Put clocks ahead Saturday midnight

There ought to be a Daylight Saving Time.

If that isn't the name of a popular song — it ought to be — and Saturday night it becomes a fact again, for the duration of the summer.

Yes, that's the story — put your clocks ahead an hour at or about midnight Saturday.

And don't forget — because there are penalties.

How would you like to get to church an hour late on Sunday, or to work an hour late Monday, or be an hour late when you showed up at the girl friend's house to call for her?

You wouldn't?

Then on Saturday, on or about midnight, put your clocks and watches ahead an hour. All of them.

And keep them that way until the autumn.

After midnight Saturday — believe it or not — we're on Daylight Saving Time.

Unity Boys' Club

Alumni Association suggested for club

By MAURICE MARIASINE

In connection with the 10th Anniversary Reunion of the Unity Boys' Club, which takes place at the Club on April 27, it has been proposed that an Alumni Association be formed and resolutions to this effect will be presented at the anniversary get-together.

An Alumni in a Boys' Club exists primarily for the rendering of service to the club. There are many values to be derived from such an association. It may be a fund raising project in certain areas of program and scholarship or it may provide service as volunteers or a resource for jobs for boys and girls not easily placed.

Before actual organization of an Alumni Association can begin, it would be wise for the club graduates to examine the climate, needs and interests of its members — things in the world that effect the way people live — the process of growing up in today's society. They must examine: inflation, transportation changes, rise of spectator activities, world affairs, tensions of the world, tensions in the home, lessening of family life, competition for attention, prosperity, good times, quality of educational standards, adolescent status (present as compared to yesterday), communications, mobility and the area of automation and the electronic age.

Needs must be determined: status and sense of responsibility, spiritual, sense of belonging, health education, controls, discipline (respect for others), understanding and guidance, closer family ties, expression of initiative, proper use of leisure time, education, goals, and self evaluation. Interests and programs can be varied. Probably the most interesting of all programs can be in community service. It is certainly something to think about and talk about and this reporter is looking forward to a lively discussion on the subject.

INVITATIONS EXTENDED: The 10th Anniversary Reunion Committee comprising Sylvia Rosvold as chairman, Colin McDonald, Mary Slaney and Douglas Brambell have sent out nearly 400 invitations to former club members to attend this special event. All those invited are urged to make reservations as soon as possible — this to facilitate organizational catering plans. In addition to dinner, other items on the agenda will include: presentations of awards, interviews with prominent members and entertainment by members of the Unity Boys' Club Talent Parade.

TICKETS AVAILABLE: The Unity Boys' Club Talent Parade, which has had considerable success this past year in local hospitals, church organizations and many other worthwhile institutions, and also at Lake Placid and Binghamton, New York for Rotary sponsored conventions, will appear at the Unity Boys' Club in a presentation for club members and members of the community on Friday, May 20. Tickets for this annual variety show are now available at the club.

The variety show will be held in conjunction with the Club's annual hobby show and Ladies Auxiliary food sale.

OTHER PROGRAM NOTES: Sandy Spence's track and field group plan to move outdoors soon . . . the annual Track meet will be held on May 28. All club handicraft classes continue to work at top speed in preparation for the hobby show exhibition . . .

Lady animal trainer tops Forum circus

One of the highlights of the Shrine Circus will be the performance of the blue-eyed strawberry blonde with a bonfire figure, Evelyn Currie, the only female animal trainer in the world, who will thrill young and old at the Forum from May 21 to May 28 when she puts her nine huge tigers and lions through a fast-paced, thrilling performance.

Evelyn was born in a tent show in Decatur, Tennessee, where her mother and father were then fulfilling an engagement as concessionaires. Her mother was an aerialist and her father — a Cherokee Indian — was a circus workman. "The love of my life is my cats," Evelyn assures the world. She lives with them, and cares for all their needs attentively. "They have to be carefully fed, bathed, watered, brushed and given medical attention. It's a 24 hour job."

Evelyn's interest in the big animals, dates from her earliest years. She was featured doing a toe-tap on an elephant's back on the carnival circuit at 13. A year later, she decided that a weekly salary was going to net her little in life. "I only went to school when it was possible," she laughs, "but I developed a good sense of arithmetic early!"

Evelyn learned to fight the cats in the cage. "You fight them with chairs. She remains in the cage with them at all times, going through a series of tricks, — swinging, rolling with her "friends" and fighting hand to hand. "They all have their claws and teeth" says Evelyn.

NEW BUILDING: Construction of the new home of the Reader's Digest has just begun at the corner of Redfern and St. Catherine, directly opposite the proposed new high school. The building will occupy a site used until recently as a vegetable garden by the Grey Nuns, opposite St. Leo's Church. Cost of the project will be about $2,000,000. The office will have an institutional rather than commercial character, containing no heavy equipment. Actual printing of Digest publications will remain with private Contractors in Montreal and Ste. Anne de Bellevue. The staff of Reader's Digest has grown to more than 400 persons in Montreal, making it extremely difficult to find rented quarters. Only 60% of the 45,000 square foot area will be occupied by the building — the rest going to landscaping.

Graham Gould to get NU nod?

Informed sources in Westmount, and the National Union Party, indicated at Tuesday night's party rally at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel that Graham Gould, 26 Edgehill road, will get the NU nod as a candidate in Westmount-St. George to oppose present incumbent, Richard Hyde.

It is generally believed the Provincial elections will be held in June, and it is expected Premier Antonio Barrette will announce the date early next week.

Mr. Gould is expected to be nominated to contest the seat, but no nominating convention date has been set as yet.

The National Union man would face Richard Hyde, who was elected in a by-election in 1955 and again the following year in the general election. He is a Liberal.

Mr. Gould is a Class C councillor for the City of Montreal.

As recently as last Monday there were no candidates even mentioned for the National Union ticket in Westmount. However, it is expected Mr. Gould will announce his intentions officially as soon as Premier Barrette sets the election date.

Premier Barrette made his first official visit to Montreal when he spoke at a mass meeting at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel on Tuesday to some 5,000 Party supporters, including many Westmounters.

Speaking mostly in French, Mr. Barrette switched to the English language briefly to make a plea for further co-operation between Quebecers of both languages. He told of his recent visit to Toronto, and invited English-speaking Quebecers to take a greater part in the public life of the province.

"We need your help, friendship and support," he said. "Together we can build a better Quebec and, in doing so, build a greater Canada."

Cool gunman hits store second time

A cool gunman strolled into a Westmount drug store Monday night, waved a revolver at the manager, collected $100, walked out to the street, hailed a taxi, and made good his escape.

This is the second time in two weeks the same store has been robbed.

I. Yampolsky, manager of the Metcalfe Pharmacy, 4451 St. Catherine street west, told Westmount police he believed the thief was the same man who held up the store on April 4 and took $200.

Two customers in the store were apparently unaware a holdup was taking place.

Westmount detectives, working under the direction of Sgt. Det. Ward, are still investigating.

Westmount Park show biggest yet

The 28th annual Spring Flower Show opened last Wednesday in the conservatories of Westmount Park. The show has drawn one of the highest selections of bulbs, plants and shrubs on record.

Flowers were grown from fresh tubers, seeds and stocks, some of them imported from Holland, and many have been growing since last fall, the time when conservatory workers begin planting for the spring show.

The colorful display ranges from the short hyacinths, bordering the green house paths with various strong colors, to the taller Easter lillies which have been arranged in the shape of a cross.

Included are the perennial favorites of Montreal gardens each spring: tulips, iris and daffodils, and the rarer polyanthas and snow flowers.

Altogether there are 17,794 pieces, over 16,000 of them grown from bulbs, almost 1,400 of them plants, more than 300 roses and shrubs.

The spring show is one of four which the Westmount Park conservatory officials put on a year, one each season.

There are no radical innovations in the type of flowers on display, a conservatory official said, but the success with which the plants have flowered makes the show outstanding.

Declaring the show officially open, Mayor J. C. Cushing, speaking at a reception, said the display appeals to all persons, whether they are interested in gardening or not, "because it promises new life, new thought, new energy."

The show will be open for three weeks, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays.

Potential candidate seeks clarification

Sir:—I would like to clear up a few points about the article entitled "Hendry announces election intention" which appeared in The Examiner two weeks ago.

The article stated that a Bob Hendry, 23 years old, a news broadcaster at CBM Radio Station, and a resident of Chesterfield avenue in Westmount, had announced that he would be a candidate in the riding of Westmount-St. George in the forthcoming provincial general election.

I believe that the Bob Hendry referred to was actually myself — Donald Hendry.

It is true that I have been approached with the idea of standing for election in Westmount-St. George, as well as in one other riding in the Montreal district. However, I have never said that I would definitely be a candidate.

My decision will be announced within the next few weeks.

Marler raps Quebec lack

Hon. George Marler, former St. Antoine-Westmount Liberal member in Ottawa, and former Minister of Transport, told a gathering of supporters of Richard Hyde, the sitting provincial member for Westmount - St. George, that the lack of competitive bidding on highway contracts was the reason for the deplorable state of the roads in Quebec.

"In Ontario," he said, "road contracts are open to competitive bidding. Several contractors send in tenders. The one with the lowest bid, and offering the best arrangements, is chosen."

Mr. Marler said open bidding was not in practice in Quebec. "There should," he said, "be bidding for roads, schools and other public buildings. This would assure the best results."

Hyde platform to lower taxes

Richard Hyde, incumbent Liberal for the Westmount-St. George riding in the Provincial Legislature, told a political rally recently that if his party were elected in the forthcoming elections, they would carry out a program to lower income taxes.

Mr. Hyde, first elected in a 1955 by-election and re-elected in the regular 1956 election, said "when I was elected in 1955 I promised to reduce the tremendous amount of taxes Westmount-

WE SAY YOU SAY

Our 'best run city' was run by Hughes

THERE is little doubt Tom Hughes, despite the comings and goings of mayors and City Councils of calibre from good to best, provided the stiff, formal, aloof, correct — and always coldly efficient — aspect of the administration of the City of Westmount.

We often have called Westmount the best run city in Canada.

Tom Hughes ran it.

Even the austere announcement of the retirement last Thursday of Mr. Thomas J. J. Hughes as the City's general manager, though coming from Mayor Cushing, bore the unmistakable Hughes stamp. It is difficult to imagine any announcement, even this one, without his hand.

One wonders, sincerely, if Westmount will be the same without Mr. Hughes at the helm as undisputed boss. Nearly half a century of service to the City has culminated.

The Examiner is well aware that in its tilts with secrecy in public matters at City Hall it has, in no small measure, been tilting with Mr. Hughes.

We wish him well in his hard-earned retirement.

And we congratulate Mr. Norman T. Dawe, his well qualified successor.

A tribute paid to Thomas J. J. Hughes

Sir:

Almost half a century of loyal, devoted and efficient service in serving an employer is a record of which one can well be proud. It is an achievement more particularly when the employer is a municipality whose citizens belong to the several professions or occupy important executive positions.

A public servant having high and responsible office must, in the carrying out of his duties, not only possess ability of a high order but be tactful, courteous and ready at all times to respond to the needs and where advisable carry out practical suggestions coming from members of the Council or taxpayers.

Managing a municipality calls for special knowledge and an appreciation of changes that make for the comfort and convenience of the citizens. Westmount's City Manager dedicated his outstanding talents and experience to the city which is regarded as the best and most efficiently administered in Canada. Its unique situation lends itself to that embellishment which earned the spontaneous admiration of visitors and generated a pride in its residents, manifested wherever it is mentioned.

In a sense, it is an aristocratic city since the majority of those who dwell within its borders are persons who belong to the so-called wealthy class.

The several administrations under whom he served were guided in large measure by the counsel they received from the General Manager. They were aware and appreciated the fact that he thought and labored for the city they served with a like dedication. A former mayor stated that General Manager Hughes was selfless in his dedication.

Examiner Profile

She has taught 15,000 children

"THE trouble with youngsters today is that they don't know how to concentrate. As a result they have bad memories, forgetting what they're taught from one minute to the next."

The woman who uttered the above statement did so with the conviction gained from more than three decades of teaching children in the classroom and in the dance studio.

Mary Beetles is a petite woman whose sprightly, rhythmic walk and tremendous energy belies her age. She has taught too many children — at least 15,000 according to her estimates — and coped with their parents to temper her criticisms of the present generation.

The present generation is the hardest to teach, she believes, and places the blame primarily on parents who fail to insist on, and supervise, study and practice.

Her criticism of today's parents stems, in large part, from the memories she has of her father and the wonderful role he played in her early cultural development.

Miss Beetles was born in Brighton, Eng. and was a Gold Medalist at the Royal Academy of Music, London. Though trained as a concert pianist she discarded a career as a soloist and became a professional accompanist. She studied ballet under Madame Wordsworth and Espinosa, ballet master of the Alhambra School in London.

She admits to a total lack of ambition in her early years regarding pursuit of a professional career as either a concert pianist or ballet dancer, although she exhibited sufficient talent to pursue either career.

"My father, an auditor by profession, had a deep interest in all things cultural and was an excellent dancer, himself," Miss Beetles explains.

"He imparted his love of music and dancing to me when I was very young and exposed me to good music and ballet as often as possible. I was brought up on opera and at the age of six could follow the score of The Messiah, my favorite."

Miss Beetles' early ambition was far removed from these fields. She wanted to be a nurse but her parents were against this. Moreover applicants with impaired eyesight were rejected as nurses then, and this served as an added deterrent.

Miss Beetles then entered the teaching profession to please her father and after a period of time as a teacher she opened her own school in London for exceptional students who felt uncomfortable or were too shy to attend regular schools.

She maintained the school for five years until her father's death midway through the First World War and the death of several of her pupils due to a diphtheria epidemic so disturbed her emotionally that she decided to leave England and come to Canada.

She arrived in Montreal in 1921 with her mother who one day noticed an ad in the paper that was to change the course of Miss Beetles' life and eventually result in the establishment of one of the city's most popular dancing schools.

The ad sought a pianist for a dance studio — the Sheffer Dance Studio and resulted in a ten-year tenure for Miss Beetles during which she held the posts of teacher, secretary and pianist.

In 1931 she opened her own school on Sherbrooke street west and then built her present building on Decarie boulevard.

Miss Beetles' strong interest in ballet brought her into contact with many groups locally and nationally. She was one of the founders of the Province of Quebec Dance Teachers' Association and is a past president. She is a member of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Ballet Festival Association; a vice-president of the National Ballet Guild, Montreal branch, and vice-chairman of the N.D.G. Arts and Letters Festival.

She is proudest of the fact that several times she has numbered three generations of the same family among her pupils. Most of her pupils are girls because, as she explains, "Canada is not prepared to accept the idea of its young boys taking dancing lessons. They're considered sissies."

In this respect fathers are most to blame, Miss Beetles feels. "They want them to take up football or hockey, to be 'he-men', but there is nothing sissified about dancing," Miss Beetles asserts.

"It is an excellent means of physical conditioning, teaches poise and balance, develops discipline and personality, and almost always encourages a developing interest in other forms of culture."

In her opinion the influence of TV with its wide exposure of ballet performers such as the Russian troupe that earned such wide acclaim, will lead more and more young males to dancing class in the next generation when today's youngsters become parents and hold different views than that of their fathers.

Miss Beetles emphasizes that her school is not a training school for potential professionals although many of her pupils have gone on stage. Among them are Ann Holland, with Radio City, New York; Bob Ito, with the National Ballet Company; George Erskine Jones, well-known choreographer in London, Eng.; Babs Heath who was a member of the cast of My Fair Lady, and Marilyn Rollo active in Toronto TV.

Among the many accolades given her during the years she treasures most the fact that she is one of the two women in Canada who have been made "lady Kinsmen". Miss Beetles was the first (in 1956) to become an honorary member of the service organization, a tribute paid her in recognition of her assistance for the past 18 years to the Kinsmen Club of Montreal to which she has donated the proceeds of her school's recitals.

"I feel that the efforts of my children who are better off should be used to help the less fortunate," she explains. She also formed the Ballet Entrenous, two companies of dancers that put on special shows for charitable events. The children operate their own companies under her supervision, but by giving them the responsibility for the show, Miss Beetles feels they are encouraged to learn to think for themselves.

When not busy supervising her staff of 22 who teach piano, dancing and dramatics to the 750-odd children attending the studio each year, Miss Beetles relaxes with her hobby, the keeping of scrapbooks.

But even this has been turned to good use in that she has become the official scrapbook keeper for the N.D.G. Arts and Letters Festival and for the National Ballet Guild.

There's one thing worse than having only yourself to blame and that's realizing it.

There's one thing worse than having only yourself to blame and that's realizing it.

McLearn and Hugh B. Thompson, St. Matthias troop; Stephen H. Burt, Weredale House; and Michael G. Shannon, 1st Westmount troop.

Having presented the certificates, the Lieutenant-Governor will address the Queen's Scouts briefly; and one of them will formally thank him.

Most of the boys and their parents will go to Quebec to train and immediately on arrival all the Scouts will go to the parliament buildings for assembly and instructions. The boys and their Scoutmasters will be seated on the floor of the Chamber along with the Lieutenant-Governor's party; parents and other spectators will sit in the balcony. Representing the Association will be Allan T. Corner and G. Robley Mackay, provincial president and commissioner respectively.

As each Scout is presented, he will receive from the Queen's representative a certificate bearing this message:

"As a Queen's Scout you have prepared yourself for service to God and your fellow-men and have shown yourself a worthy member of the great Scout brotherhood. May you continue, under God's guidance, to gain courage and strength to enable you fully to discharge your duty to your Country."

The certificate is signed by Major-General Vanier in his capacity as Chief Scout for Canada, and the name of each Queen's Scout is hand-lettered on his certificate, the work of (Continued on page 7)

Westmounters cop top prizes in poster show

Westmount youngsters played a prominent part in the third annual poster contest sponsored by the CSPCA as they walked off with four prizes and two honorable mentions.

First prize in the 13-year-old group went to Martin Frosst, 3050 Trafalgar, while third prize in the same division went to Jane Francis Horner, 3262 Cedar avenue.

The two honorable mentions were Jennifer Dixon, 343 Roslyn avenue, and Katie Taylor, 3555 Atwater.

Entries received totalled 1,510 from 125 schools—14 of them from outside the Island of Montreal.

The judges in the contest were: Mrs. Robin Watt, Mrs. Allan G. Magee, and Miss Marie Senecal. Mrs. James F. MacFarlane was chairman of the contest.

The prizes were presented to the various winners by the president, Mrs. F. W. R. Angus.

The posters will be on view until April 23 at the S.P.C.A. shelter, 5215 Namur.

Fishermen's do's, don'ts for safety

With the fishing season just around the corner, the Quebec Safety League has issued a list of do's and don'ts for fishermen planning to use boats.

Here are a few hints to be followed:

1. Before leaving shore, make sure your boat is not leaking and your outboard is in good working condition.
2. Carry an ample supply of gas and don't smoke while filling your tank.
3. Equip your boat with strong oars, good anchoring facilities and lifejackets.
4. Do not stand or change seats in boats.
5. Never use a boat when visibility is poor or weather gets rough.
6. Avoid speeding on lakes and rivers.
7. When casting, fishermen should be careful in the handling of spoons, plugs, hooks and flies.

If these safety reminders are followed, the number of fishermen killed, drowned or injured should be greatly reduced, the league stated.

INSURE THAT BEAUTIFUL SMILE

Strong straight teeth in a well shaped jaw are usually the result of good dental care in childhood. Starting at three years of age, a youngster should pay regular visits to his dentist so that early troubles or need for repairs can be attended to before the second teeth can be injured through neglect of the first.

Local man to compete in parachuting meet with U.S. Army team

Ft. Bragg, N.C. — Second Lt. James P. Pearson, 55 Aberdeen avenue, Westmount, placed fifth in the U.S. Parachute Team tryouts which ended here Thursday, April 14.

A member of B Co., 1st Airborne Battle Group, 325th Infantry, 82nd Airborne Div. and the 82nd Airborne Div. Sport Parachute Club, Lt. Pearson scored 1,981.6 points in the two events, accuracy landing and turn manoeuvres.

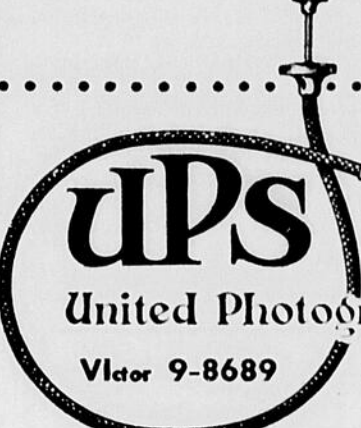

A veteran of 423 parachute jumps and 180 freefalls, he previously has competed in the Pacific Northwest Intercollegiate Meet, in which he placed first; the 1958 U.S. Team Tryouts, third; Ft. Bragg National Invitational Meet, first place.

The seven winners, all from Ft. Bragg and all members of the Strategic Army Corps (STRAC) Sport Parachute Team, will train for competition in the Fifth World Championship Parachuting Meet in Sophia, Bulgaria, in August.

The top five of the seven actually will go to Bulgaria to compete, with four parachutists comprising the team and one alternate.

Unless they eat the white man's food, Canada's Eskimos never have teeth trouble. Dentists think the explanation is the Eskimo diet of raw meat, plus the chewing of animal hides to soften them for fashioning into clothes.

City Manager retires — almost

The man who knew Westmount "way back when", and who has kept up with its development through his 48 years of service to the city, retired last Thursday.

Thomas J. J. Hughes, former engineer's assistant, instrumentman and draughtsman, supervising engineer, assistant city engineer, assistant city general manager and finally general manager, has retired in name only — he will be kept on (after a brief vacation) as an advisor to the city, working on by-law revisions and the city charter.

Mr. Hughes joined the City of Westmount as an engineer's assistant, at a salary of $12 a week, in 1912, when horse-drawn vehicles were the only way to get to the top of the mountain — or on foot.

He has seen the population grow from a small community of about 15,000 to the present population of more than 30,000. He has the satisfaction of knowing Westmount is known as one of the best run cities in Canada.

Mr. Hughes will be succeeded by 40-year-old Norman T. Dawe, who joined the city in 1947 as Personnel officer, and who became the assistant general manager in 1956.

Mr. Hughes was honored recently at a retirement dinner attended by Mayor J. C. Cushing, the City Council, four former mayors and three department heads.

Mr. Hughes recalled his early days with the City when the city offices were located in what is now the police and fire station on Stanton street. The draughting office where he worked has since become the cell block.

He describes his duties over the years as happy, but with "little time left for leisure."

Born in Kent, England, Mr. Hughes came to Canada in 1910 at the age of 15, starting in the employ of the city in 1912.

His service was interrupted in 1914 when he enlisted in the original 21st Battery of Westmount, which later became the 5th Battery, Second Brigade, 1st Division. He transferred to the 2nd Battery of Ottawa, C.F.A., and served throughout World War I.

He rejoined the city in 1919 as instrumentman and draughtsman, becoming a supervising engineer in 1925; assistant city engineer in 1930; assistant to the general manager in 1939. In 1945 he was named assistant general manager, and in 1950 was appointed general manager.

THOMAS J. J. HUGHES

Recalling the 'good old days', Mr. Hughes said he remembered, as an engineer's assistant, laying out new streets through the nine-hole golf course in what is now the Lansdowne-Sunnyside-Upper Belmont area. "In those days, when we went out on a survey party, we used to stop twice for a rest on our way to the summit. It was a tough climb with all the equipment."

Mr. Hughes was instrumental in the completion of Westmount's first major street-widening program on Cote St. Antoine road, and also improvements on Westmount avenue, The Boulevard and Sherbrooke street.

Speaking of Westmounters, he said they have been "most patient and appreciative of the services performed . . . and criticism has been negligible."

Having worked for 11 mayors in his 48 years service, Mr. Hughes paid them and their councils tribute: "No other community has been as well served by its elected officers than Westmount. One could not have received better co-operation."

A strong supporter of the council-manager form of municipal government, Mr. Hughes noted that Westmount was the first in Canada and the 15th on the continent to adopt the system. Today there are 1,500 similar communities in North America, 36 of them in Quebec. He served as president of the provincial chapter of the International City Managers' Association in 1957 — a group he has been associated with since 1940.

He is a Freemason, having formerly been a Master in the Westmount Lodge. He is also a member of the Rotary Club of Westmount and of the Institute of Public Administration of Canada. For the past two years he has served on the associate committee on National Fire Codes of the National Research Council.

An active church worker, Mr. Hughes has served as rector's warden at St. Jude's Anglican Church for more than 25 years. He is married to the former Marjorie B. Fowler and they have two sons — but neither is in civic administration. Donald John, 33, is a high school teacher, and David James, 30, an insurance underwriter.

The Catholic Hour

The guest speaker on the Catholic Hour broadcast this Sunday over Station CJAD at 1:35 will be Reverend Royden Thomas, assistant priest at St. Augustine of Canterbury Church.

The subject of Father Thomas' talk will be "Faith Triumphant".

Norman T. Dawe named new general manager

A veteran of 13 years of service to Westmount, Norman T. Dawe, has been named to succeed Thomas J. J. Hughes as City Manager it was announced Thursday by Mayor J. C. Cushing at a small retirement dinner for Mr. Hughes.

Mr. Dawe, who has been Assistant General Manager administrative officer of the civil defence, and executive assistant to the general manager.

Mr. Dawe is a graduate of Sir George Williams University, where he received his B.A. Degree. He also studied at Macdonald College, and was a teacher with the Protestant School Board of Montreal between 1940 and 1947.

He saw service with the Canadian Army during 1943 and 1944.

Mr. Dawe is a member of the International City Managers' Association, the Canadian Welfare Council, Montreal Personnel Association, Public Administration Service, and is a director of the Mackay Institute for the Deaf.

Recently he returned from the University of Pittsburgh, where he completed post-graduate studies at the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs.

NORMAN T. DAWE

since 1956, will take up his new duties immediately.

A native Montrealer, he is married and has three sons.

He joined the City of Westmount as personnel officer in 1947, subsequently being appointed supervisor of welfare,

Rev. D. Pourchot to preach at Christ Memorial

At Christ Memorial Lutheran Church, currently meeting at Somerled School, the speaker at the 11 a.m. service will be the Rev. Daniel Pourchot, former minister of the Lutheran Church, Paris, France. His theme for the sermon will be 'Peace Unto You'.

McKeldin, Comay guest speakers at 36th Annual Histadrut Dinner

Governor Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin of Baltimore, Maryland, and Israel's first ambassador to Canada, Michael S. Comay, will be the guest speakers at the 36th Annual Histadrut Dinner to be held in the Grand Salon of the Queen Elizabeth Hotel, Tuesday, April 26, at 6:30 p.m.

The two outstanding speakers will be among the many guests who will this year honor Bernard M. Bloomfield, 3180 St. Sulpice road, Westmount, president of the Canadian Association for Labor Israel, and Major Louis M. Bloomfield, QC, chairman of the Montreal Histadrut Campaign, who have given 15 years of devoted service to pioneering Israel.

Gov. McKeldin, who has enjoyed a colorful political career and who is currently the Republican candidate for mayor of Baltimore, has been and continues to be one of Israel's staunchest friends and supporters. He has worked diligently on behalf of the young state even while burdened with the heavy duties of governor of the State of Maryland.

At the Republican National Convention of 1952 in Chicago, Mr. McKeldin delivered the address that placed the name of General Dwight D. Eisenhower in nomination for the presidency of the United States. In the ensuing campaign he was active in promoting the election of General Eisenhower, not only in Maryland but in various states, particularly through the South.

He is the recipient of the 1952 and 1954 Freedoms Foundation Awards, the Sydney Hollander Foundation Award for the promotion of better interracial relations, International Youth's Distinguished Service Citation of the International Society of Christian Endeavor, the Twentieth Annual Citation of the Brotherhood of Temple Ohabei Shalom of Boston, Mass., for furthering the cause of human brotherhood, and the Histadrut Award for outstanding aid and service to the State of Israel.

Ambassador Comay is well known to Montreal and Canadian Jewry. Now permanent Representative of the State of Israel to the United Nations, he was Israel's first Minister to Canada in 1953. The following year, when the status of the Israel Legation at Ottawa was raised to that of an Embassy, he was appointed Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary and served there for more than three years.

Residents complain about MTC services in Upper Westmount

A recent decision by the Post Office to obliterate the name of the City of Westmount on its list of approved mailing addresses by substituting Montreal 6 in its place, and the prompt action of The Examiner which resulted in a reversal of this decision, has brought calls and letters from residents who wish us to investigate the MTC bus schedules within the city confines.

One resident complains bitterly about the bus service on The Boulevard. "Bus 66," she said, "on The Boulevard — one behind the other until three of them are piled up at one stop. Those unfortunate enough to miss these three must wait about 15 minutes for the next batch."

Another complained about buses speeding along The Boulevard and "their disregard for red lights."

One resident complained about the inconvenience to shoppers living in Upper Westmount who frequent the stores on Sherbrooke street.

"Shoppers have to walk from Victoria to Claremont," a recent letter said, "or take a bus two blocks and transfer to the 124."

Official routing for the 124 bus is from Westmount station, north on Victoria to Sherbrooke, west to Claremont and north on Claremont.

It would seem, at least from the tone of the letter, it was easier to walk from Victoria to Claremont on the north side than to walk to the south-east corner of Victoria and Sherbrooke to get the bus.

Trans-Atlantic bookings heavy

Bookings and enquiries for steamship space on the two Home Lines vessels "Homeric" and "Italia" are 30 to 40% higher this year than in 1959.

According to Mr. U. Nordio, head of Home Lines in Canada, more and more people are appreciating the delights of an ocean voyage. Also the great number of outstanding events in Europe such as the Olympic Games in Rome and the Eucharistic congress in Munich have helped to induce many Canadians to travel to Europe this year.

The Line's flagship "Homeric" will return from cruise service to the St. Lawrence-to-Europe run in April, and the "Italia" is due back in her St. Lawrence berth in June, after making a short cruise from Boston to Montreal via St. Pierre Miquelon.

The first sailing of the "Homeric" from Montreal to Southampton, Le Havre and Cuxhaven (Germany) is scheduled for April 23.

Altogether 17 sailings are scheduled for "Homeric" and "Italia" from April to November 1960.

Brott conducts Handel program

Alexander Brott will conduct the last concert of this season given by the McGill Chamber Orchestra on Monday evening, April 25, at Christ Church Cathedral at 8.45 p.m. The entire program will be devoted to the music of G. F. Handel.

The soloist on this occasion will be Kenneth Meek, whose intimate knowledge of the organ style of this period is well known to Montreal music lovers. With the McGill Chamber Orchestra he will perform organ concertos no. 4 op. 4 and no. 10, op. 7. Mr. Brott will conduct the chamber orchestra in two concerti grossi, no. 10 in D minor and no. 12 in B minor.

Handel wrote all 12 of his concerti grossi for strings in an amazingly short period of time, from September 29th, to October 30th, 1739, and published them by subscription at a price approximating ten dollars a set. For breadth in form, variety of material, nobility of thought and richness of melodic ideas there is nothing in the concerto grosso literature to surpass Handel's works. Handel himself was very proud of these concertos. Philip Hale, in his Boston Symphony program notes expressed the opinion that they should be performed as in Handel's time, with varied expression and inflection.

HOBBY SHOW: Young Pat Ockenden inspects some of the exhibitions turned in by young Westmounters at the 24th annual Westmount Boys' and Girls' Hobby Show which opened Wednesday. The show includes a musical and entertainment festival, gymnastic and games displays, handicraft exhibits and a pet show.

Champion competes for Cushing Trophy at Westmount YMCA

The 24th annual Westmount Boys' and Girls' Hobby Show was opened on Wednesday night by Frank Heron of the CBC. The music and entertainment festival was held following the opening ceremony.

Last night the Boys' Gymnastic Championships took place with approximately 22 athletes competing for the Mayor J. C. Cushing Trophy and the Junior Boys' Hobby Show Gymnastic Trophy. Among the competitors was Dodd Dixon, the Ontario-Quebec all-around champion, as well as other outstanding gymnasts.

This afternoon the games tournament will be held at 2 p.m. and tonight some 37 girls will compete for the Edgar Charbonneau and Junior Girls' Hobby Show Gymnastic trophies.

Tomorrow afternoon the pet show will commence at 2:30 p.m. Those who will be exhibiting their pets are asked to be at the "Y" at 2 p.m. The closing ceremonies will take place at 8 p.m. with Mr. L. M. Bovaird, superintendent of the municipal Department of Parks and Highways, officiating. Exhibits must be picked up at 9 p.m. following the presentation of prizes and trophies.

In addition to the above special events, the Hobby Show is open to the general public this afternoon from 3 to 5:30 p.m., and tonight from 7 to 10 p.m. Tomorrow the exhibits will be on display from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 8 p.m. immediately preceding the closing ceremonies.

Fencing is a big-time operation at Westmount "Y" under the skilled direction of Steve Vamos, our instructor. In the competition for the Carling Trophy in Toronto recently, we were represented by Carl Swende who came second in the Men's foils, Herbert Obst who placed fifth and Dave Robins who came seventh. Maris Plus placed sixth in the ladies' foils while Elizabeth Hullay, who courageously entered, failed to place. Better luck next time, Elizabeth! The trophy was won by American swordsmen.

Fencing, swimming, hobbies highlight spring program

The hounds of spring are hard on winter's traces and nowhere is it more evident than at Westmount "Y". Just finished is our spring exhibition in the gymnasium where our gym classes, gymnasts, fencers, and even our swimmers, helped John Ray stage his "Around the World in Eighty Minutes."

With the best gymnasts in Quebec, such as Dodd Dixon, Werner Ople and Ernie Smith, and the best fencers, such as Hubert Obst, Luigi Calderisi and Elizabeth Hullay, our spring parade could not fail to be successful.

Thanks are also due to indefatigable efforts of our leaders' corps who helped to whip the show into shape and led the demonstrations on the floor.

Our next big event, (and it is still spring, remember?) is our Hobby Show, which opened its doors to the public on Wednesday, and will close on Saturday, April 23. Do not fail to see it — every imaginable hobby is represented and if you didn't enter your hobby this year you may want to next year — subject to the rules of course!

The Westmount YMCA has staged a hobby show every year since 1957 when Frank Common was president of the show and Harold Beall was secretary of the "Y". Today Judy Davis is president of our 24th Hobby Show and Lloyd Welton is our Executive Secretary.

In the Hobby Show are sections for such things as Art (Maureen Atkin and Judy Bryant in charge), Indoor Athletics (Doreen Connors), Photography (Rod Holmes), Music and Entertainment (Suzanne Langlois), Crafts (Barbara Clarke), Collections, Pets and several others. Sue Mackenzie looks after publicity and prizes and Dave Developo looks after advertising.

So far as we know, it is the biggest and best hobby show in town — in fact it is the only one. If your hobby is photography like Ron Watt, stamp collecting like me or chasing . . . well, never mind . . . but be sure to have your hobby entered.

Almost every day all winter we have one, two or more earnest students in our tank, learning how to swim. And every

The empty tomb

By

The Venerable

R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.,

Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

IT is always hard to accept a unique fact which lies outside the possibility of proof. Some people find it beyond their capacity to accept the Resurrection of Jesus. The New Testament is perfectly frank about it. Thomas doubted, and St. Matthew tells us that others doubted. There have been others who have found various reasons for doubting. For instance, the four Gospels and the Acts and St. Paul do not exactly agree with one another. The accounts were written down, some 25 years after the event, and some 65 years. And some say it is not reasonable to believe them.

There are disagreements in the details of the story. Some speak only of appearances in Jerusalem. Some tell of our Lord appearing in Galilee.

That is exactly the kind of disagreement in detail that we expect in the telling of an event so tremendous as the Resurrection. If all the accounts agreed perfectly we should say that the witnesses had copied one another and that there was really only one witness. The same is true in the Christmas story.

But likt the Christmas story, the Resurrection stories agree in the most important facts:

The Tomb was empty and the Apostles were assured that Jesus had risen, and presently they were equally sure that He had appeared to them and had talked with them on several occasions.

It was not as though they had expected a Resurrection, in spite of the warnings of Jesus. They did not act like men with any expectations. They had hoped that it should have been He which should have redeemed Israel, but now their hope was gone. It was not till Mary of Magdala saw the Risen Lord, and Peter and the Beloved Disciple saw the evidence of the empty Tomb, that they believed.

The faith of the disciples was not yet complete; that required the gift of the Spirit; but it least they were satisfied. They remained together in Jerusalem and they went quietly about the task of filling up their number. They had gone a long way from the fearful and confused body of disciples who met behind locked doors; and their change was due to one single thing—their Master had risen from the dead, to die no more; death had no more dominion over Him.

Sometimes it's okay to play with matches

Finding he had nearly 2,000 wooden safety matches on his hands, bus-boy Klaus Todte in The Queen Elizabeth's Salle Bonaventure resisted the temptation to light 2,000 bonfires. Instead he patiently glued together 1,800 of the matches to build a model Eiffel Tower.

"The other 200 matches were used to light cigarettes," says the 21-year old hotel employee who lives at 1113 Greene avenue, Westmount.

Once German-born Klaus had built the two-and-a-half foot model, he felt it would be a shame to leave it in his room where no one could see it. So he brought it to the The Queen Elizabeth, fitted it with 14 tiny blue and green lights and had it accepted as a display piece in the Salle Bonaventure, the hotel's supper club.

It nearly every day for two weeks after 2 a.m. when I returned from work at the hotel."

Klaus came to Canada eight months ago from Germany, where he had been working at the Berlin Hilton. The slight, dark-haired young man wanted to learn English and to be nearer to his sister, Inger Fravel, who lives in Hartford, Conn.

The Eiffel Tower is his first project with match-sticks, although he has done many small displays for the hotel, including a Napoleon with a wine-glass body and a hat made from wine-bottle labels, and several posters.

Klaus plans to make another Eiffel Tower in a few months. "But next time I'll leave enough space for a miniature elevator," he says.

"We felt that with the lights the airiness of the model is similar to that of the real tower with the light shining through it at dusk," says Salle Bonaventure Maitre d'Pierre.

Glueing the matches together

Canadian pencil manufacturers use from five to 11 coats of lacquer on lead pencils. This gives the pencil a finish finer than that which you find on modern automobiles or a $4,000 piano.

Roslyn Home and School to honor four teachers

The Roslyn Home and School Association will honor two retiring teachers, and two teachers who retired last year, after a total combined service of nearly 140 years.

The teachers: Miss Ruby McIntyre Hair, Mrs. Muriel J. Robertson, Miss Linda Lee and Miss Elsie Dewey.

Presentations, which will form part of the final meeting of the year of the association, will be made by Frank B. Common, Jr., himself a graduate of Roslyn (his daughter is now a student there).

Featured speaker will be the school principal, W. A. Wilkinson, BA, who will talk on testing and marking examinations.

Also in attendance will be ex-Westmount mayor Sidney Bruneau and his son Arthur, who will be nominated as the new Home and School Association president. Arthur's son is a student at Roslyn, marking a third generation of almost continuous attendance.

Included in the program will be a gym demonstration and art display by the Home and School Art Class.

Miss Ruby McIntyre Hair, who will be retiring at the end of the school term, has had 36 years experience teaching school, 31 of them in Westmount. For many years she was a Grade I and kindergarten teacher, and was, until the position was withdrawn by the School Board, a French specialist. In 1954-56 she taught in Westphalia, Germany, for the Department of National Defense. Mrs. Muriel J. Robertson has had 30 years of service, more than half of which was spent in Westmount teaching Grades three to seven. She has had considerable experience working with underprivileged children.

Miss Linda Lee, who retired last year, is herself a graduate of Westmount schools — King's and Westmount High. She taught in Westmount for 35 years before her retirement. All her teaching career has been spent at Roslyn teaching boys in grades three and four. Her home address is 317 Grosvenor avenue.

Miss Elsie Dewey, who also retired last year, taught Grade I in Roslyn for 38 years. She was an active member of the Home and School Association, serving it for 10 years, and finally holding the position of vice-president.

Westmount by-law case postponed

Westmount Municipal Court Thursday postponed until April 20 the trial of chiropractor Del Hushley, charged with a zoning bylaw violation by practising in a building he recently bought.

The three-storey house is bounded by Grove Park Row, Mountain avenue and Sherbrooke street.

Rival counsel agree that the postponement may actually extend several weeks, even months, however, Mr. Hushley has declared through counsel he intends to challenge the bylaw's validity in civil court on the grounds its discriminates against chiropractors while allowing other professionals to practise in the area.

Westmount Judge Alexander McT. Stalker last week denied a defence motion asking that he rule whether the bylaw is ultra vires. He found this was outside his jurisdiction and ordered that the case proceed on its merits.

Colorful church history commemorated on Sunday

The colorful, if not so well-known, history of the Dominion-Douglas United Church will be brought to light this Sunday when celebrations of the 95th anniversary of the church get underway.

Part of the celebrations will feature the Rev. A. C. Forrest, editor of the United Church Observer, as guest speaker at the morning service. In the evening the congregational gathering will hold a worship service in Leslie Hall, where Mr. Forrest will speak on a recent trip to Africa.

Dominion-Douglas Church, now at 687 Roslyn avenue, on the corner of The Boulevard, once occupied the site where the Laurentian Hotel now stands. It was originally called the Dominion Square congregation, part of the Methodist Church.

In the basement of the old church in 1873, Wesleyan College was started, and the ladies of the church organized the social service work which eventually resulted in the Old Brewery Mission being formed.

In 1875, as part of the Dominion Square Pastoral Charge, Douglas congregation was formed, and a church built at St. Catherine and Chomey. In 1914 a hall was built on Lansdowne and The Boulevard, and Dominion congregation began to worship in it. It is now called Leslie Hall.

In 1925 Douglas joined with Dominion, and the present church in Westmount was started. In the same year the combined congregation became part of the United Church of Canada.

On Easter Sunday, April 17, 1927, the new church was opened and dedicated.

Dominion-Douglas Church has since taken an important part in the Missionary outreach, and is a strong unit in the United Church of Canada.

Your School, Your Child and You

The Teacher's toil

By E. George Cochrane, B.A., M.Ed.

Periodically friends of mine, more than a mite envious of the number of holidays which members of the teaching profession customarily enjoy, claim that the trials and tribulations of teaching do not begin to compare with those of business or the other professions. When this happens I like to quote for their edification these words from Jacques Barzun's highly readable book "The Teacher in America."

"In recounting my apprenticeship I called teaching backbreaking work and later I hinted that steady teaching is a task that would fray the nerves of an Ox. These are both sober statements. An hour of teaching is certainly the equivalent of a whole morning of office work. The pace, the concentration, the output of energy in office work are child's play compared with handling a class, and the smaller the class, the harder the work. . . Teaching in America is a twenty-four hour job, twelve months in the year; sabbatical leaves are provided so you can have your coronary thrombosis off the campus."

People who have never done any real teaching tend, in their ignorance, to scoff at words such as these. They have no concept whatever of the tremendous toll upon one's nervous energy that teaching takes. Nor do they realize the amount of time that the conscientious teacher spends upon preparation, or the hours of drudgery devoted to correcting examinations and term work, or of the interminable committee meetings.

And yet to the teacher comes the wonderful satisfaction of realizing that he is dealing with important things, not the tedious trivialities with which so many men and women occupy their days in order to earn a living. The teacher knows, too, that he is rendering a vitally important task, certainly infinitely more important than writing advertisements intended to persuade gullible housewives that one brand of detergent is superior to all others.

But while the teacher does have his compensations and his satisfactions, he is not — as all too many appear to believe — a creature of leisure who works a five-hour day for less than ten months of the year. There is a great deal more involved in teaching than that and I wish that some of the critics would pause long enough in their verbal rambles to realize it.

Scarboro Lay Mission Unit bridge party

A benefit bridge party, the 16th annual Scarboro Night in Montreal, will be held in St. Kevin's Parish Hall, 5600 Cote des Neiges, on Friday evening, April 29, at 8 o'clock.

The proceeds from the card party will benefit the work of Scarboro missionary priests in the Bahamas, Philippines, Japan, Dominican Republic and British Guiana. The Scarboro Foreign Mission Society, the English-speaking Society for Catholic Mission work, has headquarters in Scarboro, Ontario, and Montreal Fathers from the Society working in far-away places include the following: Bishop Kenneth Turner (exiled Bishop of Lishui, China), now Regional Superior in Georgetown, British Guiana; Father Armand Clement, a Mission pastor in the Philippines; Father Cameron MacDonald, now in the Promotion Department of the Society, and Father Rene St. Germain, recently ordained.

The newly elected Superior General of the Society is the Very Reverend Francis Diemert, S.F.M. Born in Mildmay, Ont.,

Mrs. Victor H. Morris re-elected Montreal Women's Club president

The 68th annual meeting of The Montreal Women's Club was held Monday, April 11, in the Sheraton-Mt. Royal Hotel.

The new slate for the coming year was presented as follows: President, Mrs. Victor H. Morris; 1st vice-president, Mrs. H. G. Torrance; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Wm. E. Kinloch; recording secretary, Mrs. A. H. Burnett; treasurer, Miss Lilian M. Starling; corresponding-secretary, Mrs. A. E. Whyte; membership secretary, Mrs. E. Cave; asst. recording secretary, Mrs. MacG. Anderson; asst. corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. F. LaMontagne; director of departments, Mrs. H. B. Watts; civics and education, Mrs. P. G. Delgado; door and reception, Mrs. John A. Smith; music, Mrs. Hugh Shoobridge; welfare, Mrs. A. J. Rennie.

Excerpts from the President's Report: The first important event was to have the honor to meet Her Majesty The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh at a luncheon given by the City of Montreal when Montreal Women's Club was selected to be representative of a cross section of Women's Organizations in this City.

The second highlight was to have had the opportunity to be President when, in this year 1960, Montreal Women's Club conferred on Mrs. Christine L. Henderson, an honorary membership, Mrs. Henderson having completed 50 years as member of the Club.

Father Diemert was ordained to the priesthood in 1938 and went to China as a missionary in 1940. During the Second World War he was interned by the Japanese and was repatriated in 1943. After five years of various assignments in the Society's Missions in the Dominican Republic, he returned to Canada to teach in his Society's Toronto Seminary. His appointment as Superior General follows a term as rector of the Seminary and acting as Secretary-General.

Those in charge of the benefit evening, which has annually aided the mission field work, include: Mrs. M. J. Murphy, president; Mrs. G. Beauregard, vice-president; Miss J. Wall, recording secretary; Mrs. R. Connolly, corresponding secretary; J. P. Boyle, treasurer; Mrs. H. Seifred, convener; Mrs. J. P. Boyle, patrons; Misses Ruth Turner and Monica McFee, tickets; Miss Agnes Connolly, door prizes and membership; Mrs. M. Dowling, publicity and refreshments; Miss Nora Boyle, mite boxes.

"WEATHER GLASS"

The pimpnel plant sometimes is called the "poor man's weather glass," because of its odd, habit of closing at the approach of cloudy or rainy weather.

The Eliza Reid Memorial Scholarship of $150.00 awarded each year to a student of Montreal High School for Girls was merited this year by Miss Anne Bayley.

As already reported, Montreal Women's Club sponsored a reception for new Citizens at the First Court Ceremony held in the year 1960.

Donations were made to several organizations as has been done in the past. The visits to St. Anne's Military Hospital were continued and bingos for veterans were held. The Board of Management was authorized to make the necessary arrangements for a special donation of $100 for World Refugee Year 1959-60.

Paderewski Centenary

1960 (Last of Four Parts)

By FRANCES GOLTMAN

IN THE ASSORTMENT of Paderewski data . . . reviews, programs and editorials, there is an unusual newspaper article, "THE BRAIN OF A GREAT MUSICIAN" which is analytical and lengthy. Written by a doctor, Edgar C. Beall, M.D., there is a sub-title . . . "A Phrenograph of Ignace Jan Paderewski From A Personal Examination." (It is from the Phrenographical Journal, 1893.)

THERE IS COMPLETE DETAIL about the structure of his head and what everything signifies. Also a description of a piano sensation: "He is five feet nine inches in height and weighs 150 pounds. He is possessed of a very graceful figure and a remarkable shock of golden hair, of which he is justly proud. (My mother told me it was reddish when she heard him first but when I heard him in his last Montreal recital December 12, 1923 his hair was grey, almost white). His eyes are blue, his skin white, his nose Greco-Roman and mouth and chin as delicate as those of a girl. It is also interesting to note that his hand is small, requiring only a seven and a quarter glove, quite firm, approaching the square type, with the finger tips spatulated. This is in perfect accord with his brilliancy as a pianist."

A GOOD DEAL of this long article is technical. The final paragraph is a thumbnail sketch and noteworthy is that it tells Paderewski taught piano . . . "Paderewski, the present hero of the musical world, was born at Podalia, a province in Russian Poland, November 6, 1860. He began to play at the very early age of three years. At seven he was placed under a teacher and learned so rapidly that after five years of instruction he started out as a public performer. (Van Cliburn also began at three and at 13 won the State of Texas competitions.) At the age of 18 he was appointed professor of music in the Conservatory at Warsaw and in 1884 he accepted a similar position at Strassburg. In 1887, after a careful preparation, he made his formal debut as a competitor for the highest pianistic honors before the critical musical circles of Vienna and immediately became recognized as one of the greatest living players. Three years ago he took London by storm and at present he is the undisputed lion among the music lovers of the United States." It was after he studied with Leschetizky that he became a sensation.

WHEN THE PADEREWSKI Memoirs appeared in serial form in the Saturday Evening Post I kept them, then bought the book upon publication soon after (1938). It is an enlightening volume but like most memoirs it is not written by the pianist-composer but in collaboration with Mary Lawton. It is stated in the preface that the contents are authentic. There is a remarkable picture of Paderewski's hands at the keyboard and anyone who wants to read an exciting autobiography will find plenty to interest them from start to finish in this thick volume. It concludes with "Later Memoirs In Preparation." I do not know if there is another book.

PADEREWSKI left many compositions to the world and perhaps had he not been the world's foremost concert pianist he would have had more recognition as a composer. His celebrated Minuet was his "theme song" just as the C sharp Minor Prelude by Rach-

Cancer society's drive extended into next week

The Canadian Cancer Society's annual fund-raising campaign moved into its final phase today as canvassers, delayed in their collections by the Easter and Passover holidays, worked to complete their cards.

The campaign opened April 6 with an objective of $330,000. It was to have closed April 20 but was extended into next week to compensate for the holidays.

Mrs. Slattery, Holton avenue, Westmount, chairman, reported that $109,793 had been received to-date. While this was just a fraction under one third of the Montreal objective, Mrs. Slattery said she was hopeful that with the extended canvassing time, the goal would be reached. At the same time she appealed to all volunteers to complete their assignments and make their returns with the least possible delay.

"We still have a long way to go and a lot of work to clean up before it will be possible to make any estimate on final returns. But we got off to a good start and I am confident of the outcome," Mrs. Slattery said.

Mrs. MacKenzie stressed the fact that the $330,000 objective was the rock bottom minimum required to maintain the Society's three fold program of

"The only way we can hope to exceed our objective is for all friends of the Society, whether they are called on by a canvasser or not, to send their donations direct to campaign headquarters at 2205 Bishop street."

"I also want to express the cordial thanks of the Canadian Cancer Society to all volunteer canvassers who helped us during the campaign," Mrs. Slattery said.

As a convenience to canvassers and other workers the Society's offices would be kept open until 9:00 p.m. during the remainder of the week, he said.

cation to the city's welfare. This is indeed a tribute of which he can well be proud. In the years to come it will give him pleasant recollections.

Thomas J. J. Hughes, during his tenure of office, could at all times count upon the loyalty and co-operation of not only the heads of the several departments but the city's humblest employee. They instinctively sensed his fairmindedness and his promptness in thanking his senior or junior subordinates for a job well done.

Fortunate is the city or enterprise that can attract men of the Hughes type. The Mayor and members of the City Council have wisely decided to retain him in an advisory capacity. They will thus continue to benefit from his suggestions. His successor, Norman T. Dawe, who possesses executive and administrative ability of a high order and who was associated with his Chief, will emulate him in both initiative and municipal foresight.

maninoff had to be performed at every concert the Russian gave. His one opera, "Manru" won considerable success. It was begun in 1897 and Paderewski completed it in 1900 and it had its premiere on May 29, 1901 in Dresden.

Booklet tells about boating

"Introduction to Outboarding," a new, fact-filled booklet covering all phases of outboard boating for beginners, is available free of charge from all Mercury outboard dealers.

Subtitled "How to Choose, Handle and Enjoy Your Outboard," the 24-page, fully-illustrated booklet has three main sections: "Which Boat for You," describing how to choose boat, motor and accessories; "Know Your Boat," telling how to get acquainted with a boat and its handling characteristics; and "Seamanship for Safety," covering rules of the road, loading, trimming, weather signals, cruising, docking and many other subjects.

In "Introduction to Outboarding," boating authority Bob Brewster condenses the lore acquired in years of outboarding.

Record is set

Scuttling the idea that high engine speed is necessary to high boat speed, Hu Entrop, famed Seattle racing boat driver, set a new world outboard speed record of 114.650 miles per hour with an engine turning a leisurely 4900 revolutions per minute.

Three basic rules

These are the three basic rules for buying a boat:

- 1—Do business only with a reputable dealer — he is your best insurance against getting stuck.
- 2—Buy only from a known manufacturer — his reputation is behind his product.
- 3—Purchase a complete package — the boat and motor together is a matched unit.

Lachine trips up Thistle for title

Ted Hunt, provincial curling champ playing out of Lachine Curling Club added another laurel to his 1959-60 victory list when he captured the Outremont Curling Club's open Bonspiel.

Hunt defeated Thistle Ross MacKay 7-6 in the finals to win the City of Outremont Trophy.

Hunt entered the finals by knocking out G. Ruiter of Lachine while MacKay was eliminating C. R. Brown of Wentworth.

St. Lambert's "Mac" McCormick won the consolation prize by scoring an 11-8 triumph over Caledonia's W. Bancroft.

Blacks capture Trinity pin playoff

On completing a two week play-off schedule, in the Trinity Bowling, Blacks topped the League with a 4900 pinfall followed by the Tans, 4736; Reds, 4599; Grays, 4561; Maroons, 4546; Blues, 4541; Browns, 4531; and Whites, 4347.

The season's high average was rolled by Bert Leadbetter with 149. Charlie Spencer won the season's high triple with 578 and the high single went to Herb Gosse, 239.

Finishing off the season Bert Leadbetter rolled a triple of 561 with Herb Gosse rolling a three of 512 and a single of 212.

THIS month from Chicago came advice from two doctors who said in the American Medical Association magazine article, "Athletic competition for children was undesirable when organized along adult patterns." Dr. Thomas E. Shaffern, Columbia, Ohio, one of the two doctors said, "The unavoidable emphasis placed on winning puts too many pressures on the children." His colleague, Dr. John L. Reichert, Chicago, said "a child should not be subjected to forced development of special athletic skills". Right here, the advice should maybe go for all sports for there is hockey that little mites play and also the game of football.

Shaffern and Reichert outlined a four-point reform program for the Little Leagues:

- 1—End sponsorship of teams by business organizations.
- 2—Eliminate tournaments except on a community-wide championship schedule.
- 3—Require medical examination at the start of a season and during the season and during the season if accident or illness occurred.
- 4—Require trained, experienced individuals in positions of leadership.

The two doctors said Little Leaguers were at the age where they were particularly susceptible to injuries, especially dislocations of joints and bone injuries. "Competitive drives must be allowed to develop normally and not be overstimulated or suppressed," Reichert said.

Tennis permits being issued by Westmount
