World News In Brief

Moscow, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Pravda assailed the Soviet monthly magazine Physical Culture and Sport today for not doing enough to stimulate Russian athletes to break more records and win more world championships.

The top communist newspaper said one of the faults was the failure of the magazine to publish enough essays on ideological and political questions.

London, Jan. 6.—(Reuters)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today reported to the cabinet on the latest moves to settle the 18-month-old Anglo-Iranian oil dispute.

Iran at present is considering a United States plan for distribution of its oil through a group of international companies. It has marketed little or no oil since it nationalized the British-owned industry.

The plan depends on Iran's agreement to submit the full compensation claims of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company to international arbitration.

Auckland, N.Z., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Godfrey Bowen, 32, sheared 456 sheep by machine today in nine hours and claimed a world record.

The shearing was supervised by three timekeepers and three justices of the peace on a farm near Palmerston north. The previous New Zealand record was 409 sheep in nine hours.

Edinburgh, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Fancy head scarves giving Britain's young monarch the title of "Elizabeth II" instead of Elizabeth II were a big selling item today in Edinburgh stores.

The novelty was the promotion scheme of the Scottish Covenant Association, a leading nationalist group, which claims this is the rightful title since Scotland was an independent kingdom when the first Queen Bess ruled over England.

Belgrade, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Yugopress, semi-official news agency, reported today that an explosion in Bucharest's big textile store in Ober market recently killed and injured many customers and staff.

The agency said Romanian troops were posted around the area for several days while the store remained closed. It said news of the explosion was withheld from the radio and press. Instead signs were posted outside the building saying, "closed for inventory."

Taipeh, Formosa, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Ta Tao news agency, sponsored by the Chinese nationalist minister of interior, charged today that 50,000 Soviet-trained Japanese troops are being made ready for action in Korea.

Many of the stories which the agency distributes are based on information which the ministry gets from underground sources in the communist China mainland. Some prove accurate.

Manila, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Several light earthquakes shook the southern Philippines area in the last 24 hours but did no damage, the government geophysical department said.

Churchill And Eisenhower Maintain Silence After Holding Dinner Meeting

Appeals For Rosenbergs Stepped Up

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—A stepped-up campaign aimed at sparing a husband and wife atom spy team from the electric chair was promised today amid fresh denunciations of the drive as communist-inspired.

Focus of the campaign was the White House. That is because the only remaining hope for Julius and Ethel Rosenberg is clemency from President Truman or his successor, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Placard-carrying pickets, who first appeared at the White House on Dec. 27, paraded in swelling numbers yesterday. One of their spokesmen said the picket line numbered as high as 1,500. The picket line was maintained throughout the night, although its numbers fell off to less than a dozen.

The pickets said they represented the Committee to Obtain Justice in the Rosenberg Case—a group strongly backed by the communist party's paper, The Daily Worker. Its chief argument of the campaign is that no death sentences have been meted out in the United States for similar offenses in the past.

David Alman, executive secretary of the committee, said a survey of activity in Washington yesterday heralded a country-wide drive to save the Rosenbergs from the electric chair.

Alman, at a press conference, described himself as a New York novelist and said he has been working fulltime for the last 18 months on behalf of the Rosenbergs. He said approximately 2,500 persons came to the capital yesterday in behalf of the campaign. Delegations, he said, called on about 100 members of Congress to urge intervention at the White House.

There were other demonstrations around the world including Canada.

Ottawa, Jan. 6.—(AP)—"Save the Rosenbergs" picketers kept marching outside the United States embassy all through last night in a demonstration to have President Truman commute the death sentences of the convicted atom spies.

For most of the night, with temperatures as low as eight degrees above zero, two-man shifts kept a constant patrol. For most of the time their only audience was a city constable—relays of officers have been stationed at the embassy since the picketing began yesterday morning.

The RCMP said the picketing is communist-inspired.

Rev. Glendon F. Partridge of Montreal, chairman of "The National Committee to Save the Rosenbergs," said the picketing will continue until some action is taken on the request for commutation of the death sentences passed on Julius and Ethel Rosenberg. They have been granted a conditional stay of execution pending an appeal to the President.

Mr. Partridge, a native of Charlottetown, P.E.I., describes himself as a Presbyterian minister without any parish.

British Prime Minister And U. S. President-Elect May Confer Again.

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
 New York, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill and president-elect Eisenhower dined together last night and conferred at length, but both kept silent on any conclusions they may have reached on world problems.

There was a possibility that the British leader and Eisenhower would meet again before Churchill goes to Washington—probably Thursday—for a conference with President Truman.

Churchill and Eisenhower—old friends—got together at the Manhattan home of Bernard Baruch. Churchill is Baruch's guest during his stay in New York.

The possible topics of conversation include the Korean war, Prime Minister Stalin's recently-indicated willingness to meet with Eisenhower and Britain's economic problems.

Eisenhower's headquarters said it had no information on whether the President-elect might have a statement today. In reply to inquiries, an aide to the General left open the possibility of another meeting before Churchill leaves the city, but said there was no definite word on that.

Eisenhower and Churchill met twice after the Prime Minister's arrival from England aboard the liner Queen Mary yesterday morning.

A few moments after Eisenhower arrived the first time, photographers were called in and later described the scene in Baruch's apartment.

Eisenhower, the camera men said, told the 78-year-old Churchill: "You look much better than when I saw you last."

The last time was in December, 1951, when Churchill called on the General at his headquarters near Paris. Eisenhower then was supreme commander of western Europe's defence forces.

James C. Hagerly, Eisenhower's press secretary, said Baruch left the room with the photographers and Eisenhower and Churchill then conferred alone.

Smiling broadly, Eisenhower ducked quickly into his waiting car when he left at 6:45 P.M. He got a burst of applause from a crowd which had gathered in the street, but he said nothing.

On his return for dinner, about 75 pickets representing an anti-British organization known as the Irish-American Minute Men were parading near the doorway of Baruch's home. The General gave no sign that he noticed them.

The pickets carried placards saying "Windy Winnie blew in for another five billion dollars." "There will always be an England with her hand out." "U.S. has the best friends money can buy."

"England is called the 'mother country' because she is always exporting."

A woman standing near the door applauded Eisenhower and called out: "I like Winnie and you like Winnie."

The President-elect grinned and hustled inside.

Mrs. Eisenhower did not accompany the General because of a cold. Others at dinner with Churchill, Eisenhower and Baruch were: Mrs. Churchill, Capt. Christopher Soames, Conservative party Member of Parliament and husband of Churchill's daughter, Mary; Sarah Churchill, another daughter, and navy Capt. Bernard M. Baruch, Jr. Mary accompanied her parents from England but had another engagement last evening.

Eisenhower left the house alone at 11 p.m., carrying what appeared to be a bulky book under his arm. He was smiling again but gave reporters no chance to question him about his talks with Churchill.

While there was no word on what Eisenhower and Churchill discussed, the Prime Minister at a press conference yesterday talked about subjects which may have come up at the later meetings with the President-elect.

Churchill told reporters he is opposed to any extension of the Korean war. Churchill said the "centre of gravity" for world peace "lies along the frontiers of the Iron Curtain in Europe" and not in Korea.

Montreal Stores Ignore Holiday

Montreal, Jan. 6.—(AP)—A special 100-man police squad made cases against Montreal retail stores which opened today—feast of the Epiphany—ignoring a city by-law ordering them to remain closed on Roman Catholic holy days.

Seven large department stores, which successfully challenged the city by-law, were open. A Superior Court judgment last year ruled the municipal by-law and the provincial statute on which it was based ultra vires. The city has appealed and judgment is pending. Until it is given, the by-law is in effect.

Capt. Marius Belec, head of the special squad, said he expects many stores to open.

The stores were warned several days ago that the law was still in effect and we would take action if they opened. We don't believe this will stop them from doing business today.

Broadcast Fees Draw Protests

Ottawa, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Privately-owned radio stations today continue their opposition before the Copyright Appeal Board to fees proposed for broadcast use of works in the repertoire of the Composers Authors and Publishers Association of Canada.

The publicly-owned CBC told the Board yesterday it has no objections to the fees proposed by CAPAC for this year.

In its only decision yesterday, the Board agreed to postpone indefinitely the fixing of CAPAC fees to be paid by television stations.

The CAPAC list of copyright fees for 1953 proposed that television stations pay $500 a month until agreement can be reached on a permanent tariff. Peter Wright, counsel for CBC which operates TV stations in Montreal and Toronto, said all parties had agreed that the television fee should be allowed to stand indefinitely.

Some general objections were heard to the fees charged privately-owned radio stations.

Until last year these fees were based on the number of radio receiving sets in Canada. In 1952 the Board ordered private stations to pay CAPAC 1 1/2 per cent of gross revenue. The CBC was ordered to pay 1 1/2 per cent of commercial revenues plus one cent per capita of population.

A decision now is pending in the Exchequer Court of Canada on whether the Copyright Appeal Board has power to base the fees on station revenues.

It was estimated the change would increase the charge against private stations to $350,000 compared with $150,000 in 1951. The charge against the CBC would increase to $170,000 from $150,000.

Willard Z. Estey, of Toronto, counsel for the Musical Protective Society of Canada, said the society's members—most commercial music users in Canada except the CBC—would agree to fees based on revenues only if the existence of the users was threatened.

Mr. Estey also urged that fees be fixed for a period and not be subject to change every year.

Mr. Justice J. T. Thorson, chairman of the Board, said the Board has recommended to the government that fees remain unchanged until some good reason could be given for a change.

U.S. Army Desertions "Alarming"

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 6.—(AP)—The Louisville Times reported today that desertions from the armed forces of the United States have reached "alarming proportions."

The situation has become so bad, the newspaper said in a copyrighted article, that a well-informed army colonel called it "a national disgrace."

It said the wave of runaways is motivated, in a large number of cases, by the desires of young men to get dishonorably discharged and avoid service in Korea.

In Kentucky alone, the article said, from 3,000 to 4,000 deserters are tracked down each year and other hundreds still roam the country.

It quoted military men as saying the situation is proportionately as bad in the other 47 states. Accurate figures on the other states are unavailable, because the defence department has refused to make them public.

The Times said it had learned, however, that since the fall of 1950, the Fort Knox stockade seldom has contained fewer than 400 to 600 prisoners, "practically all of them deserters and AWL's."

Richard Harwood, Times staff writer who wrote the article, said: "As of two months ago, at least 700 soldiers and sailors were hiding out in Kentucky cities, on farms and in rural communities. Some of them deserted years ago. Some of them live almost like animals in caves and abandoned coal mines. Many of them are protected and hidden by relatives and friends."

Nationally, Harwood wrote, enough facts are known to justify the estimate of some military men that on any given day of the year enough able-bodied men to make up two complete combat divisions are classified as deserters or AWL. That indicates a permanent force of runaways numbering 25,000 to 30,000 men.

Students Given TV Lessons As Strike Closes Schools

Baltimore, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Playing hookey from school today was largely a matter of flicking the television dial for most youngsters in this metropolis of empty classrooms and bulging garbage cans.

Stymied by a strike of city employees including school janitors and garbage collectors, teachers embarked on a grand experiment—teaching some 80,000 boys and girls—60 per cent of Baltimore's public school enrollment—by television.

All three Baltimore stations—WMAR, WBAL-TV, and WAAM—offered time and technicians for "teleteaching."

Each station will beam studio-living room courses for the duration of the strike.

The situation began taking shape New Year's day, when more than 3,000 city workers went on strike for higher pay.

Since then, sanitation officials estimate, almost 1,000 tons of garbage have been piling up daily in garbage cans and makeshift containers through the city.

Yesterday 174 public schools reopened after Christmas vacation.

One-hundred and four were closed after brief morning sessions because their janitors had joined the strike and classrooms were cold.

Pupils sent home from the cold buildings were given homework and told to report again today.

Dr. William H. Lemmel, superintendent of public instruction, said they would be instructed to stop in daily through the strike to get more homework to combine with their TV courses.

Mayor Thomas d'Alesandro huddled until the wee hours for the third straight night with representatives of the AFL teamsters union without reporting any agreement on a new contract.

The city offered a two-year contract providing a 10-cent hourly differential for night and swing-shift workers, with a general raise in 1954 to match any rise in the cost of living between now and then.

Large Dutch Passenger Ships Collide

Amsterdam, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Two big Netherlands passenger ships with a total of 1,750 persons aboard collided today in the Red Sea near Port Sudan. The ships occurred but the ships were seriously damaged.

They were the 22,600-ton Willem Ruys of the Royal Rotterdam Lloyd Company and the 20,000-ton Oranje of the steamship company Nederland. The Willem Ruys is the second biggest Dutch vessel afloat and the Oranje next in size.

Despite the damage, they were able to continue at slow speed, a joint statement from the owners said.

The Willem Ruys was en route from Jakarta, Indonesia, to Rotterdam with 850 passengers. The Oranje was bound from Amsterdam for Indonesia with 900 passengers.

Details of the accident were not available here. Port Sudan is about midway in the Red Sea. The Willem Ruys was on her way to the passage through the Suez Canal and the Oranje had passed through the great water-way on her trip to Indonesia.

The Willem Ruys had been expected in Suez Thursday. She will be examined there and probably go to Port Said for emergency repairs. The Oranje had been scheduled to make her first stop in Colombo.

Buenos Aires, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The 7,723-ton Spanish vessel Monte Urbasa collided in the early morning darkness off Buenos Aires today with the 8,192-ton Danish tanker Rosa Maersk. A crew member aboard the Spanish ship was killed and two Chilean student passengers were injured.

Tokyo, Jan. 6.—(AP)—A Japanese freighter sank in the inland sea between Honshu and Shikoku islands without loss of life today after a collision with a Norwegian ship of 7,027 tons, the Toulouse.

Kyodo news agency said the Norwegian ship suffered little damage and rescued 29 crew members of the 827-ton Dairu Maru.

27 Are Killed In British Airline Crash At Belfast

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Salvage squads with geiger counters hunted today for a box of "highly dangerous" radium in the wreckage of a British airliner that crashed at Belfast's airport last night killing 27 persons including a year-old baby.

Seven other passengers were injured. All but two of the dead were Britons.

The radium was being flown to Belfast radiotherapy clinic. Rescuers were warned "if the box has burst, don't touch the contents. They are highly dangerous."

A horrified crowd of relatives and friends saw the twin-engine British European Airway plane hit a beacon tower, careen against the airport's radio control building and crumple in flames on the main runway.

Wreckage was scattered up to 150 yards away. One engine buried itself 40 yards from the crash.

Only one of the 85 persons aboard the ill-fated craft—steward Jack Young, 26, of Belfast—escaped unhurt. He was flung from the tail section into a muddy ditch when the plane broke up.

Two Kansas teachers were killed. They were Miss Duores Grifin, 30, and Miss Elda J. Duerksen, 28.

The plane was on a regularly-scheduled flight from London to Notts Corner field, 14 miles from here. It made a normal landing approach at 9:40 p.m. until it was about 50 feet off the ground. Then it ripped into the beacon mast.

The impact hurled the plane against the control building, silencing all the airport's radio transmitters. The battered airliner then bounded on to the runway and burst into flames 200 yards from the airport lounge where the waiting members of Congress and relatives were gathered.

A screaming, panic-stricken girl ran from the wreckage with her clothing afire. Rescuers chased her 300 yards before they were able to catch her and take her to hospital.

Working by automobile headlights and hastily-erected arc lamps, fire squads extinguished the flames and removed the dead and injured.

"When we reached the wreckage, bodies were strewn around the aircraft and some people were hanging half in and half out of plane," said W. H. M. Clelland, a Belfast resident who came to meet a passenger.

There was no immediate indication how the plane happened to hit the beacon mast.

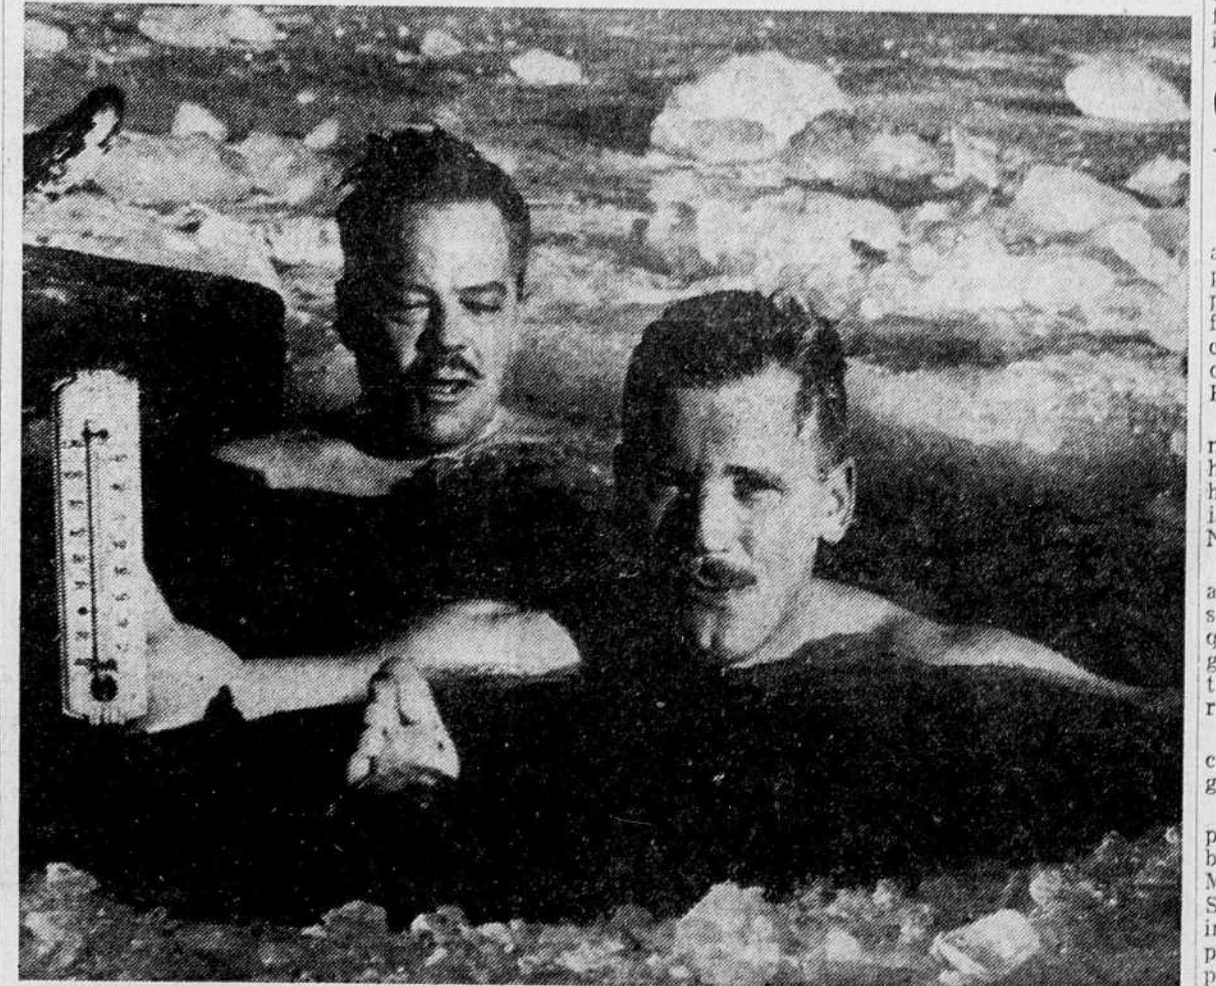

Young, the only crew member to survive, said "everything was normal" as the plane approached for the landing.

"The passengers had fastened their safety belts when suddenly there was a terrific crash like a bomb in a blitz," he added. "The next thing I knew I was lying in a muddy ditch."

Officials of the ministry of civil aviation flew to Belfast today to hold an official inquiry into the crash—the first big air wreck in the United Kingdom in nearly a year.

It was the first major BEA crash since October, 1950 and broke the accident-free record of Britain's nationalized airlines which up to last night had not killed or seriously injured a passenger in well over a year.

During 1952 BEA carried 1,300,000 passengers without a casualty.

Convertibility Possibility Worries U.S. Congressman

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Senator Everett Dirksen (Rep. Ill.) predicted today that "hell will pop" in Congress if any proposal for the United States to support convertibility of the British pound comes out of the Churchill-Eisenhower conference.

Dirksen told a reporter he does not believe President-elect Eisenhower made any commitments in his conversations with Prime Minister Churchill at a meeting in New York yesterday.

"Nevertheless," the Illinois Senator said, "I shall be interested to see whether Mr. Churchill subsequently makes any proposal for a gift of American gold to support the convertibility of Britain's currency."

"If anything of that nature comes up they will pop in Congress, I'm sure."

While Churchill has made no public mention of it, there have been reports the British Prime Minister would like to have United States' financial support for an international stabilization fund to permit the free exchange of pounds into any other currency of the free world.

(At the Commonwealth Prime Minister's conference last month a communique issued at its conclusion said that sterling convertibility must be reached by stages and depends on internal policies of Commonwealth countries, favorable world trading policies and "the availability of adequate financial support through the international monetary fund or otherwise.")

Publicly, Churchill has concerned himself more directly with the theme that U.S. tariffs are impeding trade and hampering Britain's efforts to earn her own living with "trade, not aid."

While Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, the new Senate majority leader, indicated he favors extension of the reciprocal trade agreements act in about its present form, some other Republicans held out little hope for any considerable tariff cuts. The act permits the administration to cut import duties, in exchange for similar concessions from other countries.

Senator Homer Capehart (Rep. Ind.) said Congress will want to "take a good look" at any tariff reduction proposals.

Along with others, Capehart predicted that Congress will cut foreign aid substantially in this session. This could involve a major financial blow to Britain, if other forms of American assistance are not forthcoming.

PAULETTE SNIFFS AT DYE, BLEACH; INNER WOMAN CAPTIVATES MEN

Hollywood—Exclusively Yours: Blondes and redheads are leading the movie ziz parade, but brunette Paulette Goddard, making her first movie in Hollywood in three years, won't be reaching for the peroxide or henna bottles.

"The shade of a girl's hair is no more exciting to a man than the color of her fingernails," she said. "Only the inner woman can start the fire."

On the theory, no doubt, that extreme décolletage helps reveal the inner woman, Paulette, in a low-cut gown, was revealing a great deal of the inner Paulette for a scene in "Harness Bull," in which she plays a sexy escort-bureau queen.

Paulette's hiding her $250,000 collection of jewels to play a working girl in a TV film series, "White Collar Girl," which Anita Loos is writing and she told me: "Believe me, it's not type casting. But I've made quite a study of working girls."

California's still Paulette's legal residence but after three years of movie-making in Mexico and Europe she says "Home is wherever my luggage is."

Edgar Bergen's admitting he lost a hunk of green stuff with his independent film, "Charlie McCarthy and Mortimer Snerd in Sweden." The 35-minute color film was snipped down to 20 minutes and released by Warners.

"I finally got enough out of it to pay for the cameraman's salary," Bergen told me. "My salary for one day is more than I got out of the picture."

But Bergen's cheerfully digging into his wealthy wallet for the second year to stand a major share of the expense for Edgar Bergen's Operation Santa Claus—gifts for wounded servicemen.

Batching Is Bitter June Haver, who has been a bachelor girl ever since her short-lived marriage to Jimmy Zito, is ducking the romance department with:

"I'm not thinking of marriage at all. It's better sometimes not to be married when you're young."

Charles Winninger in a TV revival of Captain Andy of "Showboat" fame? The idea is cooking. Playing a sea captain in Republic's "Perilous Voyage." Winninger told me: "I created the part on Broadway, played it on the screen and radio and I think Captain Andy would be wonderful on TV."

Silver-haired Charlie—"I'm 62 but I always say I'm 60"—is as confused as everybody on why Joe E. Brown landed the role in MGM's recent remake of the Edna Ferber classic. "I guess they were afraid I'd ask for too much money. I didn't see the film but people say they missed me."

On working with Vera Ralston in "Voyage," Charlie said: "You know something? This girl is a good little actress."

Fernando Lamas, at the Lux Theater rehearsal, asked Jack Carson: "How many languages do you speak?" Carson flipped back: "English—and that's the one you don't!"

Scraps Of Chatter Brenda Marshall—wife of Bill Holden—is okay following a serious bout with anemia. Anne Baxter on being criticized for belching in a smart café: "I have a loud voice and it carries. I don't mean to be rude. I'm just a big-voiced girl." Bobby Van and starlet Diana Garrett are parrying the "Will you wed?" question with "More than likely, but we want to wait a while."

When Fox asked U-I to loan Jeff Chandler for the role of Demetrius in "The Robe," U-I asked for Marilyn Monroe in exchange. The Fox answer was a big "NO."

Industrial Commissioner, City Manager Proposed By Cadorette

During 1953 the City Council should give serious study to the appointment of an industrial commissioner and a city manager, Ald. Leo Cadorette, chairman of the Industrial Relations Committee of the Council told his colleagues at their regular session last evening.

These suggestions came during the course of his report on the industrial development of Sherbrooke during the past year in which time six new industries had been established here and two existing plants planned large scale extensions.

The new industries he listed as: Sherbrooke Paper Products, manufacturers of corrugated boxes; Desruisseaux and Rheault, lathboard producers; Plect-Knit Ltd., lingerie; Polyrein Corporation, plastics, and the Morgan Glove Co. Ltd. Those which are undertaking large extension programs are the Superheater Company, Ltd., and the American Bitrite Rubber Co. of Canada, Ltd.

Discussing the nomination of an industrial commissioner, Ald. Cadorette declared that Quebec was undergoing a great industrial expansion and that many new industries were coming to this province every month. This movement would be accentuated, he believed, by the opening up of the Ungava iron ore fields.

"As an industrial factor, where does Sherbrooke compare with the rest of the Province?" Ald. Cadorette asked.

"Without doubt, comparative to its population, by its social and cultural potential, by its industries and its hydro-electric resources, by its very advantageous geographical situation, Sherbrooke ranks among the leading industrial cities of the province."

Former Gould Teacher Awarded Stratheona Instructors Prize

Rouyn, Que., Jan. 6 — Laurels of the Stratheona Award conferred on a single member from each province went to Miss Florence Duffy, teacher of Grade One in Rouyn's Protestant school as she stepped over the threshold of a new year. This award was originated by Donald Smith, Lord Stratheona, of Canadian railway fame and perpetuated annually by him. Outstanding work in the field of physical training marks the candidate winner from each province.

Chosen by C. H. Aikman, Provincial inspector of Quebec Protestant schools, the prize, books exceeding a dozen in number, were selected by David Munroe, secretary of the provincial prize committee in Quebec City.

Miss Duffy whose class is comprised of 33 students wherein 15 nationalities are represented and of whom only 10 pupils have a working knowledge of the English language, has all aptitude for physical drill exercise and has twice previously won a similar award.

The first success won recognition during her early years as a teacher in Gould, Que., and more recently in 1950, Miss Duffy has taught for 17 years in the Rouyn schools.

A reported view into her classroom recently revealed a cross cut into the work that has thrice earned for her recognition.

The 33 pupils of her first grade class, none of whom is more than seven years of age, possessing only four months training time since September, performed in a fairly complicated drill pattern with ease, precision, and a modicum of pleasure which it was a delight to witness. Following the drill many of these tiny children displayed examples of their written and oral study which were of sterling quality.

Ashford Kenny, principal of the Rouyn Protestant school, presented Miss Duffy with the armful of books, commending her work and speaking with admiration of the progress achieved in so short a period through her training program for the youngsters.

Noted among the gift book titles were 'Famous Painting' by A. E. Chase, with an introduction to Art written by the same author and artist, containing reproductions in color of a hundred or so famous artists; two from the 'Good Luck Children's series, entitled, 'Fairy Lamplighter, and Other Stories,' and 'The Golden Coat and Others,' and 'Nicholas Thomas and Timothy,' by Kitty Styles, with drawings by Mary Kendall Lee.

S. W. C. Plans Dramatics Production

Stansstead, Jan. 6.—"The Comedy of Master Pierre Patelin", will be the winter production of the Stansstead College Dramatics Club. The title role is to be played by Blair Touchie, a senior at Stansstead College. This will be Mr. Touchie's first leading role but he has earned it by his strong supporting role as one of the doctors in the Club's successful 1952 production, "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife."

The play deals with the troubles of Patelin who is a likeable rogue, now fallen into hard times. His attempts to secure cloth for a new suit and his method of avoiding payment promise an evening of entertainment. The role of Gull-lemette, Patelin's wife, will be played by a newcomer to the local stage, Marian Stearns.

The role of the draper from whom Patelin obtains the cloth will be played by Graham Catehouse, William Fluhmann will play the shepherd who is supposed to watch over the draper's flock. The role of the judge will be taken by John Roberts. Others in the cast will be Jean Vivian, Frieda Vivian, Helen Shulman, Ivan Kyle, Valerie Healy, Ian Doig, Douglas Currie, Laurie Triton, Peter McGregor, Larry Thomson, Robert Labrecque, Richard Gilbert, Helmut Kubandt, Alex Philip and Edward Redden.

The direction will be by Lloyd C. MacPherson, the College's director of Dramatics. Mr. MacPherson is also Canadian Regional Director of the National Thespian Society, an organization devoted to the advancement of dramatics in high schools. Stansstead College is justly proud of the fact that theirs was the first troupe in Canada to be granted a charter. There are over 1,200 troupes throughout the world.

The production is scheduled for the Haskell Opera House, Rock Island, on Friday, Feb. 6th.

Wartime Yule Is Described By Don Clowery

The new year was saluted quietly by Optimist members at their weekly dinner meeting last night in the LaSalle Hotel when president Erich Marquardt extended greetings and best wishes.

Standing in for his misplaced speaker, Don Clowery gave an account of another Christmas and New Years during the war years in Great Britain where he was held unaccountably in an "Insane asylum" and enjoyed it quite a lot. The story has it that Mr. Clowery muzzled leave from his ship that had just docked in England.

A septic throat directed him to the Red Cross from where he was loaded into an ambulance and taken to hospital; from this hospital he was ambulance-propelled again toward another institution a former asylum for the insane.

By this time signs of sore throat had vanished. Nonetheless Optimist Clowery remained obediently in his ward with other transients troubled with germs much like his own although protesting mildly now and then "I really should (or was the word, 'must') get back to my unit." Days overdue he was finally sent back to his Commanding Officer with a recommendation for six days sick leave in Scotland.

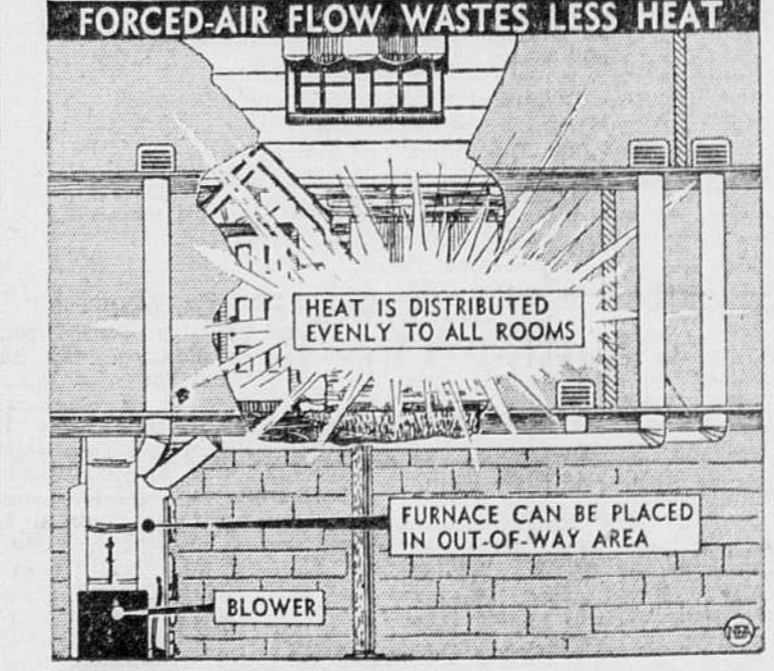

The medical authorities at the asylum remembered well Canadians from the 1918 war and their year to "see" England.

Henry Crochetiere reported that in preparation for the Optimist Convention to be held this year in Sherbrooke, a district meeting would be held on January 18 when the budget is to be presented for approval.

Delegates and committee chairman will give reports on arrangements for the Convention at next week's meeting.

Seated at the head table were: Joe Gilbert, Henry Crochetiere, president Erich Marquardt, Paul Nadeau, Jacques Laliberte and Don Clowery.

Blower-Filter Furnace Units Spell E-C-O-N-O-M-Y

By MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service

Two ideas are uppermost in the minds of average home owners. One is to save space, the other is to save money. These ideas often apply to home appliances.

In home appliances there are two ways to save money: (1) you sacrifice your comfort and don't buy them—this is the negative approach—or (2) you buy the ones that reduce existing expenses and have your comfort at the same time.

One such appliance that comes to mind can save home owners money according to Method No. 2, and save space, too. It's the blower-filter unit designed for attachment to gravity warm air furnaces.

The Air Conditioning Blower Manufacturers' Association points out that tests have shown 34 per cent more heat can be obtained from the same amount of fuel after conversion to a forced warm air system by attaching a blower-filter unit.

It adds that many home owners who have converted to the forced warm air system have reported up to a 25 per cent saving in fuel bills over the heating season.

As for its space-saving feature, the forced warm air furnace—unlike the gravity furnace—does not need to be placed in the center of the basement. It can be located anywhere in the basement or utility room, making it possible to utilize available space to the best advantage.

As you well know, this feature is especially desirable in the small compact home of today. Smaller ducts may also be used with the forced warm air furnace, a factor which helps to conserve head room in the basement.

The blower-filter unit helps to solve heating problems of the long, rambling ranch-type home as well. Rooms far from the furnace, which might ordinarily be hard to heat, are easily and comfortably heated by forced warm air.

In an average-sized home employing this system, the air is changed completely about 75 times daily. Each time it is changed, the air passes through filters of the blower unit which rid the air of 85 per cent of all its dust, dirt and lint. This helps prevent dirt damage to the house and its furnishings.

Not only does this air-cleaning feature of the blower-filter unit aid in keeping redecorating costs

Following the regular meeting a directors' meeting was held.

Mounties Seek Cig Smuggler

Royal Canadian Mounted Police made a "sizeable" seizure of cigarettes in the Coaticook district yesterday.

However, the driver of the vehicle escaped on foot while the Mounties closed on a savings devoutly to be wished by every housewife.

The unit insures that heat will be evenly distributed and temperatures will be kept as nearly constant as possible in all rooms of the house. Forced circulation eliminates chilly zones, drafts, corners and heat stratification, according to the experts who should know.

Blower-filter units can be attached to any type of gravity furnace whether it is fired by gas, oil or coal. A heating dealer can make the complete installation in from three to four hours, during which time the furnace is cleaned

Revised Construction And Zoning By-Law Given Approval By Council

The revision of the Sherbrooke construction and zoning by-law, which has been before the City Council for many, many months, was finally enacted last evening when it was given all three readings at the regular session of the aldermen.

The by-law, sponsored by Ald. Leo Cadorette, chairman of the Industrial Relations, Town Planning and Transport committee, consolidates earlier by-laws covering the erection of building, reserves certain areas as strictly residential, permits small businesses on other streets, larger businesses on others and any type of commercial establishment on further streets. Other areas have been set aside for new industries.

In submitting the by-law, Ald. Cadorette paid tribute to Denis Tremblay, a local architect, who had done much of the work of preparing the original by-law and suggesting various amendments to cover new conditions as they arose.

Only one addition was proposed to the lengthy by-law when it reached second reading stage.

This was advanced by Ald. Bradley who suggested that if any amendments were sought to the construction and zoning regulations in the future, that notices be inserted in the local press outlining the proposed changes and giving the residents of the districts concerned an opportunity to register their views on the proposals. The applicant would be required to deposit with the City Clerk a sum sufficient to cover the advertising costs at the time he asked the change. To assure proper publicity, the city would assume responsibility for preparing and inserting the advertisements.

This suggestion was supported by Aldermen Labonne, Rousseau and Felix Thibault and was adopted by the sponsor of the by-law.

The by-law was then passed without further discussion.

Ald. Cadorette had rather a field day at the session.

In addition to presenting the building by-law, he gave a lengthy review of the operations of his department in which he urged the appointment of an industrial commissioner and also presented another by-law to increase by $25,000 the amount which the city could spend on the construction of the Sherbrooke Paper Products building.

The original by-law authorized the spending of $175,000 by the city, any additional cost being met by the company. However, difficulties encountered in the construction of the foundation due to the nature of the sub-soil had so increased the cost of the work that the city felt compelled to advance an additional $25,000. The company itself was to meet an additional $12,000 of the increased cost.

The by-law was passed without discussion.

On a motion by Ald. Labonne and seconded unanimously, the Council passed a resolution of sympathy to Senator Charles B. Howard, a former mayor, on the sudden death of his wife.

Two notices of by-law were presented.

THE LATE MITCHELL F. HEPBURN

The death of Mitchell F. Hepburn, former Ontario Premier and a one-time Liberal Member of the Canadian House of Commons, recalls one of the most turbulent periods in recent Canadian political history. Mr. Hepburn was a man of very definite opinions on all issues of the day and his determination to voice his views and his efforts to achieve his ends saw him make and unmake friends with startling rapidity.

In the House of Commons, he was considered something of a radical and in some quarters was regarded even as "dangerous," although the majority of the "revolutionary" measures he advocated have been written into the statute books.

His election as Premier of his native province promised for a time to create a serious rift in the Liberal party, the Provincial leader carrying on an active campaign against Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, his nominal Ottawa leader, over what he regarded as the latter's failure to give Canada proper wartime leadership.

Since his retirement from active politics a few years ago owing to ill-health, the Canadian scene has lost much of its color.

"HALT" — A BIT LATE

There is a story told about a German army sergeant whose meticulous adherence to orders, even when the orders were obviously wrong, led him to call "halt" to the men of his platoon only after they had marched off the end of a wharf and drowned. The deceased soldiers were posthumously awarded Iron Crosses and the sergeant was curiously congratulated by his senior officers on the sense of discipline he had inspired in his men.

Some readers may feel that there is an analogy between this tall tale and the Winnipeg Free Press and freight rates. The application of the railways for a nine per cent increase in freight rates was made in order to meet the $52,000,000 additional wage bill resulting from the Conciliation Board's recommendation of a 16-cent increase in the hourly pay of 144,000 non-operating railway union members.

UNITED STATES AND EUROPEAN DEFENCES

The Paris meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council was dominated, as expected, by military indecision and economic caution. Not until spring, when the new Eisenhower administration in the United States will have had a chance to shape its policies, can we look for firm plans for the future of European defence.

About the only concrete decision taken at Paris was the approval of a $239,600,000 outlay in 1953 for new military bases and communications installations in the European theater.

It seems clear that no matter what General Eisenhower may propose as President, Western Europe will not shake off its "go slow" mood. Typical of the present attitude were the statements of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Defense Minister Rene Pleven.

Said Eden: "We have to be careful not to overstrain our economies." Said Pleven: "We all agreed we must avoid an economic crisis."

At the heart of this mood are two things: First, Europe's evident doubt that the threat of war is urgent and immediate. The Europeans take confidence, ironically, from the defense buildup that has occurred so far; and from the knowledge the U.S. is pledged to assist them from the moment any war should begin.

Second, the Europeans' fear of the political consequences of too-great defense burdens. Perhaps much of this fear is legitimate. Certainly no sane supporter of the free world would want to risk unseating the relatively stable middle-road governments now holding power.

Yet European leaders may well be overplaying the political dangers. Since they make a practice of keeping unpalatable truths from their peoples, no one can judge with fine accuracy how the citizenry would respond to a frankly presented program of defense which stressed, perhaps, a moderately urgent note.

Nor is the test likely to be made in the months just ahead. At Paris the NATO council members put stress on raising the quality of existing forces in 1953, and equipping them more fully. Military men still hope for another 10 divisions to add to the 50 now counted, but they will be working uphill.

Eisenhower may be able to impart to NATO countries greater sense of urgency than they have. But as NATO commander he never quite achieved that, nor did he dispel the politicians' fear of heavy arms burdens.

Possibly the best contribution the general could make toward the success of the spring NATO session would be to help lead the treaty powers toward goals that are more realistic — objectives closer than those of the original Lisbon program to the economic facts of life, but still great enough to foreshadow defensive strength that will deter a Communist aggressor.

Washington Column

OFFICIALS REPORT THAT NATO IS BETTER OFF THAN IT SEEMS

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — Several misconceptions about the progress of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization have been spread on the record, according to American officials returning from the Paris NATO council meeting.

The general impression is that NATO is falling apart and has made no progress at all. European governments have cut back their defense programs disastrously, in effect sabotaging the European Defense Community now known for short as EDC.

Military goals of last year's Lisbon Council meeting, considered unrealistic at the time, have nowhere near been met. General Ridgway has been ticketed as not at all like General Eisenhower, as the inspirational leader of Europe. Ridgway's $429 million budget was cut to $239 million by the finance ministers.

So the whole NATO-EDC idea is being written off as a complete flop that only General Eisenhower can salvage by another trip to Europe or some other Herculean effort of that sort.

A second look at this gloomy picture may reveal it is not that hopeless. This may be what happened at Paris.

True, "reasonably satisfactory" was the best characterization which U.S. Defense Secretary Robert A. Lovett could put on the Paris results. But he went over with small expectations that anything useful would be accomplished, and he doubted if any major decisions were possible. He got more than he bargained for.

Two Major Questions Were Solved

The two major accomplishments were a solution of the longstanding American-British dispute over the Mediterranean command, and a revision of the somewhat complicated and hard-to-explain "infrastructure."

This word, to which Secretary Lovett says he is mildly allergic, is intended to cover all the facilities — airfields, access roads, communication lines, petroleum product pipelines and so on — used in common by all the North Atlantic Treaty forces.

"It isn't the tail of the dog," Lovett explains. "It's the four legs on which the dog stands. In spite of all the progress which has been made in aviation," he adds, "nobody has yet figured any way in which a jet plane can be flown from a NATO agenda." It has to have an airfield.

The building of these military installations is now in its fourth year. The hassle with the French over land rights is all over. There is some solid accomplishment to show here. Of 126 airfields, 90 per cent are built or under construction.

The first "slice" of the money which financed infrastructure was the equivalent of $90 million contributed by the six European Brussels treaty countries. The U.S. gave nothing.

The second slice came the next year, after NATO was established. It was $220 million with the U.S. contributing 48 per cent or about $105 million. The third slice, made at Lisbon, was $425 million with the U.S. share about 43 per cent, or $182 million. The fourth slice, or rather the first installment on the fourth slice, arranged for at Paris, was for $230 million, with the U.S. contribution cut to 40 per cent, or $92 million.

Ridgway May Get Two-Slice Budget

The total outlay here is $965 million, of which $380 million is U.S. money. The expectation is that at the next NATO council meeting in the spring, with President Eisenhower's representatives on hand, another $230 million slice will be agreed to.

Frank C. Nash, Mr. Lovett's deputy for military assistance programs, takes up the defense of NATO here with the explanation that the cut in General Ridgway's proposed $429 million budget was much the same kind of an arrangement.

European governments operate on a different budget year than the U.S. At Paris they could appropriate only about half this sum, or the $239 million. The hope is that they will appropriate the balance at the next NATO council meeting.

If this materializes — and it may not — it will represent not a cut in General Ridgway's budget, but meeting it in two slices instead of one.

On the failure of NATO to meet its 25 active and 25 reserve division goal set at Lisbon last year, Mr. Nash declares that there has been a fundamental change in concept since General Ridgway took over from General Eisenhower.

It was on General Eisenhower's insistence while he was NATO commander-in-chief that this 50-division goal was set. General Eisenhower wanted skeleton divisions on the line if nothing more, with the expectation that the ranks would be gradually filled in as more recruits were called up and trained by the NATO countries.

General Ridgway has changed all this. He wants full strength divisions on his front line, or "couverture" as the French call it. After that he will work towards getting his defense in depth through the reserve divisions. It is this change in concept that is said to exaggerate the failure to meet the Lisbon goals.

WELCOME, 'FIFTY-THREE

The old year now has passed away Its sands of Time have run; The new year starts, as from today And welcomes everyone.

— We too, all welcome you, New Year, Oh bonnie little chap! We hope you bring us much of cheer And little of mishap.

Right now, we our allegiance vow, (Intentions are O.K.); We'd really like to know just how We rate with you, each day.

We know you'll need a lot of "grit" As through each month you go, If in our world you hope to fit And no "white feather" show.

You'll find us quite a tiresome lot Exacting, quarrelsome, too; No doubt we'll "put you on the spot" Before your term is through.

— Our old Year often was perplexed With International tangles; When it passed out it still was vexed With wars, and cussed wrangles.

This world is really pretty tough For little guys like you, So be prepared to "sling your stuff" If you hope to win through.

Some mighty good points we possess All former years allow, We'd like to hear, I must confess What's your opinion, now.

You're young, and very little yet, But then, each day you're growing; With Foresight, and Good-Will, I'll bet You'll make a noble showing.

Now, "Symbol of Authority" You don, by way of crown; Do take this little "tip" from me "Chin Up," 'ne'er be cast down!"

EXPERT OFTEN SHOWS SKILL AT TOURNAMENT

One of the most interesting tournaments of the year is the annual Winter Carnival, scheduled to take place a month from now in St. Paul, Minn.

Visiting experts usually flock to the Carnival from all parts of the country, but the visitors don't always succeed in carrying the trophies away since some of America's best tournament players live in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

In today's hand the skill of the local players is demonstrated by the way S. J. Widman, of St. Paul, played the South cards. As chairman of the Winter Carnival, Mr. Widman will do his best to make things comfortable for all of the contestants; but it's evident that he will make things hot for his opponents at the bridge table.

Widman won the first trick with dummy's king of hearts and made the key play by leading the ten of clubs from the dummy. East covered with the jack of clubs, and declarer finessed the queen, losing to West's king (East lost nothing by playing his jack since declarer had every intention of letting the ten ride if East had played low.)

West led another heart, and declarer won with the ace. Two rounds of diamonds made it clear that the suit was not going to break, whereupon it was necessary for declarer to win four club tricks in order to make his contract.

Having made this discovery, Widman led dummy's remaining club and successfully finessed the seven of clubs from his own hand. The ace of clubs then cleared the suit, and declarer could take the rest of the tricks with good clubs and top cards. I venture to say that most players would not think of the correct way to play the club suit. In a rubber bridge game, however, it is quite correct to begin the suit early by leading the ten of clubs from the dummy.

With a normal diamond break, South needs two club tricks to make his contract. The recommended line of play will succeed if East has the king of clubs, and it will also succeed if East has the jack and nine of clubs but not the king.

With the diamonds breaking badly, South needs four club tricks to make his contract. In this case, South needs a 3-3 break in clubs, but the play of the top cards is still the same. To lead the ten

Questions and Answers

Q—Why is the famous painting of Mona Lisa sometimes referred to as "La Gioconda"? A—She was the wife of Zanobio del Giocondo. "La Gioconda" is a feminine form of her husband's last name.

Q—At what age did William Pitt, the Younger, become British Prime Minister? A—The age of 24.

Q—Is it true that a glass snake can live after it is broken into two equal parts? A—Yes. Really a lizard without legs, it can shed its tail and grow a new one in its place.

Q—Why is a peanut referred to as a "goober"? A—In the South "goober" is another name for the peanut. The word is a corruption of the Kongo nguba, and apparently was introduced into the South by Negro slaves from the Kongo.

Q—Why were the early prairie wagons referred to as schooners? A—Because at a distance the white awnings which covered the wagons looked like a fleet of sailing ships with all canvas spread.

first gives South an extra chance in case the king is held by West.

CARD SENSE Q—The bidding has been: North East South West 1 Club Pass 1 Diamond Pass 2 NT Pass

You, South, hold: Spades K-6-3, Hearts A-2, Diamonds K-Q-J-7-3-2, Clubs Q-2. What do you do? A—Bid three diamonds. You have 15 points in high cards alone, and your partner's bidding shows 19 to 21 points. If you bid a slam in diamonds if North shows any interest in that suit, and otherwise you will bid a slam in no-trump.

TODAY'S QUESTION The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades 6-3-2, Hearts A-Q-J-5, Diamonds K-J-7-3-2, Club 5. What do you do? Answer Tomorrow

JACOBY On Canasta

MISPLACED CARDS CAUSE ROW

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service

"Please help us on this," asks an Ohio correspondent. "We completed three games of Canasta without anything unusual happening. During the fourth and last game someone mentioned that we seemed to get to the end of the stock earlier than usual, but the remark passed unnoticed.

"After the game was over and the score had been figured, our hostess went into the kitchen and found that on a previous visit to that room just before the last game started, she had left several cards there.

"Now are the losers still liable for that last game? The missing cards were not discovered until the game was completely over and scored."

The score counts, and the losers are liable exactly as though the game had been played with the complete deck. This is an unfortunate situation, but the rules are quite clear on the subject. It is quite fair to everybody, since everybody had the same chance to win even though some of the deck was missing.

Q—Is it ever permissible to meld four wild cards in a single meld? For example, suppose you want to meld out and have an extra wild card to dispose of. If you add it to a particular meld that already has three wild cards without counting that meld as a canasta, are you allowed to put that wild card down?

A—No. You are never under any circumstances allowed to use four wild cards with any meld. This should never happen except through somebody's mistake. I should also point out that it is never correct to make this kind of mistake on purpose.

Q—Are you allowed to meld out with two black threes and a wild card?

A—No, this is not permitted. The only melds that you can make with black threes are three black threes and four black threes. There are no other possibilities.

Q—How often are you allowed to freeze the pack in the game of Canasta? Is there any limit to the number of wild cards that can be discarded into the discard pile?

A—You are allowed to freeze the pack as often as you get a chance to do so. There are eight deuces and four jokers in the game of Canasta, and every single one of these may be thrown into the discard pile. It would be an unusual deal in which this took place, but it has been known to happen.

SHORT STORY The Good Old Days

By Ona Freeman Lathro

The old fellows sat on the concrete wall that bordered the court-house lawn. The sun broiled down warm and golden, but the autumn air was cool. The one in the clean striped shirt and blue serge hitched his suspenders higher.

"Times ain't what they used to be when I was young," he asserted to the man next him. "Prices 'way out o' sight, all sorts of machinery to do the farm work, young folks kitin' around in cars—why, when I was a young buck you took your best girl for a buggy ride behind a pair of fast bays, or you went to Funk's Grove or the Mackinnaw for a day's picnic and it didn't cost you a cent. Nowadays my grandson wouldn't start out on a date without five or ten dollars in his pocket!" He looked up the street.

"Yep," the other one agreed, tilting his straw sailor back and tucking his blue shirt into his shiny grey striped trousers. "Things move too fast for me. We don't get through one war till we're startin' another one, and them politicians down in Washington are runnin' the country to the dogs. Now when McKinley was in—"

A girl switched by in white shorts and a striped jersey. His sentence hung in mid-air, forgotten. The endless procession of cars whizzed around the square, their tires sizzing on the hot asphalt. The city busses lined up in front of the drug store.

They shook their heads sadly. The first one kept peering out Washington street toward the depot. "Yeah, this is a crazy age! You see new houses springing up over night out in the new additions. Look like freight cars spreaded all over the lots—no stairs, no cellars! Fancy gadgets in the kitchens. Give me the old days and not such a fast pace!"

The other one queried, "What's your name and where do you hail from?" "Well now, that's a long story." He shifted to the other hip as if to tell it, then grinned. "But nobody's interested in it nowadays, I so I never tell it. I'm Clem Mason. Lived here all my life, and hope to die here. I've watched, this town grow from a cross-roads, and hardly a beam across the state line. And you?"

The other fellow's eyes narrowed as if he were seeing far-away places. "Name's Jed Whitcomb. Traveled a bit in my day. Went to Chicago once. Lived out in the country till my wife died last year. I like the town, but nothin' seems as good as it used to be. Too much bustle and rush."

There was a long silence while they watched a cab maneuver in and out of traffic. A woman driver and the usual delivery trucks were double-parking and gumming up the works. Horns blasted and women scurried across the crossing.

"Yep," Clem answered, his eyes still squinting up the street watching their conversation was forgotten for a moment as a girl in white shorts and a striped jersey walked past. Times sure had changed.

Fairbanks-Morse President Dies In California

GEORGE M. NIVEN

George M. Niven, president and general manager of the Canadian Fairbanks-Morse Company, Limited, died yesterday in Berkeley, Cal., after a long illness.

Mr. Niven was born in Hamilton, Scotland, in 1901, son of the late George Murray Niven and Clementina (Russell) Niven. He went to the United States in 1920 and in 1923 joined Fairbanks, Morse and Company, Chicago, as travelling auditor.

Ukrainians Observe Yule Tomorrow

The glimmer of the North Star and the glow of a single candle to night will symbolize Christmas Eve for 400,000 Ukrainian Canadians.

Christmas Eve for Ukrainians is tonight, 13 days late by the Gregorian calendar. The glow of a single candle, symbolic of the star which drew the three wise men to Bethlehem, will shine from windows at dusk.

Yule festivities start with the appearance of the North Star in the heavens. They are a strange blending of new and ancient customs.

The Christmas tree, now resting in the back yards of other Canadian homes, still is hung with ornaments in Ukrainian parlors.

In the old Ukraine, a sheaf of wheat is used to symbolize prosperity and bring good fortune in the coming year. The sheaf and a small bundle of straw is still in use both in Canada and the old country, a token of the manger where Christ lay.

Many Ukrainians celebrate Christmas twice, once on Jan. 7 by the Gregorian calendar in use since the 16th century and again Dec. 25 by the old Julian calendar.

Ukrainians dance in their native costumes and follow through with family visits. They eat plenty, mostly native foods cooked in oil, and like other Canadians have the odd bottle on hand.

And like other Canadians, the Ukrainian population starts the Yule season with a church service. "Little Christmas," as it is commonly called, is a time for prayer.

Church dignitaries of both the Ukrainian Catholic church and the Ukrainian Greek Orthodox church already have sent messages of goodwill to all clergy. These will be read Christmas day.

Unlike the more familiar Boxing day, Ukrainians celebrate the first day after Christmas as St. Stephen's day, honoring the first Christian martyr. New Year's day falls on Jan. 14 by the Gregorian calendar and the feast of Jordan symbolizing the baptism of Christ is on Jan. 19, ending the Christmas season.

Communists Make Sharp Attacks

Seoul, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Communist armies cracked a holiday lull in Korean fighting last night with sharp attacks against Jane Russell Hill and three outposts on the east-central front.

Allied troops beat back all the attacks, the biggest by a reinforced Chinese company. Heavy shelling signalled each of the Red attacks.

In the air, 14 B-29 Superforts pounded targets near Pyongyang and near the battle front last night.

Eight allied Sabre jet pilots clashed twice with 24 communist MiGs in clearing weather today. They reported two Red jets damaged.

Allied fighter-bombers also continued their incessant pounding of Red targets on the front lines, concentrating mainly on the western front.

Development At Eastern Metals Is Speeded Up

The development program on the nickel-copper property of Eastern Metals Corporation Limited near St. Fabien de Panet in Montmagny County has operated during the holiday season on reduced scale, Frederick E. Hall, vice-president and general manager of the company, reports.

A small maintenance crew and four miners worked during the period doing preparatory underground work such as laying track switches, etc. Full development resumed yesterday with the immediate objective of crosscutting to the north nickel zone, which is about 50 feet distant from the present crosscut face and to the south or copper zone, some 280 feet from the station.

Surface diamond drilling results indicate that the ore picture in the nickel zone improves with depth; therefore the next objective should be deepening of the shaft from at least three additional levels in order to provide points from which to carry out the necessary development work and to make possible underground diamond drilling to greater depth, this in order to fully evaluate the full mine potential as quickly as possible.

The first level development work will provide a quick means of establishing mining and metallurgical practices which will be important to future conduct of the operation.

The metallurgical aspects are considered important as rather extensive preliminary test work carried out on diamond drill core indicated there should be no difficulty in obtaining a very high grade concentrate. It is considered that the nickel concentrate obtained has an excellent chance of being amenable to some of the newer refining methods and if further testing on bulk samples from the development program are successful the possibilities of making a finished metal product at the mine will be investigated.

The property has a mining plant of ample capacity for all development and most of it can be utilized in production plans. Financing arrangements to adequately carry out the program planned up to the senior financing for production are nearly completed.

With nickel being the most sought-after metal today, and copper next in line, it is possible that firm contracts for metal may be made when the mine has been opened up, on which financing for production may be arranged.

Edwards' House Razed By Fire Near Coaticook

Coaticook, Jan. 6.—A fire which broke out in the basement of the Charles Edwards farmhouse early yesterday morning started blazing in earnest some three hours later and destroyed the building.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards and their son, Ross, escaped with only the clothes they were wearing. The large brick and frame house was a total loss and the family lost a great many valuable antiques and heirlooms. Only part of the loss is covered by insurance.

The family was asleep at four o'clock in the morning when Mr. Edwards awoke, smelling smoke. He went down to the basement, which was filled with smoke, and traced the fire to an overheated pipe.

The smoke was so thick that Mr. Edwards was overcome and his son also was nearly asphyxiated by the fumes when he attempted to rescue Mr. Edwards. Both men were pulled to safety by neighbors who were alerted by Mrs. Edwards.

Tehran, Iran, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh won a 64-0 vote of confidence in parliament today. It was a victory for the aging premier over deputies he accused of fomenting disunity and threatening Iran's independence. There was one abstention.

The premier demanded the confidence ballot last night during a broadcast in which he bitterly attacked 15 deputies who sponsored a bill aimed at preventing the suspension of the present parliament. This would nullify election law Mossadegh intends to decree within a week.

Ayer's Cliff Beulah S. S. Pupils Had A Happy Christmas Tree, And Program

Ayer's Cliff, Jan. 6. — Beulah United Church Sunday School pupils, with Mrs. A. H. Slack, superintendent, were given a Christmas Party, when they furnished entertainment for the parents and interested friends, who gathered in the Church Hall.
The program had been prepared by Miss Leta Dustin, who assisted by other teachers presented a very fine program, and each group excelled in their presentation of their numbers, which were as follows:
Recitation, by Gail Smith; "Song of the Ages", by the Sunday School; Recitation, by Geraldine Martin; "Jumping Jack" and "Jack in the Box", Dale Mosher and Nick Keeler; Recitation, by Donald Thompson; "Snow Man Drill", Primary Group; Recitation, by Stephen Stafford; "Stocking Exercise", Primary Group; Recitations, by Elaine Graham and Rae Gale; "Star Drill", Junior girls; Recitation, by Douglas Graham; and "Away in a Manger", Primary Group; Recitation, by Michael Goode; "Garland Exercise", Junior girls; Recitation, by Sandra Smith; "Instrumental Number and a Tableau; Recitations, by Nancy Walden and Peter McHarg.
Santa's arrival at the conclusion pleased the little folks, who each received gifts from the well loaded tree, and each had candy and

High Forest F. & F. Held Christmas Party

High Forest, Jan. 6.—The Forum Group entertained at a Christmas party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Lowry, on Fourth Night meeting, with over fifty present.

The evening was pleasantly spent in playing "500" and crokinole. The children enjoyed games of their own.

The prizes in "500" were won by Mrs. Verne Wilson and Mr. Russel Thompson, the consolation prizes going to Mrs. Cline Thompson and Mr. Elden Lowry. Mr. Lynford Lowry and Mr. Verne Wilson won the prizes in crokinole.

Each member brought a gift and received one from the tree. The children received extra gifts from a fish pond.

A bottle of nail polish donated by Mrs. K. McBurney was auctioned off. Mr. Grant Forgrave acted as auctioneer and caused quite a bit of fun before he sold it to Mr. Harold Lowry.

Everyone enjoyed treats of candy, the children getting candy and fruit from the Forum, and a bag of candy from the High Forest Red Cross Society.

A very enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the serving of refreshments.

The next Forum meeting will be at Mr. and Mrs. Grant Forgrave's, on January 8.

DETROIT DOMINATES N.H.L. SCORING; HULL SIX-POINT LEAD

Red Wings Back In Favored Spot On Top Of Heap; Gordie Howe Paces Scorers With Total Of 43 Points

Montreal, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Detroit Red Wings, striving for their fifth National Hockey League championship in a row, lead the league by a comfortable six-point margin today and have four of their players among the top ten sharpshooters in the league.

With more than half the 70-game schedule behind them, league statistics show the Wings have 45 points while the Montreal Canadiens and the Chicago Black Hawks, tied for second place, follow with 39 points apiece.

Gordie Howe of the Wings is in his usual place as top goal-getter, but, perhaps not quite so usual, he assists along with teammate Ted Lindsay, who holds down third place among the top ten, and second place Wally Hergesheimer of the cellar-dwelling New York Rangers.

Howe has 22 goals and 21 assists for 43 points, Hergesheimer 17 and 21 for 38 while Lindsay boasts a 16-21-37 record.

Maurice Richard of the Canadiens, who seemingly has some little trouble finding the net this season, has 12 goals and 20 assists for 32 points and fourth place in the league's individual standings.

Ted Kennedy of the fourth-place Toronto Maple Leafs, until a recent accident in which he suffered a shoulder separation, rolled up an impressive 13-18-31 record for fifth place, an honor which he shares with Detroit's Metro Prystai who has 12 goals and 19 assists.

Chicago has only one man, George Gee, among the top ten point-getters. As a matter of fact, he holds down tenth spot with 12 goals and 13 assists for 25 points.

Though Boston Bruins are tied for fourth place with Toronto, their top scorer, Fleming Mackell, is in 19th place with 14 goals and six assists for 20 points.

Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk is still the league's leading goaltender, with a straight 2.00 average, aided by Gerry McNeil of the Montreal Canadiens with 2.06. McNeil, however, has five shutouts to Sawchuk's four. Boston goalie Jim Hensley is third with a 2.49 average and four shutouts.

The league's leading badman is still Ted Lindsay of Detroit with 72 minutes in the penalty box, but he has two close contenders for the "honor". Gee and Leo Boivin

Johnny Peirson May Return To Action This Week; Missed 13 Games

Boston — (AP)—High-scoring Johnny Peirson, veteran Boston Bruin right winger, may be back in the National Hockey League wars in two weeks.

Peirson has been out of action since Dec. 7 when he suffered a broken jaw in a game at Detroit. He has missed 13 games.

He is scheduled to have his jaw X-rayed today and if the pictures indicate the break has healed, the restraining wires will be removed. Thursday.

Edmonton Eskies Make $30,000 For Season

Edmonton, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Edmonton's Western Football Club Eskies poured another $30,000 into their bank account in 1952, bringing to more than $66,000 their accumulated profits for four years' operations.

The annual financial report was released last night before a meeting of the Edmonton Touchdown Club.

The club had a net income of $330,139.45 and total expenditures of $299,775.50.

Gate receipts at Eskies' home park accounted for $255,786 of the net income while playoff cuts and Touchdown Club memberships realized more than $55,000. Concessions, program sales and advertising and radio rights brought in the remainder.

Player salaries took the biggest bite. Eskies spent $189,844 on wages and sundry expenses for players and coaches. This is up $49,487 over last year.

London To Be Scene Of Ladies Golf Tourneys

Toronto, Jan. 6.—(CP)—The annual Canadian Ladies' Open Amateur Golf Championship will be held at the London, Ont., Hunt and Country Club Aug. 10-15, the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union announced today.

The Open Championship will be preceded by the Canadian Ladies' Close Championship which will be held at the Sunningdale Golf Club at London, Aug. 6-8.

It was also announced that plans have been completed for the team of seven players who are to fly to Britain May 28, for the tour of international matches, as guests of the Ladies' Golf Union and its affiliated Unions.

The team which has as its captain Ada Mackenzie of Toronto, includes Marlene Stewart of Font Hill, Ont.; Barbara M. Davies of Vancouver; Mrs. Graeme Pyke of Hudson Heights, Que.; Mrs. J. H. Todd of Victoria; Dainty Chisholm of Montreal, and Mary Gay of Kitchener.

Providence, R.I. — George Arujo, 133½, Providence, outpointed Henry Davis, 130½, Honolulu (10).

SOLD TO SHAWINIGAN FALLS — ROGER BESSETTE, who held down the goal tending chores with the Sherbrooke Saints, previous to Bob "Miche" Perreault joining the locals, has been sold to the Cataracts, announced officials of the local club late yesterday afternoon.

Bessette joined the Saints with his brother, Marcel, when they were traded by the Valleyfield Braves for Paul Leclerc and has held down the regular position with the club since then. A month ago the locals secured the services of Perreault from Providence Reds of the American Hockey League to take over the goal tending spot and since then Bessette has failed to see any action.

The local management has been dickering with another club in the loop in order to complete a deal but Shawinigan, badly in need of a goal keeper since they lost Young Dave Gathrum, picked Bessette up at the waiver price.

Fans Demand That Filchok Be Asked To Meeting Of Touchdown Club As Contract Terms Discussed

Edmonton, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Flinging Frankie Filchok's contract squabble with Edmonton's western football champion Eskimos was revived in detail last night and some 500 fans jammed a meeting hall demanding to hear both sides. They did.

The incident was revived at a meeting of the Edmonton Touchdown Club, at which Eskimo President Ken Montgomery spoke and from which Filchok was barred. But the meeting was not 10 minutes old when a motion from the floor demanded Filchok be asked to attend. He arrived to hear Montgomery's report.

Montgomery's lengthy report indicated the main sport was a $1,000 bonus Filchok had demanded. He said the deposed coach started negotiating for a new contract during the western final at Winnipeg. But Filchok said he didn't start negotiations, they just came.

N. B. A. Scores Verbal Knockout Over Joey Maxim By Placing Him As "Outstanding Boxer" In Rating

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Last month Archie Moore took away Joey Maxim's light heavyweight title on a decision. Today the National Boxing Association, in its quarterly ratings, followed through on Maxim with a verbal knockout.

Normally a champion who gets ticked slips down a notch to become the No. 1 challenger. But the NBA decided Maxim wasn't a logical contender at all.

It rates Harold Johnson of Pennsylvania and Harry Matthews of Washington as one-two behind Moore. Maxim wound up merely as an "outstanding boxer."

By contrast, the NBA puts Joe Walcott right behind the man who took away his heavyweight title, Rocky Marciano.

And Britain's Randy Turpin, who once held the middleweight title briefly, was put in the No. 1 spot for the championship left vacant by Sugar Ray Robinson's retirement.

The NBA said it would be a good idea for Turpin to fight Charles Humez of France. The winner then could be matched with the winner of a United States tournament for the world's title.

The NBA, rated Johnny Saxton of New York, Johnny Bratton of Illinois and then Chuck Davey of Michigan as the logical contenders for the welterweight title now held by Cuba's Kid Gavilan.

Arthur King of Toronto was rated second among the outstanding boxers in the lightweight class. Jimmy Carter of New York is the champion of the class.

C. Onslow Fane, chairman of the British Boxing Board of Control, speaking for Turpin, told the NBA his group was dissatisfied with the NBA proposal.

In a letter to the NBA, Fane insisted that Turpin's next bout should be for the world crown.

Turpin lifted the title from Robinson in a bout in London. Sugar Ray won it back in a bout in New York.

Fane requested that the NBA executive committee, which meets in New York Saturday and Sunday, vote on his suggestion. A spokesman for the NBA said the request would receive careful consideration by the executive group and the matter will be put to a vote.

Carl (Bobo) Olson of Hawaii is a right-handed Turpin in the ratings.

suffered strained ligaments of the right knee. Rayner will probably miss Saturday's game in Montreal as well as the game against the Canadiens in New York Sunday.

Dirty Playing Getting Out Of Control, Says Barons' Bun Cook

Cleveland, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Coach Bun Cook of Cleveland Barons said yesterday that dirty playing in the American Hockey League is getting out of control.

"The close control of the game by officials," he told a reporter, "has disappeared. It's become a wide open battle for survival."

"We played two games in Pittsburgh that really weren't hockey at all—they were gang wars."

"It's getting very bad and the worst is still to come. If the players are permitted to get out of control, some of the clubs won't have enough to finish out the season."

Hershey Dominates A.H.L. Scoring Race

New York, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Hershey Bears deadlocked for first place with Cleveland Barons, dominate the American Hockey League individual scoring race today.

Bears have five players among the first 10 with George (Red) Sullivan the league's pace-setter with 46 points. Sullivan, transferred to Boston Bruins last week, scored 10 goals and had 36 assists before he left. His playmaking total also is tops in the AHL.

Lorne Ferguson, also of Hershey, is second in total points with 42, followed by Guy Fielder, St. Louis, Sam Bettio, Hershey and Bronco Horvath of Syracuse, each with 38.

The Hildebrand of Barons, with 21 tallies, replaced Hershey's Dunc Fisher as the loop's No. 1 goal-getter. Fisher also was recalled by the parent Bruins last week.

Johnny Bower of Cleveland continues to lead the goaltenders with a goals-against average of 2.59. The Barons netminder also has compiled the most shutouts, five.

Blue Bombers Clear $16,000 On Season

Winnipeg, Jan. 6.—(CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers cleared about $16,000 during the 1952 Western Interprovincial Football Union season.

In his financial statement last night to the annual meeting of the Winnipeg Rugby Football Club, Gordon Oster, chairman of the finance committee, reported estimated expenditures of $294,511 and receipts of $310,664.

Largest expense was $170,404 for salaries for players, coaches, manager and training and equipment men. Park rental cost the club $41,124.

Receipts from games played in Winnipeg netted $225,105. The club expected to collect about $30,000 from the Western playoffs and $6,000 from the Grey Cup final.

Vice-president Bert Warwick said Coach George Trafton still had two years of a three-year contract to fill. Trafton's first season in 1950 was on a one-year trial basis.

Monte Irvin Signs His Contract With Giants

New York, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Asserting that his once-fractured right ankle was "as good as ever," Monte Irvin yesterday signed his 1953 contract with the New York Giants.

The 31-year-old negro outfielder put his signature on a contract calling for about $25,000. President Horace Stoneham said Monte received the same pay as last year.

Irvin broke his ankle in a slide to third base during an exhibition game with Cleveland Indians April 2. Monte didn't get into a regular game until July 27 when he stepped up as a pinch-hitter. He started playing regularly on Aug. 1, got into 46 games, and wound up with a .310 batting average.

In 1951, he appeared in 151 games, hit .312 and drove in 121 runs to lead the league in RBIs.

POSSIBLE NEW RECORD

The American Hockey League record for shutouts in a single season is nine and is held by Gordon Bell, Syracuse goaltender who established his mark with Buffalo, 1942-43. With five to his credit already and more than half a season left to play, Johnny Bower of Cleveland who has been the circuit's leading netminder for the last few years may well surpass Bell's record.

Fifteen Matches Played Last Night In Opening Games Of Local Bonspiel; Fifty-Eight Rinks Entered In Event

Fifteen matches were played last night in the initial round of the Sherbrooke Curling Club annual bonspiel which will end Saturday evening.

Fifty-eight rinks are entered in the competition with clubs from all the district being represented. Play will continue this afternoon and evening at the local club and in Lennoxville, who have donated their ice for the event.

Three shifts were played last night and the committee expects to have two extra ones today owing to the fact that play will commence in the afternoon. Rup Atto, of Lennoxville, downed Frank Beaudry, of Sherbrooke, 10-4. R. Masse, of Granby, came up with a 13-6 win over Dr. H. Way, of Lennoxville, while M. Sears, of Windsor, walked off with a 17-5 decision over Ned Soles, of Sherbrooke. Stan Gallinger, of Sherbrooke, chalked up a 10-6 win over J. Connors, of Magog, and M. Mason, of Windsor, downed C. Skinner, of Sherbrooke, 7-6.

Jim Fuller, of Sherbrooke, edged by A. MacKenzie, of Lennoxville, 7-6, while Ed Smith, of Lennoxville, ran away from E. A. Jeanfevre and his unexperienced rink from East Angus, 14-1. Sid Cross guided his quartet to a close 8-7 win over Howard Nichol, of Lennoxville, while L. Gnaedinger, of Lennoxville, came through with a 8-6 victory over R. Nevelles and his local rink. Duke Ducet, of Windsor, chalked up a 10-6 verdict over R. L. Bishop, of Sherbrooke.

F. Parker, of Drummondville, won over Bruce McRea, of Sherbrooke, 12-8, while Dr. B. Macdonald, of Granby, walked off with a 12-2 victory over Bob Blake, of Lennoxville, and H. Conley, of Windsor, came through with a 10-5 win over G. McClintock, of Lennoxville. H. Hopcraft, of Hatley, dropped a close 8-8 verdict to Norrey Hunting, of Lennoxville, while M. Clifford, of East Angus, eked out a 3-6 win over O. R. Jackman, of Granby, in a close battle.

Los Angeles, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Lloyd Mangrum, who plays golf by ear, banked the profits today from his third Los Angeles Open Golf Championship.

The dapper Mangrum carries a full complement of clubs in his bag, and he knows what to do with them. But he also carries a radio, and he knows how to use that, too.

As he toured his final round yesterday, he kept tuned to the progress of his chief competitor, young Jack Burke, by radio. It's a system Mangrum devised several years ago. He started out the day five strokes ahead. He finished five strokes ahead.

At one stage, Burke was within three strokes, and Mangrum stepped away from his portable long enough to card two birdies. It was the turning point.

Mangrum is a gambler when the need arises, and like any good gambler can play them close to the vest. He did yesterday, and collected $2,750.

He had 280, four under par, for the gruelling four days over Riviera Country Club's par-71, 7,020-yard course. His rounds were 69, 72, 69, 70. Burke matched him on the final round, but couldn't cut those five strokes.

Mangrum won the Open in 1949 with 284, and in 1951 with 280.

Sedgman And McGregor Open Pro Tennis Careers Tonight Against Kramer And Segura In Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Australia's two Davis Cup stars, Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor, deserted to the professional tennis ranks tonight, starting a cross-country tour against Jack Kramer and the pros, and Pancho Segura.

The Aussies make the break amid some feeling back home that they should have stayed amateurs and cashed in on a chance to make money in insurance and service stations.

But that's all past, and they'll take the canvas-covered courts at Pan-Pacific Auditorium tonight before a crowd of about 6,000 which will pay some $15,000. The first match, between Segura and McGregor, will be followed by a Kramer-Sedgman duel and a doubles battle.

On the side of Kramer and Segura is experience and the fact that the Australians are unfamiliar with canvas courts. On the side of the newcomers is youth, and it could be a big factor.

Kramer and Segura are 31. Sedgman is 25. McGregor, 23. Both are sharp on their games, as they proved by whipping Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert of the United States for the Davis Cup last week.

Sedgman concedes that the canvas courts may give him some trouble. "But I think only for one set or so," he said.

Canvas is kind to a hard ball, and that's what Sedgman hits. On the other hand, Kramer's thunderbolt service is world famed, and Sedgman's defence may not be able to contain it.

Sedgman gets $75,000 and McGregor $25,000, plus a piece of the prize money. Kramer, who also is the promoter, says he has to gross $250,000 to get in the black, but thinks he'll take in $400,000.
