

QUESTION OF TIME

Waiting Patiently for the Premier to Hand in his Resignation.

Mr. Abbott is Premier in Name Only and Yesterday Demonstrated that Fact to Those who Wished to Talk Business with him—Cabinet Ministers Coming to Mon-

[Special to The Herald.]

Ottawa, Sept. 9.—To-day was even livelier than yesterday in departmental and political circles. The presence of part of the day in his office at the Privy Council department, added new life to the numerous rumors that have filled the political atmosphere at the capital for now more than a week past. None of the ministers evidently knew that the Premier was coming to the city, and it is likely that he will leave without informing any of them particularly. There is nothing peculiar in this. It is merely his manner. He is

Telegrams are coming from all parts of the Dominion to parties here asking when they can see the Premier on important matters. Queried if no one else will do, the reply is flashed back that it must be Abbott. The Herald correspondent has been shown a score of such telegrams within the past week, and one who has the slightest pretence to a knowledge of public affairs, can well understand that this cannot last, nor, as far as can be learned, is there any idea that it should continue. So satisfied is everybody that Sir John Abbott is ready to resign once preliminaries are arranged, that the matter ceases now to create any excitement. It produces only a little anxiety on the part of public men, whose business is delayed, and arouses a little curiosity in all as to the exact date of his retirement, the day on which Sir John Thompson will be called on to form a government, and as to whether or not upon Sir John the elder and the calling upon Sir John the younger are looked upon as matters of certainty, but beyond that no one can guess with any degree of surety.

afternoon, Mr. Chapleau and Mr. Ouimet having arrived from Montreal with the exception of Mr. Bowell, who is somewhere between here and the Pacific coast. Mr. Carling, along with Mr. Lowe, however, left for Montreal.

this afternoon on quarantine business and Sir Adolphe Caron told The Herald that he was going to-morrow morning. During the day the most of the ministers called on their chief, and Sir John Thompson spent about an hour with him in his office at noon. The Premier saw Mr. Morgan, of Sorel, for a minute, and one or two others, but he was not at home to anyone, and those whom he did meet did not endeavor to do any business with him. More than one Minister of the Crown denied to The Herald that Abbott had resigned, but would not say as to whether he intended doing so or not. This is ominous, and bears on the face of it that the public will not have long to wait.

Mr. Patterson, Secretary of State along with Messrs. Foster, Tupper and Dewdney, made an inspection of the Printing Bureau to-day. Instead of the machinery ceasing to revolve at noon it was kept running until o'clock, so that the ministers might have an opportunity of seeing everything in running order. They expressed themselves as well pleased with what they saw. The bureau, under its new management, is doing better work.

E. L. Jarvis, private secretary to Mr. Patterson, Secretary of State, will be married shortly to Miss Ethel Meredith, of Rosedale, Toronto. The young lady's father occupied a prominent po-

The Indian Department says that a despatch from Winnipeg, which appeared in yesterday's Gazette, stating that the Indians on Touchwood reserve were killing the cattle of the settlers for food, and that the settlers were afraid to prosecute them, because they feared the Indians, is wholly untrue. These Indians are the best off in the country.

The first act in the case of the Crown against the Connolly Brothers has been taken in the Exchequer Court for monies said to be taken from the Public Works Department by conspiracy, commences to-morrow, when Mr. Audette registrar of the court, will hold a preliminary investigation, or, as it is legally called, an examination after discovery. Mr. B. B. Osler will conduct the case for the Crown. Mr. S. H. Blake, Q.C., has been retained on the case by the Connells, but it is not likely that he will be present in this instance. He will likely get a local man to represent him. It should be mentioned that Connolly Bros. have a larger claim against the Government than the Government has against them.

A letter was received by Chas. Beatty, Postoffice Department, this morning, containing the shocking intelligence that his nephew, Westroph McDougall, son of Hon. Wm. McDougall, had been shot at Jubilee Point on Rice Lake.

The unfortunate little fellow, who is only 14 years of age, was out on a fishing expedition with his brother and young Gooderham, of Toronto. The boys had a gun with them, and in drawing it out of the boat the trigger caught and the contents of the barrel were discharged into his left arm, inflicting a frightful wound. The bone was shattered, the muscle being completely torn away and the ulnar artery divided.

Hon. Edgar Dewdney, accompanied by his private secretary, leaves to-morrow morning for Montreal and Quebec. It is thought that his business is on immigration.

Premier Abbott slipped quietly away to Montreal by the Canada Atlantic this afternoon. It is said that he has accepted the advice of his colleagues and will go to England for a couple of months. This, it is supposed, will have the effect of staving off for a short

Sir Adolphe's mission to Quebec tomorrow is to prepare his case for the commission.

Mr. J. J. Curran, M.P., arrived in the city to-night.

SATURDAY MORNING, SEPT. 10.

Moving at Last.

At last the Dominion Government condescends to take action. Ministers have given an excellent example of coolness in the face of danger. In their country retreats they had no fear of cholera, and, sure of their fat salaries, the possibility of trade being completely paralyzed by the outbreak of an epidemic in the great cities had no terrors for them. Merchants can realize what a single case of cholera in this city would have cost, for even a single case would have subjected us to a rigid quarantine by our neighbors, and would have been made use of by our rivals. Who would run the risk of purchasing a single parcel of goods from plague-stricken Montreal when it could be just as well got from some healthy city?

But ministers are moving at last. They have enjoyed their vacation to the last day, and have indulged in a picnic at Petrolia, and now have a little time to attend to their duties. Under the presidency of that modern Bayard, the knight without reproach, Sir Adolphe Caron, they met on Thursday evening and managed to galvanize their colleague to take action. The provincial Government had taken the wind out of their sails by its promptitude, and thankful as we are for small mercies, we presume there is ground for gratitude in the fact that instead of wasting time quarrelling over the constitutionality of the action of the Provincial Board of Health, they talk of seconding it energetically.

Their supineness exposed us to a very real danger. The inefficiency of our quarantine has been discussed through the length and breadth of Canada and the States, and Montreal as the great centre of the ocean trade was exposed to grave suspicion. While fighting the foe in their own ports and restricting their own trade, and incurring heavy expense to protect themselves, we could hardly expect Americans to look with equanimity upon the neglect of the Canadian Government which left them open to danger on their northern frontier. Fortunately for us the Provincial Board of Health rose to the occasion, and running the risk of all conflict on the ground of constitutionality closed Canada's front entrance to the risk of contagion.

It must never be forgotten that had it depended on Mr. Caron, Montreal and Quebec might have been, by now, suffering the same fate as plague-stricken Hamburg. But at last ministers are moving. All fears of cross action between the two authorities are allayed, and the preparations already made to meet the enemy should be now doubly efficient. While it is so far satisfactory that the question of jurisdiction will not be allowed to paralyze the hands of those who have hitherto fought the foe successfully, Quebec has a claim to a little further explanation. She is not by any means the richest province of the confederation and may well ask:—Who is to bear the cost of the necessary measures of precaution?

More future co-operation of the Federal power is scarcely enough to be satisfactory. It is true Quebec was the most exposed province, and the great natural law of self-preservation impelled her to take certain steps in her own name. Expenses were incurred without the sanction, and perhaps against the will of the central Government. But her action was in the common interest of all the provinces, and even if a little irregular, it would be a strange specimen of gratitude to throw upon her the whole cost. This is a question, however, for the future; for the present we only look for the Government to support as vigorously as may be the measures of protection already taken by the local authorities.

A Hint to Manufacturers.

Canadian manufacturers, as a rule, do not appear to take sufficient interest in the exhibitions, agricultural fairs, and other shows that are so common in populous centres in the fall of the year. No doubt, they are practical men and will answer that unless some undoubted benefit, either from prizes or extensive advertising, is to be gained, they do not see why they should be put to the trouble and expense for the mere sake of satisfying public curiosity. There is, however, a much stronger reason than that, and we think, on consideration, those who are in any way obtaining benefit from the National Policy, will so acknowledge.

For the sake of the N.P., the nation at large has to make many sacrifices. Whether such sacrifices are beneficial or injurious is a matter upon which our opinions are well known; but at present it is not the question. Such sacrifice is undoubtedly made, and the people have naturally some anxiety to learn what results. The lessons of the industrial census are in many instances disputed, but, even if all its figures were undeniable, they do not present themselves in an attractive form to the multitude. What would interest them would be to see the finished result of the work from protected manufacturing industries, and to be able to contrast home work with that produced abroad.

If some such exhibits also showed the price of the article, and an account of how many persons now obtain their living in Canada at factories where similar goods are made, and any other statistics bearing on the same subject, some useful knowledge might be conveyed in an easy and entertaining fashion. Perhaps the lesson might be more complete if importers also paid more attention to their exhibits, and, where the price is given, would also state the amount of duty and expenses incurred by Customs arrangements, showing at what reduction the article might be sold under a different tariff.

Exhibitions would thus give lessons in practical politics to a class of people who are not given to the study of dry-as-dust blue books. Electors would be able to compare the advantages and disadvantages of the tariff, and count up for themselves "whether the game is worth the candle." Manufacturers might possibly get the better by our suggestion, but that is not for present consideration. We are opposed to high tariffs; but while they are the law of the land should like to see every possible benefit extracted from them.

Le Monde, which is now supposed to represent the views of Messrs. Oimet and Nantel, last evening contained the following significant paragraph:

"One of our reporters has conversed this morning with several members of the Quebec Legislature, among whom were two representatives of rural constituencies, and he has asked them if it was true that grave discontent existed among the Conservative deputation against the Quebec Government. These members have avowed that there were several discontented members in the party. They complain of the invasion of the Castors, who, they aver, are receiving the best part of the patronage. Others said that the English element was the object of too many favors to the detriment of the French. Others spoke of a public meeting which would be held soon in Montreal and at which very serious things would take place."

Maritime Province Troubles.

If some of the Maritime Provinces journals reflect truly the public opinion of their districts, the good people of that country are waxing furious over the rumors over the absorption of the Intercolonial Railway by the C. P. R. "No question of public policy of such vital importance to the Maritime Provinces has ever been discussed, except the tariff," says the Miramichi Advance. When the provinces were induced to enter Confederation, two promises were made—one was that the tariff would never be increased; the other, that the Intercolonial Railway would be built and maintained as a work of the Dominion Government. How the first promise has been kept we all know, and the present chances for keeping the second are not all rosy.

The increase in the tariff, they declare, forces them to pay tribute to monopolies created in the larger provinces, and handicaps them in the working of their own natural industries without affording any compensatory advantages. The transfer of the I.C.R. will mean the creation of such a monopoly as will grind certain sections of the Maritime Provinces as badly as the National Policy does. They are well-wishers of the C.P.R. and acknowledge that its possession of the Intercolonial would, in conjunction with the new and fast line of steamships it intends to establish, boom up some sections of the provinces in a wonderful manner. They, therefore, call upon Government to give the C.P.R. every possible facility, short of turning over the line to that company.

The great dread seems to be that a transfer to the C. P. R. would establish a soul-crushing monopoly; that the people would be completely in its power, and that freight rates would go up till business under its grinding tyranny would be almost impossible. Give away any privilege but this, they say. "An absolute transfer of the Intercolonial railway to the Canada Pacific Co. would sever the tie that binds New Brunswick, at least, to the Dominion."

This is very strong language, and, to our way of thinking, stronger than our Maritime friends are justified in using. We do not like the tariff any more than they do, but the evidence is that the people of the Maritime provinces are, in the main, content to support the N.P., as they have consistently returned a majority of supporters of the Conservative Government. We do not wish to see the Intercolonial turned over to the Canadian Pacific, as we believe that company is far too powerful already for the good of the country, but we do not believe in the evils they predict as flowing from such a policy. The C. P. R. management is far too able and farsighted to establish a tariff that would destroy the business of the country through which their line passes. They are not people to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs. The present management, as a donkey engine to the political machine at Ottawa, has been injurious enough to the provinces by the sea, and we incline to think that, as far as their material interests are concerned, a transfer to one that will put things on a business footing would prove most beneficial.

People of the other provinces are getting appalled at the capital that has been sunk in the Intercolonial Railway. The annual deficit is big enough to bid us call a halt. The Tupper family and the Intercolonial Railway, both products of the Maritime Provinces, hang heavily round our necks. Let the Maritime Provinces electors treat matters in a practical way. They have always given majorities to the Government that broke faith with them over the tariff, and is, so they say, about to break faith with them over the Intercolonial Railway. Complaining will never help them. Let them seize every opportunity of striking a blow at the Conservative power. A little opposition will make the Government amenable to reason, and, if they strike hard enough, they may rid themselves at the same time of the tariff and free us from the Tupper bogey.

TREND OF TRADE.

Bradstreet's Weekly Report on the Country's General Commercial Aspect.

New York, Sept. 9.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's from leading trade centres in connection with special interviews by our own reporters with representative business houses at New York show that thus far there has been little, if any, check experienced by the general trade due to the cholera scare, or quarantine regulations, except at the metropolitan. At the New York Produce Exchange engagements to export breadstuffs have been seriously interfered with and ocean freights at the maritime exchange are only nominal. Cotton exports are not naturally active at this period, and feel the influences less. Imported linen rags are up from 3.3-4 to 7c per pound, and a higher rate is expected to be advanced soon. No foreign rags, cotton or woolen waste, are admitted now, and chemical wool pulp has advanced $10 per ton. Bleaching powders used by paper makers and as a disinfectant are up from 2.17 to 6 cents per pound. The sale of fruits and vegetables, as well as the importation of the same, has been affected unfavorably. There has been, of course, a greatly increased demand for drugs and chemicals. Imports of Russian bristles and wool have been stopped. The effect of declining to withstand the effects of the latter, a number of wholesale houses report a growing caution on the part of out-of-town buyers. Raw silk and stocks of manufactured silk and embroidery are ample for next month's demand, but a continued detention of goods will affect trade materially. A few orders for German goods via Hamburg have been countermanded. Refined sugar, petroleum, coffee and cotton have all advanced fractionally, while wheat, Indian corn, western steam lard and mess pork have suffered like declines. Oats, wool, pig iron and print cloths have not varied in prices materially.

Exports from United States seaports, both coasts, as reported to Bradstreet's, total 9,567,000 bushels this week, about 10 per cent more than last week. Bank clearings throughout the country, as wired to Bradstreet, aggregate $1,126,000,000 this week, an increase of 16 per cent over the week before.

Cable advices to Bradstreet's, Sept. 1, show that European float, American and Canadian supplies aggregated 111,014,000 bushels, a gain of 12,485,000 bushels during August, the heaviest increase in that month on record. The general wholesale trade is only fairly active at Toronto, but the annual exhibition is being held there, and country merchants are present in large numbers. Grocery and hardware dealers report heaviest sales so far. At Montreal staple lines report a moderate business, but prospects for the fall are regarded as encouraging. At Quebec recent business troubles unsettled trade somewhat. Bank clearings at Halifax, Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton aggregate $17,998,000 this week, an increase over the total in the preceding week of 8 per cent. There were 29 failures in Canada this week, against 33 last week and 23 in the same week a year ago.

SPORTING EVENTS.

The Huntingdon-Valleyfield Match on the Shamrock Grounds.

Entries and Results for Sheephead Bay—The Ottawa Canoe Club's Regatta—St. Gabriel's and Shamrock Jrs.—Echoes of the Big Fight—Trotting at Halifax—Bicycle Records Smashed—Baseball.

There will be no big lacrosse match in town to-day, and sporting events are few in number. One of the best events of the day will be the lacrosse match on the Shamrock grounds, between the Huntingdon and Valleyfield teams. These clubs have met but once during the present season, but the clubs are not to blame for this. They are in the N. A. L. A. south western Quebec championship, and of course play under the challenge system. The clubs met once at the beginning of the season, and as is known, the match was protested and it took the management of what is called a lacrosse association, two months to settle a trifling matter. It is on account of this protest that the match is being played here. The match is sure to be a good one. The teams are both equal to any of the junior teams here, and both are going to play to win. The game will be an interesting one and worthy of a good attendance. Special excursion trains are coming in over the Grand Trunk from Huntingdon, Valleyfield and intermediate stations, which no doubt will bring in a few hundred excursionists.

The following are the likely names of the St. Gabriel Lacrosse Club that shall compete against the Junior Shamrock, on the former grounds, Saturday, Sept. 10: S. Draper, J. Knox, P. McCullough, T. Pierce, J. Stinson, P. McGrath, R. Knox, B. Gilmore, T. Welsh, J. Burke, J. McLean, R. Rogan and T. Phelan.

This match ought to be well patronized, particularly by the Point people as an act of appreciation for the St. Gabriel's successes during the year, as also to encourage them by their presence to win this, their last final match which shall decide the district championship.

The Junior Shamrocks are in fine form and intend winning if it is at all possible, for they have a possibility of also winning the championship.

AQUATICS.

Ottawa Canoe Club's Regatta.
[Special to The Herald.]
Ottawa, Sept. 9.—The tenth annual regatta of the Ottawa Canoe Club commenced this afternoon. The sailing events were postponed on account of the calmness of the weather.

The only race finished to-day was the one for the Morris cup, distance one-half mile straightaway, with double blades. The starters were W. D. Scott, W. H. Crouk and C. G. Rogers, and they finished in the order named. The time for the winner was six minutes. Scott was 300 yards ahead of the other competitors.

To-morrow the club has twelve other events to finish, at the close of which they will give an "at home."

BICYCLING.

More Records Gone to Smash.
Springfield, Mass., Sept. 9.—Another day of record smashing has passed into the history of bicycle racing. Zimmerman again distinguished himself, but he shared his laurels with Windle, the fast Millbury rider. Zimmerman first started for Nancy Fink's mile record with a flying start; he did not succeed, but he established a bicycle record of 2:08.45.

Windle next tried the flying short half mile, making it in 1:00.15. George F.

Taylor lowered Zimmerman's mile to 2:08.15. The New Jersey rider was then sent after Nancy Fink's second time, eclipsing her record made a regulation track by 1.5 of a second. His time was 2:06.45. About 200 spectators witnessed the feat and nearly went wild when the result was announced.

BASEBALL.

At New York, New York 5, Cincinnati 2.
At Philadelphia, Philadelphia 4, Chicago 2.
At Baltimore, St. Louis 6, Baltimore 6, called on account of darkness.
At Washington, Louisville 3, Washington 0.
A Protested Game.
The Montreal Baseball Club will protest the game awarded to Granby by the umpire last Saturday. The Montrealers wanted to play the match in time to return by the place of clock train; and on Granby refusing they returned to town and the umpire gave the match to Granby.

GREEN ROOM CHAT.

A Budget of Theatrical News From Paul Pry.

Ta-ra-ra-boom-de-ay—The Philharmonic Society—Answers to Correspondents—The Burning of the Metropolitan—“Joseph”—Peggy Pryde—Sullivan—News from Huntington—Warner—“Lady Lil.”

The flag incident has been the theatrical talk of the week. I could tell a great deal more about it than has yet been published, but this letter is hardly the place for it. Probably the papers will know all about it by the time this is published.

Just a word about “The White Squadron.” I am glad Mr. Sparrow closed the engagement. The critics certainly did not give it unqualified praise, but they did praise it. Had I written the notice I should have said “The White Squadron” is one of the finest 10 cent shows that was ever put on the road.”

A city paper remarks editorially: Miss Lottie Collins, of Ta-ra-ra-boom-de-ay fame, is among the quarantined victims at New York. If the Yankee officers could only find an agent strong enough to direct her awful song a suffering country would call them blessed.

What the writer means by disinfecting a song is hard to say, but I imagine he wants Ta-ra-ra-boom-de-ay stopped. He certainly never heard Lottie Collins sing it or he would not make such a foolish remark. We have grown tired of “Playmates” but not when Bessie Bonnell sings it. Come along, Miss Collins. I’ll wager that you’ll crowd the biggest theatre in Montreal for a week or more, and if the gentleman wrote the item to which I refer will go and listen to you he’ll be the most tickled of all your audience.

The Philharmonic society of this city has been invited to sing at the World’s Fair, but it is not at all likely that the invitation will be accepted. The society is soon to commence rehearsing its next programme and from all reports the pieces selected are: “Creation,” “Golden Legend,” and “Eve.” The latter we have not yet heard here; the “Golden Legend” is all right, but I think “Elijah” would be far better than “Creation.” It is a more modern and decidedly more popular orchestration.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.
Admirer—You love. L’Assommoir was dramatized and was produced under the title of “Drink.”

Society—Certainly not. “The Black Crook” is now being played at the Academy of Music, New York.

A. F. B.—(1) Better write in care of New York Clipper. (2) For theatrical news The Dramatic News takes the lead. (3) They will not return.

Tom and Jerry—Mildred and Roulere will not likely be here this season.

The burning of the Metropolitan Opera House, it is generally believed, will not bring to an end the career of that home of song. It will undoubtedly be rebuilt, though at this writing no steps have been taken save informal meetings of certain of the stockholders at Newport and in this city. Experts are to examine the property, report on the damages and advise as to the propriety of rebuilding. It is generally conceded that the season will be delayed and that the new Italian opera troupe may have to begin its operations in Chicago or Philadelphia, unless the offer of Hammerstein’s new Manhattan Theatre be accepted.

When “King Lear” is produced at the London Lyceum Mr. Irving will appear as King Lear, Miss Ellen Terry as Cordelia, Miss Genevieve Ward as Regan, Miss Hand Milton as Goneril, and Mr. Gilbert Hare as the fool.

Ramsay Morris’ New York Comedy Company, which is undoubtedly the finest organization of its kind yet banded together in America, is soon coming to Montreal. “Joseph,” the comedy to be presented, is the English adaptation of “Ferdinand le Noceur,” at which all Paris has laughed for nearly 1,000 nights, and which is said to be funnier than “The Private Secretary.” The names in Mr. Morris’ organization indicate a superb comedy performance. They include John Glendinning, leading man of Mr. and Mrs. Kendal’s Company; George Giddens, the celebrated comedian and character actor of Charles Wyndham’s London Co.; Edgar Norton, of Richard Mansfield’s Co.; John Carson, John Coleman, and Harry Pearson. Blaise de Wolfe, fresh from a summer in Europe, and with a marvelous Parisian wardrobe, heads the list of ladies, and will be seen at her best, as all her successes on New York’s fashionable amateur stage were in comedy. Associated with her will be Mrs. E. J. Phillips, the great character actress of A. M. Palmer’s New York Co.; Mary Penfield, of W. H. Crane’s Co.; Helen Stockwell and others.

A gentleman well known in Montreal writes me from London that Peggy Pryde, the clever and well known English singer and dancer, is to return to America in September. Miss Pryde is now at London, Eng., in attendance upon her mother, Jenny Hall, who is seriously ill with lung trouble. The latter starts for Australia in a week to renew her health.

Cool Burgess has once more returned to the stage. He reminds one very much of the defeated John L. He had his day and should have known enough to quit.

Speaking of John L. recalls the great fight of Wednesday. Eighty per cent of the people who have spoken to one since the result was known have declared that they knew all along that Corbett would win, but I don’t know if any of these gentlemen backing their opinions with cash. Those who did bet on Corbett wanted odds and the big man was such a favorite that his admirers freely gave the odds. I wouldn’t introduce this subject here, but then you know Sullivan is—or supposed to be an actor. Sorry for him, but people don’t care to pay to see a defeated champion. Corbett will draw and Manager Brady is on the straight road to an immense fortune. William A. Brady is one of the few men whose fingers make everything which they touch turn to gold.

A correspondent in Huntington writes me as follows: “Miss Lottie Alter, Miss Marion Kilby, Miss Alice Kilby and Mr. Grant Stewart and others under the management of A. C. Dorner, appear this week at Chateaugay, N.Y., and Huntington, P.Q. (Fair dates) to excellent business. Mr. Grant Stewart sustaining his respective part in his usual efficient manner, while Miss Alter appeared to excellent advantage as “Chip Fogg.” It is safe to assert that no better “Chip” could be found. In justice, special deserving mention must be made of Miss Alice Kilby’s excellent character work as “Miss Fogg”—she played the difficult part well. Little Mabel Kite also was a great favorite in her songs and dances.

Previous to Mr. Neil Warner’s departure for New York, to take a leading position in Augustin Daly’s Stock company, his friends and pupils propose tendering him a testimonial benefit in the Windsor hall, on Monday, the 19th September, on which occasion Mr. Warner will appear in his favorite character of “Othello.” As Mr. Warner has always been the first to offer his services for any charitable purpose whatsoever, it is to be hoped that the citizens of Montreal will lend their aid in making this testimonial a financial success.

Mr. William Reed, organist of the American Presbyterian Church, has been elected a vice-president of the Canadian College of Organists. Messrs T. Edgar Birch, E. A. Hilton and P. J. Hilday Montreal are members of the council of the college.

The reappearance of Paderewski this fall will be awaited with the greatest interest, and his coming tour promises to be another series of triumphs for this wizard of the keys.

The coming of Lillian Lewis’ “Lady Lil” (excuse the illiteration) will, I am sure, give Montrealers a chance to see a great production. I don’t pay much attention to long advance notices, but from what I have read of those published it would appear that something good is in store for those who visit the Queen’s next week.

“Faust Up to Date” has done badly at the Gaitey, and was withdrawn last Saturday. The theatre will probably not re-open until October when Fred Leslie will commence his last season as a burlesque actor, in a revival of “Cinderella on too late.” The eminent comedian contemplates management, and a return to comedy roles. George Edwards has already made a long engagement with Arthur Roberts, who is now doing some turns in the music halls.

I had a long chat a few days ago with Mrs. A. F. Hartz, and as we were both born in the same town, are got quite chummy. Mr. Hartz is the lessee and manager of two American houses, and is now the proprietor of “Friends,” which comes to the Academy next week, and which I have reason to believe is one of the very best attractions of the American stage of to-day. While riding to Montreal the railway conductor, when he was collecting tickets, said to Mr. Hartz, “Oh! You belong to the company.” “No, sir,” was the reply, “the company belongs to me,” and so it does, and the names on the program show that Mr. Hartz is capable of securing people from the best in the land.

Have you heard anything from the amateurs yet. Is it not time that some rehearsal was done. Don’t do as you did last year—hustle a play before the public after ten days’ practice and then grumble because you are criticised. Let me wish you every success this season.

The presence of two variety companies this week again brings us into contact with the man who will demand adequate respect. The encore fiend has never been adequately defined, but a few of the best known may easily be defined. The mercenary fiend, who calmly makes his demand for a double program so as to get his money’s worth; the business variety, who simply attends to procuring an encore for an artist because he is a manager’s agent, or has some business interest in the actor’s success; and the kindly fiend, who, observing that everybody else on the program has received bounteous applause, recalls, and proceeds to encore perhaps the weakest of performers, lest he or she felt pained or slighted. There are other varieties, such as the expectant fiend who endures one singer because he wants to hear “Across the Bridge at Midnight,” or another because he hopes to be rewarded with “Little Annie Rooney,” or “Comrades.” But it is of little use to discuss the various species of the fiend. He should be made to sit for a few hours and listen to the stories told by advance men about their wonderful attractions.

In conclusion, if you haven’t seen “Fantasma” this week, go to the Academy to-day. PAUL PRY.

A Gadget of the Wanderings of Montrealers.

Mr. and Mrs. Lemesurier and family have returned from Murray Bay.

The Misses Taylor, of University street, are home from Teale’s Island, much benefited by their stay at the seaside.

Mr. S. P. Stearns and Mrs. Stearns and family are back from the New Hampshire coast, where they spent the summer.

Mrs. David Crombie, wife of the manager of the Bank of Montreal, Picton, Ont., is the guest of her brother-in-law, Mr. A. M. Crombie, of the Bank of Commerce, at 903 Sherbrooke street.

Mr. John Savage and family have returned from Metis.

Miss Arnton returned to town from Sturgeon Bay, where she has been the guest of Mrs. Playfair for some weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Paton have gone to the States for a week or so.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornish have returned to town from the seaside.

Dr. Rutman has recovered from his illness and is able to be out again.

Mr. J. W. Allison has returned from New York.

Mrs. Simpson, of Mansfield street, and the Misses Simpson, are visiting Quebec and its vicinity.

The many friends of Sir John Abbott will be glad to hear that he is very much better.

The engagement is announced between Mr. Claude Benyon and Miss Blanche Thibodeau, of Quebec. The fair daughter of that ancient capital seem to possess a special attraction of their own.

Mr. A. D. Taylor has returned from New York.

The Baroness Macdonald on leaving Riviere du Loup will go to the Pacific coast for a trip, returning from Vancouver to Banff, where she has built a cottage. The baroness intends furnishing it this autumn. A pretty safe refuge from cholera or any other nuisance it will afford.

Mr. Girdwood and Miss Girdwood have been spending a week at Port-Lake.

Mr. Peter Mackenzie, of the Hudson Bay Co., has gone to Roberval, Lake St. John.

As a prelude to the convocation of gladiators which opened on Monday night at Olympia in the South, we had a little prize fight of our own on Saturday last. It was called a champion lacrosse match, presumably to put Captain Hughes and his minions off the scent, and took place at the athletic grounds. No life was taken. A fair amount of blood was drawn in the arena, and sore backs and shins were common, but the exception of one or two “split faces” and a damaged larynx, the affair as a prize fight was rather tame on the whole. A delighted crowd cheered and applauded, but a section of it, amongst which were many of the officers of the French ship of war, were astonished to the verge of shock. The latter could not understand the playful little game of clubbing so much enjoyed by the manly and ardent Canadians.

A few years ago a public prize fight was almost an impossibility, people were straight-laced and tender-hearted. Now, “fanciful art” has become a legitimate branch of sport, and the dear old days are fast returning (in the usual circular manner) when boxing matches, bouts at quarter staff and similar masculine exercises, with their accompanying black eyes, broken noses, and when most likely, things will be called by their right names. O tempora! O mores!

Lillian Lewis wears $15,000 worth of diamonds and costumes in Lady Lil at the Queen’s Theatre next week.

Excellent for Training.

I have found St. Leon water the very best thing to drink while in training and have used it every morning with the most satisfactory results during the last couple of seasons. It keeps the system in good condition and is superior, in my judgment, to all other drinks for the athlete. With best wishes, I remain, sincerely yours, W. M. Carman, champion bicyclist of Canada, 16 Shelburne street.

If you had taken two of Carter’s Little Liver Pills before retiring you would not have had that coated tongue of bad taste in the mouth this morning. Keep a vial with you for occasional use.

The costumes worn by Lillian Lewis in Lady Lil are marvelously rich and handsome, at Queen’s Theatre next week.
