

THE POLITICAL FIGHT IS GROWING IN INTENSITY AS ELECTION DAY NEARS

Lloyd George Making Fifteen Speeches Daily—Thousands Of Other Speeches Are Made Up And Down Country, Many With Use Of Radio And Powerful Amplifiers

Plymouth, Nov. 29.—Lady Astor is carrying on a very lively campaign for re-election to parliament and her meetings are so crowded she often has to struggle to reach the platform, upon which she is usually subjected to brick-battering, to which her quick and sharp answers afford much amusement and keep her hearers in good temper. At a meeting today in which she sought to show the impracticability of the proposed levy on capital championed by the Labor party Lady Astor said:—

"They say, tax the rich. Well the rich are being taxed, alive and dead, and it's quite right. One reason why duties are better than a capital levy is that all the millionaires don't die at once."

The speeches Lady Astor is making are centering largely on social reforms, especially those on behalf of women and children. Today one heckler asked: "What will you do when you are amid laughter and cheers Lady Astor retorted: "I am going to send you my son."

This was a reference to her speech when she was first elected to parliament when she declared she would hold her seat until her son was old enough to be a candidate.

Fight Getting Very Intense.

London, Nov. 29.—With election day only a bare week ahead the political fight is growing in intensity. The candidates for parliamentary seats are making daily an astounding number of speeches to their constituents, with David Lloyd George easily the leader among them with a record of some fifteen addresses daily in his whirlwind tour. Mr. Lloyd George, together with Lord Birkenhead and Winston Churchill, easily is the most provocative of the election orators and accordingly is being favored with the greatest amount of opposition from hecklers. The meetings of Lord Birkenhead and Mr. Churchill also always prove most lively and sometimes rather noisy and even disorderly.

Constantly In Hot Water.

Mr. Churchill constantly has been in hot water with his opponents because of his connection with the famous operations on the Gallipoli peninsula and in the Dardanelles during the Great War, being called on to defend his position. These attacks are considered in some quarters as due largely to the fact that only recently the former First Lord of the Admiralty published his book on the war. Mr. Churchill has been fierce in his attacks on the Labor party and the proposed capital levy although these questions belong to the opposing party while Lord Birkenhead persists in his jibes at the League of Nations.

Today at Ashton-under-Lyne Lord Birkenhead asked during a meeting on the question: "Does anyone believe the whole of human nature will be altered and that all controversies will be settled by the League of Nations? And answered the question himself with the statement: "If you lend yourselves to that folly you will be in the same position as the Liberal leaders in 1914 when their blindness and folly nearly destroyed their country and Empire."

No Change In Europe For Years.

On Great Britain's European policy, Lord Birkenhead insisted on

A NEW POLICY FOR PROTECTION OF INDUSTRIES

Need Is Strongly Voiced By Members Of Manufacturers' Association

MORE PROTECTION

Present Situation Is Not Encouraging To Development Of Industry

Toronto, Nov. 29.—The need for a new national policy which will provide a real protection for the industries of Canada and thereby enable them to build up a market for labor was voiced at the meeting of the executive of the Ontario division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at their meeting here today.

C. Howard Smith, of Montreal, President of the C. M. A., stressed the need of greater protection. H. F. E. Kent, President of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association pointed out that while the paper manufacturers have a protection ranging from ten to twenty five per cent ad valorem, according to classification, with some few items on the free list, the protection is by no means high enough to give them a monopoly of the domestic market, nor to lend very much encouragement to the development of the industry.

Less Showy Campaign.

Premier Baldwin is addressing big meetings daily. He is making a less showy campaign than his opponents but according to the general opinion expressed by his adherents he is making good headway in his campaign. The Premier confines himself chiefly to solid arguments on the main question in his platform—unemployment and his proposed remedy of protective duties. The same may be said of J. Austin Chamberlain.

Perhaps the fiercest campaign centers in Lancashire, because the cotton trade does not want a tariff. It is in Lancashire that the free traders are most hopeful of detaching Conservative votes from the Government. As an indication of the intensity of the campaign in Lancashire, Sir Charles Macar, one of the most prominent men in the cotton trade for the past twenty years, but who never has spoken from a public platform has been induced to broadcast by wireless a speech outlining Lancashire's tremendous accomplishments in the last century under the system of free trade.

Told To Go Back To Wales.

Lloyd George addressed several meetings in Lancashire and North Wales today. He told a great crowd at Rochdale that the government was asking the country to shoot the Niagara Rapids. When he declared that the speech of Neville Chamberlain in London yesterday meant taxation of food in clothing meat an interrupter shouted: "That is a Liberal lie, and you know it. You are a hym-bug. Go back to Wales."

In another speech Lloyd George described the Socialist group as an alligator—all tail and mouth.

ENTIRE FAMILY WIPED OUT BY AWFUL STORM

Parents With Two Children Perish When Their Home Is Wrecked

Houma, La., Nov. 29.—Five persons lost their lives, five were injured and heavy property damage resulted from a storm which swept the Little Calhoun Bayou section, 18 miles south of here last night.

The family of Ralph Gaudry was wiped out, Mr. Gaudry, his wife, ten year old son and twelve year old daughter being killed when their home was wrecked. The fifth death was that of Katherine, the twelve year old daughter of a man named Tinnert, who was drowned when a houseboat overturned. The parents escaped.

Approximately 25 houses were wrecked including the Lacache school. Crops were badly damaged by rain which accompanied the storm. The Weather Bureau reports ten and one half inches of rainfall between 8 a.m. Wednesday and 8 a.m. today.

GERMANY IS RECRUITING AND ARMING

Disturbing Information Is Received By The British Government

TRAINING MEN

Recruiting Has Been Very Active In Bavaria Where Manoeuvres Are Held

London, Nov. 30.—Disturbing information concerning the extent to which Germany is recruiting and re-arming has been received by the British Government, says Reuters item.

"Although the view is taken officially that this information reveals potential rather than imminent danger the British authorities are frankly concerned over the situation and its bearing on the peace of Europe."

Information Not Official.

The newspapers this morning are devoting considerable attention to the news items. The foreign office in a statement, however, says the information should not be attributed to any official authority.

"It is known that rapid military training of large numbers of men in excess of the Versailles Treaty stipulations had been progressing," says the Reuters article. This, it is declared is more than ever the case since the Allied military control ceased nearly a year ago. Recruiting has been especially active in Bavaria, where the security police have been engaged in manoeuvres with the army.

Students are also Training.

The training of students also is in constant progress. Hitherto all attempts to induce Germany to produce recruiting returns in order to enable the Allies to check up the paper strength of the German army at any given moment of inspection, with the number of recruits actually trained has been unsuccessful.

Recent information from British observers in Germany shows that more men than ever are being trained and that the police and military societies, the student organizations and the student organizations are bigger than ever. British officials here, however, feel that Germany is not able at present to arm the large number of men she is training, in the event of mobilization, with the necessary artillery, owing to her principal industrial and munitions areas in the Ruhr. But it is also known that close relations have been cultivated by the Krupp with Russia and Sweden. Whether these relations are concerned with the manufacture and supply of guns it is not yet possible to say.

Making Many Rifle Cartridges.

"It is also pointed out that up to the time the Allied control was relaxed the Allies had not succeeded in getting a most man than half the rifles in the country. Little doubt is entertained by British officials that the small arms factories in Thuringia and elsewhere are turning out these and the necessary cartridges on a large scale."

SEEK UNIFORM DAIRY STANDARD

Dom. Conference Discusses Extension Of Grading To Butter And Cheese

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—(By Canadian Press)—Discussion at the Dominion Dairy Conference this afternoon centred upon the advisability or otherwise of extending Federal grading of dairy produce to include butter and cheese for domestic consumption and in that way bring about a uniform standard which does not now exist.

Consensus of opinion expressed by those who addressed the conference favored Federal grading for all butter and cheese whether designed for export or otherwise but it was also felt that it would be a good idea to continue to provincial grading for educational purposes. At the present time only butter and cheese would attain on the Dominion Canada is graded by Federal officials.

Replying to a question as to the advantages which Canadian butter and cheese would attain on the foreign markets as a result of grading, J. A. Riddick, Federal Dairy Commissioner, declared that it had taken New Zealand a considerable time to educate foreign buyers in that regard and that Canada must expect the same experience.

As time passed, Mr. Riddick explained, buyers came to look upon the Government grading of New Zealand butter and cheese as a guarantee of quality. Canada had been grading its dairy produce for a comparatively short time and he was sure that in time foreign buyers would be as ready to accept the mark of Canadian grade results as they now were in the case of New Zealand.

POLICE MUST RESIGN FROM LABOR UNION

Montreal Members Of The Force Are Notified By Chief Belanger

RECEIVED QUIETLY

Order Was Given Verbally To The Captains Who Informed The Men

Montreal, Nov. 29.—After a meeting in his office today with the captains of the stations of the police department of this city, Chief Pierre Belanger gave verbal instructions that all the members of the police department be told that they must resign from the Policemen's Federal Labor Union.

It is stated by a police official that the order is a sequel to a resolution passed at a meeting of the Montreal City Council during the fall of 1922 when it was resolved that the Council would not recognize the union. The order was received quietly by the men.

The policemen's union was formed in 1913 and was closely followed by a demand for higher wages and better working conditions. The firemen and employees of the water works and incineration departments also formed themselves into unions and on rejection of their demands the four unions came out on strike in December 1913, but it only lasted one day when the city agreed to put the contentious matter up to an arbitration board.

Conference On Liquor Smuggling Across Canadian Border Meets Again Today

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—(By Canadian Press)—Although the conference between representatives of Canada and the United States on liquor smuggling did not conclude today, the final meeting tomorrow morning will be but brief. Judge Moss, chairman of the United States delegation, stated this evening that his party would probably leave for Washington early tomorrow afternoon. Tonight, Hon. Jacques Bureau, Minister of Customs and Excise, is entertaining the visitors to an American Thanksgiving dinner.

The official statement which was issued at the conclusion of today's deliberations indicates no more than did that of yesterday. It stated that the conference discussed the remaining items on the agenda proposed by the United States delegation, but no indication is given as to the conclusions of the conference in regard to these proposals. The three proposals which remained to be discussed to-day were:

(1) Measures to stop smuggling by land.

(2) Shipments by automobile or aeroplane to be reported to U. S. officials.

(3) Reciprocal arrangements for the attendance of witnesses, the execution of commissions and letters rogatory and the certification of records.

Conference Met and Discussed.

The official statement follows: Conference met today and discussed the remaining items on the agenda.

The question of smuggling of kinds across the international frontier was considered and measures which might be adopted to stop the illicit traffic were suggested.

Reference was also made to the existing situation with respect to automobiles and other property which are stolen in one country and seized by customs officers after being smuggled across the international boundary line.

"The execution of letters rogatory, etc., issued by courts in each country and of commissions to take testimony were subjects dealt with at the afternoon session. Reciprocal arrangements for testimony by officers of the two Governments concerned in the prosecution of persons violating their laws were also under discussion. Provisions in the laws of each country dealing with the certification of records for use in court proceedings were also studied."

EXTENT OF GERMANS CAPACITY TO PAY

Paris, Nov. 29.—There will be a meeting of the reparations commission tomorrow for the purpose of deliberating on the text of the German statement with regard to the Reich's present capacity to pay reparations, as presented last Friday by Dr. Fischer, of the Reich treasury department. A translation of the statement has just been completed.

The commission will examine also the French plan for a meeting of a committee of experts.

It is understood that the accords signed at Dusseldorf with the Ruhr industrial magnates will not come before the commission tomorrow.

NEW CABINET IS HEADED BY THE CLERICAL LEADER

German Parliamentary Crisis Has Ended In A Three Party Compromise

MINORITY COALITION

Dr. William Marx, Head Of Catholic School Organization New Chancellor

Berlin, Nov. 29.—The seven day Parliamentary crisis, which was chiefly devoted to inter-party bickering and bartering and an abortive attempt definitely to do away with Socialistic influence in national politics through the creation of a bourgeois bloc terminated to-night in a three party compromise by virtue of which a minority coalition, comprising members of the clerical, the German people's and the Democratic parties will succeed in the deposed Stresemann government, which was constituted with the same component parts.

Dr. Wilhelm Marx, the Clerical leader will head the new Cabinet as Chancellor while the other portfolios will be held by men who were in the last Government.

As at present constituted the Government will be:

Chancellor—Dr. Wilhelm Marx.
Minister of the Interior—Dr. Jarosek.
Minister of Defence—Dr. Otto Gessler.
Minister of Food—Dr. Hans Luther.
Minister of Posts—Dr. Anton Hoeft.
Minister without portfolio—Rudolph Oechger.

Dr. Stresemann is reported to have accepted the post of Foreign Minister.

Pronounced Minority Cabinet.

Aside from being a pronounced minority cabinet, the present revamped coalition is anything but a firmly co-ordinated three-party bloc within its own ranks and it also will be called upon to assimilate much of the animosity and partisan acerbity which it inherits from the seven-day crisis both with respect to the antagonism waiting it from the German Nationalists, as well as the yet wholly problematical attitude of the United States.

Although Dr. Marx announced that he would select his Cabinet members irrespective of their party allegiance, he nevertheless heads an outspoken partisan ministry which is seemingly once again wholly dependent upon the charity of the Social Democrats.

To this extent the present crisis ran true to traditional form, although previous parliamentary reactions rarely consumed an entire week in the process of their liquidation.

President Ebert used up four Chancellor candidates in his efforts to construct a party line-up which would constitute a workable coalition and the situation only reached a state of clarification this evening after Dr. Marx was sent out as bell-wielder. President Ebert preferred to risk another experiment in the nature of a minority Government as an alternative to dissolving the Reichstag, the latter expedient being viewed in all government circles as a doubtful venture in the face of the uncertain attitude of the occupying powers towards national elections in the occupied areas and also because of the visible growth of a popular movement toward the right. While the forced disappearance of the Reichstag probably would have met with general popular favor the problem of new elections within the period prescribed by the constitution suggested numerous complications of a grave character especially in connection with the future status of the Rhineland and the occupied Ruhr sector so that President Ebert preferred a resort to dissolution of the legislative body as a last extremity.

An added factor which influenced the executive against a pre-emptory dissolution of Parliament was furnished in the growing shift toward Nationalism, which he believed would wholly preclude the possibility of conducting an orderly election in view of the existing and Social distrust.

Parliamentary Impasse.

The advent of Dr. Marx's minority Cabinet merely emphasizes the continuance of the Parliamentary impasse growing out of the absence of a strong majority Government and to this extent the new ministry is also a purely political clemencyary body wedged between the traditional hostility of the German Nationalists and the precarious neutrality of the Socialists. The Nationalists will greet it with derision because of the rebuke administered to them by the bourgeois parties in response to their attempt to barter the way into the Prussian Government in return for their entering the Reichstag coalition.

The Socialists also will occupy the mockery seat in Parliament in view of the failure of the middle parties to create an all-round straight bourgeois coalition.

Dr. Marx, Germany's seventeenth Chancellor comes from Cologne. He is a jurist by profession and long

MAINTENANCE REDUCED BY IMPROVED HIGHWAYS

Washington, Nov. 29.—Some of the most important ways in which highways have a demonstrable earning capacity, Secretary Wallace of Agriculture declares, are the potential savings in cost of operation, maintenance, and depreciation of motor vehicles.
It is estimated the annual fuel bill paid by motor vehicles amounts to $1,000,000,000, and the annual tire bill $450,000,000. The annual depreciation may be computed on an estimated investment of $5,767, 500,000 in motor vehicles.
Although these figures are estimates, Secretary Wallace says they are a reasonable indication of the magnitude of the financial side of our motor transport equipment and it is evident that the operating costs will be affected materially by the general improvement of the country's highways.

SPAIN OFFERED
COMPENSATION

In Lieu Of Control In Tangier Which Remains Under The Sultan's Sovereignty

Paris, Nov. 29.—The Franco-British agreement as to the future status of Tangier, which is now understood on the basis of French authority as well as from British sources to be full and final although Spain is still holding out, is regarded here as one of the reasons for the particular warmth of the exchanges of compliments in Rome by the Kings of Italy and Spain and by the heads of the two Governments, Mussolini and Primo de Rivera.

The Italian Government is known to be greatly disappointed at the refusal of Great Britain and France to admit Italy to the Tangier negotiation, while Spain, in view of the United opposition to her ambitions on the part of the British and the French, was anxious to have Italy come in to the agreement.

The Spanish delegate to the conference now is delaying action on the final draft of the document providing for the new status, with a view, it is believed here, of giving the Italian Premier time to find some way of getting in his word.

In the new convention as now adopted in the Anglo-French compromise, the principal features are the open door in time of peace and neutralization in time of war, with the zone of Tangier remaining under the full sovereignty of the Sultan of Morocco.

The French gained the point that the town and the hinterland must remain under the Sultan's sovereignty.
The British gained the point that Tangier must not be permitted to be used by any one in case of war.

Spain's claim for control being rejected, compensation has been offered her in the shape of the extension of her zone of influence which thus far has not been accepted.

Majority Of People In Moscow Living Like Sardines In A Can

Moscow, Nov. 29.—All of the compactness of living like sardines in a can, together with about the same amount of privacy as if one were living in a goldfish bowl, is enjoyed by the majority of Moscow's inhabitants. There are more than 2,000,000 of them, living in a city built for less than a million, and only the very prosperous newly rich and a few lucky foreigners who have fat expense accounts have anything like spacious quarters.

Housing conditions are somewhat better than last year, because some buildings have been repaired, but for every free room there are hundreds of applicants, ready to pay large fees merely for the privilege of moving in.

Generally speaking, the legal amount of space to which any individual is entitled equals that taken up in an American house by a small bathroom or a large clothes closet. In houses which have been returned to private owners, or which have been exempted from the space regulations by agreement with individuals who undertake to repair them, it is sometimes possible to obtain several rooms. But Moscow is money mad, and has been for two years, and the prenumiums charged merely for obtaining rooms are sometimes fantastic. For example, the writer was asked $500 cash, plus $75 rental, for one small unfurnished room with no conveniences whatsoever.

DEVOTE LIVES TO NURSING ART

Nuns Of Far Tibet Go About Relieving Pain And Suffering

Tientain, Oct. 15.—(By Mail)—
Miles beyond the ramparts of snow-peaks separating the two Buddhist states of Sikkim and Tibet, among the crags of the mountains that rise from the arid plain north of Gyan-tet, little white specks nestle in the cliffs. These are the abode of the nuns of the Goddess Dolma. "She who hears the cries of all the world."

The Goddess Dolma is the Buddhist counterpart of the Virgin Mary of the Christians. Her nuns forsake the world and all its pleasures and, dressed in red cloaks, barefooted and with shaved heads, they go about relieving pain and sorrow. Their fare is frugal and their lives bare of material comforts.

A bell tolls. It is the call of some dressed person for assistance, perhaps miles away. The nuns rather than an old abbess, kindly and skillful in administration from long experience in ministering to mankind, direct the nuns to their duties. With a little food and staffs to aid them in climbing a path down the mountains the nuns go forth to where duty calls. Their duties performed they return, weary and worn, but happy, to await the next call.

The paths the nuns take are beset by many dangers. Wild animals are everywhere. Storms beat down on them, but they are brave. They sleep in the open while on journeys.
Stones are their pillows and the sky their only covering. Birds seem to sense there is no danger, and follow the nuns to be fed.

The nuns know nothing of the great world outside their mountain fastness, except what an occasional white traveler tells them. Such visitors are accorded every courtesy and eagerly sought for tales of other countries. In departing they receive the blessing of these good folk.

The Dalai Lama, head of the sect in Tibet and believed to be the re-incarnation of the Lord Buddha once made a trip to India to see the Great Lord Sahab (Curzon). But even for the Dalai Lama such countries as England and America have no existence, except in the strange stories of occasional sojourners.

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN

Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble
Almost Over Night

Any breaking out of the skin, ever flickery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho-sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

FEWER CHURCH
FIRE IN 1923Residence Fires Less Than Last Year, But Factory
And Store Losses Heavy

As the result of appointing caretakers in Catholic churches and institutions, and the adoption of other prudential measures, it is stated that there will be a reduction of eight per cent in the number of fires affecting religious buildings during the year.

The heads of the church have issued another warning for prudence during the coming winter, and lectures will again be given on fire protection.

Fires affecting private residences have decreased, but factories and stores will bring the losses for the current year almost as high as last. Fire losses in 1922 totalled $1,145,000. With one more month to go, the million dollar mark has almost been reached for the present year.

In the country it is stated that fires have destroyed more barns, stables, sheds and other farm annexes than in the last four years. According to Mr. Leclerc, Fire Marshal, who has just completed an investigation of conditions in the rural districts, the increase might be attributed to careless smokers, defective installation of gasoline engines, and spontaneous combustion in other cases.

A few years ago there were hardly any gasoline engines in the villages, but to-day nearly every farmer has his own engine, and some of them fail to take the necessary precautions in the installation and operating of them. "A campaign of education is necessary in this connection," the Fire Marshal declared.

SANTA CLAUS ARRIVED
IN TOWN YESTERDAY
Was Greeted By Very Large Crowd Of Children At The Palais Station

The most popular man in Quebec yesterday was undoubtedly Santa Claus. The kindly old man arrived at half past three and he received an ovation that must have cheered his heart. The Palais Station was thronged with kiddies anxious to make friends with him in plenty of time for Christmas and the cheery visitor managed to say "Hullo" to nearly everybody. It was whispered that somewhere about his person he had an inexhaustible supply of candies and judging by the rapt expression on the faces of those who managed to shake hands with him the whisper would seem to have been true.

Santa Claus was accompanied by a white bear but even bears are no protection against a jostling, goodhumoured crowd of smiling children and judging by the smile on his face he seemed glad that they did not try to offer protection. The old fellow just beamed as he walked through the station and then when excitement was running high he vanished into thin air. Cute people who were there said that he had jumped into a cab but of course the kiddies knew better.

Later on in the day Santa Claus was "At Home" to visitors. Like the clever old fellow he is he took up his headquarters in The Paquet Company Ltd., on Joseph street. There are just heaps and heaps of toys there so he will have plenty of opportunity to find something to suit everybody between now and Christmas.

Kingdom

London, Nov. 29.—In view of the adhesion of Canada to the International Convention signed at Washington in 1911 safeguarding industrial property, Canadian films can obtain registration of trade marks in Denmark.

Store Cattle From Canada.

The High Commissioner's Office in London reports that 25,000 store cattle were landed in England from Canada during the season. Owing to the prevalence of foot and mouth disease the trade has had many difficulties to surmount.

Canadian Films in England.

Through an arrangement made by the High Commissioner's Office with a Canadian firm of film distributors in London the films produced by the Bureau of Trade and Commerce at Ottawa has been shown throughout the British Isles during the last few years. A good deal of attention and publicity for Canada has been gained in this way.

SIR HENRY HAD

TO CANCEL VISIT

Sir Henry Thornton, President of the Canadian National Railway, who was to have given a lecture here last evening under the auspices of the Women's Canadian Club cancelled his visit to the city, on account of his having to meet the Minister of Justice and the Minister of Railways at Montreal.

His interview with the ministers could not be delayed, so that the lecture has been cancelled, though it is said Sir Henry will arrange to come here as soon as possible.

EXODUS HAS NOW STOPPEDMany French-Canadians Are Returning To Canada From The States

Montreal, Nov. 29.—That the exodus of French-Canadians to the United States has stopped and that the pendulum is now swinging in Canada's favor was an important declaration made today by Mr. J. E. Laforce, Colonization and Immigration representative of the Canadian National Railways in Boston.

Mr. Laforce was in Montreal today on business. He will return to Boston to-morrow.

The trend of Franco-American opinion is gradually turning towards Canada, in the opinion of Mr. Laforce who pointed out that from April to November less than 1100 former French citizens of the United States came into Canada by the Canadian National Railways and are now settled in various parts of the Dominion.

While the majority are situated in Quebec, the Western Provinces and northern Ontario have received their share. In addition to this number, five hundred Franco-Americans have been brought into lumbering and agriculture and have been located in sections of the country close to new settlements, and it is expected that in the spring many of these will throw in their lot with the new communities and settle on the land which is being opened up rapidly, particularly in the Abitibi district.

Those portions of the eastern United States which are settled by French descend largely for their population on Canada. These expatriated French-Canadians and their descendants have not lost sympathy with this country, however, in the observation of Mr. Laforce and he supports his statement by pointing out that many Franco-Americans are sending their children to the province of Quebec for their education. This fall alone the Canadian National Railways brought from the town of Woonsocket, R.I., no less than 200 boy and girl students who were placed in colleges and convents in this Province.

Mr. Laforce states that next year may see one of the greatest gatherings of French-Canadian societies in the history of the province. Plans are being formulated to that end and every effort is being made to have the conference held either in Montreal or Quebec.

The outcome of such a conference could not but be beneficial to Canada, in the opinion of Mr. Laforce as it would direct Franco-American attention towards this province in a most forcible manner.

SERIOUS TRAIN WRECK
NARROWLY AVOIDED.

Parry Sound, Ont., Nov. 29.—What might have resulted in a very serious train wreck was avoided in the nick of time on the C.P.R. Parry Sound subdivision on Saturday, Nov. 10th, by Section Foreman Conzani, who while patrolling the track near Brignall about 2 p.m., discovered two large iron nuts on top of the rails, securely fastened with pay wire. The foreman had just time to unfasten the wire and remove the nuts to clear the track for a train was due in five minutes. The C. P. R. police department were notified and District Inspector J. McVeigh immediately sent Investigator Frank Scott to Brignall. Two boys in the vicinity admitted after questioning that they were sent to the rails to clear the track for one month and their fathers were required to give bond and report to the authorities for two years.

CATHOLIC CHURCH

ANNULLED MARRIAGE

The marriage of Andrew Belzel who resides at Beaufort to Maria Dumas which was celebrated in August 1920 was annulled yesterday by a special tribunal of the Roman Catholic Church, and a petition is now before the Courts to obtain the civil annulment. The tribunal declared that Belzel, who is a Russian, had previously been married in his own country, and that his wife was still living there.

Belzel came to Canada in 1916 and shortly after his arrival in this country, enlisted with a Canadian battalion. On his return from the war, he married Miss Dumas, and it was through military papers sent from Ottawa that she discovered he was already married.

GEORGE SIMARD

GIVEN THE HONOR.

The address in answer to the Speech from the Throne in the Legislative Council will be moved and seconded by Hon. Geo. Simard and Hon. Henry Miles respectively.

Interest is added to the choice of Hon. Mr. Simard, who only recently resigned the Chairmanship of the Liquor Commission, as he will be in an ideal position to make important statements regarding the Liquor Act, which he has administered since its enforcement.

FRANCE SICK CASES

WILL BE RELEASED.

It was announced yesterday that the two persons affected by contagious disease, and who inadvertently were the cause of the Empress of France arriving at Quebec two days late on her last trip of the season about three weeks ago, had now nearly recovered and would be transferred to their city from the Quarantine Station at Grosse Ile.

La Societe des Artisans Canadien Francais Meets.

The Artisans Canadien Francais of La Tuque met on Tuesday evening last at the residence of their Secretary Treasurer, Mr. Francois Fortier, where they were entertained at an oyster party.

At 8 p.m., all approached the table and commenced a long and sustained attack on the succulent bivalves, which continued until all had their fill, when cards were played until midnight followed by a collation by Mesdames Fortier, Bertrand and Fluet.

Mr. Ernest Gratton, organizer of Montreal, who had been invited to attend the feast then addressed a few words to the assembled guests. He congratulated the officers of the La Tuque Branch of this Society and expressed himself as being very happy to be present at the gathering.

He spoke of the progress of the Society and in convincing terms stated that he hoped that the future would not be less successful than the past. He stated that this Society is now considered to be one of the finest mutual societies in North America.

Mr. T. Marard thanked Mr. Gratton in a few well chosen words for compliments and for the fine speech he had just delivered.

The soft weather of the past few weeks appears to be breaking up. The snowfall of Monday, which seemed to be fast disappearing, has hardened up under the influence of a sharp north wind, and sleighs are now the order of the day.

According to the oldest residents this is the latest that ever wheels have had to be put away for the winter in La Tuque.

Thomas Lottinville is claiming $375.00 damages against the Corporation of Three Rivers for being illegally arrested on or about the 5th of November last by a police officer. The action was served on Mr. Beilvau, City Clerk, yesterday afternoon.

Health Precaution.

It was definitely decided by the Council last evening that all milk dealers supplying milk to the city would have to have their cows inoculated and pass the tuberculosis tests before the first of January or they would not be allowed to sell milk in the city. After the first of January all dealers will have to produce a certificate showing that each cow has passed the test and is free from tuberculosis. All proprietors of cattle can have this tuberculosis inoculation done free of charge from now until the end of the year. After January 1st they will have to pay the cost.

Dr. Desjardins, City Health Officer, left for Montreal today in order to invite lecturers and procure films for the meetings which will be held here on December 10th to inaugurate the campaign against tuberculosis in this region.

Mr. George Methot, City Attorney, left for Quebec today to represent the interests of the city in the case of Malhot vs. The Corporation of the City of Three Rivers. The appeal of the City will be heard today or tomorrow.

Magistrate's Court

Shawinigan Falls, Nov. 29.—(Special Correspondence)—W. St. Pierre, laborer, employed at La Gabelle construction job, was brought before Magistrate Lacoursiere here Tuesday afternoon, on complaint of Napoleon Blanchette, special constable for the Shawinigan Engineering Co., charged with having stolen three rolls of roofing felt, the property of the company, and representing a value of approximately $10.

Pieces of wrapper in which the roofing paper was contained and which were found near a wooden building accused was erecting, were produced in court, but it was not clearly proved that this wrapper had contained the roofing felt the company claims has been stolen.

Advocate Paquette appeared for the company, and advocate Bourneval for the defendant. The Magistrate will pronounce judgment on Thursday.

Mrs. Michel Rahal had lodged a complaint against her husband, a Syrian peddler, for non-support. She claimed that Michel Rahal had not provided for the maintenance of herself and little daughter, two and a half years old. Parties were not represented by counsel and explained their grievances personally to the Magistrate.

Rahal claims his wife insists on living with her parents in Montreal whereas he elected domicile in Shawinigan and makes frequent trips into the country to sell dry goods. He is quite willing to provide for the support of his family but wants his wife to live with him. The latter stated that Rahal repudiates her and sends her away from home. The judge reconciled both parties and ordered them to appear again before him on December 27th and report conditions.

Quebec, Says Mayor

The next sale of city lands will probably take place in the spring, or not before the end of winter, Mayor Samson stated last evening, when asked about this matter, at the conclusion of the meeting of the Finance Committee in the City Hall where City Treasurer Verger revealed that the sale of land had yielded close to $300,000 this year.

Quebec's Chief Magistrate stated that about 67,000 feet of land remained to be auctioned off in the city, including some 40,000 feet in the Palais section, which was not disposed of at the last auction, on November 15 last.

Then there was 25,000 feet on St. Vallier street, and a small portion in St. Sauveur that had been sold at the last auction, but which had been sold back to the city immediately after they had been purchased that remained to be sold.

QUEBEC, NOVEMBER 30, 1923.

CANADIAN INCOME TAXES.

The Ottawa Journal has done good service in calling attention to the desirability of easing off the burden of income taxation in this country, though it is to be feared that the Government will not turn a very attentive ear to representations of this kind. All Governments find it easier to tax than to economize, to squeeze additional revenue from the people than to turn a deaf ear to their demands for expenditures of every description. Of all forms of assessment the income tax is one of the simplest to collect and the most productive and as this particular Government has so far been unable to balance its budget, the possibility of its piling down so fruitful a source of revenue appears decidedly remote.

Last year the Federal Administration collected $177,484,161 in the way of special taxes, of which amount $78,684,355 was imposed on the incomes of the people. The Journal asserts that this special levy was much more than sufficient to take care of the interest on our war debt, plus pensions and the cost of soldiers' civil re-establishment and declares that "there is a growing widespread feeling that the Government should relax its grip on the pocketbooks of the people."

The Ottawa paper further states the economic objection to special taxes with exceptional clearness, namely that "they lower the saving power of the people, and to that extent divert capital from production to the public treasury. When the amount is large, as it is in Canada, this diversion becomes a serious matter. If courageous retrenchment in public administration were given effect, there is a growing conviction that relief might be found from the present heavy drain."

This criticism by the Journal is due to the announcement recently made that the United States are about to reduce their Federal income tax. At least, the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Andrew Mellon, has brought forward a proposition having that end in view, and there is no reason for doubting that it will be given effect at the next session of Congress. Great Britain has already made a considerable reduction in the scale of taxation, co-incidental with a lowering of the national debt.

It may not make consoling reading to contrast the relative positions of Canadians and Americans in the matter of the income tax; but it will, at least, be educational. In the case of a married man or woman, having a stated income, the comparison under the Canadian scale and the proposed American scale is as follows:

Income.	Canadian Scale.	American Scale.
$3,000	$ 40	nil
4,000	80	15.75
5,000	120	38.25
6,000	160	72.00
7,000	270	99.00

It should be explained that the American rates just given apply to the head of a family. In Canada an unmarried man and women are so classified. In the case of unmarried persons, whose exemption is limited to $1,000, the comparison between the rates of the two countries is as follows:

Income.	Canadian Scale.	American Scale.
$2,000	$ 40	22.50
3,000	80	45.00
4,000	120	67.50
5,000	160	90.00
6,000	210	135.00
7,000	310	180.00

In the law at present in force in the United States there is a discrimination against unmarried persons which carries the tax rate above the Canadian level. For example, a single man across the line, with an income of $7,000, now pays $350, as against $310 paid by an unmarried man on this side of the boundary. On the other hand, the head of a family in Canada, with an income of $7,000, pays but $270, as compared with $350 now paid by a man or a woman in a similar position in the United States.

THE FRENCH LEGAL CASE.

Few people, of those who are inclined to criticize the French occupation of the Ruhr, object to it through any particular feeling of sympathy with the German people in the nemesis they have brought upon their own heads, but rather on the grounds of expediency or morality, or both.

Expediency is a matter of opinion, incapable of conclusive proof and we need not therefore add to the already voluminous amount of discussion on that head. Morality, on the other hand—among civilized peoples, at any rate—is more or less a matter of accepted fact and therefore admits of more profitable examination. One can understand, under the circumstances, how welcome to France must have been so strongly worded opinion as that presented by Mr. William D. Guthrie, an American lawyer, in an address upon the legality of the Ruhr occupation delivered before the Delaware State Bar Association last June, in which he declared that "it is unnecessary to argue before a body of lawyers the doctrine that treaties are made with the obligation duty to perform their terms, that the voluntary violation of a treaty obligation in such substantial, continuous and deliberate manner as we are now considering, constitutes an act of gross perfidy and justifiable cause for any form of legitimate reprisal, and that the seizure and occupation of territory is a recognized form of reprisal and redress."

While we will not be so presumptuous as to argue the legal soundness of this position we may perhaps be permitted to observe that, from an ethical point of view it seems to approximate rather closely to the proposition that two wrongs make one right. In any case, such a dogmatic statement coming from such a source cannot be accepted as final proof of the legality of the occupation and France very wisely does not rest its case entirely upon evidence of this character.

A semi-official statement just received quotes the legal documents under which France and Belgium assert the right to occupy the Ruhr. The provisions of the Treaty of Versailles covering the case are: Article 248 of the Versailles Treaty and paragraph 18, Annex II, Part VIII of said Treaty. The English text reads as follows:

"Art. 248. Subject to such exceptions as the Reparation Commission may approve, a first charge upon all the assets and revenues of the German Empire and its constituent States shall be the cost of reparation and all other costs arising under the present Treaty or any treaties or agreements supplementary thereto or under arrangements concluded between Germany and the Allied and Associated Powers during the Armistice or its extensions."

"Section 18 of Annex II to Part VIII: The measures which the Allied and Associated Powers shall have the right to take, in case of voluntary default by Germany, and which Germany agrees not to regard as acts of war, may include economic and financial prohibitions and reprisals and in general such other measures as the respective Governments may determine to be necessary in the circumstances."

Furthermore the French statement calls attention to the following points:

"1. The sending of Allied engineers in the Ruhr has nothing to do with the seizure of pledges based on Article 248 of the Treaty. Our action is a result of paragraph 18 which is perfectly clear. Germany having failed to deliver wood and coal and this failure having been proved according to paragraph 17, paragraph 18 was duly enforced. Whatever steps have been taken by the French Government are purely economical, their aim being limited to securing the delivery of coal which should be remitted in conformity with the programme of the Commission of Reparations."

"2. If Article 248 of the Treaty, which cannot be acted upon in the present occurrence, does not allow the Allies to help themselves in case of it having become necessary to seize pledges, then it has no meaning whatever and it becomes impossible to understand why it should ever have been written in the Treaty."

"3. The words 'Respective Governments' authorize separate action from France, and the principle of this action has been recognized by the British Government when Great Britain renouncing her right to seize German property in the United Kingdom, the Chancellor of the Exchequer declared: 'This measure being decided by the British Government alone and without his having asked Allied nations for their adhesion, I take advantage of this opportunity to state that the terms of this paragraph clearly leave to the respective Governments full liberty to decide what action may be necessary under the paragraph. In the opinion of His Majesty's Government, it would have been both unnecessary and undesirable to try to share with the Allies the responsibility of the decision; it would have meant a limitation of their own freedom of action under the Treaty, giving the appearance of desiring to dictate to other Governments as to their action under the paragraph.'"

Nobody seems to want the German Chancellorship, which is sound judgment on the part of everybody.

As a successful boxer, Dr. Gadhol's protegee, Elzear Rioux, may take credit for being an experienced lumberjack.

No one knows how to do a graceful thing gracefully better than a Frenchman and the gift to Quebec of a magnificent Sevres vase is a particularly graceful act of friendship on the part of France.

The vigorous tone of City Council debates and the care-free manner in which money is voted for public works impress upon us the fact that the civic elections are approaching as well as Christmas.

A Verse Or Two

CHALLENGE.

Better the steel snapped short asunder
In the ringing shock of a battle thrust,
Than a weapon cobwebbed over and under
And pitted deep with rust!

Better the tall tree, burnt and riven
By the lightning's stroke on the high hill's crown,
Than dead limbs stark on a scornful heaven,
As the slow rot gnaws them down.

Better to fall in a last mad rally,
And fall with the goal almost in sight,
Than drowse at peace in a tight-walled valley
With never the grit to fight!

Play to the end—and a fig for the guerdon!
Grin at defeat—and a shrug for fame!
But pity the shirker who dodges the burden
And shrinks from the heat of the game!

THE OLD TIMER.

(Brooklyn Eagle.)

The Old New Yorker, he consoles himself with a silver pocket flask, and, just for fun, tries to imagine that there is sherry in his lobster Newburgh and brandy in his mince pie. He could as easily warm himself with a candle glow seen through stove glass. "Be easy, be easy, and if you can't be easy be as easy as you can," is his philosophy. So long as his digestion stands the strain he will maintain cynical imperturbability. He is a true child of our older civilization.

THINGS LOOKING UP.

(Daily Chronicle.)

It is quite clear, then, that as far as our export trade is concerned we are more than holding our own; while in regard to imports of manufactured articles, statistics reveal that these are far less than they were before the war. Our progress may not be too rapid, but it is proceeding along healthy lines. We could, nevertheless, do infinitely better were we to produce more cheaply and abundantly, thus developing to a greater extent consumption in our home market.

FIRST-NIGHTERS.

(Manchester Guardian.)

There is something to be said for an honest groan amid the false plaudits of the first-nighters in the stalls, who can hardly repay the compliment of a free seat by less than some exercise of the hands. First-night enthusiasm in the London theatres often bears no relation to the merit of the play or to its future popularity with the public that pays its way. In fact, the volume of cheering might in some cases be found varying in exact proportion to the accumulation of "paper" in the house. The voice of the gallery is at least an impartial, even though it be sometimes an uncharitable, voice.

NEW WORLD SCORES.

(Louisville Courier-Journal.)

Within the year has been explored the theory that the New World, though excellent in applied science, has scored less brilliantly in the field of original science. The discovery of insulin by a Canadian, one of the most beneficent of all triumphs in the realm of medicine, supplemented by a Californian's discovery that atoms are divisible into electrons, attests the increasing progress made in cis-Atlantic scientific circles. The latter discovery has been recognized by the award of the Nobel Prize in Science. In this connection it might be pointed out that the Canadian Government, recognizing the contribution to medicine made by the discoverer of insulin, has awarded him an annuity that will enable him to pursue his studies untroubled by financial anxiety.

BRITISH INCOME TAX

Dear Sir:—There must be many of your readers who are British subjects, (and, of course, this includes persons born in the Dominions and Colonies) who have money invested in England.

I feel sure few of them are aware that they are entitled to reclaim a part—at least—of the heavy British income tax deducted from their dividends, mortgage interests or other income which has been taxed in the United Kingdom.

Prior to April 1st, 1923, very few persons resident abroad could reclaim tax from the British Inland Revenue, but since that date, practically every British subject living abroad has the right to get back a part of the tax suffered by him in respect of his British income. Many of my personal friends living abroad have been able to recover sums running into hundreds of pounds and I would advise any of your readers who suffer from the tax to look closely into the matter. In these days of bad trade, heavy expenses and high income tax, no one can afford to neglect the recovery of a tax that hits everyone so hard.

I am, Sir,
Yours faithfully,
A. J. LIVESEY

Editor Quebec Chronicle.

Sir,—At the meeting of the junior stockholders of this railway, held on Tuesday, October 30, the chairman, Lord Asquith, spoke of an interview he had with the Prime Minister of Canada, Sir Lomer Gouin, Minister of Justice, and Mr. Graham, Minister of Canada and Railways, in which they said to him that they had taken over liabilities in debentures and guaranteed stock at an enormous cost, on which the Grand Trunk was not now earning anything and that there were many people in Canada who wished the line had not been taken over at all, and that the Canadian National system was in its infancy, and might or might not be successful, and that any additional burden put upon it at the present moment would take the hearts out of those who were engaged on it, and would be opposed by the people of Canada.

Some months ago Sir Henry Thornton, the manager of the National Railways of Canada, is reported to have said in Ottawa that net receipts were improving and, the signs are will continue to improve, and that in his opinion in three years' time they would cease to be a drain on the Dominion Exchequer.

Now, we see that in the first seven months of 1923 the National Railways of Canada, including the Grand Trunk, have had an increase in net earnings of $5,187,454 over the net earnings of 1922 for the period, so that the net deficit of 1922 of between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 has been converted this year into a net increase of between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000.

In 1921 the accounts of the Grand Trunk and the National Railways were kept separately, and for that year the National Railways had a deficit of $16,092,903, while the Grand Trunk had a surplus of $5,678,739 in net earnings, which clearly shows that the improvement in the working of the National Railways is due to the inclusion of the Grand Trunk, and this is the railway which the Drayton Commission report said was effete and incapable of performing its duties. So that, if Sir Henry Thornton's estimate of the future results is borne out, it will be mostly due to the Grand Trunk—which is the connecting link between the United States Railways and the National Railways of Canada, without which they, for many years, would be a drain on the Canadian Exchequer.

I do not think that the Canadian public fully realize this, nor do they pause to think how much gratitude they owe to the Grand Trunk Railway as the pioneers of railway enterprise in Canada, and that although it has served Canada for some seventy years, during that time it has had less than 10 per cent of the assistance from the Dominion that the Canadian Northern Railway, has had, which has only worked for less than twenty years, and that when the latter became bankrupt its ordinary shareholders received a considerable amount for their shares, which did not represent any cash; now the Grand Trunk stockholders are given nothing for their ordinary and preference stocks, which all represent cash. I ask them to consider that the failure of the Grand Trunk to finance itself was caused, firstly, by the immense amount of work it had done for Canada during the war at a time when the cost of labour, coal, and railway material was abnormally high, and it was not allowed to charge sufficiently high rates to balance those high costs; secondly, by their having agreed with the Government to construct the Grand Trunk Pacific, which cost immensely more than had been estimated, from causes which were unforeseen at the time they agreed upon the undertaking.

Had the Canadian Government helped them by a loan to carry them over the crisis in 1920 (the nadir of railway prosperity in the world), they would have been able to outlive this crisis, and to reach the bourns of prosperity to which they had been striving for seventy years. Many people have been ruined by the loss of their stocks in the railway in which they had such faith, and I appeal to the sense of fair play, and to the generosity of the Canadian people and Government, to remember that the life of Canada is its railways, and that it is due some gratitude to its pioneer railway.

I would request the Government to publish the accounts of the Grand Trunk separately from those of the National Railways, and to keep a register of the names of the holders of the ordinary and preference stocks as they stood when the transfers were closed.—Yours, &c.,

M. FERGUSON.

EXPECTS INCREASED IMMIGRATION IN WEST.

Winnipeg, Nov. 29.—Immigration into Western Canada next year will approach pre-war volume, it was forecast by D. C. Coleman, Vice-President of the Canadian Pacific Western Lines, here recently. Mr. Coleman, speaking in connection with the recently announced "open door" immigration policy of the Federal Government, said: "The railway companies are strongly in favor of a vigorous policy of immigration. All indications lead us to believe that the movement into Western Canada next year will begin to approximate the pre-war volume."

"The temporary exodus of Canadians to the United States," stated Mr. Coleman, "was due to the fact that the application of very rigid restrictions on the number of immigrants admitted to the United States from Europe created a temporary shortage of labor in certain industries. There is evidence that the labor situation there will become normal within a few months and the movement from Canada cease and will probably be followed by a flow of emigration in the opposite direction."

ACTION IS MUCH APPRECIATED BY MOTORISTS
 The Levis Country Railway has received the following letter from the Sherbrooke Automobile Club—

Several members of our Club who, through Levis have remarked that the operators of the cars dim their lights when meeting automobiles.
 This is very much appreciated by motorists and your lines seem to be the only ones in the Province that concede this courtesy. I am certain that it must facilitate matters to a great degree. The members above mentioned wished me to extend to you, sirs, their appreciation of another step in the right direction "Safety First".
 Trusting that your good work may extend to the city across the river, I remain, (Signed) J. C. McCONNELL, Sec.-Treas. Sherbrooke Automobile Club.

Opening of streets approved.
 Alderman Tremblay said: "Only Bourlemarque," but a storm of 'No's.' "Pass them all" broke out from the remainder of the members of the Committee, and it was finally decided to pass all of the subjects, on the condition that the city will open these streets when they have the money.

The result of the sales of land in the Palais was then given by City Treasurer Verge. He stated that the first sale of land had realized $186,625.00, while that of November 15 last had realized $132,000.00. Out of this amount there was $23,449 engaged for works that had been done in anticipation of the money that would be realized from the sale of these lands.

With what remained, the total from the sale of lands would amount to $309,000 from the Palais, while if the land in St. Sauveur was added, the total would be $441,000. The Palais, which is now being sold, is a very fine building, and the land is very valuable.

Conditions Upon Which Purchase Of Properties On Bourlemarque And St. Albert Streets Approved By Finance Committee Last Evening—Exhibition Provided Chief Topic Of Discussion At Meeting

The Exhibition provided the feature of last evening's session of the Finance and By-Laws Committee, under the chairmanship of Dr. Bedard, when the question of a grant of $1,000 to the Frontenac Driving Club, to help them in the upkeep of the track at the Exhibition Grounds during the winter came up.

Alderman Drolet told Mayor Samson that the horsemen were not treated as they should be by the Exhibition Commission because they did not have a member in the Commission, and then said that while purses of two and three hundred dollars, with hundred dollar stakes hung up at the end of the season, were being offered the horsemen, the exhibition would never have a surplus. He said that purses like those put up in other cities should be offered here and the drivers from outside points would come to Quebec to compete.

Last night's meeting was a most peaceable one, there not being a single point that caused any heated discussion, although naturally there was a little argument on some of the items.

The first item to come up was a letter from the Dames Charitables de St. Antoine, asking for a grant of $500, which was granted after being strongly championed by Alderman Drolet, saying that it was one of the biggest charities Quebec had.

A grant of $1,000 to the Goutte de Lait was next to be adopted without a murmur.

Then Dr. Bedard read a letter from the Exhibition Commission saying that the Commission had valued its properties at $123,000.00 for fire insurance, and that the buildings were insured until December 23, 1923.

Urged Early Re-Appointment.
 The Commission also called attention to the fact that the term of office of its members expired in December next, and urged that the Commission be re-appointed without any delay so as to continue their work.

Another letter from the Exhibition Commission called attention to the fact that they had spent the sum of $400 out of their general fund to build stables at the Grounds, and asked that they be reimbursed out of the loan for that work, which was agreed to.

Alderman Emond suggested that the Committee assure the use of the Grounds for the St. Jean Baptiste Society, but Alderman Bertrand pointed out that the Committee had no right to do this. The subject was then dropped.

Chairman Bedard read the report of the Exhibition Commission, showing that they had a surplus of some $14,000 which was received with applause by the Aldermen.

Then there was a letter from the Poultry Association, seeking a grant of $500.00 for the holding of an exhibition during the winter carnival. There was some little discussion on this subject, and it was endeavored to have the amount lowered to $300.00, but finally the Committee passed the subject, awarding the Association $500.

Notre Dame des Anges Annexation.
 The annexation of Notre Dame des Anges then came up, and the plans were shown the members of the Committee, but no action was taken on the matter.

Some new streets were added to the list of those in the by-law for the removal of snow from the city streets, these being St. Madeline, 1st Avenue, 1st Avenue, 1st Avenue, near the C.N.R. tracks, at Avenue Bergeron and St. Genevieve street.

A letter from the St. Patrick's A.A.A. seeking incorporation was read and adopted.

It was proposed that a sum of $5,000.00 be voted for the continuation of Bell's Hill, and after a little discussion this was adopted, and the work will be immediately proceeded with.

Then came the question of opening up new streets or extending them. It was reported that the city could purchase three properties on Bourlemarque street for $16,784.00 being the Thompson, Picher and Racine properties.

Alderman Bedard stated that there were four improvements of this kind to be made, Bourlemarque, St. Albert, Malouine and Bagot streets, and he believed that the city could find the money to carry out all these improvements, if given time.

A report from the Roads Committee was then read, stating that a property could be purchased for the opening of St. Albert Street for $5,600.00.

After a fairly lengthy discussion between the members of the Committee on the subject of the streets, Chairman Bedard asked: "Are you going to pass these subjects?"

Opening of streets approved.
 Alderman Tremblay said: "Only Bourlemarque," but a storm of 'No's.' "Pass them all" broke out from the remainder of the members of the Committee, and it was finally decided to pass all of the subjects, on the condition that the city will open these streets when they have the money.

The result of the sales of land in the Palais was then given by City Treasurer Verge. He stated that the first sale of land had realized $186,625.00, while that of November 15 last had realized $132,000.00. Out of this amount there was $23,449 engaged for works that had been done in anticipation of the money that would be realized from the sale of these lands.

With what remained, the total from the sale of lands would amount to $309,000 from the Palais, while if the land in St. Sauveur was added, the total would be $441,000. The Palais, which is now being sold, is a very fine building, and the land is very valuable.

Following is an extract of a letter from Judge Greenhalgh of the Quebec Court of Appeal to his colleague on the Bench, Mr. Justice Howard. It is a most vivid description of the horrors caused by the recent earthquake in Japan:

I have no doubt but that many and varied reports have reached you of the disaster in Japan. It upset our trip to the extent of excluding us for just months in Japan and bringing us here practically one month in advance of our planned time.

It is quite impossible within the limits of this letter to give you any idea of what the earthquake meant in Japan. Apparently my usual good luck pursued me and mine. We were due to arrive in Yokohama on the third of September. I had there reserved rooms at the Grand Hotel, which rooms no doubt at 12 o'clock on that day would have been occupied by my party. The earthquake arrived just four hours in advance and when we arrived the Grand Hotel and most of Yokohama did not exist. The occupants of the hotel at the time went down to death in the disaster. Most of the guests were Europeans—or so I heard—foreigners. The employees in the hotel were largely natives and few of them escaped. All the principal buildings such as the C. P. R. offices, the banks, the theatres, telephone offices and so forth simply fell like cardboard houses.

When we steamed into the harbor in the early morning you could not imagine the sight we saw when the rising smoke for a moment permitted us to see anything. A prosperous city, peopled by a happy population simply ceased to exist. Complete obliteration is the only expression I find to attempt a true statement of what happened.

Yokohama in round figures had a population of 500,000. The Europeans probably would not exceed 5,000. Most of them are employed in business offices near the waterfront or "Bund." They live or did live on what is called the Bluff, which is not greatly different from our Mount Royal. Everything went in the twinkling of an eye and how so many escaped is perfectly marvelous.

The "Empress of Australia," one of the largest C. P. R. ships, was at the dock ready to sail. All her passengers were aboard, the gang plank was down, and the ship was being moved and then in a moment the whole wharf sank; the crowds there were plunged into the water. The ship itself was almost overturned by what could not be better described than a tidal wave but what in reality was, of course, due to the earthquake. This was as near as possible 12 o'clock on Saturday. The whole city in a few moments was aflame. All the boats at the dock are still burning and great quantities of oil were there. You could imagine what took place when the oil became a mass of flames.

Captain Robinson of the "Australia" realized that his one duty was to get as many as possible of the unfortunate people on his ship. It was no easy matter but finally he succeeded with the magnificent assistance of his staff, including coolies, to succor and save about 5,000. With wonderful seamanship he succeeded in getting his vessel clear of the danger zone. I have a complete and accurate map of the sketch of what he did, and it is said by those who know that it was the best work carried out of a plan to decide on which he had about three minutes.

I cannot refrain at this point from paying my tribute to the work done by Captain Kent, one of the chartered pilots on the Yangtze River. He happened to be there. Striking out he boarded a vessel, the "Steel Navigator," which was stern to stern with the "Australia" and the "Steel Navigator" was then probably dead. Captain Kent, at the risk of violating navigation laws, took command and by his wonderful work enabled the "Australia" and the "Steel Navigator" to escape destruction.

When the "Empress of Canada" reached the harbor, the "Australia" was lying disabled but was at anchor with approximately 5,000 refugees on board. You can imagine the problem that presented itself to Captain Haley and the officers of our ship. With wonderful skill his one duty was to relieve the "Australia" from its over-crowded condition and receive as many as possible of the unfortunate who were still ashore at Yokohama.

Again I remove my hat in tribute to the work done by the officers and men on the "Empress of Canada" during the hour and every hour during thirty-six the Captain, the officers and the coolies to the very lowest or humblest worked until there were brought on board the "Canada" about 1,400 refugees, most of them without clothes, many of them injured. The refugees were lowered and came back loaded with these poor people. It is perfectly impossible to give any adequate description of what we saw. Many of the refugees were taken from the ship by the "Empress of Canada" and were practically without any. The result was that a cry went out on our ship for clothing. The response was splendid. Almost in a moment every cabin door was opened and clothing of every description and kind came out and was taken by the coolies to a general room organized for the purpose of distribution. Second only to the work of the officers and the crew of the "Canada" was the work of the passengers, chiefly of the ladies on our ship.

Clearing from Yokohama we went to Kobe where the largest part of the refugees were landed. There the most complete organization was under way for relief. The chief hotel, The Oriental, was practically given up as a hospital and a supply of food and other supplies that were necessary for the refugees.

Such action will serve to quiet those people ever ready to pass on gutter gossamer with regard to the consequences.

L. LETOURNEAU, M.P.P., AND L'EVENEMENT
 Takes Objection To An Article Which He Considers Very Ill Advised

Mr. Louis Letourneau, M.P.P. for Quebec East has forwarded the following correspondence to the Chronicle.

The Editor, Chronicle, Quebec.
 Sir—
 Will you oblige me by publishing the accompanying letter which I have addressed to L'EVENEMENT. I regret that the paper preceded the letter by certain comments thus destroying its effect. I desire that the public should receive enlightenment on the subject.

Thanking you,
 L. Letourneau.

Sir,
 In your issue of this morning you have published—without malice, I have no doubt—a sensational story headed "The Tomako" is from Quebec.

There can be not the least doubt that the writer of this article knew perfectly well that a sensation would be caused and that rumour would associate half a dozen Quebecers with the affair. Your correspondent may congratulate himself with having produced the desired effect.

I am all for the liberty of the press but in my opinion the press should enlighten the public and not encourage readers to deal in suppositions. I will go further; it appears to me neither just nor honest that the readers of a Journal should be provoked to connect unnamed individuals with an affair of this sort.

Being accustomed to newspaper as a Deputy I occupy a position that exposes me to criticism but I owe it to my electors as well as to my family to defend my good name. Therefore I would ask all honest citizens, who are themselves jealous of their own reputations, to communicate with me and give me the names of any persons who may have designated me as a person interested in the "Tomako" venture or in any other illicit business. I shall be glad to pay a reasonable reward to anybody supplying me with information.

Such action will serve to quiet those people ever ready to pass on gutter gossamer with regard to the consequences.

WHAT EARTHQUAKE KIWIANS AND BOARD OF TRADE MEANT

Exclusive Account Of Effects Of Disaster As Told In Judge's Letter

The weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club yesterday was well attended. The Kiwanians demonstrated their public spirit by enthusiastically supporting the proposed drive for members for the Board of Trade. The president said that he had attended a special meeting between the representatives of service clubs and the Board of Trade Council. On behalf of Kiwanians he had offered full support to the project. The president's action was endorsed by the members present and ways and means were considered of giving the proposal effect.

It was announced that a number of nominations had been made for officers in the Kiwanis Club for the ensuing year. The members nominated were—H. Bazin, Arthur Duquet, J. A. Lesage, L. D. Hudson, J. Morain, Arthur Morin, P. A. Leau, Alfred Savard, C. Lemay, S. Barrow, E. A. Nadeau, A. Meredith, P. Mooney, Thomas Peacock, A. G. Russell, E. Turner, E. G. Smith, Henry Willis and A. Wade.

After various business of the club had been discussed the president introduced the speaker of the day. The speaker, Dr. Ed. Samson of Quebec, took for the subject of his address orthopaedic surgery. After dwelling upon the advances made in this particular branch of healing during the last few years he made a plea for the establishment of an Orthopaedic Hospital in the city of Quebec. He pointed out the tremendous good the science of Orthopaedics could accomplish for children crippled at birth. In Quebec, he said, there were many such children and it was a great pity that they should be denied the advantages of modern surgery. Little children were often born with paralysis in one or more members and orthopaedic surgeons today were often able to effect cures in even stubborn cases. Where cures were not possible partial cures very largely mitigated the handicap these youngsters would experience throughout life. The doctor went on to detail terrible cases he had dealt with in the practice of his profession. He produced a number of photographs and was able to show the members exactly what little ones sometimes had to suffer. He concluded his address by a moving appeal to the members to support the establishment of a hospital for crippled children.

A vote of thanks was accorded the speaker for his inspiring address and the luncheon was concluded with the singing of "God Save the King".

MINISTRY OFFERS
TIMBER LIMITS
 2,500 Square Miles Of Forest Will Be Sold This Morning

An important sale of timber rights will be conducted in the Private Bills Room at the Parliament Buildings this morning at 10.30. The sale will be under the presidency of the Hon. H. Mercer, Minister of Lands and Forests. The lands are situated on the north side of the St. Lawrence in the basin of the Manicouagan and its tributaries. The forests comprise in all 2,500 square miles—the most extensive area ever offered for sale as a single lot in the Province.

The conditions governing the sale are novel as far as Quebec Province is concerned. The buyers will be given five years to complete eight mills in certain specified cities of the province. Each of the mills must have an initial daily capacity of at least 100 tons of paper; they must also have a capacity for producing pulp 100 tons in excess of the required for paper. Paper production must be increased to two hundred tons per day at the expiration of seven years. The Lands and Forests Ministry will require a deposit of $250,000.00.

Certain objections have been made by merchants that insufficient time has been given to investigate the value of the block put up for sale. The Minister of Lands and Forests, however, has stated that the sale was only issued on October 25th, so that intending purchasers have had little more than a month in which to make their survey and valuation.

The Lecture that was to have been delivered by Sir Henry Thornton today at the Chateau Frontenac has been cancelled owing to his being unavoidably detained in Montreal.

had been collected. I omitted to mention that before we arrived at Kobe we had a meeting of the passengers in the dining salon and in about an hour 19,000 yen, equivalent to about $8,500 was subscribed, which I was greatly pleased to hand over to Mr. Foster, the British Consul in Kobe, as our contribution to the relief fund.

Up to now I have said nothing about Tokyo. Tokyo is about 18 miles from Yokohama and if you double in your mind what happened at Yokohama you will not exceed the result in Tokyo. With a population of 2,500,000 and a city shaken to pieces by an earthquake you can imagine what happened. There are estimates given as to the loss of native life in both cities. It is quite impossible to give any accurate figure. Never will the result in numbers be known.

What will happen to these two cities is difficult to forecast. Tokyo, I fancy, will in time be rebuilt. As to Yokohama I doubt it very much. There is not the same reason for the reconstruction of the latter as the former.

Interesting Address On Orthopaedic Surgery Given By Dr. Edward Samson

More than ordinary interest is being centred in by local Scotsmen and those of Scotch descent in the observance today of the Festival of St. Andrew, Scotland's Patron Saint, owing to the fact that the Quebec St. Andrew's Society has, after a lapse of twenty-two years, re-established its old custom of holding a banquet in honor of the occasion, the success of which is already assured judging by the demand for tickets for the function.

In addition to the officers and members of St. Andrew's Society the banquet will be attended by a number of Scotsmen of the city, as well as by the representatives of sister National Societies. An excellent musical programme will be rendered to which two well known Montreal vocalists, Messrs. W. J. Stephenson and T. Archer, will contribute. An interesting feature of the event will be the pipe selections by Pipe Major Alexander Gray, of Montreal, one of the most distinguished pipers in Canada, who holds a medal for playing before the King.

To-morrow evening the members of St. Andrew's Society will hold their annual Church Service in Chalmers' Church, when the preacher for the occasion will be the Rev. A. D. Matheson, M.A., B.D.; and at which a splendid musical programme will be rendered under the direction of Mr. H. Gordon Perry.

The festival will not be permitted to pass without the display on the part of Scotsmen and Scotswomen of that beautiful Highland plant, the heather—and doubtless many of other races will wear it as a token of respect to the sons of Auld Scotia.

Reverting to the banquet it is interesting to recall that the last one held by the Society was in 1901, when the special speaker for the occasion was the Hon. D. C. Fraser, Member of Parliament for Guebyore, N.S., the President on that occasion being Mr. Archibald Miller.

Origin of Society
 St. Andrew's Society of Quebec was formed in the year 1835. Its origin is to be traced to a well marked transition period in the history of the country, when the unrest in the colony was leading to the organization of kindred societies and rallying points for patriotic sympathies and united action in the dispensing of charity. There are to be met with in the records of the Society only the slenderest threads of political significance, in its fraternal cooperation with the St. George's and St. Patrick's societies in their respective celebrations. From the first, however, even the social element and much more the political was subordinated to the charitable, the direct objects of the Society being the affording of relief and advice to natives of Scotland in Canada and their descendants and the promoting of the welfare of Scottish immigrants who stood in need of assistance, and were found to be worthy of it. At the first regular meeting of the Society, Mr. Andrew Paterson was elected President, with the Hon. John Neilson and the Hon. John Stuart as Vice-Presidents. Up to 1868 the meetings of the Society were held in St. Andrew's School, and since then in Morris' College. During the first year of the Society's existence, the three Societies—St. Andrew's, St. George's and St. Patrick's—walked together in procession to the Anglican Cathedral, on St. George's Day, the Scottish fraternity being headed by the pipers of the 79th Highlanders, then stationed in the city, under the command of Lieut.-Colonel Ferguson. Among its members was James Mackenzie, the pioneer of Levis, whose wealth through the liberality of his daughter, Mrs. Turnbull, has been devoted to the erection of the Mackenzie Wing of the Jeffrey Hale's Hospital. Though the Society was one of the most firmly established of the charitable societies in Quebec, there were times of inaction in its fraternal functions that kept its operations of charity not a little out of public sight. The Society was incorporated in 1870, the Hon. George Irvine, one of the most prominent of the lawyers of the city, and a member of the Legislative Assembly, being responsible for carrying this out. The Society has a fine record of charities dispensed, of brotherly kindness promoted and of loyalty kept aflame towards the British Empire and its monarch that may well serve as an example to all similar organizations throughout the Dominion.

CITY LEAGUE WILL OPERATE WITH THREE CLUBS

THREE TEAMS IN THE CITY LEAGUE

St. Patrick's A.A., St. Valier And Laval-Amateur Will Operate

The Quebec City and District Hockey League will, in all probability, be a three-club circuit this winter, as a fourth club appears to be hard to find as a result of a bylaw. A meeting of the league was held at the Victoria Hotel last evening to consider applications for admission but these were conspicuous by their absence.

The question of disbanding or playing with three clubs was discussed and it was finally decided to operate with St. Patrick's A. A., Laval-Amateur and St. Valier. St. Valier was adverse to operating with three teams but finally decided to remain in the league, rather than have City League hockey disappear for the season.

However, efforts will be made to secure a fourth club, and an invitation will be sent to the management of the St. George's Club of St. George to enter their team. The "Saints" won the championship of the Independent League a couple of seasons ago, but since then have played independent hockey.

Lou Gignac, who had been holding the office of Secretary, tendered his resignation, which was reluctantly accepted. Leo Dooley was elected to replace him.

Although the schedule was not drawn up as no dates have been secured yet as the Eastern Canada League has first call on the dates at the arena, the draw for the opening game was made, and this resulted in St. Patrick's A. A. drawing the bye, the names of St. Valier and Laval-Amateur being the ones drawn out of the hat.

The league also decided to cut down the price of admission to the games to thirty cents including tax for this season, and to play the matches on Wednesday evenings, if possible.

Before adjourning, a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. H. Fontaine for kindly placing a room at the disposal of the assembly.

GENARO AWARDED JUDGES' DECISION

Over Tremaine In Tame 12 Round Bout—Spent Time In Clinching

New York, Nov. 29—Frankie Genaro, American flyweight champion, was given the judges' decision over Carl Tremaine of Cleveland, a leading bantamweight after twelve rounds of mild boxing at Madison Square Garden. Tremaine beat the sale at 11½ pounds, outweighing his opponent four pounds.

The fighting was so tame that the crowd observing that its clamor produced no genuine fighting remained uninterested in the latter part of the bout and the decision was reached with just a few boos and hardly any cheering. Because of his great advantages in height, weight and reach, Tremaine should have been an easy winner and experts at the ringside were of the opinion that the judges' decision of Genaro's handiness in his favor in clinching the points. Neither was very aggressive, virtually all of the making was sporadic and little of it was sustained by either man. It appeared that Tremaine landed the greatest number of damaging blows, but not once did he follow up his advantage. Most of the time was spent in clinching with each man rushing to do his share of it.

They felt each other out in the first three rounds, each coming out sporadically with a lightning thrust that brought out an equally quick defense. In the third round they were more aggressive but hardly less cautious, attacking simultaneously only once and they rushed into each other's arms, tumbling over and rolled on the floor. Nevertheless both fighters put over some hefty blows.

Tremaine won the fourth round with four left smashes to the head but did not pursue his ascendancy in the next.

The fifth was only mildly active and about even and though the spectators clamored for activity the sixth round was just a bit speedier than the others, both occasionally landing a stiff jolt.

The Cleveland fighter got in a few damaging blows in the seventh and in the eighth produced the first real action with a right to the jaw that sent Genaro to a corner where Tremaine pummeled him considerably. The faster pace was made in the ninth, both men taking the aggressive, landing solidly and chasing each other to the ropes.

Genaro started most of the trouble that made the tenth round a lively session, outpointing Tremaine in aggressiveness in several short exchanges. Tremaine began aggressively in the eleventh but was outfought, Genaro rocking him once with a hard right to the jaw.

Although dancing around quite a bit they were cautious in the twelfth, landing a few blows but clinching most of the time.

Lewis Vincentini, Chilean lightweight, won an impressive victory over Jimmy Carroll, New York, with a knockout in the third round of their preliminary to the match between Frankie Genaro and Carl Tremaine in Madison Square Garden. Vincentini weighed 135 and Carroll 137.

No man has ever yet thoroughly mastered the knowledge of himself. Nature has caprices which art cannot imitate.

RITOLA STILL BEST TEN-MILER

Took Lead At Starter's Gun And Was Never Headed—Moorcraft Second

Detroit, Nov. 29—Willie Ritola, of the Finnish-American Athletic Club of New York, National ten-mile cross-country champion, won the annual ten-mile race of the Irish-American Athletic Club here today, completing the distance in 53:06 3-5 seconds.

Jimmy Moorcraft, of the Millett Athletic Club of Detroit, finished second and Jimmy Delow of the Gladstone Athletic Club of Toronto, third, their time being 55:56 4-5 and 55:57 1-5, respectively. Chuck McEbor, of the Illinois Athletic Club, finished fourth and Aug. Fager and Gunner Nilson, of the Finnish-American Athletic Club in the order named.

Ritola, who broke the tape at the starter's gun, never was headed. His sterling display of grit enabled him to lower the record for the ten miles over the local course which was often blocked by automobiles and spectators. The race was unique in that all of the thirty-eight runners who started finished, including Mitchell Baker, the 54-year-old runner of Chicago.

DEFENDERS HOLD BOWLING TROPHY

Challengers Failed To Lift Lachance & Leclerc Cup By Two Pins

The defenders of the Lachance and Leclerc Cup for two-men Class "A" bowling teams, came close to losing their coveted trophy last evening, though they succeeded in retaining it by the narrow margin of two pins, defeating the challengers by a total of 1039 to 1037. The challengers won the first string by a majority of 23 pins but fell down badly in the second and the defenders counted enough pins to wipe out their opponents margin and to take a nine pin lead. The challengers captured the third and final string but failed to even the count by the narrow margin of two pins. The scores:

KING SOLOMON'S SEAL WON BY NOSE

Took Thanksgiving Handicap And Set New Track Record At Bowie

Bowie, Md., Nov. 29—King Solomon's Seal won by a nose the $10,000 Thanksgiving Handicap for three-year-olds and up, over the mile and three-sixteenths route, making a new track record of 2:02 3-5. The former mark was 2:04 set by Bunga Buck. The Greenleaf stable's Moonraker was a nose behind King Solomon's Seal which led Harry Payne Whitney's Flagstaff by the same close margin. Exodus, coupled with Moonraker, finished fourth, the rest of the field trailing seven lengths back.

At the rise up of the barrier Hephästos went to the front attended by Opperman, Reparation and General Thatcher. In the long run, past the grand stand Flagstaff assumed command with Moonraker and Exodus taking second and third places respectively.

This was the order in the run down the back stretch but when the turn for home was made Babin shot King Solomon's Seal up to the leaders and in a desperate stretch struggle King Solomon's Seal was up to gain a nose verdict over Moonraker. Flagstaff, although tiring from his pace-making efforts was home by a safe margin over Exodus.

A LEAN BOXING SEASON AHEAD

Dempsey And Leonard Not Likely To Fight Till Roses Bloom

New York, Nov. 29—With Jack Dempsey and Benny Leonard packed away for the winter, boxing will have a lean season until the next outdoor boom gets booming next summer—if it does have another boom.

It has been pointed out frequently this fall that the boxers who are passing up good purses for indoor fights this winter to get a big shot outside next summer may be making a serious mistake.

Disregarding the possibility, rather remote, that boxing might be knocked out legally, there are good reasons to believe that there will be many places in which to stage outdoor bouts as there were around New York last summer.

It would be no surprise to see the major leagues, in the annual winter meetings, close the doors of their ball parks to boxing. The reasons have been the roughly covered in previous discussions.

Other reasons to believe that ball park boxing will get a smacking from another quarter were gathered recently when William J. McCormick, the new boss of the commission, told the champions and their managers that it was not at all impossible that the commission would limit the admission price to bouts in ball parks to $5 a head.

This would be a sure knock-out blow.

It is generally agreed on all sides that ball parks are anything but proper places in which to hold big championship contests.

Want the Jack.

Because timid champions are killing most of the lighter class, the lightweight and heavyweight divisions are the only ones promising receipts.

any interesting activity in the near future and nothing is in prospect this winter for Dempsey or Leonard. The heavyweight champion cannot work inside and get the cash he demands, and Leonard feels that he is too big for anything but an outdoor fight.

Leonard was booked for a fight in Tijuana the first of the year, but Jimmy Coffroth, the promoter, has been unable to get a permit from the Mexican government up to the present time and the bout seems doubtful.

Several good heavyweight bouts might be arranged among the contenders, but they all have the outdoor fever and feel that they would be making a business mistake in signing for an indoor fight.

Joe Lynch and Mickey Walker are killing interest in the bantamweight and welterweight classes by refusing to defend their titles. Lynch is losing all his friends because it is apparent that he is afraid to risk his title.

PIRPO AND WILLS WILL FIGHT MAY 5

Buenos Aires, Nov. 29—Luis Pirpo has made it known that he sent a message today to Tex Rickard, boxing May 5 as the date on which he will meet Harry Wills, the United States negro heavyweight fighter in the United States. Pirpo declared he will receive $200,000 and forty per cent of the gate receipts.

WILL KID GAGNON TRIM GIRARDIN

Pair Will Meet In Feature Ten Round Bout Here Monday Night

Kid Gagnon, the local scrapper who will fight Georges Girardin in the first ten-round bout at the Variety Hall Monday night, aspires to make a name for himself in the boxing game, and the little fellow is training hard every day in an effort to learn more about the game. Gagnon has everything that goes to make a good fighter. He can take punishment without showing any ill effects and can also deal out a stiff wallop with either hand.

The game little Frenchman is willing to fight anyone of his weight, and a proof that he has no nice lies in the fact that he has accepted to meet Georges Girardin, probably best man in his weight around Montreal. The latter is a two-fisted fighter and when he takes it into his head to fight, can stand his own with the best of them. However, he will have to fight when he steps into the ring with Gagnon, for should he not he will wake up with his seconds working over him.

The semi final, also over the ten-round route, will bring together Kid Mitchell of this city and Wally Hopwood of Toronto, and this bout should prove interesting while it lasts. Hopwood is reported to be a fast and aggressive scrapper and should make Mitchell extend himself to the limit in order to gain the decision.

Another bout, an eight-rounder, with Midge Ryan and Young Burns as the principals, will also be on the program.

SIX ARE DEAD AS RESULT OF ACCIDENT.

Philadelphia, Nov. 29—The list of dead as a result of an automobile accident—early today near the entrance to Fairmount Park was increased to six tonight by the death tonight of John Maynes. Five other members of the party, 3 men and 2 women, died shortly after their car crashed through a guard rail protecting an air opening in a Reading railway tunnel, plunging 35 feet to the tracks below and was crushed by a milk train a moment later.

All the victims were residents of Philadelphia. They were on their way home from a dance when the accident occurred.

A MIGHTY ALE FOR MIGHTY MEN

Frontenac Export Ale

A TRIBUTE TO MODERN PROGRESS

The manufacture of boilers and engines forms one of Canada's most important industries. The number of locomotives built in 1920 was 219, their value $12,147,077—their efficiency a tribute to modern invention.

The value of production of this branch of the industry rose from $11,873,903 in 1910 to $24,708,143 in 1919, accomplishing this advance without prohibitory legislation of any character.

Brewing, also one of Canada's great industries, likewise made vast progress, for brewing production rose from $12,468,500 in 1910 to $26,695,859 in 1920—and this tremendous advance despite constant prohibitory legislation.

The brewing industry also owes its progress to modern invention. Exemplifying this stands the marvelous $3,000,000 plant of the Frontenac Breweries, Limited, embodying every improvement known to the scientific world.

Famous FRONTENAC EXPORT ALE, of a supreme quality thought impossible in older days, is a tribute alike to Frontenac and modern times.

BUFFALO MEAT ON DINING CAR MENUS.

Montreal, Nov. 29.—A joint of buffalo meat for the Canadian Christmas dinner may soon become as typical of the feast as turkey and roast beef have been for so long. Buffalo in the National Parks are increasing so rapidly that there is every prospect that they will soon become a regular source of food supply. Various schemes have and are being tried out for using up the surplus as it arises, and schemes for domesticating the buffalo have met with some success. The cattalo, a cross between the buffalo and cattle, has proved a sturdy beast, and in the winter of 1920 when the meat of buffalo and cattalo was submitted to a test by a number of Ottawa people 16 of the 25 samples gave as their opinion that the flavor and palatability of the cattalo was superior to that of the domestic animal.

Buffalo meat is again to figure largely on the menus of the Canadian Pacific hotels and dining cars. Under the direction of A. S. Ducloux, who performed similar services for the Dominion Government last year, then 250 head were killed, 2,000 surplus buffalo have been taken to the various stockyards in the West where slaughtering commenced yesterday. In three weeks the meat will be ready for the market, and while the supply lasts it will be placed on the Canadian Pacific menus.

Chilblains & Frost-Bite

As a remedy for those most troublesome of winter skin afflictions, chilblains and "frost-bites," Zam-Buk is speedily effective. It takes out inflammation and reduces swelling in a wonderful way and soothes the fiery stinging irritation.

Where the chilblains are broken and have a raw ulcerated surface, Zam-Buk is doubly valuable because of its great healing power. Its pain-killing efficiency and its fine antiseptic properties place Zam-Buk far above ordinary ointments.

HILL WON THE AUTOMOBILE RACE

Drove Car At Over 114 Miles An Hour—Hearne Leading Driver

Beverly Hills Speedway, Cal., Nov. 29.—Bennett Hill, driving at 114.4 miles an hour, won the 250-mile Thanksgiving Day automobile race here today. His time was 2 hours, 13 minutes and 25 seconds. Jimmy Murphy finished second in 2 hours, 16 minutes and 30 seconds. Eddie Hearne was third.

Two fatalities occurred in connection with the race. George L. Wasieleski, of Kansas City, and Russell Hughes, a news photographer were killed when struck by the racing car of Harry Hartz as Hartz was warming up his car shortly before the start.

In finishing third Eddie Hearne won the 1923 national speed championship. He had 1,622 points before the race started and winning third place today gave him an additional 140 points.

Jimmy Murphy ends the year's racing season in second place with 1,470 points. The standing of other nationally known drivers are as follows:

Bennett Hill, 955; Harry Hartz, 840; Tommy Milton, 810; Harland Fenger, 720; Jerry Wonderlich, 368; Cooper, 310; Frank Elliott, 266; Dave Lewis, 234.

Today's race did not break the record of 115.65 miles an hour for 250 miles held by Jimmy Murphy.

SEEKS NEWS OF LONG LOST FAMILY.

Chief of Police Trudel received an enquiry yesterday from Mr. Ralph Dawson, of 54 Chesterton Road, Pilestone, London, England, about an old English family named Nicholas who came to Canada in the early fifties of last century, and are thought to have settled in Quebec. As the original immigrants are probably not living now, Mr. Dawson would like to get in touch with their children or other relatives. The Nicholas family originally came from Gloucester.

FIND STATUE OF TUTANKHAMEN

Life-Sized Ebony Picture Is Carefully Transferred To Tomb Of King Leti

Luxor, Egypt, Nov. 29.—From the mortuary chapel in which it had rested 3,270 years, a life-sized ebony statue of Tutankhamen was transferred to the tomb of King Leti, his ancient predecessor.

The statue, which is one of two striking life-like effigies of the pharaoh has kept guard at the door of his tomb through these more than 3,000 years, supposedly keeping out the evil spirits and assuring the soul of the royal occupant of the tomb everlasting tranquility.

The wooden figure was laid upon a bier-like stretcher and conveyed to King Leti's tomb, where Howard Carter, in charge of the exploration operations, has established a workshop, with as much ceremony and solemnity as might have attended the funeral of the ancient sovereign himself. Archaeologists assisting Mr. Carter promptly wrapped the inanimate king in cotton batting and linen bandages, as if embalming a real mummy, and despatched it to Cairo, where it will join the other images of royalties in wood and stone in the Egyptian Government's museum.

DEFENDANT GAVE HIS EVIDENCE

Dr. J. E. Noel Said He Had Told Mr. Nicol About The Rumors About Licenses

Sherbrooke, Que., Nov. 29.—Dr. J. E. Noel was on the stand here this afternoon in the continuation of the Noel Nicol libel case. He described the incidents relative to the securing of affidavits and sworn dispositions of the different individuals and stated that any statements signed or remarks made were entirely voluntary and that he made no attempt to drag anything out of witnesses.

He said that in an interview he had with Hon. J. Nicol he had told him of the rumors current on the street and added that as he had received no reply to his letter, he had written to Premier Taschereau and showed the Provincial Treasurer a copy of that letter.

A number of other witnesses including the Chief of Police and the City's Secretary-Treasurer testified to hearing rumors in connection with Mr. Nicol and the issuance of liquor licenses in Sherbrooke.

WALKING RACE WAS A FIASCO

Entire Canadian Team And First Man To Finish Disqualified

New York, Nov. 29.—The annual City Hall to Coney Island handicap walk which has been the local walking classic for years, ended in a fiasco today and officials were forced to disqualify the entire Canadian team and the first man to finish, Chas. Eschenbach, of the Pastime Athletic Club for foul walking.

There was considerable argument among members of the American Walkers' Association and it was intimated that the disqualification might not be final but would be passed upon at another meeting of the Association next week.

Aside from the disqualifications, the race was an interesting one. Eschenbach started at 6.30 handicap mark and overtook some splendid walkers. He and George Bristol, a member of the Canadian team, staged a bitter duel at the finish and only in the last few yards did he draw away from his Canadian rival.

Green And White Outfit Will Make Bid For The E.C.H.L. Championship

The Sons of Ireland Club of the Eastern Canada Hockey League will place the strongest team that ever wore the colors of the club on the ice this season, in an effort to maintain their unbroken list of championships won since the formation of the club during the season of 1913-14.

The following is the probable line-up of the Green and Whites: Goal, Turgeon; defence, Loneragan, Desbiens (formerly of University of Montreal), Montgrain, (formerly of La Tuque), and Morissette; centre, Pedenault (formerly of Chicoutimi); right wing, Dinan and Bicknell; left wing, Laroché, Quenneville and Gaudreault. DUNDEE LOST BUT HOLDS HIS TITLE

Featherweight Champion Lost Decision To Shubert—Title Not Involved

New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 29.—Johnny Dundee, featherweight champion of the world lost the judges' decision in a ten-round bout with Al Shubert of this city tonight. There was no title involved. Dundee weighed 123 pounds and Shubert 134. Shubert forced the going and carried five rounds by a good margin and two rounds were even. Shubert, an adept at the infighting game, outshone the champion in this respect. In the sixth round Dundee's flying jab missed its mark. Shubert sent the champion spinning with a short right. Dundee going down on his hands. In this round Shubert opened a cut under Dundee's eye.

GERMAN SPY PARDONED BUT MUST LEAVE COUNTRY

New York, Nov. 29.—Pardoned by President Coolidge and freed from a life sentence at Leavenworth, Lothar Witzke, the only German spy convicted in the United States during the world war, was deported today on the Hamburg-American liner Al-Bert Ballin.

Five years of prison life appeared to have left no traces on the countenance of the former spy, for he was robust and ruddy and looked 23 rather than 30 years old.

After having been sentenced to death—the war-time penalty for espionage—Witzke obtained a commutation to life imprisonment and then eight days ago, the President pardoned him on the condition that he leave the country.

NEW YORK BANDITS HIDING IN CANADA?

It was learned today that two New York detectives are in Toronto, working with the full co-operation of the authorities of that city.

Retail Merchants!

The good reception given our campaign of education by our population, of cities and villages, is very encouraging, but it is necessary, for the complete success of this movement, that everybody co-operate with all his power.

We Make a New Appeal to Our Retail-Merchants

WE have asked during the last few months the population of our Province that they buy from our Retail Merchants, but it is still necessary, for the complete success of this campaign, that those be able to sell our own products, in all cases where possible.

In fact, we are all working for the bigger prosperity of the Province of Quebec, if we buy AT HOME the products of AT HOME and to reach this end, the entire co-operation of our retail merchants, our wholesale merchants and our manufacturers is necessary.

We then ask to-day that our retailers grant to our business houses, our industrialists and our manufacturers, the same preferential treatment that we solicit for them from our population.

By thus acting, in concert with the purchasing public, you will contribute to the general prosperity of our city and our Province, you will help to end the unemployment of so many of ours, you will participate in the efforts of our Provincial Government to bring back and keep here hundreds of families, who through lack of work, expatriated themselves and you will be performing an act of clear patriotism.

Help To Make Our Province Greater and More Prosperous.

Daily Gossip On Leading Stocks

Dow Jones says: Minneapolis, St. Paul and S.S. Marie October net $16,000 against $14,000 a year ago. Ten month net $4,661,536 against $3,673,346 in 1922.

Mount Royal Hotel Company stock will probably be listed on Canadian stock exchanges shortly, as it is understood arrangements are being made to this effect.

Those in close touch with the company's affairs expect that dividends will be started in the near future. They base their belief on the excellent earnings shown by the company since the hotel was opened.

Following a conference between Premier Ferguson, Attorney-General W. F. Nickle and G. T. Clarkson, liquidator for the Home Bank of Canada, the Government decided to waive for 18 months its prior right to the full payment of $1,500,000 of provincial monies on deposit with the bank.

The Government is only allowing the liquidator a longer period to meet the demands.

It is stated, from other sources, that the payment of the 25 percent dividend to the depositors will commence as speedily as possible.

"Many ask why the great increase in mineral production during the last ten years is not being reflected by a proportionately increased financial following in the province of Quebec in general and Montreal in particular," says the Toronto Financial Post.

"In Montreal there is an increasing interest in mining stocks yet that interest is by no means as wide as it should be. This is due to a variety of factors, which include among the principal causes the following:—

"Lack of broker interest.

"Lack of banker and public appreciation.

"Mining—heretofore Ontario's peculiar field only.

"With regard to the influence of the first of these on the mining market, many Montreal brokers know the proven merit of some mines and they realize also the speculative value of others, yet there exists a hesitation in recommending them to their clients, because of the feeling that even in the listed department of the Montreal Stock Exchange they have not sufficient 'control' over possible stock manipulation. When it comes to stocks listed on the mining exchanges they feel they have no control whatever.

"As most brokerage houses are debtors to the extent of many thousands to their banks, some of them say that the pushing of their mining departments might injure their credit with their bankers and although they know and approve of the opportunities which this field offers, they are a little slow in bringing it into prominence.

"The lack of proper appreciation of value of the resources by both bankers and the public has been marked. The public is rapidly coming to a more general realization of the possibilities of mining, yet even now there are many men in the street to whom Porcupine's 'Big Three' are nothing more than mere names and who know nothing of the vast resources of British Columbia.

"Such factors as press publicity, Rouyn developments, and the recent larger interest in British Columbia's mines have tended to gradually diminish the feeling that mining is Ontario's field alone."

The assertion that the achievement of the schools of the U. S. is far below that of the British, was made last evening by Premier Baldwin in an election speech at Bristol. He said this statement is endorsed by American educators themselves.

According to Baldwin, an American boy of 15 is in knowledge and achievement, about 2 years behind an English pupil of the same age."

Consolidated Smelter is steadily increasing its working force since the opening of its large concentration. It also has reopened its old Rossland mines, which have been idle so long. The ore from these mines can now go to the smelter.

Sherwin-Williams Company of Canada has declared a dividend of 1-2 percent on common and 1-4 percent on preferred, both payable December 31st 1923, to holders of stock record December 15th, 1923. This dividend is for the quarter ending November 30th, 1923.

The wheat yield of the Province of Alberta is estimated to be 167,467,000 bushels by the Dominion Government as against 64,873,000 bushels last year, though authorities in Calgary are inclined to place a even higher.

At a conservative estimate, taking all the crops, including root vegetables, alfalfa and other fodder crops, the approximate value is $106,542,204. The value of dairy products is $150,488,519, and livestock $112,691,132. In addition, there is the wealth derived by the province from its coal industry.

Taking last year's figures as a basis the output of the year has been increased—at the all round average price of $4 at the pithead, the amount in dollars and cents represents the respectable item of $28,904,000.

Taking the population of Alberta at 650,000, if the province's wealth were divided up equally, every man, woman and child in the province would receive approximately $450. The total returns of $28,904,000 are bewildering, but to the lay mind it is easily discerned that an enormous amount of money will this fall and winter be put into circulation in the province.

The Canadian High Commissioner's office is informed that the new French loan of 100,000,000 francs to Rumania for the purchase of munitions in France, which is secured on Rumanian export taxes, does not oblige Rumania to have in hand a debt to Canada, despite the French

UNDEVELOPED WATER POWERS IN PROVINCE

Over Fourteen Million Horse Power Is Still Available In Quebec

COLOSSAL SUM Represented In Total Value Of Energy Not Yet Developed In This Province

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—(Special to the Chronicle)—Interest close to the Government state that attention is being drawn to the continued emigration of mechanics and other workmen to the United States, consequent on the shortage of labor there and the absence of any large development works in Canada that would tend to keep this labor at home.

Because of this the Government is likely to cast around for means to develop on a large scale various natural resources now lying dormant. There is a feeling that the province of Quebec will supply the key to the situation, and will give the first impetus to a renaissance of Canadian prosperity and development.

In this connection perhaps nothing has attracted so much attention as the statement made in Montreal by the Hon. Honore Mercier, Minister of Lands and Forests for Quebec. Mr. Mercier dealt with the undeveloped water powers of the Province, and stated that of the 15 million hydro-electric horse-power commercially available in the Province, almost 14 millions is still undeveloped. It is calculated that the one million horse-power already developed in Quebec is equal to the annual burning of 8,000,000 tons of coal, representing a cash value of $80,000,000 per annum, at a conservative estimate. That being so, if all the commercially available hydro-electric power in the Province of Quebec were developed, the annual cash value would represent according to Mr. Mercier the colossal sum of $1,120,000,000 per annum. Put in another way, if all the available water power in Quebec province were developed, it would mean the creation of sufficient wealth to pay off the whole of the national debt of Canada in less than two years. Of course, it would not be applied in that way, but what the creation of all that wealth would mean to Canada or even an appreciable part of it, can easily be imagined.

Tables Will be Turned It is realized here that one of the chief reasons why the United States has been lenient to Canada in the matter of a coal supply, and has steadfastly refused to cut off exports of coal to the Dominion, is the fact that the powers that be in the United States realize that the time is not far distant when the tables will be turned, and when, instead of Canada being dependent on the United States for a coal supply, the United States will be to a large extent dependent on this country for a supply of hydro-electric power. There is no gain saying the fact that Canada holds the key to the power situation in the great manufacturing area comprised within the New England States as well as the State of New York, and the predominant factor in holding that key is the Province of Quebec, where there is more undeveloped power than anywhere else on the continent.

The great question now is, can Canada realize on these great assets in a large way in the immediate future; in other words, can the Dominion enter upon such an era of development as will stem the tide of emigration and attract labor and capital in large quantities? The answer to this question is to be found, it is believed, in the policy which the Federal and Provincial Governments adopt in regard to development which are forthcoming. It is known, from quiet investigations which have been going on, that large amounts of new capital, particularly from the United States are available for hydro-electric developments in Quebec if access to markets awaiting that power is assured. In the face of existing conditions, it would not be surprising if the Federal Government were to take up with the Provincial authorities in any such legislation as would warrant immediate development of latent water powers for which such large markets already exist, and the introduction of new capital for that development.

Carillon Hydro-Electric Among the different hydro-electric developments in the province of Quebec which at the present time are under consideration by the Federal authorities and which will greatly benefit the city of Ottawa electrically and otherwise is that at Carillon, an option for the development of which is held by a syndicate that it does.

As a matter of fact, the export taxes on which Canada's debt is also secured, are returning a revenue much greater than expected, and Rumania is understood to have intimated a desire to reduce them. Canada, however, will oppose any such reduction.

VIVID ACCOUNT OF EARTHQUAKE

Told By Miss Kaufman Of
The Y.W.C.A., Who Was An Eye Witness

A most interesting and gripping account of the conditions in Tokyo and Yokohama, since the recent terrible disaster in Japan, from one who is right on the spot, is told in extracts from a letter written by Miss Emma Kaufman. Miss Kaufman, accompanied by Miss Margaret McNaughton, sailed from Vancouver on September 28th. She writes from the Y.W.C.A. headquarters at Tokyo:—
"Such an accumulation of misery. The whole city looked like a vast burning camp. In the lower part of the town, which is only a few feet above sea level, the streets were flooded. In one small open square 40,000 people took refuge and were burnt to death, standing tight together as the fire closed them in on all sides. This earthquake is said to be the greatest tragedy in history. During the last week alone there were 1153 shocks, so that everyone had to be ready to fly at a moment's notice.
"Such endurance, such quiet, such dignity, as this race showed under suffering. The streets were crowded with people who tramped and tramped for miles, with no destination in view. One woman, two hours after giving birth to a child, walked for ten hours and seemed to suffer no harm. One of the former Y.W.C.A. secretaries, living in Yokohama, gave birth to a child the day after the earthquake, she was all alone, her husband having been killed the day before. For three days the fire burnt, and then complete darkness. No water, no food, no cars, no telephones, no post, no light, no gas and no telegraph communication. The recovery of the people, from a stunning blow, such as this, is remarkable. One pathetic case illustrates courage that is being displayed everywhere. The case of a schoolmaster, who standing on a pile of rubbish, the site formerly of a splendid school, with his five hundred pupils, gathered around him, addressed his audience earnestly. After listening attentively the pupils saluted the Japanese flag sang the National Anthem, and seemed quite cheered. People are working like mad, getting up shelters, barracks, etc., anything to live in for the present. The papers are full of greater Tokyo, and the wonderful city it will be. Building regulations are to be very strict, in an attempt to make it fire and earthquake proof. The Government officials have secured the co-operation of the missionaries, and a federation of about twelve women's organizations have been formed and relief work started. (This letter was written on October 2nd.) On the Island of Tsushima, which had a population of about 30,000 before the earthquake, two thirds were burnt out. Much assistance was rendered here. Of course it is a tremendous task, and it is difficult to know where to start. There is bound to be terrible suffering.

"The shock in Yokohama was much worse than in Tokyo, and the whole city just collapsed inside of a few moments. No land marks whatever. Nothing but brick and concrete, one vast ruin. This was where two of the foreign secretaries of the Y.W.C.A. lost their lives. Miss Edith Lacey and Miss Dorothy Miller. Their bodies were found under a heap of ruins, in front of a pharmacy. It was a comfort to know that they must have been killed instantly. People were for days here with nothing to eat or drink. Added to this the agony of not knowing where the different members of their families were. For in the confusion every one was scattered and it took weeks to get news of friends or relations. Yokohama is utterly ruined."

The Canadian Red Cross organized a relief fund in aid of the Japanese. Contributions may also be sent to the Dominion Council of the Y.W.C.A., 12 Dundonald Street, Toronto, Ont.

women in Paris for carrying dolls has taken a hold in London.
Two night ago, a correspondent writes to a London newspaper, I saw two extraordinary dolls being danced round a hotel ballroom by two women. The owner of the first was dressed completely in white, but the doll, which was of the kind she might have played with when a child, was garbed in mourning of black velvet. A tiny veil of widow's "weeds" fell over the flaxen hair, and the whole effect against the white dress was rather startling.
The other doll was frankly ugly, its face was long and pasty white, and the sunken eyes had a vicious glint. It was dressed in flame color and silver (presumably to offset her black dress), and the owner declared that the doll was a copy of an African god.

Both women carried their dolls in the crook of their left arm throughout the evening, leaving the other arm free for their partners. At supper the mourning doll, which was of considerable size and must have been rather heavy to carry for an evening, had a chair to itself at the table.

by thousands are known to exist in this country because they have been relieved from pain and suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Science in surgery and electricity have advanced greatly during the past fifty years, but treatment of disease by old-fashioned root and herb medicines has never been improved upon. The leader of them all is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which after fifty years of success is today recognized as the standard remedy for female ills and sold everywhere for that purpose. Replies to a questionnaire recently sent out to 50,000 women by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. of Cohasset, Mass., proved that it benefits 98 out of every 100 women who try it. Isn't this a marvelous record for any medicine to hold?

Sad Doings
An extract of a letter from Barbadoes, dated St. Johns, Oct. 30th, says "we have had sad doings here; an attempt of a fire character was made to burn the town last Saturday night. Last evening an infuriated mob of white people attacked and literally levelled to the ground the Methodist Chapel, a large and beautiful building, and the parson (Mr. Shrewsbury) was obliged to fly for his life."

MONUMENT TO VIRGINIA DARE

Erect Memorial To The First White Child Born On American Soil

Manteo, N. C., Nov. 29—A movement has been started by a group of citizens to permanently mark historical spots, and one of the places to be designated by a monument, is the birthplace of Virginia Dare, the first white child born on American soil. The spot is on Roanoke Island, often referred to as the cradle of the English race in America. There is some doubt as to the exact spot where Virginia Dare was born, but it is believed to be near Fort Raleigh, about three miles north of Manteo.
Mounds of earth forming the sides of a pentagon, at each angle of which is a stone post protruding about a foot from the ground, show the location of the old fort. In the center of the fort there is now an unpretentious stone marker on which is inscribed some of the historical records of the place. Unscrupulous relic collectors have marred the present stone marker, but its inscription still can be read.

The country of which Roanoke Island is a part is named in honor of the first English child born in America, and the seat of the Mrs. Poston and Mrs. Power, who went over to England in September, have been motoring through different parts of England.

On the eve of her departure Miss Brady was presented with a beautiful diamond ring in a silver jewel case, by her friends in the Canadian National Railway, as a token of the high esteem in which she was held. They also wished her every success in her new sphere. Miss Brady will continue in the employ of the C.N.R., as Secretary McGill street Branch, Montreal.

Mrs. Alan Powell and Miss Eleanor Parmelee entertained at a small but delightful luncheon yesterday at the Garrison Club in honor of Mrs. Noel Carr, of Kingston, Ont. The table was prettily decorated with pink, pom-pom chrysanthemums. Their guests were Mrs. Noel Carr, Mrs. G. W. Parmelee, Mrs. Donald Atkinson, Mrs. Stuart Atkinson, Mrs. F. E. Gendron, Mrs. Frank Stanton, Mrs. George Gibson, Mrs. Henri Desrochers, Miss Muriel Joseph and Miss Margaret Cook.

The following were the invited guests of Premier Taschereau Wednesday evening at a dinner given at the Garrison Club in honor of Mr. P. E. Nagaiar, Consul General of France on the eve of his departure to return to his country: Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Hon. G. E. Amyot, Mgr. C. A. Marois, Mr. Ferdinand Roy, Hon. Mrs. Enrico Caruso, the former Dorothy Benjamin, of New York, widow of the famous tenor, became the bride Wednesday of Captain G. A. Ingram, British army officer whom she met in Italy. The wedding was extremely simple. The bride was seven minutes late in arriving at Brompton oratory, where it took place. Owing to the failure of Italian Minister Avezzano to arrive from Paris, Mrs. Caruso was given away by Gabrielle Preziosi, a counsellor of the Italian embassy. The bride was attractively garbed in a black velvet gown and a black hat. Her little daughter, Gloria, in her mother's arms, sat demurely behind the bride. Few Americans attended. There were approximately 500 guests with a scattering of frock coats among them. The bridegroom wore a frock coat.

Dried Lima Beans
Soak overnight a pint of dried lima beans, then drain them and boil them gently and steadily until they are tender. Drain again and put them into a hot dish. Melt a heaping tablespoonful of butter and to it add pepper, salt, a tablespoonful of sugar and two spoonfuls of vinegar. Stir these ingredients until they are mixed; then pour them over the beans. Add to the water the beans were cooked in a half can of tomatoes, a sliced onion, a diced potato, a little chopped celery and parsley and the usual seasoning and it will make a good, plain soup. Thicken this soup if desired.

county is named Manteo in honor of the Indian chief who was the first person to be baptized in the new land. Manteo enjoys the distinction of being the only county seat in the United States with the single exception of Key West, Fla., located on an island.

Today, the island is sparsely settled. The inhabitants make a livelihood by fishing. They do little farming. In fact, it is said that there is only one commercial farmer on the whole island, which is 12 miles long and about three miles wide.

The North Carolina State Department of Education and the State Historical Commission in order to present to the people the history of Roanoke Island in pictorial form, in 1921 had the settlement of the island enacted and photographed in 6,000 feet of motion picture film.

August 18, 1922, the first celebration in honor of the birth of Virginia Dare was held at Fort Raleigh. Since then the celebrations have been repeated from time to time. It is said that at these occasions only has the flag of Queen Elizabeth—a red cross on a field of white—been displayed.
