

Making the Dawson College scene

Tuesday morning the English-language graduates of the province's high schools who won the 1,800 places this first year of Westmount's new Dawson College streamed into barren Selby street, bringing it to life for first classes, which started smoothly with few hitches, at 9 am. For what this group is stopping to see, turn to The Dawson College Bit on pages 8 and 9.

The Case of the B.C. Coins

BELVEDERE THEFT: CHAUFFEUR GUILTY

What could be called The Case of the B.C. Coins was being filed away this week in the Westmount Police detective office, solved in 10 days of careful, painstaking, resourceful legwork.

Abetted, to be sure, by some inept thievery in the first place.

It began week before last, the night of Monday, Sept. 8, when the Consul-General of Thailand, Joseph Besso, reported a major theft of jewelry and cash from his home at 57 Belvedere road.

It ends on Monday when Roland Jean, 41, 1101 Parc Lafontaine street, Montreal, is due to be sentenced downtown in the Court of Sessions.

The first call revealed that a purse had been rifled and a cash box was missing.

Before Christ

Included among the valuables in the box was a set of cufflinks, fashioned from two ancient coins which date from a short time before the birth of Christ. They were to be a gift, not yet presented, to Mr. Besso from his wife.

Total value of the missing items was given as $1,740 plus $1,200 in $100 bills.

First investigation revealed no sign of breaking and entry —

Hit-run taxi quickly nabbed

If you're going to bunt another car, however accidentally, and drive off — technically a "hit and run" — don't do it outside No. 2 Fire Station.

An alert fireman at the Victoria-and-The Boulevard post saw a taxi driver do just that Friday morning.

Police ticketed him minutes later at Victoria and de Maisonneuve.

MG sports cars stolen by twos

Not one but two MG sports cars, a 1964 and a 1967 model, were stolen about the same time Tuesday — one from the rear of 4141 Sherbrooke street west, between Wood and Elm avenues, and the other around the corner from where it was parked outside 331 Elm.

Postbox open

A red mailbox at Redfern and de Maisonneuve was found forced open on Monday. Mail remained in the box.

Snatching

A woman had her purse snatched at Brooke avenue and Selby street Friday evening.

$150 theft

No. 323 Metcalfe suffered a $150 theft Monday.

City Council, School Board meetings set

No meeting of Westmount City Council is scheduled for this week or next, until the regular monthly statutory meeting on Monday, Oct. 6.

The following night, Tuesday, Oct. 7, the regular monthly statutory meeting of The School Commissioners for the Municipality of the City of Westmount — the word "Protestant" does not appear in its name though it functions for non-Catholics — takes place.

The school board normally meets on the second Monday of the month which, in October, is Thanksgiving Day.

Both meetings, which are public, commence at 8 pm.

NEXT WEEKS' WEATHER

By ERIC NEAL

SEPTEMBER 27 to OCTOBER 5

Frosty with blue skies dawn to noon. Mild with gleamy sunshine all day, then evening mists. Nights quite cold. Morning mists, even ground frosts for some places. Pleasant everywhere into middle of the week.

The fringes of tropical storms could bring heavy rains and hail to the New England States, Vermont and Quebec southern counties.

Cold nights, morning fog and sunny days to end the week. Nippy but typical autumn days for the Laurentians, with occasional flurries. Light snow, 1 to 3" in the north.

Temp. range: south, 30 and 65 to 70°F; Laurentians, also Québec and Sherbrooke regions, 30 - 60°F; north, 60°F.

August sales line up close to valuations

The 21 real estate transfers in Westmount in August for which sale prices were given aggregated $931,516. The old, or present, city valuations totalled $705,700 and the new valuations, listed in the roll now being hotly questioned prior to homologation, come to $952,840.

In other words, on average, the most recent sales for which figures are available show a markup over old valuation of 32 percent whereas the new valuations, if they stand, would by 2.28 percent higher than the sale prices.

There were 27 transfers registered, two being declarations relative to estates, and another four for which sale price is shown only as "$1 and other considerations." Total old valuation of these $1 transactions was $465,300 and proposed valuation $632,000 — together an upping of value of 35.8 percent, almost dead in line with the total valuation increase across the city roll.

The 21 sales with amounts shown also were in line with the general increase: just 35 percent. Among them, however, were a number of anomalies, including one sharp reduction from old to new valuation of 29.4 percent on a Claremont avenue property — which, incidentally, sold for an amount about midway between the two valuations.

On the other hand, a Lewis avenue property was boosted from $9,750 to $18,400, and sold for $23,000.

Biggest

Biggest single transfer of the month was the apartment house at 300 Lansdowne avenue, for "$1 etc." Its old valuation was $368,350 and new, $495,100, up 34.4 percent.

Smallest transfer was of 39-41 Windsor avenue at $14,500 — where the valuation has gone up from $21,700 to $31,800.

For some reason, there was a concentration of six of the month's transfers at various addresses on Lansdowne avenue.

And another six properties were to persons with French names from persons with non-French Thirteen transistor radios were reported stolen last Wednesday from the CKGM radio station offices at 1310 Greene avenue. Value: $160.

10% of owners file appeals on valuations

Formal appeals against the new Westmount property valuations up to noon today had been filed at city hall by just 10 percent of the city's property owners.

With 441 appeals entered, City Clerk R. B. Seaman said that this week they have been growing at the rate of about 40 per day. Considerably more than that number of persons have been making inquiries and discussing their individual cases with the staff of the city assessor's department.

The period in which appeals may be filed ends next Friday, Oct. 3.

Maybe he wanted to be arrested

A man sat in a car outside 69 Somerville avenue, reportedly from 4 am, racing the engine.

Finally a resident complained at 11 am.

Westmount Police discovered the man had no driver's permit.

A quick check revealed the man was wanted by Montreal's No. 4 Station on unspecified charges.

PHILATELY
 BY Mark Weiner

The third supplement to the Maestros Catalogue has now made its appearance, which is sure to arouse further interest in paintings on stamps.

If this is not sufficient, then one has only to look at the set of six stamps depicting paintings of sailing ships, issued on July 10 by the Yugoslav PTT, to commemorate the 20th anniversary of the Dubrovnik Summer Festival. This superbly executed set, printed by multicolor heliogravure by Courvoisier-Helio S.A. La Chaux-de-Fonds, Switzerland, has not only aroused the interests of collectors of "Ships" and "Paintings" on stamps but has also created a resurgence of interest in the postage stamps from Yugoslavia.

This only goes to prove that the popularity of a country's postage stamps is most often reflected by the good looking and well produced stamps offered to the public.

Another set which will go a long way in keeping this resurgence of interest alive will be the Sept. 26 issue entitled "Horses". The four stamps, printed by multicolored heliogravure, also by Courvoisier, show domestic breeds of horses: 0.75 din - Bosnian Mountain Horse; 1.25 din - Lipizzanes; 3.25 din - Ljutomer Trotters; 5.00 din - Yugoslav half-breed horse. From the proofs seen, to say that the set will be popular is an understatement, it is certain that there will be many disappointed collectors. There will only be 200,000 prints of the high value while there will be a million and over of the other values, which means that there can only be 200,000 complete sets.

Another fine example of the superb printing by the Courvoisier firm is the "Jubilee Issue" of Aug. 28 from Liechtenstein. The stamps were designed by Hans Erni, who for the first three values emphasized the essential meaning of scientific research in a State lacking raw materials: 10 Rp. - Biology; 30 Rp. - Physics; 50 Rp. - Astronomy. The fourth stamp 80 Rp. denotes Art and the Artist, with the profiles of the Royal Couple, who are protectors of the State Art Collection. The same date saw two additions to the series "Pioneers of Philately" started in December 1968. The stamps were designed by Adalbert Pilch and engraved by Alfred Nefe and were printed by line engraved intaglio in Vienna: 80 Rp. - Carl Lindenberg; 1.20 Fr. - Théodore Champion, a Swiss scholar of philately.

Two recent Scouting events have been commemorated with postage stamps. The first saw six stamps from Guyana on Aug. 13 to mark the 3rd Caribbean Scout Jamboree, which took place in Georgetown. The second was a set of three issued Aug. 21 by Botswana to mark the 22nd World Scout Conference, which took place in Helsinki.

Hydro-Québec Selby site permit given

Hydro-Québec moved another step toward their new Westmount electrical sub-station with the issuance Friday of a City of Westmount building permit for the construction of a $14,500 retaining wall at the old Selby Park site.

Contractor is George Thomas. It was one of four city building permits issued during the past week. The other three, all under $500, were for work on private dwellings.

Adult program at local 'Y' heavily booked for season

Miss Helen Pheasey (right) and art students

"A most successful year". That's the outlook for the adult program at the Westmount YMCA seen by Miss Susan Young, adult education director. One of the big factors in making it seem so bright, specially for the fall program which got underway Monday, was the large turnout Wednesday evening, Sept. 17 at a "Meet the Instructor and Registration Night" at the "Y".

Over 65 people used the evening to get first-hand information concerning course content before deciding to register. Others, who had previously registered, came, met the instructors and over coffee discussed courses and got acquainted with fellow group members, giving the evening a friendly atmosphere.

Over flowing

The result of last Wednesday's registration is that most of the courses are filled to overflowing. Demand for painting and drawing has been so heavy that Miss Helen Pheasey's maximum has been extended from 15 to 20. Yoga is filled to capacity — there will be three classes of beginners, under the direction of Mrs. Abel this fall, the largest group the "Y" has known yet.

There will be two classes of folk guitar, again instructed by Richard Owen who in previous years has taught a great many pupils, both young members and adults, at the "Y". No doubt Mrs. Sharrer and Mrs. Feyns, the two French teachers who have done extensive work both in Canada and in Europe, were "the most sought after." French classes are at all levels from beginners (for those with absolutely no knowledge of the language) to advanced conversational French and limited space is still left in all classes; but all are filling up quickly.

Preview

The creative handicrafts class was one of the first to close registration. Participants were treated to a sneak preview, on Monday at Mrs. Brott's home, of the varied creations they may design and work this fall. Crewel embroidery captured much attention.

Other courses which have gained interest have been bridge (both beginners and advanced) and modern ballroom dancing. Registrations are still being accepted for both these courses and for two new courses on the Westmount program: creative writing and speed reading. (By the way — how long did it take you to read this article?)

Bowler hurt

We Say

'Tell my father, he doesn't care'

A lad of about 11 or 12 walked into a neighborhood "corner store" in Westmount this week, accompanied by a little sister, to buy soft drinks.

In the course of talking to the storekeeper, the boy explicitly and deliberately used a four-letter word.

The storekeeper stopped what he was doing, pointed at the youngster and said:

"If you use a word like that in here again, I'll tell your father!"

The answer, said with self-assurance but tinged with an unmistakable trace of sadness, was:

"Go ahead and tell him. He doesn't care".

We don't suppose the unhappy lesson in this little vignette is peculiar to Westmount. It tells a whole lot about this generation: that is, the generation of that boy's father.

On the other hand, it may have particular application to Westmount. This is a city of affluence, of people of influence and involvement in the affairs of the nation.

There is evidence that in many cases our youngsters are the classic "poor little rich kids".

A local clergyman to whom we repeated the above little story told us that there are well-to-do families on the cocktail circuit in Westmount for whom it is regular practice, when company is coming, to slip the children a $10 bill and tell them to "get lost" for a few hours until the party is over.

Perhaps the parents are ashamed of their own progeny, or simply can't be bothered.

Whereas, they are depriving their sons and daughters of one of the great benefits of belonging to a household visited frequently by men and women of stature, accomplishment or learning: that is, the privilege of mingling with them and enriching their experience of human contact.

One of our own happy memories of boyhood in Westmount was the home of a school friend, up the hill, where not only the children of the house but their friends were always invited in specifically to meet and talk to the famous figures of the day who frequently visited this home.

We detect that this doesn't happen so much today, which perhaps provides a clue to the causes of an intensified "generation gap."

The way the adults tell it, the generation gap is entirely the fault of this particular batch of youth.

We wonder, though, if the younger folk don't often, with good reason, see it the other way around.

Are not young people just as much estranged by the attitudes and actions of oldsters, particularly their own parents?

Appreciation from Dawsonite

We, as most editors, have a rule against printing anonymous letters. However, this little gem came in this morning to boost our ego after a late night of pulling together another Examiner:

"Sir: This is just a short note to let you know that I, for one, appreciated that bit in your weekly newspaper concerning Dawson College.

"And thanks to you and the various sponsors for welcoming us to Westmount, and also for the copies distributed to us. Once more, thanks very much.

"Sincerely,

"A Dawson Student"

The letter came from Cote St. Luc.

Let's run lines north and south

When, next year, it comes to dividing Westmount up into three wards for aldermanic representation purposes - as will be required under Cities and Towns Act changes - let us pray that, if split up we must be, the lines be north and south.

We can do without "Upper," "Middle" and "Lower" Westmount.

You Say

WMA head scolded on RCs, French

Sir: As an English-speaking, Anglican resident of Westmount I was appalled to receive the recent letter from the Westmount Municipal Association, signed by V. G. Hobbes, president, concerning the changes in the property assessments in Westmount. My letter was in English, and the final paragraph dealt with the question of whether this change in municipal valuations will affect the Protestant school taxes.

Mr. Hobbes, and the members of his executive in whose name he presumably writes, seem to be unaware that a considerable number of Westmount residents are either Roman Catholics, or French-speaking, or (heaven forbid!) both.

If large numbers of Catholics, either French- or English-speaking, have failed to join the Westmount Municipal Association it is not hard to see why. In a municipality which at least pays lip-service to the concept of bilingualism, although many of its employees are incapable of practicing it, the WMA appears to have decided to serve only the English-speaking, Protestant sector of its potential membership.

This is certainly not a new development. It has been evident both in the material circulated by the WMA and at its meetings for some time, although the agenda and minutes of the annual meeting are mysteriously circulated in a partially bilingual from each year.

I would have hoped that recent events in another independent Montreal municipality would have convinced Mr. Hobbes and his associates that he lives in a bilingual city and province and that the longer they postpone recognizing this fact the more likely they are to have one day to face the presumably unwelcome news that they now live in a unilingual, French province which is no longer a part of Canada.

Surely we should all be trying to insure that the recent scenes in St. Léonard do not one day take place in Murray Hill Park.

PSBGM assurances for Mr. Fellowes

Sir: In the "Letters to the Editor" column there was printed a letter signed by Mr. N. A. Fellowes with respect to real estate valuation for school tax purposes in the City of Westmount. Your correspondent expressed the opinion that the evaluation established for 1969-70 was unfairly and unnecessarily high.

The validity of Mr. Fellowes' criticism should be considered in the light of the following information concerning the principles and procedures by which these valuations are established.

It should be noted, first, that differing formulas of evaluation are used in the 22 municipalities involved in the taxation for school purposes in the area covered by the Greater Montreal Board. The procedures used in these municipalities are outside the jurisdiction of the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal and the Montreal Catholic School Commission.

In order to tax equitably over these 22 municipalities, the two school commissions are obliged by law to equalize evaluations. To this end, each of the commissions employs an independent firm of assessors whose business it is to examine the assessment procedures in the various municipi-

Economic Council of Canada Sixth annual review

I'm not sure whether the "happy land" referred to in the old song was "far" or "not far" away. Doesn't matter though as 1975 will see that paradise here in Canada if the scenario planned by the Economic Council of Canada is played to perfection.

A difficult task as it admits itself.

The sixth annual review of this eminent body, entitled "Perspective 1975" appeared last week and is available for $2.75 a copy at the Canadian Government Bookshop, 1182 St. Catherine street west. In that the review has received wide coverage in the press - both laudatory and critical - I shall not indulge myself in a superfluous rehash. There are, however, two aspects of the report, one specific and the other general, that I would like to discuss with you this week.

The salient point is made in the review that "the cost of government is now so large that "efficiency" in the delivery of public goods and services must become an overriding consideration. ... there is no profit incentive to set standards of performance and efficiency. If it were possible to deliver the same standards of education or health care services, for example, with a smaller use (input) of resources, the savings so achieved could be used to accommodate many of the new and urgent programs that governments are likely to be called upon to undertake in the future. Moreover, it is especially important that programs be phased out and eliminated when they are no longer serving the purpose for which they were originally conceived. The mindless perpetuation of obsolete programs is a tragic waste of scarce resources which could be used to meet the changing needs of our highly complex, urban, industrialized society."

This, or course, is completely relevant to what the Treasury Board is in the process of trying to accomplish. The new planning, and to determine a percentage adjustment for each, to equalize evaluations with one another and with those in Montreal. The two assessors file a joint report to the two commissions.

With regard to Mr. Fellowes' protest against automatic increases in valuation for school purposes, it is a fact that, since 1956, there have been seven years when the equalization adjustment has been a reduction, ranging from one percent to 23 percent, in one or more of the municipalities under the jurisdiction of the two Montreal commissions.

In the spring of 1970, when the school commissions compare Westmount's roll with that of Montreal, if the facts are as set out in Mr. Fellowes' letter, then Westmount will clearly qualify for a reduction.

Information Officer,
Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal.

programming and budgeting system ("management by objectives") which we are officially instituting this year is but a first step in meeting the problem head on. One major difficulty encountered is the development of a series of indicators to pinpoint how effective programs are and how efficient or inefficient is the performance of management. A great deal of time and effort is being spent on trying to resolve this aspect of the problem.

Efficient management of government, though, hasn't been all that attractive as a vote-getter. Promises for tomorrow are usually more rewarding. It's too bad really because the end result has been that the taxpayer gets short changed in the return on his tax dollar. What he would never tolerate from the grocer, he has accepted with resignation from his governments. Hopefully, he will change.

The other point I wanted to mention is the relationship of the Economic Council to the people of Canada.

A plan

As its most important task, the Council has been asked to supply a long-term economic "plan" which would be useful to both governments and other decision-makers in making their short-term decisions. Of course, such emphasis is to a certain degree an admission that government is somewhat weak in formulating its long-term goals. This is by and large true as pressing day-to-day decisions tend to take up most of the available time. Moreover, the existence of such a body, apart from government, such as the Economic Council whose advice is available to the whole country rather than a specific government, makes a good deal of sense.

Of course, the efficacy of the institution depends largely on the cogency of its arguments and potency of presentation. It must build and maintain its own reputation. A poor job can only tarnish its effectiveness. Just as government programs must constantly be reviewed for relevancy, so it is with the Economic Council. Constant introspection is not only a virtue but a necessity if it is to usefully survive.

Ascension parish joins in Catholic adult R.E. series

Six English-speaking Roman Catholic parishes, including The Ascension of Our Lord, Westmount, are sponsoring an adult religious education series. This will start in St. Malachy's Parish Hall, 5330 Clanranald avenue, on Monday at 8 pm.

Such a program is unique in Montreal. It is a combined effort on the part of all English-speaking Catholic parishes in the West End; it will be presented by several highly competent teams of nuns including Sister Kathleen Norris and Sister Kathryn McCaffrey; and, it will be geared to adults.

Typical topics include the Christian in the world, the Church as the People of God, the Sacra-

TLC (tender loving care) at St. Andrew's on Sunday

"We shall not all sleep but we shall all be changed". That's the scripture verse pinned to the door of the Crib Corner at St. Andrew's United Church.

Each Sunday through an observation window in this well-equipped new facility you can see Tender Loving Care being lavished upon a dozen or more infants and toddlers.

Around the corner in bright, attractive Church School classrooms their older brothers and sisters are discovering the scope of Christian love in everyday life.

Upstairs their parents are learning about the importance of TLC in the development of each individual as plans for the coming year are outlined by Christian Education Director Mel Ralph.

That's what's happening at 11 am this Sunday at St. Andrew's.

Church School opened for the season last Sunday, lead by Peggy Ralph, wife of the associate minister. Others working with Mrs. Ralph are, Maxime Redmond in nursery; Betty Canavan and Flora Gamble, kindergarten; Heather Gibbons and Norma Pye, primary, and Ross Canavan in the junior department. Additional staff are urgently needed and a number of people are now being approached.

St. Andrew's Youth Club will be under the direction of two new leaders, as Jim Schneider and Tony Smith take over. Jim comes from the U.S. and Tony was active with the Young Adults last year. The Youth Club will get together for the first time Sept. 28, at 7:30 pm.

Haifa professor speaks on new art

Prof. P. K. The topic will be "Design with Sunrays - A new Form of Art".

This meeting is open to the general public, which is invited to attend.

Louis B. Magil, 83 Summit crescent, president of the Technion Society, announced that Prof. Hoenich's visit to Montreal will be a rare opportunity to meet a unique figure heading up an entirely new field in the technology of art.

'Not leaving it to the snake' topic at D-D

Rugger Club shows autumn form

Dr. R. Douglas Smith's sermon topic this Sunday at Dominion Douglas United Church will be "On Not Leaving It to the Snake."

The congregation is invited to a coffee time following the service. The Church School meets in all departments.

The Raymond Carons will give an illustrated lecture at a congregational casserole supper next Thursday at 6:30 pm.

Their subject is "Travelling with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Caron to Paris, Northern Italy, Yugoslavia and Greece."

For the younger set, the marionette show, "The Magic Carpet," will be presented by John Common and cast.

The supper is for the whole congregation and is sponsored by the UCW.

In the last of its home fixtures for this season, Westmount Rugger Club's first team beat Ottawa Irish 11-3. The team appears to be repeating the pattern of last year when, after a poor spring season, it won nearly all its games in the fall. The first two games of the fall this year were against Ottawa Beavers, last year's Quebec Rugby Union champions, who just beat Westmount 9-5, and Montreal Irish who look set to win this year's championship. Although the Irish won 16-8, the game could very well have gone the other way as Westmount, being temporarily without a goal kicker, missed a potential 12 points in field goals. Certainly the game was very close, far closer than the final score implies.

Since then Westmount has won all its games beating Montreal Barbarians twice and Ottawa Irish once. With all clubs still having more games to play, Westmount has 8 points in the QRU League, clubs having more points being marijuana and alcohol

By KATHERINE LIPPEL

In Westmount, as in the entire occidental society, many adults vocalize their dislike of the actions of youth. "Youth is irresponsible and destructive, dirty and disrespectful. It is youth that is initiating the riots (protests) that are creating a bloody revolution across the world."

Maybe this is a semi-accurate description of a few exceptions. However, the public seems to take these exceptions to extremes. For example, with the development of the kiosk in Westmount Park, the Action Committee received complaints such as this:

"I can't hear the music, but I know it's there and I'm afraid. I have two children and my husband's out of town; suppose a gang of those boys comes to my house and attacks me. I'm just not safe with that thing in the park."

It is common knowledge that the press and mass media tend to favor the opinions of the majority of their readers or listeners. Thus, when there are student protests, the exceptional violent ones are publicized and the peaceful ones are played down.

Currently there is a "war" against marijuana by the majority of the adult society. I question the adult's motives in this quick condemnation. Perhaps marijuana should remain illegal; however, from my general observation of adults under the influence of alcohol, I maintain that prohibition should be reinstated.

To illustrate my point I will refer to the dance which took place in Victoria Hall on the night of Friday, Sept. 12. Simultaneous to the dance was a business men's reception in the basement. The men who attended this affair were respectable business men of the community. It was obvious that many of these men were drunk.

At the end of the dance, while cleaning up procedures were underway, a very drunk man from downstairs approached me, put his arms around me, and blubbered something about me being the "doll" he was looking for. Many of the men were in a condition similar to his, and according to some adults I spoke to in the park, the adults' function was considerably noisier than the dance.

I find it understandable that men enjoy getting drunk occasionally after a "hard day at the office." My purpose in relating this rather ugly picture is only to question the consistency of the judgement of those people who are so quick to condemn the youth. Perhaps they will question themselves before they recriminate against young people, or against any people who are different from themselves.

Dance on Friday (tomorrow) at 7:30 pm in Victoria Hall. A new group from California will be playing. Admission 50 cents.

Lower Canada College

COURIER

By RONALD FARHA and JAMES ROBERTSON

Now that things at the school have settled down to the old routine, we thought it would be a good idea to approach Mr. Geoffrey Merrill, the headmaster, and find out how our Grade 11 students fared on the matrics last June.

Mr. Merrill stated that the results were good. Out of 71 students, three obtained over 90 percent, 16 received first class honors, the average mark of the class was 72, and not one boy failed.

As the students at Lower Canada must have their hair cut rather short, their shoes shined, and wear their school uniform, we asked Mr. Merrill his views on school discipline in general. He stated: "Many people today feel that discipline is outdated. LCC is one of the few schools left in Montreal that still demand a school uniform and good conduct. Discipline never hurt anyone and as for uniforms, boys who dress like gentlemen tend to act and behave like gentlemen".

We, the students, are proud of our school and are happy with things just the way they are.

Fine results

As we don't remember seeing anything in the newspapers about the results of the big provincial mathematics and physics competitions held last spring, we asked the headmaster how LCC fared. We were astonished at the results:

The mathematics competition sponsored by the Canadian Mathematics Congress was open to all high school students of the Province of Quebec. Some 700 students wrote the examinations. Lower Canada won first, fourth, sixth, 12th, 16th and 17th places. The first prize was $200.

In the physics competition sponsored by the Canadian Association of Physicists, open to high school students in Quebec, 45 schools entered and 372 students took the examination. First prize was $200.00. Lower Canada boys gained first, second, seventh, eighth, ninth, 10th and 14th places. Not bad going! So if anyone thinks that all we do at Lower Canada is to play football and hockey, let him come two days without his homework prepared - well!

As there seem to be many teachers added to the staff we asked Mr. Merrill what was the ratio of students to teachers. It is 12 to one which, we are told, is very good. The majority of these teachers seem to be fairly young.

This year the LCC football teams look very promising. This column will keep you up to date on the latest results. So far, the Seniors have defeated Loyola and the Juniors were beaten by Wagar.

Friday Sept. 19, Westmount won the first game of the season against Rosemount, not Marymount as had been previously reported. The victory was a decisive one for Westmount.

Let's hope for continued success in future games.

Women wanted at Weredale

The call is out for more Westmount women to lend a hand at Weredale House.

More assistance can be used in the library, organized last year but with much more to do. It is hoped that with more "staff" the library can be open to the boys every weekday and some evenings.

Also sought are women who are willing to help for special activities without being committed on a regular basis.

Contacts are Mrs. Dorothy Fletcher, 488-5069 and Mrs. Lois Daly, 935-5685.

Tea, talk

The Women's Auxiliary of the Montreal Convalescent Hospital is having a membership tea next Thursday at 2 pm at the hospital. There will be a talk by a lawyer on Wills and Estates.

PLAN MGH EARLY BIRD SHOW

Karnak ladies' club to open with tea

The opening tea and floral display of the Karnak Ladies' Club, an auxiliary of the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children, is to be held Oct. 7 at the Masonic Temple.

Other scheduled events include a dessert bridge at St. Philip's Church Oct. 24, a Christmas party Dec. 2, a fashion show March 3 and the annual luncheon April 21.

Government is unstable, Rotary told

We have not got a stable government in Quebec as we have in Ottawa, declared R. L. Foster, a life insurance executive and co-chairman of the speakers' bureau of the Canada Committee, told Westmount Rotarians at their luncheon meeting in Victoria Hall yesterday.

The Canada Committee was created, he said, to take positive rather than defensive action to stem deteriorating relations between the two cultures. It has local groups throughout the province, including many in predominantly French-speaking communities.

Presented to the meeting and speaking briefly was Rev. Frank Belec, who graduated from St. Leo's School in 1953, had been assisted by the Westmount Rotary Club in its scholarship program.

Among the visiting Rotarians was one from New South Wales.

President Curt Ross chaired the weekly session.

Break attempt

Damage to a door and lock at 62 Rosemont avenue last Thursday evening indicated an attempted break and entry.

which probably was the thief's first mistake. A broken window or marks on a door might have diverted the inquiries.

A check of employees revealed, among others, the fact that there had been a chauffeur for a short while, some time ago. He could not readily be traced locally, so began a series of long distance phone calls to his old hometown of Arthabaska.

This finally paid off with the name of a woman friend of Jean, also now living in Montreal, leading eventually, last Friday evening, to the Parc Lafontaine address.

Stake-out

Next it was an old-fashioned stake-out by Lt.-Det. Frank Pilkionis and Sgt.-Dets. Bruce Whiteford and James Lessard.

It paid off when Jean and his lady friend returned home. Con-
