Hanoi, Indo-China— (AP) — French Union forces supported by fighter planes, bombers, mobile artillery, and armored units pushed steadily ahead today in a drive to destroy Vietminh rebel troops in the Red river delta 23 miles south of Hanoi.

The French massed about 5,000 troops against an estimated battalion — normally around 1,000 men--of the Communist-led forces in the rice fields and hills six miles south of Dong Quan. That community 17 miles south of Hanoi has long been a goal of Red units trying to destroy it by fire and night raids.

Bitter Debates Expected As U.N. Assembly Gathers For 12 Weeks Of Sessions

Korean Peace And Seating Of Red China In U. N. Are Major Issues.

United Nations, N.Y. — (AP) — Russia and the Western powers squared off for 12 weeks of bitter fighting today as the United Nations General Assembly gathered again to debate such issues as Korea and the seating of Red China in the world organization.

As the diplomats assembled for the opening of their eighth annual session, Western delegates were confident the 60-nation body would sidetrack the Chinese question for the remainder of this year at least.

They also believed the assembly would stand pat on its previous recommendation that the Korean peace conference be two-sided negotiation rather than a roundtable including both belligerents and neutrals.

This afternoon's meeting was scheduled to be devoted to the election of an assembly president, seven vice-presidents and seven committee chairmen, who will constitute the powerful steering committee.

The sister of India's Prime Minister Nehru, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, was reported to have enough support for election as president, but Prince Wan Waithayakon of Thailand still was in the race. Mrs. Pandit had the support of both the Soviet bloc and the leading Western powers.

The first fight over the China representation question may come in the credentials committee, which probably will meet Wednesday. That body would report back to the assembly itself, opening the way for a decision.

Britain and the United States already have agreed to back a move to postpone all consideration of the China representation question during 1953. They believe that most countries outside the Soviet bloc will support this.

The seating of Red China is closely linked with the Korean peace conference, since the Peiping regime was one of the belligerents in Korea and one of the proposed participants in the peace parley. The United States and some others take the position that no action must be taken until the Chinese Reds prove themselves worthy of a UN seat.

The first clash over the Korean question probably will come in the steering committee when that body starts considering the allocation of items to the assembly's major committees. Although this question is sure to go to the political committee, Vishinsky may provoke a debate by demanding priority for it.

The Korean question already is on the assembly's agenda, so discussion is assured. Western delegates are prepared, however, to urge the assembly to stand by last month's decision that the UN should be represented only by countries that fought under the UN banner.

Vishinsky is expected to demand approval of Red China's latest proposal that the conference be transformed into a roundtable affair, with Russia, India, Burma, Pakistan and Indonesia invited in addition to the belligerents. A similar Soviet proposal was rejected by the assembly last month.

US Foreign Policy Draws Blast

By JACK BELL

Chicago — (AP) — Former U.S. president Truman seconded vigorously today Adlai E. Stevenson's blistering criticism of the Eisenhower administration foreign policies at a Democratic rally Monday night.

Stevenson, the party's 1952 presidential nominee, told cheering Democrats at a $100-a-plate dinner the Republican administration had made "hollow political gestures" abroad, poked its nose in the affairs of other nations, permitting "smears at home" and had cut defence and foreign aid while tossing "threatening words" at the Communists.

The former Illinois governor said the announcement of defence cuts "followed by threatening words in Asia, sounded to me as though the administration was saying to the Communists: 'One false move from you guys and we'll cut the national defence by another billion dollars.'"

Stevenson, who has been invited to tell President Eisenhower later about his conversations with the top diplomats of the free nations, brings the Democratic rally to a close tonight with a televised "nonpartisan" report of his recent world tour.

Truman, who previously had voiced some free-swinging criticisms of the "wrecking crew" he said was at work in Washington, applauded Stevenson's sharp attack on Eisenhower foreign policies.

Later he told reporters the Republicans can not do anything else but follow the international policies the Democrats had laid down.

"But I am worried about the way the Republicans are carrying out our policies," he said.

Asserting that the Democrats in congress had "functioned with great intelligence, courage and restraint" since the Republicans took over, Stevenson told the audience in evening clothes at the swank fund-raising dinner:

"The greatest beneficiary of the Democratic party in these last few months has been President Eisenhower. I only hope that he realizes it."

He said it is the job of the Democrats to help every way they can in the "fateful decisions" he said lie ahead in momentous negotiations in Asia and Europe.

Truman was in campaign form as he told the diners the job of the Democrats is to "take the government of the United States away from big business and return it to all the people, where it belongs."

The former president said that "double talk" might have won the last election for the Republicans, but he said the Republican record on national defence, housing, career service firings, farm programs, labor law revision, national resources, social security, international trade and taxes was such that the Democrats could win control on Congress next year.

U.S. Urged To Buy More From Canada

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Edmonton — (CP) — The United States must buy more from other countries, including Canada, Herman W. Steinkraus, member of the senior council of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States said today.

Mr. Steinkraus, president of Bridgeport Brass Company of Bridgeport, Conn., brought the American chamber's greetings to the annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

He said:

"For many years, it was blindly accepted as a fact that a favorable trade balance resulted from a country exporting more than it imported and that an unfavorable balance was the reverse. But recent problems of world trade show us how wrong we were.

"We are now beginning to see that any imbalance of trade is unfavorable to both debtor and creditors in the long run.

"The day will come when the United States must be a net importer, for there lies the crux of the dollar-shortage problem.

"The only favorable, that is, truly favorable, balance of trade is a real balance, in which total export of goods and services and total imports of them for any specific country are equal.

"By this formula, the United States has had a consistently unfavorable balance of trade for the last 50 years. It now is running to the tune of $5,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000 a year. There is only one answer. We must import more.

"Our trade problems with Canada will be far nearer being solved when we import more from Canada. The facts are plain, if we will but accept them."

Mr. Steinkraus said most United States business men don't really know Canada.

"We ought to get more American business men coming up here. I'd like to see American firms with interests in Canada hold at least one of their board of directors' and officers' meetings each year in Canada."

Mr. Steinkraus' address and other greetings launched the three-day annual meeting of the Canadian chamber attended by some 500 delegates from coast to coast.

Five Children Die In Fire

Sydney Mines, N.S. — (CP) — Five children of a miner and his wife died early today when fire swept their home at Alder Point, six miles north-west of here.

The dead, children of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Reshore, are: Mary 13, Georgette 6, Alden 5, Frederick 2, and Linda, 6 months.

The mother and 12-year-old twins Cameron and Carlotta, escaped. Mr. Reshore was at work.

Other occupants of the two-storey duplex house were Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Deveaux and their children, Francis 10, and Glen 7, and an infant. They too reached safety.

Most of the Reshore family were in bed when the fire broke out about 6.30 a.m. Mr. Reshore had arisen early, got his breakfast and gone to work at nearby Florence colliery.

Cause of the fire wasn't known immediately.

Battle Of Britain Pilots Honored

London—(Reuters)—An air armada of 252 British, Canadian and American jet warplanes flashed across mist-shrouded London today in thunderous salute to the handful of fighter pilots who whipped Hitler's Luftwaffe in the Battle of Britain 13 years ago.

The planes came from fighter and bomber bases of the RAF, RCAF and USAF and comprised the biggest all-jet aerial parade ever assembled for the anniversary.

The only Hurricane still flying with the RAF and one of the last serviceable Spitfires led the five-

UN Met Its Greatest Test In Korea Pearson Declares At End Of His Term

Ottawa—(CP)—Lester B. Pearson, whose term as president of the United Nations General Assembly ends today, says that in bringing about an armistice in Korea the UN has successfully met its greatest challenge.

He says that from the record of the UN seventh general assembly session which ended last June "we may draw some confidence that the UN will yet be able to play its full part in the achievement of international peace and security."

Mr. Pearson, Canadian external affairs minister, makes the statements in a signed forward to an external affairs department publication, "Canada and the United Nations, 1952-53," which reviews the work of the seventh assembly session. The booklet was issued Monday.

He says that the UN intervention in Korea as well as the ultimate success of UN action in connection with Korea involves a spiritual as well as a military issue.

It involves "the recognition of the conviction, held by the greatest part of mankind, that unprovoked aggression must be resisted."

The instrument for this resistance to aggression is the UN, "through which the peaceful and law-abiding peoples of the free world can, if they desire, unite their strength to maintain international peace and security.

"In Korea, imperfect as the action there may have been as a demonstration of collective action, the UN has given the first example in history of successful collective resistance to aggression, undertaken after an international judgment had been rendered and in support of a principle which went far beyond the necessity of immediate and territorial self-defence."

Mr. Pearson says that although the achievement of the armistice was the result of military action, the unified purpose which "gave that action its ultimate political significance" was mainly the result of discussions during the seventh assembly.

"It is no reflection on this achievement, however, to remind ourselves that the conclusion of the Korean armistice does not itself mean peace; it merely gives us the opportunity to make peace.

"Only through a definite and agreed peace can we hope to bring about unification, political settlement and reconstruction in Korea and make progress towards an eventual solution of other outstanding issues in the Far East."

It is expected that Mr. Pearson will hand over his president's gavel to a successor to be chosen as the eighth General Assembly session convenes today.

Oil, Mine Unions Face Major Feud

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Montreal — (CP) — An uneasy peace has settled over the Canadian Congress of Labor Oil and Mine Workers unions, but jurisdictional feuding between the two international labor bodies may flare out anew.

Silby Barrett of Toronto, burly director of district 50, United Mine workers of America (CIO-CCL) has warned of a possible "big fight" developing.

And the 69-year-old Irishman has even hinted at the possibility of the 26,000-member Mine Workers considering withdrawal from the 370,000-member Congress.

The veteran unionist received a setback Monday as the 756 delegate central labor body, opening a week-long convention, voted to toss the Miners out of two Edmonton chemical plants and turn the territory over to Alex McAuslane's Oil Workers' International Union (CIO-CCL).

This reversal of a CCL jurisdiction committee's decision apparently caught Mr. Barrett by surprise. He asked for a second unrecorded vote. The decision was the same.

"It (the vote) may have repercussions," he told reporters later.

"There is no question but that the jurisdiction in the chemical field was given to us in 1940. It is too early to say if we will be retiring from the Congress. But there will be a big fight."

Compared to the Miners 26,000 membership, the Oil Workers have about 4,000. The union potential in the two Edmonton plants—Canadian Industries, Ltd., and the Canadian Chemical Company Ltd. —is about 1,000.

Some labor men close to the CCL executive saw the convention reversal of the jurisdictional committee's decision as a blow to the prestige and power of 72-year-old A. R. Mosher, veteran president

Indians Win Praise As Guards

By SAM SUMMERLIN

Indian Village, Korea— (AP) — Crack Indian troops are guarding unruly anti-communist Chinese and North Korean prisoners in this demilitarized zone with big smiles and strong arms.

The efficient handling of the prisoners by the snappy Indian soldiers is fast winning admiration from Allied officers.

The Indians even appear to be gaining the confidence of the prisoners themselves.

Some of the guards are big bearded Sikhs. Others come from crack regiments like the Paj Putan Rifles and Dogras.

Military police stand smart guard at traffic points. Their heads are wrapped in turbans and they carry white pistol holsters.

Rabid anti-communist North Koreans and Chinese prisoners have taxed Indian ingenuity daily since they started arriving last Thursday in the network of barbed wire enclosures here.

The prisoners have tossed barrages of stones at communist observers, climbed up the barbed wire fences in an effort to reach the Reds, staged a sit-down, refused to be searched and even battled Indian guards with bare fists.

The Indians answered each challenge swiftly. So effective was their handling that major trouble so far has been avoided in the mass transfer of 23,000 anti-communist prisoners from Allied to neutral nation custody. Poland, Czechoslovakia, Sweden, Switzerland an India are responsible for custody of the anti-Reds until their disposition is finally determined. The prisoners have refused to return to their communist homelands.

Maj.-Gen. S. P. P. Thorat, commander of the Indian guards, strides into the stockades to talk with the prisoners at the first sign of trouble.

Thus far Thorat has managed to cool the prisoners with assurances of good care and fair treatment.

"They will be all right when they realize we are their friends," he told newspaper men.

At the first sign of a disturbance the Indians manage to have enough manpower to handle the situation. Two or three big guards quickly grab a rebellious prisoner and shunt him along before he can

Threats Replace Violence In Tense Doukh Community

By JOE MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Krestova, B.C.—(CP)—Threats of revenge against former members of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect if they did not rejoin their group were reported Monday night in the B.C. interior Doukhobor country.

Former members of the radical sect said they had received messages threatening dire consequences if they did not return to the ways of the fanatical creed. They declined use of their names.

Elsewhere all was quiet in the Kootenay valley country where five home-burnings and a nude parade signalled Freedomite protest during the week-end against the jailing of 148 Doukhobors last Wednesday.

The threats could not be verified and the fact of the Doukhobors' pacifism did not add strength to the reports. However, the paradox of Doukhobor actions makes possible any move by the estimated 2,500 radical Freedomites among the 10,000 Doukhobors in the province.

On the surface, it is difficult to reconcile the motives of a man who will toss a home-made bottle bomb through the window of a neighbor but refuse to eat an egg and deprive a chick of life.

The home-burning and nude parade were the first action taken by the Freedomites to protest the arrest of the 148. The jailed Doukhobors were charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency when they staged a nude parade in front of a Perry Siding school house following a government order that all B.C. children must attend school.

The Freedomites regard any man-made law as a slight against God, and as a result many have refused to send their children to provincial schools.

Meanwhile, at Victoria, another Doukhobor squabble, this time involving non-Doukhobors, appeared to be building up.

B.C.'s Social Credit government Monday passed a special warrant to provide $150,000 to deal with Doukhobor unrest. If the government had waited one day longer, it could not have obtained the warrant since the Legislature would be sitting.

Arnold Webster, CCF opposition leader, said the government should have shown "greater respect for members."

"The whole summer was permitted to pass without concrete measures which would have gone a long way to keep law-abiding Doukhobors favorable to the government," he said.

Charges Are Laid For Ammo Theft

Ottawa—(CP)—Three men, two of them from the RCAF station at Lachine, Que., were charged by police Monday night with theft of three army Bren guns and 3,000 rounds of ammunition.

Ronald Harrison, 20, and Louis Kelly, 21, both of Lachine, were brought to Ottawa Monday night and charged, together with Robert Malloy, 25, of Ottawa.

Police said they found the missing guns hidden in a barracks room at Lachine. In another barracks they discovered two Sten sub-machine guns and some ammunition which had been missing from the Lachine station since Feb. 5.

Police said they went to Lachine after questioning Malloy and were led to the hidden guns after questionning the two airmen there. The Bren guns were taken from the garage of an Ottawa reserve army officer who had them for training purposes.

R.C.N. Tells Of Evacuation Of Islands

Ottawa— (CP) —Throughout the Korean war United Nations warships kept up a ceaseless patrol to protect three islands off the Korean coast from invasion because radar equipment on the islands was keeping watch on enemy planes.

Under the terms of the July 26 armistice the UN was required to evacuate the islands within 10 days. They are Chodo and Sokto islands off the west coast and Yang-Do off the east. All are north of the 38th parallel.

The Canadian Navy today told the story of the evacuation of Chodo island.

A statement told how working parties from the Canadian destroyer Iroquois started an hour after the armistice to remove radar and military equipment and to demolish what was left.

The Iroquois, commanded by Capt. William Landymore of Brantford, Ont., worked in company with such other UN warships as HMS Birmingham, a British cruiser, the Dutch frigate Johan Maurits Von Nassau, the United States tug Lipon and three U. S. minesweepers.

One job which Iroquois took on herself was making sure the civilian inhabitants of the island who were remaining were well and healthy.

The greater part of the civilian population of the island was evacuated in mid-June. Twelve persons scattered about the island declined evacuation at that time, saying they were too old.

Two officers, Lt.-Cmdr. Keith Stokes of Ottawa and Hardy, Sask., and Surg. Lt.-Cmdr. W. C. Wood of Regina and Halifax, visited all 12, again offering them evacuation. One couple accepted the final offer, explaining through an interpreter they were unable to leave earlier because the husband was crippled with arthritis.

One woman of 77 said she was "too old to worry about who comes to Chodo . . . first the Nippon come here, then you come, and now the communists come." She said she was born on Chodo and planned to die there. She showed the Canadians her coffin which she had ready and waiting.

Korea, including the islands, was held by the Japanese for 30 years before the Second World War.

The officers made sure the 10 remaining had six weeks' supply of food, examined them to see none was ill, and left.

The last LST left Chodo shortly after midnight Aug. 1. A demolition team of 17 men from the Iroquis headed by Lieut. D. A. Wardrop of Seven Sisters, Man., along with a similar group of U.S. air force personnel, remained behind to blow up a few remaining installations.

The blasts went off at 5 a.m. and the island was declared evacuated.

Fifth Hurricane Is Developing

Miami, Fla. — (AP) — The season's fifth hurricane was expected to develop today in the Atlantic about 120 miles north of San Juan Puerto Rico.

The U. S. weather bureau at San Juan said in an advisory issued at 6 a.m. EDT that reconnaissance planes found a small centre forming in a squall area and that the storm was expected to intensify to full hurricane force this morning.

The storm was roughly 1,300 miles east southeast of Miami. It was moving in a northwesterly course at 12 to 14 miles an hour, the San Juan weather bureau said, and continued movement in that direction was forecast for the next few hours.

Highest winds are estimated at 60 to 70 miles an hour but were expected to increase to 90 miles an hour over a small area near the centre during the afternoon.

Gales presently were described as extending 125 miles to the east and north.

No land area was threatened immediately as the squally wave moved west northwestward after passing the Virgin islands almost due east of Puerto Rico.

Communists May Report On Missing Prisoners

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

Munsan — (AP) — The Communists may answer Wednesday Allied demands for an accounting of more than 3,000 United Nations military personnel, including three unidentified Canadians, believed still in Red captivity.

The joint military armistice commission scheduled a meeting for 11 a.m. Wednesday (10 p.m. EDT tonight), its first since the names of the missing men were turned over with the demand for a prompt accounting.

A UN spokesman said there was no way of knowing whether a reply was forthcoming. The Communists, at the last commission meeting, said they would comment later.

In sharp contrast to previous displays of violence, 2,000 anti-Communist North Korean and Chinese prisoners were turned over to Indian custody in the Panmunjom neutral zone without incident.

The delivery went off smoothly as the crack Indian troops, who for six days have checked disturbances by the prisoners, took extra precautions to avoid outbreaks.

They moved Allied and Communist observers farther away from compounds housing the PoWs and removed them from stations at some processing centres. The number of reporters from each side allowed to watch the transfers was cut from 25 to five for each side.

The prisoners were part of the group of 8,000 North Korean and 14,700 Chinese PoWs who refused repatriation.

Nine North Koreans who had a change of heart after delivery to the Indians were turned over to the Communists for return to North Korea.

The Communists gave the transfer the full propaganda treatment.

About 75 North Korean and Chinese officers plus a score or more Red Correspondents applauded loudly throughout the 10-minute ceremony.

"You have come up from hell into the sunlight," one Communist officer shouted to the nine.

The top Communist delegate to the military armistice commission, Lt.-Gen. Lee Sang Cho, questioned the nine on their treatment in Allied captivity.

Eight told him they were beaten, but one acknowledged that "they treated us pretty good."

The transfer was watched by officers of the five-nation repatriation commission, which has jurisdiction over the reluctant prisoners.

Tuesday's delivery by the UN command of balky PoWs brought the total thus far delivered to the Indians to almost 2,000 North Koreans and 5,600 Chinese, about one-third of the number promised.

The Indians troops, hand-picked from crack regiments, quickly took the PoWs into custody and processed them within a matter of seconds.

Stolid, yet always smiling, the Indians worked with a firm grip, ever watchful for signs of impending violence.

Czech Government Faces Sweeping Reorganization

Vienna, Austria — (AP) — Prague radio announced a sweeping reorganization of Czechoslovakia's Communist government today. The emphasis seemed to be on streamlining and centralizing operations rather than on purging disgraced officials.

Premier Vilem Siroky remained head of the government under President Antonin Zapotocky, but the "Soviet-style" Praesidium of premier and numerous vice-premiers set up last February to control the government apparently was replaced by a three-man committee.

This new "high command," Prague radio said, is composed of Siroky and two former Praesidium members, state planning chief Jaromir Dolansky and defence minister Alexei Cepicka, who become the new cabinet's only vice-premiers.

Other Praesidium members, however, were given new posts of ministerial importance.

Along with Siroky and his two deputy premiers, Communist party boss Antonin Novotny continued a major figure in the Czech set-up. Though he lost his deputy premier, he remained first secretary of the party's central committee and thus retained control of the powerful party organization.

The reorganization was the first major shake-up in the Czeck government since Zapotocky stepped up from the premiership on the death of President Klement Gottwald last March and Siroky moved into the premiership. The Praesidium had been set up only last February.

The shake-up follows months of widespread unrest in Czechoslovakia, including riots over food shortages and a drastic currency revaluation in May.

NEA Staff CORRESPONDENT

Hollywood—It may or may not be the influence of vintage movies on TV, but public interest in stars of yesterday, from five-year-old Susie to great-aunt Matilda, is at a new high.

As he watches an oldie from the prohibition era, Junior is forever asking dad whether the fellow in the straw hat is still alive and grandpa, peering at a 1928 belle in skirts above her knees, is apt to mutter, "Now there's a familiar ankle, by heck.'

To answer questions from readers who are once again doing their stuff, this time via TV, and about stars who have dropped out of sight, here is a run-down of Who's Where?:

Enid Bennett, one of the silent era's most beautiful stars, is a reader in a Beverley Hills Christian Science church. . . Lois Moran, of "Stella Dallas" fame, has come out of retirement and recently completed a TV pilot film, "Waterfront," in which she plays Preston Foster's wife.

Became A Director

Gaston Glass, a big heart-throb in the twenties, is an assistant director at Fox. . . Juanita Hansen, a serial queen who ranked with Ruth Roland and Pearl White, left the flicker industry years ago and is currently working as a train dispatcher for the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Florence Vidor, the serene beauty who once queened it as a Famous Players-Lasky star, has been living quietly in a Pacific Palisades mansion since her divorce from Jascha Heifetz. . . Elsie Ferguson, a tearing beauty of the silent era, came out of retirement to star in an ill-fated Rose Franken play, "Outrageous Fortune," on Broadway some seasons ago and appeared in summer stock this year.

Dorothy Phillips, star of "Heil Morgan's Girl,' circa 1917, is still acting in films and recently played a dowager in Columbia's Judy Holliday starrer, "A Name for Herself." In the same movie, Donald Keith, who was Clara Bow's leading man in "The Plastic Age," has the role of a floor-walker.

Johnny Darrow, who made feminine hearts go pitter-patter, is now a successful Hollywood agent. . . . Eleanor Boardman, a famous MGM star, is now Mrs. Harry d'Arrast and lives in Spain. Serious illness took her out of films in the early 1930's. . . . Edna Purviance, Charlie Chaplin's blonde leading lady in "Carmen," and star of his "A Woman of Paris," retired from acting years ago and up until the time of Chaplin's departure for Europe, she received a weekly check from him.

Became Social Lioness

Aileen Pringle, who divorced writer James Cain some years back, has a New York apartment and is a social lioness. . . Jacqueline Logan, as beautiful a woman as ever hit Hollywood, is married and lives in Bedford, N.Y. When C. B. DeMille won an Oscar for "The Greatest Show on Earth," Jacqueline, who starred in his "King of Kings,' wrote him a letter of congratulation.

Tullio Carminati, Grace Moore's leading man in "One Night of Love," makes his first screen appearance in years as the general in Paramount's "Roman Holiday." . . . Dorothy Jodan, the sweet-faced MGM star of the early '30's, is now Mrs. Marion C. Cooper and makes a comeback as Arleen Whelan's mother in Republic's "The Sun Shine Bright."

Big-eyed Madge Bellamy—remember her in "Mother Knows Best"?—operates an auto court in Ontario, Calif. . . Ora Carawe, a silent era dazzler, is a beautician at a Sunset Boulevard shop in Hollywood. . . Anita Stewart, who last film was "Never the Twain Shall Meet" for MGM in 1925, is a Los Angeles society figure. She has been separated from George Converse for several years.

Laura La Plante, Universal's biggest star and the first Julie in the first film version of "Show Boat," is married to a Paramount producer, Irving Ascher.

Ethel Clayton, the Hedy Lamarr of her day, is a housewife in Thousand Oaks, Calif., and recently declined an invitation to a testimonial dinner honoring Adolph Zukor with the words: "I'm accustomed to the quiet life these days."

The Doctor Says

VENEREAL DISEASES STILL VERY MUCH IN EVIDENCE
By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

A correspondent wrote not long ago requesting a discussion of gonorrhea, and saying, "venereal disease is mentioned so little that I wonder if that could be one reason why there is so much of it."

This is an interesting point, but I had thought the age of prudery was gone and that the venereal diseases could be and were discussed as freely as any other disease. It may be, however, that ignorance is still responsible for many cases of gonorrhea and syphilis, the latter being the other principal venereal disease. If so this is a reflection on our intelligence and maturity.

Gonorrhea is a germ disease acquired almost invariably as a result of sexual congress and attacking principally the genital organs of men and women. If unsatisfactorily treated, it may produce sterility and other chronic or acute complications.

The part played by the prostitue in the spread of gonorrhea as well as syphilis has long been recognized, but this is by no means the only source of the infection. So-called "innocent" infections have brought disaster to many married couples where one of the partners was previously diseased.

There appears to be a faulty impression that gonorrhea is a vanishing disease, but the statistics of the United States Public Health Service do not bear this out and the lessening in numbers of cases of gonorrhea is less than that of syphilis. There should be no relaxation in efforts combatting this disease.

New Weapon in Fight

It is true that recent years have brought new instruments of great importance and value to the war against gonorrhea. The most important of these is penicillin, which ordinarily will halt the growth of the gonococcus responsible for gonorrhea and cure the disease promptly.

Not only is this a weapon of the highest value, but its availability also means that many of those who would otherwise pass on the germ to their contacts are at least temporarily freed of their infection.

In spite of all this, gonorrhea is still a danger and ignorance about the need for prompt treatment, or in the ways in which it is acquired, can cause some misery and suffering.

Election Of Officers And Adoption Of Resolutions Will End Convention

The three-day convention of the Quebec Motor Coach Owners' Association winds up this afternoon with the election of officers and the adoption of a lengthy list of resolutions presented by the standing committees.

This morning, the delegates to the convention were busily engaged in a continuation of their panel discussions on various matters regarded as of civil importance to the highway transportation industry, dealing with such issues as franchise, budget, special trips, personnel, equipment, security and insurance and legislation.

The highlight of yesterday's sessions was the annual convention dinner held in the Mayfair Room of the New Sherbrooke Hotel attended by some 250 members and guests.

The principal speaker at this gathering was Marcel Belanger, professor of economics at Laval University, who based his address on the convention theme, that the right of conveying revenue passengers be restricted to the holders of permits granted by the Provincial Transportation Board.

This Monopoly of public transport, like that in other public utility fields such as telephones, electricity, waterworks, etc., is an economic necessity and not simple caprice on the part of the legislators, Mr. Belanger declared. It is a guarantee for the public that the operators will have a sufficient revenue to provide a safe and efficient service. It is not a privilege accorded an individual, but arises directly from the exigencies of the common good.

Mr. Belanger explained that in the case of motor coach transport, it recognized that the industry required a heavy capital investment and that successful operation required heavy expenditures. It must be remembered, he said, that an autobus must follow a definite schedule and that the transportation of one or many passengers involved the same cost of operation, because to move one or thirty passengers the operator must engage the services of a chauffeur, the mechanics engaged in maintenance and must in addition have a garage, a terminal and administrative personnel, to say nothing of the value of the vehicle itself.

In the case of motorcoach transportation, unlike the situation in many other industries, the expenses could not be reduced in proportion to a reduction is revenues, because expenses remained stationary whether the coach carried a few or many passengers.

The speaker concluded by declaring that in the case of a public service, competition between several services was not compatible with public interest. In the case of motor coach transportation, it served to increase costs, endanger the security of the passengers and did not provide a better service.

The speaker was introduced by the president of the Association, Nazaire Lemelin, of Levis.

During the dinner, a program of vocal solos was given by a young Quebec singer, Richard Verreault, who has recently returned from a study course in Europe. Mr. Verreault, who also sang during the social gathering Sunday evening, was accompanied at the piano by Miss Lorette Codere.

Later in the evening, the delegates and the ladies enjoyed dancing and a special floor show.

During one of the study forums yesterday, an Association official declared that if the law guaranteeing the exclusiveness of permits was good and just, is was also good and just that steps be taken to enforce it, and that the legislature which enacted the law take all the steps necessary to have it respected.

He maintained that those persons who encouraged this illegal competition by offering special trips at "so much per head" where regular autobus services were in operation were generally the first to give poor service themselves, because in acting in this way they served to cut fares which were not offset by the greater number of passengers and as a result they risked travelling without proper security. The practice was illegal, he said, and the Association had taken action against several individuals who had engaged in such practises.

Yesterday noon, the delegates enjoyed a luncheon at which the speaker was Ald. Leo Cadorette, chairman of the industrial committee of the Sherbrooke City Council.

Mr. Cadorette reviewed the history of transportation in the Eastern Townships, from the days of the Indian canoe, through the diligence and stage coach, railway, steamer and tramway eras to the coming of the autobus.

Vice-president Paul Cloutier, of Montreal was chairman of the luncheon and the speaker was introduced by Alphonse Laramee, of Sherbrooke.

The big feature of the gathering, was discussion about the fourth annual oyster and ham supper to be held in the hall on Saturday, Oct. 3rd. Members were delighted to get ready for this event, quantities of provisions were decided on and every phase of the supper was discussed.

Paul Desruisseaux Has Purchased Blue's Building On King St. West

One of the oldest and largest buildings in Sherbroke, Blue Realty Limited, on King Street West, has been purchased by Paul Desruisseaux, Q.C. of this city, at a price which has not been revealed but is believed to be considerable.

Mr. Desruisseaux plans to convert the upper storeys into offices and intends making important changes to the street level floor at a later date.

The building, which faces Lansdowne market, was built some forty years ago by the Blue Company and an extension was added in 1917.

From the very beginning the premises were occupied by the Walter Blue Company which had been doing business on Wellington Street since 1875. It was some time in 1937 that the S. Rubin Company took over the top floors.

Mr. Desruisseaux stated this morning that large scale changes are not contemplated until the expiry of the tenants' leases, in three and a half years.

MUCH TO BE DONE

The cessation of hostilities in Korea has led naturally to the conclusion in many quarters that there will follow necessarily a considerable drop in employment and a general tightening up all around. So far, however, there has been little evidence to support the theory.

In appraising things to come, it appears that in the United States for instance there is a tremendous backlog of work which has accumulated, and that money which will be saved from the war in Korea, and much more, will be required for spending at home.

In one category alone, the United States finds itself with thousands of miles of wornout roads which must be rebuilt. In addition, the growth of the country and the changes that have taken place will require billions to bring the country up to date with the advance in living. A wide new approach must be made to the problems of shopping, parking space and general public improvements.

In Canada the same condition applies, and if our increase in population and advance in all lines is to be maintained, a forthright policy by the federal government and the provinces will be required to keep pace with the apparent needs which are crowding in upon us.

Canada has become one of the great powers in international politics, and because of this new stature, we are faced with the need of preparing for a further growth of population which can be ours if we prepare to receive it.

A brave outlook on the part of legislators and Canadian capital is called for.

Such projects as the piping of natural gas from the west to the east, the deep water seaway, the development of electrical smelting of our huge iron deposits, the building of wider and safer highways, industrial research to find new ultilization of raw materials now constitute a new post-war challenge. These projects must be tackled if we are to handle satisfactorily the growth which Canada cannot avoid except by sitting still.

Our country has enjoyed a remarkable development during the past half century, but there is a tremendous amount of work still to be done. This work will demand the services of an army of men and women for many years to come.

DURKIN WALKS OUT

The resignation of Secretary of Labor Martin P. Durkin from the Eisenhower cabinet is not so important in itself as for what it implies, comments the Windsor Star, which continues that he was not the most outstanding member of the administration.

It is doubtful if he ever was in complete tune with other members of the Cabinet. Though the Cabinet system in the United States is a loose one compared to that in Canada or the United Kingdom — and members can differ even publicly without resigning — when one man consistently is out of step with his colleagues sooner or later he quits or is fired.

Mr. Durkin is a Democrat in politics, but was serving in a Republican administration. He is a Labor man who served with those who belong, in the main, in the category of big business or wealth. It is not unnatural if he felt out of place.

Immediate cause of his resignation was the refusal of the administration to support amendments to the Taft-Hartley law in conformity with promises Mr. Durkin said were made to him. But he probably never did feel at home with his associates even apart from this issue.

The United States Cabinet has many fine men in it, who have made names for themselves in the realms of industry and finance. Certainly it is no discredit to them to have been successful in private life. But perhaps they are less alert to the needs and aspirations of ordinary people than men who never enjoyed the same prestige and power before entering public life.

One of the big handicaps of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's administration is its lack of experience in public life. The President, through his wartime and postwar military activities, does know other countries and has an idea of global strategy. Except for Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who briefly was a senator and long a student of foreign affairs, the President is the only man in the government with that larger experience.

Resignation of Mr. Durkin is unlikely to cause more than a ripple on the political stream in the United States, and is almost of no interest outside that country. But if it denotes a certain spirit and attitude among those who were his colleagues, then sooner or later there will be repercussions.

In many other countries the member of the United States Cabinet people would like to have resign is Mr. Dulles. A sincere, diligent man, he is often unfortunate in his attitudes and observations. He is making it difficult for other countries, anxious to co-operate with the United States, to follow United States leadership.

It is ironical that former Secretary of State Dean Acheson was pilloried in his own country but regarded in many other countries as the best Secretary of State the United States had in years, Mr. Dulles, regarded with disquiet in other countries, not yet has been subject to such bitter criticism in his own.

It is the privilege of the people of the United States to decide by whom they shall be governed. Other peoples wisely will refrain from seeming to interfere. But the position of Secretary of State of the United States involves the interests of other countries just as much as it does that of the United States. Foreign policies of the United States can make or break the world.

TREE 10 FEET A YEAR

(Government Bulletin)

Trees that grow ten feet in one year have ben produced by the Research Division of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests at its Southern Research Station at Maple, near Toronto.

The trees, crosses of aspen with silver poplar, are expected to be available some day for reforestation purposes in this province. The Reforestation Division is seeking to develop an aspen-poplar hybrid of good form and wood color, rapid growth and disease resistant, suitable for planting in Southern Ontario, where the climate is unsuited to aspen.

A number of natural hybrids have been found. "This cross is being requested scientifically on a rather large scale," the Research men say, "to find still better hybrids among the seedlings."

CLIFF FALLS AT SEAFORD

London Times

Recent heavy falls of cliff at Seaford Head, Sussex, have changed the contour of the cliffs for about a mile.

The first fall involved nearly half a mile of cliff for a width of about 10 feet. With a roar which could be heard at Newhaven, thousands of tons of chalk crashed about 300 feet to the rocks below. This in turn loosened more chalk and the next night another strip estimated to be three-quarters of a mile ling, fell. Fortunately no one was on the cliff or the beach below

Last year several falls were reported along the Seven Sisters cliffs between Birling Gap and Cuckmere Haven: As a result, the seven undulations from which the name Seven Sisters is derived have changed considerably and seem much flatter.

VACATIONING MAMIE STILL FINDS TIME TO BE GRACIOUS

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — Mamie Eisenhower hasn't relaxed her graciousness since going to Denver. The other day she got an anonymous letter from a woman in a small New York town. It told the First Lady that a Mrs. Murphy in the town was always talking about visiting the White House. The letter said Mrs. Murphy would jokingly tell her friends, "See the new dress I got to wear to the White House," or "I believe I'll cut my bangs to look lik Mamie."

The writer suggested that if Mrs. Ike could send Mrs. Murphy a used-up invitation it would give her the thrill of her life. But Mamie went the anonymous writer one better. She took a chance and dispatched her a personal invitation to call at the White House if she ever gets to Washington. The name of the town is being kept secret.

Savings Bond Muddle

The idea of discontinuing the issuance of $25 U. S. savings bonds is being considered by Treasury officials. It costs a lot of money to register a bond, 75 cents on the average, and it costs just as much to handle records on a small bond as it does on a big one.

Treasury figures that it "loses money" on the $25 bonds. Only catch on discontinuing them is that it might discourage saving by lower-income groups. With Post Office Department considering discontinuing postal savings, any further discouragement for small savers would be bad.

Reform With A Catch

One reform being affected by Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks is a sped-up of statistics reporting. Most Commerce Department reports have been averaging a 45-day lag, for detailed accuracy.

Experimenting first with foreign trade statistics, the Census Bureau has been able to cut this down to about 15 days. Some sampling is done, and some estimates are made. But first returns indicate only a 2 per cent error, which business firms don't seem to mind for these figures. Greater speed makes up for it.

Monthly unemployment figures have been speeded up so that they are available a few days after the end of each month, instead of two weeks later.

The only catch discovered in this reform so far is that it costs more to get out the figures faster. And it makes Census Bureau employees work overtime.

Cost Of Security

The cost of running security investigations for Atomic Energy now amounts to $13 million a year. House Appropriations Committee hearings reveal that 101,000 of these investigations were made last year. The number is expected to drop to about 65,000 this year, but the cost per investigation has gone up. It now averages $200 for each employee.

Not-So-Hidden Meanings

Two new expressions have been added to the Washington vocabularly recently, but neither one owes its origin to government gobbledygook.

U. S. Chamber of Commerce has coined the word, "reprivatize." It's supposed to mean turning government-owned power projects, public lands or tideland oil rights back to private industry. It is the opposite of "federalize," meaning to put under government control.

Washington's high-school set has produced the other gem. Whenever a teen-ager pulls something extremely corny, classmates exclaim, "Man, that's really 'congressional.'"

Administrator McLeod hung his Eisenhower portrait in a prominent place in his office just to show anyone who may doubt he has full White House backing for his program to clean up the State Department

The Oatis Story

Oatis Writes Story Of Red Imprisonment

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Associated Press Correspondent William N. Oatis, rested and restored to health after two years in a Communist prison cell in Czechoslovakia, has written the story of his ordeal, as promised when he returned to the United States last May. Here is one of a series of articles in which Oatis relates his experiences.)

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

(Copyright 1953 by The Associated Press)

The first sign that I was in trouble came in August of 1950, two months after I went to Prague, Czechoslovakia, as a foreign correspondent.

It happened at the world congress of the International Union of Students, held in a big trade exposition hall on the outskirts of Prague.

The IUS had its secretariat in Prague and included member organizations of college students in 68 countries. The secretariat and most of the member organizations were Communist dominated, but some of the latter, notably in England, Scotland and Denmark, were not.

My newsgathering routine consisted mostly of sitting in the office and writing stories I selected from the official Czechoslovak News Agency and local newspapers and radio, and occasionally going out and getting what I could from diplomats. The student congress gave me a chance to get something first hand — to cover a story with my own eyes and ears.

The convention produced no world-shaking news. But I reported how delegates demonstrated for Soviet Prime Minister Stalin, while some Western delegations sat silent, and how an American speaker proclaimed, "In America, we will shout, 'Hands off Korea!'"

Enter Jan

I later went down on the convention floor to talk to that speaker and some other delegates seated there. The hall was well staffed with ushers, but none stopped me.

I was in my office the next morning when a man telephoned asking if I knew where he could find Russell Jones, the United Press chief in Prague. I said I could not, and inquired who was calling. The man said, "This is Jan."

I had heard about him. Jan Stransky had worked for the UP until shortly before I arrived in Prague. Then he had been picked up and sent to a labor camp on the grounds he had planned to leave the country illegally.

In front of Stalin portrait, William Oatis was quizzed by Czech official calling himself "the Boss." Sketch is by AP Artist Ed Gunder.

A few minutes after he had called, he walked into the office, a slight, boyish fellow with a lively manner, wearing khaki work clothes and brown from the sun. He had a pass to spend Sunday in a town near the camp, and he had taken a chance and come by bus to Prague.

I gathered that he expected to be freed before Christmas and wanted to talk to Jones about getting his job back. Since Jones could not be found, Stransky wrote a note for me to deliver next time I saw him.

Stransky sat down and typed out something on some paper I gave him — a sheet of yellow foolscap. Without reading it, I put it in my pocket.

When I met Jones at the student congress and gave him the note he grimly tore it up and dropped it, piece by piece, on the floor.

Pass Canceled

A little later I showed my pass to get into the convention hall. The usher grabbed it and rushed off. After some delay, a young man in glasses appeared. He was trembling with anger. He waved my pass, torn in two, and said it had been canceled.

"You were not behaving as a journalist only and were working through the conference hall," he said.

I thought at once of how I had gone onto the convention floor and questioned the American that had talked about Korea, and of how unhappy he had seemed to see me.

His speech, reported by the official Czechoslovak News Agency and by a least two American agencies, had caused him some trouble back home. And now, I supposed, the young Communists running the congress were punishing me for sending the story.

The congress ended and I turned to other things. In September, Bedrich Runge, a press officer, called me to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

Runge was a tall, gray-haired man with vague blue eyes in a beefy face. On my previous visits, he had received me cordially. This time his maner was stiff and cold. And he was not alone. There was a third party on hand—a mousy little mustached man.

Invited To Leave

Runge failed to offer the usual handshake. Instead, he waved me to a little table. He told me I would not be reaccredited when my permission to work as a correspondent expired Sept. 30.

"This is not a measure directed against The Associated Press," he said. "It is a measure directed against you personally."

"You cannot work in this country unless you respect our laws."

I asked him to be specific.

"You know very well the reason," he said, and I answered, "But I don't know the reason."

I wrote a letter to Runge, requesting permission to stay till a replacement could get in. Finally it was decided I would not be reaccredited but that I could stay and work temporarily as a "private person."

I still did not know why my reaccreditation was being refused, but I had a hunch this had to do with the young Communists that had banished me from the student congress, and with the story about the American who spoke on Korea.

About that time I had a talk with Vaclav Korinek, general manager of the Czechoslovak News Agency, and asked him if he could tell me what was behind my trouble. And he spoke of the same story.

Maybe the story did have something to do with it—the whole thing is not clear yet. But the story was not the only thing involved. There was something else. And the people who told me about that were the secret police.

SEVEN-CARD STUD IS FLEXIBLE

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD

We have received many questions about the right way to play seven-card stud poker. "Should a player ever throw his hand in without even betting for the first round?" many players want to know. "If you stay for the first round of betting in order to draw a fourth card, when is your hand good enough to stay in for another round of betting?"

The answer to these questions depends partly on the nature of the game, partly on your own temparament, and partly on whether you are playing to win or to help somebody else to win.

It pays to be conservative, but if all the other players in the game are very liberal you must loosen up a bit or you will become very unpopular. Nevertheless you must avoid loosening up too much, for then you may have a very good time, but you will not win.

When you get your first three cards you should stay for the first round of betting if you have a pair, three cards of the same suit, or three cards in succession. Do not stay with three unrelated cards, even if one of them is an ace.

The chances are that at least one other player in the game has gotten off to a far better start, and one of those players will probably win the pot. Don't chase players who have an advantage over you; wait until you have the advantage, and let them chase you.

If your hand is good enough to stay in for the first round of betting, you may still decide to drop out after getting your next card. Naturally you stay in if your fourth card improves your hand.

For example, you would be delighted to get a fourth card of the same suit or a card that fits in a straight. If you start the hand with a pair, you would be pleased to get three of a kind or even two pairs.

If you started with a small pair and failed to improve your hand with your fourth card, call it a day and wait for a better hand to come along. A high pair is worth one more play, but if the fifth card does not improve the hand, save your chips for better causes

SHORT STORY

Hard Boiled Chuck

By Richard H. Wilkinson

Chuck Wallace was hard boiled. Women didn't bother him much. Flying did. He owned his own plane and specialized in doing freelance jobs for private interests, and performing rescues for reward money. He had quite a reputation. When, at the annual pilots' ball, he was presented to red-headed Alma Mallory he wasn't inpressed at all.

3-Minute Fiction

Alma was. She had heard of Chuck. Alma was very modern, very sure of herself, used to getting what she wanted. She wanted Chuck.

Chuck wasn't quite to catch on. When finally he realized what she was up to he had almost fallen into her trap. He was glad when news came in that a young flyer had been lost in the north woods. It gave him a chance to get away.

Alma was very modern, very sure of herself, used to getting what she wanted. And she wanted Chuck.

The fact that the young lost flyer was Don Mallory, Alma's brother, didn't bother him at all. This was business. Old Man Mallory, through his lawyers, had offered a fat reward.

Chuck Wallace loaded up and took off the next morning in his seaplane. That night he set down on a little wooded lake, 150 miles from the nearest habitation, and established a base. The next day he began systematically to comb the country.

In the afternoon he returned to his base and received a shock. There was another plane riding on the surface of the lake. He saw a figure standing on the shore. It was Alma Mallory.

"What's the idea?" he asked.

"What do you think? Don's my brother."

She had brought along a lot of the things Chuck hadn't thought necessary. There was nothing he could do about her being there, so he set up one of the tents and ate the supper she cooked for him.

The next day he flew west and covered a strip 25 miles wide. But he didn't sight anything, and was genuinely worried when he returned to the base that night.

The next morning, just before noon, he sighted a plane on a lake 50 miles east of his base and set down, taxing up beside it. A man stood on one of the wings and called to him. Chuck scowled. He didn't like this. Not a bit of it . . .

At 2 o'clock he returned to his base and found it deserted. Alma and her plane had gone. He swore and packed up his equipment. The next morning he reached his home landing. He went home and shaved and bathed and got into bed. He was dead tired, but he couldn't sleep.

The next morning he took a taxi to the Mallory home and asked for Alma. A butler told him that she had gone down to Briarsfield to visit friends. The friends name was Hanscom. Chuck caught a train for Briarsfield that afternoon. He arrived at 5 o'clock and located the Hanscom home. Alma, the ytold him, was out horseback riding with a chap named Rodney Nuys.

Chuck rented a horse and went looking for her. Two miles from the Hanscom home he came to a spot where the bridle trail widened. There were two horses in the clearing, standing close together. Rodney Nuys was trying to kiss the rider of the other, a red-headed girl.

Chuck rode up close and clipped the gent so hard he fell out of the saddle. Then he grabbed hold of the girl and shook her roughly.

"What's the idea?" he baarked. "I found your brother in a little lake 50 miles east of the base. He was looking for us. He said he did n't think it was so smart for his sister to give out that he was lost, when he really wasn't—just so she could send Chuck Wallace up into the country and then follow. What's the idea?"

Alma looked at him defiantly. "What do you think?" she said. "You big indifferent lummox! And why do you think I gave up and came home?"

Chuck blinked, but maintained his hold on her arm. For the first time when looking at the girl, he grinned. "Do you want me to tell you what I think?" he asked.

"Yes," said Alma.

Andrew Earns Nod Over Davey

Saginaw, Mich. — (AP) — Busy Al Andrews, 152, Superior, Wis., handed Chuck Davey, 147, Lansing, Mich., his second professional loss Monday night with a unanimous 10-round decision before 11,089 fans.

Davey, the socking scholar from Michigan State College, had been beaten previously only by welterweight champion Kid Gavilan after a meteoric rise up the fistic ladder. Gavilan stopped Davey in the 10th round last February after giving him a severe beating.

The quick - moving Andrews caught Davey off balance in the second round and floored him with a right hand for the count of eight.

Andrews, landing numerous right hand leads to the head, was in command from start to finish and received a clear-cut verdict from the officials.

Sports Roundup

By GALE TALBOT

New York—(AP)—It was the next to the last game of the year for New York Yankees that first day of October, 1927.

They had scored 108 victories and were a mile in front. Yet 10,000 fans had paid their way into Yankee Stadium on the chance that they would see a burly young fellow named George Herman Babe Ruth break his own record of 59 homers set six yeares before.

Lefthander Tom Zachary, one of the best of the era, was Washington's choice to halt the Babe short of his goal. Tom bore down grimly, not wishing the distinction of serving up the record pitch.

So carefully did he work that the Babe walked on his first trip to the plate. Each of the next two times he singled. Twice the great man scored, and when he pigeontoed to the plate in the last of the eighth the count was tied at 2-2. Shortstop Mark Koenig was on third, having tripled.

The Babe swung viciously at Zachary's first pitch, and missed. The second was a ball. The third was a smoking fast ball, low and inside. The result "whack" was heard throughout the park, and the crowd rose in thunderous acclaim as the ball streaked almost on a line for the seats in the right-field bleachers.

It passed about 10 feet inside the foul pole, landing halfway up the stands and the Babe had his 60th homer.

As the Babe trotted around, spiking each bag carefully, Zachary flung his glove to the ground and looked toward his teammates for some sign of consolation. He found none.

The applause from the crowd continued to the end of the inning and swelled anew as the moon-faced slugger trotted out to his place in right field, giving a snappy military salute every few steps.

Time may heal the broken hearted,
Years may make the wound less sore,
But it cannot fill the longing,
For the loved one gone before.
Who shall say the grief is lessened,
Though the smile may hide the tears,
Memories keep the wound still open
Despite the passing of the years.

Always loved and sadly missed by,
HIS WIFE, ANN CHRISTIE,
SONS & DAUGHTERS,
AND GRANDCHILDREN.

Big Controversy As Boxing Banned By NZ Headmaster

Canadian Press Correspondent

Wellington, N.Z.—(CP)—A storm of controversy arose here when A. E. Lock, headmaster of Rongotai College, abolished the school's annual boxing tournament "in the best interests of the boys." As a substitute, fencing is being introduced.

It was decided to drop the tournament after an investigation by the headmaster and a committee of the staff. Lock announced that in future only lighter and younger boys would be allowed to spar in the gymnasium and then only after instruction in boxing, and head blows would be discouraged. Heavier and older boys would not be permitted to take part, except to coach smaller boys.

He said that on his staff were several men who had been champion boxers and the teachers were unanimously infavor of the change. To provide for the normal aggressiveness of young boys, fencing would be extended.

Boxing Head Stirred

The chairman of the Wellington Boxing Association, T. G. Taylor, declared that 'the school was doing a disservice to boys. He said amateur boxing with large gloves did not harm the boys. They benefitt edgreatly from learning the art of self-defence. By fighting in the ring under proper supervision they would develop manliness, character and ability to meet adversity in clean, healthy competition.

Lock replied that school boy boxers were not immune from injury. Medical evidence was that young people were particularly vulnerable to brain damage. There was little to show that boxing was of special value in developing the manly virtues as compared with other sports. If followed up as a post-school activity it not infrequently resulted in injuries that made the boxer incapable of accepting the responsibilities of leadership.

The minister of education, R. M. Algie, declined to enter the dispute. He said the question whether schools should have boxing or not was essentially a matter for those controlling the individual schools. All were intimately associated with parents' organizations and the matter could safely be left to the masters and parents to decide in agreement.

The minister committed himself to the extent of saying there was much to be said for training boys in the art of self-defence and for learning the personal courage and physical stamina which boxing lessons developed. He had often felt, however, that the personal contest angle of boxing was going too far.

Yanks Cop 5th Straight Pennant; Locals Rained Out

This Is A Good Club, Says Cagey Casey Stengel, After Setting New Mark For Winning Managers In Loop

The record-breaking New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers will meet in the world series starting two weeks from Wednesday with the Yanks slightly favored to make it five straight two ways — five over the Dodgers in five meetings, five in a row over the National League.

Cagey Casey Stengel, who rewrote the record book by managing the Yankees to five consecutive pennants, says he thinks he has a good chance of continued success in the fall classic.

"This is a real good club with real good players," Casey said as he relaxed after Monday's flag-clinching 8-5 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Casey said the Yanks will have to get good pitching to win but he implied that he was not awed by Brooklyn's tremendous hitting. He allowed as how his club could hit home runs in Yankee Stadium and that they probably could hit them in smaller Ebbets Field, too.

Except for the players and a few diehard fans there really wasn't much tension in the American League flag chase this season. The Yankees held first place all but nine days. There were ahead by as much as 11½ games in late June and never out of the lead after May 11.

The Dodgers didn't start quite so early in the National League but they grabbed first place for keeps on June 28 and nailed down their flag 48 hours before the Yankees.

Both clubs clinched with 12 games left to play.

Brooklyn played 142 games to win its flag, the Yankees 140.

Charlie Dressen, wha set a Brooklyn record by winning two successive pennants, has assigned himself to scout the Yankees this week.

Against the Yankees Monday, the Indians got five runs off Ford in the first three innings on five hits, four walks and a hit batter. But against the combined relief efforts of Tom Gorman, Bob Kuzava and Johnny Sain the Indians got a hit and run total of zero.

Meanwhile, the Yankee hitters solved Early Wynn with a vengeance in the fourth inning, scoring four runs, and then caught up and sealed the decision against Bill Wight in the sixth and seventh. Yogi Berra broke the tie in the seventh with a two-run homer. Billly Martin drove in four of the Yankees' runs with two doubles and a single.

Brooklyn continued to suffer from a pennant winning letdown, losing its second in a row to the red-hot Chicago Cubs who ran their winning streak to 10. Johnny Klippstein gave the Dodgers only three hits in the 3-1 victory. He stopped Duke Snider's hitting streak at 27 games, one short of the all-time Brooklyn record.

In other action Monday the Chicago White Sox beat Boston 10-6 despite a three-run pinch hit home run by Ted Williams, Washington whipped Detroit 6-1 and Philadelphia edged the St. Louis Cardinals 6-5.

Braves Get Another Break From Weatherman And Umps As Series Is Postponed; Here Tomorrow Night

By ARNOLD BARON
Record Staff Reporter

Quebec — For the second time in three nights, Sherbrooke Indians and Quebec Braves were rained out of their best-of-seven "A" series for the Brouillette trophy of the Provincial Baseball League.

With a break from the weatherman, the play-off, which Quebec now leads 2-1 in games, will be resumed here this evening prior to the teams' returning to Sherbrooke for the fifth game, originally scheduled for Monday evening.

If the two clubs are successful in squeezing in the fourth game here before it snows, the next game will be in Sherbrooke the following night. If tonight's encounter is not postponed again, Indians and Braves will hook up at Sherbrooke Wednesday evening. Games, if necessary after that will alternated between the Capitol and the Queen City of the Eastern Townships.

Righthander John Cerbo has been nominated by manager Pinky May to pitch against Quebec in the fourth game. Quebec pilot George McQuinn plans to use Al "The Flip" Dumouchelle. Cerbo won the opener for Indians while Dumouchelle conquered the pennant winners for Quebec in the second start of the series.

As Dumouchelle is a right-hander, May will probably use the portsided swinger Dennis Luby in the batting line-up and at Third base. Luby accounted for Indians only run here Sunday evening as Sherbrooke went under 3-1, with a homer over the left field fence.

He almost scored a second time which would have deadlocked the contest at 2-2, in the sixth inning when he drew a base on balls, was sacrificed to second by Windy Hall, and attempted to score on a single into center field by "Mayor" Jack Bowes. A phenomenal throw by Quebec outfielder John Charles cut off Luby at the plate.

Braves really had the horseshoes and rabbits' feet out here Sunday night.

Superb fielding by Quebec time and time again saved Pitcher Ray Lague as the Indians left a total of fourteen runners stranded on the basepaths.

Shermac Edges No Claims 10-7 In Second Tilt To Knot Series At One Game Each; Meet Tomorrow

Manager Bill Cochrane's team came back into the play-off picture, when they defeated No Claims 10-7 at Dufresne Park last night, tieing the series at one game each in the finals of the Sherbrooke Industrial League. The two teams meet again Wednesday evening on the same diamond at 7.15 p.m.

Shermac got away to a two run lead in their half of the first inning. No Claims coming to bat in their half of the stanza got these two runs back and added another one to take a 3-2 lead. Both teams went scoreless in the second inning.

Shermac tied it up at 3 all in the top of the third, Maurice Everett hitting for 4 bases. No Claims jumped into the lead again when they came to bat George Brisebois getting a homer with one aboard. Shermac in a big fourth inning got 4 runs to take the lead for the first time, but this lead was short lived as No Claims tied it up once again at 7 all getting two runs.

Good fielding by both teams, sent the batters hitless in the fifth, but in the sixth inning Shermac broke the tie when they tallied 1 run. No Claims again went scoreless, while the Shermac team added two more runs in the top of the seventh for a 10-7 lead, which they held on to until the end of the game.

The two teams played excellent ball with Allanson, and pitcher Lamontagne shining for Shermac. Brisebois and Thomas were good for No Claims.

Springfield Indians, only new entry in the eight-team circuit, which turned professional last year after a squabble with the governing Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, will open the campaign Oct. 10 in Ottawa.

Each team will play 35 games at home and an equal number on the road. The league play-offs will be curtailed this season in order to have a winner ready to travel west to oppose the champions of the Western Hockey League in an East-West classic.

Eddie Shore, president of the Springfield club, announced that veteran centre Doug McMurdy will coach the Indians and play centre. He coached Springfield last year when the team was in the amateur United States Eastern League.

Sherbrooke Saints, also with a new playing coach in Jake Forbes, have signed an agreement with Detroit of the National League to become a farm club of the Red Wings along with Edmonton Flyers of the WHL.

It was also announced that the Saints have purchased goalie Jerry Cotnoir from Victoria Cougars of the WHL as a replacement for Bob Perrault, bought by Montreal Royals.

Quebec Aces were reported seeking a new coach to replace George Punch Imlach, made general and business manager of the team.

Other teams in the league are Montreal Royals, Shawinigan Falls Cataracts, Valleyfield Braves, Chicoutimi Saguenays.

It was also announced that the annual all-star game will be held at Chicoutimi, Oct. 4 with the champion Saguenays meeting an all-star team coached by Quebec's Imlach. George Gravel was named referee-in-chief for the season.

Kwong Gives Esks 9-7 Win Over Winnipeg Bombers

Edmonton—(CP)—A third-quarter touchdown by Normie Kwong Monday night gave Edmonton Eskimos a 9-7 victory over Winnipeg Blue Bombers in a Western Interprovincial Footfall Union game.

The victory before 16,000 fans gave the Eskimos a four-point lead over second-place Winnipeg.

Fast starts in the first and third quarters, accounting for all their points, gave Eskimos their bare margin.

Edmonton counted a field goal from holdover import tackle Wilbur Snyder, once a San Francisco 49'er. Snyder also converted the major.

Flying wing Bud Korchak's two field goals and a rouge, when Negro seatback Rollie Miles conceded a single point on a second unsuccessful field goal attempt by Korchak accounted for Winnipeg's scoring.

Winnipeg quarter Indian Jack Jacobs put on a thrilling aerial show, completing 22 of 37 passes for 299 yards, highest total for the young season. Edmonton quarter pitching but also helped by Miles Claude Arnold, doing most of the and Oklahoma halfback Billy Vessels, got 110 yards on nine good passes in 15.

Eskimos shaded Bombers 18-17 on first downs and outrushed them 172 yards to 80.

Martin Conway Re-Elected As Head Of QAHA; Henry Crochetiere Named District Vice-President For Term

President Martin Conway and his entire slate of Quebec Amateur Hockey Association officers were re-elected at the annual meeting held Saturday in Montreal.

Conway said that the Q.A.H.A. had enjoyed a most successful year despite the rift with the C.A.H.A. He said that the Q.A.H.A. had endorsed the stand taken by its officers in the settlement with the C.A.H.A. Conway noted that there had been an increase in registration in all branches throughout the province and also a profit realized in the playoffs.

In addition to Conway, other officers re-elected were Bob Lebel, Frank Horan, Montreal, Henry Crochetiere, Sherbrooke, Lionel Fleury, Quebec, Jean Tremblay, Chicoutimi, and Clyde McCarthy, Three Rivers, vice-presidents; Registrar Frank Dilio, Secretary George Grondin. Yanks Announce They're Ready To Take Bids For World Series' Tickets; To Be Sold In Series Of Four Games

New York—(AP)—New York Yankees announced Monday they will start taking orders Tuesday for Yankee Stadium seats for the World Series which starts Sept. 30.

Mail orders postmarked before 12:01 a.m. Sept. 15 will be returned.

Orders may be placed by mail only. Payments for tickets will be accepted only in the following forms: Certified cheque; bank cashier's cheque; U. S. postol money order; American Express money order.

No order should exceed two sets of boxes or two reserved seats. Tickets will be sold in sets of four, good for the first, second, sixth or seventh games. In the event either the sixth or seventh games are not played, refunds will be made according to instructions as outlined on the reverse side of tickets.

The price for tickets follows:
One box seat $40 four games.
One reserve seat $28 four games.

Add $1 to each order to cover registry and postal charges.

Boxes and reserved seats cannot be purchased for individual games.

All such orders will be automatically returned to the sender. However, general admission standing room tickets at $4 each may be prchased by mail in advance for single games.

When ordering these tickets specify the stadium game by number—1, 2 or 7. These tickets will also be sold at the stadium the day of each game.

A total of 14,000 bleacher seats at $2 each will be sold at the stadium the day each game is played.

Due to the overwhelming demand for World Series tickets, the Yankees said they will make every effort to distribute tickets, available for public sale to regular patrons. Consequently, a policy has been adopted of limiting applications for public sale to those within the normal patronage area. Requests from outside that area cannot be filled.

Semi-Finals In International Open With Buffalo At Montreal And Wings Hosts To Orioles In Best-Of-Seven

The semi-finals playoffs for the International League's Governors' Cup get under way tonight at Rochester and Montreal—the home clubs favored to meet in the finals.

Pilot Harry Walker's Red Wings, who won the 1954 flag in dramatic style, take on Baltimore Orioles, fourth-place finishers.

The Royals, under the guidance of Wally Alston, are hosts to Buffalo Bisons. The Royals finished behind Rochester in the league standing and the Herd third. Their positions weren't decided until the last day.

Both playoffs will be best-of-seven affairs.

Besides winning the pennant, the Wings also got $10,000. They finished seven games ahead of Montreal in a slate drive that saw them lose only two of 32 games.

Rochester, which has won 14 of 22 games from Baltimore in the regular campaign, will pin its first-game hopes on Floyd Woolridge a righthander from Houston of the Texas League, who has won two games since joining the Wings last week. His record with Houston was 12-10.

Howard Fox, also a righthander, will start the mound chores for Baltimore. His record for the season is 15-10.

Alston plans to open tonight with Tom LaSorda, who's never been beaten by the Bisons. LaSorda, who ended the season with a 17-8 record, defeated the Herd twice this season and holds a 6-0 record against them.

Ken Johnson will probably be Buffalo manager Jack Tighe's choice to open against the Royals. He has a 12-13 record for the season.

The Royals defeated the Bisons 13 times in the regular season, while dropping only seven games.

Sask'wan Pounds Out 34-2 Win Over Calgary Stamps

Calgary. — (CP) — Saskatchewan Roughriders Monday night pounded out a 34-2 victory over Calgary Stampeders to move into a third-place tie with the Stamps in the Western International Football Union.

The Roughriders ran roughshod over the Stamps, mainly on the aerial efforts of Glenn Dobbs.

Dobbs, performing in masterful style before approximately 13,000 fans, tossed five touchdown passes against a Calgary squad that showed little resemblance to the team that had downed Winnipeg

The Saskatchewan squad moved into a 6-2 lead at the end of the Blue Bombers Saturday night. first quarter and held a 19-2 advantage at the half. They boosted their margin to 27-2 at the end of three quarters and then completed the route with seven more points in the final stanza.

Bobby Marlow, Stan Williams, Herb Johnson, Mac Speedie and Bob McMillan took Dobbs' forwards for touchdowns. Del Wardien converted all five. Wardien and Dobbs each kicked singles and Roughies other two points came on a safety touch.

Stamps points came on a safety touch in the first quarter.

Injured Furillo May Win Batting Crown In National

New York. —(AP)— Brooklyn's Carl Furillo, on the ailing list and not expected to play again until the World Series, looks a cinch to replace Stan Musial as National League baseball batting champion this season.

The St. Louis Cardinal's slugger, six-time National League champion, gained three points to .327 last week on 12 hits in 31 times at bat but is still in eighth place.

In the American League, Mickey Vernon increased his lead to nine points over runner-up Al Rosen of Cleveland. The Washington first baseman climbed eight point to .337 while Rosen moved up three to .329. Rosen's 40 home runs and 135 runs batted in are still tops, however.

Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee Braves heads the National League in home runs with 45 and Brooklyn's Roy Campanella has batted in the most runs, 139.

Lefty Eddie Lopat has compiled the best won-lost record in the American League with 15 wins and three defeats for an .833 average. Lew Burdette of Milwaukee has a 14-4 record for a .778 average, best in the National League.

Bud Smith Stops King In Fifth

Brooklyn— (AP) —Wallace Bud Smith, fifth-ranking light-weight contender from Cincinnati, came from behind Monday to stop Arthur King, Canadian lightweight champion from Toronto, in five rounds of their main 10-rounder at the Eastern Parkway Arena.

The bout was stopped at the end of the fifth as King staggered to his corner. It was listed a fifth-round knockout according to New York rules. Smith weighed 138¼, King 137½.

Although he ranks below King, the No. 4 135-pound contender, Smith was a 9 to 5 favorite.

King easily outboxed the hard-hitting Cincinnati Negro through the first three rounds.

But in the fourth Smith started to come on with smashing blows to the body. Midway in the fifth he caught the fading Canadian Negro with a stiff left hook to the jaw, which buckled Arthur's knees. Another hook to the same spot shook King from the head to toe.

Smith tore after his wobbly rival and rained a barrage of blows to the head and body the effects of which he couldn't shake off before the next round.

It was only the second knockout in King's career of 68 fights. He has won 58 and lost 10. The triumph left Smith with a record of 26 victories against seven setbacks.

A crowd of about 1,000 paid approximately $1,200.

Harvie Ward Has Scare In Amateur

Oklahoma City — (AP) — Handsome Harvie Ward had the scare of his life on the Oklahoma City Golf and Country Club course in the first round of the United States national amateur golf championship Monday.

Ward, winner of the British open championship last year, runner-up to Joe Carr for the same title this year and one of the prime favorites in this tournament, suffered a letdown Monday.

Young Ernest (Pete) Arend Jr., of Deal, N.J., carried him to the 18th green, but Ward finally pulled out the match, one up, and joined 1949 champion Charley Coe of the home club, Ken Venturi of San Francisco and Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., in the second round.

These four Walker Cup match players were in the upper part of the draw and Ward was the only ranking player in the top half who

National Hockey League Opens On October 8, Earliest In History; Schedule Will End On March 21

Montreal — (AP) — The 1953-54 National Hockey League season gets under way Oct. 8 — earliest opening in NHL history — with the Stanley Cup champions, Montreal Canadiens, playing hosts to Chicago Black Hawks and New York Rangers visiting Detroit Red Wings.

The schedule again calls for each of the six teams to play 70 games and features a number of three-game series and an increase in the number of doubleheaders — games on successive nights. The season winds up March 21.

Montreal, Detroit and Boston Bruins are all engaged in a three-game series on two occasions. In the early stages of the schedule, Canadiens play Chicago on three successive playing dates while later in the season, they play three games in a row against Detroit.

Boston plays a three-game series against New York and Detroit while the Red Wings oppose Canadiens and the Bruins twice in three-game series.

In the second week of th schedule, Detroit and Chicago each play three games in as many nights. They oppose each other Friday and Saturday on a home-and-home basis and meet different clubs at home on the Sunday.

The opening game of the season for Toronto fans will be played Oct. 10 when the Maple Leafs take on Chicago. The curtian goes up on the new season in Chicago and Boston Oct. 11, Rangers meeting the Black Hawks and Canadiens playing the Bruins.

New York, traditionally the last team to open at home, lights up Madison Square Garden for hockey Oct. 22 with Boston supplying the opposition.

More games are scheduled for week-end dates this season and less for week nights with 126 games slated for Saturdays and Sundays.

Chicago will try out something new by playing seven games on Friday nights. The Hawks previously played all except week-end games on Thursday.

Sundays are the most popular days in the United States cities. Boston plays 18 of their 35 home games on Sunday, New York 17 and Detroit 15.

Toronto and Montreal are Saturday night towns, playing most of their home games on that day. The Leafs play 24 of their 35 games on Saturday with the remainder scheduled for Wednesdays. Canadiens play 21 games on Saturday and 14 Thursday.

Miss Frances Meiggs Was Honored At Boundary By Crystal Rebekah Lodge

Rock Island, Sept 11 — Crystal Rebekah Lodge, No. 14, met at the IOOF hall on Tuesday evening September 8, with a good number in attendance and with the Noble Grand, Sister Kay Brock, in the chair.

Following the official opening of the session the roll was called and the minutes of the last meeting read and approved.

The date of October 27 was definitely set for the district meeting to be held at Crystal Lodge. The first nomination of officers for the ensuing year took place. It was decided that at the regular meeting of September 22, the installation team would hold a practice.

The applications of five new candidates were accepted and they will become official members at a future meeting, probably at the first regular meeting in October

Sister Quillian was the winner of the round robin basket. The meeting closed in form, after which arrangements were completed for a bridal shower, the honored guest being Miss Frances Meiggs, popular bride of the month.

Sister Mary Yetter, Sister Gladys Dustin and Sister Kay Brock departed to the home of Miss Meiggs, who was kidnapped, blindfolded and taken to the hall. After being seated in a chair decorated in yellow and white, the blindfold was removed and she was greatly in surprised to learn where she was.

Presented with a gailly decorated basket filled with prettily wrapped gifts, Miss Meiggs was assisted in opening them by her "abductors". The lovely articles for her new home were passed around and admired, after which the bride-elect thanked her friends for the surprise and gifts.

A buffet lunch was served by the Rebekah members from a table trimmed in keeping with the color scheme.

ALTAR SOCIETY

Twenty one members of St. Edwards church Altar Society met at the Derby Line village hall on Tuesday evening, September 8, for the first regular meeting of the season.

The president, Mrs. Fred Murphy, conducted the meeting and led in the opening prayers. The secretary and treasurer: gave their reports. The monthly collection report included those to whom cards and masses had been sent during the vacation months. Several "thank you" notes were also read.

Commencing this year it was decided to have a roll call of all members at the meeting. At the October meeting the roll will be answered by a "ways and means" suggestions for the Society's benefit.

RADICALLY CHANGED NEW BUS NOW ON HIGHWAYS

Greyhound's new bus, with "air-suspension ride", is now in service in many parts of the country. A new design eliminates conventional metal leaf springs by means of 8 flexible rubber-nylon air cushions. Greyhound claims that these air cushions absorb all road shock and "float" the bus on columns of air—making it possible for passengers to even write as they ride. Picture windows in the "Highway Traveler" bus are much larger, measuring 6 ft. long by 2 ft. wide, and are specially treated and tinted for glare and heat resistance.
