Local Delegates To Attend Young Liberals' Congress

William Atwood Macdonald, President of the Westmount Young Liberals' Association, has announced that the Westmount group will be sending at least two delegates to the coming Young Liberals' Summer Conference. He added that he expected a number of other members would go as participants in the conference, but not as voting delegates.

The Summer Conference will be held at McMaster University, Hamilton, Ontario, from September 1st to 5th. This is the first such conference since the highly successful Liberal Summer Conference held in Port Hope during 1933, when the late R. B. Bennett was Prime Minister. This was followed by

Boys' Brigade Camp Stedfast Opens This Week

With the days rolling by slowly, as far as the boys are concerned, but nevertheless rapidly with the officers, enthusiasm is mounting, as the boys look forward to camp opening on Saturday afternoon, at their well beloved rendez-vous now called Camp Stedfast, St. Andrew's East.

There will be a bumper crop of campers this session, far exceeding that of any previous year, and accommodation has been increased so as to permit as large a sitting as possible for meals. It has been necessary this year, for the first time, to refuse late applications, due to the accommodation being limited. Another year larger facilities will be available and a still larger camp contemplated.

Camp will open on Saturday afternoon, with the arrival of the campers. After installing each camper in the tent of his choice, the boys will enjoy a good swim, then supper. Following the evening meal there will be a number of games until dusk, then a real-old-fashioned camp-fire, when all newcomers will be officially welcomed.

The Councillors are all on their toes, each working for the camp trophy, which goes to the tent making the highest score for the two weeks. Much enthusiasm is aroused over the camp improvement projects, many of which bring in additional points, as they are original ideas developed by the boys which mean much toward the improvement of the camp.

the overwhelming Liberal victory of 1935, for which the conference paved the way through its re-formulation of the principles of liberalism to the problems of the time.

This conference, the President said, may well hold a very important place in the future development of liberal thought and policy in this nation. It is being held at a particularly opportune time, as within the next few years, the Liberal Party will have to choose a new leader, and make a new re-affirmation of its principles.

David Mackenzie and John S. Taylor of the Resolutions Committee of the Association are currently working on a brief and resolutions to be presented by the Westmount Young Liberal Association delegates at this all important conference.

This meeting will also be the second national meeting of the National Young Liberal Federation since its formation in 1944. The organization has grown rapidly since this time, and its policies will come under review.

Local Schoolgirl Has Benefit Sale

Beverly Bryant, 13, of 63 Somerville avenue, collected five dollars for the Children's Memorial Hospital at a benefit sale she conducted outside her home on Tuesday of last week.

Two years ago, Beverly was a patient at the Children's Memorial Hospital. She decided that there should be more books and toys for the children, and she determined to do something about it.

She prepared large scrapbooks containing interesting Christmas cards, post cards, etc., which she took to the hospital for the children, and this year she determined to put on a sale for their benefit.

Well supported by the neighbours, the sale was a success. The sale of the different items, many of which Beverly had made herself, realized a profit of approximately $5 which she gave to the hospital Donations Fund. She received a signed receipt for her donation, and was presented with a collection box, representing a nurse and hospital bed, which bears the words "Help the Children's Memorial Hospital."

Arthur Hair Known As Last Post Fund Founder

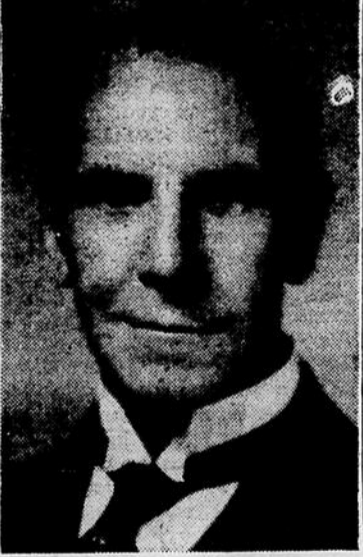

Arthur Harold Douglas Hair, who died at the age of 78 recently at his home at 449 Strathcona avenue, was the founder of the Last Post Fund, which has grown to be a national institution.

Designed to protect from dishonour in death those who had honoured themselves in life by their services to their country, the Last Post Fund arose from an incident which occurred 38 years ago. Mr. Hair was employed at that time in the Montreal General Hospital, and saw the body of an indigent veteran removed for burial to the obscurity of Potters Field. Aroused by the unmerited dishonour received by the dead man who had served his country in the Crimean War, Mr. Hair determined to do something about it.

He founded what has since become the Last Post Fund, which grew through many difficulties into a strong national organization. All dead soldiers come under its care, and any veteran may request to be buried in the Field of Honour.

Now, with his work done, Arthur Hair has lain down with his comrades, in honour among the company whose honour he assured.

He is survived by his wife, the former Jessie MacIntyre, and by four children, Jessie and Ruby Hair, and Douglas and Arthur Hair, Jr.

HIT BY AUTO MAN INJURED

Struck by an automobile driven by Bjorn Larson, 4282 Sherbrooke Street West, as he was crossing the street opposite 5617 Sherbrooke Street West, Jerry Farmer, 4306 Old Orchard Avenue, was taken to the Homoeopathic Hospital by ambulance at 9.45 p.m. on Sunday, according to police report on the mishap, turned in by Constables Dubuc and Sauvageau. Victim sustained a bruised left hip and he was treated for his injury by Dr. Miller.

Two Local Men Injured In Car-Train Collision

Two Westmount men were gravely injured on Tuesday morning, when the car in which they were riding collided head-on with a freight train near Lesage, it was reported.

Taken to the Sacred Heart Hospital, the men, identified as Roland Pickford, of 9 Winchester Avenue, and Pierre Rene de Cotret, 20, of 4838 Sherbrooke Street West, were said to be in critical condition.

According to the police, the two men were driving to Montreal when the accident occurred at the Canadian Pacific Railway crossing five miles north of St. Jerome.

It is reported that the automobile was completely wrecked.

Dr. Jonathan C. Meakins, C. B. E. of 61 Rosemount Avenue, who is retiring as Dean of the Faculty of Medicine at McGill University, and also as director of the University Medical Clinic, has been elected co-president of the Quebec Division of the Canadian Cancer Society, it was announced this week.

The curtain rises. The audience becomes quiet, expectant. Lights, music, and the play is on. You'll laugh and cry with the players—share their problems, and oh how you wish you were up there. Well, why aren't you? Make acting your hobby.

School plays are swell for a beginning. So are local or church plays. Ask the director for an interview. If you can't make the grade, try doing some behind-the-scenes work—as technicians, costumes, or make-up assistant, or just doing odds and ends. You'll then come into contact with the players during rehearsals. Use your eyes and ears. Observe the corrections being made, the actors' interpretations, the way a special line is said...

Then, next time, chances are you'll get in—but don't fool yourself, you won't start at the top. Sure, there'll be lots of laughs and fun, but acting is hard work. There are periods of watching others and learning. And you may practice a certain speech at home until you think you can't possibly say it better (if you can say it at all) and the director wants it said in an altogether different way... Even Hollywood stars have to put up with that every day.

But... you'll make many new friends. The players will be like one big family if the play is to be a success. They'll be working towards a common goal putting over the play. And, of course, on opening night, there will be the usual backstage riots—rushing to the make-up man, squeezing into costumes; and, on stage, all the make-up, plus the lights and the tenseness will make you anything but cool—but making someone else live inside you for that little while and taking in the applause, will make everything wonderful—that will be your sole reward for all the work. If you can take the work as graciously as the reward, then chances are that some day, very soon, when that curtain goes up, you will play that all-important starring role.

Social Notes

The usual noisy quiet of the Loyola Stadium around noon prevailed when—BING-BANG—in they came—band and all. On Independence Day the Americans at the S.S.C.A. staged a huge parade around the grounds. This was followed by a baseball game against Canadians. Canada won—score: 14 to 8. Just so we wouldn't forget the U.S., huge fireworks were held that night after the party. All kidding aside, we'll miss them...

Incidentally, watch for a new up-and-coming band—Ted Rooney and his Collegians will be at the Westmount "Y" every Wednesday night. They include: Johnny Roland at drums, Moe Latour and his trumpet, Ross and Dezi Desjardins, on sax and trombone, and, of course, Ted himself at the piano. Dezy, by the way, is the boy who's such a hit at imitating Jolson. He'll do any other type of song, too.

Another band to watch is and Paul Arnold, Quartermaster Bob Tate and Scouter John Wallace, who shares the responsibility of running the campsite with Alf Powis. They are camped in Fort Churchill.

2nd Westmount also have a large representation in camp with the following Scouts among those present:—Clifford Bowles, Michael Harling, Robin Nicholas, Stuart MacKinnon, Ross Southward, Donald MacNamara, Robert Sherlock, Kent Cleff, Aubrey Sievert, John Donaldson, Douglas Cobb, Hartland McKeown, Colin Grimson, Bruce McLachlan, Jack Fenwick and Sandy Gideonse of the Boy Scouts of America. Senior Scouts in camp are: Ted Alexander, David Bourke, Tom Sparrow, Donald Fenwick Robert Thompson, Gordon Koch, Neville Harisay and Arthur Eberwein, Scouters include Ian Roberts, Hugh Marshall and Crawford Johnson.

At Wolf Cub camp MacAuley this week, which concludes tomorrow morning, and, incidentally, ends their three weeks camping season, there are six boys from Calvary Park, Mackie Barr, Charles Gibson, Carl MacInnis, Richard Ryan, Mac Scott and Alex Svendsen. They are under the leadership of Miss C. Jockel, who is their cubmaster, and all seem to be having a grand time. Two of the three runners at MacAuley this summer are Scouts from St. Leo's Seniors. They are Bob Lafontaine and Gerald McNally, who are at Club Camp as Service Scouts.

TUT, TUT, MR. COCHRANE

Our attention is drawn, somewhat belatedly, we must admit, to an article written by Professor of heaven-knows-what, George "Buddy" Cochrane, in his new-fangled column entitled "The Pillar" some two weeks ago today. He has the nerve to mention that we are becoming interested in the Girl Guide Movement. What a silly statement! It is a well-known fact that, since the Boy Scout and Girl Guide Movements are so closely aligned, that anyone interested in either one, must, of necessity, be interested in both, since they are part and parcel of the same thing. Therefore, after all this it follows that we have been interested in the Girl Guide movement all these years Mr. Cochrane refers to. That should take the wind out of his sails.

Incidentally, Mr. Cochrane may be observed, any day of the week, still conducting his "Whether or not girls should kiss with their eyes open or closed" experiment, which our genial friend, Oliver Towne, referred to some weeks back. We should change that to read, any night, not day of the week. And, dear George, we did go down to the States on business, and not what you said, either!

DIFFERENT MATTER

Disturbed Professor: "Will you men in the back stop exchanging notes?"

Student: "They aren't notes, sir. They're cards. We're playing bridge."

Professor: "Oh, I beg your pardon."

Johnny Carleton's. His aggregation comprises 12 players. Johnny himself plays trumpet, but good!... He was down at Rochester, N.Y., a short time ago and usually plays for D'Arcy McGee dances. So long until next week.

POWERFUL DRAMATIC FILM! Joan Crawford and John Garfield are co-starred in "Humoresque", which starts on Saturday at the Seville United Theatre, playing until Tuesday night. Oscar Levant has an important supporting role in this powerful story of a concert musician whose career is jeopardized by his love for a wealthy woman.

Geo. Raft and Lynn Bari Teamed In Thrilling Melodrama at Seville Soon

When a Hollywood composer is found dead, the police, judging by powder burns, conclude that is suicide. But George Raft, co-starring with Lynn Bari in "Nocturne", which starts on Wednesday at the Seville United Theatre, is unable to accept this theory when he considers the victim's habits and general character. As a suave detective handy with his fists, the hero decides to conduct an independent investigation.

Raft checks ten beautiful women whose photographs adorn the walls of the composer's living room, but gets little help from them. He then gets on the trail of screen actress Bari, whose glibness and cool insolence prove more than a match for the hero. He falls in love with her but still works for a confession, believing that she is the criminal.

He finally proves that it was murder and is able to put his finger on the killer, but not before one of the season's more ingenious melodramas smashes to a spectacular climax.

The Hollywood background reveals several of the most famous spots in the film capital, and on one occasion invades a sound stage where a film is in the making. The supporting cast is headed by Virginia Huston, Joseph Pevney, Myrna Dell, Edward Ashley, Walter Sande, Mabel Paige, Bernard Hoffman and Queenie Smith.

THE PILLAR

"... Rough-hew Them How You Will"

The postman didn't even ring once. Why should he — my office door was open. Come to think of it, my office hasn't even got a door.

"Tell me, Mr. Brannigan," I asked, "What's your opinion of U.N.? Can you see any hope that they'll be able to get together on European aid?"

Alpheus Brannigan lapsed into my one comfortable chair — the one customarily reserved for paying clients. Digging a rather frayed "snipe" from his shirt pocket, he lit up the vile weed, inhaled deeply, exhaled in malodorous fashion. His left eye closed, the better to focus his hefty intellect upon the moot point.

"There's some things," he pontificated, "that don't bear rational solution. It seems to me that the proceedings at Lake Success (save the mark) are in that category. Let me illustrate by a scintillating antidote from me own family history.

"You couldn't ask to meet a finer man than me Uncle Timothy — in the sanctity of his own home. He'd carry on the most forthright and gentlemanly conversation: small talk or the deepest philosophical contrivings — 'twas all the same to him. A credit to the fine old name of Brannigan, that he was.

justly famous, and Uncle Tim would cite chapter and verse to prove the contrary. But was he called to order for holdin' up the proceedings, he'd holler about democracy, constitutional rights and the Four — or maybe Five — Freedoms. The fifth one, seemingly, was freedom to obstruct and make a damn nuisance of himself — tho' that he'd never admit.

"The United Nations, if it survives effectively," concluded Mr. Brannigan, "will survive if and because the reasonable element can outnumber and outlast the vetoers and walk-takers. And what will you be after writing about this week in that paper of yours?"

"I can imagine no more intriguing topic," riposted the guest conductor, "that your terse and timely sidelights on world affairs, via your Uncle Timothy. Fare thee well, thrice-accursed bearer of window-envelopes full of bad news."

"Well now," smugly voiced Mr. B., "you could, if you'll permit the comment, have done no better. Good-day to you."

He edged his liberal bulk out of the door. I rifled through the mail — three circulars, seven bills and a catalog. O Tempora, O Mores O Shux! !

For Better Living Dept.

The catalog I reserved for light vacation reading next week. The bills — oh, don't be silly. But one of the circulars turned out to be a plug for a new variety of typewriters that rests on secretary's lap! It's been a long time since we've seen a secretary with a lap. Maybe the new longer skirts are responsible. Anyhow it gets away from the rather outmoded prewar technique of secretary on boss' lap. Progress, progress!

Truly there may be many inventions. Now I think is the time propitious to release on an avid world my cherished brainchild

Shakespeare By Open-Air Group

Montreal's first open air production of Shakespeare's famous comedy "A Midsummer Night's Dream" will be staged on the shores of Beaver Lake at Mount Royal next week, July 16th to 20th.

The theatrical event, long regarded as a natural for the perfect scenic setting of the mountain, is being presented by the Montreal Open-Air Playhouse, a new organization which is devoting the proceeds to the Montreal Cancer Society.

Co-operating in the production are several internationally known players as well as star members of such well known Montreal organizations as the M.R.T., C.A.T., Shakespeare Society, The Trinity Players, Ruth Sorel's dancers and Madame Donald's singers. Two well known names in the theatrical world, Rosanna Seaborn as organizer and Malcolm Morley as director, are hoping that this first venture of the Open-Air Playhouse will be the forerunner of annual summer events of a similar nature on Mount Royal. The shores of Beaver Lake will provide a particularly appropriate setting for the comedy which has most of its scenes set out of doors. The sloping ground around the lake provides space for some 800 seats.

The cast has such names as Miss Seaborn, playing Hermia; Mary Douglas, playing Helena; Gwyn Williams, as Hippolyta; Suzanne Avon, as Titania; Myra Galloway, as Puck; Bruce Raymond, as Demetrius; Christopher Plummer, as Lysander; Gerald McCarthy, as Theseus; Alfred Gallagher, as Egeus, Whitfield Aston, as Bottom; Basil Donn, as Quince; Bruce LeDain, as Snugg; George Kasatchenko, as Flute; and Tim Whelan, as Oberon.

Pierre Dagenais, who produced the French version of a Midsummer Night's Dream in Montreal, a few years ago, is acting as advisor on the production. Special landscaping will be done by Louis Perron and Roger de Pocas, manager of the York and Avenue Theatres, is acting as theatre manager.

Stock Exchange Functions Described To Rotarians

"The Stock Exchange is looked upon by some people as a place of mystery . . . whereas, in fact, it is neither more nor less than a market place for dealing in stocks," said Lt.-Col. J. E. McKenna, assistant general manager of the Montreal Stock Exchange, opening his address as guest speaker at the Westmount Rotary Club luncheon, this week. It can be described, however, as an integral part of the financial mechanism of the modern state, he said.

"The Exchange itself does not trading, nor does it participate in any profit or loss occasioned by the rise or fall of prices. It is not a gambling den, for it has to be remembered that the terms 'speculation' and 'gambling' are separate and distinct. The speculator enters into a definite commitment with a direct bearing on our economic life. The gambler is merely interested in a fortuitous event," said Mr. McKenna.

The Exchange is a non-profit organization, he said. The cost of its operation is borne by its members who, through fees and assessments, meet the operating costs.

History of Stock Exchanges
Stockbroking, as apart from mercantile broking, originated in the reign of William III, he told the Rotarians. The first Stock Exchange was formed in the latter part of the 17th century, and held in the Royal Exchange of London, where the brokers took their stand among the merchants. They later moved into Change Alley, and in 1801, the foundation of the present Stock Exchange was laid in Capel Court.

The trading of securities in North America commenced shortly after 1776, and the New York Stock Exchange was formed in 1792, he said. The Montreal Stock Exchange, first in Canada, was formed in 1874, and the Montreal Curb Market was organized in 1926 by members of the Montreal Stock Exchange.

Mr. McKenna said that stocks or shares were first issued when the cost of exploiting trading opportunities offered by the discovery of the New World and the East India route became too heavy for the individual to bear. Joint stock-companies were therefore organized to distribute the expense and risk involved in the trading ventures. He named the English and Dutch East India Companies, and the Hudson's Bay Company — "The Gentlemen Adventurers of England Trading into Hudson's Bay" — as examples. Shares of the latter are still traded on the London Stock Exchange and on the Montreal Curb Market, he said.

"From these early starts, trad-

Canadian Legion March Contest Has Many Entries

There is no great shortage of composers in Canada as is evidenced by the large number of entries being received daily in response to the Canadian Legion's request for a Legion march.

From teen-agers to long bearded musicians the compositions are generally of a high quality. The generous cash prizes of $500, $300 and $200 produce an incentive, yet the enthusiasm displayed by the composers shows that Canadian musicians are eager to create music of their own.

The competition which closes on July 31st will be first judged regionally and then finally by an outstanding board of judges well known in Canadian music circles.

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation will play a number of the final selections over the air before the winners are announced, thereby giving all Canadians an opportunity to hear the efforts of Canadian composers.

The final selection will be used by the hundreds of Canadian Legion bands throughout the country on parades and special ceremonial occasions. The Canadian Legion is hoping that the Legion March will not only have the popular approval of the public but will be an asset to Canadian music.

Trinity Players Hold 41st Annual Meeting

Financial statement for the year was read by treasurer George Nixon at the recently held 41st annual meeting of the Trinity Players, with President Mrs. John H. Molson in the chair. A brief report was given by A. B. Finnie, Business Manager, pointing out that $2,790 was donated to Trinity Memorial Church. Mrs. Molson reminded members that all funds donated to Trinity Memorial Church were being credited to the fund for the building of a new theatre which would provide the Players with a more suitable home for productions in the future and also release the Parish Hall for other activities. Just when the new theatre would be built was still problematical at present because of shortage of material and high cost of construction.

Mrs. Molson drew the attention of the meeting to the fact that in addition to the usual activities the Players had given a repeat performance of "Bachelor Born" at Longueuil, and had entertained groups from Montreal Association for the Blind, the Queen Mary Military Hospital, and a number of nurses from the Homeopathic Hospital.

Mention was made of the work of several members of the Executive retiring from office this season. A tribute was paid to Hazel Molson who has guided the destiny of the Trinity Players as President with enthusiasm and unselfish devotion for the past seventeen years. Later in the evening Basil Donn presented a bouquet of carnations and snapdragons to Mrs. Molson on behalf of the members of the Trinity Players.

Further tribute was paid to A. B. Finnie, whose long and untiring interest as Chairman of the Business Committee has been an inspiration to Executive and Members alike.

Tribute was also paid to Judge

Gerald Almond for his work as Vice-President of the Organization for many years, Angus Sweeting, retiring secretary, Carol Knox and Hugh Shoobridge, for devotion to duty.

Basil Donn, director, has been reappointed for the coming season. Mr. Donn receiving added congratulation for his contribution to the Canadian Theatre and his election to the Canadian Drama Award.

In the absence of the Rector Canon Kenneth Naylor the Chair was taken by Basil Donn who expressed the feeling of regret that the Players were losing the services of Mrs. John Molson and A. B. Finnie, as both had served long and useful terms of office.

Officers Elected

The following slate of officers for the 1947-48 season was proposed by Jocelyn Patton, chairman of nominating committee, and seconded by George Woods and unanimously elected.

Frightened Horses Cause Smashup

An accident unusual in this gasoline powered age occurred on Thursday afternoon, last week, when a horse-drawn wagon belonging to the Ice Manufacturing Co., turned into a runaway down Atwater Avenue hill.

Reports indicate that the team became frightened as the wagon started down the hill, and bolted, thundering toward the bottom of the hill while pedestrians scattered for cover. Before finally coming to a stop, they side-swiped two streetcars and bounced off a taxi, forcing it into a bus.

The wagon driver, Lucien Girard of 118 Turgeon Street suffered a fractured left knee, and his helper, Gerard Orpen, of 1175 Conway Avenue suffered concussion. Both were treated in St. Luke Hospital.

Charged with speeding, a New York man said he was on his way to pay his income tax, and was released. There was no fine to match that!

If Mr. Taft becomes President and lends himself to the campaign of the economic nationalists, it may be a bad day not only for his own country but also for our country and for the rest of the world.

NORTH AMERICA CAN SAVE DEMOCRACIES!

The United States and Canada have the resources with which to restore the means of production of the remaining free-voting democracies. The time in which restoration is possible is shockingly short; perhaps only a few months remain in which to prevent the collapse of democracy in Europe.

The means of restoration are known. The statesmen of the United States and Canada have agreed on what needs to be done. They require overwhelming evidence of public support for measures which will free trade and stimulate the exchange of goods and services on a vast scale.

While the representatives of enlightened statesmen are striving to restore trade at Geneva, the Congress and Senate of the United States are giving evidence of a protectionist and trade isolationist attitude that threatens to prevent any adequate action being taken in time to save the world situation.

Mr. Clayton, head of the U.S. delegation to the International Trade Conference at Geneva, said of the bills introduced to raise the tariff on wool in the United States that they were evidence to the other nations of an unwillingness to implement the policies laid down.

North America can save democratic civilization by taking adequate action in the next few months; but this may be North America's last chance. Unless there is an immediate transformation in public opinion on this continent, and action consistent with our declared beliefs, history will record that North America failed civilization in its greatest crisis.

RACIAL, RELIGIOUS PREJUDICE

A cartoon depicted the graves of two soldiers in foreign soil. On a cross above one was the legend, "A British Boy"; above the other was the legend, "An American Boy".

The caption of the cartoon asked: "Can America and Britain get together?" the artist's laconic answer was set between the graves in the words—"We Did!"

Rub out the words "British" and "American" and insert the word "Jew" or "Negro", or "Chinese", or "Japanese" or what you will. Still the drawing makes grim sense, and shames the hateful thing that has risen again to plague us—racial and religious prejudice.

Shameful we say, since you, reading these lines in safety and comfort, are privileged to do so because, on a hundred battle-fronts, men of every creed and color and nationality stood between you and the fanatic, aggressive foe.

For it was that evil genius and enemy of mankind who first singled out as his victims, a helpless minority—the Jews—and then before long was clipping off, one by one, the other minorities who had acquiesced in that hideous thing, until the whole German people was under his thumb.

It is time for all people, of different backgrounds and faiths, to realize that if civilization is to progress as it should progress there must be less of that inhumanity to man and more of the spirit of Jesus of Nazareth.

Equal justice—no man, no race, can ask for more. None should be given less.—Guelph, Ontario, Mercury.

THE CONSUMER IS THE BOSS

The efforts of certain women's groups to promote a buyers' strike in Canada are unlikely to be successful. The tactics of the groups seem to smack of Communist influence, and Canadians are getting bored by the Communists, to say the least. The Communist influence behind the major strikes has been obvious, and it is insulting the general intelligence for the same persons to organize protests against the inevitable increase in prices that they themselves brought about.

This is not to say that a buyers' strike is an impossibility. Such a strike occurred spontaneously in 1920, and prices came down with a rush. The point about that strike was that it was spontaneous. Consumers almost overnight realized that it might be better to save a little money for a rainy day than to squander it on merchandise they didn't really want. The atrociously colored silk shirts that had been created to attract the wages of munition workers were left on the merchants' shelves. People stopped buying luxuries entirely and became reluctant even to buy necessities.

Prices came down because there were cancellations of orders on a large scale and merchants would not reorder until they could get prices at which they could be sure of passing on the goods to the public. As orders fell off at the factories, workers were laid off or had their hours reduced and their incomes shrank accordingly.

The incident was a striking illustration of the fact that, in the long run, the consumer is the boss. There are signs that he is again feeling his power. We may yet see the day when an employer will feel safe in firing a clerk who makes the common error of regarding customers only as nuisances to be suppressed.

Book Review

By H. S. Ross

I recently read "Peace of Mind" by Rabbi Joshua Loth Liebman published by The Mussoson Book Co. Ltd. 480-486 University Ave., Toronto (pages 203—price $3.00) and it doubtless has been helping and will continue to help all who read it to get more out of life. Its popularity has steadily mounted until it is one of America's best-selling non-fiction books. It blends the great truths of religion with helpful insights of the scientific of psychoanalysis to guide people in understanding themselves. Love, fear, grief, the urge to succeed are some of the moods and motives that make or undermine happiness and the author thinks we should be able to liberate ourselves from the constant assault of life's complications if there is a basis for thoughtful individual understanding.

This book with its wisely optimistic outlook on life helps to provide such a basis and will help many people to remain normal in this abnormal age.

The author is the Rabbi of Temple Israel, Boston, with the largest reform Jewish congregation in New England. He is one of the leading radio preachers in America. Millions have heard his sermons for the past seven years over N.B.C., A.B.C., and C. B. S. coast-to-coast networks.

During the last few years Dr. Liebman has served as University preacher at Harvard, Cornell, Vassar, Dartmouth, Wellesley and other leading Universities. He is visiting Professor of Philosophy at the Graduate School of Boston University. He also teaches Judaism to undergraduates at the Christian ministry at the Baptist Andover Newton Theological School.

"Peace of Mind" was chosen for condensation in the Reader's Digest and became a selection of the Religious Book club. Seldom has a book been more enthusiastically reviewed by leading critics. It has been hailed as a well written, immeasurably helpful volume. The New York Times told its readers that the book formulates a reasonable tolerant faith, a persuasive course of action." Professor Harry A. Overstreet noted author and educator give "Peace of mind" and its distinguished author the highest sort of praise.

In his preface or as he calls it — A Word to the Reader — he wrote in part: "Many men far wiser than I are at work today planning social and economic change. For their creative labors, every thinking person must be grateful. We must join with them in the struggle to obtain a common victory for economic, industrial, and political democracy throughout the world."

Provincial Government Is Petitioned For Boost

Decision that representations should be made immediately to the Provincial Government to supplement the Federal Pension by an amount at least equal to that of any other Province was endorsed at a recent meeting of the Joint Legislative Committee of the Association Canadienne Francaise des Aveugles, the Montreal Association for the Blind, and the Montreal Branch of the Canadian Federation of the Blind.

P. A. Brisebois, Director of the French Canadian Association for the Blind, pointed out that in the debates in Ottawa it was freely admitted that no person could possibly live on $30 a month, but that pending a comprehensive social security act, this was as far as the Federal Government was prepared to go. He felt that this Province, which was one of the wealthiest, should do its part to provide a further amount to meet the present cost of living.

Gilbert Layton, Secretary of the Montreal Association for the Blind, stated that the Prime Minister of this Province, at the Dominion-made a few brief remarks paying tribute to the retiring president.

Entertainment

Louise Perrault, Convener for the Entertainment, with Gordon Jones as Master of Ceremonies, introduced Basil Donn in Character Sketches from Shakespeare and Charles Dickens; Members of The Canadian Art Theatre splendidly directed by Joy Thompson in an original Canadian One Act play "Merry Go Round". At the curtain of this bright and amusing one act play, there was a call for the author who took a bow.

Murel Shoobridge was in charge of music and presented a pupil who acquitted himself well as a soloist.

Norman Blain produced and acted in a one act play "Ann Pepper."

A welcome visitor was Cortland MacNeill, veteran Trinity Player who, as always, merited much applause for his Musical Skit. Olive Sanborne Lead gave several amusing monologues.

The supper which followed was in charge of Mrs. Basil Donn, Jocelyn Paton, Ruby Rowatt, and Sally Starke, assisted by Rene Almond, Adrian Barclay, Jean Dent and Helen Pfifer, Isabel Paton and Mary Molson.

Provincial Conference in Ottawa in 1936, had gone on record that Quebec would always do its part to help those without eyesight, and had frequently, in the Legislature and by act, supported this stand.

Walter Day, the President of the Montreal Branch of the Canadian Federation of the Blind, who had just returned from a general meeting of that organization in Vancouver, stated that while the blind were very pleased with the results achieved by the present amendments, they felt that there were still a number of weaknesses to be corrected. The present Act does not encourage a blind person earning a low income to improve his financial position.

In the case of a single person, any salary that he may earn over $30 per month is automatically deducted from his $30 pension, until a total of $720 is reached, at which point the pension ceases. Mr. Day felt that the various points presented recently to the Minister of Health, the Hon. Paul Martin, should be kept before the Federal and Provincial Governments.

It was decided to arrange for a delegation to wait on the Hon. Paul Sauvé, or the Hon. Mr. Duplessis, Prime Minister of Quebec, at the earliest opportunity. It was also agreed that a joint letter should be sent to the Hon. Paul Martin, thanking him for the present amendment to the Pensions Act, and for his response to the representation of this Committee, which would mean so much to Canada's sightless citizens.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BY WINIFRED E. WILSON

MOTHER LOVE

Though our feathered friends may occasionally show affection for their offspring quite differently from our way, mother love is genuine in Birdland. Most birds make model parents, showing great courage and self-sacrifice when things go wrong; and as for working hard in order to feed their growing children, few human parents can equal them. Have you ever watched young birds being fed? Sometimes 1000 trips a day are needed.

Mother Red-winged Blackbird does all the work; but generally fathers take their turn carrying worms, insects, seeds or berries to the hungry mouths. After each meal the home is cleaned. Strange to say, the male Three-toed Woodpecker does this alone.

Nestlings require much care. Most are hatched without feathers, so for several days must be continually sat on to protect them from the cold. Likewise it would not do for very young birds to get hot sun on them; therefore they must be shielded by the parents. You may have seen a bird on her nest with bill open, panting from the heat. This is her way of showing mother love.

One of her most arduous duties is protecting her babies from enemies, which are many. She must always be on the alert — day and night. Usually she is coloured and patterned in such a way that she trusts to camouflage to save her from observation. The Nighthawk that nests on the high roof-top in our cities is mottled brown and white, blending so perfectly with the gravel that she is practically unseen. She will not budge, guarding her children, until you can almost touch her: not that she is tame, but courageous, and depending on camouflage.

I once came upon a whole family of Juncos, just out of the nest. Eagerly I followed the direction of Mrs. Junco's flight. She would fly a few feet, then flutter to the ground, leading me on. Presently I discovered that meantime her five babies had scattered in the long grass and not one of them was to be seen.

When a cat visited our garden Mrs. Chipping Sparrow put up a fight. She managed to save all her nestlings, but she herself fell a prey to the marauder.

CANNING PEAS

Shell and wash young, tender peas. Cover with boiling water. Bring to boil and boil, covered, 1 minute. Pack hot, loosely. Add 1 teaspoon of salt to each quart sealer. Cover with hot cooking liquid from peas, leaving 1 inch headspace in glass sealers and 1/2 inch in tin cans since peas, like corn, expand more than other vegetables during processing. Process in the Pressure Cooker at 10 lbs. (240F.) pint sealers and 20 oz. cans 40 minutes; quarts and 28 oz cans 45 minutes OR process in the boiling water bath, (212F.) pints, quarts, 20 and 28 oz. cans, 3 hours.

Big City Branch Of Red Cross Plays Important National Role

Throughout the world the benefits of the Red-Cross are directed toward serving the population as a whole, rather than merely the population of large cities. This is particularly true in Canada—and more especially in the Province of Quebec. In this province the isolated settlers and other remote groups of families are in greater need of modern Red Cross services than the families who live in large towns or cities.

It is also true that of the thousands of branches of the Red Cross throughout the world, the greater number are located in small towns, in villages and even in rural districts. Collectively these small branches are the mainstay of Red Cross in most of the sixty different nations where the Society functions.

Nevertheless the big city branches play an important role, from the point of view of work done, money contributed and moral support given to the Red Cross. The fact that in many cases the benefits go to outlying districts does not deter the members of the big city branches from working devotedly for their Red Cross.

Take for example the Red Cross branch in Montreal. It consists of an amalgamation of some forty different branches which functioned in Montreal during the war. Today, these forty war-time branches form one big city branch. It is one of the most promising of the city branches of the Canadian Red Cross and it faces a programme of peacetime work which surpasses anything the Red Cross attempted in other peacetime years.

No fewer than one thousand women work for the Montreal Branch of the Red Cross. They are divided into sixty-five different groups and the record of their accomplishment for the year to date has already surpassed on several counts what had been optimistically anticipated.

Women's Work

Since the beginning of the present year the Montreal women have completed nearly twenty thousand articles that had to be sewn or knitted for the benefit of suffering humanity at home and abroad. They also made up five hundred layettes for underprivileged babies and they prepared no fewer than one hundred and forty thousand surgical dressings for use in hospitals. Most of the surgical dressings went to the hospitals which take care of Canadian war veterans who are still under treatment.

The president of the Montreal Branch—Mr. W. G. Hanson—feels justly proud of this record. His pride is shared by others who are responsible for directing the work. Their praise includes not only the loyal women volunteers who did the sewing, but also the uniformed young ladies of the Canadian Red Cross Corps, who helped a great deal in many activities.

It's summer now, and many of the people who work for Red Cross are taking a well-earned holiday. But many others go on during the summer—knitting and sewing on materials which they drew in advance from the Red Cross stock of cloth and wool that has to be made into garments.

Busy This Fall

Next autumn the workrooms of the Montreal Branch will buzz again with maximum activity. The branch foresees additional work, for there is much to be done to help the new Canada-wide blood bank of the Red Cross; to get into full operation the plan by which Red Cross will lend equipment to needy families who have a serious case of sickness on their hands—and other modern public health work of the Society throughout Canada.

Among the men and women who share responsibility for this work are many names that rank high for continuous public-spirited activity. On the General Executive Committee of the Montreal Branch we note such names as these: Air Vice-Marshal Adelaar Raymond, Brigadier Guy Gauvreau, Col. J. K. Wilson and Col. Jean Chapat. It would be impossible in a short account like this to name all the persons who have given distinguished service to the work. What would be no more than fair would be to name every one of the thousand women who have quietly and without hope of reward worked for long hours in order to make certain that Red Cross keeps its pledge to humanity. They are duplicated by other thousands of women throughout the country. Without them all the money in the world would not make Red Cross the marvellous organization it has grown to be since men first dared to dream of a plan to dispense charity and public service without regard for religion, politics or nationality.

Yet, great as it is, the work of the big city branches is not enough without the vast collective total of the work done by millions of women who belong to the thousands of small branches of the Red Cross.

Your Child's Confidence

By MABEL-RUTH JACKSON

Mrs. James with Ronnie, her five-year-old son, had come to visit her sister whom she had not seen for a long time. The sisters were so glad to be with each other and there was so much to talk about that Mrs. James did not notice at dinner-time that her little boy was making unwise selections and was being served much too plentifully. Later, both he and his mother paid the penalty for this over-indulgence; and the next morning, although relieved of his discomfort, the usually active Ronnie was content to sit quietly on his mother's knee. Mrs. James was feeling remorseful—reproaching herself for not having guarded her son more carefully.

"Don't worry so much," her sister advised. "He'll be all right. You always did take things too seriously."

Maybe Bess was right, Mrs. James thought. Bess's children were happy and healthy. But Ronnie was different—more delicate and a little oversensitive. She wouldn't be too careful.

Just then some acquaintances of her sister's dropped in, and Mrs. James sat holding Ronnie and half-listening to the idle, pointless chatter that filled the room.

After a while Ronnie whispered in her ear, "I think they're talking about me."

His remark was so surprisingly pointed and it amused her so much that thoughtlessly she repeated it. Everybody shrieked with laughter.

Ronnie buried his head in her neck, embarrassed. "I didn't mean for you to say it out loud," he whispered.

Realization that she had betrayed his childish confidence came to Mrs. James with a shock. To herself she vowed never to do such a thing again. But there was something to be done now. She must meet the present situation; she must restore Ronnie's self-possession.

So she kissed her boy warmly and said in a low tone. "They thought it funny, Ronnie, and enjoyed it. They like you. You laugh, too, so they will know you like them."

The child sat up, but the flushed little face showed no smile. "They laughed at me," he whispered.

"No, not at you but with you," she answered. "Don't you remember that when Daddy tells jokes we all laugh? We laugh with him—not at him."

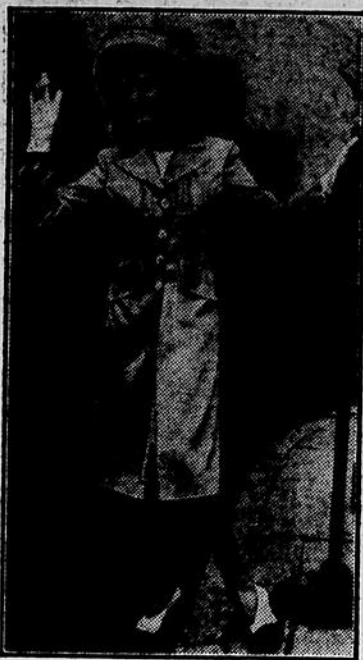

Ronnie laughed. "Yes," he said, "we laugh with him—not at him. I think I'll go out and play now."

With a sigh of relief Mrs. James leaned back in her chair. She could not forget the occurrence and she felt almost as grateful as she would have had her child been in danger of devouring flames and she enabled to save him. Fervently she gave thanks, but still the question would come, "How could I have been so utterly thoughtless?"

IRISH LINEN COAT

Sleek and trim as a destroyer is this Irish linen coat by Clare Potter designed for both city and country wear. It is fitted with a trim belted back. Two novel slit patch pockets and two oversized flap pockets are both decorative and serviceable. Huge butcher boy cuffs button over with a novel bone button to add zip to the straight sleeve.

may seem a matter of little importance. Mrs. James, however, knew that her moment of thoughtlessness could have had tremendously disastrous outcomes—both for her son and for herself. She might have forfeited her child's trustful confidence in his mother—such a precious, fragile thing—a trust that ought to have a very great influence throughout his entire future. Lifelong effects are often produced on a young child by happenings, the details of which pass quickly from his memory.

If a child cannot go to his mother with everything that puzzles or interests him, and if he cannot know that his confidences will be safe in her keeping, his emotional stability and his faith in human nature are likely to be endangered. Unfailing worthiness of confidence on the part of a parent has often made, for the child, the difference between an ill-adjusted and a well-adjusted life.

TOPS COMEDY BILL! Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour are co-starred in "My Favorite Brunette", which starts on Saturday at the Monkland United Theatre, playing until Tuesday night. The other excellent feature on this program will be "The Perfect Marriage," with David Niven and Loretta Young.

Rosalind Russell As Devoted Nurse In "Sister Kenny" At Monkland

Outlining, with rare understanding, the elements which inspired Elizabeth Kenny to continue her dauntless fight against the ravages of infantile paralysis, her biography "Sister Kenny" is now on the screen of the Monkland United Theatre until Friday night. Rosalind Russell has the title role and Alexander Knox is co-starred in the role of Dr. McDonnell, Nurse Kenny's staunch friend and supporter. Dean Jagger is featured as the fiance Sister Kenny never married. Based on facts, the film drama was made under the supervision of Miss Kenny, whose career has been an inspiration to the modern world.

Aided by Dr. McDonnell, she wages a long and arduous fight for recognition of her treatment, which differs widely from any recognized treatment of the disease. Heading the opposition in her native Australia is Dr. Charles Brack, a noted orthopedic specialist played by Philip Merivale. Brack is a highly-principled medical man who wages just as bitter a fight against the disease as Sister Kenny does herself, but is opposed to any treatment which has no basis in accepted scientific research.

The life of Sister Kenny is rated one of the greatest stories ever to be screened. It teems with drama and reveals incidentally, the great romance in her life, thwarted by the demands of her crusade. It covers some thirty-five years, from her graduation from nurses' school until the establishment of her Sister Kenny Institute at Minneapolis, Minn.

"Sister Kenny" offers dramatic greatness by reason of its story and the sincere performances of Miss Russell, Knox Jagger and Merivale.

Harry James All Set To Go

Date, Friday, July 11th; place, The Forum; time 9 until 1; star of the piece, Harry James; supporting cast, the Music Makers. The stage is all set. And Montreal's dancing public is in for one of the greatest treats it has ever been its good fortune to listen to. Of its taking full advantage of the grand opportunity there isn't a doubt in the world! For the appearance of personalities so outstanding in the world of musical diversion as Harry James in a spot so far away from his Hollywood base as Montreal can be put down as an event which is not likely to be repeated any too frequently in the course of the ordinary person's lifetime.

The man needs no introduction, naturally. Considered by many America's finest solo artist on trumpet, he is also an ace arranger, and has been heaping honors on himself so persistently through records, radio programs and the films from one end of the continent to the other that he is now looked on in countless homes as almost one of the family.

Music lovers generally will be glad to learn that in addition to current popular tunes he will include for this occasion several of the old numbers which helped so materially to make him famous, among them "You Made Me Love You," "Ciri Biri Bin," "I've Heard That Song Before," "I Tipped My Hat," "I'm Beginning To See The Light" and "Flight Of The Bumble Bee". They should be well worth listening to. And, just for good measure, Impresario Maurice Desjardins has had the bandstand raised some five feet to allow every one a good unhampered look at James' top flight musicians.

TODAY until SATURDAY: JOAN CRAWFORD and JOHN GARFIELD in "Humoresque." Also EDDIE BRACKEN in "Ladies' Man," with Virginia Welles, Cass Dalley.

DETECTIVE STORY WITH NEW TECHNIQUE! Robert Montgomery, seen above with Audrey Totter, not only has the leading role as the famed detective, Phillip Marlowe, but also directed the different-type mystery film, "Lady In The Lake," which starts on Saturday at the Snowdon United Theatre for one week.

Powerful Screen Drama Co-Stars Joan Crawford And John Garfield

Joan Crawford, the winner of last year's Academy Award, gives a performance worthy of the first lady of the screen in "Humoresque", which is now playing at the Westmount United Theatre until Saturday night. In Fannie Hurst's popular and moving story of a wealthy woman's love for a brilliant concert violinist, Miss Crawford, who co-stars with John Garfield, reasserts herself as an actress of amazing depth, ability and sincerity.

The story itself is a compelling one and Garfield as Paul Boray, the virtuoso, is most convincing. Paul, presented with a violin on his birthday, studies for years with no worldly success until he comes under the sponsorship of Helen Wright (Joan Crawford), beautiful, neurotic wife of a rich man, who helps Boray along the way to eminence in the concert field. Tremendous conflict develops when Helen is made to realize that her patronage and love may be doing Paul more harm than good.

As Sid Jeffers, cynical, witty pianist and Paul's closest friend, Oscar Levant has never been funnier or better. J. Carrol Naish as Paul's father, proprietor of a small grocery store on New York's lower East Side, adds considerably to his reputation as one of Hollywood's best character actors. Ruth Nelson, in the difficult role of Paul's mother who bitterly resents her son's attachment to a married woman, measures up to the assignment perfectly. The rest of the supporting cast, which includes Joan Chandler, Tom D'Andrea, Peggy Knudsen, Craig Stevens and Paul Cavanaugh, handle their roles admirably.

Further praise must here be directed to the wonderful music that plays an important part in "Humoresque". This is one film that can boast a perfect blending and balance of story line and music.

Murphy Leads Local Hitters

Sonny Provost Second With .522

The batting averages of players in the Westmount Senior Municipal Softball League have all been brought up to date and show that Murphy of the cellar-dwelling Police and Fire team is pacing the loop's willow wielders with a healthy .625 average.

Next in line is the Westmount Dodgers' playing manager Sonny Provost. The Son is hitting .522.

Close on his heels is big Doug Heron, the McGill footballer and hockeyist who plays in the outfield for Cardinals, who has a neat .500.

The next three in the big six are Jones, with .470, Jack McKissock with .438, and Morgan, of the Royals, with .400.

The league statisticians have really been playing around with the figures. The figure filberts have discovered that the two players in the league who have the most at bats are the Cards' Don Mann and Dave Harvie.

Jack McKissock, the Dodgers' ultra-sensational shortstop, leads in the runs batted in department with 16.

Don Mann and Doug Harvie have collected more hits than anyone else in the circuit. They've each poled 15.

Infield Fly

If, before two are out, while first and second or first, second and third bases are occupied, he hit a fair fly ball, other than a line drive, that can reasonably be caught by an infielder. In such case the umpire shall declare it an infield fly. However, the runners may be off their bases or advance at the risk of the ball being caught, the same as on any fly ball; but if hit by the ball while standing on base, that base-runner shall not be called out, but the ball is dead and the batsman shall be called out; and if the base-runner be hit while off base, both that base-runner walked more than anyone else are B. Cameron, Police; S. Kalil, Aces; and V. Lopez, Aces. Each has received seven Annie Oakley's.

The strikeout king of the circuit is Cardinals' J. Thornber. He has gone down swinging eight times.

The Dodgers have a monopoly on the home run department. E. and M. Read have each socked three.

REVISED SCHEDULE

A revised schedule for the Westmount Municipal Senior Softball League has been drawn up by recreation supervisor Jack Ross and is as follows:

Mon., July 14, Cardinals-Royals; Dodgers-Aces; Wed., July 16, Cardinals-Aces; Police-Royals. Thurs., July 17, Aces-Royals; Cardinals-Police. Mon., July 21, Royals-Dodgers; Aces-Cardinals. Wed., July 23, Cardinals-Dodgers; Police-Royals. Thurs., July 24, Aces-Royals; Police-Dodgers. Mon., July 28, Royals-Police; Dodgers-Aces. Wed., July 30, Dodgers-Royals. Thurs., July 31, Dodgers-Police.

AT BELMONT PARK

The Sidneys, European Acrobats, featured as the free outdoor attraction this week at Belmont Park. The other half of the double-header is supplied by Les Kimris, famous French acrobats.

and the batsman shall be called out and the ball is dead. Provided, that, with first and second bases occupied, or first, second and third bases occupied, with less than two out, any attempt to bunt which results in a fair fly ball shall not be regarded as an infield fly.

Note, first of all, that it must be a "fair" fly. Then note that runners may be off their bases or advance at the risk of the fly being caught, same as on any fly ball. Also note that under the provisions of this section an attempt to bunt which results in a fair fly ball is not to be considered as an infield fly. If the umpire thinks an infield fly has been batted he declares it an "infield fly".

Many have a mistaken impression that the infield fly is operative with a runner on first only, or runners on first and third bases. It is not. The rule is made to prevent a player from trapping the ball and starting a double play with runners on first and second, or runners on first, second and third.

Intermediate S'ball Loop Underway Wednesday

The Westmount Intermediate Municipal Softball League got away to a flying start Wednesday evening at Westmount Park when St. Andrews and Unity teed off in the loop's first seven inning battle of the season.

Tonight Staynor and Westmount Stars are slated to tangle on one of the Western Avenue diamonds.

On Double Header At Belmont Park

The current double-header, presented twice daily at Belmont Park and featuring Les Kimris and The Sidneys, will be seen for the last time on Sunday. Les Kimris, working 100 feet above ground without benefit of any safety net, execute dangerous gymnastic stunts that make patrons gasp in astonishment. What the average gymnast does on the ground, these dare-devil-death-defying French stars duplicate in the air on a revolving contraption from which are suspended a miniature aeroplane, trapeze bars and rings. The Sidneys, the other half of this twin bill, prove decisively why they are termed "Europe's Foremost Unicyclists". Individually as well as a unit, the two girls and male companion display remarkable body control and balance especially when the man, riding a bicycle, whirls around the platform with his two charming aides balancing on a lofty tree attached

The five teams in the league are: Staynor, Unity Boys Club, Y.M.C.A., Westmount Stars and St. Andrew's United Church Young People's Association.

Robert Walker, as famed composer Jerome Kern, Dorothy Patrick and Van Hefflin, above, are co-starred with June Allyson, Lucille Bremer, Judy Garland, Kathryn Grayson, Lena Horne, Van Johnson, Tony Martin and Dinah Shore in "Till The Clouds Roll By," in Technicolor, which starts on Sunday at the Westmount United Theatre for one week.

Of Decided Interest To Our Subscribers

Recently our representative called at the premises of the Nap-Renu Service on Sherbrooke West, to get first hand information as to what it was all about and he beheld an amazing spectacle. Incredible as it may seem, he witnessed a remarkable demonstration of an electric chemical process for the scientific removal of shine and fade from men's and women's outer garments. Not only was the shine positively removed and the worn nap replaced by this method—but the colour restoration was of such a positive nature that one had to see it to believe it.

It is an amazing accomplishment, one which has been wanted for four or five decades. The replacing of the lost animal fats (due to the atmospheric conditions plus wear) by this process is quite an achievement and the garments when finished have that rich feeling as when originally new. We can see a splendid record for this process once established.

C. G. MacBride, who has applied for new inventions and improvements, gave us some interesting side lights on Nap-Renu. He became associated with the originator and inventor in 1934, at which time it was a successful process—but all done by hand, a most laborious undertaking. As a result however of their combined ingenuity the first mechanical device was designed and placed on the market in a small way, in 1937. It was highly successful and Mr. MacBride proceeded to London, England, after organizing the first central plant in Seattle.

After demonstrating for a lengthy period to the trade and people in Gt. Britain, he set up a small plant in London, starting with one machine during the war years, increasing the capacity and machinery rapidly—despite the bombing and labour difficulties. When he returned here last January arrangements had been completed for the opening of a very much larger plant with another sixty machines. Many many thousands of suits, etc., were handled by his staff and the amount of repeat business and recommendations, from all parts of the country, is illustrative of its efficacy.

Mr. MacBride is now here to take up where his deceased associate left off and intends opening branches throughout Canada in order that full advantage be taken of the process. He returned herewith with undisputable testimony from men and women in all walks of life, from the nobility downwards, executives, textile experts, etc.

We join with him when he says Nap-Renu is here to stay and that no longer need anyone discard or wear shiny, faded or nap worn clothing. Much is going to be heard of Nap-Renu. The fact that he welcomes criticisms, however expert whether from trade or public indicates that he knows his business. There is no loss in tensile strength. Operators go through a lengthy training, becoming highly skilled in their work. Only the best will do. It is guaranteed, up to a standard, the highest, not knocked down to a price. It is not merely another scarifying process. It is scientifically and technically correct.

Westmount Tops Wanderers 4-1 In Soccer Tilt

Westmount's highly rated soccer aggregation kept their unbeaten streak intact at Fletcher's Field Tuesday evening when they downed Wanderers 4-1.

Albert Richman opened the scoring to put the locals one up but Frank Zimmerman tied the game up on a penalty shot, awarded after a foul by Alan Fitzpatrick.

Richman soon sank goal number two to give the Westmounters a lead they never relinquished. Then Johnnie Nickell made it 3-1 and the game was in the bag.

Westmount maintained the pressure, rained shots on the Wanderers' goal and only ultrasensational stops by Frank Plez prevented them from sending the score way up near the 10 mark.

Richman was brought down heavily in the penalty area and tallied his third goal of the match when he beat Plez with the free kick.

This goal brought Richman's total for the season up to 23. He is the league's leading scorer and is now well out in front of the next two in line, Newton of St. Paul and Bill Rabey of Vickers.

"NOW WATCH ME WIN THAT RIBBON!"

SANDY SIMPSON has been patiently improving his dairy herd. He saw his chance to buy a pure bred bull — and the manager of his bank lent him the ready cash to close the deal. Now he's expecting great things of his new calf; already he sees her winning her class at next year's Fall Fair. A few more like her and he can also see his milk production rising — as well as a nice extra income from selling his surplus stock to neighbouring farmers.

Branch banks, in rural communities across Canada, help to build prosperous farms . . . and at the same time help increase the flow of food to family tables both at home and in distant lands.

THIS IS ONE INSTANCE of how Canada's 3,200 branch banks play their part in the daily life and work of Canadians.
