NAZIS GIVING GROUND UNDER ALLIED PRESSURE SOVIET TROOPS ARE PUSHING ON TOWARDS CRIMEA

Terrific Fighting Is Reported Raging Along Voltorno River Mouth

Colossal Artillery Barrage Laid Down to Cover Sledgehammer Blows Mechanized Forces and Infantry Are Dealing Enemy Positions—British 8th Army Continues to Slug Its Way Forward.

Allied Headquarters, Algiers, Oct. 16.—(P)—Outflanked, pounded by an overwhelming artillery barrage and facing a tough frontal assault, German forces along the North bank of the Voltorno were grudgingly giving ground today before the Allied 8th Army.

In a leap-frogging move, British forces landed on the Mediterranean coast behind the German lines along the Voltorno and now menace the West flank of the Nazi legions. At the same time a colossal artillery barrage was being laid down to cover the sledgehammer blows mechanized forces and infantry are dealing the enemy positions frontally.

However, the Germans were reported fighting doggedly and yielding ground only after prolonged resistance and numerous counter-attacks.

Terrific fighting was reported raging around the mouth of Voltorno, where British troops and tanks poured ashore to outflank the enemy, as well as around Carazzo, a mile North of the river where it makes a Northern bend nine miles East of Capua.

Meanwhile, the other side of the Peninsula, the British 8th Army, of which the Canadian 1st Division is a part, continued to slug its way forward. Latest reports had the British and Canadian troops approaching the communication centres of Campobasso and Vinchiaturo.

(Unconfirmed reports indicated that the Canadian forces might be forming the left flank of the 8th Army, as they did through the bigger part of the Sicily drive. William Stewart, Canadian Press war correspondent, told in a dispatch written three days ago of a 25-mile march by the Canadians through the mountains toward an important Southern Italian highway junction.

(While the Canadians are still definitely a part of the 8th Army it appeared possible that they might be linked up with elements of the 5th Army now pushing North and East through the Appennine Mountains.

Lending credence to this report were German news and propaganda agency that claimed Canadians were fighting with the Americans in the Campobasso area near the centre of the Allied line.)

Weakness of the enemy in the air appeared to be a deciding factor in

CANADIAN ARMY ENGINEERS IN HEROIC ACTION

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—(P)—Replacement of a German demolished bridge on the approach to Leonforte in Sicily stands out as one of the many heroic deeds of Canadian troops in the Sicilian campaign, as disclosed today in citations for the 52 field awards granted to Canadian officers and men.

It was previously noted that the engineers received a large number of the Sicilian decorations and the Leonforte bridging operation, carried out at night under heavy, short-range enemy fire, was one of the reasons.

While the job was done by part of the engineer company under command of Maj. Kenneth Southern of Fort Arthur, the divisional engineer commander—Lt.-Col. Geoffrey Walsh of Oakville, Ont.—was on the job lending his personal supervision. Both these officers received the Distinguished Service Order while

Department Of Justice To Remove Ban On Six Illegal Organizations

By C. R. BLACKBURN,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—(P)—Jehovah's Witnesses, Technocracy Inc., the Ukrainian Farmer Labor Temple Association and three Finnish Associations yesterday were removed from the list of organizations declared illegal in Canada since June, 1940, under section 39-C of the Defence of Canada Regulations.

This move by the Government was announced without comment in a tightly-worded release in the name of Prime Minister Mackenzie King. Property rights of the organizations were restored, the announcement said.

In all substantial respects except one it complies with the recommendation contained in the majority report of the 1942 House of Commons Committee on the Defence Regulations, that these and the Communist Party of Canada be restored to legal status.

The Communist Party remains among close to twenty other organizations which section 39-C still declares to be illegal.

Justice Minister St. Laurent who administers the Defence Regulations withstood attacks in the House of Commons last July by Opposition members who urged that the Committee's recommendations be carried out. He urged then that the Committee report had never been moved for adoption in the House and until that was done he had no responsibility to act.

Mr. St. Laurent was in Montreal yesterday and not available for comment on the latest development respecting illegal organizations.

With the Communist Party about 20 other organizations remain on the banned list, including the National Unity Party, the Canadian Union of Fascists, Canadian Labor League, Russian Workers and

Loss Of Sixty Planes Worth Its Cost, Says High Command

Washington, Oct. 16.—(P)—The High Command of the United States Army said today that the great American bombing raid on Germany's roller-bearing industry at Schweinfurt—a raid from which 60 Flying Fortresses and 593 men failed to return—was worth its high cost because the fountainhead of a critical enemy industry was shattered.

There was no disposition to minimize the loss, the highest so far for any American raid. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, Chief of Army Air Forces, said, however, that at least half of the men who failed to return are believed to be alive as prisoners of war. . . . President Roosevelt told a press conference that while the cost was heavy he saw little chance that losses over an extended period would exceed additions to the Air Force. He commented that the United States can't afford to lose 60 planes every day, and is not doing so.

Canadian Civilians Among Those Exchanged For Japs

By PRESTON GROVER,
Associated Press Staff Writer

Mormugao, Portuguese India, Oct. 16.—(P)—The Japanese exchange ship Teia Maru brought 1,500 American, Canadian and Latin American civilians into this jungle-clad port yesterday to be traded in barter for Japanese Nationals expected to arrive today on the Swedish ship Gripsholm.

With few exceptions the Teia Maru's passengers appeared to be in excellent physical condition and reasonably well-clothed considering their 21-months' internment in Japanese-controlled territory.

The gray steamship, marked with a half dozen white crosses on each side, steamed into the harbor exactly on schedule.

The repatriates will remain on board until the Japanese unload a 500-ton cargo and reload. Then, after the essential formalities are carried out by the captain of the port, the Swedish consul will take charge of them.

The Teia Maru carried 1,235 Americans, 221 Canadians and 40 Latin Americans. Included were scores of children, women and men who had spent a large part of their lives in the Orient.

The statement outlined the following evidence:

1.—Aluminum plant facilities at Arvida, Que., and elsewhere have "actually been financed entirely by money from other countries"—Britain and the United States.

2.—Under special depreciation for taxation purposes, the company had been allowed $79,831,000 up to June 30. This represented a substantial part of the total estimated depreciation to be allowed—$164,000,000.

3.—The total of the company is entitled to charge is represented by $117,000,000 for special depreciation in connection with aluminum pots, pot lines and all other aluminum facilities, plus five per cent of that figure. Sixty per cent of the $68,750,000 for the Shipshaw power plant development, on the Saguenay river near Arvida, also may be charged.

4.—Mr. Brown did not agree with "the contention that the special depreciation allowed the Aluminum Company was in the long run the same thing as a grant by the Canadian Government to the company." There could have been no aluminum production without facilities which were made possible by British and United States money. Canada had simply agreed not to "queue the deal by the application of our tax situation."

5.—The Aluminum Company, early in 1941, proceeded with a 500,000-horsepower development at its own expense and at an estimated cost of $30,000,000, with only an oral undertaking by Munitions Minister Howe that he would recommend a special depreciation written off against future earnings to cover the increased cost of construction at high speed, war wage rates, and the cost of carrying surplus power after the war.

The Sub-Committee's statement was prepared by J. H. Sizons, Liberal Member of Parliament for Peace River; M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. Leader, and Harry Jackson, Progressive Conservative member for Toronto Rosedale. Mr. Coldwell had criticized aluminum prices and taxation concessions during the 1943 House session.

The statement said Mr. Brown is continuing to give evidence and after he finishes other witnesses, including Aluminum Company officials, will be heard before the inquiry is completed.

The Committee, headed by R. T. Graham, Liberal Member for Swift Current, visited Aluminum Company plants and power developments at Arvida and Kingston, Ont., before beginning the hearing of witnesses some weeks ago.

MATAPEDIA HAS PERFECT RECORD IN CONVOY DUTY

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—(P)—Most of the news from the North Atlantic is bad news but there's the good side, too—and last night the navy announced that the Canadian corvette Matapedia has completed more than 100,000 miles of mid-ocean escort duty in 2 1/2 years without having a ship torpedoed or lost.

Twice the stocky little craft almost sunk herself in fierce winter storms that led ships until they were dangerously top-heavy.

Only once was the Matapedia's record seriously threatened. A freighter which had been in her convoy went down after an attack by a U-boat, but it was a straggler that had fallen 18 miles astern of the convoy at night and in dense fog. The loss was not recorded against the corvette.

The first time the Matapedia nearly sank she was in mid-ocean when a storm struck. During the

Audacious Attempt To Entrap 100,000 Nazis Garrisoning Peninsula

Other Red Army Forces Battling Their Way Down Railway that Leads Through Melitopol—Massing for Amphibious Attack Across Kerch Straits and Black Sea.

London, Oct. 16.—(P)—Russian troops are plunging steadily Westward across the low flat plains leading to the Crimea in an audacious attempt to entrap upwards of 100,000 Germans reported garrisoning the great peninsula, dispatches from Moscow said today.

Other Red Army forces, having successfully invested Zaporozhe, industrial city on the bend of the Dnieper river 65 miles to the North, were battling their way down the railway that leads through Melitopol to the Crimea.

Today's Russian communique said this column already had driven the hard-fighting Germans back through five railway towns, including Plavni, 17 miles Southeast of Zaporozhe.

Far to the North, the Russians were beating in through the outer defences of Kiev, repulsing repeated counter-attacks. Red Army troops also drove back attacking Germans South of Gobel, in White Russia.

Germans in the Crimea were faced with another threat from the Taman peninsula in the Western Caucasus, where strong Soviet forces were reported massing for an amphibious attack across the Kerch Straits and the Black Sea.

The communique reported bitter fighting in the Middle Dnieper, where massed Russian artillery mowed down fierce counter-attacks North and South of Kiev. Here the Germans were being methodically blasted from one line after another, the Tass News Agency reported.

The whole German position on the Eastern front was admittedly precarious. The BBC, in a broadcast recorded by CBS, reported a speech in Prague by Reichs Protector Karl Herman Frank, in which he declared: "If the German defences in the East should fail, we must transform the provinces of Bohemia and Moravia into a smoking heap of ruins. The Germans will fight furiously for these provinces to the bitter end."

CLIFF TO BE USED AS RAID SHELTER

Lisbon, Oct. 16.—(P)—Government authorities have ordered the closing of several stores situated in a cliff nearly 100 feet high in the centre of Lisbon. They will be used as shelters in the event of an air attack.

Federal Government Attempting To Lengthen Agreements With Farmers

London, Ont., Oct. 16.—(P)—The Federal Government is attempting to make two-year agreements for the sale of agricultural products like hogs and cheese, instead of one-year agreements, so farmers will be protected against a sudden slump of returns, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said last night.

In an address prepared for delivery to a London service club's annual agricultural meeting, the Minister reviewed the betterment in farm prices for various products, and said any changes to be made in the future will still further improve the price position.

The Government hoped and expected that farmers would "hold the line" they had established in production. They were not being asked to improve that production although it would be for the benefit of everyone, including the farmer, if that could be done.

The Government, paying limited subsidies now, was assuming responsibility for maintaining a floor on prices until the country was re-established after the war.

The Government owes this to the farmers who have maintained production under ceilings and also owes it to the men and women who will return from the services to the farms.

If the farm production line were held, the chances of victory would be improved, and at the same time the farm financial position would be bettered in anticipation of the return of those now on war service.

"We now are attempting to make as many as possible of our arrangements as to (financial) returns for a period of two years," the Minister said.

"Our arrangements with regard to wheat are on that basis. We are attempting to make agreement on hogs on that basis. I hope we can

Germans Pouring Reinforcements Into Belgrade To Meet Assault

London, Oct. 16.—(P)—Greek guerrillas were reported today to have repulsed a force of 4,000 Germans in Central Greece and advanced toward the railroad town of Karditsa, 160 miles North of Athens, in a new offensive adding to the Germans' already grave Balkan problem.

The Germans were said to be pouring reinforcements into Belgrade in Yugoslavia to meet the menace of an attack from irregulars. One Cairo dispatch said the Quisling police chief of Belgrade had been assassinated by patriots under the very noses of the Germans.

German press and radio reports claimed Allied forces were poised for thrusts into Yugoslavia and Greece. They said the Allies had established a number of jumping off points on Aegean islands after the Italian capitulation and Greece was a favorable target for Anglo-American amphibious warfare.

Greeks in London said German troops were moving back from the Southern provinces in the Pelopon-nesus, the largest Greek island South of the mainland, taking hostages with them. The German commander in Thebes, North of Athens, was reported killed.

In Yugoslavia, where Marshal Erwin Rommel was reported taking over the German command, street fighting was said to be developing. Zenica, 140 miles West of Belgrade on the Bosnia river. Power stations and blast furnaces of the Krupp factories were reported destroyed when guerrillas smashed into the town four days ago.

The situation in the Dodecanese was still unclear since no official reports have been issued by the Allies but unconfirmed accounts from Turkey said the Germans had reoccupied the islands of Kos and Castellorosso after British forces had seized them from the Italians. Leros and the Greek island, Samos, to the North, were also reported held by British forces but imperiled by the loss of the airfields on Kos and Castellorosso. British forces have also been reported in the Cyclades islands in the Greek Archipelago.

1. Elimination of "every wasteful, socially unnecessary expenditure of the people's money," and post-war modification of taxes on income.

2. Enforcement of present laws and passage of new ones, if necessary, "to make our system completely competitive."

3. Adoption of a "wise labor policy," recognizing that "men who work and do not own have no adequate economic and social protection except in their collective strength."

4. Adoption of a "far-seeing policy" on agriculture, "recognizing the necessity for soil conservation and the fact that the real hope of the farmer lies not in an economy of scarcity but in expanding markets."

5. Development of a "method of co-operative effort between industry and government" for the "more orderly, long-term adjustment" of fluctuation in durable goods expenditures.

WAR BULLETINS

Allied Headquarters, the Southwest Pacific.—New Britain, key Japanese position now exposed to possible invasion from the West by recent Allied successes on nearby New Guinea, is undergoing an aerial pounding the length of its 370-mile-long crescent.

Rabaul, the mighty air fortress and big sea base on the Eastern tip, has been ripped and torn by 350 tons of bombs in a single day.

Washington.—Secretary of Navy Frank Knox expressed yesterday the United States Navy's hopes for a showdown scrap with the Japanese fleet. Asked at a press conference about Tokyo Radio assertions that the Japanese would welcome such a battle he replied: "What I wish they were ready. We've been hoping for it for a long time."

Walkout Of 25,000 Coal Miners May Presage General Strike In U.S.A.

Washington, Oct. 15.—(P)—Walkouts by nearly 25,000 coal miners aroused fear in Government quarters tonight of another general coal strike in the United States.

Reminiscent of scenes before the Government stepped in and took over the mines earlier this year, thousands of men left their jobs in Alabama, saying that they had no contract to work now that the mines have been returned to the owners. Others followed in Indiana. In neither instance were the walkouts authorized by the Union, the United Mine Workers.

The War Labor Board tonight called upon John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers, and district and local representatives of the U. M. W. to urge the striking miners to return to their jobs immediately.

Even before the work stoppages, Interior Secretary Harold Ickes, wartime solid fuels administrator, and navy and war department officials had been uneasy over the situation.

After the general coal strike of last spring which was followed by Government seizure and operation of the mines, the workers went back to work under instructions from Lewis to remain on the job until October 31 while efforts were continued to arrive at a contract.

Ickes this week completed return of the mines to their owners.

Now pending before the War Labor Board is the latest of a series of proposals to pay the miners for time they spend in underground travel. Worked out by Lewis and the Illinois coal operators' association, it may form the basis for a general contract for the industry if the War Labor Board approves.

33 DONATIONS AT SHERBROOKE BLOOD CLINIC

Thirty-three persons were present at the only day clinic for blood donors this week, which was held on Thursday, officials announced today. The majority were out-of-town residents.

ENEMY AGENTS LAND IN INDIA BY SUBMARINE

Marquess of Linlithgow in Farewell Address Tells Princes of Allies' Magnificent Progress in War.

New Delhi, Oct. 16.—(P)—(Reuters)—The Marquess of Linlithgow told the assembly of the Chamber of Princes that a group of enemy agents had landed in India by submarine but had been rounded up.

Lord Linlithgow was speaking for the last time in public as Viceroy of India, a post in which he will be succeeded shortly by Field Marshal Viscount Wavell. He told the princes that the Allies had made magnificent progress in every theatre of war but "much still lies before us."

His reference to the enemy agents came in a passage of his address in which he referred to co-operation of the Indian States and British India.

He said: "There was one notable incident in which a group of hostile agents was arrested with commendable promptness almost immediately after they had landed from an enemy submarine on the shores of an Indian State."

CONVENT HOLDS SILVER JUBILEE AT MARTINVILLE

Arrival of Nuns of the Daughters of Charity of the Sacred Heart Fittingly Celebrated.

Martinville, Oct. 16.—The Convent in Martinville fittingly celebrated the 25th anniversary of the arrival of the nuns of the "Daughters of Charity of the Sacred Heart" who for twenty-five years have devotedly and generously dispensed education and learning to the children of this place, on September 23.

Aided by numerous former students who formed a committee under the presidency of Mrs. Z. Marquis, one of the oldest scholars, celebrations worthy of this occasion were organized.

Due to severe illness the Pastor, Rev. J. A. Turcotte, who was the promoter of this silver jubilee, was unable to attend. The opening of this memorable day started with a solemn high mass celebrated by Rev. Canon Macrote, assisted by Rev. R. Bruneau as deacon and Rev. L. Bouffard as sub-deacon. Rev. R. Bruneau, Pastor of Johnville, delivered the sermon. The choir, composed of former students, formed the choir.

A delicious banquet was held in Lessard's Hall, which had been appropriately decorated in silver and light blue. 200 guests and former students partook of the delectable food prepared and served by the ladies of the Women's Institute and former scholars. At the close of the banquet speeches were made by members of the clergy and the school inspector, Mr. Boyer.

In the afternoon the former students returned to the Convent, where they had the pleasure of meeting their former teachers and renewed acquaintances with old schoolmates.

Special music and addresses by the present scholars greeted the former students. A programme of games was given on the grounds in which several of the former scholars, took part and brought thus to mind the pleasant hours of their school days.

To fittingly end this memorable day all returned to church to celebrate the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, after which all said farewell to their devoted teachers with the promise of a "Rendez-vous" at their Alma Mater at its golden jubilee.

Several nuns, former teachers of the Convent graced the festival by their presence. Rev. Mother Provincial, Superior, three foundresses, Rev. Sister Mechilda, Rev. Sister Lucie du C. and Rev. Sister Beatrice. Also present were Rev. Sister Louis Marie, Rev. Sister Thomas d'Aquin, Rev. Sister Marie de la Paix, Rev. Sister Rita du S. C., Rev. Sister Ste. Monique, Rev. Sister Noella, Rev. Sister Olive du S. C. and Rev. Sister Louis St. Denis.

Mr. Albert Carroll, of Bulwer, and Mr. O. John Carroll were calling on friends in Martinville.

Matthews then told a story to the children about a teeny tiny woman and her twenty children.

Master Graydon Goulding, son of Pte. Clifford Goulding, and Mrs. Goulding, was knocked down by a taxi while crossing the street in front of the Magog High School. X-rays disclosed that there were no fractures but he was cut, bruised and badly shaken up.

BLOC OPPOSES U.S. FOREIGN AFFAIRS GROUP

Demand Strengthening of Proposed Post-War Policy or Face Battle on Senate Floor.

Washington, Oct. 16.—(P)—An eleven-member internationalist bloc challenged the United States Senate Foreign Relations Committee today to strengthen a proposed declaration on post-war foreign policy or face a fight on the floor of the Senate.

Publicly spurring the plea of Chairman Tom Connally that they accept a foreign relations subcommittee draft "as the best thing they can possibly get," the eleven decided to file specific amendments before the full committee next Tuesday.

Three of the group, Senators Joseph Ball (Rep.-Conn.), Carl Hatch (Dem.-N.M.) and Claude Pepper (Dem.-Fla.) then joined in a public statement in which they said that if efforts to "strengthen and clarify the resolution in the full committee are successful, the group and other Senators who have similar views will seek to strengthen the resolution on the Senate floor."

As it now stands, the resolution would pledge the United States, acting through its constitutional processes, to "join with free and sovereign nations in the establishment and maintenance of international authority with power to prevent aggression and to preserve the peace of the world."

days that followed the Matapedia had her bridge smashed in the windows of her wheelchair broken and the mess decks covered with a foot of water. The convoy was scattered in the gale but was herded together afterward by the Matapedia and other escort vessels.

Shortly afterward she hit another bad gale off Newfoundland and rode it for ten days without rest. The Matapedia was the only ship in the escort to come through with part of the convoy. The rest of the merchant and all the escort vessels were blown back for shelter until the gale blew off. Once again the Matapedia's bridge was broken by the force of the waves, and one man was slightly hurt.

GLENBURN

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blodgett, of this place, were pleasantly surprised when they arrived at the Labree Hall, Sand Hill, to which they had been escorted under the pretense that a social function of a different nature was being held. The next intimations they had of the party being in their honor was when the orchestra began playing "Here Comes The Bride," as they entered the door and Miss Alice Clement stepped forward and presented Mr. and Mrs. Blodgett with a boutonniere and bouquet of flowers. More than one hundred and fifty of their relatives and friends came forward and offered congratulations on this their twentieth anniversary of their marriage. At midnight refreshments were served in the Guild Hall. The centre of attraction was a lovely three-tiered wedding cake, made and decorated by Mrs. A. Blodgett and Mrs. M. Clement. The highlight of the evening was when the Rev. J. Ford presented the bride and groom of twenty years with a card and ribbon-decorated box containing a generous purse of money. Mr. Blodgett thanked his friends for their kind wishes and the gift. The assembly then sang "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows." Friends were present from Orford, Sherbrooke, Bromptonville, Bulwer, Milby, Cookshire, Sand Hill, Glenburn and Spring Rive.

Mr. H. S. Billings, of Quebec, spent a week with his parents here and attended the party at Sand Hill given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. W. Blodgett.

PRISONERS IN DARING ESCAPE FROM GERMANS

French Air Force Officers Save Oil for Two Months and Reach Freedom in Stolen Nazi Plane.

By JOSEPH E. DYMAN, Associated Press Writer.

Algiers, Oct. 16.—(P)—Six French officers, flying a "stolen" Messerschmitt, landed near Algiers and related today how they had fished hidden fuel "litres by litre" to make an escape flight from a German field to Britain.

The group arrived from Crocydon field, London, by way of Morocco, escorted by British planes, after their story was verified by a French colonel in England.

A lieutenant piloted the plane, which they spent several weeks repairing ostensibly for the Nazis to use. He was accompanied by a captain and other lieutenants.

The pilot said he was shot down in June, 1940, north of Duesseldorf and was taken prisoner after parachuting to earth. Afterward he was placed with other officers in a plane repair shop where the Germans forced them to work on military craft.

Last July 5 the Germans gave them a Messerschmitt to repair. They worked the plane and reworked it while they were stalling for time they pilfered as much gasoline as possible.

"We saved it litre by litre," he said. "In two months we had enough gasoline and oil."

At 8 p.m. Sept. 29 they took off. Two hours and 15 minutes later they were welcomed by a "terrible" flak barrage near Crocydon.

GLENBURN

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blodgett, of this place, were pleasantly surprised when they arrived at the Labree Hall, Sand Hill, to which they had been escorted under the pretense that a social function of a different nature was being held. The next intimations they had of the party being in their honor was when the orchestra began playing "Here Comes The Bride," as they entered the door and Miss Alice Clement stepped forward and presented Mr. and Mrs. Blodgett with a boutonniere and bouquet of flowers. More than one hundred and fifty of their relatives and friends came forward and offered congratulations on this their twentieth anniversary of their marriage. At midnight refreshments were served in the Guild Hall. The centre of attraction was a lovely three-tiered wedding cake, made and decorated by Mrs. A. Blodgett and Mrs. M. Clement. "Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, October 17th.

The Golden Text is from John 14: 5, 6. "Thomas saith unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way? Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life; no man cometh unto the Father, but by me."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier." (II Timothy 2: 3, 4).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Meekly our Master met the mockery of his unrecognized grandeur. Such indignities we must have trials and tribulations, until all error is destroyed." (Page 39).

SCARCITY OF SECOND-HAND CARS REPORTED

Demand for used cars is far greater than the supply and second hand machines are rather difficult to obtain at the present time, dealers reported today.

The majority of people who own their auto are trying to make it last for the duration and there is only a limited supply to meet the orders of many non-drivers who are seeking cars, it was learned. The chief source of supply now is from young men who are enlisting, or who are receiving their military call. Many of them are car owners and when they join the services they dispose of their machines. They are finding no difficulty in getting buyers at cash prices. Rates cannot soar unchecked as the old law of demand and supply is not being allowed to send prices rocketing, for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has its ceiling.

Recent action of the authorities in permitting rereading of tires had a stimulating effect on the auto business, it was reported. Owners are now able to have their tires capped and the increased mileage made possible is influencing many to become motorists, it was learned.

Actually there is no increase in sales of used cars for their are not sufficient cars to meet the demand. Volume of business has been termed by many dealers as about the same as last year.

The older models are not as popular because their mechanical condition is not always satisfactory and prospective buyers do not want to run the risk of repairs when parts are not easy to obtain.

Fire Of Undetermined Origin Completely Destroys Workshop Of Newington Internment Camp

The main workshop of the internment camp situated on the outskirts of Sherbrooke is a mass of ruins today as the result of one of the most spectacular fires seen in this district for many years which broke out shortly after noon yesterday. The shop, originally housing the freight car repair shop and the paint shop of the Quebec Central Railway, has been used for the manufacture of boxes and other wood products, several hundred prisoners of war, chiefly German merchant sailors, being engaged on this task.

Although the military authorities in charge of the camp decline to make any statement pending an official investigation by Defence Headquarters officials, it is understood that the flames were first noticed in a pile of shavings at the Northern end of the building, a 150-foot long steel and brick structure, shortly before two o'clock. The camp fire department and the Sherbrooke fire departments were immediately summoned, but before any effective aid could be rendered, the entire building, which, in addition to the machinery, held a large amount of dry lumber was a mass of flames and within ten minutes it was apparent that there was no chance of saving the structure itself. The fire-fighters then devoted their attention to saving the adjoining building, formerly the passenger car shop, which housed part of the wood-working plant.

Members of the Veterans' Guard of Canada, who are in charge of the camp, removed all the internees from the plant to the barracks, situated several hundred feet from the shops, although a number of the more trusted were later released to aid in battling the flames.

The high flames and billowing smoke, which could be sighted from all parts of the city attracted hundreds of local residents to the scene, many of whom shared the delusion that the camp barracks themselves had fallen victim of the fire. Any effort to approach the site was effectively blocked however by armed guards, who kept all outsiders beyond the Quebec Central tracks which pass by the camp.

Grocers Need Lawyer's Training To Carry On Under Many Regulations

Sherbrooke housewives who are freely predicting that the day will soon be here when brief cases will be necessary to carry ration books on shopping trips should give a little thought to the plight of their grocers and butchers. As one retailer put it today: "To be in the grocery business at this time you have to be a lawyer—and you don't get a lawyer's pay." He succinctly summed up the whole situation with, "It's a headache."

It was explained to a Record reporter on a survey that food shortages, meat shortages and not a lack of bulletins and instructions from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board apparently are making grocers long for the pre-rationing days when selling a pound of meat or a can of fruit meant just that. "There is so much studying to do and so little time to do it in," one grocer said. "You don't get paid to do this because profits are now lower than they were before the restrictions and rationing."

LITTLE METAL IN PLAY TOYS FOR CHRISTMAS

Because toys are at the bottom of the manufacturers' non-essential list, Santa Claus will stick to wood, cardboard and plastic this Christmas, it was learned today.

Metal toys, such as tricycles, electric trains, mechanical gadgets and tin soldiers, are off the work shop lists on which the Wartime Prices and Trade Board keeps a watchful eye. Not only does it regulate the type of toys Mr. Claus will make, but the number to be sold and the ceiling price.

Sports equipment such as football, hockey and baseball bats, trick or basketball shoes, baseball and ski poles and harness are things of the past. One exception, however, is the toboggan, which this year is on the market in greater number than never before.

War toys have a whole department of their own. Gas masks, guns, Tommy guns, soldiers, search lights, anti-aircraft batteries and field guns are in wood, cardboard and plastics. The only toy unchanged is the doll. This year there will be fewer dolls on the market, not because they are rationed, but because of the labor shortage. Variety, too, will be just as beautiful with long curls, real eyelashes and pearly teeth, as they have been since dolls were first made.

SHAWINIGAN CO. TO BACK FIFTH VICTORY LOAN

Organization for the Fifth Victory Loan Campaign in the Shawinigan Water & Power Company's wide-spread organization is already proceeding rapidly, and a vigorous effort by a strong campaign committee is well under way, under the chairmanship of N. LENNOXVILLE C.W.L. BRANCH ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Frank Walters entertained the members of the Catholic Women's League at her home on Conley Street, where they met with a large attendance for their regular monthly meeting.

The President, Mrs. J. E. Jamieson, presided and opened the meeting with the League prayer. Mrs. C. A. Prince read the minutes of the previous meeting in the absence of the Secretary, Mrs. F. Dundin.

The Treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Ste-Marie, gave her report, also a report of the recently held rummage sale which proved a success. A letter of thanks from Father Hildebrand, of St. Ann's Indian Mission, for gifts received was read.

A vote of thanks was extended a member for a generous donation of toilet soap for ditty bags to be filled at the next meeting for men of the Merchant Marine, also to an inmate of the Hospice for collecting used stamps for the Sisters of Service to be forwarded to them through the League. A donation was made to the Victorian Order of Nurses, Sherbrooke branch.

A report of the Diocesan convention held recently in Richmond was given by Mrs. Jamieson and Mrs. Ste-Marie, who told of the splendid work of the C.W.L. in Sherbrooke Diocese.

Refreshments were then served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Peter Walters and Mrs. E. Hall. Miss E. Quinn invited members to meet at her home on Main Street for the November meeting.

ST. GEORGE'S GUILD

The members of St. George's Guild served luncheon to thirty clergymen in St. George's Hall who were here to attend a joint meeting of the St. George's district and Diocesan Board of Religious Education.

At this their regular monthly meeting was held with Mrs. Fisher presiding. The late was set for the annual Christmas tea and sale and arrangements were made to send parcels to the servicemen overseas. Mrs. A. Jones and Mrs. E. L. Atto to be in charge and final plans for a rummage sale were also made. The members regretted to hear that a former member, Mrs. Mary Worcester, was in the Sherbrooke Hospital. At the close a light lunch was served by the members.

PUBLIC ASKED TO MAIL YULE PARCELS EARLY

Christmas boxes will have a much longer distance to travel, entailing more handling and shipment to reach many members of Canada's fighting services this year. To enable all the Dominion's men and women overseas to receive their gifts from home in time, local postal officials today called on the public to mail early for Christmas Overseas, not later than November 1.

The date is ten days earlier than last year's closing time, but with many of our men serving in the Mediterranean areas, the "deadline" has been advanced to meet the rapidly changing conditions.

The public is cautioned to lose no time but to mail early for Christmas Overseas—during October—the earlier the better to ensure the timely arrival of the anxiously awaited gift. The more distant the forces from Canada, the earlier their Christmas mail should be sent. Citizens are requested not to delay until the last minute to post their gift parcels, but to mail early and so prevent congestion by giving the post office sufficient opportunity to give their gifts prompt handling and to arrange for adequate cargo space, which, because of the shipment of war supplies, is necessarily limited.

Citizens, by refraining from writing to the forces Overseas that gifts are being sent, until actually mailed, can save much disappointment.

Victory Loan Sunday To Be Observed In Local Churches

Tomorrow will be observed as Victory Loan Sunday in churches throughout Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships when special messages will be given in connection with the Fifth Victory Loan Campaign which opens on Monday. All denominations have given assurance of co-operation in these special services and an appeal has been made to the public to show its approval and support of the forthcoming loan by their attendance. The Fifth Victory Loan is in aid of the struggle for freedom, a conflict in which the finest of Canada's fighting sons are giving their lives.

The response of the people will indicate the measure of financial support which the residents of Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships communities are prepared to give not only to stand loyally behind the men who are bearing the brunt of battle, but to protect their freedom and right to worship.

Officials of the drive commented that it was most appropriate that Victory Loan Sunday be observed in the churches, for the grim battle for survival is against anti-Christian forces of the privilege of gathering for the worship of God, in conquering the world. This has been the experience in other lands overrun by enemy hordes and there is no reason to believe that Canada would be the exception.

A statement issued by the Executive of the Victory Loan Committee this morning pointed out that buyers of $100 bonds will have to try to invest $150 this time and the $200 buyers raise their quota to $250, and so on down the line into the high-

TOP OBJECTIVE BY FULL TON IN MAGAZINE DRIVE

Rotarian Forest Keene, in charge of the current "Books for the Services" campaign, to secure more reading material for the armed forces, wishes to express the deep appreciation of his fellow-members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club, to the general public who have responded in such grand manner to the plea from Overseas to supply an increased amount of reading matter.

At the time of going to press this morning, Keene's Garage, located headquarters for the receipt and despatch of Eastern Townships contributions to the Rotary Club's campaign, had gathered up almost two and a half tons of books and magazines, going over the top of the set objective of a ton and a half by a full ton, with hundreds of pounds still pouring in.

Forest Keene stated that he had shipped a full ton of reading matter yesterday, and that he was confident that the weekly quota would keep up so that at least five tons per month would be shipped from this district in the future.

Wonder Bakers driver-salesmen, covering a network of some sixty towns and villages in the Sherbrooke district, will keep up their collection of all books and magazines given to them in their daily rounds to the various homes. This organization, through their resident manager, O. Mercier, did a most remarkable job this week in securing the co-operation of every home on their various routes. Those who wish to make future donations to the supply of reading material are urged to remember that they only have to make up their package and hand it to their Wonder Baker delivery man when he calls, and the parcels will be forwarded by the Rotary Club to the Central Book and Magazine in Montreal.

er brackets, if the drive is to be successful.

The officials expressed the opinion that the widening theater of war, the increasing activities of Canada's sons in Italy, the likelihood of further offensive action at any time, would result in even more loyal response, for as the critical days approach, the necessity of providing for the brave men who are willing to sacrifice everything for their home and country, is more generally realized.

"Severe tests have already been experienced but more trying times are ahead," predicted the officials in their statement. "Those on the home front will want to match their efforts with those of the men in uniform and with the aid of every citizen we will be able to again send the welcome news that Sherbrooke and the eleven other counties in the Eastern Townships have oversubscribed their objectives."

THE AXIS TUNE CHANGES

Suddenly the Axis nations, Germany and Japan, has taken unto themselves the task of protecting, or at least seeking to guide, the neutrality of certain smaller nations and are very critical of the manner in which some of these powers are showing deep unconcern of the exact limits of neutrality, especially in view of the increasingly favorable position of the United Nations.

The latest power to be rebuffed by the Axis bullies is Portugal, bringing stern warnings upon itself for granting the use to Great Britain of naval bases in the Azores Islands, bases which might prove highly valuable in the battle against the submarines in event of the renewal of the U-boat campaign. Both Germany and Japan have formally protested to Portugal against such a move, declaring that the little country had violated its neutral status.

Ever since the announcement of the agreement, made under a treaty of 1373, the Berlin and Tokyo broadcasts have indicated that the Axis Governments are greatly perturbed over the deal. Their first tack was that it was of no account anyway, that it had been discounted. But gradually their tone changed to one of concern, resulting in the latest protest.

Just what would happen in the event of the Axis regarding the move as an act of war is uncertain. Germany has no land contact with Portugal and it is doubtful if Spain could be induced to enter the fight at the present stage in view of the unfavorable turn in Hitler's fortunes. However, the Portuguese coasts and harbors are vulnerable to attack by long-range bombers based in France. The position in regard to Japan is somewhat different, for Portugal has several colonial possessions in the South Pacific, including Portuguese Timor, whose occupation several months ago by Japanese forces has several times threatened to cause an open break between the two countries. In fact, there is a strong belief in many quarters at the present time that the Portuguese are seriously considering a declaration of war against Japan.

Of course, there is one factor that must be considered from the German point of view. Portugal has formed a valuable contact with the outside world for Germany. It is through Lisbon that most of the traffic between the New World and the European continent flows and the Reich would lose an important source of information should Portugal enter the conflict. Thus the fear of reduced efficiency for its espionage service might deter Germany from taking any real effective action against one of the few remaining neutrals in Europe.

THE CONFERENCE A MILITARY AFFAIR

The Russian army's continued damaging drives into the very framework of the German front, the cumulative effects of which threaten to tear the Hitlerite line loose from its anchors and force it into dangerous retreat once more, provide an important and significant setting for the Moscow conference of the Foreign Minister of Russia, Great Britain and the United States which is prepared to open at almost any moment. The Soviets have declared in not-too-gentle terms that the chief item on the agenda is not political but military, that the first agreement must be on the question of winning the war, including the long-discussed "Second Front" on which Moscow has been so insistent.

This has the formidable backing of the situation which the Russian offensive is creating and enables Stalin and his partners to insist that the time for the Western democracies to hit the Nazi Fuehrer is when he is rocking on his heels. In pressing this demand, the Russians can call upon the authoritative German periodical, Das Schwarze Korps, which is published by Heinrich Himmler, the Gestapo Chief, which tells the people of Germany that the Nazi retreat in Russia has resulted in "a tremendous loss of political prestige for Germany... a loss which troubles many of us."

Some would say that pure coincidence accounts for the unprecedented Russian drive through the autumn deluge and deep mud, theoretically an almost impossible feat, just as the representatives of the Big Three are due to begin their delicate task. Be that as it may, everybody can at least agree that the Russians may well consider that they have dealt themselves a most useful hand.

However, the Western Allies also have new and striking successes, which are huge contributions to the united war effort, to lay on the table. These include Italy's declaration of war against her former ally, Germany, Portugal's grant of invaluable bases in the Azores, the steady Northward grind of British and American armies on the Italian peninsula, and the crippling of Hitler's industrial war effort by the fiercest aerial bombardment the war has produced.

Since all these things seem bound to enter the debate at an early stage, it is good to know that the conference is in the hands of three such experienced diplomats as Anthony Eden, Cordell Hull and Vyacheslav Molotov, while at the same time the people of the three countries are encouraged to believe that there is a real desire on the part of all the Big Three to reach an understanding. Fresh indication of this is seen in the agreement to accept Marshal Badoglio's Government, on the basis that after the war the Italian people shall be free to choose whatever form of democratic government they want.

If the military situation does come up for first consideration it will put a somewhat peculiar complexion on the conference, since the business of foreign ministers obviously is not military affairs. Still they have had to consider the broad issues of war many times with their own cabinets, and with the advice from their respective capitals could deal with the broad principles of the war effort.

Perhaps it would be best if the issue of the second front and the military effort should come up at once, as the Soviet desires, as this is probably the most important problem of the moment, and once this is solved it will be possible to iron out other differences. In short, post-war relations among the Big Three are likely to hang on the present decision about military co-operation.

THE MINERS QUIBBLING AGAIN

It is doubtful if any trade union has done more to alienate public opinion through petty bickering and quibbling than the United Mine Workers of America, who at the present time are giving the North American continent a splendid example of how not to co-operate in carrying the war to a successful conclusion. With coal one of the major needs of the munitions industry of the continent, twelve thousand Alabama miners have laid down their tools because they claim they have no contract with the owners of the mines, who have been charged by the Government with the task of operating their own mines again after a period of Government operation.

As a basis for their strike, they claim the contract they have been operating under was signed with the Government, as manager of the mines, and not with the owners. To work at present they say would be to subject themselves to trespassing proceedings, this despite the fact that the owners have declared that they regard the contracts entered into with the Government as binding upon the managers. The miners claim they have no objection to the mines being returned to their owners, so apparently the matter of wages and working conditions is not the issue. To the general public, which will have to suffer the cost and discomfort of any long tie-up, the whole problem appears to be that one or two union leaders wish to exercise their authority, without any regard to public interest or national necessity.

The time has come when the miners, for their own good, has better impose a check upon their hot-headed advisers and apply a bit of common sense to their whole union set-up.

CARE IN THE FORESTS

The need of hunters and campers taking special precautions to prevent the outbreak of fires in the forests of this Province is emphasized by the announcement of Quebec forestry officials that fifty fires broke out in various parts of Quebec over the past week-end. While the great majority of the blazes were in the Northern and Western Quebec Counties, the danger in this district is still acute, the customary dangers being accentuated through a dry fall which has to a great extent counteracted the unusual moisture of the summer months.

At any time, a forest fire is serious business, but with the present strain on the manpower situation in Canada, the task of battling any outbreak is increased greatly and it is the duty of every resident of the Province who enters the forests for either business or pleasure to see that every precaution is taken to avert the start of forest fires.

The forest industry is important to the economy of Quebec and to the Dominion as a whole. At the present time it is passing through a severe crisis owing to the acute shortage of manpower and any serious fires would probably give it a setback from which it would be a long time recovering.

The Pleasures And Pains Of Recollection

Prof. the Rev. H. C. Burt, M.A., D.C.L., Lennoxville.

Luke XVI, 25: "Remember."

Remember how the Psalmist, marveling at the wonders of the night-sky, of "Bethlehem, the moon and the stars that God had ordained," cried: "Lord, what is Man, that Thou so regardest him, and the son of man that Thou visitest him? Man is like a thing of naught; his time passeth away like a shadow." Doubtless the modern philosopher, Immanuel Kant, had these words in mind when he said: "Two things there are that fill the soul with awe: the starry heavens above—and the Moral Law within." He realized that the world of "Mind" had mysteries no less profound than the world of "Matter."

Consider the "glaxy" of the Human Spirit; Reason, that searches into Truth, and whose domain extends to the farthest visible stars; Imagination, which creates Ideals of beauty and utility; Conscience, which presides as Judge of right and wrong; Memory, which preserves as in a storehouse the treasures of the past.

From the context of that word "Remember," we learn that Memory's range extends not merely throughout the course of this present life, but into the life beyond the grave and gate of death. For, Abraham in "Hades," the region of the Hereafter, bids Dives "remember" the life of self-seeking and self-pleasing to which Death had made an end. And Dives "remembers" his five brothers, living as he had lived, and destined to suffer as he was suffering.

Psychologists, for the most part, assign no limits to the retention of conscious and subconscious memory. When poets sing of the pleasures of memory—or sometimes, as in Dives' case, the terrors of memory—they speak of a human faculty of a truly wonderful character.

Through Memory we can live over again pleasurable experiences of the past. The friends of our earlier years are not really lost, for they come back when we see fit to recall them; and when old friends actually meet, the conversation will inevitably go back to "the good old days."

Chris assures us that death does not mean annihilation or extinction, so our departed friends have merely gone on a journey to an unknown country—a journey we ourselves must take. So we naturally preserve memorials of the departed, perhaps some tokens of their affection, letters, gifts, favorite books, recollections of conversations with them, or of journeys taken by their sides.

When the Psalmist said: "Verily, goodness and mercy have followed me all the days of my life," he was thinking of past mercies and deliverances. Some of us can recall occasions of very special thankfulness to the Lord for His goodness. Even our disappointments have at times been converted into blessings. We may have set our heart on some objective, but in spite of all our efforts we came short of its attainment. At the time we felt vexed and disappointed, but in after years we saw that what we had reason to thank God that what we had so greatly desired had been withheld from us. But there are not only pleasant, but very unpleasant memories—memories of things that we would gladly forget. How wonderfully has the Psalmist portrayed his own state of mind: "When I kept silence," he says, "my bones waxed old through my daily complaining. Day and night Thy head was heavy upon me; my moisture was like a drought in summer." He is here describing the mental conflict due to a sin unacknowledged and unconfessed. Then he goes on: "I have acknowledged my sin unto Thee, and mine unrighteousness have I not hid. I said, I will confess my transgressions unto the Lord; and Thou forgavest the iniquity of my sin."

How unpleasant must have been the thoughts of Joseph's brothers, as they said one to another: "We are verily guilty concerning our brother, in that we saw the anguish of his soul when he besought us and we would not hear; therefore is this distress come upon us." Thus it is that our sins often find us out!

Among our unpleasant memories is the recollection of opportunities neglected, chances unimproved, as Shakespeare has it: "There are tides in the affairs of men, which, taken at the flood, lead on to fortune"—but instead of "taking them at the flood" we have ignored them, and they left no lasting improvement upon the soul. There are memories of broken resolutions. We have often, especially at the New Year, formed good resolutions to do this, or avoid that. We have longed to be better and nobler men, to aim at a truer Christianity, and with the Psalmist we have said: "I will keep Thy righteous judgments." But we find from painful experience, as St. Paul did, that when "we would do good, evil is present with us." Thus it is that Memories, both pleasant and unpleasant, crowd upon us; and in this not to be forgotten world we must take the bitter with the sweet. There are no waters of Lethe of which we may drink and obliterate all recollections of the past. In this world a partial forgetfulness mercifully shades and veils our actions; but in the world beyond the shadows fade, the veils are rent, and memory reasserts its powers, and our actions good and bad alike are seen in the light of day.

RECOVERING LOOTED ART

St. Thomas Times-Journal
One of the sins for which Germany is accountable is the removal of art treasures from public and private collections in the countries the yhave occupied. Galleries and homes in France, Holland, Poland and Russia have particularly been looted, and now in Italy and the Balkans taken to Germany, where some of them have been put in public institutions "for safe keeping." The Germans say, but most of them have been appropriated to adorn the palatial homes of Hitler, Goering, von Ribbentrop, Goebbels, Himmler and other Nazi leaders. Not only have paintings and sculpture been taken, but jewelled ornaments and rare manuscripts. Some were just plain instances of stealing, such as the unbinding and auction of property belonging to Jews; but other treasures were "purchased" by tricky finance. Art treasures are difficult to appraise, but the United States branch of an international commission of experts which has been formed to recover as much of the loot as possible after the war, estimates that the aggregate value runs into several billion dollars. Nothing like this has ever been known before.

Catalogues of the transported valuables have been compiled with the aid of refugee art experts of the countries concerned. The goods will be easy to identify and there will no doubt be a thorough search of art galleries and the homes of the "big boys" in Germany. It is believed that an attempt will be made to hide many of these works so as to turn them into much needed money in foreign markets perhaps years after the war, and some of these methods may succeed. It is planned, however, to place a quarantine upon all works of art leaving European countries. Before the normal resumption of international shipping, arrangements should be made through international consular and customs officials requiring proof of rightful ownership and right to sell before anyone is allowed to ship works of art out of or into any country. This will be the only possible method of maintaining a free open market in art and antiquities.

It is interesting to learn that specially prepared maps have been supplied to the commanders of Allied troops, now begun the invasion of Europe, showing the location of artistic and historic objects in their path, with a view of avoiding their damage or destruction as far as possible. WAR DEPLETES BRITISH PEERAGE

London, Ont., Free Press.
There's magic in names. And fewer have more magic for Britons than that of the Duke of Wellington. News that the holder of that brilliant title has been killed in action while serving with the Commandos in Italy stirs memories of the grim old Iron Duke, his great-grandfather and the first holder of the title. So great was the reputation of the first Duke of Wellington that subsequent holders of the title have been overshadowed by it. However, a diamond was led to dummy, East the younger soldier who fell in Italy would probably have won the approval even of his distinguished ancestor, who was notably chary of passing out praise. He had served in Malta, hottest spot in the Mediterranean, for fifteen months, and in Ethiopia. And the Commandos certainly are in the Wellington tradition.

The duke is not the only member of the British peerage who has fallen during the war. Eighteen other peers made the supreme sacrifice before him; one of them, Lord Lyall, being awarded a Victoria Cross for extreme courage. Britain's old nobility, decimated by casualties during the First World War, is being still further depleted now. It may well be that the old families are going out in a final blaze of glory. That would be a more romantic end than being squeezed out of existence by accumulating taxes, a fate that seemed inevitable in recent years.

The old families had their faults. Much of what they did is the subject of deserved criticism. They may have enjoyed excessive privileges but they never failed to meet the challenge of leadership, and on occasion they produced a Wellesley, a Howard or a Cecil to meet a great occasion, just as they have produced the supreme genius of Churchill for the present crisis. It will be a different Britain without them.

GET READY

La Presse, Montreal.
The Board of Trade while recognizing that the war has not ended and that it constitutes the first problem to be solved, believes it is time to recall to their posts members of the staff of the Bureau of Commercial Research who have been lent to other services in order that they may get on with their regular work of developing the foreign trade of Canada. In four years there has certainly been time to train assistants whose collaboration would today make possible the return of these specialists to their normal occupations. Let us be ready. Mr. MacKinnon is right when he says that Canadians will be prosperous in the world of tomorrow in direct proportion to their capacity to turn out the best merchandise and to set up a better organization to get it out outside market. And Mr. MacKinnon notes that Canada, the third exporting nation, is also the fourth military air power, so that it should not be difficult to carve out a large place in commercial aviation.

HAVE A SMILE

"Won't you be very, very happy when your sentence is over?" cheerfully asked a woman of a convict in prison.
"I dunno, ma'am. I dunno," gloomily answered the man.
"You don't know?" asked the woman, amazed. "Why not?"
"I'm in for life."
"John, I hope I didn't see you smiling at that girl."
"I hope you didn't, my dear."
Auntie: "How did Jimmie get on in his history exam?"
Mother: "Not very well, but it wasn't his fault. They asked him things that happened before the poor boy was born."

Pat and Mike were obliged to halt their heavily loaded cart to make way for a funeral. Gazing at the procession, Pat suddenly remarked: "Mike, I wish I knew where I was

WINS UNEXPECTEDLY BY SIMPLE MANOEUVRE

My friend, Al Morehead, tells me that his own favorite hand among the many he has played involved an extremely simple manoeuvre. He never expected to make the four-spade contract, which he bid as a non-vulnerable sacrifice.

West opened the ten of clubs and East took the ace. The club queen came back and Morehead won. Now a diamond was led to dummy, East playing the nine, and a spade was led from dummy. East played the ten and Morehead won with the queen. South could limit his loss to three tricks by putting dummy in again and leading another spade. But Morehead foresaw that if he led another diamond, then led a spade from dummy, East would jump up with the spade ace, underlead his heart ace to put West in, and ruff a diamond return for the setting trick.

So Morehead led his six of hearts and shut off West's entry, or at least made West take the heart trick when East would do him no good because East was not yet in a position to ruff diamonds. On another heart lead South trumped, entered dummy with a diamond and led a spade. Now East could get only one spade trick and the contract was made.

IN THE WOMEN'S SPHERE

MISS M. CARTER IS HONORED AT AYER'S CLIFF

Ayer's Cliff, Oct. 16.—Miss Mildred Carter was guest of honor one evening at a surprise party at the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Slack, on Main Street, when about twenty friends and neighbors gathered to wish her "good luck" in whatever she may decide to do in the future years.

Miss Carter had been a tea guest of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Whitcomb and early in the evening went to the Slack home to obtain yarn for more Red Cross knitting together with Mrs. Whitcomb and was completely taken by surprise to find that these friends were honoring her. A social hour was enjoyed and a short programme was given which included a piano solo, by Miss Beryl Rexford, and a suitable reading by Mrs. Willis Dustin, from one of Edgar A. Guest's poems, which she had rearranged for the occasion. Mrs. H. N. Pierce sang two solos and Mrs. R. G. McHarg, was also enjoyed in one of Edgar A. Guest's poems. On behalf of the assembled friends, Mrs. Willard Rexford presented Miss Carter with a beautiful three-piece toilet set, expressing the feelings of those present in well-chosen words. RED CROSS ACTIVITIES

The regular monthly meeting of the Red Cross Society was held one afternoon at the work room following the work hour, when the President, Mrs. Lobb, presided. Resolutions were passed that expressions of sympathy be sent to two of the workers in their recent bereavement, Mrs. Jacobs and Miss Jacobs and Mrs. N. E. Lyford.

Discussion was held regarding the Christmas boxes and it was decided if possible to order them direct from the packers and have them shipped direct to the men in service overseas, and also to try the same method for the men in service on this side. Committees were named to call at the homes and collect donations for purchasing these boxes. The committees named were Miss M. L. Kezar, Mrs. L. Despres, Mrs. H. P. Stone and Miss Beryl Rexford. Each citizen will be given the opportunity to contribute toward giving these men who are fighting for us a feeling that all the home folks are interested in them and are willing to do their bit in the way of cheer. Your co-operation and support is urged.

Mrs. Slack reported having made a shipment of the following articles to Red Cross Headquarters: 19 sleeveless sweaters, 11 turtle-neck sweaters, 10 pair grey socks, 2 pair seaman's socks, 2 pair brown socks, 5 pair gloves, 4 helmets, 3 scarves, 2 body belts, 2 caps and one quilt made and donated by the Senior Women's Association.

NATIONAL SELECTIVE SERVICE

Farmers and Farm Workers

If Your Farm Work has Slackened for the Winter, You are Needed Elsewhere in Essential Employment

LACK of fuel wood will be serious to our population. A shortage of saw-logs and other forest products would threaten our war effort. Woods operations and other essential industries varying with the district—base metals and coal mining, railway track work, longshore work, meat and fish packing—face Winter labour shortages. Therefore, any man on the farm not needed at home during the Fall and Winter, should offer his services at once for work in one of these other essential industries until the farm again requires him. Men on the land available for the Winter are the Nation's chief hope for securing the needed workers.

Farmers engaged in essential work during the off season will be allowed to return home when needed. Also, those on postponement under Mobilization Regulations will continue on postponement while in approved essential work during the slack on the farm.

REFLECTIONS

There's a little hamlet nestles Where the birch and maples grow, And their leaves are changing color At this season, I well know.

Oh in fancy I can see them Garbed in grandeur every Fall, Towering high above a Chapel The old Chapel of Saint Paul.

I have seen that little hamlet When old Mother Nature woke, In Summer, Fall, and Winter, When the storms in fury broke.

--- There are young folk, there are old folk I would like to see today, Who afforded me much pleasure When I lived around their way.

There a rugged stream goes winding 'Neath a bridge, where once a mill The farmer's grist was grinding, His hungry sacks to fill.

Down a road where old Dame Nature Lashed beauty with free hand, And where natives lean a living The same old lime-kilns stand.

--- There are many men and women Filling able posts today, Who first saw the light of living In that village miles away.

And their Home-town bids them "Welcome", Wherever they may roam, They'll find old friends to greet them When they turn their steps back Home.

--- Perchance their thoughts are winding Tonight, the same as mine, Down that fine old trail of Memories Recalling "Auld-Lang-Syne."

MONEY VOTED FOR ROADS BY OGDEN COUNCIL

October Meeting of Municipal Body Decides to Reduce Taxes on Property by Three Mills.

Ogden, Oct. 16.—The October meeting of the Municipal Council of Ogden was held in Tomifobia. Mayor R. S. Baker and Councillors M. C. Reynolds, R. S. Loney, Foster Bachler, Hiram Brevoort, Romeo Laflamme and H. S. Soutiere were present.

Following up the notice of motion given by Hiram Brevoort on September 4, he moved and Romeo Laflamme seconded, the motion that a by-law be passed to levy a tax of 15 mills on all the immovable property in the municipality for the expenses during the coming year.

This was carried. This rate is a reduction of three mills on the dollar from last year. The Secretary was instructed to collect all arrears of taxes by December, in order to pay the balance due on the Corey note and meet the expenses of winter and summer roads. Special tax notices will be sent out to all those owing arrears of taxes.

Mr. R. W. Montgomery was appointed auditor for the year 1943.

Mr. John Lavery, of Ayer's Cliff, was appointed to collect the poll and dog taxes as he has done for several years.

It was reported that tools had been stolen from some of the camps along the lake. The Secretary was asked to write to the Provincial Police headquarters in Montreal to see if some authorization could be given to the detectives in Sherbrooke to come here at once when a theft occurs.

The question of keeping the Graniteville road open for winter traffic was discussed at length. The municipality is ready to spend as much as it would cost them to roll and open the roads in the spring, if the interested parties would do the balance.

When the sun is low in the evening, it is almost 95,000,000 miles high.

MASONITE IS CHOICE FOR TABLES IN WORLD'S LARGEST DINING HALL

Above is a partial shot of the 7,000 Canadian soldiers who answer the bugle's call to meet three times daily in Webb Hall, Exhibition Park, Toronto. Part of this world's largest dining hall is shown (at right) all set to receive the khaki-clad diners.

CANADIAN-MADE PRESWOODS SERVE TROOPS AT HOME AND ABROAD

Masonite is doing a tremendous job in aiding rehabilitation in Britain, but not all its Canadian production is being diverted for service abroad. Right here in Canada there are vital needs which this versatile product must fill.

Troops must be fed and housed, trains converted into hospitals-on-wheels. A hundred and one other essential demands must be met. They are being met—and served—by Masonite. Webb Hall in Exhibition Park, Toronto, is but one instance. Here, in the world's largest dining hall—7,000 of our Canadian troops can be fed at one sitting. Table tops of Masonite were specified for the nearly 900 tables, for this was a job requiring speedy construction . . . a sanitary material, quickly and easily cleaned . . . strong and durable.

Masonite passed all these tests with flying colours. It delivered the goods just as it has in meeting over 500 wartime requirements in bombed Britain . . . playing its part in the rebuilding of a country where one house in every five has been damaged or destroyed . . . providing temporary buildings . . . recreating hospitals and schools from blitzed wreckage . . . serving the vast need for chairs, tables, beds . . . aiding in the construction of air-raid shelters, mobile units, hospital trains.

Meeting every demand to tax its claim as the world's most versatile building material, surely Masonite today has more than earned its title, "The Wood of a Thousand Uses."

Masonite has "signed for service" with Canada, Britain . . . with all United Nations. Thus it is serving you by serving your greatest cause. In the circumstances it cannot serve you individually . . . yet. But the day is drawing nearer when Masonite will be available for the improvement of every Canadian home and building.

Trading Slow With Prices Steady On Lansdowne Mart

Although fruits and vegetables seemed plentiful on the local market yesterday trading was slow and merchants said that they believed this was because of the rain in the forenoon but they added that business would pick up in the latter part of the afternoon and the early evening. Prices on all fruits and vegetables remained about the same and a large supply of apples in stalls both outside and inside the market were to be seen.

Most vegetables were for sale on the market with many of the earlier varieties now coming in from the South. California tomatoes were selling at most places and these were bringing twenty cents per pound. Brussels sprouts were also in great demand on the market and these were selling for thirty cents per quart basket. Cauliflowers were up in price since their season is now just about over and only a few of the local ones remain to be sold. One fruit and vegetable dealer said that within the next few weeks some of the fruits and vegetables would be hard to get and that they would be high in price since the season here was over for them and since it was still a little early to get the imported ones.

This was the big problem with oranges and many housewives found that it was practically impossible to get any. This is because they are out of season and dealers said that it would perhaps be a month before they will come back in any great quantities. Pomegranates were selling at fifteen cents each and while they were not in large quantities the demand was good. Cranberries were also selling well at well as fruit stalls and these were down to thirty-five cents per pound.

No changes were registered in the prices of eggs and some of the vendors had an ample supply while others who had their purchasing from some of the large wholesale companies were unable to get them because of Government priorities. The demand was good for what eggs were and this was the first week that the prices have not changed.

Scene from "Hers to Hold," with Deanna Durbin and Joseph Cotten, beginning today at the Granada Theatre.

At The Granada

It is seldom that a film star is kept as busy between scenes as during actual filming of a picture, but Deanna Durbin went through such an experience during the shooting of one sequence of her new Universal picture, "Hers to Hold." Joseph Cotten is Deanna's co-star in the romantic drama which is now at the Granada Theatre.

The sequence was filmed in one Sunday inside the huge Vega Aircraft factory.

The day was long and difficult for the star. It started at 5 a.m., when she arose, and wound up at 10:10 p.m., when the last scene was finished.

Every scene all day called for Deanna to be running.

Director Frank Ryan tried to persuade her to rest between scenes, but Deanna was too excited by her first glimpse of what goes on inside an aircraft factory. Every free minute, she spent wandering around different parts of the huge plant.

In exchange for her autograph, two workmen took her on a tour through a nearly completed Flying Fortress, showing her everything from the glassed-in bombardier's seat in the nose to the tail gunner's post. She was particularly amazed at the mass of instruments and levers in the pilot's cockpit, remarking, "I don't see how anyone ever learns to fly one of these."

Deanna derived another thrill out of a cartoon painted on the side of the plane—there's a different one on each Fortress.

The one on the plane she inspected, showed a little fellow carrying a big bomb and saying, "This one's on the house—Hitler's house I hope."

A couple of women workers, attached in slacks somewhat similar to Deanna's then took the star in hand to show her how to use an electric drill and a rivet gun. Women are doing most of this type of work now.

They also are doing a major portion of wiring the planes, which Deanna found to be as interesting as it is complicated.

MOUNTIES GRAB TURK BRODA IN TORONTO

Maple Leaf Goalkeeper Held On Draft Expiration Charge

Toronto, Oct. 16.—(P)—The Canadian Army yesterday conscripted 29-year-old Walter (Turk) Broda, for seven years Toronto Maple Leafs' goalkeeper in the National Hockey League.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police removed the stocky, 190-pound athlete from a Montreal-bound train on the outskirts of Toronto just a few minutes after midnight and took him to Stanley Barracks. Broda's National Selective Service call-up notice had expired Thursday night at midnight.

There was no official clarification of circumstances under which Broda failed to answer his call-up notice before the expiry time. It was known, however, that the round goalkeeper had been wavering for some days between enlisting in the Army or the Navy in Toronto. It was understood that he had finally decided to join the Army here and play for the Toronto Army hockey team this year.

This decision apparently was changed Thursday. Best available information was that Broda had then decided to enlist in Montreal. When he was removed from the train early yesterday, it was reported he was in company of a Canadian Army sergeant-major believed to have some connection with the Montreal Army hockey team.

A native of Brandon, Man., Broda played junior hockey in Brandon and Winnipeg before turning professional with Detroit Olympics in 1935. He moved into the N.H.L. with Toronto in the autumn of 1936. His big year was 1940, when he won the major league goal award, the Vezina Trophy.

HEXTALL JOINS RANGERS
Winnipeg, Oct. 16.—(P)—New York Rangers of the National Hockey League went into their second day of pre-season training here yesterday augmented by their ace right winger, Bryan Hextall.

Hextall, who hails from Poplar Point, Man., and was winner of the N.H.L. scoring crown in the 1941-42 season, checked into Ranger headquarters last night.

His arrival brings the number of veterans in camp to five. Other seasoned campaigners are Ott Heller and Gordon Davidson, defencemen, and Grant Warwick and Bill Gooden, forwards.

"Hextall's arrival should help us out immeasurably," said Coach Frank Boucher tonight, "and by the way he was travelling on the ice yesterday he appears to be headed for another great season."

Another new arrival at the camp today was Billy Warwick, Grant's younger brother, who played several games for Rangers last season while serving with New York Rangers in the Eastern U.S. Amateur Hockey League. The younger Warwick is a left winger.

Coach Boucher has been pleased with the performances turned in by several rookies in initial scrimmages. He's very high on Jack McDonald, a 200-pound rightwinger with a blazing shot. McDonald played with Flin Flon Bombers last season, and was with Portage la Prairie Terriers when they won the Canadian junior championship in the spring of 1942.

DETROIT WINGS BOTHERED WITH DRAFT TROUBLE

Detroit, Oct. 16.—(P)—The world championship Detroit Red Wings, approaching the end of their second week of training for the National Hockey League season, returned today that forwards Joe Garaveth and Bill Jennings may soon be drafted by the United States Army.

Garaveth, 25-year-old Regina product, is scheduled to report for induction next week. There is a chance that Carveth may be rejected because of a twice-broken left leg, which curtailed his hockey play for two years.

Jennings, who is 26 and comes from Toronto, has received 1-A draft classification and may be called any time.

Carveth played right wing on Detroit's second line last season. Jennings played eight games with Red Wings last season, scoring eight points. He finished the season with Indianapolis Capitals of the American League where he netted 55 points.

The Other League

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By CHARLES EDWARDS, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Toronto, Oct. 16.—(P)—The services' near-monopoly on senior amateur hockey in Canada is having strange results. For example—player trades between intermediate clubs and the National League. Sweeney Schriener has deserted Toronto Leafs in favor of Calgary's intermediate Buffaloes but Billy Hudson of last season's Buffaloes has been called up to Detroit Red Wings. Maybe the Swift Current intermediate buzzer, Steve (Steve) Buzinski, should have another try at that New York Ranger goal job. Jackie Hamilton, with a half-season's experience in the N.H.L., calls the Toronto rookies "the kids." Jackie is an old man of 18.

Isaak McWalton: The fishermen are saving bait at Wiarton, Ont., with the cast, heave and duck system. The long Government dock at the Georgian Bay town is lined with fishermen these days—all using no other bait than blind faith and catching herring by the dozen. The herring run is "on" and the fish are so thick they can be snagged with bare hook.

PUERTO RICAN WELTERWEIGHT UPSETS ZIVIC
Detroit, Oct. 16.—(P)—Rugged Jose Basora, Puerto Rican welterweight from New York, hammered out an upset 10-round victory last night over Fritz Zivic of Pittsburgh before 6,000 fans at Olympia Stadium. Basora weighed 151½, Zivic 150.

Zivic, a 2-to-1 betting choice, fell victim to a stabbing left hand and a stinging right uppercut. There was no knockdown.

Basora's victory was by a wide margin. Referee Elmer (Slim) McClelland gave Zivic one round, the first, and called the fight even. He gave Basora the other eight. The two judges gave Basora all but two rounds which they called even.

Zivic lost the third and sixth rounds by low punches. In the fourth Basora opened a cut under Fritzie's left eye and his later attack was directed at the wound.

The gross receipts were $13,380, with $1,015 earmarked for boxing's service Athletic Fund.

Loss Of Brimsek Leaves Art Ross Without A Professional Backstop

Quebec, Oct. 16.—(P)—Manager Art Ross of the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League, training here presently, is facing a real shortage, mainly due to the war: He can't find a "professional" goaler.

When Frankie Brimsek left the N.H.L. for the United States Armed Forces this year, Art looked around to find a substitute for the goal, but he hasn't made up his mind yet. Actually he is training three young goalers who played with senior and intermediate clubs last year.

They are Maurice Courteau of Quebec, former Washington Lions goaler who later went with the Aces.

We cannot afford to relax our vigilance against genuine sabotage but at the same time we need to be on guard against those acts of prankishness and pure stupidity which can result just as disastrously to our war programme.—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

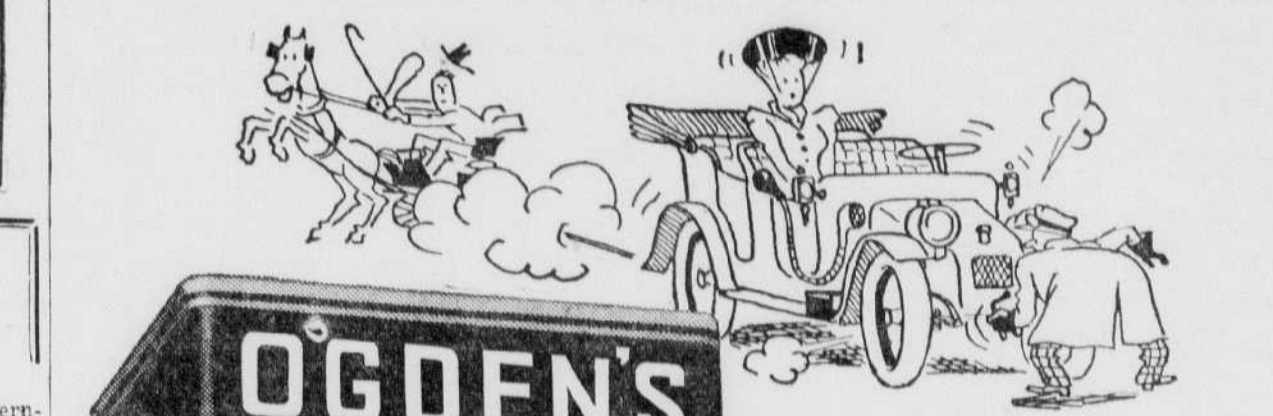

It is an illusion for the United States to expect that the Soviet Union will be able or willing to undertake the burden of the military struggle against Japan.—Earl Browder, America's No. 1 Communist.

of the Quebec Senior League and the Davie Shipbuilding of the Quebec Maritime League, Jean Paul Renaud, of Montreal, formerly with the Royals, and Harvey Bennet of the Oshawa Generals. The Bruins manager hasn't given any hint yet when he may pick for the 1943-44 season, but the three rookies are on the ice daily for the two scheduled practices.

Art, who by the way is taking his 20th season with the Bruins this year, said following a practice yesterday he approved the new N.H.L. rulings. "The rules will bring a great amelioration in hockey," he said.

(Governors of the league adopted at a meeting in Toronto Sept. 11 two new rules, allowing the defending team to pass up to centre ice from the defence without drawing an offensive penalty, a red line being drawn at centre ice to indicate the new zone, and stating that players facing off now will face their opponent's goal instead of the side of the rink.)

Art said the first rule will eliminate many off-sides, which generally slow the game and that the second will speed the playing, stopping players from fighting to get hold of the puck.
