had been increased since the war began, but only sufficiently to supply France with food for an additional fifteen days in the year. The French requirements had been supplied by imports, but now tonnage must be used for other purposes than to import wheat which the country was able to produce, he declared.

Discussion of the measures by various members brought out the fact that under the new powers it asked the Government could take over the whole harvest of 1918, the State becoming the sole buyer and the sole seller of grains for breadmaking. It was also shown that the Government would be empowered to intensify production by supplying seed for spring sowing and adequate fertilizers to farmers throughout France; to fix equitable prices to growers; to compel landowners to sow minimum areas; and to assist in the organization of labor.

I.O.D.E. CHAPTER

Victoria Rifles' Branch Holds Annual Meeting

The Victoria Rifles' Chapter, I.O.D.E., held its annual meeting yesterday in the Southam Building. All the officers were re-elected with the exception of Miss Alice Kane, who resigned and who was replaced by Mrs. Donald McLennan.

The office of wool convenor was created and Miss Maude Pavey was elected to fill it.

The secretary's report showed that 251 articles had been sent to the Red Cross Society during the year. Christmas stockings to the number of 50 had been filled for the soldiers. Over 1,200 pairs of socks had been sent overseas. Donations had been received from Lt.-Col. Winans and officers of the Victoria Rifles Regiment, honorary members of the Victoria Rifles Mess, Lt.-Col. Winans' Victory Loan team, No. 19, Col. George Starke, Col. J. Molson Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Goff Penny, Allan Starke, W. J. Morrice, R. B. Morrice, J. M. McIntyre, William McMaster and W. Mayne McCombe.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $53. Mrs. Bertram G. Winans presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. George Starke.

HON. MR. OLIVER BEATEN BY VOTES OF SOLDIERS HERE

Second Result to Be Changed—No Further Change Likely

OVERSEAS' VOTE WILL MAKE SHUFFLE

Blondin and Sevigny Defeated, Even if Overseas' Vote Favorable

Special to The Star From Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22. — Hon. Frank Oliver, for many years prominent in Parliament as a fearless champion of the Western democracy, will be among the missing when the new House convenes next Monday. In the Civilian Vote on December 17th he had a lead of 80 over Brigadier-General Griesbach. They counted the Canadian military vote for West Edmonton yesterday, with the result that Mr. Oliver's majority is wiped out, and Gen. Griesbach leads the poll by 92, which will be augumented by the vote overseas. Mr. Oliver received 15, and Gen. Griesbach 187 military votes in Canada.

This is the second decision to be reversed, the other being in Cumberland, N.S., where Hon. E. N. Rhoades is elected. They are likely to be the only two seats where a reversal will occur by the count solely of the soldiers in Canada, but there are five more, Hants, Picton, two in South Cape Breton and South Essex, which are hanging in the balance.

Several constituencies were finished last night. The count in Laurier-Outremont gave 208 votes to Hon. P. E. Blondin and 43 to his successful opponent, P. R. Du Tremblay. In Westmount-St. Henri, Hon. Albert Sevigny received 200 and Alfred Leduc 30. There were 38 rejects.

RAINVILLE SAVED HIS DEPOSIT.

In Chambly-Vercheres, Joseph Rainville, as a result of the soldier's vote, saved his deposit. As the vote showed on election night, Mr. Rainville lost his $200 because he lacked fifty votes. He got these and several more from the military voters. Archambault's majority is still around 2,400.

The soldiers gave about 240 to Hon. C. J. Doherty in St. Anne's Division, and 191 to Sir Herbert Ames in St. Antoine.

As an illustration of the strong percentage of the military vote which went for the Government candidates in the west, in Winnipeg Centre 1,085 votes were cast for Major Andrews and only 48 for his opponent. In Moose Jaw, Hon. J. A. Calder received 202 and his opponent, Somerville, 19.

Down East, the military vote, while going for the Government, is not nearly so unanimous. In Prince Edward, Edward Lefurgey, Unionist, in Prince, got 59 and his opponent received 29. In Kings, McIsaac, Unionist, obtained 56, and J. J. Hughes, Liberal, 14; in Queens, Martin and Nicholson, Unionists, secured 159, while the elected candidates, Warburton and Sinclair, have respectively 67 and 66.

An examination of military ballots cast in Quebec leads to the conclusion that, at the time of the election, there were very few men from the rural parts in the army on this side of the water. Outside of Levis, were 90 votes were cast, the maximum was about forty, while in a great many constituencies there were only a half dozen. In Berthier there were none, and in Yamaska three.

The tabulation will conclude on Sunday night if possible, but it is now clear that the home military will change only two constituencies, and they are already changed—Cumberland and West Edmonton. The Overseas count is in full swing, and it is hoped that it will be finished by the end of next week. However favorable to them may be the overseas vote, it is quite evident that Messrs. Blondin and Sevigny are defeated.

FIVE PERSONS BURNED TO DEATH.

PEABODY, Mass., Feb. 22.—Five persons were burned to death in a fire which destroyed a house and barn in West Peabody early today. The house was occupied by a family named Miller. Police and firemen sent from here found the buildings in flames, and with no water supply available. They recovered the bodies of Miller, his wife and three children.

SOLDIERS' VOTE OUSTS FRANK OLIVER

INVESTIGATION OF TRANSPORT CONDITIONS

Court of Inquiry Named by the Militia Department

By Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22. — Details of the personnel, powers and scope of the court of inquiry named to inquire into the conditions on transports returning to Canada from overseas are given in Militia Department Orders yesterday. With Lieut.-Col. H. D. Hulme as president of the court, the two members are Major J. R. Morton, late of the 15th Battalion, Toronto, and Major F. E. Hicks, 58th Battalion, Brantford.

The first sitting will be held in Ottawa, as soon as Majors Morton and Hicks arrive here. The order empowers the court to hold sessions from time to time at such other places as may, in their opinion, be necessary for "the purpose of collecting and recording evidence in connection with conditions which have prevailed while transferring Canadian soldiers from England to Canada on board any transports or other ships heretofore chartered or used for that purpose, and especially with reference to discipline, accommodation, complaints and orders."

The court will also record evidence which, in any manner, relates or has any bearing on this, and, says the order, "the court will give such opinion or opinions as, in their judgment, the evidence calls for."

The evidence will be taken under oath, and the proceedings forwarded to the acting adjutant-general.

The official announcement continues as follows:—

"Lieut.-Col Hulme, who is 51, and therefore over the age limit, was not permitted to go to the front, but despite this has done a tour of duty in the trenches. He has had 33 years continuous service in the Canadian militia, and for the three years before the war commenced, was in command of the 6th Regiment, Duke of Connaught's Own Rifles, Vancouver. For his work overseas since the war began he was mentioned in despatches.

"He commanded the First Reserve Battalion from the time of its organization until all ranks had gone to France. Later he was president of the Regimental Funds Board at London for five months. This board dealt with the regimental funds of all Canadian overseas battalions, and sent approximately $500,000 to trustees in Canada. He was also a member of the Demobilization Board and of the Deputy Judge Advocate-General's Board. In civilian life he has practised law for 22 years.

"Both Major Morton, and Major Hicks were wounded at the front. Major Morton's militia unit is the 48th Highlanders, Toronto, and he is now attached, to the 1st Depot Battalion. 1st Central Ontario Regiment. Major Hicks' Militia unit is the 38th Regiment, Brantford, and he is attached to the 2nd Depot Battalion, 2nd Central Regiment, at present."

DAIRY MEN ASK HIGHER PRICES

Canadian Cheesemakers Want British to Pay 25 Cents

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—A large delegation of some 500 dairymen, representing the Eastern Ontario Dairymen' Association, memorialized the Dominion Government here yesterday through the medium of the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. T. A. Crerar, to use its influence to have the British Purchasing Commission pay a higher price for cheese.

The present price paid to the Canadian dairymen is 21¾ cents per pound and while no stipulated price is asked, it was stated privately that the dairymen expect to realize 25 cents a pound for their cheese.

After hearing the argument of many representatives, including the sitting members of Dundas and Lanark and a representative of the Western Dairymen's Association, Hon. Mr. Crerar said that the requests were reasonable and assured the gathering that no measure to temporarily or permanently injure the dairy industry would be passed.

Mr. Arthur J. Mills, who represents the British Ministry of Food, now residing in New York, announced that, since the British Government had taken over the food control, there was no profiteering going on, and the farmer was getting the full price of his cheese without the dealer making undue profits.

He further stated that farmers of New Zealand have agreed to accept twenty cents a pound for their cheese. The British representative added that, as cheese was the principal food of the soldiers it was very necessary that production of this class of food should be stimulated to the highest point.

CAUGHT AND KILLED A DEER ON SKIS--RANDALL SUSPENDED

RANDALL SUSPENDED THIS TIME

Ken Randall of the Toronto Hockey team has been suspended by President Calder of the National Hockey League.

The suspension is for tomorrow's game, which will be a help to Ottawa, for though Randall is said to be a "bad actor" he is like the little girl with the little curl, very good, when he is good at all, and a brilliant hockey player when he feels like it.

In addition to other excentricities not jibing with the League rules he has been indulging in frequent abuse of the referees, when their decisions did not suit him, and after being warned several times, the Pesident has finally put the screws on him upon the recommendation of Major Lou Marsh, who acted in last Monday's match at Toronto.

Mr. Randall will further remain suspended till he has paid the numerous fines which have accumulated against him.

Alerts Win from the Panther Club

In the second of a home and home game of basketball between the Alerts and the Panthers, the Alerts finally won with a good margin. The previous game resulted in a win for the Panthers.

The game was clean and well contested throughout, but the weight and fine shooting of the Alerts put them in an early lead, which the Panthers found hard to overcome. The first period ended with Alerts in the lead, the score reading 23-5.

In the second period the Panthers kept the ball on the hop, and managed to hold their opponents down to 10 goals, the final score being 43-25.

BOXING BECOMING POPULAR IN CITY LEAGUE MATCHES

Some Bouts Staged Last Evening But Nipped in Bud

LEAGUE STANDING STAYS UNALTERED

All Three Games Were Very Well Contested Ones

Loyola, 6; Laval, 3.
McGill, 3; Shamrock, 0.
National, 4; Can. Vickers, 1.

The results of the games in the City League last evening effected no change in the league standing, Loyola and McGill entering the homestretch neck and neck. The games were witnessed by a good crowd, which was kept on the toes for the full three games. Laval were greatly handicapped by the loss of two of their regulars, both Lourendeau and Courchesne being laid up in bed. This disadvantage both to their defence and forward lines and proved too great a handicap for them. McGill were without the services of Rooney, who, although on the bench, was unable to play owing to an affection of the knee. As both the leaders meet the two tail-enders next Thursday probabilities are that McGill and Loyola will have to clash before the Championship can be decided.

Laval opened the first game in very aggressive fashion, and in one minute Masson opened the scoring. Loyola put a brace on and in twelve minutes put five goals past Chabot. Laval were completely disorganized and were unable to hold the strong Loyola offensive. The second period found the French students steadied right down, and they not only held Loyola down but obtained a slight advantage. Courcherne tallied for Laval, and shortly after Masson added another. Mowat made it six to three for Loyola just before the call of time. An incipient scrap between of time. A scrap in which sticks were discarded for fists between Guevermont and Slater was staged, but was nipped in the bud by the prompt action of Referee Cleghorn.

A FINE GAME.

The McGill-Shamrock game fulfilled all the promises made for it, and despite the one sided score was undoubtedly the most closely contested game played in the league this season. During the first period Shamrocks had a decided advantage in the play, their back checking holding the McGill attack powerless. McCallum slipped the rubber past Dooner, but was called back for offside. The exceptionally close checking did not allow of any spectacular hockey. The first period ended without a score being registered. The work of both goalers was exceptional in this half, both making several stops that appeared impossible. Two minutes after the opening of the second period, Dud Ross scored for McGill on a pass from Behan. From the face-off this pair repeated their rush, Ross again scoring from the side of the Rink on a seemingly impossible angle. Shamrocks proved game and made rush after rush only to be stopped by the McGill defence. Ross and King showed signs of staging a set too, but were ordered off the ice before they could get started. Behan put the game on ice for his team by slipping the third tally past Routledge on a very pretty play. Shamrocks continued to show their fighting spirit, by pressing until the call of time came. This makes the fourth shut-out that McGill have scored this season. There were two more prize-ring exhibitions in this match but thanks to the officials they lasted half a round each. The final game of the evening was a mighty well played affair, and went eleven minutes before Dandurand opened the scoring. Lavallee and Dandurand added to this score for Nationals before half time. The second period proved even closer than the first, the play going for fourteen minutes before Duclos tallied. Roche saved his team mates from a whitewash by beating Taylor on a lone rush.

SKI JUMPER OLSEN RACED WITH DEER AND CAPTURED IT

Dispatched it With His Pole After Exciting Chase

WILL JUMP HERE AGAIN TOMORROW

Quebec Championships to Be Held at 2:30—Boys Also Compete

The Quebec Championship Ski Jumps will be held Saturday afternoon, commencing with the schoolboys' championship, which is to start at 2:30 sharp. This will be followed by Class "B," and the closing event will be the Class "A."

For these events entries have been received from the leading club jumpers, and among the out-of-town ones are Adolf Olsen, of Ottawa, and Olav Sundberg, of Renfrew.

Adolf Olsen, who is well known to Montrealers who have viewed the competitions of the past five years, has added to his laurels on skis this season.

The Montreal public have seen him turn a somersault from the take off, landing on his feet, and also other stunts, but word has come from Ottawa of his latest, which is deer stalking.

CAUGHT DEER ON SKIS.

While on a cross-country run, up north of Ottawa he spied from the top of a hill a deer half-way down, and as there was a swift, clear slide, he chased and overtook it, and dispatched it with his pole. This happened early in the season, when there was not a crust on the snow and the deer was not handicapped by any great depth of it.

The use of skis is every year becoming more appreciated as a means of travelling over snow, and while some of the oldtimers still pin their faith to snowshoes, they are forced to acknowledge that the ski can go where the old-time shoe could not, and also that double the speed may be made on skis. The spectacular jumping which is exclusively a skiing feature will be seen at its best at the jumps Saturday afternoon.

The program will include Class "A," Class "B" and "Schoolboy" championships.

Grounds may be reached by Beaver Hall cars and a transfer to the Roman Catholic Cemetery takes visitors to within one hundred yards of the entrance.

The story of the Olsen incident is vouched for by President Kerr, of the Montreal Ski Club, who, however, does not know whether Olsen got into trouble with the Fish and Game authorities about it.

WESTMOUNT SECONDS CAPTURE SILVERWARE

The Westmount Intermediates tucked away the championship yesterday afternoon when they defeated the Strathcona sextette 2-1. As the score indicates, the game was exceedingly fast and owing to the good work of the referees it was clean as well.

Glickman was the chief performer on the Westenders' lineup. It was mainly due to his steady playing and good back-checking that the winners came out above the board. Nicholson also played a very fast game for Westmount by following up all the shots in time style. MacCormack proved to be the pick of the losers by scoring their lone goal. Snyder also played a fast game for Strathcona. However, his individual rushes were not effective against the purple and white's defence.

The game opened at a fast clip and continued without slackening the pace. For 10 minutes the rubbed disk was shoved up and down the ice until Glickman opened the scoring for Westmount with a well-placed shot. With this tally the Northends bucked up and gave the Westmounters a run for their money. Time and again Huff was busy stopping some of their hot shots. The whistle blew at half time, however, without change of score and thus, the teams retired with the score 1-0.

The score period was a continuation of the battle royal of the previous half. This time, however, Strathcona took the offensive, Nicholson managed in the course of the next five minutes to sneak a neat shot for Westmount's second score. More determined than ever the navy and white jerseys rushed and rushed until their efforts were crowned with success when MacCormack reduced Westmount's lead by one point. For the remainder of the game the apparent victors played a three-man defence, thus reducing chances of losing the game. The final whistle stopped hostilities with the purple and white supporters at the heavy end of a 2-1 score.

LADY DOG FANCIERS GIVE BALL

The two societies whose special business it is to care for the interests of the horses and dogs disabled in the great war — the Purple and Blue Cross—are to benefit, by a dance to be given on March 6th by the Ladies' Kennel Club, at the Norman Hall, on Fairmount avenue.

Amongst the organizers are some of the most notable dog lovers in the city, Mrs. W. H. Stewart, Mrs. G. K. Brody, Mrs. Chas. Ward, Miss Camille Laviolette and Mrs. Geo. E. Sancton. Support is readily forthcoming from all quarters. The use of the hall has been donated by the Devonshire Club and, from the subscriptions and offers of assistance that are being received, it would seem that the success of the venture is assured and that the Ladies' Kennel Club will have quite a substantial sum to turn over to the Purple and Blue Cross Societies.

These two organizations, though little known to the general public, are two of the most admirable bodies to whom the war has given birth. The horses and dogs engaged in the strugge in France have performed yeoman service and it is amongst these dumb and helpless servants of man that the Societies of the Purple and Blue Cross move, tending quietly to their sufferings and doing all they can for their happiness. War must necessarily be brutal and if it were not for the activities of these two bodies many a poor animal, who is now quietly at rest in the fields of Southern France, would have been left to die in untold agonies on the scene of conflict.

MUNITION LEAGUE WILL PLAY MONDAY

The second game to be played for the Thomas Arnold trophy, representing the championship of the Munition League, will be played Monday night at the Jubilee Rink, between the two teams comprising the league.

This game will be the second of a series of three which are being held to decide the championship. Lyalls won the first game when they outplayed the Canada Cement aggregation to the tune of 6 to 1 and as the result this gives Lyalls a good five goal lead over their opponents.

THE REFEREES.

Newsy Lalonde and MacDonald have been secured to referee the match, and the Jubilee Monday night, which should be a close contested one. Cement have succeeded in acquiring some new talent to strengthen up their line-up for Monday night's parformance, and they intend to give their opponents a hot run.

Tickets for the game have been selling fast at both plants and interest is at high pitch. It is expected that a record crowd will turn out to view this second match, as the Munition League have secured a large number of followers, owing to the popularity of their players.

The line-up for Monday's game is to be as follows:

Cement.		Lyalls.
Penny	Goals	Lukeman
Spriggins	Point	Bechard
Fynan	Cover	Musgrove
DeGray	Forwards	Langlois
Penny	"	O'Grady
Anderson	"	Lamirande
Harrington	Spares	O'Connors
Jacobs	"	Braithwaite
Fitzpatrick	"	Norton

Result of first game: Cement, 1; Lyalls, 6.

The championship will be decided by the team scoring the largest number of goals during the three games.

With Pro. Boxers and Wrestlers

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Terry McGovern, former World's Featherweight champion, died at King's County Hospital at 9.25 this morning. He had been ill only two days.

Pneumonia and kidney trouble, complicated with other ailments, brought on the boxer's end within forty-eight hours from the time he was removed in an ambulance from his Brooklyn home to the hospital. His wife was with him when he died. They have one son, Joseph, aged 19. McGovern was reputed to have earned several hundred thousand dollars during his fighting career. After his retirement from the ring he conducted saloons at various times and was frequently in institutions because of ill-health. He was a free spender, and his fortune had so diminished a few years ago that Samuel Harris, who was his manager, at the height of his boxing success, raised a fund on McGovern's behalf. From this money Mrs. McGovern has received an income of $25 a week.

Lying beside Terry in the hospital was his brother Hughie McGovern, suffering from a broken arm. McGovern died from the effects of fast living according to intimate friends. Bright's disease, however, was the immediate cause.

HOW HE WON.

Terry came into the championship when he defeated Geo. Dixon, the wonderful negro, and successfully defended his laurels until he met Young Corbett in 1901. He fought many lightweights including Joe Gans and Frank Erne, both of whom he defeated by knockouts. He met Erne in Madison Square Garden in this city and defeated Gans in Chicago. Among other knockout victories to his credit were those over Eddie Santry and Kid Broad, still referred to as two of the best of the old time featherweights.

McGovern lost the world's featherweight championship when he was knocked out by Young Corbett in Hartford, Conn., much to the surprise of boxing followers, who had believed McGovern unbeatable. Corbett repeated the knockout some time later and McGovern's star immediately began to decline. McGovern is the third of old-time fistic champions to die within a short period, the first being Bob Fitzsimmons and the second John L. Sullivan.

McGovern also held the bantamweight championship at one time, winning it from Pedlar Palmer in England in 1899. The fight lasted less than a round.

Emery St. Pierre and Frankie Fleming, left last night for Toronto to report to the Royal Flying Corps. St. Pierre is one of the best boxers of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association. He has competed in the city championships on several occasions and has always made a creditable showing. St. Pierre is also a ski jumper and a speed skater.

Frankie Fleming is the Canadian champion, featherweight professional was sworn in previous to his fight with Joe Burns, which he won in an easy manner. St. Pierre was also sworn in at the same time.

They received a fine send-off from their friends last night at the Windsor station.

ROSS AND HALL SHOOT SATURDAY

There will be a trap shooting match between Art Ross and Joe Hall. Both participants are so well known that an introduction is quite unnecessary. The match is for a side bet of $10 each. The money has been deposited and will be turned over to the Canadian Red Cross by the winner.

The above is an added contest and will be shot off in addition to the regular week-end program of the National Shot Gun Association, who hold their seventh regular week-end shoot Saturday (tomorrow) afternoon, February 23.

There will also be a practice Shoot Club Spoon, Silver Trophy and Novice Spoon Shoot and Sweepstake. The Silver Trophy will be handicap open to all. The Novice Spoon is especially for those who have no trap experience. The sweepstakes are always optional and in accordance with the wishes of the members.

The match between Joe Hall and Art Ross is sure to be a hummer. Mr. Hall has had more experience at the trap than our friend Art, but his scores do not show up as well. This is only Mr. Ross' fifth time at the traps. To say he is making good is putting it mildly. Mr. Hall has done considerable trap shooting in the West, just how much he will not say. As a live game shooter he is as good as Art and Art is just as good as he is — so there you are!

Those who wish to come to the grounds of The National Shot Gun Association and see them put off the match, should take the Notre Dame de Grace cars, and get off at Belmore avenue. The traps are six minutes' walk from there. Shooting starts at 2:30 p.m.

ST. ANN'S AND LYALLS READY FOR SEMI-FINAL

Skating and rub-downs will be chiefly the order of the practices that St. Ann's and Lyalls will have tonight in preparation for the semi-final game tomorrow night at the Jubilee Rink, for the championship of the Montreal Hockey League.

Both teams are in the best of shape, and with the assurance of another record attendance for amateur hockey the fans should witness one of the best games of the season. The advance sale of tickets which opened yesterday has been just as large as last Tuesday's games.

President Callahan's warnings were received yesterday by the clubs and they will all be carried out.

RULES FOR GAMES.

In order that the spectators may be in their seats when the play commences tomorrow night, the game will only start at 8:30, with the three twenty-minute periods following. The same rule as given out by President Callahan before last Tuesday's matches, will apply, that is in connection with the score being even, or if there should be no score at all, at the end of the third period. The clubs will change goals and play ten minutes each way. If there still remains no decision, a five minute rest will follow, goals will be changed and play will continue until a decision has been reached by one side scoring.

Hochelaga, who meet the winners of this match on Tuesday next, have been resting up quietly all week, their final practice will be held on the morning of Feb. 24. These two matches are creating unlimited interest amongst the followers of hockey. The Montreal League has done much towards bringing the amateur game back to its proper footing, and that their work has been appreciated is shown by the large atendances they have drawn all season. These have been away ahead of any other year. President Callahan will not announce his officials until tomorrow.

QUEBEC DEFEATED THE "PUR CANAYENS"

QUEBEC, Feb. 22. — It was a regular old home night at the Arena when the Quebec team, now divided amongst Ottawa, Canadiens and Toronto, trimmed George Kennedys "Pur Canayens" by four goals to three in a friendly exhibition before a large crowd of spectators who cheered with all the enthusiasm they once exhibited when the Bulldogs fought for the N.H.A. honors against the other clubs. The game was hockey as it should be played, being absolutely devoid of roughness and though Quebec had the edge on the Frenchmen most of the way, Vezina's great goal tending kept them out while Canadiens scored twice in the second period. In the third twenty the Quebecers were not to be denied and McDonald scored on Carey's pass. Joe Malone added two in succession and Harry Mummery scored another for good measure. The Frenchmen died game, however, and Pitre added their third goal before the game ended. Moran played a fine game for Quebec and was given a big reception. The teams:

Quebec	Position	Canadiens
Moran	Goal	Vezina
Hall	Point	Corbeau
Mummery	Cover	Couture
Malone	Centre	Lalonde
McDonald	Left W.	Laviolette
Carey	Right W.	Pitre

MONTREAL ARENA CO.'Y WILL HAVE TO ACT PROMPTLY

Other Financial Men Discussing Erection Much Needed Building

HAVE NOTIFIED OLD COMPANY OF PLANS

Held Meetings—Will Give Westmount Concern Time to Act

It looks as if the decision on the part of the Montreal Arena Company to rebuild or not to rebuild, might be accelerated somewhat more than was at first expected, since it is stated that the company has been notified that a number of moneyed people in this city are prepared to fill the evident need of a combined auditorium and skating rink, in some other part of the city, should the old company decide not to build shortly.

Rumors of new arenas have been going the rounds every year, and with the exception of one or two cases have not gone beyond the stage of the submitting of plans and the figuring out of costs, but in this instance it looks as if the men, some of them said to be wealthy French-Canadians, are really prepared to go through with the affair unless the Montreal Arena Company decides shortly to rebuild.

The people interested in the new scheme realize that a rivalry between the old Arena Company and the proposed new company would be foolish, but believe that Montreal will be in need by next winter at any rate of a building like the one destroyed by fire recently.

The Star is assured that the old company has been notified by letter of the intentions of the people interested in the new scheme accompanied by an intimation that the latter will be glad to give the Arena Company a reasonable time to reach a decision as to whether they intend to rebuild or not.

Dinty Moores Up Against the Ladies

The Maisonneuve Ladies will play the famous team called the Dinty Moores at the Jubilee Rink tonight. This team who have a fast bunch of players and have made a great name for themselves, will try and keep their good name up. Miss Isabel Gallagher will have all her girls out tonight to take a win from these fast puck-chasers. The Ladies have a strong team of good stick-handlers and will show the men how to play tonight. The following players will take part in tonight's game: Miss Hart, Miss Penny, Miss Gallaghar, Miss B. Baker, Miss K. Baker, Miss Lord, Miss Slack.

The second game will be between the first Maisonneuve Boys' team and the Rosebuds of Westmount.

The referee for tonight's game will be Simons, who has been handling the boys all season and has proved himself very satisfactory.

John L. Sullivan's Friend Madden, Dead

NEW YORK, Feb. 22. — "Billy" Madden, sporting man and manager of the late John L. Sullivan, when he won the heavyweight pugilistic championship, died suddenly in the White Plains Hospital from acute indigestion. He was 65 years of age.

Madden was one of the best known sporting men in the country, and in addition to having managed Sullivan also handled Jack McAuliffe, one-time lightweight champion, and Jack Dempsey, who lost the middleweight championship to Bob Fitssimmons.

Madden, who had been staying at a health farm in Westchester county, went to the White Plains Hospital last Thursday in reference to a proposed operation. He apparently then was in good condition. The surgeons were in consultation tonight on the question of operating when Madden was seized with severe pains and died in half an hour.

Born in Marylebone, England, of Irish parentage, Madden was brought to the United States at an early age. He developed considerable skill in handling his fists and soon branched out as a bare knuckle fighter. He had many battles but never scored over any of the topnotch men of his time.

Man with Queer Name Still Billiard's Best

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—Champion Augie Kieckhefer today was looking for greater three cushion billiard worlds to conquer. He won the Red Cross tournament last night when he defeated Bob Cannefax, 50 to 45. In his afternoon game Cannefax came within 2 points of equalling a world's record when he ran sixteen points. Charlie Ellis finished second and Cannefax third in the tournament.

OUTREMONT MADE GREAT CURLING FIGHT IN QUEBEC

Defeated Montreal West Rink by Eighteen Points Majority

FINALLY LOST BY TWO IN EXTRA END

Three Montreal Rinks in Semi-Final Senators' Cup

Special to The Star.

QUEBEC, Feb. 22. — The playing in the Senator Curling Cup competition has reached the semi-final stage, Montreal being well represented, the rinks of Caledonia No. 1 (D. M. Wilson), St. Andrews No. 2 (McNally), and Montreal West No. 2 (Rankin). Surviving the first and second rounds, Sherbrooke No. 1, also getting into the semi-finals which will likely be played off on Friday afternoon on Quebec ice if available.

Both Thistle rinks were defeated after winning in the preliminary. D. Kinghorn's rink made a good stand but succumbed to Sherbrooke No. 2, by one shot; Sherbrooke in turn losing to McNally, St. Andrew's No. 2 rink by one. McNally's performance was the best of the day, his rink winning three games in order to get into the semi-finals, defeating Quebec in the morning, Caledonia No. 2 skipped by Nicholson in the afternoon, and Sherbrooke in the evening.

OUTREMONT'S GREAT STAND.

The keenest curling of the day, however, was seen in the game between Outremont and Caledonia No.

The Outremont squad secured one shot in each of seven ends and the twelfth end found the rinks tied. Wilson, however, counted two in the extra end thus winning in a splendidly played match.

The Quebec curlers did not reach the second round, though Smith's rink of Victoria curlers made a fine effort against Roffey's Heathers, only losing by one shot. Sherbrooke curlers very nearly had both rinks in the semi-finals. Watson's squad being beaten by McNally after also playing three games. Much interest is being taken in the big bonspiel and visiting curlers are well pleased with conditions. The ice was rather frosty in the morning, but towards noon became very keen, curling thereon being of the highest order. The first and second rounds.

RINKS FOR OTTAWA.

Five Heather rinks are going to Ottawa to play tomorrow. Three of these will take part in the District Medal with the Rideau Club, and the other two rinks will play friendly matches.

C. W. Taylor, N. K. Macdonald and W. B. Hutchison, will skip the District Medal rink, but the others have not been made up yet.

BOY SCOUTS WILL HOLD THEIR THIRD ANNUAL "ASSAULT."

Plans for the Third Annual Assault-at-Arms of the Central District Boy Scouts, are well underway, and with the kind permission of the O.C. of the 5th Royal Highlanders, it will again be held in their Armoury on Bleury street, on Saturday, the 9th March.

Boxing and wrestling bouts will be the principal features.

QUEBEC IS ANXIOUS TO HAVE MORE

Quebec wants more big hockey before the season is over, and has petitioned George Kennedy to try and arrange to have the last eastern match, which is scheduled for next Wednesday at the Jubilee rink (Canadiens vs. Ottawas), to be played in the Citadel City. Judging from the crowd at the exhibition game played by the Canadiens in Quebec yesterday it looks as if the attendance would be at least twice there what it would be here, and Mr. Kennedy is now in telegraphic communication with Ottawa.

Some weeks ago both Torontos and Ottawas objected strenuously to having any of the games played in Quebec, but money counts in professional sport.

The principal trouble it seems now, will be to make some satisfactory arrangement with the Jubilee Rink here, which naturally will have to be re-imbursed to some extent should the match be transferred.

SOCCER NOTES

Nomads' annual meeting was a great affair and in full keeping with this most enterprising club. One happy event was the return of "Cliff" Hilton, their old president, who takes up the reins of office once more, and with increased enthusiasm. The financial statement was greeted with applause, showing a healthy balance, quite apart from the proceeds of the recent smoker, which in itself netted over eighty dollars. Prospects for the coming season are exceedingly bright, and players at liberty, who would like to join (vacancies are few), should address the secretary, W. Hamer, 2621 Mance street.

The season's officers are: President, E. C. Hilton; vice-president, Bob McArthur; treasurer, James Sharp; secretary, W. Hamer.

The soccer Roll of Honor is now in the polisher's hands. When finished it will be placed on view in The Star window, before finding a resting place at the Y.M.C.A.

A little soccerman arrived at "Pep" Edwards' home last Monday. Some day he may play for Lyalls.

MIDGET LEAGUE (P.Q.F.A.)

All teams desiring to compete in this competition for the coming season should make early application to R. J. Gillespie, 546 Dorchester street west. Ages 14 to 16 years. Two clubs have applied thus far.

An important meeting of the Ch. of Redeemer Junior F. C. is to be held in the Hall, Church Ave., Cote St. Paul on Saturday, Feb. 23, at 3 o'clock sharp. The Cup Trophy for last year's championship of the Spalding Football League, has been received and will be at this meeting. Old and new members are urged to attend.

ALLEY BOWLING

CINCINNTTI, O., Feb. 22. —The annual convention of the American Bowling Congress to be held here today attracted the attention of the bowlers competing in the eighteenth annual tournament of the organization. Officers will be elected and the city where the next convention and tournament is to be held, will be named.

Before the convention officials of the congress stated that the name of Robert W. Brown, of Louisville, Ky., would be placed before the delegates as a candidate for president of the organization. Another candidate for president is John T. Smith, of Buffalo, N. Y., now second vice-president of the congress.

Toledo and St. Louis have made the greatest fight to land the convention and tournament to be held in 1919. Toledo delegates were early on the scene and they appeared to have the fight won, but the St. Louis delegation of more than 100 men have made a strenuous campaign, and they expressed confidence as to the outcome.

The only change in the standing yesterday at the tournment was in the displacement in the five-men event of the Cabanne team of St. Louis by the Wooster Lamberts, of the same city. The Wooster Lamberts bowled for a total of 2,855, which is 25 pins above the mark set up by the Cabanne men.

Lush and Blaney, of Cincinnati, continued as leaders in the doubles with a score of 1,212, and C. Wagner, of Newark, N.J., was first in the individual class, with 680.

INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENT FOR ENLISTING MEN

Canada and States Will Gather Up Each Other's Nationals

APPLICATION OF DRAFT SINCE MAY

Americans in Canada and Canadians in U. S. to Be Rounded Up

By Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—The details have been announced here of the conventions recently agreed upon between Canada and the United States governing the application of the military service laws to citizens of each country residing in the other. The conventions are now before the United States Senate, having been signed by the Earl of Reading and Mr. Lansing on behalf of Great Britain and the United States respectively. The new treaties will become effective on the date the ratifications are exchanged. It is provided that in respect to Canadians in the United States, the ages for military service shall be from 20 to 40 years, both inclusive, and for Americans in Canada from 21 to 30 years, both inclusive.

Negotiations in regard to this important matter have been in progress since last autumn, but no very satisfactory progress was made until about the middle of January, when Mr. E. L. Newcombe, Deputy Minister of Justice, went to Washington, accompanied by Lieut.-Col. C. S. MacInnis, Assistant Adjutant-General, as military adviser. As a result of negotiations extending over a period of ten days, a mutually satisfactory drafted convention was agreed upon. After being approved by His Excellency-in-Council, it was communicated by cable to the Secretary of State for the Colonies to be ratified.

FEW ALTERATIONS MADE.

The draft convention upon consideration was accepted was a few alterations, quite unimportant from the Canadian point of view, but deemed necessary having regard to the situation in the United Kingdom.

In other words, Mr. Newcombe, who went to Washington at the request of the Colonial Office, was successful in completing negotiations for a convention satisfactory both to the Mother Country and Canada.

TEXT OF CONVENTION.

The new convention provides:

(1) All male citizens of the United States in Canada, hereinafter called Americans, and all British subjects in the United States (a) who were born or naturalized in Canada, and who, before proceeding to the United States, were ordinarily resident in Canada (hereinafter called Canadians), shall, unless before the time limited by this convention they enlist or enroll in the forces of their own country, or return to the United States or Canada respectively, for the purpose of military service, be subject to military service and entitled to exemption or discharge therefrom under the laws and regulations from time to time in force of the country in which they are: Provided, that in respect to Canadians in the United States the ages for military service shall be, for the time being, 20 to 40 years, both inclusive, and in respect to Americans in Canada the ages for military service shall be, for the time being, 21 to 30 years, both inclusive.

(2) Americans and Canadians within the age limits aforesaid who desire to enter the military service of their own country must enlist or enroll, or must leave Canada or the United States, as the case may be, for the purpose of military service in their own country before the expiration of sixty days after the date of the exchange of ratification of this convention, if liable to military service in the country in which they are at said date; or, if not so liable then before the expiration of thirty days after the time when liability shall accrue, or, as to those holding certificates of exemption under Article Three of this Convention, before the expiration of thirty days after the date on which any such certificate becomes inoperative, unless sooner renewed; or, as to those who apply for certificates of exemption under Article Three, and whose applications are refused, then before the expiration of thirty days after the date of refusal, unless the application is sooner granted.

EXEMPTION PROVISIONS.

(3) The Government of the United States, through the Consul-General at Ottawa, and His Britannic Majesty's Government, through the British Ambassador at Washington, may issue certificates of exemption from military service to Americans and Canadians, respectively, upon application or otherwise within sixty days of the date of exchange of ratification of this Convention, or within thirty days from the date when such citizens or subjects become liable to military service in accordance with Article One, if the applications be made, or if the certificate be granted prior to their entry into the military service of [illegible] country. Such certificates may [illegible] special [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] them. Persons [illegible] States shall [illegible] States respectively [illegible] by the nationality of the country in which they are.

(4) Persons who are both British and American nationals shall be regarded for the purposes of this Convention, [illegible] only by the nationality of the country in which they are.

(5) The Government of the United States and the Government of Canada will, respectively, as far as possible, facilitate the return of Canadians or Americans who desire to return to their country for military service, but shall not be responsible for providing transport or the cost of transport of such persons.

(6) No citizen or subject of either country, who, under the provisions of this Convention, enters the military service of the other, shall, by reason of such service, be considered, after this Convention shall have expired or after his discharge, to have lost his nationality or to be under any allegiance to the United States or to His Britannic Majesty, as the case may be.

(7) The present convention shall be ratified by His Britannic Majesty and by the President of the United States of America, by and with the advice and consent of the [illegible]

ARRANGED TREATY WITH UNITED STATES

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME BY THORNTON W BURGESS

THE CRAFTINESS OF BLACKY THE CROW.

(Copyright, 1918, by T. W. Burgess.)

Go where you will, search high and low,
You'll find there's none like Mr. Crow.

Everybody knows that Blacky the Crow is crafty. Of course. Everybody knows it just as everybody knows that Reddy Fox is sly. Craftiness has become a part of Blacky's character. To be crafty is to be very clever and cunning, to be smart in a sly and shrewd way. There are times when even Old Man Coyote would take off his hat to Blacky the Crow, if he had one to take off, I suspect. The fact is any one who expects to get ahead of Blacky must get up very early in the morning or sit up all night and then is more than likely to find he has had his trouble for nothing. Yes, sir, a shrewd, clever rascal is Blacky, as crafty a chap as ever lived.

For the Rest of That Day He Didn't Think About Much of Anything Else.

Blacky learned long ago that the way to outwit his neighbors was to know more than they do. So, if there is any one who knows more about what is going on in the Green Meadows and in the Green Forest I don't know who it is. Now, when Reddy Fox and Roughleg the Hawk became partners for the purpose of trying to catch Danny Meadow Mouse, they thought no one knew of it. That is where they made a mistake. Blacky knew. Anyway he guessed what was up. You see he was flying over a distant part of the Green Meadows when Reddy and Roughleg made their attempt to catch Danny, and he saw what was going on. He saw Reddy begin the hunt and then when Reddy began to dig in the snow he saw Roughleg fly over and presently dash down in his vain effort to catch Danny.

Blacky kept right on his way, but in his shrewd little head he was putting two and two together and making four, as the old saying is. "I cross these Meadows every day," thought he, "and I've seen Reddy Fox hunting for Danny Meadow Mouse many, many times, but always alone unless Mrs. Reddy or Old Granny Fox happened to be with him. And I've seen Roughleg the Hawk hunting Danny many, many times and always alone. When Reddy has been hunting Roughleg has kept away and when Roughleg has been hunting Reddy has kept away. Neither has been able to catch Danny Meadow Mouse, and so this morning they have tried hunting together. Unless my eyes deceive me, and that is something they seldom do, Danny wasn't caught this time. I wouldn't be surprised if now they leave Danny alone for quite awhile. This is a chance for you, Blacky. Think it over! Think it over!"

Blacky did think it over. In fact, for the rest of that day he didn't think about much of anything else. There were two reasons why he would like to catch Danny or Nanny Meadow Mouse. One was because Reddy Fox and Roughleg the Hawk hadn't been able to. The other and most important reason was that Blacky was having a hard time to pick up a living while everything Meadow Mouse dinner would taste quite as good to him as to Reddy was so covered with snow and a of Roughleg.

Before he went to sleep that night on his favorite roost in the Green Forest he did a lot of planning, did Blacky the Crow.

"If Reddy and Roughleg stop hunting them Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse will get careless after awhile. I never knew it to fail," thought he. "That will be my chance. I'll just fly over where they live every day so that they will thing nothing of seeing me about, and at the same time I'll be able to find out which of those little round doorways in the snow they use the most. After that, well after that we'll see what we will see."

Blacky chuckled and closed his eyes. In two minutes he was asleep and dreaming that he was catching Meadow mice by the dozen and that in all the Great World there was no one so crafty as he.

THAT "DUTCH CUT."

I would like the writer of the "Mrs. Vernon Castle" style of hair dressing, whom, if I remember rightly, called herself "Peeving" to know that I greatly approve of this style, and the sooner our Canadian cities would adopt it the more pleased I should be, for my hair is naturally only a few inches longer than "Dutch Cut," and I find it extremely hard to dress it in numerous or becoming styles, so the "Irene Castle" or "Dutch Cut" appeals to me very strongly. I noted that one or two people, and one man at that, were wont to condemn such a style, as his wife had an abundance of beautiful hair. Does he not realize that nine out of every ten women and girls do not possess such a gift or luxury, whatever you may choose to call it, and that for a great number of us the "Dutch Cut" would suit much better, not only as a labor and time saver, but in appearance. This particular gentleman asked how should we like to see the men adopt the style of long hair and long beards, just for convenience? Of course we shouldn't like it, but when we wore our hair "Dutch Cut" as children nobody thought it was to save time. Our mothers combed it that way, and nobody thought either that it was unbecoming or untidy, so why should they think of it in that light because we are a few, perhaps ten years, older? BABE.

CHARITY EUCHRE.

What do you think of a girl who would ask her friends to help her get up a Euchre for the benefit of returned soldiers and then make money out of it.

Also what should have been done with the prizes that were left over, there being three prizes too many donated to the euchre. Should not they have been taken to the Superfluity Shop, or somewhere the soldiers would have had the benefit of them? F. L. H.

Ans.—(1) I would consider it absolutely dishonest. (2) Yes, I would think so.

A. M. R.

(1) Try ether on the milk stain on the silk sweater coat. (2) Rub powdered French chalk into the white corduroy and goatskin. Leave a day or two, then brush out. Repeat if necessary. (3) Thank you.

PARENTS DON'T APPROVE.

(1) What would a fellow do if he was going to see a girl and could not go to her home, because her parents do not approve of him. The girl likes this boy and wishes to go with him.

(2) A soldier boy in writing to his home made the request that I should write to him, what kind of letters should I write, as he is a stranger to me.

(3) Can One Woman's Story be obtained in book form?

A CONSTANT READER.

Ans.—(1) He should go to the girl's parents and ask them to state their objections to him and give reasons for it. (2) Pleasant, friendly letters, full of local news. Send clippings from the papers occasionally. (3) No.

CHILDREN'S NURSE.

You may obtain training as a children's nurse at the Montreal Foundling and Baby Hospital, 750 St. Urbain street. Write to the Superintendent for application form.

THANKS FROM READER.

May I, through your valuable column, thank I.U., and "A Mexican" for their kindness in sending the words of "La Paloma." It was very much appreciated.

"LOVER OF SPANISH."

APPRECIATE LETTERS.

I am enclosing for your perusal, a short letter from an appreciative soldier boy in France. I thought it would be further evidence of the fact, that those who receive the kind messages, from their well wishers here, are really helped by the spirit which prompts such uninterested actions.

FRANCE, 26-12-17.

Dear Friend:

Received your gift of cigarettes and tobacco yesterday, for which many thanks. A few smokes now and then help a fellow along quite a bit out here. Best wishes.

GUNNER, H. B. R. (C.F.A.)

Some may ridicule the idea, but who are they? Invariably lazy people who feel ashamed of their own inaction on behalf of others. Good luck to such "bricks" as "A Wee Helper." They are doing a noble work, supporting the "boys" who are out there fighting for all that Holy Religion teaches—sacrifice, in essence, and that, rather than peaceful acquiescence in the triumph of wrong-doing. I feel that it might be some encouragement to send this to you, whose efforts cannot fail to produce good fruit. "HILLOCKS."

PTE. DARLYSHIRE.

Can you or any of your readers tell me what battalion, 256743, Pte. F. Darlyshire, went overseas in? It was a battalion from Saskatchewan that left for overseas about the middle of February. I would like very much to know.

Where can I get a French and English book? That is, so I could learn French at home?

What should a newly married girl say, when being introduced to her husband's friends at their home?

Why is a girl as a domestic servant looked down upon by the business girl and others? Is it not honest work? DARLYSHIRE.

Ans.—(1) Referred to readers. (2) Any bookstore. (3) That she is glad to meet them and she appreciates their entertaining her. (4) She should not be. I consider a girl in domestic service who is intelligently "on her job," saving food, doing her housework properly, is displaying real brains and is fitting herself for the career most women have in mind, marriage.

GREENGAGE.

(1) You might develop neck and hollows in shoulders by massaging with cocoa butter, to be obtained at a drug store. (2) To prepare a "wheat bran" for whitening the neck, you would, I suppose, buy bran, make a stiff paste with water, apply to neck and leave all night, washing off in the morning. I have heard of oatmeal being used in this way, but have never before heard of using bran. (3) C. M. R. means Canadian Mounted Rifles. (4) D. C. M. means "distinguished conduct medal."

GIRLS' CLUB.

Could you kindly advise the duties assigned to the president and vice-president, also committee, of a girls' club? Your advice would be greatly appreciated. LINA.

Ans.—It depends on your own constitution, in which you assign the duties to the various officers. Generally speaking, the president presides over all general and executive meetings of the club; the vice-president presides with the president at all general meetings, or without her if the president should be absent; the recording secretary takes the minutes at every meeting and reads the minutes of the previous meeting; the corresponding secretary attends to all correspondence, the treasurer receives fees and attends to all banking and financial business; the executive committee help to arrange all business and social affairs of the club. You will find Bourinot's "Parliamentary Law," to be obtained at any book store, of invaluable assistance in conducting the affairs of your club.

REV. GUNSAULUS.

In the issue of The Star dated February 19 you refer to readers a query with regard to Rev. Gonsollus. Your enquirer probably refers to Rev. F. W. Gunsaulus, known from one end of the United States to the other as the head of the Armor Institute of Technology. Dr. Gunsaulus is a Congregational minister and from 1887 to 1899 he was the minister of Plymouth Church, Chicago. He has also been a lecturer at Yale and at the University of Chicago. He has written a good deal of rhythmical poetry, his best known works being "Phidias and Other Poems", "Songs of Night and Day"; "Monk and Knight." He is also the author of a readable life of W. E. Gladstone, the great English statesman, as well as of several works of a religious tenor, such as "The Metamorphosis of a Creed" and "The Man of Galilee."

NEWFOUNDLAND.

For W. B.—(1) So far as I know, the Union Jack is the only flag Newfoundland uses. (2) Kitchener was not married. The picture was a mistake.

ARRAS.

I am sorry. I gave your questions to the motion picture editor and they were answered on the Saturday motion picture page under the heading "Ask Me." I will ask "D. H." to answer them there again.

NEVER QUITE SATISFIED.

If you would be good enough to repeat your question, it would help a great deal. It is quite possible, you know, that your first letter did not reach me.

I consider your question a point of law and have submitted it to Editor Notes and Queries, who will answer in his page.

FASHIONS FOR TODAY

The lingerie blouse will undoubtedly be a great favorite during the coming summer if the present list of style decisions and the charming models developed in lingerie materials are an indication.

Combinations, both of fabrics and colors, are also notable features of the lingerie blouses for next summer. Heavy linen is combined with sheer organdy and with dotted swiss, colored linen with white organdy or swiss, and vice versa.

For example, a dainty blouse of swiss or organdy may have collar, cuffs, and pockets of linen, or a linen blouse may have a guimpe or vest of the sheer fabric.

The sketch illustrates a modish tailored blouse, combining Pekin blue linen with white organdy. The blouse is a slip over model. The back of the garment is severely plain and seamless, under arm seams serving to give the blouse a semi-fitted effect.

The little tucked vest is of white organdy and the collar of the colored linen. The blouse is stitched in white, and the armhole is finished with a tiny white cording, set in with the sleeve, of white organdy.

If the color is not becoming next to the face, an over-collar of white may be used. The neck is finished with a chic bow of black velvet ribbon.

Among the colors that promise to be popular in lingeries blouses for spring and summer are coral, Pekin blue, and tan. The last-named shade is especially popular both in linen and in the sheer fabrics, one of the daintiest blouses recently seen being in tan swiss dotted in white and finished with white line collar and cuffs.

Dainty Frock of Spotted Challis For Little One

By MAY MANTON

Could any one find a prettier, daintier little frock than this, at the same time it is absolutely simple, the body portion and deep yoke being cut in one with the sleeves, does away with any sewing to the arm-holes and gives pretty and becoming lines. Here, the material is a dotted challis with silk bands as trimming, but this is a design that you can use for a silk frock or for a challis frock or for lawn or batiste or cotton voile with success, or, you can make the body portion of all-over embroidery, the skirt of a plain material.

For the 4-year size will be needed, 2¼ yards of material 36 inches wide, 1⅞ yards 44.

The pattern No. 9372 is cut in sizes from 2 to 6 years. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of 15 cents.

GOMPERS' MESSAGE STIRS CONVENTION

Socialists and Laborites Send Angry Protest to America

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 22. — Yesterday's session of the Inter-Allied Conference of Socialists and Labor Parties was occupied, to the exclusion of all other business, with a discussion of an alleged misrepresentation of the attitude of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, towards British labor, as outlined in press despatches from Washington yesterday. Delegates to the conference generally regarded the press telegrams as a malicious effort to sow discord between the labor elements of the Allied Powers. The conference, after instructing a special committee to deal with the matter, approved sending a cablegram to Mr. Gompers inviting him to repudiate "the gross falsification of your message, which is apparently part of a campaign of malicious misrepresentation by the enemies of labor."

The text of Mr. Gompers' message was printed in all London newspapers Wednesday afternoon and in most of yesterday morning's editions. It follows:

"All are advised that any person presuming to represent American labor at your conference is self-constituted and unrepresentative. American labor believes German influences have inspired the London conference, and until this is disproved will avoid the conference."

BAD IMPRESSION CREATED.

The latter sentence was not in the text of the message received by Arthur Henderson, former minister without portfolio in the War Cabinet and leader of the Labor party, and the conference declared the whole message was obviously an effort to create discord. The correct text of Mr. Gompers' message was made public by Mr. Henderson yesterday, but delegates declared it would be very difficult to counteract the wrong impression created by the widespread publication yesterday of the incorrect version.

The Central News explains the passage referring to German influence, interpolated in Mr. Gompers' message to the labor conference, by saying that it was added to the despatch by its New York correspondent. Unfortunately the ticker machine omitted the quotation marks on each side of the passage, and the despatch ran on as if the whole were Mr. Gompers' message.

KITCHENER'S CHAPEL AT ST PAUL'S.

A chapel is to be erected in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, in memory of Lord Kitchener. A site on the ground floor of the cathedral, offered by the Dean and Chapter, has been accepted by the Memorial Fund. In addition the fund is providing 25 scholarships for one year to overseas sailors and soldiers who gave up their university studies to join the Colours at the outbreak of war, and who have been disabled. The men will be sent to the various universities.

THE DAY IN COURT

PRACTICE DIVISION.

February 21, 1918.

Presiding: Mr. Justice Greenshields.

Judgment were rendered in the following cases in the afternoon:

Dame A. Lapointe vs. Montreal Carriage Co., Limited—Plaintiff's petition to sue under the Workmen's Compensation Act, judgment for $2,225.

Michael Joseph O'Brien vs. S. Kauffman and Dame Celia Freedman opposant—Plaintiff's motion to examine opposant; granted fixed the 26th instant, at 10:30 a.m. au greffe.

Juliette Reed, petitioner, vs. J. T. Landriault—Petition for writ of habeas corpus; granted, returnable the 25th instant at 10:30 a.m., room 31, Court House.

Joseph Therrien vs. E. S. Filiatrault. Plaintiff's petition for pension; granted as to $25 a month beginning with the service of the petition, payable in advance, costs to follow suit.

"ALLAH NABI."

A strange tale is in circulation at clubs where men from the East foregather, says "A Club Member" in the Liverpool Post. It is said that, apart from General Allenby's unquestioned success, his name has had a remarkable effect on the Turks. For Allenby is by them interpreted as Allah Nabi, which means the man from Allah, or the emissary of Allah. Therefore, his triumph has been accepted as a direct divine interposition. This was a stroke of luck which never entered the minds of the war authorities when they wisely gave him his command.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING FACILITIES INCREASED

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—Additional machinery is being added by the Military Hospitals Commission to the equipment in the Calgary Institute of Technology and Art for the purpose of affording more returned men the opportunity to take up electrical and mechanical engineering.

The constantly increasing number of men returning from the front makes it imperative for the vocational training centres to be ready to receive them and grant them at once the training necessary to fit them to return to civil life.

In British Columbia, the vocational training facilities at the Shaughnessy Convalescent Hospital in Vancouver are being increased by the addition of twelve extra class rooms, while at Fairmont the equipment is to be supplemented by the addition of a big machine shop and drafting room. Accommodation will also be made for a large shoe repairing department.

RE-EDUCATIONAL CENTRES.

Provision for a centre of vocational re-education in Fredericton, N.B., is also being made in the fine vocational building now under construction there.

In carrying out its vocational re-education powers the Military Hospitals Commission has provided as wide a variety of courses as possible at all centres. The policy has been adopted, however, of developing centres of re-education with special equipment at important points as follows: Halifax, Montreal, Toronto, Guelph, Winnipeg, Calgary and Saskatoon.

Centres of re-education for agriculture are being developed at Guelph, Winnipeg, Saskatoon and at Olds, Alta., where the Provincial Department of Agriculture placed one of its agricultural high schools at the disposal of the Commission.

SAVE FOOD!

BY the end of February, cereal shipments from American to the Allies will be 45,000,000 bushels short and meat shipments also far short of the supply promised. This is the statement made public last night by U. S. Food Administrator H. C. Hoover.

Lack of shells, guns or men is felt at the front. Lack of food weakens resistance, instantly, from the wire-cutters in No Man's Land to the women knitting warm garments furthest back of the lines. Food shortage lowers the degree of national strength as no attack by the Kaiser can force it down.

Save food! Save food as surely as you would save ammunition in a desperate corner of the battlefield! Nothing can lose the war so quickly as lack of food.

THE BIG DRIVE.

THE encircling movement begun by Mayor Martin to take Quebec, designed to capture and efface Sir Lomer Gouin, goes on. Rumor has it that the Mayor has announced that he will be in Quebec by April first, or about the time Hindenburg arrives in Paris.

A WIDELY-HELD BELIEF.

EVERY day and night some man or woman of prominence and ability interprets the world war as a visitation sent for the purpose of purifying the nations. Many changes caused by war are advanced as evidence that this is so.

Granted that the war is sent to improve and purify conditions of life, the end of it will not come till the object is accomplished. Those who accept the view that there is an inner spiritual meaning to the war should be foremost in war service at home, because they must realise that peace can come only with a new situation that they can help to induce. So long as the home environment is one of carelessness, needlessness and luxury, then, the war will go on.

PERNICIOUS MACHINES.

THAT gambling machines are operating as openly as ever in the city is directly charged by the Bureau of Municipal Research.

"There is almost uninterrupted operation throughout the city," declares the report of this body, "of hundreds of gambling machines, commonly termed slot machines. It was found there were those who were operating as many as four of these machines and this in full public view."

The evil of these devices is evident every day in the Police Court and the Juvenile Court. The most convincing proof has been brought before these tribunals that youths become so infatuated with the game they will resort to robbery, embezzlement and other crimes to satisfy their passion. Heads of big industrial firms in the city have written the Board of Control stating many of their employes were getting so fascinated with this new form of gambling as to be incompetent to perform their work.

The most tremendous profits are made by these machines for their rapacious owners.

In a recent civic investigation a witness interested in placing the instruments, stated he had received a "profit" from ten machines in six weeks' time, of $4,000; while a certain company, which he named, made a profit of no less than $40,000 a month. As there is more than one company interested in placing machines the annual sum expended must be something enormous.

It has been figured out that the chances of the dupes winning are so small as to be negligible; the prodigous profits bear this out.

Courts in the United States have repeatedly banned the instruments as gambling devices pure and simple and have meted out fines and imprisonment. The courts in Montreal have also given out judgments against them.

There is enough of authority and precedent to warrant the most active war against the machines—and it should be inaugurated without delay. The evil is too menacing to allow of further weak-kneed procedure.

THE WAR.

THE STAB AT RUSSIA'S HEART.

THE Bolshevik messenger bearing the information that Russia has surrendered does not seem to have reached German headquarters as yet; at least this is the inference we must draw if we are to believe that Germany intends to pay any attention to anything Lenine or Trotsky may say. For the German war machine is still rolling forward with all its initial speed and it is very much an open question whether any actions or speeches of the distracted powers in Petrograd will now be able to stop it before it has accomplished its objects. The German advance is assuming roughly the shape of a gigantic sickle, the handle being represented by the Hapsal-Reval line in Esthonia, the blade beginning at Riga, running to Minsk and from there sweeping in a curve through Pinsk, Kovel and Rovno. Before the edge of this great blade there appear to be advance forces, such as that which is reported to be driving at Pskov in a direct line between Dvinsk and Petrograd.

The general objective of this great advance is fairly clear. The provinces which are being inundated are the very heart of industrial Russia. The development in this territory during the past ten or fifteen years has been remarkably rapid, and mainly under German supervision and with German capital. The German aim is to overrun just as much of this country as it is possible to do. If, as seems quite probable at the present time, no serious obstacle to her advance can be offered by Russia so much the better for Germany. But, on the other hand, should Russia perform a miracle by suddenly coming to her senses and, by one means or another, succeed in holding the invaders back, the more of these industrial Baltic provinces the Germans hold the more serious will be the handicap under which Russia will labor. Similarly the drive against Reval, which this morning's cables indicate as being assisted by the German fleet, gives the enemy command of the bottle neck of the Gulf of Finland and the approach by sea to the Russian capital.

In a word, absolute paralysis of all northern Russia is what the success of the present German drive implies. With Petrograd, the ganglion of all the northern railways, in her hands, with the industrial areas behind her armies either devastated or held fast and with complete command of the sea Germany could dictate terms to Great Russia from Libau to the Ural Mountains. She will not need actually to overrun this enormous area, even if that were possible; all that is necessary is that she hold the railways and the economic centres and her will is law.

WHO GETS THE UKRAINE?

It is impossible to learn from the cables what is taking place in Little Russia. The only two despatches devoted to the Ukrainian situation today, for instance, are quite contradictory in so far as the extent and success of the reaction against Bolshevism are concerned. Alexieff is, in one report, described as making substantial headway against the influence from Petrograd and being on the eve of a military success. The other declares that his forces are undermined by repeated outbreaks of Bolshevik influence and that he has again and again been betrayed by the Cossacks, the very forces upon which the Ukraine has to depend if any headway is to be made against the northern jacobins. Unfortunately the latter despatch seems the more likely to be correct, judging by the events of the past two months.

The Ukraine is the rich prize that dangles before the eyes of Germans and Bolsheviki alike. It is a race for her cereals, her metals and her oils. The news that Trotsky has been made Food Controller in Petrograd and has set out to secure supplies at the gun muzzle shows how serious the food problem has become in the north. At any cost Petrograd must be fed. But so must Vienna.

INCARNATE JUNKERDOM.

It is some time since the Prussian junker has had an innings on the public platform to air his views, the tendency in Germany of late having been rather the other way, but he apparently had his chance at a meeting of his class in Berlin recently when the League of Agrarians got together. The resulting speeches are interesting and should be highly instructive to those who imagine that the war has in any way affected the curious mentality of the typical Prussian. One of these was particularly violent in his attitude toward ex-Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg for his now historic reference to the invasion of Belgium at the beginning of the war. According to this interesting atavism of the Stone Age the sin lay, not in the invasion of Belgium but in the admission by the Chancellor that this invasion was wrong. It was a sin because it made the German task of murder and shame rather more difficult. This is the very spirit of junkerdom articulate, the essence of what we mean when we talk of that Prussian militarism which must be destroyed. There is no place in the world today for coldly deliberate perversion such as this.

IN THEIR ELEMENT.

MLENINE and M. Trotsky, leaders of the Bolsheviki, are advocates of continual war between the classes. They must be enjoying themselves now, for the Germans are coming after them on one side and the Cossacks and Ukrainians on the other. Other classes, such as the Roumanians, are in wait.

In view of their performances in face of the enemy up to the present time it would be just as well to change the name of the organization from the Red to the Yellow Guard.

THE WORLD'S PRESS

Lest We Forget!

Philadelphia Evening Ledger: Every bushel of wheat in Canadian elevators has been seized by the Government. England is fighting hard to prevent further food shortage. He is a scoundrel who lets himself forget that.

The New York Way.

New York Post: Nova Scotia is thinking of reversing its rule that street and sidewalk traffic should keep to the left. Our way, especially when we are in a hurry, is to get past people by keeping to right and left simultaneously.

Less Talk, More War Work.

Boston Transcript: Less talk about peace at Washington and more work for war, a smaller number of promises and a larger measure of performance, would go far to check suspicion of America overseas and farther to arouse Americans at home. What Washington sorely needs today is is "the fighting heart." Unless and until that need is supplied we shall not begin to win the war.

Win World Organization.

Boston Globe: Time was when we took all these commodities for granted; ships, coal, wheat, freight cars, imports, exports. We no more thought of organizing and administering them as a whole than we would have thought of controlling the tides. Now, from war's very necessities, we begin to "see the wheels go round" and to perceive that at least in such times of stress as these the great and abiding needs of human life ought to be wisely controlled and economically administered. World organization is necessary in order to win the war. Perhaps the war was necessary in order to win world organization.

South Africa and Germany.

London Daily Telegraph: The men who fought and died under General Smuts and General Botha have bound us never "to consent to the restoration to a militant Germany of fresh footholds for militarism in the Southern Hemisphere." Our people here and Overseas seek no aggrandizement, no new source of military power. We fight for peace, security and freedom. We ask no more, but we can be content with no less. The guiding principle of a settlement of colonial questions must be that no Power shall be allowed to endanger the civilization and the free development of the human race.

Haggis an English Dish!

London Daily Chronicle: If, greatly daring, you would rouse a Scot to wrath, tell him that the haggis was originally an English dish. If you wish that wrath to be volcanic in its eruption, add that he probably misspells it, as of old it was written indifferently "haggas," "haggess," or "haggus." In support of the former assertion you may quote from the "English Housewife" of Cromwell's days a recipe for making it, in which blood, oatmeal, and sheep's, calf's, or pig's liver bulk largely. That the dish was popular in this country at that time is clear from the author's statement that "there is hardly to be found a man who does not affect them."

The Irish Convention.

The Times: The Cabinet knows better than anyone else, the broad facts of the situation—the precise value of an Irish settlement to the progress of the war, the determination of the great bulk of Englishmen that a settlement shall be made, the weight of pressure from the Dominions and from the United States and the Allies, the permanent principles which must govern their sanction of any conceivable Irish settlement. These principles, as it seems to us, were expressed in a very typical form by an Irish Colonial Roman Catholic soldier, and we entirely agree with him that, "these being agreed, it will be criminal folly for any section of the Convention to permit anything that happened before the war to influence their decision." We wish we could think that this broad-minded advice may yet be followed by the whole Convention.

The Canadian Idea.

Christian Science Monitor: When the Canadian Cabinet issued an order closing all industries for three days, that fuel might be conserved, no person with a powerful voice ascended to the housetop and demanded that the Government immediately resign. On the contrary, it was taken for granted, throughout Canada, that the Government would not have issued such an order unless there had been necessity for it. This is an assumption that might well be adopted by Canada's nearest neighbor. It is out of the question that people generally should know as much in particular about the needs of the country as the Government. On the whole it would be better to assume that the Government knows what it is doing, and that it is doing its best. This seems to be the Canadian idea, and as Canada has been in the war a great deal longer than the United States, it might be well for the United States to take a hint from that nation now and then.

The Food Shortage.

London Daily Mail: A great German military authority has said that the war will be won by the nation which can endure hardship best. Yet the instant cessation of the war by this country would not end the food crisis, and might on the contrary accentuate it. The United States virtually controls the world's supplies. Those supplies are exceedingly short. At present they are cut off from Germany. If she were given free access to them she would bid for them against ourselves and our Allies. As the food in sight is barely sufficient for the Allies, when it had been divided with Germany there would be less than ever left for ourselves. Nor is there much prospect of any great increase in the food supply for the next five or six years. The shortage has come to stay, and can be cured only by enormously increasing our home production which we are doing. The age of cheap and plentiful food had passed some time before the first shots were fired in 1914.

The Freedom of the Seas.

London Morning Post: The Navy of England for a hundred years has kept the peace of the seas. England has suppressed piracy, abolished the slave trade; has surveyed, lighted and buoyed the oceans for the free use of all mariners; has opened her ports to all nations, and given them help and succour in distress. What has Germany done that she should claim the right to make proposals concerning sea-power to the rest of the world? She has violated every canon of international law, outraged the customs of humanity, broken every tradition of the sea, committed murder and robbery, and brutally slain unarmed civilians and defenceless women and children. Germany is the foulest pirate that ever disgraced the seas. The German demand for the freedom of the seas is the demand of the thief and the murderer for the removal of the policeman. But were Germany chivalrous as France, and clean-handed as America, not to her, nor to the other nations of the world banded together, will Great Britain yield an inch of British soil, or abate a jot of her rights at sea. When will this country learn that it is fighting for its life?

Eternal Silence.

The cities have their noises—tongues at feud.
And seething speech in hot confusion roll'd;
But yonder, deep in Russia's heart there brood
The slow and sodden silences of old.
Only the wind's astir—nor respite yields
To any tossing wayside willow-tips;
The endless line of arches sways and dips
To kiss Old Mother Nature's earthy lips—
So wave the heads of wheat in ripening fields.

—NICHOLAI NEKRASON, in the Russian Review.

THE PASSING HOUR

A FAIR OFFER.

The General —It's your turn on the treat.

The Colonel—It would give me more pleasure being in on the retreat.

A physician says that onions are good for the nerves, but he doesn't say what is good for the onions.

A lady recently selecting a hat at a milliner's asked cautiously:

"Is there anything about these feathers that might bring me into trouble with the Bird Protection Society?"

"Oh, no, madam," said the milliner.

"But did they not belong to some bird?" persisted the lady.

"Well, madam," returned the milliner, pleasantly, "these feathers are the feathers of a howl; and the howl, you know, madam, seein' as 'ow fond he is of mice, is more of a cat than a bird."

As rats did much damage to his papers the Hindu clerk in charge of the official documents in one of the more remote Indian towns obtained permission to keep two cats, the larger of them receiving rather better rations. A few weeks later the head office at Delhi received this despatch:

"I have the honor to inform you that the senior cat is absent without leave. What shall I do?"

To this problem there was vouchsafed no answer. After waiting a few days the Hindu sent off a proposal:

"In re absentee cat. I propose to promote the junior cat and in the mean time to take into government service a probationer cat on full rations."

Irving Fletcher said at the club, apropos of the failure of one of those expensive, exclusive sort of tailors who do not even display their wares in their windows:

"The trend of modern business proves that if a man won't advertise his goods the sheriff will step in and do it for him."

A kind word is never spoken in vain. It has frequently saved a married man a set of dishes.

FROM THE STAR FILES

THIRTY YEARS AGO.

(From The Star Files, Feb. 22, 1888)

Washington.—The Senate has made public today the Fisheries' Treaty. For nearly all practical purposes, the Treaty leaves the three mile limit question where the Commissioners found it. All that the Treaty does is to mark out the limits definitely. The Treaty is signed by T. F. Bayard, William L. Putman, J. Chamberlain, L. Sackville West, and Charles Tupper.

London.—In the House of Commons last evening, Sir Henry Holland, Colonial Secretary announced that the native government of the Tonga Islands had been induced to stop the persecution of the Wesleyan missionaries and had promised to respect Wesleyan converts in future.

Montreal.—The Road Department has turned out a new hard wood roller, 5½ feet in diameter by 8 feet long, for rolling the snow after the plough has gone through. It was tried on Park Avenue yesterday and found to make a splendid road.

Toronto.—A deputation of fruit growers from Niagara and that district, waited on the city authorities yesterday asking for the establishment of a regular wholesale fruit market in this city. They think that trade now going to Montreal should come here.

Kingston.—Bread has dropped from 12 cts. to 10 cts. for a 4 lb. loaf, in consequence of a fresh barrel being established for the benefit of the poor.

Ottawa.—The revival service conducted in Dominion Methodist Church by the Rev. Mr. Hunter and the Rev. Mr. Crossley have lasted for six weeks. Interest among all classes of society has been augumented by the fact that Sir John and Lady Macdonald have been attending as often as two and three times a week.

Montreal.—The annual report of the governors, principal and fellows of McGill University shows the total of students to be 595.

Previous to the war, 1,402 students were enrolled at McGill. The number now is 800.—Ed note.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

(From The Star Files, Feb. 22, 1898)

Montreal.—Ash Wednesday services will be held in many of the city churches tomorrow.

New York.—This is Washington's Birthday and it is being observed as a public holiday. From countless flag staffs the Stars and Stripes are flying. In the harbour foreign ships, including the Spanish, are flying the American flag.

Victoria.—A branch of the Molson's Bank is to be opened here.

Brantford.—Pauline Johnson, the Indian poetess, has been called here by the illness of her mother.

French-Canadian Views

RELIGIOUS AND CIVIL LENTS.

L'Evenement—No one in this Catholic province will complain of the order for two meatless days a week, because by the laws of the Church we are bound to abstain from meat on Friday and Wednesday during the Lenten season. Thus we find that the religious and the civil Lent are the same. In a country as cold as ours we are too often inclined to abuse the use of meat. But in putting a curb upon the appetite of the meat eaters, it is necessary to at the same time frustrate the ferocious appetite of the speculators in fish.

"REGRETTABLE AND DISASTROUS."

L'Action Catholique—The decision of Judge Duff will have the effect of throwing a large number of college students into the army. There are 65 of military age in the Quebec Seminary alone. At least 600 young men will have their studies rudely interrupted in the classical colleges, and as each year at least a fourth of these enter the Grand Seminary, that will mean that 150 future priests will be taken from the Church in the Province of Quebec so long as the conscription law shall be applied. And if this continued for four years there would at the end of that time be nobody left in the Seminaries. Which is the more important, to have soldiers for the army or priests for the parishes?. We leave our readers to meditate upon this question.

EXEMPTION OF TEACHERS.

La Patrie—The central tribunal presided over by Judge Duff has rejected the demand for exemption presented by the Montreal Catholic School Commission for their lay teachers affected by the military law. This will affect 145 professors who teach in the primary schools of Montreal and a number of others in the suburbs. In the other provinces and in the Protestant schools of Montreal primary teaching is almost exclusively given by women, but we have in Montreal from 60 to 70 boys' schools conducted by lay teachers or by brothers and laity. It is not our custom to admit female teachers in our boys' schools. The religious communities have not enough pupils to replace the teachers who may be called to military service and it will be impossible for them to find a sufficient number of teachers, male or female, to take their place. Under these circumstances the School Commission will ask that its teachers shall not be called until the end of the present school year, in June. This delay would cause little disorganization to the military service and between then and September the commission might perhaps be able to recruit enough teachers in the country districts and replace them in the rural schools by women.

SACERDOTAL RECRUITING.

La Presse—Is it not in the national interest that classical education and sacerdotal recruiting shall be encouraged in every way possible? The [illegible] traced out by Judge Duff is all the opposite. His interpretation of the Military Service Act would dry up superior education and the recruiting of the clergy at its source. He seems to forget that the destruction of the sources from which the clergy are obtained is to strike a rude blow at the morals of future generations.

RESULTS OF CONFEDERATION.

Le Devoir—(H. Bourassa in)—Unfortunately the French-Canadian statesmen who took part in the negotiations from which the federal compact resulted neglected to assure explicit guarantees of the rights of the French minorities in the English provinces of the Confederation. Little by little the English majorities have arrived at the conclusion that the only rights which the French-Canadians possessed were those which they possessed and exercised in the Province of Quebec, and more unfortunately still the majority of our public men and journalists have accepted this view and have acquiesced in the successive attempts on the federal agreement made in each of the English provinces where the French minority has been subjected to the contempt or the persecution of the majority. You know something at Ottawa, but there are many who are tempted to forget that the persecution now in progress in Ontario is only a repetition of that which took place in New Brunswick, in Manitoba, and in the Northwest Territories before they became the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan. From the legal and constitutional standpoint it may be just to say that the constitution of 1867 was advantageous in principle and in right to the French-Canadians, but that in fact it has been prejudicial.

A HEALTH TO THE NATIVE BORN.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—A speaker from Montreal, in trying to promote good feeling between provinces, that needs garble figures of the Canadians serving in the First Division in Europe in an endeavor to belittle the work of the native born. He is reported as saying that eighty per cent of the First Canadian Division were born in the British Isles, and that we are basking in the reflected glory of their gallant feats. This will surprise those of us who still survive that corps. To promote good feeling we have hitherto allowed a percentage of 65 islesmen to 35 native-born in the division, and I think this is the outside figure. But after all what is the great difference between a native born who has lived in Canada for 20 years and a man born in Scotland who has lived in the Dominion for 25 or more years?

In reporting a soldier's birthplace it was not noted what per cent of them have lived in Canada for 10, or 15 or 30 years, and never intended living elsewhere. When a foreigner lives in Canada he is entitled to become a full citizen after five years' residence, and to vote; and while I think this is a mistake, and tends to pervert our franchise and politics, yet it shows that in a sense a man becomes a Canadian in five years. In the U. S. they claim as an "American" who has lived there two or three years, and also any Canadian who makes good outside of North America.

What tended to make the percentage of British islesmen so large in the First Division, was the fact that some thousands of these men were here without any family ties. many on lonely ranches, others in occupations they did not like, and many of that adventurous class always looking for something new. These rushed to enlist while the more thoughtful Canadian was turning the matter over in his mind. These men came in the second and subsequent divisions, chiefly in the mounted and mechanical transport, as well as aviation service.

There were, too, many thousands of men in Canada who had served in the British army, and these men naturally were more readily accepted by recruiting officers, without question except as to papers and medical fitness. It was better to take men with experience in fighting than greenhorns, in a European war where numbers and shock fighting would have to be the rule. That was my feeling when recruiting in August, 1914. Had it been for a war like that of South Africa, then the native born, with his superior resourcefulness, would have been chiefly taken. The "Princess Pats" recruiters would hardly take men who had not served in the British army.

We wear the boast of some battalions that every man in the unit had lived at least ten years in the city where it was raised. Of the officers of the 14th (Royal Montreal Regiment) out of 50 officers, I only remember four or five who were born outside of Canada.

Of the officers in the Canadian army in Europe, who have made good, it would seem that they are nearly all Canadian born; such as Steele, Turner, Currie, Burstall, Williams, Macdonell, Mercer, Rennie, Morrison, Watson, Odlum, Leckie, Ketchen, Foster, the two Hughes, and many others, Lipsett, an Irishman was the exception. And the above are chiefly Ontario born.

It was in the west that the greatest percentage of those born outside of Canada were recruited. The native-born Canadian does not like military discipline, although he will assume it fully during a crisis. Neither does he care to risk his fortunes with officers whose chief qualification is the amount of "pull" they have. To my mind can be no comparison between officers than native-born Canadians from the farms, and they make the finest fighting material in Europe this day. I have nothing but admiration for the magnificent courage and devotion of the men born in the British Isles; they stand second to none.

Yours truly, HENRY J. WOODSIDE.

Ottawa, Feb. 1918.

WAR ON LABOR.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—That war has had a disastrous effect on labor is proven by the present shortage confronting the government, of the various suggestions made by the labor bodies of the Dominion, what seems most plausible is that of securing British West Indian labor.

British West Indian subjects are here in fairly large numbers, and are thought to be very desirable neighbors, they are peaceful and industrious. What makes them most desirable is the fact that they can be used in almost any capacity. They have consisted several of the units of reinforcement of the Canadian Army and are today drafted conscripts for the honor of the country. One cannot conclude otherwise, but that the authorities will recompense this loyal subject with the present labor opportunity.

From information to hand it is possible to secure fully 60,000 of this laboring class from the various Latin republics who are sadly in need of work, and in view of the fact that the release of German prisoners by Russia will cause a prolongation of the war, it is undoubtedly expedient that our Government adopt a most urgent method and secure the labor of their subject in preference to Asiatic or labor of any foreign country. That being done, the Government will realize that a good is done for the Empire and to its loyal subject.

Prompted by selfish pride of aristocracy, some are contending or may contend that the British West Indies, on account of color, is not desirable in large numbers. Such contention is not consistant with the principles of democracy. Therefore I say it is preposterous and not worthy of consideration.

American democracy will teach us that those dark hours have passed away and that the color question is of secondary consideration. In peace time negroes extensively cultivated the country and in war time they were most prominent in voluntarily assuming the defence of the country. France will also tell you of the valuable, inestimable service rendered by the colored army. I therefore say it is entirely unwise to deliberately discard the usefulness of the British West Indies negro for the present revolution of labor. We may borrow labor hands from the United States as is contemplated, but I say to our detriment. Next year's experience will greatly surpass the present difficult question when America will have likewise experienced the effect of war on labor and will sadly be in your position. I therefore sincerely hope that the Canadian Government will adopt the principles of her allen neighbor and use to her utmost capacity all available B. W. I. labor.

"British Government ought to be made to use British labor, when available, regardless of color. We are fighting for democracy, let us therefore practice democracy and lay down that gauntlet of aristocracy.

VERBUM SAP.

EVERYTHING IS WRONG.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—In looking over your paper of Feb. 11th inst., I noticed more about the "heatless" day scheme and was much disgusted with what I read: Why is it the Government does not put theatres, movies, billiard parlors, etc., under the same restrictions as places of importance? For instance, would it not be wiser to keep at least some of the schools open? Are not the schools of more importance to the rising generation than the movies? Then look at the economical side of it, I am sure the time and money spent thus foolishly could be used for something really needful.

Would it not be a very small sacrifice for us "stay at homes" to make, in comparison to what the boys are suffering in France, Flanders, and other places, as long as this terrible war goes on?

As to the pastor of the powerful sermon on timely topics, who upholds the movies, I ask him (I hope he reads this) is he not more interested in movies and such things perhaps dance halls and saloons, than he is in the salvation of souls? It seems to me if he were interested in the latter he would leave such topics out of his sermon.

And was it not too bad those Quebec smokers had to do without their favorite weed, for a day or two? Why does the Government not abolish tobacco as well as liquor? Any one with a grain of commonsense ought to know that the tobacco habit is not only loathsome, and filthy, but injurious. Another chance for economy. I noticed a very sensible letter on food economy, signed "Carefulness," I agree with every word of it.

DISGUST.

THAT PIANO PLAYER.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—Regarding the letter by "Combatant," soldier's wife, on the above matter, I would like to offer an explanation.

First in regard to "in the guise of real soldiers," I might say that a great many of the staff sergeant-majors, etc., are men who have given from ten to twenty years service to their country, and are men whose capabilities are such as to be thoroughly conversant with every position they hold, which is necessary to ensure the smooth working of a headquarters subordinate staff.

Secondly, in regards to the "expensive piano-player," owing to the fact that members of the above-named staff are not receiving Patriotic Fund money, they are not advised by workers of above-named fund as to what they should buy or how to spend their money.

Thirdly, I think a person should be allowed their own discretion as to how they spend their money, and if a person military or civilian, wishes to have a player-piano, etc., what business is it to others, and why should they be so peeved. I wonder if "Soldier's Wife" expressed her opinion to the person who has the player-piano in question, when she was visiting the homes of the said headquarter's staff."

MEMBER OF H.Q. STAFF.

HOOK 'EM ON.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—In the Town of Outremont tenants are compelled to provide covered receptacles to convey the garbage to the lane, which are expensive, costing from $1.50 to $2 per can. The scavengers appear to be indifferent as to the value, and handle them so roughly that it means a new one every few months. Instead of placing the empties on the hook to save the people upstairs the trouble to descend two or three flights of stairs into the lane to hook them on, the men dump the cans around in any old style.

I do not know how my neighbor feel about it, but I certainly know it would save me a lot of inconvenience if the empties were hooked on to the rope for that purpose.

FAIR PLAY.

GIVE SIR LOMER A FREE HAND.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—I would respectfully suggest that Mr. Downey, who seems to be so much interested in his great friend, Mr. Villeneuve, would have a little more patience and allow the Premier of this province, Sir Lomer Gouin, who has done so well so far in changing the civic government of this city, to have sufficient time to complete the remaining part of the Act in making the necessary appointments. Give the Premier a free hand and do not curtail his good intentions by recommending any and every Tom, Dick and Harry whether qualified or not, and we will then have done our duty as good citizens.

RILEY.

CAN NEVER BREAK ALLIED LINE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22. — "The Germans may bend our line in some places, but they can never break it," was the message brought back to America today by Major-General H. A. Greene, commanding the National Army division at Camp Lewis, Washington. "The British will stop any drive made against them, and so will the French," he said. "As for the Americans, it goes without saying they will bring to a halt any thrust made at them by the trained armies of the enemy."

DELEGATES WANT NATIONALIZATION OF GRAND TRUNK

Stand Taken by Hydro-Electric Association Laid Before Government

PREMIER'S REPLY IN GUARDED TERMS

Nationification and Public Control Likeliest Remedy, it is Thought

By Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—A large delegation representing the Ontario Hydro-Electric Association and various Ontario municipalities and organizations waited on the Government yesterday and put forth the stand taken by the Hydro Association with regard to the nationalization of the Grand Trunk railway and the electrification of radial lines.

Following brief speeches by Mayor Wylie, of St. Catharines; P. W. Ellis, of Toronto; Geo. Wright, of Toronto; Alderman Edgar, Peterboro; Mayor Evans, of Prescott; Sir Adam Beck declared that the only way to handle the railway situation was by consolidation and co-ordination of the lines. The Grand Trunk Pacific in the West was a failure. The Canadian Northern in the east was a failure. Sir Adam Beck said he had heard no objection to an increase being made in freight rates for the betterment of the service, if such were going to be the case.

Speaking of the electrification of radial lines, Sir Adam said that such electrification would not entail any expenditures on the Dominion Government for motive power. The Hydro-Electric Commission would have 200,000 horse-power available before the necessary hauling could be secured.

UNITED STATES ASTONISHED.

Sir Robert Borden promised every consideration to the representations made by the delegation. With the exception of the electrification of radial lines, Sir Robert pointed out that the Government had already had the question submitted before it for some time.

In regard to the railway service Sir Robert said he would not like the impression to go abroad that a pretty good service had not been given during the war.

"I have," he said, "discussed what the railways in Canada have done since the beginning of the war with some of the leading men at the head of American railways, and I have received only one estimate from them: It is that they are perfectly astonished with what Canadian railways have done under the strain of war.

He indicated that unusual weather conditions during last and the present year had greatly effected the railway service, but in spite of this he thought the railways had grappled with the situation fairly successfully.

He referred to the establishment of the Railway War Board for the purpose of pooling railway resources.

In one sense the powers of the board were advisory, but it was understood that the authority of the Government could be used to carry out any suggestions when considered necessary. Sir Robert thought also that the I. C. R. had given good service during war time. In respect to the G. T. R., he said that a large amount of British capital had been invested in the enterprise. He was not prepared to say anything in regard to naturalization of the railways by the Government.

SOLUTION DIFFICULT ONE.

Sir Robert went on to say that Government ownership of railways must in some ways be accompanied by Government control over their operations. This was unavoidable. The chief difficulty is to find a method of control which can be kept free from political influence. He questioned if the members of the delegation fully realized how difficult is the solution of this phase of the problem.

The question was one, he said, that would probably require more study and consideration than those now appearing before the Government had had time to give to it.

He said he did not propose to speak of the advantages that would arise from electrification of railways, but this was more or less a technical question, in regard to which it was absolutely necessary the Government should be sure before proceeding to adopt a policy.

SAY REPLY UNSATISFACTORY.

"That, in view of the unsatisfactory reply of the Prime Minister to the deputation presenting the resolutions passed at the meeting held recently in Toronto, a general meeting of both associations, comprising all municipalities and public service organizations in Ontario, be held in the city of Toronto, to discuss the railway situation and the clauses of the Revised Railway Act, and to prepare for a campaign to secure our rights."

The foregoing resolution, expressing dissatisfaction with the result of the interview with the Government today, was passed at a meeting held last night at the Chateau Laurier by the representatives of the Hydro-Electric Association and municipalities.

Sir Adam Back, Mayor Church of Toronto, and the other delegates, were present at the meeting, and it was stated that the resolution was passed unanimously. It was also stated that a mass meeting would be called at Toronto within a fortnight, at which all the municipalities that have passed hydro by-laws will be represented, as well as other municipalities. At the meeting arrangements would be made for a vigorous propaganda.

It was also intimated that a mammoth delegation will wait upon the Government during the approaching session of Parliament to again press the views of the Ontario municipalities upon the Government.

Nationalization on Broad Lines is Not Expected Today

Special to The Star from Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—Sir Robert Borden's answer to the Ontario Hydro-Electric delegation yesterday afternoon is not regarded at the Capital as very indicative of nationalization as the panacea for the national railway ills.

Particularly significant were the observations of the Premier as to the great difficulty in establishing public control, and at the same time eliminating the evils of political influence. His references to the operation of the railways under the war-time stress were very complimentary, while the fact that much money had been put into the Grand Trunk, upon which no dividends had been paid, was emphasized.

Under the circumstances, while the principle of unification of services and public control is likely to be carried out, nationalization on any very broad lines is not generally looked for.

There is absolutely no likelihood of the Canadian Pacific being acquired, but it is fairly certain that the Grand Trunk Pacific will be. The doubt all along has been as to the parent Grand Trunk Company, and, even as regards it, Sir Robert Borden's remarks are not interpreted as a forecast of any very radical action in the line of acquisition.

LEGISLATURE OPENS IN NOVA SCOTIA

Franchise for Women Provided for in Bill to Be Introduced

By Canadian Press.

HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 22. — The 1918 session of the Nova Scotia Legislature opened yesterday afternoon with the usual ceremonies. A military guard of honor was present, and there was a large attendance of officers of both services and representative citizens. Premier Murray was unable to leave Ottawa in time to be here today, and there were eight other vacancies in the House of Assembly when the Legislature opened.

Major Ralston, Cumberland, is now in France; J. C. Tory, Guysboro, is in Montreal; Dr. J. F. Ellis, former Speaker of the House, is on military service, and the other five vacancies are due, in one case to death, and in the others to members having resigned their seats in order to run for the Federal House.

In the Speech from the Throne, Lieutenant-Governor McCallum Grant, stated that a measure will be presented at this session providing for the extension of the electoral franchise to women on the same terms as now enjoyed by men.

Referring to the war, he said that it was gratifying to realize that in every part of His Majesty's dominions were the necessary sacrifices more freely made than in Nova Scotia.

He spoke of the recent disaster in Halifax, saying that the practical sympathy of Canada and the Empire was shown in a most generous way. While the prompt and efficient aid rendered by the people of the United States brought forth the heartfelt thanks of the whole province. He said that the Provincial Government proposed to made a substantial contribution towards the relief of the unfortunate sufferers, and that the members of the two Houses would be asked to deal with necessary legislation to meet conditions arising out of the catastrophe.

The speech forecasted further industrial progress this year. In referring to the mining disasters at New Waterford and Stellarton, the Lieutenant-Governor said that while the output of Nova Scotia's collieries showed a regrettable decrease, this was due in part to the disasters and to conditions arising out of the war. One of the most pleasing features of the industrial life in the province was the revival of wooden shipbuilding.

Further arrangements have been made between the Government of Nova Scotia and the Federal Government with respect to the treatment of returned soldiers in the Nova Scotia hospitals and the provincial sanatorium.

The Lieutenant-Governor requested the people of the province to practice the strictest economy in the use of foodstuffs, and to engage to the utmost extent of their ability in the war food production. In this connection he expressed the hope that measures will be suggested for increasing the fish production of the province.

TRIPLETS TANGLED

So Alike Parents Could Not Tell Them Apart, Now Fighting

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Feb. 22—This town boasts a remarkable trio of soldiers. They are James, William, and John, triplet sons of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wegerich, and all three enlisted on the same day. John going to the R.F.C., while the others joined the artillery.

The boys are so remarkably alike that it is only in recent years their own father had been able to tell them apart. On one occasion he refused Jack permission to go to Buffalo. Jack, nevertheless, went off early, and Jim and Will had breakfast together, Jim then went outside, walked around the farm, came in and had another breakfast as Jack!"

LEGISLATURE OF NEW BRUNSWICK TO TAKE ON WAR HUE

Formalities on New Lieut.-Governor's Installation Cut Down

HEALTH PROBLEMS FACING PROVINCE

Draft Men Ready to Leave —Farewell Functions are Arranged

Special to The Star.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 20.—The shadow of the war will make the opening of the New Brunswick Legislature on March 7, a less brilliant spectacle than in other years. There will be no salute in honor of the new Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. William Pugsley, and no military guard of honor will be present. His Honor's aides, members of the district headquarters staff, and some other returned officers who will accompany the Lieutenant-Governor, will add the only touch of color to the scene, and that will be the dull color of war time uniforms.

In accordance with the spirit of the times, the new chief executive will make his formal dinners less elaborate, and the various formal social functions will be fewer and less pretentious than in other years.

One of the first matters to be dealt with by the Legislature, when it gets down to business, it is generally understood, will be the formation of a new Government department — a Ministry of Public Health. A survey of health conditions in the province, which was made recently by an expert from New York, revealed the need for more attention to health matters, especially in the smaller towns and the rural districts, and it is the intention of the Government to take steps to remedy these conditions. It is expected that Hon. J. F. Roberts, M.D., of St. John, member of the Government without portfolio, will be the first Minister of Public Health.

The St. John Board of Health already is taking action on one recommendation contained in the report of the health survey, which urged that all milk sold for table use should be pasteurized where possible. Several of the larger dairies in St. John already do this, and a meeting of the smaller dealers has been called to discuss with the board the possibility of extending this practice to all the milk sold in the city.

ST. JOHN POWER PROBLEM.

The city is making progress slowly in its dispute with the New Brunswick Power Company regarding the rates and rates for electricity and gas which the company has asked permission to introduce. No action has been taken on the report on the company's finances which the city auditor presented to the Common council, the chief excuse being a desire to wait until the auditor returns to the city.

There has been some question regarding the propriety of asking the city solicitor, Dr. J. D. M. Baxter, to look after the city's interests when the matter comes before the Legislature, as the solicitor is a member of that body, and also because he had been retained as solicitor for promoters of the new company when it was being organized. Meanwhile, three of the city newspapers continue to oppose the idea that the increases are justified, basing their arguments on the case set forth in the auditor's report.

The district conference of the Rotary Clubs of the Maritime Provinces is being held in St. John this week, the Halifax and Charlottetown Clubs being the only outside organizations represented. The gathering included many prominent business and professional men, and the discussions were on a high plane, the ideal of public service receiving especial emphasis.

Dr. MacRae, dean of the Dalhousie college law school, the retiring district governor, was succeeded by R. W. Wigmore, M.P., of St. John. The Rev. Dr. E. Leslie Pidgeon, of Winnipeg, international president, attended the conference and delivered an inspiring address.

Chief interest in military matters in St. John centres around the training depot battalion of draftees men, who now number about one thousand. They have proved fine material and the officers have expressed their pride and confidence in the men. Their readiness and willingness in the matter of training has made it possible to send a draft overseas at an early date, and several public farewell functions have been held in honor of the 500 men who soon will depart.

WEEDING OUT FARMERS.

The decision that farmers are of more use at home than in the fighting ranks has led to the first step in what is expected to be a weeding out process. At an inspection of the overseas detachment by the Provincial Minister of Agriculture, farmers and farm laborers were invited to step out of the ranks, and about forty responded. It is believed that these men will be returned to their farms.

The Great War Veterans' Association of St. John is planning to erect a club house as a memorial to the men who have fallen in this war, and already has a nucleus for a building fund. The City Council this week made a grant of $15,000 to aid in the project, the money to be paid over when the balance required has been secured and when building operations are begun.

Another building project of general interest to the city is involved in the plans of St. David's Presbyterian Church to replace that structure, which was destroyed recently by fire. Insurance money to the extent of about $50,000 is available, and a canvass of the congregation is being made to secure enough more to justify the erection of a building to cost about $110,000.

St. David's has won an unusual place in the community through its various activities, and also has created a reputation almost national by its efforts on behalf of soldiers from all parts of the Dominion who have been stationed here at various times.

ACTIVITIES OF I. O. D. E.

The annual meetings of the various chapters of the I.O.D.E. held recently and the reports presented has furnished evidence of the great amount of work which has been accomplished by the patriotic women of the city through this organization.

The banner chapter is the Royal Standard, of which Mrs. E. Atherton Smith was re-elected regent, this chapter having raised $11,412 for patriotic purposes during the year. Other chapters, with their new regents and the total amounts raised during the year are: Loyalist, Mrs. Hugh Mackay, $7,885; DeMonts, Mrs. A. McLeod, $2,529 and Brunswick, [illegible]

The quarterly meeting of the Provincial Red Cross Society brought out the information that $70,000 had been raised for the Canadian and British societies during the last quarter.

In social circles the most interesting event in St. John during the week was the wedding of Frederic R. Taylor, K.C., one of the leading corporation lawyers of the province, to Miss Doris Sayre, daughter of F. E. Sayre, one of the largest lumber operators of New Brunswick.

PACIFIC COAST FEARS DANGERS OF YELLOW PERIL

Oriental Labor Already Ousting the White Man in Many Labors

POSSIBLE SPREAD IN YEARS TO COME

Premier Brewster Taking Up P. G. E. Rly. Matter in Ottawa

Special to The Star.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 20.—The proposal to permit a large number of Chinese laborers into western Canada under the indenture system has aroused a storm of protest throughout British Columbia. While it is recognized that labor is scarce and is likely to be still more so, the feeling, not only among organized labor, but many other sections of the community as well, is that to permit any further influx of Orientals into this province would be fraught with serious consequences.

At present there are at least 10,000 Chinese in Vancouver alone. They populate several city blocks exclusively, and they have crowded the white man out of several occupations. In the Fraser Valley, the richest agricultural section in the province, they are firmly entrenched. Many of them own farms. They employ men of their own race and use co-operative methods of selling. By working longer hours and living on a lower standard, they provide competition which the white man is unable to meet successfully. So successful have they become as employers that hundreds of them refuse to work any longer for the whites, and the charge has been made frequently that, when they do, they do not give the same amount to service as to men of their own race.

STREAM UNCHECKED.

The exclusion tax against the Chinese has not materially checked the stream of arrivals from the Celestial Kingdom. They have agencies by which the head tax is advanced and the new arrival enters into a form of industrial slavery until he has worked off the indebtedness. The new comer is forced to work long hours and at low wages to more prosperous fellow-countrymen who are already well established in the province.

It is estimated that there are well on to 50,000 Orientals and Hindus in the province. There were probably fewer now than at the outbreak of war. The pronounced industrial depression made labor scarce and many natives of the Far East went back home until things became livelier.

The Chinese, Japanese and Hindus largely follow different lines of occupation. The first-named either run laundries or work on market gardens. The Japanese go into fishing largely while the Hindu laborer prefers work in the lumber mills although there are occasional market gardeners and farm helpers among them. The Japs have largely crowded the white men out of the fishing business.

B. C. CHIEFLY AFFECTED.

The Oriental menace is one that chiefly affects British Columbia alone. The men from the Far East do not like the cold winters east of the Rockies. They land at Victoria or Vancouver and never leave British Columbia as long as they remain in Canada. It has been a long-standing complaint on the coast that the leading men in the east and the authorities at Ottawa have never viewed the Oriental menace as seriously as it deserves.

The east looks on the Oriental as one who will do the rough work, such as land clearing and section work on the railways, work the white man does not need to undertake to make a living. It should be borne in mind that the Oriental has other ideas. He is looking for quick profits and easier work, too. He won't work at clearing land if he can make more money at market gardening.

The fruit-growers of the Okanagan have been demanding indentured Chinese labor. Opponents of the system reply that women and boys can supply the lack of labor on the fruit ranches. The returned soldiers are among those who have officially declared opposition to the importation of Chinese labor, declaring that if the war goes on for a few more years Western Canada will be yellow from the coast to Winnipeg.

DANGER OF MARRIAGES.

The moral menace of large sections of Orientals in a community is appreciated more in Vancouver than in any other Canadian city. Police statistics show that every year a large number of white girls find their way to Chinatown. The following report of a case which came up the other day illustrates this phase of the question:—

"A girl, 18 years of age, Ida Marie de Giorgis, in spite of the strenuous opposition of her mother, secured the consent of the Supreme Court to her marriage to a Chinaman, a clerk in a Chinese store in Vancouver, 34 years of age.

"It was pointed out that the girl was under the legal age to get married without the consent of the mother, and that that consent had been refused, although the mother, who lives in Seattle, was aware of the fact that since her refusal away back in March of 1917, the young couple had been living together as man and wife.

"It was suggested that in the circumstances in the interests of morality that the Court should exercise its authority and give judicial consent to the performance of the marriage ceremony."

A few months ago a Chinese laundryman in Point Grey was sent to the penitentiary for two years for seducing a thirteen-year-old girl. Social workers can tell many incidents along the same line.

PREMIER IN OTTAWA.

Premier Brewster has gone east to attend the conference of Premiers called by Sir Robert Borden. There have been insistent rumors that Mr. Brewster has been offered a place in the Union Cabinet, but before leaving he stated emphatically that he was coming back. He has not finished his work in British Columbia, he believes. The portfolio of fisheries is the one open to him, it is believed.

While in Ottawa Mr. Brewster will probably sound the Federal authorities in regard to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. This project is somewhat of a white elephant on the Provincial Government's hands. Following the investigation last session into the financing of the P.G.E., most of the leading officials of the company left for the States and are still across the border, while the president, General Stewart, has been in France for two years, and the task of completing the line has devolved on the Victoria administration, which has no funds available for the purpose.

The line has been built from Squamish to a point near Clinton and a portion of the line has been operated for the past two years. There is a section of about ninety miles this side of Prince George yet to complete and the lower end from Squamish to Vancouver also remains to be constructed.

The only feasible propositions advanced for the completion of the road are for the C.P.R. to take it over, or else for the Dominion Government to incorporate it in its railway system, giving a short cut from the Grand Trunk Pacific at Prince George to tidal-water on Howe Sound. It is a safe prediction that Premier Brewster will sound the powers at Ottawa as to the latter alternative.

GENERAL REVIEW OF WESTERN DOINGS

Grain Growers Want Price of Wheat Fixed Again for This Season

Special to The Star.

WINNIPEG, Man. Feb. 20. — The past few weeks have witnessed the annual meetings of what may be described as the farmers' parliaments of Western Canada—the United Farmers of Alberta and the Grain Growers of Manitoba and of Saskatchewan. There has been a notable change in the spirit of these gatherings. Angry unrest, finding expression in radical and even revolutionary resolutions aimed at the Government at Ottawa, has given way to a spirit of sweet reasonableness.

This is one of the fruits of Union Government, which was heartily endorsed by the farmers' organizations. Their outstanding leader, Hon. T. A. Crerar, is Minister of Agriculture in the new Government, and he has the support of two other western radicals, Hon. J. A. Calder, of Saskatchewan, and ex-Premier Sifton of Alberta, as well as Hon. Arthur Meighen, who has the confidence of more conservative Manitoba.

The presence of these men in Premier Borden's Cabinet was rightly regarded as a guarantee that the special interests of western farmers would receive sympathetic treatment. First-fruits have come to hand in the removal of duties on agricultural implements and cattle. More are promised, notably the handing over to the prairie provinces of their lands and natural resources. These gatherings, therefore, have been of the nature of love-feasts, and the chasm that in recent years has developed between opposing interests of the agrarian west and the industrial east has been to a great extent closed.

PROVED LOYALTY OF WESTERN FARMERS.

Western farmers have chafed under imputations that they were selfish- self-centred, parochial and disloyal to the idea of a united Canada. The war and its problems has given them the opportunity to disprove these aspersions. Substract from the prairie population the very large element that is either frankly alien in origin, or is unsympathetic to the war, and the record of enlistment compares favorable with any other section of the Dominion. In the early years voluntary enlistment was such a success among western farmers that farm labor was gravely depleted, and in some cases cultivated land went back into wild prairie. This danger is now fully recognized, and the quota that the western farming population is providing under the Military Service Act is relatively small.

NOT ALL BEER AND SKITTLES.

There is an erroneous assumption that western farmers, as a whole, are waxing fat under war prices of their products. The price of everything they need has gone up enormously. Farm labor, which three or four years ago could be had at thirty to thirty-five dollars a month, is now fifty, sixty, and even seventy dollars, according to locality, with a bonus for harvest weeks. And it is hard to get at that. Under ordinary conditions the price of feed would be prohibitive.

In favored localities, of course, fortunes have been made off the land. Notably this is so in the districts of southern and central Alberta, where there have been good crops two and three years in succession. There are heard almost fantastic stories of what farmers are doing with their money.

Pianos are no longer a luxury; farm houses are equipped with the most modern heating and lighting systems; farmers are tumbling over each other to buy land and yet more land. Wild prairie is freely selling at forty, fifty and sixty dollars an acre. These prices are justified only by a continuance of good crops at high prices. Farmers are gambling on prices remaining high for five years after the war.

But these conditions are by no means general. Manitoba, for instance, had an almost complete crop failure in 1916, through black rust, which entailed a loss of a hundred million dollars, and a partial failure last year. But then Little Old Manitoba can stand it, because the country is long settled and has largely developed into mixed farming. It has not all its eggs in the one basket.

Conditions in Saskatchewan have not been so favorable. Full recovery was not general last year from the failure of 1916. Straight grain-growing is the rule rather than the exception. All along the international boundary from the Soo Line clean through to south of Lethbridge the farmers have had to contend with drought for two or three years together. In some districts of southwest Saskatchewan farmers this winter are driving ten or fifteen miles to buy a load of straw for feed for their stock. This is an unheard of condition. Every fall the prairie is alight with great stacks of burning straw.

WONDERFUL YEAR, WITH LUCK.

But as a whole the farming community of the west is very prosperous, and prospects are for a very greatly increased acreage this season. If farmers have fair luck, and can secure labor, it should be a very wonderful year for them. It should set a great many of them on their feet for life. Already mortgages are lifting.

But the farmer is an inveterate gambler and a confirmed optimist. He seldom lays by for a rainy day. The good crops must repeat, and the occasional bad crop is a dodo. Instead of consolidating, he is too inclined to embark out on the wave of prosperity and gather in a widening sweep of liabilities, chiefly in the form of more land and high-priced stock and machinery.

DEMAND FIXED PRICE FOR WHEAT.

This time last year—right up to midsummer—western farmers were anxiously enquiring whether the price of wheat was to be fixed, and whether the Government would take over the crop at that price. Finally it was fixed at $2.21, and the Government agreed to buy at that figure, subject of course to grade differentiations, all wheat offered. That price was liberal. Perhaps it was too high. But it was made in agreement with the United States. One evil effect was that all feed reacted in sympathy, and stock men are by no means certain that they would not be better off with lower prices all round.

But that arrangement was only for the crop of 1917. There is no asurance for 1918. The matter came up in very pertinent form at the meeting at Regina of the Saskatchewan Graingrowers.

"Here is the Government urging us to greater production—ten acres for seven—and does not guarantee that we will get a price or any price," said one farmer. "We are living from hand to mouth. It may develop that with an enormous crop on our hands, there is no one to buy it—no agency to transport it or to store it."

The Dominion Government is therefore asked to fix at once a price for not only the 1918 crop but for the succeeding years of the war. That will provide continuity, and on that basis a farmer will judge whether he can afford to hire machinery and labor, and break new land, or let it lie against its natural development.

And, with Crerar and Meighen and Calder and Sifton in the Cabinet, western farmers think they will get what they want.

PATRIOTISM ON THE FARM.

Farming communities throughout the west have shown the true spirit of patriotism. They have gone in whole-heartedly for Red Cross work, the patriotic leagues, and so on. They subscribed freely to the Victory loan. There is, however, here perhaps a distinction. They subscribed out of their abundance. The people of the cities—for the prairie cities have not yet felt the reflex of the agricultural prosperity and have difficulty in struggling along on stationary salaries while the cost of living is mounting,—have given by denying themselves not only luxuries but what have been considered essentials. The farmers might have given much more in proportion. But it was a work of education. They will do better still on the next call. Or, rather, they will do immensely better if they pull out an average crop meantime.

BREWERS TO SEE GOVERNMENT

OTTAWA, Feb. 22. — Z. A. Lash, K.C., of Toronto, was here yesterday to urge upon the Government the importance of giving the distilleries time to dispose of their stocks before bringing war-time prohibition into operation. Next week the Quebec brewers are coming to Ottawa to interview the Government. It is understood that they will urge that the brewers of that province should be exempt from the prohibition against the continuance of the manufacture of light beers.

SCANDINAVIA IN AWKWARD PLACE

Denmark Especially Living Under Fear of German Bully

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Dr. Maurice F. Egan, United States Minister to Denmark, yesterday addressed the American Academy of Arts and Letters on the position of the Scandinavian nations in the world war.

Dr. Egan said that from the beginning of the war, Sweden, Norway and Denmark had maintained neutrality under extreme difficulties. After having spent ten years on the German frontier, he could appreciate that the three small Scandinavian nations have lived, and are living, under the constant shadow of a ruthless colossus.

While the Scandinavian nations are closely allied by blood, Dr. Egan continued, they have widely divergent ideals. Sweden is the least democratic nation of the three. Norway, after the break with Sweden, would have became a democracy, if the great powers had permitted her to. Nothing now but the life of the little Prince Olaf, heir to the throne, prevents her from becoming one. Sweden, he added, always has been inclined to be pro-German. Norway always has been anti-German. Norway loves England and is very friendly to America.

"King Oscar, of Sweden, made a grave mistake at the time of the break," Dr. Egan continued. "He stuck to the old aristocratic rule by the overlords. All this time Denmark was under constant fear of the same fate as that which overtook Serbia. But if Germany had assailed Denmark, Russia would have swooped down on Sweden. That fear on Sweden's part is gone, but Denmark is still under the old menace.

The speaker said that in 1864, when Denmark was struggling against Prussia and Austria, President Lincoln asked Denmark, then with a goodly fleet, not to interrupt German ships proceeding with cargoes for the United States. This request was acceded to, he added, and Denmark today did not quite understand why she might not receive similar treatment. The Minister concluded by saying that a propaganda was now being spread that he believed would do much to remove the growing coolness toward America in Scandinavia, that gradually these small nations were learning that the United States was in the war to aid, and not to destroy, just such peoples as they are. He hoped there would be such an increase in this work as to restore the ancient friendships and lift a burden, now keenly felt, but inevitable as a measure of war.

WANT NO MOVIES HERE SUNDAY.

OTTAWA, February 22. — A delegation representing the Ministerial Association of Montreal, waited upon Hon. C. J. Doherty yesterday to urge that action be taken by the Federal Government to close moving pictures in the province of Quebec on Sundays. The Minister of Justice promised consideration of the request.

Merry Little Play Put on Boards by St. Lambert Players

That the balmy airs of St. Lambert are conducive to dramatic talent cannot be disputed, after the excellent work that has been done of late by the amateur clubs of the South Shore town. "Lady Epping's Law Suit," which was performed last evening by the players of the Canadian Christmas Tree League of St. Lambert, under the auspices of the Melville Young Men's Club, was a merry little play which the actors appeared to enjoy almost as much as their enthusiastic audience. Judging by the lack of empty seats in Victoria Hall, a goodly sum will be turned over to the Children's Memorial Hospital.

The heaviest part fell to the lady of the title, Lady Epping, a role admirably taken by Miss Winifred Goodchild. Miss Goodchild not only looked very charming as the society woman, at once clever and foolish, but she made the most of the many opportunities that the play afforded for characteristic acting. Paul Hughes, situated somewhere at the corner of the involved conjugal quadrilateral and his wife, Evelyn, resentfully tormenting him from her vantage point in the equal and opposite angle, were cleverly played by E. H. Paratt and M. Drinkwater.

The performance was directed by W. A. Tremayne, who also played the part of a lawyer in the court house scene. Mrs. Waud enlivened the tedious period between the acts by singing several songs which were well received.

ASKS CITIZENS' HELP.

The suggestion has been made by Controller Ross that the co-operation of the citizens be enlisted for the purpose of carrying out the suggestions of the Bureau of Municipal Research as made in the voluminous report presented last week to the city. Such co-operation could be secured, in the Controller's opinion, through a committee including representatives of the Board of Trade, Chambre de Commerce, Manufacturers' Association, Trades and Labor Council and Real Estate Association.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22. — J. D. Clarke has been appointed head of the remission branch of the Department of Justice, in succession to the late P. M. Cote, M. F. Gallagher has been appointed legal officer of the branch. Mr. Clark was formerly chief assistant to Mr. Cote.

RECRUITING BOYS TO TILL THE SOIL

"Soldiers of the Soil" Campaign Week of March Seventeenth

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—The organization of the "Soldiers of the Soil" movement, inaugurated by the Canada Food Board, is now practically complete, and work will be commenced at an early date to enlist 25,000 boy volunteers to assist in food production on farms this year.

Actual enrollment will begin on March 17th, and the following week will be "Soldiers of the Soil Enrollment Week" throughout Canada. In towns of under 10,000 population, high school teachers and bank managers will act as enrollment officers. In larger centres, high school teachers, Y.M.C.A. secretaries, with officers of the Boy Scouts and other boy organizations will enroll the recruits.

Taylor Statten, a leader in boys' work, has been appointed superintendent of the "Soldiers of the Soil." He explained today that it is proposed to enlist only boys between the ages of 15 and 19 years.

Arrangements have been made by the Departments of Education in the several provinces so that boys who enlist for this work will not lose their school standing. Every boy who gives three months of satisfactory service on the farm will be given a bronze national honor badge. In addition, he will be paid regular wages, based upon the amount of work which he is capable of doing.

The Department of Agriculture in the various provinces will provide machinery for placing the boys on the farms so that farmers who can use one or more boys should notify their provincial departments of their requirements at an early date. In Ontario Dr. W. A. Riddell, 15 Queen's Park Toronto, will receive farmers' applications and arrange for placing recruits.

The Right Hon. David Lloyd George has extended his patronage to the concert to be given in celebration of St. David's Day, March 1, at the Ritz-Carlton hotel, under the auspices of St. David's Society and under the direction of Merlin Davies.

Tickets will be on sale at The Star Office, corner of Peel and St. Catherine streets, and after February 2[illegible]

Men and Guns Germany Gains By Russia's Surrender

When the Russian Muzhik trades his machine-gun to the Germans for a drink of vodka, as many are doing, he comes near typifying the act of his Bolshevik superiors in giving up their military power for an intoxicating dream of anarchistic liberty. Like them, too, he may hit off the transaction with some fine phrase that seems to sanctify his murderous bargain.

Declaring piously that they can not continue a war with the German and Austrian workers, they release those unhappy workers for transfer to the Western front, where they may soon be thrown in masses at the Allied guns with far more disastrous results to themselves than if they had remained in the quiet trenches of Poland.

What is of most concern to the Canadian people, however, is what gain Germany has made in men and guns by Russia's unconditional surrender, and in the leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for February 23rd, there is a careful examination of this phase of developments on the Eastern front, and other contingencies that may arise in the near future.

CANADA FINDING UNDEVELOPED ABILITY

Returned Men Reveal Great Talent in Vocational Classes

OTTAWA, Feb. 22. — Canada is taking count of her undeveloped resources in these days of stress. Not the least of her discoveries has been the wealth of ability and even genius found among the returned soldiers by the officers of the vocational training branch of the Military Hospitals Commission.

The capabilities of the Canadian if he is given a chance seem to have no end. Men who have done the meanest work have returned to civil life to take positions paying fine salaries, and buoyed by the evident good will of the world, and its eagerness to give him a chance are looking to even bigger things.

CASES NOT EXCEPTIONAL.

The cases noted in the different vocational training centries in Canada of men who were merely living by odd jobs requiring no training or particular education becoming experts in technical lines are not exceptions. They have been frequent enough to give rise to the rumour that the Government through the Military Hospitals Commission was aiming to put every soldier back into civil life trained to earn a greater wage than he ever did before. This of course is not true, although in many instances it works out that way.

The interested co-operation, which the men so disabled as to be unable to follow their pre-war occupations, receive from the vocational officers in choosing new vocations can be measured in the success of the work.

DISCOVER MATHEMATICIAN.

One case of a 13th Battalion man in Montreal illustrates both undeveloped ability of the men, and the personal interest which the instructors and officers of the vocational branches show.

This man had been badly injured in the leg. He had been a bricklayer before he went overseas and his condition upon his return, of course, prohibited him following this trade. He was an expert in his line and the opportunity was given him to qualify as a contractor.

This determination seemed to solve the problem. The difficulty was discovered in his lack of training in mathematics. When he came to deal with fractions he was lost.

The man was disheartened at first but the instructor was sure that given the chance to tackle arithmetic he could make good. He started a two months' course. At the expiration of the time, he passed an examination which by the statement of Major Stanley, D.S.O., officer in charge of the vocational training at the Montreal Technical School, would puzzle most men in their fourth year of Science at McGill.

The man was a genius with numbers but had never had a chance to study before. Needless to say he is making good.

MODERN WRITING CALLED FLIPPANT

The flippancy of modern writing militates against its permanence, in the opinion of John Cowper Powys, who lectured before the Art Association of Montreal last night on "The Spirit of Modern English Literature." Of modern English authors, Mr. Powys thought Hardy and Conrad most likely to live.

Present-day conditions of living operate against the production of such literature as that of Thackeray, Scott, Browning, Carlyle, Emerson and Hawthorne, said Mr. Powys, because they have destroyed the quiet in which great works of art are produced.

On the other hand, the "intellectual Bolshevikism" of modern literature brings a spiritual gain, the lecturer said. The mockery of the moderns results in an advance of realism, honesty, flexibility and inconsistency. They are not afraid to contradict themselves, which proves that they are alive. Further, they write in a colloquial style that makes their books easy to read. Their spirit is photographic and chaotic.

Shaw is out of touch with his public at present because of his scoffing attitude toward patriotism. He is popular with the encyclopaedic Germans, but not with the discriminating French, and that shows that he will not endure.

Mr. Powys thought the short story, the magazine article and the newspaper had had a bad effect on modern literature.

RECOVERING FROM FIFTH OPERATION

Sergt. James Osborne, who is at the Royal Victoria Hospital recovering from the effects of a fifth operation which was performed on his left leg about three weeks ago, is making excellent progress and expects to leave the hospital very soon. It was first thought that the leg would have to be amputated, but as all the operations have been most successful it is expected now that the limb will be saved.

Sergt. Osborne returned from the front last March, after being on the firing line for nearly three years, having crossed to France with the first contingent. He was severely wounded in the battles of St. Julien and Ypres, in which his battalion suffered heavy casualties. Sergt. Osborne was hit by shrapnel. The wound necessitated removing his left kneecap and severing the cords of the leg. He spent about seven months in various English hospitals until his return to Canada, and since then has been a patient at the Grey Nuns' Convalescent Home and at the Royal Victoria Hospital. His home is in St. John, N.B.

MONTREAL UNIT HAD ALL TRIMMINGS

Mrs. J. Allen, of 398 Angers street, Cote St. Paul, recently received from her husband, Pte. J. Allen, of the 6th Canadian Field Ambulance, a copy of the Christmas menu describing the various courses enjoyed by his unit on Christmas Day. The card was neatly and interestingly arranged, with each course being coupled the name of some important battle in which the Canadians had participated. The dinner, which was contributed by Montreal friends, included an abundance of turkey, plum pudding and other delicacies essential to a "real" yule-tide feast. Pte. Allen, who was wounded last April and later rejoined his unit, has been on active service for more than three years. His last letter to his wife stated that he was quite well.

GETS MILITARY MEDAL.

Sergt. J. Harold Jarvis, whose name was included in a recent list of those having been awarded the Military Medal, is a son of J. T. and Mrs. Jarvis, of Morrisburg, Ont. He has been overseas since April, 1916, having enlisted in the 87th battalion Grenadier Guards, under Lieut.-Col. (now Brig.-Gen.) Meighen.

"BUFFALO BILL" SERVING WITH A.S.C. AT SPADINA

Many Interesting Characters Under Treatment in Military Hospitals' Commission

TORONTO, Feb. 22.—No institutions in the world have a greater collection of interesting characters than the Canadian military convalescent hospitals which have sprung up in every district to care for the wounded men sent back from the front as unfit for further service.

Canada before the war appealed to the man with an imagination and the force of character put it into action. The west and the northwest were peopled by the adventuresome spirits of the old countries, and living in big spaces personality developed unhampered. These men were among the first to join the C.E.F. when war broke.

VETERAN WITH SIX NAMES.

"Buffalo Bill," "Mustang Jack," "Dr. Powell," "Three Finger Jack," "John Briggs," who just now is receiving his mail under all these titles at the Spadina Military Convalescent Hospital in Toronto was one of these.

There he has been serving with the A.S.C. and the men call him "Buffalo Bill," which name attaches to him by reason of his service with Col. Bill Cody's Wild West show for six years.

"I was the first man to turn a double somersault in this country, and without boasting I could do it now," declared the old veteran who will be seventy in May.

HOME ANYWHERE.

He stands straight to a good height and is distinguished by a head of silvery white hair and a beard. His home, he says, is where night overtakes him, and as for nationality he divides the honors between England, Scotland and Ireland.

With the United States army scouts "Buffalo Bill" got a close up on the tactics of Indian warfare. He also fought in the Fenian Raid. Finally he settled in the west where he now owns a ranch of 2,800 mustangs.

He is serving the king in the Army Service Corps because he wants to do his bit and all the money he earns in doing it he gives away.

He is a taciturn old man and not much given to yarns but without doubt one of the most popular characters in the Toronto district.

22 LEFT LAST NIGHT TO BECOME FLYERS

A lively farewell demonstration was given to the detachment of twenty-two men who left Bonaventure Station last night for Toronto, where they will enter training for the Royal Flying Corps for service at the front. Seventeen are Montrealers among whom were Frankie A. Fleming, the well-known professional boxer; his brother and trainer, Patrick J. Fleming, and also Emery A. St. Pierre, a prominent ski jumper, skater and amateur boxer. Besides a large crowd of friends and relatives of the men, there was a strong representation of sporting men present who gave a special demonstration in honor of the Fleming brothers and St. Pierre.

The men were recruited through the Montreal Branch of the Aerial League.

The names of those leaving last night are as follows:

Frank J. Keen, Emery A. St. Pierre, Frank A. Fleming, Patrick J. Fleming, William H. Outerbridge, Joseph E. E. Leduc, James A. Baxter, Henry R. Bourgie, Robert F. Burnett, Stanley C. King, William J. Furlong, John F. Lewis, Edward D. Jones, Owen E. Rogers, Joseph W. Lalumiere, Frederick E. Godwin, Warren E. Shaw, all of Montreal; William W. Kinkade, Kenmore, Ont.; Edward A. Ricken, Quebec; Kenneth P. Lunan, Glenelm, P. Q.; Charles MacD. Simpson and Edgar H. Burwash, Ottawa.

RETURNED MEN NOW MILLINERY ADEPTS

Wounded soldiers in the white cots at the Royal Victoria Hospital and in the military convalescent hospitals are as interested in the progress of the spring millinery season as any of their sweethearts or wives. They are big factors in Canada's millinery trade this year through their weaving, and milliners are on their knees to them.

The smartest houses in Montreal and Toronto have featured Turkish turbans of soft raffia textiles woven by the soldiers and the vogue has spread from coast to coast. Even New York has sent inquiries after viewing the south-going millinery of the Canadian rich.

A fabric of very fine raffia, woven on the bed looms in the hospitals as occupational work, has been termed the most beautiful straw of many seasons. It has a dull satin lustre which has rarely been seen and turned out in exquisite colorings which cannot be had elsewhere for love or money, and it enjoys great distinction. The men are very proud of their handiwork. The orders already placed will employ the men until the season is well started.

There is a certain soothing monotony in weaving which makes it suitable for many men who are unable to do any other kind of bed work. The medical officers recommend it in many nerve cases.

SERVICE FLAG HAS 136 MAPLE LEAVES

The Laurentide Company, of Grand Mere, Que., has adopted a novel idea of accounting for the former employes of the company who has gone to the front. This is in the form of a huge honor roll flag, in the centre of which is a solid square of royal blue, and worked on this square are 136 little golden maple leaves, each leaf representing a member of the staff who enlisted for active service. The Laurentide Company is proud of the record of its staff in responding so largely to the call of their country. The honor roll flag is on view in the window of the Montreal Star.

DEAF SOLDIERS WILL LEARN LIP READING

OTTAWA, Feb. 22. — Arrangements have been made by the Military Hospitals Commission with the Ontario Institute for the Deaf at Belleville to teach lip reading to the soldiers who become deaf due to injuries received in military service.

Aside from the pleasure to be derived from music and singing, the art of lip reading has been so perfected that for utilitarian purposes the handicap of deafness can be entirely offset. The art is simple, so simple that children learn it without difficulty, and so accurate that an accomplished lip reader rarely if ever makes a mistake.

A WESTERN CASE.

The isolation inflicted by deafness is hardly less trying than blindness, and soldiers have been thrown into awful depression by their inability to hear what was being said by the men around them. An instance of this sort was found in the military convalescent hospital at Moose Jaw where Pte. W. B. Franklin, one of the original 10th Battalion men, was under treatment for wounds received at Messines in December, 1915.

At this time he was made stone deaf, and so battered in other respects that he had spent most of the two years flat on his back in a hospital ward.

The monotony finally undermined his courage and he was lost in depression. Despondency also affected his disposition and he became a hard patient to care for. Major Ashton, O.C. of the "H" Unit, dropped in to see him one day, and the man poured out his troubles.

"MISSED ALL THE LAUGHS."

He couldn't hear anything that the other boys said, he explained. He missed all the laughs, and he was tired to death of reading after two years of light fiction. The officer being a returned man and one who had spent long months in bed himself could understand, and he saw the point of Franklin's irritability. He suggested sending him down to Belleville to learn lip reading, and the whole countenance of the man changed. He had a new hope and something to look forward to.

Pte. Franklin will be one of the first Military Hospital Commission patients to take the Belleville course.

Lieut. Weaver Back Wants to Join Up with Forces of U.S.

After more than three years of war service, during which he has been four times on the wounded lists, entitling him to wear four little gold stripes on his sleeve, Lieut. J. R. Weaver, of the 14th Battalion, is awaiting his discharge here in order that he may go back to his home in the States to enlist with Uncle Sam's forces. He hopes to return to France with the U.S. army. Lieut. Weaver, whose home is in Denver, Colorado, was in Montreal at the time the 14th was recruited, and he signed up as a private. He fought in all the early heavy fighting at St. Julien and other memorable battles. He was gassed and wounded four times. He received the several N. C. O. promotions, and finally was granted his commission in recognition of devotion to duty.

McGILL STUDENT WRITES FROM MESOPOTAMIA

[illegible] two dozen [illegible] engaged in the [illegible] Mesopotamian campaign [illegible] miles from home [illegible] Canadians of the rank and file. The spirit with which they endured hardships almost unparalleled in the history of war shines out in a number of private letters which we have just seen from a youth of 22 to his parents in Montreal (says the London Chronicle). This youth had enjoyed the comforts of a prosperous and cultured home, and the call of the drum had found him a gay student at the McGill University. It was a great change.

The river was full of sharks, and the troops were not allowed to go bathing. Even if they had been they would have been obliged to wear their helmet pads and their spine pads to protect them from the stroke and the almost intolerable sun. Heat, flies, and Arabs were the most deadly enemies the [illegible] men had to fight.

I have a little [illegible] of my own to settle with the Arabs. My soldier servant, in company with another, was bringing some tobacco and tea from the transport, a couple of miles behind the firing line. When they were within a mile of the line, in the ground between the reserves of the firing line and the main body, they sat down to have a [illegible]. [illegible] they had got up again and [illegible] about 20 yards my servant suddenly remembered that he had left the packet of tea where they had been sitting, so, telling the other to stay where he was, he went back to their resting place. His companion sat and waited for some time and then, as he did not return, got up and looked for him. He waited and searched for six hours, in vain. My servant has never been seen, and his absence can only be explained by one word "Arabs." I hate to say what became of him.

"SEND THE SHIRKERS HERE."

While he was recruiting from a fever on a convalescent ship on the river—"We have very good meals and decent beds, and what can one want more"—he heard from home of the deaths of two young friends in France, and the news set him reflecting—

It struck hard to think of [illegible]'s going, but one gets used to losing one's friends these days, especially when you see them going. I wish this war was over, but would not back out now for anything. To think that there are still fellows who used to be my friends at home enjoying the peace that is kept for them by others! I should like to have a few here for a short time, to make them appreciate what peace and quiet means.

When he returned to duty he dug "a sort of grave" about three feet deep, in his little 40lb. tent to enable him to sit up without touching the roof, and congratulated himself that the excessive heat was at least killing the flies, "our worst enemy—" "they nearly drive one crazy." Being useful with his hands, he made tables and chairs from old boxes and logs for his company mess, and acquired a reputation as "some carpenter." All the water of the camp had to be brought on mules and a motor truck; "and we considered ourselves lucky if we have a cupful to shave, wash, and brush our teeth in. I had a small wash to day, the first for three days." Dust storms were frequent—"You will suddenly see a great spiral column rising to the sky and sweeping along at a great rate, blinding all in its track." He was in Mesopotamia at the worst time of the muddle, and he found the rations miserably inadequate. "You have no idea how we look forward to parcels from "home," he wrote in one letter, and in another, "Oh, mother, I can not thank you enough" for some three month old cake and candy.

Flies were not the only wild beasts which hunted him:

I have just been interrupted again, but this time it was the wind which was blowing the dust into my open tent. I got up and put my blanket over the slat. In doing so I created a [illegible] in the blanket. I shouted [illegible] [illegible] against him I [illegible] [illegible]. It is just as well that there happens to be very little circulation in that part of my body, or I should have been under the sod by this time. [illegible] a [illegible] legged tarantula. His legs were at least three inches long, and hairy, and his head was a [illegible] of jaws and fangs.

These letters abound in vivacious descriptions of the country and the ways of the Arabs and the writer glories in his "fitness" and his zest for work. Here is one of his days:

I was on escort duty to a convoy from [illegible] p.m. to 2.30 a.m. the night before and got only an hour's sleep, as I started for the base camp at [illegible] a.m. on horseback, to get the company pay. I had a ten mile ride to camp and did quite a lot there besides getting the money, and started back at about 10 a.m., with all sorts of tins tied to my saddle and 1,600 rupees in my haversack, 1,000 of which were in silver. The rupee is about the size of a 50-cent piece, so you may imagine the weight. I got back shortly after 11 a.m. and set out on foot to pick up a couple of loose horses I had seen on my way out, but someone had got them before me. I took a company fatigue putting up barbed wire in the evening and erected several tents in between, so you see I am not sleeping all day long.

YEARNS FOR LAC TREMBLANT.

It is a remarkable thing that the letter in which he announced that at last he was getting used to the heat and that it did not affect him as it had done at first, and that, in short, he was feeling wonderfully fit, was interrupted by his being temporarily paralyzed by a heat stroke. For some time he was unconscious and delirious, and when he resumed his letter seven days later he was going down the river to Basrah on a hospital ship, bound for India. For the first time the joyousness of his youth broke under the strain, and a bitter cry burst from his heart:

"This country will finish most of us off, sooner or later. The longer one stays here the more one pities the ancients and understands the Old Testament. I can quite understand anyone lifting up his voice and weeping. It is most trying to the nerves. We all would give anything to get back to France. It is sun, sun, sun; heat, heat, heat, all day long, and generally heat and flies at night. That Angel is still here with the fiery sword, but we have to stick to it, and can't get out like Adam. Oh, for Canada and the maples and firs! The thought of Lake Tremblant makes me ache to be back, running a launch, with the prospect of a good supper at the end of the run, with lots to eat, instead of starvation rations. You will think I am becoming very bad tempered and depressed; but can you blame anyone for being so when they are spending the summer in Hell?"

But youth is unconquerable. Any steamer that carried him away from Mesopotamia was a palatial liner, and Bombay after Basrah was heaven. We have one more glimpse of him this time at Salonika, campaigning with the old young energy and still writing vividly and joyously.

HOW OUTSIDERS GET CITY WATER: SOME DON'T PAY

Millions of Gallons Distributed Annually to Outside Towns

According to a statement compiled by the Superintendent of the Water Department, it is shown that the city supplies, every day, to outside places, no less than 941,000 gallons of water.

It is being urged that, as the city's pumps are now being taxed to their utmost to supply Montreal citizens with water, efforts ought to be made to curtail the water being sold to outsiders.

So that the supply may be temporarily increased and the danger of a famine avoided, the Board of Control is asking for half a million dollars to install a new pumping engine.

In the report of the Superintendent of the Water Department, here given, the city dads will be in a position to see just what arrangements the city has made with eight outside municipalities, the price charged per thousand gallons, etc.:

Pointe aux Trembles.—By agreement made in August, 1916, Pointe aux Trembles was to take 35,000 gals. per day for $1,000 per year for two years, and any further amount required to be paid for at regular City tariff of $1.15 per thousand cubic feet.

Present daily consumption (February, 1918) 54,000 cubic feet, say 137,000 gals.

Cost per day for present consumption of 137,000 gals. figures out at 17.35 per 1,000 gals., $68.49.

St. Leonard de Port Maurice.—By agreement dated Oct. 14, 1916, all water to be furnished for 5 years at the price of $1.15 per 1,000 cu. ft.

Present daily consumption (February, 1918), 8,000 cu. ft. say 50,000 gals. at cost of $8.20.

St. Michel de Laval.—By agreement dated Oct. 6, 1914, for a period of five years, all the water required to be furnished at price of $1.15 per 1,000 cu. ft. Present daily consumption (February, 1918) 18,000 cu. ft. say 112,000 gals. at cost of $20.70.

Montreal North.—Lower Sault-aux-Recollets furnished with water through former Sault-aux-Recollets since April, 1913, at price of $1.15 per 1,000 cu. ft. Present daily consumption (February, 1918) 9,000 cu. ft. or 56,250 gals. at cost of $10.35.

St. Laurent.—By agreement with former municipality of Cartierville for annexation of same to city, all the water required to be supplied St. Laurent for a period of five years from April 2, 1917, at a cost of (10) ten cents per 1,000 gals. Present daily consumption (February, 1918) 250,000 gals. at 10c, cost per day $25.00.

Montreal West.—By contract with Credit Municipal Canadien purchased Centre De Distribution de Eau, and required by the city through annexation, Montreal West has right to all water required for 25 years from Oct. 25, 1906, at a price of (5) eight cents per 1,000 gals. Present daily consumption (February, 1918) 17,000 cu. ft., say 106,000 gals. at 8c, $8.48.

Hampstead.—By agreement dated Aug. 3, 1916, all the water required for a period of five years at the price of $1.15 per 1,000 cu. ft. Present daily consumption (February, 1918) is all as there has been no building developments of

AGED, BEARDED, YET REPORTED

An amusing case was disposed of Wednesday afternoon by District Registrar Godin. A man by the name of Brown, 73 years of age, and wearing a flowing grey beard, reported to Inspector Belanger, in response to a notice sent him by the Inspector. The old man had registered, and had claimed exemption, but had not reported in response to the registrar's notice. The inspector was considerably taken back yesterday when the man appeared in his office. But when his papers were examined he proved to be the right party. When asked by Mr. Godin why he had registered, he replied that he was a single man, although he might be a little old.

"I think you would have been granted exemption," said Mr. Godin.

"That's what I thought and that's why I didn't report for service," he answered.

What Quebec Wants

A Comprehensive Statement of the French-Canadian Case

La Presse publishes a letter from Mr. Frank Wise of Toronto, who was honorary secretary and treasurer of the Win the War convention held in Montreal in August last in which the question is put: What is it that Quebec wants? In the course of his letter Mr. Wise stated that he has had many letters from Quebec declining to do any further business with Ontario and he quotes these two paragraphs as symbolical of their tenor.

"Nothing to do with Ontario firms so long as you display this Bosche spirit. We have found means of securing good material from other sources."

"In the future I will not spend a cent among your people and I hope that all French-Canadians will follow my example."

In reply La Presse thus draws up a list of the things that Quebec wants:

1. That the French language, recognized as an official language in the Canadian Parliament, should be similarly treated in all parts of the country, because of rights acquired by virtue of treaties and of the Constitution; because it is the key of a literature and a civilization which is part of the glory of humanity; because it is the language of diplomacy and was spoken by the founders and the missionaries of the country in which we live.

2. That the Ontario government, instead of making regulations to ostracize the French language and to prevent by the pretext of a shameful oath, French-Canadians settling in that province should rather endeavor to respect the conscience of our people and to treat them as brothers, as the Anglo-Protestant minority of Quebec is treated by the French element, which is in the majority.

3. That the Roman Catholic religion, which is the trunk of Christianity, and which rests after all upon beliefs which Protestants largely share, should be more respected by the Ontario press.

4. That the treatment of minorities should be based upon evangelical justice, Christian fraternity and the intention of the fathers of Confederation, rather than upon the letter of the law.

5. That the opinion of the race which founded and evangelized Canada, which saved our country to the British Crown, and which has done much for the Allies in the present struggle, without being constitutionally compelled to do so, should no longer be despised; because our mentality, our ideal and our aspirations necessarily differ from those of our English-speaking citizens.

6. That the other races shall not endeavor to quarrel with us apropos of everything and of nothing. That a stop shall be put to the discrediting of us abroad, because in doing so the whole of Canada is discredited.

7. That an end shall be put to the belief that national unity can only be acquired at the price of unity of language.

8. That no longer shall the rule of might makes right be put into practice against us.

9. That a bonne entente between the two great races which predominate in Canada shall be established that it is made by the "California on a knowledge of the two official Fig Syrup Company."

TAP YOUR TREES IS NEW WARTIME CRY

The output of Canadian maple sugar and syrup is so limited that it is all exhausted three months before the new season's product is on the market. But there are enough maple trees in the Dominion within easy reach of habitable and fully inhabited territory to supply an army of millions with the product—if the citizens would only tap the trees and get the sap that is at hand for them. This was the assertion of J. H. Grimm at the annual meeting of the Pure Maple Sugar and Syrup Association. He declared that the importation of cane sugar might be cut off because of the shortage of ships, but there was no need to talk about a sugar famine in Canada if the country only made use of the supply within its borders. There were millions of trees that were allowed to go untapped every year, and he appealed to every farmer, and every person who had any maple trees to tap them, on both sides of the trees, and no matter how small their outfit, they would be helping in the conservation of food.

Mr. Grimm said that even the blackest sugar from Beauce County was worth fifteen cents a pound at New Year, and the maple producers of the country could easily increase their annual incomes from two millions to over eight millions of dollars by tapping all the trees in their territory.

SUDDEN DEATHS

Two men died suddenly last night, their bodies being taken to the morgue. One was Pierre Latourneau, 64 years of age, of 46 Bourget street, who had been ill for a couple of days, and who is supposed to have died of heart failure. His wife went out for a few hours yesterday afternoon and, when she returned, she found her husband dead on the floor.

The other was Herbert H. Gibb, 48 years of age, who resided on Crescent street. He was in a hotel on St. Antoine street early last evening, was seized with an attack of heart failure, and died before medical assistance could be summoned.

A clothes line patented by a New York woman is equipped with clasps to which garments can be buttoned without the use of clothes pins.

Your Sick Child Is Constipated! Look at Tongue

Give "California Syrup of Figs" if Cross, Bilious or Feverish.

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach, liver and bowels are out of order. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food, etc., gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless laxative, because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see if you have a well, playful child again.

INTERNATIONAL INCOME TAX MIX-UP--MR. WORKMAN TALKS

NO FRICTION OVER PROXY PROCEEDING

Notwithstanding the circumstantial indications of a cleavage in the board of directors of the Toronto Railway Company over the election of two new directors to be authorized at the special meeting of shareholders next Tuesday in Toronto, it is stated in a well informed source that there is no actual difference.

Although there are two proxy forms in circulation containing the names of directors, one director being on both, it is stated that any complications arising from this are more inferential than real and that harmony exists among the directors notwithstanding.

While members of the Shareholders' Protective Committee formed here expressed surprise when the Toronto proxies came along a week or more after the Smithers-Beaubien-Ross forms went out to the shareholders, it was stated today in a well informed source that before Mr. Smithers went away to Atlantic City he left word that it made no difference which proxy was signed by the shareholders, leaving the impression that either would serve the same purpose.

This apparently leaves no doubt that harmony prevails so far as the board is concerned.

Senator Beaubien, who joined the board at the time of the annual meeting as one of the Quebec representatives, stated to The Star that notwithstanding the existence of the two separate requests for proxies harmony prevailed on the board. He considers the sending out of the Toronto forms as a matter of ordinary official routine, and states that the first request for proxies issued by shareholders was intended to help the Company obtain the representation of shares required for the adoption of the by-law increasing the Board.

Indeed an exception provision in the charter of the Company exacts that such by-law can only be adopted at a special meeting at which two-thirds, at least, of the outstanding shares of the Company are represented.

Cuban Shares Rose, London Market Dull

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Money in good supply, discount rates quiet.

The tone of the Stock Exchange was dull, the four per cent war loan being the most active of the giltedged issues. Cuban shares advanced three points. Silver mines, banks and shipping issues continue to be in demand, but there was very little interest displayed elsewhere.

Money 3 per cent. Discount rates short and three months bills, 3⅝ per cent.

BIG MOTOR MERGER IS UNDER CONSIDERATION

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Control of the General Motors Corporation and the Chevrolet Motors Co., the combined equipment of which represents the largest segment in the automobile industry of this country, has been acquired by E. I. Dupont Denemours interests by recent purchases of large blocks of stock holdings in both companies.

A merger of the two companies, in accordance with a recommendation made by the directors of the General Motors, at a meeting yesterday, is expected to receive the early approval of the leading stockholders.

It is proposed to effect the consolidation by purchasing the assets of the Chevrolet Motors Co., exclusive of its present holdings in the General Motors Corporation, paying therefor 282,624 shares of General Motors common stock.

After a meeting of the directors of the General Motors Corporation announcement was made that the capital stock of the company was to be increased to $200,000,000.

ONTARIO FINANCING

TORONTO, Feb. 22.—The Hon. T. W. McGarry has made his promised statement in the Legislature regarding the new provincial loan. The province, he announced, would get $3,000,000, at a net cost of 6.3166 per cent. It was with a great deal of pride, he said, that he announced that the province was able to make a loan on these terms. It was the best loan placed by any Government, other than of the Dominion, in the past twelve months.

CEMENT AND MONTREAL COTTONS MOST ACTIVE

Trading in the local stock market dwindled to 406 shares this morning, but despite the dullness the temptation to suspend the market in the afternoon was resisted, a bold stand for principle.

Of the actual trading Cement and Montreal Cottons divided one-half the business, the other half being scattered.

Cement showed more benefit from the recent strong annual report today than it did yesterday, advancing from 57¾ to 58½. Cottons was unchanged at 50.

Iron failed to develop anything and only 25 shares figured, unchanged at 61. Scotia after dropping from 68 to 66½ yesterday and fully recovering again yielded a point to 67. Ont. Steel was 24.

Laurentide Power figured for the first time since the annual statement came out, but the price was unchanged at 50.

There was some nibbling at Macdonald at 14½ and Brazilian sold off a half at 35½.

Press Opinions on N.Y. Situation

Herald.—Undoubtedly the stock market irregularity, with more realizing sales, centered upon uncertainty as to whether the investors who have been holding the big bulk of stocks out of the market have already adopted the 4½ per cent. Government bond rate as a foregone conclusion.

World.—As a result of the strong intimations from Washington that the next issues of Liberty bonds will be at the rate of 4½ per cent. there was a sharp revalorization movement in United States Liberty second 4's yesterday, which at one time sold as high as 97.26, the top level for the year, as compared with 94.70, the low quotation ... weeks ago.

Times.—The intimation carried by Sec'y. McAdoo's announcement of an increase in interest rates on the next offering of the Treasury certificates of indebtedness to 4½ per cent. that the next Liberty Loan would also carry that rate was generally accepted by investors, if not by bankers.

Tribune.—Announcement of an increase in the rate of interest on treasury certificates of indebtedness was regarded in Wall Street as Confirmation of the belief, which has prevailed for some time, that the next Liberty Loan would be put out on a 4½ per cent basis.

Sun.—A further advance in price in the stock exchange at the outset yesterday met heavy selling for profits in the afternoon, under which substantial reactions occurred throughout the list.

INCOME TAX SITUATION IS CURIOUS

Special to The Star.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—A curious situation has arisen in connection with the imposition of the United States and Canadian Income Taxes. According to the Finance Department officials here, the United States Government is collecting the tax on the net profits of sales of Canadian-made goods brought into the States through American agents.

Although the Canadian company, not the American agent, gets the profit, nevertheless the ruling of the United States taxing officers is said to be that the agent domiciled in that country becomes responsible for it. How the tax can possibly be collected from non-resident corporations is not clear to Finance Department officials here.

The Canadian Government under these circumstances finds itself obliged to apply the same rule to the taxing of profits (under the various war time measures) on shipments of American goods brought to this country by resident agents or commercial travellers.

As there are quite ten times as large imports from the United States to Canada, under such circumstances, than from here to the United States, it is held that Canada will collect a much greater aggregate tax. Curiously enough, neither country regards the tax as applying on goods brought over the border by correspondence and not through an agent.

It is understood that the Canadian authorities will suggest to Washington that as neither side will find it extremely difficult to enforce such an irregular tax, and as Canada in any event would be the best off, it might very well be made a dead letter.

An interpretation of great importance to Americans drawing income from Canadian sources has just been made by the Department of Finance, which is engaged in administering the new Income Tax Law.

By this interpretation only those Americans who are residents of the Dominion will be subject to tax on income. The only effect of the tax on non-resident Americans will be that a general levy of four per cent on the net profits of corporations will be made, or else the two prior taxing measures—Business Profits Tax or Special War Revenue Act—will have effect, whichever happens to give the Government the highest return. But beyond one of these assessments on profits before they are divided, American holders of Canadian securities will be exempt.

The procedure of the Canadian Department of Finance therefore differs radically from that of the United States Government which collects income tax from Americans no matter what their place of residence. The Ottawa administration does not regard the collection of taxes beyond the national boundary lines as practicable. Americans residing in the Dominion and in receipt of taxable incomes (above $1,500 for single men and $3,000 for married men) will have to pay taxes to two Governments.

SILVER EASIER ABROAD

Bar Silver declined ⅛d. in London today to 42½d. There was no New York quotation owing to the holiday there.

Brandon's Troubles; Too Much Ownership

WINNIPEG, Feb. 22. — A despatch from Brandon says the Imperial Bank has declined to loan the City of Brandon any more money, and that even in the matter of current salaries the city treasurer will have to make special application to the bank.

Deficits from the operation of municipally-owned public utilities and decrease in the payments of taxes are said to have placed the city in a serious financial difficulty.

U. S. BANK IN BRAZIL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22. — The second American bank to open a branch in Brazil is the American Mercantile Bank of Brazil, which is incorporated under the laws of the State of Connecticut. The Guaranty Trust and Messrs. Seligman, both of New York, are the chief stockholders. The initial capital of the bank is $2,000,000, and its principal Brazilian headquarters will be in the city of Para, the centre of the rubber industry. It has been given a decree to operate for ten years.

Bank of Montreal Offering City's Bonds

The Bank of Montreal, fiscal agent of the City of Montreal, is authorized to offer for sale $6,900,000 five-year 6 per cent refunding gold bonds of the city, dated December 1, 1917, due December 1, 1922.

The issue is made to refund a like amount of Montreal three-year 5 per cent notes, the original issue having been for public works, in anticipation of a permanent loan.

The offering will attract immediate attention in Canadian bond circles, as it is the largest municipal offering placed on the Canadian markets since the Minister of Finance made it necessary to obtain approval from the department for any further issues in Canada.

The issue is being made at par, without accrued interest, and a full half-year's interest will be paid June 1st, 1918. As the subscriber does not pay for his bonds until April 8, the net yield is about 6½ per cent.

The bonds are issued in coupon form in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000.

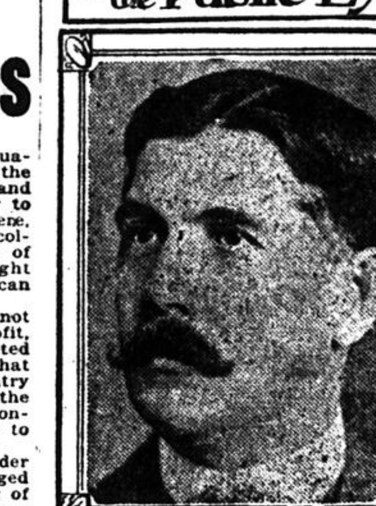
Business Men in the Public Eye



R. M. BALLANTYNE

Who has become prominently associated with the Allied Buyers' Export Provisions Commission of Canada.

Topics of the Street

Things are pretty dull in the Street and when that is the case gossip languishes. As that intangible commodity is as essential as meat and drink to the purveyor of gossip it behooves them to start something.

One broker thinks it might do as well as anything else if a discussion could be started on the question of stock market minimums.

In a sense this minimum situation is a secred one, not that all the brokers want it retained in its entirety, but because the banks do not want any disturbance to the status quo, so it is alleged.

The connection of the banks of course refers to the stability of the values underlying call loans and although the plan of minimums creates somewhat of an artificial price paradise it serves the purpose for the time being, which means an indefinite or "safety first" period.

No doubt if the average broker was probed deeply on this subject he would not be averse to the resumption of a free market but he is not so care free than he can afford to ignore or overlook the complexity of interests which this question involves.

The position of the market has greatly improved since the imposition of minimums and confidence which was badly rattled for the time is being restored so that the day may not be far off when the question will become a real live one.

As the saying goes this is our "bit". It is for the bankers and brokers to settle it.

The local market was left to its own resources again today so far as Wall Street was concerned but that this made much difference in prices or activity in home issues is doubtful as trading here has been very little concerned in what Wall Street was doing.

Americans are observing Washington's birthday today and a governor of the New York Stock Exchange has been moved to suggest that as they now have so many commodity-less days, he would like to see some holiday-less weeks, at least for the winter time. His plan is to transfer the patriotic feasts which fall in the cold months to Saturdays in July or August. Most people work only on the mornings of these days, anyhow. All would appreciate an occasional full Saturday of leisure in summer.

It will doubtless sound strange to the uninitiated to see Mark Workman, president of Dominion Steel, quoted at Sydney as stating that the Iron-Scotia merger is merely "newspaper guessing and Street chat," and that "there is nothing in it."

This is merely a case of official ethics. As president, Mr. Workman, if willing to publicly discuss the matter on its merits, would have to wait until the matter came officially before the board.

As a large shareholder there is nothing to prevent him talking over the matter with Scotia interests and yet disclaim it as president. It is all a matter of technicalities.

The deal may never come off to those who have been in close touch with the various stages of the pourparlers such disclaimers as the Sydney one will be thoroughly understood.

Although much has been written in opposition to the Iron-Scotia merger, the Street believes the critics have shown a marked lack of convincing arguments.

As is generally understood on the Street, the proposed deal embraces the following commendable points:

(1).—A marked saving in operating costs.

(4).—Concentration of coal mine operations.

(5).—Concentration of operations at Wabana.

(6).—General unification of operations which will be of great value when the war is over.

(7).—Voting trust securing control of the merger within the British Empire.

On behalf of the Iron holders it is asserted by some that Iron is worth much more than Scotia. On behalf of Scotia holders it is asserted by some that Scotia is more valuable than Iron.

It is a safe guess that the people who now control Scotia paid in the vicinity of 100 for their stock and they figured that it was worth a great deal more than that. In this case it hardly looks from the Iron standpoint as if they were being asked to merge with a "lemon" on the basis of share for share.

Competition after the war is going to be keen and concentration will be the order of the day. It has been shown by private expert reports that Iron and Scotia can save millions by getting together and millions are going to count in the fierce after-the-war industrial battles.

The Wall Street Journal notes the following remarkable "Alcoholic Straddle:" A trader in a prominent brokerage house recently remarked: "I'm long of Distillers, Malt and Industrial Alcohol. I quit drinking the first of the year, am reading 'Ten Nights in a Barroom' and I'm perfectly happy."

There was no quotation on the curb of the Russian $4,000,000,000 indemnity, even on a "when, as, and if issued" basis notes the N. Y. Post.

To those not familiar with the functions of the New York it may be remarked that it is popularly supposed to create a quotation on practically any thing that involves a dollar mark.

It is something like Lloyds in the insurance field which will insure against anything.

COAL-STEEL AND MERGER DISCUSSED

Special to The Star.

SYDNEY, N.S., Feb. 22.—"The coal situation is going to become serious, and even now is one of the most serious problems in the provinces," according to a statement made to The Star by Mark Workman, President of the Dominion Steel Company, in an interview this morning.

"Industries will of a necessity have to be closed down if there is not a sufficient amount of fuel and, while this sort of condition may not be evidenced until next fall, there is sure to be a crisis unless something is done and done immediately to increase the production or trouble will surely be experienced."

Mr. Workman said that the production of coal in Canada had fallen off considerably. "In fact," said Mr. Workman, "it is now close to fifty per cent below normal."

"Business is just fair. There is some business, but the domestic demand for steel is not big. The company is able to keep its plant business owing to the orders and the contracts given it by the Government, but otherwise conditions are not up to the standard."

On being questioned regarding his opinion as to the present conditions of the country Mr. Workman replied that they were good. "There is much money," he said, "but we are piling up debt." He remarked that there was no reason for the people to become fearful, however, as yet.

In discussing the contemplated erection of a plate mill Mr. Workman stated that as soon as orders started to come in some definite action would be taken in regard to this matter.

"Just now," said Mr. Workman, "the matter is being considered, but we have no orders, and as a result we are unable to state definitely just what we will do, but it is an assured fact that if the business is received a plate mill will be established n this city."

"Talk of a merger between Scotia and Dominion is newspaper guessing and Street chat," said Mr. Workman, "there is nothing in it."

COAL SLUMP BLAMED ON RAIL CONGESTION

WASHINGTON, D.C., Feb. 22.—Bituminous coal production in January was at the lowest rate since September, 1916. In making public the figures today the Geological Survey blames the slump entirely on railroad congestion. The January output was 42,727,000 tons, an average of 1,643,000 tons daily.

"In the face of a need greater than ever before," said the survey's statement," the country entered the second month of the year some 5,000,000 tons behind the mark set in January, 1917."

Beehive coke production in January increased 7,000 tons a day over the December output, which was the lowest in a year. The total January output was 2,339,000 tons. By-product coke production fell off sharply.

Notes on 'Change

American Linseed Co. advanced price of linseed oil in barrels three cents to $1.35 a gallon.

Today being the anniversary of Washington's birth, the grain and other exchanges throughout the United States are closed

A report on the trend of prices for farm products was published today by the United States Department of Agriculture as follows:

"The level of prices paid producers of the United States for the principal crops increased about 2.8 per cent during January; in the past ten years the price level increased about 4.2 per cent during January. On February the index figure of prices was about 38.8 per cent higher than a year ago, 94.1 per cent higher than two years ago and 99.4 per cent higher than the average of the past ten years on February 1.

"The prices of meat animals, hogs, cattle, sheep and chickens, to producers of the United States decreased 1.2 per cent from December 15 to Janury 15; in the past seven years prices increased in like period 2.2 per cent. On January 15 the index figure of prices for these meat animals was about 47.5 per cent higher than a year ago, 94.9 per cent higher than two years ago and 88 per cent higher than the average of the past seven years on January 15."

W. R. Bawlf, a prominent Winnipeg grain man, who has been investigating agricultural conditions in Alberta, is quoted as being convinced that Alberta acreage this year will be at least 15 per cent greater than last year on account of exceptional increase in summer fallow land. Alberta should produce full 30 per cent more grain than last year.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE ON U.S. WAR CONTRACTS

Special to The Star.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—It is stated on reliable authority that negotiations are in progress for the placing of orders amounting to something like $200,000,000 for field pieces and big guns for the army.

Orders for shells are still being placed, but there seems to be some difficulty over getting sufficient finishing space. In the case of certain of the most recently placed contracts only the forgings have been let so far, and the manufacturers of these do not know to what machining concern they will be delivered.

Companies which already have orders for shells of various sizes have been approached with offers of more business, but some of them at any rate are so loaded up that they decline to consider any additional contracts.

It is probable that the Government will have to assist some of the companies financially which have never made the articles required to enter these new fields. This was done several months ago when the first lot of gun contracts was placed.

DIMINISHING FLOUR SUPPLY IN STATES

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—The available wheat flour supply in the Central States is rapidly diminishing with prospects of a severe famine, according to reports from milling and grain centres today. The Government is commandeering practically the entire output of large northwest mills for export to the Allies.

Bakeries operating on a day-to-day supply were threatened with closing, housewives found grocer supplies gone. Millers declared a vastly increased consumption of wheat substitutes is the only remedy. Farmers were reported holding their grain in the hope of increasing the fixed wheat price to $2.50. Domestic consumers were charged with hoarding.

A special train of fifty cars of flour left the Minneapolis mills today for the Atlantic Coast. The Government expects 150 more cars for export this week according to millers.

Mining Management Changes are in Order

COBALT, Ont., Feb. 22.—One of the first changes at the Temiskaming mine as a result the switching of control is that of the resident manager. Heretofore, J. W. Moffet, who is also manager of the Beaver, was general manager of the Temiskaming. It is now learned that Mr. McReavy, manager of the Trenthwey Mine is probably in line for the Temiskaming.

According to the annual report of the Tretheway Silver Cobalt mine, ore reserves at the end of 1917 show a decrease of 2670 tons as compared with 1916. The ore blocked out increased 1,438 tons while the ore broken decreased over 4,000 tons, the net decrease in tonnage being 13 per cent. The estimated ounces of silver in the ore reserve from 361,482 to 264,044, a net decrease of 27 per cent. Of course 1918 operations might reasonably be expected to deplete very materially the present ore reserves.

During the year a total of 34,722 tons of ore were milled, averaging 13.3 ounces per ton from which 341,... ounces of silver were obtained. The net value of ore produced was $263,016.56 with an operating profit of $114,934.67 out of which dividend number 15, amounting to $50,000 was paid to shareholders on August 31 last.

MAXIMUM PRICE SET FOR OATS

WINNIPEG, Feb. 22.—A maximum price of 99 cents per bushel on oats was set by the council of Grain Exchange here at a meeting this morning. The following resolution was posted on the trading of the exchange before the opening of the session:

Resolved that until further notice no contracts for May or July delivery of oats shall be entered into at a price in excess of ninety-nine cents per bushel.

This action has been taken by the council as a result of speculation which has been raising prices on the grain exchange almost every day for the past ten days, carrying the price to the highest on record for oats. The Chicago Board of Trade yesterday fixed a maximum price of ninety-three cents per bushel for all transaction in oats on the Chicago Grain Exchange.

Inspections, and opening prices were No. 1 nor. 105; No. 2, nor. 35; No. 3 nor 28; No. 4 wheat 17; other grades 14; total 199.

Oats—May, 97. Flax—May 335. Barley —May 172.

The announcement of the maximum price led to a reaction in prices, which did not last though, and the market while somewhat unsettled, was fairly steady.

DOME LAKE'S RESERVES

PORCUPINE, Ont., Feb. 22.—Encouraging results in the lower working of the Dome Lake property continues. It would appear that on the success or failure of developments at depth the property perhaps will stand or fall. Ore reserves a few months ago were estimated at some $82,000.

It would not come as a surprise to mining men here, if the Dome Lake were to seek finances for further development from other than its present backers.

MINING CO-OPERATION

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont., Feb. 22.—The mine operators of the Kirkland Lake camp are considering a plan whereby a study can be made of the geological structure in that area. If the plan is to be successfully carried out, the first two steps must be, first for the management of the various properties to mutually agree to give free access to their surface and underground workings and to lend all possible assistance towards making the survey complete in every detail.

BIG DEVELOPMENTS IN SHIPBUILDING

Bradstreet's weekly trade report says:

There has been some improvement in railway traffic, but conditions are still very far from the requirements, and trade in general has suffered, but there is a very optimistic feeling. The large amount of new taxation to be levied by the Provincial and Domestic Government will be keenly felt in some lines of business, especially those who have been hard hit by war conditons.

Big developments have been made throughout Canada in the shipbuilding industry. Farmers in the West have been large buyers of up-to-date agricultural improvements. The building trade in Canada is at a standstill owing to the high prices demanded for materials. Lumber required for ship building and aeroplanes have advanced in prices very considerably. There has been a big demand from England for building material, but this trade is very much curtailed owing to the scarcity of ocean space.

The leather and boot and shoe trade are experiencing a very dull time. Canadian Canners are at a big disadvantage with American competitors owing to the high prices of tin plate, labels, etc. American eggs are ariving moe freely, which will ease the situation in Canada. Butter market ruled strong at higher prices. There has been more activity in the cheese trade during the week. Oranges advanced two dollars per case. Shipments of corn from the United States to Canada for feeding and manufacturing purposes are to be more limted by order of the American Government, as they require this class of corn for seeding purposes.

The retail trade has shown some improvement during the week. Remittances are coming in well. City collections are improving slightly.

BUTTER PRICES FIRMER

Special to The Star.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—All shipments of butter owing to the intense cold has jumped the price up to 53 cents. Eggs are scarce at fifty cents. Oats reached a new high level today when the few brought in sold for $2.80. One shipment of live hogs was made at $18. Dressed hogs sell at $23.50 to $24.

DAIRY MEN GET BONUS

Special to The Star.

COBOURG, Ont., Feb. 22. — Seven hundred dollars to each patron on the Lindsay-Peterborough Cheese Board for last season gives an estimate of the money received by dairymen for their cheese in the counties of Victoria and Peterborough. Thirty-seven factories sold on these two boards last year 3,552,259 pounds of cheese, which was worth $750,066.27. In 1916 3,620,679 pounds was made, which was worth $668,947.40. Production declined last year 58,420 pounds, but the financial returns increased $81,118.87.

The average price paid for cheese was 2½c higher than the average for 1916.

SWEDEN'S FOOD

Situation is Gradually Growing Worse, Shorter Rations

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 7.—The food situation in Sweden is rapidly growing worse. Pork cards will be introduced and the extra bread cards, which formerly were provided for foreign diplomats have been withdrawn, except one for each head of a mission.

The export of foodstuff has almost entirely stopped, with the exception of meat, owing to the necessity of slaughtering stock because of the lack of fodder. Even meats show a large decrease. In November last 21.2 tons of pork were exported against 1,517 tons in November, 1916, and 151 tons of all other meat against 972.

The statistics of Swedish imports for the first eleven months of the past year, which are now available, demonstrate upon what short rations the kingdom has been put. The total imports of all cereals and flour were 143,459 tons, against 331,187 for the first eleven months of 1916. Coffee imports were 8,134 tons against 17,113, tea 32 tons against 480, all kinds of animal fodder, chiefly oilcakes, 33,602 tons against 77,272, and hard coal 11,300,000 tons against 34,500,000 tons in the first eleven months of 1916.

Peterson Lake Mill to Treat Lake Slimes

Peterson Lake shareholders are receiving the financial statement of the company for the nine months ending January 31 and a note from the vice-president and managing director, Mr. Forest, announcing that the company has commenced the erection of a mill (capacity 100 tons daily) on the property to treat the slimes of the Seneca section. Independent surveys and assays indicate that these slimes contain over 75,000 ounces of silver and these, the managing director thinks, should defray all expenses of building the mill, in addition to netting the company in the neighborhood of $30,000.

The Dominion Reduction Company intends appealing the verdict against it in the suit over the possession of the slimes which are said to contain over $2,000 ounces of silver.

PATRIOTISM WAS DEFENCE USED IN REPINGTON CASE

LONDON, Feb. 22.—No witnesses for the defence were produced by Tindal Atkinson, counsellor for Col. Repington and Mr. Gwynne, who were each fined £100 and costs for violation of the censorship by an article written by the former and published by the latter in the Morning Post. He did not even call the defendants to the stand. He spoke, however, for nearly two hours, laying stress on the importance of the case, and declaring it was the patriotic duty of the defendants to disregard the censor's warning and let the public know what was going on, because for the first time in the history of the war, a portion of the British army had been handed over to the command of a general of another country.

Sir John Dickinson, the presiding magistrate in the Bow Street Police Court, where the case was tried, in passing sentence, said he had nothing to do with the truth or falsity of the article, which Mr. Atkinson contended conveyed no information to the enemy inasmuch as its substance was already known in Germany, and in countries which were Great Britain's allies, and that the prosecution was simply for the "convenience," of Premier Lloyd George' Government in its desire not to permit the British public to know the decisions of the Supreme War Council at Versailles, "too early."

CENSOR REPLIES TO 'PLAINTS OF I.B.S.A.

Special to The Star.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—There is no reciprocal arrangement between the United States and us as to what publications should be banned and what should not be," asserted Col. E. J. Chambers, Chief Press Censor today, apropos of the complaint that, while the literature of the International Bible Students' Association is kept from circulation in Canada nothing of the kind has been done in the United States.

"We are not guided by what they do, and they are not guided by us," added the Press Censor.

The literature in question is barred from Canada because of its anti-war and pacifist propaganda.

The above despatch is an answer to a question put to The Star today by a delegation of I.B.S.A. adherents who wanted to know why Canada acted when the States did not.

There are about one hundred and twenty members of the I.B.S.A. in Montreal. They meet at the Arcanum Hall and at 92 Union avenue. Their headquarters were visited by the Dominion police and copies of the banned book, Pastor Russell's seventh volume of the "Finished Mystery," were taken. What individual copies the members have in their homes were not touched.

Local members say there are about six or seven thousand active members of the association in Canada, with the chief groups in Toronto, Vancouver and Winnipeg. They say that 850,000 copies of the condemned book were sold in Canada since October last.

No prosecutions have been instituted in Montreal but the Montreal members say they will do all in their power to help their Toronto friends fight the prosecution of the five members arrested there. They say they are not against the war, in fact had predicted it, and that they are confident they will have the ban on their publications lifted.

The Gun Was Mended.

The splendid resources and leadership of our officers is constantly revealed in the unsympathetic pages of the official London Gazette. In its printed page the following deeds of heroism recently found space.

Lieutenant George M. Doughty, commanding a machine-gun subsection, held a position for three days and nights under heavy machine-gun, rifle, and shell fire, waist-deep in water. He kept up a constant fire on the enemy massing for counter-attack. While firing his gun the pin broke at a critical moment, but he repaired the stoppage first with his tiepin and afterwards with a split pin from a grenade.

Captain Harry Driver, D. S. O., Bedford Regiment, although fired at by snipers and machine guns, continued his rounds from post to post, even after he had been hit by a sniper, his jaw broken, and his tongue shot through. He gave up only when suffering from loss of blood.

Second-Lieutenant Arthur J. F. Danielli, Border Regiment, was blown up, wounded, and knocked unconscious by a shell. Recovering consciousness when being carried down to the dressing station, he immediately stopped the stretcher-bearers and returned to his company in time to lead his platoon, which he continued to do throughout the day.

After he had completed his usual round, Captain George T. Cregan, R. A. M. C., volunteered to remain at an advanced dressing station, which was short-handed, and worked continuously for nineteen hours treating and evacuating 700 cases. This was performed under continuous and heavy shell fire, during which the dressing station itself was hit.

Second Lieutenant Thomas Saumarez Dobree, R. F. A., captured, single-handed, thirteen of the enemy in a house, threatening them with his revolver. He was accompanied by an unarmed signaller.

All four have been awarded the Military Cross.

In asking the Tottenham magistrate to agree to the transfer of the license of the King and Tinker public-house, Bull Cross, Enfield, the police inspector said that the house was over a thousand years old, and he believed it to be the oldest licensed house in England.

MILITARY PUT AN END TO THE HABEAS 'CORPUS PETITION

Allowed Petitioner His Freedom So There Will Be No Test Case—Various Aspects of Military Service Law Seen in Appeal Cases Today

There will be no test of the clause in the Military Service Act which suspends habeas corpus, so far as the case of George Dalzier is concerned. Dalzier, a chauffeur who applied for a writ Wednesday in the Practice Court before Mr. Justice Greenshields, on the ground that he had been detained as an absentee, has been given his freedom by the military.

Yesterday, when the case was called before the Practice Court, H. S. M. Caron, his counsel, stated that he had been liberated when the military were served with a copy of the petition for the writ; accordingly, he wished to withdraw the petition. Dalzier will now appear before one of the appeal tribunals which will judge his case.

ONE BROTHER WILLING.

Waiving consideration of any further exemption, a young man told Mr. Justice Guerin yesterday, that he would take up arms in order to release his brother from military service so that the latter might look after their widowed mother. The brothers were George and Thomas Broadhurst, both category A2 men George, aged 23 is a technical expert with the Montreal and Southern Counties railway company, while Thomas, aged 21, is also an important employe, holding the office of assistant secretary treasurer with the Abitib. Power, Pulp and Paper Company.

Yesterday, the railway company asked for George's exemption until at least May 10, to allow of the completion of some important work. On the other hand Thomas was exempted by a local tribunal as the support of his widowed mother, but the military have appealed against this, and the appeal will be heard in another court in the near future.

When George's case was called he introduced the younger brother, and after explaining the circumstances to His Lordship declared his willingness to don khaki if only Thomas could be permanently exempt to look after the widowed mother.

Touched by this sacrifice, Judge Guerin not only promised to have all the facts laid before the appeal judge who will decide the case of Thomas, but also granted George the exemption asked for by his employers, remarking that it was only fair to the young man that he should have a little exemption for himself before entering the army.

SUPPORTS MOTHER IN RUSSIA.

When Phillip Parkin, who carries on the business of bag merchant in the city, asked for exemption as the support of his widowed mother in Russia, His Lordship expressed doubt as to the utility of sending money to that country at the present time. "If it ever got there," he remarked, "ten to one it would be taken by the Bolsheviki Government before it had a chance to reach the mother."

However, Parkin produced receipts from the Russian Consul here, and also from Russia to show that he was making regular payments, and that they were being received with a fair degree of regularity.

He also produced a letter from his mother written on Oct. 3 last year, which brought the news of his brother-in-law's death on one of the Russian fronts, and also stated that his only brother had been reported missing at the front for over six months. The distracted mother pitifully besought her son in Montreal to keep up the payments, without which, she said, she would starve, as she now bore the added burden of her daughter and grandchildren's support, following their father's death at the front. In addition, life was very hard in Russia now, and it was all she could do to keep body and soul together.

Although Parkin stated that he had became a naturalized British subject in 1914, he had no documents to show that such was the case, and His Lordship therefore took the case under advisement in order that the records may be searched.

If the draftee is found to be still a Russian citizen, he will not be liable to conscription, but if a British subject then the hearing will be continued on his domestic appeals.

George E. Conrick, of 229 William street, pleaded exemption as the support of his parents. His father was sick and unable to work more than six months in the year, and the local tribunal had put the boy in Class 2 on these grounds. Mr. Westover, public representative, asked for a medical certificate of the father's unfitness, and the case was accordingly place en delibere for this to be produced.

THREE MEN DRAFTED.

Judge Duclos sent three men to the colors yesterdays, each case going by default with insufficient proofs in the records. John J. Costello's medical certificate placed him in A2. Arthur Cassidy was married in October, 1917, since the Military Service Act went into force. John Blackburn was also refused.

Rather an unusual visitor to the courtroom was a pretty little girl of some six or seven years, who appeared as witness on behalf of Albert Ryan. Ryan had been adopted when a child and, at the present time, contributed largely to the support of his foster mother. Mrs. Ryan had again opened her home this time to take in her three little nieces, who were entirely dependent on her. As she testified that she would be unable to support them without the substantial assistance of her adopted son Albert. He was granted exemption.

MUST MAKE CHOICE.

On the eighth of January last Judge Duclos had occasion to congratulate the mother of Romeo Gouldreau, who had waived his claims for exemption and had voluntarily joined the Royal Flying Corps. Unfortunately he could not satisfy the requirements of the R. F. C. entrance examination, and returned to town three weeks ago. This morning the case of his brother was brought up in court. One or other brother must go, said the judge, granting them until March 1 to settle the matter between them. He preferred to exempt the younger brother Romeo, although he was already in the service of the military as he earned the larger salary of the two.

Charles Leblanc, a fireman, was exempted. "Young men are needed for this work," said the Judge, "We cannot leave the city without fire protection."

Wm. F. Harold was exempted on the condition that both of his brothers enter the army. The youngest was already in the composite regiment, while the eldest had withdrawn his appeal, considering that William was the most suitable one of the three to remain at home and care for their invalid mother.

James Masson was exempt as he worked for the firm of Fraser Brace and Company who were engaged in ship building for the Government.

THIS ONE OVER AGE.

A curious mistake was made by Arthur Power who registered under the Act although he was over age. Discovering his mistake, he appealed from the decision of the local tribunal and produced his mother's sworn statement as well as his baptismal certificate, proving that he was 37 years old.

That one can be seriously injured without going to the front was the story of Albert Eddolls who was just out of the Royal Victoria Hospital. In January he had met with an accident which practically deprives him of the use of one eye. He was exempted.

THREE UNFITS.

Three appeals of the military were withdrawn before Mr. Justice Lane. Mr. Couper, public representative explained that it was no use to go on with them as the draftees were unfit for service. This was unknown at the time the appeals were lodged. Armand Ferland, James Franken and Romeo Gravel were therefore placed in class E.

A. Cote who is asking for permission to cross into the United States to work for the United Shipping Board appeared again but the case was adjourned till Monday.

Robert Kertcher was given six weeks to wind up his affairs. There are three other brothers of military age. Two are unfit and the other brother is contesting the finding of the medical board which placed him in class A. Zach Matte, 253 St. Catherine; G. Dearlove, 2460 University; J. Raoul, John Findlay, 153 Mance; S. H. Decker, 1922 Mance, and F. J. O'Brien were all sent before the Revisory Board.

COURTS JAMMED.

"The statement has been made that the courts will be through the roll of appeals by April 1," said Mr. Justice Marechal yesterday. "I don't see how this can be done, as the Revisory Boards will be fully occupied till March 15 by cases already referred to them, and as there are 17,000 more appeals to be heard, of which 50 per cent will probably have to be sent to the Revisory Board. I can't see how it can be done."

R. G. De Lorimier, public representative, agreed that the Revisory Boards would be busy with cases already referred to them, till the 15th of March.

Mr. de Lorimier afterwards stated to The Star that he thought the three be able to cope with the number of boards sitting at present would not be able to cope with the number of cases being sent before them, and he added that perhaps additional boards would be created.

His Lordship made further remarks on the question of lawyers appearing for draftees and declared that it was absolutely useless and a waste of money to have advocates appear before the court on behalf of clients with a class C, D, or E certificate that had been given by the Revisory Board. There is no pleading to be done when a draftee has been placed in any category below A. He wanted to assure the public, he declared, that no discrimination was made whether the draftee was represented or not by counsel, and the court would allow every latitude to draftees in the filing of evidence. He advised the lawyers that when preparing a case where the cause for exemption was based on economic grounds to have all the questions and answers that is usually put by the court, filed in the record.

BROTHER WOUNDED.

"I am exempting your brother in consideration of the fact that you served the country and were wounded at the frnt. You are unable to work and your brother is exempted for so long as your condition remains as it is," said His Lordship to J. Hurtebise, brother of Camille Hurtebise, who was seeking exemption on domestic grounds.

The draftee's brother appeared in uniform and was leaning heavily on a cane as a result of a broken foot which he sustained at Neuve Chapelle. He declared that he was discharged in October, 1916. He was in a serious condition, and unable to work, and had received no salary for a year and a half. "If you have been discharged, why are you wearing a uniform?" asked the Court. "I think I have a right to wear it, although I have been discharged" was the reply.

Mr. deLorimier declared that, according to the documents before him, the soldier had been discharged without pay, as it was considered that he was disabled only 15 per cent. An investigation was however being conducted.

YARDMAN EXEMPT.

Although he had not been placed on the list of C.P.R. employes for whom the company was seeking exemption, A. Malo was nevertheless released from military service by the court.

Malo is a yardman at the Place Viger yards, and B. Blair the superintendent of that department gave evidence that it was in the national interest not to draft him. He had been in his present position for five years, and was engaged in the making up of passenger and freight trains in the most important yard of the company.

"Would you be able to dispense with his services at the end of the winter?" asked His Lordship.

"It would be impossible to do so," replied Mr. Blair, "as the business increases rather than diminishes in the summer." He explained that the omission of Malo's name from the list was due to a clerical error.

"Although there are some famous generals who possess only one eye, I don't think that the Government wants one-armed soldiers," declared His Lordship, to Chas. Florence who was placed in Class E.

Mr. Justice Marechal dealt with thirty-four cases today.

Radnor Township has just appointed Mrs. Neville Brant, of Wayne, W. Va., with a star and pistol of authority and she becomes the only feminine member of the township police force. She has been in social service work in Wayne for three years.

GOVERNMENT MEMBER OF RAILWAY WAR BOARD

A. E. [illegible] Hon J. D. Reid, Minister of Railways and Canals, to be a member of the Administrative Committee of the Canadian Railway Association for National Defence.

NEW MEMBER OF WAR BOARD

A. E. Warren, chief operating officer of the Department of Railways and Canals, has been added to the membership of the administrative committee of the Canadian Railway Association for National Defence. Before his appointment by the Hon. J. D. Reid, Minister of Railways and Canals, he was assistant general manager of the Canadian Northern Railway, and his described as a railway man of broad experience and marked ability.

The appointment of Mr. Warren is made with the purpose of increasing the efficiency of the board's work. The appointee of Hon. Mr. Reid represents both the Government and all the Government railway lines, both east and west. Heretofore, the I. C. R. and the Canadian Northern have had a representative each on the board. Both Mr. Hayes and Mr. Hanna will remain on the board, but Mr. Warren, it is believed, being in a position to speak for the Government system from east to west as a whole, will be able to help in bringing about greater co-ordination of effort.

CENTRE OF GERMAN ESPIONAGE FOUND

Scheme to Start Trouble in France During the Offensive

PARIS, Feb. 22.—An important centre of German espionage has been discovered, the Figaro reports, at St. Etienne, capital of the Department of Loire, in the heart of the industrial district of France. According to this account, the purpose was to influence workmen by means of a carefully organized system, with a view to causing riots and strikes.

The headquarters of the propaganda was a prosperous saloon kept by a German and his wife, who made a special effort to attract soldiers to the establishment. Other patrons, some of them of suspicious character, apparently were involved in the movement. The German and his wife, a Spaniard, a Swiss and a man who lodged at the saloon, named Fialex, were arrested.

Fialex was a draughtsman at the great ordnance factory at St. Etienne. In his room were found documents showing that he was connected closely with the recent strike in that city. He also was interested in military questions, and was in correspondence with suspected individuals in another section. He had a safe conduct available for various military zones, and a pedlar's license. Other documents showed he must have received a large sum of money for an undertaking at St. Etienne, which exposed him to considerable risk. Quantities of papers in cipher were also found in his possession. One of these papers apparently was of special interest and has been sent to official cryptographers.

These discoveries at St. Etienne, the Figaro says, established the fact that under German direction there is at work a "defeatist" organization whose avowed object is to promote at a given date, while a German offensive is in full swing, insurrectional troubles at different points in France.

A Tired Sentry.

A Red Cross nurse related recently an interesting little story. Among the cases in her care at a base hospital in France was a soldier whose hurts were described officially as "G.S.W. Multiple." In other words, he had been hit in every limb and in several parts of the body. He was little more than a boy, but his youth was in his favor, and he made quick progress considering the gravity of his wounds.

When he was well enough the nurse asked him how he came by a little group of incised wounds under his chin, which had puzzled her, they were so unlike the many she had dressed during her two years at the hospital.

"Well," nurse, it was like this," the boy explained apologetically. "I was on sentry one night, and was so tired that I was afraid I might fall asleep. So I put the butt of my rifle between my feet, so that if my head nodded the point of my bayonet would stick into my chin and—well, pull me together again." "And your head did nod once or twice," the nurse said, feeling rather "choppy" in the throat. The boy smiled a rather shamefaced assent.

RENEW EXEMPTION FOR REAL FARMERS

Many Who Got Six Months' Release Sold Their Land

Special to Star From Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—Bona-fide farmers who have been exempted under the Military Service Act until June 1st, will have their exemptions automatically extended if they are actually engaged in production.

It has come to the attention of the authorities that many farmers who have temporarily been exempted have taken it for granted that when June comes they will have to go to the front. Some of them have sold their farms.

There are about four thousand appeals now before the Central Appeal Judge, and practically one half are farmers. It is pointed out that those who are exempted up to June have to report in May as to their plans for the summer. If they are "carrying on" in agricultural work, their exemptions as a matter of course will be renewed. They will report again in November; and if they have made good, will secure further release from military service. There is every intention of keping the real farmer on the soil.

A decision on the principle is still pending in the case of the bank clerks, railway employes and cheesemakers.

There are thirty-four thousand appeals in the Province of Quebec, and it is expected that twenty thousand of them will come to Ottawa. The Minister of Justice has had an interview with the Montreal Chief Justice and received assurances that the hearings of the appeals will be expedited. A similar undertaking was given yesterday by Sir Francois Lemieux, Chief Justice of the Quebec Division of the Superior Court.

A Soldier Son Who Sent Himself Home in Advance

Mr. Warner Pond, a Wesleyan local preacher, of Peterborough, England, relates a remarkable experience which befell him early one Sunday morning.

He states he was in bed, when suddenly a vision of his eldest son, a soldier on the western front, appeared at the bedside. The lad was dressed in full equipment, but, strangely enough, his uniform appeared to be pure white. Mr. Pond thought he apparition a bad omen, and refrained from telling his wife, but he was astonished later in the day when asked by her why he had twice sat up in bed. He then told her what had happened.

They were unsettled all day, and more so on the following Monday, when, opening a newspaper, they discovered that the lad's regiment had been in action. They concluded he had been killed.

While at supper the same night there was a knock at the door, and the vision reappeared this time in corporeal form. It was the son in reality, whitened with snow from head to foot, a living replica of the previous night's vision.

When told of the occurrence the soldier son laughingly said: "Well I had no chance to send a written message, so I just dropped in to tell you I was on my way home."

AGAINST BOYCOTT OF GERMANY

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—The Merchants' Association of New York yesterday through its board of directors, cast its ten votes in the Chamber of Commerce of the United States against the referendum proposing a trade boycott against Germany after the war, unless that country abandons its present military system.

LIKES LIBERTY BUT NOT RUSSIAN KIND

Former Canadian Writes to Friend Here Describing Conditions

E. Tartak, Russian instructor at McGill, has recently received a letter from a friend in Russia, M. E. Lazareff, who lived in Canada for about five years, until August last.

Mr. Lazareff is a revolutionary, and under the old regime was expelled from Russia after having been imprisoned for three years in Moscow for his activities. The letter is dated after the Bolshevik overthrow of Kerensky's Government. Mr. Lazareff is now in Moscow, of which city he is a native. The letter reads:

Moscow, Nov. 20, 1917.

"Dearest Friend,—Greetings to all my dear friends who are still living in foreign parts. Let me tell you that I have arrived in the mother country. Notwithstanding all the hardships of the travel I have managed to come home, and want to tell you first of all, do not be in a hurry to go home (to Russia), because you will lose nothing if you wait a year more. I regret very much that I cannot describe to you in detail my voyage from Vladivostok over Siberia to Moscow and home, as my letter will have to pass the censor and now, God have mercy on us, through the Bolshevik censorship.

"Still the situation is so far from enviable that, I think, a stoneface would shed tears when seeing the realities of life here.

"I know you will hear of all this before you receive my letter, but when I write it I cannot remain indifferent and tranquil.

"My heart is yearning to be where I could be at least of some use, where I could cry at them: 'You fratricides, hangers, stop!' But they will not let you,—there the question is decided by brutal force, and I see the deceived, brutal and ignorant jackboots trample on the best men in the country. It is bitter, but what can be done? One has to throw himself in that dark chaos and either win or perish. Under these conditions it is impossible to live.

"I have struggled all my life for liberty, but I do not want this kind of liberty.

"And so, God speed, to work.

"I went to the chief of the military district, I wanted to enlist, but was rejected by the medical commission."

ASK DISMEMBERMENT OF AUSTRIA-HUNGARY

Italian Workmen Going to Inter-Allied Socialist Conference

ROME, Feb. 22.—Delegates of the Social Democratic Irredenta, representing several thousand workmen who fled to Italy before the war, left today for London to take part in the Inter-Allied Socialist conference.

They intend to present a memorandum affirming the solidarity of the people's oppressed by Austria-Hungary—not only the Italians, but Slavs, Czechs, Rumanians, Poles and Jugo-Slavs—and their conviction in the right of all peoples to live free from tyranny in a free state.

The Italians will claim for themselves the same independence and liberty enjoyed by other peoples in Austria-Hungary and, in view of the general interest of the democracies of the world and in a future peace between the nations, will demand the dismemberment of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy.

MONSTER PARADE OF TROOPS IN N.Y.

Washington's Birthday Celebration Today—Patriotic Enthusiasm

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—A parade of 10,000 troops from the 77th division of the National army at Camp Upton—part of the "metropolitan division,"—was the distinguishing feature of the Washington's Birthday celebration in New York today.

Six thousand additional soldiers from the camp were given leaves of absence, and joined with the vast throngs in what was perhaps one of the most noteworthy patriotic demonstrations here since the United States entered the war.

All during the forenoon special trains brought in the troops, and the streets in the vicinity of railroad terminals and armories resounded with the rumble of artillery and the measured tread of trained soldiers—men who but six months ago were clerks, shopkeepers, mechanics, laborers and others making up the varied industrial army of the metropolis. Many of the troops arrived last night and participated in entertainments given in their honor.

The city, fully imbued with the martial and patriotic spirit of the day, outdid itself in the matter of displaying the national colors, and Fifth Avenue, the principal line of march for the parade, was literally a maving line of red, white and blue. The reviewing officers in the stand in front of the public library included the Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Daniels, Brigadier-General Evan M. Johnson, commanding the 77th Division, and various state and municipal authorities. The occasion of the parade was used to promote the sale of war savings stamps and floats carried appeals to "Get back of your sons."

IS SILK TOPPER TO DISAPPEAR FROM OUR VIEW?

Is the silk hat doomed to extinction? Wars and rumors of war do not make that a negligible question, says the Philadelphia Ledger. This long enduring type of headgear has prevailed more mightily here than in most American cities. Philadelphia has for some time been oblivious to its glories. Even Boston, the most English of our cities, has shown signs of abandoning it. Nor in London itself is it now the universal symbol of respectability. Yet men in middle life can remember when no substantial citizen went downtown in the morning otherwise attired. The staid banker still wears a silk hat and white side whiskers—a characteristic example of dramatic conservatism. In those days it was often a real beaver; the name long survived the thing. Under any name, plug, topper or what not, it was a source of satorial inspiration. The wearer had to live up to his hat. There were brazen revolutionists who ventured to accompany it with a "sack" coat. Our fathers or grandfathers, whose daily wear was a "swallow tail," had a finer sense of propriety.

In later times the association of the silk hat with the frock coat or with evening clothes—so often, alas! miscalled "dress suit"—has been imperative. How will it be if the topper goes to become exclusively suggestive of the undertaker? Few have ever thought it a thing of beauty or comfort. Yet it has imparted even to the most commonplace an air of distinction, even of nobility. Many a reputation for statesmanship has been built upon it. ENGLISH ONLY IN SASKATCHEWAN

School Trustees' Convention Adopts Strong Resolutions

By Canadian Press.

SASKATOON, Feb. 22. — The convention of school trustees of Saskatchewan adopted, by an overwhelming majority, a series of resolutions bearing upon the use of English only as the language of instruction in the public schools of the province. An amendment to one of them seeking to except the French language, was not seconded. From the tone of the conference it was seen readily that the English speaking element had gathered to assert the national sentiment.

"They clearly represented the vast majority of those present, and whatever the strength or potency of the foreign-speaking element, it was neither tested by exact vote or statement. Again the convention, owing to the very large attendance of trustees, was obliged to meet in two separate churches, causing a certain amount of awkwardness and confusion in procedure.

The ultimate of the convention, however, was not interfered with, there being correspondingly large majority of the English-speaking trustees at the overflow meeting to carry the same resolutions.

At the outset there was put on record the loyalty of the convention to the King and British institutions, and the conviction of the justice and ultimate triumph of the Allied cause. The carrying of this resolution by unanimous vote was followed by the audience singing the National Anthem.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

The wording of this resolution was as follows:

"That, in view of the prolonged struggle of the Allied powers to make the world safe for democracy, this, the third annual convention of the Saskatchewan School Trustees' Association places upon record its loyalty to His Majesty the King and British institutions and its conviction of the justice and ultimate triumph of the Allied cause."

Other resolutions were:

"That no person shall be eligible to be elected as a trustee unless he is a British subject, and shall not be eligible to be elected as trustee unless he is able to read and write the English language."

"That this convention urges the Provincial Government to take the necessary steps to ensure that every child in the province receives adequate and proper instruction in the English language."

"That no language except English be used as the language of instruction in any school in the province."

"That no language except English be taught during school hours in any school which comes under the provisions of the School Act."

FISHERWOMEN OF BRITAIN ARE WAR HEROINES

Heroism in civil life has come to be almost commonplace in an empire torn by the bitter world struggle, but shining instances are noted by the Government and reward given. Nearly four hundred medals for self-sacrifice in time of danger just have been distributed in England. As many women as men appear on the lists. Many of them are telephone girls, who have earned the admiration of all London by their fearlessness in sticking to their posts in face of imminent danger from exploding bombs hurled from German Zeppelins and airplanes. Some of those who are now wearing medals are Lilian Ada Bostock, Florence Steggel, Mabel Eleanor Clarke, Florence Marie Cass, Ethel E. Hickey and Bertha Florence Easter. These girls have been pictured in the illustrated papers of London and have received gifts from citizens. They are ready to do their work no matter how many bombs are falling about them.

And Great Britain has a new Grace Darling upon whom to shower its homage. Ella Trout has gained the new distinction. She has a medal from the Government and no one begrudges her one bit of her honor. She is a fisherwoman. She rowed into the vortex of a sinking ship which just had been torpedoed and rescued a sailor who was clinging to a lifeboat. A submarine was in the immediate vicinity and already had shelled other lifeboats. The woman was a mile away, accompanied only by a ten-year-old boy. She rowed straight for one boat filled with sailors, which was shattered and sunk as she drew near it, and when there was none left there to be saved changed her course and picked up a sailor in another boat. She now is one of the national heroines. She still is a fisherwoman.

Frederick Higham, special constable, has received a medal. He swam to an airship that had fallen into the sea and brought two airmen ashore. Doris Hirst, another telephone operator, has reason to be proud. She has received a medal. She works in a munitions factory. She remained at her post, summoning aid and performing other invaluable service while the factory was virtually destroyed around her. The police had advised every one to leave, but she refused until she had put through certain calls which she believed were necessary for the safety of the neighboring buildings.

THE JEW SCORED.

Colonel Patterson, D.S.O., the organizer of the new Jewish regiment, tells a good story of a man who, entering a compartment of a railway carriage, started to cross-examine a little old Jew who sat in the corner seat opposite him.

"I say," began the stranger, "you are a Jew, aren't you?"

"Yes, sir," was the polite reply. "I'm a traveller in the drapery trade," and he handed his interrogator his business card.

"But you're a Jew?" persisted the stranger.

"Yes, yes, I'm a Jew," was the answer.

"Well," continued the stranger, who had apparently been imbibing not wisely but too well, "I'm a Yorkshireman, and in the little village where I come from I'm glad to say there isn't a single Jew."

"Dot's vy it's still a village," replied the Jew.

TREACHERY CAUSED TOWNSHEND'S DEFEAT

Hindu Student Boasts of Having Spread Propaganda That Did it

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 22.—The defeat of General Townshend's forces in Mesopotamia was attributed to Kedar Ali Khan, a former student of the University of California, and other alleged Hindu revolutionists in documents introduced in evidence in the trial of the so-called Hindu conspiracy case here yesterday by the Government.

The alleged activities of the Hdinu revolutionists in Mesopotamia, according to John W. Preston, attorney, were discovered through letters said to have been sent by Ali Khan to Ram Chandra, one of the defendants, and publisher of a Hindu revolutionary paper. These letters, according to the prosecution, were intercepted by British censors and sent to the Department of Justice.

In a letter describing what he termed was the downfall of General Townshend, Ali Khan wrote:

"When our patriots entered Bagdad, we achieved there a very great success in our work. We organized an army of the Indians and sent them to oppose the enemy. For our sake our Indian troops refused to fight, and gave a very great defeat to the British near Bagdad.

"The British understood it to be our work. They then brought a very large force near Kut-el-Amara, but there the army was surrounded and the whole of the force under General Townshend fell into the halnds of the Turks. The British force, which was sent to relieve them, returned after suffering great loss. That is to say the whole of the British army which fell into the hands of the Turks consisted of 4,498 British and 8,128 Indians, of which several Englishmen and Indians had been killed.

"This battle lasted 143 days. Two severely wounded Generals fell into the hands of the Turks and also twenty-five guns, all of large calibre. Now we request you to send to Bagdad more patriots who should work under a capable patriot and preach among those soldiers."

TRAMWAYS' SERVICE

Inspectors' Report Shows Overcrowding on Some Lines

Overcrowding on several lines and an irregular service on others were the features of the reports of the city tramway inspectors for the week ending Feb. 16. On the St. Denis line, with an increased service, there were 106 cars north bound overcrowded during the afternoon and 133 cars southbound in the forenoon. On the Mount Royal avenue line, with a four minute service during the day, with extra cars in rush hours, there were forty eastbound cars overcrowded between five and eight p.m., and eighteen westbound overcrowded cars during the same period. On the Wellington street line there was overcrowding the best part of the day. On the Notre Dame street line, there was a decrease in the car service with a car missing a trip occasionally, and overcrowded cars during the rush hours.

A service of cars every 2 minutes 17 seconds, was the average reported for St. Catherine street, where there was overcrowding in rush hours. On the Amherst street line, there were numerous irregularities and a decrease in the number of cars, as compared with last year. On the Ontario street line there were also numerous irregularities resulting in 24 gaps of an average duration of twelve minutes. On Papineau avenue there was an appreciable increase in the service which averaged a car every four minutes and thirteen seconds northward and six seconds less on the southward trip.
