THE CITY FATHERS MEET.

Cannot Afford to Abolish the Salary Tax Though the Minimum Upon Which the Tax is Levied May be Increased.

PREPARATIONS FOR ROYAL VISIT.

The Civic Platform and Who Are to be Invited to Seats Thereon—Letters re the Market Square Matter—Wires Must Go Underground on Wellington and Commercial Streets—Other Business.

The regular October meeting of the Council took place last night. Mayor Lamont presided, and there were present Messrs. Cate, Fortier, Cote, Lamont, Caron, Fuller, McManay, Thompson, Wilson, Olivier and Councillor Jencks.

The first order of business taken up was the "Market Square" matter. Councillor Fuller presented a petition from the residents on Armstrong avenue, Sherbrooke, asking for a drain or sewer to be laid in the Market Square. The petition was referred to the Sanitary Committee.

Councillor Fortier presented a petition from the residents at the north end of Windsor street, asking for extension of the water main. Referred to the Water Committee.

Councillor Fortier also had a petition signed by young men of the city asking for permission to establish a debating club in the city.

SALARY TAX QUESTION.

Councillor Cate presented the report of the Finance Committee. It recommended the payment to the E.T. Agricultural Association of the additional amount of $1000. The secretary of the association has submitted statements which showed the committee that the amount had been expended in permanent improvements.

The committee reported as follows regarding the salary tax question:

"The committee have carefully considered the petition of July 2nd, 1901, and certain ratemakers, asking that the minimum amount upon which the salary tax is levied be raised from $5.00 to $10.00 and further, that all ratemakers be taxed as tenants or property holders on the amount of the payment of the salary tax, and also, the petition of August, 1901, asking for the abolition of the salary tax or that it be so amended that tenants and property holders be exempted from the salary tax."

The committee cannot, in view of the requirements of the city, recommend the abolition of the salary tax, or that it be levied on tenants or proprietors of property. They would, however, favor the raising of the minimum amount upon which the salary is levied from $5.00 to such amount as may be determined by the Council. This amount, however, cannot be made until the next meeting of the Council. The committee has been obtained to 55 cents per Chap. 51-55 par. 3.

This report resulted in considerable discussion.

Councillor Cate in explanation of the report, stated that in view of the numerous signed petitions re salary tax the committee had felt that the matter deserved the very careful consideration, and that had been given it. Different cities had been communicated with and replies had been received from several, principally Ontario towns. There appeared to be a general law there which provided for an income tax which included a tax on the minimum in excess of $700. The Finance Committee was not quite in accord as to what the minimum amount upon which the salary tax should be imposed should be fixed at, but all, he believed, were agreed upon the principal that the salary, business and professional taxes were equally just. All were paying a certain sum for the privilege of doing business in the city. The salary tax was probably the most equitable of the three. The Finance Committee felt that the income of the city must be increased up and therefore, could not recommend the abolition of the salary tax or that it be so amended that tenants and property holders be exempted from the salary tax.

The mover and seconder of the motion finally consented to withdraw their motion for the present.

Councillor Thompson said he did not want to force a measure upon an unwilling council and he therefore, concurred with Councillor Jencks' suggestion that the motion be withdrawn for the present. In doing so he desired to express respect that in an important matter of this kind, represented as it was by one of the largest and most numerous signed petitions which had been of late presented, that the council did not seem disposed to take a firm stand either one way or the other, more particularly considering that this question had been before them so many times before.

Councillor Lamont in speaking to this motion, pointed out that the petitioners were nearly all men of large salaries. He would favor raising the minimum to $900.

Councillor Wilson inquired if the Council did not think it possible to secure the Government's sanction of an income tax.

The opinion was that the chances were not good, as attempts in this direction had always failed in the past.

OTHER REPORTS.

The various other reports of committees were read and adopted.

The Sanitary Committee reported 16 cases of contagious disease in the city, in September, 13 being of diphtheria and three typhoid fever. 10 were in the North Ward, 3 in Centre Ward and 3 in South Ward. The Sanitary Committee further reported that the work of extending the sewerage system had been pushed along as fast as the nature of the excavations would permit, and during the past month Belvidere in had been laid from Galt street to a point near the gate leading to the Sacred Heart Hospital, a distance of about 1400 feet with a portion of Drummond road, from junction of Galt and Belvidere street a distance of 500 feet. While during the same period some properties along the line of the sewerage system this season, have been constructed so far with the system.

LETTERS.

Several interesting communications were read by the Secretary.

The Poland Laundry Machinery Co. of Montreal, asked what arrangements the city would offer for the establishment of their manufacturing plant. They proposed to put in machinery to the value of $30,000 to $40,000, paying in wages from $200 to $250 weekly.

A letter was read asking for an election to be held at the corner of Portland and Quebec streets. Referred to the Sanitary Committee.

A letter was read from Messrs. Panneton & LeBlanc, demanding $50 damages on behalf of Jos. Lafamme for false arrest on 9th Sept. Referred to Police Committee.

Another letter from Panneton & LeBlanc, demanding $15 damages for Mr. C. S. Milette, East Sherbrooke, caused by defects in the ditch near his property. Referred to Road Committee.

A letter to the Mayor from Chas. N. Stevenson, M.D., inspector of public buildings, read as follows: "This is to certify that I have examined the Opera House and find it fully up to the requirements of the law governing such buildings."

THE MARKET SQUARE MATTER.

Mr. W. A. Hale in a letter to C. W. Cate, Esq., chairman of the Finance Committee, re market square, under date of Sept. 13th, said: "I was much pleased at seeing in the papers that you were bringing up the subject in the City Council of the enlarging of the so called 'square' in Sherbrooke, and trust that you may meet with all the encouragement that so important and public spirited enterprise deserves. There never will be a time when the properties that are required for this much needed improvement can be acquired at so reasonable a price as at present and your suggestion that the proprietors be offered the amounts of the city valuation should commend itself to all who have the interests of the city at heart. As far as the old Coffee House site is concerned I should be happy to promise it at what it is assessed at, which is only renewing an offer I made several years ago to Mr. LeBaron, when he, as a councillor, was interested in the matter. This I do not, because I would be willing to sell it at that price for any other purpose, but because I believe the opening up of such a square in the heart of the city would be eventually the means of increasing the values of real estate in all other parts of the town, to say nothing of the immediate improvement and attractiveness it would render to Sherbrooke. I can only wish you every success in this undertaking and if it is carried out in a generous spirit as regards the size of the square, would be pleased to subscribe $50 towards its embellishment."

The following letter was read from Mr. J. A. Archambault, also re the square: Sherbrooke, October 4th, 1901.

F. J. Griffith, Sec. Treas., Sherbrooke.

Dear Sir:—Yours of the 24th Sept. received with copy of resolution of City Council relative to purchase or expropriation of lot 159-8, Centre Ward. I demanded immediate answer. I do so as soon as I was able to confer with Messrs. King and Brown. As to my part of the property, I am willing—as I understood them to be to sell on the basis of last year's valuation and which has been the valuation for several years before. Why a reduced valuation this year was not known, the selling and rental values here, I suppose, come down, on account of the publicity given for over two months, to the intention of having the buildings expropriated and removed.

Yours truly,
(Signed), J. A. Archambault.

WIRES TO GO UNDERGROUND.

Councillor McManay stated that he had been informed by the City Attorney that the city had power under the charter as revised in 1899 to oblige the various companies to put their wires underground.

Councillor McManay moved, seconded by Councillor Olivier that the City Attorney be instructed to prepare a bylaw regarding the Electric, Telephone and Telegraph companies to put their wires underground in Wellington and Commercial streets. Carried.

AT THE STONE CRUSHER.

Councillor McManay stated that the Jencks Machine Company had offered to exchange a boiler such as required for the present boiler at the stone crusher for $300 additional. Councillor McManay moved, seconded by Councillor Olivier, that this offer be accepted.

THE COURT OF KING'S BENCH

The Case of Frank Haynes, Accused of Resisting an Officer of the Law, Continued.

The evidence re the King vs. Frank Haynes was continued yesterday afternoon before Court of King's Bench.

Moise T. Roy, preventive customs officer, from Auckland, being examined by the Crown, stated: "I know the prisoner at the bar. On the 9th of August last, Mr. Bassett, customs officer, requested me to help him in the seizure of goods and effects being in possession of Frank Haynes, on a property belonging to him in Hereford. The day after, Bassett, Kingsbury and I went on the property of the accused. We seized all the goods that were there, Mr. Bassett put me in charge of the effects seized. Haynes arrived when I was at the house and asked me if I had any business there. Three men were with him. He told me I had better get out. I did. One of them said: 'They won't get the horses. We are enough to kill them.' I heard them shooting when they got near Kingsbury and Bassett. Then they rushed at them; they took the horses away from there and left them loose. Haynes, the prisoner, was among those who attacked Kingsbury."

William C. Kingsbury was the next witness on behalf of the Crown. On the 10th of August last he went with Messrs. T. Roy and George Bassett to Frank Haynes' farm in Hereford, to make a seizure of agricultural implements that were bought in Vermont. They made the seizure and left Roy in charge, and Bassett and he seized horses in the pasture. They were attacked by four men, one of those men being Frank Haynes. He drew his revolver and told Haynes not to advance any further. The prisoner struck him four or five times. Somebody else struck him. They got him down and he lost consciousness.

The evidence for the Crown was concluded at 4 o'clock p.m., when the following witnesses were examined on behalf of the defence: J. H. Vandyske, Seilas Green. They testified as to the good character and honesty of the prisoner.

The Court was adjourned at 5 o'clock. The evidence on behalf of the defence was continued this morning.

Thomas H. Vandyske said that Kingsbury told him that somebody else than Haynes struck him.

William Sawyer said that Kingsbury met him after the seizure in his office. No trouble occurred there between Kingsbury and the prisoner, but between the latter and Bassett. Then Mr. Kingsbury came into his office and talked over Mr. Haynes. He told him: "You must stop that business." Mr. Kingsbury, in his opinion, was trying to quarrel with Mr. Haynes.

Amer Haynes testified to the good intentions of his father, the accused.

Frank Haynes, the prisoner, being examined by his attorney, said in substance: "I went down to my farm to cut hay, on the 9th of August last. I met Mr. Roy and Mr. Bassett there. They came to seize my horses. I went to get my horses. Then Kingsbury drew his revolver, but I cut it with my left hand. I was only three or four feet from Kingsbury, when he drew his revolver. It is untrue that I struck Kingsbury on that occasion. No angry words were spoken before Kingsbury drew his revolver. My object in going to my farm was to cut and mow hay. Every time I go from one to another farm I passed by Mr. Bassett's house. On the day after he gave the revolver to William Sawyer. He told him he had no intention of defrauding the Government when he passed over the line with his horses. I deny positively that I said that we were enough to kill the officers."

On being examined by the Crown, the prisoner gave about the same evidence. The Court adjourned then till two o'clock this afternoon.

A verdict is expected today.

Hunting Instinct Dying Out. Contrary to the general opinion, the Indian population is not decreasing in the Northwest.

In connection with the reserves, Dr. McKay, of the Presbyterian missions, says that it will soon be found advisable to have them divided among the Indians the same as the land is divided among the white men.

This progress and change in habits of life is very marked, but as yet they have not taken up farming with much enthusiasm. They are, however, in a fair way to doing so in a short while.

In the meantime their hunting instinct will have to be eradicated. At present it has reached a low ebb, by reason of the lack of big game.

Thus the laws of nature may compel them to settle down to the less exciting and harder method of earning a livelihood, namely farming.

The number of small game is wonderful. Prairie chickens and ducks are simply innumerable. Dr. McKay says at every step enormous flocks rise from the ground in front of the traveler and the lakes are simply covered with ducks.

AN HISTORIC FACT. Under the reign of King Louis XI

In the year 1469, King Louis XI suffered from weakness and debility; he was nervous, thin and pale, his eyes lost their brightness and became dull; his energy and strength were decreasing every day, so much so, that the court doctors had given up all hopes of recovery, when one of his courtiers, Count St-Michel, being proprietor of a vineyard which has since become famous the world over, offered to the king an exceedingly rich and ferruginous wine now known under the name of

VIN ST MICHEL

The wine proved to be really marvellous, for the King's health was completely restored in a very short time, and in order to show his gratitude to the Count, who had saved his life he created the order of St-Michel which still exists as well as the wine. The Vin St-Michel, which is sold at the present time, is produced by the same vineyard and contains the same blood-making and strengthening qualities, which no Anemia, no Weakness, no Debility can resist.

MAGOG. Oct. 7.—At the special meeting of the Town Council on Wednesday evening the question of shortage in the accounts of the electric light collector, Chas Foucher was again gone into and fully discussed. The council was made aware of the fact that the representative of the London Guarantee Company had been in Magog and given the matter full investigation. He was quite convinced of the shortage and notified Foucher that he would be given two days to make the amount good, after which time steps would be taken by the company to put the matter on a satisfactory basis. Mr. Foucher at once went to Montreal, where he has relatives, to make an effort to raise the money. At the meeting in question he told the council that he had been unable to raise the money but that he expected to hear from friends. This did not satisfy the city fathers and they then and there relieved him from further duties with the corporation, and engaged in his stead, for the time being only, an ex-policeman, Rene Gingras. So the matter stands awaiting action by the Guarantee Company. Foucher was under bonds to the town for the sum of $500. He came to Magog from Montreal about four years ago in answer to an advertisement for a policeman, fireman, etc. It cannot be said that he has proved to be a giant mission of the law, but has maintained a respectful attitude, and has been civil to all. His ability as a fireman, too, has been criticised in many quarters by some of our best people. Still there is much sympathy expressed for him.

At the last meeting of the Town Council, Mr. A. D. Boucher resigned his position as councillor, giving as his reason "old age." This makes the second member to resign in a short time. Difficulty is found in getting men sufficiently interested in local law and civic business to replace them. W. H. Bright has exchanged his town property on College St. with D. H. Tominio for his farm. Mr. Tominio comes into town to live. Mr. E. B. Worthington, Notary of Sherbrooke, was in town on Thursday, serving a protest on the corporation on behalf of the Dominion Cotton Mills Company, protesting against a certain name being used by them.

SCOTSTOWN. October 7.—The District Council of the R.T. of S. is to be held here on Wednesday, October 9th. We hope there will be a large attendance. Misses L. Black and L. Scott attended the teachers conference which was held at Milan by Mr. Parker, Inspector of schools. The "Royal Bute" Society has been started again. Mr. James Bennett, from Montreal, is visiting at Mr. J. Black's. Miss Nellie Locke, of Coxford, is spending a few weeks with her aunt, Mrs. L. Weston, at Mountain View Farm. Mr. Joseph Perkins, of Lowell, Mass., is also spending a few weeks at Mrs. Weston's.

Mr. William Irving arrived home from the West a few days ago and is getting ready to go to Lowell to spend a few weeks with his sisters. Mrs. Irving has arrived from Lowell after spending three weeks with her daughter and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Hicks after spending four weeks with her folks, here, left for Lowell accompanied by Miss Sarah Irving. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Snell visited Mr. and Mrs. Price on Sunday. Mr. John Mayhew met with an accident while driving two commercial travellers to Chechem recently. He was badly hurt, his arm being dislocated at the shoulder. Mr. Walter Mayhew is running the barber shop while his brother is ill. The R.T. of S. will hold an open lodge Wednesday evening in the town hall. First snow of the season came on Saturday night.

COMPTON. Oct. 7.—Sunday morning we got our first taste of winter. The ground was quite white with the first snow-fall of present season. It seems too soon to say good-bye to warm weather yet. Dr. Anglin and Mrs. Anglin, from Verdun, are visiting at B. F. Hitchcock's. Mr. Farnsworth is visiting at his sister's, Mrs. Lyman Q. Bliss'. Miss Porter, from Leeds, now teaching school at Moos River, was visiting at R. L. Craig's over Sunday. The Cheerful Workers of the Methodist Church, have presented to the church a beautiful hymnal board with cards complete. Mr. C. G. Craig led the Epworth League meeting last Sunday evening. Quite a number in this vicinity are suffering from severe colds, but the patients all seem to be making satisfactory progress.

Ward and Mr. John McFarlane were in East Angus Saturday on business. Mrs. Murray has been seriously ill with bronchitis, but is recovering. Mrs. F. J. Murray, of Montreal, who has been spending a month here on account of poor health, is improving.

A. Farwell and little daughter Beatrice are spending a few days with friends in Cooshoque. Mrs. Ben Labere, of Bulwer, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Gale. Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Sunbury are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Worthy, of Sawyerville. The ground was white with snow Sunday morning. Mr. Watt gave notice that on Sunday evening next there would be a service of song, interspersed with short addresses. Mrs. Robert Frye and daughter, much to the regret of a large circle of friends, have left for their new home in Gardiner, Mass. As the home system is only yet in partial operation one can hardly judge of its effects. Yet, on Saturday evening we noticed an increased amount of esuriance among the great unwashed. Mayor P. F. Dooley and Mr. B. Quinn went to Montreal yesterday morning upon important business. Robt. McDonald, of Toronto, late of South Africa, spent Saturday and Sunday with his old comrades, Corp. A. White. Quite an impetus has been given to the building trade here recently. With the building being fitted up for E. T. Bank and the rising of two other buildings for hotels, tradesmen are in good demand.

MISS STONE'S CASE. American Government Working to Save Missionary. Washington, October 7.—All the machinery of the Department of State is now at work to save from death or prolonged captivity Miss Ellen Stone, the missionary who was kidnapped in Turkey. Probably the ransom money must come from the mission board or from private contributions, for the State Department has no funds which may be used to pay the ransom. At 7 o'clock the trustees announced the total results of the fund at about $10,000.

Western Shippers Say Stock is Badly Handled. Winnipeg, October 7.—Mr. Gordon, the well known cattleman, in an interview, said: "Never in the history of the cattle industry has the stock been so badly handled as this season. Ninety-five per cent of the exporters endorse my statements. I have asked the G.P.R. for the last three years to provide suitable yards at Moosejaw, so that cattle from the West could be unloaded and watered. It has not been done. Mr. Cochrane, of the Cochrane ranch, sold cattle to be weighed off the cars in Winnipeg and to be watered in transit at Moosejaw. He personally examined the yards there and decided not to unload. There are no other yards suitable for unloading range cattle. It took him fifty hours to run from Lethbridge to Winnipeg. His cattle were more dead than alive when they arrived. Sixteen head were dead in the cars. A number of local shippers have decided to go out of trade unless they get dressed. Mr. Paul, of Medicine Hat, has 300 head ready for shipment, but refuses to ship and take the responsibility of delivering at Winnipeg in saleable condition. The management of this large system is controlled from Montreal, and it is impossible for them to understand the requirements and needs of the West by merely going over the system once or twice a year. I suggest that an official who has grown up in and knows the needs of the country be located in Winnipeg, with power equal to that of the vice-president, so that questions of vital importance could receive immediate attention without having to be submitted to Montreal."

A CANADIAN INVENTION.

Something about the Lee-Enfield rifle is being talked up in the city.

Critics have lately been talking up the Lee-Enfield rifle as scarcely good enough for the Canadian militiamen, yet with that same weapon a team of Canadian riflemen defeated a picked eight of Yankee shots in New Jersey last week, says the Galt Reporter.

James P. Lee, who is now residing in Salt, does not claim that the British national arm—his invention—is the best one in existence. Since the British Government accepted his model he has improved the magazine arrangement, but when conferred with the War Office refused to adopt the improvement. The latest Lee gun is the arm of the American navy; not, however, of the army, which uses the American "Krag." People who do not understand the ways of Yankee politicians will doubtless be puzzled over the rejection of the Lee gun by the War Department at Washington. The manufacturers of the Krag rifle have displayed a vast amount of finesse and securing recognition for their gun, but it must rather stagger them to find that in a duel between the Canadian arms of the two nations Canadian shots were able to prove conclusively the superiority of the Lee-Enfield. The longest range, especially, was the British weapon in the hands of our riflemen most effective.

IN ROYAL PARTY IN CANADA

TITLED MEN AND WOMEN WITH THE DUKE AND DUCHESS.

His Royal Highness the Duke of Cornwall and York's Fall Official Title—The Ladies of the Party—Duke's Querry Is the Son of a Canadian—The Duchess's Brother.

Who's who in the royal party, now touring in Canada?

Of the Duke and Duchess Canadians are well informed, but it would not be out of place to give him his official title. Here is how it goes:

"His Royal Highness Prince George, Frederick Ernest Albert, Duke of Cornwall and York, Duke of Rothesay, Prince of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, and Duke of Saxony, Earl of Carrick and Inverness, Baron of Renfrew and Killarney, Lord of the Isles and Great Steward of Scotland, K. G., P. C., K. T., K. P., G. C. M. G., G. C. V. O., LL. D., D. C. L."

And here follow a half a dozen jumbled alphabets.

The Duke is England's royal sailor, and he has all the bronze of a man who faces wind and weather on sea. He is fair, and bronzes as a fair man does—a ruddy hue. He is broad to the eyebrows, and his hands and wrists show the effects of exposure. He is a light-boned fellow of just above average height. He has small feet and hands, and moves with a wiry, springy stride of excellent health. He is not a powerful man, but he is agile and graceful. His Royal Highness would probably tip the scales at 150 pounds.

The Duchess resembles the Duke in build, complexion, and carriage. They are nearly of a height, about five feet eight inches, but the Duchess is the more composed of the two in public. During the reading of a recent address, His Royal Highness fidgetted continually with his hands. First the gray-gloved extremities were clasped across the body, and then he shifted behind his back and clenched the other or touched back a hair he imagined astray on his forehead. When his hands had settled down he became uneasy on his feet and shifted from one foot to the other.

The Duchess, on the contrary, watched the proceedings with evident interest. The Duke was attired in conventional attire, black throughout, with the exception of gray suede gloves. His only jewelry was a carved amber ring with a diamond scarf pin. The Duchess also appeared entirely in black. The flash of brilliant diamonds in watch-chain and corsage brooch and her snappy eyes alone relieved the monotony of the sombre mourning color.

The most important figure in the household of the Duke is Lady Mary Lygon, one of the Duchess's oldest friends, and her lady-in-waiting ever since she was married. Lady Lygon is a sister of Earl Beauchamp, one of England's most prominent peers, who was at one time Mayor of Worcester. Madresfield Court, Malvern Link, the Beauchamp country seat, is the finest residence in Worcestershire.

Lady Lygon is the most graceful dancer in the whole entourage. She is 32 years of age, the eldest of two sisters, one of whom is married to Lord Amphil, the private secretary of Joseph Chamberlain, while the other is the spouse of a Grenadier Guardsman, Capt. Lord Gordon-Gimhour. But Lady Lygon, despite her 32 years, requires champagne. Lady Catherine Grey-Coke, her duenna, is the eldest lady in the party. She is a daughter of the Earl of Wilton and the wife of a son of the Earl of Leicester. She is the granddaughter of the Earl of Derby, and was lady-in-waiting to the Duchess of Teck. One of Lady Coke's daughters, the wife of a Scots Guard Lieutenant-Colonel, is accounted the best amateur actress in all England, and this talent is hereditary, for Lady Coke is an accomplished actress herself.

The position of Hon. Mrs. Derek Keppel is a peculiar one. Her husband objected to leaving her for seven and a half months, and so she included in the party. She is affectionately called the superannuated sherry of the party. On England's shores remained the hope of the Keppel household, a baby. The Hon. Mrs. Keppel was Hon. Bridget Harbord before she entered the bonds of matrimony. The youngest daughter of the King's Lord of the Bedchamber, Lord Suffield, who was also lord-in-waiting to her late Majesty, Lord Suffield was chief of staff for the Prince of Wales during his visit to India. The "superannuated sherry" is a sister to Lady Hastings, Lady Musgrave, and Lady Carrington.

The Hon. Derek Keppel, the Duke of Cornwall's querry, is a brother of the Earl of Alberman and one of the beaus of London. His mother was a daughter of Sir Allen Napier, M.C.N.B. The Duke's querry is a remarkably handsome man, and his uniforms fit him so well that he almost puts the Duke of Cornwall in the shade. By the way, the naval uniform the Duke wears fits His Royal Highness like a glove does the hand. It really seems as if it would be impossible to release His Highness from the embrace of that uniform without sitting the main seams.

Hon. Derek Keppel, as he appeared at the ceremonies at Quebec the other day, was the most gorgeous figure in the parade, not even excepting Governor-General Jetté in famous rifle green and gold. The Duke's querry was a sapphire of gold and crimson, the most striking figure in the parade. Lord Wenlock is another man who is striking because of his good looks. He is a brother of Sir Arthur Lawley, and was Governor of Madras for five years.

The brother of the Duchess of Cornwall, Captain Prince Alexander of Teck, is also of the party. He is 27 years of age, and served through

CITY FATHERS MEET.

Royal reception committee, reported that the committee had the matter well in hand. It was proposed to erect a platform with arch where the royal visitors would be received. In view of the limited size of the civic platform and for other reasons the invitations for seats on the platform would be limited entirely to those occupying official positions in the city. This list would include the following with their wives, viz., members of Parliament, federal and local, mayor and members of the City Council, clergymen of all denominations, president of the Board of Trade, U.S. Consul, Judges, Colonel of the 53rd Regiment, Sheriff, Principal of Bishop's College. Provision would also be made for local and visiting representatives of the press. He understood that a larger stand would be erected opposite by private enterprise. Two or three bands would be secured. The expense, he believed, would be about $200. The programme, necessarily, would be brief, consisting chiefly of the presentation of an address.

The Indian chiefs from Caughnawaga also wished to make a presentation.

Councillor Wilton remarked that the impression was likely to go abroad that the population of Canada was half Indian. At nearly every place the white men and the Indians both presented addresses and figured in the reception.

Councillor Cate moved, seconded by Councillor Thompson, that the committee be authorized to go ahead and erect platform in accordance with the plan submitted by Mr. Archer.

A CANADIAN INVENTION.

Something about the Lee-Enfield rifle is being talked up in the city.

Critics have lately been talking up the Lee-Enfield rifle as scarcely good enough for the Canadian militiamen, yet with that same weapon a team of Canadian riflemen defeated a picked eight of Yankee shots in New Jersey last week, says the Galt Reporter.

James P. Lee, who is now residing in Salt, does not claim that the British national arm—his invention—is the best one in existence. Since the British Government accepted his model he has improved the magazine arrangement, but when conferred with the War Office refused to adopt the improvement. The latest Lee gun is the arm of the American navy; not, however, of the army, which uses the American "Krag." People who do not understand the ways of Yankee politicians will doubtless be puzzled over the rejection of the Lee gun by the War Department at Washington. The manufacturers of the Krag rifle have displayed a vast amount of finesse and securing recognition for their gun, but it must rather stagger them to find that in a duel between the Canadian arms of the two nations Canadian shots were able to prove conclusively the superiority of the Lee-Enfield. The longest range, especially, was the British weapon in the hands of our riflemen most effective.

IN ROYAL PARTY IN CANADA

TITLED MEN AND WOMEN WITH THE DUKE AND DUCHESS.

His Royal Highness the Duke of Cornwall and York's Fall Official Title—The Ladies of the Party—Duke's Querry Is the Son of a Canadian—The Duchess's Brother.

Who's who in the royal party, now touring in Canada?

Of the Duke and Duchess Canadians are well informed, but it would not be out of place to give him his official title. Here is how it goes:

"His Royal Highness Prince George, Frederick Ernest Albert, Duke of Cornwall and York, Duke of Rothesay, Prince of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, and Duke of Saxony, Earl of Carrick and Inverness, Baron of Renfrew and Killarney, Lord of the Isles and Great Steward of Scotland, K. G., P. C., K. T., K. P., G. C. M. G., G. C. V. O., LL. D., D. C. L."

And here follow a half a dozen jumbled alphabets.

The Duke is England's royal sailor, and he has all the bronze of a man who faces wind and weather on sea. He is fair, and bronzes as a fair man does—a ruddy hue. He is broad to the eyebrows, and his hands and wrists show the effects of exposure. He is a light-boned fellow of just above average height. He has small feet and hands, and moves with a wiry, springy stride of excellent health. He is not a powerful man, but he is agile and graceful. His Royal Highness would probably tip the scales at 150 pounds.

The Duchess resembles the Duke in build, complexion, and carriage. They are nearly of a height, about five feet eight inches, but the Duchess is the more composed of the two in public. During the reading of a recent address, His Royal Highness fidgetted continually with his hands. First the gray-gloved extremities were clasped across the body, and then he shifted behind his back and clenched the other or touched back a hair he imagined astray on his forehead. When his hands had settled down he became uneasy on his feet and shifted from one foot to the other.

The Duchess, on the contrary, watched the proceedings with evident interest. The Duke was attired in conventional attire, black throughout, with the exception of gray suede gloves. His only jewelry was a carved amber ring with a diamond scarf pin. The Duchess also appeared entirely in black. The flash of brilliant diamonds in watch-chain and corsage brooch and her snappy eyes alone relieved the monotony of the sombre mourning color.

The most important figure in the household of the Duke is Lady Mary Lygon, one of the Duchess's oldest friends, and her lady-in-waiting ever since she was married. Lady Lygon is a sister of Earl Beauchamp, one of England's most prominent peers, who was at one time Mayor of Worcester. Madresfield Court, Malvern Link, the Beauchamp country seat, is the finest residence in Worcestershire.

Lady Lygon is the most graceful dancer in the whole entourage. She is 32 years of age, the eldest of two sisters, one of whom is married to Lord Amphil, the private secretary of Joseph Chamberlain, while the
