The moon is beaming brightly love, Upon the deep blue sea —

A trusty crew is waiting near, For thee, dear girl, for thee!

Then leave thy downy couch, my love, And with thy sailor flee;

His gallant bark shall bear thee safe, Far o'er the deep blue sea, Far

Far o'er the deep blue sea

o'er the deep blue sea, Far o'er the deep, the deep blue sea.

 The storm-bird sleeps upon the rock—
 No angry surges roar—
 No sound disturbs the slum'ring deep—
 Not e'en the dipping oar:
 No watchful eye is on thee now,
 Then, dearest, hie with me,
 And share a daring sailor's love,
 Far o'er the deep blue sea.

 She comes! she comes! with trembling step—
 Oh! happy shall we be—
 When safely moor'd, on other shores,
 From ev'ry danger free!
 Now, speed thee on my trusty bark,
 Our hopes are all on thee—
 Bear, bear, us to our peaceful home—
 Far o'er the deep blue sea!

Far o'er the deep blue sea.
