SERIOUS STRIKE RIOTS OCCUR IN ONTARIO TOWNS.

SECOND FREIGHT TRAIN OVER G. T. R.

Passed Through Sherbrooke East Bound Last Evening

PASSENGER TRAIN SERVICE NEARLY UP TO STANDARD—NO DISTURBANCE HERE.

At 6.20, last evening, the second freight train since the commencement of the strike passed through Sherbrooke over the Grand Trunk Railroad. As in the former instance, it was a beef train bound for Portland. All passenger trains were run yesterday, including the scoot, and nearly on schedule time.

There was no disturbance at the Sherbrooke station nor in this section, yesterday, in connection with the strike. The strikers are conducting themselves well and have made known that they disapprove of any demonstration by their sympathizers.

The first freight out of Ottawa since the strike began left Friday morning for points east to Coteau. It was in charge of a full crew.

The first Grand Trunk freight train to leave the Point St. Charles yards for the west since the strike was moved yesterday morning. It wasn't much of a train, only six cars, and it was most necessary to move them. They contained perishable goods of all description, and had to be moved. The crew, except the engineer and fireman were non-union men. There was practically no one about when the train was made up, and when she steamed out of the grey dawn very few of the strikers knew that any freight had been moved.

Announcement is made that freight trains will begin moving out of Chicago over the Grand Trunk lines early next week. Officers of the company assert that they are in a position at present to resume freight service, but are in no hurry to do so until the work of guarding all property is completed. A force of more than two hundred special officers will be assigned to preserve peace and protect property. Reports are to the effect that freight consigned to the Grand Trunk lines is being handled by the other railways. Five hundred imported men have been engaged so far in Chicago, most of them being sent to various points along the company's lines.

DUNHAM PEOPLE WITHOUT MAIL.

Dunham, July 23. — (Special)—The railway service of the Dominion of Canada does not generally interest Dunham people very much, but on Thursday, the 21st, when there was no regular noon mail via Central Vermont Railway from Montreal to Stanbridge Station, and from Stanbridge Station to Dunham by stage, everybody set up and began to realize that they were vitally interested in the G.T.R. strike.

REQUESTS A DIRECT AND DEFINITE ANSWER.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Minister of Labor, not receiving definite answers to his offer to arbitrate the G.T.R. wage trouble, yesterday sent the following letter to the company and the strike president:

"Referring further to my letter of the 20th instant, and the replies received, I would respectfully point out that neither the reply from the president of the company, nor the reply from the representative of the general committee of the employees, answers the question it asks, which is whether, as representing one of the parties to the present dispute, you will now be willing to refer the existing differences to arbitrators, provided a board of arbitrators mutually acceptable can be secured and the necessary expenses incidental to such a board met by the government.

"This is the question to which to the people of Canada, who at the present are being more largely affected by the existing dispute than either of the parties, have a right to expect a definite reply, and which, as a Minister responsible to them, I feel it my duty to ask on their behalf.

"Will you kindly give a direct answer to this question at your earliest convenience, that the public may be able to judge for itself of the present position and attitude of the parties on the matter which so virtually affects its interests.

(Sgd.) W. L. MACKENZIE KING.
Minister of Labor."

FREIGHT MOVING AT RICHMOND.

Immigrant Special Also Passed Through From Quebec Last Night.

THE CONSTABLES HAD A QUIET NIGHT, AS THERE WAS NO DISTURBANCE.

Richmond, July 23.—(Special)—The constables at the station had a quiet night, no trouble occurring whatever. The trains were practically all on time. An immigrant special from Quebec passed through on Friday, also another freight consisting of beef and other perishable goods en route for Portland, Me.

FACTORIES CLOSE DOWN AT GRANBY.

Granby Rubber Company and Other Concerns Handicapped By Strike.

TOBACCO COMPANY HAUL PRODUCT NINE MILES DISTANT FOR SHIPMENT.

Granby, July 23. — (Special) — Granby is beginning to feel the effects of the strike on the G.T.R. No freight has reached this point since Monday, and as a result the large manufacturing concerns are greatly handicapped, due to the fact that they cannot get in their raw material.

The Granby Rubber Company closed down on Thursday owing to the lack of certain supplies.

The tobacco company is endeavoring to get over the difficulty by hauling their goods to Abbotsford by team nine miles distant for shipment.

The shipping departments of Messrs. H. & F. Giddings & Co. and the Walpole Rubber Co. have closed down on account of the fact that goods cannot be sent forward.

As a result of the closing down quite a number of men are going idle.

STRIKE DOES NOT AFFECT FARNHAM.

No Evidence That Struggle is in Progress.

INCREASED ACTIVITY ON C.P.R. MAKES UP FOR QUIETNESS ON C.V.R.

Farnham, July 23. — (Special) — The Grand Trunk strike has created no excitement here and is without apparent effect. Passenger trains over the Vermont Central are moving as usual and the increased activity on the C.P.R. makes up for freight quietness on the C.V.R.

So far as Farnham is concerned one would not know a strike was in progress.

NOTHING IN SIGHT BUT FIGHT.

Both Sides Determined to Adhere to Positions.

COMPANY CLAIMS GOOD PROGRESS WITH HANDLING OF BUSINESS.

Montreal, July 23.—So far as could be ascertained from either side last night, there was nothing in sight with regard to the Grand Trunk strike but continued fight. Both sides were determined to adhere to their positions, and any talk of arbitration was very dubious. As to this, President Hays, of the Grand Trunk, adhered to the position that he has taken all along, that the question might be disposed of by a board of experts, whose finding should be decisive.

So far as the men are concerned, it was stated by Vice-President Murdock, of the trainmen, who is in general charge of the strike, that they would only consent to arbitration if it was submitted to the two men they had named, and that otherwise the fight would go on.

"No change could be made in the position of the men," said Mr. Murdock, "without calling another meeting of the committee of 35 representatives of the Grand Trunk men, who have now left for their homes. They arranged all the details of the struggle, and these are now being carried out. All that we as their representatives can do it to go on with the strike according to the lines laid down, and to propose arbitration or accept it as already arranged."

With regard to the position caused by the intervention of the Minister of Labor, it was stated by the Grand Trunk that this had not altered the status at all. Mr. Murdock's answer to Hon. Mackenzie King, it was stated, had left matters exactly as they were, since he had made it plain in his answer that he was only willing to submit the dispute to arbitration if he was permitted to name two out of the three arbitrators, a position which the Grand Trunk would not accept.

So far as the company is concerned, the statement was made last night that good progress was being made towards handling business. All through and local passenger trains, it was stated, were being run, both on the Grand Trunk and Central Vermont, while some progress was being made in handling freight trains. It was stated that during the day several freights were taken out of Portland and Montreal, as well as other points. While this was done, it was made clear that as yet only a small amount of freight was being handled, although it was stated that with the progress being made a good deal more would

MOB SPIRIT AT BROCKVILLE.

Several Men Were Injured and Windows Broken in Station.

TOWN HAS BEEN CENTRE OF LAWLESS SPIRIT SINCE THE STRIKE STARTED.

Brockville, July 23.—As a result of the strike on the Grand Trunk Railway mob spirit broke loose at the railway station last evening, and before the trouble was ended several men had been injured, while the windows in the station and a number of cars were smashed and the telegraph and station agent's offices were wrecked. None of the men were seriously injured, although two are now in the hospital suffering from cuts in the head and body bruises, while several others were given outdoor treatment for minor repairs.

The riot only lasted about fifteen minutes, but it was fierce while it was on, and the mob was completely out of control of the local police, which only numbers five men, while the Thiel agents, who are here for the Grand Trunk, proved powerless in the face of such a mob as gathered.

Feeling in the city has been tense ever since the strike started, and every night there have been crowds around the station watching the trains come in. Last evening as usual there was a big crowd when the "Mocassin" pulled in from Montreal. The crowd kept getting bigger, and by the time the 9 o'clock local pulled in from Toronto there were fully a thousand people around the station.

The trainmen were followed as they went to the station, and gradually the excitement spread, until about a quarter to eleven someone started throwing stones, and in a moment the mob spirit broke loose. There was an immediate rush to the office of the station agent, Mr. Hatton. In his office there were six Thiel detectives, two trainmen and Road Foreman Zimmer, and they did what they could to defend their position. The crowd then smashed the windows with stones, and secured a station truck, with which they forced the door, and undertook to club the garrison. The latter showed fight and the mob could not get in, so some of them secured the station hose and turned it on to the office while others threw stones through the windows.

The men in the office were thus driven out, and made a rush into the crowd, where some of them were given a pretty severe drubbing, while others managed to get mixed up with the crowd and so escaped.

In the meantime three of the trainmen had taken refuge in the telegraph office, adjoining the station agent's premises. The crowd got after them also and smashed the windows, driving them out, and they were also pretty roughly handled as they made a rush for safety.

In the confusion most of the men escaped, although several were so badly injured that they had to be taken to the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital. Most of these only needed minor attention, but two were severely injured. These were Edward Course, Bleury street, Montreal, a Thiel Detective Agency man, who was cut about the head and bruised over the body. Several stitches were needed to close up the cuts on his head. Edward Wilcox, of Toronto, was the other main sufferer. He had acted as conductor on the 9 o'clock local from Toronto and received some bad cuts over the head and bruises. Both are still at the hospital

During the riot the station premises were badly damaged. Windows in all directions, both on the station and trains were smashed, and in storming the telegraph and station agent's offices the place was badly wrecked, the furniture being broken and much injury caused by the hose which was turned on to drive the men out.

After about fifteen minutes of rioting the mob quieted down and withdrew, apparently sobered by the result of their action. Then the city police force of five, under Chief Burke, cleared the platform.

Since then the place has been quiet. At a late hour last evening, however, there was a crowd of several hundred still hanging around the station, apparently waiting for the night trains to come through. With such big and lawless crowds the city police force is completely helpless, and it is feared that further trouble may occur when other trains come through.

KING'S CIVIL LIST PASSED.

London, July 23.—The House of Commons last evening passed the new civil list of King George, which amounts to £470,000 a year. Barnes and Kier Hardie, the Laborites, moved amendments against the resolution but they were voted down by overwhelming majorities. Mr. Balfour, the Opposition leader, supported the Government's proposal. The Government won on every vote on a ratio of about ten to one. The Government's proposals were finally carried by a vote of 197 to 19. A resolution introduced by Chancellor Lloyd George, declaring it expedient to amend the law in regard to the civil list re hereditary revenues and grants for the royal family, was carried without division.

BURY.

The box social held at Mr. James Leonard's in aid of the R.C. Church Bury, was a success. The proceeds amounted to $43.15.

BARNS WERE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

Nineteen Pigs Burned to Death Near Nicolet Falls.

TWENTY-FIVE TONS OF NEW HAY DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Nicolet Falls, July 23. —(Special) —A severe thunder and electric storm passed over here yesterday afternoon. During the worst of the storm the large barn belonging to Mr. Geo. A. Morrill was struck by lightning. The building was set on fire and nothing could be done to save it or the contents, so rapidly did the fire spread.

All the contents, including a large quantity of straw were destroyed, and nineteen pigs were burned to death.

NEW HAY DESTROYED.

Bromptonville, July 23. —(Special) —The barn belonging to Mr. Gilbert Dufresne, about two miles below this place on the Windsor Road, was struck by lightning during the storm on Thursday evening and burned to the ground. The barn contained farm implements and about twenty-five tons of hay, which had just been put in barn.

There was no insurance.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT CIRCUS.

Howe's London Shows Gave Good Performances.

JAPANESE TROUPE OF ACROBATS A FEATURE OF THE PROGRAMME.

Howe's Circus has come and gone, and, like all shows, has left impressions of different kinds on the large number who attended.

To the majority, however, the performances given yesterday were most acceptable. The fact that there was only one ring gave all an opportunity to watch every act. In this respect it was more popular with the crowd than Ringling's and other big circuses.

The programme consisted of a number of bareback riding feats, trapeze stunts, tumbling and an act by a Japanese troupe, which was perhaps the feature act of the programme.

This troupe is composed of two men and three children. The youngsters ranging from 8 to 12 years, were really wonderful. From the way they doubled up and twisted themselves one would think they had no bones in their little bodies. Their acts were greeted with loud applause.

One of the best acts on the programme, a tight wire walking act, had to be cancelled when the wire broke. The performers had just started when with a loud report the wire snapped, letting them drop to the ground. They were uninjured but the fall had evidently given them a great surprise.

The usual band of clowns was in attendance and amused the crowd with their weird antics and repartee. The one who wore the chantecler hat made the hit with the crowd.

Another good act was the teeth-swinging act. In this act two ladies and a gentleman hung by their teeth and swung around in the air. Their concluding feat was a musical selection in the air. They grasped a piece of rubber in their mouths and were drawn up to the top of the tent, where they gave a selection on stringed instruments.

The usual popular ten cent concert followed the main performance. A fairly large crowd waited for this post entertainment. The feature of this was the sharp shooting by a lady and gentleman.

THE MENAGERIE.

As is usual the wild animals in the menagerie were interesting. Elephants camels, hyenas, Russian deer, lions, and the monkeys were noticed. The most interesting cage was the one in which the lioness and her three pups were kept. These pups were born on May 24th and are very playful. A six months' old camel was another feature of the menagerie.

FEATURES OF THE SIDE SHOWS.

The side shows appeared to be doing a good business. The most wonderful feature in this department was the hatchet and knife-throwing exhibition. In this act a woman leaned up against a wall while a man, standing about ten feet away, hurled hatchets and knives at her. These weapons stuck into the wall right close to her body but never touched.

Other features of the side show were the Southern Minstrels, the Zulu, the Palmist, the Punch and Judy show and the Snake Charmer.

On the whole the show was good. A noticeable feature was the absence of wheels of fortune and other means of gambling.

The entire company left last night for Megantic, where they will appear to-day.

THE EVENING PERFORMANCE.

A large crowd was present at the evening performance and judging from the applause thoroughly enjoyed the programme.

After the regular show another short concert was given.

THE WEATHER

LOCAL FORECAST.

Moderate westerly winds; fair and warm.

HAIL STORM CAUSES DAMAGE.

Wrought Havoc With Crops at East Farnham.

CORN AND GRAIN DESTROYED—FARMERS LOSE HEAVILY.

East Farnham, July 23. —(Special)—This place was visited, last evening, by one of the worst hail storms ever experienced.

About five o'clock the skies began to darken and shortly after a terrible storm arose. The lumps of hail which were hurled earthward were about an inch in diameter and for miles around wrought havoc with the crops.

Several farmers around this section lost heavily as a result of the storm. Mr. Martin Collins had all his sugar beets destroyed. The man who lost most heavily was Mr. Frank Strange. His entire crop of corn and grain was destroyed. Other farmers who suffered severely were Calvin Griggs, Jas. Collins and Major Fred Hall.

A severe hailstorm like the one last night, is a most unusual occurrence during July.

SOME HAIL AT RICHMOND.

Richmond, July 23. —(Special)—A heavy thunderstorm broke over this district, yesterday afternoon, about five o'clock. It was accompanied by a heavy rain and some hail. There was not enough of the latter, however, to do any damage to crops.

FARMERS NEAR KNOWLTON HAD CROPS DESTROYED.

Knowlton, July 23. —(Special)—A terrible hail storm took place near here last night, which destroyed all crops in its path.

The storm did not strike the town but swept by about a mile to the south. Here it stripped the cornfields and grain for a long distance.

Messrs. Farmer and Forest Frizzle, farmers who live about a mile from town, were among the heavy losers. Their crops were practically destroyed.

After the storm the ground was covered with hail to a depth of two inches.

It is reported that the windows in several houses were broken by the falling hail.

The storm was by far the worst that has ever visited this place.

NO HAIL AT ROCK ISLAND.

Rock Island, July 23. —(Special)—There was a heavy thunderstorm here last evening, accompanied by heavy rain, but there was no hail.

THUNDER STORM AT SHER-

About five o'clock last night a thunderstorm took place, followed by vivid flashes of lightning.

Considerable rain fell but no hail as in other sections of the Townships.

CASES HEARD IN SUPERIOR COURT.

Motion to Stay Proceedings Against D'Israeli Asbestos Co. Heard.

COATICOOK CAPIAS CASE ADJOURNED FOR FURTHER HEARING.

In the Superior Court, yesterday afternoon, a petition was made by Mr. Juneau to stay all proceedings actually pending against the D'Israeli Asbestos Co. There is at present a petition to wind up the company, which petition is contested, and the argument on the point will be held later. The present petition is to stop all further lawsuits being taken against the company until such time as the question of winding up is settled. The petition was taken en delibere.

CAPIAS CASE BEFORE COURT.

The case of G. E. Hetu, of Coaticook, who was arrested on a capias some eight days ago and has since been in jail, was called yesterday afternoon.

He was arrested on a capias at the instance of certain creditors who claim that he was secreting his property with the object of avoiding payment of judgments registered against him.

The Court adjourned the hearing until the 28th July, and the question of bail will be decided on Monday.

TRANSFER WILL BE MADE AUGUST 1ST.

C. P. R. Will Hand Over Farnham Shops to New Industry.

TIMES ARE IMPROVING IN FARNHAM — OUTLOOK FOR THE FUTURE.

Farnham, July 23. — (Special)—The Canadian Pacific Railway Company will hand over, on August 1st, their Farnham shop buildings to the Dominion Vault & Safe Company.

Business is picking up slowly. When the new shops get under way good times ought to be pretty well restored.

GRADING SCHOOL GROUNDS.

Granby, July 23.—(Special)—The contract for grading the High School grounds is being carried out by Mr. Jos. Lasnier.

CANNOT SHOW FIGHT PICTURES

Granby, July 23.—(Special)—Mayor Miner has issued an order and in accordance with this the Jeffries-Johnson fight pictures will not be shown here in Granby.

BOARD ELECTS OFFICERS.

Granby, July 23.—(Special)—At a recent meeting of the R. C. School Board, Dr. Lessard was re-elected president, Mr. J. L. Dozois secretary-treasurer and Messrs. H. E. Comtois and Jos. Mullin auditors.

INTERESTING EVENT AT KINNEAR'S MILLS.

Kinnear's Mills, July 23.—(Special)—A rather interesting event will take place here on August 10th, when the great human checker tournament will take place. Ladies and gentlemen in costume will take the place of checkers on a huge board specially prepared on the lawn, and be played against each other by expert players. Prominent speakers will address the audience during the day. Among the other interesting events will be the man washing competition.

LATE SPRING WAS A BLESSING.

Brome, July 23.—(Special) — The cold, frosty spring was a blessing in disguise. A farmer reports a large intervale meadow which was so overgrown with poke that it was crowding out the other grasses to an alarming extent, which is now entirely free from it, not one stalk being visible, either green or withered, while an abundance of other nurturous grasses have taken its place. That, together with the extermination of the grasshoppers, means thousands of dollars in the pockets of the farmers and offsets the little inconvenience of being delayed in the spring seeding, with a large balance to the good.

AID FOR SCHOOL PURPOSES.

Cowansville, July 23.—(Special) — Secretary Duboyce has received a special grant of $125 from the Department of Public Instruction. This is for the Township School Board, and is to aid in the five following purposes:

1. To engage duly qualified teachers.
2. To improve school buildings, premises, etc., and to provide suitable apparatus for teaching purposes.
3. To extend the length of the school term in cases in which it is less than eight months in each scholastic year.
4. To increase the salaries of teachers.
5. To carry out the recommendations of the school inspector and not to decrease taxation.

SAD DEATH OF STANSTEAD MAN.

Rock Island, July 23.—(Special)—Mrs. L. A. Young, Derby Line, received the sad news of the death of her brother, Mr. Henry Hall, who has lived for the last few years in Boston, but was formerly from Stanstead. When he came from his work Saturday night he brought two bottles, one of Epsom salts and the other oxalic acid. Sunday morning he took what he supposed to be a dose of salts and by mistake took the oxalic acid. A physician was called at once and all was done that was possible to save his life. His sufferings were very severe and he died Thursday morning. He leaves a wife and two sons, Frank and Ernest Hall. His remains are to be brought to Stanstead for burial.

EX-MAYOR WILSON HAS CLOSE CALL.

Sutton, July 23.—(Special)—Ex-Mayor R. A. Wilson and Mr. John Ayer had a close call on Thursday. They were driving out of the village north. A freight train had just pulled into the yard and was getting placed and Mr. Wilson and his companion were looking out for the freight and did not hear the approaching 11.12 express southbound till it was close upon them. The horse was taking a good gait and the train was so close Mr. Wilson dare not attempt to pull up, but with rate presence of mind he cut his horse a smart stroke, she dashed ahead and cleared the train by the merest margin. Had they attempted to stop short of going over the track they would without any doubt have been killed. As it was, their friends tremble at their narrow escape from sudden death. Within a few years two rigs have been struck on this same crossing and a man killed each time, while one or two other narrow escapes have taken place on it.

STOLE CAN OF CREAM.

Stanstead, July 23. —(Special)—Some thieving persons entered the property of Mr. Melvin Schoolcraft and stole a fifteen gallon can containing cream which was sunk in the well to cool. The person or persons cut the rope, leaving no clue to their identity.

FUNERAL OF EDWIN D. SMITH, SUTTON.

Sutton, July 23.—(Special)— The funeral of Mr. Edwin Darwin Smith, whose death took place in Montreal at the R. V. Hospital on July 20th, at 4 a. m., as reported in the Record, took place at his late home here on Friday at 2 o'clock, Rev. J. H. Bell, B.A., officiating. The funeral took place under the auspices of the Sutton I.O.O.F., of which he was a worthy member for many years. Upwards of 60 Bro. Odd Fellows marched in a body to the house and to the grave. For many years the manly members of this noble order had been friends and messmates of deceased and all felt the loss of a worthy member of their order. The bearers were Messrs. J. S. Billings. Geo. E. Clark, Geo. Cutter and Nelson Oliver. The Smith family had been long unbroken, the immediate brothers and sisters, including the departed brother had remained through all the years from infancy up till now when all were grey haired men and women, an unbroken family, the four sisters and two brothers followed their respected brother with sad and heavy hearts to his last long rest. He was the youngest except for his maiden sister. His body was laid beside his wife, who passed away some fifteen years ago. The interment was in Fairmount Cemetery. Deceased was a quiet, friendly man and a very TINGWICK.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Michael Foy, (nee Rose Masterson) took place from the residence of her son, to St. Patrick's church, Tingwick, on Thursday, July 12th. There was a large gathering of citizens and friends which showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held. The late Mrs. Foy was born 86 years ago, and came to Tingwick 60 years ago, when she married the late Mr. Foy who pre-deceased her nine years. Her death, therefore, removes another of the good old ladies, who lived to see the Township of Tingwick prosper. The deceased was in poor health during the spring but seemed to have almost completely recovered, until Saturday evening, July 9th, when she was sitting on the verandah chatting with the family and suddenly her son noticed her drop her head. He gently raised her up, but she had passed away. The deceased was a kind neighbor, a noble Christian mother. At the funeral service Rev. Father Jutras received the body at the church and sang the solemn services for the dead. The bearers were her four grandsons: Messrs. Michael, William, John and Edward Foy. She is survived by her six children: Mrs. John Sinnot, of North Hampton, Mass., Mr. John Foy, of Tingwick and Mr. Michael Foy, with whom she resided; Mr. Peter of Minneapolis; Mrs. M. Boien, of Boston; Mrs. O. Granger, of Barre, Vt., and fourteen grandchildren. The floral offerings were many. She was laid to rest in the Roman Catholic Cemetery in the family lot beside her husband.

Arrivals and departures: Miss M. Foy to L' Avenir, to see her brother, who is seriously ill; Mr. Lewis Blanchet, from Asbestos; Mr. Leon Bourque, from Cardinal, Ont; Mr. William Foy, home from Worcester, Mass., to attend his grandmother's funeral; Mr. and Mrs. Sinnot, of North Hampton, Mass., Mrs. Doren of Boston and Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Granger, of Barre, Vt., to attend the funeral of their mother, Mrs. Foy; Mrs. J. Ash, of New Jersey, guest of Mrs. John Burns, recently; Mr. Henry Higgins, who is in attendance on Sir Wilfrid Laurier, recently to visit Mr. and Mrs. Richard Purcell.

Miss Edna Wilson, teacher in the Bickford School of Shipton, home for two weeks.

Hay is reported as a very good crop. All crops are looking well, although potatoes do not look very promising in many places.

COMPTON.

Mrs. J. Harden has as guests her daughters, Mrs. Chase, of Athol, Mass., and Miss Blanche Harden, of Orange, Mass; Miss Nellie Lyons, of Lancaster, N. H., and Miss Annie Lyons, of Daysland, Alta., are with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Mavor; Mrs. E.C. Cowles and Mr. Eugene Cowles, of Montreal, are spending the week in Compton, with Mrs. A.L. Pomeroy; Mrs. R.B. Reid, of Ottawa, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. A. Bliss.

The corner store purchased by Mr. T. R. Paige, of Coaticook, is undergoing thorough cleaning and renovation preparatory to the re-opening about August first.

Mr and Mrs. Louis St. Laurent and daughter, of Quebec, who have been in Compton for the past two weeks, left Thursday for Beauceville, where Mrs. St. Laurent will spend some time at her old home.

The returns from the recent June examinations of Compton Model School have been received here by the Secretary and are very gratifying, there being only one failure and this by a pupil who was in attendance only part of the year. The following are the results: Grade III., Model— Raymond Ladd. Grade II, Model, Willie Ladd, Ruth Pomeroy A. Manson, Hugh Spanford. Grade I., Model —Fred Ayer.

ROCK ISLAND.

Arrivals: Miss Hilda Frageau, of Montreal, a guest at her uncle's, Mr. S. T. Frageau's; Miss Lottie Foote from a visit to Boston, Manchester and other points; Mrs. Annie Gadubee from Plymouth, where she has been vising her daughter, Mrs. Fred Barker; Mr. and Mrs. Harris Colby home with her in their auto; Mr. and Mrs. Garry Heath and son, Ayer's Cliff, visiting at Mr. Wm. Sloan's; Miss White, of Lennoxville, visiting in town; Mrs. Carrie Bryant from West Burke, where she has been caring for her niece, Mrs. (Dr.) Burke, who has been quite ill; the Misses Auclair and Beauchemin, who have been visiting at their uncle's, Mr. Lewis Frageau, left on Thursday for Lawrenceville to visit other relatives; Mr. F. T. Caswell and family have gone to their summer home at Lake Park for a few weeks; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Hovey left on Thursday for Montreal, it being the thirty-sixth anniversary of their wedding day; Mr. J. J. Parker to Boston to attend the photographers' convention.

Quite a number of the young people went to Lake Park Friday afternoon to attend a party given by Miss Ruth Melloon.

BISHOP'S CROSSING.

Arrivals and departures: Mr. and Mrs. Farnsworth, of St. Johnsbury, with her sister, Mrs. J. W. Bishop, "Bonnieview"; Mrs. J. R. Andrews the guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. Bloomfield on Thursday; Mrs. H. Bentley and children, of Montreal the guests of Mrs. J. Harling for a few days; Messrs. F. R. and J.W. Bishop to Sherbrooke on Thursday in the interests of the Bishop's Crossing Water Company; Mr. Geo. Westman to Rimouski to spend some time; Prof. Dudley to Sherbrooke after spending a couple of weeks the guest of Mr. F. R. Hooker at "Cremona Villa"; Miss O. Embury, of Shelburne Falls, Mass., with Mrs. I. L. Jenkerson at Dudswell Centre; Masters Allen and Archie Burns, of Angus, guests of their aunt, Mrs. C.C. Rolfe on Friday; Mrs. Woodrow to her home in Angus after spending a week with her sister, Mrs. C. C. Rolfe; Mrs. J. R. McFadden home from visiting her mother, Mrs. Little in Quebec.

Mr. and Mrs. George Harrison entertained the Rev. Mr. Kerr and Mrs. Kerr and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Andrew at their cottage, "Cozy Den," on Mirror Lake.

SCOTSTOWN.

Miss Hall, of Montreal, addressed a meeting of Christian Endeavorers at the Presbyterian Church last Thursday evening. Rev. W. T. McKenzie, pastor of the Church, where the meeting was held, presided. Miss Hall has lately been attending the Missionary Conference at Knowlton. The substance of her address was a report of this conference. Miss Hall is to remain here over Sunday and will speak in the Advent Christian Church Sunday at the morning service and at the Presbyterian Sunday School, in the afternoon.

The Mooney saw mill which has been sawing nothing but clapboards during the past few months, is now sawing logs for plank and dimension lumber.

Farmers who get in their hay this weather have almost to steal it.

The Scotstown Saw Mill Company will soon finish its cut of logs for the season which will be one of the best in the history of the company.

FREEMAN'S TO BE DOWN TOWN HOTEL.

Montreal, July 23.—Montreal will have an up-to-date down town hotel by the first of May next. The announcement was made some weeks ago that the building of an hotel on the old Carsley departmental store site. St. James street, had been decided on. This week the contracts were signed by the representatives of two corporations with capital stocks aggregating one and a quarter million dollars.

The City Central Real Estate Company, capital $850,000, owns the ground and the building now standing on it. Mr. J. N. Greenshields, K.C., is the president and the other directors are Mr. H. A. Lovett, K. C., Mr. Rodolphe Forget, M.P., Mr. J. W. Pyke and Mr. H. W. Beauclerk, managing director.

The Freeman's, Limited, capitalization $500,000, will control and manage the hotel and restaurants. Mr. Frank J. Gallagher is the president of the company.

The scheme of the two companies combined is to have a steel frame structure, but the present front wall of marble on St. James street will be retained.

There will be one hundred and fifty bedrooms, each with a bath and all modern conveniences. The ground floor will be modelled with the intention of making it the downtown meeting place of the city. In the centre will be an immense rotunda with a glass dome. This rotunda will be fitted with telegraph office, book and cigar counters, florist shop, hotel office, telephone booths, etc. There will be two entrances, one on St. James street, and one from Notre Dame street.

To the left of the St. James street entrance will be the bar, and to the right or west side of the building there will be three large stores which have already been rented. These stores will also have an entrance from the rotunda. There will be three restaurants with a seating capacity of five hundred. One will be the same character as the St.Regis, one a big grill room and a third devoted to a new style of lunch counter.

In a "well" at the east side of the building will be a steel structure from the ground to the roof upon which the water tank will be placed.

The question of a name for the new hotel was long discussed, but it was finally decided to continue the well-known name "Freeman's." Mr. Gallagher leaves in two weeks time for Europe, where much of the furnishings and novelties will be purchased.

The present Freeman's restaurant on St. James street will be closed, but the Freeman's on St. Francois Xavier street will be continued. The St. James street property is owned by Mr. Gallagher, and he proposed to add several stories to it and turn it into an office building.

GETTING READY FOR EXHIBITION.

Already Many Enquiries Are Being Made For Space.

PREMIUMS OFFERED SHOW A LARGE INCREASE OVER PREVIOUS YEAR.

The office of Canada's Great Eastern Exhibition is pretty busy these days. The staff is busily at work getting out the prize lists and printed matter, while the secretary treasurer, Mr. H. E. Channell, keeps his stenographer busy answering the numerous queries that are asked in connection with space, entries, etc.

The application for space in the main building and in other departments is very considerably ahead of the same date last year. Enquiries along the line of live stock would indicate one of the largest exhibits of live stock in the history of the exhibition. This increased interest in live stock may be attributed to several causes, chief among these being that the increase in premiums has been very materially increased, so that the prize list shows larger prizes than that offered at Ottawa or London, and larger than that at the Dominion Fair. A comparison of the prize lists issued by the associations mentioned will bear this out, and show that Sherbrooke Fair is offering in all $20,000 in prizes and purses.

Another circumstance that will go a long way towards inducing more Eastern Ontario breeders to come to Sherbrooke is the fact that the Dominion Fair starts in St. John, N.B., the week after Sherbrooke, so that with the prospects of landing substantial money prizes here breeders can transport their stock much more easily and with less inconvenience than if they were showing in Toronto.

The classes for fancy drivers and hunters have been materially extended, so that patrons may be ensured of witnessing a fine horse show in front of the grand stand.

The number of special prizes has been very largely increased this year and include cups, medals and cash premiums. There are two special prizes for the bread making competition which should interest every housewife in the Townships. In one event the first prize is $15 and in the other $10.

The association is offering a special prize of $50 to the county which has the most successful number of exhibitors, the money to go to the local agricultural association. This it is expected should be an incentive to societies to get interested.

The grounds and buildings are in good shape and require but little overhauling.

SHOWS IN LONDON

Crowds That Gather to Secure Seats In the Pit.

A LONG WAIT FOR TICKETS.

The Line, Orderly and Well Dressed, Begins to Form as Early as 5 o'Clock in the Afternoon and in Case of a Popular Play Even Earlier.

In the better London theaters it costs 2s. 6d. to go into the pit, which, relatively speaking, is a good sum to pay, for a half dollar in New York isn't much better than a shilling in London when it comes to purchasing value.

The pit crowd begins to assemble as early as 5 o'clock in the afternoon and in cases of a great success even earlier than that. My first experience as a pittite occurred in London one summer night two years ago, when, after vain efforts to buy, borrow, beg or steal stalls for a popular play, writes Adolph Klauber in the Green Book, I finally decided to see it from the pit. When I arrived at the theater, about 5 o'clock one Saturday afternoon, I found there was already a long line of men and boys and women, the foremost with face glued to the pit door and the line extending far beyond the narrow passageway to the street in front of the theater. Now, with every desire in the world to send my New York constituency some news of this great reigning success and not without some curiosity of my own I was still far from willing to cool my heels for the best part of three hours until the doors should open.

I turned and found a newsboy at my elbow.

"I'll 'old your place for you, sir," he repeated. "What time'll you be back?"

It was then that I discovered for the first time this London institution, the place holder at the door of the pit, one of the many means by which one of the struggling unemployed or of the poorly paid seeks to add a few shillings to his meager, frugal income. There was no risk involved. The boy was quick to note the foreigner.

"It'll be all roight, sir," he said in his cheerful cockney way. "Is the lady coming too? Me and me friend 'll stand in line, and all you'll have to do will be to change places with us when you come around tonight. Only a shillin' apiece. It's worth it, sir, not to have to wait."

At 7 o'clock we were back in the narrow court, but long before I had been able to disentangle my boy from the dozen or so others, all looking very much alike, his cheerful tones greeted me with "'Ere you are, sir, 'ere you are, and you and the lady 'll get in the first row if you look sharp when you pass the door."

"Gee-rusalem," I muttered as we dropped into the interstices left by the departing boys, "a good half hour to wait—or more."

But, after all, I found the waiting far from tedious.

Hawkers of fruit and chocolate passed along the line, finding ready buyers among the waiting patrons of the pit, and every few minutes some new vaudeville faker out of work would come along to entertain the crowd with tumbling, dancing, singing or imitations. First a juggler appeared, and when a bobby sent him spinning faster than his plates and balls a contortionist took his place, spread a ragged carpet mat and began to turn himself inside out while the newsboys and shop girls going home from work shouted encouragement and appreciation. Finally the bobby ordered him to "move on," but not until a generous shower of pennies had fallen on the mat. The next man to appear carried a valise from which he produced wigs, crimpled hair and several false noses. His entertainment consisted of imitations of composers, "famous," he called them, but "infamous" they really were. He was not encouraged, either, for the pit line knew good from bad and wasn't to be parted from its pennies without proper value in return.

The crowd was genial, orderly, well dressed, and when the doors were opened finally I expected a headlong rush. But there was not the slightest suggestion of a scramble—a little congestion naturally at the narrow entrance, where a smiling, good natured bobby remarked quite pleasantly:

"Now, then, go easy—just the same as you went into church last Sunday—if you did go."

Then a short passage up a flight of narrow stairs, past a little cubbyhole where the tickets are handed out after you have duly deposited your two-and-six, into the theater and ready for the play.

A NOBLE RED MAN.

He Was Not the Stately Chief Wolseley Expected to Meet.

Lord Wolseley was stationed in Canada many years ago. On one occasion he spent a holiday in the wilds, building a wigwam and practicing generally what we should now call the "back to nature" cure.

It was soon after his arrival in the country, and as the means of communication were still somewhat primitive he had never seen an Indian and was most anxious to make the red man's acquaintance. Some friends of his promised to send one or two to see him, as there was an encampment not very far away.

At last one morning Lord Wolseley was informed that a chief had called to see him. With his mind full of the conventional Indian, a man of commanding presence, arrayed in all the glory of paint and feathers, he eagerly stepped outside his wigwam to make his acquaintance. But he received a rude shock when he found a wizened gentleman dressed in a tattered frock coat and ancient waistcoat.

However, the general stifled his astonishment and played the genial host, although horribly bored at the incessant chatter of the Indian, who had been in the service of the Hudson Bay company and therefore could speak broken English fairly fluently.

At length, anxious to get rid of his visitor, he took a twenty-five cent piece out of his pocket and, fearing he might be grossly insulting his visitor, presented it to him.

The latter took it, looked at it carefully, felt the edges and then said:

"Can you mak' it half dollar?"

The essence of knowledge is, having it, to apply it; not having it, to confess your ignorance.—Confucius.

BEDFORD DISTRICT LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

Gathered by Daily Record Correspondents in Various Communities.

BEDFORD.

Mrs. F. W. Jones entertained about forty friends at cards on Wednesday evening.

Several of our most pushing farmers have finished harvesting the largest crop of hay of which they have any recollection.

Mr. John McAleer, B.S.C., was somewhat severely bitten by a dog on the street on Thursday.

A dance was held in Foresters' Hall on Friday evening by the Victoria A. A. A. The attendance was fair and an enjoyable evening was spent by all.

Mr. S. H. Ball, accompanied by Mr. McNamara, were away on an auto trip on Thursday last.

Mr. J. T. Rolland has erected some very tasty granite hitching posts in front of his store.

Messrs. M. B. Rice, of Sherbrooke; M. A. Hungerford, Swanton; John Marshall, Abbottsford, and W. R. Webster, Swanton, Vt., were among the visitors on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Stoddard, of Boston, Mass., who are passing the summer at Highgate, were in town, Thursday calling on friends, and Mrs. R. N. England, of Knowlton, is passing a few days with friends here.

Our mail service is somewhat irregular owing no doubt to the Grand Trunk strike. The morning mail arriving at 9.50 via G.T.R. and Central Vermont is late and occasionally misses entirely. It would be a good idea to receive all four mails by the C.P.R. until railway affairs assume their normal condition.

BROME.

Miss Pearl Cook, of Ottawa, who has been visiting at Mr. Ed. Owens for the past few days, was recently stricken with severe pains in the back of her head which affected her eyes to such an extent as to cause her confinement in a dark room necessary. Her condition became alarming and she was at once accompanied by her sister to her home in Ottawa on Thursday last where it is to be hoped she may obtain relief.

Col. Leavens, of Richford, accompanied by Mrs. and Miss Turner were in town on Wednesday calling on his old friend, Mr. A. H. Chandler who was able to accompany him in an auto drive through the village.

Arrivals and departures include: Miss Eva Frizzle visiting her brother Mr. C. H. Frizzle and uncle, Mr. J. Marsh; Mrs. C. K. Moffatt and Mrs. Chas. Beals to Richford where the latter will remain a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Max Lauder; Rev. M. Brundage making pastoral calls in the village Thursday; Miss Zennie Tracey, of Hartford, accompanied by three grandchildren of Mr. C. C. Tracey in town on Friday the guests of Mr. C. C. Tracey for a time; Miss Jessie Conners, of Warden, Que. guest of her sister, Mrs. E. W. Ray for a few days.

Rev. Mr. Brundage's subject next Sunday at the 3 p.m. service will be "A Great Commission."

EAST DUNHAM.

Arrivals: Mrs. Wm. Burwell, of Boston, Mass., guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Wales; Mr. Ralph Harvey and Miss Maggie McClaughlin, of Hillside calling on friends recently; Mr. A. L. Gleason, of Enosburg Falls, Vt., here Monday and let the contract to Mr. O.H. Ingalls to cut the hay on his farm; Mr. Miles Buchanan and Miss Sadie Buchanan, of Dunboro, calling on friends on Tuesday; Mr. Rodrick Crepeau, of Montreal at Mr. J. N. Townsend's on Tuesday; Mr. Glen Farnam, of Farnam's Corner, here on Wednesday; Mrs. M. McCullough, home on Sunday after spending two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dunlavy, West Shefford; Mr. Homer Yates, at Frelighsburg, on Tuesday.

Messrs. Hart and Frenier, on Mr. H. Best's farm, had the misfortune to lose one of their best cows on Tuesday.

KNOWLTON.

Arrivals: Guests at M. C. Bullard's are: Mrs. E. G. Brooks and family, Mrs. H. McLaren, Mrs. Philban, Mr. R. Richards, Mr. P. Walsh, Mr. B. McLaren, of Montreal; Mrs. Littledale, Mrs. Blunt and son, of Granby, visiting Mrs. A. Blunt; Mrs. J. B. Norton, Mrs. Sheffield and Miss C. Martin, Chicago, have rented Mrs. Cousin's cottage on the Conference Heights for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Gamble, Montreal, guests at Mr. N. P. England's; Mrs. R. England home from Dunham.

Miss Birt arrived at the Distributing Home recently after a trip to Winnipeg, and Miss Tupholme also returned from a tenthy trip to Sherbrooke, Richmond and Drummond counties. Both sail for England shortly.

Mr. L. H. Pibus, who has been very ill, is much improved and has been moved from the Sanitarium to his father's home in Bolton.

FROST VILLAGE.

Arrivals and departures include: Mr. M. F. Morey, of Brigham at Mr. W. F. Sears Wednesday; Miss D. Rhicard to Granby recently; Mrs. A. Purdy and daughter of Boston, Mass., in town for an indefinite time; Mrs. E. Rhicard, of Foster, here on Wednesday.

The farmers are all busy haying, and report an excellent crop.

Mrs. W. F. Sears received word on Thursday that her nephew, Mr. F. Goddard, in Roxbury, Vt., was seriously ill.

A very severe thunder and rainstorm visited this section Friday morning which put a veto on haying for a time.

Mr. W. F. Sears saw two very fine deer grazing by the wayside, Thursday as if in fear of neither man nor gun.

BRIGHAM.

The concert and ice cream social on Wednesday evening was the event of the season thus far. The evening was an ideal one and although the farmers were in the midst of haying, a large crowd turned out. Most of those who participated in the concert three weeks ago did so again. Miss D. O'Shaughnessy and Mr. Ewing assisted in the musical part of the programme. The drama, "The Widow's Mite," by local talent, was much enjoyed.. Proceeds amounted to $25.-85.

Arrivals and departures include:—Mrs. S. R. Hayes and son, of Sheffington at Mr. W. Carter's; Miss E. Mansfield, of Manchester, N.H., visiting friends; Miss G. Wickens, of Montreal, with Mrs. J. H. Smith recently.

GRANBY.

Mrs. H. P. Morrill, of Holyoke, Mass., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. H. Ball.

Mrs. J. Dozois left on Saturday for Potton Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Morton, of Cranbrooke, B.C., are guests of Mrs. Mason this week.

The Misses Standish, of Greenfield, Mass., are guests of Mrs. Martin Standish.

Mr. G. A. Mitchell returned to Waterloo on Saturday after spending his holidays in Montreal and Granby.

Mrs. H. W. Blunt and Master Walton returned on Wednesday from a two weeks stay at Knowlton.

Mrs. W. F. Giddings and Mrs. Marques left on Thursday for a visit to Magog and Rock Island.

Miss Kathleen Carpenter, of Montreal, is a guest of Mrs. T. F. Lynch at the Windsor.

At the last meeting of the Ladies' Aid, held on Tuesday in the basement of the Congregational Church, there were 107 present, who enjoyed a most excellent supper.

PEARCETON.

Arrivals and departures: Mrs. Chas. Durocher, of Stanbury, with her mother, Mrs. H. D. Jones; Mr. and Mrs. Alex Barber, to visit relatives in Sheldon, Vt., and expect to be gone a week or more; Mr. H. Butler of Montreal, week-end guest of Mr. L. Pratt; guests of Maplewood Farm include: Mrs. H. Butler and two children, Mrs. J. Greig and five children; Mrs. Gordon and four children, and Mrs. R. Huron and three children, all of Montreal.

Owing to the recent strike on the G.T.R. and C.V. Railways there was no mail on Tuesday night, but no other inconveniences were experienced.

During the electrical storm that passed over here on Thursday afternoon the large pine tree which stands beside the residence of Mr. Chas. H. Jones, and its branches within three feet of the house, was struck about half way down the tree, splitting it to the ground, tearing some of the bark from its branches. What seems a very strange thing is that the same tree was struck in the same place about eleven years ago, but not seriously damaged.

FARNHAM.

Messrs. F. X. A. Giroux and J. A. Boisvert, of Sweetsburg; Mr. Jno. Ford, Misses Jennie Barker and Eileen Brown, of Cowansville; Mr. Ken Turner, Sutton; Mrs. Ruiter, of Sweetsburg; Mr. and Mrs. A. McFarlane, Cowansville, in town this week.

THE SHERBROOKE—BEEBE MATCH.

The Stanstead Journal has this to say about the above game:

"The Beebe team went to Sherbrooke last Saturday to play a return game with the Sherbrooke team and, to our surprise and delight, defeating them, the score standing 8-1. The game was said to have been a most exciting and interesting one. It was admitted by all, even the Sherbrookes, to have been fairly and and honestly won. The Beebes speak most enthusiastically of the gentlemanly manner in which they were treated by the Sherbrooke team, very much in contrast with the disgraceful manner in which they were treated by the Watervilles the week previous. Evidently there was a regularly organized mob brought there to intimidate by their vile threats the visiting team, in which they were successful. We very much fear should they ever come to Beebe the Golden Rule will not be very much in evidence. It is said the policeman, who is supposed to be the guardian of the law, was foremost in the abuse of the Beebe team. The game last Saturday was the first defeat sustained by the Sherbrookes this season.

SPORTING NOTES.

The Vic Jr. baseball team, of Bedford, go to Clarenceville on Saturday afternoon to engage in a game with the Clarenceville-Noyan combination. The boys are going to do 'em up. Look out for big head lines.

Farnham, and Richmond of the Montreal City League, will meet at at Farnham, Sunday, July 24th, to play their first game in the provincial series. Farnham have now engaged Hight, of Lennoxville, to assist Leclair. Batteries for Sunday: Hight and Goyette, Bishop and Connors. A fast game is expected. Farnham's pitcher, Leclair, is improving slowly and expects to be in shape in a few days.

GATHERING OF ROMAN CATHOLIC CLERGY.

Will Meet at Montreal When Eucharistic Congress Opens.

FIRST TO BE HELD ON NORTH AMERICAN CONTINENT.

Montreal, July 23.—There are only a few weeks to the opening of the 21st Eucharistic Congress, and, in view of the great importance of the coming event, not only to the city of Montreal, but to the entire Roman Catholic world of America, preparations are made upon a scale befitting this great gathering, which is destined to mark an epoch in the history of the Church in America.

Since the first congress of this kind was held in Lille, France, in June, 1818, in answer to call issued by Bishop Gaston de Segur, many Eucharistic Congresses have been held, always in cities intimately connected with some of the most important phases and epochs in the history of the Roman Catholic Church. In consecutive order, Lille, Avignon, Liege, Freyburg, Toulouse, Paris, Antwerp, Jerusalem, Rheims, Pary-le-Monial, Brussels, Lourdes, Angers, Namours, Angouleme, Rome, Tournai, Metz, London and Cologne were the meeting places of the past Eucharistic Congresses. It will be seen from that list that heretofore but one of the twenty congresses was held outside of Europe, the one which met at Jerusalem. The coming congress which will open in Montreal on Sept. 6th and will continue till Sept. 11th will have the distinction of being the second outside of Europe and the first on the American continent.

FIRST IN AMERICA.

Montreal had a strong claim for the honor of being selected as the meeting place for the first Eucharistic Congress in America. It is not only an important city in a general way, but closely connected with the establishment and growth of the Roman Catholic Church in America. It is one of the largest and most important centres of the Church on the continent, and abounds in historical memories from the time when Catholic missionaries first carried the blessings of religion to the red men of the Canadian forests.

POPE REPRESENTED.

The Pope will be represented at the coming congress by Cardinal Vincenzo Vannutelli, Prefect of the Apostolic Signatura at Rome, and Cardinal Protector of the Sulpician Order. The cardinal will arrive in Canada a week or so before the opening of the congress, and will visit several Canadian cities incognito before coming to Montreal. He is expected to arrive here on the day before the opening of the congress, and the most elaborate preparations are being made for his reception. He will be officially greeted in behalf of the city by Mayor J. G. Guerin, and will then proceed to the Archbishop's Palace where he will be welcomed by Archbishop Bruchesi of Montreal. Lord Strathcona has placed his residence at the disposal of the cardinal legate during his stay in this city. The solemn official reception of Cardinal Vannutelli by the congress will be held on the evening of the opening day of the congress in St. James Cathedral.

It is expected that three cardinals and more than seventy archbishops and bishops will attend the congress and many of them are scheduled to deliver addresses before the congress or at the daily reunions to be held in connection with the great gathering. The programme for the six days of the congress includes many important civic receptions in honor of the representative of the Pope, several pontifical masses, and a number of special meetings. The solemn procession of the Blessed Sacrament will be held on the afternoon of the closing day, Sunday, Sept. 11th.

NEW ASBESTOS PRESIDENT.

Montreal, July 23.—Mr. Thomas McDougall, former general manager of the Quebec Bank, has been elected president of the Amalgamated Asbestos in place of Mr. E. B. Greenshields, retired.

Mr. Greenshields, in his remarks on the annual report, which was adopted, said:

"The year has been a satisfactory one for the company, especially so when it is remembered that during the first year most of the mines were taken over as separate going concerns, and had to be worked for a good while as practically separate properties, and that the improvements inaugurated had to be done during the producing season, and so interfered a good deal with the ordinary work of the mines.

"These betterments are now nearly completed, and the properties are already showing greatly increased production, the Kings Mines having had a record month in June. This great mine is the company's most valuable asset, and the shareholders should be gratified in knowing that, considering the quality and quantity of its product, and also the great extent of its territory, it is the finest asbestos property in America."

STANBRIDGE EAST.

The Methodist Church will hold their annual lawn social on Wednesday evening, July 27th, on the Academy grounds. Plans are being made for a programme of vocal and instrumental music.

CHARGE AGAINST FRENCH MASONS.

CLAIM THAT THEY LAID PLOT TO RUIN EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS.

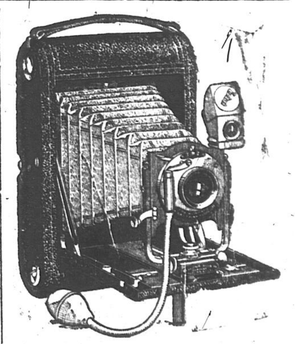

Montreal, July 23.—What is alleged to be a plot to ruin the success of the Eucharistic Congress, which opens here in September, was brought to the attention of the City Council. According to the strange story the Emancipation Lodge, which is the French Masonic body in Montreal, and composed of Catholics no longer in communion with their Church, has decided on a plan at a lodge meeting to inveigle some priests into houses of questionable repute, under the pretext they are going to boarding houses, and then get them arrested and brought to court.

The writer, a French-Canadian resident, who claims to have the facts, asked the city authorities to hold an investigation so as to prevent a public scandal hatched to destroy the reputation of the Congress, which will be attended by distinguished ecclesiastics from all parts of the world.

The Council appointed a committee of its members to investigate the charges. The affair was not taken seriously by all the Council, but the subject of the activity of French Freemasonry is a popular one in Montreal which crops up at certain seasons of the year, especially at municipal elections, when it is always an effective cry against candidates who are unlucky enough to have the stigma affixed to them. There is a body of Masons in Montreal of the French rite, though but few believe they would countenance such a trick. Last winter a pamphlet was circulated giving an alleged account of lodge meetings and a list of French-Canadian members. It caused several libel suits and much hard feeling, which will be surpassed by the present exposure.

HOLLADAY & HYNDMAN

Call 541 Opp. Paton Mills

An Up-To-Date Business College

Mr. E. S. Gleason, Principal and Proprietor of the BOYD SYLLABIC SHORTHAND & BUSINESS COLLEGE, has recently acquired the first and second floors in the Hyndman Block, No. 11 Strathcona Square, as the future home of this progressive institution. These premises have been thoroughly renovated, remodelled and redecorated, and equipped with the latest and most modern school appliances, including typewriters, adding machines, and so on. In fact, no pains nor expense has been spared in providing everything that would add to the comfort and efficiency of the student, making it one of the best Business Colleges in this Province, if not in Canada.

In addition to Typewriting, Business Routine, Banking Practice, Bookkeeping, French, English, and other Academic subjects, it teaches the Famous Boyd Syllabic Shorthand, discovered by Robert Boyd, B.A., of Toronto, and should appeal especially to Canadians in that it was discovered in Canada and by a Canadian. It is used now by the two largest correspondence houses in the world. The advantages of this system over the old style, are claimed to be many. Firstly, that it has no dots, dashes, shades nor position, as regards ruled lines, to confuse the student. Secondly, that, it being based on the syllable, it simplifies the formation of the words and thereby a greater speed is obtainable. It is as legible as longhand. Incredulous as it may seem, in the short space of THIRTY DAYS the average student can attain the marvelous speed of over 100 words a minute, and even this record has in many instances been beaten, and pupils who have had only 20 and 23 days' study have been installed in most responsible positions. Principal Gleason has a list of students who have made this record.

ROBT. BOYD, B.A., Author of the Boyd Syllabic Shorthand.

An unique feature of this institution—a feature of which Principal Gleason is sole originator and user in Canada—is that every student in the Commercial Course is obliged to deposit a certain sum of actual money upon entering the school, and a regular weekly deposit thereafter. This practice not only encourages the habit of saving, but it gives the student a practical knowledge of banking practice. Another feature of this progressive institution is, that it is the only College in Canada using the Wahl Adding and Subtracting Attachment with the Typewriter. Stenographers and Bookkeepers having a knowledge of these machines are able to command a much larger salary.

It is claimed that Office Routine, which is taught exclusively by this college is one of the most necessary subjects taken up, as it qualifies his students as competent and practical office hands.

MR. E. S. GLEASON, Principal.

Principal Gleason has a competent and obliging staff of assistants, both French and English. Mr. Charles Arthur Botsford, Manager Business Department, is a well-known and experienced business school teacher, having been connected with the Dominion Business College and recently resident manager of the Atlanta Coke, Coal and Mining Co., of Atlanta, Ga., one of the largest coal corporations in the United States, and is especially well known in the Eastern Townships, having been five years Headmaster of the Dufferin Grammar School, of Brigham, of which the Rev. R. D. Mills, M.A., was Principal.

Miss Nettie Bradley, of Waterville, Que., Shorthand Demonstrator, has been with the above institution over three years and thoroughly understands the system. Teachers and Assistants in other Departments are equally well fitted to impart a thorough education. This College not only qualifies their students as accurate and competent stenographers and bookkeepers, but secures excellent and suitable positions for all graduates.

A meeting was held on Thursday evening of the East Sherbrooke Snow-Shoe Club, Mr. F. T. Ansell, the President, taking the chair. After some discussion it was unanimously decided to clean up the grounds around the club house and put them in proper order. The completion of the work will be celebrated by a reception and dance. In the meantime due notice will be given of a social evening to be held shortly. The E.S. Snow-Shoe Club displays a commendable energy and bids fair to be a factor in the enjoyment and g[illegible]y of the city in the future.

Does advertising pay? It would seem so from the results obtained by The McCaw-Bissell Furniture Co. at their mid-summer sale now going on. This reliable firm has been offering certain lines at very much reduced prices to clear, and claim that the number of sales has been most satisfactory. In many cases the purchaser asks for the articles which "we saw advertised in the Record," which goes to show that when a first-class firm advertises in a first-class newspaper results are bound to follow.

CIRCUS DAY PASSED OFF VERY QUIETLY.

Circus day passed off very quietly yesterday. As a rule on occasions of this kind the patrol horse has to work overtime.

Yesterday only three arrests were made and no disturbances of any kind were reported.

INJURED BY FALLING FROM STREET CAR.

A man named Alfred Gagne fell off a street car yesterday and sustained several bad bruises.

The man was under the influence of liquor when the accident occurred. He was taken to the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital. It was thought at first that his leg was broken, but such is not the case.

BLASTING ON THE MAGOG RIVER.

The superintendent of the Bishop Coostruction states that his men were using all caution while blasting. Before every blast three distinct blasts are blown on a whistle in order to give warning. The rock is well covered, but occasionally a few pieces do fly.

The charges used are small, and every effort was put forth to safeguard those who live near.

FUNERAL OF VICTIMS OF ACCIDENT AT BEAUCEVILLE.

The funerals of the three unfortunate victims of the accident of Sunday last, Adolphe and Joseph Gregoire and Mrs. J. Gregoire, took place at Beauceville on Wednesday, an immense crowd attending the services and following in the funeral cortege.

The mourners were the three sons Cleophas, Alfred and Henri Gregoire, of the late Adolphe Gregoire; Joseph, brother of deceased; Jos. Guay, Levis; Jos. Fortin, E. Grondin, T. Thibodeau and A. Poulin, Beauceville.

The service was sung by the Rev. Abbe Villeneuve, assisted by the Abbes Houde and Rodrigue, as deacon and sub-deacon, and the music was rendered by a large choir. The interment took place in the cemetery of the parish.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE MRS. C. J. YOUNG,

The funeral of the late Mrs. Young, wife of Mr. C. J. Young, took place yesterday on the arrival of the C. P. R. train from Montreal, a number of friends being at the station to receive the body. The interment was made in the family lot in Elmwood Cemetery, Rev. G. Ellery Read, Pastor of Plymouth Congregational Church, officiating.

The mourners were Mr. C.J.Young, husband of deceased; Mr. R. Huchins, son-in-law; Col. Morehouse and Mr. W. E. Morehouse, Waterloo; and the bearers were: Dr. G. E. Hyndman, J. W. McKee, Richard Armitage, F. T. Ansell, E. S. Stevens, and Robert Bradley.

The late Mrs. Young, whose maiden name was Mary McAndrew, was born in Sherbrooke and spent her girlhood and early married life in this city. Her death occurred in Montreal, where the funeral service took place at her home. She is survived by her husband and one daughter, Mrs. Hutchins.

INJUNCTION CASE BEFORE THE COURTS.

Question Was Argued Before Mr. Justice Tellier Yesterday Afternoon.

PETITIONER CLAIMS THAT HE SHOULD NOT HAVE TO PAY HALF OF COST OF NEW DAM.

The argument in the injunction proceedings served by Mr. T. M. Craig against the Sherbrooke Railway & Power Company was heard before Mr. Justice Tellier in the Superior Court yesterday afternoon.

The petitioner was represented by Mr. C. W. Cate, K.C., and Mr. C.D. White, while Mr. H. R. Fraser, K.C., Sherbrooke, and Mr. R. T. Heneker, K.C., were for the company. There were also present on behalf of the company Mr. Frank Thompson, Mr. Percival W. St. George, C.E., and Mr. H. Holgate, C.E., Montreal, and Mr. C. B. Hibbard.

Expert evidence was submitted by Mr. Holgate, Mr. St. George and Mr. R. N. Arkley and others.

It was claimed by the company that while they have gone on to the edge of the land of the petitioner yet they had a right to do so under the terms of the deed of purchase of the property from the British America Land Company, and that in any event it was impossible to renew or rebuild or improve the existing dam without doing so. Strong evidence was given by the engineers on this point. The expert witnesses also testified that the damage thus far was very slight and was fully provided for under the provisions of the original deed at $60 per month.

Counsel for the petitioner argued that under the terms of the deed of sale referred to by counsel for respondent the company had the right to enter on the property for the purpose of renewing, repairing or raising the dam which existed on the property. It was also further contended that the evidence showed that the dam did not at the present time require either repairing or renewing, and that what the company were really doing was building a dam in a different place for the purpose of obtaining more power for their own benefit, and that the company would have no right in view of the fact that the dam did not require either repairing or renewing to call upon petitioner to pay half the cost of the proposed new dam. If the company had the right to raise the dam it was merely the right to raise the dam which at present exists on the property, and they have no right to erect a new dam in a different place.

The case was taken en delibere.

STANSTEAD WESLEYAN COLLEGE.

Announcements of Stanstead Wesleyan College are now appearing in the Record. The management is anticipating a most successful year.

The following taken from the prospectus just issued, will be of special interest to many: "This year three new subjects are added to the curriculum—(1) Manual training, including wood work and mechanical drawing. Every boy is recommended to take this course. The skill acquired and general training given will be of the greatest value to every young man, no matter what his choice of a profession may be. (2) Household science. This embraces cooking, chemistry of foods, sanitary science, laundry work, home nursing and sewing. Such a course is simply a necessity for every young woman, and all are advised to take it. Lessons in these subjects will last through one whole afternoon each week, and will be arranged so they will not interfere with the academic music or commercial work. To encourage all the students to take these courses the tuition fees are kept down to the actual cost. (3) Decorative art, embracing drawing and designing, tool leather work and work in brass, copper, etc."

This year the endowment of the College will yield a revenue of $5,000. This enables the management to secure the very best teachers and improve the plant without increasing the rates.

During the year the students have been exceptionally free from sickness, and almost all have taken great interest in the religious work of the College. It must be borne in mind that the management of the College not only seek to build up strong minds and bodies, but what is even more important, to lead their students to lay the foundation of strong Christian character.

MRS. HOGARTH FAILED TO APPEAR.

Judgment Was Rendered in Her Case This Morning.

BENCH WARRANT WILL BE ISSUED FOR HER ARREST. WHOLE FAMILY GONE.

Dame Katherine Hogarth, who was charged with the misappropriation of money held under her direction, was to have appeared before Judge Mulvena this morning to hear judgment as to whether she would be acquitted or committed for trial, but she failed to appear when the case was called.

Mr. L. C. Belanger, K.C., who appeared for the defence, said that when he had found out that the accused had failed to file certain letters with him or the Court, he sent his clerk to the home of the accused this forenoon and he reported that the house was empty and that the family had moved away. He telephoned to the Paton Mill enquire whether the young men had promised to advance some money for Mrs. Hogarth on Friday night were at work, and he learned that they, too, had failed to turn up at work this morning. He regretted to have been mixed up with such a case.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

Judge Mulvena said that as the accused was represented he would give judgment in the case, which he did, in part as follows:

"The defendant is charged with theft by misappropriation of money held under direction, under Article 357 Cr. Code.

"The complainant testified that he called to see the defendant in April last, in answer to an advertisement in the Record, and in May last deposited $50 with her for the expenses of securing a housekeeper from Scotland, with an ultimate view of matrimony. That she had failed to either secure the housekeeper or return the money. That at different times he had called upon her, she had given different reasons, such as that the steamers were too crowded, that the young woman's parents would not consent, that her brother was getting married, etc., and that finally on the 7th of July he had laid a complaint against her.

"The defendant in her own behalf swore that she had sent the money to her sister in Scotland on the same day she had received it; at first she stated in dollar bills, and afterwards she changed that to five ten-dollar bills. That she had sent it by letter, not registered. She claimed that she had received an acknowledgment of this letter from her sister, which she at first declined to produce as it contained private matter, but afterwards consented to produce it as soon as she could go home for it. She also produces what purports to be a letter from Miss Carter, the young woman in question; that she has not kept the envelope in either case. On cross-examination the defendant denied failing to return the money or produce the help, for anyone else, but as she was confronted with the names of different parties she admitted this failure in a number of cases. She further stated that in an interview on the fifth of July with the complainant she had then decided not to let him have Miss Carter, but she did not tell him this or return him his money.

"The complainant's evidence makes a prima facie case for a committal for trial. Does the defendant's evidence explain away this proof? The statement that she sent the money to her sister, if true, would release her from any criminal liability, but can we believe it, when supported by no other evidence but her own and in view of her failure to produce the acknowledgment? Why did she send that money to her sister, when she claimed to have paid all the other moneys to the C.P.R. agent here? Why send it in bank bills which are not current in country places in Scotland? Why send it by a non-registered letter when it could have been sent so cheaply and safely by a draft or a money order? Why send the whole fifty dollars to her sister, as she claims she did, when she claims that ten dollars of this was for her own fees.

"Her evidence is so full of contradictions and improbabilities that I cannot accept it, and I commit her for trial at the next term of the Court of King's Bench."

BENCH WARRANT TO BE ISSUED

At the conclusion of his judgment, Judge Mulvena stated that a bench warrant would be issued so that she may be arrested and brought to trial.

CITY NEWS

Mr. A. J. Laberge returned to-day from Montreal and is the guest of his brother-in-law, Mr. C. Millier.

Miss Lena Van Vleit left last evening for Bailey's Island, Portland, Me., to join Dr. and Mrs. Allen and Miss Leona Van Vleit.

Mr. E. J. Temple, of this city has been very successful in raising English gooseberries. Three of this year's crop are on exhibition in Mr. F. T. Ansell's window, which weigh 1-3-16 oz., (one ounce and nearly a quarter). Everyone is familiar with the small, sour, half-ripe fruit known as gooseberries in this locality, and yet it seems possible to grow the large, sweet, delicious English berries. Why should not Mr. Temple's example be followed by other growers of small fruits?

The death occurred on Tuesday last at his home in Pawtucket, R.I., of Joseph Marie Lacasse, formerly of Sherbrooke, at the advanced age of 80 years. Deceased left Canada with his family some years ago, and being a skilled workman found employment in a carpentering establishment, where he remained until he was 70 years old. Since then he has lived with his children of whom six survive to mourn his loss. The service took place in the parish church, the mass being sung by the Rev. Jos. A. Lacasse, S.J., son of decensed, of Pittsburg, Pa., and the interment took place in the R. C. cemetery. A large number of relatives and friends of the family were present.

be handled during the next few days.

On the other hand, it was stated by Mr. Murdock that his reports indicated that there were some 35 passenger trains on the eastern division of the Grand Trunk not running, and that the passenger business was not in good shape, while the freight business was completely disorganized.

Reports of disorder on the line have come in from various places, the centre of trouble appearing to be at Brockville.

It was claimed yesterday afternoon by the Grand Trunk that had the men in their employ been fairly posted as to what the company was offering there would have been no strike, and that now the facts were becoming known a number of their former employees were returning to the service.

In this connection the official spokesman for the company said:

"The fact that the former employees of the Grand Trunk have been able thus early to see the hopelessness of the situation in which their ambitious leaders have placed them reflects credit upon the men. It is encouraging, too, because it will serve to show the working men who work that it is not always safe to place their affairs in the hands of workingmen who do not work.

"The workingmen had no show, no voice in this matter, because what the management said was not always delivered uncolored to them. While charging the management with bad faith, Mr. Murdock has shown his own bad faith by citing only such isolated cases as would best suit his own ends."

Miss Beane was the highly esteemed teacher of Queenie Creek school for nearly a year. Mr. and Mrs. Courtright have the best wishes of their many friends of the district in which they reside.

MORGAN — ARMSTRONG.

Bolton Glen, July 23.—(Special) — A quiet wedding took place at Richford, Vt., on Tuesday. The contracting parties were Mr. F. Morgan, of Knowlton, and Miss Marion Armstrong of Bondville, but formerly teacher of the Glen school here.

Mr. Morgan is a son of Mr. E. Morgan, of Knowlton, and Miss Armstrong, eldest daughter of Mr. James Armstrong, of Bondville. Both the bride and groom are well and favorably known about here as well as in Knowlton and their many friends extend congratulations.

A reception will be given the young people this (Saturday) evening, at their future home at Mr. E. Morgan's, Knowlton.

CANADA,
Province of Quebec,
Municipality of the Village of Lennoxville.

By-Law No. 150.

At a general monthly session of the Municipal Council of the Village of Lennoxville, held at the usual place of meeting, in the Town Hall, in said village, on the fourth day of the month of July, one thousand nine hundred and ten, at the hour of half-past seven in the evening, in conformity with the provisions of the Municipal Code of the Province of Quebec, and amendments thereto, at which session were present, the Mayor, Alexander Ames, and Councillors Joseph B. Orr, Douglas L. Herbert, William E. Smith, Pierre Breton, and William H. Wood, forming a quorum, under the presidency of the Mayor.

It is ordained and resolved by by-law of this Council, as follows:

Whereas, it is desirable to amend By-law Number 98 of the By-laws of the Village of Lennoxville, and to modify the contract made under it with the Sherbrooke Street Railway, under that name or under any other name which may be given to it by the Legislature.

(1) Section 1 of the said By-law is repealed and replaced by the following:

"1." The said Company shall have the exclusive right to build and operate a street railway within the limits of the Village of Lennoxville for the period of twenty-six years from the 13th day of May, 1910, if a contract is signed in accordance with the present by-law, and such right shall be extended for a further period of fourteen years, if the Street Railway Company obtains at its own expense from the Legislature, the necessary power and authority for the Village Corporation to grant such extension.

(2) Section 2 of the said by-law is repealed and replaced by the following:

"2." The use of the streets where such railway may be constructed and operated shall be granted to the Company without payment of rent during the period of twenty years from the coming into force of the present by-law, if a contract is signed in accordance with the present by-law.

(3) Section 3 of the said by-law is repealed and replaced by the following:

"3." If a contract is signed in accordance with the present by-law, so much of the railway rolling stock, plant and property as is used in the working of the railway within the limits of the Village of Lennoxville shall be exempt from license charges and from municipal charges up to the 13th day of May, 1921, such exemption to be extended to the 13th day of May, 1930, if the Street Railway Company obtains, at its own expense from the Legislature, the necessary power and authority for the Village Corporation to grant such further exemption, such exemption, however, to cease and determine upon the failure of the Company to fulfill any of the obligations entered into by the contract to be signed in virtue of this by-law.

(4) The Section 5 of the said By-law is repealed and replaced by the following:

"5." The track of the railway, and all work necessary for the construction and laying out, and the maintenance of the same shall be built and done in a substantial manner, according to the best modern practice.

(5) Section 6 of the said by-law is repealed and replaced by the following:

"6." The railway shall be of a guage of 4 feet 8 and 1-2 inches, and the rails shall be new steel "T" rails, 70 pounds to the yard, and not less than 6 inches in depth, to be connected by mechanical joint fastenings satisfactory to the Council. The Company must have protected electrical bonds at each rail joint, that have a carrying capacity equivalent to a copper wire of 0000. The soil and roadbed within the rails shall be graded even to the top of the rails, and the said track or tracks shall be laid and maintained by the Company so that the top of the rails shall be flush with the established grade of the street, and in such a manner as shall least obstruct the free and ordinary use of the streets for the passage of vehicles and carriages within the same. Where guard rails are required, a "bolted on" guard, approved by the Council, must be used.

(6) Section 7 of the said By-law is repealed and replaced by the following:

"7." The route of the street railway in the said Village shall be on North Main Street, from the boundary line between Sherbrooke and Lennoxville to the square in said Village, and with the extension hereinafter referred to.

(7) Section 8 of the said By-law is repealed and replaced by the following:

"8." The locafion of the track in the said Village shall be made under the supervision of the Municipal Council or of the officer or officers appointed by it for that purpose, and the switches, side tracks and turn outs shall also be built as located and determined by the Council, its officer or officers. The poles carrying the electric wires shall be of wood, and painted, except on such streets as the Council may determine from time to time, where they will be of iron, and of a design approved by the Council, and painted, and be set at such reasonable distance along the track of the railway as the Council may determine; and the height of the wires above the street shall not be less than fifteen feet and not more than eighteen feet, but the feed wires of the Company shall be carried upon such line of poles as determined by the Council. The ties shall be placed at such a distance from one another so as not to exceed 28 inches from the centre of one to the center of the other, the whole under the supervision of the Council, and the Company shall at all times, under the direction and supervision of the Council keep in permanent repair that portion of the streets lying between its tracks or rails, and for the space of one and one-half feet in width outside and adjoining the rails of its tracks, in good condition so long as it shall continue to use the same for railway purposes, and whenever the Council directs that any portion of such streets be paved, the Village may pave the portion between the rails, and one and one-half feet outside the rails, at the expense of the Company, and the Company shall place its rails to the satisfaction of the Council.

(8) Section 12 of the said By-law is repealed and replaced by the following:

"12." The Company shall run cars from the terminus of its line in the Village of Lennoxville to and from the City of Sherbrooke, from six o'clock in the morning until twelve o'clock at night, every twenty minutes. The fare chargeable to any passenger for one continuous single trip from any one point to any other point on the Company's railway within the limits of the Village of Lennoxville and the City of Sherbrooke shall be five cents from six o'clock in the morning until twelve, midnight, and from twelve, midnight, until six o'clock in the morning, ten cents, but the Company shall sell ten tickets for twenty-five cents to children under fourteen years of age, which tickets shall be accepted by the Company between six o'clock in the morning and midnight; and eight tickets for twenty-five cents to any person, which tickets shall be accepted by the Company only from six to seven in the morning, from twelve o'clock, noon, to one o'clock and fifteen minutes, and from six o'clock at night until seven; and the Company shall sell six tickets for twenty-five cents, good at all times between 6 a.m. and twelve midnight, on all lines; the Company shall give transfers from and to every part of its lines; and the Company shall operate a car to start from the terminus of its line in the Village of Lennoxville farthest removed from Sherbrooke aforesaid, at six o'clock in the morning. Parcels delivered to the Company to be transported in passenger cars shall be charged for at the rate of five cents each, the weight of parcels limited to fifteen pounds, and said parcels will be delivered by the employees of the Company at the Company's offices at the City of Sherbrooke and at the Village of Lennoxville. No charge shall be made for parcels carried by passengers.

(9) Section 15 of the said By-law is repealed and replaced by the following:

"15." The construction and operation of the railway, and of any and all poles and wires for the transmission of electric power shall be subject to the provisions contained in the Fifteenth Section of the Charter of the Company, and the said Company shall hold the Village Corporation harmless against all damages, loss, costs and expenses to which it may be subjected by reason of the construction, maintenance and operation of the said street railway or power line or lines. The fact that anything done in connection with the construction, maintenance and operation of the railway or power lines may have been so done under the supervision of the Council or any of its officers, shall not operate in any way to relieve the Company from its responsibilities to the Corporation.

(10) The Section 16 of the said By-law is repealed and replaced by the following:

"16." The Company shall be equipped with modern cleaning and clearing appliances for removing snow, consisting amongst others of snow sweepers and winged plows. Whenever it shall be necessary to remove snow or ice from the tracks, the same shall not be left in heaps but shall be removed for a space of eleven feet on each side of the track, to the satisfaction of the municipal officer having supervision of the streets; and if in the opinion of the road committee it be necessary, the Village Corporation may remove snow and ice from the streets on which the railroad runs, the expense thereof shall be paid equally by the Company and the Village. Salt may be used for the purpose of removing ice from the rails, with the sanction of the Road Committee.

(11) The Section 20 of the said By-law is repealed.

(12) The Section 23 of the said By-law is repealed and replaced by the following:

"23." If in renewing the contract at the end of such contract as may be passed in accordance with the present By-law, any differences arise between the Village and the Company, the matter in dispute shall be settled by arbitration held in the manner provided by the Code of Civil Procedure of the Province of Quebec, one arbitrator to be appointed by the Village Corporation, one by the street railway, and a third arbitrator to be appointed by a Judge of the Superior Court, and in case either of the parties neglects or refuses, after a notice of ten days from either party, to appoint its arbitrator, any Judge of the Superior Court shall be and is hereby empowered to appoint the arbitrator for such party.

(13) The Company shall extend its system of railway from its present terminus at the square in the said Village, along the centre of South Main Street to its junction with Massawippi Street, the whole under the supervision and to the satisfaction of the Council.

(14) When the Railway Company shall find it necessary to replace the present rails on its system in the said Village, they shall be replaced with a 70 pound rail not less than six inches in depth, and the whole road and equipment is to be built and furnished and kept up in accordance with the latest improvements as used on macadamized roads, the whole to the satisfaction of a competent engineer to be named by the Council.

(15) In the event of the Village closing or changing any of the streets or parts of streets upon which the Company runs or will run its cars, the permission given to the Company to run its cars on the same will be withdrawn, without paying any damages of any kind to the Company, but the Village shall give permission to the Company to lay its tracks upon any other streets or parts of streets which would permit the Company to maintain its traffic. During the construction of any work by the Village in any street, the Village shall afford to the Company all reasonable convenience so as not to interfere with the running of cars more than necessary.

(16) The Company shall commence the proposed improvements within nine months from the passing of the By-law, and complete the same within twenty-four months, the same to be made in accordance with the plans to be approved by the Village Council.

(17) In case it is necessary to widen or make any change of grade in any of the streets in connection with the improvements or extension of the said railway the same shall only be done with the consent and approval of the Council and at the expense of the Company and the streets shall be restored into as good condition as before, and the Company shall hold the Village Corporation harmless from any and all claims for damages by reason of such change in grade or widening.

(18) The Company may sell power developed by them to the Village Corporation, or to any industrial or other establishment in the said Village, and the Council will allow the Company to locate poles and string wires on such streets as may be necessary for the purpose of carrying power to such establishments, the whole under the direction and location of the Council or its officers, and the price to be charged by the Company for such power shall in no case exceed the lowest price per horse power which is charged by the Company for a like quantity, to any consumer in the City of Sherbrooke or elsewhere, and the Company shall bind itself to supply power to the said Village Corporation, or to any person applying for the same, so long as the Company has power developed which is not already contracted for.

(19) The principal operating office of the Company shall always remain in the City of Sherbrooke, and in the contract to be entered into it shall be agreed that all notices, writs, protests and services upon the Company may legally be given and made at said office in the City of Sherbrooke.

(20) Section 25 of the said By-law is repealed and replaced by the following:

"25." The violation or non-fulfillment by the Company of any of the terms, stipulations or conditions of this By-law, or the unrepealed portions of the By-law Number 98, or of the contract based on the same, shall give the Village Corporation the right to demand the cancellation of the contract and the forfeiture of the rights and privileges granted thereunder.

(21) The Section 26 of the said By-law is repealed and replaced by the following:

"26." After this By-law has been ratified and approved by the ratepayers and by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, as required by Article 481 of the Municipal Code of the Province of Quebec, a contract shall be executed by and between the Municipal Corporation, represented by the Mayor and Secretary-Treasurer, who are thereunto duly authorized, and the Company, properly authorized, wherein all these provisions, as well as the unrepealed provisions of the said By-law Number 98 shall be included and be made the basis of said contract, and unless said contract be accepted and signed by the Company within thirty days after this by-law comes into force, then this by-law shall cease to have any force or effect.

Enacted at Lennoxville this fourth day of July, in the year of Our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and ten.

WM. W. BAKER, Secretary-Treasurer. ALEX. AMES, Mayor.

Moved by Councillor Herbert, seconded by Councillor Wood, and resolved:

That a public meeting of the electors of the Municipality of Lennoxville, who are proprietors of real estate, be held on the 30th day of July inst., in accordance with the provisions of the Municipal Code of the Province of Quebec, to approve or disapprove of By-law No. 150, amending By-law No. 98, granting a franchise to the Sherbrooke Street Railway Company—Carried.

I, the undersigned, William W. Baker, Secretary-Treasurer of the Village of Lennoxville, certify the foregoing By-law to be a true copy of By-law 150 of the By-laws of the Municipal Council of the Village of Lennoxville, which said By-law was enacted and passed on the 4th of July, 1910, the original whereof remains of record in my office, and I further certify that the foregoing resolution is a true copy of a resolution passed by the said Council on the same date.

Office of the Municipal Council of the Village of Lennoxville, July 5th, 1910.

WM. W. BAKER, Secretary-Treasurer.

NOTICE.

FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS.

PRICIS AT THE SHERBROOKE MARKET.

NEW POTATOES WERE PLENTIFUL AND SOLD AT FORTY CENTS PER PECK.

There was nothing startling on the market this morning. Prices remain steady, no changes being recorded.

A large quantity of potatoes of excellent quality, were offered for sale and found a ready market at 40c. per peck.

The butchers are complaining about a shortage of pork. They are experiencing considerable difficulty in obtaining enough pork to fill their orders. The fall pigs have all been sold off and the spring pigs are still too young to kill. This is responsible for the scarcity. They are offering $13 for pork.

The following is a list of prices:

DAIRY PRODUCE.

BUTTER MARKET IS FIRM.

Montreal, July 23.—The receipts of butter continue to keep ahead of those of last year, 20,874 pkgs. being received last week against 17,763 pkgs. for the same period last year, making a total for the season up to the close of last week, July 16th, 187,883 pkgs. as compared with 157,954 pkgs. for the corresponding period last year. The stocks of butter in this city are known to be heavy, as the shipments both to the Coast and England have so far fallen short of expectations.

It is claimed that as soon as the cool weather of the fall sets in, the shipments of cream to the States will largely increase and cause a very material decrease in the fall make of butter.

The market here is firm with sales reported of a lot of 225 pkgs. of Townships creamery at 22½c over 120 pkgs. at 22¾c and a round lot of seconds at 22½c. There is some enquiry from the Coast, but they appear both to come up to the ideas of holders here in price, although a dealer claims "the longer the delay in purchasing, the more money will have to be paid." A few lots of dairy butter have changed hands at 19½c to 20½c as to quality.

CHEESE IN GOOD DEMAND.

Montreal, July 23.—It is admitted by the trade here that it would be more profitable to the middle men if they could work off the bulk of the fall make to English importers before the New Zealand cheese arrive in large quantities on the other side, as the competition from this class of goods is a serious drawback to the realization of profits on Canadian cheese. As present prices therefore show good profits to farmers it is hoped that the old practice of hoisting values on the fall make will be abandoned this season, and the losses of former years avoided.

Sales of Western cheese have been made for this week's steamers at 11½c to 11 3-16c and 11½c for finest Bellevilles and Brockvilles and fine at 11c. Easterns have sold at 10⅞c to 11 1-16c as to quality.

Shippers report that the make is decreasing, but this is usual at this season after the flush of milk is passed. There is no reason to believe, however, that the shrinkage is greater than that of a year ago, as pastures are good and the weather favorable.

THE GRAIN TRADE.

MARKET GENERALLY STEADY AND FIRM.

Corn.—The market is firm with sales of round lots of No. 3 in store at 67½c, holders now asking 68½c.

Oats.—The market is firm and higher No. 2 C.W. in store selling at 45½c and No. 3 Ontario 44c in store.

Peas.—The market is steady. No. 2 May afloat being quoted at 81c to 82c and boiling peas $1.10 to $1.15.

Barley.—Manitoba barley is steady at 50c for No. 4 and 52c for No. 3.

BRAN PRICES UP.

Montreal, July 22.—An active demand for bran continues, and prices were marked up $1. Ontario bran $20.50 to $21 per ton; Ontario middlings, $21 to $22; Manitoba bran, $20 and shorts $21.

CANADIAN AND WORLD NEWS.

FIRE AT OWEN SOUND.

Owen Sound, Ont., July 23.— Fire at the water front yesterday afternoon caused a loss aggregating $50,000. Waterhouses, elevators and residences were destroyed, large vessels were in danger in the harbor and the absence of a strong wind was all that saved the town itself from destruction, as the flames started in an old log house which was in the very heart of the town.

Albert Hiles, a half-witted Englishman, has been arrested on suspicion of having started the fire, as well as the four recent fires which ended less disastrously.

U. S. SETTLERS OPPOSED TO NAVAL POLICY.

Melville, Sask., July 23.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier and party held a meeting here yesterday morning, which was largely attended. Prior to the meeting Sir Wilfrid received a deputation of grain growers, who urged the early completion of the Hudson Bay Railway. They also said the American settlers objected to the naval policy of the Government, but the Premier assured them that the naval policy would be carried out notwithstanding the objections to it.

NEGRO BURNED AT STAKE.

Dallas, Texas, July 23.— Henry Gentry, a negro, who attempted to enter the room of a white woman at Belton, Texas, early yesterday morning, and who later killed Constable James Mitchell, who tried to arrest him, was burned at stake last night by a mob.

EARL GREY IN OTTAWA.

Ottawa, July 23.—Earl Grey yesterday returned at 1.15 from his trip to England, where he went to make arrangements with the Imperial Government in connection with his extension of time as Governor-General, pending the coming of the Duke of Connaught. He is in the best of health and is now looking forward to his trip to Hudson Bay.

No definite advices have been received here as yet as to when the Duke of Connaught will come, but it is not likely to be until after the coronation.

MAN, STUDY YOUR HAIR!

Then Before You Comb It Study the Architecture of Your Face.

Just as surely as hair is woman's crowning glory it is man's glorious crowning—that is, to those that have it. Those whose heads have pushed up through their hair usually use a huckaback towel for the delicate process of parting the hair, but unless one has the peculiar requirements it is not worth while to cultivate them.

Men with low, squatting foreheads should not pull their hair down over their brows, and men whose foreheads are beginning to work back should invite their locks down. If your hair has quietly slipped down toward your ears on each side, leave it there. If you bring it up in strings and wisps it will merely look like climbing vines and will never really have the free and easy homelike appearance that ought to be the part of all natural hair.

Do not part your hair any earlier than you can help. Hair is in a hurry these days, anyway. Usually it doesn't stay more than long enough to make sure that the baby is going to be a boy before it hastens off. It will part of itself soon enough the best you can do.

Before combing your hair you should get acquainted with the architecture of your face. If your face is of the harvest moon variety do not inlay your hair. Puff it up as much as possible. It's better to look like a feather duster on a Monday morning than a scratched billiard ball on a Saturday night.

But if your face is of a long, galloping ensemble do not encourage your hair to fluff. Instead keep it down close to headquarters. If your head inclines to run up to a cone do not spread your hair around in imitation of a palm tree thatch. Rather fluff it up and windrow it for fear some unbred person will begin to talk about spring radish tops.—Homer Croy in Delineator.

CAPTURED AFTER MANY DAYS.

Nap. Dubois Charged With Three Cases of Assault.

ASSAULTED AN OFFICER WHO WAS PLACING HIM UNDER ARREST.

Nap. Dubois, alias Johnnie Dubois, was brought before Judge Mulvena this forenoon, to answer to the charge of assault.

Some time ago he committed an assault on one T. Lemaire, but before officers could lay hands on him he had cleared out. Yesterday Sub. Chief Couture observed the wanted man, and instructed Officer Baron to keep track of him. The Officer saw Dubois enter a hotel, and waited until he came out when he proceeded to place him under arrest. He put up a vigorous fight and struck the Officer on the face. He was finally overpowered and taken to the lockup.

It was also stated that on Thursday he assaulted a man by the name of Baxter.

The Court passed sentence as follows:

For assaulting an officer in the discharge of his duties, $10 and costs or 60 days.

For assault committed on Lemaire $5 and costs or 30 days.

For striking Baxter $2 and costs or 15 days.

UNCLE SAM'S DOCTORS.

Rank and Pay of Physicians in the Government Service.

Uncle Sam employs more than 1,000 physicians.

These doctors are pretty evenly divided between the medical corps of the army, the medical corps of the navy, the marine hospital and the public health service. The complete army medical corps includes 444 medical officers in addition to the medical reserve corps, the hospital corps, the nurse corps and the dental corps. The medical corps embraces "a surgeon general with the rank of brigadier general, 14 colonels, 105 majors and 300 captains or first lieutenants, with the rank, pay and allowances of officers of corresponding grades in the cavalry arm of the service."

The pay of doctors is interesting. The lowest rank held by medical officers is that of first lieutenant. The medical lieutenant gets $2,000 per annum, or $166.66 monthly. At the end of three years he is promoted to captain and receives $2,400 a year. In two years he receives an increase of 10 per cent, or five years' service, making $2,640, or $220 per month. After ten years' service the pay would be $2,880, or $240 per month. The pay attached to the rank of major is $3,000 per year, which, with 10 per cent added for each five years' service, becomes $3,600 after ten years' service, $3,900 after fifteen years' service and $4,000 after twenty years' service. The monthly pay of lieutenant colonel, colonel and brigadier general is $375, $416.66 and $500 respectively.

In addition to their salaries, officers are furnished with comfortable quarters and the keep of two horses free, and groceries, fuel, etc., at wholesale prices.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Bald Eagle's Nest.

Among birds the home of the bald eagle is perhaps the most striking, possibly because of the majesty of the bird itself. It appeals to the imagination. Built of huge sticks loosely interwoven and situated on some lofty and inaccessible ledge, with the bones of the eagle's victims scattered roundabout it, it gives a proper setting to the stern and savage character of its builder. Here the eagle reigns supreme, and here year after year he and his mate rear their young. This is the aerie from which he can scan the whole countryside and, like the robber barons of old, levy toll on all who pass his door.

Her Lost Jewels.

Backlotz—What's this I hear about Mrs. Swellman being robbed of her jewels? Subbubs—Fact. They're gone, and Mrs. Kraft is the guilty party. Backlotz—What! You don't mean to say she stole 'em? Subbubs—What else can you call it? She offered the cook 15 shillings a week and the chambermaid 10 shillings, and now she's got 'em.—London Tit-Bits.

A Substitute.

"Pardon me, gentlemen," said the individual who had just moved into the little town as he entered the grocery store, "but is there a chicken raiser here?"

"Why don't you take an ax?" asked the village Talleyrand. "A razor will lose its edge if you use it on a chicken."

ROSENBLOOM'S CLEAN-UP SALE

You surely will regret it if you fail to take advantage of this genuine money saving opportunity on Men's and Boys' Clothing and Shoes. The values are so big that when you see the goods, buying becomes irresistible.

East Indian Monkeys.

A naturalist who has traveled in the East Indies says: "The effect on the monkeys of man's appearance is most interesting. The expression of their emotions is certainly almost human as they sit and stare at him, coughing and snarling with anger and contempt, drawing back their heads and throwing the hand before the face with a gesture of abhorrence and other movements indicative of shocked and outraged feelings. But predominant is the expression of absolute horror, which, coming from those we consider our still degraded cousins, is to our superiority very aggravating."

A Healthful Costume.

When the Fraser highlanders landed in North America in 1757, it was proposed to change the dress on account of the cold winters and hot summers. The officers successfully opposed this and were ultimately justified by the highlanders being the healthiest soldiers in the army. In the campaign in Holland in 1794 some regiments lost as many as 300 from disease, but the Black Watch, which had 300 recruits in its ranks, had only twenty-five casualties, including the killed in battle.

PLENTY PULPWOOD IN QUEBEC.

NO JUSTIFICATION FOR INCREASE OF PRICE OF PAPER ON GROUND OF SHORTAGE.

Washington, July 23.—Denial that there was a shortage of pulpwood in Quebec such as to justify an increase in the price of paper is made by United States Consul Willrich at Quebec, in an official report to the department of State. The following summary of the report was made by officials of the Department:

"The consul states that there is not likely to be a shortage in the future supply of the market in the United States because of the restrictions placed by the provincial authorities upon the exportation of pulpwood cut on crown lands. He states that despite the prohibition of exportation of pulpwood from crown lands subsequent to May 1 last, the supply on hand and which may be secured from private lands in the future, will be entirely adequate to the demand and there need be no apprehension of shortage.

"The market for pulpwood has been poor, which shows a lack in demand in part of buyers in the United States. There are hundreds of thousands of cords of pulpwood available for exportation at this time. While the percentage of pulpwood cut from Crown lands has not been large, it has been sufficient to prevent the sale at fair prices of great quantities of such wood cut on private lands. This has accumulated and in many cases has remained stacked up along railroad sidings in enormous quantities without finding a purchaser. It is estimated that a number of concerns have sought to create the impression of an impending shortage of pulpwood so as to justify an increase in the price of paper, but nothing in the situation in Quebec warrants such an assumption."

DIFFERENCE IN CROP REPORTS.

Winnipeg, July 23.—The weekly crop report of the Canadian Northern develops little, if anything, new concerning the general situation. For the first time the railway company admits that the situation throughout southern Manitoba is very serious, but this looked upon as merely paving the way to an admission that the crops are almost entirely destroyed in this part of the Province. Detailed reports from the different districts are in many cases hopeless, while in other parts, notably in northern Saskatchewan, they bear out previous reports to the effect that the crops are in excellent condition and promise a large yield.

HON. R. L. BORDEN, WHO COMMANDS HIS MAJESTY'S LOYAL OPPOSITION.

Copyright by Publishers Press, 1910.
(Fifth of the "National" Series of Articles to appear in the Record.)

When Robert Laird Borden became leader of His Majesty's Opposition, Nova Scotia lost one of its most prominent members of the legal profession. The day that the Conservative party declared him the successor of Sir Charles Tupper, it robbed that Province of one of its most learned lawyers.

He is a linguist, an historian, and an authority on constitutional questions, well acquainted with the literature of nations, and can quote in their own language the best stanzas of most of the European poets. Withal he is a Christian gentleman, to whom there is no keener delight than to address kindly words to the bairns of a Sunday school.

But to-day he is a politician, and as there is no man his equal in the Conservative party, it is certain that his followers will not allow him to think of any other calling than that of leading their great struggle to get back into power.

At a parliamentary press banquet not very long ago, after Mr. Borden had spoken of some of the literary dreams he had never found time to realize Sir Wilfrid Laurier turned to him and said: "Suppose we leave politics and devote the rest of our lives to literature?" "I will if you will," was Mr. Borden's reply. Then they both laughed, and the thought occurred to many that perhaps, after all, political leaders have had ambitions which, if they had had time to pursue them, would have won them more lasting fame than mere political leadership.

Amongst the men of affairs, or the politicians at any rate, A.J. Balfour compares most nearly with Mr. Borden. Both exhibit much the same qualities, they have similar ideals and accomplishments, and they are patriots in the highest sense of the term. But there is a difference in temperament. While the author of "The Foundations of Belief" has acquired the faculty of detaching himself from his environment and burying his whole soul in a game of golf on Scottish links, Mr. Borden cannot rid his mind completely of the worries of office. Possessed of a vigorous constitution he has yet allowed himself, on occasions, to be worried into illness. It is unquestionable that his recent indisposition was attributable partly to the strain of the last parliamentary session, during which there was some rancour. Bitter feelings were displayed, and the discomfort occasioned preyed on his supersensitive mind. As he grows older he will learn to leave dull care behind him in his office.

As a leader of one of the two great political parties in the Dominion, Mr. Borden is a national figure, of whom the people ever want to know more. What are his characteristics? What is his nature? Why doesn't he do this or that? In short what is he? These are some of the questions asked frequently by the public.

An old friend of Mr. Borden once said, after the Opposition leader had refused to take advantage of an opening to attack the Government, but which would have been entirely unscrupulous: "He is not an opportunist. Thank God for that."

That is his leading characteristic. He is honest and square, and he is dogged and determined enough to stick to any attitude he thinks is right to assume. Nothing will drive him from the right course, however unpopular it might be at the time. Alexander Mackenzie sank under the weight of trouble brought upon him by enforcing principles of rectitude. Mr. Borden's will power is fiercer and stronger. Should the people call him to power he will win over every obstacle of such a nature. No barnacles will be allowed to grow on his ship of state.

Once last winter a newspaper correspondent had a conversation with the Opposition leader concerning the conduct of one of the officials of the Government. There was an opportunity to chastise a cabinet minister. He made it plain to him, however, that the matter was really a personal one which concerned no one in particular, and added, "I will do nothing to hurt anyone, unless the public interest demands it."

To illustrate the integrity of Mr. Borden's character a story as told me by an old official of the Justice department is worth recording. While Sir John Thompson was minister of justice the Government was compelled to take action regarding an Eastern Bank which had gone into liquidation, and he telegraphed Mr. Borden desiring him to act on behalf of the Government. Early as it was in his career the young barrister had already won the reputation of being the leader of the bar in Nova Scotia. This tempting offer Mr. Borden refused on the ground that his services had already been engaged by the directors of the bank. Sir John, who had a very fiery temper, telegraphed some invective, and pointed out in measured terms that it was his duty to obey the call of his country. So censorious was the message that the young man hastened to Ottawa by the first train to explain the matter to the premier personally. He stated that in his opinion it would be dishonorable to act for the government as he had been put in possession of information by the bank directors which would not otherwise have been available. He knew their secrets. But Sir John's temper had not cooled, and he treated Mr. Borden in the most cavalier fashion, dismissing him with a wave of the hand when he firmly declined to act for the Government. However, before he left the city Mr. Borden received a message saying that Sir John Thompson wanted to see him at once. Sir John, affable and kindly, remarked that he had given some consideration to his young friend's position in this case. He wished to withdraw what he had said, and to commend him for the high sense of honor he had exhibited, and the courage he had shown. Thereafter until his death Sir John was one of Mr. Borden's warmest friends.

When he came into politics Mr. Borden brought this honorable reputation with him, and he quickly earned the respect of his political opponents. Nevertheless he is a hard hitter, and is unsparing of his condemnations of things of which he disapproves. It is noteworthy that he has only been insulted in the House by two members—one a Nova Scotian and the other a British Columbian—and it is a curious coincidence that both of them were defeated at the last general election.

It has been said that he lacks fire in his utterances. This is not the case. One hears nothing more eloquent in parliament than Mr. Borden's speechmaking when under the influence of strong indignation or making an appeal to the House to express by its legislation its love of country and empire. For example his speeches during the great naval debate are specimens of splendid rhetoric. But he does not often give way to flights of oratory. He has too judical a mind. He is one of the best lawyers in parliament, a statement which requires a little explanation. There might be better pleaders. Hon. A.A. Aylesworth is regarded by many as the best pleader in Canada, but there is the same difference between a pleader and a lawyer that there is between a politician and a statesman Mr. Borden is both a lawyer and a statesman. He argues and he legislates, and it is because of this that he is of so immense value to the party he leads. The ability to do so forms the basis of the most successful leadership.

Of course the Opposition leader has his critics. Never yet was there an Opposition leader who was not told that he did not possess the qualifications necessary to make him a premier. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had this dinned into his ears; Sir John Thompson, Sir John Macdonald, and Alexander Mackenzie had the same experience. Nothing succeeds like success, and the criticisms were forgotten in the applause which greeted their entry into office. So is it to-day with Mr. Borden, but the criticism of him is very lenient. It is said that he is not tyrannical enough in his leadership. How he could be tyrannical is difficult to understand. An Opposition leader has not the power nor the authority of a premier. He cannot discipline a refractory follower. He has not the wherewithal to do so. Oppositions will always be more or less disorganized forces. Their chief business is to criticize the Government when necessary. Their position in the House is negative rather than positive.

The truth is that Mr. Borden's kindliness of heart is sometimes mistaken for laxity. He may be kind to a fault, but if there is discovered to be a fault none can be found more unflinching than he. After all the most of the world's greatest men have had the biggest hearts.

An acute writer has told us that one of our faults as a people is that we are unfair to our public men. Just as soon as they enter public life we make it our purpose to level our political opponents with the dust. This may account for the failure of many to realize that Mr. Borden is one of the most wonderful men Canada has produced. Of whom can it be said that while yet in his 'teens he was raised to the dignity of a professorship in a college. Law claimed him, however, and he returned to Canada to qualify himself for the bar. His success was phenomenal, and his income large. Living well within his means he soon found himself the possessor of a handsome fortune. It is rarely that a member of one of the learned professions achieves wealth so soon, especially in so new a country as Canada, but genius and sheer hard work enabled him to enter parliament, a young man just turned forty and of independent means all of his own making. So determinedly did he work that for weeks at a time he did not devote more than two hours a night to sleep. The Canada Law Journal said of him at that time.

"Mr. Borden has attained his position as head of the Bar of Nova Scotia by hard, unremitting and conscientious work. To the smallest and most unimportant matter entrusted to him he gives as careful attention as he does to a matter involving large interests. He goes to a trial with every detail thoroughly prepared knowing how he must prove every fact on his own side, and keenly attack the case of his opponents. If genius be as Carlyle once defined it, the capacity for taking infinite pains, then Mr. Borden does not fall far short of being a genius. With a wide and accurate knowledge of the law, fertility of resources, and firmness of purpose Mr. Borden unites a dignified and courteous manner which wins for him the friendship as well as the confidence of his clientele. In court he is respectful to a degree to the Bench, the opposing counsel and the witnesses, and under no amount of provocation will he permit his good temper to forsake him."

He was not long in the House before he was looked upon as the debater of most account on the Conservative side, and in a few years his fellows made him their leader. No Opposition leader in Canada has received so much attention from the British press. The Morning Post remarked of him four years ago that in six years he would be premier. While it is not the intention of this article to enter into the political controversies of the day this reference serves to show the estimate in which he is held by one of the greatest newspapers in the world, although so directly opposed in politics. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has occasionally adopted his suggestions.

In his personal habits Mr. Borden is as particular as in his public life. After a gruelling day's work he smokes his pipe with angelic peace, and he enjoys it more than the more aristocratic cigar. Like the premier he practices teetotalism. In this respect the times are changing in Ottawa. There are far more total abstainers in this parliament than ever was the case before.

In closing let me refer to the sympathy that exists between him and the French-Canadian members whether of his own political persuasion or not. He understands them. In a sense he is one of themselves for his forefathers were of sturdy Norman-French origin. He himself was reared in Acadia, at Grand Pre, the land of Evangeline, where his aged mother still resides and fondly reads of the doings of her boy. Thus he can enter into their feelings and sympathize with them and their desires. From his mother's side of the house he has inherited some of the determination of the Scot.

Canada can truly be proud of its political leaders in the House of Commons.

TOWNSHIPS MOST POPULAR SUMMER RESORT; NORTH HATLEY HAS OVER 1,000 GUESTS ALREADY.

As a summer resort North Hatley is, this year, experiencing one of the most successful seasons in its history.

Among the large number of visitors now rusticating on the shores of Lake Massawippi are people from all over the United States, from Redlands, California, to Savannah, Georgia.

Comfortably located in cottages, many of which cost a small fortune, the summer months pass all too quickly.

The large seaside resorts appeal strongly to the residents of the rural districts, but to those who live in the large cities the quietness of a secluded lake is much enjoyed.

At present there are over one thousand summer visitors at this resort. Many of these own magnificent cottages and spend their holidays surrounded by all modern conveniences.

Others are dependent upon the boarding houses. In this connection it can be said that North Hatley is supplied with many first-class boarding houses, all of which are now well filled.

AMONG THE COTTAGE OWNERS.

Among the large cottages owned by Americans are the following:

The Atkinson Cottage is owned by Mr. H. M. Atkinson of Atlanta, Ga., and is perhaps the finest cottage on the lake. It is estimated that Mr. Atkinson has spent nearly $100,000 on this cottage.

Mr. R. Hurry, of New York owns the property on which the golf links are situated.

An elegant cottage on the point is owned by Mr. H. Fisher, of Redlands, California. This cottage is worth in the neighborhood of $20,000.

Farther along the lake shore are found cottages owned by the following: Mrs. C. S. Jenness, Baltimore; the Haskells, New York, three cottages valued at $15,000; F. Loeb, New York, value $10,000; Jacques Ballin, New York, value $10,000; Mrs. A. D. Cummings, Dedham, Mass., three cottages, value $8,000; J. H. Hemphill, Washington; Mrs. W. A. Ransom, Elizabeth, N.J., Mrs. F. Gosnell, Baltimore; C. H. Dresser, Hartford, Conn.; Mrs. K.L.Patterson, Washington; Mrs. Mackie, New York; C. H. Stebbins, New York; Mary L. Vale Estate; Mrs. Francis Moore, Washington; Mr. J. W. Harrison, Richmond, Va.; Miss E. A. Condit, Nutley, N.J.; D.K. Brent, Baltimore; Rev. A. C. Powell, Baltimore; Mrs. B. A. SPEND CONSIDERABLE MONEY IN HATLEY.

The residents of Hatley derive great benefit financially and otherwise from the summer visitors.

Allowing $7 per week for room and board, which is conceded to be a very conservative estimate, the summer boarders spend $7,000 each week.

When all other expenses are taken into consideration it is possible that $10,000 weekly is spent during June, July and August.

It is expected that during August 1200 visitors will be in North Hatley.

LARGE SALE OF GASOLINE.

The local gasoline dealers experience some difficulty in supplying the demand for gasoline. With nearly seventy-five motor boats and a score of automobiles, the consumption is large.

ATTRACTIONS AND AMUSEMENTS.

The days and evenings are whiled away in various ways. Hatley has not yet reached the state when "Shoot the Chutes," "Houses of Nonsense," and other similar attractions are everywhere to be found.

Boating, dancing, golf, baseball and paddling are indulged in to a large extent. An occasional game of bridge is enjoyed by the fairer sex.

DISCOVERY OF NORTH HATLEY AS A SUMMER RESORT.

As a watering place, North Hatley is not old. Twenty years ago it was little known beyond its own locality and a summer boarder was a rarity. The natural beauties of Hatley were first discovered by a foreigner, Mrs. (Dr.) Clarke, of Baltimore. The circumstances were as follows:—In 1866 she was invited to visit a friend of hers, who was boarding with Mrs. Wilbur LeBaron. She only expected to remain a few days, but was so enchanted with the place that she remained two weeks and was joined by her husband. The following year they both returned.

In 1888 Dr. Clarke returned once more and was accompanied by several of his friends. In describing the beauty of North Hatley, Dr. Clarke wrote the following: "I have travelled through Europe and Asia and have not seen so fine scenery anywhere, not even in Switzerland, as that presented at North Hatley."

The first cottage was built in 1891 by Mr. Eli LeBaron, and the next year Mr. David Jackson built the second. Then the rush began. Scores of families arrived every season and several other cottages were built and old residences remodelled until in a few years the entire appearance of North Hatley was changed.

LAKE MASSAWIPPI.

The beautiful lake, which is North Hatley's greatest attraction, bears a name of Indian origin. Massawippi, in the language of the St. Francis Indians, means "pure water," at least so tradition says, although there are those who contend that it means "still water." Others, with equal reason, maintain that the name means "deep water."

The pureness and clearness of the water in Lake Massawippi are perhaps, its most remarkable feature. This is probably due to the fact that This is probably due to the fact shore and to the great depth of the water.

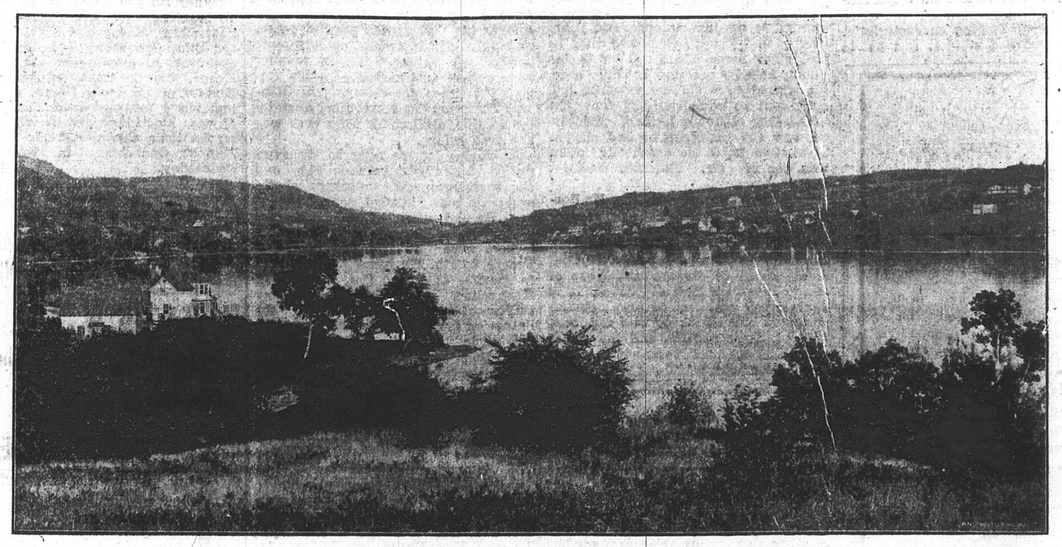

The lake occupies a deep valley between high hills which occupy either side. It is nine and one-half miles in length and its width varies from one-half to one and one-half miles.

THE PRESENT VILLAGE.

The present population of North Hatley is about 500, thus the summer boarders outnumber two to one the natives of the place.

In 1897 the people secured the erection of their village into a separate municipality, that they might better be able to make the improvements necessitated by its sudden and unsought conversion into a summer resort. Dr. Edgar was the first Mayor.

Glenn Villa Inn, a large hotel which accommodated a number of summer visitors, was burned to the ground last year. The burning of this building caused a drop off in last year's attendance. An effort has been made to form a company to rebuild the hotel but so far this has not been accomplished.

BILLIONS FOR U. S. PENSIONS.

American Union Has Already Spent $4,000,000,000.

CIVIL WAR, OF COURSE, LEADS LIST WITH $3,686,461,840.35.

Washington, July 19.—The cost of the United States wars in pensions alone has been more than $4,000,000,000. With the close of the fiscal year 1910, on June 30, figures were available showing that the four billion dollar mark has been passed during the past twelve months. The total disbursements for pensions from the beginning of the Government to June 30, 1909, is given by the pension Office as $3,913,082,513.73. The statement of the United States' Treasury issued on July 1, shows that the total disbursements for pensions during the fiscal year ended last Thursday was $160,733,839,16. These latter figures are unrevised, but when finally made up will run a fraction larger than the sum given. The amount carried in the pension appropriation bill for the fiscal year 1910 was $160,908,000 so that the amount actually disbursed runs very close to the appropriations made. This gives a grand total of $4,073,816,352,89 spent on pensions to soldiers, sailors and marines, their widows, minor children and dependent relatives.

This does not include the cost of maintenance and expenses connected with the payment of pensions. Between 1866 and June 30, 1909, the amount spent for maintenance of the system—wholly aside from the payment of pensions—was $115,705,060.82, which, added to the aggregate paid for pensions, brings the grand total cost of the pension system up to $4,189,521,413.71 to June 30, 1910.

The amount disbursed from pensions from the Revolution to June 30, 1865, was $96,445,444.23. The amount disbursed for pensions in the years since the Civil War, exclusive of the cost of administration, has been $3,977,370,908.66, and including the cost of administration $4,093,075,969.48—forty times as great during the past forty-five years as during the previous seventy-five years.

The amounts paid for pensions to soldiers, sailors and other dependents from the foundation of the Government to date may be shown as follows:

War of Revolution	$70,000,000.00
War of 1812	45,757,3 6,84
Indian wars	9,995,609.47
War with Mexico	42,292,784.07
Civil War	3,686,461,840.35
War with Spain and Philippine insurrection	26,283,805.21
Regular establishment	15,507,028.02
Unclassified	16,484,049.77
Total to June 30, 1909.	$3,913,082,513.73
Total for 1909 to July 1, 1910	160,733,839.16
Total for pensions to date	$4,073,816,352,89
Cost of administration, 1865-1909	115,705,060.82
Grand total cost of pensions and expenses of administration to date	4,189,521,413.17

The total amount spent on the pension system the first year after the Civil War was $15,857,714.88 and the cost of administration during the fiscal year 1866 was only $417,165. There were then only 126,722 pensioners on the rolls. Since that time the number of pensioners has rapidly increased, until it now hovers around the million mark, the number on the rolls on June 30, 1909, having been 946,194, of which pensions are paid to 632,557 persons on account of the Civil War. The distribution of these pensioners according to wars as given by the latest available table as follows:

Revolutionary War	1
War of 1812	395
Indian Wars	4,625
Mexican War	9,092
Civil War	888,690
Spanish War	27,095
Regulars	16,296
	946,194

The distribution of the pensioners as to survivers, widows, etc., according to the latest available figures, is as follows:

Invalid and aged survivors	638,557
Widows	298,853
Children	1,971
Mothers	7,016
Fathers	1,176
Brothers, sisters, etc	295
Helpless children	848
	946,194

These tables show that while there are 888,690 persons being pensioned on account of the Civil War that the actual number of survivors of the war on the pension list was 593,961, the rest of the Civil War pensioners being distributed among the classes of army and navy widows, children and other dependents. For the Civil War this distribution was as follows:

Survivors	593,961
Widows	285,137
Minor children	4,508
Mothers	2,996
Fathers	493
Brothers, etc	280
Helpless children	837
Army nurses	478
	888,690

The total amount paid during the fiscal year 1909 to these 888,690 Civil War pensioners was $152,868,814.40, leaving 89,101,889.37 distributed on account of other wars. The total paid to the regular establishment was $2,879,080.14, to pensioners of the Spanish-American War, $3,820,169,80 to pensioners of the Mexican War, $1,678,636.57, and to Indian War pensioners, $639,898.44.

This amount represents almost the entire customs revenue of the country in a single year. During the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1910, the aggregate amount collected from customs, the country's greatest single source of revenue, was $32,785,237.27. During the fiscal year 1909 the country's revenue from customs, under the Dingley law, was $300,711,933.95.

THE ONLOOKER COMMENTS

The G. T. R. Strike.

Now that the railway strike on the Grand Trunk is actually on, a very general confusion reigns all along the line. It is to be hoped that no unpleasant occurrences, reflecting on the striking unions may take place while the differences between the officials and men remain unsettled. A striking union does more harm than good by aggressiveness and acts of violence.

At this time of the year, when so much perishable freight passes along the railway lines, delay will mean considerable loss to the company. The public will be much inconvenienced by the limited and slow service. Rival roads will benefit, in some instances, but places dependent upon the Grand Trunk will need to exercise patience during the strike period, a period which thousands of interested individuals will hope to see terminated at an early date.

Forward or Backward?

There are some ultra-temperance folk who, while noting that here and there some progress is being made toward popularizing sobriety, still look about them discouragingly and moralize at the continued backsliding of the world in general on this matter of temperance. Once in a while one of them is inclined to dwell upon the "good" past and "bad" present and conclude that civilized peoples have been going downhill steadily for a century, and are still going.

A century ago in England! Take up your Dickens or your Thackeray, or any other writer who has endeavored to give an honest picture of that time in description or tale, and what do you find? Someone has a drink on every page, and often a round half-dozen of jovial imbibers keep it up through an entire chapter. Three times a day, and between meals, they were always drinking. Instead of saying "good day," they preferred "Have a drink?" The women sipped their wine, the men drank it by the glassful, the bottle, or more if they could stand it. The jug of brimming ale was at the right hand of nearly all honest men. They drank, and drank, and drank, until even the reader becomes intoxicated by the continual flow of good liquor. The titled, middle and lower classes, all drank heartily and continually, and thought nothing of it, while a teetotaller must have seemed to them as interesting a freak as a Tom Thumb.

In Barnaby Rudge, in which Dickens immortalized pretty, coquettish Dolly Varden, he has pictured London riots, in which the people, growing more reckless each day, destroy houses for the drink they may find, and in their last horrible outbreak hundreds of men, women and children lie down and drink the liquor as it flows through the gutters of the city, and drink till they die.

Nearer home, conditions were not so different. We are told by a creditable historian that the forefathers of these hamlets and towns of the Townships manufactured and consumed an astonishing quantity of whiskey. Their surplus of grain was converted into whiskey, and distilleries were numerous. Among the articles included in orders for supplies from Three Rivers or elsewhere, rum was an important item. They looked upon these beverages as necessities, and often as of medicinal usefulness. The following unique note, written about a century ago by Ezra Dorman, one of the first settlers in Sherbrooke, to Mr. Hyatt, of Ascot Township, shows how important a place this whiskey held in their estimation. "Dear Sir," runs the note, "I hope you or some other person will go immediately after the whiskey as my family, together with many others, will very soon be sick with the small pox and shall stand in great need of the same." The drink that cheers and inebriates was considered the panacea for all ills, mental and physical, and the cheerful companion in business and domestic life. The great William Pitt, at the age of fourteen, was taking port wine in quantities sufficient for a full grown man, and Macauley informs us that where this regimen would have killed ninety-nine boys out of a hundred, it was beneficial to William.

The progress from intemperance to temperance, and even from temperance to teetotalism, has been remarkable during the last ten or twelve decades. The middle class is temperate, and the wealthy and poor classes more inclined to drink moderately. The honored place given the jug and bottle has been relegated to public drinking houses. Drunkenness is still prevalent, but temperance is regarded as the desirable aim in all communities. Prohibition is a distant ideal, but temperance is possible, and as a principle, popular.

Still With Us,

That wild animals, more or less destructive, were numerous in the early days of settlement in this part of the province is evidenced by the persistency with which they still cling to certain haunts. Bears have been seen in several sections during the past year, becoming even friendly in their wanderings into farmyards. Beavers in numbers still inhabit unmolested reserves. Hedgehogs, porcupines, foxes still intrude upon civilization to the interest, concern or amusement of the present generation. Deer, in the hunting grounds, are numerous.

In the earlier days, when habitations in these settlements were but rude log cabins, the most dreaded of all the animals threatening the life and crops of the pioneer farmer, was the black bear. Fearless, destructive, this animal proved a formidable enemy of the human intruders upon his forest solitude, and a bounty was finally offered by the government in an effort to rid the settlements of these conscienceless bruins. The panther also caused terror by his frequent appearances. Wolves roamed in packs, a menace to both man and domestic animal. In less destructive animals the forests abounded, such as the lynx, fox, raccoon, weasel, ermine, mink, otter, wolverine, muskrat, beaver, hedgehog and deer.

Notes.

All who are desirous of the success of the Sherbrooke Exhibition will await the outcome of this year's fair with considerable interest. Whether the advanced prize lists and the advanced admission price will cause a financial balance to the advantage of this and coming annual fairs is at present a matter for conjecture. As an experiment tending toward a "greater" E. T. exhibition the innovations and improvements of this year mark a transitional period in the Association's development.

If the action of the Coaticook Council in prohibiting the posting of bills on bridges were generally followed throughout the Townships the public would soon appreciate the results. Posted bills and advertisements never add to the attractiveness of road or landscape, and their removal would cause no regret on the part of travellers. Why wooden bridges should be chosen by bill posters for particular decoration is easily understood, for no effort has been made to stop their artistic work. Yet to keep the bridges free from the "sticker" man is easy enough, if municipalities are weary of his brilliant and usually highly colored advertising literature.

The fire fiend has been unusually busy this summer, Mansonville being one of the recent victims to total up a loss of considerable thousands. Fires are like strikes and accidents, and run their course with epidemic persistency.

Nearly every international marriage of American girls with noblemen of foreign countries is merely the prelude to an inevitable divorce. Titles and gold cannot make happiness, as has been amply demonstrated to many deluded, young and independent damsels.

Adversity does not always prove instructive as a teacher of commonsense. After the fire at Campbellton there were some sufferers who refused to help in the erection of temporary shelters without a promise of high pay. Others complained of the relief sent them. There are individuals who never forget themselves or the possibility of gain, but as they are usually rewarded according to their deserts, they merely prepare their own punishment.

An Intelligent Horse.

A baker living in the west end of Dundee, Scotland, possesses a most intelligent horse. While waiting in front of his master's shop the animal is often called upon to clear the way to allow the tramway cars to pass, and this it does regularly and without the slightest assistance. On hearing the clanging of the car bell the horse immediately crosses over to the other side of the street and allows the car to pass; then, looking around, as much as to say, "All clear!" it again takes up its original position.—Wide World Magazine.

An Ancient French Custom.

Anciently in many parts of France when a sale of land took place it was the custom to have twelve adult witnesses accompanied by twelve little boys, and when the price of the land was paid and its surrender took place the ears of the boys were pulled and they were beaten severely so that the pain thus inflicted should make an impression upon their memory and, if required afterward, they might bear witness to the sale.

"HEAVEN AND EARTH SHALL PASS AWAY; BUT MY WORDS SHALL NOT PASS AWAY."

A Sermon, St. Mark XIII—31, by Rev. G. Osborne Troop, Montreal

As one crosses the threshold of the British and Foreign Bible Society's House in London the eye is immediately arrested by a conspicuous scroll bearing the striking words of my text: "Heaven and earth shall pass away; but My words shall not pass awayaway." Surely this utterance of our Lord Jesus Christ is one of the most majestic that has ever fallen upon human years. The words are few and simple, but pregnant with eternal issues. They are clear, definite and uncompromising. They set before us in solemn grandeur the contrast between the seen and the unseen, the material and the spiritual.

Let the Astronomer describe to us the heavens, and the Geologist open to us the wonders of the earth. Let this Twentieth Century point to man's triumphs over earth and sea and sky, to the victories won by means of steam and electricity, to the marvels of engineering, to the unbounded material progress on every side, to the buying and selling, to the planting and building which seem to proclaim the eternal permanence of things that are not seen. Yet there stands the ever-living Christ singing out the death-knell of all this material greatness and glory. —"Heaven and earth shall pass away." Do we believe this sentence to be true?

It should not be thought incredible, when we remember that man himself, so infinitely greater than all the works he called into being, beyobd all question passes away. The fact of death, inexplicable to science, confronts us everywhere with pallid face. If man cannot abide, neither can his material works endure for ever.

And after all—did it ever strike you?—man himself is an unseen worker. No man has ever seen himself or any other man. That which hears and sees and speaks and plans is all the time invisible. Man lives in and uses his body and its marvellous powers, but he himself remains unseen. When death comes the complicated and delicate human machine is left powerless in the dust, while the mysterious being who used it is still sought for in vain. Truly we must. Whether we will or no.

"Walk by faith and nothysight." What an unspeakable comfort for believers that we have in Christ a native of both spheres, belonging alike to the seen and to the unseen. All Divine and human problems meet and are solved in Him. He understands not only heaven and earth but also all the mysteries that lie in the eternity behind them. "In Him are hidden all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge," just because He is God's Son Incarnate.

II

It had been a dark sentence indeed had Christ stopped with the decree: "Heaven and earth shall pass away" How can we thank Him enough for the immediately added assurance "Buy My words shall not pass away!"

Here He declares that His Words shall survive every material Catastrophe. Does the anxious doubter remind us that nearly two thousand years have passed since Christ pronounced their doom, and yet the heaven and earth are still unshaken and appear imperishable? We reply that this is true. Heaven and earth are still with us, but so are the words of Christ. The two opposing sides of Christ's great utterance are still running an even race. Across the centuries they have come pari passu—with equal foot. All the odds were against the very possibility of Christ's words remaining even until now. They were spoken in the face of a hostile world sunk in the grossest materialism. Yet His Words have endured in spite of every effort to overthrow them, and have brought millions into peace with God through the Blood of His Cross. Their continuance unto this day is an earnest of their eternal survival. Christ's words are enshrined in the Bible, which by many is looked upon as effete, obsolete, exploded. Yet the British and Foreign Bible Society alone circulated six million six hundred thousand copies (in whole or in part) of the Word of God during the past year. These copies of the Scriptures were printed in hundreds of different languages and dialects and scattered throughout the world. The demand for Christ and His Words was never greater than it is to-day. We ought never to forget that we receive the Bible at the Hands of Christ with His Divine imprimatur. The Old Testament was His Bible in the days of His Flesh. He used it, quoted constantly from it, and appealed to it as the word of God, and so set His seal upon it for ever. The New Testament also comes to us with His authority, for His Commission stands behind the writers. Christ attaches unspeakable solemnity to His own words as specially recorded in the New Testament. He says "If any man hear My sayings, and keep them not, I judge him not; for I came not to judge the world but to save the world. He that rejected Me, and receiveth not My sayings, hath one that judgeth him: the word that I spoke, the same shall judge him in the last day. For I spoke not for Myself; but the Father which sent Me, He hath given Me a commandment, what I should say and what I should speak. And I know that His Commandment is life eternal: the things, therefore which I speak, even as the Father hath said unto Me, so I speak." (St. John XII—47—50.)

What majesty must dwell in Him who in the face of His own coming cross and passion, could declare not only that He Himself should rise from the dead, but that we too should live on after death and meet His words in judgment on the last day! Let us not dismiss these reflections lightly. How much wiser to lay hold on His promise.—"If a man love Me, he will keep My word: and My Father will love him, and We will come unto Him, and make our abode with Him." (St. John XIV—22.)

"Low at His Cross I view the day
When heaven and earth shall pass away,
And thus prepare to meet Him."

Furthermore we shall not be left homeless for "According to His promise, we look for new heavens and a new earth wherein dwelleth righteousness." (2 Peter III —13.)

And best of all, the believer is also supreme over every catastrophe, for it is written:

"The world passeth away and the lust thereof; but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever." (1 St. John II—17.)

FOOTPRINTS OF GLACIERS.

They Present a Serious Problem For Future Generations.

The site of New York city was once buried under hundreds, possibly thousands, of feet of ice. Ample proof of this is found in many places on Manhattan Island, the most tangible being the "footprints" of glaciers. Examine the surface of the rocks in Central or Riverside park and you will find numerous peculiar marks.

These peculiar marks, called by geologists "striae," are the "footprints" of glaciers. They were produced by the grinding of pebbles upon the rock surfaces under the glaciers as the latter moved to the sea.

How long ago it was that glaciers flowed over Manhattan Island is a matter of uncertainty. The period has been variously estimated at from 5,000 to 50,000 years. The present trend of opinion is in favor of the smaller estimate. But, knowing as we do that the site of New York city was glaciated at a time remote or comparatively recent, the portentous question arises, Are the glaciers likely to descend on it again? No human means could arrest their irresistible advance. Palatial homes, towering skyscrapers, East river bridges, all the magnificent monuments of human achievement, would be ground into atoms and swept into the ocean.

Striae, or "footprints" of glaciers, are found from the highest northern and southern latitudes to the equator. Was the entire surface of the earth at one time covered with ice? Some geologists have taken that view, but the evidence does not warrant it.

That the earth has changed its axis from time to time and is still changing it is a fact well known to astronomers. It is conceivable, therefore, that in the course of ages, before the earth's crust assumed its present formation, the poles may once have been on the present equatorial line and the equatorial line where the poles now stand. By oscillation of the globe and consequent interchanging of polar and equatorial lines every part of the earth's surface must have been successively glaciated. Such a general lateral movement of the earth furnishes a reasonable explanation of the glacial "footprints" everywhere found.

The north is undoubtedly growing warmer. Some 500 years ago Alaska was still covered with glacial ice. Five hundred years from now there will scarcely be a glacier to be found there except in the highest mountains. "The next generation will find few of them with their fronts still in the sea," says Henry Gannett in Dellenbaugh's "North America of Yesterday." The present trend on the earth's axis is to push the north pole farther north. But the question is, How long will this movement continue in the present direction? It may continue until Greenland shall come again to have a temperate climate, or it may be reversed in the near future to bring the ice back to the destruction of great cities. This is a problem for posterity. The present generation need not lose any sleep over it. But some future generation may find itself confronting a serious condition.—William E. Simmons in New York World.

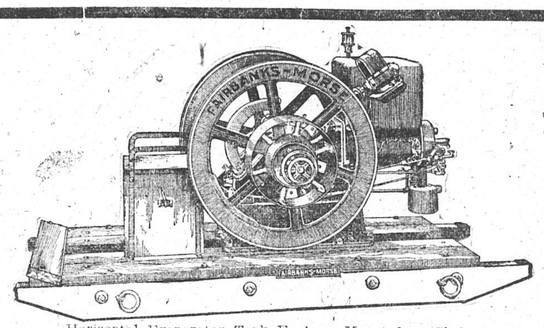

What Good Is Father?

Father has always been the "goat." It was always father who held the family from the achievement of its social ambitions. It was father who made blunders that put the family to shame. Father never would take to the new fashioned ideas. He was against the domination by the younger generation, against suffrage, against women's clubs, against the teaching of French to the children—in a word, a natural reactionary. It was but natural, therefore, that father should become generally known as a back number, useful only in bringing home money and writing checks.—Washington Post.

FOUNDATIONS OF NATIONAL GLORY

Are Set in the Homes of the People, Says King George.

KING DELIGHTS THE ENGLISH, WHO REVISE THEIR VIEWS REGARDING HIM.

London, July 19.—Those persons who declared when King George V. ascended the throne that he would prove himself a man of distinct ability and force, an earnest thinker and a keen student of social questions, have very soon been shown to have prophesied truly. It is already apparent that many ideas which were vaguely entertained regarding the King when he was Prince of Wales by a section of the British public were utterly mistaken. How these ideas originated, it is hard to tell, the only plausible explanation being His Majesty's rather reserved manner in public, and the fact that, as heir to the throne, he was not nearly so prominent a personage as had been his father in the same position.

Now, however, the British people are realizing, and realizing with delight, that an able, perhaps even a brilliant monarch, is at the head of the Kingdom and the empire. In the busy and troublesome days between King Edward's death on May 6 and his funeral on May 20, there were a number of indications that the new King was a good organizer, a very hard worker, and possessed of a strong will.

And recently the King, in reply to an address of condolence on the death of his father and congratulation on his own accession to the throne, delivered a short speech which has already created a sensation and which is likely to be quoted for many years to come.

The occasion was the third Accession Court, held in St. James's Palace for the reception of addresses from various bodies. To the address from the convocation of Canterbury His Majesty made a happy and graceful reply—it is already known that he writes even certain items in the Court Circular himself, which explains the improved England in that publication recently. But it was the reply to the address from the Convocation of the Northern Province, presented by the Archbishop of York and other prelates, that has created the greatest interest. The King said:

"I thank Your Grace most heartily for the loyal and dutiful address of the Convocation of the Northern Province. I am grateful to you in my sorrow for the expression of your profound sympathy and for the honor and affection with which you regard the memory of my beloved father.

"The message of good will and good cheer which King Edward spoke to you but a few months ago was the last public utterance of his life. I adopt his words on that occasion as my own, and you may count on my aid and fervent sympathy in all your beneficent labors.

"The foundations of national glory are set in the homes of the people. They will only remain unshaken while the family life of our race and nation is strong, simple and pure.

"Amid the multiplying complexities of modern social conditions, in the hurry of the age, and with the overgrowing needs of millions for moral guidance and spiritual consolation, the work of the Church, both religious and charitable, assumes each year a deeper practical significance.

"That the Church may prosper in her sacred mission, that her teaching may become even more profoundly interwoven with the real lives and thoughts of the people, and that in enlightened unity with all other Christian effort she may sustain and uplift the hearts of men, will always be my prayer."

Replies were made by His Majesty to other addresses, each worded in the most graceful manner, each showing the King to be a master of English. But the reply to the address from the York Convocation strikes a deeper note—a note in tune with much that is now being written and spoken in this country. The Daily Express says in an editorial article headed "Hearth and Home:"

"King George exemplified in all his speeches that genius for revealing truth in a striking phrase which made him famous as Prince of Wales.

* * * It is a fine sermon in a commendably brief form. It recalls the nation to the old ideals and the old allegiance. It reminds us of the only true basis of our national life. No more kindly words could be spoken than these, which exalt the sanctity and the power of the home and the family. It is by the importance which Englishmen have always attached to these domestic ties that national and imperial greatness have been won.

"On these foundations, as the King says, they rest. School, college, work and the world—these train and occupy men. The home consolidates and inspires all their efforts. In our domesticity we have differed from other nations. The sanctity of the home has been with us a religious faith, and it has won for us the qualities and opportunities that should be most dearly prized. It is the idea of the family which unites the empire, and it is love of the home which has secured England from the convulsions which have brought disaster on other lands.

"King George shows himself true Englishman and true king in his passionate devotion to home and family. The words that he has spoken are notable and true."

It is said that when King George was Prince of Wales he liked nothing better than to spend an evening at home, sitting, reading aloud at one side of the fireplace, while at the other side his wife knitted stockings and listened to him. This quiet domesticity will now, to a large extent, be impossible for him, but the ideals that are his remain.

JAPAN WOULD RULE THE EAST.

This is Said to be Her Great Ambition.

FEELS HERSELF ENTITLED TO RULE THE DESTINIES OF HER PART OF THE WORLD.

Tokio, June 19.—To any one familiar with the present trend of thought in Japan there is no doubt that the Empire aims at the commercial and political supremacy of the Far East. Japan cannot, of course, be blamed for cherishing so vast an ambition. The only question is whether she can effectively achieve it without menace to the interests of other nations. The danger is that she may identify her right to entertain the ambition with the right to attain it, without reference to the result on others.

There is no doubt that the Japanese feel themselves both by right and qualification entitled to rule the destinies of East Asia; and with this there may naturally go the conviction that if this should be at the expense of others, well, it is only what they must expect. What right have other nations to insist on a share of the Far East, any way? The average Japanese feels that the Western Powers have no right to interfere in Far Eastern affairs than Japan has to meddle in the affairs of Europe or America.

It is easy to see that the logical conclusion of such an attitude is divergence of opinion from Occidental policy. It is, in fact, an attitude potential of endless difficulty. Will Western nations be willing to concede to Japan the same position in the Far East that America holds on the North American continent? For it must not be forgotten the feeling in Japan is somewhat on a line with the Monroe Doctrine, only Japan has not yet done more than proclaim herself a first-class power, and on a par with any other of the great powers.

It is apparent that Japan's supremacy in the Far East could not well be achieved and made permanent without the sympathy, and perhaps the practical assistance of the races of the Orient. How far she could rely on this is an important question; but she herself probably has not much doubt. I have heard Japanese say that once the millions of China were aroused in alliance with Japan for purposes of defence they could not be defeated. China's present sympathy with Occidental powers is regarded as no more than an attempt to play them over against Japan; but once these powers show themselves against China she would not hesitate to go into league with Japan to rid the Orient of white domination.

WHERE THE TROUT LURKS.

THE BEST FEEDING PLACES—OPEN, LEVEL REACHES AS AGAINST DEEP POOLS.

(From the London Times.)

The more open and level reaches of a hill stream are generally fuller of fish than the deeper and more imposing pools. Trout cannot feed on naked rock; and if we scan the depths of one of the dark, pellucid basins under the foam that sprays outward from the cascade we see that it is bare even of such scanty mosses as clothe gray boulders on the hill. Such pools have no mud, no weeds and only a few ounces of stray gravel, and they have therefore no hatches of water fly, which need some such shelter for their imperfect stages.

Their stony banks also hold little in the way of grass and water plants which nurtured a good many insects on the more level shores. Yet although there may be few trout of more than four or five ounces in the more even reaches the big pools often hold a fish or two of half to three quarters of a pound. Nor do they show as a rule the large head, strong jaws and lank black body which mark cannibal trout; cannibals are generally found lurking in some small but snug recess in the more open and pebbly water or in some other spot where smaller fish can be seized as they pass by.

The conditions of life in the deeper pools tend both to bring the fish that occupy them to a large size for such a stream and also to prevent them from feeding on their own kind. The whole of the clear bare pool is the sphere of influence of one single fish, and while he has so few young friends about him that he has little opportunity for becoming an ogre he commands the whole supply of worm or insect food that falls into his pool or is carried past him by the current.

Though the trout run small on such hill streams they fight with the dash of their own cataracts. The landing of even a quarter pounder can be full of adventure if it shoots down a series of terraced pools or leaps, like a grasshopper among the foam filled crevices of the waterfall.

As soon as the true spring weather comes with warm rain, bursting sycamore buds and duns fluttering above the water in a very few days they gain new fat and pluck and push out from the banks and up from the deep black pools to the edge of the stronger runs. Dry summer weather will compel them once again to lie each in some hole at the bottom of the shrinking stream much as spring's heavy currents forced them into the hollows under the bank, but in late May and June with the weather in proper trim there should be good water in all the stream and a good fish in every part of the water.

WILL BUILD RACING MACHINES.

The Wrights to Construct 80-Mile-an-Hour Biplanes.

CURTISS AND HAMILTON WILL, ALSO, BUILD FOR SPEED.

After having refused for several years to change the speed or the gear reduction of their motors and propellers or to make any alterations in the size of their biplanes, Wilbur and Orville Wright have decided to construct a machine designed to maintain a speed of from seventy to eighty miles an hour for at least three hours. Work on this new racer is progressing now at the Wright factory in Dayton, O., and the machine should be ready for its first tryout by the middle of August.

Glenn H. Curtiss also intends to build a special racing machine for the elimination trials to select a team of three American defenders of the international speed trophy. It is believed that the new power plant of this new biplane will be an 8 cylinder 100 horse-power engine, built along the lines which mark the present Curtiss motor. Two planes, 30 feet long and five feet wide, will be the probable platform of this power plant, with an extremely light chasses.

Another aeronaut who intends to produce a high-powered racing machine to contest for the international speed prize is Chas. K. Hamilton. He now is having built the highest powered motor, and the lightest per h.p. that thus far has been designed for aeroplane work. Two chasses will be constructed for this engine, one for speed work, pure and simple, the other larger and more stable, with greater lifting power, so that a large supply of gasoline, lubricating oil, and water may be carried for endurance contests and cross-country races particularly for New York-Chicago intercity race for a purse of $25,000.

"TOO RISKY FOR THE MISSUS"

SPYING ON BULL MOOSE WITH LIGHTS AT NIGHT NO WORK FOR WOMEN.

(From the New York Sun)

We were hunting with flashlight and camera on the calm waters of a far away lake in the woods of northern New Brunswick. It was nearly midnight, and we were stealing quietly along in our canoe when our guide suddenly whispered:

"You take the missus out of this canoe and I'll paddle you up to that bull moose so you can rub his nose if you want to. I am not a mite scared, and I don't want you to think I am, only I have had one experience with a woman in my canoe night hunting this summer and I don't want another."

Charlie was considerably vexed, for I had intimated that he was afraid. Again and again I had urged him to paddle up to within twenty feet of a certain bull moose that had been standing knee deep in the water. His huge head and antlers were nearly submerged for a greater part of the time as he searched for the tender stems of the white water crowfoot, an aquatic plant that grows in abundance on the muddy bottoms of these Northern ponds.

I had taken his picture three times, and on each occasion, in spite of my directions to put the canoe nearer, Charlie had stopped fully fifty feet away—too far off, I feared, to get anything but a very small picture with my five inch lens.

"You see," Charlie went on to explain, "Adam and I had a gentleman and two ladies out in a canoe one night not long ago. They wanted to see what the moose were doing after dark. We put the canoe close up to a big bull that was standing in the shoal water at the narrows. Adam was paddling and I had the jack. We looked the fellow over for a few minutes, then started for the inlet. It is a pretty narrow place up there, and we had to pass within ten feet of him. He was standing side to, and was looking into the bushes.

"Just as we came abreast of him someone whispered: 'Throw the light on him! Let us see what he looks like sideways.' We never had time to find out, for when the light struck him he turned like a flash, and jumped clean over the canoe, hitting the gentleman on the shoulder, and the next thing we knew we were all floundering about in the lake. It was a lucky thing that the water was not very deep. Or somebody might have been drowned. No one was badly hurt, but the sportsman was pretty lame for a few days.

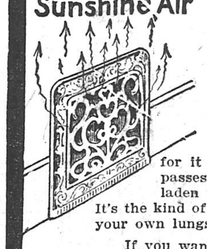

"And now," said Charlie, in conclusion, "do you want anything like that to happen to the missus?"

We were quite willing now to let the guide have his own way, and to view the animals from a respectful distance. Later experience, however, taught us that by taking proper precautions with the jack light one can without danger approach to within a few feet of a moose."

It's easy to grow plants in a Sunshine-heated home

PEOPLE living in homes heated with ordinary furnaces often claim they cannot grow plants with any degree of success. This is due to the fact that ordinary furnaces are not provided with an Automatic Gas Damper. There is nothing to prevent coal-gas, which is deadly to plant life, being forced up through the registers.

Now, when the gas in the combustion chamber of the Sunshine reaches a certain pressure it sways open the Automatic Gas Damper and passes up the chimney, consequently there is no chance for it to escape through the registers. Instead, the air that passes through the registers is pure, warm, Sunshine air, laden with the proper degree of moisture from the water-pan. It's the kind of air that makes plants thrive and is good to breath into your own lungs.

If you want to guard your home (and who doesn't?) against evil-smelling, deadly coal gas order our agent to install the Sunshine furnace (guaranteed) in your cellar.

GRAND TRUNK WILL HELP THE NEW HAVEN.

(From the Providence Journal)

Probably if the new road were only of minor importance the New Haven would have been permitted to build it; but the extension of the Grand Trunk to Narragansett Bay has more than local significance; it means that southeastern New England will be placed on the direct line through Quebec, Ontaria, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, a vast territory which offers unbounded possibilities in new markets for New England products during the coming twenty-five years. Thus from a broad point of view it is fortunate that Mr. Mellen's counter plan was not accepted. And, since the Grand Trunk is certain to bring Canadian products here for distribution, the New Haven will be called upon to help distribute them and thus will gain traffic enough to offset that which it will lose between Providence and Palmer.

That the Grand Trunk will inaugurate rate wars is not anticipated. Like the New Haven, it cannot afford to do business at cost or less than cost. The new road, however, may be a factor in improvement of service, for it is reasonable to assume that with a competitor in the heart of its field the New Haven will see the advisability of providing the best facilities for the prompt handling of freight. Rhode Island in any event can lose nothing by the coming of the Grand Trunk, and thousands of citizens will be disappointed if "the Canadian invasion" fails to bring about betterment of transportation conditions. But it may be assumed that men like Mr. Charles M. Hays will see that Rhode Island has no reason for regretting the charter voted to the Southern New England.

HECLA FURNACE

And Its FOUR Big Features

The "Hecla" has four exclusive features that have brought it steadily to the front as the perfect warm air furnace.

These improvements are so vital—they mean so much in comfort and health and economy—that every man who is going to put in a furnace this year, should study them in detail.

Fused Joints

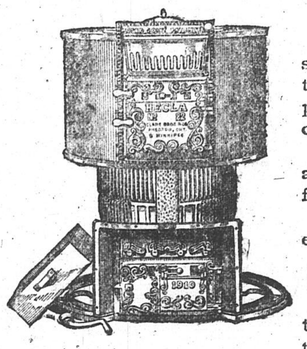

are the only permanent joints between castiron and steel. By means of these joints, we prevent gas and smoke from getting in the Air-chamber and from there into the house.

Fused Joints are absolutely and permanently tight, and insure the warm air being fresh, pure and untainted by gas, smoke and dust.

Steel Ribbed Firepot

has three times the radiating surface of any other.

It never becomes red-hot—will not burn out—and will save ⅓ of your coal bill by actual test.

Individual Grate Bars

Each bar can be shaken separately. Fire can be cleaned thoroughly without using a poker or shaking down good coal or live fire.

No clinkers to clog the grate as is the case when bars are fastened together.

Of course, one bar is much easier to shake than four.

Castiron Combustion Chamber

We found out, by careful tests, that steel would not stand the intense heat of the furnace fire. So we perfected the Castiron Combustion Chamber, which has proved its wonderful strength, service and durability.

Our little book "Hecla Heated Homes" tells you a lot of things you ought to know about a furnace, besides the exclusive features mentioned above. Let us send you a copy. It's free. Write.

Send us rough plan of your house—and we will submit estimate of the cost of installing the proper size "Hecla" in your home. (100

UP-TO-DATE POINTERS REGARDING FASHIONS.

BORDERED FLOCK OF BLUE.

A beautiful and seasonable robe frock of pale blue net and blue chiffon, with border in Persian colors, appears above. The bodice with its kimono shoulders was of the chiffon upon which the Persian border design appears. Around the shoulders and down the outside of the sleeve is a band of the net, tucked, and bordered with blue velvet baby ribbon. The girdle is of a wider piece of this ribbon. The collar or yoke is of lace, the upper portion of the skirt is of net tucked around the hips to a depth of about ten inches; the lower part, set on in scallops, marked by the baby ribbon, is of the bordered chiffon.

BRODERIE ANGLAISE HAT.

If one wants to be really up-to-date and at the same time to possess something dainty and bewitchingly beautiful, one should surely purchase at once a broderie Anglaise hat. The charm of this newest of Parisian fads is beyond description. As in the instance of the one above, they are of leghorn—wide of brim and comparatively small as to crown. The crown and brim of the hat above were covered with delicate rose-colored stuff, buttonholed in white. The huge wire-stiffened wings were of this embroidery, bound with pink satin ribbon. And the touch which proves, beyond doubt, this hat's Parisian origin is the lining of dark blue chiffon under the brim.

SILK SUIT.

The suit shown above is of olive green silk, with hairline of white—a very sensible fashion which is superseding the cloth and serge suits as summer advances. The coat is a long semi-fitting model with collar of the plain green silk and fastens below the waist with two straps and buckles of same. The side body of the coat is brought over the front in two scallops piped with green and trimmed with silk covered buttons. The skirt repeats the lines of the coat, and is untrimmed. On the cuff is a plain band of the green silk corresponding to the straps on the front.

LINGERIE GOWN.

The sketch accompanying this shows a dainty creation composed of wide lace edging, lace insertion and tucked net. The bodice has two lengths of the edging on either side of a vest of insertion, lace and tucks, and a motif on the shoulders of the insertion and net. The frock is semi-princess, bodice and skirt being joined by two lengths of insertion with tucks between. The skirt has a center panel of tucks, and flounces composed of the net, lace and entredeux. A wide leghorn hat, with twist of pale pink mousseline and white plume is worn with this.

TRAVELLING COAT.

A very serviceable hat and long coat for travelling or motor wear is hown in this illustration. The long semi-fitted coat is of green serge, the ood lined with checked blue silk. The front closes diagonally with revers and is fastened by a single large button below the waist line. The sleeves are large with wide cuffs, trimmed with small buttons and loops set close together, and this trimming is also used on the hood and front of revers. The toque worn with this is of course, straw, the sole trimming being numerous loops of stifly wired green taffeta ribbon, set on the left side.

CHILD'S FROCK OF WHITE PIQUE

Another little Russian frock of pique, with hand-embroidery for decoration, is given to-day; in this instance for a lassie of 6. The stifly pleated little gown is gathered into a belt of the material, which is embroidered and buckled with a buckle of the pique. There is a shaped bertha of the material, daintily embroidered, as are the cuffs and front pleats. A dainty lingerie guimpe of lace and tucks shows at the neck. This frock is worn with a hat of white straw, lined with pale blue chiffon, and trimmed with a wreath of daisies and leaves.

Letters to the Editor

THE KING DRAG AND GOOD ROADS.

Editor of the Record,

Dear Sir:—Extra heavy work has prevented me from replying to the courteous letter of your correspondent, Mr. J. S. Marlin, in your issue of the 25th June. He misses the point of my letter which was not intended as a criticism of his road, but as a comparison between roads which had been kept good and smooth by the "King Drag" and those which had not. His letter, in so far as it refers to this question, confirms my contention that the "King Drag" roads are superior to those not so treated. My letter referred to the direct road from Cookshire to Lennoxville through Birchton and Sand Hill right through almost to Lennoxville. I was over the road on the 6th of June and he says the repairs were only commenced on the 8th.

Since writing you previously, I have received from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the Farmers' Bulletin No 321, which explains the "King Drag, and, as it can be obtained from the Department for 5 cents and contains some very valuable pointers, I would suggest to Mr. Marlin and others the advisability of getting it.

Further confirmation of the usefulness of this Drag is the item from your Dunham correspondence in last Friday's paper.

An interesting feature of the "King Drag" is the very small cost of keeping the roads in good condition. The above-mentioned Bulletin gives some figures comparing the cost of different roads. The cost of keeping ordinary country roads in order, without a drag, was from $31 to $52 per mile, averaging $42.50 per mile. Where the drag was used the cost varied from $1.50 to $6.00 per mile. In one case where 5½ miles were treated, the cost per mile was less than $3. In another case of 28 miles the average cost for twelve months was $2.40 per mile and the roads were reported to be "like a race track" the greater portion of the year. Another 5 mile tract was operated by the farmers employing one of their number to do all the work at the rate of $3.00 per day, and the net cost at the end of the year was $1.66 per mile. This was on a tough clay road.

Now while I am advocating the use of the "King Drag" for the present time, I do not recede from the position I took on the 18th of April, when I advocated the making of a strong, permanent road by the use of a road machine, stone breaker or heavy roller. The latter plan is, at first, most expensive and would take longer time to bring about results but would eventually give us roads less costly to keep in order, less wearable, and vastly easier to travel. Both plans could be put in operation at once—the slower process being supplemented by the simple and quick "King Drag."

Yours truly,

THOS J. PARKES.

"I FEEL IT MY DUTY

To Give You a Statement In Regard To 'Fruit-a-tives'"

HARDWICKE, MIRAMICHI, N.B., Jan. 17th, 1910.

"I feel it my duty to give to you and the world an unsolicited statement in respect to the wonderful cure I received by taking 'Fruit-a-tives.' Chronic Constipation was the complaint I suffered with for years. My general health was miserable as a result of this disease, and I became depressed and alarmed. I was treated by physicians without the slightest permanent benefit, and I tried all kinds of pills and tablets but nothing did me any good.

I saw the strong testimonial in favor of 'Fruit-a-tives' by New Brunswick's 'Grand Old Man', the Hon. John Costigan, and I knew that anything he stated was honest and true and given only to help his fellow-men. I tried 'Fruit-a-tives' and the effects were most marvellous, and now I am entirely well from all my Chronic Constipation that I suffered from for so many years. My general health is once more excellent and I cannot say too much to express my thanks for the great benefits derived from taking 'Fruit-a-tives.'"

A. G. WILLISTON.

"Fruit-a-tives" is not gotten up by druggists or expert chemists—who know nothing about disease and the needs of the human body—but is the scientific discovery of a well known physician, and is the only medicine in the world made of fruit juices.

A DOUBLE VERMONT UNION.

CONGREGATIONAL AND METHODIST CHURCHES WORKING TOGETHER IN HARMONY.

(Lillian Whiting of Westfield, Vt., in The Congregationalist.)

Westfield, Vt., was largely settled by two families of large size in the early nineteenth century and as was natural in sparsely settled communities, they intermarried and to this day the church-going people are largely connections. On April 15th, 1818, Rev. Levi Parsons, a young missionary preparing for foreign work uncle of Hon. Levi P. Morton, organized the Congregational Church there. The parish soon more than doubled and a few years later a church was built. In 1831 a Methodist Church was organized but no edifice erected until 1869, the two societies alternately occupying for Sunday preaching service the Congregational Church, the same people attending, and holding union social services and always a friendly feeling prevailed between the two. In December, 1907, the Methodists had as supply Rev. Fred Williams, a student, and the Congregational Church was without a regular preacher. The following month it was decided to unite the two churches until Conference met in April. The Methodists owing to deaths and removals, were few in number, and they came into the new Congregational Church which was in good working order in all its departments.

At the same time Troy had two churches that for many years had been yoked with the Westfield two, and they also united under the same conditions; at Troy the Methodists were the stronger and far more active, and services were held in each church alternately. At Troy each church assumed half the town's share of the minister's salary, at Westfield it was raised jointly. Later Rev. J. E. Bowman was called and began work in June, 1909. To date there has been no word of dissatisfaction on either side. No articles of agreement or paper of any sort has ever been mentioned. The district superintendent, Dr. F. W. Lewis, held communion once and was requested to use the Methodist form; at other communions he has assisted the Congregational pastor and occupied the pulpit. The only great drawback to such a union is that one pastor to four churches is unable to do the desired amount of parish work.

Over ninety-two years ago the Congregational Church was formed and, though never very large, has sent out many strong and useful men and women. If without a pastor for a few months, the plant has always been in good working order, services have been held, and social events maintained. The Christian Endeavor Society in its twenty-one years' existence has omitted but one regular service. A new commodious and artistic edifice was dedicated free of debt Jan. 1st, 1907.

STRANGE CATCH BY MAINE FISHERS.

(Portland Press)

It is about as near a sea serpent as anything that has ever been brought into Portland. Some of the fishermen have called it a king herring, whatever that is, and some have called it a king smelt. It was caught by Howard Winock, a member of the schooner "Selma's" crew. Looking at the fish from all sides and top and bottom, it is very evident he is a rare specimen. It is as attenuated as an eel, for from nose to tail fin it measures about four feet and is no thicker than a man's wrist. A sharp pointed wide dorsal fin runs along the back, and the whole body is about the color of a smelt. Then there are some wicked looking jaws, with big sharp teeth, opening about four inches when stretched to their utmost. The fish looks as if he might be capable of great speed through the water as well as capable of great destructiveness.

Kellogg's

TOASTED CORN FLAKES

Sweet as a nut—with a better flavor. Makes blood and bone. Treats your stomach gently and puts go in your meal. Eat the fireless breakfast dish tomorrow and know real quality.
