CANADIAN GRAIN TRADE FAILS TO DISPLAY INTEREST IN CHURCHILL

Minister of Railways and Canals Tells of Difficulty in Obtaining Test Cargoes for Hudson Bay Route—Wheat Problems Engaged Attention of House for Greater Part of Sitting Yesterday—Freight Rates on Grain Debated.

Ottawa, April 16.—The Canadian grain trade has evidenced slight interest in the $80,000,000 port facilities at Churchill, Man., and the Hudson Bay Railway, Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, said in the House of Commons yesterday. It was only after great difficulty that sufficient grain was secured for the two trial shipments to Great Britain last fall, and bookings for the present year were lacking.

The Government, proceeded Dr. Manion, was hopeful ten or a dozen boats would clear from the northern port this year, but a canvass of the grain trade for booking so far had been unsatisfactory. There would be no lack of vessels if the grain were available at Churchill, he added.

On the trial shipments last year, said the Minister, the Government assumed the handling charges and the cost to the shipper had been slightly less than if the grain had moved through Montreal. The insurance rates on the cargo was about five times the normal rate.

Dr. Manion said he did not believe the Government should absorb part of the insurance rates. Strong representations had been made to the underwriters to reduce the rates, and future action would depend largely on the success of the port this season.

The House closed the week with a day devoted almost entirely to problems facing the grain industry. The Government, announced Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, had incurred no financial losses from guarantees to the wheat pools. This applied to guarantees to the central selling agency of the three Prairie pools for the crop year 1930-31 and the guarantee to the three provincial pools, in the form of working capital, for the crop year 1931-32.

Action of the Government in standing behind the pools undoubtedly steadied the market, said Mr. Stevens. If the Dominion had not stepped in, the selling agency of the pools very probably would have found itself in a difficult position. To his knowledge, the Dominion was holding no wheat, although he promised to make a more definite statement on this point.

Mr. Stevens gave an emphatic denial to rumors said to be current in some parts of the country that John Y. MacFarland, head of the selling agency, had speculated in grain futures and had suffered losses.

Estimates of the Trade and Commerce Department provoked the grain trade discussion. Early in the day many Maritime members impressed on the Government the necessity of reducing grain freight rates to Saint John and Halifax. They requested a rate of 15.34 cents a hundredweight, one cent above the Quebec City rate over the National Transcontinental Railway. This rate already has been refused by the Board of Railway Commissioners, and an appeal from the judgment was made to the Government about a year ago.

A decision on the rate question will be made as soon as possible, said Mr. Stevens. It should be borne in mind, he reminded the House, that wheat moved at the direction of its owners. Almost the only part the Dominion could play was to construct port facilities to attract the flow of grain.

In presenting their case for lower grain rates, the Maritime members said this would attract the volume of wheat to which Saint John and Halifax were entitled.

During private members' hour, Thomas Reid, Liberal, New Westminster, moved second reading of his bill to apply Crown's Nest Pass freight rates to grain and flour moving from points as far east as Port William to Pacific Coast ports. Dr. Manion opposed it on the ground the Board of Railway Commissioners, not Parliament, was the logical rate-determining court. After a discussion lasting half an hour the debate was adjourned.

PORTION OF SASKATCHEWAN WAS SWEEPED BY DUST STORM

Traffic on Highways and Railway Lines Severely Affected, While Soil Reported Drifting Everywhere.

Regina, April 16.—Fanned by a thirty-five-mile-an-hour wind which whopped over farm lands, tore through city streets, piled big drifts on highways and railway lines, a dust storm raked southern Saskatchewan yesterday. Signs of rain were lost in the dull gray wall of dust blown out of the southeast. Visibility was poor everywhere, some spots in the country reporting it was impossible to see more than a few feet ahead. Soil drifting was reported everywhere.

In the vicinity of Regina, numerous farm trucks and autos were stuck in the drifted soil. In some cases these drifts measured from ten to sixty feet wide and six inches to two feet in depth. Highways were almost impassable. Railways had gangs of men out trying to clear away drifts along the trackage south of here. Tracks were reported covered by about a foot of sand and soil.

The storms were reported particularly violent in the southeast portions of the province. Autoists entering Moose Jaw stated it was necessary to cut fences running along the road allowance to drive over fields to reach the city owing to the drifted soil.

U.S. TARIFF COMMISSION ASKED TO INCREASE DUTY

Domestic Manufacturers of Barley Malt Request that Present Duty Be Augmented to Protect Their Industry.

Washington, April 16.—The United States Tariff Commission was asked yesterday by domestic manufacturers of barley malt to increase the present duty of forty cents per 100 pounds to protect their industry. Strong opposition was presented by Canadian manufacturers and New York importers of European malt. The importers asked that the existing levy be retained or, if any increase were made, that it apply only to Canadian imports.

The manufacturers sponsoring the demand asserted that the Farm Board through its wheat stabilization operations had increased the price for malt that malsters must pay and that the fluctuations of ten or fifteen per cent in Canadian currency had raised Canadian profits and competition.

Canadian competition was held as unimportant by another factor, who held that what competition existed was due to any great difference in manufacturing costs, but is based entirely on temporary fluctuations in the costs of barley and raw material and a temporary monetary exchange condition.

REALLOCATING OF SEATS WILL BE UNDERTAKEN

Debate on Premier Harrington's Resolution to Refer Matter to Committee Was Concluded Yesterday in Nova Scotia House.

Halifax, N. S., April 16.—With the advice of Premier Harrington to create single-member constituencies wherever possible, a committee of five will take up the task of reallocating seats in the Legislative Assembly.

Debate on the Premier's resolution to refer the matter to a committee yesterday afternoon, and the motion passed by seventeen to four.

"The committee will sit, a bill will be presented, and the bill will pass," declared Premier Harrington, closing the debate. The two opposition members of the committee had announced their disqualification to serve. G. E. Romey, member for Lunenburg, declaring his disbelief in the principle of reducing the number of seats, implied in the resolution; and R. W. E. Landry, member for Yarmouth, holding out for the presentation of a bill before consideration of the matter by a committee.

"They are in the position where they can act or not, as they choose," the Premier said. Further increases in the preferential tariffs on all apples produced within the British Empire are sought in a resolution, notice of which was given in the Legislature by George C. Nowlan, Conservative member for Kings. The resolution calls on the federal government to stress this request at the forthcoming Imperial Conference.

Prospects are for a decided business improvement before the 1932 crop is harvested, according to a report on the agricultural outlook for Nova Scotia, compiled by Dr. W. V. Longley, director of extension department, and tabled by Hon. O. P. Goucher, Minister of Agriculture. Generally improved conditions would affect, but prices favorably. High prices should not be anticipated in the crop market, though demand would be satisfactory, the report said.

IMPROVEMENT IN CONDITION OF HIGHWAYS

Frost Coming Out of Ground Very Rapidly—Rain and Wind This Week Did Much Good.

Much improvement has taken place in the condition of the highways during the past week, and the routes should be in a satisfactory travelling state in a few days, provided the weather is favorable. The frost is coming out of the ground very rapidly, and the rain and wind early this week helped to dry up the roads considerably.

The highway to Cookshire is open and reported to be in almost as good a condition as during summer months. The route to Montreal is open throughout to light vehicles, but is very rough between Magog and Granby. It is good from Granby to Montreal. The Richmond road is also passable, but motorists are advised to pass on the west side of the St. Francis River from Bromptonville to Windsor Mills. Route No. 13 to Stanstead is open to motor cars of all kinds, while the road to Coaticook is open only to light automobiles, and is not in a very good condition.

WOULD REMOVE SECRECY FROM HONOLULU CASE

Prosecution Want Defence to State Which of Accused, if Any, Intend Pleading Insanity—Darrow's Condition Much Better.

Honolulu, April 16.—Immediate fulfillment of a defence promise to name one of the four accused persons as the slayer of Joseph Kahahawai was sought by the prosecution in the lynching case here today.

Exclusion of testimony relating to the attack on Mrs. Thalia Massie, wife of one and daughter of another of the defendants, with which Kahahawai and four others was charged, also was sought by the prosecution.

Before Lient. Thomas H. Massie resumes the witness stand to continue his story, thus far principally relating to the attack on his wife, lawyers prepared to argue in chambers the admissibility of testimony along that line.

Prosecutor John C. Kelley announced he would seek to have Darrow tell the court specifically before going further with defence testimony, just which one of the defendants would admit firing the fatal shot and plead insanity.

Testifying of the criminal assault upon Mrs. Massie, the young naval officer previously had said the affair played upon his mind. He would shoulder responsibility for the actual killing and would raise the insanity issue, but Darrow did not specifically name the lieutenant in this connection.

Kelley said he wanted the defence to say whether Massie would admit the killing, so that it could be determined at once whether the navy officer now is sane or insane. "An insane man cannot testify," Kelley said.

The defense broadened the vision of its activities by summoning six witnesses in addition to the two Los Angeles alienists previously called.

CANADA LOSES HIGHLY VALUED SOCIAL WORKER

Rev. John Walker MacMillan Had Long and Varied Experience in Public Life of Dominion.

Toronto, April 16.—Rev. John Walker MacMillan, one of the outstanding social workers of Canada, died here today. He was sixty-three years of age and was professor of sociology at Victoria College here. He was born at Mount Forest, Ont.

The late Dr. MacMillan was widely known in the Dominion. He had served as chairman of the Minimum Wage Board for Ontario, lectured in the Social Service Department, University of Toronto, served overseas with the 63rd Halifax Rifles and was a member of the Social Welfare Commission at Winnipeg for some years.

He was educated at Mount Forest public and high schools, and later went to University of Toronto. He obtained the degrees of B. A. and D. D., at Union Seminary in New York, and was then called to Mount Pleasant Presbyterian Church in Vancouver, B. C. From there he returned to Lindsay, Ont., and then to St. Andrew's Church, Winnipeg, and St. Matthew's Church, at Halifax, N. S. In 1918 he became professor of social ethics at Manitoba College, Winnipeg, and moved, in 1919, to Toronto, where he was professor of sociology at Victoria College.

He was the author of a book "Happiness and Goodwill," published in 1922.

Dr. Walker took a wide interest in municipal affairs, particularly at Lindsay, Ont. He was a member of the Public Library Board and Board of Education there in 1902 and 1903. In August 1914, he went overseas with the Halifax Rifles, holding rank as lieutenant-colonel and chaplain.

In 1924, he married Amy Cooper Flavell, daughter of John D. Flavell, of Lindsay. His widow, one son and two daughters survive.

SECRETARY OF STATE DENIES A PLOT ARRANGED

Henry L. Stimson Allays French Fears that here Had Been an Understanding Between U. S. and Any Other Country Before Gibson Plan Was Launched.

Paris, April 16.—Before he departed from Paris to Geneva last evening, Henry L. Stimson, United States Secretary of State, had succeeded in allaying the fears of France that there had been an agreement between his country and any other nation before the disarmament plan was launched by Hugh Gibson last Monday. Contending that he had come to Europe to report to get information on the Disarmament Conference and to offer what assistance he could, Mr. Stimson left Paris in a more cordial atmosphere than he found it, while it was learned from French sources that his most earnest wish is to obtain some settlement of the Sino-Japanese problem.

Mr. Stimson declared that the Gibson plan should not be called an American project, but a composite of many suggestions offered by him and others in the early part of the Conference. The Secretary explained that it was based on the desire expressed by Arthur Henderson that some one embody the entire suggested qualitative reduction of arms into a workable scheme. In an interview, he distinctly gave the impression that he had high hopes for the Gibson plan.

Curiously enough it was Frank B. Kellogg whose name stands above all others in striving for world peace who made the French government today by repeating emphatically for the benefit of a group of newspapermen his objections to military sanctions for the Briand-Kellogg pact. Since the French thesis at Geneva is entirely one of patting teeth into the League covenant, the French press expressed annoyance against what the papers choose to consider an attack on France. Needless to say nothing could have been further from Mr. Kellogg's mind. French reactions are simply another evidence of the nervous situation obtaining in Europe these days.

A MEMORIAL EVENT HELD BY EX-SERVICEMEN

Prince Arthur of Connaught, as Guest of Honor at London Gathering.

London, April 16.—Three hundred former members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force in the Great War last night held a commemorative dinner here under the chairmanship of Lieutenant-General Henry Burstall, who was general officer commanding the Second Canadian Division at the end of the war.

Prince Arthur of Connaught, at one time attached to the staff of the Canadian corps, as guest of honor, pleased his audience with reminiscences of his wartime experiences. Major-General J. E. B. Seely, who commanded the Canadian cavalry brigade, also spoke.

The chairman read a telegram of greeting from the King and a cable from Baron Byng of Vimy, former commander of the Canadian corps and former Governor-General of Canada. Lord Byng, who is in California on a health trip, expressed regret at being unable to attend the dinner.

C. G. Wells, formerly a corporal in the 77th Battalion, led in prayer for "departed comrades."

William Noxon, Agent-General at London for Ontario, spoke of G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner, who is in Canada.

ARGENTINE FAIR DID NOT IMPROVE CANADIAN TRADE

Ottawa, April 16.—A considerable expenditure for Canada's share in the Argentine Fair, at Argentine last year was the subject of comment in the House of Commons last night. The point arose when an item of $137,000 for exhibitions and fairs, pertaining to the estimates for the Department of Trade and Commerce, was under discussion in the committee of supply.

Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, asserted the estimate this year was considerably less than the corresponding one for last year because of the grant in that year to the British Empire Fair.

Mr. Thomas Donnelly, (Liberal, Winnipeg), said that before the Argentine Fair, Canada had sold that country $12,000,000 worth of goods. The year after the fair Canada had only sold $4,000,000. Dr. Donnelly presumed that there was another fair Canada's trade with Argentina would be entirely wiped out.

BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT AGAINST CARNERA REMOVED

Family of Emilia Tersini, Young British Girl, Reported to Be After Italian Heavyweight Giant.

London, April 16.—The London Daily Mail said today that the family of Miss Emilia Tersini, a British subject, had served a writ on Primo Carnera, Italian heavyweight giant, charged him with breach of promise.

A report that Carnera would marry Miss Tersini upon his return to Europe from the United States was published in the London Daily News on March 11, 1930, but it was denied by Carnera and his manager who were in Minneapolis at that time.

A romance began, the Daily News said, when the heavyweight visited England for a bout with Young Strickling, The United States boxer. Upon learning that Carnera had denied they were engaged, Miss Tersini was quoted as saying: "Well, Mr. Carnera knows best. We are only friends, anyway."

LORD IRWIN ON WAY TO CAN- ADA

London, April 16.—Lord Irwin, former Viceroy of India, sailed on the Empress of Australia today for a lecture tour in Canada under the auspices of the Massey Foundation.

CO-OPERATION NECESSARY FOR WORLD REVIVAL

Sir Josiah Stamp Claims that Lack of International Co-operation and National Political Prejudice Are Responsible for World Crisis.

New York, April 16.—"I doubt whether all parties in the United States, with their frequent boasting of being independent of other countries, realize how the policy of obtaining surplus of exports and being lenders of capital involves them in the responsibility for the economic prosperity of the rest of the world," Sir Josiah Stamp, British financier and international expert, told the Academy of Political Science at its dinner.

"It is possible," the noted authority stated, "to be by tariffs and otherwise a closed system, but not possible to combine this with the profits of interest and risk-taking involved in export trade and foreign loans."

Sir Josiah claimed that lack of international co-operation and national political prejudice are responsible for the world's economic depression, and that the only way to bring about a recovery is by co-operation.

Sir Josiah declared "the lending and borrowing of money between countries is ultimately an interference with trade."

"Its volume and direction may or may not correspond with the ultimate convenience of the natural direction of imports and exports," he continued. "No country can be a foreign lender merely by virtue of large resources and complete willingness. It has to stay out, bad times as well as good; it must not change its position when the storm comes on or it will rock the boat and frighten every one."

"International finance, such as is involved in supporting bills by exchange, or even lending on bonds to smaller foreign governments, demands a close study and long experience, but above all great powers of endurance to withstand the temptation to clear out or desert the credit of the borrowing country in times of difficulty and danger."

"No country that has not cultivated these qualities can, under modern conditions, really help forward the problem of stability and credit, unless it is confidently in possession of these qualities."

SIX PERSONS MET DEATH IN NEW YORK FIRE

Two Children Also Suffered Serious Burns During Fire Which Swept Four-Storey Tenement House.

New York, April 16.—Six persons were burned to death and two children seriously burned in a fire that swept a four-storey tenement house in the Bronx after midnight this morning.

The bodies, so badly charred no immediate identification could be made, were found on the stairway at the third floor. Apparently they were members of a single family. The children seriously burned were Philip Weinstein, ten years old, and his sister, Edith, seven years of age.

Three days ago a fire here took the lives of Mrs. Celia Sanders and her five children.

PREMIER TASCHEREAU INSISTENT THAT QUEBEC MAINTAIN POSITION

Although Hopeful that Compromise Will Be Reached With Federal Government, Mr. Taschereau Points to Necessity of Quebec Holding to Powers Conferred in Privy Council Decision—No Information on Federal Government Unemployment Relief Plan Received.

Quebec, Que., April 16.—Although Premier Taschereau is hopeful that the present negotiations between Ontario and Quebec and the federal government relative to jurisdiction over insurance will result in an agreement, he insists that Quebec must retain the provincial jurisdiction as determined by the Privy Council.

"Mr. Lanctot has just returned from Ottawa where he represented Quebec, which, with the province of Ontario, is endeavoring to reach a satisfactory entente with the federal Government relative to control of insurance companies," said the Premier. "Apparently we have not got anywhere so far, but I am still hopeful."

Assistant Attorney-General Charles Lanctot, K.C., speaking of the negotiations said that the bone of contention was the stand taken by the federal Government that despite the Privy Council decision it still has extensive legislative rights regarding insurance, while the two provinces insist upon their rights to provincial jurisdiction but are willing to make certain concessions in order to arrive at a solution of the question.

"After adjournment of the Senate on Wednesday, Mr. Geoffrion and myself held a conference with Senator Arthur Meighen, at which were present Messrs. Bayly and Foster representing Ontario, in order to permit consideration of the suggestions made by Ontario and Quebec," said Mr. Lanctot. "Whatever may be the result of these negotiations, Ontario and Quebec are in accord on a united stand in the matter of provincial jurisdiction."

"The situation regarding the question is: On the one hand the provinces do not want to expose themselves to a suggestion, which might come up any time when insurance matters might be before the courts, that they interpret the points at issue in such a way that it could justify a contention that the provinces had abandoned their legislative rights as determined by the Privy Council, particularly by the last judgment."

"On the other hand there is a feeling in certain circles connected with the federal authorities that Canada still has an important part of legislative rights vested in it, regarding insurance matters. The province of Ontario and the province of Quebec, to whose constitutions the province of British Columbia has adhered in express terms, are willing, in order to meet the requirements of this vast insurance business, to concede the exercise of some of their powers enjoyed under provincial legislation to the Dominion Government. This legislation must be provincial in character, the governments, insurance companies and insured would be in the same position as they are today, and would be open to the same attacks."

"Just what will be the outcome of the negotiations I do not know, but apparently everyone concerned is desirous of reaching an amicable solution to the problem and are carrying on the negotiations in the best of faith."

NORFOLK GROUP REPORT BABY IS ALIVE AND WELL

Following Five-Day Trip, One of Trio Reports Establishing at Least One Contact With Supposed Kidnappers of Colonel Lindbergh's Son.

Norfolk, Vt., April 16.—Three Norfolk intermediaries, who say they have been repeatedly requested by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh to carry on, awaited in readiness today to further their efforts towards the recovery of the stolen baby.

Word that the famous flyer had requested them to continue their work, and that their belief had been renewed that the baby was alive and well, was brought back by Rev. Admiral Burrage, retired, and John Hughes, Curtis from secret missions made this week.

Admiral Burrage said Curtis made at least one contact with the supposed kidnappers during his five-day absence from the city. The retired naval officer, again assuming the role of spokesman for the trio, said he, Mr. Curtis and the Rev. Dobson-Peacock, former Canadian rector and the third member, would confer again with Colonel Lindbergh as necessary. He would give no indication, however, when he expected such further conferences may become necessary.

Referring frequently to the request made by Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh that the trio refrain from questioning and following negotiations, Admiral Burrage maintained a strict silence concerning the progress of the negotiations and details of their recent trips. He revealed, however, the four conferences were held with Col. Lindbergh.

Mr. Curtis left Norfolk on Sunday shortly after conferring with Col. Lindbergh concerning the future payment of $50,000 to the trio for the return of the child may be made by the Norfolk men.

Dean Dobson-Peacock expressed the belief that protection against another "double-cross" would be provided in whatever arrangements for the return of the child may be made by the Norfolk men.

HIGHLIGHTS OF SITUATION REVIEWED
Hopewell, N.J., April 16.—On the forty-sixth day since the Lindbergh baby was kidnapped the latest high lights in the hunt are: Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, of Norfolk, said John H. Curtis, of Norfolk, back from a secret mission, had made at least one contact with the supposed kidnappers.

Dean H. Dobson-Peacock, former Canadian rector, third of the Norfolk intermediaries, said they believed the child is "alive and well."

Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jafie" who made the futile $50,000 ransom payment, said: "I'd be glad to report if I had anything to report, but I have nothing."

SOCIETY HELD

BUSY SESSION

AT BEDFORD

W.M.S. of United Church Entertained at Home of Mrs. Wesley Gilman—Social Items from Bedford and District.

Bedford, Que., April 16.—The regular monthly meeting of the Bedford-Mystic, W.M.S. of the United Church met on Friday, April 8, at the home of Mrs. Wesley Gilman, with nine members present, Mrs. W. Smith, vice-president, Mrs. Wesley Gilman, recording secretary, Miss Cochran, Miss M. Gage, Mrs. Marvin Smith, Mrs. Eugene Best and Mrs. Laraway and the Rev. J. O. Baron. Mrs. Marvin Smith was in charge of the musical arrangements.

The meeting was opened by the singing of the hymn "See, How Great a Flame Aspires." All present then stood and repeated together the W.M.S. watchword. The Rev. J. O. Baron was then called upon and gave the Scripture lesson and an address on "Simon Zealotes—the Man of Fire," followed by prayer by the Rev. J. O. Baron, after which the Lord's Prayer was repeated. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted, after which Mrs. Gilman gave a reading on "Thanksgiving Ann," which was greatly appreciated. Another hymn "Light of the Lonely Pilgrim's Heart" followed. Mrs. Gilman conducted the study period, the subject of which was Chapter VII, "What of the Day?" taken from the study book "Korea—The Land of the Dawn."

The following ladies assisted by giving readings on this chapter, Mrs. M. Smith, Mrs. W. Smith and Miss Cochran. The closing hymn was "Hail to the Lord's Anointed," after the singing of which the Rev. J. O. Baron closed the meeting with the benediction. The company then adjourned to the dining-room, which was beautifully decorated for the event of the first birthday of the society. The table was laden with good things to eat provided by Mrs. Farvey Corey and Miss M. Gage. The "birthday cake" was made by Mrs. Laraway and was in the centre of the table, decorated with one lighted taper to mark the first anniversary of the society's work. Hearty thanks were extended to Mrs. Gilman for the use of her home, and to the ladies mentioned above.

HE WHO ATTAINS EMINENCE AND HE WHO WILL?

That Richard Bedford Bennett, the right honourable member of His Majesty's Privy Council, Prime Minister of the Dominion of Canada, and member of Parliament for Calgary, must have been a precocious youth, one can well believe in studying his serious mien as he stands at the helm in the House of Commons.

He holds the admiration of his followers in the House just as he astonishes others by his depth of memory in retaining and reciting even the smaller details of public affairs. He has a superiority of power in understanding and in expounding the matters under discussion. It would be too bad if force of circumstances should deprive the country of the services of a man so highly regarded by his friends and so deeply respected by all for his rigid purposes.

Even those who may not see eye to eye with him on all questions will appreciate his fairness in argument, and his possession of generosity and magnanimity in debate.

Mr. Bennett's career did not just begin when he first captured the public fancy as he came into the public eye as leader of the Opposition at Ottawa. He had long been a member of Parliament, a Cabinet Minister at Ottawa, and for years served in the Assembly of his adopted province of Alberta.

Sympathy and consideration will be accorded him as a ruler in Canada through a period of stress never known before or since Confederation. His first term as Prime Minister must be a constant struggle to overcome fiscal inconstancy and to glide through the contention that the policies of the past will fit the perils of the present. That the foremost man of Canada can be vigorous in expression and strong in conviction may over-ride the complaint that he is at times autocratic and at other times too easily persuaded to recession.

Looking down at the man from the Press Gallery the other day, from whence came recollections of forty-one years since first we sat in the upper gallery, one could not help but wonder that there was an advantage in austerity in a period when joviality in public life is not the asset it had been.

There may be a lack of sunshine in his bearing, a too close pre-occupation with affairs; he may not appeal through his exclusion of lightness, his barring of relaxation, nor yet possess the common human sympathies which make for congenial communion one with another, but neither is he dry, forbidding, proud or uncongenial. Yet these are days when the country does applaud the man who takes things seriously and who apparently feels his own great responsibilities.

One knows that the Canadian Prime Minister is above slander, and though he has attained to an eminence, one also knows that he has made no virulent enemies, who might find that unmeasured abuse would be as the throwing of a pagan boomerang.

Mr. Bennett may have an impatience of opposition, but he does not show an indifference to the sensibilities of those who may differ from him. Nor would anyone term the Prime Minister an orator, for oratory there is not in the present parliamentary personnel. But he does speak with weight and with point, and throughout his political life he has been consistently honourable, patriotic and loyal to his friends.

That these opinions of this journal are sincere, even though lightly expressed, does not mean that we concur in all the political and government measures of the administration, for we stand by our contention that a man and his measure shall be weighed and judged from day to day.

The atmosphere at Ottawa, and in fact at any Capital, is such as will often distort and disarrange a man's vision, and only history will accord the Canadian Prime Minister, the Hon. R. B. Bennett, his final niche in the Hall of Fame.

One other man, among all the eminent men whom we met in the House, was seated in his room on the fifth floor of the House of Commons when the Editor bolted in without knocking, and in that brazen way which only the news-paper man acquires. Having given study to the Premier, who had attained to eminence, the thought came to look up the man who would, and naturally we looked for a man on the other side of the House.

This man came to Canada, a young Scotchman from the country which rules most every country but its own.

The Honourable Ian Alastair Mackenzie, who adopted Canada whilst young but who still has the charm of the burr in his speech, had just returned from Toronto, thence the Canadian Club had called him to tell that body what he knew and what he thought of Imperial Unity of Trade. It was Mr.

Mackenzie who inflicted the surprising defeat on the present Minister of Trade and Commerce and who sent the Hon. H. H. Stevens out on the mountains to prospect for a seat.

The member for Vancouver Centre is a coming man. He has a clever genius for debate, and once he grows more deliberate in expression, more documen-t in delivery, as our friend Howard would express it, the more would his hearers be carried to the clear air of the Highlands as tho' listening to the clarion call of the bagpipes. With all the natural talents of a far-famed Scottish clan, and with the deep learning of the great British universities as a background, the greatest Liberal chief of them all may be sitting in his tent for the moment, but Canada will think much of him when they will hear more. Mackenzie is a likable Scotchman, and the fact that the most Canadian city in Canada adopted and elected him as their favourite son would bespeak the citizen rather than the partizan. I do not admire the man who is too partizan in mind, for it does not token breadth of understanding. Mr. Mackenzie had just returned to his room for his daily regimen of reading and study when I broke into his solitude as a stranger, and within ten minutes had made and gained a congenial friend. 'Twas the bit of Lowland Scottish in me which made the sparks fly—

Keep an eye on Ian.

THE SHAME OF THE SENATE.

Adroitly sparring for time the five erring Senators who have affronted the public and besmirched the Upper House, think to escape, and to retain their seats in the Senate of Canada.

Be it not that they be chased from the Temple, and both scourged and scorned for their brazen conduct, then will each Senator, in good standing, have to apologize when he admits he belongs to that august body.

Smoke screens of more important questions may presently hide the errant ones. They may think that time in its passing heals and hides all wrong, but they should take thought of the fate of all those Washington politicians who were responsible for the strange and sudden death of President Harding, and who had disgraced his administration.

Do the Senators wish to be on the defensive for all the coming years when they confess that they belong, or do they wish to cleanse the Red Chamber of the ravenous rogues, and thus retain the respect and the trust of the general public. The eyes of our neighbours are upon us, and we will forever be ashamed to comment upon any skulduggery in public life anywhere, if the Senate of Canada be not purged of the plunderous members.

It is a serious matter. A shuddering one. If there be no precedent, it is quite simple to make one.

For our part, we do not desire to have to apologize for knowing a Senator.

We regard that man as lost who has lost his sense of shame, and the Shame of the Senate sticks ever close to the ribs of honour.

Shall five black sheep melt their frozen guilt in the warmth of the Red Chamber? By all the shades of outward show, an ass should like an ass be treated when 'tis charged and proven that his colleagues he has cheated.

EDITOR'S NOTES

Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, intimated very plainly to the tire manufacturers and to the shoe and leather merchants that they were not alive to their opportunity when they imported rubber and leather through New York agencies, instead of importing direct from Borneo or the Argentine, from whence this raw material was grown or raised. Not only did Canadian shipping lose, but Canada lost credit for these purchases when it came to a question of promoting inter-trade relations.

With glistening eyes and gloating countenance the Hon. Mr. Durand, Minister of Marine, proposes to double the yearly tax on radios. The Durand tax, the Minister thinks, will be gladly paid to help the exchequer meet the recurring deficits on foolish expenditures. You can sit at home and listen to a sermon with the thought that each week you are dropping a dime into the collection box for the poor National Railway system, and figure that if you have not paid it you may be persecuted and thrown into jail with bad men who sell Bibles.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From the Files of the Sherbrooke Record.
April 16th, 1902.

A collision between George Lemay's butcher cart and George A. McLean's delivery wagon resulted in the wrecking of both rigs and the strewn of the Magog river bridge with choice cuts of meat, doughnuts, pies and other forms of pastry.

A further drop in the price of eggs was recorded at the Sherbrooke Market, 14 to 17 cents a dozen being quoted. Chickens, however, advanced to 16 cents a pound and hindquarters of beef to 8 to 10 cents a pound.

Births recorded during the week included those of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Hanson Bean, of East Angus, and daughters to Mr. and Mrs. Alex Finlayson, of Magog, Mr. and Mrs. Ora Carpenter, of Lybertytown, and Mr. and Mrs. George Fox, of Way's Mills.

Preston Johnston, of Lennoxville, who had enlisted for service in South Africa, was unable to undertake the great adventure, as he was not of age and his father refused to give his consent.

The death of Mrs. James Mountain occurred at the residence of her son, W. T. Mountain, after an illness of several months, the funeral being held at her former home in Danville.

G. Guelph Armitage, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Armitage, passed his first year dental examinations at McGill with first-class honors in every subject.

Eugene McCarthy left his home in Sherbrooke to reside in Frankford, Pa., where he had taken a position.

CHINA'S CLAIMS OUTLINED BY DR. KIANG KANG-HU

States that Even if Japs Conquer China They Would Be Rapidly Assimilated by the Chinese People.

China for the first time in her history is making a desperate stand against an invading force, but even if Japan should conquer her, the Japs would be rapidly assimilated by the Chinese people, and her islands become a part of the "Empire of the Dragon." This was the opinion expressed last evening by Dr. Kiang Kang-Hu of McGill University, before a lecture group in the Convocation Hall of Bishop's University. Dr. Kiang-Hu, the first man to hold a chair in a department of Chinese studies at any Canadian University, was formerly secretary of the Chinese Republic and president of the Chinese Republic in the East.

The speaker expressed his desire to correct what he termed the general misconception that Japan has a right to attack Manchuria and that this province has been conquered, since the fighting has moved towards Shanghai. In delineating the origin of the people of Manchuria, the professor explained that it is the homeland of the Manchus, one of the five principal races of China, although these have become so absorbed with the Chinese that it is impossible to note any difference. Manchuria, while not a part of China proper, does belong to the Chinese Empire, stated the speaker, and although Chinese its gates were closed to Chinese, yet its gates were open to immigrants were finally lifted some twenty years ago, the Chinese began to pour in at the rate of one million a year. The district is now divided into the three Eastern provinces, and to this triad govern-ment, and who had disgraced his administration.

About forty years ago the riches of Manchuria first began to attract the Russians, and they applied for the right to extend a branch of the Siberian railway into the province. After much negotiation and drawn up in terms of which the line was to be built by Russian capital of Chinese material, and was to be jointly owned for fifty years, when it could become the property of China.

Japan, the speaker contended, entered the Manchurian field rather late and found Russia to be her stumbling-block. The Russo-Japanese War was therefore engineered, and as a result of Japan's victory she was ceded some seven hundred miles of the entire 1,700-mile railway, although Russia by so doing ignored China's partnership rights. Dr. Kiang-Hu stated that reliable authority claims the existence of a clandestine agreement between Russia and Japan, by which Russia confines her interests to northern Manchuria and Japan hers to the southern half. The population of the province, despite the influx of Japanese, is still ninety-seven per cent Chinese, and the lecturer went on to point out that, although Korea has been annexed by Japan, its feelings are still strongly pro-Chinese. Only about 200,000 Japs live in Manchuria today, he declared.

In referring to the causes of the disagreements, Prof. Kiang-Hu told of the disappearance of a Japanese officer in Mongolia and the refusal of the Chinese Government to be responsible when it was found that the soldier had been a spy travelling under a false passport. Later, he said, the Chinese Government claimed on a section of the railway outside of Mukden, the capital of Manchuria, was blown up, and the blame attributed to China. Scarcely three hours after making the formal protest the Japanese troops occupied the capital, and since the Chinese Government offered no opposition, the Japs increased their demands until their activities have culminated in the siege of Shanghai. But because the allegiance of the Chinese officials is not voluntary, the Manchurian problem is not solved yet. Many Chinese leaders are today working in the Manchurian Government in the hope that some day it will be the centre of operations against the present Chinese Nationalist Government, which is now in power. The Soviet in Russia. Former Chinese soldiers in Manchuria, now disbanded, have become "irregulars," who, he thought, were only waiting for the opportunity to burst into rebellion. These troops are strengthened by bands of organized bandits, which can only with great difficulty be opposed by the Japs, who are unacquainted with the geography of the country.

China as a whole has been almost invincible in the past, although during the last century she has been subjected to some of the most severe attacks by foreign tribes. Her history is not one of conquest, but of being conquered. All the races that have overrun China—the Huns, Mongols, Manchus, Bedouins and Turks—have been assimilated, and their language and customs have merged with the Chinese.

Dr. Kiang expressed the opinion that Japan thinks that she too, by her superior organization and equipment can duplicate the feats of past conquerors, but, he continued, conditions have changed in China during the last half century, for she has awakened to a realization of her nationality. Their language did not even have a name for the nation, so completely did the exist as a world within herself. Chinese troops had always been mercenaries, because the soldier-ship was considered outside, and only the ruling class was willing to fight. That condition is now the reverse is exemplified by

UNDERTAKER IN COURT ACTION RE AMBULANCE

F. W. Lord Claims $950 from Denis Lemay, of Lake Megantic, Over Rental of Ambulance—Matter Taken En Delibere

In the Superior Court before Mr. Justice Charles D. White yesterday, the case of F. W. Lord, of this city, against Denis Lemay, of Lake Megantic, was taken en delibere. The local undertaker, in his declaration, alleged that in June, 1928, he and the defendant had entered into a mixed contract of lease and sale by which he leased an ambulance to Lemay for one year. At the expiration of the lease, the defendant was to have the option of returning the vehicle or of purchasing it at the contract price of $950, the price to be paid within a year of the date of sale. At the end of the year-period, Mr. Lord claimed, the ambulance was not returned, and by the terms of the pact, the car changed ownership.

The plaintiff asserted that the Lake Megantic man had accepted delivery and remained in possession until June, 1930, when the purchase price became due and exigible. During the first week of June, 1930, Lemay, according to the declaration, deposited the ambulance on Lord's property without the plaintiff's permission. Mr. Lord contended that he did not accept delivery and placed the car in storage at the defendant's own risk and cost. A few days later, he wrote Mr. Lemay by registered letter requesting the latter to remove the ambulance from Lord's premises.

In conclusion, Mr. Lord asked that the contract be declared good and valid and that the defendant be ordered to pay him $950, without prejudice of any other claims the plaintiff may have under the contract.

Giving his version of the agreement, Mr. Lemay pleaded that the terms of the pact were that he would pay the license fees, keep the ambulance in good condition, accept all responsibility for damages and pay for the use of the machine. The defendant pleaded that during the first week of June, 1929, he approached the plaintiff and informed him that he wished to return the vehicle. At that time, according to the plea, Mr. Lord offered him the ambulance for another year under the same conditions, explaining that there would be no additional expense other than mentioned in the original contract.

In March, 1930, Mr. Lemay alleged that he saw the plaintiff's representative, J. W. Blake, and told him that he would return the ambulance because he wanted to discontinue this service. Mr. Blake told him not to spend any money but to await the plaintiff's instructions because it was probable that Mr. Lord would advise him to discard the ambulance because he, Mr. Lord, would have no further use for it. Later, he wrote of his intention of discontinuing this service, Mr. Lemay said, but received no answer from the plaintiff and on June 8, 1930, he returned the car, which was accepted by Mr. Blake who was satisfied with its condition.

On the same day, he met Mr. Lord and arranged a rendez-vous to draw up a settlement. The plaintiff failed to appear, however, and on his return home Mr. Lemay offered the plaintiff a certified cheque for $55.53, half of the profit he had made during the two years. This cheque was returned as insufficient and the defendant pleaded that the Court consider his offer as adequate compensation.

In answer to the plea, Mr. Lord contended that his assistant had no authority to act in this matter and asked that his original demand for $950 be upheld.

events in Shanghai, where the 19th Army was forced by the people to fight, against the commands of the government. In conclusion, Dr. Kiang-Hu mentioned the far-reaching effects this Oriental disturbance must have and maintained that it is incumbent upon all western nations to protect their own interests by preventing the domination of China by Japan.

The speaker was introduced and thanked by the Rev. Dr. McGree, principal of the University, who added his gratification at the rise of the study of Oriental culture and customs in Canada.

Among the many delightful festivities arranged in honor of the 1932 graduating class of the Sherbrooke Hospital Training School for Nurses, the culminating event took place last evening, when the Sherbrooke Hospital and the Alumnae Association entertained at dinner at the New Sherbrooke. The hostesses were Miss H. S. Buck, Miss V. Beane, Miss A. Deardon, Miss D. Ingraham and Miss Rogers, with Mrs. Nelson Lothrop and members of the Alumnae Association. Miss Buck, president of the Hospital, and Mrs. Nelson Lothrop, president of the Alumnae Association, received and dinner was served in the private dining room.

Chairs were laid for forty-four, the table arranged with flowers charmingly done with golden tulips and purple hyacinths in low yellow pottery bowls, many lighted yellow candles and dainty place cards decorated in the hospital's colors of purple and gold. Miss Buck and Mr. Lothrop, with the members of the graduating class were seated at the head table, the president of the Alumnae Association giving the address of welcome to the guests of honor.

The programme included community singing, which was led by Miss Alice Sangster acting as accompanist, proved very popular and greatly enhanced the enjoyment, creating as it did an atmosphere of camaraderie which permeated the gathering throughout the entire evening. Songs by Mrs. Mackenzie, Mackay delighted everyone, Miss Sangster again acting as accompanist.

The only toast was to the "1932 Class," proposed by Mrs. Gordon Mackay and responded to by Miss Olive Symons. Regret was expressed at the absence of Miss Violet Wheeler, one of the graduates, who was obliged to leave in the afternoon for Montreal to complete a special course at the Royal Victoria Hospital, with which the Sherbrooke Hospital is affiliated. The happy and successful banquet closed with God Save the King.

After dinner the members of the graduating class were guests of Miss Buck at the Granada Theatre.

AT THE CITY HALL

All the excitement at the City Hall these days is taking place behind the closed doors of the committee room. Last night the aldermen met to select the chairmen and members of the various municipal committees. All was not sunshine, according to the rumors which have come from the secret chamber.

There is understood to be considerable rivalry over who will be who. One or two even-agers have been heard to have their caps set on some of the more important committees, apparently forgetting there are older and more experienced men in the Council.

The gas and electric committee is providing the greatest amount of speculation. Alderman Langis will, in all probability, bring on to the finance committee. That will eliminate any rivalry for this committee, which is the most important of all. Now that ex-Alderman Forest has become Mayor, the gas and electric committee is without a chairman. Herein centers all the trouble.

Last night's meeting proved to be a rather brisk one, so old Dame Rumor insinuated. Efforts this morning to get anyone in "the inner circle" to say anything were not successful. All that one civic representative would say was "the matter is not settled yet."

Monday's inaugural meeting of the new Council promises to be a rather quiet affair. The meeting will be opened by the retiring Mayor, but as soon as Mayor-elect Forest has been sworn in he will take the chair and begin his two-year term.

The retiring Mayor was encountered at the City Hall this morning. He appeared to be in a most jovial mood. After his term of office has expired and he has more time on his hands he expects to enjoy some good fishing. There is no doubt but that during the past two years he has been on the job continually, and has devoted much time to the interests of the city.

HOUE LIKELY TO RESIGN AS LEADER SOON

Aime Guertin's Visit to Montreal Today Expected to Have Bearing on Latest Conservative Activities.

Members of the Conservative party throughout the province will follow with close interest the meeting in Montreal today between Aime Guertin, M.L.A., for Hull and whip of the Conservative party at the Legislature, and the former house leader, Camille Houde, also one-time Mayor of Montreal.

Just what the meeting will bring forth is hard to say. One thing is certain, Mr. Houde will have to hand over his resignation as provincial leader before very long, because he has no grounds for argument. In the first place he has no seat in the Legislature and a leader without a seat is just not according to Houle. Again the defeat which he suffered in the recent Montreal municipal elections shows that the people have taken the trouble to end his public career for him.

Because of the present circumstances, it is a foregone conclusion that his resignation will be accepted without delay, so as to allow the party to take measures, in view of the necessity of having a permanent leader in the Legislature at the next session.

Whether this will be done through a convention or not remains to be seen. A prominent member of the party in the Legislature, who refuses to let his name be made public, expressed the opinion that with provincial elections three or four years distant, there was no necessity for a convention to be held just now. The elected members of the party, in his opinion, could very well assemble, accept the resignation of Mr. Houde, and choose immediately another leader from among them, or even from the outside.

Whatever happens, it seems certain that the party will organize a series of regional mass meetings through the province, in order to make better known its policies, and present constructive criticism on those followed by the present Government.

If a new outside leader is chosen in the meanwhile, this will afford him an excellent occasion to present himself to the people, it is said. Furthermore, he might well be a candidate in the vacant seat of Jacques Cartier, whom the Government thinks fit to order an election.

It is believed that all danger of further flood damage has been averted.

This drop in the river level did not come any too soon, as damage running into tens of thousands of dollars had been done as bridges were washed away, farms inundated and railway and highway traffic disrupted.

With the change in the weather, however, inhabitants of the district are hoping that spring will soon come in earnest and that summer will not be far behind.

Mrs. Briggs—Yes, most of the servants are as independent and as impertinent as they can be! Now, I believe it's best to take a young country girl and train her in the way she should go, and then— Mrs. Briggs—And then she goes!

TOM BARRY SWUNG ABOARD WITH HIS BRIDE IN HIS ARMS, BUT THE JOY OF REUNION WITH HIS UNCLE WAS CUT SHORT AS...

THERE WAS NO TIME TO PREPARE A DEFENSE. THE SAVAGES SWARMED TO THE DECK OF CAPTAIN BARRY'S BOAT.

APPLETON CASE PITIFUL; YOUNG MAN PENNILESS

Admits He Is in the "Toughest Spot of His Life" — Friends Take Up Subscription to Obtain Money for Lawyer.

In spite of the fact that the crime for which he stands accused was a terrible affair, according to his own confession to the police authorities, with none of the hideousness offset by any plea of self-defence, there is something decidedly pitiful in the case of Frederick Appleton, who is charged with the murder of Alberic Couture, forty-one year old resident of Milby, who was battered to death in his home on Monday night, April 4th.

Appleton's character contains in its very simplicity, as characters sometimes do, complex traits that one at first fails utterly to understand and finally attributes to human nature for want of a better analysis. It is difficult to say whether or not Freddy Appleton quite realizes the seriousness of being charged with murder, and the seriousness of having confessed that he killed a man because he was in a blind rage.

When paid a visit at the prison by a reporter from the Record, yesterday afternoon, he expressed a different appearance from that when he testified at the coroner's inquest in Milby last week. His face, which had then possessed a three days' growth of beard, was clean shaven, and his hair, then dishevelled, was neatly combed.

"Yes, I know I'm in a tough spot," he said, and his voice did not contain the glumness one would have expected. "It's the toughest spot I've ever been in, and the toughest I'll ever be in, I guess. It looks hopeless—I'll be pretty lucky if I get off."

Asked if the matter worried him, he flashed that characteristic sudden smile, revealing firm teeth. "No, I'm not worried, I'm not discouraged. I really don't care much..."

An immigrant from England, Appleton has few close friends in this district, where he has lived since coming over from the Old Country in 1929. His father and mother are dead, his father passing on when he was very young and his mother when he was twenty-four, and he has no brothers or sisters. Today, Appleton, twenty-eight years old, finds himself in the most critical situation of his life—penniless, with only a few staunch friends, and even these unable to do very much to help him.

Some of these friends have started a subscription in town in order to raise sufficient money to obtain a lawyer to defend the boy. It is the latest that they can do.

Appleton is confined during the day time in a cell with five other prisoners, and as yet the monotony of prison existence has not affected him. Occasionally a friend comes to see him, but as a rule, he is left very much alone. He has no one to send him the thoughtful packages of fruit and delicacies which mean so much to a man in prison—and which his companions in jail, incarcerated for minor offences, receive occasionally.

Appleton was born in Aldershot, England, and received very little education. His father was poor, and he was obliged to go to work at an early age to support her. Later, he joined the East Yorkshire Regiment, infantry division, where he served for well nigh onto eight years. During his stay in the army he travelled to various parts of the world—and it was then that he gained his experience as a boxer. He came to Canada in 1929, lured by the desire to see the country and experience a change. He had about sixty pounds sterling when he came across, and upon his arrival secured employment in Sherbrooke.

Those people who knew Appleton liked him, and cannot account for the sudden rashness that led him to kill Couture. He often appeared in the boxing ring here, and was known for the manner in which he could "take" punishment. He was not rated extremely high as a scientific boxer, but he had the grit and backbone.

Appleton, who was very much a victim of circumstances. He had been working for almost a year for practically nothing, merely his board and lodging, in fact, and had secured employment with Alberic Couture, garage keeper at Milby, where he was supposed to receive, apart from his board and lodging, the small remuneration of one dollar a week. It was a little sum, but it meant a lot to Appleton, who had been working for nothing for so long.

Appleton admits that he killed Couture in a rage, following an argument over the paltry sum of two dollars. Appleton claims, however, that Couture first tried to attack him.

"When I read and heard about it, I realized what a terrible thing I had done," said Appleton. He was arrested in Sherbrooke on the night following the crime. He had not even tried to escape the law.

Appleton will appear before the district magistrate on Wednesday, when he will be given his preliminary hearing.

Meanwhile, he counts the hours as they slip by. He has no lawyer, no money and few friends who take an active interest in what becomes of him. He is alone, in the "toughest spot of his life," and all he can do is wait.

In the same prison where he is confined, Adelard Dube is awaiting his trial on a charge of murdering Rene Malloy, of Norton Mills. Vezina Dube is awaiting his sentence, having been convicted of manslaughter in connection with the Malloy slaying.

MANY PROTESTS HEARD ABOUT BUS SERVICE

Citizens of Opinion, After New Means of Transportation Has Been Given Fair Trial, That Street Cars Afford Best Accommodation.

The question of transportation, one of the most important and perplexing problems which confront the world, today continued to be an issue of major importance to citizens of Sherbrooke. Over three months ago one of this city's premier enterprises, the Sherbrooke Street Railway, ceased operations, and since that time automobiles have attempted to serve the public. As time goes by the question arises whether the City Council, the representatives of people to whom the administration of civic affairs is entrusted, acted wisely or not by introducing this system to supplant the old-established and reliable street cars.

It will be remembered that in the discussions which preceded this move, considerable consideration was accorded to many angles of the situation, but at present it seems that the sponsors of the new project did not foresee some of the difficulties which have arisen since the middle of January when the first autobus made its appearance on the city streets. Lengthy negotiations and prolonged private sessions were held, and the outcome was that the new method would be adopted, although in various sections of the city sentiment did not favor the abolishment of the trolley. Many valuable protests were raised, but they found no support from the City Fathers.

At the present time, the opening of the motorist and tourist season, another question rears its head, the maintenance of streets and roads over which the huge automobiles run. Complaints are heard daily in connection with the condition in which the different thoroughfares find themselves on account of the unaccustomed weight which the road beds have had to bear. Motorists voice their disapproval over a "wash-board" state of the routes and local officials are beginning to think that the valuable tourist trade will be adversely affected unless adequate measures are made before the advent of the summer season.

Some streets in the north ward, especially Ontario street, have already plainly show the worse for wear and Wellington street presents a mass of holes. A short time ago, service was suspended along this street, and Victoria street is now used.

It would be interesting to the rate payers were a qualified road engineer to compute the damage being done to the streets by the heavy vehicles. It would perhaps be estimated, should such a survey be undertaken, that the total cost to the city would aggregate a considerable sum which could have been contributed to the street railway cause to keep this thirty-five-year-old industry in operation and relieve the unemployment situation which was at its lowest level when the seventy-five employees were thrown out of work.

Overcrowding of the busses has aggravated instead of remedying this situation. This fact was particularly apparent during the hockey season. In many cases, persons desiring to go to either of the hospitals were obliged to go to the Arena first and allow the hockey supporters to disembark before they were given an opportunity of reaching their destination. One incident particularly occurred one Sunday afternoon when a woman and young child, after waiting over half an hour for a bus, wished to get off at the corner of King street and Bowen avenue. The bell to advise the driver was out of order and no heed was given to her appeal. She was obliged to go to the Arena and back along Murray street, wasting half an hour, before the vehicle finally reached the place she wished to get off.

During the waning winter months and early spring, the destruction to the roads is most noticeable, and the numerous fissures in the pavement make motoring decidedly disagreeable.

The unemployment situation is another important phase of the plan apparently overlooked by the foster fathers of this scheme. Little consideration was given to the effect the removal of the street cars would have on Sherbrooke's army of unemployed. Seventy-five families found the bread winner thrown out of work, with no experience to start in other lines if any positions had been available. The distress, instead of being alleviated, has been augmented. And to operate the busses, taxi drivers, who maintained their taxi service during their spare hours, apparently overlooked by the foster were taken on, it is claimed. The situation is all the more contrasting when one considers that some of the bus drivers are virtually holding two positions, while their less-fortunate brethren walk the streets in search of work.

Service is another point which has been drawing sharp criticism. One could always rely on the street car to arrive home at a reasonable time for supper. Now, the delays experienced at the terminal on the corner of King and Wellington streets makes the house wife peevish when hubby comes home with "I took the bus home." On Sundays the half-hour service aggravates matters beyond human patience, according to many citizens.

Now that a fair trial has been afforded the busses, protests from numerous quarters condemn the new style of travel and advocate the return of the street car. The tracks are still imbedded and little time would be wasted should a suitable entente be made between the City and the Street Railway Company and the trolleys put back into operation for the benefit of the masses.

SOVIET RUSSIA CANNOT FOLLOW ITS PROGRAMME

Three Most Important Basic Industries, Coal, Metals and Transportation, Fail to Keep Pace With Five Year Plan.

Moscow, April 16.—Soviet Russia's three most important basic industries, coal, metals and transportation, are failing to keep pace with the programme for the final year of the five year plan, the newspaper Izvestia said today.

The admission was made in connection with the publication of an announcement the railroad transport plan for the first quarter of this year was only eighty-six per cent complete.

During the last few days the paper announced coal production for the first quarter was only 86.9 per cent of the goal set for the final year of the plan and disappointingly slow development of metallurgical production in the Urals had resulted in a shortage of steel which threatened the production of machinery and manufacturing plants. These plants also are suffering from a scarcity of fuel.

Freight loadings for the first quarter of this year were given by the newspaper as 67,000,000 tons. This represents an increase of thirty-two per cent over the same period last year, but it is fourteen per cent over the goal set by the plan.

ST. HYACINTHE DENTIST LOSES COURT ACTION

Superior Court Awards Woman Patient $600 Damages Against Dr. Antoine Bernier—Original Claim Reduced.

St. Hyacinthe, April 16.—Damages to the extent of $600 were awarded to Miss Georgienne Saint Ange, of St. Pie de Bagot, against Dr. Antoine Bernier, dentist of St. Hyacinthe, in a Superior Court judgment rendered yesterday by Mr. Justice Arthur Trahan.

The plaintiff claimed that on May 11, 1930, she had gone to Dr. Bernier's office at St. Pie, where he practised, to have a tooth extracted. The work was done but the plaintiff claims that it was badly done and the piece of the tooth remained in her gum with the result that later she was taken ill and forced to give up her position at Granby. Later, plaintiff claimed she was obliged, because of her illness from this cause, to enter hospital for prolonged treatment. She sued for $2,068.50 damages, representing loss of wages, cost of hospital treatment, medical attendance and reduced earning capacity.

The case was heard here on March 9 by Mr. Justice Trahan who took the case on deliberation. At the time Doctors L. J. H. Page, Jean Morin and A. Bedard, all of St. Hyacinthe, testified in favor of the plaintiff, while Dr. Eudore Dubouche, dean of the dental faculty of the University of Montreal, and Dr. T. A. Cote, professor at the Dental School, were witnesses for the defendant.

Yesterday the court gave judgment in favor of the plaintiff but reduced the sum to $600 with costs of the case.

CANADIAN INDUSTRIES, LTD., ARE DESIGNING NEW PLANT

New Plant, Which Will Be Built at Copper Cliff, Ont., Marks New Progress and Development in Industrial Life of Canada.

The chemists and engineers of Canadian Industries, Limited, are at present actively engaged in designing a commercial plant to be built at Copper Cliff, Ontario, to produce sodium and aluminum sulphates. These chemicals are to be recovered from waste slag by a new process developed by Canadian Industries, Limited. A sufficient quantity of slag is produced at the International Nickel Mine to allow approximately 15,000 tons of sodium sulphate and 25,000 tons of aluminum sulphate to be reclaimed annually.

Copper and nickel sulphides are found in the same ore body at the International Nickel property. To separate these two minerals that company uses the Orford process which leaves as a waste product a slag rich in soda and alumina which can now be treated with a cheap sulphuric acid to produce sodium and aluminum sulphates. The sulphuric acid which will be used in the process is being made by Canadian Industries, Limited, from smelter fumes which formerly were going to waste in the air.

The great difficulty in converting this waste slag into valuable chemicals has been in securing the separation of the sulphates in a pure state. Chemists of Canadian Industries, Limited, have been working on the problem for some time. Now they have perfected a process by which soda and alumina can be readily and completely separated and the sulphates recovered in a very pure form. In addition, the copper nickel values in the slag remain in the residue and are there in sufficient concentration that they may be returned to the International Nickel Company's process.

MOVEMENTS OF CATTLE HEAVY IN PAST WEEK

Largest Shipment in Recent Weeks Brought Total for Week to 619 Head—West Supplies Large Proportion.

Ottawa, April 16.—Cattle shipments overseas increased this week with a shipment of 619 head, the largest of the season, from St. John to Birkenhead, England, the Department of Agriculture reported in the weekly livestock review last night. The shipment included seventeen carloads from Alberta and four from Manitoba.

From the British market report the sale of part of a recent Canadian shipment, on the Manchester Commerce, at from eight and one-half pence to eight and three-quarters pence per pound, dressed weight. Further price improvement was indicated. There was a better tone to domestic trade this week, partly on account of smaller run.

Toronto showed the greatest strength, advancing 10 to 25 cents on steer classes with a top price of $7. Montreal advanced to $6.12. Western markets were higher and more active. Calf markets were stronger.

Lamb markets advanced, touching a top of $8 at Toronto for choice, with spring lambs at $9. Other markets had prices ranging from $5 to $6.50. Hog markets were unsettled with trade indifferent.

STOCKS TURNED HEAVY ON NEW YORK MARKET TODAY

New York, April 16.—After making further progress on the recovery stocks turned moderately heavy today, but trading became very dull. Leaders which had sold up from reaction to about two points more met their advances. American Telephone was again a heavy spot. Although some pressure had appeared against Coca Cola and Auburn, the last named selling under 40. Shares fell to 1 1/2 on the decline included Standard Oils of New Jersey and California, U. S. Steel, Allied Chemical, Union Pacific and American Can. People's Gas lost part of an extreme 2 1/2 point advance.

can Government. He admitted that the city of Montreal is much concerned in the matter of securing delay for the completion of the relief works programme.

The same situation developed last spring, when both Montreal and the city of Sherbrooke were obliged to ask Ottawa, and, as a necessary complement to that request, also ask Quebec to extend the delay for completion of works until July 1st.

Mr. Francœur was pleased to note that the bridge across the Richelieu river at Sorel, and that across the Yamaska river, are both being rapidly completed. They will be completed in the course of the present year, that at Sorel in the early summer. The work on the Island of Orleans bridge has not moved ahead as rapidly as hoped due to suspensions because of ice conditions. The Coughnawaga bridge, connecting the Island of Montreal with the mainland south shore, so as to link up the rich agricultural counties of Chateauguay and Huntingdon with the industrial centre, is another of the bridges planned, as well as one over the St. Francis river at St. Francois du Lac and Pierreville.

BRITISH CURRENCIES IRREGULAR

New York, April 16.—British currencies were irregular during early trading today on local foreign exchange. The Canadian dollar eased one-eighth on one per cent to 89 1/2 cents in United States funds, while the pound sterling advanced half a cent to $3.77.

STOCK MARKETS SENSITIVE TO GRAIN PRICES

Improvement in Stock Prices as Week Closed Relieved Position Rapidly Becoming Untenable.

Toronto, April 16.—A ray of hope penetrated the clouded financial sky when stocks, bonds and grain prices advanced on leading markets this week.

The recovery movement on Canadian stock exchanges was a mild affair compared with the extent of the recent decline, but it was the first respite from weeks of incessant liquidation and afforded a welcome relief to traders whose speculative position was, in some cases, becoming untenable.

The condition was not entirely corrected by the week's recovery tendency, since there was no perceptible improvement in the stock market situation until Thursday, and even at that time business developments were not striking. At the same time there was no incident that demonstrated the need of official information regarding company affairs at a time of uncertainty. Page Hersey Tubes was under severe selling pressure and dropped to a new low of 36 on the Toronto Stock Exchange. Part of the liquidation was attributed to nervous, and in some instances, forced selling, but on the publication of reassuring news concerning the company's current business the stock rebounded to 45 1/2 and closed the week at 43 compared with 44 1/2 last week.

The Canadian security markets were again influenced largely by tendencies in New York stocks, and in the first half of the week prices moved downward at Toronto and Montreal. When a mild rally occurred under short covering in New York on Thursday, the improvement on Dominion markets was immediate, and the upward movement was continued in irregular fashion through Friday's session. There were many causes for the improved demand for securities, but the most important in Canada was the prospect that wheat crops are likely to be sharply curtailed as a result of drought conditions in North American areas. Wheat prices advanced and, notwithstanding on Friday, the prevailing sentiment of traders toward wheat was bullish. Other commodities were somewhat irregular, but firmness in New York bond prices, the growing impression that European and particularly English conditions are improving, and the hope that enlarged export trade may result from the forthcoming Imperial Conference were all underlying factors in the Canadian situation.

Economic authorities were also more hopeful of the future, believing that replacement buying of commodities and manufactured goods may develop as one of the first signs of returning business activity.

Among the leaders of the recovery on Canadian stock exchanges late in the week were Shelters, Noranda, C.P.R., International Nickel and Walkers. On the other hand, Ford of Canada "A" failed to respond to the general improvement, closing the week at 10. A loss of $3,000,000 in surplus of the company during the last year was announced on Friday night, but despite that news the shares at 10 were 1-4 net higher than their price of a week ago.

International Nickel, C.P.R., and Smelters moved within narrow price limits, Nickel closing at 7 compared with 6 1/2 last week, while C.P.R. at 15 was two points net higher for the week, and Smelters at 39 showed a loss of only 5-8. Brazilian Traction had to face the announcement that the current dividend will be paid in stocks, yet the shares were firm at the close of the week with last sales on Friday at 1-4 point for the week. It was this quiet strength in the market leaders that made the week's market impressive and, to some extent, perhaps, significant.

Walkers old stock disappeared from trading last Monday, but there was no marked display of interest in the new stock which ceased to be numbered among the leaders in point of activity. The closing price of Walkers on Friday of 3 1/2 compared with 3 1/4 a week ago. Dominion Stores at 16 3/4 was below last week's level. Steel of Canada at 16 was fractionally higher and reflected the moderately improved sentiment towards steels, while Noranda strengthened late in the week to close at $16.50, up 50 cents.

The oils fulfilled their traditional function of mirroring the prevailing trend of industrial. News of the oil industry is not over-looked, particularly the firmness of gasoline prices in the United States middle west and the south-western states this week, but as a group Canadian oil issues have long been sensitive to the industrial market's trend and they have not yet achieved independence of that influence. British American Oil this week sold down to a new low of 8 1-2, but closed at 9 1-8, unchanged, while International Petroleum declined from 9 1-2 to

QUEBEC CAGERS ASSUME LEAD IN PLAY-OFFS

Quebec City Representatives Defeated the Moncton Pawnees, Maritime Champions, in First Fixture of Intermediate Semi-Final Series by 35 to 28.

Quebec, April 16.—With a 35 to 28 victory over the Moncton Pawnees, Quebec Canadian Nationals today stand one rung higher in the climb to the Dominion intermediate basketball championship. After a first half that stood eleven-all last night, the Quebec and Ottawa champions took a sharply contested victory from the Maritime champions.

Both teams put on a splendid exhibition of combination and shooting, and the game was regarded as one of the best cage exhibitions ever played here. It was the first of the two-game semi-finals. The second game will be played tonight. Total points decided the winner. The survivor will meet London, Ont., Y.M.C.A. at London in the final round.

At the end of the first half, there was nothing to indicate which way the game would go. In the second, however, the open style of the Quebec boys gave them sufficient advantage to gain a seven-point lead.

The Quebec star was Dave Walker, snappy center, who ran up thirteen points. Van Buskirk and Trites, of the Pawnees, were outstanding on their team, scoring twelve and eleven points, respectively.

SHERBROOKE BOY ELECTED CAPTAIN OF COLLEGE SQUAD

Sackville, April 16.—Norman Welsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Welsh, of Sherbrooke, Que., is upholding the prestige of the Queen City of the Eastern Townships as a sporting centre. Welsh, who captained the Sherbrooke High School basketball squad to a provincial championship in 1930-31, will pilot the Mount Allison cagers next year in their attempt to retain the Maritime crown they captured this season.

The popular Sherbrooke athlete is also vice-president of the Students' Union and president of the sophomore class, and has been a member of the Mountie quintette for the past two years.

DIVISIONAL SEMI-FINALS FOR CANADIAN SENIOR CAGE CROWN

Toronto, April 16.—Eastern and western semi-finalists in the senior Canadian basketball series will be crowned tonight in Montreal and Saskatoon, where the second games of total-score series are to be played.

Raymond Union Jacks, senior monarchs of Alberta and conquerors of Westminster Adanacs, British Columbia titleholders, carry a thirty-four-point lead into their final game with University of Saskatchewan for the far western title. From advance notices, the Raymond quintette are a speedy and accurate-shooting squad, and should easily capture the round from the varsity band.

In the east, Windsor-Walkerville Alumni stand out as the team to meet Saint John Trojans, Maritime champions. Earning a twelve-point lead on their home floor on Thursday, the Windsor squad will carry their lead into the second game with Montreal Fusiliers. Although their lead is not sufficient to earn the Quebec-Ontario championship, they can be relied on to protect their margin, as they are a hard-checking outfit.

No Greta Gray is listed in Minneapolis city directories. Mrs. W. A. Butler, of Minneapolis, aunt of Col. Lindbergh, said she knew of no Greta Gray among friends of the Lindbergh family.

Last night a brilliant flare on the Lindbergh estate lighted the countryside. "It was an old magnesium light which it was thought would not burn any more," said a police statement. "It burned. There is no significance to this."

HAVE FAILED TO DATE TO LOCATE FLEISCHER

Boston, Mass., April 16.—Customs and immigration officers searched in vain today among the passengers of the British steamer Fernfield, which arrived here from Halifax, N.S., for Harry Fleischer, alleged member of the Detroit "Purple" gang, who is wanted for questioning in the Lindbergh kidnapping case.

Although a search was made at Halifax for Fleischer by authorities there, the Government officials here decided to search the vessel again and scrutinized the disembarking passengers.

9 1-4 and Imperial Oil is slightly lower at 8 1-8 compared with 8 1-2 last week. Mining issues as a group followed much the same movements as the industrial list in Canada, golds and base metals alike reflecting the cautious and somewhat uncertain attitude of traders.

SOVIETS NOT BLAMED FOR TRAIN WRECK NEAR HARBIN

Tokyo, April 16.—In official quarters here today it was intimated the Japanese Government at present believes Soviet Russia was in no way responsible for the train wreck at Harbin, Manchuria, this week in which fourteen Japanese soldiers were killed and a number injured.

Although the cause of the wreck was still unknown, the belief prevailed the perpetrators were probably "white" Russians who hoped to embroil Japan with the Soviets, or else Chinese followers of Marshal Chang Hsiao-Liang.

Despatches to local newspapers from Harbin said Julius Rudy, Soviet General Manager of the Chinese eastern railway, had proposed a joint investigation of the wreck by Soviet and Japanese authorities and that the Japanese agreed to this proposal.

Quebec, April 16.—Approval of a system of direct relief for unemployment, with the recommendation that the Federal Government adopt such a system, has been given by Premier L. A. Taschereau.

PHILLIES NOW EXPECT PLACE AMONG LEADERS

Sudden Development of Don Hurst into Aggressive Player Gives Philadelphia Hopes of First Division—Humbled the Giants a Second Time.

New York, April 16.—Burt Shotton leads his Phillies out of the National League wilderness this season, and he threatens to, one of the chief reasons perhaps will be the sudden development of Don Hurst into an aggressive player with real enthusiasm for the game. Despite great natural advantages, Hurst's value to the club has been lessened by an apparent lack of spirit and fire. For four years he had been a steady worker at first base for the Phils, but an uninspired one. Now he has become one of the big driving forces on a team firmly convinced it is going somewhere this year. Shotton's men regard a first division berth as a virtual certainty.

Hurst was one of the big stars in the Phillies' victory over the Athletics in the city series and yesterday he pounded out a home run with the bases filled in the eighth inning to give the Phils their second straight victory over the proud New York Giants by seven to six. It was typical of the new Phillies that they made every hit count and played head-up baseball all the way. Carl Hubbell had held them to five hits in seven innings when they filled the bases and gave Hurst his chance for the knockout punch.

Hack Wilson's first home run of the year, coming with two on base in the seventh, broke up a pitchers' duel between Bill Clark and Tom Zachary, and gave the Brooklyn Dodgers an easy eight to two triumph over the Boston Braves. At St. Louis the World Champion Cardinals battered Pittsburgh pitching for fifteen hits, ten for extra bases, yet failed to avert a nine to seven defeat. The Pirates used good judgment in bunting most of their hits for seven runs in the fourth inning. Lon Warneke, rookie pitcher, scattered Cincinnati's eight hits and Chicago coasted in to an easy eight to two victory. Pitchers dominated the American League schedule except at Philadelphia, where the New York Yankees and Athletics put on another slugging duel that finally went to the A's in the ninth inning by nine to eight. Fox and Cochrane hit homers for the A's and Gehrig got his second of the season for the Yankees.

"Bumps" Hadley held the St. Louis Browns to seven hits and fanned ten as the Chicago White Sox, a vastly improved array, won a thirteen-inning struggle by four to three, when Carey Selph singled with the bases filled. Monte Weaver made his American League debut for the Washington Senators and blanked the Boston Red Sox on four hits by two to nothing. Earl Whitehill, veteran right-hander of the Detroit Tigers, held the Cleveland Indians to three hits, but it took a ninth-inning rally to win for the Tigers by three to two.

MONTREAL AND TORONTO BREAK INTO WINNING

Toronto, April 16.—Canada's two hopes in the International League, the Montreal Royals and the Toronto Maple Leafs, finally have crashed into the winning column. Montreal, however, owes a decided vote of thanks to the Reading Keys. Without the aid of eight Reading errors, the Royals hardly could have hoped to have won yesterday sixteen to eleven comedy. Toronto, on the other hand, clearly earned its eight to one triumph over the Newark Bears.

Clarence Rowland, Reading manager, perhaps will be excused if he voices a desire not to see any more games such as he was forced to witness yesterday. Of Reading's eight errors, Jay Partridge, second baseman, contributed four. In fact, Jay seemed to be doing his best to strike a nice balance between runs he drove in and runs he permitted Montreal to score. He clouted two home runs and a single, and thus accounted for five Reading tallies. Ripple was Montreal's leading batsman, driving in four runs with a homer, double and single. Toronto banged Don Brennan for twelve hits in seven innings and won in a walk. Newark's slugging line-up was virtually helpless in the face of Art Smith's expert elbowing. Smith granted only five hits and would have had a shutout had he kept the home run ball away from Jesse Hill, Newark outfielder.

Buffalo and Rochester were the other winners yesterday. Buffalo collected fourteen hits, including five home runs, off Cascarella, Tauscher and Smythe, and walloped Baltimore by eight to four. Detroit, Tucker and Carnegie hit successive homers in the fifth, and Tucker and Werber added another pair in the ninth. Baltimore's eight hits off Harrison and Brewer included circuit clouts by McGowan and Packard.

Puccinelli's two home runs in the first and second innings gave Rochester an early lead over Jersey City, and the champions finally won by twelve to seven. Ray Starr, making his first start of the year, was touched for ten hits, including homers by Layne, Moore and Clancy, but he worked only as hard as he had to.

HOME RUN STANDING

Home runs recorded yesterday were: Fox, Athletics, 1; Cochran, Athletics, 1; Gehrig, Yankees, 1; Wilson, Dodgers, 1; Collins, Cardinals, 1; Hunt, Phillies, 1. The leaders in the circuit clout division are: Ruth, Yankees, 2; Byrd, Yankees, 2; Gehrig, Yankees, 2; Fox, Athletics, 2; Collins, Cardinals, 2. The league totals are: American 14; National 5. Grand total, 19.
