THE EQUITY

Loken stresses jobs and local economy

James Loken

The first person in the running for the nomination as the Progressive Conservative candidate in the next federal election is James Loken of Campbell's Bay. On Sunday he hosted a reception at the Forest Inn in Bryson to meet the public and to talk about the issues of importance to Pontiac.

Introduced to those attending by Hon. Ray Johnston, Mr Loken spoke about the need for improvements in the County. He noted the growth in industry and employment over the past twenty years in the Ottawa Valley of Ontario while in Pontiac nothing has happened except "projects" which have had no long term effect on the economy. He commented on the decrease in federal support for farming, and the increase in farm credit rates under the Liberal government. He concluded by saying that Pontiac needed a representative who could speak up in Parliament on behalf of the County.

The Progressive Conservative riding association for Pontiac, Gatineau and Labelle has yet to set a date for choosing the candidate to contest the next election.

Portage raises funds for ROTEL

The Pontiac ROTEL fund continues to grow as the many municipal groups — service clubs, recreation associations, fire brigades, councils, and fraternal clubs — organize a wide variety of money raising events. In Portage du Fort, the Volunteer Fire Brigade, the Recreation Association and the Municipality held a house-to-house canvass, a teen dance, and an adult dance, and earned a total of one thousand four hundred dollars for this project.

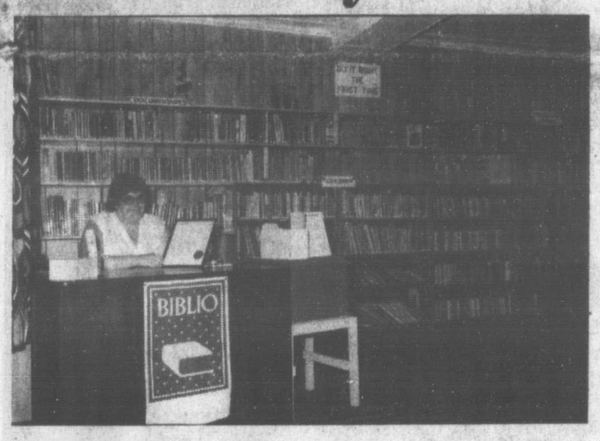
ROTEL is a fifty unit motel to be built in the middle of the South Ottawa hospital complex. Out of town patients and relatives will be able to stay at ROTEL at very low cost, right beside the medical facilities of the Children's Hospital, the Veteran's Hospital, the General Hospital and the many out-patient clinics of the area.

The Shawville Women's Service Club held a garage sale last weekend to raise money for ROTEL, and earned six hundred dollars. This small club has so far contributed nine hundred dollars to the project this spring. Other donations include two hundred dollars from the Shawville and District senior citizens club, and one hundred dollars from each of the Starks Corners and Clarendon Women's Institutes; the Quyon Wyman Women's Institute donated fifty dollars, Unit six of the United Church Women fifty dollars, the Shawville Lionettes, five hundred dollars, the Bryson Lionettes one hundred dollars, Zion Ladies Auxiliary fifty dollars, Caisse Populaire of Chapeau two hundred dollars, Filles d'Isabel twenty dollars and the Bertrand Fish and Game and Ladysmith Sportsmen's Clubs, fifty dollars each.

Total donations received so far amount to over seven thousand five hundred and five dollars with additional pledges of over four thousand dollars. The goal for Pontiac County is twenty-five thousand dollars.

John Napier Turner won a second ballot victory last Saturday at the Liberal Leadership convention in Ottawa. He will become Prime Minister of Canada when he takes over the reigns from Pierre Trudeau in a ceremony June 30. See inside for details of the leadership convention.

Portage du Fort new library locale



The Portage du Fort Library has moved to new premises thanks to a $5500 grant from the Ministry of Cultural Affairs. The library is now housed in a room in St. James School, one of the many old stone buildings in Portage.

The library committee has also received honourable mention for good management by the Outaouais Central Lending Library. Librarian Linda Cameron holds the certificate presented in recognition of this award.

In addition to the many books available for borrowing, the library also has magazines and records to lend, and a variety of toys for youngsters. A corner of the room has been reserved for a historical exhibit to be contained in a huge glass enclosed vertical display case which came from an old Portage store of the 1800's.

Arnprior K of C donates $500 to St. Mary's, Quyon

The Arnprior Knights of Columbus were asked recently by their Quyon members if they could make a contribution to St. Mary's School in Quyon to help finance extra curricular activities. The club decided to donate five hundred dollars to the school and Grand Knight Russ Havelin of Arnprior made the donation in person on Thursday night at a get-together of the school committee near Wyman.

Quebec residents are now encouraged to join Quebec based clubs, so as a result there are only six members of the Arnprior Knights of Columbus who live in the Quyon area, all with over twenty-five years of service. Apart from those in the picture these men are Vern Gallagher, Lester McCann and Basil

Exhibition poultry must be tested

As part of the pullorum-typhoid eradication program of Agriculture Canada, all poultry being entered in the Shawville Fair and other shows must be tested for the disease before they can be exhibited. Federal veterinarians will soon be visiting local flocks to take the blood samples. Potential exhibitors should contact John Langford in Shawville at 647-2933 as soon as possible to arrange appointments for having their birds examined.

Pullorum and fowl typhus are contagious, fatal poultry diseases caused by varieties of Salmonella bacteria. The erodication program is designed to eliminate them from Canada's poultry population by 1985. All chickens, turkeys and game birds at an exhibition must be tested. Primary breeding flocks will be monitored yearly. Infected flocks will be destroyed and their owners fully compensated by the federal government. Finally stricter import regulations will be applied to protect Canadian poultry from foreign sources of the disease.

Public speaking at McDowall School

Royce Richardson honored by Volunteer Fire Brigade

At the regular meeting of Shawville Council last Tuesday night, a plaque was presented to Councillor Royce Richardson (center) in honor of his 14 years of service on the Shawville Volunteer Fire Brigade. The plaque was presented by Assistant Fire Chief Neil Sharpe, left, and Fire Chief Roy Thoms.

Hilton Mines. New Iron ore reserves have been discovered on Hilton Mines property which increase known reserves by about 25%. An estimated 450,000 cu. yds. of overburden will be removed preparatory to mining it. Meanwhile, expansion of the milling operation should increase output from 600,000 to 750,000 tons per year.

Elmside School. At a special meeting of the Central School Board it was recommended that the proposed expansion of the Elmside School be postponed until the future Protestant enrollment can justify the construction. A new Roman Catholic school is to be built in the municipality, and Protestant high school facilities are available in Onslow and Shawville.

New Agriculture Hall. The building committee of the Shawville Fair decided Tuesday night to go ahead with the construction of the new agriculture building on the Fair Grounds. Plans call for an expenditure in the vicinity of $95,000, with the federal government underwriting 50%. Hope was expressed that the provincial government would give a substantial grant, and the suggestion has been made that donations be solicited, with the balance of costs covered by a bond issue. Final decisions on these ideas have not yet been reached.

Foiled by Finnigan Again. J.L. Hodgins car lot was again the object of an attempted theft Saturday morning, when two Ontario men broke into a car and removed a radio at about 1 a.m. Frank Finnigan Jr. spotted the activity and summoned his father, who appeared with a shotgun and held the two men until the police arrived.

Married. The wedding vows of Miss Edna Ross Hodgins and Mr Wayne Atcheson Carruthers were exchanged Saturday evening in Shawville United Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Ewart Hodgins of Charteris, and Mr. Carruthers is the son of Mr and Mrs Harry Carruthers of Kazabuzua.

United Picnic. The annual picnic of the United Church of Campbell's Bay was held on Saturday afternoon last, at Craig's Sands, near Norway Bay. A most enjoyable afternoon was spent in swimming games and tug-of-war. The sack race was expertly run by Mr Charlie Loken. Between 80 and 90 members and their friends attended.

Religious Educators meet. The forty-fifth annual convention of the Pontiac County Religious Education Workers was held in Bristol Memorial Presbyterian Church on Wednesday, with the president, Rev. Taylor of Bristol in the chair, and Mrs Wesley Hynes of Clarendon acting as secretary. The church was filled for both afternoon and evening sessions by delegates from all across Pontiac.

Married. A pretty wedding took place in the Anglican Church at Caldwell on June 13, when Charles R. Eady, son of Mrs Alonzo Wright and the late Robt Eady of Horton, and Miss Edith Tubman, daughter of Andrew Tubman of Caldwell, were united in marriage.

So They Say. "The Fundamental causes of the Depression were social and economic, rather than monetary." - Harry Elmer Barnes.

"The false prophecies of great practical statesmen would form a most interesting collection." — Dean Inge.

Shawville High. In the results of the Junior Grades at Shawville High School, the top students were: Grade 1 - Helen Dale and Hewitt McCredie, Grade 2 — Pansy Campbell and Isabel Corrigan, Grade 3 — Lorna Sereney and Gerald Dagg, Grade 4 — Marilyn Carson and John Howard.

Let There be Light. The electric current which is to dispel the darkness from our streets was turned on for the first time on Thursday evening last. Only the lights in a few buildings and a couple of the streets were set agoing, to help in getting the apparatus properly adjusted, which always takes a little time.

Snow. The rather unusual occurrence of a mid-summer snow storm formed part of the weather program on Friday last. Although "the beautiful" came down thickly for an hour or more, it disappeared as fast as it fell, old Mother Earth being evidently in no humor for eccentricities of this kind.

Frost. Frost is reported to have been pretty general on Friday night following the combination of rain, snow, and hail which fell on that date. So far as this section is concerned no very serious damage has resulted, but farther northward it is likely the effects of the untimely visitation were more severe.

Married. Mr Armen Hodgins, third son of Mr W.H. Hodgins of this village, and Miss Katie, daughter of Mr George Hodgins of the Portage Road, were united in matrimony on Wednesday of last week — 16th, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. Coffin. There were quite a large number of friends present. Miss Pearl Murphy rendered the wedding march.

Ladysmith Picnic. There was a large contingent of Shawvilleites at the Ladysmith Picnic on Wednesday last. Those who attended are with one accord loud in their praises of the picnic and all that appertained to it. Everyone was made welcome and given every chance to amuse themselves in a variety of ways, while the meals served up were the best ever seen at a picnic. Hats off to the Thorne ladies.

Chapeau Fire. A fire at Chapeau Village on Friday morning last did damage to the extent of between seven and eight thousand dollars, destroying Poupore and McDonald's two stores, and six other buildings. The first seen of the fire was about 3:30 a.m., and a bucket brigade was formed, but was unable to check the flames, which spread to devour the home of Mrs Archambault and two shops belonging to the Hennesey estate.

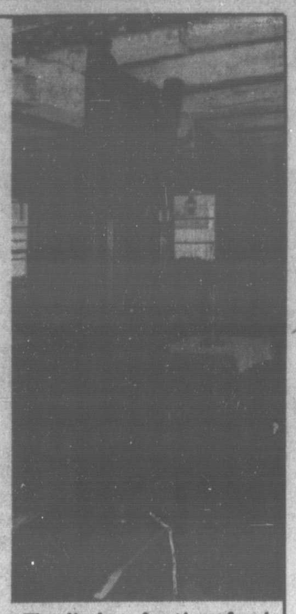
A new place to find antiques

After ten years of collecting antiques Lorne McRae suddenly discovered he had no more room in his house to keep them. A decision had to be made, either stop collecting or sell something. As anyone who collects antiques knows, stopping is almost impossible, so Lorne decided to set up a small business to sell antiques.



The display of antique furniture includes this old coat stand.

Fortunately, he had access to a large barn on the Steele Line, between Beechgrove and Quyon, just west of his brother Frank's Mountainview Trout Farm. The barn had at one time housed the McRae dairy herd, but now it has become the Red Barn of Antiques and Collectibles, and is full of antiques, furniture, bottles and glassware, and a wide variety of knick knacks, memorabilia and collectibles.

Mr McRae works full time at B'Nai Brith camp but with him, his sister Mary Wiggins, niece Isabel Schwartz and brother John available to run the store the Red Barn will be open every weekend, Fridays from six to nine in the evenings and Saturdays and Sundays three to eight o'clock until the fall.

Lorne McRae's first interest was old bottles as evidenced by this large collection.

Shawville Business Association meets

The Shawville Business Association met on June 14 at Bob Smith's Restaurant at 8 a.m.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by Marion Lafrance and passed.

An agenda for the meeting had been circulated to the businesses earlier in the week and the topics on the agenda were discussed.

The Sidewalk Sale preparations were noted. The banner is ready to be put up on June 20th and advertising space is being sold by Mark and Cathy.

Parking for the sale was discussed and it was noted that there will be only drive through traffic on Main Street during the business hours of the sale.

A donation of $200. to the Shawville Kinettes was motioned by Carson Hodgins and seconded by Marion Lafrance. The Kinettes will use the money to buy flowers to decorate Main Street. The flowers will be planted before the Sidewalk Sale.

President Jerry Barber brought to the Association's attention that the notice board at the Town Arena is for sale. Many local businesses had advertised on this board but the Association agreed that it was too expensive and impractical for the Association to buy. The sign at the highway that formerly belonged to the Women's Association was discussed as a possible site to place a Shawville Business Association logo.

Billing for dues was agreed upon and bills will be sent out for membership renewal.

Placemats with the town map and 24 block ads were discussed. Tenders were read with Carson Hodgins being awarded the tender. The project will support the buying of the placemats and Cathy and Mark will sell the ads. This endeavour is designed to break even, with no cost to the Association. Colour choice was left to the discretion of Mark and Cathy. The approval of having the mats printed was moved by President Jerry Barber and seconded by Richard Meisner.

August 2-4th was again noted as the dates for the second summer sale.

Every year for Canada Day, Doug McLean has looked after having Canadian flags placed on the hydro poles on behalf of the Business Association. Doug has suggested that since the Shawville Firemen help to put these flags up, that perhaps the Association should turn this project over to the firemen. It was also discussed that since July 7, 1984 is the 125th Anniversary Parade of the Loyal Orange Lodge the flags should be put up again for that day as well. Cathy will phone Everett Arthurs regarding this matter.

Marion Lafrance reported on the possibility of a new farm equipment business moving in to Shawville.

Meeting was adjourned by President Jerry Barber at 9 a.m.

The health needs of Pontiac are worth the effort

Editorial

Every so often the Pontiac gets into the city newspapers and last week it was all about a person who had to wait a couple of hours in the hospital while the surgeon was found to perform the necessary operation. It all turned out for the best. He was found out riding his horse on one of his rare afternoons away from the hospital, and the operation was successful, but nevertheless it became known far and wide, throughout the entire circulation area of the Ottawa Citizen that the Pontiac Community Hospital is in need of more staff.

Since this part of Canada is by far the most splendid place to live, one might expect doctors to flock here in droves. Where else can you go riding with your family on a lovely afternoon and still be near enough to your patients to attend to emergencies when called? And the hospital board has produced an enticing brochure aimed at encouraging graduates from the medical schools to think of Pontiac first when they have completed their internships.

But obviously all the above is not enough. They have to know that when they get here the facilities will be sufficient to their needs in their vocation of providing the best medical care available. Our hospital is well organized, well staffed with regard to quality of personnel, and has many fine facilities, but it also lacks a great deal. When the physical plant has been improved, as it must be, the doctors we need will be easier to persuade to come here.

Shawville Council has directed a resolution to the Quebec Department of Health requesting some action to improve the facilities here. Other Municipal Councils in the Pontiac are being asked to follow suit, and another strong resolution initiated by the MRC should also carry some weight in Quebec.

There is reason to believe that the funds are available for the improvements that are needed here, including at least one large new wing. Apparently the funds can only be allocated for this essential purpose if the Government is convinced that everyone in the Pontiac wants it badly enough. We need new beds, new chronic wings, renovations all round, facilities for physical therapy, and much, much more, then we will get the number of doctors that can reasonably serve this large area. If it's pressure from the population they need to unblock the funds, the clubs and organizations, and especially the municipalities, should apply the pressure. The health of the Pontiac is well worth the effort.

PERSON TO PERSON

They both won

People watching the Liberal Convention, either from the floor of the Civic Center or from the comfort of their living rooms by the courtesy of television, will all have recognized that in the end both the main contenders won. John won the nomination and will in a few days be the Prime Minister of Canada and Jean won the hearts of everyone in Canada who is Liberal, and plenty who aren't.

During the whole campaign it was Jean Chrétien who made people sit up and listen and during those last few frantic days last weekend he still had the crowd in his hand.

But there was more than popularity to consider. The delegates in Ottawa were out to find a person who would most likely succeed in the next general election, and John Turner was the one they felt would best suit that role.

Because of irresponsible actions and attitudes on the parts of a few noisy linguistic bigots in recent years, Canada has become a nation where many place more importance on a person's ethnic background that on anything else. For this reason the time was not right for Chrétien, but was eminently right for Turner. The results were predictable. Chrétien won Canada and Turner won the nomination. And now the Liberals have them both on-side, as the stage is set for the Really Big Show, sometime in August.

My personal opinion is that we haven't heard the last of Jean Chrétien, not by a long shot, fortunately.

Liberals again make clean sweep in byelections

Three byelections were held in the province on Monday, June 18, and all three were won by Liberals. This most recent success makes a perfect shutout score in byelection wins by the Liberals since the PQ came to power in 1976: Liberals 21, PQ 0.

The three ridings which held byelections on Monday are all in the Montreal area. Both Sauvé and Marie-Victorin were held by members of the PQ cabinet, the former by Jacques-Yvan Morin and the latter by Pierre Marois, and there was a degree of expectation amongst PQ members that they would manage to hold at least one of these. The third seat Marguerite-Bourgeoys, was held by Fernand Lalonde, the Liberal House Leader, who resigned his seat in March.

There are now 71 PQ members in the National Assembly and 48 Liberals. There is one vacancy.

Some undercurrents flowing from the PQ Convention

At the convention held by the Parti Québecois the weekend before last, the 1,600 delegates decided that the next provincial election, expected in the fall of 1985, will be fought on the principle that a vote for the PQ will be a vote for independence. Ministers of the PQ government have expressed concern over the decision, partly because the most recent poll (by Sorecom) shows only 23 percent support for the PQ as compared with 69 percent for the Quebec Liberals, and partly because an election based on this one factor (separation) loses the votes of fedealists who think their MNA has been doing a good job in the riding, or who believe the PQ offers good government. Premier Lévesque has dismissed the convention decision with a characteristic shrug, and says it really won't make any difference anyway. His reasoning is based in part on the apparent fact that voters' political responses are volatile in the extreme, and that an electionb will not be called until such time as improvements in the economy and in the economic outlook in Quebec can be linked in a positive way with PQ economic policies. If that time ever comes, support for his party, he believes, will be at a much higher level than at present.

In spite of the Lévesque comments, it appears that a majority of the PQ convention delegates are prepared to lose the next election rather than back away for a third time from the separation issue. Furthermore something new has been added: If the polls continue at the present low level, some believe, Lévesque should resign before next spring, with a leadership convention in the late spring or early summer followed by an election in the fall. A probable alternative and replacement for Mr. Lévesque would be Pierre-Marc Johnson, son the the late Daniel Johnson, the former leader of the Union National. Pierre-Marc is now the Quebec Justice Minister. Lévesque himself has conceded that the polls of his party's standing could play a part in any decision he might make on whether to lead the PQ through the next election.

QPF manhunt in Townships

The Quebec Police Force has been conducting a massive manhunt throughout the past week in the Eastern Townships in an attempt to find two convicted murderers who escaped from a federal prison in Virginia on June 1, in company with four other convicts. The other four were captured two weeks ago, two in Southern Vermont, and the other two in northern Vermont, close to the Canadian border to the east of Lake Memphramagog. Still at large are two brothers, Lynwood and James Brailey, aged 30 and 27 respectively. At the time of their escape they were serving a combined total of almost 2,000 years for 10 murders and a number of lesser crimes. Two strange men were spotted in a field near Bedford, 35 miles southeast of Montreal on Sunday, June 10. The following day United Church minister, Rev Keith Eddy, saw a man lurking in the back yard of his Phillipsburg manse. Then on Wednesday a Bedford grocery store was broken into and some canned food and insect repellent stolen. The QPF has entered the area in force, after what local residents described as a slow start, finally bringing in members o the SWAT squad, in addition to 82 regular QPF officers, a helicopter and a tracking dog. No trace of the escaped pair has as yet turned up. Area residents believe the men probably made their way north to Farnham and there caught a train into Montreal. Comic relief during the search was provided last Tuesday when four QPF officers entered a restaurant in Sutton, 20 miles east of Bedford, where they questioned two black diners. (The Brailey brothers are black.) The two men turned out to be tourists from North Carolina. The QPF is now planning to call off the search for lack of a single trace of the men.

Miscellaneous notes

Montreal is expected to become "Hollywood North" on completion of a $36 million motion-picture and television studio complex at Cité du Harve. According to Communications Minister Francis Fox, the federal government will contribute $22 million of the total cost, with private investors supplying the other $14 million. Construction is expected to start on the project this fall. . .To work on construction in this province, a worker must have a certificate issued by the OCQ. Gerard Larochelle, who had a certificate prior to 1976 when the OCQ regulation came into force, can't get one now after working for several years in the States. He says he will appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada. GOOD LUCK, Gerard!. . .The Department of Social Affairs and its minister, Dr. Camille Laurin, are working on plans to get rid of the doctor shortage problem which now afflicts the more remote areas of the province. One firm decision has already been taken — to set up a "flying squad" of about 30 doctors over the next couple of months who can be dispatched to any area, on a moments notice, when an emergency doctor shortage develops . . .Liberal MNA André Bourbeau says that large quantities of wine are illegally sold in Quebec, and thus escape provincial tax. He wants to know why that happens, especially since it deprives the Quebec Treasury of about four dollars a bottle, and enables the buyer to get it for $1.25 instead of $5.00. Justice Minister Johnson replied that black market wine sales have been under investigation since December 1982. Fourteen people have pleaded guilty to 33 charges, some charges have been withdrawn, one person was acquitted, and one trial is still in progress. . .The federal government will build a $16 million optics research centre at Quebec City, according to an announcement by federal ministers Pierre Bussière and Donald Johnston. The Centre will be part of the National Research Council, and is expected to be ready for use in 1988, with a staff of 80 and an annual budget of $12 million. . .The University of Montreal completed a study last fall, for the federal department of the environment, which found that 12 percent of Quebec motorists whose cars require the use of unleaded gas, actually use leaded gas instead, in order to save the price differential. Some do it by enlarging the access point leading to the gas intake pipe. In other cases small nozzles have been provided at the pumps for the pumping of leaded gas. As of July 1, the latter practice will be illegal, and legislation will be sought to make it illegal to enlarge the gas tank opening on cars requiring lead-free gas. . .Last February a United Church minister, Rev Bob Hussey of St. Andrew's Church, Westmount, Que., opened a fund for assistance to Donald Marshall, a 30-year-old Nova Scotian who spent 11 years in prison for a murder he didn't commit. The target was $50,000, and on the eve of the Rev. Bob's departure from St. Andrews for St. John's in Moncton, cash and pledges have reached $49,000. . .The Quebec plowing match will take place this year at Alma (Lake St. John) on September 21, 22 and 23 . . .The Pro-Am Golf Championship will be held this coming August at the Royal Ottawa Golf Course on the Upper Aylmer Road. 52 senior golf pros will be joined by 156 amateurs (at $1,000 each) for the event, the only one in the 1984 senior PGA tour to be played in Canada. More than 20,000 spectators are expected to attend.

Letters to the editor

I was there

Dear Editor:

I was there 40 years ago on the beaches of Normandy, June 6, 1944. I joined the army exactly 3 years earlier with the S.D.G. Highlander 3rd Division, 9th Brigade.

I fought against the 12th S.S. Panzer Division and the 21st African Corps against Generals Rommel and Kurt Mier. I also fought at Hell's Corner where we were under heavy shelling for 9 straight hours. I fought in France for 32 days until we took the city of Cannes from the Germans. It was on the outskirts of this city that I was wounded. I was in different military hospitals for approximately 2½ years recovering from wounds.

I was born on Calumet Island, Quebec, May 19, 1915. My army name was "Shortie" better known as "Ceasar". Some of my friends came home but many never came back.

The late Alfier Newberry, the late Graham Smith and I fought side by side. We were the only three boys from the Pontiac, that I am aware of, who landed on the beach of Normandy, June 6, 1944. Should there have been others please contact me. God Bless them all.

Dear Editor:

A year ago I stood in a sweltering hot Civic Centre and watched the Tories choose Brian Mulroney as their leader.

This past weekend. I watched the Liberals in a much cooler Civic Centre choose John Turner as their leader.

The temperature contrast was not the only one I found between the two conventions.

A year ago the Tories were rowdy and tore up hell in Ottawa for a weekend. This year the Liberals were quiet and well-behaved to the point that even the Ottawa cabbies were commenting on it.

A year ago the Tories spent the weekend cutting up the other candidates and Liberal bashing. This year the Liberals were polite in their campaign tactics spending most of their time discussing policy differences. Oh yes, there were some pokes at the Tories, but for a Tory organizer waiting for the blood and gore to spill — it never happened. Liberals appear to basically like each other — at least a lot more than many Tories do.

So now, an election is in the offing and already political pundits are trying to stress that Mulroney and Turner are one and the same. In my opinion, they are nowhere near being political clones. Mulroney is a small "c" Conservative and Turner a middle of the road Liberal and so they will stay.

Certain segments of the media will attempt to clone them in the upcoming election campaign but follow their policy statements — they will be philosophies apart. The two men have different outlooks in the world and running against each other will force them to define these views more precisely than they might otherwise do.

All in all, I think we're looking at the most exciting upcoming election campaign this country has seen in years. Canadians this time are going to be given a clear choice of directions.

And don't worry about Jean Chrétien or his supporters undermining Turner. Chrétien won the delegates hearts and he'll remain a man of consequence in the party. Remember, Liberals basically like each other.

Lucille Hodgins.

Dear Editor:

The Pontiac Tourist Association held a meeting on Wednesday, June 13th, at Hotel-Motel Coulonge. As usual, this lively group had many good ideas to discuss related to the promotion of tourism in the Pontiac. Special guest, County Warden, Mr Gerald Dempsey, was very heipful in being able to provide immediate answers to some questions, and will be looking into other matters which require further research. It is always very encouraging to have guests at such meetings who can offer support through the sharing of ideas.

One very important point of discussion was the need to have good service, good quality and courtesy extended to patrons of any establishment whether it may be a restaurant, hardware store or a clothing store. This is the only way we can achieve repeat business whether it happens to be a tourist from out of country or a neighbour. The emphasis is, of course, that such good service will result in "word of mouth advertising" which will result in repeat business. If a tourist returns to his home town or country with fond memories of his stay in the Pontiac, he will most certainly tell his friends about the good times and will probably inspire others to try our good hospitality.

Not that I was intending to belabour the point about exemplary hospitality, but just as the group was about to call it a night our hostess, Violette Ladouceur, disappeared only to return moments later with trays of cheese, pickles and sandwiches. And, that was properly complemented with great home made cake. I would have thought that the ample supply of coffee and tea all evening would have been quite enough to expect. Again, on behalf of the Pontiac Tourist Association, I would like to express our appreciation, and suggest that this type of welcome will certainly result in return visits from tourists or local patrons.

Microbes may eliminate tooth decay

Around the World

By Elizabeth Dickson

Friendly microbes: Our bodies are inhabited by many different kinds of living organisms that can only be seen when magnified by a microscope. Most of these microbes co-exist with us in complete harmony. Some, like the Streptococcus mutans bacterial cells that take up residence in most people's mouths, cause harm. In this case the bacterial cells live off the sugar remaining in our mouths after we eat. That in itself wouldn't be a problem if the bacteria did not produce acid in the process of digesting the sugar. The acid eats into tooth enamel causing tooth decay.

Scientists have recently isolated a related strain of bacteria called TOVE-R which could eliminate tooth decay in future generations. TOVE-R grows happily in human mouths, does not produce acid and, by its presence, can prevent the acid-producing organism from establishing itself. Animal tests conducted at the University of Connecticut Health Center in Farmington, Connecticut, have shown that once the growth of TOVE-R becomes established, it is passed readily from mother to offspring. If human tests work out just as well, we could be headed for a time when losing your teeth as a result of tooth decay is just as uncommon as smallpox.

Toxic wastes: Over the past 40 years, chemical companies in North America have dumped hazardous chemicals in about 22,000 locations. Only in the past few years have environmental groups begun to comprehend the magnitude of the threat these dumps pose to our environment and our health. Clean-up will involve expenditure of billions of dollars and will require much more research on recovery and safe disposal of toxic wastes. The tendency of environmentalists, industrialists and politicians to fight each other on these issues has been a major obstacle to progress.

In a surprising move May 31, several major chemical companies — including Monsanto, Du Pont and Exxon — joined forces with environmentalists to set up a non-profit company called Clean Sites Inc to fight the problem with a common front. The company plans to spend about $10 million per year to support and extend Environmental Protection Agency efforts and to encourage those concerned to settle problems through negotiation rather than in court.

Marques sinks in 40 seconds: Despite all our advances during the 400 years since our ancestors risked their lives at sea in small wooden ships in attempts to find new land, the tenuous nature of life at sea has not really changed. This fact came into sharp focus Monday, June 4 when it was learned that the Marques, one of 42 tall ships involved in a race from Bermuda to Halifax, had been capsized in a strong wind that suddenly appeared out of nowhere. Only 9 of the 28 people aboard survived. The 36-meter ship sank in about 40 seconds just 78 nautical miles northeast of Bermuda at 4 a.m. Sunday, June 3.

The three-masted square-rigged ship was built 67 years ago in Spain, was used as Charles Darwin's ship in a U.S. television series, and was sponsored in this race by the British Sail Training Association. Although the ship carried plenty of life rafts to save all passengers and crew members, most were asleep below decks at the time of the accident.

D-Day: Thousands of veterans, historians, journalists and world leaders flocked to France's Normandy beaches June 6 to observe the 40th anniversary of D-Day. June 6, 1944, 150,000 men including 15,000 Canadians landed on a 50-mile stretch of this beach and broke through Hitler's line of defence.

Why so much cirrhosis? A study released recently by Canada's Department of Health and Welfare shows that deaths caused by cirrhosis of the liver are 95% higher than Canada's national average for men living in Hull. The incidence among Hull women is 45% higher than the national average. In Ottawa the rates for men and women are 30% and 20% higher, respectively.

John Turner wins

By Elizabeth Dickson

The other six are much more than "also rans"

NEW PM JUNE 30

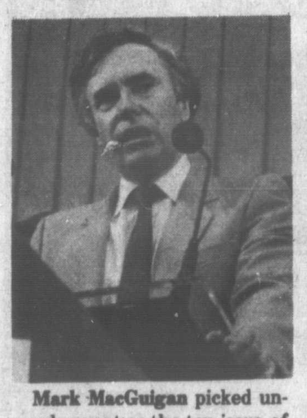
"What's the bottom line?" you ask. Well here it is. The Liberal Party of Canada has chosen a new leader from among seven contenders. Each one worked hard, dealt with issues, made a significant contribution to the campaign and leadership convention, and pledged support to the winner, John Turner.

The convention itself was fascinating as a piece of live theatre — so much to tell. I'll just have to hit a few highlights.

This was a race with a lot of talent in it. At least four of the contenders — Turner, Jean Chrétien, Don Johnston and John Roberts — would be creditable leaders. The other three all had serious issues to discuss which, through the leadership race, achieved a high profile that will ensure they got attention in coming months.

"My views reflect the views of the average Canadian . . ." said Eugene Whelan. "My deputy prime minister would be a woman and she would be in charge of fishing, agriculture and forestry . . . What can you do without food? You can do nothing without food . . ." Without exception, Mr. Whelan, who spent the least ($250,000) and won the fewest votes (84 out of 3435) won the admiration of his audiences as he travelled across Canada and circulated among delegates at the convention. His grass roots imagery and insistence on a better deal for the food producers, the poor and the uneducated of Canada won him a warm spot in the hearts of all.

John Munro's big issues were social programs, preservation of the environment and multiculturalism: "I believe it is the role of the Liberal Party to bring into the mainstream all the people who have been shut out," he said. Although he was fourth in terms of spending on his campaign ($750,000), he was second-last in number of votes (93).



Mark MacGuigan picked unemployment as the top issue of his campaign promising full employment within five years. He also recommended recruiting women to run for Parliament in the next election: "Give me 100 Liberal women and Mulroney won't stand a chance". He would also like the half of all Liberal Senators to be women and believes this could be accomplished rapidly if Senate reform takes place soon. In closing his comments Friday evening at the convention, he said "But we know we can't wait another 100 years for another Pierre Elliott Trudeau. Select a man who respects you, listens to you and shares your dreams". Mr. MacGuigan tied for fifth place in his spending ($500,000) and was fifth in number of votes won on the first ballot (135).

John Roberts impressed many delegates with his speech Friday night. "I do not believe that we should tiptoe quietly to the right," he began. He expressed the hope that our Parliament would be a true reflection of our population by the end of this decade with 50% women and members whose last names are Singh, Suza, Sung, Sanchez . . ." He made a plea for delegates to "vote not just for electoral success, but for the heritage of our party".

Next on the roster of Friday evening's speakers came Don Johnston — the ideas man — who alone during the early phase of the campaign egged the other delegates into addressing concrete issues. "The Tories are now finding out that beauty is only chin deep" he said, reminding delegates that this should not be a beauty contest. His speech lacked the punch and freshness of many of his previous communications. "Help me make something exciting and unexpected happen here this weekend", he ended. The next day he won 278 votes in the first ballot and 192 in the second. He was in third place in both spending ($800,000) and votes.

Up until this point in the evening, candidates had spoken in an order which was an exact reverse of their rank in the votes the next day — even though the order had been determined by drawing lots.

The exception came with John Turner who was second to last to speak, spent the most on his campaign ($1,400,000) and won 1593 and then 1862 votes in the first and second ballots. it is the best speech he has ever given. He lauded Prime Minister Trudeau for his remarkable record, stated full support for universal social programs, better training for the young and unemployed, more women in public office, equality of access for all Canadians to available opportunities . . . He settled so many issues. He would encourage small and medium businesses, support the family farm, do everything in his power to make the West a true partner in confederation, ensure that Quebecers continue to occupy important positions in the party and the government . . . In closing he promised "If you give me your trust tomorrow, we'll make the Liberal party a truly national party once more . . . With your help we will mobilize a new confederation together".

Finally Jean Chrétien, "second in the vote but first in our hearts" as party president, Iona Campagnolo expressed it the next day. He ranked second in both spending ($1,200,000) and votes (1067 and 1368) on the 1st and 2nd ballots). He pledged to lead Quebecers to sign the constitution act, to enshrine the Charter of Rights in our daily lives, to protect franco minorities outside Quebec and anglo minorities within Quebec. "I will lead one nation: strong, free and united . . . I offer a new form of government — close to the people — a leader to bring people together". He urged people to vote with their hearts and reminded them that the winner of the race would be "first, foremost and above all a Canadian". When he said "there is no part of Canada that I would not be proud to call home" listeners knew it was true.

At 5:15 Saturday when the 1st ballot results were announced the writing was on the wall. John Turner needed only 125 more votes to win. At 5:20, Mr. Whelan threw his support to Jean Chrétien. Seven minutes later Mark MacGuigan went over to Mr. Turner. At 5:31 and 5:39 Mr. Munro and then Mr. Roberts joined Mr. Chrétien.

Emotion mounted steadily until about 9 p.m. when the second ballot results were announced. Although all candidates except Mr. Whelan were eligible to remain in the race, only Turner, Chrétien and Johnston chose to do so. John Turner won 150 more votes than he needed to win a clear majority. The long race had suddenly ended.

As is the tradition in the Liberal Party, all contenders made their ways to the stage, struggling with the emotion of the moment, put on brave faces and joined delegates in a unanimous vote of support for the new leader.

With the strength of all of these talented and dedicated politicians "on side", the coming confrontation with Canada's Progressive Conservatives promises to be an exciting battle.

Was this a comment on the contenders? Surely not!

ENVIRONMENT NEEDS HELP

On Thursday night, June 7, Environment Minister Charles Caccia received an award from environmental groups in recognition of his efforts to reduce acid rain. During the same week, an all-party House of Commons committee released a report recommending that Canada shape up before telling Americans to clean up their act.

In particular, the committee noted that U.S. emission standards for lead are three times tougher than those of Canada. It recommended tougher standards for Canada for the 1986 model year.

The committee also proposed tax incentives to encourage the smelting industry to reduce acid rain producing pollution and recommended the federal government spend almost half a billion dollars to subsidize installation of equipment to reduce sulphur and nitric oxide emissions.

Mr. Caccia and Transport Minister Lloyd Axworthy announced that Canada would toughen lead emission standards to match those in the U.S. by 1986 and would also establish a commission to study the problem to determine where policy should go from there when the time arrives.

As far as acid rain is concerned, the Environment Minister reminded the committee that Canada had already made significant progress with a reduction of 15% in emissions since 1980 and targets of 25% and 50% in 1990 and 1994, respectively.

FINISH HOUSE BUSINESS

Members of Parliament agreed unanimously last week that beginning Monday, June 18, they would sit through lunch every day and until 9 p.m. in an attempt to complete work on several bills before the summer break at the end of June. This gives them an additional four hours of work every day.

Among bills to be considered are the civilian intelligence agency bill, a bill to increase pension payments for the elderly poor, one to ensure greater accountability of Crown Corporations and another to establish a federally funded peace institute.

In addition, there is hope for enough time to pass an amendment to the Divorce Act, a bill to protect homeowners from large increases in mortgage payments and amendments to the Labour Code and Criminal Code.

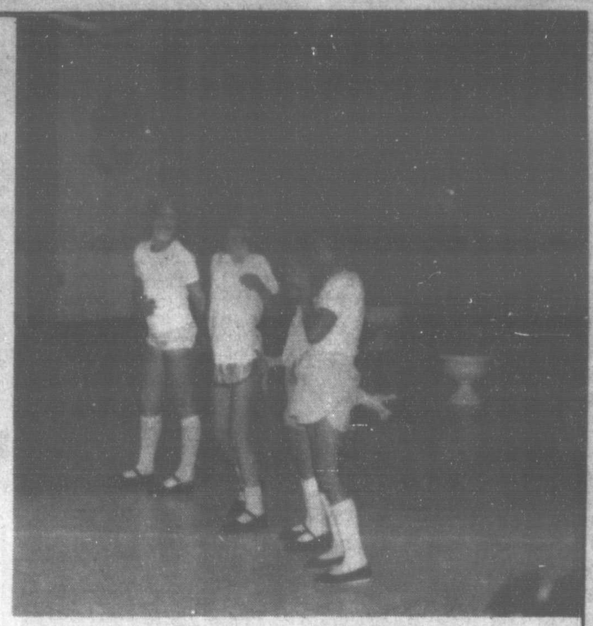
Ostrom dancers' concert at Bryson

The students of Eldon Ostrom showed that the art of stepdancing is alive and well in Pontiac as they held their fourth annual dancing recital on Friday, June 8th at the Bryson Lions Hall. Mrs Aldoraise Ricard acted as Mistress of Ceremonies and the musicans were Carl Ostrom, Brent Ostrom and George Taylor.

The dancers, from five years of age and up, step danced, with the group from Bryson doing a square dance and the Calumet Island group doing the "Duck Dance". The audience was very appreciative and gave the youngsters a number of standing ovations, but the highlight of the evening for the dancers was the presentation of diplomas for this year's achievements. Receiving diplomas were Nicole Bédard, Chantal Gravelle, Guylaine Lasalle, Paula Larue, Edith Lavallée, Tammy Lamothe, Natalie Ladouceur, Jeffrey Lepine, Nicole Ouellet, Paula Romain, Suzanne Romain, Louise Ricard, Sarah Ryan, and Heather Stewart with adult diplomas going to Pierette Lalonde and Elsie Stanley.

During the evening the audience was entertained by guest singers Alice Ostrom, Pâquerette Ostrom and Lynn Robitaille and guest dancers John Langford and Grace Beauchamp. The audience participated in round and square dancing which also included a special waltz by Freddie Piche and Mrs Fred Coyne who was the oldest lady present.

The door prize donated by Langford's Groceries, Shawville, was won by Berthe Dumouchel.



The Duck Dance featured youngsters Paula Larue, Sara Ryan and Guylaine Lasalle.

Summer camp fun at Au Grand Bois

Au Grand Bois will again be offering resident summer camp programs to children, teens, and adults. The Au Grand Bois Resource Centre is located on a beautiful five hundred acre semi-wilderness site near Ladysmith. Here, for the past three summers, children have taken part in lots of interesting, fun activities in a caring, cooperative environment, under the supervion of Arlene and Leonard Prost.

The camp's programs and various adult workshops reflect a desire to encourage a respect for and understanding of each other and our natural environment. Hiking, swimming and canoeing, nature awareness, non-competitive games and sports, tree house building, and woodworking are some of the varied activities. All camp sessions feature natural, wholesome, vegetarian food which campers help prepare.

Last summer adults were able to take part in a variety of workshops which included Herbs for Health and Pleasure, Tofu making, Angora Rabbits, and the Art of Woodcuts.

The past weekend a group of teenagers camped at Au Grand Bois and helped assemble a small log cabin. They were a great bunch of workers and the cabin will be used this summer as a bunkhouse.

Au Grand Bois will offer two camp sessions for teens this summer. Some activities planned are the assembling of a geodesic dome, pottery, skits, woodworking, natural cosmetics, swimming and breakdancing..

Future plans for the Au Grand Bois Centre include fall and winter camping sessions and a "hands-on" maple sugar bush operation.

This year's activities began with the construction of a log cabin by a group of teenagers. Laird Keith demonstrates the technique of dovetailing the squared timbers to Gerald Stewart (left) and Luc Bastien (center).

Bibliothèque et piscine à Aylmer

Le Conseil des commissaires de la C.S.R.O. a mandaté ses administrateurs à entreprendre immédiatement les démarches nécessaires, en collaboration avec la ville d'Aylmer, pour doter la clientèle de l'école secondaire Grande-Rivière d'un bibliothèque et d'une piscine semi-olympique.

Selon le président de la c.s.r.o., monsieur Bruno Bonneville, l'espace qui est utilisé présentement comem bibliothèque scolaire pourrait servir de locaux de classe, si la municipalité donne suite à son projet d'aménager une bibliothèque à proximité de l'école.

La C.S.R.O. demandera des subventions spéciales à ce sujet au ministère de l'Education, compte tenu que le Gouvernment met des ommes d'argent à la disposition des commissions scolaires pour ce genre de projet communautaire.

Assurance - stabilization veaux de grain

En effet, suite à l'announce faite le 3 avril dernier par le ministre de l'Agriculture des Pêcheries et de l'Alimentation du Québec, M. Jean Garon, décrétant les paiements finals pour les régimes d'assurance-stabilisation touchant la production bovine, les 16 producteurs de veaux de grain de la région ont reçu ces jours derniers $53,655. Cette indemnité représente $37.39 par tête assurée, de laquelle a été prélevée la cotisation pour l'année d'assurance 1984. Une avance avait déja été versée au mois d'octobre 1983, totalisant $86,100 à raison de $60 par veau. La compensation totale de $97.39 par veau pour la région de l'Outaouais se répartit comme suit dans le comté de Pontiac: 16 producteurs, 1,435 têtes assurées, $86,000 déjà versée, $53,655 en compensation finale, $139,755 en totale.

Mouvements du personnel

Le gel de la tâche des enseignants réclamé par tous a été accepté par le Ministère.

Suite à l'entente provinciale et à la ratification de cette entente au niveau local, les mouvements du personnel enseignant ont dû être repris entièrement.

L'opération "école par école" est terminée. Nous sommes en plein processus. Le tout se déroule normalement grâce à la collaboration étroite des écoles. Nous prévoyons que le tout se fera dans les délais prèvus et dans l'harmonie.

Le coût sera $13.00.

Ce module sera donné par Association Chasse et Pêche Cadieux Inc.

Il est préférable de s'inscrire avant la date du cours auprès de l'organisme ou de l'instructeur: M. Maurice Essiambre, 648-3222.

Planification des efectifs personnel de soutien

Des rencontres avec le Syndicat du personnel de soutien n'ont pas donné les résultats escomptés concernant, les mouvements de personnels suite à la fermeture de l'école Gamlin, à l'ouverture de la nouvelle école de la Promenade et au déménagement de l'école D'Arcy McGee.

Après une analyse plus exhaustive, le Syndicate a proposé à la Commission de regarder de nouveau la possibilité d'une entente concernant les mouvements de personnels dans le même esprit que nous avions vécu l'an dernier.

Nous sommes présentement en discussion avec les responsables des unités administratives, les personnes concernées et le Syndicat pour arriver à procéder dans les plus brefs délais aux affectations, mutatio délaid aux affectations, mutations pour l'ensemble des personnels concernés.

Nous souhaitons revivre l'expérience très positive de l'an dernier. On pense être capable de satisfaire les besoins des gens et de l'organisation dans une très grande proportion.

SANFTENBERG - In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Mae, who passed away June 22, 1979.
The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day.
But never will the one we loved
From memory pass away.
Every hour we dearly miss her.
Sadly do we feel her loss;
Lonely is our home without her
Help us, Lord, to bear the cross.
Remembered with great love and sadly missed.
Janet, George and girls XJN20

LAGARDE - In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Winnifred, who passed away on June 20, 1977.

With which we never part,
God has her in his keeping,
We have her in our hearts.
Sadly missed by Lorenzo, Bea and Lise. BJN20

LANCE — In fond and loving memory of a dear mother, Mrs Rachel Lance, who passed away June 22, 1982.

IN MEMORY

DOYLE - In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Lydia who passed away June 22, 1975.
God saw that you were getting tired,
A cure was not to be
He wrapped you in His loving arms
And whispered, "Come with me".
You suffered much in silence,
Your spirit did not bend,
You faced your path with courage,
Until the very end.
You tried so hard to stay with us,
Your fight was all in vain,
God took you to His loving home
And freed you from all pain.
Sadly missed by Martina, Norm and family BJN20

Always a secret longing
Wishing Lorne you were here.

DOYLE - In loving memory of a dear mother, Lyda, who passed away June 22nd, 1975.
In a quiet country graveyard,
Where the gentle breezes blow
Lies the one we love so dearly,
And lost nine years ago.
Her resting place we visit
And put flowers there with care
But no one knows the heartache
As we turn and leave her there.
They say time heals all sorrow
And helps us to forget,
But time so far has only proved
How much we miss her yet.

Starks Corners W.I.

by Janey MacDougall
Secretary

The Stark's Corners W.I. met at the home of Edith Elliott on June 13. Our President, Claire Wilson opened with an inspirational reading, followed by Ode and Collect. Our June roll call was "Name a Canadian Magazine you enjoy and Ditty Dag Donations". Fourteen people responded.

Moved by Iva Elliott seconded by Ruby Smart that we send $5.00 per member to "Canada Save the Children Fund".

Moved by Lynn Lang seconded by Winnifred Smart that we make a donation of $200. to Eastern Ontario Children's Hospital.

Convenors reports. Home Ec. and Health Convenor, Lynn Lang brought some interesting books that were distributed at the MRC meeting in Shawville recently. International Affairs convenor, Marion Bretzlaff reported that Gov. Gen. Madame Sauvé had tea with Queen Elizabeth recently. Can. Industries Convenor, Edith Elliott reported that her biggest industry lately has been killing mosquitos.

In the absence of our Agriculture Convenor, we had some interesting garden tips from some of our "green thumbed" members — Sprinkle Diesel Fuel on carrots after they are just up to kill weeds, being careful not to put any on other vegetables as it will kill them. One Tablespoon of Epsom Salts under tomato plants when planting results in beautiful tomatoes.

We had a lengthy discussion on the annual strawberry supper and finally decided on Wednesday, July 4, 4:30 - 7:00 p.m. Food donations were also decided upon.

We also discussed the Fair display.

Our president, Claire Wilson gave an interesting report on the W.I. Convention in Montreal that she and Jean Whelen attended recently. Moved by Ruby Smart seconded by Orla Fletcher that we pay $50.00 towards expenses.

Meeting adjourned. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Edith and Isobel Elliott.

St. Joseph's Ladies Auxiliary

Sunday, June 3rd the Ladies Auxiliary of St Joseph's Manor in Campbell's Bay held their 14th annual spring tea.

Once again it was an ideal sunny afternoon which was an asset to the success of this event.

Many of the residents of the Manor were joined by members of their family which truly makes this afternoon a very enjoyable one for them.

Mrs Agnes Kluke, President, welcomed the guests and Mrs L Chenier, Treasurer, received the donations at the door.

The tea table was very attractive with a beautiful floral centerpiece with contrasting candles and serviettes.

Some members of the Auxiliary served in the tea room and looked after the preparations in the kitchen. They were joined by friends whose help was most deeply appreciated.

Mrs Jean Finlan was in charge of the following presiders: Mrs Mary Hearty, Mrs Agnes Kluke, Mrs June Larose, Mrs Rocky Findlay, Mrs Sylvia Hodgins, Mrs Mary Vibert, Mrs Genevieve Cahill.

The members of the Auxiliary are grateful to the many people who attended. Without their help the many extras that are given to the residents would not be possible as this is the only fund raising event that the Auxiliary has each year.
