

'Secret of Freedom' begins filming today

Thomas Mitchell has been assigned one of the three starring roles in "The Secret of Freedom," the full-hour drama by Archibald MacLeish by the NBC-TV Network. Robert D. Graff, the program's producer, has just announced that stage and film star Tony Randall will also take a lead role in the production.

Filming of MacLeish's drama which deals with democracy's worldwide rivalry with communism, begins this week. The author recently won the 1959 Pulitzer Prize for drama for his verse play, "J.B.," a modern re-telling of the Book of Job. It was his third Pulitzer Prize; the others, in 1933 and 1955, were for poetry.

Thomas Mitchell is equally well-known in theatre motion pictures, and TV. He made his first film appearance in 1936 and three years later, with "Stagecoach," won an Academy Award for best performance by a supporting actor. He also has received four Academy Award nominations. His best-known films include "High Noon" and "The Long Voyage Home." In recent years he has starred in two TV series, "The Mayor of the Town" and "The O. Henry Playhouse," and currently is seen on TV in the "Glencannon" series.

Randall, widely known for his past portrayal of Harvey Weskit in the NBC-TV Network's "Mr. Peepers" series, is currently on view in the nation's motion picture theatres as star of "The Mating Game." He made three earlier films: "Oh Men! Oh Women!," "No Down Payment" and "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?"

An actor who changes from comedy to serious drama with ease and frequency, he broadened his range still further on Broadway last season in "Oh, Captain," in which he danced and sang professionally for the first time. His many Broadway credits also include starring performances in "Oh Men! Oh Women!" and "Inherit the Wind."

Eight Friday night Art Carney specials — all live, all in color — will be sponsored by the AC Spark Plug and United Motors Service Divisions of GMC on the NBC-TV network during the 1959-1960 season. Four of the Carney specials will be 90-minute dramatic shows, and four will be one-hour revue-variety presentations.

Distinguished British actor, John Sutton, a Sandhurst graduate — England's West Point — has been signed for the featured role of a British army officer in "The Swamp Fox," the story of the Revolutionary War hero, General Francis Marion, to be seen in six one-hour programs on ABC-TV's "Walt Disney Presents" for the 1959-1960 season.

Sutton has been selected for the important characterization of Col. Banastre Tarleton, Marion's foe.

Canadian actor Leslie Nielsen will star as Marion in a cast that includes Dick Foran and Tim Considine. "The Swamp Fox" will be produced by James Pratt and directed by Harry Keller from a script by Lewis R. Foster.

Ingemar Johansson, contender for the world heavy-weight championship title, together with Ginger Rogers and Steve Lawrence, will guest the Steven Allen Show, Sunday, June 7, over the NBC-TV network at 7:30 p.m. Johansson will appear as a singer, marking the series' final colorcast of the '58-'59 season.

Janet Blair and John Raitt will welcome guests Dorothy Kirstein, Joe Bushkin, the Kim Sisters and Burr Tillstrom's Kukla and Ollie to the premiere colorcast of the summer Chevy Show, Sunday, June 7, at 9 p.m., over the NBC-TV network.

This will be the second Chevy Show season for Miss Blair and Raitt, who starred in last summer's series.

Lee J. Cobb, distinguished actor in "Death of a Salesman," Kenneth Haigh, Gusti Huber, Michael Landon and Patty McCormack, have been signed to star in the Playhouse 90 drama, "Project Immorality," Thursday, June 11, 9:30 p.m., over the CBS-TV.

"Project Immorality," whose producer is Peter Kortner and director is Fielder Cook, an original teleplay by Loring Mandel, author of "The Rakder," which was produced on Playhouse 90 earlier this season, is the story of a bold scientific attempt to reproduce by means of an electronic device the mental processes of an intellectually advanced human being.

The American Tobacco Co. has renewed its sponsorship of "M Squad" on alternate weeks for the 1959-60 season

Voice of Firestone theme songs written long ago by Idabelle

The question most frequently raised in viewers' letters to ABC-TV's "Voice of Firestone" (Mondays, 9-9:30 p.m., EST) concerns the program's opening and closing songs, "If I Could Tell You" and "In My Garden."

It was in January, 1938, the eighth year of its history, that the "Voice of Firestone" began opening and closing each program with a new theme song, "In My Garden," composed by Idabelle Firestone, wife of the founder of the Firestone organization. The song, to lyrics by Lester O'Keefe, soon became one of America's best-loved and most familiar. Mrs. Firestone's love of music was equalled by her love for gardening. The song was a natural blending of talents and interests.

"In My Garden" remained both the opening and closing theme of the program until 1941 when the ASCAP broadcast licensing restrictions (the song was ASCAP-licensed) caused the temporary ban on its use for broadcasting.

In January, 1941, the "Voice of Firestone" introduced a new theme song, "If I Could Tell You" also the work of Idabelle Firestone, this time to the lyrics by Madeleine Marshall. The ballad was an expression of devotion and longing for her husband, who died in 1938, after a marriage of 43 years; and for her only daughter, Elizabeth, who died the following year.

The new song soon ranked in popularity with "In My Garden." And when the licensing fray was ended, "If I Could Tell You" remained the program's opening theme, and "In My Garden" was returned as the closing.

In the history of broadcasting there are no other two songs that have been sung by a greater grouping of the greatest voices of our time — among them Richard Crooks and Rise Stevens, Lawrence Tibbett and Eleanor Steber, Robert Merrill, Renata Tebaldi and Richard Tucker.

Ambrose in TV-land
by ARTHUR GORDON

The table had not been made to withstand the stress now being put upon it. The legs gave way and down it came, Ambrose with it to lie sprawled amidst splintered wood, broken china and glass to which a melange of edibles gave distinctive overtones.

Many of his guests were in the stage of intoxication where this seemed to be a feature of the act. A roar of approval went up.

Dazed and confused, Ambrose attempted to rise but someone squirted the contents of a soda siphon in his face and he fell back among the ruins. A girl attempted to assist him to rise. He grabbed her by the foot. She let out a shriek, broke from his grasp and backed hastily away.

At last he managed to regain his feet, swaying unsteadily amid the wreckage like a ship on a storm-tossed sea. His bespattered shirt front would have gained him the right to pose as Brownie's "Pied Piper." Bits of lettuce, cracker crumbs and other odds and ends of food nestled in his tousled hair. His bleary eyes sought Rosaline but she was not to be seen.

The orchestra struck up and he staggered to a clear section of the floor. Seizing the first girl within reach by the arm he maundered thickly, "I-let's d-d-dance." She giggled at his appearance and said, "I want another drink first." The drinks appeared but much of Ambrose's dribbled down his chin adding further to the decorative effect on his shirt. Ambrose danced with the gracefulness of a rheumatic duck. He caught his foot in his partner's gown tearing away a large segment. "Nev'r mind," he muttered, "I'll buy you 'nother. Got lots a money." The torn section of gown trailed on the floor. Ambrose's foot tangled in it and he toppled. Bringing the girl with him, they both went down in a heap.

This time, one of the more sober men came over. The girl was helped up but when Ambrose was put on his feet he lurched and would have fallen again without support. A waiter assisted one of the guests to take him from the room and he was put to bed.

A loud rapping on the door woke Ambrose up. His head seeming to be bursting and he was nauseated. He managed, however, to call, "Come in." A boy entered bearing a tray on which was a white envelope. Ambrose took the envelope but he shook so that he turned the envelope over to the boy, saying, "Here, you open it." Ripping open the envelope, the boy took out the paper and passed it back to Ambrose who tried to read it but the words danced before his eyes. He asked the boy to read it to him.

The boy scanned the note and said, "It's from a lawyer, sir, and says, 'You are hereby notified that a court injunction has been issued restraining you from making further withdrawals from the money deposited to your account by Wilbur P. Farning pending a court hearing into the claim that said Wilbur P. Farning was mentally irresponsible at the time and that the money should be returned to his estate.'"

TWO FOR THE SHOW — Janet Blair and John Raitt will co-star in the summertime color-casts of the "Chevy Show" on the NBC-TV Network Sunday nights starting June 7 for 17 weeks. The popular performers, who starred on the series last year, will be joined by guest stars each week on the music-variety show.

on the NBC-TV network. The half-hour filmed dramas, based on a detective's battle against crime in Chicago, is starting its third season this fall and stars Lee Marvin. It will be seen Friday, 9:30 p.m., beginning September 11.

"Space," a new weekly half-hour show starring William Lundigan and projecting in detail the perils and triumphs of man in his labors to reach and conquer outer space, will be seen over the CBS-TV network starting Wednesday, September 2, at 8:30 p.m.

The series will give a fictional preview of the placing of manned vehicles in earth orbit, the first landing on the moon, the exploration of the solar system and steps beyond.

"The Twilight Zone," an unusual new series of dramas dealing with the stranger-than-fiction, fantasy and, at times, the occult, with scripts by Rod Serling, will make its debut on the CBS-TV network Friday, October 2, at 10: p.m.

Most of the scripts will be originals by Serling with others, adaptations of current short stories. Each story will be trademarked by a provocative ending; one which is set up in the context of the plot to be shocking, unexpected, but at the same time, in retrospect, valid and honest.
