Dr. John Lohead And J. Burrows Rotary Speakers

"The real meaning of Rotary is service, international service. That is the impression I carried away from the Rotary International Convention in Lucerne," Dr. John Lohead told Westmount Rotary Wednesday.

Dr. Lohead and Jack Burrows, both members of the Westmount club, attended the convention and gave their impressions.

Mr. Burrows confined himself to the social aspects of the convention. "The weather was bad all the time, but there was a very interesting schedule," he said. "Almost 10,000 Rotarians, friends and relatives attended the convention, so you can imagine what an impact they made on a town of 60,000. On the Sunday there was a Swiss folklore festival which everyone attended and the following day was devoted to trips and sight-seeing. In the evening a very impressive fireworks display was put on for the visitors over Lake Lucerne and the climax was a mammoth burst depicting the rotary symbol. It was a fine opportunity," said Mr. Burrows, "to meet people from all over the world."

Dr. Lohead, who has attended the convention seven times, gave a more detailed account of it. The official language of the convention was English, but French and German were also used, he said. Delegates came from 78 different countries and over 4623 clubs were represented. One significant feature was the large attendance of European delegates. The main speaker was Mrs. Helen Keller who urged Rotarians to lay special emphasis on the care and welfare of the blind. The incoming president of Rotary International, Buzz Tennant, in his inaugural address said that the goal for 1958 was: "Enlist, Extend, Explore and Serve".

Sales Of Realty Total $783,605

According to the Montreal Real Estate Board the Municipality of Westmount sold $783,605 of real estate during the month of May.

For the first six months of this year Westmount sales total $3,488,689.

'Worship Freedom' Issue In Church-City Rink Tiff

Their backs to the wall — now that the city has called for tenders for the construction of an artificial ice rink at Lansdowne and Western avenues — the pastor and congregation of Westmount Park-Emmanuel church are fighting a last-ditch struggle to force the mayor and aldermen to reconsider the decision which will place an open-sided, canned-music-blaring, 100 x 300-foot skating surface across the street from the church buildings.

In his sermon Sunday morning, Rev. Callum Thomson, and in their letters to newspapers many of the parishioners have made the issue one of 'Freedom of religion'.

"This is a democratic country," Mr. Thomson told his listeners Sunday morning, "and one of the freedoms guaranteed in a democratic country — or so I have been led to believe, is the freedom to worship unmolested, to worship without undue interference."

Speaking from his own experience at a former charge — in Ontario — the clergyman said that he knew what it would mean to his church. He described the effect of a public skating rink across from the church, how it would affect attendance at Sunday School, and painted a picture of children attending church and Sunday School with their skates slung over their shoulders.

The question, he said, was one of a choice that had to be made between sports culture and soul culture. The development of the body, he said, was a good thing in its place, but the development of the soul must be paramount.

'MANOEUVRE'

He accused the mayor and council of 'skilful manoeuvring' in the issue especially in the instance where city manager T. J. Hughes urged them not to insist on having the press present at an interview with the council. "This," said Rev. (Continued on page 2)

Tenders Called For August 12

Monday August 12 has been set as the date for tenders for the proposed artificial ice rink at Lansdowne and Western avenues.

The city has called for several contract tenders on that date at 2 p.m. despite the fact that opposition to the site, led by Westmount-Park-Emmanuel church-goers, is mounting steadily.

Comment from T. J. Hughes, city manager, is lacking. Mr. Hughes is on holiday.

Architects are Wiggs, Lawton and Walker and plans call for an open-sided, one-storey structure, 100' x 300', with a precast floor on piles, a closed-in clubhouse at one end. Eleven general contractors have been invited to bid.

Next Week's Weather

By ERIC NEAL

August 3 to 10

This is a generally pleasant week with hot days, cool nights and mornings and occasional mists or showers, with sunny intervals. Light winds.

Very hot mid-week, with scattered thunderstorms to clear the air again. Warm and mainly sunny weather is then likely to continue into the next week.

JUST ME . . . A number of persons have said that my work as a news editor for CFCF radio must be interesting. Well it is, but there is not as much glamor as there is hard work attached to the position. Let's take Saturday for example. We arose at 12:30 a.m. (that's a half hour after midnight) and after checking out with police headquarters for robberies, murders, accidents etc. we wound our way up Cote des Neiges arriving at the station about 2 a.m. We then prepared the news to be read at half hour intervals between six and ten a.m., then the script for a show called — "Roads and Weather" to be aired at 1:30 p.m. . . The time was now noon, so we packed a recording unit and headed for the Davis Cup Matches at the Mount Royal Tennis Club, stopping off at home to grab some dinner . . . We arrived at the Mount Royal at 1:30 p.m. and watched the matches from the press gallery until six p.m. Shortly after six we gathered four "notables" from the tennis world and recorded their views on junior tennis in Canada. At 6:30 we packed up our equipment with the close of "another day". (Oh, by the way, it was just one of those "18 hour" days.)

The good you do and embody gives you the only power obtainable. — Mary Baker Eddy.

With the population of Montreal and Canada generally increasing daily it is only to be expected that the fishing grounds are gradually becoming more crowded. There is not much we can do about it except to go farther afield and hope we can have our water to ourselves for a while at least. Things have not yet reached the ridiculous proportions that prevail in the U. S. where especially in New York state, hundreds of thousands of anglers fight for elbow room on the banks of rivers and lakes.

There is not much fun fishing with a large crowd. Apart from the inconvenience of tangled lines and noise it destroys the whole attraction of fishing. The average angler relishes the peace and solitude with nothing to hear but the burbling of the water and the occasional cry of a loon.

Some of our readers feel very strongly about this. One writer this week expresses himself pretty forcibly on the subject of private fishing grounds. "It is ridiculous" he says, "you cannot find a decent fishing spot within 100 miles of Montreal that has not been grabbed by some individual or club." Quoting the words of a British Prime Minister he goes on to say, "by what law are we become trespassers in the land of our birth".

I agree it is very irritating to trek for miles through the bush to what you consider virgin water only to be ordered off by the owner, or else charged an exorbitant price for the right to fish. I admit there are a number of parasites who batten on the unsuspecting angler, but you can always avoid them.

The right to own private property is an essential part of our constitution, so there is nothing we can do about it. However the way things are going it is best to belong to a club yourself. They have their advantages, for one thing they prevent the water from becoming fished out, and they usually provide facilities not found elsewhere.

If you do not belong to a club and cannot afford to buy your own lake, the thing to do is to get together with some friends. About 20 men clubbed together can purchase an ideal fishing ground within easy reach of Montreal. If it does not have sufficient fish, you can always stock it, but make sure none of the members use Lamprey as bait.

Any of our readers who are interested in forming such a co-operative can drop a line to this column. We will put you in touch with one another, and very soon you will be erecting your own "Keep Out" signs. If sufficient people are interested a meeting could be arranged later on and an election of officers take place. One thing is certain, with the population growing at its present rate some steps will have to be taken to ensure good fishing in the years to come.

The good you do and embody gives you the only power obtainable. — Mary Baker Eddy.

Thompson, "was our first mistake."

A protest against placing the rink on Westmount Park at Sherbrooke street, the minister said, was not as valid in his opinion as the protest of the church against the Western avenue site.

"As a boy in western Canada," he said, "I heard of the city of Westmount and of the fine way it was run, but now, as a clergyman, I am shocked at the methods that are being employed."

"I don't know," he continued, "of any referendum that has been held to find out if the people of Westmount — the taxpayers — are ready to give their assent to the spending of a half million dollars for an ice rink, which will cost probably in the neighborhood of another $50,000 a year for maintenance. It will have an ice surface one and a half times that of the Forum. We have only 4,000 children in the entire city of Westmount, yet some 25,000 are going to be taxed for the rink."

This church, he added, has served the people of this community for 70 years. It has provided hope, courage, inspiration. We are doing this job seven days a week, year in and year out, but we won't be able to continue to do it as efficiently or as actively with the atmosphere that will be created by a public skating rink at our door, with its loudspeakers blaring out canned music.

At the close of the service — during which Reverend Thompson prayed that the mayor and council might be led to change their minds about the site — those in the congregation who were not members of the church were invited to sign a 'sympathy' petition. Many of them did.

Marine Biologist Dabbles In Folk Singing As Hobby

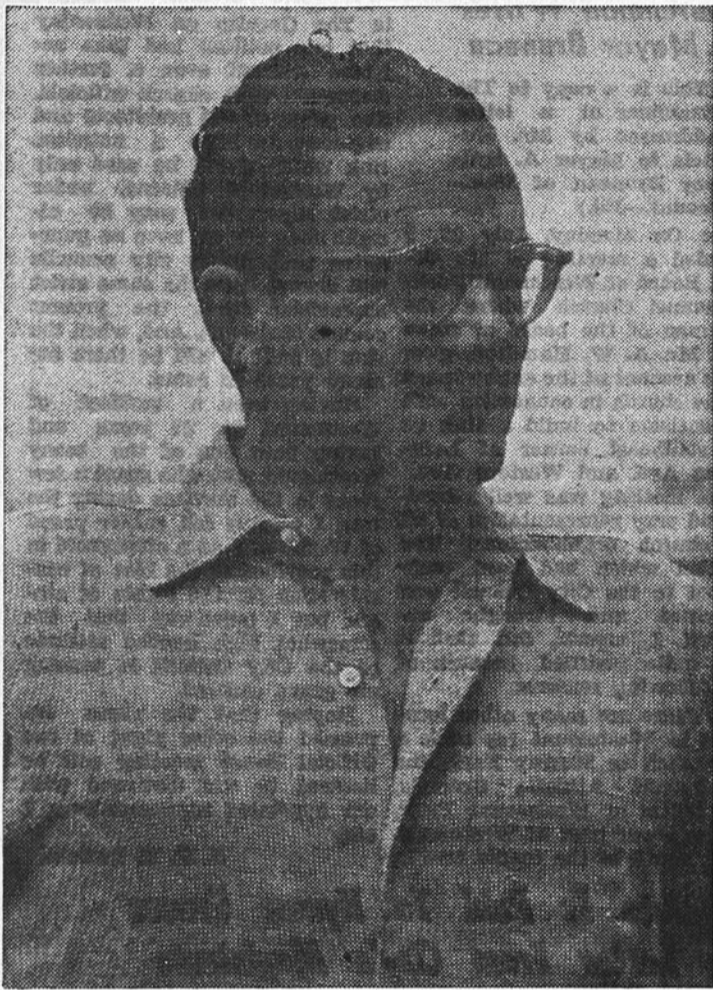

By DAVID FREEDMAN

The Arctic and Sub-arctic regions which until recently have proven to be one of the world's most enigmatic areas today provides a center of stimulating research for Maxwell Dunbar, marine biologist and McGill Zoology professor.

Professor Dunbar who lives at 488 Argyle avenue, Westmount with his wife and two young sons currently serves as secretary of the Arctic Institute of North America, an organization with headquarters at McGill, and a governing body consisting of an equal number of Canadian and American members. The main function of the organization is to provide funds for projects involving Arctic research, as well as participating in numerous other Arctic undertakings. It also publishes periodically at the Library of Congress, Washington, D.C., a bibliography of scientific and non-scientific literature on the Arctic.

He is responsible for the organization of the Eastern Arctic Investigation of the Fisheries Research Board of Canada, now the Arctic unit of the Fisheries Research Board. The primary function of this organization is research in Arctic aquatic biology, and it too is installed at McGill.

"I usually visit the Arctic every third summer with this research team," said Professor Dunbar. "We travel in a 45-ton diesel ketch, the 'Calanus.' Our main purpose is to study general oceanography, including those forms of smaller life the plankton, that thrive especially in the sub-Arctic waters off Greenland and Labrador, as well as marine mammals, such as seals, walrus, and whales. Since each summer's expedition creates laboratory work for the next five years, we

AIDED COUNTRY

The Department of External Affairs made good use of Professor Dunbar's knowledge and experience during the war years when he served as acting Canadian consul to Greenland. After the invasion of Denmark, Greenland, because of its cryolite and essential war material, and due to an extremely strategic location, emerged as a highly sensitive area.

Biological research and teaching do not occupy all of Professor Dunbar's time, for he presently enjoys a considerable reputation as a singer of ballads. Twenty-five of these ballads dealing with the Scottish wars have been recorded by Folkways of New York. Professor Dunbar feels that it is not necessary to possess an outstanding voice in order to sing folk songs or many other types of music. "Many of the singers that one hears today on radio, television, or even on the concert stage, have average voices which they have developed by constant training. Anyway you sing with your head as well as your larynx. Operatic singing if often an exception, not much head is used there."

Teaching according to Professor Dunbar is the most important and the most difficult profession of all. "The problem is to present material which you may think important to young people, who very often do not share your point of view. These facts therefore have to be arranged in an interesting manner; they have to live. The teacher must also by means of continuous reading keep up with the latest advances in his field. The scope of any given course will often be changed completely requiring additional preparation by the teacher.

The first year of teaching Professor Dunbar admits is the most difficult, for after that the Professor can direct the class without relying upon his notes. "Although teaching is in my opinion one of the most satisfying experiences in the world, I usually feel exhausted after a lecture or seminar," said Professor Dunbar.

Murray Park Is Now Suggested As Site For Indoor Skating Rink

Sir: What is wrong about building a rink in Murray Park, Cote St. Antoine road? Is it because the residents near there don't want it? Very few people use that section of the park.

It would be most unwise to construct a rink across from Westmount Park-Emmanuel Church.

There are so many reasons why this should not be. Too many to mention here.

R.B.

Churchman Writes To Mayor Bruneau

(This is a copy to The Examiner of a letter addressed by Mr. DuBois to Mayor A. Sydney Bruneau of Westmount.—Ed.)

Sir: On Monday, July 22, I attended a meeting of the Official Board of Westmount Park-Emmanuel Church where the chairman of the board of stewards, Mr. A. W. Hamilton, gave us an account of the action taken by the church in connection with the decision to build a rink on the southeast corner of Lansdowne Ave. and Western Ave.

The meeting was well attended and very representative of all the church organizations. The petition which had been submitted to the City Council was discussed and strongly approved. I, myself, felt that it was quite justified, because of the following reasons:

1. There are many other locations in Westmount for such a rink, such as Murray Park, the Westmount Athletic Grounds, the centre of Westmount Park, or the lower part of Westmount Park south of the tennis courts,

Tribute Is Paid To Hyman Grover In Letter From City's Magistrate

Sir:— We seldom during their lifetime pay the tribute we should, to the splendid citizens who contribute to the nation's progress and give generously of their means to deserving institutions.

We do not give the prize of praise to those who make possible the better understanding between neighbors and employers and workers.

Canada owes a great deal to the enterprising businessmen who provide employment for thousands of well-paid citizens. Likewise the community gains advantage from their benefactions and gifts. They are called upon to serve in many public capacities without remuneration. They give of their time and talents without thought of reward. They are rich in means and munificence.

In peace and war they serve their country with the same loyalty and devotion as the soldier. Their sons rally to the defence of their native land.

Within the confines of the beautiful little city in which your paper circulates there dwells a highly respected citizen, who is a prominent industrialist and philanthropist. He is Mr. Hyman Grover, the president of the Grover Mills Ltd. in Montreal and the Regent Mills in St. Jerome.

He has served the community for many years with a selflessness that won him the esteem of all who knew of his activities and generosity. He has labored earnestly and successfully to advance the welfare of the associations and institutions with which he was connected.

CONSIDERATE EMPLOYER

As an employer he has endeavored to treat his employees with that courtesy and consideration to which they are entitled to name just four.

2. As a former member of Emmanuel Church on Drummond street, I was familiar with the problems arising from amusement places adjacent to the church, and Westmount Park-Emmanuel Church would soon be faced with some of the same problems, with a rink such as that planned just across the street.

3. The real value of the church property would undoubtedly be impaired if the rink is built on the suggested site.

I was quite surprised to read in The Gazette on Wednesday that our petition had been rejected without even a further discussion with church officials. The plans of the architects and engineers to have a noiseless rink which would be used only by Westmount citizens, under strict supervision, may be alright now, but we have no guarantee that future city councils will always have the same strict supervision that the present council envisages. And, when the rink is built it will be there for many years to come.

Having been a resident of Westmount for 25 years and having been one of the many Westmount men who spent a few years in the services during the war, I always felt rather proud of Westmount as a stronghold in this province of the idea of consideration for the rights of others, but I must say that the somewhat high handed attitude of the City Council is causing me grave concern.

Hoping that the views expressed the other night at our Official Board meeting will be listened to and discussed with our appointed representatives, I am,

J. H. E. DuBois.

"Ethel, how many times have I told you not to phone me during working hours?"

Cheer up

EATING and drinking are dangerous, because they raise the blood pressure and increase weight. Crossing a street is dangerous, because of the traffic. Breathing is dangerous, because of diesel fumes and other muck in the air. Smoking as a relaxation from all this dangerous living, is dangerous. The only thing which, according to its devotees, is not dangerous is the fall-out from an H-bomb.

Fun for the electors

ELECTIONEERING is now being done by tape-recorders. The machine is plugged in through the windows of houses, and the recording of a candidate's speech is played back for the delight of the inhabitants. If that is not enough to induce people to vote, there must be something right somewhere. The candidate can sit quietly drinking at home while distant areas are lulled to rest by his message. The account of this fun says that the voice of the candidate "stirred the echoes in 100 gardens." Beachcomber

I SAY!

Glamour is when a man knows

—Gina Lollobrigida.

WE SAY

Put a Switch In the Pulpit

PROTESTS over Westmount City Council's second choice for a site of the indoor skating rink, at Lansdowne and Western, continue.

These seem to centre upon the proximity of Westmount Park-Emmanuel Church. Gay music from loudspeakers in the rink, some say, might disturb services in the church.

If such sounds—in winter, mind you, when the church's windows and doors are likely to be closed tight against the elements — are in fact heard by worshippers, we offer a simple solution:

A control switch in the pulpit.

Then, across the street, life can go on with young people skating in still-healthful silence while baptisms, weddings, funerals and other services go on undisturbed.

If Mayor and Council feel they must back away from this site, through minority pressure, as they did from Sherbrooke and Melville in Westmount Park proper, we commend to them the suggestion made in two letters on this page today: Murray Park, now known as King George Park. This has the added virtue of being even more central than the other two locations.

As much as we deplore City Council's deliberations on this and other matters taking place behind closed doors, whence their reasoning cannot be communicated fully and properly to the public, we would say this:

Westmount is one of the most fortunate municipalities in Canada for the calibre of men serving as its City Fathers.

Their decisions are not frivolous; they are well considered; they are aimed at the greatest good for the greatest number.

Their wisdom deserves respect.

Let's Not Surrender Mount Royal Park

WE believe the overwhelming majority of local residents will support the Montreal Westward Rotary Club, the Notre Dame de Grace Community Council, and other public-spirited organizations in the campaign to keep Mount Royal park free of motor roadways.

The ghastly prospect of modern traffic violating the peaceful serenity of this beautiful spot has roused local residents as it has those in all other parts of the Montreal area.

Mount Royal Park, which is the envy of almost every city on the continent, seems to be a challenge to all types of local spoilers. Every few years, someone in authority comes forward with a plan for a chalet, a motor road, a tram line, or some other project to encroach upon this unique arcadian retreat above the heat and noise of a great city.

The park has even been a mark for a suggestion that the top of the mountain should be occupied by a huge church. Others look upon the park simply as a big piece of valuable unoccupied real estate.

Montreal's charter directs that the whole of Mount Royal Park be maintained and preserved in perpetuity as a public park, no part of which should be alienated for any special rights, privileges or franchise thereon.

With all other large cities seeking more breathing space, let us make sure we don't lose ours.

THEY SAY

Middle age is when you have met so many people that every new person you meet reminds you of someone else.

NEW CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH: The growth of Christian Science healing in Montreal is exemplified with disclosure that a new church, with seating capacity for 450, will be erected at McGregor St. and Cote des Neiges Rd., site of the present church, built in 1929. Pioneers of Christian Science in Montreal met in private homes in the "early eighties." The basement and mezzanine floor of the present church will be incorporated within a system of precast concrete three-hinged arches devised to straddle completely the existing structure.

Christian Science Church
Announces A New Building

The history of Christian Science in Montreal is that of a modest beginning,—of quiet, sturdy growth over the years! When at least seventy-five years ago Christian Science healing first appeared in Montreal, the early workers of "the eighties" held their first church services and meetings in each others' homes, then in rented halls, until in December, 1890, First Church of Christ, Scientist, Montreal, was organized.

On Easter Sunday, 1900, the first Christian Science church to be built in The British Empire was formally opened on Closse Street, ground having been purchased for this purpose some three years previously. Seating about 250, the new church was greatly enriched by the generous gift of a very fine Pipe Organ—a tribute of gratitude from one of the members for her healing in Christian Science.

An expanding Sunday School found accommodation in an adjoining house purchased in 1916; further growth necessitated the acquisition of a second house in 1923. Continuing prosperity and the need for still more accommodation led to a decision to build a new church upon the present site — the corner of McGregor Street and Cote des Neiges Road — formally opened on Easter Sunday, March 31st, 1929.

The sketch here presented shows a completely new design, work upon which is expected to commence immediately. H. Ross Wiggs, who was one of the architects engaged upon the 1929 structure, is now happily with us at work upon the new — a most interesting project!

The present basement and mezzanine floor will be incorporated within a system of precast concrete three-hinged arches which has been devised to completely straddle the existing structure. The arches will be faced on the exterior with special precast panels with open latticework below.

The space between this framework and the existing structure will be closed by horizontal glass. Concealed lights placed behind the latticework will floodlight through the lattice and up into the Church Auditorium. The hinged arches will be exposed inside, with accoustical plaster between.

The auditorium will seat approximately 450. General trim and finish and pews will be oak while side walls between arches will be faced with California Redwood. A simple design theme using a combination of natural oak and brass rods will be carried through the building — first in the design of the entrance doors, the form of the double stair railings, the Auditorium entrance, the curved organ screen, and the hymn boards. Floors generally, will be terrazzo for Entrance Foyer, Stairs and Mezzanine, and rubber tile for Main Foyer and Auditorium.

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, was keenly interested in the growth of Christian Science in Montreal, and in December 1899 wrote the following to the members of this church:—

"May the blessing of God rest richly upon this house, and its worshippers within it."

New Gift Shop Will Help Support Mount Sinai Sanatorium Patients

Mount Sinai Sanatorium Ladies' Auxiliary is opening a new gift shop on August 12, to help support patients. This shop will be known as "The Lamss", from the first letters of the auxiliary's name, the shop at 4927 Decarie boulevard will serve two purposes: It will market handicrafts made by patients and ex-patients at Mount Sinai and turn 100 per cent of the sale price back to the patient who made the article originally. As well it will sell china, antiques, novelties and gift articles bought from direct sale.

Proceeds from this section of the shop's merchandise will go toward the rehabilitation, educational and occupational therapy programs carried on by the auxiliary. It is the auxiliary's hope that the annual bazaar which currently is the sole public fund-raising appeal made by the group can be discontinued as the shop grows in popularity.

The idea for Lamss originated with Mrs. H. M. Ripstein, founder of the auxiliary and co-chairman of the rehabilitation committee.

Mrs. Ripstein visited several American cities to check on gift shops run outside hospitals proper with proceeds directed to patient welfare.

The shop will be staffed on an eight-hour daily basis by members of the 600-woman auxiliary with each of the 75 units being responsible for specified duty behind the counter.

Auxiliary members plan an informal atmosphere for the shop with coffee served to shoppers as they browse.

Particular stress is placed on the fact that while most of the handicrafts originate within the walls of the sanatorium, there is absolutely no danger of infection being spread by their purchase.

Handwork to be sold includes weaving, rugs, leatherwork, copper etching and ceramics.

The Stars Still Emerge

Whatever life may bring,
Take heart, and wait,
And you shall learn, the clouds
Lift, soon or late.

Though faith be growing dim,
And hope, seems lost to you,
There, on a heavenly hill,
God's lamp shines surely through.

Thus, shall a star arise,
In blackest sky,
Never does He forget,
He hears your cry.

World's Fashion Capital Offers Many Exciting Items for Shoppers

For local tourists visiting Paris this summer, the world's fashion capital has many exciting things to offer shoppers, particularly specialties which can be purchased on the spot at prices lower than in foreign export markets.

Two important factors should be emphasized to the tourist who is making his initial trip abroad.

First, the avid shophound must reorganize his thinking in general terms of hand-made articles which are made in small quantities. The North American visiting Paris has left the land of mass production behind, and sufficient time should be allowed, if necessary, for an article to be made to order.

FEW ASSEMBLY LINES

Paris is as personal as your own front door, and half the fun is finding exactly the individually "right" item, or having it made just for you.

A custom-made hat in the choice of the client's own color, trimming and media often costs no more than a ready-made bonnet at home. But stocks in hand are small and frequently depleted even in the largest department stores, and the tourist who leaves his shopping until the day before departure may be disappointed.

The second important thing to bear in mind is to shop judiciously. As in any other city with a dollar-minded economy catelg to tourists, there are booby traps add dishonest merchants. In 99 cases out of 100, the tourist receives a sincere welcome and finds quality merchandise at fair prices.

But there is always the occasional "double price-tag operator" who later refuses to honor claims by refunding money or exchanging the goods. Any reliable travel agency or shopping service can supply a list of reputable shops specializing in the items desired.

It is well to avoid taking a professional courier on these buying rounds, for the guides collect under-the-counter commissions of from 10 to 25 per cent which always somehow manage to come out of the tourist's pocket.

Along the better-known shopping streets, prices are fixed and it is not possible to bargain. Other tourist haunts, however, like the Flea Market, antique shops and cheap souvenir stores, expect the foreigner to haggle. Prices have been raised accordingly, permitting a lengthy discussion, before a mutually agreeable price is established for a specific article.

But tourists should beware of the so-called bargain offers, the majority of which are cheap imitations of best-selling brands.

Vintage Autos Stopped Traffic In Westmount

The hands of the clock moved back many years Saturday afternoon in Westmount Park, as twenty-five vintage automobiles circled the grounds.

Citizens of Westmount gathered and passed along the row of cars from the Vintage Automobile Club of Montreal. The autos met there to proceed to St. Lambert, to play a part in the Centennial celebrations.

The passers-by gazed in awe at beautifully restored autos, such as a 1911 Cadillac, a 1924 Flint and a 1926 Rolls Royce. One of the members arrived with a vintage auto towing a trailer, on which was mounted an electric car. The cars often looked strangely incongruous as some of their long, gleaming 1957 successors passed by them.

Two patrol cars of the Westmount police were at the park to give the procession an escort as far as Atwater street. This they did, stopping other traffic and giving the old 'uns right of way.

On arrival in St. Lambert, the cars toured the city, and then

The World Alliance of YMCA's has published a July-August number of World Communiqué. This is a Bulletin concerned mainly with the activities of the YMCA throughout the world, but this number has a wider range. It deals with the Refugee Problem in this Age of Crisis. It is a grim picture that is presented and yet it has its alleviations. The grimness lies in the fact that it shows man's inhumanity to man. That, of course, is no new thing but it seems to be intensified, exhibited on a wider scale than at any time since the Napoleonic War. This particular picture of man begins with the First World War and goes on to the Russian desolation of Hungary. If one were asked to give a reason for such actions in one word, I suppose the word would be nationalism.

Yet nationalism in itself is a good thing; as good as one's love and devotion to one's own home. It is the "ism" that makes men ready to sacrifice their own interests in time and money and life to the good of one's own community. But "one good custom may corrupt the world", and nationalism turned loose, and feeding on men's pride, has become a monster that will des-stroy humanity. It is the monster that led the Kaiser Wilhelm II to say in 1914, "For me humanity ends at the Vosges", i.e. the the boundary between Germany and France. The result of this inhumanity based on nationalism has been the uprooting or destruction of whole nations — 150 millions uprooted and the same number killed in this Age of Crisis.

On the other hand disaster has called for the help - not in sufficient degree to meet all the need, but at least to a degree to show that man does care for his neighbour. There have been billions of money spent in relief and there have been millions of refugees resettled in new lands. The U.S.A. have taken in nearly half a million. South America 100,000, Great Britain over 100,000, and the little Dominican Republic 1,000. In proportion to population, Australia has taken the greatest number of refugees, and Canada comes next. These refugees are being absorbed into the body politic, not without stresses and strains, for different cultures and languages and traditions do not blend easily. But taking it by and large there is an astonishing good will behind the whole refugee movement - a good will based on the very nature of man and the nature of God.

Christian Science

How the understanding of God's inexhaustible goodness enables man to meet everyday needs will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon on "Love".

Scriptural selections will include the following from Ezekiel (34:11,14): "For thus saith the Lord God; Behold, I, even I, will both search my sheep, and seek them out... I will feed them in a good pasture, and upon the high mountains of Israel shall their fold be: there shall they lie in a good fold, and in a fat pasture shall they feed upon the mountains of Israel."

Correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (484:19): "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need. It is not well to imagine that Jesus demonstrated the divine power to heal only for a select number or for a limited period of time, since to all mankind and in every hour, divine Love supplies all good."

Cameron Grout Breaks Record In Swim Events At Dominion Meet

The Quebec swim team members who competed in Vancouver last week for three days in the Dominion Swim championships did very well with seven members of the team standing out.

Cameron Grout, Lower Canada College student and a resident of Westmount along with Beth Whittall another Westmount resident and Barbara Lapin were among the Quebec leaders.

Grout, the 17-year-old sprint ace representing MAAA, won the featured 110-yards free style for senior men in the good time of 59.3 and then came back with a sensational record-breaking win in the 110-yards butterfly event. Grout clocked 1.08.3 in the butterfly.

These two gold medals along with a victory by young Jacques Corbeil of Palestre Nationale in the 220-yards free-style for junior men, pushed the Montrealers to the limelight as records fell in half the events on the program.

Grout's record-breaking effort in the butterfly was a dramatic event in that the original mark of 1:12.2 had been lowered to 1:09.3 by Jim Lewis, 16-year old junior star from Santa Monica, Calif. Grout was far behind these times as he qualified in the afternoon but he broke fast from the start in the final and edged young Lewis for the new record.

In his free style win Grout defeated Ken Williams of Toronto and Ted Simpson, Vancouver veteran.

Other Montreolers competing were Barbara Lapin who placed third behind Vancouver's Helen Stewart and Lue Lilly of Portland, Ore., in the final of the women's 110-yard free style; Beth Whittall, who qualified in the women's medley swim event but failed to place in the final, and Lorne Jacobs who won his heat in the junior men's butterfly event but failed to place in the final. Miss Lapin who was to have raced in other events flew home this morning to be with her ailing mother.

24 RECORDS

In the 35 swimming events, 24 records fell. Even Saturday six records were set despite weather so cold that the swimmers' bodies steamed as they climbed from outdoor Empire Pool at the University of British Columbia.

Some 200 competitors from 30 clubs took part and the individual standout was 17-year-old Bill Slater of Vancouver's Dolphin Club. Slater accounted for

Dow, Pepsi Playoff Position Battle Continues; Sunday's Game Set For TV

IT has been a good week in Snowdon Major Fastball League race as (1) Grocers won another pennant (2) Dow and Pepsi continue playoff drive (3) Sunday's game at Westbury will be seen on TV (4) Verdun Sportsmen have lost all chances of making the playoffs.

Grocers, with their 5-0 win over Verdun last Thursday, won another league pennant and are big favourites to take the league championship.

Dow are a percentage point ahead of Pepsi. They won a 10-inning battle over FBI 2-1 Tuesday night at Trenholme Park. They are tied with Pepsi in points, 21 each, but have a game in hand. Two runs in the tenth on Pepin's hit-by-pitcher and Tremblay's single scored their victory. The bases were loaded with two out.

But the Grocers had their tail twisted somewhat on Sunday when second place Snowdon Combines came up with a big 5-3 win to further their hold on their position. Booker Thomas was the losing pitcher.

FBI Golden Gifts seems to have third place in their possession. They beat Verdun 13-4 in another Sunday game.

Combines came through with their second big win putting Dow Brewery down 7-1, which was bad for Dow as they need points at this time of the schedule.

The big news for next week is that CBFT, Channel 2, will TV Sunday's game at Westbury Park starting at four o'clock. The game will be on the screen for one hour. Game time is set for 3.45.

Two teams have been picked, Red and Green, wearing Combines and Verdun uniforms. Eight games are scheduled for next week with seven more the following week which will close off the schedule.

The playoffs, which will start about August 12, will see the first and fourth, Grocers and either Pepsi or Dow in a semi-final series of three of five and Combines and FBI in the other series.

The finals will be a best-of-seven. The league has decided to play two semi-final games in Verdun, one from each series and one from the finals.

On Sunday, Dow plays Verdun at Trenholme starting at one o'clock. The two same teams will meet again at Verdun in the evening starting at 7.45.

Grocers and Pepsi play off an unfinished game in the evening at Trenholme Park which sees Grocers ahead 7-6 in the eighth

Reds and Greens Teams Line-ups

Here is how the Greens and Reds teams line up for the game at Westbury Park, Sunday which will be seen on TV, CBFT, channel 2, starting at four o'clock:

GREENS: Denoncourt, Sutherland, catchers; P. McCracken, Dupuis, Anderson, pitchers; G. Callaghan, Pepin, 1st base; Blackman, 2nd base; Tomlinson, short-stop; Hass, 3rd base; Diamond, Hynes, St. Pierre, outfielders; Broden, Thomas, Corriveau, subs.; Patterson, manager; Romney and Katinasukas, coaches.

REDS: De Grandpre, Labreche, catchers; Wesolowski, Hall, Ryan, pitchers; Constable, Passenti, 1st base; Walker, 2nd base; Rheaume, 3rd base; McKissock, short-stop; Houle, Barnard, Atchison, outfielders; O'Reilly, Botler, Pelquion, subs.; J. J. Killoran, manager; Les Hynes, coach.

inning. Then the teams will play a regular game.

Pepsi and Dow will meet on Monday at Trenholme which could settle the fourth playoff position or the teams may have to go to the end of the schedule. Combines and FBI will meet next Tuesday at Verdun.

COSTLY PASS BALLS

Pepsi's battle for the last playoff position was strengthened on Tuesday night when they edged out Verdun Sportsmen 2-0 on the one hit pitching of Gil Dupuis, who was traded from Verdun to Pepsi.

A fielder's choice by Rassenti and three pass balls saw Pepsi's first run cross the plate in the sixth inning.

In the eighth, Denoncourt scored on an error and a pass ball saw him gain third. It was a single by Rassenti who drove Denoncourt home.

Paul Saindon allowed two hits, but those pass balls were costly. This put Verdun out of the playoff hunt. It was their 21st loss against five wins.

In Grocer's 5-0 win over Verdun, Percy McCracken won his 14th game of the season. FBI beat Pepsi 2-1 in another game that night. Wesolowski tossed a one-hitter to beat the Pepsi crew.

Amie Pelland was the hero for Combines in their 5-3 win over Grocers. He smashed out a homer in the fourth inning and another in the eighth. Leon Blackman also came through with a homer in the sixth. Huey Hall was the winning pitcher.
