In bud or blade, or bloom may find.
According to his humours lead,
A meaning suited to his mind.

Huntingdon Fair Opens Monday Evening With Big Street Parade and Programme

Ormstown Band to Lead Parade — Messrs. H. A. D. Somerville, M.L.A., and Jean Boucher, M.P., Will Declare Fair Officially Open

Hey, Oh, Come to The Fair, is the way a certain song goes and it goes on in merry mood to describe the many features of the Fair. Well, next week is Fair Week in Huntingdon, when the Huntingdon Fair gets underway on Monday evening with a monster parade and a gala opening programme.

Secretary Lyle Graham informs the Gleaner that final arrangements are being made which the Board of Directors feel will give the people of this community the best Fair in years.

The Fair will officially open on Monday night, August 16th, with a large street parade consisting of horses, ponies, floats of many descriptions, will be led by the Ormstown Band. (Huntingdon Band which is a part of the Reserve Army, is scheduled to attend annual camp during the week Huntingdon Fair is being held). Much work and effort is being put into the plans for this parade, so be sure to be on hand at 7:30, Monday evening.

When the parade reaches the Fair Grounds, the Fair will be officially opened by Messrs. H. A. D. Somerville, M.L.A., and Jean Boucher, M.P. The evening shows should provide good entertainment — pony classes, Diano Variety Shows, Selections by the Ormstown Band. A ladies' nail driving contest will be sponsored on Monday night in front of the grandstand. A horse-drawn contest on Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. Horse racing, a Square Dance Contest, Cattle Parade are included in the main events. The Peter March Midway from Toronto, will provide entertainment on the grounds for the young and the old. Meals will be served in the dining room under the management of "Bill" Ryan of Log Lodge. As usual, the Fair will come to a close with the annual dance on Wednesday evening, in the dining hall. Also at this time the drawing will take place for the Television set, radio set and other prizes for which tickets have been sold.

The Fair Grounds this year show a vast improvement in appearance. The directors have been busy putting on a new metal roof on one of the cattle barns. Since this project was started, it has been decided to re-roof the second cattle barn right away. It is hoped this work can be completed before the Fair. Such will add much to the comfort of the exhibitors as well as to the appearance of the grounds. The cost of the two roofs is approximately $1,000. The driveway has been improved with the addition of more gravel.

From Bucharest to Huntingdon -- An Adventure Of Terror and Escapade

Mr. N. Pollack

Mr. N. Pollack, who operates a clothing store on Chateaugay, Street in Huntingdon, has lived a very interesting life — a life full of adventure, peril and excitement. He has lived through the Terrorist regime of the Iron Guard, German Occupation and Russian Occupation. He has known the feeling of hunger and of terror — he has seen violence and bloodshed — he has seen how the Communists destroy civilization and has tasted of their injustice. The following is his story from 1940 to 1954.

A native of Bucharest, Roumania, Mr. Pollack recalls that his coming to Canada had its roots back in the black days of 1940. Life was wonderful until that fateful year when dark clouds loomed on the horizon and threatened the freedom-loving people of Europe. A change in government brought about the rise of the Iron Guard — a terrorist party. In 1942, the country was occupied by the Germans. Inner conflict arose when bitterness and quarrelling sprang up between the prime-minister-General Antonescu who was anti-Semitic, and the vice-president Horia Sima. The Jewish people feared for their very lives. Persecution of the Jews was only one of the cruelties of the German Occupation of Roumania. Mr. Pollack was thrown in a concentration camp where he was forced to do hard labor.

After the surrender of the German forces and the Day of Liberation, the country was occupied by the Russians. After his release from the German concentration camp, Mr. Pollack, who formerly worked in the Administration department of a two-party daily newspaper, returned to work for that paper, "ARDEALUL". A short while after that, the Communists established their own newspaper, "SCANTEIA". Then a period of stark terror began for the people of Bucharest. The editor of "ARDEALUL", Anton J. Muresan, has been in jail for ten years because he expressed his opinions in the form of editorials in his newspaper — he wrote what he believed was right, but, needless to say, the Communists didn't agree with him. All those intellectuals and big business men who refused to sympathize with the Communist Party were imprisoned.

Because of a lack of newspaper, Muresan had sent Mr. Pollack to the paper mills to get more material — for without newspaper, there would be no newspaper. But at the mill, Mr. Pollack was brusquely turned away and beaten. Frightened with these threats on his life, Mr. Pollack determined to leave the country.

On July 14, 1946, Mr. Pollack together with a few friends, left Bucharest and passed through the border into Hungary. But the same situation prevailed in this country. After spending two months in Hungary, he crossed the mountains by foot and entered Austria. His travels were a nightmare of hunger and terror, the fear of being caught always present — the eternal struggle for survival.

Finally he reached Vienna where the United Nations Refugee Association proved to be very helpful and understanding. Mr. Pollack was placed in a refugee camp in Germany where he spent a year.

He was then sent to Italy where he remained in an Italian Refugee Organization camp for another year. The year 1948 brought an end to his suffering and wanderings — he was on his way to happiness.

A cousin in Montreal heard of his being in the IRO camp in Italy and immediately applied for a permit to let him come to Canada. And so he came to Montreal in 1948 — a man with no language, no trade, no friends and no family.

In 1950, Mr. Pollack, who speaks Roumanian, German, and a little English, French and Italian, came to Huntingdon. At first, he peddled clothing from door to door, and three months ago he bought a store. Mr. Pollack is most thankful to the people of Huntingdon and district who offered him their encouragement and gave him an opportunity to make a living.

Mr. Pollack has a brother in Spain, whom he hopes to bring to Canada, one in Israel, and a brother and sister in Roumania who cannot leave the country. His sister has told him not to write anymore as correspondence between Canada and the Communist-dominated country is eyed very suspiciously.

Thankful to be here, Mr. Pollack is satisfied that Canada is a wonderful country — one of the best in the world. The spirit of the people enjoying their freedom, the freedom of freedom appeals to him strongly. He is waiting with impatience to become a citizen of Canada — a Canada of which he is very fond and proud.

What It Takes To Be A Good Teacher

F. W. Schnitzlein Proclaims Fundamental Essentials That Need Be Heeded

F. W. Schnitzlein, Superintendent of Public Schools, Malone, N.Y., addressed the Rotary Club on Monday, his topic being Education. Mr. Schnitzlein's philosophy of education was what held the attention of the audience. The three principals of obtaining an education is first the pupil, next the teacher and thirdly the parents. It is the impression of the child that obtains its impression as to atmosphere and spiritual emotion. The companions of the youngster have a force of developing childhood.

Teachers, are to treat with the basic fundamentals of an education. They try to refine the ethics for a scholar. To-day, I am inclined to believe the schools are trying to do too much, and in many cases things that the youngsters at home. To much extra curriculum is attempted, it is not carried out at the expense of other studies that are essential for a good scholastic education. Today schools appear to cater to much to the likes and dislikes of students. Actually students can attend schools and graduate over a long period of years through extra curricula subjects and be lacking in the real fundamentals of what it takes to become an educated person — reading, writing and arithmetic.

Mr. Schnitzlein made reference to schools, discipline carried out, or lack of it as the case may be. The mental and psychological aspect being important. The teachers must have knowledge and after that secure the genuine support of the pupil so that the knowledge can be imparted to the scholar.

The teacher must be progressive and be prepared to put in a good day's work with the scholars, irrespective of how much overtime

Electrical Storm Does Damage In Valleyfield

The violent electrical storm which passed over Valleyfield on Wednesday evening, August 4th, struck the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Bridcut. The lightning ran along the aluminum clothes line, splitting the pole in two, then into the bedroom where Mrs. Bridcut was sitting. Through the kitchen and down to the basement. Her head was showered with plaster from the wall but she was fortunate, not being injured. The whole wall of their house was damaged and might have burned from sparks igniting the bed spread and curtains had they not been at home.

The Horton residence next door had their radio damaged beyond repair and a beautiful lamp broken.

Man Drowned at Coteau Bridge While Fishing

Fisherman Jumps From Boat As It Drifts Toward Locks — Was Unable to Swim

A fishing excursion started Wednesday noon, August 4, ended tragically. Two expert fishermen, Mr. Mathias Quivillon, 78 years old, and Mr. Gerard Landry, 30 years old, both of Valleyfield, anchored the boat about one hundred feet from the Valleyfield-Coteau bridge. A few minutes after their arrival the two men noticed the boat was being carried out by the current, and they were heading for the lock. Before Mr. Quivillon could start the motor, the boat was already close to the doors.

As the boat was going by the narrow way, Mr. Landry suddenly became frightened and jumped from the boat although he did not know how to swim and thus could not make it to the shore, about 100 feet

Memorial Skating Rink to Be Built on King St.

The Huntingdon County Memorial Skating Rink has had several meetings of late. Plans have been received and discussed but it now appears a few further suggestions as to layout must be given consideration before final drawings are made. From the sketches provided to date estimates have been made and it has been unanimously decided by the committee in charge that the expense would be higher than they felt the community at large could afford. The Memorial Skating Rink will be built on King Street. The natural ice surface will measure 80 x 180. The seating capacity will be in the neighbourhood of 1,000. Waiting rooms, lavatories, etc., will be located at one corner of the building and will measure approximately 20 x 75 feet. The proposed roof would be of rolled slate surface, whilst the side walls are to be built of cement blocks. In view of the fact that some alternate side wall material might well be used thereby reducing costs is to be given further consideration before tenders are to be called.

Man Lost in Bush Found by Aid of Loud Speaker System

Had Been Lost For Almost Three Days— Apparently Suffered No Ill-effects

An intensive search was organized on Friday for a man who was lost in the bush in what is known as The Teafields, near Huntingdon, Que. The man had wandered from his home about 3:30 p.m. on Wednesday and his family had searched for him during the intervening period without finding him.

On Friday morning, police assistance was asked for and by means of a special order, Det. Ruitter and other officers organized a search party to try and locate the lost man. They rode in cars and were equipped with sound system by means of which they called out the name of the young man and asked him to come toward the direction of the sound. It was not until about 4 p.m. on Friday that the young man came out of the bush to one of the cars. This car belonged to Mr. Rene Rousseau and had with him the father of the man, who had been continuously calling to his son in the hope that he would hear him and find his way out. This proved to be effective and the man came out to the car and was returned to his family, who were overjoyed that nothing serious had happened to him.

The young man was Arsene Charlebois, whose home is on a farm on the New Erin Road and he appeared none the worse for his experience except that he was possibly hungry. The point at which the man was found was on the Connaught Road about a mile from his home. The cars traversed an area of about 25 miles before the man apparently heard them and came out. The police are confident that the loud speaker system was successful in bringing the man out to his friends. They are grateful to those who lent this equipment to aid in the search for the lost man.

Origin of Ormstown Tennis Club

In 1943, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Walsh donated a piece of land, situated at the corner of Bridge and Victoria Streets, to the Ormstown War Memorial Community Centre. After due deliberation, the citizens of Ormstown decided to build a tennis court on these grounds. Through the efforts of the Women's Auxiliary of the War Memorial Committee, the first $900 was raised on behalf of the tennis court. Zephyr Textiles Ltd., located in Ormstown, donated $1000 towards setting up a fence. Mr. G. LeCavalier engineered the project. Money was borrowed from the Bank, and Mr. Romeo Brunet generously loaned money for this community project. The lights were supplied by Mr. B. L. McGerrigle, and installed by Mr. Guy Phenix, at cost. Various Bingos were staged for the benefit of the Ormstown Tennis Club and these entertainments realized approximately $500. The grounds are kept in excellent shape by Mr. Amos McCaffrey, caretaker.

Mr. Hector Morrisette, seven brothers and two sisters. The funeral service was conducted by Reverend Father Georges-Henri Cartier, in the Valleyfield Cathedral on Monday.

Two Charges Laid Against Car Driver Zephyr Lussier of Barrington, Que., appeared before court in Valleyfield, on Tuesday, charged on two counts, one of reckless driving and the other of driving while under the influence of alcohol. He was fined $50.00 and costs on each count and his license was cancelled for three months. Traffic Officer Ernest Leduc and Det. Ruitter investigated the incident which occurred late on Saturday night on the road between Hemmingford and Barrington.

Thefts and Break-ins Sometime during the night of August 6th and 7th, the premises of the Perfect Brush Co. of Ste. Marie, Que., were entered and a large heating coil was stolen. The thieves made their entry through a window at the side and made their exit through a large door in the basement. When Mr. A. J. McCord, manager, arrived on Monday morning at about 7:30, he found the damage and reported to the police. Det. Ruitter of Huntingdon investigated. About $300 worth of damage was done and besides numerous other articles were stolen from Mr. Dunn's Police Garage, which is situated next to the Brush Co.

George H. Sutton Wins Lieutenant Governor's Silver Medal In Shoot at Mt. St. Bruno

Feat Not Equalled Since 1923 — Two Other Members of Dundee Rifle Club Also Represented

The 73rd Annual Prize meeting of the Province of Quebec Rifle Association opened on Saturday, July 31st and continued for a five-day period on the Mount St. Bruno Rifle Ranges. The record entry list of 200 competitors included top sharpshooters from all parts of Canada, Britain and the United States, the U.S. was represented by men from Baltimore, Maryland, New York and several states adjacent to the border. Great Britain sent a team of its 15 leading marksmen, while Canada had its recently returned Bisley team on hand for the St. Bruno shooting competition. So there was no doubt about it, the going was tough for the competitor, and the scores achieved have never been equalled, not even at the Dominion Shoot at Ottawa.

The local Dundee Club was represented at Bruno by 3 of its members, Messrs. George H. Sutton, Alan Sutton and Tom Gowdy. George brought honour to himself and to his club when he achieved a feat not accomplished since 1923. He won a triple Possibile in the qualifying Stage making 35 points out of 35 at the 200 yard range, 35 out of 35 at the 500 yard, and again, 35 out of 35 at the 600 yard. This made a grand total score of 105 out of the possible 105 and won for George the coveted Lieutenant Governor's silver medal. He also won a bronze medal for high score in the final stage, when he ranked 17th with a score of 211, — the first score being 220. George qualified for the Dominion Matches at Ottawa, this week, but unfortunately was unable to attend. The total sum of $2,000 was distributed in prize money as well as many medals and trophies. Dundee citizens can indeed be proud that one of their local men was up there with the winners when both the prize money and medals were being distributed.

Even though weather conditions were favourable, it most definitely takes a steady hand and a calm nerve plus a generous amount of "savoir faire" to be able to compete with the crack-shots from three countries and make as fine a showing as George did. Congratulations, Mr. Sutton.

At the present time upwards of 3000 circulars are being distributed, appealing for donations of one dollar or more for the benefit of the Nurse Training Fund as being sponsored by the Rotary Club of Huntingdon. For each dollar received a "Duck Sweepstake" ticket will be deposited in the draw bearing the name of the donor.

In 1953 when a similar "Duck Sweepstake" was conducted for the same benefit, the prizes represented: 1st prize $366.60, 2nd prize $244.40, 3rd prize $183.30 and 20 prizes to 10 starters of $18.33 each. The seller of the first prize ticket received an award of $61.10. The cash prizes aggregated $1,272.

Water Supply In Ormstown Has Been Greatly Improved This Year In Quantity and Quality

Previous Experiments Have Been Costly, But Experience Gained Will Prove Great Benefit to People of Ormstown

This village begins in the year 1912 when the Village of Ormstown decided to install a water and sewage system, the water supply being springs located in Franklin Centre. This water was brought to Ormstown, a distance of seven and one-half miles, through wooden pipes. This gave very good satisfaction for approximately twenty years — that is, until the wooden pipes began to deteriorate very rapidly and thus required extensive repairs. In the early 1930's, a steel pipe was run from Ormstown toward the springs for a distance of five miles, and for the remainder of the distance, the wooden pipe was left in use.

In the early 1940's, a shortage of water supply in Ormstown became very acute. Part of this shortage was due to the remaining two and one-half miles of wooden pipes having a large number of leaks — a good deal of water was thus lost. Another reason was because the water level at the springs had lowered throughout the years since the pipeline was installed.

In 1945, a municipal well was drilled in the Village of Ormstown and, following this, an overhead tank was set up to create a reserve. This tank holds 125,000 U.S. gallons. The water from this well was extremely hard and also contained hydrogen sulphide which gave off a non-injurious to health, but very disagreeable odour.

In January, 1952, a water softener was put into operation to soften the water before it went out into the mains. This softener did have an advantageous effect on the water inasmuch that it required much less detergent for laundry purposes, but a disagreeable odour still remained. After the softener had been in operation for one year, it was found that it had cost the Village $7,400 to purchase the softener which was required to regenerate the softener, and the total revenue received from the water tax was $7,600, leaving only a $200 margin for the total maintenance of the water system and repaying the bonds and bond interest on monies borrowed for water works purposes.

In the winter of 1952, it was decided to endeavour to locate a new source of water supply, and in the spring and summer of 1953, extensive hydrological surveys were carried out in the area between Ormstown and Franklin Centre. It was decided to drill a new well at approximately five miles south of the Village. The location was decided on because at this point was the end of the steel pipe which had been installed in the early 1930's, and the other reason was that after the hydrological survey which showed that this area was of very deep sandstone rock and would be expected to produce water which would be much softer than the water from the well in the Village which was drilled in limestone rock; and also because one rarely finds a hydrogen sulphide condition in water secured in sandstone rock. The well was drilled in the fall of 1953 and then it became necessary to negotiate with the Shawinigan Water and Power Co. to furnish three-phase power in this area. The power line in this area was only a one-phase line. To give three-phase power service, it was necessary for S.W. & P. Co. to run another wire a distance of four and one-half miles and then a wire from the road to the well, a distance of 600 yards. This was done during the winter of 1953, and a pump was purchased from the Railway and Power Engineers in Montreal. A building, was erected in which to house the pump, water started to flow into the Village of Ormstown on the 29th of March of this year. The results have been highly gratifying inasmuch that the water is quite soft, not requiring softening, and contains no hydrogen sulphide. The total project of drilling this new well and bringing the new supply of water into Ormstown cost $9,400.

It is not planned to do away with the pump in the well in the Village as this pump has a capacity of 375 gallons per minute and is a very valuable safeguard in case of large fires or in case of a temporary failure of the pump at the new well. The citizens of Ormstown can now be assured of a water supply at all times.

Successful Bible School Held in Howick

Had Average Attendance of 95 — Teaching Done by Volunteers

The Vacation Bible School which met at Howick High School during the weeks July 26 - August 6, meant two wonderful weeks of fellowship, spent in study of the Holy Bible. The time-table was varied and included stories, work books based on the Scriptures, handicraft and singing of hymns. The teachers and assistants Mrs. W. Logan, Mrs. Gerald Roy, Miss Shirley Brown, Miss Elizabeth McKell, Miss Lois Elliot, Rev. W. Brown, Rev. W. A. Edwards, Eva McFarlane, Anne Tolhurst, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Edwards, Jean Rondos, Mrs. J. J. Peddie, Mrs. J. Tolhurst, Mrs. F. Mattice, Mrs. W. Anderson, Mrs. M. Templeton, Mrs. Eric Smith, worked faithfully to make the school a success; some coming everyday, others part time.

A splendid array of handicraft was on display in the auditorium, where the final program was held. Each department contributed one number, which included every one in the class. All were based on Scriptural Knowledge, and each group gave an excellent item. It was surprising to find so much memory work done in such a short time. The concert opened and closed with sacred choruses sung by the whole group. These were directed by Rev. W. Brown who has a talent for choir work with young children. During the evening Rev. W. Brown called the teachers and assistants to the platform, where he expressed thanks to them for the work they had done. Eva McFarlane, on behalf of all those present, thanked Rev. W. Brown and Rev. W. A. Edwards for the leadership they had given. The average attendance at the school was 95, which involved considerable expense, for books and supplies. A generous offering was given which will cover this expense. The pupils gave two offerings which amounted to about $13. This will go towards the relief of starving children.

John Murphy Killed By Lightning

Was Cutting Brush When Bolt Struck

Lightning claimed the life of a man working on a farm near Huntingdon, Que., on Friday, during an almost freak storm. The man, John Murphy, was employed by T. Howard Biggar on his farm on the Edge Road and had been with Mr. Biggar for about twenty-one years. On this occasion he was cutting brush a little distance from the barn and the brush was situated on a pile of stones. The sun was shining and there was no rain, but a bolt of lightning struck the man on the head, threw off his cap and tore it to shreds, passing on through the handles of the clippers he was working with and into the ground. The shock killed the man instantly.

Mr. Biggar, who was in the house preparing supper, called to Murphy to come to his supper. At this time it was raining heavily and when the man did not come, he thought he had gone into the barn out of the rain. As he did not put in an appearance after further calling, he went to search for him. He came upon the body at about 5:45 p.m. and called the police.

Det. Ruitter went to the scene and shot Dr. George Lefebvre of Huntingdon, the district coroner. Upon examination of the body, Dr. Lefebvre announced the death as being accidental.

Mr. Murphy originally came from Ireland and has been working for Mr. Biggar for almost the whole time since he arrived here, which is reckoned at about 21 years. His mother is living in Ireland and he has two sisters living in the United States.

The funeral was held on Monday at St. Joseph's Church, Huntingdon, and was officiated by Rev. W. Brown. The body was taken to the edge of the municipal quarry. They obtained the help of a diver, but nothing was found that night. The man went back to his task the next morning and found the young boy's body in about 40 feet of water. The funeral service took place Tuesday morning in Valleyfield.

Valleyfield Boy Drowned In Quarry

Jean-Claude St. Cyr, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin St. Cyr, of Valleyfield, Que., left his home on Thursday, August 4th, at noon, to go on a picnic with a group of young boys in the woods not far from his home. He was carrying a lunch, an axe and a knife. After a short time the boys noticed Jean-Claude was not with them any more, so they went to his parents to notify them. Mr. and Mrs. St. Cyr started looking for their son, assisted by neighbours, but failed to find trace of him.

On Friday morning they asked for police help. 400 persons started searching the bush. At the end of the day a group of them found part

Seaway Power Project Ceremonies

Massena, N.Y., and Cornwall, Ont., Points Affected

Ceremonies were held at two places along the St. Lawrence River, on Tuesday and in two countries, in celebration of the start on the St. Lawrence Seaway Power Project. In Massena, N.Y., on the United States side of the project, Governor Dewey pressed the button that set a blast that started the first excavation for the joint power project between New York State and the Province of Ontario. At Cornwall, Ont., Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent turned the first sod on this side of the river in connection with a power house for the project. These ceremonies were a colorful event to mark the first steps taken with regard to the project which was only ratified in June last, just about two months ago.

During the speeches made at this time it was said that about 10,000 workers would be needed on this power project and that it would be of benefit to millions of citizens on both sides of the river. At the point that the ceremonies took place in Cornwall, it was said that when the seaway actually is in effect that that particular part would be covered by about 40 feet of water. With these ceremonies actual work will now begin on the power part of the seaway project and it will not be long before the work of the seaway proper will also be under way. This area may feel some effects of this work in due time, but it may be some time before evidence is noticed. It is possible that in the future great developments along this inland waterway will come about that will have beneficial effects for this area.

Observations

Written specially for The Huntingdon Gleaner
by Robert G. Sellar, Grenoble, France

Milan, Italy

Milan is one of the larger industrial cities of Italy and is situated in the North of that country, near the Swiss border. One of the largest manufacturing concerns in Europe, 'Piat', has plants in this city.

Architecturally, the city is actually a circle with its centre being the Cathedral of Milan, and the old section of the city containing buildings of the eleventh to fifteenth centuries, about the Cathedral. The modern parts of the city thus are on the outer circumference of this circle. The old part of the city is very densely populated and crowded with tall ancient buildings and narrow streets.

The Cathedral of Milan is often known as the eighth wonder of the world. It is one of the finest pieces of symmetrical architecture in the world and a masterpiece of carving. The Cathedral was begun in the fourteenth century and was considered finished in the late 1830's.

Due to bomb damage during the Second World War, however, architects and builders are repairing the damaged parts which included the carving of twenty-seven new statues.

The Cathedral is known principally for the approximately 3,300 statues—500 on the interior of the Church and 2,800 on top of the Church. These statues are anywhere from three feet to twenty feet high and are figures representing people from the Bible and from religious history. Every spire on the roof is crowned with a statue. Every column in the Church has a spire showing on the roof. The columns within the Church are actually placed in pairs, such that a large stone arch holding up the roof transfers evenly the weight on the two columns and leaving the arch with a negative amount of weight to support. On top of the Cathedral, some of the spires are paired and have an exquisitely beautiful carved arch. Every piece of carving on the exterior surfaces of the Church is different—no two are the same.

A few statistics concerning the Cathedral follow herewith: 162 yards long by 96 yards wide with a total of 14,000 square yards. The Cathedral is the second longest Roman Catholic Cathedral in the world—St. Peter's in Rome is the longest. The Cathedral of Milan accommodates up to 4,000 people for one service. The Cathedral is entirely built of marble. There are seven organs in the Cathedral—one master and six auxiliary organs, with a total of 15,200 pipes with an over-all total length of 12,000 yards of pipe.

International Trade Fair
While I was in Milan, I was fortunate enough to visit one of the world's greatest and best-known fairs. The International Trade Fair of Milan. The Fair is held every three years.

The Fair is designed and built by Breda, one of the largest manufacturing concerns for all types of metal products and machinery in Italy. To a layman, the buildings and layout which were designed by the Italian architects, Baldessaro and Grisotto seemed to be abstract designed. According to the information supplied by Breda, however, the whole layout is not abstract architecture at all. There are the tall brick or stucco columns which seem to express nothing, but blend well with the landscape. Many of the buildings had much glass work, some complete with glass walls.

The Fair covers many acres of ground. Most of the countries of the world are represented. The large displays feature such machines as thermos and furnaces, carpentry equipment, printing equipment, boats and boating equipment, farm implements and equipment, construction equipment, cars, trucks, etc. The U. S. S. R. display featured a heavy dump truck and passenger car. At the same time, each country had an exhibit displaying some of the main products of that country.

Canadian Exhibit
The Government of Canada's display is one of the choicest rooms of the large exhibition building. The two biggest exports to Italy are salt fish and wheat, and it was on this theme that the display took its design. I was told that although Italy has a very hard time getting dollars, this year she has set aside six million dollars for the sole purpose of buying fish products from Canada.

Within the room, there was a Canadian built combine in operation—sprouting a continuous stream of wheat. Nearby, were the glass showcases displaying some salt cod and smoked salmon. Above the showcases were a few tempting recipes for preparing fish dishes—they were written in Italian.

Near the fish display was a large showcase displaying samples of Canadian furs. There were three fox pelts, a fox jacket, a mink jacket and a mink stole.

Across from the fur display was the technical section of the Canadian display. There were three electronic devices by the National Research Council of Canada, models of three CF-100 jet night fighters, models of farm machinery and a small model of the famous Canadian-built Cobalt Bomb.

There were also some examples and much literature on some of the mineral products of Canada—aluminum, lead, copper, zinc, nickel, synthetic rubber, pulp and paper, steel and tool steel, wood, industrial chemicals, etc.

At the entrance to the room, there was an information desk which offered various books entitled—Canada 1953, The Radio Program Listings of the C.B.C., Overseas Network, literature of different provinces, etc. Many Italians wish to immigrate to Canada as there is not enough work in Italy for all the people. The Canadian display had many visitors and was a very popular exhibit in the Exhibition Building.

Some of the other countries in the building were Poland with its beautiful exhibits of cloth; Czechoslovakia with its fine glassware; Egypt with its cottons; United States and the United Kingdom with manufactured goods; India with its spices and pickles, etc.

Two of the most striking outdoor exhibits were a large passenger engine (Breda) complete on rails by the entrance to the fair grounds, and the display of the burning fountain and torches. The fountain was at the foot of the eight towers of torches. The flame in the centre of the fountain was actually above the water—it received its fuel from the gas mixed with the water. It was quite a piece of engineering work.

It seems that anywhere one goes in the world, one will see a Coca-Cola sign. There were many 'coca' booths at the Fair as well as other soft-drink booths, bars and cafes. Scattered throughout the ground were many coffee carts. Italians like coffee very much, but they like it very strong. The coffee is almost a thick syrup which tastes surprisingly good. It is always served black. (The only time milk is served with it is in the morning for breakfast.) These carts sell the coffee—small trucks drive around the grounds filling up the hot water tanks and replenishing supplies. The coffee makers are emptied after every cup is made.

Merchants down Larries 14 to 3—Rosie Lacompte Wins 6th Game

With Rosie Lacompte proving very hard to hit in the clutch, the Huntingdon Merchants posted their 11th win of the season without a loss to stay on top in the St. Lawrence Valley League.

Lacompte, who picked up his 6th win of the year, struck out nine and allowed North Lawrence 11 hits and four bases on balls. Rosie also proved that he can hit, getting three doubles and driving in two to help along his own cause.

The Merchants got off to a flying start in the second inning, getting 6 runs on 3 hits, 3 hit batsmen and 3 errors. Eric Salter, who is known as the Johnny Mize of the Valley League, made it 9 to 0 in the 6th inning when he hit his third home run of the year with two men on base. Eric had also started off the second inning volley with a two-base hit. Rene Senecal and Baldy Poupore, the Merchants' hard-working catcher, each had two hits, Rene driving in three runs and Baldy one.

North Lawrence picked up all their runs in the sixth when they put four hits and a fielder's choice together. Rob Kelly, the Larries' first baseman, doubled with two men on and Conklin, their fiery catcher, singled to score the third. Conklin also picked up two other hits during the game to lead the North Lawrence batters.

Next Sunday the Merchants will play the Malone Amvets at Cluff's Field. Plan now to see one of the Merchants' games before the end of the season.

Attending Huntingdon Fair

STARTING on Monday and continuing until Wednesday evening of next week, Huntingdon Fair will be the centre of attraction for the people of the surrounding district. From all accounts, the annual fair this year should be the best for many years and provide much for everyone in the way of education and entertainment.

The Fair Board has been very busy between fairs securing added attractions to induce more people to attend this annual event and they hope that their efforts will bring forth the fruit that is required. The success of any fair is made up by the quality and number of the exhibits and the attendance admissions at the gate. Without these two vital parts there can be no success. The first is assured as the Board has been doing much work along these lines and are offering a fine prize list to interested exhibitors. As for the latter, the Board has been working very hard to provide a programme that will give the patrons a well rounded bill of fare. The attendance will therefore depend upon how well the public responds to the invitations that have been given out through advertising and other means. We feel sure that Huntingdonians will do their utmost to see that their fair is a success in all ways.

In the past few years many improvements have been made both as to the buildings and the grounds and in the matter of the entertainment that has been provided. Thus for the past few years the Fair has been a greater attraction for everybody. There is no reason why Huntingdon Fair should not be the event of the year and there is no doubt that the Fair Board is doing its level best to make it that. The support of the public is the deciding factor and the Fair Board is hoping that this support will be accorded in ever increasing quantity. Therefore, plan to attend Huntingdon Fair this next week and we do not believe that you will be disappointed.

The Schools' Growth

SCHOOL Class Rooms are at a premium in Huntingdon. Irrespective of the fact that both the Protestant and Roman Catholic School Municipalities have built large schools in Huntingdon in recent years, little did anyone believe they would become taxed to capacity by September 1954, however such is to be the case.

The Academy had 330 scholars during the last term. Children entering Grade One this year will number 40. A few scholars have graduated and a number will discontinue attending school. Present indications point toward enrollment for school opening in September of 350. Every bit of available class room space is being put to use, including a room in the original Stone School building that is not intended to be so utilized. Some of the higher grades will have small classes, but in a comparatively few years they also will be sizeable. The day is fast approaching when a school building programme will have to become a reality.

In St. Joseph's Roman Catholic School Municipality the school classroom accommodation is equally acute. In the past school term the school had an enrollment of 625, there being 300 girls and 325 boys. For September they now know of 99 youngsters who will be entering Grade One. School Secretary Olivier Bonneville says it is quite possible the enrollment will reach 750 scholars. "We are in a predicament as to where we will place the boys and girls; but we feel confident we will manage to cope with the situation for 1954-55," was the opinion expressed by Secretary Bonneville.

Personal Business Affairs

IT was during the late spring that a Huntingdonian informed the Gleaner that he had a thought in mind that might well be carried out under the auspices of the Board of Trade that would aid individuals in their personal business affairs.

The thought was that a series of approximately ten weekly meetings be held in the County Building at which, topics such as municipal law, civic law, succession duties, income tax, etc., would be dwelt upon. The plan is that each meeting night a man well versed on the subject, gives a talk and then conducts a forum on the subject for the balance of the evening.

It is highly probable the Board of Trade will start conducting this series of meetings in September. If the general public exemplifies genuine interest and attend the meetings in sufficient numbers, it is quite within the realm of possibility they would be extended beyond the ten week period.

"Business Week" is a magazine that enjoys having a fair circulation in this part of Canada. In a recent issue of "Business Week" it offered some very good advice, and which we imagine, would fit in with one of the lines of topics that might well be discussed at one of the series of meetings. "Business Week" is edited as a magazine for big business corporation executives, yet some of its thoughts can be reduced in proportions so as to fit our use. One suggestion revamped to suit our needs could read:

Take time out to review how much your wife or next of kin knows about your vital personal affairs. Chances are you'll find she doesn't know enough to handle things properly in case of emergency.

Action Is Needed

THE decision of the Canadian Government to have the Tariff Board review the tariff concerning wool textiles from Britain entering Canada is an act of simple justice.

People who speak loosely of "demands" of the Canadian wool textile producers for special, higher protection do not realize that the present rates paid by wool textiles entering Canada are in many instances lower than was intended by those who set up the present structure.

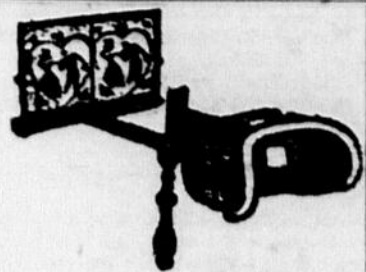

When the present rates were set they provided for a 50-cent-per-pound maximum duty on wool cloth from the United Kingdom. At the time this maximum was set it applied only to a small quantity of very high quality cloth not produced in Canada because of the smallness of the market available for it here.

In recent years however prices have advanced to such an extent that the price of today's run-of-the-mill cloth is about the same as the price range of yesterday's expensive specialty. As a result the bulk of wool cloth coming into Canada from Great Britain today is able to take advantage of the 50-cent-per-pound maximum.

Canadian wool textile producers have for a long time been pointing out the injustice of this "accidental" tariff rate. The Government has at last moved to investigate the situation. In view of the present desperate condition of the Canadian wool textile industry it is to be hoped that the investigation will not be unduly prolonged and that immediate action will follow.

Random Glimpses of The Past Taken from Gleaner Files

July 11

Howick — A cow grazing in the lot adjacent the curling rink, being inquisitive, inserted its head below the partially raised window sash of the wood shed. Finding it could not withdraw its head, the animal concluded to jump the four-foot wall into the shed, which it did, carrying the whole window with it. It then turned around and jumped out. A few stitches united the cuts made by the glass.

Ormslow — Rather a larger number than usual turned out on Saturday night to the monthly meeting of the Farmers' Club in the Town Hall, the attraction being the presentation of a purse, containing $60.00 from the patrons of the Borden Factory, to Mr. P. S. Rugar, the general manager who had brought his young bride to Ormslow a few nights previous. The presentation was made in a pleasing manner by George E. Cottingham and James Hunter and was suitably replied to by Mr. Rugar.

Riverfield — The Aubrey Civilian Rifle Association tendered a reception to Gunner R. W. Templeton and presented him with an address and a wrist watch. Among those who took part in the programme were the "Y" Girls, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Orr, Mr. Robert Roy, Dr. Planche, Mr. James Morris and Rev. and Mrs. S. A. Woods. At the conclusion of the programme, Gunner Templeton gave a fine talk on "A Day's Duty in the Camp" and answered many questions. Refreshments were then served by the ladies. Mr. Morris efficiently occupied the chair.

Beaumont — A pleasant afternoon was spent last Thursday on the lawn of Miss Kilgour, listening to a lecture given by Miss Foley of Montreal, under the auspices of the Reading Circle. Miss Foley, this year, took as her topic, "The Literature of Place". There was a good gathering. A little over $30.00 was contributed for the Women's Directory, Montreal.

The property donated by Mr. John Sullivan Jr. to the mission at Melocheville was transferred to the congregation last week. The ladies of the mission are to meet each Tuesday in the Church for Red Cross work.

Port Lewis — The military aeroplane that landed in Montreal on Sunday passed here and Valleyfield Saturday evening before dark. The aeroplane which was under the management of Lieutenant McIver, landed at Ste. Anne de Bellevue on its way from Deseronto to Montreal, stayed overnight and finished the trip Sunday morning. When the plane was seen at Port Lewis it was travelling slow and very low. The machine was seen on its way back on Sunday afternoon, evoking much interest from the people along the lakeshore.

Ormslow — A representative gathering of all denominations assembled on the Presbyterian Church lawn, Friday evening, to witness the unveiling of the Service Flag, prepared by the young people of the Church, and to hear the address by Lieutenant Lees Brown, who has seen active service and been wounded in France. Rev. D. N. Coburn was chairman. Dr. McLaren who has four sons overseas had the honour of unveiling the large flag with thirty-one leaves, representing that number of young men from the Presbyterian Church, now serving in the army. A collection was taken up for the "Prisoners of War Fund", which amounted to $63.31.

By BENJAMIN BEVERIDGE
BEING INTERESTING NOTES OF NEWS IN COMMENT FORM

Some people have sternly brought me a task for a light-hearted piece over the spectacular accomplishments of Henry Marshall Tory in my review of E. A. Corbett's biography of that great Canadian.

An alumnus of the University of British Columbia lately reminds me that Dr. Tory founded McGill College, which later became the University of British Columbia. In Calgary, a reader is indignant because I mentioned that Dr. Tory was a founder and first president of Carleton College in Ottawa — a smaller, though now thriving school of higher learning — and neglected to say that he had been the founder and first president of the University of Alberta as well.

What a remarkable man was this Henry Marshall Tory (he died in 1947). What Canadian, in fact, has done more? But in spite of this, there are perhaps even millions of Canadians who never heard of this man or have forgotten that they once did — this man who began his career as a schoolmaster and Methodist preacher, and who practiced the rather unusual art — at least for a man — of knitting throughout his lifetime.

Dr. Tory was a great man for Royal Commissions and served on many of them in a country whose appeal to the imagination is almost fanatical. But I have no argument with Royal Commissions, nor did Dr. Tory, who expressed his good humor in this regard by drawing a comparison between Americans and Englishmen. "The Englishman's creed is," he said, "As it was in the beginning, so it will be ever, Amen! The American creed is: 'As it was in the beginning, is now, and by gosh it's got to stop.' And the Canadian creed is, of course: 'As it was in the beginning, is now, and ladies and gentlemen, if we are going to do anything about it we'd better appoint a Royal Commission.'"

A great many people who have been reading in Canadian papers about the Stratford Shakespeare Festival this year may be surprised when I say it has been a success for the second time. The press has not been good. Or perhaps I should say it has not been good enough. However, Brooks Atkinson of the New York Times, who is a barometer for this sort of thing, cannot prevent himself from applauding the merits of this Canadian theatre in spite of its failings this year. He is stimulated by the very spirit of the Stratford theatre, and he says it is worthwhile. That should be enough for most of us.

It was a bit unusual that Sophocles' "Oedipus Rex", the third play of the season, should have taken the spotlight from Shakespeare. Will may not have liked James Mason's performance as Angelo in "Measure for Measure", and many have wondered if it was a right play for the British actor. Will may not have liked the manner in which "The Taming of the Shrew" was burlesqued in carnival and contemporary costumes; but then his "All's Well That Ends Well" went over very well in modern dress last year.

The supporting actors have been good. And this, after all, is the really important thing, since the idea is to develop Canadian stars. Even though Miss Molszewitch's unique stage, in that unique and now world famous tent which houses the festival, has been the real star of this season's productions, the festival idea is strong, and Canadians and Americans who have seen the plays this year will try to get back to Stratford in 1955.

Of Many Things...

What's A Strike, Mom?

My daughter, Sal, age ten, plans her first train trip this Fall, to visit relatives, and now she's worried. Her mother scared her by warning, "Now, Sal, don't build upon it too much. There might be a strike on the railroads."

"What's a strike, Mom?" Sal demanded. "The railroad men want more and they might vote to strike if they don't get it. They'd stop work, and the trains wouldn't run."

"Oh," said Sal, "I'll fix that. I'll write to Uncle Fred and tell him not to strike. He works on the railroad. If he knows I'm going on a trip, he won't stop the trains." Uncle Fred would be flattered to know Sal puts so much faith in him. But Uncle Fred, like most of the 133,000 non-operating rail employees, is torn between his loyalty to all the Sals and other travellers and shippers, and the union leaders who tell him he has no alternative but to strike. His loyalty to both is strong. And he has a feeling of loyalty, as well, to the line he works for, which happens to be the C.N.R. He curses it, roundly, at times, but he's fond of it, too — more than he'd ever admit.

He knows, for example, that both railroads have their backs to the wall financially these days, with trucks and buses cutting into the business. They've been obliged to lay off a lot of men — and more will have to be laid off to meet an increased payroll. He'd be a little put out if Sal bought her ticket on a competing line; but he'd be downright annoyed if she travelled by bus. A letter from Sal, telling him not to let the trains stop, would worry him more than it would amuse him.

But he has that strike ballot in front of him, there in the railroad depot where he's seen so many trains go by, and taken so much responsibility over the years. He feels his job is important, and that he should be well paid. What bothers him, though, is whether or not this is the proper time to press for more. Another thing bothers him, too. The letter from the union which came with the ballot says he has no alternative but to vote for a strike. They tell him how to vote. And they make him sign his name; there's no secret vote, like he enjoys at the polls during elections. He doesn't like to be pushed around that way. What if he votes against the strike? Will the union leaders punish him? Will he get razzed, called names, be made to feel he has let the union down?

There is a good deal of drama in the situation. I'd hate to be the one to say what Uncle Fred should do. But I know what, deep down in his heart, he'd really prefer. He'd like to keep those trains running so that Sal could have her holiday as planned.

Important Notice to all SHORN SHEEP:

OUR OVINE FRIENDS will be glad to know that in future they may be spared the undignified and chilly experience of being shorn of their wool to keep us warm. A new lightweight lining material for men's and women's clothes combines fabric and aluminum to give more than three times the insulating value of a similar weight of wool cloth.

Humans, too, will be glad if this hastens the end of heavy, bulky winter wear. The material can be dry-cleaned, drapes well and is sufficiently porous to let the body "breathe". Just one more example of the way Canadian manufacturers are combining aluminum and imagination for better, easier living. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Carnell Pearlstone Imp.

Noted Herd Sire Sold

A herd sire transaction of unusual interest and importance, may be said of the sale of the Ayrshire bull Carnell Pearlstone Imp., by Macdonald College to J. Earle Ness & Sons, Terrace Bank Farm, Howick. Carnell Pearlstone was bred by G. & R. Templeton, Carnell, Hurlford, Ayrshire, Scotland, and he was imported by R. R. Ness & Sons, Howick, Que., who subsequently sold him to Macdonald College. He was sired by Carnell Aristocrat, an "Approved" Scottish sire. His dam is Drumfrock Peg 9th., an "Approved"

Scottish dam with 7 Scottish records to her credit which average 10,409 lbs. milk, 445 lbs. fat, including 12,080 lbs. milk at 4.36% at 4 years of age; 12,431 lbs. milk at 4.54% at 10 years of age.

Type and Production

Carnell Pearlstone has been classified AA under the Advanced Registry for bulls plan, while he has sired a considerable number of outstanding daughters at Macdonald College.

One of his first ten daughters that are now in milk has a record of 10,809 lbs. milk in 305 days. Recent figures in connection with the other nine daughters are not available but it may be of interest to note that as on June 15 last, the average production of the heifer just quoted and her nine sisters worked out at 8,442.6 lbs. milk, the average length of their lactation period being 284 days. Since several of them still had a considerable period to go before the completion of their lactations the final general average production will be considerably higher. At Terrace Bank, Carnell Pearlstone will be used in conjunction with Townhead Eventide Imp., in servicing the daughters of the noted former herd sire Burnside Emperor, Class AA.

Holstein World Champion

It was recently reported by the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada that Norloch Colantha Kay, owned by Norloch Farm, Beachville, Ont., has further added to her lead as World Champion for lifetime production of both milk and fat in the 305 day division. That cow's latest record of 566 lbs. fat from 14,260 lbs. milk, commenced at 14 years of age, make it that she has now produced a total of 177,949 lbs. milk, 6,631 lbs. fat, in ten 305-day lactations. She is therefore the first cow in the world to produce over 175,000 lbs. of milk in the 305 day division.

During two of her lactations, says the report, Norloch Colantha Kay was continued on test beyond the 305 day period to complete two 365 day records. Her actual lifetime production is therefore 181,663 lbs. milk, containing 6,777 lbs. fat. She thus qualifies for a Gold Seal Certificate of Lifetime Production presented by the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada. Adding still further to her achievements, says the report, is the fact that she was not on official test during her first two lactations, that her production during these two years is not included in her lifetime production total.

Type and Reproduction

Norloch Colantha Kay is not only a top producer but she has also been classified as "Excellent" under the Holstein-Friesian Association Type Classification plan. She has been twice the winner of a special class for 100,000 lbs. producers at the Oxford County "Black and White Day", Woodstock Fair. She has freshened regularly every year from 1943 to 1954, all single births with the exception of her latest when she brought forth twins. She therefore had 13 calves. Two of her sons are in use in the Artificial Breeding Unit of the Oxford & District Cattle Breeding Association. She is also the dam of Norloch Korndike Masterpiece the former World Champion Junior 4 year old, twice-a-day milking producer with 958 lbs. fat, in 305 days.

Friesians in Holland

In the July issue of Foreign Trade (published by the Department of Trade and Commerce, Canada) there is an interesting photograph of a number of Friesians being milked both by machine and by hand, in the Netherlands (Holland) — the homeland of our Canadian Holstein-Friesian cattle.

In that connection the letter press read: "Favourable feeding conditions in 1953 were largely responsible for a 5 per cent increase in total milk output (in the Netherlands). Only a small share of the increase was due to greater cattle numbers; in the main it resulted from higher production per cow. Fluid consumption and farm use were virtually unchanged, leaving more milk for manufacturing purposes than in 1952. The average fat content of all milk delivered rose to 3.6 per cent. As a consequence butter and cheese production in 1953 were respectively 63 and 35 per cent higher.

The Burnside Sale

All things considered the Burnside Customers' Sale should be classed as a successful event. The sale was held in the "Hitching Ring" of the Arena, Ormstown Exhibition, on Monday, August 9 and while the attendance was fairly good it was not as large as one would expect to see at that event.

The sale, as previously announced, was managed by R. R. Ness & Sons, with Thos. P. Whicker, Brandon, Vermont, as Auctioneer and Douglas A. Ness on Pedigrees and other announcements.

The 44 head sold netted a total of $10,810.00 or a general average of $245.00.

Highlights of the sale included the selling of Macdonald Rosebud 2nd., by Carnell Pearlstone, the highest priced animal of the sale at $660.00. The bidding was finally between J. G. Wilson, St. Valentin, Que., and the manager of the Ayrshire herd of College de Levis, Levis, Que., who finally won out. Mr. Wilson was also a frequent bidder on a number of the other top animals in the sale.

Fifteen Head to New York

Fifteen head were purchased on behalf of John Burgess, Millbrook, N.Y., for a total of $3,405.00 or a general average of $227.00. The only other United States purchaser was M. K. Dunsmore, St. Albans, Vermont, who paid $255.00 for Bonnyshade Dainty Pride consigned by

S. Wyman MacKechnie & Sons. The other MacKechnie entry, Bonnieshade Daffodil by Ste. Anne Douglas 50th., was the second highest priced animal of the sale at $380.00. The purchaser was Allan Wilson of Henry E. Wilson & Son, Franklin Centre, Que.

New entrants in the Ayrshire field were the representatives of Kay-Bea Farms Ltd., which firm recently purchased the Alderayr herd and farm of Miss Sally Wilson, Lacolle, Que. That firm purchased 4 head for a total of $1,035.00.

R. Brodie Ness, Manager of Coverdale Farms Kingston, Ont., was one of the most frequent bidders on quite a large number of the entries and he finally obtained 7 head for a total of $1,715.00. Another Ontario buyer, R. O. Biggs of Dundas was also a frequent bidder and he finally purchased 3 head for a total of $770.00.

The local or district purchasers, other than those mentioned, included J. G. Wilson, St. Valentin, 2 head at $225.00 and $275.00; Paul Cooley, St. Valentin, 1 at $235.00; R. W. Templeton, Riverfield, 1 at $225.00; Garnet Barrington, Howick, 1 at $160.00; Harry Angell, Riverfield, 1 at $200.00 and another at $210.00; A. M. McKell, Riverfield, 1 at $175.00.

Evening Auxiliary

The regular monthly meeting of the Evening Auxiliary of W.M.S. was held on Thursday, August 5th, at the home of Mrs. Archie Hampson. Miss Beryl Jamieson presided and the opening devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Danny Elder and Mrs. Bert Shearer. Roll call answered by ten members; three guests were also present. Mrs. Walter Hay read an interesting article from Glad Tidings, "Island Garden", written by Miss Margaret Mackenzie. Miss Mackenzie is no stranger to the members, as previous to leaving for Formosa, she was guest speaker at a Rally in Athelstan Church. At that time, she told of the work at Tyndale House, Montreal, with which she was connected. Miss Mackenzie writes that it is encouraging to hear of the progress in the construction and organization of the new Christian College which will open its doors for enrolment in September, 1954. Our goal is to reach these people with the power and love of the gospel. Meeting closed with singing Onward Christian Soldiers and Auxiliary Prayer repeated in unison. Refreshments were served to members and guests and a social time enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. Carrie French left on Saturday with a party of friends for a motor trip, heading South. They plan to visit Washington and other places, returning in two weeks' time.

Mr. John Sayers, Cowansville, is spending a short time here.

Ste. Agnes

Word Received From STE. AGNES DE DUNDEE — Mr. and Mrs. V. Elder received a letter from Rev. Mr. MacPherson the past week in which he asked to be remembered to all his friends in Dunfermline, also at Kensington and Powerscourt. He said that they had just had a month's holiday, but that it had been very quiet because he is still working on some left-over studies from Montreal which he hopes to finish this year. Mr. MacPherson said that the summer has been cold, but he expects and hopes that the fall will be open and warm.

The Church services at Belleville are even closer than they were here. They begin at 9.45, the second one is at 11.00 and the third is at 12.10. The secret is that they are not far apart and they have paved highways between each charge, so during the summer it works out fine.

Mr. MacPherson said that he has been waiting to send some kind of word back as to what he and his wife bought with the generous gift given them at the Church. He said that it had worked out, that with all their manipulating of finances that they could finally get a new car, that both he and his wife will long remember the gift and the wonderful evening they enjoyed at the Church that night.

STRAIGHT SHOOTER

Mrs. H. J. McMahon of Ormstown, P.Q., is one of the leading women contestants at the national small bore matches at the Connaught Ranges, Ottawa. Her husband is also in the matches. The husband and wife team have been shooting the .22 calibre rifle for five years, practicing in a deserted brickyard in Ormstown.

Mr. Martin Donnelly

Receives Injuries

Mr. Martin Donnelly, of Saranac Lake, a brother of Mrs. J. B. Myre, sustained a fractured vertebrae when he was thrown from his tractor as he was mowing a field of hay, and the tractor accidentally struck a stone.

A couple of days following the accident, which occurred three weeks ago, he entered the Saranac Lake General Hospital where a body cast was applied.

This is Mr. Donnelly's third injury from a tractor. Several years ago he received chest injuries when a tractor, left in gear, ran over him. Four years ago the tractor he was operating was struck by a car as he was turning into his driveway.

Mr. Antonio Richer of Syracuse, N.Y., visited cousins in this vicinity the past week.

Miss Barbara Roach of Montreal, enjoyed a long week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Sutton.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Lévesque, of Valleyfield, spent a couple of days this past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Leblanc.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Arnold and family of St. Lambert, spent last week-end at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Arnold.

Mr. and Mrs. Alderice Leblanc enjoyed a week's holiday at Niagara Falls, Toronto and Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gardner and son, George, of Hamilton, Ont., also Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Warner of the same city, enjoyed a week's holiday amongst relatives and friends in this community.

Miss Carmel Leblanc in company with five girls had a very pleasant trip to Cap de la Madeleine over the week-end where they entered into the religious ceremony taking place there.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Carrière and family, of Valleyfield, were Sunday guests at the home of Mrs. Carrière's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Oumet.

Rain once again spoiled the week-end, but did not dampen the spirits of the golfers from Valleyfield, Lacerte and other points.

TRIED AND TESTED FOR SATISFACTION

This Week -- Salads With Cheese

Summertime swimming time, salad time — they are all in season together. On hot days after a cooling swim, the salad bowl takes the place of honour at the dinner table. For Mother this means thinking up many new ways to serve salads, does it not? And very often it is quite a chore. Father and the children may be a bit difficult as far as salad eating goes, because very often they feel that greens alone do not give that "stick-to-the-ribs" quality they want in a meal. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture settle the situation by stating that the salad bowl is a hospitality centre for plenty of fruits, vegetables, meats and so on. If Mother is having this salad-eating problem in her house — why not try adding some cheese to her salads, or perhaps to her salad dressings? Father is usually very fond of strong cheese such as old Cheddar or Roquefort-type and the children generally like cottage cheese or cream cheese. Any type of cheese can be added to salads as a taste tempter and an appetite appeaser, not forgetting, of course, that cheese is an excellent source of protein as well.

But what about a few ideas for salads with cheese? Let us see first what can be done with our good Canadian Cheddar! Then strips of Canadian Cheddar cheese can be placed on top of a tossed green salad, or some can just be crumbled right into the salad. Another good idea is to dice Canadian cheese in a Waldorf salad. Apples and cheese go so well together, that the blended flavours are most appealing. In many homes, macaroni and cheese is served at least once a week. Generally, there is some left over, a very good salad can be made with the cold left over macaroni, if some more cheese is added, a few chopped pickles and a tasty dressing. Now let us consider process cheese. Strips of process cheese can be used in tossed salads in the same way that Canadian Cheddar cheese can be used. And slices of process cheese are perfect with fruit salads or fresh fruit. One salad that the home economists like very much is made with chopped green cabbage, some diced green pepper, a generous amount of cubed process cheese and it is served with a tasty dressing made from sour cream. That sounds different and it tastes different! Parmesan cheese has a definite flavour. It is an Italian cheese that they frequently use with their spaghetti dishes. We make Parmesan cheese in Canada and you would be surprised how good a little of this cheese is if sprinkled on top of vegetable salads — salad such as cole slaw, asparagus salad or tossed green salad, of course.

Cream cheese is a soft cheese that has a mild flavour that seems to be ideal with fruits. A very good idea is to mix equal parts of cream cheese and mayonnaise and serve it with a fruit salad. Or another idea is to serve fruit with cream cheese balls — this makes an ideal dessert salad. Of course, cottage cheese can be used instead of cream cheese with any fruit salad. And thinking of cottage cheese, here is a suggestion about using it in salads. Cottage cheese should be combined with fruits and vegetables that have a fairly tart or decided flavour. It is a bland food and it needs to be pepped up. Add it to vegetable or fruit salad by just mixing it in with the other ingredients. In that way the flavours are combined.

We have mentioned quite a bit about salads with cheese but what about dressings with cheese! The king of the salad cheese is Roquefort-type cheese. It is fine in a salad but perhaps even better in the dressing of a salad. Crumbled Roquefort-type cheese can be added to French dressing, mayonnaise, cooked salad dressing or sour cream dressing. It is good with any or all of them. Roquefort dressing on wedges of lettuce is an easy salad to make but hard to beat, as far as flavour goes. Roquefort-type cheese combined with some cottage cheese and mixed with salad dressing that is quite different too. The home economists of Canada's Department of Agriculture mention that they specially like to serve this dressing on a jellied vegetable salad. And one more idea — Roquefort-type cheese it mixed with some Cheddar or cottage cheese can be rolled into little balls and served as accompaniments to fruit salads.

CAMEMBERT CHEESE MOUSSE

8 ounces Camembert Cheese
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 cup whipping cream
2 egg whites
Remove skin from Camembert. Mix with mustard and Worcestershire sauce. Whip cream. Fold into cheese mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold into cheese-cream mixture. Pour into a greased mould or freezing tray. Freeze for 2 or 3 hours, to the consistency of ice cream. Unmould on crisp lettuce. Serve as an appetizer. Yield: three cups or twelve servings. Note: If you want a stronger flavoured mousse, add ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper and omit one egg white.

COTTAGE CHEESE SUMMER DRESSING

1½ teaspoon celery salt
1 cup crushed berries
1½ cups diced cucumber (medium)

For You Madam

HUNTINGDON W.I.

To Have Booth at Huntingdon Fair
The Huntingdon Women's Institute met on Tuesday, August 3, at the home of Mrs. Bernhardt, at Atholstan, with a good attendance of members and visitors present. Roll call was responded to by answering the question, "What's Your Beef?"

A lengthy discussion on the advisability of continuing the County booth at Ormstown Fair ended with all agreeing that each branch assessed a certain sum to secure the necessary funds needed.

Plans were made for the local booth at Huntingdon Fair, members to bring donations for the fish pond and while elephant, as well as home-made candy, home cooking and any other saleable articles. The balance of the remaining W.I. book books will be available also at the fair.

In the conveners' reports, Mrs. Reid for Home Economics told of a quick way of making bread which she had tried with success; Miss Turner, for Education, read an article about the Elmview, Ont., W.I., who had met the comic book situation by setting up a counter interest by means of children's book quiz. This required the reading of children's classics from the school libraries. Four schools in the district took part. This was started at the beginning of the school term, and the quiz contest held in the spring, was a community event. It proved very successful in interesting the children in better reading.

Mrs. Merson mentioned that Miss Maclean of St. Ann's Veterans' Hospital, was desirous of securing boarding places for young veterans who were convalescing after leaving the hospital. Refreshments were then served. At the invitation of the hostess, all enjoyed a walk around the beautiful grounds. Next meeting at Mrs. Wilcock's, Atholstan.

ORMSTOWN W. I. NOTES.

ORMSTOWN — The women's institute met at the home of Mrs. Jas. Moffat with a very good attendance. The meeting opened in the usual way and the roll call was responded by naming a disease and its remedy. Two new members joined.

The minutes of the July meeting were read and approved, also the treasurer's report. It was suggested that the members meet in the near future for the purpose of canning vegetables for the Ormstown High School.

A discussion was held in regard to the both of the Ormstown Show. Owing to the absence of the different conveners, two were read. H. J. Economies — "Cranky, but Clever"; Publicity — "The opening of the St. Lawrence Sea-way".

A letter was read by the Pres. Mrs. Martin, in connection with the pasturization of milk which is a very useful work on the part of all milk dealers. All members signed the letter. A reading given by Mrs. W. Rember was much enjoyed, especially — the Irish accent. It was entitled "Paddy's Reflections on Cleopatra's Nadie". A very interesting and beneficial address was given by Dr. J. Davidson on medicine and he explained that the methods and medicines of our early forefathers were very much the same as they are to-day and that the Eastern countries were even enlightened on medicine before our country. Dr. Davidson was introduced by Mrs. Moe and very ably thanked by Miss C. Murphy.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Eldred. Refreshments were served at the close by Mrs. Moffat, Mrs. Moe, and Mrs. W. Rember.

Truck Snaps Power Pole Causing Power Disruption

Accident Happened on Highway No. 3 West of Cazaville Wednesday Afternoon

DUNDEE — Power service was disrupted for nearly four hours last Wednesday afternoon in the Cazaville and Dundee areas when a power pole was snapped by a heavy truck on Highway No. 3 1½ miles West of Cazaville.

A 3-ton International truck belonging to the Massena Iron and Metal Co. took the ditch to avoid hitting a car which failed to halt behind a farm wagon stopped on the highway due to tire trouble. The car, which was travelling East, did not stop after the truck, proceeding West, took the ditch. The truck which had delivered scrap iron to Valleyfield and was returning to Massena loaded with heavy reinforced concrete tile, was considerably damaged, the cab being crushed beyond repair. Fortunately the driver crawled out unhurt.

This and some other sections of Highway No. 3 are particularly dangerous to drive on due to the extremely narrow road shoulders which do not give a driver a chance should he be forced off the black-top in an emergency.

The accident happened about 3:30 and power service was not restored until nearly 7 p.m. by the Shawinigan Service men.

A heavy tow truck from Massena removed the carrier from under the power pole before the linemen could get the line in service again.

Mr. Hugh Grant, of Ottawa, recently spent a few days visiting his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fraser. Mr. A. Reynolds, Mrs. Barker and Mrs. Pelletier, of Syracuse, N.Y., spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Rene Lapierre.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Ferguson of Syracuse, N.Y., spent Friday until Monday visiting relatives in St. Ant. They attended the Marston-Ferguson wedding which took place on Saturday afternoon at Zion United Church.

Mrs. Hattie Wadden and two children of McMasterville were guests for a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl McNicol and Mrs. Eleanor McNicol.

Mrs. D. A. Fraser left on Tuesday for a trip to New Brunswick, where she will visit friends around St. Johns. She expects to be gone a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Presley and son Billie of Danford Lake are visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Stowell.

Mr. Montpetit, representative of the Gideon Society in Valleyfield, occupied the pulpit in Zion Church on Sunday in the absence of Mr. McLeod, who with Mrs. McLeod, were away for the day.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Montpetit outlined some of the work performed by the Gideons, who number 1500 in Canada, and 15,000 in the U.S. He said 212,000 Testaments were distributed to the students of Grade 5 in schools throughout the U.S. and Canada. Another 200,000 Bibles were distributed in hotels in Canada during the year just past. Some of these get burned but for the most part the hotel authorities willingly accept them.

The Gideons, said the speaker, are not attempting to start a new cult but are merely trying to spread the gospel by supplying young people and others with the Testament or complete Bibles.

Mr. Montpetit, who filled the pulpit here in Dundee some time ago, is now improved to the extent to where it can be said he is a very excellent speaker.

Listening to the zeal and fervor with which he tries to put his message across makes one think that all church preaching was done in a like manner perhaps more definite results might follow.

Voluntary contributions from those attending the service which were given as they left the service, will be used by Mr. Montpetit and his order in furthering the work.

HOW AND WHY

A Column for Boys and Girls
By Harold Don Allen

IX: THE LAND BY THE RIVER

LONG, long ago... This is a story that had its start further back through the years than the time at which most history books begin. It's a story of Kings and Queens and people who built a country by a great river, a country that's been the home of millions and that's lasted for eight thousand years.

This story shows you how some people once lived, and if you think about it you may be able to see why they lived as they did, in this strange land, long ago and far away. You'll certainly agree that they lived very differently than we do, here in Canada today!

The country was Egypt, in North Africa, land of the great Pyramids.

but they came far later in our tale. Much of North Africa, now a great desert, once was grassy and there was plenty of rain. Men hunted, as they still do in other lands, travelling long distances across the plain. Hunting was hard work, but the land was vast and there was plenty of food for all. With time, men learned that work was easier and food even more plentiful when they kept herds of their own, and didn't have to search for wild animals at all. They led a quiet and happy life. There was little cause for quarrels. North Africa is huge, and there was good land enough for all.

Then the time came when the weather slowly changed, and that is where our story really had its start. Winds from the North no longer brought clouds, the rains lessened, and the land became more and more dry. Grass died. The great green plain became bare. Herdsmen became frightened. They quarrelled and fought over the few green places that were left for their flocks. They had reason to be frightened. Even the wild animals they might have hunted were no more. The flocks gave them milk and meat. If no grass could be found for these animals, then the men who cared for them too would surely die.

No one keeps herds in the great Desert now, so these herdsman of long ago indeed would have died, had it not been for one thing:

Across the dry plain of North Africa one of the world's greatest rivers flows. It is the Nile River, and it has its beginnings in the hills of Central Africa, a thousand miles to the South. In the well-watered valley of this great River, the herdsman of this great River found the one region in which there would always be good land. But there would no longer be land enough for all; now only the strongest and the cleverest of the many could survive.

People from all across Africa's northlands changed their way of living as they settled by the Nile. By planting crops they found they could use the land best. Wheat meant flour to make bread. Flax meant linen for fine cloth. But hard work had to be done if people were to go on living by this River that now was bordered by sand.

Swamps and marshes had to be filled in, and snakes, crocodiles and other dangerous animals killed off. Gradually this was done. People found they could grow more crops if they watered fields from ditches built to bring precious Nile water to irrigate the dry desert land.

A country grew up by the River as people worked together at their tasks. Canals were built, and dikes and ditches, and still more land could be farmed. The muddy Nile washed down good soil from distant mountains and left some of it behind as it flooded the fields, leaving

Egypt's farmers with the very best of land. All about was desert, but by the River, crops grew rich and green. They still do today. But through the 8,000 years of this ancient country's history, of wars and riches and Kings and slaves, a story of struggle and of greatness is told. More of that next week in a column entitled 'The Kingdom of Old'.

Maybe you deserve
a key to the city

Many people—probably including you too—deserve to be honoured for rendering certain important services to their communities.

Very few of these people are celebrities, public heroes or leading dignitaries. Mostly, they're "just plain folks". But together they help create much-needed new public works, homes, buildings and industrial developments. All of which promote progress and provide thousands of jobs.

How do these people play a part in such big projects? Simply by owning life insurance. For it is money from their premiums, which life insurance companies invest for them, that makes it possible for many of these projects to be completed.

Thanks to these same people, life insurance companies are able to contribute funds to medical research work in a wide range of vital fields. As a result, Canadians may look forward to living longer, healthier lives.

What's more, every life insurance policyholder tries to save his family from ever having to depend on others for their support. This, too, is a service to his community. That's why, if you own life insurance, you deserve "a key to the city!"

P.S. from your life insurance man.

"Invested life insurance dollars earn interest that makes it possible for you and your family to enjoy the benefits of life insurance at such low cost. If you have any questions about how to make life insurance fit your own special needs, give me a call. I'll be glad to help you!"
