STEADY ADVANCE OF JAPANESE.

Everywhere the Russians are Being Forced to Fall Back.

JAP LINES CLOSE TO PORT ARTHUR.

Two Columns Moving Against the Fortress—Fleet Aids Operations—Torpedo Boat Attack.

New Chwang, July 12.—(Special.) — Chinese coming in from the country report that the Russians are everywhere retiring before the Japanese who are soon expected here.

Active preparations are being made for the defence at Ta Tche Kiao.

ATTACK AT PORT ARTHUR.

Tokio, July 12.—(Special.)—Admiral Togo reports that at midnight July 11th, torpedo boats approached Port Arthur and attacked Guardship Diana with torpedoes. The result of the attack has not been ascertained. The Japanese boats returned undamaged.

OPERATIONS AGAINST PORT ARTHUR.

Tokio, July 12.—At Port Arthur the Japanese are evidently advancing in two columns, one moving against the east from Dalny, the other on the central road, from Kimun. The former, assisted by the navy, is said to have captured, July 4, Miaotsui, for mounting light guns, which affords a good emplacement for bombarding the eastern section of the defences. The Japanese casualties are heavy. The second column is now concentrating against Shuishying, which being the cardinal outwork, four miles north of Port Arthur, is strongly fortified and probably will be the scene of a fierce struggle.

DALNY RESTORED.

Dalny is now in a prosperous condition. Order has been completely established and commerce is brisk. The Chinese have returned, but the water works are not yet restored. The wharves have been repaired, but access is impeded by the hulls of fourteen small steamers, and there are still mines in the bay.

ATTACKED THE ASKOLD.

Tokio, July 12.—Admiral Togo reports an effectual attempt to reconnoitre the harbor of Port Arthur on Saturday morning, in the fog, one of the Japanese torpedo boats sighted the Russian cruiser Askold at anchor under Golden Hill and attacked her with unknown results. The batteries opened a hot fire and two non-commissioned officers were wounded.

JAPS REPULSED.

Che Foo, July 12.—A European who left Port Arthur on Sunday at 5 p. m., says that the Japanese made an attack with torpedo boats at 1 o'clock Sunday morning and attempted to penetrate the harbor. They were repulsed without loss on either side. The Russians admit that over 1,700 wounded have arrived at Port Arthur, since Friday, and that many more are to come.

FORESHADOWS ACTION.

Tokio, July 12.—The foreign attaches assigned to the second Japanese army have been informed that they are to leave for the front on or about July 20. It is believed that the newspaper correspondents with the second army will leave about July 23rd.

APPROACHES CLIMAX.

Washington, July 12.—It is suspected here that the Japanese campaign in Manchuria, and especially in the direction of Port Arthur is approaching another one of such climaxes as marked the passage of the Yalu. Minister Griscom, at Tokio, has cabled the State Department, as follows:

"It is announced from headquarters of the General Staff that foreign military attaches who have been assigned to accompany the Second Army may go to the front on the 20th instant. Press correspondents a day later."

It is recalled that the Japanese General staff have permitted the newspaper correspondents and attaches to come to the front at such moments as initiated the delivery of a great and carefully planned blow against the enemy.

LATEST TO LONDON.

London, July 12.—4 a.m.—An official admission of the evacuation of Kai Ping is still withheld in St. Petersburg.

According to the Chronicle correspondent at Ying Kow the Russian army deployed in fighting line, was covering Tashichao on July 11, their advance posts being about sixteen miles south of Tashichao. Firing has been heard in that direction. General Kuropatkin's train is in readiness to leave at any moment.

Another Ying Kow despatch states that the Japanese landed at Kaiping unopposedly, and are marching hurriedly to Tashichao, where 4,000 Chinese are digging trenches. Eighteen transports have discharged stores for Uko's army at Helen Bay.

All reports indicate that the Russians are doing their utmost to defend Tashichao, because, it being an important railway junction, its fall would involve the capture of New Chwang, but it is the opinion of experts here that the place cannot be held for more than a few hours, because it is easy to outflank it, and it is expected that it will be evacuated the same as Kai Ping, after so much resistance as General Kuropatkin prescribes.

RADIUM NO CURE.

BRITISH SCIENTISTS REPORT ON CANCER.

London, July 12.—Important discoveries in connection with cancer were announced at the annual meeting of the general committee of the cancer research fund, at which the Prince of Wales presided. Distinguished experts briefly summed up their year's work as follows:

Civilization is not the cause of cancer, which pervades animal as well as human life and attacks all its subjects at relatively the same age and periods. Cancer is not an infectious disease, and is not transmissible from one species to another. A cancer cell can reacquire powers of self-propagation. Cancer is not caused by a parasite. The malady is not on the increase. Radium has been found to exercise no curative effect. A serum has been discovered from which good results are hoped. The first authentic cases of cancer in animals were minutely described by experiments, which had been made on fish and wild mice. The Prince of Wales urged the public to consult surgeons at the first indication of any cancerous symptoms, though the report of the experts said that no sign has yet been discovered by which medical men can surely recognize the presence of cancer.

SHIPS COLLIDE NEAR QUEBEC.

Coaler Verax Wrecked this Morning.

RUN INTO BY DONALDSON LINER ATHENIAN.

Quebec, July 12.—(Special.).—(Special.)—Coaler Verax is lying on the rocks off St. Laurent, Isle of Orleans, with sixteen foot hole in her hull from a collision with the Donaldson liner Athenian.

The collision occurred shortly after midnight.

The Verax tried to cross the river in front of the Athenian to avoid being driven ashore.

A STRANGE STORY.

JAPAN SAID TO HAVE PROTESTED AGAINST RECALL OF ITALIAN ENVOY AT TOKIO.

London, July 12.—The following despatch dated Rome, July 8, was stopped by the Italian Government, but was received here by post.

"Japan has protested against the transfer of the Italian ambassador at Tokio to St. Petersburg, as the Japanese Government has learned that he has been recalled to give satisfaction to Russia, because he is considered to be too friendly towards the Japanese and Japan. Japan intimates that the friends of her enemies may be considered as her own enemies, and suggests that such action might induce her to recall the Japanese ambassador from Rome."

The Italian envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentary to Japan is Signor J. Moltgari, he has had that post at Tokio for the last four years.

CLARK LOSS $100,000.

HIGHER ESTIMATES OF THE ROBBER'S HAUL.

Cooperstown, N.Y., July 12.— The value of the jewels, bond coupons, stock and cash, stolen Thursday from the safe of Alfred Corning Clark estate here will approximate $100,000, according to a statement made by a member of the family. The jewels belong to Mr. and Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark, and comprised her entire outfit of wedding gifts. Detective Davis said that he was satisfied that the job was the work of a professional, who probably secreted himself in the basement of the office. At least $2,000 in cash is said to have been in the iron boxes that were being broken open. In addition there were stocks belonging to Robert Davidson.

STEAMSHIP RATE WAR.

CONFERENCE ENDS WITHOUT A SETTLEMENT.

London, July 11.—The conference between the Board of Trade and the officials of the Cunard and Hamburg-American Steamship Companies, over the rate war ended today with no hope of an agreement being reached for the present. The question of Hungarian emigrants is responsible for the deadlock.

EATON SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS.

Eaton, July 12.—(Special.)—The election of School Commissioners for the school municipality of Eaton was held at Eaton Corner on Monday, 11th inst. The retiring Commissioners H. H. Rogers and H. E. Todd were re-elected by acclamation. A. E. Birdgerre was again elected chairman of the board for the ensuing year. It was decided to repair and paint school house in District No. 6, and a special assessment was levied on said district to pay cost of same. An assessment of 4½ mills on the dollar was levied on the municipality to pay teachers salaries and other expenses for the current year. It was decided to raise teachers salaries one dollar per month.

PARKER STARTED A COLD WAVE.

Telegram Sends Chill Through Southerners.

BUT THIS SHOULD NOT HAVE ANY EFFECT UPON RESULT.

Washington, July 12.—John Wesley Gaines, of Tennessee had been an ardent and original Parker man, visiting him at Esopus, and going back home to plead his cause in the South. Gaines is still a Parker worshipper, but in tones of sadness, he said to a correspondent Saturday night: "I wish I could believe that it was necessary for Judge Parker to send that telegram." John Sharp Williams's speech presenting the answer which was sent to Parker, indicated pretty clearly his regret that the message had come. Tillman was at first furious, and said some very plain things to Mr. Hill. The silver wing of the West was full of threats of bolting. It is notable, however, that Bryan, their leader, was worse beaten on this contest than over any other during the whole convention showing a successive decline in his influence among the delegates, in spite of the admiration of the galleries which steadily followed his speeches.

The Parker message has certainly chilled the ardor of the South for him as the campaign starts out. But this is an ineffective opposition. The South will have to vote or him anyway. In the parts of the country open to contest, especially in the East, this step will doubtless redound greatly to his advantage. The Bryanized States of the West would not have supported him in any event. Those whom the Parker message offended most thus have least to be influenced by it. It gave an immediate quietus to the idea that he was a tongueless and opinionless man. Parker, as a distinct personality, came to the front. Thus the campaign opens.

A COMPANY IS ORGANIZED.

SHERBROOKE MEN PREPARE FOR FURTHER DEVELOPMENT OF KANSAS OIL FIELDS.

The Sherbrooke Gas and Oil Company will be the name of the Company for which incorporation has just been applied for by Sherbrooke gentlemen, to develop the oil properties at Le Roy, Kansas, A meeting of those interested was held last evening in the Grand Central Hotel, when it was decided to apply for incorporation at once and the following provisional directors were appointed: Messrs. Clement was appointed managing director.

The company now owns about 160 acres of land at Le Roy, Kansas, on which one good well has already been sunk. The promoters will lease at once other properties in the neighborhood.

HON. JOHN McINTOSH HAS PASSED AWAY.

Member for Sherbrooke Died at 9 O'Clock, this Morning, After a Long Illness.

Hon. John McIntosh, M.P, for Sherbrooke, died at 9 o'clock this morning, at his home in this city. His condition has been regarded as very serious during the past few weeks, but it was not anticipated that the end was so near. Yesterday he was able to sit on the verandah, but had a very bad night and passed away at nine o'clock. The illness of Mr. McIntosh dates back to the fall of 1899. Since that time his health has been very unsatisfactory.

It is safe to say that the loss of no public man in this part of the county would be more sincerely and widely mourned than will that of the Hon. John McIntosh. Those sterling qualities of mind and heart which gained for him the title of "Honest John" brought within his list of personal friends and admirers men of all sections and classes of the community without regard to politics, race or religion. His passing away will be deeply regretted. Sherbrooke has lost one of its most worthy citizens, the East Townships a man who has done much to promote the agricultural and general welfare, and the Parliament of Canada one of its most honorable members.

The funeral will take place at 2.30 Friday afternoon from the house to Plymouth Congregational church.

Mr. John McIntosh was born at Laprairie, Que., October 27, 1841, of Scotch parentage. In the fall of 1860, in company with his parents, he came to Compton and settled on a farm about one and a half miles north of Waterville, and his father, John McIntosh, sr., lived there for twenty-five years, and then removed to Sherbrooke, where he resided up to the time of his death, which took place in 1894, while on a visit to Montreal. Mr. McIntosh received his education at Laprairie High School and became efficient in French as well as English. In his early manhood he followed farming in Compton county. On the establishment of the Canadian Meat and Produce Company with headquarters at Sherbrooke, in 1875, he became connected with that company, having full charge of selecting and buying all cattle required for the operations of the company. After the dissolution of this company, Mr. McIntosh entered largely into the export of cattle for the English market.

Mr. McIntosh was a member of the Compton municipal council for six years, and of the Waterville Council for ten years, also, a member of the Board of School Commissioners.

In 1886 he was first elected as the representative of Compton county in the Quebec Legislature, defeating Mr. Hugh Leonard by over six hundred majority. In 1890 he was re-elected, defeating Mr. George Layfield by a still larger majority. After the dissolution of the Mercier Government in 1891, Mr. McIntosh was chosen as one of the members of the Hon. Mr. DeBoucherville's Cabinet and was returned by acclamation at the general election following. Mr. McIntosh was exceedingly popular in Quebec, among his political opponents as well as party friends. It was here that he gained the name of "Honest John." While a firm believer in Conservative principals, his party ties did not destroy his independence. He was often heard in the House, and his views, the result of a sound judgment, were always received with great attention and respect by both sides.

In 1893 Mr. McIntosh was appointed Commissioner for the Province of Quebec at the Columbian Exposition, held in Chicago. He performed his important duties in this connection with marked ability. The skill with which he organized the Quebec exhibit gave it a conspicuous place in the exposition and brought important trade results to this province. On returning from Chicago Mr. McIntosh was tendered a public banquet in Montreal in recognition of his services.

In 1894 Mr. McIntosh became sheriff of St. Francis District, succeeding the late Jos. L. Terrill. He resigned his position in the Quebec Cabinet and removed to Sherbrooke, where he since resided. He filled his new office with ability up till December, 1899, when he resigned to become the Conservative standard bearer in the bye-election in Sherbrooke to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the Hon. W. B. Ives. The campaign was a hard one and Mr. McIntosh entered into it with his usual determination and energy. His illness dated from that hard-fought campaign. He was elected by a majority of 89, and took his seat as member for Sherbrooke in the House of Commons. He address the House a few days after taking his seat.

Mr. McIntosh was again elected member for Sherbrooke at the general elections in the fall of 1900, though himself absent from the county, being at a health resort in the south. Since then, in spite of poor health, Mr. McIntosh has attended every session and looked after the interests of his constituency.

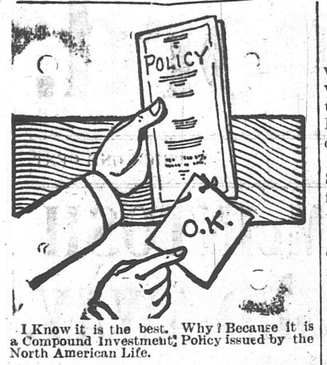

Mr. McIntosh for five years was President of the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association. The growth and prosperity of the Sherbrooke Exhibition has been to a very considerable extent due to him.

He was a prominent member of the Congregational church. Mr. McIntosh was married at Howick, Chateauguay County, Que., January 2, 1840, to Jeanette, daughter of the late William Greig, of Howick. Issue, eight children, six living: Maggie P., born May 6, 1872, married, residence, Waterville; Janet B., born June 4, 1874, died March 25th, 1885; Elizabeth Alice, born April 12, 1876; Winnifred, born July 9, 1878, died Sept. 13th, 1895; John R., born June 29, 1880; James A., born March 19, 1885.

SHERBROOKE DAIRY BOARD.

SUMMARY OF YESTERDAY'S BUTTER AND CHEESE SALES.

The market was again slow yesterday afternoon at the Sherbrooke Dairymen's Exchange. The supply of butter and cheese was not quite so large as last week, there being only 14 creameries, and one cheese factory forward representing 840 packages of butter and 60 boxes of cheese. Messrs. Lovell and Christmas bought 398 packages butter at 17⅜c; Jas. Alexander, 178 at 16⅞c, and A. W. Grant 173 at 17⅜c. A lot of 80 packages was unsold. Messrs. Lovell and Christmas bought the 60 boxes of cheese at 7⅛c.

I Know it is the best. Why? Because it is a Compound Investment Policy issued by the North American Life.

McKay, the only two candidates of our academy that presented themselves this year. We wish to congratulate these two young gentlemen on their splendid qualities. Young Safford is the son of Myron Safford, Esq., of Sutton Junction, and is a youth of remarkable promise. For a boy of thirteen short years who has attended a district school for three years and an academy the same length of time to carry off the average prize in I. Academy with 90 per cent., E. T. Bank medal with 87 per cent., and stand 15th in a list of 179 A.A. candidates from all parts of the Dominion is little short of marvellous.

The lawn social given under the auspices of the baseball club Saturday night on the Town Hall lawn was a great success in every way. The lawn was strewn with tables and chairs, marquees and tents. Overhead was strung scores of many-colored Japanese lanterns, while the fairy-like appearance was enhanced by the pretty young ladies dressed in white flitting here and there. Music was furnished by Messrs. Hall, Jacquays and others from the town verandah. The proceeds amounted to over $36.

The Sutton Academy prospectus for the coming session is being made. We would like applications for the same from persons from a distance who would like to send their pupils to an institution which ranks among the highest in the province.

CANADA'S PROTEST TO BRITAIN.

CORRESPONDENCE REGARDING ALASKAN MATTER PRODUCED IN THE COMMONS AT OTTAWA.

Ottawa, July 12.—In the Commons Friday the Premier brought down the correspondence respecting the Alaska Boundary dispute. The most interesting passage is that relating to the Canadian Government's objections to the personnel of the American commission. Under date of London, Feb. 27, 1903, Lord Onslow wrote the governor-general at Ottawa, as follows':

"With reference to your telegrams dated the 19th and 21st of February, the selection of American members of the tribunal has been the source of as much surprise to his majesty's government as to your ministers. The situation is full of difficulty, and his majesty's government earnestly desires to have the concurrence of your ministers in dealing with it. It seems certain to his majesty's government that it would be useless to press the United States Government to withdraw the names put forward, and arguments relative to the fitness of the three American representatives, however convincing, can have no practical results.

"His majesty's government has, therefore, to choose between breaking off the negotiations or accepting the American nominations, and appointing as their colleagues representatives who will meet the altered circumstances of the case. They would regard the first alternative as a grave misfortune to the interests of Canada, and would prefer that the inquiry should proceed in the confident hope that Canadian or British interests would not be prejudiced thereby, as even in the event of failure much important information upon contraverted points would be collected and placed before the public, and reasonable settlement at some future time thereby facilitated."

To this Lord Minto replied under date of March 6, 1903, in part as follows:

"My ministers regard the situation with much anxiety. They desire to emphasize the fact that their assent to a treaty which provided for the creation of a tribunal so composed as not to insure finality was obtained on the stipulations in the treaty that the members of the court would be impartial jurists of repute. My ministers have observed from the public press and have also been officially informed, that, while the matter is still under their consideration, the treaty has been confirmed by his majesty's Government and an exchange of ratifications has already taken place at Washington. It is presumed that this fact precludes further discussion, and my ministers will therefore proceed to do whatever is necessary on their part to make good the engagement of his majesty's government, but they must reserve the right to submit to the Canadian Parliament the whole correspondence, or such statement of the case as will fully explain the whole matter, and especially the manner in which the assent of Canada was obtained. My ministers do not agree with the suggestion that the altered circumstances justify a departure on the British side from the disposition previously manifested respecting the composition of the tribunal. If members of the tribunal are to be appointed by his majesty's government, my ministers are of the opinion that only judges of the higher courts, who, in the best sense of the words, would be impartial jurists of repute, should be chosen."

WINDSOR MAN IN THE WEST.

The Wabasha County Herald, Minnesota, says: "G. A. Pierce, of Windsor Mills, Quebec, arrived in the city Saturday for a week's visit with his nephew, George A. Weston. This has been his first visit west and he is more than delighted with what he has seen. He thinks seriously of selling out on his return home and coming back here to live. The character of the soil here far exceeds anything he had pictured before he saw it. He goes from here to Minnetonka and thence to Eden Valley, Meeker County, where he will visit relatives. He then returns here and goes by Diamond J. steamer to St. Louis where he will spend some days visiting the World's Fair. ## FACTS ABOUT Hedrite

Hedrite is the grandest, most scientific and safest cure for any kind of headache. Without being a laxative it regulates a disordered stomach, and is, therefore, something entirely new for a bilious headache. It clears the brain and makes you fit for the day's duties and to those who are troubled with nervous headaches at night, it acts as a calmative, and insures refreshing sleep and bright mental activity the next morning.

Your physician will tell you that the safest and best form in which to take a headache cure is a tablet. Powders and wafers vary, containing either too much or too little of a prescription. All Hedrite tablets contain the same ingredients to a 1-100th part of a grain. They can be easily broken or crushed and swallowed with a drink of water. You will find that after taking Hedrite for a few attacks that your headaches will come less frequent, and in time will altogether disappear, unless brought on by careless and irregular living.

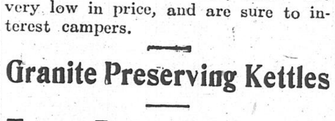

When your dealer recommends his own preparation, remember, WE ARE THE ONLY HEADACHE SPECIALISTS IN THE WORLD.

A postal card will bring you a sample box, containing two doses, free. Don't buy before you try. The Herald Remedy Co., Chicago, Montreal.

KAISER'S TELEGRAM.

IS NOT REGARDED SERIOUSLY IN GERMANY.

Berlin, July 12.—The Press, while foreseeing that the Kaiser's telegram to the Wyborg regiment will raise suspicions of German neutrality, explain it simply as a soldierly address impossible to avoid as honorary colonel-in-chief of the regiment. The papers insist that no political significance is properly attachable to the expression, "God bless its standards." According to the Tageblat this does not mean that the Kaiser hopes that Russia will defeat Japan, but merely that the regiment will distinguish itself in battle.

Hill, of Buffalo, N.Y., Congressman Foster, Hon. Charles H. Stearns, Republicaa candidate for lieutenant governor, and many others. Mr. Dutton, introducing the speakers, told the audience that there was more politics to the square rod on the platform than they had ever seen before in Vermont.

AN EX-"PEERLESS LEADER."

(From the Nashville American, Dem.)

Mr. Bryan can accept the result or he can depart for the wilderness. He is no longer "our peerless leader." His crown is gone, his sceptre has departed. He is no longer the imperious dictator, but a shorn politician making vain appeals and fighting a losing fight in the mad endeavor to direct the policy of a party which he has twice led to disastrous defeat, and which has grown sick and tired of him.

EAST ANGUS.

At a large and very enthusiastic meeting of the ratepayers, held here Monday, Mr. Elwin M. Hall and Mr. Oscar E. Woodrow were re-elected School Commissioners.

The Republic of Canada.

Twenty years ago 20 per cent. of the people of Canada would have welcomed the annexation of the Dominion to the United States. Ten years ago only 10 per cent. of the men who think thought seriously of such a move, and to-day no one ever mentions the matter at all. Twenty years ago only a few dreamers dreamed of the republic of Canada. Ten years later 10 per cent. of the people were in favor of it, and to-day twenty out of every hundred Canadians would welcome the news that Canada had cast off the cable that moors her to the Motherland and had blossomed out as a nation.

The relations between the people of the United States and of Canada will grow more friendly and pleasanter as the years go by because of the wholesale swapping of citizens now going on. Millions of Canadians have gone to the United States, and in the next decade millions of Americans will have crossed into Canada. We shall like each other better as we see each other more, for we North Americans are the people—all of us —Leslie's Monthly.

TAMMANY IS WITH PARKER.

MURPHY SAYS NO ONE NEED QUESTION THE POSITION OF THE ORGANIZATION.

St. Louis, Mo., July 12.—Charles F. Murphy of Tammany says: "No one need have any doubt where Tammany stands in this presidential canvas. It is solidly behind Alton B. Parker for President. There is never any doubt where Tammany stands when a candidate is regularly nominated. Now that Judge Parker has received the nomination from the convention, Tammany Hall is lined up solidly behind him. We came here with no candidate, but to discuss the availability of candidates with the other delegations. We were instructed by the state convention to vote as a unit for Judge Parker, and while it was not our belief that he was the strongest candidate, we naturally obeyed the mandate of the State convention. We came here with the belief that Cleveland was the strongest man to nominate and the easiest man to elect. It was ascertained, after consultations that in this convention we did not agree with the majority of the delegates. Now that the convention has spoken and paid the high honor to Judge Parker, Tammany Hall will go to work at once in New York County and roll up for him the largest plurality ever given to the presidential candidate of Democracy. If the Democrats throughout the State and throughout the nation will work to secure the election of Judge Parker as the loyal Democrats of Tammany Hall will work, there can be but one result and that is victory."

TERRIBLE MISTAKE.

A SON SHOOTS HIS FATHER DEAD FOR A DEER.

Kingston, Ont., July 12.—In a lonely settlement in Renfrew county a horrible accident occurred, whereby a father lost his life, his son having shot him for a deer. During hot days it is usual for deer to seek the water to escape flies, and as meat is scarce it is customary for settlers to shoot the deer for this purpose at night. Joseph Eno, aged 14, and a companion took a boat and went down the river, and unknown to them, John Eno, aged 56, the father, took a leaky canoe, and crossing the river, went down on the opposite side. He had to stop to empty his boat and did this behind a bush of rushes. The boys, coming up the river, heard the noise, and believed a deer was in the rushes. Joseph raised his gun and fired. They were dumfounded to hear a human voice, and speedily found Mr. Eno badly wounded in the back below the shoulder. Mr. Eno helped paddle home walked up to the house and then fell. He lingered thirty-six hours. His bowels had been perforated by buckshot. He leaves a wife and six children. His son is distracted over his act.

If there had not been plenty of help near, the doctor surely would have lost his horse, for only his ears and nose were seen at times.

THE SCOTCHMEN OF WINSLOW.

Follow Closely the Customs of the Old Land.

A SCOT WHO HAD WANDERED AWAY TELLS OF A VISIT TO SCENES OF HIS CHILDHOOD.

The desire took possession of me to once more visit my former home, and gaze again upon the scenes of my youth, where, in days gone by, I rambled carelessly over the hills and vales of my native glen, little dreaming of the burdens and perplexities to which a man of mature years is subjected to, but in my folly considered my lot exceeding hard, and often longed for the time when I could sit down on a dry goods box at the village grocery, tell stories, smoke a pipe, cut my moustache and part my hair in the middle as oth?r dudes, who, like the poor, were ever present with us. But, alas, what would I give today if I could go back to the happy days I passed in the old log schoolhouse at Gisla, where the stern schoolmaster too often inflicted punishment on the just and unjust alike.

So arranging myself, (not in gorgeous apparel, with broad philactories), but in as respectable a manner as my limited wardrobe would permit, and taking my guardian along with me, to be a guide to my path, and keep my feet from backsliding, armed with a well-filled basket of lunch and good resolutions, we wended our delightful drive over the hills which seemed to be everywhere in evidence, and before the last rays of the setting sun had disappeared in the western sky, we arrived safely at our destination in the historic township of Winslow, where we found many friends.

Only those who have partaken of Highland hospitality can realize what it is to sojourn for a time among the Lewis fishermen and their descendants, who inhabit the Eastern section of Compton County. This is the land of Canaan in which a large number of Highland crofters, mostly from the island of Lewis, and all Gaelic speaking cast their lot, sailing from the motherland country in the spring of 1851 on the sailing ship Lady Hood, arriving at Quebec after a rough voyage of seven weeks.

There being no railway traversing the Eastern Townships in those days, the women and children were brought from Point Levis in carts, the men, to fit them for further hardships, were permitted to walk. This emigrant train passed through Sherbrooke, remaining one night in the village, being comfortably quartered in the Congregational church (hence the name Scotch Church. These hardy Scotchmen, full of life and vigor, settled in the primeval forest, and at once started to lay a foundation for a home. They soon discovered that they had not been guided to a land flowing with milk and honey, but an endless wild, abounding with huge maples, bears, mosquitoes and various other calamities with which the plagues of Phasoah for detaining the Children of Israel, were no comparison. But thrift, endurance, and faith in the God of their Fathers, helped them to overcome existing difficulties. So the howling of wild beasts gave place to the voice of civilized man. The sound of the woodman's axe in the hands of men more familiar with the use of the broadsword re-echoed for miles around. Dense forests were cleared, and substantial dwellings erected. The inhabitants became prosperous, many of them living to this day, surrounded with peace and comfort in the land of their adoption, and still keeping alive the customs of the motherland.

On Sunday it was my privilege, as on former occasions, to attend the celebration of the Lord's Supper, in the Hampden Presbyterian Church. The services began on the previous Thursday, and continued until the following Monday. Communion took place on Sunday, the morning service, followed by the celebration of the Sacrament, lasting three hours. There were two services going on at the same time; the one in the church being in Gaelic, and the other, which was held in an adjoining grove, in English. Hundreds of people were in attendance. These services are very impressive. Operatic singing and praising God with machinery finds no place with these devot worshippers. They still adhere to the practice of standing while prayer is being offered. A custom dating back to the days of John Knox, the renowned Scottich reformer. The congregation also remains sitting during the singing, with the exception of the precentor, who stands directly in front of the pulpit occupied by the officiating clergyman, and reads each line of the Psalm to be sung separately, then sings it, the congregation joining. This also is an ancient custom imported from the Land of the Heather, and, like the skirl of the bagpipes, is very dear to the heart of every Hielandmon. I thought while listening to the beautiful melody that if sweeter music was heard in heaven than was produced on that occasion, that the position of the angels should be envied, where old and young great and small mingled their voices together in praise to their Maker. Long may the custom continue and the people live to worship God in simplicity and earnestness, for their sincerity shall surely not go unrewarded.

In close proximity to this church edifice, on the road to Stornoway, is the Gisla cemetery, where a few years ago the earthly remains of Donald Morrison were interred, and many as they pass by, cast a glance of pity at the heap of dust, which marks the place of his repose.

But even among loving friends and delightful scenes, sometimes a feeling of sadness creeps over one when he notices that ancient landmarks have been removed and former associates called to their reward.

So I looked upon these beautiful valleys,
With somewhat of sadness and grief,
For on the brow of the hill in the village
The home of the dead you may see.
In this secluded, and quiet little churchyard,
Where the popar sigh in the breeze
Lie all that was mortal of many
Who were near and dear to me.

TO INVADE INDIA.

WHAT PURPORTS TO BE A SIGNED PLAN BY GENERAL KUROPATKIN.

London, July 12.—The Daily Express yesterday printed what it claims is General Kuropatkin's signed plan of invasion of British India, which it is stated, was filed in the Russian War Office as the official method of procedure in case of war between Russia and Great Britain. The document goes into minute details, and is three columns in length.

Briefly summed up, General Kuropatkin divides such a war into two campaigns, one ending with the capture of Herat, and the other, after two or three years' administration of the country, with the capture of Kashmir, Kandahar and Kabul. After that, says General Kuropatkin, the British would find themselves without native support in India proper.

The plan deals minutely with the methods Russia ought to adopt to secure the co-operation of the Persians and Afghans by an elaborate system of agents and Sheikhs. It estimates that one Turkestan army corps and one trans-Caspian corps would be required in the initial stage of the campaign, "which I should prefer to begin in November, as the weather is healthier for the men, and all Russian ports are frozen. A casus belli can, any time when required, be found through a collision between Russian and Afghan outposts."

THE RICH AND THE POOR.

Striking Contrast at Early Morn in University Park, Toronto—Society on Horseback—The Scrub Woman.

Hush! The birds are at matins in the trees, and the beauties and richness of cathedral service are as nought compared with the sound and scene so hallowed. The park, resounding with awakening life, is their church; the branches, as yet unleaved, but rich in bursting buds, their altar; and the sky, in which the greys of early morning are giving place to blue and white, their canopy.

Listen! They sing and chirp of life and hope, and their song needs no interpretation. Gladder hearts ne'er sent up to heaven so honest a venite. It is their morning sacrifice, ascending to the sky in tremulous melody. Was ever religious edifice so sacred as the trees? Were chanted matins ever so free from discord?

Alas! How rudely is fancy sometimes shaken! Matins must have ceased, for there are two of the feathered saints (!) fighting over the proverbial early worm! Poor worm! He might have known he was in the vicinity of the Parliament Buildings, "where every prospect pleases, and only man is vile." And, despite the beauty and glory of surrounding nature, those hungry songsters wrangled and fought—just as the political gods within the solemn pile of handsome architecture across the way had recently wrangled and fought—to the ultimate sorrow of other worms. But to-day that temple has become a temple of peace. The wicked have ceased from troubling, and the province is at rest.

A Morning Gallop.

Look! A lady on horseback and the hour not yet six. Ye gods! How she sits the saddle, cool, erect and beautiful; her fair form radiant with the glow of abundant health; her body exquisitely shaped and clad in riding habit. How her eyes sparkle with the delight of living, and her cheeks and lips glow in tints of red, laughing defiance to the painter's brush.

Now she is off, and the splendid animal, with champing of bit and prancings, dilates his eager nostrils, takes in the invigorating air, and in a moment he dashes round the curve. What a splendid scene, and how the birds on the branches nearby fluttered with excitement as horse and rider passed, as though in fear of coming danger. Now come others, each equiped for the morning canter or gallop; each bearing signs of heartfelt pleasure in the resplendent scene around, toned by the softening gleam of early morning light. It was, after all, a scene for the rich. The glow of coming summer, the young leaves, the gentle breeze, the song of the birds, all, all essentially for the rich. The valet and dainty chambermaid had knocked at the bedroom door. The riding habit and breeches had been placed in readiness by menial hands, and the horses were groomed and waiting in the stable yard, their bridles held by the dirty hand of a tired and sleepy groom. But the park was simply delightful, don't-you-know.

Birds Sang to Her.

Who was she? Well, it is really hard to tell. "Big Ben" had just boomed out seven and she was walking quickly across the park, looking neither to the right nor left. Her dress was plain, exceedingly plain, and her hat in most perfect harmony with her dress. Her hair was turning grey and her brow, perhaps once of snowy whiteness, was wrinkled and creased. Her cheeks appeared sunken and her mouth drooped at the corners. A strange, sad face to look upon but brave withal and her eyes seemed fearless. But eyes oftentimes reveal the secrets of the soul.

Then why this detail? She's only a scrub-woman. Yes, only a scrub-woman. Only a poor, hard-working little woman who rises every morning at half-past five, tired, from a bed to which she had gone tired the previous night; who moves quietly about the kitchen lest she might awaken her three little children while she tidies up and makes herself a cup of watery tea to wash down a little bread and butter. The beauties of Queen's Park in the early morning to her poor distorted vision have little charm. She sees only the office, the floors, the stairs, the landings and her pail and brushes, and wonders, with a great intellectual effort, if there'll be more than the ordinary amount of dirt to clean up.

Poor woman! She doesn't ride a horse in Queen's Park in the early morning; but she loves her children, works hard for them and bears silently many unpleasant hints, winks and innuendoes thrown gratuitously at her during the day from gentlemen in the office, many of them possessed of morals as questionable as the ascent or descent of man.

But, after all, she is only a scrub-woman, without horse, groom or lady's maid. Yet it was to her that all nature spoke this morning, though maybe she did not hear the many voices which eloquently tell of life, death and resurrection.—Toronto Telegram.

Naomi, aged 3, was greatly interested in a canary that had been given to her mother. The first time she saw the bird asleep she said: "The birdie has gone to sleep with his head inside of him." Her aunt asked: "Do you have your head inside of you when you sleep?" "No," said the child, "but I have my eyes inside of me."

HOW SHE GOT EVEN.

A good French-Canadian story from the Province of Quebec is related by a correspondent of The Boston Transcript: Louise Leblanc was engaged to marry Joe Belaire, but they quarrelled about politics. He was a Bleu, she a Rouge, devoted to Laurier. Her mother tried to induce her to marry him. But no. Louise admitted she was sick with love for Joe, but she could not change her politics, and she would not marry him unless he would promise to vote for Laurier. As told by a mutual friend of Louise and Joe: "Joe was one of those Conservateurs so bleu dat you nev' can wash him off. The Cure tried to get him to promise as Louise wished. But Joe, he's tell de Cure, 'M'sieu le Cure, dass no use for promise. I can't change my politique. My politique dass my principle, an' my principle dass my honneur. Surely, you don't hask me for loss dat. After that the mother of Louise she's come for see the Cure and nex' week de Cure is go for see Louise. He's spik long tahm wis Louise, till he get her for consent to be marry. So dey was married. But what was it M'sieu de Cure tol' Louise what mek her consent, after her moder couldn't mek her? Well, seh, ah'll tol' you. It was lak dis. M'sieu le Cure he's say, 'Louise, mon enfant, take my advise an' marry Joe Belaire. You know he's love you good an' strong. You know you's loye him jus' de same lak dat. You marry him and I will hask le bon Dieu for bless your marriage. I will pray God to give you a big family. Also I will pray dat all you children be boys. Den you can bring de whole lot hup to vote for Laurier.' So she married Joe Belaire. And, begosh, dere was twins two tahm runnin' already, and dey's hall boys!"

"Like a Stuck Sheep."

Some of the delegates to the Presbyterian Assembly were entertained on their way to St. John by an amusing story of British ignorance of Canada, told them by an English commercial traveler, who was a fellow-passenger on the train from Montreal. Only two years ago, another English "commercial," who had not only Canada but Australia and South Africa in his round, decided to do his two rounds in one, and on arriving in Vancouver, took ship for Australia. He had left a large quantity of his samples in Toronto, and after making the trip round the world, came back to Toronto to "pick them up" ere returning to England. In the meantime, during his absence, a big Vancouver firm had written to the traveler's firm in London, England, asking particulars of a certain line of goods of which they proposed taking a small quantity. The London firm, knowing that their traveler would be back in Toronto, wrote him there, remarking, "As you are in the country, you might call on Messrs. —— at Vancouver." Their impression evidently was that Vancouver was a few stations up the line. "When he got back home and told them he was nearer London in Toronto than he was to Vancouver, they looked at him like a stuck sheep" was the narrator's expressive way of describing these very un-Imperial manufacturers' surprise.

MODERN ENOCH ARDEN.

Romantic Story Related at Osgoode Hall, Toronto—Mary Doyle's Suit for Damages for Husband's Death.

A romantic story is connected with the suit of Mary Doyle against the Diamond Flint Glass Co., rivalling the story of Enoch Arden. The characters are: Mary Doyle, Toronto, alleged widow of John Doyle; John Doyle, alleged husband of Mary Doyle and Ellen Doyle; Ellen Atkin, alias Ellen Doyle, alleged wife of John Doyle and Isaac Atkin; Isaac Atkin, mariner, not heard from by Toronto acquaintances for years.

The curious matrimonial tangle was disclosed in a suit recently tried at the Assizes in Toronto in which the two sets of husbands and two sets of wives appear.

The case arose in the form of an action brought by Mary Doyle, purporting to be the widow of John Doyle, for compensation for his death, which occurred on the premises of the Diamond Flint Glass Company at Dovercourt and Armour streets a year ago. Mrs. Doyle asked for damages under the Workmen's Compensation Act, but at the trial counsel for the Glass Company produced a Mrs. Ellen Doyle and proved her marriage to Doyle previous to the date of the marriage to Mrs. Doyle No. 2. Mr. Justice Idington, therefore, dismissed the case.

It was hinted that the first Mrs. Doyle had enjoyed at least as many marriages as had Mr. Doyle. The firm of Clute, Macdonald, MacIntosh & Hay, who were acting for Mrs. Mary Doyle, began a search for this missing husband of Mrs. Ellen Doyle. It was known that he was a mariner named Isaac Atkin, sailing on the great lakes, but for some time no trace of him could be discovered. Mrs. Mary Doyle's solicitors were persistent, and finally through a description a clue was obtained near Toledo and the missing husband was at last located at the village of Edgewater. The representative of the firm who found Atkin secured from him an affidavit that he had married the woman now known as Mrs. Ellen Doyle long before she met Doyle, and that her marriage to the glass worker was a mere form.

In view of this, Mr. R. C. Clute, K. C., applied to the Divisional Court for a new trial on the ground that, as Doyle's first marriage was illegal, Mrs. Mary Doyle was his rightful wife.

At the trial the jury, conditional on His Lordship finding that Mrs. Mary Doyle was the lawful widow, awarded a verdict of $1,500 to her and the dead man's mother.

A Lighthouse Keeper's "Distress."

A lighthouse keeper not far from Vancouver, B.C., recently displayed "distress" signals for the purpose of attracting the attention of a steamer on which he desired to load a consignment of fresh eggs for the local market. As a storm was raging at the time and the water was so wild that no landing could be made, the steamer brought to the city a tale of mystery which for some time caused anxiety on the water front. The steamer in question was the Princess May of the C.P.R.-Skaguay line. Immediately upon her arrival in port the Dominion Government fisheries cruiser Kestrel was despatched to the island, appropriately named "Egg," where the lighthouse keeper lived in his lonely tower. Captain Newcombe of the Kestrel, found the surf rolling so heavily that for hours he lay in sight of the little island waiting for an opportunity to make a landing. When at last he did reach the shore, and asked the reason why the distress signals had been displayed, he was afforded the explanation given above. The lighthouse keeper added that, as the principal virtue of eggs lay in their freshness, he had wanted to get a steamer without delay, and thought that the most effective way of securing one would be by displaying the "help wanted" sign so familiar to mariners. Having solved the mystery, Captain Newcombe forthwith bought all the eggs and made the lighthouse keeper happy.
