Violence mars election campaign

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The first serious violence of the Oct. 30 federal election campaign was reported Thursday.

Mike Sheppard, New Democratic Party candidate in Kitchener, Ont., was put under an around-the-clock police surveillance after he reported that somebody shot at him the night before as he went to his car from party headquarters.

A 303-calibre rifle, on which a note was attached warning Mr. Sheppard to drop out of the campaign, was later recovered by police.

Mr. Sheppard said he had been sent a note earlier in the campaign warning him that he could receive the same treatment as assassinated Robert Kennedy.

Across the country in Kelowna, B.C., there was another incident regarding a note. Leonard M. Saunders, a 67-year-old retired public servant, reported he was interrogated by police because of a letter he had written criticizing Prime Minister Trudeau.

RCMP said Thursday that it was a "purely routine" investigation carried out after Bruce Howard, Liberal candidate for Okanagan-Boundary, had reported the letter. Mr. Trudeau will visit the Okanagan Saturday.

REPEAT STATEMENTS

On the campaign trail, Prime Minister Trudeau and Conservative Leader

Robert Stanfield reiterated previously-stated positions while New Democrat Leader David Lewis went into what he called the "bowels of a corporate welfare bum."

Social Credit Leader Real Caouette asked voters to give his party a chance, saying the "old parties" have done little in the last 105 years to improve Canadian living conditions.

Mr. Trudeau, appearing on an open-line, Liberal-sponsored television and radio program at Thunder Bay, Ont., was told by one caller that his government is "totally dishonest" in boasting about economic progress while inflation and unemployment climbed.

Mr. Trudeau responded that "man for man and government for government" Canada had done a better job than any other country in the Western world.

"When we hear from the opposition that the economy is in a deplorable state, we say compared to what? The Garden of Eden?"

Mr. Trudeau stopped in Thunder Bay on his way to a western wing.

NEWS FOR FARMERS

In Winnipeg, Otto Lang, justice minister and minister in charge of the wheat board, had some good news for Prairie grain producers. Because of rising world prices and booming exports the farmers would receive increases for wheat, oats and barley deliveries.

He said ordinarily the wheat board would not make these extra payments until late 1973 at the earliest but they were sped up to help farmers who have been in a difficult cash position.

Mr. Stanfield reiterated in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., that a Conservative government would reduce personal income tax. There would be a four-per-cent cut for the last half of this year and a three-per-cent increase due Jan. 1 would be dropped.

He said the tax cuts would be an anti-inflationary measure and would help those who are finding it difficult to make ends meet.

Other Conservative measures would be to fight inflationary psychology, perhaps through wage and price controls, and an increase in the old-age pension.

Allan Lawrence, former justice secretary in the Ontario government, forecast in Vancouver that Mr. Trudeau is on his way out as leader of the Liberals, even if they should win the election.

FINDS REVULSION

He said at a news conference that Liberal organizers are aware of the "revulsion" against Mr. Trudeau and his policies across the country.

The Liberals are afraid to bring the prime minister into some areas, particularly swing ridings, said the Conservative candidate in Northumberland-Durham, Ont.

Commissioner knocks colleagues' report

MONTREAL (CP) — An industrial inquiry commission's recommendations concerning labor costs in the New Brunswick pulp and paper industry are "simplistic and unwise," one of the three commissioners said Thursday.

Neville Hamilton, director of public relations for the United Paperworkers International Union, released here a letter to commission chairman Clarence T. Clark, saying it "amounts to a minority report," since no formal minority report is provided for under the New Brunswick Labor Relations Act.

His letter said the majority report released earlier Thursday in Fredericton, signed by Mr. Clark and commissioner David Ferguson, proposed a wage deferral in the industry.

"The commission agrees that labor cannot be blamed for the current state of the industry and yet they are being asked to make a major financial contribution to the industry in addition to the substantial concessions they have already made. This strikes me as being unfair and inequitable," the letter said.

"Labor costs are only one of the cost factors which, unrestricted, will unquestionably increase over the next three years."

"The majority of the commission has unfairly and inequitably singled out the labor cost factor and sought to control it. This is simplistic and unwise."

Mr. Hamilton, who said he had told New Brunswick's deputy labor minister Thursday he was "very unhappy" about not being advised the majority report was coming down Thursday, added:

"... The recommendation for a wage deferral is an unwarranted intrusion into the collective bargaining system and constitutes a disservice to the working people of the industry."

The majority report said New Brunswick should develop a short-term program to aid pulp and paper companies suffering net operating cash losses and criticized what it called the province's "deplorable" record of administering its forests.

Mr. Hamilton's letter said he agreed with "very substantial parts of the majority report," including criticism of past provincial government performance, the "sorry situations at both St. Anne Nackawic and Fundy Forest Industries" and recommendations for a "new and uncompromising forest policy."

But he said he would extend this policy to include taking back all Crown land concessions, implementation of a thorough silviculture program and other management steps.

"I give hesitant and reluctant support to the program of special government assistance," but this did not meet the commission's obligation to improve both stability and level of employment, he said.

SUGGESTS PLAN

Mr. Hamilton said the commission should have studied the possibility of partial integration of pulp and paper operations of Consolidated-Bathurst, Miramichi Timber Resources and the Fraser Companies mills at Edmundston and Atholville, N.B.

He suggested a government agency be created to oversee a re-arrangement of supply agreements which currently involved sending 60,000 tons of sulphite from Fraser's Edmundston mill to a plant in Madawaska, Me., just across the New Brunswick border.

Also eliminated would be Fraser's policy of bringing in kraft pulp from British Columbia to New Brunswick.

The arrangement would involve closure of the sulphite facility at Edmundston, but would result in more employment and stability and bring about enough public control that other proposed government assistance measures would probably be unnecessary, he said.

He urged the provincial government study the feasibility of the integration proposal.

Mr. Sanborn, it will have to wait!

LENNOXVILLE — Democracy is alive and well at the Lennoxville elementary school board.

Due to many objections from the public on the proposed name of Sanborn School Board, the commissioners decided Tuesday to rescind the recent motion to adopt the name. They voted to substitute the name The School Board of the Lennoxville District.

Robert Simonic, secretary-treasurer, said he had received a number of telephone calls from interested citizens opposing the proposed name of Sanborn and he had therefore delayed submitting the name for government approval until the next board meeting.

He said that most of the opposition was expressed because the name did not define a geographical area as most other school boards did.

Hugh Auger, director-general, added that he felt it would be more appropriate to choose a name which defined the area geographically.

Commissioner Joan Keys said she thought that no matter what name was chosen, the number of complaints would be the same and, it was difficult, therefore, to justify the change. She added that the new name was not particularly imaginative.

After toying with a few somewhat frivolous alternatives, however, the board irrevocably decided on the name The School Board of the Lennoxville District. The name now has to be sent to the Ministry of Education for approval.

Undue emphasis on moves one executive says

MONTREAL (CP) — Some business leaders located in Montreal say undue emphasis has been placed on the number of head offices leaving the city and at least one executive maintains there may be more arriving than leaving.

"What attention is drawn to all the time is the outflow and what is never counted in the inflow," says Robert M. Fowler, chairman of BP Canada Ltd.

"Attention is focused on the outflow because of the specific uncertainties associated with Quebec."

"But on over-all balance, I maintain there's just as much or even more inflow."

Mr. Fowler also discounts the notion that companies are leaving for political reasons: "The vast majority of functions or offices that do move out do so for sound business reasons."

STATISTICS UNAVAILABLE

Solid statistics on the movements of corporate head offices in and out of Montreal are not yet available. Quebec

Premier Robert Bourassa in August announced he had ordered a special study to analyse the head office situation, which he described as "potentially dangerous."

The announcement came amid reports that many companies had left or were planning to leave in part to escape what was said to be the uncertain political climate in the province.

However, Gerard Filion, president of Marine Industries Ltd. and last year's president of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, says that if there has been a head-office exodus it more likely illustrates a general shift in the economic activity across the country as the focus of development moves from east to west.

"Look at what happened in the U.S. New England was the first part to be industrialized. Then the area around the Great Lakes—Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago and so on—followed, and now it's the Pacific coast where population and industry are growing at the fastest rate."

MOVE WESTWARD

"This move westward is the same as what's happened in Canada. First it was the Maritimes and Montreal, then Toronto and now it's Vancouver's turn."

Mr. Filion believes Montreal is still a growing centre. "It is my conviction that we've come through the worst period."

W. I. M. Turner, president of Consolidated Bathurst Ltd., said he doesn't believe there have been any head offices coming to Montreal, but adds that "I'm by no means convinced there's a significant trend to disinvesting in Montreal."

"But don't be fooled, Quebec's social and political problems are a major factor influencing businessmen these days," Mr. Turner said.

"If ever coercion were used to make French the working language at our head office, we would move."

All byelection opponents lose deposits

QUEBEC (CP) — Final results Thursday of two Quebec byelections showed the Liberal candidates trounced their three opponents so badly the opposition candidates lost their deposits.

Liberal Donald Gallienne defeated

Charles Begin of the Parti Quebecois by a 6,800-vote majority to deprive the separatist hopeful of his $200 deposit.

In Gatineau, Michel Gratton had almost 10,000 votes more than Harold Kelly of Unite-Quebec. Mr. Kelly and Pierrette Dupont-Rousse of the Parti Quebecois also had to forfeit their deposits.

Candidates must get a least half the vote total of the winning candidate to retain their deposit.

Final official returns:

Duplessis-Gallienne 13,239; Begin 6,426.

Gatineau-Gratton 15,023; Kelly 5,145; Mr. Dupont-Rousse 4,186.

Youth arraigned on murder

MONTREAL (CP) — A 17-year-old Baltimore youth was arraigned in Welfare Court Thursday on a charge of murder in connection with the Sept. 30 death of millionaire land developer Daniel Rudberg.

No plea was entered for the youth, whose name was ordered not to be made public.

Judge Robert Gammel will decide whether the case will be referred to Criminal Court.

Boys and girls under 18 normally are tried in juvenile court in Quebec. Under certain circumstances, trials of children of more than 14, charged with graver offences such as non-capital murder, are held in ordinary courts.

Under juvenile courts rules, no indication of the identity of the juvenile is permissible without special leave of the court.

Mr. Rudberg, 39, was stabbed three times when he cornered a suspected purse-snatcher.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Do Carrots Really Help Your Eyes?

Dear Dr. Lamb — Please satisfy my curiosity and possibly someone else's. Is there any truth to what I hear about carrots improving one's eyesight?

Dear Reader — Yes, there is. I suspect this is true, though, only in people who have a vitamin A deficiency. Carrots are very rich in vitamin A. This vitamin is important in the chemical formation of a substance in the back of the eye, called visual purple. It particularly helps a person to see better at night.

Individuals who have a true vitamin A deficiency often have what we call "night blindness," which means that they can't see very well when the lighting is poor or at night. If a person is eating a good balanced diet, (which should include some carrots part of the time) they'll probably be getting vitamin A in vegetables and even in orange juice. Most commercial milk is fortified with vitamin A.

It's not very likely for people to have a vitamin A deficiency today if they're drinking their milk and eating a balanced diet. This was perhaps more common in years past when fresh vegetables were not so available and commercial milk was not fortified with vitamin A. In any case a carrot a day isn't going to hurt anybody and it may help a few people.

It is true, however, that vitamin A is one of the few vitamins that can cause poisoning in very high doses, so don't go overboard with vitamin A tablets.

Dear Dr. Lamb — My sister's doctor had her blood tested and said her blood could not take any more iron. She takes B-12 shots. What does the doctor mean when he says her blood will not take any more iron? Is this a serious disease?

Dear Reader — I presume the doctor meant that the blood contained as much as is normal for it to contain. The major portion of iron in the blood is in the red blood cells combined with a blood protein to form hemoglobin. This is the substance in the red blood cells that enable them to transport oxygen to the body cells and carry away carbon dioxide.

When the red blood cells are of normal size and contain the normal amount of hemoglobin, therefore iron, taking any more iron will not increase the amount of iron in the bloodstream. In other words, each red blood cell has a maximum capacity of how much iron it will hold or needs. When it's full, the rest of the iron is wasted. What the doctor is explaining to you, I suspect, is that if she has anemia it's not because she needs iron. He's probably giving her B-12 shots because she has a deficiency in this vitamin or is not using the natural sources of this vitamin in her food properly. This can lead to a different kind of anemia — classically, pernicious anemia. The treatment for this form of anemia is not iron, but B-12 shots.

A B-12 deficiency that might cause pernicious anemia isn't serious as long as the proper treatment is taken regularly as prescribed by the doctor.

South finds himself in four hearts after the Poppa-Momma sequence of one heart-two hearts-three hearts-four hearts.

Not that the bidding wasn't reasonable. North's two-heart call is eminently sound and he is entitled to go on to four after his partner's rebid. There is some question about that rebid by South but the contract is a reasonable one and it looks as if South will bring it home if he plays West for the ace of trumps and East for the queen.

We will never find out if South would have made the winning play in the trump suit because he never got a chance to guess. West started by playing ace-king and a third spade. South ruffed and led his jack of trumps and West clattered right up with the ace.

Wasn't that a give-up play? Not at all! West led a fourth spade and there was no way for South to shut out East's queen of trumps.

What about West's whole play? It was excellent. West could see that his side was not going to collect any tricks in clubs or diamonds. His only chance was to find East with the trump queen and he had taken full opportunity of that possibility.

Drop in bucket?

By ROBERT HAMILTON

More and more Canadian taxpayers are beginning to realize that our country is being bled to death economically by the various programs which have been instituted by the government in the past year or so.

It is only now, in the rather tepid warmth of the election campaign that many of those so-called programs to help the ever present unemployment are being brought to the attention of the Canadian voter. Many of the past examples of colossal Government waste of public funds, such as the Carrier Bonaventure, the Hydrofoil Bras D'Or, the four destroyers refitted for sea duty which can't sail for lack of manpower and, the latest, the Helicopter-carrying destroyer Restigouche which after a refit costing $12 million is found unfit for sea duty because a contractor goofed by flushing a corrosive fluid through her boiler tubes, all these things seem to have for some curious reason been quietly allowed to die away, so that even the daily press no longer bothers to keep the facts before the public.

Why? I wonder.

How did the powers-that-be manage to take the heat off? It is indeed frustrating for those of us who are Pensioners or on fixed incomes to read of the latest exposures in regard to the huge deficit in the unemployment insurance fund which now has been revealed, under pressure we would imagine, to be in the neighborhood of $54 million.

"I'm going to defend it because I think it is a tragedy to have it become part of the election campaign," said Mr. Mackasey in a press interview.

Of all the unmitigated gall. Does the Manpower Minister really think that the taxpayers do not have the right to know how their tax money is handled by the government? He also called the deficit a "drop in the bucket" from National Revenues.

But when Canadian Pensioners ask the responsible ministers to take a realistic look at their circumstances in regard to the increase in pensions, the "drop in the bucket" has just dried up. There is no money in the till.

I sincerely hope that all the elderly taxpayers will try to remember the "drop in the bucket" which might have been concealed from our knowledge had it not been for the pressures applied by opponents of the government in the heat of the election campaign. I wonder, had there been no election in the offing, if the taxpayers have been made aware of this huge deficit which Mr. Mackasey regards as a drop in the bucket.

The Old-Age Pensioner is not going to buy that, Mr. Mackasey. I wonder if history will repeat itself? Remember the pipeline debate during the reign of the St. Laurent Government? When C.D. Howe came out with the famous expression, "What's a Million?"

It is not always possible for this class of taxpayer to meet and question the would-be candidate at an outdoor meeting or any other meeting for that matter.

Do they have answers to the following: Are you in favor of eliminating or easing in a realistic way the heavy burden of property taxes and school taxes on those of pensionable age? Are you in favor of increasing the basic old-age pension to $150 per month? Are you in favor of increasing the tax exemption for Pensioners to $6,000 per year for married and $3,000 for single Pensioners?

I am certain the column of The Record will be open to your answers and you will reach many more voters whom you might not see otherwise. Why not take advantage of the media, which I am sure would be willing to do service to their readers.

The Pensioners only real interest is, naturally, their own future. They have already done their fighting in the Rat Race called progress.

They have a right to expect an easier, trouble-free life, but politicians must not make the mistake of thinking all the fight has been drained out of them, not by a long shot.

The same guts that carried them through the lean years of low salaries and no handouts will still stand when and if they have to fight again for what is their rightful due.

Frost makes it worse

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ontario farmers, already hard hit by unusually severe weather conditions this year, received another setback Monday and Tuesday when an early frost struck tomato and corn fields.

Temperatures dipped under the freezing mark of 32 degrees in several parts of southern Ontario where some crops are still in the field.

W. N. T. Ashton, agricultural representative for Perth County, said that regardless of the state of maturity, corn crops may as well be harvested now.

He said crops may be used for fodder but may not have enough nutritional value for other uses.

Mr. Ashton said white beans are still being harvested and that frost damage has not been as noticeable as that for corn.

Tomatoes and peppers were hit in the Simcoe area but cabbage, cauliflower and apple crops appeared to have weathered the frost.

Considerable frost damage to tomatoes was expected in Essex County where processing plants are operating on a day-to-day basis. Most growers had a full quota picked during the holiday weekend but that was expected to last only two or three days.

Information committee set

SHERBROOKE (SMG) — A reference and information centre has been set up in Sherbrooke.

This centre helps individuals, families and groups of people to fully benefit from the complex government services and programs offered to the public, a spokesman for the centre said.

The principal functions of the organization are to inform the public about community services existing in the region and to tell the individual which service answers his needs.

The address of the centre is 1144 King Street west. It is open Monday-Friday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. More information is available by telephoning 563-6767.

The public is also invited to send letters or go to the office to obtain free information.

HERE & THERE

DERBY LINE — The South of the Border Home Makers Extension Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Rodney Barrup, Derby Line, 8:00 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 16. All interested are cordially invited to attend.

Interest unchanged

SHERBROOKE — The Farm Credit Corporation, a federal agency, wishes to inform the Eastern Township farmers that its interest rates effective since April 1, 1972 will remain the same until May 1, 1973.

The interest rates are 7 per cent on loans made under the Farm Credit Act and 6 1/4 per cent on loans made under the Farm Syndicates Credit Act.

On loans made under the Farm Credit Act, the Quebec Agriculture Department continues to rebate interest, so that the borrower pays only 2 1/2 per cent interest on the first $15,000 of a mortgage loan.

45 YEARS WITH BELL — Forty-five years of service with the same company! That's the feat accomplished by Mr. Henri Larose of Sherbrooke. Mr. Larose, age 64, is retiring from Bell Canada, where he has worked since 1928, when Sherbrooke was served by only 4,800 telephones. In the photograph, Mr. Larose, left, receives from Mr. Gaston Jacques the "president's wallet", a token of appreciation for his many years of service and a symbol of the new life he is beginning as a pensioner. On the right is Mrs. Larose. The presentation took place at the King George Hotel, where Mr. Larose also received a life membership to the Telephone Pioneers of America.

North Hatley now in school picture

NORTH HATLEY (WM) — The first meeting of the North Hatley elementary school committee was held at North Hatley Elementary School, Oct. 5, at 8 p.m.

Paul Wright, the principal of the school, described the functions and responsibilities of the school and parents' committees under Bill 27 regulations and called for nominations and election of parents to serve on the committee.

Colin Kerr was named chairman of the committee and Olive Vaughan vice-chairman and teacher's representative.

Bobby Gauthier was elected secretary for the committee. Each member will receive detailed information on school and parents' committees before the next meeting which will be held at North Hatley elementary school Thursday, Nov. 16 at 8 p.m.

Soprano visits U. of S.

LOUISA BUDD

SHERBROOKE — Louisa Budd, famed operatic soprano, will present a varied program of music at the Grand Salle at the University of Sherbrooke on Wednesday, Oct. 18.

Miss Budd will sing arias from Rossini's Soirees Musicales, Blonden's Aria from Mozart's Abduction from the Seraglio, Richard Strauss' Amor Die Nacht und Schlechtes Wetter and Quatre Chansons de Jeunesse by Claude Debussy.

Non-operatic songs include renditions of Black is the Color of My True Love's Hair, Manhattan Joy Ride, Drink to me Only With Thine Eyes, The Singer, Charlie is My Darling and Tres Poemas by Turina.

Miss Budd, Canadian-born with relatives in Sherbrooke, has lived in New York since the age of six. Only 24 years old, she combines good looks with a rich and flexible voice.

She has toured the United States with Sarah Caldwell's American National Opera Company and sang the title role in Lulu and Nanetta in Falstaff. She has also sung leading coloratura roles with the Metropolitan Opera Studio and the Turnau Opera Company.

This performance, organized by the Community Concerts of Canada in Ottawa, will be Louisa Budd's first performance in the province of Quebec. She will be accompanied at the piano by Mikael Eliassen.

The performance will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Compton NDPer running

STANSTEAD (WM) — Duncan Graham of Stanstead has officially registered as New Democratic Party candidate for Compton County.

Mr. Graham, head of the geography department at Stanstead College, is consultant to the world law fund in New York, coordinator of the first trans-national conference on global perspective in social studies and national vice-president of the World Federalists of Canada.

He is also a member of the Canadian institute of international affairs and chairman of the North Hatley Unitarian Church.

Born in Dunbar, Scotland, Mr. Graham graduated in forestry from Aberdeen University and emigrated to Canada in 1956 to join the department of Lands and Forests in Toronto.

Mr. Graham is married and has four children. His wife Maggie is head of the Art Department at Stanstead College and an active participant in community projects.

C of C starts courses

SHERBROOKE (WM) — Business administration courses have been organized by the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce.

The purposes of the courses, a press release indicated yesterday, is to permit businessmen to pause for a moment and re-evaluate positions on accounting, personnel administration and marketing techniques.

The courses will be given every Monday for 10 weeks. A certificate from the Ministry of Education will be awarded at the completion of the course. This is the second consecutive year that the courses have been organized by the Chamber of Commerce.

Rock Island school committee formed

ROCK ISLAND — A school committee of nine area parents was formed at a meeting held at Sunnyside school, Rock Island on Wednesday evening, October 11.

This is in keeping with recently-passed Bill 27. As the large number attending entered the recreation room where the session was taking place, they were given a copy of an extract from the Quebec Official Gazette.

The extract explained regulations governing school committees and parents' committees. All were advised to take the paper home and study it at their own convenience.

Sunnyside school principal Arnold Nugent spoke the introductory remarks. Owen Quillman, a parent, was in the chair for the election of the committee with Mrs. Margaret Mosher acting as clerk.

Elected were Mrs. Jessie Bullock and Boyd Gilbert, from the Municipality of Ogdun; Mrs. Jane Page and Mrs. Dorothy Gallant, from the Municipality of Stanstead; Mrs. Pauline Costello, Municipality of Beebe; Fred Robertson and Mrs. Kathleen Fisher, Town of Rock Island; George Weller and Mrs. Carole Dewey, the Municipality of Stanstead East.

Honorary degrees granted

SHERBROOKE (SMG) — The University of Sherbrooke will confer honorary degrees on writer, Robert Choquette and Jacques Lagasse, the notary, on Saturday October 21 during their graduation ceremony, it was announced recently.

Robert Choquette, who started his literary career working for The Gazette, has written many books of poetry, including A Travers Les Vents, Metropolitan Museum, and Suite Marine. He authored three novels: La Pension Leblanc, Les Velder and Elise Velder. Mr. Choquette has also written plays for radio. He has been awarded the Willingdon prize in 1930, the Duvernay prize in 1954 and the Edgar Poe prize for literature.

Jacques Lagasse is an administrator of Provigo Inc. and the president and founder of CJHS in Sherbrooke.

At the same graduation ceremony, it is expected some 600 students will receive their diplomas, an organizer announced.

THE CSPCA NEEDS HELP

The CSPCA is the oldest humanitarian organization in Canada — 104 years young to be exact. Its responsibilities cover the entire Province of Quebec and its inspectors travel throughout this area preventing cruelty, making cases against offenders and generally doing their utmost to protect animals. In addition, last year a total of 100,000 animals of all types were handled at its clinics and its Montreal and Sherbrooke shelters.

The CSPCA's work includes care and shelter for victims of accidents, neglect, mistreatment, education in animal welfare, as well as prosecution of those accused of malpractice. The Society is entirely dependent on the public for financing its projects and work. It does not receive grants from any government and can only do as much as funds permit.

The annual fund raising campaign is October 15th to October 30th. Please give generously. Send contributions to CSPCA, 5215 Jean Talon West, Montreal 308, P.Q.

Irene Pelletier knows the problems of all walks of life. He has rubbed shoulders with the farmer, worker and the professional in his climb to the top.

A brief look at his life brings this into focus. Irene is a farmer's son and the 13th child in a family of 14. At sixteen he was forced to start work on the railway. Later he joined the Armed Forces (Air Force) where he saved money to continue his education. This part of his life took him abroad to study, travelling to expand his knowledge of world problems. Finally he has become a university professor. During this struggle to better himself he found time to pursue sports, the arts, have several publications on public affairs published and master three languages.

At 33 he has the desire and drive needed by a public servant to fulfill the needs of the citizens of Sherbrooke County in Ottawa.

Not as lethal

A heading on a recent story in The Economist reads: "If he can argue his way round those unemployment figures Mr. Trudeau may persuade Canada it's got it good enough."

The article was written before the most recent unemployment figures were released by Statistics Canada; and the latest ones appear to give Mr. Trudeau an even tougher case to argue against.

In August this country had 503,000 jobless, and though this was down from July it was higher than the figure for a year ago and, seasonally adjusted, represented an unemployment rate of 6.7 per cent of the labor force.

Mr. Trudeau's opponents have not been lax in making use of the unemployment figures as a weapon with which to try to unseat the government. In Halifax, Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield said that continued high unemployment is one of the basic reasons the government must be thrown out.

How defensive Mr. Trudeau intends to be about unemployment, and about the other major issue in Canada at the moment — the rapidly rising cost of living — remains to be seen. But he need not be totally on the defensive about either. On the premise that the best form of defence is attack, he can even take the initiative, and with some credibility, on these two touchy subjects.

Indeed, one of his ministers, John Turner, has already indicated the government's stand on unemployment. The finance minister has suggested that against the rate of unemployment must be put the rate of growth in employment.

In the past few months Canada has had a rapidly expanding economy which has brought with it a huge growth in employment opportunities. The fact that unemployment remains high may be a weapon for Mr. Trudeau's opponents.

His weapon is the number of new jobs that have been created — and also the legitimate questioning of the accuracy of the Statistics Canada figures. In spite of unemployment, Canada has one of the fastest-growing labor forces among industrialized nations.

On the cost of living, the government can point to rising costs in other countries and claim that, relatively speaking, Canada is not doing too badly. (Better, for example than the Argentine where costs rose 60 per cent last year.) Nor have the opposition parties anything to suggest that would improve matters. On the contrary, most of their suggestions would mean higher costs for most people, not lower.

None of which is to say that the twin problems of unemployment and rising prices are not serious matters. Canadian voters will expect the government they elect Oct. 30 to come to grips with them.

But as campaign weapons they may not be as lethal as the Conservatives and NDP would like to think.

Opinion from the French press

This is a selection of editorials on current topics, translated from the French-language press of Canada.

Ottawa Le Droit: As the members of Team Canada, having defeated their Soviet rivals, arrived home to the acclamation of a delirious crowd, the first group of Ugandan refugees, cold and exhausted, arrived here in search of a new life. They were met with warmth and sympathy by the Canadian immigration minister and members of his department before leaving for their various destinations, some to Quebec, most to other provinces for family or linguistic reasons. The first arrival was a case of a shared national sentiment of victory, the second a sentiment of human solidarity with the unfortunate.

Expelled from Uganda by General Amin, they were robbed of their possessions before leaving with regret a country to which they had brought their technical skill and talents for business. It is possible that the Ugandan people will suffer from their absence because they lack the skilled workers, administrators and professionals which a country needs for development. We have been astonished by the quality, intelligence and behavior of these new arrivals.

With our current unemployment rate, this is perhaps not the most advantageous time for them to be integrated easily into the labor market, but one does not choose when one is to be expelled.

This all results from the inordinate ambitions and political blunders of a usurping leader badly prepared for his job. In his desire to Africanize Uganda, he violates the most elementary human rights. He can find nothing better to justify his act than to use Hitler as a reference. The massive expulsion of 80,000 persons who have been established in the country for many years shows his short-sightedness especially when the nation in question needs people to survive economically.

On the moral level, this pogrom marks a return to barbarism. The world cannot remain insensitive. This is why many nations, including Canada, have offered asylum to the exiles. — Fulgence Charpentier (Oct. 5).

Granby La Voix de l'Est: The prime minister of Canada has referred in recent days to the dangers of the country being governed by a minority government after Oct. 30.

Mr. Trudeau is right to warn the people against a minority government. Experience teaches that this type of government is always at the mercy of the opposition which is powerful in the House of Commons.

To remain in power, the government must use compromise which places it in a false situation because it cannot follow its own policies and properly fulfill its mandate.

The administration of the country is hampered and it is the people who suffer the consequences of this situation.

We know that in this situation the opposition parties usually seek to prolong debates in order to paralyze government action and then accuse it of negligence and lack of foresight.

To be effective, a government must have elbow room and be able to assume all its responsibilities which isn't much to ask when it must find viable solutions to the nation's principal problems.

If a majority government cannot solve these problems to the satisfaction of all Canadians, we must sincerely ask ourselves if a minority government could do the job.

Let's not give them the job to do and then not give them the means to act.

The duty of the people, then, is to elect men capable of assuring a healthy administration, while taking into account the fact that the team in power after Oct. 30 must be strong enough to carry out all its obligations and must therefore have a sufficient majority in Parliament. — Roland Gagne (Oct. 5).

Montreal La Presse: The electoral poll conducted by the Public Opinion Research Centre reassures the Liberal and Social Credit parties who had begun to fear the Progressive Conservatives, thanks to Claude Wagner, the new Tory chief in Quebec. It is surprising to find the poll gives the four parties the same number of votes in Quebec as they received in 1968. The Liberals are still as popular, the Social Credit and Progressive Conservatives are still vying for second place and the New Democratic Party is still in fourth place.

But the poll was conducted between Sept. 28 and Oct. 1. The electoral campaign was not yet in full swing in Quebec — and undoubtedly it was the same in the other provinces. On top of this, the Canadian-Soviet hockey series was the major preoccupation of most Quebecers — and other Canadians — rather than federal elections and political speeches. It is really in the next three weeks that the political parties will go all out.

One must always refrain from attributing virtues to polls which they do not possess. This one was taken a month before the voting. Even if it gives us a general idea of the political intentions of Quebecers, it does not permit us to predict the results of the voting Oct. 30. The voters always have the final word. — Claude Gravel (Oct. 9).

Trois-Rivieres Le Nouvelliste: The council of the Confederation of National Trade Unions... has decided to hold a referendum to consult all its members about the question of Quebec independence, after having just declared itself in favor of Quebec socialism.

The unanimous decision and absence of a serious debate on these political questions does not surprise us... because the great majority of those opposing this new orientation of the CNTU have left its ranks.

We are clearly of the impression the leaders of the CNTU want to prove that they are right to impose their own ideas of politically involved unionism on their members.

This recourse to members by means of a referendum on Quebec independence seems to us to be an important concession in the sense that they have decided to come out of their ivory towers.

However, what we like the least in this method of action is that the CNTU members must declare themselves on a socialism already accepted by CNTU leaders.

We feel it is a question of two distinct subjects. One can really desire independence for Quebec without opting for socialism.

One can ask to what extent the CNTU members can freely express themselves and also to what extent the leaders of this union are ready to have a line of action dictated by the membership.

If the defection of the three CNTU executives which led to the creation of the Centrale des Syndicats Democratiques, as well as the recent defection of the Quebec civil servants union, has not been sufficient to open the eyes of Marcel Pepin, the CNTU head, we really don't see how the referendum he proposes could bother him. — Sylvio Saint-Amand (Oct. 6).

Gut issues now looming

By Joseph MacSween

MONTREAL (CP) — Gut issues in the federal election campaign in Quebec appear fuzzy, but the economy, including unemployment and high prices, is the most frequently discussed.

"I think the economy is more of a backdrop than a real issue, this far at least," said Charles Perrault, president of the Quebec Employers' Council.

"The real issues don't seem to be coming forth. The campaign is not igniting any great public response. At this point I can't see a clear focus. I have been able to get no real feel of the campaign. The parties don't seem to have come to grips with the real issues."

Mr. Perrault articulated in an interview what many Quebecers seem to feel about the campaign, which has lacked the blazing passions familiar in past battles.

The present emphasis on electronic communication between candidate and people — notably by radio — hot-line shows — results in a subdued sort of politicking as compared with old-style blood-and-thunder meetings, in one observer's opinion.

SEPARATISM NOT ISSUE

Campaigners have sometimes found themselves talking about the economy and Quebec separatism in the same breath, stressing that the economic well-being of the population is the issue now, not separatism.

Prime Minister Trudeau said in Sherbrooke he was not about to help the cause of the Parti Quebecois, which wants Quebec sovereignty in economic association with Canada, by getting involved in a separatist debate during the campaign for the Oct. 30 federal election.

He said Liberal ministers and candidates would stress "the changes we have made and the ones we are going to make to integrate further the province of Quebec into the Canadian economy."

Claude Wagner, leader of the Quebec Progressive Conservative campaign, declared in Granby:

"Unemployment and the high cost of living are the two issues of this campaign and those are the issues that bring to the forefront the state of our economy. That is where the Trudeau government has failed to deliver the merchandise and that is where the Trudeau government is going to be upset."

One Granby businessman said voters tend to be distracted in listening to statements by those two leaders because both Mr. Trudeau, the tough federalist, and Mr. Wagner, the former Quebec Liberal cabinet minister and judge, are to some degree issues in themselves.

LIBERALS HOLD SWAY

The Liberals took 56 of Quebec's 74 seats in the 1968 general election while Real Caouette's Social Credit forces won 14 and Robert Stanfield's Conservatives won four, only one in the Montreal area, where the Liberals captured 29.

Touring the Gaspé, where unemployment rises to 30 per cent in some areas, Mr. Wagner promised fishermen that a Conservative government would remove inequities in unemployment insurance regulations. The other side of the coin was seen in Waterloo, in the Eastern Townships, where a factory executive told reporters accompanying Mr. Wagner that jobs were going begging while men supported themselves on unemployment insurance payments.

Social Credit holds power in a vast geographic arc of contiguous constituencies stretching from the northeast Ontario border to the United States line southeast of Quebec City. Many of these rural and semi-rural areas have suffered severe economic distress and decline accompanied by migration of young people to Montreal or other cities.

TALKS OF PAST

In Social Credit areas, Mr. Trudeau spoke in serious, measured fashion of what his government had done in the last four years to tackle regional disparities and to help French-Canadians in particular.

He stressed the activities of the regional economic expansion department headed by Jean Marchand, long Quebec's top union leader, and said his government sees its role as one of taking from the privileged to aid the underprivileged.

Mr. Wagner, who came to the campaign with a long-established reputation for rapport with the people, is also making his pitch to the rural areas while at the same time inviting the support of Montreal workers who voted for Rene Levesque and the Parti Quebecois in the last provincial election.

Mr. Levesque, meanwhile, is also making the economy the main issue in his so-called anti-campaign — against federalism in general. He contends that Quebec gives more than it receives.

The Richmond blahs

Dear Sir:

I am a Richmond Regional student who enjoys watching and playing school sports. I usually read the writeups in your paper about the outcomes of our games. They always talk about some 'fantastic' thing that Galt has done.

Wake up!!! Richmond wins sometimes too, and so does BCS. Do you have to be so prejudiced? If you can tell who made the Galt goals and plays, why not the Richmond goals and plays. It is only fair.

You avoid the mention of any other school's triumphs. Everything is Galt, Galt, Galt.

Blah!

They may be good but they are definitely not the best in everything. Admit it. An improvement will result.

Thanks,

Kathy Nicholls

Ayer's Cliff School Fair Results

AYER'S CLIFF—The 57th annual School Fair, sponsored by Stanstead County Women's Institute was held on Saturday, September 16 at the Ayer's Cliff Fair grounds.

It was a success because the young people came and exhibited 903 items and because adults gave their time.

The judges of the various sections were W.G. MacDougall, D. Richardson, Don MacMillan, Mrs. S. Piercy, Mrs. M. Crease, Mrs. N. Bailey, Mrs. W.J. Current, Miss E. Miller, Mrs. M. Dustin, L. Bliss, Miss V. Moranville, Capt. and Mrs. E. BroN, Mrs. O. Brav, Mrs. W. May, Mrs. G. Shipway, Mrs. M. Ched, Miss B. Thompson, Mrs. A. McVittie, H. Smith, P. Pederson and Arthur Langevin as well as several County W.I. Members who worked in the Horticultural building and for the talent show.

Kathleen Owens, of Hereford, for the second year won the Stanstead County W.I. trophy for girls and Brian Butler of Brown's Hill, Ayer's Cliff, the boys trophy for highest aggregate. Kathleen had an aggregate of 33 and Brian, 23. Both are students at A.G.R.H.S.

While the judging was taking place, the young people held a talent show in the main hall of the County building. There was singing, instrumental music, recitations, skits, all to make up an enjoyable program. The square dance team winner was Coaticook, first and Ayer's Cliff, second.

The fair money for prizes is donated by the Stanstead County W.I. $100.00; Stanstead County Council, $150.00; Austin W.I. $25.00; Baldwin Family, $50.00; Coaticook Home and School, $25.00; Ayer's Cliff W.I. $15.00. Teachers of Alexander Galt and the schools in the County assist in many ways to help make the fair a success.

The family

Silver anniversary

On Sept. 25, 1947, the marriage of Reta May Lawlor, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lawlor, and Adelard Lawrence Gendreau, son of the late Mr. Adelard Gendreau, of Stanbridge East, was solemnized at the Dunham United Church with Rev. Harold Boomhour officiating.

On Sept. 23, 1972, Mr. and Mrs. Gendreau celebrated their 25th anniversary, with their many friends and relatives at the Legion Hall, Philipsburg.

The surprised couple were brought to the hall by their daughter, Susan (Mrs. L. Lapoint) and Mr. Lapoint. They were greeted by their son Bob and daughter-in-law Vera, then were presented with a corsage and boutonniere.

A resume of Reta and Addie's 25 years of married life was read by their children, this including the children's appreciation for such wonderful parents. They were then presented with a beautiful living-room suite, the gift of their many friends and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Gendreau thanked those present for their good wishes, and for the lovely gifts.

The bride's table was centred by a wedding cake and white candles, together with silver and white decorations. Mr. Bruce Kidd proposed a toast to the happy couple, wishing them many more years of happiness.

A lovely lunch was prepared and served by Mrs. Lenny Lapoint and Mrs. Bob Gendreau, assisted by friends. The remainder of the evening was spent listening to music and dancing. Their young daughter Sandra Lee was unable to be present.

St. Peter's Guild

The regular monthly meeting of St. Peter's Guild met at 8 p.m. Oct. 2 in the Memorial Hall.

The president opened the meeting with prayer. There was a good attendance of members.

Final plans were made for the harvest cafeteria supper on October 12. The Christmas luncheon was also discussed. This will be held in memorial hall, Montreal St. on November 29 from 11:30-3.

It will feature work tables, Novelties, Cards and a food table. It was mentioned in the meeting that anyone wanting advanced Christmas cards would they kindly call Mrs. J. Austin. Tel. 569-0869.

Mrs. L. Page also gave a resume on the plans being made for the Asian relief. The hostess Mrs. J. Bartlett served cookies and tea before all departed for the evening.

Lennoxville Anglican Church Women

Miss K. Atto opened the October meeting of the Lennoxville Anglican Church Women, and Mrs. J.L. Hewitt introduced the speaker, the Rev. Ed Schmitt, chaplain of the Alexander Galt Regional High School, who spoke about his work there in program study, planning and special classes.

At various states in their development children can understand, and are interested in, certain religious, moral and philosophical ideas and must be taught at that level then for them to develop properly and be able in adulthood to be Christians, good citizens and helpful to their fellowmen, he said. It is more difficult now to understand poetry, metaphor and ethics than it was in the past due to the faster pace of life.

Consequently, timing in religious training is more important than it used to be. In the last 10 years educationalists have been abandoning the theory that if everyone is well educated everything will be well in the world, and realizing that the Christian understanding of the persistence of sin is right and that we need God's grace and assistance to overcome it.

He then discussed work being done in Switzerland and in England in religious training in the schools. Mrs. L. Watson thanked the speaker.

Miss Atto opened the meeting with prayers. Reports were made. Mrs. D. Barnett reported the usual telephone calls and work done and said the new method of paying for drugs under Medicare was not satisfactory and in the future the ACW might have to assist in this.

She acknowledged gifts of clothing from St. Monica's Guild, and sweaters from the IODE. Mrs. W.H. Johnston said she would be sending bales to Schefferville early as clothing is so badly needed there.

Announcements were made of the Family Life Party on Oct. 26 and the J.A. Leaders Conference on Oct. 14. A book of Bible stories, "The Chosen" is for sale as well as the Church Calendar.

Mrs. J. Paige closed the meeting with prayer and Mrs. H.B. Blachford was hostess.

Christening

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Smith was baptized at the morning service of the Creek United Church, Foster, by Rev. Douglas Warren. The child received the names David Harvey. Mr. and Mrs. Smith, the parents, entertained at a brunch following the ceremony.

Open house

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart McLean of Foster, held an "open house" on Sat. Sept. 16, when over one hundred relatives and friends called to offer congratulations, and best wishes by their sister, Mrs. Lionel Allen, and other relatives. Among those attending were visitors from Granby, Montreal, New York, Sutton, Waterloo, Knowlton and Foster.

Ladies Aid-Card Party

HUNTINGVILLE — The Ladies' Aid opened the new season with a meeting in the Community Hall on September 19. Mrs. W. Aldrich and Mrs. H. Hunting were the hostesses.

Mrs. H. Aldrich, president, was in the chair. Devotions were led by Mrs. Hunting, who read the 23rd Psalm. There were ten members present.

The president welcomed us all back after the summer. The minutes of the June meeting were read and approved. The secretary read several thank you notes and the treasurer gave a satisfactory report. Mrs. W. Aldrich, Sunshine Convener, said she had sent flowers to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hunting for their wedding anniversary, six get well cards, one birthday card, three sympathy cards and two cheer baskets. She read several thank you notes received. The work committee had nothing to report.

The president took a vote re a fall supper, and it was decided not to have one. Everyone voted to keep the price of the box of parties at 60 cents, and have a drawing for a box of groceries each time. The work committee was authorized to purchase three more card tables. Roll call was held, dish towels and get well cards being donated. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

The Misses Debbie and Brenda Chute entertained with several songs, while the hostesses prepared refreshments.

CARD PARTY

At a card party held in the Community Hall, sponsored by the Huntingville Ladies' Aid on September 20, the winners were as follows: Ladies' High, Tessie Harron, 2nd, Bessie Colt and low-Lou Pickett; Men's High, Gerry Houle, 2nd, Loyola Couture, and low, Curtis Foss.

The Door Prizes were won by A.J. Ross, Opol Smith Henry Hunting, Hallie Nutbrown, Eva Beaton, Gertie McLaughlin, Susan Flanders, Lillian Learned, Ayton Cromwell and Allan Bradley. Ivan Herring was the lucky recipient of the box of groceries.

IODE bazaar outstanding success

BOUNDARY — Another most successful bazaar of the Stanstead Chapter IODE was held on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 30 in the auditorium of Sunnyside school in Rock Island which was attended by over 400 persons who came from as far distant as Montreal, and many points of the Townships and Northern Vermont.

The entrance and the large assembly hall were beautifully decorated by a committee of Mrs. Barbara Howard, Mrs. Gwen Lennox and Mrs. Marge Skelton in autumn motif using flowers, colorful leaves, cornstalks and everlasting flowers.

The several booths were accentuated in the patriotic colors of red, white and blue. The aprons and kitchen booth was in charge of Mrs. Beulah Cass, Mrs. Muriel McClary and Mrs. Julia Smith.

Attic treasures were sold by Mrs. Agnes Myers, Mrs. Marge Curtis, Mrs. Irene McGregor and Mrs. J. McCannel, they also sold the beautiful items on the new concession booth.

Mrs. Ada Curtis and Mrs. C. Scarth were in charge of the book sales with Mark Curtis assisting.

The boutique of many handicrafts was in charge of Mrs. Mildred Carruthers, Mrs. Ellen Wallbridge, Mrs. Dorcas Pocock, Mrs. Daisy Skelton and Mrs. Myrtle Smith. For those with a sweet tooth the home made candies and novelties for children were sold by Mrs. Bess Ferguson, Miss Dorian Slessor and Mrs. Bunty White.

The picturesque Christmas table of many beautiful items for the Yuletide was in charge of Mrs. Esther Baldwin, Mrs. Marge Skelton, Mrs. Mary Majury and Mrs. Frances Finlayson.

The delectable home made foods, pickles, jellies and so forth quickly sold by Mrs. Jessie Current, Mrs. Gwen Aikman, Mrs. Olga Audet and Mrs. Betty Hall.

Then the garden Center contained everything from cut flowers, plants to vegetables, which were sold by Mrs. Jessie Elder and Mrs. Dodo Renwick.

Mrs. Thelma Dustin and Mrs. Simone Dubois were convenors for the dining room arrangements. The tea tables were centered with a small vase of autumn flowers while the tea table with a lace cover was centered with a silver candelabra holding lighted candles and accented with autumn flowers in the IODE colors of blue and gold. Pourers were Mrs. Ellen Wallbridge, Mrs. C. Scarth, Mrs. Thelma Dustin, Mrs. J. McCannel and Mrs. Ruby Greer.

The tea committee who were responsible for the tasty plates of dainty sandwiches, cookies and squares were Mrs. J. McCannel, Mrs. Vera Ogilvie, Mrs. Olive Carter, Mrs. Helen Smith, Mrs. Helen Edgar and Mrs. Mabel Wallace. This committee made the sandwiches in advance of the three o'clock opening time.

Mrs. Ivy Hatch and Mrs. Mabel Wallace were in charge of publicity and tickets.

The general convener was Mrs. Ruby Greer who has headed the committees since October 1971, to make this 1972 bazaar another outstanding success, both socially and financially. All the monies raised are used for youth welfare and through their contribution to the Provincial and National Chapters, to other points in Canada and Abroad.

A hand knit wool sweater was donated and sold by tickets by Miss Kathy Leney, the 1972 scholarship winner to raise money for support of local boys to the Howie Meeker hockey school fund at Stanstead College. A sum of $25.00 was realized from the ticket sales. The sweater was won by Lorne Ogilvie of Rock Island who donated it, auctioned it off to raise another $15.00 for the fund. Rev. Philip Gaudine of Cookshire went away wearing the sweater.

There were several door prizes donated by area persons and given away at five o'clock. They were Cowen's store prize to Mrs. J. McGilton, Montreal; Corinne's Dress Shoppe, to Kim Phillip, Stanstead; Dinner for two at Deguire's to Mrs. Bernice Wilkinson, Beebe; Caswells and O'Rourke's Daylight to Mrs. Gladys Robinson, Beebe; Roy's Pharmacy, to Mrs. Mabel Macrae, Montreal; Raymond's Beauty shoppe to Mrs. Harold Church, Stanstead; Stanstead Journal subscription to Mrs. Antoinette Breault, Beebe; Two dinners from P. & M. to Mrs. Olga Audet, Stanstead.

Car service, Joyce's service station to Mrs. Sally Perreault, Stanstead; Vivian's Beauty Shoppe to Miss Laurie Yetter, Rock Island; gas voucher from B. & P. Station, Dufferin Road to Mrs. A. G. Fuller, Derby Line; cash voucher at Fluet's store to Mrs. Helen Fraser, Stanstead; Gift from Canusa Realities to Mrs. Thelma Middleton, Rock Island; Ceramic gift from Mrs.

Enid Cooke to Mrs. E. Parent, Stanstead.

The Chapter was further supported by cash gifts from Dominion Glove, Beebe; Bouchard's I.G.A., Morgan's of Montreal; A & P Store, Rock Island; Campbell and Bellam, Beebe; Brown's Drug Store, Derby Line; Gerard Mills,

LUCIEN DUCLOS — COMPTON VILLAGE

GAIL, DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. HARRY BLAIN was wed to Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lothrop on Saturday September 23 at St. Jean Brebeuf Church, Sherbrooke. The bride's sister, Susan was maid-of-honor and the groom's sister Sue Ellen was the only bridesmaid. The best man was Timothy Dwane and Roger Warren and Fred Hutchings acted as ushers. After the ceremony a reception was held at St. George's Club.

O.E.S. Chapter No. 46

COOKSHIRE — The special feature of the meeting of Cookshire Chapter No. 46, O.E.S. was the presentation of 50-year pins to Miss Elizabeth McLennan and to Mrs. Hilda MacKenzie by the Worthy Grand Matron, Mrs. Alta Fowler. Both members were pleased with their pins, and will cherish them as a memento of their long years of service to the Order. Previously, a 50-year pin had been taken to Mrs. Eldora Parkinson who is in a rest home in Sherbrooke.

The Worthy Matron, Mrs. Ida Currier, presided, and opened the meeting in regular form. Mrs. Alta Fowler, W.G.M., Mrs. Alice Rowat, P.G.M., and Mrs. Marjorie Baker, Associate Grand Conductress, and members from Queen Mary and Sherbrooke Chapters were also in attendance. Grand Honors were given to Mrs. Fowler and Mrs. Rowat, and the Associate Grand Conductress was suitably presented.

Thanks were received for supplies sent to Grand Chapter Cancer Cupboard, for a rose bowl received by a member in hospital. A number of invitations were received to attend special meetings of the various Chapters.

The special guests in the East all gave a few remarks, and wished the Chapter happiness and success in all their undertakings. Special emphasis was placed on as many as possible attending some of the Grand Chapter Session in October in the Windsor Hotel, as it will be celebrating its 50th anniversary.

The Chapter closed in regular form, and refreshments were served in the lower hall, the hostesses being Mrs. Edith Waldron and Mrs. Barbara Vogel. A lovely 50th anniversary cake, in the form of a star, was used as a centerpiece for the head table, flanked by the five colored candles of the emblematic star. Both recipients of the pins wore corsages.

GENERAL NOTES
Miss Marion Martin, of Lachine, and Miss Willow Lavery, of Montreal, were recent guests of Mrs. Everett Parker.

Rev. G. Lokhorst, of East Angus, and his father, Mr. Lokhorst, of Loenen, Holland, were recent callers of Mrs. John Van der Leden.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Tolhurst have returned to their home in Lennoxville after visiting in Port Hope, Ont. where they spent Thanksgiving with their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. M. Rymall Jr. and also attended the Begbie-Kennedy wedding in St. Anne de Bellevue.

Mr. and Mrs. Tolhurst will be receiving congratulations on their 40th Wedding Anniversary on Saturday, October 14.

The Day Under Your Sign

ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19): Stick to a task until completed rather than jump from one thing to another because of boredom.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Intelligence rather than emotion is the key to solving your present dilemma. Keep calm.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Don't be the last one to leave the party. You may not be invited to the next one!

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Take a tolerant attitude toward young people even the some of their ideas bug you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Expanded opportunities averted. Listen carefully to what expert tells you and act accordingly.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): New ways of earning money attract your attention. Don't be too timid to try one or two.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Take your time instead of getting panicky because chores are piled up. If you don't finish, so what?

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Demands on you and your time are heavy and you may have to bypass a party to which you'd looked forward.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): You may have to go more than halfway, but don't make a fuss. It's not worth an argument.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Nothing too exciting on the agenda. By the time you've done the household chores, you won't need excitement.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Health favorably affected and you may find that you can do more than usual this weekend.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Even tho you have the "goods" on the other guy, give him a break this time. He'll appreciate it.

Mrs. J. Camara of Raynham, Mass., was in town to visit her mother Mrs. Jannie Brooks, a resident at the Knowles Rest Home.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gifford were Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Gifford and Miss Beverly Gifford of Kingsley Falls and Mrs. Gilbert Aulis who was celebrating her birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wilkins of Valcourt were recent guests of the former's parents Mr. and Mrs. Osborne Wilkins and also visited Mr. and Mrs. John Wilkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Garth Colpitts of Argincourt, Ont. were Sunday overnight guests of Mrs. F.J. Newell. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Peterson and sons Bruce and Grant of Verdun were also callers at the same home. While here Mr. and Mrs. Colpitts and sons accompanied Mrs. Newell to Sherbrooke where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. Gingras.

By Ann Landers

Airline stewardesses—
a great group of girls

Dear Ann Landers: I read with interest the multiple complaints from the telephone operator. The more I read of her letter, the more irritated I became. Your answer was too gentle. I'm surprised you didn't land on Miss Dizzy Fingers with both hands and feet and tell her to get another job, one that doesn't require her to deal with the public.

I am an airline stewardess. We work Sundays, holidays, rain or shine, and there is no such thing as time-and-a-half for holidays. That telephone operator can go home to a Christmas dinner after she collects her time-and-a-half. Airline stewardesses go to a lonely hotel room. It's just like any other day in the week.

As for the telephone operator's other complaints, people are people. Some are nice and others are a pain in the neck. When HER "public" gets persnickety, profane, out-of-sorts or demanding she can plug them out after a few minutes and a polite sign-off. How would she like to cope with it for eight solid hours, 35,000 feet up? Up, Up and Can't Get Away.

Dear Up: As one who has flown well over two million passenger miles I can attest to the fact you are a great group of girls. Seldom do I encounter a stowie who is not pleasant, courteous and perceptive enough not to sit herself next to me and unload her personal problems when I have 2,000 letters in my lap!

Dear Ann: I just finished eating 10 chocolate cup cakes and am sick to my stomach. I have done this sort of thing for the last two years. Of course I am terribly overweight.

I am never hungry and I actually don't enjoy food. I just have this desire to sneak things into my room and stuff myself. Don't suggest that I see a doctor because I know he will tell me to stop it and I really don't want to. I get some sort of perverse pleasure out of this act, although I can't describe it.

If you can just tell me why I do it and give me some insight into what I am doing, maybe that will help. Please, Ann, I am counting on you — Dayton Pig

Dear D: You're asking for mail-order psychiatric treatment and I can't provide it. I don't know why you stuff yourself with food you don't want and don't enjoy, although in many such situations a teenager is trying subconsciously to get even with somebody — perhaps a parent. You need more help than I can give you and I urge you to get it. Start with your school counselor.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a boy, 18 years old, a high school senior, and my dad is driving me nuts. He has read a lot about drugs and is scared to death I might be trying something. Every time I come home he looks in my eyes to see if the pupils are dilated. Then he goes through my pockets looking for grass. He gives me the third degree about where I've been and with whom. Last night I caught him sniffing around my room to see if anything smelled "funny."

I know he loves me but it's terrible to be under this kind of pressure. I have never given him any trouble. There is no reason for him to be suspicious. Will you please tell me how TO GET HIM OFF MY BACK? — Inquisition In Utah

Dear U: Parents do their children a gross disservice by demonstrating such lack of faith. A child whose parents have a high opinion of him will bend over backwards to live up to it. And the same goes for a low opinion. Show this to your dad — and I hope it helps.

Sunday, October 15
The Day Under Your Sign

ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19): Try out a new course of action that you hesitated to embark upon earlier in the year.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): If you approach the right key people with your plan, it is likely to get a favorable hearing.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Relaxation is the key-word today. Indulge in your favorite sport or just loiter around being lazy.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Operate behind the scenes for the moment. Pick up bits and pieces of information for later.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Social invitation may open door for you to meet someone you've long admired and wanted to contact.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Get in step with the times. Discard outmoded ideas and methods and start saving time and effort.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Although people tend to confide in you, don't pass their secrets along to mutual acquaintances.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Don't push anyone for a final answer today. Pressure applied at the wrong moment can be harmful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Be wary of people who promise everything but deliver nothing when the "due date" comes around.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Lie low today. Let others face the hazards and challenges; you rest and relax for a change.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Let your attitude show that you are really trying to work out a solution that will satisfy all concerned.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Although you have your own way of doing things, you can always learn from others. (Similar to Virgo.)

Monday, October 16
The Day Under Your Sign

ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19): Good fortune lifts the spirits. You are in the mood to share your happiness with loved ones in P. M.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Examine various avenues open to you. Don't be hassled or hustled into making a fast decision.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Trust a hunch. Your first instincts are reliable, so don't dilly-dally about making moves.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Expand your horizons, especially socially. Take your nose off the grindstone for a change.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): You are vindicated as the truth is finally evident to the world. Try not to be immodest.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): If day is rough, go out and have fun rather than moping around the house reliving day's events.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): No half measures will do. Either go all-out or give up the project. Outlook optimistic in financial field.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): An aura of mystery makes this an interesting, intriguing day. You may pick up some valuable information.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Steer clear of unnecessary conflicts, particularly where in-laws and other relatives are concerned.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Don't hesitate to make the first gesture of reconciliation. You'll gain stature, not "lose face."

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Display your particular talents where they will do the most good. Higher-ups will be impressed now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Don't let doubt take root. Negativism interferes with clear thinking.

Today it's a matter of initiative. Local initiative.

Last year, quite a few people stopped talking about unemployment and started doing something about it. Through the Local Initiatives Program, they created over 92,000 jobs. And improved the quality of life for thousands of their neighbours.

LIP, in short, was a real success. This year, starting right now, it's back.

Every week last summer, over 100 underprivileged Toronto children went to camp because a LIP grant allowed expansion of Camp Kuriou on Moffat Lake — and created 39 jobs.

A 122-man LIP task force cleared the Great White Goose wildlife refuge, a Montmagny, Quebec tourist attraction, of debris and pollution, vastly improving conditions for thousands of visiting white geese, duck and bustard.

Before the LIP grant enabled 11 of their men to dig an aqueduct, the closest drinking water for 18 families in Dingwall, Nova Scotia was 7 miles away. Now it's piped right to their homes.

3 Salvation Army "Thrift Stores" went up in Surrey, Richmond and Coquitlam, B.C. with the help of a LIP grant. 14 temporary jobs were created — plus 9 full-time ones.

And we're looking for ideas. Ideas from private individuals, organizations, clubs and municipalities. Ideas for projects that will benefit as many people as possible while creating useful work for those who would otherwise be unemployed.

There's lots of scope for imagination. The guidelines are simple. Your Canada Manpower Centre has complete details.

Applications are being accepted any time between now and December 31st. But remember, LIP grants can cover project costs only until May 31st, 1973. So start planning your project now.

You may be surprised how far a little initiative will go.

It's a matter of initiative. These Canadians proved it.

Annual Reception at Wales Home

RICHMOND — Many local and out-of-town people took advantage of the beautiful weather to attend the Annual Reception at the Wales Home on Wednesday afternoon, October 4.

On arrival the guests were greeted by Mrs. M.G. Armstrong, matron, before joining the residents already gathered in the large living-room decorated with baskets of seasonal flowers and autumn leaves.

Following the singing of O Canada, John Barrington, First Vice-President welcomed those present. All joined in the Sing-song of old favorite songs, led by Donald Chamberlin, with Mrs. Ethel McNally as pianist.

A piano recital by Peter Cocks was much enjoyed, as was his finale on the electric organ.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Mr. S.M. Finlayson, the present Mayor of the Town of Hampstead, Montreal.

During the past 20 years, Mr. Finlayson and his wife have travelled widely, and in fact have visited most parts of the world with the exception of China and the west side of South America. In every country they visited they found evidence that people are much the same the world over.

Both he and she had occasion to require medical help in the cities of Leningrad and Samarkand respectively, and though the methods of treatment used were quite different than those in practice here, and some of the devices almost frightening to see, still they were effective. Services in the clinic were excellent. The human aspects of life seem to be the same, despite the aspects that reach us by the news media.

It seemed to the speaker that no matter where they went, it was very rare not to find some very warm and humanistic quality in an apparently strange custom. And whether they were in a country where the language was a familiar one, or in one where it was not, there were almost no barriers to be felt between people, and no difficulties. If you meet the other person half-way, he continued, you will always get the help or assistance you may need. All human beings are motivated by essentially the same ideas, and many points of view are common to more than one race. They may be expressed quite differently, but underneath there is very little difference.

There were many little incidents to make one realize that the world is really akin. In Russia, for instance, where they were given help to find their hotel by a young couple, he felt that the average people have no fear of surveillance by the NKVD.

Mr. Finlayson expressed the view that all of us, whether we have the opportunity to travel or not, should take an interest in all these distant places, and try to look behind what we read and hear, to learn how much reality there is in the reports. The main thing to understand is that the reality in most cases is very different from the facts given us. In concluding, the speaker remarked that of course it was always good to return to Canada, where we are very fortunate to be living in this day and age.

Mr. Finlayson was introduced by C.N. Stevens, and thanked by O.H. Seveigny, Second Vice-President, who also voiced appreciation to all the others who took part in the program.

Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary and staff members of the Home were thanked by Mr. Barrington for their help in making the reception a success, after which the program closed with the singing of God Save the Queen.

Refreshments were served in the residents' dining-room where each table had an attractive floral centerpiece. Guests were greeted on entering by the president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Mrs. C.N. Stevens, and Mrs. J.H. Davis. Tea was poured by Mrs. Allan Sutherland of Danville, Mrs. H. Moret, Miss Viola Noble, Mrs. George Walker, Mrs. V. Ignatieff, Mrs. J.S. MacNaughton, and Mrs. K.G. Nourse.

Kitchen and dining-room arrangements were under the supervision of Mrs. D.L. Dykeman and Mrs. Arthur Galbraith, and they were assisted in serving by Mrs. D. Fletcher, Mrs. Wm. Marshall, Mrs. Diana Taber, Mrs. Wilfrid Hill, Mrs. Elmer Stimson, Mrs. E.G. Crack, Mrs. Evelyn Wentworth, Mrs. K. Storry, Mrs. Paul Fortier, Mrs. Raymond Gifford, Mrs. R. Dewar, Mrs. W.J. Harris, Mrs. Selina Aulis, Mrs. Elwin Coote, Mrs. J.L. Macey, Mrs. Percy Frazer, and Mrs. Stewart Henderson, as well as members of the staff.

The flowers which added so much to the festive appearance of the living room and dining room were from various local gardens and were arranged by Mrs. Lucille Farley, assisted by other staff members.

Churches hold discussion meeting

AYER'S CLIFF — On Sunday morning, September 24, St. George's Anglican Church, Ayer's Cliff, was nearly filled to capacity when members from the churches in the St. Francis District gathered together for Holy Eucharist at 9:30. These churches included congregations from Stanstead, Beebe, Coaticook, Dixville, Way's Mills, Hatley, Georgeville, Fitch Bay, Tomfobia, and Ayer's Cliff. We were honoured with the presence of the Right Reverend Timothy Matthews who delivered the sermon and was assisted with Communion by Canon H. Church and Captain R. Smith.

Following this service everyone met in St. George's Parish Hall for a meeting to discuss the Regional Ministry in the Deanery of Coaticook. The rural dean, Rev. Ed Schmitt chaired the meeting and there were question and answer periods when Dr. Slater pointed out many interesting aspects of the grouping of the parishes. The meeting was adjourned at noon and a buffet lunch enjoyed by those present.

At 1:30 the meeting resumed for more discussion and the delegates voted to form a Provisional Parish Council to consider further co-operation between participating congregations.

This council will meet in St. George's Parish Hall, Ayer's Cliff, on Sunday, October 15 at 2:00 p.m. to discuss preparations towards organizing the grouping of these parishes.

The meeting was adjourned and tea and cookies served.

St. Aidan's Guild meets

SUTTON — The Guild of St. Aidan's Church, met on Thursday evening, Sept. 14 at the home of Mrs. Albert Smith, Bromo Terrace, with a good attendance.

During the business meeting it was reported by the Sec. Treas. proceeds from the Guild Booth at Bromo Fair, amounted to $224.11.

Plans were made for the Ham and Baked Bean supper to be held on Oct. 14, with tickets being sold, as usual, and the rummage sale is to be held on Nov. 4.

The next Guild will meet in the hall on Thursday evening, Oct. 12 at 7:30 p.m. Pot luck refreshments were served by the hostess.

SPECIAL SERVICE

The Thanksgiving Service was held in St. Aidan's Church on Sunday Sept. 17, 8 a.m., with celebration of Holy Communion, conducted by Rev. J.W. Davidson, who gave a most inspiring address.

The Church was beautifully decorated with lovely flowers and vegetables, for this Harvest occasion, our reward, for another seed time and harvest.

Legion Ladies Auxiliary

DANVILLE — The September meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion was held on Wed. Sept. 27, with Comrade Gertrude Lodge in the chair. The Colors were presented by Comrades Pauline Woods and Jeanne Chagnon.

Comrade Leet, president of the Senior Branch, was welcomed to the meeting. He spoke of needed kitchen equipment for the new hall, which is fast nearing completion. The members decided to purchase what is needed for the present time.

Plans were also made to cater to "Open House" which the Senior Branch is holding on Nov. 4.

Several thank you letters were read at this meeting and, at the adjournment all enjoyed the delicious lunch served by Comrades Clare Heron and Frankie Hall.

Georgeville, Austin honored

By IVY HATCH

GEORGEVILLE — Saturday evening Oct. 7, the Murray Memorial Hall in Georgeville was the scene of a delightful event when parents of the Georgeville softball team were hosts and hostesses for a closing banquet with the Austin team, coaches and some of the parents as guests.

The tables were arranged in horseshoe style. At the centre table were seated Neil McTavish, of the Stanstead Township council, and Mrs. McTavish; Archie Sheldon, coach of the winning Georgeville team; Brian Phaneuf, coach of the Austin runner-up team; Dr. R.H. Slater, and Miss Judy McArthur.

The Georgeville team was at one of the side tables and the Austin team was seated at the other. The head table was accented with arrangements of autumn colored leaves and garden flowers.

Dr. Slater asked all to join him to sing "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands" for the blessing. The women served from the kitchen a delicious roast turkey Thanksgiving dinner. Young ladies of the communities efficiently served as waitresses.

Mr. Sheldon was pleasantly surprised when the lights were extinguished and he was presented with a birthday cake, aglow with lighted candles. Everyone joined to sing the birthday song.

Mr. Sheldon, master of ceremonies for the program, responded with words of appreciation and remarked, "I'm 39 like Jack Benny."

He also thanked the people who had made the banquet possible, mentioning the support of the parents and public to make the season a good one. He then called on Mr. Phaneuf to say a few words.

Mr. Phaneuf said he felt the boys enjoyed the summer of softball games and are now looking forward to next year "to take the big trophy." He too expressed appreciation to the people of Austin for their support of the team, both financially and with parents providing cars for transportation.

Other speakers were Dr. Slater who spoke about sports in general, and the excitement of the Team Canada-Russia games. He paid tribute to the coaches who gave their time to work with the boys. He also paid tribute to the communities in which the boys live.

Mrs. McTavish thanked the young ladies for serving the dinner. Speaking for the Stanstead Township council, she said "The donation we gave for the team has been well spent," and wished them continued successes.

Fleming Jensen, who spoke for the Austin parents, expressed appreciation to the coaches.

"I have been to all the games and enjoyed every one," he added.

Dr. McArthur, Arthur Bryant and James Moore, parents of the Austin boys' team, all spoke of the fun at the games and wished the coaches and teams good luck for another season.

Mr. Sheldon said next year there are hopes an older boys' team will be in the league.

Andy Meesen presented a clock-trophy to the team coach, Brian Phaneuf and Mr. Phaneuf presented a trophy to his assistant coach, Myles Phaneuf. Special trophies presented the Austin players are as follows: highest batting average, to Gordie Bryant; best sportsmanship, Andy Meesen; most improved player, Robert Laillie.

Special awards to the Georgeville team included: highest batting average, Roy Marrotte; best sportsmanship, Peter Moore; Most Improved player category was tied so a trophy was presented to both Greg McTavish and Roger Marrotte.

The Canadian Legion Branch No. 10 trophy was presented by Archie Juby to Roy Marrotte, and the Mr. and Mrs. Archie Sheldon trophy for best pitcher in the league to Travis Sheldon, Georgeville team.

The Georgeville team won and were presented the League trophy and the playoff trophy.

The playoff went the full seven games. Austin won the first three games, then Georgeville won three straight. The last game, an exciting one, was won by Georgeville by a 14-12 score.

All the boys on both teams were presented with a trophy for their efforts.

Georgeville boys were Scott Piercy, Roger Marrotte, Peter Scott, Jim Hand, Peter Moore, Travis Sheldon, Greg McTavish, Erwin Camber, Kevin Sheldon, Kevin Dixon, Roy Marrotte, Richard Camber and Jim McArthur.

The Austin team was comprised of Gordon Bryant, Andy Meesen, Paul Tetreault, Randy Westover, Victor Dingman, Bernie Linde, Robert Maille, Eric Jensen, Glen Tetreault, David Dingman, Benoit Maille and Arnold Jensen.

THE CHAPS—The Georgeville softball team was this year's winner in its league, nosing out the Austin team 4-3 in games. Seen in the centre is the winning ball which will be set in plastic and preserved. Each player has autographed the ball. Peter Scott is missing from the photo.

LENOXVILLE — On Monday October 2, at Bishop's University, over 50 members and friends of the St. Francis Field Naturalists Club were privileged to have Mrs. Cynthia Chalk of Westmount and Ayer's Cliff present an evening of slides on Nature.

Mrs. Chalk is an artist with a camera. Her theme of the evening was beauty in the eye of the beholder. Her photography has gained many prizes at international exhibitions of the Photographic Society of America.

Mrs. Chalk first showed some contrasts in the natural beauty found across Canada — sea shore, mountains, prairies, valleys, lakes, rivers, rapids, fields and forests as well as their changes from one season to another.

Mrs. Chalk expounded her theme by explaining that nature has given man all his bases for form and design as well as a full range of colors. All artistic representation has developed from nature's patterns. When man distorts these fundamentals his work loses its serenity and disturbs the viewer in subtle ways.

Card of Thanks

NUTBROWN — I wish to express my sincere thanks to all my relatives and friends for all the many kindnesses shown me while a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital. For visits, cards, gifts and transportation for my wife. A special thanks to Dr. Quintin, Dr. Paulette, Dr. Snow, nurses and aides on the third floor for their excellent care. Your kindness was deeply appreciated.

COVENTRY, Vt. (IH) — Funeral services were held today at the Converse Funeral Home in Newport for Percy A. Webster of Coventry, Vermont, who died at Newport on Tuesday, October 10.

Mr. Webster was born in Newport on June 22, 1889, the son of Elmer and Florence (Stevens) Webster. October 31, 1914 he was united in marriage to Hazel Jackman.

His occupation until his retirement was farming. He was well known in square dance circles in Vermont and the Townships.

He is survived by his wife and their children, Richard of Lyndonville, Vt.; Mrs. Kenneth (Alice) Cook, Coventry, Vt.; Charles of Minesburg, Vt.; and Frederick of Coventry, a daughter, Bernice, died in 1955.

Mr. Webster also leaves 21 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

The view from here

with Terry Scott

Maybe it was purely a coincidence that close to 300 seats at the Montreal Forum last Saturday night stood out like gaping cavities among the 16,000 die-hards — and then again, maybe the absentees aren't really enchanted with the moves of Bill Goldsworthy or Jude Drouin.

What the fans are really waiting for is the arrival of Atlanta Flames, who'll bring such torch-bearers as Kerry Ketter, Bob Leiter and Lew Morrison. I was just about to add that ex-Montreal Canadian sharpshooter Lucien Grenier to the list of attractions, only to discover he's laid up with a broken leg. I've heard of a guy being a 'cast-off' but this is ridiculous.

To show you how much enthusiasm is being generated toward the 1972-73 hockey season, no one even asked me how the standings would look early next April, so I'll just have to volunteer. The Blazers in first, the Jets in second... er, hold the phone! I'm still using the same crystal ball that crossed me up on the Canada-Russia series.

Okay, all kidding aside, tuck this column in your dresser drawer with a Do Not Open 'til April Fool's tag and it'll prove beyond doubt that the mind is far more accurate than any crystal ball.

EASTERN DIVISION

1. Montreal Canadiens — The Habs have only two major question marks which might cast a shadow on their pennant chances — inexperienced and unproven goaltending behind stalwart Ken Dryden and an acute weakness down the centre if Henri Richard continues to deteriorate. If Scotty Bowman's frequently temperamental troops aren't hampered by these potential flaws they're a good bet to lead the pack.

2. New York Rangers — The general consensus is that the Blueshirts are finally ready to scale the summit, since last year's Stanley Cup finalist team remains almost intact. But I'm wagering that the long-term signing of GAG line members, Rod Gilbert, Vic Hadfield and Jean Ratelle will make the trio nothing more than fat cats. And it's been proven in the past that athletes who lack that certain fire can produce a lot of unpleasant surprises.

3. Boston Bruins — How fast can a dynasty crumble? It can collapse about as fast as a house of straw when the new people on the block dangle luscious goodies like a couple million under the noses of key personnel. The Bruins have lost three main powerhouse ingredients to the WHA and, to compound matters, Bobby Orr, the essential product, is still hobbling on a mending knee. What more has to be said?

You didn't ask but here are Terry's predictions

4. Detroit Red Wings — The Wings solved the one weak link which may have cost them a final playoff berth by securing netminders Denis DeJordy and Roy Edwards last week. Neither netminder will stun the league by carting home the Vezina trophy, but they will give the Wings respectability in this key position. After two seasons on the sidelines, Ned Harkness figures to get his club back in to playoff contention.

5. Toronto Maple Leafs — Another club that was severely affected by raids from the rival WHA, and this almost certainly will eliminate Leafs from the money. Whereas Detroit plugged its goaltending dike, Toronto's busted like a floodgate when Bernie Parent had the enticing smell of cash waved under his nose. Add a couple of defensemen to the defection list and Leafs are far weaker than last season's fourth place squad. After all, at 44 years of age, Jacques Plante can no longer face a barrage of shots every game.

6. Buffalo Sabres — The mere presence of talented speedsters Gil Perreault and Rick Martin, both on the verge of stardom in so short an NHL lifespan has to rank the Sabres a notch above the Vancouver entry. Added to this, of course, is Punch Imlach's ability to cajole every last ounce of ability from his collection of aging warriors.

7. Vancouver Canucks — In such former junior sensations as Bobby Lalonde, Richard Lemieux, Brian McSheffery and Don Lever, there's little doubt the Canucks are building an exciting team for the future. But, unless this foursome blossoms earlier than expected, it's reasonable to assume that Vancouver will take a back seat to their expansion cousin in Buffalo for the time being.

8. New York Islanders — Even if none of the other predictions come up a winner, leave it to the Islanders to save you from total embarrassment. The newest NHL addition is a typical first year entry — a collection of has-beens, rejects, and never-do-wells, spiced by one or two hotshot juniors. Phil Goyette had better have a strong stomach.

WESTERN DIVISION

1. Chicago Black Hawks — The Hawks can't afford to lose another Hull and expect to repeat as champions in the West but, even after parting with a superstar like Bobby, Chicago has enough talent on hand to out-distance any threat to their crown.

2. Minnesota North Stars — Few people will deny that North Stars have made the biggest strides of the six expansion clubs that formed the Western Division in 1967. But more importantly, the Stars still have a large number of young legs that promise to get better every season and, as a result, look for them to chop a few points off Chicago's firm grip on the top spot.

3. Philadelphia Flyers — Philadelphia missed the playoffs by mere seconds last year all because they couldn't put the puck in the net. But feebleness around the net has always been the Flyers'

Achilles' heel and, while there's no real reason to believe the team will alter the situation in 1972-73, I've got a hunch they'll take advantage of their opportunities and surprise a few of the experts.

4. St. Louis Blues — On paper, the Blues have a much better hockey club than the Flyers but, inexplicably, some of the St. Louis veterans just haven't produced in the manner of early expansion years. In contrast to their usual first or second place finish, the Blues struggled into third place on the final week of the season last year, and the loss of netminder Ernie Wakely might make it just as tough this time around.

5. Pittsburgh Penguins — The Penguins are finally on the verge of weeding out all those old veterans they welcomed into the fold during the year of expansion. To relegate Red Kelly's squad to fifth place may be a gross injustice, but the team's defense is still developing and veteran netminder Les Binkley has joined WHA ranks. So I'll go along with the belief that Pittsburgh will be relegated to a role as also-ran during the coming season.

6. Los Angeles Kings — Los Angeles is almost certain to be strengthened by the addition of ex-Hab Terry Harper on defense and a healthy Roggie Vachon in the nets but, apart from this, they're still the same old (and old aptly sums it up) Kings. Now if coach Bob Pulford would come off the bench to lend a hand, his club might even be considered a playoff contender.

7. Atlanta Flames — Incredible as it may seem, the Flames are at better than even odds to shove California Golden into the league basement, only because man-for-man, there's not a sizeable amount of difference between the two. It's a longshot of course, but I'm going with the Flames.

8. California Seals — The Seals lost their top goal-scorer, Gerry Pinder, to the WHA, and Wayne Carleton, second best in this department, promptly followed suit. The Seals were never considered a powerhouse but they're even more impotent now. Barring a trade, and what can they give up? Bay-area hockey fans might as well stick to sunbathing.

Taunt leads to fight

DENVER (AP) — Wide receiver Dwight Harrison, involved in a locker room altercation with a team-mate Tuesday, met with Denver Broncos coach John Ralston Wednesday, but his future with the National Football League club remained uncertain.

Ralston dropped Harrison, Denver's No. 2 draft choice in 1971, from the active squad after Tuesday's incident with defensive end Lyle Alzado in the Denver dressing room.

Team officials declined to discuss details of the altercation, but it is reported to have begun when Alzado either kidded or taunted Harrison for not having caught any passes in regular-season play.

Ulf claims forged Stern led to dismissal

CHICAGO (AP) — Ulf Sterner, the Swedish hockey star who was released from the Chicago Cougars, says his contract difficulties with the World Hockey Association club and not training rule violations led to his dismissal.

Stern made the comments in a Chicago Tribune interview, which appeared in the Thursday edition.

He was dropped from the Cougar roster for what general manager Ed Short said were "training rule violations."

Stern told the newspapers he was presented with a contract when he arrived in training camp on which he said his signature was forged. He has not filed suit in the matter.

John Ladner, executive vice-president of the Cougars, said when Stern told them the signature was not his own, they agreed to re-negotiate the contract.

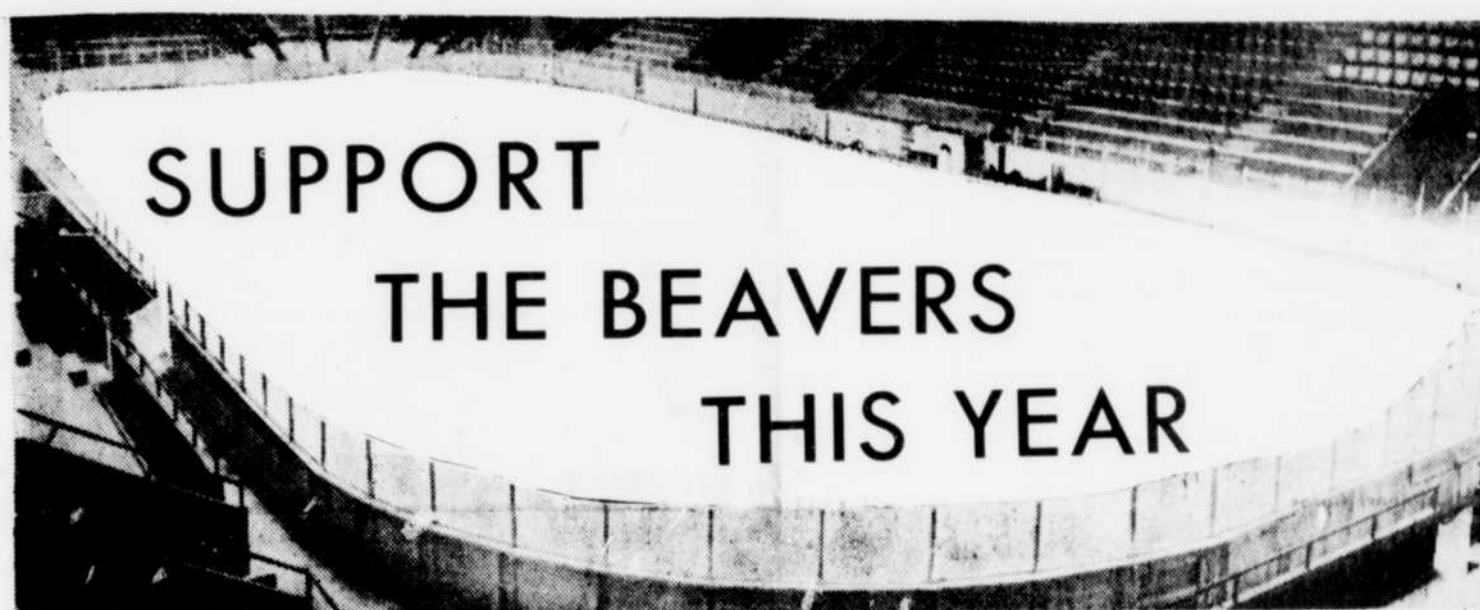

The newspaper reported that Stern was told last May by Al Kaczmarek, an agent of the Cougars, that he would get a contract of "not less than $50,000 a year."

"We never would have considered him for that much money," Ladner said.

Ladner said Kaczmarek returned from Sweden with a contract allegedly signed by Stern in June.

The contract Kaczmarek brought to club officials called for a three-year salary schedule of $14,500, $16,500 and $18,500.

Hunting and fishing in the Townships
with Norm Nicholl

Should close awhile

In looking over the fishing seasons for next year, I believe all fishing should close on a particular date for the fall spawning of trout, Grey and Brown in particular. I don't know how many of you have seen fishermen still trolling in the areas frequented by Lakers and Browns after the trout season has closed.

It would be fair to the fish and the fishermen to affect a universal closing of the lakes during the early fall. This would give the fall spawners a fair chance to enter the streams and the lake spawning beds without interruption.

The early opening of the season has made for larger takes of these fish and I believe they can use all the protection possible during the fall spawning period.

SADDENED AT LOSS

Sportsmen in the Townships, United States and around the world were saddened at the loss last week of Henry McGowan. Henry was a well-known outdoorsman, adept at fishing and hunting.

Henry loved Memphremagog and Massawippi. Many of today's anglers had the privilege of learning how to fish from Henry. No matter what he did, he fought hard for his convictions taking a back seat to no one, talking straight from the shoulder. Many a politician has had a reddened face after these verbal barrages.

Tonight family I offer by sympathies and those of the many sportsmen who have had the privilege of knowing Henry.

His passing will be missed by all of us...

LENNOXVILLE — "Tomorrow's game against Loyola is definitely the most important contest of the season," Bishop's Gaiters coach Bruce Coulter declared yesterday. "and I'm confident that the team will make a good showing."

The Gaiters must defeat Loyola College Warriors by more than five points tomorrow afternoon if the team is to challenge for the Quebec University Athletic Association crown it captured handily last year.

Last Saturday Bishop's was upset 17-12 in Montreal by the same Loyola team in a game that could have gone either way.

"With a few breaks we would have won it," Coulter said, "but the experience certainly helped the team."

"I said at the beginning of the season it would take us a few games to put everything together and tomorrow afternoon will tell," he added.

The Gaiters have always been tough on their opponents at home and a big crowd is expected to be on hand.

BRIAN HIGGINS

"We are by far the biggest draw in the league," Coulter remarked, "and this is definitely a plus factor for us tomorrow afternoon."

Although Bishop's will be without the services of veteran quarterback Bill MacDonald, the team will have running back Mike Bookalam and defensive halfback Steve Morse back in the line-up. MacDonald is still suffering from a charley-horse he sustained in practice two weeks ago.

Coach Coulter is counting on his offensive line to give QB Mike Munzar all the protection he needs to penetrate the Warrior defense. The Gaiters have a seasoned line which is expected tomorrow to finally show the form which everyone expected at the beginning of the season.

The Bishop's mentor is planning no offensive changes for the game, with only minor adjustments on defense. "Loyola has a good running game but we did a pretty good job stopping them last weekend," Coulter said.

One thing the Gaiters must avoid tomorrow is taking foolish penalties, especially for rough play. Last Saturday Bishop's lost 140 yards in penalties.

In an interview with The Record yesterday, Coulter expressed satisfaction with the play of many of his stalwarts, especially Brian Higgins and Phil Oughton.

"Higgins did a fine job against Loyola last week," Coulter beamed, "and tomorrow he'll be playing both ways." Higgins will occupy his normal cornerback position as well as relieving Mike Bookalam in the running back slot.

Oughton has been an effective halfback for the Gaiters but has made a strong impression on opposing teams with almost perfect execution of Bishop's reverse plays.

"Our boys are very anxious to play the Warriors," Coulter summed up, "and with the crowd support we expect, I think we'll do all right."

...and homecoming will complement the day

LENNOXVILLE (AR) — Several hundred alumni are expected to visit Bishop's University over the weekend as the Lennoxville campus prepares for celebrations marking Homecoming '72.

Gary Richards, the alumni secretary and organizer, told The Record in a recent interview that nothing new is planned for the returning graduates this year since the format of previous years has proved successful.

Homecoming '72 will be highlighted by the Bishop's-Loyola football contest and the traditional post-game get-together in the gymnasium. This year's bash will swing to the music of the popular Peel Street

Stompers. Festivities begin Saturday morning with a golf tournament for the alumni starting at 9 a.m.

The winner will receive a genuine 1 1/4" alumni tie and the runner-up will receive two ties.

Prior to the football game a dinner of beef bourguignon will be served at Dewhurst dining room and there will be a special reunion of the highly successful 1964 football Gaiters, who captured the old Ottawa-St. Lawrence football championship.

Sunday morning will feature campus tours and more golf while a special Sunday celebration will be held in the chapel with Rev. Barry McGory.

Reds, Athletics open series tomorrow

By ALEX RADMANOVICH

DETROIT (AP) — In 1931 Herbert Hoover was president, champagne was illegal, and manager Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics were the American League baseball champions.

A lot has changed in the 41 years since.

But, in this moment when nostalgia is in, one thing is suddenly the same — the Athletics, now of Oakland, are again American League champions. They will carry their elusive pennant into Cincinnati where they'll face the National League champion Reds beginning Saturday in the World Series opener.

It took a lot of worry, persistence and the maximum of five games before the Athletics overcame Detroit Tigers 3-1 Thursday to take the playoffs three games to two.

"The day I got traded from the (Chicago) Cubs Dick Williams called me at my house and said, 'We're going to put you in the World Series.' And damned if he didn't," said Oakland pitcher Ken Holtzman, smiling as he sat quietly in front of his clubhouse locker.

Most of his team-mates were exploding champagne corks, splashing beer, hugging each other and yelling with joy.

HOLTZMAN GETS NOD
Holtzman is manager Williams' choice to pitch the Series opener and the Athletics will have suspended shortstop Bert Campaneris back in action, although Reggie Jackson may be out with a pulled hamstring muscle suffered in a successful steal of home plate Thursday.

"I'm just elated to no end," said owner Charlie Finley. "After we won the first two games I was sure we'd win it all."

"Then after the first loss I was worried. After the second loss I was really worried. And throughout the game today I was tremendously worried."

"It was a long road, a long road, a long road,"

Oakland won Thursday on the strong arms of John (Blue Moon) Odom and Vida Blue, plus some questionable Tiger fielding and the running of Jackson and his replacement, George Hendrick.

Winner Odom gave up an unearned run in the first inning in pitching a two-hitter for five frames before getting an upset stomach. Blue finished the job with a lightning fastball, allowing three harmless singles in picking up the save.

"This club is the greatest and the best," said Williams, who managed Oakland to a West Division title last year before losing to Baltimore Orioles in the playoffs. "This was the biggest game of all our careers."

TIGERS DEJECTED

Heads were dropped and dispositions somber in the opposite clubhouse, where Tiger manager Bill Martin said of his players, who edged Boston for the East Division title: "I was pretty proud of them. They played like champions."

RENAUD PERRON

Beavers best Rangers

By ALEX RADMANOVICH

DRUMMONDVILLE, Que. (CP) — Renaud Perron scored twice to lead Sherbrooke Beavers to 6-2 victory over Drummondville Rangers in Quebec Junior A Hockey League action Thursday night.

Other Sherbrooke scorers were Michel Brisebois, Pierre Laganier, Mario Desjardins and Dwane Byers.

Claude Larose and Michel Belisle scored for Drummondville.

Sherbrooke outshot Drummondville 34-30.

Tonight at the Sports Palace the Beavers play the Three Rivers Dukes for the first time this season. Coach Ghislain Delage expects a spirited effort from his team in the wake of last night's convincing victory over Drummondville.

Habs extinguish Flames

By IAN MACLAINE

Canadian Press Staff Writer
Bernie Geoffrion came home Thursday night and got an unceremonious welcome from Ken Dryden and the Montreal fans who once adored him.

Geoffrion, who still makes his off-season home in the Quebec Metropolis, led Atlanta Flames into the Forum and emerged doused 3-0 by Ken Dryden's second shutout in three games.

The win moved Canadiens atop the National Hockey League East Division standings with five points, one ahead of Buffalo Sabres and Detroit Red Wings, both undefeated in two regular season games.

In other action, New York Islanders, along with Atlanta in their initial NHL campaigns, evened their record at 1-1 by edging Los Angeles Kings 3-2 on Germain Gagnon's goal with 69 seconds left and Philadelphia Flyers were sparked by Simon Nolet's two goals to a 7-4 win over Vancouver Canucks.

Geoffrion spent most of his NHL career blasting in goals for the Canadiens, savoring the accolades of thousands chorusing "Boom-Boom, Boom-Boom" throughout the Montreal arena.

FLAMES SPARK OUT

So it must have been disconcerting that the Flames were mere sparks in absorbing their third straight loss. Dryden made only 22 saves while his team-mates scored once in each period, Rejean Houle's first-period score the winner.

The Canadiens, normally a spirited club, could hardly work up the motions against their lacklustre opposition and referee Brian Lewis called only four minor penalties—two to each club.

Islanders' rookie Bill Harris and Bob Erry of Los Angeles had both scored two goals apiece in the mid-hitting game at Nassau County Coliseum, but it remained for Gagnon's unassisted score at 18:51 of the third period to decide the outcome.

The Kings had held 1-0 and 2-1 leads in the game played before 9,427 fans.

Unlike Montreal and New York, the Philadelphia-Vancouver game threatened several times to disburse into mayhem but the only violence of consequence was a third-period brush between Canucks' Wayne Boddy and Gary Dornhoefer of the Flyers. Both received five-minute majors for their efforts.

It remained for Bobby Clarke, the long-haired centre ace whose value soared during the recent Canada-Russia hockey series, to notch the eventual winner at 2:57 of the middle period.

Bordeleau nets four

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It was an evening to remember and Christian Bordeleau made the most of it.

The World Hockey Association had arrived in Madison Square Garden and while only 6,273 paid to watch a conglomerate of former National Hockey League players and minor pros, they didn't go home entirely disinterested in the performance.

Bordeleau, who followed team-mate Bobby Hull from the NHL Chicago Black Hawks to Winnipeg, scored four goals to pace the Jets to a 6-4 win.
