NEW MINISTRY ANNOUNCED

Leader Caron on the Cause of the Resignations.

SCORED BY THE LIBERALS.

Messrs. Laurier, Cartwright, Mills, Paterson and Others Deal Severely With the New Ministry.

with these objections removed, the Ministers who resigned have deemed it consistent with their duty to their country to resume the posts they respectively held in the Government.

Mr. Laurier was cheered by his followers upon rising. "So at last," he said, "after long days of waiting, the House has been blocked for almost two weeks, after the House has been subjected to the ignominy of dancing attendance upon the pleasure of weak and vacillating Ministers by their own admission as stated here to-day."

Mr. Caron was again the leader of the House. He read a statement which, when compared with some of the other statements, made this session, is a most wonderful production. It will be remembered that Mr. Foster also read a statement which was subscribed by the seven bolters.

Mr. Cartwright was particularly humorous in dealing with the bolters. He said that the bolters thought that a grave constitutional point which necessitated the taking of the extreme course they did, is now no complaint against the leaders of the Government.

TUPPER FOR CAPE BRETON.

The Ex-High Commissioner Will Stand There.

DAVID MACKEN RETIRES

To Make Way for the New Secretary of State.

LIBERALS TO FIGHT HIM.

They are Losing No Time and Hon. Geo. Murray Will Likely Be His Opponent.

Ottawa, Jan. 15.—Sir Chas. Tupper, ex-High Commissioner, left for Montreal to-night, where he will deliver an address to-morrow before the Montreal Board of Trade on the relations of trade between Canada and the mother country.

Mr. Macken, M.P. Cape Breton, has resigned his seat, and Sir Charles will contest that riding. It is not yet known whether he will have opposition or not.

Halifax, N.S., Jan. 15.—The report that Sir Charles Tupper is going to run in Cape Breton County for the Commons, Mr. MacKeen going into the Senate, has roused the Liberals of Nova Scotia, and particularly the Liberals of that constituency.

Mr. David MacKeen, the retiring member, is one of two representatives for Cape Breton County, his associate being Mr. H. E. McDougall. He is first returned to Parliament at the general elections in 1887 and was re-elected at the last general elections.

The figures at the last election stood: H. F. McDougall (C)... 2981 D. MacKeen (O)... 2889 Joseph McPherson (L)... 2078 Geo. H. Murray (L)... 2161

The latter gentleman is spoken of as Sir Charles Tupper's opponent.

When the Dominion Coal Company, known as the Whitney Syndicate, acquired several coal mines in Cape Breton, Mr. MacKeen's mine, the Caledonia, was one of the number, and he became the resident manager of the new company. He is considered a wealthy man.

WILSON SMITH ACCEPTED.

He Will Be a Mayoralty Candidate for Next Year.

A BIG PETITION WAS PRESENTED. It Had 10,000 Names On It—Stevenson and McBride Accept a Ward Nomination.

SWEEP THE PROVINCE.

Premier Greenway Victorious in Manitoba.

HAS THIRTY SUPPORTERS

Out of a House of Forty, With Two Seats Unsettled.

FOUR STRAIGHT OPPONENTS

With Three Independents and One Patron.

Hon. Robert Watson's Close Call—Day Unsatisfactory for Voting—Candidates Elected.

Special to the Herald. Winnipeg, Jan. 15.—The Greenway Government, in the general election to-day, practically swept the province on the school question issue.

The returns at a late hour to-night indicate the return of 30 Government supporters, four straight opponents, three Independents and one Patron.

The figures in many cases are incomplete, but in quite a number of constituencies the majorities were small.

Laverandry will not be heard from until to-morrow, and the election in Dauphin takes place one week later.

The weather was most unfavorable for voting, as a blizzard prevailed all day, and it was very cold.

In North Brandon, Attorney-General Sifton had 208 majority, with two places to hear from. The Opposition candidates in both North and South Brandon lose their deposits.

The greatest surprise of the elections was the small majority of Hon. Robert Watson, Minister of Public Works, in Portage la Prairie constituency. He was opposed by W. J. Cooper, barrister. The Government was elected by only 150, but Watson was elected by only 11.

In Turtle Mountain, Hettle and Miller are now a tie, with one place to hear from. Following is a list of the candidates elected so far as known:

Avondale, Dickie, Government. Beautiful Plains, Street, Independent. Birtle, C. I. Mickle, Government, acclamation.

Brandon City, Adams, Government. Carleton, Marion, Opposition. Cypress, Doug, Government. Dauphin, election 22nd January. Deloraine, Young, Government. Dennis, Kennedy, Government. Elmwood, McFadden, Opposition. Kildonan, Bird, Government. Killarney, Young, Government. Lakeside, Rutherford, Government, acclamation.

THE CABINET.

The Government's definition of the causes of the late unpleasantness is such as to tax the most intense gravity. Sir Richard Cartwright's declaration that it has become quite impossible to take the Ministers seriously seems to hit the truth most nearly. It was announced yesterday by the Premier in the Senate and Sir Adolphe Caron in the Commons, that the unsavory seven had gone out because they questioned the constitutionality of meeting Parliament before the place vacated in the Cabinet by Mr. Angers had been filled and that they had returned after a sober second thought had revealed to them the error of their first position. Surely this announcement cannot be accepted with anything like seriousness. It is not only a fabrication; it is a silly fabrication. If it was not put forward in a spirit of sublime cynicism it was put forward as the outcome of a very astonishing imbecility.

It is to be observed as one of the most significant features of the debate that Mr. Foster refuses utterly to subscribe to such a declaration. He sullenly demands that he be judged upon his own words rather than upon those of his enemies, and declares his admiration for Sir Charles Tupper in respect of his having quit London and returned to Canada to obtain a Cabinet position, presumably the Premiership. Here Mr. Foster lets the cat out of the bag. He will not admit that the seven have lost the day, and for once he is right. As between the conspirators on the one hand, and Sir Mackenzie Bowell and his following on the other, honors are even, or more properly speaking, dishonor is even. Bowell is Premier, but Tupper is in the Cabinet, and is acclaimed by the party as its leader. The men who one week ago said that Bowell was too weak a man and too incapable a leader to retain their allegiance, have again submitted themselves to his Premiership. The Premier who suffered one of the direst treacheries in the history of constitutional government, has folded the traitors to his heart again.

Why? Not because they have come to an agreement on the main matter of controversy between them. Not because they are any nearer a conclusion at the school question than they were four years ago, unless one or other of the factions has in contemplation the blackest abnegation of its convictions. Not because they hated each other less, but because they loved office more; because it was compromise or break. It will be both compromise and break. The farce is played nearly to the end, and, as Sir Richard Cartwright says, the players who have been going on and coming back will shortly, all of them, go out and none of them come back.

MANITOBA AGAINST COERCION.

In respect of the school question, the verdict of the people of Manitoba removes from the realm of practical politics any proposition of settlement which is not involved in a policy of investigation and conciliation. Mr. Greenway dissolved the Legislature on that policy. He asked the electors to return him to power as an evidence of their sanction of his refusal to consent to the amendment of the school laws of the Province upon the lines of the remedial order made by the Dominion Government. He reminded the electors that he had sought to impress upon the Dominion Government the desire of his Ministry to do full justice to all parties to this unhappy dispute, and that to this end he had invited the Dominion Government to an investigation of the facts in the matter, and had promised that his Ministry would do all in its power to render that investigation effective. He further reminded the electors that the Dominion Government had not accepted that invitation. The people of the Province voted yesterday in full view of these facts: that the Dominion Government had sought to compel them to an amendment of their school system upon the lines of an ill-considered and harshly tempered order, and that it had declined to accept the assistance of the Province in an attempt to discover means to a happy solution of a grave national problem. And in terms which cannot be misunderstood they have declared against coercion by the Dominion Government, and for Mr. Greenway's policy of investigation. They have declared—as it has been known all along they would declare—that they will brook no subversion of the rights of their Province, however anxious they may be to do justice to any party that may have been injured by their school laws. And, as has been said, the terms of their declaration are capable of only one construction.

In an Assembly of forty members, the opponents of Mr. Greenway's policy number just four. There are four independent members; from one riding the result is still to be heard; in another the election is still to be held. The Greenway Government gets the rest. The indication is that even the French-Canadian voters of the province have gone with the Government in great numbers. This is not such a showing as argues for the success of coercive measures. The people of Manitoba are not of a sort to reverse such a judgment, especially when they have reached their conclusion after an adequate experience of the two school systems under consideration, the new and the old. They will not be coerced except at a cost which every true Canadian must shudder to contemplate. But their declaration to this effect involves the further declaration that they are open to conviction if it can be shown upon investigation that they are at fault in any detail of their system. To such an investigation they have invited the Dominion Government. Mr. Laurier had declared beforehand that that invitation should be accepted and his policy is the only one which seems to promise any effective and permanent solution of the problem.

The New York World remarks, touching the Transvaal question, that: "The Jameson raid will have to be settled for all before any demand is made on the people of the United States for sympathy with the raiders."

Without offering a word of excuse for the Jameson raiders it may be pertinent to remind the World that Canada has twice been raided by Fenian freebooters and the United States has never "settled."

It is suggested that Sir Mackenzie should hire Poet Laureate Austin to write an ode in commemoration of the triumph of Peace, Placard and Perquisite at Ottawa.

A Cabinet of "traitors" led by an "imbecile" is how the present Administration has characterized itself.

There may be a few prominent papers that did not make some reference to the cats that came back in describing the return of the bolters, but they have not yet come to hand.

The old-fashioned South African smooth bore makes a pretty good showing against the modern Maxim gun.

The Hamilton Herald thinks that Dr. Montague and Sir Adolphe Caron ought to get a joint photograph taken as the Heavenly Twins.

THEIR SAD EXHIBITION.

By the accession of Sir Charles Tupper. The following has been strengthened, strengthened by the accession of a really strong man in the person of Sir Charles Tupper. Then, perhaps, some vigor will be put in the vacillating Premier. Well, I ask in the face of what has taken place, if all these scandalous proceedings have been justified by the result, can the hon. gentleman (Mr. Foster) who, I suppose, will now remain in his position as leader of the House, declare that the Government has at its head at this time a Premier who can command the confidence of his colleagues? I doubt it very much. Is there a Government which Premier can satisfy the Liberal-Conservative party "that its stronger elements are at its head," that "it has a Government which is united and has power to govern"? Why, if the country has been impressed in any way, it has been impressed with the conviction, which now prevails, that the Government is composed of a band of plotters and schemers and conspirators—(Prolonged Opposition cheers)—whose bond of union is the contempt of office, and whose only aim and purpose is their own selfish and personal aggrandizement. The paramount conviction at this moment is that the hon. gentlemen opposite can sacrifice anything and everything, honor, friends, conviction, principles, so long as they can remain in the places which they have so long missed. Why, sir, what have we to-day? We had eight days ago the announcement made on the floor of this House by an hon. gentleman, who was supposed to speak by authority as to the causes which had led to these resignations, and to-day we learn that the true cause was not given to us at that occasion. I am sorry to use this language, but we have the confession made here in the hearing of the hon. gentleman who leads the House at the present time, that the reasons which were assigned for the withdrawal of himself and his colleagues were not the true reasons, but that the whole thing dated back to the month of July last when the Hon. Mr. Angers resigned his seat in the Cabinet and did not return to the fold. This was the reason. We have known all along that such was the reason. We were known all along that the Cabinet was divided on the question of the present time and to-day have we a complete Government? No, we have still the rump of a Government. Well, I leave the hon. gentlemen and their colleagues and their followers to the reflection which must fill them at this moment. Further than this I will not say. I remember on a certain occasion when there was a political commotion in England, Mr. Disraeli was then in Parliament, but was not taking part in it, and when he was asked the question why he answered that he was loath to be dead to take anything away from the effect of the lamentable exhibition which the Government was making of itself in the eyes of the country. Sir, I would be loth myself by word or deed to say anything that would diminish from the result or from the effects which must follow from the lamentable, from the humiliating, from the base exhibition which the Government has made of themselves in the eyes of the country at large. (Cheers.)

SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT.

Sir Richard Cartwright's rising was greeted with Opposition cheers and over the whole chamber was an air of half-amused expectancy as the knight with his Saxon vocabulary and vigorous diction straightened himself to his subject. "It is not often I feel it to be my duty to differ from the hon. gentleman who sits beside me (Mr. Laurier), but few and rare as those occasions may be, this I am bound to confess is one of them. My hon. friend will pardon me when I say he takes the hon. gentleman's opposition quite too seriously (Laughter). He assumes that he is dealing with responsible statesmen. Now, viewed from that standpoint, I must admit that my hon. friend has not said a word in a much and in fact, I would deal more might justly be said than he has said. But I submit to this hon. body that this is not the true standpoint from which those hon. gentlemen's actions should be regarded. As I understand it, we are here in the presence of Royal Ottawa Low Comedy Opera Troupe—(laughter)—and we should be treated of them for the great benefit they have done us as a party, and for the amusement they have afforded, not to us, but to all Canada during some time past. (Renewed laughter.) As I understand it, I simply submit this to my hon. friend with all deference—what we have been listening to after all has really been a series of rehearsals. We had No. 1 rehearsal, because I can hardly call the little episode of the hon. member for Pictou (Charles Hibbert Tupper) as we may call it, in July, when three members of the Cabinet went out, and one of whom being a person of good honor and self-respect stayed out. (Applause and laughter.) Then we have lately had what I may call a full-dress rehearsal, when seven members went out, and practically seven came back because the mere substitution of junior to senior really hardly affects the situation, as no one would more frankly admit than the hon. member for Pictou. (Laughter.) Now I would call the attention of the House to the real performance, which will not long be delayed, when all will go out and none come back. (Tremendous Opposition cheering.) In the meantime, allow me to congratulate those hon. gentlemen on the spectacular effect they have produced, entirely regardless of expense. I think you, Mr. Speaker, will admit—and I think all constitutional authorities, from the hon. member from Bothwell (Mr. Mills) down, will admit it is of the highest moment that the Ministry of the day, under a form of Government like ours, should command the respect of the great body of the people of this country and the confidence of their fellows, and, if I may judge, I think those hon. gentlemen stayed out too long; they stayed until the weekly issues of the Conservative press were distributed, and, if I may judge from the effect of this on the country, they have utterly failed either to inspire respect in the country or confidence among their following. Now, let us consider for one moment what this whole farce means. It means, in my judgment, nothing less and nothing more than this: That this whole business has been transacted for no purpose, and for no other purpose, than to make room for mine ancient acquaintance, Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., of the United Kingdom. (Laughter.) It is impossible that great numbers of his own followers, but of a large proportion of the people of this country, irrespective of party. That was a sympathy which naturally went out in the least, and I think for his life with his back to the wall, against seven traitorous buccaners. (Hear, hear.) But I am sorry to say for Mackenzie Bowell that I am going to make a strong allowance for him I must say that he cannot expect the same measure of our sympathy and respect when he has sunk to play the part of warming pan to one of the most corrupt politicians of the country, as I have said, Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., is a very ancient acquaintance of mine. Using the word "mine" in its scientific association, I may say that the name of Sir Charles Tupper, if not precisely known in all the churches, is well known in all the provinces of this Dominion. It is well known that he graduated, with very high honors in his own peculiar school in Nova Scotia many years ago. N. S. arduus Nutric Leonum, which, if my hon. friend from Pictou (Sir Chas. Hibbert Tupper) will permit me, I will freely translate, N. S., which has been the very nurse, eye, and wet nurse, too, of probably the most pronounced type of boodlers this country has ever known—(Cries of dissent and disapproval from Government benches)—I say that with the most profound respect for the hon. friends from Nova Scotia who have helped us so well in driving that valuable class of individuals to the wall. Now, sir, I am bound to say that, knowing what remains of the reputation of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, I feel considerable pity for that hon. gentleman. I have no doubt whatever that his intentions originally were right, and I think some of those whom I am addressing here have exercised this pressure upon him for the purpose of bringing together at all costs and at all hazards men who have no possible ground for respecting and trusting in each other. I say, sir, that they might very well have spared him in that. But all the same, and I say it with regret, I have to say, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, that if there be anything on earth which can justify the conduct of these gentlemen, he himself, by his own conduct in admitting them once more to his councils, has gone far to justify them. And now, sir, I am bound to say that I cannot imagine how the idea has got abroad—I have been given to understand, though I cannot imagine how the idea has got abroad—that I did not always attach the implicit credence which I ought to statements made by hon. gentlemen opposite. (Opposition laughter.) I have been told so much to say on the occasion when I am prepared to state here in my place in Parliament that I attach implicit credence to the statement they have savagely made about each other. (Renewed laughter.) It is in the resolution of some hon. gentlemen here that the hon. Premier, in the hearing of many gentlemen around me, described himself not many days ago—I do not think you were in the chair at the time, Mr. Speaker—described himself on the floor of this House as having been living in the midst of traitors. Whether he did that or not there is no doubt whatever. In his place in the Senate chamber, speaking of this transaction, the Premier declared (I have got his words here) that the conduct of his colleagues to him had been unparalleled in British history. He went on to remark, although not exactly in these words, that he feared they were a set of ruffians who had no reverence for gray hairs. (Opposition hear, hears, and Ministerial oh, oh's.) I suppose I must believe the statements made by the Premier of this country in his place in the Senate and I will therefore endeavor to do my duty accordingly. Similarly, I feel in the Minister of Finance, speaking for himself and friends, and speaking mind you not lightly but speaking from a document carefully prepared and revised, when that gentleman with the white hair and the education declared in the course of the document that the Premier of Canada was an old fool and an obstinate one at that."

MR. FOSTER.

Mr. Foster, interrupting—"Ipsissima verba." Sir Richard Cartwright, continuing—Well, I think that is the literal translation. I suppose I must believe the Premier of this country in his place in the Senate and I will therefore endeavor to do my duty accordingly. Similarly, I feel in the Minister of Finance, speaking for himself and friends, and speaking mind you not lightly but speaking from a document carefully prepared and revised, when that gentleman with the white hair and the education declared in the course of the document that the Premier of Canada was an old fool and an obstinate one at that."

capital speech pointing to the fact that Sir Hibbert Tupper was the only man who had a policy in the Manitoba school case. He left the Cabinet. The cause of the Ministers resigning was dictated by a desire to get rid of that question. Mr. Foster said that he would like to be judged by his own statement and not by any misrepresentations that an opponent might make. Seven Ministers, bound by their oath of office, he said, resigned because they wanted the Cabinet strengthened. He praised Sir Charles Tupper for having resigned his office in London to come to Canada to enter the political arena, but at the same time he regretted the absence of Sir H. Tupper from the Cabinet. On all questions of policy Mr. Foster said the party was united. Sir Charles Tupper, senior, he said, would soon be in the House as leader, and then he would not flinch or blanch before anyone. Messrs. Mills and Mulock scored the bolters severely, making splendid speeches, and Mr. Hazen said that while he registered the absence of Sir Hibbert Tupper from the Cabinet, the Government was strengthened by the presence of Sir Charles Tupper. Sir Hibbert Tupper maintained that he was not a leader, and that he was satisfied with the position of the bolters for resigning, insofar that he took them back as advisers, that ought to be sufficient. Mr. Patterson (Brant) made one of the best speeches of the day, showing how the Ministers were going up and down the country, preaching that there was unity, peace and harmony in the Cabinet when there was nothing but dissent there. According to the statement of the seven bolters made in the House, this was not correct. Their statements were irreconcilable, and truth was slain by man who ever called themselves honorable on the streets. Mr. Casey said that the explanation of the Government given to the House to-day was insulting to it. If Sir Mackenzie Bowell could not get a Minister for Quebec Tupper, he would get a Minister for the rest of the country. The House adjourned at 10:22 p.m. In the Senate this afternoon Senator Scott questioned Premier Bowell about his conference with Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, but Sir Mackenzie held that the public was not entitled to the information. He denied the accuracy of a newspaper interview with Sir Charles on the subject. Hon. Mr. Owens moved, and Hon. Mr. Villeneuve seconded, the address in reply to the speech from the Throne.

WILSON SMITH ACCEPTED.

Continued from Page 1. Mr. Smith, will have no opposition." (Cheers.) B. Hal Brown, who has worked hard in the movement to bring Mr. Smith forward, followed. He said: "I am very proud of the result which we have had, and glad that those into whose hands the selection of a candidate was placed. We were not at a loss for material to select from, as Montreal contains many gentlemen, worthy of the confidence of the people, but, from circumstance, it only redounds all the more to the credit of Mr. Smith that he has been selected by the unanimous voice of the citizens, at the various meetings we have held for this high position, and I am sure when he is elected we will have a gentleman who, both for ability and public spirit, will credit to himself and to those who have elected him, and guide the city through any difficulties which may be ahead, and who will endeavor himself to all his right thinking fellow citizens. I trust, as the chairman has said, that there will not be any opposition; that the whole population will feel that it is only the just reward, due to the manly, straightforward action in the public service, to afford him the relief magistracy of this city." (Cheers.) Ald. Stevenson, the chairman of the Fire Committee, was the last speaker. The oration was characteristic of the general council. He had worked with Mr. Smith ever since that gentleman had entered the Council, and he thought Mr. Smith had shown that he had discharged his duty as an alderman with fidelity to the interests of the city on every opportunity. "I can state positively," continued the colonel, "that a large majority of the present Council has signed his requisition. If Ald. Smith is elected, I did not I have not the shadow of a doubt—(cheers)—he will have the united support of the members of the Council, and with him in the chair, the interests of the city of Montreal will be faithfully guarded." In conclusion, Ald. Stevenson proposed three cheers for Mr. Smith, which was given with a will, and the gathering broke up.

COMMERCIAL.

Wednesday, Jan. 15.

"What values to-day," said J. S. Bache & Co's Chicago letter, "have ruled strong and higher. The cause for which has been largely the oversold condition of market, and partly the improvement in values for corn and provisions."

The Russian shipments last week, estimated at 1,500,000, prove to be only 50,000, making total world's exports 5,500,000. The reports, confirmed, that India has no wheat for export that Australia must import wheat that Argentina has no import that last year, and that of much poorer quality, are generally creating more confidence in higher values for wheat, and we look for good buying support to market on all weak spots.

On the whole it would seem that winter thus far has been more favorable than the winter last year, in spite of the claims made that the plant is in much poorer condition than the Corn Belt. There is a natural disposition to try to avoid the mistakes of the past, with the tendency to go too far the other way. There is little doubt that the situation is more favorably situated than conditions justified at this time in 1895. Now the reports may be of lower condition than really indicated. Those who have suffered the loss of a crop naturally feel the possible repetition.—Market Record.

on the market to-day at about current prices, that is to say 93-3c to 94-3c for finest and 81-2c to 87-3c for selected summer goods.

The public take to-day say: "Cheese—The market goes about as follows: American, 55s 6d; finest American colored, 45s 6d; Butter—Finest United States, 55s; good, 60s."

The receipts and exports of cheese at New York since May (the beginning of the trade year), compare as follows:

Table with columns for Receipts, Exports, and Date. Shows cheese trade data.

Butter. The market is on the whole, a satisfactory one. Exports have been a little more in evidence, and have been picking up a few small quantities around 19-20c. In a jobbing way good creamery continues to sell at 20c to 21c. Township dairy is quoted at 18c to 19c, and Western 12c to 15c.

Dressed Hogs—Receipts were smaller to-day and the market is about steady. Car lots have sold, we believe, as high as $1.00, while small lots are quoted all the way from $5.25 to $5.50.

THE TRANSVAAL.

President Kruger's Message to the Volksraad.

CALM AND STATESMANLIKE WORDS.

Adjourns Till May at His Request So as to Allow Excitement to Abate—Rhodes Going to England.

Pretoria, Jan. 15.—The Volksraad met to-day and authorized the Government to increase the state artillery force by 400 men.

They also adopted a Government resolution thanking the Orange Free State for its sisterly assistance and also Sir Hercules Robinson, Governor of Cape Colony, and Sir Jacobus De Wet, British agent at Pretoria, for the powerful support they had given to the Transvaal Government and for their efforts to prevent bloodshed.

A message was read to the Volksraad from President Kruger, to the effect that he intends to discuss with the Raad in later and calmer moments the causes which led to the dastardly plot against the State and Government. He was firmly resolved, the message said, to maintain the sacred rights and interests of the republic and to establish the same on a firmer and sounder foundation.

The brief sitting of the Volksraad then adjourned till May, as owing to the excited feeling among the burghers, calm and dispassionate legislation in connection with the recent events was considered impossible.

Cape Town, Jan. 15.—Mr. Cecil Rhodes, the former Prime Minister of Cape Colony, leaves here for England to-day.

THE ARRESTED AMERICAN.

London, Jan. 15.—Mr. Witze, of California, a friend of John Hays Hammond, the American mining engineer who was arrested with others on the charge of high treason, continues his efforts in behalf of Mr. Hammond and the other Americans in custody at Johannesburg or Pretoria. Discussing the situation with a representative of the Associated Press to-day, Mr. Witze said: "Our Government must understand this fact, that the demands of diplomatic courtesy were satisfied by Mr. Joseph Chamberlain's kind response to Secretary Olney's request that Great Britain protect the interests of the Americans of the Transvaal. But nothing could be worse for the Americans, as the feeling against all Englishmen is exceedingly bitter, while the Boers are very friendly to Americans. Indeed, several of those arrested are on the best terms with the Boer Government. None of the Americans were connected with the political movement."

BOERS DEMONSTRATING.

Johannesburg, Jan. 14.—A thousand armed and mounted burghers traversed the streets of this city to-day, causing great excitement, and twelve hundred others are outside the city and will ride through town to-morrow, in order to exhibit their fighting strength to the miners and to gratify the men.

THE WILY TURK.

Abdul's Representative at Washington Formulates a Poser.

Washington, D.C., Jan. 14.—In an interview to-day the Turkish Minister said: "You ask me what I have to say about the following statement: 'The Red Cross Society has decided not to pay any attention to the communication until it is officially transmitted to it by the Turkish Government or the Turkish Minister.'"

"My answer is very simple and it is the following: The Red Cross has never communicated with this legation. It has only communicated, to my knowledge, with the press and the public. Its president, Miss Clara Barton, assisting without protest at public meetings, where the most gross and unjust abuse was made of the Turkish Government, religion and race.

"This whole question," added the Minister, "is a question of right. Suppose for one moment that your own Indians were to revolt against your legitimate authority. Suppose that you put down their revolt and suppose that in some foreign country some foreigners were to calumniate publicly your civilization, your race and your religion. Not satisfied with that, suppose that those foreigners, on the strength of such false accusations, were to raise money and bring it for distribution through their own channels, however respectable the latter may be, to the same people that revolted against your Government, would that money, raised on hatred and denunciation, would even a moral aid from foreigners, he welcome to this great country of yours, however welcome it might be for obvious reasons, to your Indians?"

WHAT "INVESTIGATIONS" COST.

Expenses of the Junketing Committees of the N. Y. Legislature.

Albany, N.Y., Jan. 15.—A side light is thrown upon the extravagance of the last Legislature in the matter of investigating committees and junketing trips. The expenses of the Rehnold Svaret Shop Committee will be $10,000. The cost of the committee that investigated the Brooklyn bridge and Brooklyn charities is already $3,000, with more to come. The Nixon Street Railroad Committee has bills in for $10,000. The cost of the Atlanta trip was $6,000. The Judge Appel Mount Vernon impeachment cost $2,500. The committee to investigate State departments cost $4,000, and the Forest Committee expended $1,800. The total cost of all these committees to the State will be at least $40,000.

BURGULARS ARRESTED.

The City Detectives Make Two Important Arrests.

George Harris From Detroit Has An Interesting History.

On the night of the 25th, or morning of the 26th of last month, the store of J. B. Boudreau, St. Lawrence Main Street, was burglarized, and furs to the value of $1,000 taken. The burglar did not fall on the firm, but on the Grose Burglary Alarm Company, with whom the store and its contents had been insured. Superintendent Grosse at once went to work on the case. His characteristic energy and as a result he has not only a fair prospect of recovering the goods, but has placed behind the bars, two of the most dangerous crooks it has ever been Montreal's misfortune to harbor.

Happily both are immigrants from the other side, and it must be added that the burglar's trading partners were also accomplished by the energetic efforts of Detectives O'Keefe and Campeau who had been detailed to the case by Superintendent Hughes. Four weeks ago a strolling young man named George Harris was arrested in N. H. Hamilton's store on a charge of picking pockets. As there was nothing of a damaging character found on him, and as his identity could not long be lost, he was allowed to go. But the eye of the police was on him, and it was two weeks when Harris and another young man, who gave his name as Callaghan, were arrested for robbing a two men in a house on Cadieux Street. Their revolvers were confiscated, and they were let off with the light fine of $10 and costs each. This they paid and disappeared, but before the detectives allowed them to go they took their photos as a measure of precaution.

These photos were sent to all the principal cities of Canada and the United States, and it was not long before a letter was received from the Chief of Police of Detroit stating that in Harris he recognized a well known crackman named Lyle, who had served a five years term in the Michigan State Penitentiary. On his release early last year he hung around Jackson until he succeeded in effecting the escape of another victim, a woman named Howard. The two stole a horse and rig, drove to Indianapolis, and as soon as they reached the town held up a citizen and relieved him of a large sum of money. The citizen, who was followed, but they made a desperate retreat, and in the melee which followed Howard was shot dead in his tracks and Harris was captured. The letter was brought to Jackson to start his trial for aiding and abetting a convict to escape, but somehow or other he escaped conviction. Since then nothing was heard of him until his Montreal exploits.

Detectives O'Keefe and Campeau feel sure they have the right men. They were in their room on Cadieux Street when the police made their descent, and they were captured and taken to the station. They were using three revolvers which lay close to their hand. A search of the room, revealed in addition to the revolvers, a skull cracker, made out of rubber piping and nearly round with the ends sharp as a burglar's jimmy which looked as if it had been much used.

In the Police Court, their names appeared on the police sheet as George Harris alias Lyle, and James Callaghan alias John Roach. Both put their business down as plumbers, and their latest abiding place as Toronto. His Honor Judge Denison, after looking at the skull cracker, three revolvers and jimmy, remanded them without bail for eight days. Meanwhile, Detectives O'Keefe and Campeau, with Detective Madoux, on duty evening, consisted of a car striking a buggy, jumping the track and smashing a pole in one side of the street, then recollaring and making match-wood of a fence on the other, and obstructing the sidewalk for the considerable period which elapsed before it could again be placed upon the track.

MUST HAVE A LICENCE.

Important Decision Regarding Ontario Brewers and Distillers.

Toronto, Jan. 15.—The Province was declared by the Court of Appeal yesterday afternoon to have the right to compel all brewers and distillers within its boundaries to take out the license to "sell" their liquors, and to exact a fee therefor. The question was given upon the recently argued judgment raised by the brewers and distillers who have unsuccessfully sought to have the court decide that the license granted by the Dominion Government to "manufacture" was sufficient to enable them to "sell."

The stated case is for the purpose of having the matter settled by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council of Great Britain. A brewer of Guelph, Mr. Halliday, was some time ago convicted by the police magistrate of that place for not having a license from the Provincial Government as well as one from the Dominion Government. His conviction was quashed on an appeal to the county sessions, but the Court of Appeal held that the conviction was right, as the Province had the power to issue such a license. The Halliday case could not be appealed to the Privy Council, so this stated case was drawn for that purpose and to have the matter finally settled. The case will be appealed to the Privy Council.

A LIVELY CAR.

The lively proprietors of the electric cars on St. Dominique Street between Sherbrooke and Prince Arthur Streets, as previously noted, still continue. The last escapade, which occurred Tuesday evening, consisted of a car striking a buggy, jumping the track and smashing a pole in one side of the street, then recollaring and making match-wood of a fence on the other, and obstructing the sidewalk for the considerable period which elapsed before it could again be placed upon the track.

Gilbert Lamarr, charged with obtaining money under false pretences, pleaded not guilty in the Police Court yesterday. It appears he got paid for a load of hay guaranteed to contain 72 bundles, but when delivered, it was claimed that 32 bundles were missing. Lamarr claims that he kept back the 32 bundles as payment of an old account he had against the prosecuting witness.

ONLY THIRTEEN STRUCK OFF.

The Board of Revisors Finished Their Work Yesterday.

The Board of Revisors yesterday practically concluded its work by rendering a formal judgment in the case of the alleged tenants of No. 114 St. James Street, the old Montreal House and of the Sincennes-McNaughton Co.'s building. The number of the tenants in these buildings were thirteen. Decision has been reserved to allow them to appear to show cause why their names should not be struck from the lists. This morning they did not appear. Thereupon Mr. Drolet, the chairman of the Board delivered his decision. He explained that in the consideration of all the cases they had considered, that inscription on the assessment roll and the payment of taxes constituted a prima facie evidence which could not be set aside except by a direct contradiction. In the case of these thirteen tenants, witnesses had been produced who swore positively that they did not have a lease of the premises on which they were assessed. These witnesses were not contradicted, and therefore, under the law the revisors were bound to strike the names from the list.

After this judgment, Mr. Ames said that the doctrine that the assessors' rolls were infallible documents could not now be held. Proof had been produced that the revisors had acted in error. In view of this fact, he asked to have Mr. Desmarreau recalled to complete the evidence in the case of the alleged tenants of 1630 and 1638 Notre Dame Street.

Consequently out of 75 names to which exception was taken, only 13 are struck from the lists.
