Senior Band Fast Taking Shape Under Don Moore

Young Men Have Purchased Their Own Instruments and Are Eagerly Learning

Bandmaster Don Moore told a Gleaner representative this week that the Town of Huntingdon will have an active band in the near future. This is something the townspeople have long wanted. A good band is an asset to any community and the lack of one is sorely felt here on numerous occasions. Huntingdon is a growing and progressive industrial centre and a good band is going to make it just that much better.

The Town Band will be composed of members of the Huntingdon High School Band of 1947 and a group who, with the help of Mr. Moore, started a band about ten weeks ago. The latter consists of young men who decided they would like to take lessons from Mr. Moore. At that time it was thought it might be possible to learn the fundamentals on the instruments that are in use at the school. Mr. Moore was very emphatic when he said "No". He did think the matter over, however, and made a proposition that was readily accepted by fourteen young men. This was that if the group was serious in forming a band, he could obtain new instruments for them at a reduced price; moreover, he offered to instruct the novices, free of charge on his part, until such time as they become a properly playing and capable band.

The group thought this an attractive offer, considering the fact Mr. Moore is well educated in reed and wind instruments and has proven his mettle as an instructor right here in Huntingdon.

The result is fifteen instruments have been bought and paid for by the group at an average cost of $135. to each member. The fact that these fellows are interested enough to lay out this money is enough to assure Huntingdonians the band will be a permanent organization.

At the last practice held at the Legion Hall Mr. Moore asked that an election of officers be held, the result being that Mons Duke was elected president, Clarence Montgomery treasurer and Keith Howden secretary.

It was also pointed out that a couple more new instruments and players were needed to round out the band. The average cost per instrument per person was mentioned above, but the two needed are very much more costly. So much so, in fact, that no individual could be expected, or even asked, to buy one of them. It has been decided, therefore, in order to make the Town Band one of the best possible, the members raise the necessary funds. Various methods of doing this were suggested and discarded until finally it was decided a drawing would be most acceptable as a beginning. Tickets are now being printed and will be on sale to the public after the next band practice. Proceeds will be divided between the two sections of the Town's Bands, the Academy group and the senior division.

As soon as the adult group is able to play adequately it is intended to bring back the members of the Academy Band of 1947 who are in Huntingdon of whom, at the moment, there are about ten, so that within the next year Huntingdon will have a fully-organized Senior Band of approximately 25 pieces.

To this end a minimum of $1,000 is needed immediately — the sooner it is raised, the sooner the band will be whipped into shape for public appearance. If you want the best in bands in our town, please give the members your support in this effort.

Rev. G. S. Lloyd Suggests We Express Appreciation of Our Land at Rotary Meeting

The speaker at the Huntingdon Rotary Club luncheon on Monday, was Rev. G. S. Lloyd, of St. John's Presbyterian Church, Cornwall, Ont. He gave a very interesting, yet humorous address entitled: "Articulate Appreciation or Say It With Flowers".

Mr. Lloyd began his address by saying that he had chosen as his subject, rather than some great matter such as the war situation or the United Nations, one of the commonplaces of life which nevertheless affects everyone of us. He called it "ARTICULATE APPRECIATION" or more simply "SAY IT WITH FLOWERS."

He pointed out that it makes a big difference how we say things, even "Good Morning." He illustrated by reciting the familiar nursery rhyme—Little Jack Horner—and then paraphrasing it as Kipling, Shakespeare and Robby Burns might have written it.

"It is high time", said Mr. Lloyd, "that we rise up and express our appreciation of the land in which we live." Other lands have their attractions but when we consider their disadvantages we're glad that we're living in Canada. A thousand miles of mountains, a thousand miles of prairie, a thousand miles of river and lake all without a fort or garrison or any marks of war— when we contrast this with conditions in the Orient and in Europe behind the Iron Curtain, it should cause us to appreciate our own country and to "Say it with flowers."

Next Mr. Lloyd deplored the common tendency to "Talk down" the church. Even the Churchman is inclined to be pessimistic if the attendance hasn't been good on a Sunday. But a businessman doesn't give way to pessimism if he had had a bad Saturday. He knows that good days come as well as bad. We have been too inarticulate about the Church. The church has the solution for the world's problems in the teachings of Jesus Christ. But we're not getting it across. And yet, despite her failures and imperfections no one knows them better than the ministers, the Church is the only organization that everywhere and all the time keeps the teachings of Christ in the fore ground. It is the only organization that carries the answer to Communism. Democracy cannot do that because in order to fight Communism, Democracy has to become something other than itself. It's time that we showed a little appreciation of

Injuries to Three in Car Accident

Car Hits Tree Near Rockburn

Saturday, November 18, at approximately 4:15 P.M., a car driven by Mr. Garth Lanktree, of Chateaugay, N.Y., hit a tree at Frier's, near Rockburn. Mr. Lanktree was driving Miss Marilyn Lewis and Miss Marion Sloan home from the Lanktree-Lewis wedding reception at Herdman's Corners, when the accident occured.

Mr. Lanktree was taken to Plattsburg to a nose specialist for treatment for injuries to his nose. Miss Marion Sloan, Rockburn suffered the loss of one tooth, lacerations of the chin and a sprained ankle. Miss Marilyn Lewis received general shock, bruises and lacerations of the eyelid. Both were treated at the Huntingdon County Hospital by Dr. F. G. McCrimmon and are now resting at their respective homes.

The car was quite badly damaged.

Gold Medal Presented to Mrs. R. Munro

Made Honorary Member For Work With Red Cross

An event of much local interest took place at a meeting of the executive of the Huntingdon Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society which was held recently at the home of the President, Mr. C. M. Oney. Members of the Welfare and Work Committees were also in attendance.

The occasion was the presentation of a gold Honorary Membership Medal to Mrs. Ruby Munro, of Huntingdon, for her untiring work with this branch of the Society since the First Great War. It is only seldom that this presentation is made outside the larger centres so the honour is quite great. Furthermore only five of these medals were presented for 1950 and probably less than one hundred has been presented as a total.

Rev. W. S. Hatcher, chairman of the committee, made the presentation to Mrs. Munro and read the following citation:

Mrs. R. Munro, Huntingdon Branch

Mrs. Munro has been an active member of the Red Cross ever since the First Great War. She has not only been a great leader in sewing, but acts as an instructor to other members who are new at the work. In this district, to mention the name of Mrs. Munro is to recall immediately the Red Cross. Her example as a whole-hearted worker of this great organization has inspired many others to carry on.

Following this pleasing part of the meeting, the general business was discussed.

Letters from Mrs. W. W. Chipman, Co-Chairman, Women's Work Committee, Provincial Division were read asking for more dressings for use in the Blood Donor Clinics. Miss J. Walker, R.N. was appointed to obtain further information from Mrs. Chipman with a view to organizing nine working groups in this district.

The establishment of a Sick Room Supply Service for the use of Huntingdon County was discussed at length. This service is designed to lend, free of charge, needed nursery equipment to homes where temporarily ill patients are being looked after and where through financial or other special circumstances, the necessary nursing equipment cannot be obtained.

Mrs. E. M. Wood moved that Miss Lilian Rankin, R.N., Secretary-Treasurer, be appointed to organize and establish a Sick Room Supply Service at Riverview Terrace Rest and Convalescent Centre. Miss L. Pringle seconded the motion. Further information will be published in the Huntingdon Gleaner.

Mrs. Mae O'Connor was appointed to arrange for an adequate filing system at the Huntingdon County Hospital for information and cards received from Red Cross Blood Donor Clinics.

Attending the meeting were: Mr. C. M. Oney, President; Mr. Adrien O'Reilly, Vice-President; Mrs. E. M. Wood, 2nd Vice-President; Miss Lilian Rankin, R.N., Sec'y-Treasurer; Rev. W. S. Hatcher and Mrs. Mae O'Connor, Welfare Committee; Mrs. Louis Roy and Miss Lily Pringle, Work Committee. Guests of honor at the meeting were Mrs. Ruby Munro and Miss Elsie Elder.

A letter of thanks was read from Mrs. W. W. Chipman, Co-Chairman, Women's Work Committee, Provincial Division, for the donation of $55.60. This amount was the donation from the Work Committee of the former Athelstan Branch to the Huntingdon Branch.

Delicious refreshments were served by the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Oney.

Presentation to Mrs. Ruby Munro

Above, Rev. W. S. Hatcher is shown pinning on the Gold Medal awarded to Mrs. Ruby Munro, Huntingdon, for her untiring work with the Red Cross Society since the First Great War. The award was an Honorary Membership and Mrs. Munro was one of five to receive the award for 1950. It is truly a great distinction and one which all in Huntingdon will be proud to know has been awarded to one of its citizens.

New Scale of Wages Set For Town Employees

Contract For New Sewer on Bouchette St. Awarded Lucien Lecompte

An adjourned meeting of the Huntingdon Town Council was held on Monday evening, with all members present. Bills were read and approved.

A letter was read from the C.N.R. to the effect that certain procedure must be followed in laying the new sewer along Bouchette St., when it goes under the railway tracks. This procedure is in accordance with regulations laid down by the railway commission.

A number of businessmen were in attendance at the meeting and complained of some pedlars selling groceries from door to door without a license. The matter was checked upon and it was found that some had paid a certain amount of license, mostly for meat or for vegetables, but had not paid a full license to cover groceries. It was decided to have the Police Chief check on the persons and have them stop selling groceries unless a full license is paid for 1950 and the full license for 1951. Complaint was also made about restaurants selling meats and groceries after hours and on Sundays. This matter is to be investigated, but it was thought it came under provincial law and therefore outside the jurisdiction of the town, except for town by-law as to closing. The decision was satisfactory to those attending.

Four tenders were received with regard to the new sewer work to be done on Bouchette Street.

The first opened was from P. J. Feeny at a price of $6,900.; solid rock at $10. per cubic yard; single connections at $4. each and extra for cutting under the railroad tracks.

Chas. L. Hammond quoted $5,400 excluding railway crossing; $6.50 per cubic yard for solid rock and $2.50 for pipe connections. He would quote separately on track crossing.

Lucien Lecompte gave a price of $3,600 or $3. per lineal foot; additional $1,200 for railroad tunnelling; solid rock $3.60 per cubic yard and $5. for pipe connections. Job to be completed by December 22nd.

B.G.L. Engineers quoted $3,615; solid rock $4.50 per cubic yard; pipe connections $5. and $600. for railway crossing.

There was a lengthy discussion on the tenders and it was finally awarded to Lucien Lecompte.

Mr. Rene Rousselle gave his price for checking the fire hydrants and relative work for a period of four months at $321. The council was not in favour of accepting this rate in view of the offer to do the work for a period of one year for a sum of $500. An alternative offer was made to Mr. Rousselle and he was asked to consider it and give his answer a little later in the meeting.

Mr. A. C. H. Picard thanked the council for their decision and action on the Bouchette St. sewer.

Complaint was received re. the blocking of a number of sewers with wool from the Woollen Mills. In one instance it had involved considerable work to dig up a sewer and take out the wool which was blocking it. There was also considerable expense to the work which was still not completed. Meantime other complaints had been received. When washing the wool, the mill is required to keep strainers on the drains and the wool to be removed from time to time so that it does not enter the sewer. The secretary was instructed to write the Woollen Mills regarding this and to see that the regulations are lived up to.

A letter is to be sent to the Department of Public Works, Ottawa, with further regard to the retaining wall along the Chateauguay River near the Shell Service Station. Apparently no reply has ever been received to earlier communications on this matter.

The new town truck is to be fitted out for winter driving and snow plow work. A frame for the plow is to be procured with the idea of the old plow being interchangeable with the new truck if possible. Otherwise it is possible that a new plow will also be purchased.

The matter of wages and salaries for all town employees was discussed at some length and several applications for increases were taken under discussion. Following this the wages were set as follows:

Filter Plant: Munro, $185. per month; Donnelly, $160. per month and Sandys, $135. per month. All must rotate the shifts and each man must take a turn at night shift.

Secretary, E. C. Martin, $200. per month.

Town Supervisor, D. Moody, $200. per month.

Overtime rates of time and a-half will be paid the town men after 10 hours and on Sundays. Double time will be paid for holidays that have been declared as paid holidays. This means that if a man works on any of the paid holidays he will receive the equivalent of one day's pay extra for working on such holiday or in accordance with the number of hours worked.

Police pay will be 75c per hour straight, no overtime rates will apply.

Town men doing fire duty during regular working hours will not be paid extra firemen's pay. This extra will only be paid if a fire takes place after regular hours.

Truck drivers will not be allowed extra time for putting in the trucks at night. The trucks must be cleaned and simonized at regular intervals so that they present a clean appearance at all times. The basement of the fire hall must be cleaned up and things kept in order at all times. Mr. Moody is to receive instructions to see that proper time is recorded and the men are only given the hours actually worked.

It was reported that the men refused to work on a job one evening recently, unless they received double time. In future there will be none of this and if the men do not want to do a job, then someone else will be engaged who does.

Mr. Rousselle agreed to accept the offer made him to look after the hydrants for the next five months at a contract price of $300.

With the various increases in the cost of administration which keep coming up, it was hinted that quite possibly the tax rate would have to be increased in order to provide additional revenue.

Mrs. Lalonde Victim of Accident Dies

The Gleaner regrets to report this week that Mrs. Chas. Lalonde, who was the victim of a car accident on Sunday, November 12th, succumbed to her injuries at about 3 am. this morning (Wednesday). The accident occurred about two and a half miles from Huntingdon, while rounding a curve known as Biggar's Curve on the Ridge Road. The car struck a rock and the driver lost control. Mrs. Lalonde had several broken ribs and contusion of the lungs.

An inquest will be held today (Wednesday).

Farm Radio Forum Subject November 27th

Mrs. Herbert Ellard, Wright, Que., Provincial Convenor of Welfare & Health for the Quebec Women's Institutes, will be one of the speakers on the National Farm Radio Forum, Monday evening, Nov. 27.

Several months ago the Q.W.I. undertook a survey of health conditions in the rural areas of Quebec by means of a questionnaire circulated among all branches of that organization. Other speakers will be Dr. H. J. G. Geggie, Wakefield, Que., and Malcolm Taylor, Director of Research and Statistics, Department of Public Health, Saskatoon, Sask.

School Dance A Success

Very Enjoyable Affair Sponsored by School Board

The annual invitation dance held at Huntingdon High School under the auspices of the School Board was a great success socially, but will be disappointing in so far as returns. Considerable expense was incurred to make it attractive and to provide good music.

Everyone had a most enjoyable time whether it be dancing or playing cards. The decorations were most attractive and added to the festiveness of the occasion. The colored lights provided by the Chateau and the stage setting arranged by Mrs. F. G. McCrimmon added just that extra touch to the colorful scene.

Several donations were received which were certainly appreciated for the expenses were quite heavy. Donations were received from Mrs. N. McCrimmon, Mrs. F. G. McCrimmon, Mayor Cappiello, Mr. and Mrs. James Barrett, Mr. C. J. Kyle and Anonymous.

The winners at cards were as follows: "500"—Ladies' 1st prize, Mrs. Martin Beattie; 2nd, Mrs. Cameron Stewart; Men's 1st prize, Mr. A. Kazulak, 2nd, Mr. A. Mack. Bridge—Ladies' 1st, Mrs. Sherman Robb; Gentlemen's 1st, Mrs. J. Boisseau. Floating prize, Mrs. S. Robb.

The committee in charge wishes to specially thank the following: The Huntingdon Chateau for the decorative lights; Mr. S. Currie for the Address System; Mr. D. L. Kelly for use of the grass mat for stage; Mr. Thorne for the Birch trees used and adapted by Mrs. F. G. McCrimmon in a most colorful background for the stage. These are apart from those within the school; Mrs. W. E. Bernhardt and her helpers for preparing and serving delicious refreshments.

It was a happy get-together and appreciated by the community at large. The sum of $202 was realized.

From 1939 to 1949 Canada's net federal public debt per capita increased from $279.80 to $869.41.

Curling Rink Will Soon Be Ready For Play For First Time With Artificial Ice

$17,000 Expenditure Made For Refrigeration And Renovation to Make Modern Rink

The members of the Huntingdon Curling Club are putting a great deal of time, money and effort into the renovation of the Curling Rink and the installation of a new Artificial Ice system. Mr. Gordon Cuttle, from the McDonald and Wilson Co. Ltd., Montreal, is doing all the installation work himself.

200 loads of earth were removed, making the cavity approximately 4½ feet deep. Tile drainage pipes were laid and the ground around the outside of the rink was drained. This was done to prevent any water from getting under the copper tubing and causing the ice to crack and probable injury to the installation system. The earth was taken out in such a manner as to create a slope towards the front of the rink allowing the water to drain off freely. After the earth was removed and the tile laid, 8 inches of stone and then 160 loads of gravel were put on top of this. Every 8 feet, the whole length of the proposed ice, steel sleepers were placed on which 16,000 feet of 1 1/8 inch copper tubing was laid at a distance of 3 inches apart. After the tubing was laid, dampened sand was distributed evenly under the tubing to a thickness of about 2 inches, leaving the pipes covered by about ¼ inch.

The compressor pumps the gas into the copper tubing and brings the temperature down to 20 degrees above zero. The cold from the pipes then spreads through the dampened sand making the whole surface the same temperature. It is left like this without water for 24 hours. By doing this, the sand and pipes are at the correct temperature and when the water is sprinkled on twice a day for approximately 7 days, until a thickness of one inch is reached, it will immediately freeze and therefore cannot possibly seep in under the tubing.

This system, using "Freon Installation" is the latest thing in artificial ice and is on a similar principle to modern household refrigerators.

A cellar had to be excavated to hold the 20 horse-power motor needed to run the compressor and a new furnace which has been installed. This cellar was constructed under the front part of the building, over which, on the ground floor are the ladies' and men's rest rooms and above this the newly renovated club rooms.

A group of members are painting the club room and the ladies' and men's rest rooms. The paint was donated by McCoy Bros., Rolfe and Sons and Builders' Supply and Feeds Ltd. and the sanding was done by Mr. E. Goodfellow. New sewers have been installed.

The front of the building has been painted and a new sign has been erected over the entrance.

The building was previously insulated but shutters or something similar must be constructed on the windows to prevent the sunshine from melting the ice and allowing water to seep in under the copper tubing.

The cost of the renovation and installation of this new system is approximately $17,000.

The cost of operation for one season only is $3,000.

The Huntingdon Curling Club has now 43 male members and 29 female members. The present club members intend to solicit for new members. 100 male members are needed, and a special membership fee of $15. has been arranged for new members for the first year. Each member will be able to play at least two or three times each week. A schedule will be drawn up to allow each member to know exactly on which dates he is to play. The ideal membership of any curling club is 50 members to each sheet of ice. Since the renovation of the Huntingdon Curling Rink there are three sheets of ice. One sheet is left for the women since they are in a minority and the two remaining sheets are used by the men. That is, 100 men members and 50 women members, the ideal membership, is the goal of the Huntingdon Curling Club.

A $7,000 objective was set up and the members are striving to reach this by donations. $4,000 has already been collected and donations from the public are needed and would be very much appreciated. Mr. Rod Morrison is willing to take these donations at the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Anyone interested in joining will please consult Mr. Charles Faille, Membership Committee.

The following are officers of the Huntingdon Curling Club: Mr. R. R. Tinker, President; Mr. Harold McLean, Vice-President; Mr. Earl C. Martin, Secretary; Mr. R. C. Morrison, Treasurer; Mr. Cecil Stark, Mr. M. L. Duke and Mr. G. McMillan, Additional Directors.

Members of the Match Committee are: Mr. J. Lanktree, Mr. E. C. Martin, Mr. M. L. Duke, Mr. Ray Wilson, Mr. H. McLean and Mr. D. Moody.

The probable date for the rink to start operations this year will be December 3rd.

Banquet Tendered Long Service Employees of J. W. Kilgour Bros., Beauharnois

Silver and Gold Pins and $100 Bonds Presented To 25 and 50 Year Employees

A Long Service Banquet on behalf of employees of J. W. Kilgour Bros. Limited, Furniture, Manufacturers, was held in the Queen's Hotel, Montreal, on Thursday afternoon. A chartered Provincial Transport bus and cars, provided transportation leaving from the factory at 12:00 P.M. Mr. C. W. Kilgour presented the quarter-century employees with silver pins and a one-hundred-dollar bond. Half-century employees received gold pins and a one-hundred-dollar bond. This is the second of these banquets for long service in the Company. The last was held in 1945, when there were three employees from the Beauharnois Branch with 50 years service. Since that date there are seven Beauharnois employees with fifty years service. In 1945 there were thirty-seven Beauharnois employees with 25 years service and seven from Coaticook. To date there are forty-seven quarter century members from Beauharnois, and ten Coaticook members which brings this remarkable total of long service employees to the figure of sixty-five. This is indeed an outstanding recommendation of existing harmony between employer and employee, which is rarely found in these turbulent days.

Below are the listed names of the employees sharing the honors.

Meeting in Interest of H. & S. Assoc.

To Be Held At School November 29

A meeting of all those interested in the formation of a Home and School Association will be held in the Auditorium of the H.H.S. on Wednesday night, Nov. 29th, at 8:30. This meeting is to place before the interested parties the objectives and aims of such an association.

To bring this clearly before the public and to clarify any features that may not be understood, the Board has invited Dr. E. C. Powell, President of the Provincial Association and Mr. Lionel Robb, past President of the Valleyfield Association to address the gathering.

Whatever hazy notions we have about the organization should all be clarified by these speakers, and any organization which has aims to enrich the life of the school and of the community should be encouraged.

WHEN BUYING A DRESS WATCH FOR

(a) "Flock" Prints: The Dry Cleaners Institute has advised that care should be taken in selecting your new afternoon or evening dress if the material has a pattern outlined and raised on the surface made up of fine particles. In most cases these are blown on to the material under pressure after the pattern has been outlined with glue. These particles stick to the glue making the design. There is nothing on the back of the material. After the dresses are cleaned once or twice the glue dissolves and the "flock" falls off. "Flock" prints are usually done on nets, satin and taffetas.

(b) Enamelled and Painted Patterns: Buy with care dresses which have designs painted on the surface of the material, the back of which is clear. After one or two cleanings the patterns may dry out, crack or fall off the material.

X-Ray Machines for Fittings:

Our April 1950 newsletter reported that "radiologists and public health authorities are concerned about the practice of using X-ray machines for fitting shoes because THERE IS NO CONTROL OVER THE FREQUENCY OF THE USE BY AN INDIVIDUAL. They point out that a person may go from store to store and use the X-ray at each one (for their own fittings or those of their children) many times within a short period. Apparently, it is the frequency of exposure which constitutes the great danger."

The Canadian Shoe Retailers Association in cooperation with health officers have been making an exhaustive enquiry throughout the United States and Canada. They report that as yet there is no evidence of any actual harm traceable to shoe-fitting fluroscopes. They ask CAC members to report any cases of actual harm caused by X-ray shoe-fitting machines.

Your Question Box:

1. Ques.: "Why does the size of a loaf of bread vary in different parts of Canada?

Ans.: The size of a standard loaf of bread is set by Provincial authorities. Some Provinces have adopted as their standard the 16 oz. loaf, others the 20 oz. loaf, etc.

2. Ques.: "Why does the nylon blouse I bought need ironing after washing? Why can't I iron it successfully?

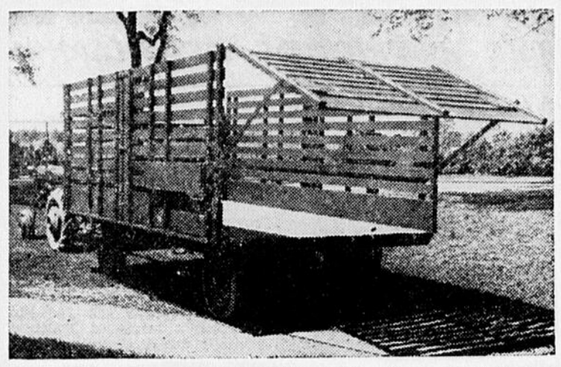

Ans.: The convener of our Standards Committee advises as follows: "One of nylon's outstanding properties is its ability to take a set. This means that nylon fabrics may be formed to a shape when exposed to high temperatures resulting from saturated steam under pressure. This shape holds during ordinary use. To unset it, it would have to be exposed to more severe conditions than those used in the setting. This, of course, would have to be done in a mill.

It is this presetting that gives nylon hose their shape. You remember how silk stockings on washing went to a tube form which was stretched back to shape on the leg? Nylons, on the other hand, as you know, hold the leg shape all through washing. It is this presetting, also, which cuts down the ironing of nylon fabric to a minimum. (A light touching up to freshen them is sometimes desirable).

If a blouse is wrinkled and unironable, this finishing operation has not been done properly. In other words, the fabric has not been set. It may be that there was not sufficient or uniform penetration of the material. Therefore the only thing to do is to return the blouse to the retailer with the complaint that the presetting finish is inadequate and obviously not well controlled. This condition is not common now as the Canadian mills are equipped to give satisfactory heat setting treatments."

How To Make Farm Trailers

FARM TRAILERS POPULAR—The rubber-tired "trailer" is fast becoming standard equipment on Canadian farms, but until recently the farmer had had no help at all on constructing racks for the low-slung, high-speed vehicles. Now the Canada Department of Agriculture has issued a detailed publication on farm trailers, wagons and racks, devoting more than 20 pages to a wide variety of suggestions, specifications, photographs and drawings to allow the farmer to make the most of his rubber-tired wagon.It is Publication No. 830, available from the Information Service, Canada Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa.

With the recent advent of the rubber-tired "trailer" on the farms of Canada, farm transportation has been considerably speeded up. It was probably the growing popularity and availability of the rubber-tired tractor that made the farmer go after a trailer to suit; one he was able to haul at speeds from 10 to 15 miles an hour. He wanted it for hauling produce to market and for use around the farm. The rubber-tired equipment puts less "drag" on the towing vehicle and the racks can be made much lower for ease in loading.

It was the problem of building racks to fit these new farm vehicles that had most farmers at a loss. The farm engineering experts of the Canada Department of Agriculture came to their aid recently with a special publication designed to give them all necessary details on such construction. The publication, "Farm Trailers, Wagons and Racks" by W. Kalbfleisch, J. M. Armstrong, D. J. Cooper and A. I. Magee, of the Agricultural Engineering staff may be obtained from the Department of Agriculture on request.

The bulletin, which is fully illustrated, gives the steps necessary to construct the particular kind of trailer required, and lists the material needed to do the job. A half ton trailer with removable side racks, for instance, can be mounted on the front-end axle and wheel assembly from a light automobile. Commercial axles and wheels may also be used in the construction of light trailers and the unit can be assembled with or without springs. On trailers without springs, low pressure tires are desirable to make the trailer ride more easily. For trailers of greater capacity, motor truck front axles are recommended.

Sometimes a low-slung wagon with ramps is required for loading equipment or supplies. Such a trailer can be made by suspending the wagon box between a front and rear axle and wheels. The assemblies from a 1½-2 ton motortruck can be used for this purpose. Heavy duty trailers can be used to great advantage on many farms, and for such work the trailer frame and platform should be sturdily constructed.

In hauling operations on public roads and highways every precaution should be taken to prevent accidents. All highway regulations should be adhered to and the tractor and vehicle should be under complete control at all times. For instance, safety chains between tractor or automobile and trailer are compulsory in many districts. Light tractors with heavily loaded trailers should be operated at moderate speeds and in low gear going down hills. "It is important" the authors point out "that brakes on tractors be locked together or applied evenly with caution when hauling a loaded wagon or trailer."

London-New York In Six Hours

Leaving London at noon and arriving at Idlewild airport after New Yorkers have had lunch is the prospect for fast Altantic crossings when Britain's "Comet", the first jet air liner, gets into transocean service four years hence.

James Dugan, describing the new deHaviland ship in an article, says the Comet cruises at 450 m.p.h., will make the London-New York run in six hours, at an altitude of eight miles. To passengers on the east-west trip, the sun will appear to stand almost still, as they will be traveling west nearly as fast as the earth is rolling east.

A Canadian counterpart, the Avro Canada Jetliner, will operate between major North American cities, the article points out. The first Canadian-built Jetliner took off from Ontario's Malton airport a few days after the deHaviland Comet's maiden flight in England. A. V. Roe Canada is now building its second Jetliner with 95 per cent Canadian staff.

The condensed account says England's Comet is about the size of the Constellation. Four jet engines are enclosed in the wings; between each pair is a housing for a Sprite rocket engine which can be used to accelerate takeoffs. For 12 seconds the two Sprites can boost the plane's horsepower to 48,000---nearly a quarter as much as the total horsepower of the huge passenger liner Queen Mary. Although about 200 m.p.h. faster than the nearest American competitor, the Comet will not be an extra-fare plane. In fact, its economy of operation may bring lower fares.

Twenty-five thousand blueprints went into the Comet's design before the plane was approved in theory. The deHaviland Company was so confident of the blueprints that it accepted government orders for 16 Comets and guaranteed a price before even a single prototype was built for testing.

INTERIOR DECORATING

The right stuffing in a chicken, turkey or duck can do much to bring the roasted bird to perfection. On the other hand if the stuffing is too highly seasoned or of poor texture it will spoil the delicacy of any poultry.

Bread is usually the chief ingredient of stuffing and bread swells during cooking, so care must be taken not to fill the cavity too full or the dressing will be too solid. One cup of dressing for every pound of poultry is a good guide. It is always better to make too much than too little. Any extra dressing may be put into a greased baking dish and heated in the oven beside the bird for the last forty-five minutes before dinner. The extra dressing goes well on bone-picking day when every crumb in the bird has disappeared at the first sitting.

Consistency is important. Too much liquid will make a soggy, heavy dressing. With too little liquid the result will be a crumbly and uninteresting mixture.

A dressing may also be used as an extender. A boned stuffed shoulder of pork or a "Mock Duck" of lean beef, will both yield many more servings because of the bread dressing. A meat loaf which in itself is an excellent meat extender may be made to go even farther if a layer of dressing is put between two layers of the minced meat mixture.

These recipes for stuffings are worth keeping on the special file. They have all been tested in "Canada's Kitchen" by the home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture.

CRANBERRY STUFFING

1 cup cranberries
1/3 cup sugar
2 tablespoons fruit juice
4 cups medium dry bread crumbs
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon marjoram or poultry seasoning
¼ cup diced celery
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Put cranberries through food chopper using coarse blade. Mix with sugar and fruit juice and allow to stand until sugar is dissolved. Mix bread crumbs, salt, seasoning, celery and parsley. Combine with cranberries, blending well. Yield: about 5 cups dressing.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Simpson visited the Misses Sarah and Margaret Simpson and Mr. Marshall Simpson of Champlain, N.Y. the past week.

Miss Jean Lowden spent the week-end with friends in Montreal.

Messrs. Robt. King, R. Taylor and Mr. King's elder son Nelson, of Montreal were callers at Mr. W. R. Perry's.

Pie cherries or apricots may be substituted for cranberries in the above recipe but 1/3 cup sugar should then be omitted.

Note: This stuffing, using the sour cherries is particularly good in duck.

New Luxuries in Travel

Your grandfather would be amazed at modern methods of travel. The trains, planes, buses, cars and boats of today provide speed and comfort undreamed of before the "Machine Age"—or the "Chemical Era" as it is sometimes called. For no matter how or where you go, your path is eased by the magic of Chemistry . . . a science that contributes to travel comfort in countless ways. Plastics in many forms, Paints and Varnishes, Nylon, Chemicals, "Fabrikoid" and "Fabrilite" (luxurious yet practical upholstering materials) all play an important part in the building, equipping and maintenance of all types of modern transportation. Yes, Chemistry, as identified by the C-I-L Oval, is a symbol of progress in the transportation industry, an example of C-I-L

Civic Elections

IN Montreal a campaign has already been set in motion for the purpose of acquainting the municipal electors with the duties of the various members of the city council and its administration. While elections in Huntingdon will not take place until February, 1951, already there is talk about who will be running at that time.

During the past two years, Huntingdon has experienced a fairly peaceful period of civic administration and much needed work has been done in a satisfactory manner. The general operation has been good and for the most part harmony has existed among town employees and members of the council. It has been entirely different to the preceeding administration which was at loggerheads all the time and disgruntled with the employees of the town on more than one occasion. Finances are in better condition and where possible at all, requests of the taxpayers have been granted.

Some of the members of the present council have intimated that they may not stand again and it is rumored that there may be a contest for the seat of Mayor. Those interested in good administration would do well to prepare for the retaining of as many of the present members as possible, or to looking around for suitable candidates to replace those who may not wish to stand for a further term. It is not too early, December will soon be with us and then the rush of the holiday season will slow down the tempo. A few weeks after the holiday season and the election period will be on. No doubt the next few months of the present council's term will be spent in cleaning up affairs in readiness for the termination of their period of administration. We feel that they will leave everything in good order for that is the way that their business has been carried on. Let us try and keep it that way.

Ticket Selling Campaigns

A number of people have complained recently of children calling at their homes and selling tickets for this and that. It is not so much the fact that these children offer the tickets for sale, for it is realised that the various events must be supported.

The fact is each sales campaign should be better organized by those in charge. That is to say, when a sales campaign is planned, the town should be divided off into zones and each child or person should be given a certain zone and each told only to canvas that particular zone. If that person then calls at a house and the occupants are not home, it can be marked down for a further call until every one in the particular zone has been seen.

As it is now, quite a number of people are bothered many times for the same purpose and in a number of cases have already bought tickets or whatever it is that is being offered. It means that perhaps a person is in the basement, upstairs, perhaps resting, they drop what they are doing to answer the door to find it is another ticket-seller. The child cannot be blamed entirely, he or she is trying to do a good job and perhaps they are quite zealous. In having so many calls at the same places over and over again, discourages the child who receives all the "no's" and it may be hard to get them to try the work again. Whereas, given a territory, this same child may do very well and get much training in the way of politeness and salesmanship. Not only that, those called upon will feel more inclined to buy in support of a cause than if they are continually bothered for the same purpose.

Why not plan your future sales campaigns with this in mind and keep everyone happy.

Shortages Looming

CANADA is preparing—preparing for peace or war—it is difficult to say with any degree of finality. Yes, we have a war, but Canada is not identified as a nation that is actually fighting that war, but she is identified that her troops have been called upon to enter it. The war is being fought by United Nations forces and Canada is a member of the United Nations. On the other hand there is a fear that war on a larger scale may break out whereby Canada will have to fight all out. Thus Canada prepares for defense on the offchance that such preparations will divert the possibility of total war.

We all know the restrictions that were placed upon us during World War II and the shortages we were forced to sustain. We know full well that another war will bring on these same shortages and perhaps even greater ones. Already signs are on the horizon that certain goods and materials will be in short supply in the not too distant future. You remember when cars were put out with painted bumpers and trim instead of the now high amount of chrome that appears. According to information published in a leading trade paper, the time is coming when this may happen again. Nickel is in very short supply at the present time as much of it is going into the manufacture of goods for defense. Already it is reported some manufacturers are cutting down the amount of nickel used for trimming purposes. This goes for many household gadgets, refrigerators, stoves and such like.

Steel is short and this may be the cause of a reduction in the number of articles being manufactured from this commodity. It may include cars, household appliances, etc.

It is possible that a rationing system may be placed on the building of new homes because many of the materials are required in defense plans. Already an attempt has been made by the requirement of larger down payments, to discourage new building, but it has not slowed it down sufficiently.

The above are only a few samples of what to expect in the near future and only providing the situation remains as is today. Should it develop into greater conflict, then clamps would come down immediately.

Korea is a long way from Canada, but its effects are already being felt although we have not as yet taken a real part in the action. When, and if we do get into action, the situation may be even worse. We have not yet got into full swing on defense works and here again the pinch may be felt.

With the shortages, higher prices have appeared on many products because the demand is still great. The Government has placed certain restrictions in force to break down the demand, the effect is really quite small. But all of this emerges from the state of the world and the uncertainty of the actions that may be taken.

Some car manufacturers are experimenting with plastic as a substitute for chrome, figuring to replace chrome door handles with plastic. Such may add to the attractiveness of the car, but the durability would be an unknown quantity.

A Tidy Town an Asset

JUST recently the long promised waste paper receptacles have appeared along streets in town and appear to have done much in the way of collecting paper bags, paper and other waste materials. Passing along Chateauguay Street on a Sunday, the street presents a much more tidy appearance than was the case before these receptacles were in evidence.

It is quite evident from the way the people have taken to use these receptacles in the short time they have been placed on the streets, that they are really anxious to keep the town tidy and clean.

The Board of Trade is to be commended on having the receptacles placed on the streets and the Town Council on its co-operation with the Board of Trade.

Vanishing Romance

IN the relentless sweep of 20th-century progress, many of the things long cherished by youth have disappeared. They won't be back.

So you can wave farewell—with a tear in your eye and a blot on memory's door—to such mundane things as the slowly-vanishing train whistle, the wooden lath and the old-time butcher.

The train whistle, for instance. What small boy hasn't stood in the autumn darkness, the crisp, chill smell of late fall around him and thrilled to the long-drawn out WHOO-WHOO-whoo of the fast freight high-balling through town? That was the voice of romance, of far places, of commerce and then eventually partaken of by any young listener.

Now we have, and will have more of, the squawk of the diesel engine's horn for which the best that can be said is that it sounds like some mechanical giant honking, "I Wanta Go Where The Wild Goose Goes."

Or the lath? The way they build houses now, the lath, as it used to be—a slender, rough-faced piece of wood about five feet long—is a thing of the past. What they call lathing now goes on the house in great sheets. It means the home-seeker gets his home quickly.

They say, too, the old-fashion butcher is on the way out. He's the mustachioed, red-faced fellow in the long white, blood-covered apron who could carry a half of beef under each arm or carve a bullock faster than most folk could split a deck of cards.

Today's story is there are too many other, cleaner jobs around the young fellows don't fancy the butcher's seven years' apprenticeship. Anyway the mass-production chain store technique is doing away with much of the need for the counter-man butcher of the old school.

The ice moved out of the rivers in this district on Sunday night last and Monday forenoon. During Sunday evening it rained heavily and the streams were soon at flood heights but fell rapidly during Monday night. We have heard of no damage from the high water and are glad the ice went out so easily this year.

March 23

Last Friday afternoon, the house of Sherman Lewis, about two miles east of this village was destroyed by fire together with a large portion of his household effects. The fire is thought to have originated in the chimney, and when discovered, was under such headway that it was impossible to enter the chamber. The male members of the family were absent from home and some time elapsed before efficient assistance arrived at the spot. Mr. Lewis among other things, lost a large lot of fine potatoes and most of the contents of the cellar. He was insured for only $500.00 consequently his loss is very heavy. The neighbours have kindly tendered their sympathy and assistance and are helping to erect a dwelling on the site of the one burned.

The Grand Trunk steamer Iroquois, plying between Lachine and Caughnawaga, was destroyed by fire on Wednesday morning about daybreak. The cause of the accident is at present unknown. Passengers from Montreal had to cross the river in canoes and will probably have to do so for some time.

The army bill in England, abolishing the system of purchasing officers' commissions seems likely to pass. The plan to be substituted is that of appointment and promotion by merit. It is thought it will make the army more popular and secure a more intellectual class of officer.

March 30.

A man has just left our editorial rooms who had on dilapidated clothing, a dirty shirt, and who said that three nights ago he slept in a Police Station because he had no where else to sleep. The last two nights he had walked the streets all night. He wanted something to do. He was educated and held a good position in England, and had lost the little money he brought with him by falling into the hands of business sharpers and now had neither money nor work. He was willing to do anything that was not menial. In the columns of our daily papers are advertisements by men and women who will accept any place that is not menial. The world owes them a living, they evidently think.

April 6.

The Village Council at its meeting on Monday, passed a by-law fixing the rate for the year at ¾ of a cent on the dollar, the same as last year. A sidewalk was ordered to be made from Mr. Walsh's store to Barrette's Hotel. Mr. James Pringle was appointed inspector of the village side-walks, and earns 80 cents for each day he is employed. Certificates for tavern licences were granted to Barrett and Milne. Orders were given for the renewal of several crossings to be three planks wide.

The dwelling house and outbuildings belonging to Mr. Hiram Adams of Franklin, were totally consumed by fire on Friday last. Origin of the fire unknown, loss about $1500., no insurance.

April 13

On Tuesday evening a thunderstorm passed over this region. The peals of thunder were few but unusually loud. The weather has been on the whole seasonable and the last rain has given a start to the grass. The St. Lawrence River is now open and store-keepers are hoping navigation will be resumed earlier than usual. It would be a great advantage if the canals were opened at once instead of waiting until the 1st of May.

A fire in St. Johns, N.B. on Saturday destroyed between 30 and 40 homes.

May 11

The new Presbyterian church at Durham, St. Paul's, which has been in course of erection during the past two years is now completed and will be opened on Sunday on which occasion the Rev. Mr. Clark will be assisted by Professor McKerras, M.A., of Queen's College, Kingston, and the Rev. K. Campbell, M.A., of St. Gabriel's, Montreal. Services to commence at 11 a.m. and 6.30 p.m. Special collections in aid of the building fund will be taken up at both services.

May 18

A great many children have died in St. Anicet village and vicinity within the past few weeks. One, Socier, lost three within forty-eight hours. Two of them being twins about five years of age. The disease seems to be some kind of fever and generally proves fatal in two or three days.

June 1.

Out of the surplus left from the dinner provided for the volunteers a picnic was furnished to the Sunday School children on Monday afternoon. The tables on Dr. Shirriff's grounds were respread and the little guests did full justice to the entertainment. Addresses were afterwards delivered to them by the several clergymen of the village and by the Rev. Mr. White of Wakefield, Ont. Mr. McGregor, the Principal, of the Academy, presided.

Why Reds Invaded Tibet

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

The Chinese invasion of Tibet has brought that strange and remote land into the war news. The country and its people are more remote in the sense of time than of distance, for although Tibet is in Central Asia and borders on China and India, the Tibetans have been little influenced by modern civilizations, and their mode of life, customs, religion and form of government are much as they were a thousand years ago. This is due to the fact that the country comprises a vast and lofty plateau, rimmed by snow-capped mountains, some of the peaks of which rise to more than 20,000 feet. These mountains have presented an almost impenetrable barrier to invaders and a natural "Iron Curtain" to progressive ideas.

While much of the country is desert land, there are fertile valleys, which yield fruits, vegetables, and grains, and furnish pasturage for large numbers of yaks, horses, sheep and goats. Until about fifty years ago the mountain barrier and the inhospitable attitude of the people excluded all but the most hardy and adventurous travellers. A British expedition from India, under Sir Francis Younghusband, succeeded in reaching Lhasa, the sacred capital, and secured trading rights, and the British influence continued up until the withdrawal from India. This latter has doubtless encouraged the Chinese Reds, prompted by Soviet Russia, to move into Tibet, and it is little wonder that independent India is alarmed and fears that she may be the next to be drawn within the Iron Curtain.

But the Chinese, even with the backing of Soviet Russia, will have more than their hands full in trying to occupy Tibet and impose a Communist government upon the Tibetans. Genghis Khan invaded the country and formally annexed it to China, but the Tibetans have lived an isolated and self-contained life for centuries, shut in from the outside world by the circle of high mountains. There is everything within that circle to sustain the life of the inhabitants, which is largely primitive. There are two great rivers and extensive chains of fresh and salt water lakes. The inhabitants of the vast barren stretches of central and northern Tibet are nomadic, and those of the fertile southern valleys are settled in towns and villages, the most important of which is Lhasa, the seat of the Dalai Lama.

In religion the Tibetans profess a form of Buddhism known as Lamaism, and the great Lama is the supreme religious and political authority. A missionary, who recently left Tibet after spending 30 years there, described the country as "entirely religious," with one-quarter of the male population in Lamist monasteries, so that it has never had more than a token army. A highly-organized hierarchal government rules over thousands of monasteries, but there are numerous tribes, each with a government of its own, and they fight amongst themselves. This lack of national unity and defence rendered the Tibetans an easy mark for military conquest, but is believed that some of the tribes will carry on guerrilla warfare against the Communists.

The latest news at this time of writing is that India has sent a note to Peiping expressing surprise and regret at the invasion, but the Reds claim that the "liberation" of Tibet is "an internal matter," and declare they will not tolerate any outside interference. It is one thing, however, to take the country by force and another to transform the Tibetans into loyal Communists by the same method. The Chinese Reds no doubt realize this, and they are not so much concerned with converting the people to Communism as they are with what they term the "consolidation of China's own borders for security reasons." Which, in other words, means the securing of a fortress jumping-off place for an invasion of India from the north, while Russia moves in from the west. Mr. Nehru may now regret that he was so insistent upon the British pulling out of India.

The Week At Ottawa...

OTTAWA, (CP)—While most of Canada's special brigade was moving to the big United States military camp at Fort Lewis, Wash., for final training, Canada's foreign policy was beginning to take shape this week.

It is still not known whether the entire brigade will go to Korea or not. So far, one battalion and supporting troops—perhaps about 1,000 of the 11,000-man brigade—has been committed. Decision on the destination of the remainder of the force is being held in abeyance pending word from the United Nations, which in turn is awaiting world developments.

Meanwhile the government's policy regarding Korea at least was clarified in a speech at Windsor, Ont., by External Affairs Minister Pearson. The minister said Canada will not support any extension of military operations in Korea "unless and until it is clear that Chinese Communist forces have been sent to Korea on more than a protective and border mission."

The government feels, Mr. Pearson said, the Korean fighting should be "confined and localized." If this was not possible, the policy "should avoid giving anyone else an excuse for extending it."

Canada also had urged that nothing should be done in the establishment of a united and free Korea which should carry the slightest menace to Korea's neighbors, and that this policy should be followed "so long as there is any chance of preventing the war from spreading."

Korea Only One Aspect

On Formosa, Canada was prepared to support any United Nations decision that Formosa continue to be neutralized as long as the Korean war made it necessary. However, the Canadian government still believed that "in some manner and at some time" Formosa should be taken from Japan and returned to China, as stated in the 1943 Cairo declaration by the United States, Britain and China.

The problems behind the troubles in Asia should not be forgotten, Mr. Pearson added. There could be no continuing peace in Asia until a start had been made in improving the well-being of its people. Technical assistance to under-developed countries offered "one of the most practical and promising ways of eliminating the poverty in Asia on which communism feeds and fattens."

He added that Canadians should continue to hope that it will be possible again in the future to negotiate with the Soviet Union "with some home of reaching mutually acceptable arrangements." But negotiations were useless "unless we can lead from strength rather than weakness."

Air Defence Pattern

The pattern of Canada's air defence program is gradually emerging, and it is one which gives first priority to the protection of the highly-industrialized areas of Toronto and Montreal as well as vital United States regions to the south of the dominion's two largest cities.

This contrasted with United States plans to base its air strength in the west, with headquarters in Colorado, near the foothills of the Rockies. While there have been no public announcements about it, it appeared that Canada may become responsible for eastern regions in the over-all continental defence pattern, with the U.S. concentrating its strength in the west and north-west.

Canada's part is emerging in the building of airfields and radar bases in Ontario and Quebec. This ties in with Canada's production of new fighter planes which appear to be among the world's fastest and most versatile. The planes are being built in Toronto and Montreal and will be in use next year by regular and reserve fighter squadrons based in Central Canada.

Dominion-Provincial Talks

Special sessions of the Quebec and Manitoba legislatures delayed federal-provincial meetings which were to have started this week. The conference to discuss further the question of giving Canada complete constitutional independence was set at Nov. 23.

A general federal-provincial conference which will be open to various other questions of relations between the provinces and the government here is scheduled to open Dec. 4.

Quantity, Not Quality

The latest bureau of statistics report on Canada's 1950 wheat crop places it well above the 10-year average. It is estimated at 461,730,000 bushels—higher by 94,000,000 bushels than the 367,400,000 bushels produced in 1949 and substantially above the 10-year average of 394,000,000.

However, the crop, one of the biggest in history, is also one of the poorest. It still isn't known how much of this year's crop is below milling grade—No. 4 Northern or better. But much of the crop—once estimated at 544,000,000 bushels—was hit hard by prairie frosts.

Best guesses are that about half the 1950 crop will be low-grade, compared with less than 13 per cent of the 1949 crop.

Kilbain

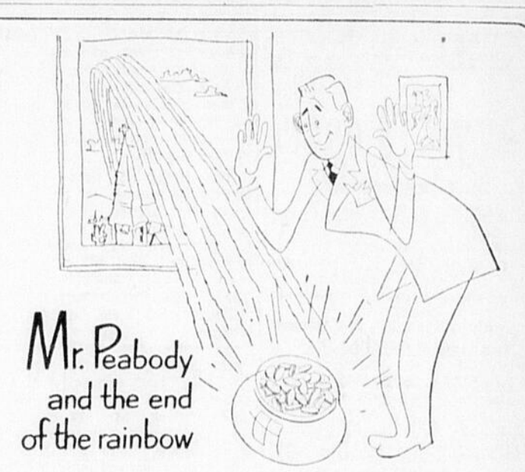

KILBAIN—Mr. and Mrs. Harold McNicol, Bruce and Bryan were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emmet McDonagh.

Miss Marjory O'Connor was a week-end visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Connor.

Mrs. Thomas O'Connor spent a few days in Valleyfield with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leroux.

Mr. and Mrs. James Higgins and Sharon spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bannon.

Mr. and Mrs. Higgins and Sharon, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bannon and Bill were Sunday callers in Bombay, Brushton and Malone, N.Y.

• You could have knocked Mr. Peabody over with a feather. For there, right through the window of his own room, came a rainbow. And at the end of it was a huge pot of gold!

As he approached it to see if it was real, he heard the sound of bells. "The whole countryside has heard of this!" thought Mr. Peabody. "That's why the bells are ringing." And the sound of the bells grew louder . . . louder . . . LOUDER . . .

Mr. Peabody awoke with a start. The alarm clock beside his bed was ringing . . . ringing . . . RINGING. Shutting it off, he sighed sadly, got up and dressed.

Listening to the radio as he ate his breakfast, Mr. Peabody heard somebody say that old-age benefits should provide everybody with enough to retire on.

"Hmmph!" snorted Mr. Peabody to himself. "More rainbows! I like the idea of additional help for older people. But to build the kind of comfortable old-age income I want, I fully expect to need all my life insurance — and maybe more. It gives my family protection now. And it covers my own special needs in a way no mass programme could possibly do."

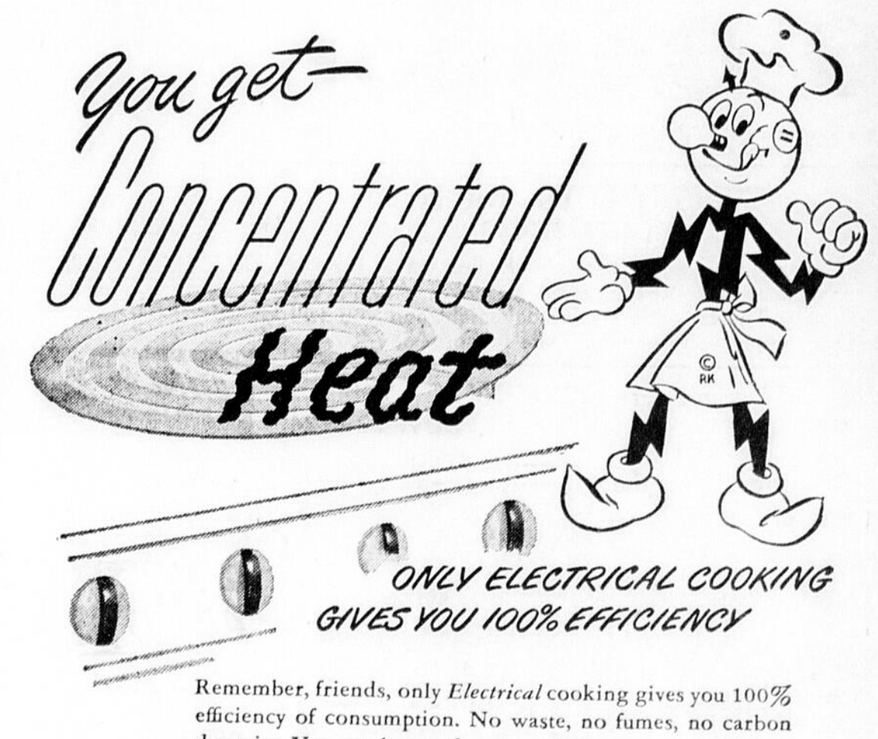

Arriving at his store, Mr. Peabody, like millions of other Canadians, began another day of working, earning and saving for his future security with life insurance.

"Even without pots of gold, it's a pretty good world," he said to himself. And as he worked, he began to whistle softly.

Autumn Thank-offering

The Autumn thank-offering meeting of the United Church Woman's Missionary Society was held in the lecture-room on Wednesday afternoon, with the President, Miss Pringle, presiding. The meeting opened with the Doxology, followed by the reading of the poem "The Goodness of God," and the singing of a hymn. The worship service was conducted by five of the members after which prayer was offered.

Miss Pringle then welcomed Mrs. Reese, the guest-speaker, who gave a most interesting and comprehensive account of the 34th Annual Convention of the National Woman's Christian Temprance Union held in Montreal in September. The theme of the Convention was "Courage." Each Provincial President gave a two minutes' talk on the events which shewed progress in the work during the last two years. The chief speaker was Dr. Little of Toronto. His topic was "Canada's National Scourge." He stressed the fact that the present situation in the Liquor Traffic is everybody's problem. One of the most striking and encouraging features of the Convention was the report of the stand taken by the Indians of Alberta in regard to the change in the Liquor Laws. 12 Major Chiefs, 25 Minor Chiefs and 60 delegates representing 14,000 tribesmen rejected the clause in the proposed Provincial Act granting them the right to enter beer parlors. They resolutely declared, "We, the Indians, intend to live by our Treaty." The Convention closed with a spirit of enthusiasm and a feeling of optimism for the future.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Reese for her inspiring address by Mrs. J. C. Reid, after which the meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction. The ladies then enjoyed a social hour together.

The offering amounted to $150.

Miss J. M. McGinnis returned home from the Barrie Memorial Hospital, Saturday.

Miss McGinnis was suffering from an attack of acute arthritis, being badly crippled when taken to the Hospital. Under the supervision of Dr. Davidson, treatment by the new drug, Cortisone, was given and soon began to show marvelous results.

This being the first case at The Barrie Memorial of treatment by Cortisone proved very interesting to the doctors and nurses. Results to date are very satisfactory, to the patient and all concerned.

TATEHURST—On Thursday afternoon the Upper and Lower Ormstown Group of the Presbyterian W.M.S. was entertained at the home of Mrs. Eddie Hooker. A quilt was worked on during the afternoon. Rev. "WEAKER" SEX?

Although the old belief concerning the inferiority of women still lingers, the so-called weaker sex is physically superior to men, declares Louis I. Dublin. Mr. Dublin is vice-president and statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. His article, examining the statistics on the young and old of both sexes, is condensed from a magazine article.

Throughout the entire life span, the female mortality rate is lower than the male. Nature makes some allowance for this by arranging that 106 boys are born for every 100 girls. The ratio female survival is higher even before birth, for prenatal mortality from miscarriages and stillbirths is considerably higher for males. Infectious diseases of childhood, except whooping cough, are more often fatal to boys than to girls, and accidental deaths are one and one-half times as frequent among boys.

In early adulthood the mortality rates of both sexes are almost even, but women still have the advantage: at 25 a woman has a life expectancy of 44 years, as against 42 for the man of the same age. Widows outnumber widowers 55 to 45, the wide ratio being partly due to the fact that most women marry men older than themselves.

The female intelligence is not inferior, Dublin says, but only different. Investigators have found that in certain subjects girls excel, in others boys are ahead. Girls and boys score about equally in I.Q. tests.

Women lose more time from work, as a result of illness, than do men, but this indicates merely that women pamper colds and other mild indispositions while men do not. Such pampering frequently prevents the development of more serious illness and may be one reason why women live longer.

More women than men attempt suicide, but men's efforts at self-destruction more often succeed. Possibly women do not really want to kill themselves, Dublin observes, but want only to draw attention to their grievances.

Since more women survive, the greater share of the nation's wealth is controlled by them. In the United States, for example, they are beneficiaries of 80 per cent of all life insurance, and receive 71 per cent of the estates left by men and 64 per cent of those left by other women.

Garden City --- Annexation

This is the last opportunity through the medium of the press that we citizens of Garden City will have to address the voters of Huntingdon Town. On Monday, November 27th, you will go to the poll to decide by your ballot whether you want us as a part of your town, or not. We hope you will approve of us as we want to be a part of your community.

If you decide to let us join you, we will not be a burden upon you — rather we shall become an asset and contribute annually to your revenue. Hinchinbrooke has decided to accept the offer of $2,500 to be paid in instalments of $500 each year for the next five years. At our present assessment, we shall contribute approximately $1,300 each year to the town. That means we shall pay the $500 and give a balance of $800 each year until the total amount of $2,500 has been paid. After that time the town will get all the revenue. We are not asking for new sewers, sidewalks, streets and so forth as some people have said is our desire. We only want to become part of your town and share in the facilities offered by your town. Our properties are an asset to you and have been built to a standard — not run down and shacky — but up-to-date and well cared for.

the Church and said it "With Flowers."

And then in our personal contacts appreciation clearly expressed is in order. Parents, husband, or wife, children—we take them all too much for granted. We are apt to express ourselves vigourously when they fail or when they irritate us. But we accept their loyalty and affection and help in silence. If we lose them we go out and buy them flowers which they are no longer able to enjoy. How much better it would be to "say it with flowers" while they are still with us.

Rev. J. B. Maclean, D.D. expressed the thanks of the audience to Mr. Lloyd for his excellent address which contained such good advice well seasoned with humor. "You have said it with flowers," Dr. Maclean concluded, "and we have not only listened to you with pleasure, but we will also do what you have told us."

Franklin Centre

FRANKLIN CENTRE — The C.G.I.T. held their meeting at the home of their leader, Mrs. James Manning, on Wednesday afternoon. Miss Eileen Patenaude had charge of the devotional period and a new devotional convener was elected by the group, Miss Iris Barr. The group put a lot of stress on their uniform and its proper appearance, particularly the tying of the C.G.I.T.'s tie, and the reason why it is knotted. From their new study book, "Japan" the customs of Japan were discussed and a few Japanese words and symbols were learned. Plans were made to send an afghan to Japan. Their project, the Home Nursing Course, filled in the hour before supper, which was served them by their hostess, Mrs. Manning.

Mrs. Manning's Temperance Course Class is now closed; but on account of so many pupils being sick and being unable to attend classes, a few days extra have been granted them.

Mrs. Ross Dunn and aunt, Mrs. Annie Wallace visited with Mr. and Mrs. Miles Towns, in Huntingdon, on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brooks and Joan, of Lacolle, spent Saturday with Mrs. Inez Brooks and Merle.

The evening was pleasantly spent by playing Euchre and "500". Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Dumas' daughters-in-law, Mrs. Joseph Dumas and Mrs. Peccie Dumas. This was really a "farewell party" given to Mrs. Dumas as she expects to leave shortly for the city for an indefinite period of time.

The W.M.S. and W.A. met at the home of Mrs. Floyd Stevenson, on Thursday afternoon, with a large number in attendance. The W.M.S. held their usual study period from their book, Japan. Plans were made for entertaining the Mission Band and C.G.I.T. group during the holidays. The W.A. was able to make their final payment on their share of the expenses in connection with the renovation of the church. These ladies bought and paid for the carpet, inlaid linoleum and draperies, and they certainly deserve credit for raising this amount, $420. The refreshment hostess was Mrs. Fred Stevenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wallace, their daughter, Mrs. Andrew Seath and sister, Mrs. Le Tual of St. Lambert, were Sunday afternoon callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Dunn. A number of school children are absent from school these days; some with chickenpox and others with infected throats. It is hoped these diseases will be cleared up shortly as the Christmas season is advancing and the usual concerts are being planned and the time is very short for preparing for them.

HAMMOND-KELLY

At the United Church, Huntingdon, Que., on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 18, the marriage took place of Margaret Isobel Kelly, elder daughter of the late R. Ward Kelly and Mrs. Kelly, to Charles Latham Hammond, son of the late Frank Hammond and Mrs. Hammond of Beaurepaire, Que. The Rev. Thomas Knowles officiated. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Norman Sparrow, and the soloist, Mrs. Marion Reese, sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

Potted ferns, bittersweet, pine and chrysanthemums decorated the church, the guest pews being marked with pine and bittersweet.

Attending the bride, as maid of honor, was her sister, Miss Roberta Kelly of Hamilton, and Mr. Henry Hammond acted as best man for his brother. The ushers were Mr. John Hammond and Mr. Joseph Brownrigg.

Given away by her uncle, Mr. Wm. L. Carr, the bride wore a white satin gown, made with a fitted bodice, having tiny satin-covered buttons to the waist, and sleeves ending in points over the hands, a bouffant skirt with short train, and a finger-tip veil of tulle illusion, held by a pearl beaded coronet. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of white carnations.

The maid-of-honor wore a floor-length gown of ice-blue satin, with nylon yoke and fitted bodice, with cape sleeves. She wore matching mitts and halo, and carried a nosegay of white baby 'mums and pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at The Chateau, where the decorations were yellow 'mums and white tapers. The couple left later for a motor trip through New York State, the bride wearing for travelling, a burgundy crepe dress with matching feather hat, grey kidskin jacket, and grey accessories, and her flowers, a corsage of gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammond will reside in Notre Dame de Grace on their return.

Forced Ventilation in The Stable

The above shows the type of ventilator mentioned in the accompanying article and one can see the electric motor and belt-driven pulley which operates the fan to force in the fresh air and take out the foul.

N. St. Jean, B.S.A. and
L. R. Deniger, B.S.A.

"Foul Moist Air:" Will decrease the longevity of your barn by rotting timber and lumber.

Will make boarders of your cows by reducing milk yields and by providing a favourable medium for the multiplication of bacteria of contagious diseases.

Will cause discomfort to you also who must work four to seven hours a day in the stable.

If the air in your stable, piggery or poultry house is laden with moisture, carbon dioxide and ammonia fumes, it means that your ventilation system is not operating properly and should be discarded if it cannot be improved upon and that on the basis that poor ventilation costs you money.

Let's study the type of ventilator which you may have working for you at present:

1. We will not bother discussing the use of windows, hay chutes, openings in the wall, etc., because they do not ventilate properly. If you had to eat, sleep and live in that kind of a stable twenty-four hours a day, what little faith you might have in that kind of a system would soon die out.

2. The gravity type ventilator is widely used today. A chimney is used to exhaust the foul air while the fresh air pushes its way into the stable through openings in the wall. A good proportion of these installations are or could be satisfactory with care and that means frequent daily setting of out-take and intakes; but honestly, how many farmers bother? It is almost useless to mention that the system should be reset during the night should there be a sudden change of temperature as I have never heard of it being done; but I have seen frozen water cups and pipes in the stable because there had been a sudden drop in temperature while out-take and intakes had been left wide open. In the meantime, Mr. Farmer was sleeping in a warm house.

There is a farmer near Ormstown who manages to regularly provide fresh air and maintain a fairly even temperature with the gravity type system, but he goes on record as saying that frequent daily settings are necessary. "I actually smell the air and feel it with my body and immediately, I know if it is fresh and at the right temperature." As an afterthought, it's a pity that all farmers haven't got as accurate natural detectors as this farmer. Their system would be so much more effective.

The functioning of a gravity type ventilation system depends on:

(a) The difference between the outside and inside temperature. The cold outside air pushes the warmer inside air up the chimney; the greater that difference the faster the air will be pushed up. The amount of ventilation therefore depends upon that margin of temperature. It may be too great or too small.

(b) The direction and velocity of the wind: The wind may suck the warm air from the chimney and, in other cases, it may have a completely different effect. It is a factor to be reckoned with but it cannot be controlled.

(c) The position of the chimney with regards to other buildings such as silos and houses, and surrounding trees, all of which may cause the wind to deflect down the chimney and cause a down draught.

(d) The frequency and accuracy of the setting of the gates of the out-take and intakes by the farmer.

These factors are too unpredictable to provide a steady performance in ventilation which calls for a supply of fresh air at the rate of 60 cubic feet per minute per cow; furthermore the removal of foul air must be continuous while the temperature is maintained at about 55° F. twenty-four hours a day.

3. The forced ventilation system at present is the one that seems to perform best and solve all problems satisfactorily. A well balanced forced ventilation system will exhaust moisture laden air regularly. Each cow liberates 1-2/5 gallons of water in twenty-four hours through the respiration and perspiration processes and as it evaporates into the air it starts its destructive work on your high price lumber unless it is removed. Furthermore a high relative humidity is a cause of discomfort to your cows and yourself—avoid it. Unless the air is continuously replaced a carbon dioxide concentration will build up in the air. This gas favours the multiplication of the bacteria of tuberculosis, pneumonia, etc. Carbon dioxide also combines with the ammonia fumes liberated from the manure to form ammonium carbonate and that last product regardless of its impressive name will rot your wood, leather and paint. Can you afford it? How much repair money have you spent without realizing that poor ventilation was the cause? Now that you know, what will you do about it? Furthermore air replacement helps maintain sanitary conditions for the production of food product by removing dust and foul odours. Sanitary inspectors will tell volumes of reasons why milk should be produced in a clean local.

The most appealing feature of the system is the accuracy of the temperature cycle. The thermostat is set at 55° F. or thereabouts. The fan cools the stable to 55° F. at which point the thermostat cuts the circuit. The cows will then heat up the stable to 58° F. at which point the circuit will close to set the fan in motion. A well balanced system will have the fan operating for long periods and stopping for relatively short periods.

The installation of such a system is simple and can be put up by one man within a few hours. This system operates in a stable having a well insulated wall and ceiling. The details of a good wall starting from the weather side to the inside are as follows: A ply of lumber, a 4" thickness of shavings, a ply of vapour-proof paper and a ply of lumber. Hay over the mow floor will provide good insulation for the ceiling of the stable.

Before considering the purchase of an electric ventilator, care must be taken to select a rugged and well built fan in order that it will withstand the action of moisture and dust to which it will be subjected. In order to overcome these problems, manufacturers use enclosed motors or fix the motor outside of the air stream and the fan is belt driven. At any rate, use a fan that has been designed and built for stable ventilation.

To bring this anti-aircraft gun into action calls for a full crew — skilled men trained to fight as a fast-thinking, fast-acting team. To train such a crew takes time: gun crews must know how to handle modern scientific equipment — electronics, radar, radio, telephone; men must work together with the closely timed co-ordination of a championship football team.

The Canadian Army Active Force needs men today . . . keen young men who can begin training immediately as anti-aircraft gunners. You can take your place at the side of the men who defend Canada by reporting for training without delay. Act now — and help make Canada strong.

Farm Practice Project for 1951 among the Granges of New York state is called "Homestead and Grange Hall Improvement". Next to our Community Service contests, which have contributed so much to better living in rural N.Y., our yearly Grange Projects have done more to "lift the country's face" than such former programs as Grass Silage, Farm Ponds and Birdsfoot Trefoil.

In the seven Lecturers' Schools currently being held in various convenient locations over the state, demonstrations and literature are being made available for this attractive project. Unlike other years, exterior improvement and beautification appeals to everyone in the farm family. Although Lecturers will spark the program, Masters, Service and Hospitality chairman and Juvenile Matrons will all be expected to do their part. To quote from the 1951 Notebook describing the plan "when families can join with their neighbors to plan to make their Grange Hall more attractive and then work together in good co-operative fashion to bring these plans to a reality, we have community action at its best." Be sure your Grange and its members participate.

W.A. Concert and Social Evening

STE. AGNES—On Tuesday evening, Nov. 7th, the Women's Association of Zion United Church held a very successful concert, social evening and sale of work in the church hall, the total proceeds of which were approximately $75. The concert opened with a singsong of old favorites with everyone joining in. The other items included a reading by Mr. Albert Fraser, accordion selections by Miss Lois Kazulak; "Galway Bay" by Mr. Lisle Watterson. Mr. Millar, principal of Dundee Consolidated School, gave a very amusing reading of a little boy who was left to mind his baby brother. The audience was delighted to have with them Mrs. Wm. Shannon of Valleyfield who sang, very effectively, "Bluebird of Happiness" and "Smilin' Through," as her first contribution and "Bless This House" and "Now is the Hour" as her second selections. Miss Wilson, also of Valleyfield accompanied Mrs. Shannon on the piano. Little Jean and Ann Fraser sang as a duet, "The Pussy Cat Song", followed by little Miss Karen Elder singing "There's a Bluebird on Your Windowsill." These three little ladies did very well in their stage debut, and it is indeed gratifying to see these youngsters coming along and doing their part so early in life. Another item with the younger members in it was a quartet by the Misses Fern Sutton, Myrna Watterson, Edith Hewson and Betty Fraser. The quintet, composed of Messrs. Roy McNicol, Lisle Watterson, Earl McNicol, Hugh McNicol and Clarence Platt favoured the audience by singing an old favourite.

Rev. A. E. Hagar acted as chairman and closed the program with a few witty remarks followed by a sing-song.

The youngsters enjoyed the ever-popular "fish-pond," while the table of hand-made articles found ready buyers amongst the ladies. Refreshments were served at small tables and a social hour enjoyed. All agreed that these "get-togethers" were proving very popular and should be held at frequent intervals.

Temporary New School Opened at Chateauguay Sta.

CHATEAUGUAY STATION —An event of great importance has just taken place in the parish of Christ the King. October 23rd, was the opening date of a new Temporary School at 56 Desrochers Street.

Mr. Patrick Bennett, who represents the English speaking Catholics on the school board, has labored relentlessly for the past nine years, to provide Advanced Education for the children, by the opening of a second English class for the parish. Only now, his efforts have been crowned with success.

This building, formerly a private residence is just temporary. Plans are now being prepared to erect a large, modern school in early spring. Judging by the smiling, happy faces of the pupils that morning, one would conclude that Mr. Bennett is idolized by the youngsters, and that he is, to them, a Santa Claus.

October 24th, the Pastor, Reverend W. Theberge. O.F.M., made a visit to the new school. Father gave the children a short talk, reminding them of their duties as pupils. Later, he gave the building the official blessing.

October 29th was Halloween, so Mr. and Mrs. Bennett invited the teacher and her pupils to their home, where a finely arranged party was given. Several games were played, and prizes awarded by the genial host. Misses Margaret and Andrea Sanders won prizes for games; Doreen Geary and Blaise Garneau received prizes for best costume; Ginette Bigue sang, "Forever And Ever"; Patricia Beebe sang, "Our Lady of Fatima"; both girls were given rewards with much applause. Traditional Hallowe'en refreshments were served. The children left, reluctantly, after thanking Mr. and Mrs. Bennett for their kindness, and exclaiming that they will remember for many a day the grand evening's fun provided for them.

The Principal of this School for Advanced Education is Miss Ellen McCarthy, New Erin, Huntingdon County, Que. Miss McCarthy received her early training at New Erin, School District, No. 1, later she attended Huntingdon and Valleyfield Convents. Her first teaching was done in her native parish, St. Joseph de Huntingdon. Afterwards, Miss McCarthy taught at The Narlin Academy, Buffalo, N.Y., also in Montreal, for The Catholic School Commissioners and in Pontiac County, where she was Principal of The Model School at Portage du Fort. Miss McCarthy comes highly recommended by the Clergy and School Commissioners of the above mentioned places.

Miss Margaret Dion of Lake Megantic, Que., is in charge of a temporary French class. Miss Dion received her training at the Convent in Lake Megantic, which is under the direction of The Sisters of The Congregation de Notre Dame. Miss Dion organized and directed a private school in her home town for eight years, she also taught in The Sacred Heart Parish in Stanstead County, she has excellent references for success in her profession.

The Commissioners look towards the future with confidence, feeling assured that their choice of teachers has been a wise one. They know that these ladies will not be satisfied with the material advancement of their pupils merely, but will also, attend to their spiritual progress as well.

In her remarks the leader told of a scene in old Quebec where a worship service was being conducted with sight-seeing tourists milling around. The thought —Let Christ take over and our lives become splendid. Then we and all around us are blessed. This period closed with all repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Among the items of business discussed and arranged, plans were made to celebrate the 25th anniversary of our W.A. at the regular meeting on Dec. 12th at 2 p.m.

A cheque from the Young Women's Evening Auxiliary for use of dishes and kitchen equipment was gratefully received. This is to be added to the proceeds from W.A. Variety Sale which goes towards re-decorating the Upper Hall. Conveners were reminded that annual reports will be received at next meeting, and the names of the Nominating Committee were read.

Obituary

THE LATE H. C. COLLIER

Death with marked suddenness fell to another member of the Fourth Estate, in the passing of H. C. Collier, editor of the Canada-West Indies Magazine, a publication printed by The Huntingdon Gleaner Inc. Mr. Collier lived in Montreal and before becoming identified with the Canadian-West Indian League in the Sun Life Bldg., was engaged by the Sun Life in sales promotion work. He was a native of British Guiana, educated in Scotland and came to Montreal prior to World War 1.

Some years ago Mr. Collier, in behalf of the officials of Canadian-West Indian League arranged for the printing of the Canada-West Indies Magazine in Huntingdon. Shortly after that arrangement Mr. Collier's son acquired a small farm near Allan's Corners and with marked regularity the Collier family spent much of their time at this farm, which they all dearly loved. So attached to this community did they become, that they all felt this was home just as much as was Montreal or British Guiana.

Mr. Collier's work had to do with the developing of trade and tourist travel between Canada and the Caribbean. Undoubtedly it was due to his untiring efforts that trade between these lands during the last number of years has been greatly increased, and to the mutual benefit of all parties concerned. The people of the West Indies who might be in Canada, either on visit or permanently, were continually calling upon Mr. Collier for data of one kind or another. His services were freely accorded thereby constantly building up a great deal of goodwill for both West Indies and Canada.

Mr. Collier was one whose services were frequently prevailed upon to give addresses before societies of all types, and radio talks dealing with the West Indies. TCA inaugurated an air service to the West Indies a year ago, and undoubtedly Mr. Collier played his part in bringing this service into being, which incidentally is proving to be most beneficial to trade and travel between these distant points.

The Collier family is one where it is found all are very affectionate toward one another. The father and two sons, Peter and Cecil, either lunched together almost every day down town in Montreal, or arranged that they all go home together at noon.

Mr. Collier is survived by his widow Maye Tate and two sons, Peter, who worked with him in the interests of the Canadian-West Indian League and Cecil who is in the Tourist Travel Ticket agency business. To the bereaved the heartfelt sympathy of all who knew the deceased is extended.

Burial took place on Monday in the Georgetown Church Cemetery, Howick, Que.

Valleyfield Legion Drive In Aid of Paraplegics

VALLEYFIELD — The Valleyfield Branch of the Canadian Legion is at present soliciting the public in the Valleyfield-Huntingdon area for funds needed in the Paraplegic Drive. This is a very worthy cause as special wheelchairs, special medical treatment and transportation are needed and it requires a considerable amount of money. The Legion's objective is $5,000.

The Legionnaires are covering this area now with tickets on a Morris Oxford car, the drawing to take place in December at a hockey game. Some lucky person is going to have a lovely Christmas present. It might be you!

Also for this same drive, the committee organized a "500" and Cribbage party which took place on Thursday evening, Nov. 16, at the Legion Hall. Cards were played at 12 tables and prizes were won by Mrs. P. Polney and Mr. W. Butt first in Cribbage and Consolation by Mrs. J. Nearney and Mr. P. Polney; in "500" Mrs. C. Johnson and Mr. Wrightman, consolation Mrs. H. Thompson and Mr. B. Haines. The door prize of an electric toaster was won by Mr. J. Bell and the drawing of an oil painting by Mrs. McDowell.

The Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian Church held their Annual Bazaar on Friday evening, in the Church basement. There were tables of home-cooking, aprons, miscellaneous articles and a fish-pond. Tea tables about the room were centred with variegated flowers and by all appearances, many months and hours were spent by the ladies in producing such fine work for this bazaar.

The drawing for the doll was won by Mrs. Shankland; fruit cake by Mrs. J. Cooper; and the basket of groceries by Mrs. F. Connor.

A large turn-out of veterans attended the Remembrance Day services in Valleyfield, on Nov. 12, a Firing Party from the 61st L.A.A. attended with many veterans, to pay homage to their fallen comrades.

Badminton

The Valleyfield Badminton Club met with the Beauharnois Badminton Club during the week-end to take part in a friendly Round Robin. Games were played throughout the afternoon and keen competition was noted. After the afternoon of activities all withdrew to the Legion Hall where refreshments were served and a social evening enjoyed.

The speaker was introduced by Mr. Nelson Bryant, vice-president, and thanked by Mr. Robert Gardner.

The programme included a Sing-Song, with Miss Elinor Watt, at the piano, two moving picture comedies with Fred Durin, Jr., in charge and two one-act plays.

Miss Barbara Allan, C.G.I.T. president welcomed the assembled gathering.

The first play, under the direction of Miss Anna Sproule entitled, "Lucky Penny" included in the cast, Sandra Eaglesham, Barbara Allan, Jane Craik, Florence Milburn, Ann Ellicott, Marie Theuerkauf, Doreen Geary, Patricia Lawrence and Elizabeth Goodale.

Candy was sold during the intermission.

The singing of the National Anthem and Taps by the C.G.I.T. brought the evening to a close.

Chateaugay, N.Y.

By C. W. Harrica

CHATEAUGAY, N.Y. — A very pretty wedding took place at St. Patrick's Church, Saturday morning, when Kenneth A. Lanktree, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lanktree and Miss Annette Andrea Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis of Herdman, Que., were united in Holy Bonds of marriage by Rev. Edward Gallager. After the ceremony a wedding reception was held in Herdman Hall, Herdman, Que.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bilow will celebrate the 50th anniversary of their marriage next Saturday, Nov. 29, with a High Mass in St. Patrick's Church. In the afternoon a reception will be held at their home on Collins street. Mr. and Mrs. Bilow were married in Ellenburg Corners by Rev. Father Goulete and for a number of years lived in Ellenburgh. Last April they took up their residence in this village. There were twelve children born to the couple, ten are still living and will be present on the occasion of their anniversary. They also have twenty-nine grand children and three great grand children.

Mrs. Julia Harrica and Miss Jane Duffy are in New York City being delegates to the House of Delegates a society of teachers of the states.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. O'Brien, of Syracuse. were Sunday visitors of Mr. O'Brien's father J. F. O'Brien who makes his home with his daughter, Mrs. C. W. Harrica.

The wedding of John A. Lyons, son of John Lyons, Sr., will take place on Thanksgiving morning, at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's Church, after which a wedding breakfast will be held in Hotel Chateaugay attended by relatives and friends of the wedding party.

Few deer were bagged by local hunters so far this season, the best one so far fell under the gun of Norman Lomouneau. He left home in this village at 6:00 in the morning and when a few yards in the woods met Mr. Buck staring him in the face. He arrived home at 9:00 with a 175 pound buck.

Another farm fire last Friday destroyed a big barn on the farm of Jerry O'Keefe, one mile south of the village. Five head of cattle were burned, together with the season's harvest.

CHATEAUGAY, N.Y.—The C.C.S. Band, numbering 32 members and accompanied by their twirlers gave a half hour concert to entertain delegates and members of the joint 4-H, Home Bureau and Farm Bureau Association at their annual meeting Thursday evening in Flanders Auditorium. The concert consisted of well known marches, novelty numbers, old songs, a trumpet duet by Paul Cook and Gerald McDonald and a demonstration of a twirling routine by their Drum Majorettes.

The young musicians were enthusiastically received and were showered with praise from an enthusiastic audience.

The trip was made in the new Central School bus and the group was accompanied by their director, Mr. S. B. Hammond and Miss Katherine Eagan, Assistant Music Instructor.

BADMINTON

Massena came out on the short end of a 10-5 final count in a regular league tournament played at the Huntingdon Badminton Club on Friday night. The local ladies made a smashing come-back in doubles, winning every game played. Massena men, reputed to be among the strongest in the "North Country", broke even with the local clan, each winning two. Mixed doubles resulted in 3-2 for Huntingdon. All in all, good games were played and the Massena aggregation vows revenge early next month when the two clubs meet on the Americans' courts. Sandwiches, cake and coffee were served around the ping-pong table, after which dancing was enjoyed.

Although no league tournament is scheduled for this week, a representative group from H.B.C. are going to Montreal on Friday night, where they will play an exhibition tournament at Palastre Nationale.

Huntingdon Badminton Club, one of the few sports organizations in Huntingdon that does not appeal to the public for financial aid, is fast gaining recognition — not only in other centres from the results of tournaments, but here at home. This sport provides good, clean, healthy fun. Between games the ping-pong table is in constant use and also the card tables. Although bridge and "500" appear most popular at the latter, Canasta under the shrewd guidance of Gordie Lanktree and Eddie Weeks is also gaining in popularity. The local club has many new members this year and a junior club, composed of students, plays on Friday nights and Saturdays.
