Town claims chief not fired

Richmond police chief dismissal probe opens

RICHMOND — A Quebec municipal commission hearing into the dismissal of ex-police and fire chief Gerard Paquin opened at the registry office here this morning with a lawyers' wrangle over whether or not Mr. Paquin had in fact, been technically fired.

Town lawyer Georges Savoie told the hearing, presided over by Judge John F. Sheehan that the town did not fire Mr. Paquin, but merely notified him his annual contract would not be renewed. Mr. Savoie said that Mr. Paquin had never signed a written contract with the town, and council secretary,

The town lawyer said he wanted to make it clear that the whole affair had nothing to do with Mr. Paquin's moral conduct. He had always been sober and respectable in carrying out his duties, Mr. Savoie said.

When Mr. Paquin was dismissed from his post, Mayor Marcel Roy would only say the reason was "insubordination."

Council members have repeatedly declined to give further details about the issue.

Seek to smooth differences

Draft communique

LONDON (CP) — Commonwealth prime ministers met today for the difficult task of drafting a communique covering their week of strained discussions on Britain's bid to join the Common Market.

It appeared likely that a major last-minute effort would be made around the Marlborough House conference table to smooth over their differences and strike a positive, constructive note.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, marking his 67th birthday, was reported to be sounding out Commonwealth reaction to his surprise proposal Monday for a free world conference aimed at reducing international trade barriers.

So far, reaction has been mainly cool with little enthusiasm for the idea evident in the statements of other prime ministers who have commented on it. The Canadian delegation has indicated it doesn't expect to win outright approval for the Diefenbaker proposal in the final conference communique.

EXPECT GREEN LIGHT
The general view is that the communique will give Britain its hoped-for green light to resume Brussels negotiations with the six-nation European Economic Community, while still making clear Commonwealth disapproval of the trade terms worked out so far.

Prime Minister Menzies of Australia gave the conference

a guide to the communique Monday when he said his government's position on the Common Market hasn't changed, but that the conference should produce a positive statement of principles "and not end in a sterile expression of disagreement."

Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan, evidently breathing easier after last week's assault of Commonwealth criticism, has given every sign of determination to pursue his government's policy of entering the Common Market. But he again reassured the other prime ministers Monday that the terms would be "fair."

LACKS APPROVAL
Up to Monday night, it appeared that Diefenbaker had not yet won general Commonwealth approval for his hope that the conference would call for a second prime ministers conference before Britain makes its final decision on joining Europe.

In his speech Monday he said Canada is prepared to attend another meeting but will co-operate in "any other method" of Commonwealth consultation. Diefenbaker's birthday celebration will be a quiet one—a party tonight given by Canadian High Commissioner George Drew and attended by Canadian officials.

Castro may build naval base in Cuba

GUANTANAMO, Cuba (AP) — Sources in contact with the Cuban underground say information they have received may indicate a move by the Castro government to build a naval base on Cuba's north coast.

These sources said that for the last several weeks the Cuban government has been removing families from an area near a town called Banes—an area said to feature a protected bay.

The Banes area is about 20 miles northwest of Guantanamo Bay. The town of Banes is at the northwest end of Bahia de Nipe (Nipe Bay).

Cuba doesn't have much of a navy, but President Kennedy announced recently that the Russians have been sending missile-armed torpedo boats to Cuba.

Reports of the activity on the north coast came through sources which navy officers at this base said have proved reliable in the past.

RUSSIANS APPEAR

These sources also said they have received information that Russians and Czechs have appeared in some numbers in eastern Cuba and have been seen living in camps near Santiago, about 50 miles from Guantanamo.

Cubans who work on this base but live in Fidel Castro's territory told of increasing food shortages, rising prices and a thriving black market here.

A report was that Castro may start rationing bread. Other important foods, including meat and milk, already are tightly rationed.

One Cuban worker said his family of four was limited to four small cans of condensed milk a month—about half its previous skimpy ration of seven cans a month.

THEY'RE ALL HERS — Ann Gall, 16, of Galt, Ont., who captured Scotland's highest honor for Highland dancing at Prestwick this month poses with some of the trophies and cups she has won since she started dancing at the age of two. The trophies and a letter of congratulation from the Mayor of Galt fill a department store window in her home town. Ann outlasted 2,000 dancers from all parts of the world at the Edinburgh Festival to bring the supreme trophy to Canada for the first time. (CP Wirephoto)

Two charged in collapse

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — Two men today were arrested and charged with "homicide by carelessness" in the collapse of a government building here Monday in which at least 17 persons were killed.

Police named the two as Jean-Baptiste Lecluse and Jean-Baptiste Maucouy, both 50, the builder and chief engineer respectively of a house under construction beside the government building.

Eyewitnesses said part of the building collapsed toward an excavation in Lecluse's adjoining building site.

Road to Agassiz is barred

PRINCETON, B.C. (CP)—The way to the west was barred today for British Columbia's trekking Sons of Freedom Doukhobors—by statute law and a road block to enforce it.

It appeared the 400-mile march from Krestova to Agassiz in the Fraser Valley was over.

The Sons, numbering more than 750, left their homes more than two weeks ago, vowing to re-unite with 63 of their menfolk who are jailed in Mountain Prison near Agassiz for terrorism.

The march bogged down after three days, and for more than a week the Freedomites, from babies to the very old, stopped over near Grand Forks in a muddy field.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, in a statement at Vancouver, said Monday night police had been ordered to stop the marchers, camped now near this mountain centre.

PASS BYLAW

He said officials at Kent, the municipality that contains Mountain Prison, had passed a bylaw during the day making it unlawful for the trekkers to enter Agassiz.

"It appears that a continuation of the march in these circumstances is likely to lead to a breach of the peace," he said. He said that pending clarification of the Doukhobors' intentions, the RCMP had been authorized to bar their highway route west of Hope, 100 miles east of Vancouver. Police formed a road block during the night.

Chamber of Commerce convention

Calls for a new executive breed to lead business in a 'new age'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Representatives of management, labor, government and consumer today took over the 33rd annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

The 500 delegates—representing 300 of the 850 member chambers and boards of trade which make up the Canadian Chamber—heard speeches on domestic and foreign trade and on the relationship of business to labor, government and the household.

Then they discussed what they had heard.

J. A. Roberts, deputy trade minister, called for a new, dynamic breed of executive to lead Canadian business into the new competitive age opening up.

William Dodge of Ottawa, executive vice-president of the Canadian Labor Congress, suggested management, labor and government move now to settle basic problems by setting up "machinery for consultation."

Mrs. Michael Humphries of Calgary, member of the national executive of the Canadian Association of Consumers, suggested consideration be given to setting up a department of government to keep watch on the interests of the household.

G. Allan Burton of Toronto, managing director of Simpsons, Limited, pleaded that "profit should be the reward for taking the risks of business" and argued against restriction of consumer credit because "a young family is a young business" and "how many young businesses can grow and expand without adequate credit?"

FAVORS CAMPAIGN

Burton P. Bowman of Montreal, president of Cyanamid of Canada, Limited, said Canada should recognize that the United States market is diversified and "any country interested in selling to the U.S. can be outsold by Canadian industry."

He also suggested a government-sponsored information campaign "to awaken the people of the U.S. to the importance to them of the Canadian nation and its day-to-day purchases of U.S. goods."

"We must shake off any defeastist attitude and act like what we are—the biggest customer of the U.S."

On Commonwealth trade, J. N. Hyland of Vancouver, vice-president of British Columbia Packers, Limited, said "it is a fair assumption" that Britain would be required to accept the European Common Market agricultural policy in full in order to become a member. However, since "Canadian hard wheat cannot be duplicated in Europe" her grain exports to the total trading area should not suffer.

APPOINTED — Career diplomat W. Walton Butterworth, 59, has been appointed by President Kennedy as ambassador to Canada. He will succeed Livingston Merchant, who has retired from the post.

89 items on agenda

Atmosphere of tenseness pervades opening of UN

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The 17th United Nations General Assembly opens today in an atmosphere of uneasy tension—with global quarrels rumbling in the wings rather than roaring at the door.

An 89-item work program faced the some 1,000 delegates from 104 countries but some of the most explosive issues did not appear on the formal agenda Monday although they are certain to figure in debate.

These include Berlin and its famed wall, the Soviet Union's buildup in Cuba and Cuban charges of aggression by the United States, and Communist China's border claims on India. For the first time in 11 years there was no mention of Red China's claim for UN membership, leading to speculation whether the Soviet Union was planning some new gambit in the perennial debate on this question.

A Soviet resolution to seat Peking and expel Nationalist China was defeated at the 16th assembly last Dec. 15 by a vote of 36 for, 48 against and 20 abstentions.

One big question mark was left standing Monday by Acting Secretary-General U Thant when he told a press conference he had not yet decided whether to make himself available as a candidate for a full five-year term in the position.

Such perennial questions as disarmament, nuclear testing, colonialism and a host of economic problems will keep the assembly and its seven main committees busy until the Dec. 21 target date for adjournment. It is expected the heavy agenda will result in another return after Christmas to finish business.

Thant, who recently visited Brazil, the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Austria, declared Monday:

"I believe I reflect the conscience of the whole world when I say that people of the world are getting more and more impatient on disarmament."

One of the first tasks of Tunisia's Mongi Slim, 16th assembly president, in opening today's session was to call for election of a new president.

Nationalization an issue

Nov. vote in Quebec?

By CUTHBERT JONES
(Record staff writer)

There may be something more than wishful thinking in the reports coming from Union Nationale headquarters that Quebec voters will go to the polls on Monday, Nov. 26. In letters of advice going out to its county organizations, the UN stresses that the selection of the date for a provincial general election, which must be held sometime before the end of 1964, is strictly a matter for the Lesage Government. There is no need for the Premier and his aides to consult with the Opposition. And judging from past experience it is unlikely that Opposition advice will be sought.

Although the Liberal Government technically has another two years or more of office, there are many developments that may force Premier Lesage to make an appeal to the electorate very shortly.

Perhaps the most critical issue is that of nationalizing the private power companies in the Province, including the mighty Shawinigan Water and Power Company.

A recent declaration by Maurice Lamontagne, economic adviser to Premier Lesage, at Montebello to the effect that nationalization of power companies was essential indicates that the cabinet has made up its mind that the province must acquire the private firms. But from unofficial sources it is reported that the cabinet is divided over the issue and that several resignations may result from any nationalization move.

DELICATE POSITION

This would place the Lesage administration in a delicate position. It holds a comparatively narrow majority in the Legislative Assembly, holding 54 seats to 40 for the Union Nationale and one independent.

Should eight Liberals quit over the nationalization move, the Government could well be defeated. The Union Nationale has gone on record as being opposed to any further steps towards state ownership in Quebec.

To hold a November election, the Legislature must be dissolved within the next few weeks.

Some believe the announcement may follow a caucus of Liberal MPPs being held in Quebec City Wednesday morning.

Lands and Forests Minister Bona Aresenault last night confirmed the caucus would take place and added that arrangements for it had been made "three weeks ago." But a Montreal Liberal member said that the first intimation of the caucus came to him from the Liberal whip Philippe Lalonde, member for Montreal St. Louis, Monday.

According to Le Devoir, a paper very sympathetic to the Liberals in the last provincial election, the caucus will be

Asks for understanding

RC-Protestant talks seen an 'enrichment'

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The general secretary of the United Church of Canada said Monday night development of tentative talks between Roman Catholics and Protestants could lead to "mutual enrichment" of the churches.

Dr. Ernest E. Long, permanent executive officer of the church's general council, said sincere attempts at understanding might mean that "some day something may happen to break down the walls."

The churches must "get to know each other and share our various concerns."

He told the 20th general council of the church here that talks between individual Roman Catholic and Protestant scholars in Montreal and elsewhere are "useful," but any permanent effect could only result from "a real dialogue" between the churches.

Protestants "must respond in understanding and with a proper degree of expectation" to any overtures for fuller communication with the Roman Catholic Church, he said.

Speaking on inter-church relations and the work of the World Council of Churches, Dr. Long said there is hope that Pope

John's second Vatican Council might produce better understanding because the council will consider "such questions as religious liberty, mixed marriages and prayers for unity."

He urged his church to encourage and pray for the work of the Vatican Council, an assembly of Roman Catholic leaders opening in Rome next month with representatives of other churches attending as observers. The United Church will be represented through the World Council of Churches.

"It must be apparent that we are living, if not in a time of new relationships between the Roman and non-Roman churches, certainly in a time of new climate," he said.

Full conversations between the churches "would not mean surrender of principle or conviction or indifference to truth, but caring for the others, listening to them, desiring real communication and mutual enrichment."

URGE EASIER DIVORCE

Dr. Long spoke on relations between the churches five days after council's ex-moderator, Very Rev. Hugh A. McLeod, said heavy Roman Catholic immigration in Canada could achieve "the end of liberty as we have known it."

Council Monday approved a resolution calling on the government to widen the grounds for divorce in Canada to include desertion, cruelty and insanity as well as adultery.

Council's decision was based on the principle that a serious concern for preserving marriage must acknowledge its complete breakdown.

Resolutions called for a royal commission to consider wider grounds for divorce and to abolish parliamentary divorce.

that the toothpick-thin plot was glaringly visible. Sam's good friend Mike died suddenly, and Mike's evil brother threatened to try to break the will in an attempt to get a bigger share.

NOT STRONG ENOUGH

It seems the dead man and his wife hadn't told their little daughter she was adopted, and the fearful widow still was against letting her know. In one stroke, Sam wiped out the law-suit and the bad brother's plan simply by telling the child she was adopted. Somehow, with all the information the public has had about adoption, this hardly seemed strong enough to carry an hour-long show.

Meanwhile, Sam kept up a mad pace, popping in and out of a courtroom to see how the murder jury was doing. On several occasions I found myself wishing the writers had made that part the main subject.

SOUTH'S BID

The result of the next hand of the World Championship match depended on South's first bid.

America, sitting South, made an opening diamond bid. West overcalled with two spades and North bid three clubs. East and South passed and West went on to three spades. He didn't think that anyone would double him at that contract and he expected to get seven tricks out of his own hand.

He got his seven tricks plus East's ace of hearts to be down one minus 50. North opened with a diamond lead and South continued the suit. West discarded a heart on the fourth and last diamond—if he had ruffed he would have been down two tricks.

His three spade bid was the right decision. North would have lost a maximum of four tricks at three clubs.

At the other table West opened with a one spade bid and after North and East passed, South reopened with a double.

West bid two spades and North passed.

He had pretty good defense against spades and since South had passed originally, North decided a three club bid would be too dangerous.

West made two spades for a plus of 110 and a net gain for America of 160 points, or four International Match points.

A—Bid three hearts. You do not want to jump your partner's second suit with only three trumps, but a raise is preferable to a bid in no-trump.

Your partner continues with three no-trump. What do you do now?

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—James MacArthur, who followed in the footsteps of his famous mother, Helen Hayes, is making a stab at portraying the profession in which his father found fame.

Jim, a sandy-haired 24, plays the role of an itinerant writer in a television series ABC is filming, Postmark: Jim Fletcher.

Jim's father was the late Charles MacArthur, who immortalized the newspaper business' more rollicking side with his play Front Page.

"There won't be much similarity between the kind of writer I'm supposed to be and the Chicago newspaper days of my father," Jim said. "That kind of journalism really doesn't exist anymore."

The kind of journalism MacArthur wrote about was a classic portrayal of the old newspaper wars when papers did battle for circulation on their front pages with the bloodiest borders and the most bosomy beauties.

"Reporting is different from those days," Jim said. "We have a different set of values, a different way of life from those days."

A story that might have seemed funny and sensational in those days might be very serious today.

In Postmark Jim plays the son of a famous war correspondent, killed in the Second World War, who wants to follow in his father's journalistic footsteps.

"In the opening segment, I try to get a job on a magazine with my dad's old editor. He tells me I can't write about life from a little room. Why don't I go out and see what life's all about?"

"So that's the idea. I travel around the country, turn up stories and send them to the magazine."

Sherbrooke tables $644,200 program for winter works

By BERNARD BROWNRIGG
(Record Staff Reporter)

Sherbrooke council Monday night approved a $644,200 winter works program, the labor costs of which will be paid partly by the municipal, federal and provincial governments. The provincial government will pay $80,320 of the labor costs, while the federal government will pay $100,400.

Man on critical list after car-bus crash

Romeo Montagny 37, of 1050 Pare Street is on the critical list Tuesday after being rushed to the Hotel Dieu Hospital Monday night unconscious and suffering from a brain concussion and severe head and facial cuts incurred in a collision at 11:35 p.m.

He was driving his car west on Galt Street East when it crossed the path of a Larabee Service bus, northbound on Bowen Street South and driven by Basil Gaudreau 25, of R.R. 1, Lennoxville. The bus driver was uninjured.

The impact of the collision which occurred 200 feet from the corner sent Mr. Montagny's car hurtling upon the sidewalk where it came to a stop at the left side of the house situated on the corner of Bowen and Galt Streets.

The Larabee bus veered out of control and travelled 200 feet diagonally across Bowen Street, hopped the sidewalk, missed a nearby tree, and passed between another tree and the right side of the corner house gallery, finally coming to a stop at the bottom of a slope.

Gaudreau, the driver of the bus was jolted from his seat during the mishap but escaped uninjured as did an under-

To appear on birthday before judge

A 30-year-old Sherbrooke man who has been in and out of jail since the age of 16, will appear on his 31st birthday before Judge Evender Veilleux Thursday on a charge of theft and breaking and entering.

Gaston Soucy, the accused, who, according to police, has no listed address in Sherbrooke, was brought before Jean Marie Grogioire, justice of the peace for the St. Francis district, in Sherbrooke Court House, Monday afternoon.

Defence attorney, Yvon Boisvert, asked that the accused be let out of jail on bail but was refused the request until the accused appears before a judge on Thursday.

Soucy was charged with breaking and entering into the Molson's warehouse office on Belvedere Street, and taking $1,700 in cash and $3,300 in cheques from the company's safe.

The break-in and theft occurred early last Friday morning.

Hog cholera

OTTAWA (CP) — Two more cases were discovered last week in the ebbing outbreak of hog cholera in Ontario and Quebec, the federal agriculture department said Monday. Both were in Quebec. Federal investigators ordered 258 hogs killed on a farm in St. Maurice County and 10 on a small farm in Laprairie County.

To offer $24,000

Sherbrooke to buy property for parking

Sherbrooke City Council Monday night decided to expropriate the property of Emery Bergeron on Wellington Street South to make room for the new Olivier Street parking lot. Mr. Bergeron, owner of the property, wants $37,000 for his house and property and the city council decided not to offer any more than $24,000.

The money needed to expropriate and buy the property and house will be paid out of the reserve parking lot funds, city treasurer, Olivier Routhier told council members. Alderman Carl Camirand suggested the city put gravel on the present parking lot at the site because there are stones which make the parking lot rough and discourages motorists from using it.

Charles Langlois, director of services for the city, told council the city would have to buy the house because the parking lot would be built next to the walls of the house. Mayor Armand Nadeau told council the parking lot would have a better appearance if the city bought the house and demolished it.

Ald. Camirand said the city should buy the house and build a gas station in its place. Ald. Camirand's suggestion, Mayor Nadeau said the question of demolishing the building and building a gas station in its place would have to be discussed later on.

At Cowansville restaurant

Goons beat owner

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — Montreal gangland goons moved into Cowansville for a short time Saturday, long enough to beat up a Cowansville restaurant owner causing him severe injuries to the face.

Cowansville municipal police would not release any details of the incident until arrests are carried out, but it was learned by a Record reporter Monday that Chief Ernest Deschamps and another constable were in Montreal Monday in connection with the incident.

The incident occurred early Sunday morning when five men walked into the Gai Canton Restaurant on River Street here, proceeded into the kitchen of the establishment and started beating up the owner, Lionel Boissonneault.

Mr. Boissonneault was beaten up severely enough to be taken to the Medical Center on South Street where he was treated for cuts to the face.

Another fight occurred early Sunday morning at the Patio Bar-B-Q 318 South Street.

Although police did not release any details on this brawl either, it was learned however that the fight broke out between two male customers over a girl.

Five injured in car crash

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — Five people were injured, when the automobile in which they were occupants went out of control and rolled over several times near Gilman's Corner about 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Injured in the crash were Mrs. Bertram Connelly, of Montreal, driver of the vehicle; Mrs. Eleanor Flack, of Bondville; Mrs. Mary Louise Hart, 74 of Lachine; Mr. H. G. Flack, 75, of Bondville suffering from a broken leg and Timmy Connelly, three and one half years, of Ville Jacques Cartier.

The crash occurred when Mrs. Connelly lost control of the vehicle on a slippery pavement.

Man hurt in fall

Azarius Cote 47, of Stoke Centre received a brain concussion and slight injuries to his face and right leg late Monday afternoon after taking a 15 foot plunge while working on the construction of the new wing of the Sherbrooke Seminary.

He is at present under observation at the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital where he is reported in good condition. He should be released either today or tomorrow hospital officials said.

Fabi's Vt. road work site

Strike is settled, wage hike included

DERBY LINE — The strike of Vermont highway workers on the Fabi and Sons project here ended Monday, and men and machines were back in operation by two p.m.

The International Union of Operating Engineers (AFL-CIO) considered the settlement a victory, but the Sherbrooke headquarters of the contractors denied it had reached any understanding with the union.

"A friendly agreement between Fabi and Sons and its employees," said Carlo Fabi, company secretary, in Sherbrooke. The union was not involved, he said.

Robert Clark, Burlington-based union representative, said the company and the union had signed a binding agreement, though not a full labor contract.

The agreement provided, he said, for a shop steward union handling of grievances for the remainder of the present project and an election among employees on full union representation on any future road-building Fabi undertakes in Vermont.

A letter signed by Samuel Fabi, company manager, promising these arrangements and no reprisals against men who were active in the strike had also been filed with the office of the governor of Vermont, Mr. Clark said.

Gov. F. Ray Keyser (Rep.) conferred separately with union and company representatives Friday in Montpelier, the Vermont state capital.

The main issue of the strike, which began on the morning of Aug. 23, was union recognition. A 10-cent-an-hour pay raise to all trades which Fabi and Sons had offered from the start was also included in Monday's settlement.

This would bring laborers' wages to $1.45 per hour, truck drivers to $1.50, and top-paid machine operators to $2.85.

Robert Clark said the union understood from Samuel Fabi that Fabi and Sons intended to make further bids for Vermont highway work, and that these bids would allow for a union contract.

In a letter sent to strikers in the second week of the strike Mr. Fabi had asked them to consider that his budgeting for the project had not included any union-obtained pay raise.

Since the strike began, both a U.S. federal mediator, John O'Reilly, and Vermont's commissioner for industrial relations, Raymond Daniels, had been on the scene in efforts to bring contending parties together.

The union suggests Mr. Daniels as a suitable supervisor for future balloting on union representation.

The union said that Monday's settlement also included guarantees that men would not be laid off without warning.

The five-mile stretch of road which Fabi is building in northern Vermont is an interstate highway, jointly federally and state financed. One of the contracts under which it is being built calls for completion by Nov. 15. Another runs until next summer.

By MALCOLM REID

Mr. Clark says that all major road-building in Vermont is done by larger out-of-state contractors, and that this settlement on the Fabi project means that every one of them is now organized by the International Union of Operating Engineers.

Public meeting Oct. 1 of North Ward owners to decide on zoning

A public meeting will be held Oct. 1, for residents of the North Ward regarding the changing of part of Zone D-5, back to a B-5 Zone which permits only one and two family dwellings.

Sherbrooke city council Monday night approved a bylaw change that would make part of the zone on the west side of Jacques Cartier Boulevard between Portland Boulevard and Prospect Street be changed to a B-5 zone to permit the construction of only one and two family dwellings. Zone D-5 classification permits the construction of apartment buildings.

Mayor Armand Nadeau said that the city would not recall the Zone D-5 bylaw and present it anew for the eastside of Jacques Cartier Boulevard because two apartment buildings have been constructed.

The mayor said the bylaw would not be withdrawn just because residents in the area concerned were not notified by writing of the zone change.

Ald. Everett Nicol told council he presented a petition from property owners of the area for 7 months ago and council members refused their demands of changing the west side of Jacques Cartier Boulevard back to a B-5 zone.

Ald. Nicol told council who ever gave out the permits to the people who constructed apartment buildings on the south side of Malouin Street, "made a big mistake because the rear of the apartment buildings can be seen from Jacques Cartier Boulevard."

"Our building inspectors missed, and they missed bad, because all the clotheslines at the rear of the buildings and the balconies as well, will be in full view of Jacques Cartier Boulevard, a thoroughway of the city," Ald. Nicol said.

Ald. Nicol asked that the city building inspectors make a report to council on why the contractors of the apartment building on Malouin Street on the east side of Jacques Cartier Boulevard were given a permit to construct the apartment the way they did.

"The way the apartments are built, is certainly not according to town planning," Ald. Nicol said.

Last week at a meeting of residents of the North Ward, Mayor Armand Nadeau agreed that Dewey Zoor, attorney for the North Ward residents, meet with city attorney Albert Rivard and discuss whether or not the east side of Jacques Cartier

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain or Discomfort

Finds Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a famous scientific institute. Now this new healing substance is sold in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores—money back guarantee.

King Merritt guest speaker at Sherbrooke Rotary Club

King Merritt is founder and chairman of the firm bearing his name — King Merritt & Company, Inc., an international organization specializing in mutual funds. Since the company was founded in 1946, it has sold many millions of dollars of funds and today is one of the largest independent distributors of funds in the world, represented by more than 3,000 salesmen in 50 states and 24 foreign countries.

Mr. Merritt will speak this evening at the 6:30 meeting of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club in the New Sherbrooke Hotel. He recently logged more than 60,000 miles of travel in one year spreading his own personal brand of enthusiasm for mutual funds in such distant places as London, Brussels, Amsterdam, Paris, Munich, Vienna, Beirut, Jerusalem, Cairo, Bangkok, New Delhi, Hong Kong, Formosa, Okinawa, Tokyo, and Honolulu. Dubbed "The Great Salesman," he is confident of the fact that he has the products and programs to solve most people's financial problems.

King Merritt began his career in securities sales almost 40 years ago in Omaha, Nebraska. Prior to forming his own company, he was, for 26 years, general sales manager and vice president of Investor's Syndicate in Minneapolis, Minnesota for whom he helped build a national sales organization of some 4,000 men. He is also vice president - sales for the financial division of Channing Corporation of New York and San Francisco, a financial management company.

A constructive attitude to trade

Mr. Diefenbaker's call for a world-wide trading conference at "the earliest practicable date" with Canada as the host country soars far above even the far-reaching concepts of President Kennedy on an Atlantic trading area.

In his announcement at the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' meeting in London yesterday, Mr. Diefenbaker said that an invitation to such a conference should be extended to all member nations of the Commonwealth, the European Economic Community, the European Free Trade area, the United States, Japan and like-minded nations that wished to participate.

President Kennedy's vision did not extend quite that far in his enunciations of it, although it may well be that in his own mind, he saw some sort of a trading arrangement embracing the entire free world eventually.

In this respect, Mr. Diefenbaker may well have been voicing the secret feelings of many in the Western world concerned with the future of broad trade developments in our area.

First reaction to the Canadian prime minister's proposal, however, must be that in its overall ramifications, it is premature. Perhaps not exactly visionary, but certainly, at this stage of the game, just this side of that.

And it will sound strange to those who regard Canada now — and not without some justification — as rather isolationist in her trade policies.

We have refused to join the Organization of American States, in the face of repeated invitations.

Our response to President Kennedy's free trade ideas has been only lukewarm so far, and confused by the need for temporary austerity.

All last week, our attitude at the Commonwealth conference was that nothing must be done that would substantially change existing Commonwealth trade patterns.

We have, in short, sounded very much like we wanted nothing so much as the status quo and nothing so little as a world-wide trade arrangement.

It is refreshing, therefore, to hear Mr. Diefenbaker adopt a far more constructive attitude towards trading problems than has been evident for some time. Mr. Diefenbaker's proposal may take the breath away with its enormous implications; it may be too much too early — but it is at least a position of initiative and of imagination.

At every election time some politicians are plum crazy.

Censorship: majority rules, it seems

The United Church of Canada has sent back for committee study a resolution calling for the establishment of a federal censorship board which would have the power to ban publications it considers pornographic, filthy or obscene and to control the distribution of questionable publications to keep them from the sexually immature. The mere mention of censorship is bound to give added impetus to the seamy controversy which has been aired in courts, public forums, home and school association meetings, publishers' conferences and on scores of other occasions when people concerned about the state of public morals gather.

It is only in recent years that the federal government adopted a law defining obscenity in the hope that it would give the courts an effective weapon to deal against these publications which make no pretense of being anything else but pornographic. But judges are still having difficulty, in certain cases, of applying this new regulation.

There has been a relaxation, notably in Quebec, of censorship on material — books, magazines and movies — which in the past were decreed as being pornographic. In the field of film entertainment, the move has permitted the public to see works, many of them fine ones, which used to be reserved for showing at membership-only cinema clubs. One that immediately comes to mind is La Dolce Vita a product of the Italian neo-realist school of film making, which was released for general distribution. Censorship was not completely lifted on this film, yet it is doubtful if it would even have been permitted to be shown in Quebec theatres before the application of censorship was modified. The critics did not give La Dolce Vita rave reviews but they did admit it was an attempt to treat a subject honestly despite the fact these were scenes which some people would consider lewd.

Of course, it has become fashionable to condemn those who would impose censorship as being narrow-minded bigots, destroyers of culture, book haters and the like. This is a shallow appraisal of people who are often motivated by a genuine concern about the effects of pornography. The publishing industry, for instance, has opportunists who care less about good literature than the Australian aborigine. By producing books of absolutely no merit, they do more harm to literature than any censorship rule.

Many a theologian has stabbed himself on the thorny problem of art and morality. There has never been a definitive answer to the question and there probably never will be. Censorship has usually been applied in the Western countries according to the well-known business saying "what the market will bear." Is censorship necessary? That depends on how a majority of the people feel, it would seem.

About three months more and even loafing will be a lot of trouble.

Saving old drugs a dangerous habit

Probably one of the most dangerous, and at the same time most expensive, of the "economies" practised about the average home is that of saving old prescription drugs. In the average home, the medicine shelf contains many half-empty bottles that carry little or no identification except the prescription number on the label and perhaps instructions to "take one before each meal." Even the housewife, when looking over the collection, has difficulty in recalling for what ailment the medicines were originally prescribed.

Recently medical and pharmaceutical groups have issued requests that householders get rid of such therapeutic relics in a safe manner — such as by flushing them down the drain.

Many reasons are advanced for these suggestions. In many cases these drugs lose their potency when held over long. Indeed, in some cases the drugs undergo a chemical change when stored too long or kept under improper conditions, the result of these changes being that a normally valuable prescription becomes a poison. And then, most drugs are prescribed to correct a particular ailment and their use is correlated to the condition of the patient at the time they are ordered.

And finally, there may be quantities of drugs which later research has revealed as dangerous, such as the baby-deforming drug thalidomide. Many of these pills are marketed under the particular brand names of different manufacturers and the possessor may not know exactly what is on the shelves.

Of course, there is the old, long-standing risk that these drugs may fall into the hands of young children and be eaten instead of candy.

Generally, these old drugs have little or no value but at the same time pose a dangerous threat to the family well-being.

trine involving the unrestricted printing of money. It appears now that there are two systems of Social credit, one for West Provinces and one for Quebec, the last one much more irresponsible. Real Caouette says one thing and Robert Thompson, the titular leader says quite another. Particularly Caouette said flatly in direct contradiction of his leader that Socreds will vote against Diefenbaker's austerity program. Premier Manning of Alberta has been so much scandalized by the foolish promises of Real Caouette, that he went as far as saying that they

Statue of Stalin about to be toppled

Czechs trying to blend Marxism with their own West traditions

David Oancia of CP's London bureau has just returned from a reporting tour of Czechoslovakia. In this story he tells how the Communist nation has tried to blend Marxism with its essentially Western traditions.

By DAVID OANCIA

PRAGUE (CP) — The brooding statue of Joseph Stalin is about to be toppled from its lofty pedestal high above this city of more than 100 spires.

For seven years the massive monument of Stalin heading a column of workers coexisted incongruously with the Czechoslovakian capital's ancient gothic and baroque architecture.

Now, as the program of de-Stalinization is pushed cautiously forward, the structure is to be demolished. A cultural centre devoted to Czechoslovak-Soviet friendship is to take its place on the bank of the Vltava River.

In other parts of the compact, attractive land crews of workers are unobtrusively substituting new name plates on the streets and roads named after the late Soviet dictator.

These developments are viewed by some as an indication that Marxism is melting in the most prosperous of Communist states. But they can hardly be looked upon as liberalization in the Western sense.

The leadership is determined to make its revolutionary program stick despite failures to meet targets envisaged in the five-year plan that began in 1960.

Nevertheless, many of the characteristics one expects to find in a Communist society are missing.

Striptease shows, jazz and the twist are part of the regular scene. The traditions, social background and standards of living are essentially those of a Western state. And the economy resembles that of Britain or West Germany.

One may wonder, in fact, how a nation so advanced technically, so middle-class, could become Communist so easily and why there is so little indication of protest.

I put these questions often to Czechs and Slovaks during a two-week tour of the country. A major factor, of course, was the tight, well-disciplined organization developed by the Communists immediately after the Second World War. The democratic parties were divided and often squabbled.

In 1948 the Communists skillfully assumed control of the government and in a matter of months pushed through a Communist-style constitution giving them undisputed power.

"The fate of our country was settled in 1938," said a young party member. The Munich agreement with Hitler which dismembered the state caused a deep revulsion against the West, he added. The Russians, on the other hand, were viewed as liberators.

Part of the answer to the question of why there is so little protest is evident in the cities, towns, hills and valleys.

Steel mills, hydro power plants, factories and housing centres have been built.

Even though production targets may not be fulfilled completely, people are reasonably well off.

Rents are low—a modern two-room apartment costs as little as $20 a month. There's an acute housing shortage but planners hope it will be overcome by 1965 in major centres and 1970 in the rest of the country.

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — The unpredictable future alone can tell if Prime Minister Diefenbaker did Canada and the Commonwealth a service or a disservice in London last week. His unexpectedly firm stand in opposition to Britain becoming a member of the European Economic Community on terms so far negotiated between Britain and the Inner Six could do one of three things:

It could tip the scales against British membership, by making it politically impossible for the British government to carry out its plans against overwhelming condemnation by the Commonwealth atop strong and apparently increasing opposition among the British people.

It could strengthen Britain's hand at the negotiating table in Brussels that the Inner Six would offer Britain a better deal to bring her in. If this happened, Canada and other Commonwealth countries with vested interests in easy access to the British market would suffer less economic injury.

Or it could fail to do either, with Britain entering the common market amid Commonwealth recriminations.

The first result would preserve the status quo, and might prevent the attrition over the years of our sales to Britain of important commodities like wheat, aluminum, newsprint and manufactures generally.

But there is reason to question whether today's status quo could thus be long preserved. Trade between Canada and Britain is dependent on continued British prosperity — and the British government maintains that British prosperity will decline if British goods are denied access to the markets of western Europe by the European Common Market tariff.

Despite Diefenbaker's talk of possible alternatives begetting greater intra Commonwealth trade, the fact is that over the years the experts of all the major Commonwealth countries have explored this avenue and found it leading nowhere.

The idea of a Canada-US-UK trading bloc is intriguing, but the US wants Britain in the EEC for political even more than economic reasons. There is no assurance that Washington would look favorably on a plan that would only frustrate its objective of Britain in the EEC as a counterweight to the intransigence of France led by President DeGaulle.

The long range view of a prosperous Britain in the EEC with Canada benefitting from tariff concessions negotiated between the US and the EEC, and with Britain exercising an influence of wisdom and moderation in a politically united Europe, is a glittering prospect.

But it is a very human trait to want to have one's cake and eat it too. If this is what the Canadian position condemning the results of common market negotiations so far is able to achieve, it will be both economically advantageous to us, and politically remarkable.

Thus Mr. Diefenbaker made a bold decision, but one that no longer appears likely to do him the political harm at home that the Accra outburst of his ministers did a year ago.

Last week nearly all Commonwealth countries opposed British membership in the EEC, although not all for the same reasons. So Mr. Diefenbaker's firm line does not isolate him as a target for Canadian Anglophiles, and it should endear him to workers in primary and manufacturing industries that depend on sales to Britain.

followed by a press conference at which Premier Lesage will announce "the nationalization of all privately-owned electricity companies, including the Shawinigan Water and Power Company."

The report adds the Government also will announce it will consult public opinion "in the form of a provincial general election."

Cabinet ministers are maintaining the tight-lipped silence they have registered since a secret cabinet meeting held Sept. 4-5 in the Laurentian Provincial Park north of Quebec City.

Speculation has it that the secret cabinet session was called to decide on public ownership of the power companies.

By holding a general election, Mr. Lesage on one hand would have the public approve the decision to take over the power companies and on the other hand would obtain a new mandate for four years.

The present Legislature session went into summer recess in July and is to be resumed Nov. 6.

TWO COURSES
Premier Lesage has two courses of action open to him. He can go to the electors without delay and then, if re-elected, have a public ownership law enacted by the Legislature.

Or he could have the public-ownership law enacted when the session resumes and have the Assembly dissolved once the debate is completed, to hold an election in the spring.

The logical course would be to hold an immediate election followed by a parliamentary session at which the public ownership law would be introduced.

If he were to pass the nationalization law before the election, he would face severe criticism for presenting the public with an accomplished fact. This would eliminate the referendum feature from the election.

Appealing to the electors on the public ownership issue might provide Premier Lesage with an out for some of the other problems being faced by his Government.

Pressed by some of its more idealist ministers, the administration has been doing too much too fast in the opinion of many observers, with the result that it is running up against a practical reality — lack of money.

According to Quebec reports, the hospitalization plan and the educational reforms are costing much more than

Circle Unit at Boundary sets date for supper

ROCK ISLAND — The Circle Unit of St. Edward's Church had a busy session at its first meeting of the autumn, held Sept. 12, at the home of Mrs. Wayland Ladd, with Mrs. A. S. Judd, Sr. the co-hostess.

The president, Mrs. Lloyd Selby, and the 27 members and guests present planned a busy autumn. The date of Oct. 18 was set for the annual family style turkey supper in the church, starting at 5:30 p.m. Workers for the rummage sale, taking place in the church hall on Sept. 20, were appointed with Mrs. Ruth Darby, Mrs. Lloyd Selby and Mrs. W. B. Dustin the collectors.

Mrs. Selby announced an invitation from Centenary Church to attend a meeting on Oct. 3, when Dr. Prior, an African missionary, will be speaking, and to attend a regional rally at the Beebe United Church on the tentative date of Oct. 24.

Rev. Carl Gustafson, the pastor, issued an invitation to the three illustrated lectures at the church the evenings of Sept. 28, Oct. 5 and 12. The films will be of churches and cathedrals in Europe. The lectures are also open to the general public. Mrs. Merton Davis and Miss Ruth Wing agreed to be chairmen for refreshments after the program.

Correspondence included a letter from Mrs. A. G. Tennesson, who was hospitalized for several months in Ontario following a motor accident and is now back in Rosemount. Miss Ruth Wing was in charge of the devotional period opening.

The next meeting will be on September 26 in the church hall where Mrs. Raymond Grow and Mrs. Earl Hackett will be hostesses.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ladd and Mrs. Judd.

anticipated, with the result that funds are lacking for many other projects which have better vote-getting appeal.

To meet the situation, the government may have to increase its borrowing, with tax boosts to cover the higher debt service.

Should the tax boosts be imposed shortly before an election, the reaction of the voters can well be imagined. But if the Lesage cabinet can be returned on the public ownership issue, it will have another four years in which to let the people become accustomed to the heavier burdens.

Altar Society welcomes three new members

DERBY LINE — St. Edward's parish Altar Society met Sept. 12, at the home of the president, Mrs. Abel Patenaude, as Corner House, the property of the church is undergoing extensive renovation.

At this first meeting of the autumn three new members were welcomed by the president and members.

Plans were made for a rummage sale to be held in the Village hall on Saturday morning, Sept. 22, with the door opening at nine o'clock.

Mrs. Patenaude opened the meeting with prayers, and reports were heard from the executive.

A social evening was enjoyed, when bingo was played, the winners receiving prizes.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Maurice Fortin, Mrs. A. Routhier, Mrs. Alfred Davis, Mrs. Lionel Fortin.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Patenaude on Oct. 10.

Rev. Carl Gustafson, the pastor, issued an invitation to the three illustrated lectures at the church the evenings of Sept. 28, Oct. 5 and 12. The films will be of churches and cathedrals in Europe. Cookshire group makes plans for sale and supper

COOKSHIRE — At the meeting of the U.C.W. of Trinity United Church, held at the home of Mrs. G. W. Learned, final plans were made for a sale of handwork in conjunction with the roast turkey supper, which is being put on jointly by the W.A. and the U.C.W. on Sept. 20.

Thanks were expressed for the donation of sale articles by Mrs. Vonda Huntingdon.

The book, The Word and the Way, is to be passed around to be read by the members. Mrs. Farnsworth read an article from Outstretch, and this will be used on various occasions to give the members a resume of the work being done by the United Church of Canada.

A special welcome was given to Mrs. William Drennan, who has returned from England where she has resided for a few years.

Mrs. G. W. Learned and Mrs. J. Van Der Leden were in charge of the devotional period. Mrs. Learned served refreshments at the close of a social hour.

General Notes
The friends of Mr. Frank Hurd will be sorry to learn he is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital, and that Mrs. William McKay is a patient in the Hotel Dieu Hospital.

ST. MONICA'S GUILD OF ST. GEORGE'S L'VILLE

St. Monica's Guild, of St. George's Church, Lennoxville, planned a rummage sale for September 22, and the annual Winter Wonderland sale, November 22, at the opening meeting held in St. George's Hall, Queen Street.

Archdeacon T. J. Matthews opened the meeting with prayer, and outlined an adult educational course for laymen and women, to be held at Bishop's University, starting September 24, at 8 p.m., and to continue each Monday evening, the following six weeks. It was also suggested to study the subject to be discussed at the Anglican Church congress, to be held in Canada, Mrs. T. J. Matthews will take charge of this study.

Mrs. Ivan Saunders and Mrs. James Planché will convene the coming rummage sale, and the usual sales of aprons, knitting, food, table decorations, Christmas cakes and puddings for the Winter Wonderland.

Mrs. A. Halsall's report of the booth held at the community barbecue was most encouraging. Plans were also made to cater for the annual ploughmen's banquet, on October 10, with Mrs. Gerald McKindsey and Mrs. Robert Mathews as conveners.

At the close, refreshments were served by Mrs. Norrey Hunting, Mrs. Graham Patrin, Mrs. Cecil Dougherty and Mrs. Charles Parkin.

United Church Women, was held in the ladies' parlor, Douglas Hall, Queen Street. Mrs. Gerald Bryant presiding.

Mrs. Edson Warner was in charge of decorations, with Mrs. Garnet Williams at the piano. Much time was taken up with

Plymouth U.C.W. meet

The purpose of the United Church Women, "To unite all women of the congregation for the total mission of the Church, and to provide a medium through which they may express their loyalty and devotion to Jesus Christ in Christian Witness, Study, Fellowship and Service" was the opening remark of Mrs. H. Griffith, president of Plymouth U.C.W. when she presided over the first fall meeting held in Plymouth Hall.

Roll call was taken by Mrs. M. W. Williams.

Miss Joan Beers was in charge of devotions, with Mrs. E. Lavalée at the piano. Program theme for the evening, The Lord and His Universality.

Mrs. R. Gosselin recording secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting.

Mrs. G. Dougall treasurer, gave the financial statement. Mrs. H. Rawlings assisting correspondent secretary gave a report.

The president then called for reports from various committees. Miss L. Seymour reporting on visiting.

Mrs. G. McClintock reporting for Christian Education and Missionary stating the Messengers, would resume meetings under the leadership of Mrs. E. Westerman.

Mrs. F. S. Rugg, reported on the In Memoriam fund.

Mrs. G. LeBaron, social convener, reported on several future projects, one of which is the Shoppers Fair to be held November 3. Various committees were appointed for same.

The president announced a tour of Lowney's would be made soon.

Mrs. J. Rugg reported on sale of fall bulbs, these would be available at next meeting.

During the social hour, Mrs. A. Sangster, made a presentation of a personal gift to Mrs. F. S. Rugg, who had celebrated her 80th birthday. A lighted birthday cake was brought in, all members joining in "happy birthday". Mrs. Rugg thanked the U.C.W. for their thoughtfulness.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. H. Johnson, Mrs. N. Hunter, Mrs. G. McClintock, and Mrs. G. Lindsay.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Benoit, of Eastman, announce the engagement of their third eldest daughter Vivian Enid to Mr. Thomas Harrison, son of Mr. M. Hooker and the late George Harrison, of Bury. The wedding has been arranged to take place in November.

Fall Standard

Many women consider the black silk pump or sandal standard for fall evenings. This fall, have a pair in emerald, turquoise or ruby silk and see what the color does for a black dress.

zaar, on November 28-29, work nights to be arranged. Anyone having hobby items or attic treasures for this event were asked to contact Mrs. Keith Baldwin.

Mrs. Roland Booth and Miss Esther Bassett were named to the telephone committee.

A report showed that a food hamper, had been sent in August, to a needy family being assisted by this unit.

Several cards of thanks for remembrances were read. All members interested in a Bible study group, to be held one morning, every two weeks, were asked to contact Mrs. T. A. Judson.

The program which was much enjoyed was a presentation of slides by Mrs. Charles Lewis, with commentary by Mrs. Stanford Rowe, on a recent trip to British Columbia, via points of interest through the United States and Canada.

Hostesses for the evening, were, Mrs. Rupert Porter, Mrs. Stanford Rowe and Mrs. Moynan Robinson.

GARDEN PATCH SALAD

1 package frozen lima beans, 2 cups shredded lettuce, 2 cups shredded red cabbage, 1 cup chopped green onions, 1/2 cup sliced radishes, 2 large tomatoes, cut into wedges, 1 cup green pepper strips, 1 envelope classic salad dressing mix, 1/4 cup vinegar, 1/2 cup cooking oil, 2 tablespoons water, 1/2 cup commercial sour cream, 1/2 cup crumbled blue cheese, spanish onion rings for garnish.

Cook beans as package directs. Drain and chill. Mound lettuce in center of salad bowl; arrange all vegetables in pie-shaped wedges around bowl. Combine remaining ingredients (except onion) to make dressing; put in sauce boat, serving separately. Garnish salad with the Spanish onion rings. Serves eight.

CRANBERRY-APPLE PIE
1 package (2 sticks) pie crust mix, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 4 tablespoons boiling water, 1/2 cups sugar, 3 tablespoons cornstarch, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup water, 1 1/2 cups fresh cranberries, 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 1/2 cups sliced cooking apples.

Crumble pie crust mix into a bowl. Combine cinnamon, nutmeg and water, stir into mix. Shape dough into a ball. Cut off a little less than half and reserve for lattice top.

Roll out remaining dough into a circle one inch larger than an inverted nine-inch pie pan and fit smoothly into the pan. Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in a saucepan, stir in the water and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until syrup thickens and begins to boil.

Stir in berries; cook till they pop, then stir in lemon peel and butter. Put apples in pie pan, pour berries on top. Now roll dough for top into six-by-ten-inch rectangle. Cut into ten strips, half-inch wide. Moisten rim of bottom crust with water, lay strips across top of pie, fold bottom crust over ends of strips. Press to seal edges, then crimp with tines of fork. Bake at 425°F. (hot) half-hour or till crust is browned. Cool, serve to eight.

Jacqueline Lussier, Queen of Sherbrooke's 125th Anniversary, is shown here with the bedroom and dinette suites she bought at H. C. WILSON & SONS LIMITED, 61-67 Wellington N., Sherbrooke. Her choice, in a bedroom set, was Italian Provincial in walnut finish. The dinette suite in walnut is influenced by Danish styling. Miss Lussier, recently married, has taken up residence in Granby. Lorna May Ticehurst weds Stewart Oren Anderson

STANSTEAD — The marriage of Lorna May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Ticehurst, Stanstead, to Mr. Stewart Oren Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson, Stanstead, took place at two thirty o'clock on Saturday, September 1, 1962 in Centenary United church. Rev. A. M. Rose officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. A. P. Gordon played the wedding music. Varicolored gladioli were used to decorate, with white satin ribbon bows and lily of the valley marking the guest pews.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a white rose point lace gown over bridal satin, styled with a lace bodice, having long sleeves en point, with a Sabrina neckline terminating into a point at the back, and fastening with tiny buttons to the waist line, the lace descended into four points of the floor length hooped tulle skirt, the tulle featuring lace applique, accented with sequin trim. Her fingertip length veil of tulle, edged with a double row of lace, was held in place by a crown of pearl encrusted miniature hearts. She carried a cascade bouquet of American beauty roses, the white satin streamers being knotted with rose buds.

Mrs. Roger Dutil, as matron of honor for her sister, wore a carnation pink silk organza jacket dress, the jacket having three quarter length sleeves and round neckline, the dress having a full skirt over taffeta. She wore a white silk organza flower and pearl tiara, and carried a cascade bouquet of white baby chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Erwin Ticehurst, sister in law of the bride, and Miss Joan Jarvis, as bridesmaids, wore dresses of sea-foam green silk organza over taffeta, the bodice having a round neckline with a V at the back, with a rose at the point, about the full skirt they wore a pleated cummerbund, in their hair was a jeweled tiara, and they carried a cascade bouquet of pale yellow baby chrysanthemums.

Miss Lucille Dutil, niece of the bride, was flower girl, and was in a dress of mauve silk organza, having a cascade ruffled bouffant skirt. A flower bandeau held in place her short veil, and she carried a basket of sweet peas.

Mr. Raymond Anderson was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Messrs. Keith Anderson and Erwin Ticehurst, brothers of the bride and groom.

Mrs. Ticehurst, mother of the bride, wore a jacket dress of dusty rose lace over taffeta, a white shantung hat and accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Anderson, the groom's mother was in a dress of black and white sheer, and wore a white hat and accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Cora Fox, maternal grandmother of the bride wore a navy blue dress, a white hat and accessories and a white gladioli corsage.

The reception, held in the church hall which was decorated with a profusion of summer flowers, was attended by about 100 guests. The bride's table was arranged with the wedding cake, made by Miss Ruth Wing, and decorated by Mrs. Gaston Mongeau, in white and silver with a bride and groom within an arch of flowers, adorning the top of the four tiers, flanked by flowers and lighted candles in crystal holders. The table cover was handmade lace, the creation of the mother of the bride.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson left on their honeymoon trip to spend a week at Sunset Bay, Lake Memphrémagog. They are residing in Stanstead. For traveling, Mrs. Anderson wore a moss green waffle weave suit, brown organza hat and white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Miss Sharon Campbell, cousin of the groom was in charge of the guest book. Guests attended from Bishopston, East Angus, Sherbrooke, Stanstead, Ayer's Cliff, Milford, Conn., Derby Line, Beebe, Tomifobia, Newport, and Rock Island.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Warren Spahn stops Dodgers but Giants fail to take advantage as they drop 5-2 decision to Pirates

The fleet Los Angeles Dodgers have been slowed down in their sprint for the National League pennant. But San Francisco Giants, on a season-long treadmill away from home, aren't catching up.

Behind the masterful five-hit pitching of Warren Spahn, Milwaukee Braves cooled off Los Angeles 2-1 Monday night, dealing the Dodgers their second straight loss after a seven-game winning streak. Spahn recorded his 324th career victory.

At Pittsburgh, Elmo Plaskett made his first major league hit in a three-run homer and right-hander Tom Sturdivant threw a seven-inning shutout as the home-loving Giants beat the two San Francisco runs.

The Cubs went into the last of the seventh inning trailing the Cardinals 4-3 but Ott quickly made things even against loser Ray Washburn with his first big-league homer. Then, with two men aboard, Banks whacked his 35th of the season. Pitcher Dick Ellsworth later singled in the fifth run of the rally.

Ellsworth went the distance although allowing nine hits, including homers by Ken Boyer and Julio Gotay.

Als at home to Acton Vale tonight in crucial tilt

Tonight's winner will move into select spot in best-of-seven series, Al Hooker may face Rejean Plourde

Sherbrooke Alouettes and Acton Beavers clash tonight, weather permitting, in the crucial game of their best-of-seven finals of the Provincial Eastern Townships Baseball League at the Park Avenue Stadium. Game time is slated to commence at 8:30.

The current series is deadlocked at 2-2 following Beavers' sweep of the Sunday twinbill 13-12 and 3-2. The Als copped the first two games and the winner of tonight's game will move into a commanding position in the series.

Coach Claude St. Vincent has selected his ace right-hander, Al Hooker, to open activities while the Beavers should go along with Rejean Plourde. The next tilt is slated for Thursday evening in Acton Vale.

In the first game, in Sherbrooke, Hooker faced Plourde and emerged with the decision. Hooker gave up six hits while Plourde allowed ten and was credited with the loss. They both went the distance in the game and since then have only appeared in relief roles which makes them the logical choices for tonight.

Gilles Bernier and Henri Corbeil, who started in the second tilt last week and was won by the Als, are also ready for action and maybe the coaches will start with these men. Bernier earned the nod with a 3-2 victory.

Lilias Poole is the top hitter for the Als with eight hits, including a homer and two doubles. Sherbrooke's other top sluggers have failed to come through but Coach St. Vincent is hoping they will break out tonight.

The Als were charged with nine errors Sunday and a few of them figured in the scoring. This was the most the locals have committed for quite some time and it is hoped that tonight they will come through with a clean bill in the field.

The Beavers seem to have discovered a crew of good hitters judging from last Sunday. Sherman Carter, Rene Valois, Ronald Forté and Claude Groulx clouted the ball at a merry clip and played a big part in outcoming of both games. The Beavers have six home runs to their credit while the Als have only one by Poole.

Weatherly and Gretel meet today in second run for America's Cup with Americans slight favorites

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — America's Cup defender Weatherly of the United States and Australian challenger Gretel headed for the starting line for their second race today tossed by the winds of controversy.

The official spokesman for the U.S. team Monday accused Sir Frank Packer, Australian syndicate head, of sabotaging Gretel's effort.

"Sir Frank has given confidence to no one and is running the show himself," American team spokesman George O'Day wrote in an article in the Boston Traveler. "This despite the fact that he has never had any real boat racing experience."

O'Day's article said that the night before Saturday's first race of the best-of-seven series, Sir Frank pulled first-string navigator Terry Hammond out of the lineup and replaced him with Magnus Halvorsen.

"To make matters worse," wrote the U.S. Olympic medalist, "a navigational error put Gretel out of the first race for good when she tacked away from Weatherly when both were making the first windward mark."

Monday morning both boats were involved in a tacking duel which brought about even more controversy before the day was over. The two racing sloops appeared outside Newport harbor and Aussie skipper Jock Sturrock took off after Weatherly.

U.S. skipper Bus Moshbacher attempted to tack out of the Sydney—Don Jones, 158, Australia, knocked out Alfredo Cota, 154, Mexico, 6.

Big M back in fold, Red Wings cut three

Frank Mahovlich is much closer geographically to Toronto than he is to his current team, the Red Wings.

Maple Leafs, but how close he is to the National Hockey League club can get on contract terms remains to be decided.

The big left winger, Leafs' goal - producer, checked into Toronto's training camp at Peterborough Monday night after a four-day protest sojourn in Toronto.

He and Toronto manager-coach Punch Imlach have still to get together on what Mahovlich will put in the bank this season.

Mahovlich left camp last Thursday night. He and Imlach were at odds on a contract for the coming season, with Mahovlich reported to be asking $30,000.

King Clancy, Imlach's assistant, talked with Mahovlich in Toronto Monday and reported in an interview:

"I didn't think Mahovlich was dissatisfied. We had a nice friendly talk. There are a few things to be ironed out but I don't think there's anything serious to worry about."

Several other players dickered with Imlach Monday on this season's contract but Imlach declined to say whether any signed.

The Leafs coach may have worries getting signatures but, to hear him talk, Toronto is a sure bet to win the Stanley Cup for the second year in a row.

Chicago Black Hawks, Leafs' opponents—and tough ones—in the cup final last year, defeated Toronto 3-2 in an exhibition game Saturday night.

Said Imlach: "I can beat Chicago. I'm sure of that now. Only other club I'm worried about now is (Montreal) Canadiens and I won't know a thing about them until I meet them."

To a suggestion that the Black Hawks might get a bit rougher against Toronto this season, Imlach replied:

"I hope they decide to play it that way. Or play it any way they want as far as that's concerned. But they'll never beat us if they try to play it rough. They tried to play it that way before and lost."

Toronto and Chicago meet again tonight in Peterborough. Meanwhile, in the Black Hawks' training camp at St. Catharines, Chicago general manager Tommy Ivan was having an easier time than Imlach in getting the administrative chores done. With forwards Len Lunde and Ken Wharram and defencemen Wayne Hillman, Tex Evans and Bob Turner agreeing to terms Monday, Ivan has 10 players signed.

He was "very pleased" with Hawks' efforts Saturday night against Toronto.

But he wasn't happy with the morning scrimmage Monday and the afternoon workout was devoted to tough conditioning exercises.

WINGS SELL PLAYER
In Detroit, the Red Wings sold one player and loaned two others to Hershey Bears of the American League.

To Hershey went Roger Jordy, a 25-year-old left winger, who spent the last four years with Edmonton Flyers of the Western Hockey League, a Red Wings affiliate.

Wayne Rivers, a winger who saw junior action last season with the Memorial Cup champion Hamilton Red Wings, and Yves Locas, a winger with Spokane Comets of the WHL last season, were loaned to the AHL club.

Liston out to end Patterson's reign as world champion but may have a little trouble in doing it

CHICAGO (AP)—One look at the posters for the heavyweight title fight Sept. 25 between champion Floyd Patterson and challenger Sonny Liston immediately sets up the theme of "good guy vs. bad guy."

Patterson is the good guy. Liston is the bad guy.

On the left of the poster is a head shot of Patterson. The champion is pictured with his head tilted up. There's a pixie like look in his eyes and a Mona Lisa turn to his lips, giving the faint impression of a smile.

Liston appears on the far right of black lettering on a bold, red background. His head is bent low. He is scowling under heavy, black brows.

The good guy-bad guy comparison doesn't end there. It's only the beginning.

Patterson has come a long way since annexing the title in a fight-off with Archie Moore in Chicago stadium six years ago. He has developed a personality in which he gives the impression of a college man. He is articulate and kind. He asks that everyone give Liston a fair chance at becoming a good citizen. Patterson expects to defeat Liston but says if Liston should win then accept him as a champion.

Patterson's public appearances and speeches ring of kindness, fairness and goodness to wards his opponent and fellow man. The fact that he is about 190 pounds and much smaller than the 215-pound Liston adds a David and Goliath flavor to the fight. He expects to win but is apologetic about his chances. Liston is the opposite. He has a prison record. His frequent brushes with the law and his lack of education and polish add to his apparent savagery. He has worked at trying to be closed.

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — situation but Sturrock remained tenaciously astern. After about 45 minutes, the U.S. boat had opened up a lead of approximately a quarter of a mile. Gretel headed away downwind.

At the end of the day's practice, O'Day commented that Moshbacher had been purposely sailing off the wind so that the Aussies would learn as little as possible from following Weatherly.

"They were following us the same way an amateur skier follows a professional, trying to learn how he does it, and we don't want them to learn anything from us right now," O'Day said.

Informed of O'Day's article, Sir Frank snapped out a terse "No comment."

Hammond was back aboard the 69-foot Australian sloop Monday and assisted in navigating the boat to several buoys in the northeasterly breeze and choppy sea.

The two boats were scheduled to cross the starting line for the second race at 1:10 p.m. ADT today. The course will be a triangular one of 24 nautical miles. The first eight-mile leg is a beat, the second leg is a reach and the third will be downwind.

BOATS DUE
Monday morning both boats were involved in a tacking duel which brought about even more controversy before the day was over. The two racing sloops appeared outside Newport harbor and Aussie skipper Jock Sturrock took off after Weatherly.

U.S. skipper Bus Moshbacher attempted to tack out of the Sydney—Don Jones, 158, Australia, knocked out Alfredo Cota, 154, Mexico, 6.

St. Laurent not interested in Quebec offer
QUEBEC — (CP) — The management of Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League said Monday they will be forced to suspend defenceman Dollard St. Laurent if he does not report at the training camp here by tonight.

St. Laurent was recently acquired by the Aces from Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League.

He was not present for the camp opening Monday and sent a telegram saying he cannot accept the terms offered and would not report.

Meanwhile, 31 players began training under coach Floyd Curry, who expressed satisfaction with the first workout.

At the same time five Quebec players are working out now at the training camp in Verdun of Montreal Canadiens of the NHL.

They are goalie Charlie Hodge, defencemen John Hanna and Gary Bergman and forwards Michel Harvey and Bill Sutherland.

They will remain with Canadiens this week and are expected to report to the Aces for the first exhibition game, against Boston Bruins of the NHL next Sunday.

The first home game of the AHL season is scheduled for Oct. 14 when the Aces meet Springfield Indians.

Als pick up Boyd Carter and Aston
MONTREAL (CP) — Boyd Carter and Brian Aston, a pair of defensive halfbacks placed on waivers by Toronto Argonauts, Monday were claimed by Montreal's faltering Alouettes.

The Als had preference on the two—at the $350 waiver price—as the last-place team in the Eastern Football Conference last season.

The Als also announced they have purchased fullback Larry Hickman from Hamilton Tiger-Cats. Hickman, formerly with Green Bay Packers of the National Football League, was placed on waivers by the Tiger-Cats. But he was recalled when Montreal attempted to claim him and a deal subsequently made. Terms were not disclosed.

Ticats wallop Lions 31-7, Bombers edge Roughriders 20-18

Four pass interceptions play big part in Hamilton's victory, Lewis gives Bombers win on 91-yard run

One found it tough and one easy, but the top dogs won out in two Canadian Football League games Monday in the West. Helped by four pass interceptions, Hamilton Tiger-Cats walloped British Columbia Lions 31-7 in Vancouver before 27,051 fans.

In Winnipeg, 16,213 watched the Blue Bombers squeak by Saskatchewan Roughriders 20-18.

The Winnipeg victory put the 1961 Grey Cup champions five points ahead of runnerup Calgary in the Western Conference standings with 14 points.

Hamilton increased its Eastern Conference lead over Ottawa to three points with a total of 11.

The Tiger-Cats made a clean sweep of a two-game Western swing, having defeated Edmonton Eskimos 16-15 Friday.

CLOSE TO STANDOFF

It was close to an offensive standoff in the Vancouver game with Hamilton picking up 170 yards rushing and 141 passing to 163 and 152 for British Columbia.

But Hamilton pass interceptions throughout set up Ticat scoring plays and kept them out of trouble. The victim was British Columbia quarterback Joe Kapp.

Sam Fernandez picked off a Kapp throw on the Lions' 39 and this led to a first-quarter field goal by Don Sutherland.

Sutherland nabbed another in the third quarter that sparked a 100-yard touchdown march climaxed by George Scott's plunge for a touchdown.

Hamilton's Milan Wall grabbed another to set up a touchdown for Bobby Kuntz, his third of the game.

The fourth Hamilton interception by Joe Zuger came in the fourth quarter after British Columbia had managed to get on the score sheet with a 78-yard run by halfback Willie Fleming.

SCORES SIX POINTS

Kuntz also scored touchdowns in the first and second quarters, running his total to three and his points on the night to 18. He picked them up on a pair of one-yard plunges and a dive from the three-yard-line. Sutherland kicked a 48-yard field goal and three converts for six points and Joe Zuger punted for a Hamilton single.

The Winnipeg game was the reverse of the Vancouver contest with the Roughriders staying close all the way.

Halfback Leo Lewis salted away the Winnipeg win with a fourth-quarter touchdown on a 91-yard kickoff return. Joe Williams ran 32 yards for an earlier score while Gerry James kicked a single, two converts and a field goal.

Jack Delveaux kicked two singles to round out scoring for Winnipeg, now unbeaten in seven of eight games played. The Bombers lost the season-opener to Edmonton.

SCORE TOUCHDOWNS

Fullback Ferdie Burkett and quarterback Bob Ptacek scored Saskatchewan touchdowns while guard Reg Whitehouse added a field goal, single and two converts.

Saskatchewan, a WFC also-ran for five seasons, almost matched the Bombers' offence yard for yard, getting 210 altogether compared to 217 for Winnipeg.

Winnipeg got 15 first downs to Saskatchewan's 14. In the air Ptacek completed nine of 15 for 113 yards compared to 10 of 18 by Ken Ploen and Hal Ledyard of Winnipeg for 90 yards.

The game results left Saskatchewan in third spot in the Western Conference with seven points, one ahead of Edmonton and British Columbia, tied for fourth and last.

Steve Owen is steadily placing his trademark on Saskatchewan Roughriders in his patient way

By SCOTT SCHILL

REGINA (CP)—Steve Owen, quietly, patiently and steadily, is placing his trademark on Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Football Conference—a nearly flawless defence with a solid running attack.

This is the system he used for 23 years as head coach of New York Giants in the National Football League. It's the system he hopes will carry Rough-riders into the WFC playoffs for the first time since 1958.

Last year, under his guidance, the Roughriders moved out of the league basement. This year after five games his club led the WFC, a surprising place for a team that had come almost to accept losing as a way of life.

"I like it fine here," Steve says. "The fans are wonderful, the board of directors doesn't bother me. They finally have enough confidence in me to let me do what I think best."

STEVE OWEN

riders into the WFC playoffs for the first time since 1958.

Last year, under his guidance, the Roughriders moved out of the league basement. This year after five games his club led the WFC, a surprising place for a team that had come almost to accept losing as a way of life.

"I like it fine here," Steve says. "The fans are wonderful, the board of directors doesn't bother me. They finally have enough confidence in me to let me do what I think best."

In 1961 under Owen Roughriders fielded 10 rookies in several games. Eight returned this season plus another six.

At 64, Owen can trace his football career back to the 1920s when he played for Phillips University at Enid, Okla., then turned pro with Kansas City.

In 1925 New York received an NFL franchise and Steve recalls how he came to join the team.

"I played a game in New York with Kansas City. I must have had an impressive day because New York bought my contract for $100."

An offensive guard and defensive tackle, Steve played with the Giants for five years, then became playing coach. Three years later he quit as a player and continued as head coach.

His experience as a lineman served him well and his Giant teams were noted for their defence.

"In 1927 we set a record that will never be broken. We allowed only 20 points against us in 13 ball games. Hell, they score that many any quarter you want now, never mind a full season."

Owen retired in 1953, spent the next year watching games coaches," then was defensive and "second - guessing the coach at Baylor University for a season and with Philadelphia Eagles for two.

It was in 1957 that he took a similar job under Hank Pyle with Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Conference. When Pyle was fired in 1959 Owen took over for the remainder of the season.

He was invited to go west by Calgary Stampede who had lost six straight and managed to get them into the playoffs. The next season, however, Bobby Dobbs was hired and Owen accepted a call from Saskatchewan.

He says the Canadian game has changed a lot since 1950 when he led New York into Ottawa for an exhibition game.

"It's much more liberalized now. Every change I've seen since coming to Canada has been for the betterment of the game. You've got two more men who can block all the way down the field now and you can block on interceptions. The

Stanstead Fish & Game Club

Stanstead County Fish and Game Club continues to set the pace in the 8th annual Molson's Fishing Tournament with the Memphremagog Conservation Club and the Lake St. John-Roberval Fish and Game Association close contenders according to the latest release from Richmond Pelletier, Director of Molson's Fishing Club.

The Lake Megantic Fish and Game Association is leading District No. 2 while the Lachelle Fish and Game Club of Asbestos is the pace setter for District No. 3. The Stanley Fish and Game Club of Roxton Pond is setting the pace in District No. 4.

Many prizes given by Molson's Fishing Club will be awarded to anglers participating in the numerous fishing derbies announced for the end of the season. Molson's derby prizes are awarded only to the anglers who catch the largest number of coarse fish.

More derbies have been held this season than in past years says Richmond Pelletier, director of Molson's Fishing Club, and he notes with pleasure that the sportsmen did not forget the importance of conservation, for the majority of the gatherings favored the catch of undesirable fish.

If 1968 Winter Olympics are held in Banff it would go a long way towards giving Canada top centre

By BOB TRIMBEE

CALGARY (CP)—Staging the 1968 Winter Olympics at Banff, Alta., would go a long way toward providing Canada with a top-notch sports training centre, says Hans Maciej of Calgary.

Maciej, a onetime semi-pro soccer player in Germany, is vice-president of the Calgary Olympic Development Association which is sponsoring Banff's bid for the 1968 games.

The question of what use would be made of the Olympic facilities after the games is a factor in who wins the nomination, Maciej said in an interview. Japan, Norway, France and Switzerland are others bidding for the games.

"Our plans call for the use of the Banff School of Fine Arts as the Olympic Village, and expansion of the school will be pushed forward to provide facilities large enough to handle 2,000 athletes.

"There's no question about the use of these facilities after the games.

"But we also plan an Olympic centre across the town from the school. It would include a 10,000-seat hockey arena, a speedskating oval, figure-skating facilities, a practice rink, an administration building, a press centre and an electronic computing and processing centre."

HOPES FOR GRANT

Maciej said that if a national physical fitness grant were to be provided to establish a permanent training camp or sports centre at Banff, the use of the facilities after the games would be solved to the satisfaction of the International Olympic Committee.

Funds to operate the centre could be derived from renting the facilities for short periods to professional teams, perhaps for hockey or football training camps. Then there would be receipts from exhibition games staged at the site.

"This would give the Canadian Olympic Committee the facilities and the finances it needs to train junior, senior and international athletes and to transport them to Banff from across Canada.

"It's quite possible too, enough money could be raised to pay the cost of sending Canadian teams to international sports events."

Maciej said the facilities constructed would have a dual purpose. The speedskating oval could be converted into a track for sprinters in the summer. The hockey arena could be used as a gym and an indoor coaching school.

SETTING IDEAL

The quiet setting in the mountains was ideal for athletes concentrating on training and was relaxing enough to prevent an athlete from becoming stale.

Prof. Friedl Wolfgang, secretary-general of the 1964 Winter Olympics at Innsbruck, Austria, said during a recent visit to Banff:

"The IOC must be assured that the games are being staged primarily to promote amateur sports. It must be assured there will be some benefit after the games.

"The Banff plan to use the School of Fine Arts as the Olympic Village is the best I have ever seen. The facilities are excellent."

"Banff also has the atmosphere needed to relax athletes. It is in this kind of setting that athletes will be able to meet in friendship and goodwill as well as in competition."

"Nature will be all about them in the mountains. Everything is geared to the outdoors and physical fitness. Athletes will not have to mingle with people involved in the hectic pace of city life and in the drive to make a living."

Alouettes lose Jack Espenship

MONTREAL (CP)—Fears were held today that Jack Espenship, offensive half and defensive linebacker for Montreal Alouettes, may be lost to the club for at least two or three games.

Dr. Gordon Young, club physician, said Monday Espenship's collarbone was pulled from the breast bone in Saturday's 17-7 loss to Calgary Stampeders. The injury will require treatment and time, and length of Espenship's absence is not yet definitely known.
