THE KING HAS PROVEN TO BE 'A GALLANT CHAP'—LATEST NEWS.

London, June 27.—The following bulletin was posted at the palace at 6.15 p.m.:

The King has maintained the satisfactory condition described in the last bulletin. His Majesty shows no disquieting symptoms.

LONDON VISITORS LEAVING.

CITY RAPIDLY LOSING ITS FOREIGN POPULATION.

London, June 27.—What was to have gone down to history as procession day, when it was expected there would be the greatest crush ever witnessed in the streets of London finds the city practically deserted.

Throughout the afternoon only small crowds gathered about Buckingham Palace. The two o'clock bulletin created the greatest satisfaction.

Subsequently a member of the government said to a representative of the Associated Press: 'Really everything is going on wonderfully well, and we all now think the King will recover, though, of course, we are afraid of being premature or unduly optimistic.'

leave London to-morrow for Germany. When Prince Henry was leaving Buckingham Palace after his visit this afternoon the marked warmth of the cheering of the people evidently pleased him greatly.

The provincial 'hoboes' in several minor towns who were deprived of their expected feast and the opportunity to 'maffick' indulged in angry demonstrations against the local authorities who had provided dinners and festivities.

The most serious disturbances occurred at Watford, fifteen miles from London. During the early hours of this morning a mob overpowered the police, wrecked several shops, and set fire to a store owned by the chairman of the town council.

At the adjournment of the House of Commons at 5.30 p.m., to-day the Hon. A. J. Balfour, the government leader, announced that the progress of the King was quite satisfactory.

MESSAGE FROM CANADIANS

IT IS FULL OF SYMPATHY FOR BOTH HIS MAJESTY AND THE QUEEN CONSORT.

Ottawa, June 27.—The following cable has been forwarded from the Administrator of Canada, Sir Henry Strong, to the Secretary of State for the Colonies: 'The people of Canada join with me in the expression of deep sorrow at His Majesty's illness and earnestly pray for his early recovery.'

The Secretary of State is also forwarding to-day a similar message at the request of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia.

It is understood that Lord Minto sails for Canada on July 19.

CANADIAN PRESS COMMENTS

(Windsor 'Record'.) The manly struggle that King Edward has made shows his devotion to duty and his great desire that his subjects and others might not be disappointed.

Many coronation visitors are preparing to start for the Continent and others have already gone there or to the country, while numbers took advantage of the fine day to visit the great fleet assembled off Spithead.

Sir Thomas Lypton is entertaining a distinguished party on board his steam yacht 'Erin.'

The fashionable cafe restaurants were the scenes of numerous smart luncheons, while extensive but quiet preparations were made for week-end house parties at the surrounding country places.

Another party of 1,100 orphans from the various institutions were entertained by the Prince and Princess of Wales to-day at a dinner given in the grounds of Marlborough House.

Electric fans are being utilized to keep the King's apartments at a suitable temperature, the heat in London at present being oppressive.

Queen Alexandra continues cheerful, and is in and out of the sick room at frequent intervals.

The Prince of Wales to-day again spent a short time in his father's bed-room. Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia will importance, while the sovereign is laid aside by illness. He will be buoyed up, however, by the devotions of his subjects, whose prayer will be more intense and earnest than ever.

It is quite evident to all of us now that our gracious Sovereign has for some time shown symptoms of disease, but he has been bravely fighting against it in order not to interfere with the plans for his coronation.

All thought of pomp and display will be forgotten in the genuine solicitude of the people for their King, whose condition, while it may not cause alarm, is sufficiently serious to be a matter of grave concern.

His training for kingship has been the best possible, and it is the hope of all his people that he may live long to make use of it. In this hour the people think also of the wife and the children, the sisters and brother of the royal sufferer.

The 'De Deums' and 'Glorias' which were prepared for to-day are changed to 'Misereatur' and 'De Profundis'. But the cloud has its silver lining and a bright morning may follow the dark night.

Twice in his lifetime have the people of the British Empire watched by his sick bedside when death apparently was struggling for the mastery. In his early manhood, stricken down by typhoid fever; for days the battle for life was fought and the issue trembled in the balance.

Then came the convalescence, and then the thanksgiving day when the widowed mother and the convalescent son and heir to Britain's greatness went in solemn state to St. Paul's Cathedral and returned thanks to Almighty God.

The great feeling that pervades the empire now is one of sorrow and the realization that troubles the family of our beloved sovereign, the King himself, is sore beset with trouble.

The beautiful Queen Alexandra—beautiful not only in face and figure, but in the virtues and graces of true womanliness—when informed that her husband was undergoing an operation, sadly observed: 'Have I not felt that this would happen?'

A service of supplication for the King was held in St. Thomas's Church last evening. The Rev. Canon Renaud gave a short address, reminding his hearers that the King was a ruler not chosen by men, but elevated by the divine will.

The King of kings has spoken, and it is not ours to complain, but to remember that 'God moves in a mysterious way, his wonders to perform.'

The shortened form of the Litany appointed for the coronation service, the Archbishop's prayer, and two or three collects, adapted for the occasion from the 'Visitation for the Sick,' were then said.

Prayers for the King's speedy recovery were offered at St. John's French Presbyterian Church yesterday. The Rev. Dr. Amarion presiding.

At St. Jude's Church last evening the service of intercession was similar to that held in St. Paul's, London, yesterday. The Rev. Thomas Everett conducted the service, which included the authorized prayer for the King, and the singing of the National Anthem.

There is no measure of selfishness in the popular desire that King Edward may be spared, no mixture of fear that things will go badly without him. He is loved by his people; at home and abroad, and this is no new sentiment, developed since his accession seventeen months ago.

His expressed wish that the coronation celebrations might go on in the country, regardless of his condition, cannot be fulfilled. The people would not have the heart to carry it out.

The news of the illness of King Edward has caused a shock to the whole of the civilized world, and the outcome is awaited with anxiety and suspense. As if by the magic touch of an evil spirit a time of rejoicing has been instantly changed to a time of sadness.

There is no one but will admire the fine pluck of King Edward in his readiness to submit to the knife of the surgeons. His Majesty has won thousands of new friends all over the world since yesterday just from that very thing.

All men have a kindly word for King Edward. He has endeared himself to his subjects and no reigning monarch surpasses him in holding the respect and love of the people.

It must, indeed, give no small amount of satisfaction to Edward VII. to note the spontaneous sympathy which greeted the announcement of his illness, and if he, as well as thousands of others, has been bitterly disappointed by the compulsory postponement of the coronation, he must find a large amount of consolation in the fact that his illness demonstrated beyond a doubt that he was the most popular and best liked ruler in the world to-day.

Instead of cheers and shouts of joy, instead of the pealing of bells, the clashing of trumpets, the flashing of the red and white, there is deep anxiety, hushed voices and solemn prayer.

A GROWING TOWN

MR. W. H. KEARY, MAYOR OF NEW WESTMINSTER, SPEAKS OF CONDITIONS AND PROSPECTS THERE.

There was a time when New Westminster consisted chiefly of tents. To-day it has a population of seven thousand; it boasts street cars (electric), which were introduced before Montreal had the courage to replace the old horse cars; canneries, factories, in which the cans for the canneries are made, tanneries, saw mills, and in the lumber mills, and is, besides, in the centre of a fine farming country.

Mr. Keary, who is stopping at the Windsor Hotel, remarked to-day that Sir Thomas Shaughnessy struck the right note when he urged that more attention should be given to agriculture in British Columbia.

THE COLD AND WET

The Unseasonable Weather may not Last Much Longer.

ACCORDING TO RECORDS AND LAWS OF AVERAGES, WARMER WEATHER IS ABOUT DUE.

The temperature in the city fell as low as 52 again last night, and there was the usual daily allowance of heavy showers to-day.

Mr. Pinoteau, the chief corporation gardener and superintendent of the city squares, is much distressed over the continuance of the unseasonable weather. He remarked this morning: 'There will be no blooms worth speaking of in the city squares this year, though we have planted out several thousand more bedding plants than ever.'

Meantime every one is anxious as to the prospects of a change in the weather. Mr. Gauthier, the superintendent of the corporation observatory, does not set himself up as a weather prophet, but he has ideas of his own as to the simpler rules governing the temperature at various seasons, and he has the figures of the observatory and books full of carefully prepared statistical diagrams to back up his opinion.

During the past few days a number of the Canadians' letters have reached friends and relatives in Montreal, each telling of the cessation of war-raids and the expectation of home-coming.

This year, when the mercury fell below zero in January, the coldest day—the eighth—was the coldest day—the eighth—below zero. In February there was only one day when the mercury fell below zero and that was on the sixth, when six below was recorded.

So that during March and April the gains in temperature this year, compared with the mean for twenty-two years, were 12.44; and the losses during May and June as compared with the corresponding months for twenty-two years, 11.34.

NO STRIKE A COMPROMISE AGREED UPON BY THE CITY IRON MOULDERS.

'A minimum wage of $2.40 per day to go into effect on July 1, and remain in force for the term of one year.' This was the decision arrived at by a mass meeting of the city iron moulders last night after nearly five hours of important and at times heated discussion, in which nearly the entire membership, as well as the representatives of the international headquarters, took a part. At 12.40 this morning the vote was called for, resulting in the principle of compromise being accepted, instead of ordering a strike, though a determined minority were in favor of holding out for the original demand of $2.50, minimum wage. After the men's representatives, however, had shown that they had done all that was possible to secure better terms, cooler counsels prevailed, and the vote resulted in an acceptance of the compromise which had been arrived at in the afternoon. This morning the arbitration committee, representing both the Foundrymen's Association and the moulders, met in the Windsor Hotel for ratification of the agreement.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES. At the Young Men's meeting on Saturday evening, Mr. J. Roy will speak. The subject will be 'More than conquerors.' There will be special music, and a hearty invitation is extended to all to attend.

ASSOCIATION OF FRENCH BAPTIST CHURCHES. The annual meetings of the Association of the French Baptist Churches of Canada, in connection with Grande Ligne Mission, were held at St. Constant, P. Q., on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. These meetings were held under the moderatorship of the Rev. A. L. Therrien, of Montreal, in the pretty little chapel of this old parish, where there are, including ten or twenty French and English Protestant families. The attendance, especially Wednesday and Thursday, was very good, and the best spirit prevailed throughout the five sessions. The reports of the churches and missionary fields, gratifying, showing progress all along the line. Able and most edifying sermons were preached. The Rev. J. A. Gordon, M.A., of Montreal; N. Gregoire, of Mackinong; W. S. Bullock, of Roxton Pond; A. J. Lebeau, of Marieville; G. R. MacFaul, B.A., of Ottawa; T. Lafleur, M.L.D., of Montreal; M. P. Parent, M.A., of Grande Ligne; and Mrs. W. S. Bullock. Several important subjects were ably discussed and special prayers were offered for the recovery of King Edward. On Tuesday afternoon the Grande Ligne Missionary Conference held its triennial session, at which the Rev. J. L. Gilmour read an able paper on 'Paulinism in the early fathers.' The Rev. J. R. Webb, of Point St. Charles, was also present at some of these meetings. Every attendant thought they were of the best held by this Association of thirty-seven years' existence. The secretary, the Rev. L. A. Therrien, B.A., of Emileville, gave an encouraging report on the state of religion among the churches. The Revs. T. Broulette, of Waterloo; H. Sene, of Sorel, and other missionaries, were also present. The church at St. Constant is under the leadership of Mr. M. Robert.

GAULT INSTITUTE

The closing exercises of the Gault Institute, Vaalynheld, this year were of unusual interest. At the Kindergarten closing on Monday afternoon a beautiful oak desk and rattan chair were presented by the parents of the Kindergarten children to the teacher, Miss Henriette Lawrence. The presentation was made by Mr. James A. Robb, one of the trustees of the Gault Institute, who reviewed the growth of the Kindergarten class during the past few years, and quoted Dr. Adams, of Glasgow University, and others with respect to the excellent work done, and to the remarkable efficiency of Miss Lawrence.

On Wednesday evening the public closing of all the junior classes took place. Dr. Sutherland, chairman of the board of trustees, presided, and the Rev. Messrs. W. T. King and W. Henderson, occupied seats on the platform, as well as the principal, Mr. W. J. Messenger.

The large assembly hall was packed so that many had to stand in the corridors. A very entertaining programme was provided by the pupils.

LABOR DAY NO LIQUOR TO BE ALLOWED ON THE GROUNDS.

The Labor Day Committee of the Federated Trades Council at their last meeting decided that there shall be 'no alcoholic liquors allowed on the grounds at the Labor Day picnic, as in former years.' The question was thoroughly discussed, resulting in the unanimous decision of the Labor representatives 'as above, in view of disagreeable incidents arising from the use of liquor on the grounds in the past, and in the interests of organized labor itself. This course has been endorsed by the various labor organizations of the city, and the committee are confident that the coming demonstration will be one of the most successful in the history of Labor Day celebrations.

MISSIONARY MURDERED VICEROY OF SZECHUEN ANNOUNCES ANOTHER OUTRAGE.

Pekin, June 27.—The Viceroy of the province of Szechuen has notified the government that the American and British mission buildings at Tienkuchao have been 'destroyed' by a mob, and that a missionary has been murdered. His nationality and name were not reported. An Imperial edict just issued deprives the local magistrate of Tienkuchao of his rank and orders the extermination of the rioters. Several of the leaders of the outbreaks are reported to have been beheaded. Apparently this was an anti-indemnity rising, like those which have occurred elsewhere in China.

TO BRIDGE THE STRAIT OF CANSO. Sydney, C.B., June 22.—The bridging of the Strait of Canso between Cape Breton and the mainland of Nova Scotia will be undertaken at once. The task is an immense one, involving great engineering difficulties and an outlay of about $5,000,000. Mr. J. A. L. Waddell, of Kansas City, has been engaged to oversee the work. He is a Canadian, and has been knighted by the Emperor of Japan. He was at one time professor of civil engineering in the University of Japan. Mr. Waddell says that the bridge will be a cantilever with a span of 1,800 feet, the longest in the world, and will have a height of 59 feet above high water. The bridge will span the Strait between Port Hastings, on the Cape Breton side, and Cape Porcupine, on the Nova Scotia shore, a distance of 2,800 feet. Two immense piers will be sunk near either shore in about ninety feet of water. The bridge is designed for double-tracking. Mr. Waddell says that it will be the finest bridge in the world. A tunnel, he said, would be practically impossible. An agreement has been reached between Mr. Waddell and the incorporators, authorizing Mr. Waddell to proceed with the work. The construction of this bridge will remove all delays and inconveniences now experienced in crossing this strait.—'Sun.'

EXPLORING THE NILE. London, June 27.—Advises received here from the Adis Ababa capital of Abyssinia, announce the safe arrival there of Lord Hindlip, along with Mr. Fitzhugh Whitehouse, of Newport, R.I., who started from England on Feb. 1, on an exploring trip to the Upper Nile. Both of the travellers were well and had thus far enjoyed a successful trip. They were cordially welcomed by King Menelik. The proposed journey to Sobat was abandoned on account of heavy rains. The explorers were to continue their travels round Lake Rudolf and homeward by way of Massowah, where they expect to arrive in September.

A GAMBLER'S MADNESS. Vienna, June 26.—It is reported that Count August Potecki, one of the Czar's aides-de-camp, and a Russian land-owner, lost $350,000 playing baccarat at his club at Warsaw. The money is said to have been lost between lunch and dinner. The winners were two other Russians, Count Potecki then went home and tried to cut his throat with a razor, but was prevented by his valet. Count Potecki's brother lost half a million dollars gambling at the Vienna Jockey Club six months ago.

Vienna, June 27.—A report circulated in the United States, that Count Rudolph Potocki, an aide-de-camp of the Czar, lost $600,000 at baccarat in three hours at a club in Warsaw on Wednesday night, and afterwards attempted to commit suicide, originated in an obscure and unreliable paper of Cracow, and is generally regarded here as being entirely unfounded.

MEXICO AND THE VATICAN. Rome, June 27.—Monsignor Sans De Samper, the member of the Pope's household, who was sent to Mexico three months ago with instructions to endeavor to re-establish diplomatic relations between that Republic and the Vatican, reports that he has been successful in his mission.

MY LADY'S NOTE BOOK MISS BARROWS.

Miss Mabel Hay Barrows, the brilliant daughter of the Hon. Samuel J. and Mrs. Isabel C. Barrows, is a young lady of great versatility. She has not only drilled the students of many colleges for the successful presentation of Greek and Latin plays arranged by her from the Iliad and Odyssey, and acted in them herself with marked grace and spirit, but in the intervals she writes English dramas and stories, conducts a summer camp for boys on the shore of Lake Memphremagog in Canada, and aids all sorts of philanthropic enterprises. She has lately amused herself by weaving artistic rugs and carpets on an old-fashioned hand-loom. Half a dozen of these 'Ragged Robin rugs' are now on exhibition at the office of the 'Woman's Journal.'

OWED TO HIS WIFE.

A bit of chivalrous appreciation and recognition, not often found in the Congressional Directory, where each member records his autobiography, is given in the story of the life of Mr. Robert W. Davis, of Florida. He tells of his early struggles and subsequent achievements, and adds: 'Before reaching his majority he was married to Miss Peter Mercer, and to her influence is due whatever of success he has attained.' The Washington correspondent of the 'New York Evening Post' remarks: 'Many other members doubtless owe much to their wives; but he is the only one to make public confession of the obligation.'

A POWERFUL TRIO.

In her quest for beautiful beauty—and all other beauty is evanescent—woman has three powerful allies which are of inestimable value, yet absolutely free. These are air, sunshine and water.

A great deal is said these days concerning deep breathing, yet many women and girls scarcely understand the manner or desirability of lung expansion.

The oxygen of the air is the food of the lungs. The lungs differ from the stomach, inasmuch as you can never overload them with their kind of food. Enforced meals for the stomach are criminal. Enforced 'meals of fresh air' for the lungs are highly commendable.

The importance of a daily sun-bath as a beauty factor can hardly be over-estimated. The body is too rigorously swathed, bandaged, draped and clothed in multitudinous layers of diversified materials for sturdy health. Scarcely an inch of flesh aside from the face and hands comes in contact with sun and air. This is radically wrong. A healthy air-bath is as essential to the health and beauty of the person as a water-bath. The two may often be combined. Let the sun shine on you from head to foot for as long a time as you can spare daily.

The sun-bath need not imply idle time. Many things can be done during this period, such as caring for your own room, sewing, mending, reading, writing, etc. It may strike some of you as a novel idea, while to others it has been for years a delightful reality. After you have habituated yourself to the custom you will find that you do not feel cold until you begin to put on your clothes.—'Ledges Monthly.'

A CANADIAN IN A LONDON MISSION.

An interesting article in the 'Methodist Magazine and Review,' for June, is 'Three months in the West London Mission,' by Miss Greta L. Finley, of Montreal. The writer spent three months with the Sisters of the West London mission, which was inaugurated fifteen years ago by the Rev. Mr. Hugh Price Hughes. Services are held in various halls and from these centres the 'Sisters,' who have played such an important part in the mission from the beginning, and the workers go out. St. James's Hall is the centre for the fashionable West End. There, during the week, concerts and minstrel shows are held, but on Sunday it assumes a new character, and as the cosmopolitan crowds of Piccadilly pass its doors many drift in and hear a gospel that falls with compelling sweetness on worldly-wise hearts.

The Sisterhood, under Mrs. Price Hughes, was started at the same time as the Mission, and it is not too much to say that the Mission could not be carried on without it.

Somers Town Hall is in the slummiest and most difficult part of the Mission. It was built by Lady Henry Somerset, and is a residence for three Sisters beside it. The Sister in charge, Sister Agatha, is a woman of great spiritual power and splendid courage, and she and her helpers have made themselves a power in the neighborhood. Their hall door opens into a slum passage, and there, day by day, and often making night hideous and sleep impossible, are heard the coarse voices and sounds of slum life. The people are very poor. It is pathetic to think that they never own a new garment, but always the 'cast-offs,' which can be got cheap.

Miss Finley repeats the story of a 'Social Democrat,' as he called himself, who became a member of the Mission. Relating his experience, he told of the bitterness that had possessed his heart as he had compared the lot of the poor with that of the rich, and I used to say, 'He said, 'down with all that's hap!' 'But now,' he continued, 'as I go about the streets, my heart is just full of pity for the poor women and the white-faced children, and I say, 'Hup with all that's down!'

MEXICO AND THE VATICAN. Rome, June 27.—Monsignor Sans De Samper, the member of the Pope's household, who was sent to Mexico three months ago with instructions to endeavor to re-establish diplomatic relations between that Republic and the Vatican, reports that he has been successful in his mission.

DOMINION COAL COMPANY

Earns for the First Quarter Under the New Terms $384,000.

THE YEAR'S BUSINESS WILL MORE THAN COVER THE GUARANTEE.

It has been officially announced that the net earnings of the Dominion Coal Company (under the joint arrangement by which the Dominion Coal and Steel Companies become amalgamated) for the last quarter—that is to say, for March, April and May, have amounted to $384,000.

This early outcome is regarded as most encouraging, and as guaranteeing a rate of earning which will remove all cause of anxiety, and after the best of all illustrations of the wisdom which dictated the policy of amalgamation—a policy which was first conceived and carried out by Mr. James Ross, who started for Sydney at twelve o'clock by the Intercolonial, being seen off by Mr. R. B. Angus.

COMMISSIONERS STREET

THE CITY SURVEYOR CONFIRMS THE STAND TAKEN BY THE MAYOR CONCERNING STREET PAVING.

Mayor Cochrane is not going to allow the question of the paving of Commissioners street to remain where it is. He believes that the harbor engineer's plan of macadamizing the street simply means the throwing of the money away, and His Worship will not have it done if he can help it. This morning the Mayor called Mr. Barlow, the city surveyor, into his office to confer on the subject.

The Mayor explained the position he had taken at the Harbor Board. He maintained that the contract with the city called for heavy stone foundation under the small macadam stone, and that the Harbor Commissioners were bound to so pave the street from curb to curb. He was perfectly well aware that the roadbed he had described was known in some countries as a Telford road, but in Canada it was known, and always known, as a macadam road. It was such a road that was always meant when a macadam road was spoken of here.

Mr. Barlow unhesitatingly declared that the Mayor was perfectly right. A macadam road in Canada was always made with a solid foundation of heavy rock. He had had an interview with the former city surveyor, Mr. St. George, on the subject, and he said that it was distinctly understood when the contract was drawn up that the roadway should be macadamized from curb to curb in the way described, namely, with a bottom of heavy stone, and macadam on top, sand and rolled.

The Mayor said that there was $41,000 for the paving of the street, and with that amount 135,000 square yards of granite block pavement could be laid. He believed that that would pave Commissioners street from Queen street to Bonsecours market, exclusive of the track strip, which the Street Railway Company would have to pave.

Ald. Gallery asked if part of the money had not been expended. The Mayor said that the harbor engineer claimed to have done $16,000 of the work, but he had not been able to see more new paving done than he could do for $16.

Mr. Barlow explained that at a rough computation it would cost $105,000 to pave the street in blocks.

NEARLY SUFFOCATED.

Mrs. Bourbonnais, wife of Mr. J. B. Bourbonnais, 1233 Notre Dame street, and her new-born babe had a narrow escape from suffocation by smoke yesterday afternoon. About 3.18 o'clock fire broke out in the cellar, and the smoke went up through the store and living rooms on the ground floor, endangering the lives of the wife and child, as above related. They were with difficulty removed, but the fire was extinguished before much damage was done.

PREPARING FOR THE RUSH.

The Ogdensburg Coal and Towing Company is adding to its unloading facilities at its coal sheds on the canal bank, near Wellington street bridge, by the erection of another large coal conveyor. This will enable the company to unload barges in quick order when the rush commences at the conclusion of the strike among the anthracite coal miners.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS.

GENERAL.

ZANGWILL. Goderich, Ont.—Please let me know the address of Israel Zangwill, the Jewish author. Ans.—Address, 5 Elm Tree Road, St John's Wood, London, England.

MARCASITE.

Subscriber.—I am enclosing a sample of metal which we find in large quantities here. Would you kindly state whether it is of any value, and what it is called. Ans.—The sample is Marcasite, or white iron pyrites. It is of commercial value for the extraction of sulphur, but it is most found without much admixture of extraneous material, such as rock.

GREAT BRITAIN AND GERMANY.

A Hamilton Reader.—Kindly inform me: 1. If Great Britain gave to Germany any practical assistance in the Franco-German war; and if so, what was it? 2. Did she render any assistance in any other war? Ans.—1. She did not. 2. Not since the foundation of the German Empire, except, of course, in conjunction with the other powers recently in China. England has been at the point of certain of the German States in the past; in the Seven Years' War, English troops fought under Frederick the Great of Prussia. Germany has had no war with any of the Great Powers since the confederation of the States of the Empire.

ROYAL TOUR IN AUSTRALIA.

C.P.—Please give the dates of arrival and departure of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York at and from the different places in Australia and New Zealand. Ans.—The 'Ophir,' with their Royal Highnesses on board, arrived off Albany on April 30, 1901, and off Melbourne, Port Phillip, the 5th, where she was received by the Australian squadron. Melbourne was the first place where their Royal Highnesses disembarked, on May 6. On May 19, they went to Brisbane, where they remained till May 24. Sydney was reached on the 27th. On June 6, they rejoined the 'Ophir,' and reached Auckland, New Zealand, on June 11. On June 13, their Highnesses visited Victoria, the New Zealand Wonderland. On June 16, they left for Wellington, where they remained from June 18 to 21. They visited Lyttelton, on June 21; Christchurch, June 22 to 25, and Dunedin, June 26 to 27. Hobart, Tasmania, was reached on July 2, the state entry being made on July 3. The visit to Hobart ended on July 6; Adelaide on July 8, and on July 14 the 'Ophir' left for Fremantle. Their Royal Highnesses were expected to enter Perth on July 20, but owing to storms it was July 21 before they reached that city. On July 25 they left Australia for Mauritius.

TO CAN CORN AND PEAS.

W.W.—How can you can green corn and peas? Ans.—To can green corn, split the rows of kernels lengthwise, then scrape with the back of the knife, thus separating the husk from the cobs. Pack the kernels in the can, using a small potato-pouder, or something of the kind to press them in tightly. Then screw on the top with other hands, and tighten, while the steam is sufficient pressure for the present. To prevent leakage, place a cloth on the bottom of the boiler, then put in a row of cans, over which spread a cloth, and cover with water. Fill the boiler with cold water. Fill the boiler with cold water, and place over a fire. Boil steadily for three hours. Much of the success depends on steady boiling. At the end of the time remove the boiler; when the water is cool, take out the cans, and screw the top on tighter. When the cans are cold, tighten the tops again. Wipe the outside of the cans with a clean cloth, and place them in a cool place. Take care that the rubbers are not too old or hard to be of proper use, and do not remove the tops after canning until ready for use. To can peas, fill the cans as tightly as possible, by shaking well. Then pour in cold water till the cans overflow. Screw on the tops with hands, and tighten, while the steam is sufficient pressure for the present. (See the 'White House Cook Book'.)

THE SIKHS.

The session has lasted two months at least. To the Folkething all money bills must in the first instance be submitted. The Landsting, besides its legislative functions, has the duty of appointing from its midst every four years the assistant-judges of the Rigsgret. In legislative matters the two chambers stand on an equal footing; bills may originate in either, but must be passed by both. The king has the right of veto. The executive acting under the king, as president, and called the Statsraad (State Council) consists of the following departments: Presidency of the Council and Ministry of Finance; the Ministry of the Interior; Ministry of Justice and for Iceland; Ministry of Foreign Affairs; Ministry of War; Ministry of Marine, Ministry of Public Instruction and Ecclesiastical Affairs. The ministers have free access to both of the legislative assemblies, but only vote in that capacity of which they are members. They are individually and collectively responsible for their acts, and in case of impeachment, and being found guilty, cannot be paroled without the consent of the Folkething. In Denmark, political parties are broadly divided into supporters and opponents of a parliamentary system like that of England. The conservative party, which contends that by the constitution of Denmark, the Folkething has not-like the English House of Commons—the supremacy in matters of taxation and finance, and the power of practically deciding who shall be the ministers. They maintain that the King and Landsting together may over-rule the Folkething. The Left are attached to the English system. Here the process has arisen an apparently irreconcilable difference, with the Landsting and Ministry on one side, and the majority of the Folkething on the other.

POEMS WANTED.

Miss C. L. wishes to have the poems: 'The Drunkard's Doom' and 'Abercrombie on the Banks of the Nile.' J. M. R. asks for the title of the song entitled 'The Jailer's Daughter.'

MARKING CEMENT WALL.

Johnny Jack—I have a white cement wall which I would like to mark out in black with the stone. How can it be done? Ans.—The best time to imitate the stone color is when the wall is being built, when the coloring matter can be mixed in the cement. Now you may stain the wall with a mixture of lampblack and white lead mixed with linseed oil. After it dries mark out the blocks with white lead paint.

'IT GOES WITHOUT SAYING.'

Bellevillan.—Do you not think that the phrase, 'it goes without saying,' referring as it always does to something just said, or about to be said, would be more truthful and equally eloquent if it were changed to 'it goes without saying' 'disent' 'debate,' or some such word? How would it do to write, 'it goes without gaining?' Ans.—We think the phrase is more forcible and to the point as it stands. 'That something goes without saying' means that it may be taken for granted; that it requires no explanation; something requires only to be mentioned to become at once understood, or, if it is a well known fact, but is mentioned to bring it to mind.

SWEET PICKLES.

H. M.—Give recipe for making sweet pickles. Ans.—Crabapples suitable for pickling. Put in a large jar the fruit to 4 lbs. of white sugar and 1 pint strong vinegar, with cinnamon and cloves to taste. Pare the fruit, put in the pan with sugar between the fingers, and wash in cold water to a boil, add the vinegar and seasoning, and boil five minutes. Take out the fruit with a skimmer and place it on dishes to cool, and boil the syrup thick. Put in a jar, add a little vinegar, and cork tightly. Crab apples make delicious sweet pickles.

GINSENG.

Old Subscriber, Toronto.—Is there a steady demand for ginseng? 2. At what price it would pay to grow for crop? Ans.—1. About 500,000 lbs. of ginseng (Panax quinquefolium) is exported from North America to China yearly. That special article would pay you to grow it depends largely on local conditions. The value of ginseng is always changing. Good quality dry root is worth just now $2.50 to $3 per pound.

RUDYARD KIPLING.

Northumberland, N.B.—Please give a brief sketch of the life of Rudyard Kipling, and name his chief works. Ans.—Rudyard Kipling was born in Bombay, Dec. 30, 1865. He is the son of John Lockwood Kipling, C.I.E. He was educated at the United Service College, Westward Ho, North Devon. He was assistant editor of the 'Lahore Civil Service' and 'The Pioneer,' and special correspondent of the 'Allahabad Pioneer' 1882-1888. In 1892 he married Caroline Starr Balestier. Has travelled in China, Japan, America, Africa, and Australasia. He received the degree of Hon. LL.D. from McGill University, Montreal, 1899. His publications include: 'Departmental Ditties,' 1886; 'Plain Tales from the Hills,' 1887; 'Soldiers Three,' 1888; 'The Day's Work,' 1889; 'The Jungle Book,' 1894; 'Many Invasions,' 1895; 'The Jungle Book,' 1894; 'Second Jungle Book,' 1895; 'The Seven Seas,' 1896; 'Captain Courageous,' 1897; 'The Day's Work,' 1898; 'Stalky & Co.,' 1899; 'From Sea to Sea,' reprint of newspaper articles, 1899; 'Kim,' 1901.

BUFFALO MOTHS.

Ontario Reader.—Can you give an effective remedy for getting rid of buffalo moths? Ans.—Buffalo moths are another name for the carpet beetle (Anthrenus scrophulariae), of the family Dermestidae. It is especially liable to attack the edges of carpets. Try taking the carpet up and beating it well. Then spread a wet sheet over the parts where you have reason to suspect the moths have been, and rub over quickly with a hot iron. The heat will destroy both the larvae and eggs deposited. Before putting the carpet down again wash the floor with hot water. Strew camphor or shavings of Russian leather over the carpet. If the insects attack something that cannot be treated in this way, try saturating with gasoline. Many people when closing rooms for the summer sprinkle gasoline about on the furniture and carpets. But do not do this at night, or near any light, as it is highly inflammable.

THE SIKHS.

Gordon.—How is the word 'Sikhs' pronounced? Please tell something about the part they have played in the history of India. Ans.—Pronounced 'seeks.' The name means 'followers' or 'disciples,' and is applied to the members of the Sikh religion, bound together by the additional tie of military discipline. The sect was founded in the latter part of the fifteenth century by Nanak, a religious reformer, who preached the abolition of idolatry, and of the caste system, and the existence of one spiritual God, and taught that men should lead a higher moral life. As time went on, the Sikhs, growing in numbers, and in military organization, about the middle of the eighteenth century, they formed themselves into a number of tribal and territorial confederacies. Under Ranjit Singh, a young and warlike chieftain, the separate confederacies were welded into a military power, the Punjab State, with an army of 124,000 men, well organized and drilled. Ranjit had kept the treaty of peace made with the British, whose authority rested to the Sutlej, which was the eastern boundary of the Sikh dominions. But after his death, his soldiers, animated by a spirit of fanaticism, invaded British territory in 1845. Their advance guard was routed by Sir Hugh Gough. The main body entrenched at Ferozshah. Their camp was stormed and taken by the British under Sir Hugh Gough and Sir Henry Hardinge, two days of desperate fighting (Dec. 21 and 22). Another Sikh army crossed the Sutlej, to be defeated and driven back by Sir Harry Smith at Aliwal (Jan. 28, 1846). On Feb. 10, the Sikh force were again dispersed at Sohraon, and the British at once captured Lahore. The British loss in the four battles had been heavy. On March 12, a peace was signed, the Sikhs ceasing certain territories west of the Sutlej. In April, 1848, two British officers were assassinated at Multan. This was the warning of a second outbreak of Sikh fanaticism. The British army in the hot weather was not ready to act immediately, and the rising became general in the battle of Chillianwala (Jan. 13, 1849). The British lost heavily without gaining any victory. The British army was sent from England, but before they reached India, Sir Hugh Gough had utterly routed the Sikh army at Gujrat (Feb. 21). At this time the Punjab was annexed to British India, and the Sikhs were it ascertained that the Sikhs after eight years of British rule, had lost their energy and not only refrained from joining the rebel Sepoys in the mutiny, but actually were sent in quelling the outbreak. The Sikhs have a number of protected native states in the plain south of the Sutlej. Some of them still live in the Punjab, and they are the most loyal of the native troops of the British army in India.

THE TAJ MAHAL.

Dresden.—What is the name of the celebrated tomb built by one of the Emperors of India in memory of his wife? Where is it situated? Please describe it. Ans.—You allude, no doubt, to the Taj Mahal, which is situated just without the city of Agra. It was built by the Emperor Shah Jahan for his favorite wife, who died in 1629. The emperor himself is buried in the same mausoleum. The building is of white marble, and stands on a marble platform, enclosed in an outer court. At each corner of the terrace is a beautifully proportioned minaret, 133 feet high. The mausoleum is 186 feet square, with the corners cut off. The structure is crowned by a dome, 68 feet in diameter, under which is an enclosure formed by a screen of trellis work of white marble, which, in the shade of the two cypresses, but the bodies rest in a vault beneath plainer tombstones placed exactly underneath those in the hall above. In each angle of the building is a smaller dome, or pavilion, which, in the white marble trellis work, the climate admits of soft, subdued light. The exterior is magnificent. All the more important architectural details are inlaid with precious stones, combined in exquisite designs. These thrown into relief by the pure white marble, make up an unimagined splendor of ornamentation.

THE HOMELESS CHRIST.

F. A. Stevenson, Clinton, Mass., kindly sent the following poem asked for by 'H. J.':

He left the Father's bosom and his throne
To seek the way of mortal woe instead;
Home, love, dominion were in Heaven,
On earth He had not where to lay His head.
He saw the sun whose torch of light and heat
His breath had kindled, in the west grow dim,
A thousand lamps flashed out for homeless
And cold feet,
Not one was trimmed, or candle set for Him.
And while unseen, the keys of death and hell
And life and glory at His gridle hung,
No lowly latch as master knew him all,
No door for His tired footsteps inward swung.
A borrowed boat for journeying to and fro,
The poor accustomed haunts wayfarers knew,
And then a lodging in a stranger's grave.
He had no privacy from human sight
Where trust with the Eternal One might keep;
No safe retirement, save some far-off height,
Where trust and foe below were hushed
in sleep.
Out on the mountains, where no roof might shelter,
His gaze from starry highway lately trod,
The passionate, homeward longings of his heart.
Alone He uttered to His Father, God,
His hour at hand, He spake with yearning love
To His disciples of the mansion there:
Had they left all for him? In heaven
He would, Himself, for such a home prepare
That never soul redeemed should vagrant go
Unhoused through the hereafter, rest desired.
That all who would the Father's house believe might know
A stranger, pilgrim, Jesus lived and died
Without the walls that spurned His love and dress
'Mid faithless scorn and alien pity hur'd,
He suffered, outcast, that His sheltering cross
Might be the roof-tree of a homeless

SWOLLEN UDDER IN COW.

Subscriber.—What would you do to a cow's udder which is caked? 2. How would you tell the age of a cow by its horns? Can you tell the age by her teeth? Ans.—1. Hot fomentations at least three times daily. After drying, rub the following ointment well in: Iodide of potassium, 1/2 oz.; 'lard,' 1/2 oz.; mix. 2. The first ring appears at three years, and one every year subsequently. The teeth, as indicative of age, are in most breeds, only reliable up till three and a half to four years, when dentition is completed.

LYCE ON DOG.

G.D.—Please give a recipe for killing lice on dogs. I am particularly anxious to get a recipe for my Newfoundland dog, as he is bothered very much with them. Ans.—Lice on dogs is not a new thing, but it is becoming more and more common. Rub dry and keep him in warm, dry place. You must see that all sources of infection are removed. His kennel or sleeping place, and such places or articles on which lice or their eggs could be transferred, must be most carefully attended to. Unless this is done very thoroughly, fresh transferees will take place and the treatment of the dog will be only temporarily successful.

OBSTRUCTION IN COW'S TEAT.

G.H.—I. Cow, has been milking about six weeks; has taken some trouble in one of her teats; it seems to be completely closed up. When I begin to milk her a small scab seems to form right in the point of teat, and the trouble seems to extend half way up the teat, and I have to work quite a while before I can get any milk out, and then it will only come in a few drops. Can you give me any cure for it? I have been rubbing it with salt butter. 2. I have another young cow that has quite a bunch on one of her knees; she is not lame, but I would like to know what will remove it. Ans.—The trouble is no doubt due to the contraction of the end of the duct in the teat, caused by the scab. Wash the teat with soap and water, and applying after a little carbolic vaseline. At the same time dilate the opening by inserting a teat syphon (milking tube), which you can get from a druggist or dealer in surgical instruments. This syphon must be boiled each time after using and before inserting into teat, rubbed over with a little of the vaseline. After milking wash teat again, and apply vaseline. 2. The only certain remedy to remove the enlargement from the cow's knee is to have castron put through it and allowed to remain in for two or three weeks, keeping the knee and seton well washed twice a day with carbolic lotion, one-half ounce of carbolic acid to a quart of water.

TUMOR IN COW'S TEAT.

G.M.—I have a cow which has an excrescence on one of her teats. It began to come on last winter, and is now almost as large as a pigeon's egg. It is quite hard and dry, and the top part is rough, and somewhat cracked like a wart. The cow is in good health and condition, and does not seem to suffer pain when it is handled, but it is awkward in milking. Can you suggest anything that would solve it? Ans.—I am afraid the excrescence you refer to is too large to be removed in any other way than by the surgeon's knife, but I would not object to have this done while she is milking, but to wait until she goes dry. Anything applied to it to cause absorption will probably make it sore, and the cow in consequence troublesome to milk.

ACTINOMYCOSIS.

Mrs. P.—Cow has a lump on her throat just back of her jaw on the left side. It is not fastened to the jaw, and moves. It is the size of a large egg, and is hard. Ans.—It is most likely that the enlargement you refer to is actinomycosis, a disease that is not easily, if ever, cured. In some cases, drachm doses of iodide of potash, given night and morning in her feed or drinking water, may produce absorption. You had better give her this course, but it will need to be continued for some time, at least two weeks or more. It is barely possible it may be tuberculous. This can be decided by having the cow tested with tuberculin.

UNNATURAL MOTHER.

Farmer.—Sow that had a litter of six young pigs refuses to nurse them, or have anything to do with them. Have tried everything possible to induce her to take care of the little ones, but she gets cross and threatens to bite them. Kindly say what you would advise me to do. Ans.—The sow is a very difficult animal to deal with in such matters, as she is apt to resent any interference, and vent her anger on her young. Keeping the pigs from her for several hours sometimes has the desired effect, and when they are brought back, one at a time, she will allow them to suckle. Only those who are accustomed to see about this routine, but it will need to be continued for some time, at least two weeks or more. It is barely possible it may be tuberculous. This can be decided by having the cow tested with tuberculin.

Now that peace has been established in South Africa and the cost in life and treasure counted up and entered in the books of the British Empire, statisticians in the United States have been making up the bill of what the Philippines have cost the republic.

It is to be remembered, however, that our banks hold a large proportion of assets that are easily convertible and that the insistence upon unnecessarily heavy cash reserves has caused the United States system of banking to remain unelastic.

As the strike week of the great coal miners' sixth draws to a close, an appeal issued by Mr. Mitchell, president of the Miners' Union, has drawn public attention to the essence of the dispute, which has been more or less obscured by other issues.

Mr. Everett V. Abbot, in a recent number of the 'Harvard Law Review,' under the title of 'Some problems of professional ethics,' discusses the shortcomings of the modern lawyers, when operators placed their main dependence on starving them into submission. Mr. Mitchell's appeal will appear to them as a sign of weakness and as the beginning of the end.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The astonishing growth of the Canadian banking business is shown in a comparison with the May statement of the chartered banks compared with the May statement for 1896. It is found that the circulation has increased more than seventy-two percent; the deposits on demand more than sixty-four percent; the deposits bearing interest more than a hundred and twenty-one percent.

acting in a fiduciary capacity. Formerly the trustee was not paid, but now days this is not expected. It is expected, however, that they shall not receive more than the statutory or customary compensation, and yet this is constantly being done.

The German Emperor is in many quarters a most successful diplomatist, but he is every now and then seen to be an instrument with most unsatisfactory results. His threat to treat the Chinese as the Huns treated their enemies caused terrible scenes of needless violence in China, and he has now by an indiscreet speech converted all Poles into bitter enemies.

Several religious magazines have paid tribute in the last few weeks to a remarkable woman who, in the confusion of a great disaster, gave up her life, almost unnoticed, in New York city early this year.

This is very strong, and if true it means a pretty severe shaking up so soon as times of depression arrive. But the application of Mr. Abbot's tax lies in the fact that directors of corporations, who are trustees for the shareholders, make profits for themselves out of these trusts to such a great extent that it has almost ceased to be thought scandalous. Says the critic: 'The new practice of combining corporations by the use of underwriting syndicates is frequently, if not always, tainted with fraud in equity.'

THE ANGEL OF THE TOMBS.

Several religious magazines have paid tribute in the last few weeks to a remarkable woman who, in the confusion of a great disaster, gave up her life, almost unnoticed, in New York city early this year.

Into the house of shame and degradation, known as the Tombs, this woman came fifteen years ago. In her youth she had moved in the best society of her native state—Alabama. She had been happily married and had performed every duty of the wife and mother.

At her funeral, clergymen and pickpockets, judges and burglars, philanthropists and little children, policemen and criminals, reformed and unreformed, women of the highest station and the lowliest, touched elbows to do honor to her memory.

MINTO CUP SERIES.

Western and Eastern Champions Ready to Take the Field.

BOTH TEAMS HAD THEIR FINAL PRACTICE YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Capitals Defeated the Cornwallis in a Hard Played Match.

GRAND TRUNK WON CANOE RACE - CALEDONIA CUP FIXTURES - YALE OARSMEN WON - BASEBALL RESULTS.

The first match of the Minto cup series will be played to-morrow afternoon on the Shamrock grounds, beginning at 3 o'clock, and when it is over the people will know how true are the stories of Shamrock's weakness and New Westminster strength.

The preparation has been concluded, and each club has settled upon its representatives. Practices have finished, and to-day the players are waiting with eager anticipation for the morrow.

Each team has trained for these matches in such a manner as will bring their true strength to the front, and when the series has been finished, it will be a certainty that the victory will rest with the best team, and the best team will have proven its right to the Minto cup by skill, strength and endurance on the field.

The selection of Dr. A. D. Irvine as referee is a guarantee that the teams will play nothing but clean lacrosse. The worthy athletic physician has an estimable record.

Both clubs wound up their practices yesterday afternoon. The New Westminster segregation lined up in a similar manner to their previous practices. The Shamrocks were out in the sun, and moved about under Barney Dumphy's eagle eye.

CAPITALS WON THEIR MATCH DEFEATED THE CORNWALL TEAM IN A WELL PLAYED CONTEST - TEAMS AND SCORE.

Ottawa, June 27.—Four goals to one in favor of the Capitals was the score to-day in the match between the Senators and the Cornwall team. The visitors upheld their reputation and proved themselves worthy to be ranked in the first division of the senior league.

The Cornwall defence was strong. On the home Eastwood, Madden and Broderick did wonders. The weakness apparent was in the fact that the passes in the forward line were poorly handled.

There was an attendance of 2,200 people. Mr. Charles Chitty, of Montreal, was referee, and performed his duties impartially and to the satisfaction of both teams.

NO GAME YESTERDAY

The rain yesterday morning left the diamond of the Montreal Club in such a condition that Mr. Dooley did not care about putting his men out on it and taking chances. Just as he had got the team going it should for practically the first time since the season opened. Newark and Montreal will meet for the first time this afternoon. It may be ladies' day. Southerners will play for Montreal and Moriarty probably for Newark.

TOBY M.P.

REPORTS A PARLIAMENTARY HIT AT SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

'Toby, M. P.' in the current number of 'Punch,' makes fun of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach and his war tax, while the well-known artist, E. T. Reed, depicts a meeting between Great Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, where Sir Michael referring to Sir Wilfrid's interpretation of the meaning of the bread tax in the Canadian House of Commons, says, with much seeming asperity of countenance, 'Look here, what the deuce do you know about my finance?' Says 'Toby, M. P.': 'If St. Michael has a human weakness, it lies in the direction of supposing himself an implacable

Messrs. Furness, Withy & Co. received a telegram this morning from the captain of the 'Indiana' asking for assistance, and stating that so far the weather was satisfactory. The place where the 'Indiana' has struck is about twenty-five miles north of Anticosti, and as there are a large number of reefs in this vicinity shipping men are of the opinion that the vessel will become a wreck. PRISONERS ESCAPED

SAW A BAR AT THE CENTRAL POLICE STATION AND FOUR GOT OUT.

There was a good deal of excitement about the Central Police Station early this morning, when it was discovered that some of the prisoners had escaped from the lock-up. Lieut. Murphy, who was on duty, was notified by a constable doing duty on Notre Dame street, that a man had been seen running away from the front of the Court House. Investigation showed that one of the iron bars guarding one of the windows of the corridor had been sawed through and bent in such a manner as to allow a man to squeeze through between the next two bars quite easily. The prisoners were lined up and the roll was called when it was found that two names were not responded to. These were P. Bolduc and J. Adams. When the detectives were notified of the escape they found that two of their prisoners who had been arrested on suspicion, but whose names had not been entered on the sheet, had also disappeared. Bolduc was arrested on Wednesday evening for attempting to steal a lady's pocket-book and satchel which he snatched from her belt. He said his home was in Dover, N. H. Adams, who is a local man, was arrested yesterday as a suspicious character, and it was intended to lay a charge of loitering against him. The other two were simply arrested as suspicious characters. They admitted to Chief Carpenter that they were strangers, and had no employment and promised to leave the city if given an opportunity. But they did not wait for permission or daylight. They seized the first chance and escaped by the window and have not been seen since. Whether one of the prisoners had a steel saw on him or whether such an instrument was handed in by a friend from the outside, will probably never be known. The trick was well and quickly done. The police say that during the time the sawing was being done some of the prisoners in the corridor were singing, joking and dancing, evidently to prevent the noise of the instrument being heard, though they were not boasting and their object was not suspected. Had the policeman on duty not reported his suspicions promptly no doubt others would have escaped, as there were sixteen prisoners in the cells and the door leading into the cells was closed so that the constable who is supposed to be on duty could not see what was going on in the corridor.

CHIEF AND ALDERMEN

Trouble appears to be brewing in the Fire Department over a stand taken by Chief Benoit with regard to the division of authority between himself and the members of the Fire and Light Committee. The committee has recently given orders regarding the placing of certain apparatus and men which the chief has not had carried out on the ground that he found it impossible or inexpedient to make the changes contemplated. A special meeting of the committee was called for yesterday at the instance of Ald. Walsh to consider the question, but nothing could be done as it was a legal holiday, and the members did not even take their seats.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW

GOOD CROPS INCREASE DEMAND FOR FALL GOODS.

Trade conditions at Montreal continue very good. The cool weather has retarded the movement in seasonal goods to some extent, but country advices indicate that the sales are better, the impression being apparently that the season is now so far advanced that whatever goods are needed must now come into use as the weather is not likely to be much longer delayed. The fall trade is showing considerable activity now, and there is promise of a very large movement before the harvest operations begin. The prospects for the grain crops are very good, and a continuance of the prosperity enjoyed in the past year seems to be in store for the country. Values of staple goods continue firmly held. There are no continuities being made in price, and in some lines prompt delivery of the goods is difficult to obtain so busy are the mills on orders for the fall. Country remittances are fairly heavy, but rates are no lower. At Toronto the past week there has been rather more doing in the sorting trade. The fine crop outlook is also encouraging the expectation of a large fall trade, and there is a general desire on the part of country merchants to be well prepared for it. At Quebec the festivities of the past week have had for the municipality. The court granted $300 damages, and also ordered that the deposit made by the plaintiff be returned.

In the mining industry and the shipping and lumber trades. At London a heavy yield of grain is expected. Retailers, in view of these conditions, are ordering freely for the fall. At Winnipeg there has been a good demand for staple goods for the fall, this having been stimulated by the good prospects for the rotifers. At Ottawa retailers look for considerable sales of summer goods the next few weeks, and are ordering sorting parcels.

DUN'S BULLETIN

WHOLESALE TRADE GOOD—SUGAR WEAKER.

Dun's Bulletin of Saturday, June 25th, will say of Montreal continues persistently cool and wet to the detriment of retailers in dry goods, clothing, etc., but the volume of wholesale trade is well sustained for the midsummer season. Dry goods travellers are reporting good orders for fall merchandise, the distribution of groceries is satisfactory and the movement in metals, hardware, etc., is better sustained than quiet at this time of the year. Leather is useful, but the demand is looked for next month, when the boot and shoe factories will actively commence cutting on fall orders. As regards values few changes are to be noted and general firmness prevails, sugars being about the only exception to the rule. Some fair quantity of European refined sugars are said to be held here on consignment, exercising a depressing effect, and local refiners are reported as disposed to cut under $5.55, the nominal figure for granulated, for round orders. Teas occupy a very strong position, and canned goods, evaporated apples, etc., keep moving steadily upwards. Full cable reports of last week's London fair sales show that other, lynx, wolf, silver and grey fox, possum, and muskrat scored an advance, while skunk, fisher and bear sold lower. General collections furnish little ground for complaint, and failures are high, six being reported in the district for the week.

THE RECORDERS COURT

SUNDAY SELLING, CATTLE MARKET AND M. S. R. CASES POSTPONED.

A number of summonses against alleged violators of the Sunday closing by-law were returnable at the Recorder's Court this morning. Mr. Pelissier, of Pelissier, Wilson & St. Pierre, appeared for all the defendants, and it was decided to postpone the hearing of any cases until next Thursday, July 3, at 10 o'clock.

Certain persons for selling cattle at other places than the regular cattle markets were also charged to next Thursday at three p.m. The cases of the city against the Montreal Street Railway Company for not completing and operating their lines on Frontenac and other streets was fixed to be heard this afternoon.

SMUGGLING ATTEMPTED.

The St. Albans Messenger says an attempt was made yesterday morning to smuggle seven Russian Jews into the United States on an excursion train running from Montreal to Burlington. The seven immigrants, who were unable to speak English, were in the charge of a young Hebrew who speaks English and claims residence in Montreal. He held the tickets for the entire party, and admitted that he had received payment to bring the party into this country. The immigrants were detained by Immigration Inspector E. H. Twohey, and were deported to Montreal on the 11.53 o'clock train. The leader of the party was arrested by Mr. C. S. Forbes, immigration inspector, and locked up in Franklin county jail on a charge of violating the United States immigration laws.

CITY ACCIDENTS.

Albert Massicotte, 15 years old, of 26 Brebeuf street, was knocked down by a cab near his home to-day, and had a rib broken. He is at the Notre Dame Hospital. Peter Hyatt, 12 years old, of 17 Vallee street, fell off a street car on St. Lawrence street, this morning, and cut his head. He is at the General Hospital. Joseph Kirke, of 124 St. Antoine street, was at work on the new Guardian building on St. James street, to-day, when a stone fell on him. He was badly shaken up, and is at the General Hospital.

EVOCATION NOT ALLOWED.

In the case of Thompson vs. the Royal Paper Mills Company, the plaintiff claims $12 as balance due for goods furnished to another company that became insolvent and whose debts the plaintiff claimed subsequently undertook to pay. The action was entered in the Circuit Court, but the company asked an evocation to the Superior Court, on the ground of future rights. The demand was refused by the Superior Court, and the Court of Review confirmed that judgment this morning.

CONTRACTORS GET DAMAGES.

Judge Robitoux rendered judgment this morning in a case of Henault et al. vs. the municipality of Delorimier. The plaintiffs claimed damages on account of the cancellation of a contract which they had for the construction of a viaduct for the municipality. The court granted $300 damages, and also ordered that the deposit made by the plaintiff be returned.

ANARCHISTS IN PARTIBUS.

ANOTHER REBUKE TO THE LOCAL YELLOW PRESS.

In its turn the 'Moniteur du Commerce' rebukes the local yellow press. Under the above heading it says: 'With the country, without any anarchists, or fixed doctrine, inflexible, creed or object in life, anarchists among us, dunderheads always, fools anyhow! What a number have we not of such types planted among us; obnoxious seeds swept by the wind through space! Still the national Canadian field must be weeded and we must extirpate them. It is very difficult to understand how it is that the French-Canadians, who are loyal, attached to their constitution, patriotic, touched at the cost of personal sacrifice, proud of their honorable past, so perfectly confident in the future of their country, should allow that cursed dog's grass, coming nobody knows whence and growing in their garden, and suffer and encroach in their midst these birds of passage, these men who, fishing in troubled waters and abusing the hospitality which they receive, periodically pour out their yellow, dirty prose, on the most solemn and respected occasions, sometimes on religion and its ministers, sometimes on the person of the leaders whom the people have freely chosen, sometimes on the people themselves, at whom they mock, after all. There are among us anarchists in partibus, not true anarchists, for the value and object of the latter having no pivot, who fool the anarchists themselves, and who take advantage of our sometimes stupid and very often badly controlled Chauvinism, to earn here a crust of white bread that they were unable to earn so easily elsewhere. To think that we are silly enough to encourage these people by paying them for their scribbling, the reliefing our own old people, orphans and poor! These nasty caricatures on the way to make trouble in the Canadian family, and we must be on our guard against them.' After quoting a portion of the 'Presse's' article and adding that we will always be well disposed towards the better classes of people that come from England, France and Germany, the article concludes the following: 'But we wish to eradicate the poisonous weeds that grow in the shade of the others, even if extreme measures have got to be resorted to for that object. French-Canadians, let us be on our guard against the anarchists "in partibus." They are worse than the others; they will slowly assassinate our nationality, if we continue to give them hospitality.'

OBITUARY.

New York, June 27.—William Lines Mintony, naval constructor, U.S.N., who supervised the construction of the ill-fated battleship 'Maine' at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, is dead at his home in Brooklyn, aged seventy-three years.

SOLDIERS' MEETING LEAGUE.

The monthly meeting will be held on Monday, June 30, at 10 a.m., in the Victoria Rifles Armory. This League is held as usual, as so many members are leaving town, and it is desired to have a well attended meeting. The League is anxious to obtain a baby carriage for a poor little week-old baby, whose father was killed in February fighting in South Africa. Any one having such an article would do a great kindness by giving it to this soldier's meeting, and is asked to communicate with the secretary, 481 Guy street, who will send for it.

MUST THEY PAY DUTY?

A member of the Syracuse Smelting Works Company called at the 'Witness' Office to-day and in regard to a despatch which has appeared in the press stating that a shipment of rabbit metal had been held in Detroit for duty, gave the explanation that the company was on the part of the company to defraud the United States Government. The metal consisted of old electrolytic and stereotypy plates, and the company supposed that it would pass through the Customs free as old waste. It only remains, he said, for the government to decide whether or not the shipment is dutiable, and the trouble would be adjusted.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

It is to the teamsters, farmers, rail- roaders, lumbermen, above all others, that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills prove their marvellous control over kidney disease, backache and accompanying ills.

Mr. John Orr, lumberman, Trenton, Ont., states: "Through exposure to all sorts of weather in the lumber camp, and as a result of the strain of my work, I became a sufferer from kidney disease, which in my case took the form of very severe pains across the back, over the kidneys and down the hips.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have by far the largest sale in Canada of any similar preparation. They have proven their right to a place in every home as the most thoroughly reliable medicine that science has devised.

Owen Sound, Ont., June 27.—The town yesterday was in gala attire to welcome the reunion of the Grey County Old Boys, and the occasion was considered auspicious to present from the Dominion Government, the rewards for bravery to the master and crew of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's steamship 'Athabaska,' for saving thirteen lives from the wrecked and sinking United States barge 'Preston,' in Lake Superior, during a wild storm, on June 29, 1901.

Dr. Sproule praised the captain and crew for their bravery, declaring that the record would be handed down to posterity.

Mr. N. Stewart Dunlop, tax commissioner for the C. P. R., who was a passenger on the steamer, made a capital speech, relating the story of the various rescues and, on behalf of the railway, thanked the government for the distinction conferred upon the officers and crew of the company's vessel.

BIBLE LIGHT

FRIDAY, JUNE 27.

JESUS, THE WORKER'S PATTERN.

Jesus is not only the believer's pattern in life and walk, but also in service. He was a daily, active ministry to sorrow, and sin, and suffering. His methods of working also were such as should have humble imitation. Read the narrative in Matt. iv., 17-25, and ponder some of its lessons. First, His works of love and mercy were an advertisement. They spread abroad his fame and multitudes followed Him. Second, His power of healing bodily ailments set forth man's deeper spiritual need, and Christ's great mission to save the lost, and to impart life to the spiritually dead. Third, this power was not limited to Christ's work on earth. It still works through all whom He sends to preach the Gospel and to heal the sick. Every spirit-filled heaven-sent messenger can still say, 'Lord, even the demons are subject unto us in Thy Name' (Luke x., 17). When the early disciples went forth everywhere preaching, the Lord worked with them, confirming the message with signs, and so shall it still be to every sincere, devoted man or woman who works for Christ. (Mark xvi., 19-20, Matt. xxviii., 20.)

There has been rain for nine days in London, and Cleveland begins to feel a trifle like the metropolis of the world.—Cleveland Leader.

It has also rained here a trifle. Does Cleveland feel like Montreal, or Montreal like Cleveland?

STRENUOUSLY DRUNK.

At dinner the other evening Col. George T. Denison, the British Empire League delegate from Canada, said it was too bad to revive Toronto police court stories about him in this country. Having said that, he volunteered one himself. On a previous visit to England he contributed an article to the 'Westminster Gazette' on the military aspects of Imperialism, which was reprinted in the Toronto papers. On his return to the magisterial bench one of the first culprits to face him was an Irishman named Maher, an old offender. 'What's the matter this time, Maher?' asked the Colonel. 'Drunk, yer worship,' responded Maher. 'Sure, I read the fine article y'ee wrote in the English papers, and the grand fitting in' statimints av ut upset me, sorr.' 'Maher,' said the Colonel, 'you are discharged, as it seems you read that article, which I believe few other people in this province did.' 'It's yourself is a rale sojer,' said Mr. Maher, bowing to the Colonel as he left the dock.—Manchester 'Guardian.'

LINCOLN STORY.

In 1862 Col. Alexander, of Topeka, who was an intimate friend of President Lincoln, visited him at Washington, and found him in a greatly depressed state of mind. 'This being president isn't all it is cracked up to be, is it, Mr. Lincoln?' enquired Col. Alexander.

'No,' said Lincoln, his eyes twinkling momentarily, 'I feel sometimes like the Irishman, who, when ridden on a rail, said: "Begorry, if it wasn't for the honor av th' thing, I'd rather walk!"—Washington 'Star.'

A DISCONCERTED DETECTIVE.

A good story of Michael Davitt has been revived by the 'Illustrated London News,' apropos of the recent publication of his new book, 'The Boer Fight for Freedom.' The story pertains to one of Davitt's speeches as organizer of the Irish Land League, and runs as follows:

'He lashed his large audience in a sort of frenzy by his strictures upon English rule and Irish slavery. During his most impassioned and eloquent, if least loyal, passage, he was interrupted by the arrival of the Government shorthand reporter, who dashed up on an outside "faunting car" accompanied by three members of the Irish Constabulary with rifles and side arms fixed. The fresh arrival immediately prepared to take down the words that were burning from the man who was at that time second to none, including Charles Stewart Parnell, as the chosen of the people. Davitt paused and gazed at his new hearer, who awaited him note-book and pencil in hand, and then turning to the mass of up-turned faces, he finished his peroration in the wild eloquence of their native language, and heaven knows what treason he emitted, for certainly the government reporter did not, as he gazed blankly at the speaker. The audience understood and appreciated his purport, expressing their approbation in wild and unbounded screams and shouts.'

AN UNFORTUNATE SIMILE.

He wished to be poetic, and it seemed to him he had a good simile. As he leaned toward her he produced a ring. 'My love for you,' he said, 'is like this ring. There is no end to it.'

She examined the ring with interest, and then handed it back.

'My love for you,' she said, 'is also like the ring. There is no beginning to it.'—Chicago 'Evening Post.'

"OUT OF DANGER."

His Majesty Reported to Have Passed the Crisis.

CHEERING WORDS OF LORD LISTER TO LORD MARCUS BERESFORD.

London, June 27.—The following bulletin was posted at Buckingham Palace at 2.00 p.m. to-day:—

'His Majesty passed a comfortable morning. All his symptoms to-day are so far satisfactory. His temperature remains normal. No other than important fluctuations in His Majesty's temperature will be recorded in the bulletins issued. (Signed)

TREVES,
LAKING,
BARLOW.

London, June 27.—(2.27 p.m.)—It is said that after the issue of this morning's bulletin Lord Marcus Beresford asked Lord Lister how the King was progressing, and that Lord Lister replied:—'His Majesty is practically out of danger.'

EARLY BULLETINS.

THE KING PROGRESSING GRADUALLY BACK TO HEALTH.

London, June 27.—10.12 a.m.—The first unofficial intimation this morning from Buckingham Palace regarding King Edward's condition is to the effect that the pain mentioned in last night's bulletin was at first attended by some restlessness, but subsequent improvement was noted, and His Majesty passed a fair night.

10.58 a.m.—An authoritative statement contained in despatches to the Associated Press that the check in the King's progress toward recovery, which was recorded in the last official bulletin of yesterday evening, was merely temporary in its character, and receives gratifying confirmation in this morning's announcement by the attendant physicians, which is as follows:—'His Majesty had a fair night, and has had some settled sleep. His appetite is improving, and his wound is much more comfortable. On the whole the King's condition is attended with less anxiety. (Signed),

LISTER, TREVES,
SMITH,
LAKING,
BARLOW.

The announcement of a more comfortable state of the King's wound and his having secured natural sleep is followed by an indication of increasing assurance in the minds of those responsible for the official report. It is contained in the last sentence which indicates that everything is going as well as can reasonably be expected.

As the time approached for the posting of the morning bulletin the crowd about the palace of the King increased appreciably. When the better tenor of the news contained by the slip of paper attached to the baize-colored board borne by the messenger became known, something like a cheer broke forth from the assembled people.

Prince Henry of Prussia and other foreign representatives were among the earlier inquirers at Buckingham Palace. The Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught called early at Buckingham Palace.

Lord Lister and his colleagues were in consultation for a quarter of an hour prior to issuing the bulletin posted at 10.15 a.m.

The following bulletin was posted at Buckingham Palace at 11 o'clock last night:

The King has passed a fairly comfortable day, and has maintained his strength. There is a returning desire for food, which has been very carefully given. There has been some return of pain in the wound. (Signed),

TREVES,
LAKING,
BARLOW.

The American special Ambassador, Mr. Whitehall Reid, and Mrs. Reid, called by appointment on the Prince and Princess of Wales this afternoon to take official leave of their Royal Highnesses. Mr. Reid will now close up the special embassy.

Following the expressed desire of the Prince of Wales, the arrangements for illuminating the city, which involved the costly erection of set pieces for electric and gas lights, will be allowed to remain, and will be utilized immediately it is authoritatively announced that the King is out of danger.

ROYAL CLEMENCY.
By the King's personal desire, the royal pardons of offenders in the army will go into effect just as if the coronation had occurred. This last intimation suitably brings to a close the day which was to have been notable in English history, and which, from the view point of the public, has passed into that mediocrity which is attached to all things that are neither wholly good nor wholly bad.

The most striking feature of Coronation Day, as it is still called, was the universal substitution of services of intercession for those of rejoicing. These services occurred throughout the country and on board the great fleet that has unreviewed in Portsmouth harbor.

With the favorable progress of the King there is much discussion as to how the coronation will eventually be effected. While nothing has yet been definitely settled, it appears that King Edward is likely to celebrate this event very quietly, and with merely the ceremony that attends the opening of parliament. This consists of a drive direct to Westminster Abbey accompanied by a small escort, a speedy return to Buckingham Palace, and it is rumored that no foreign princes or envoys will be especially invited for the occasion.

Providing King Edward maintains his present rate of improvement, London will soon be emptied of its holiday crowd, and the postponed coronation will be looked forward to as an occasion for sedate thanksgiving, bereft of pageantry.

OUTLOOK BRIGHT

LONDON 'LANCET' THINKS EVERYTHING IS GOING ALONG SATISFACTORILY.

New York, June 27.—The New York 'Medical Journal' received to-day the following cable despatch from the London 'Lancet':—

London, June 27.—12.00 noon.—So far as it is possible yet to say anything definite the King's prospects are distinctly favorable. Thursday was a good day, followed by a fair night, the patient having refreshing sleep. The state of the wound is satisfactory, the discharge healthy, the temperature on Thursday evening normal, a fact which is important as indicating that the occasional pain experienced in the wound had no sinister significance. Nourishment was taken and cheerfulness maintained. The King has seen and conversed with the Prince of Wales and the Royal Princesses. The Queen has visited the sick man several times.

The definite statements issued by the 'Lancet' that the bulletins are accurate, that the condition is simply perityphilitis, that the right medical opinion has been sought, that the right procedure has been followed and that no symptoms of malignant disease are present have done much in reassuring the public. At noon to-day the wound is comfortable and the general condition less alarming.

A HEALTHY SIGN.

A writer in the 'Daily Mail,' commenting upon the return of pain in the King's wound, suggests that it is due to the natural contraction of the wound and the abscess cavity causing pressure on the drainage tubes. It is, therefore, he says, a healthy natural sign. He believes there has been no appreciable increase in temperature with the return of the pain. The writer says the King has been permitted to smoke, and takes beef tea and milk.

The 'Times' says: The statements in the last bulletin reinforce the warnings to the public not to indulge too confidently for the next few days in the hopes that all cherish. There is no reason for alarm, but the return of pain may at first excite misgiving. It may be due either to a transient infection or latent mischief. At the palace they declare that the King is better than on Wednesday night.

A SPEEDY RECOVERY

SURGICAL EXPERT SAYS THE KING SHOULD BE OUT OF DANGER BY MONDAY OR TUESDAY.

London, June 27.—A distinguished surgical authority, who was interviewed this morning, said he was distinctly more hopeful in regard to the outcome, forty-eight hours having elapsed without complications since the operation was performed. The doctors, he said, should be able by Monday or Tuesday to declare if His Majesty is out of danger. The risk of peritonitis setting in still remains. A rise in temperature would be the most significant symptom of any such developments. The omission of the pulse and temperature from the bulletins, he said, was very discreet, because if they were once given it would be necessary to continue them, or the public would become alarmed; every little rise or fall in temperature would occasion fears or hopes, neither of which would really be justifiable.

SERVICE AT KINGSTON, JAMAICA
Kingston, Jamaica, June 27.—The Governor, Sir Augustus Hemming, and leading official and representative citizens attended the intercessional services for King Edward at the Parish Church here yesterday morning. The Archbishop of the West Indies, the most Rev. Emos Nuttall, officiated, the United States consul was among those present.

THE THANKSGIVING FOR PEACE—THE KING RECEIVING THE CITY'S HOMAGE ON HIS WAY TO ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

On the arrival of the King at Temple Bar, the Lord Mayor and sheriffs, who, according to an immemorial custom by which the Sovereign is not supposed to enter the city of London without leave, had been waiting there to receive His Majesty, advanced bareheaded to the Royal carriage. The Lord Mayor held on the palms of his hand the ancient City Sword and offered it to the King, saying:—'I surrender to your Majesty the sword of the city, and in the name of your loyal subjects, the citizens of London, bid you welcome.' His Majesty touched the sword without taking it, and briefly thanked the Lord Mayor, who thereupon retired, and the ceremony was over.—London 'Graphic.'

BOER SYMPATHY

GENERALS FRAMING A SUITABLE RESOLUTION TO FORWARD.

Pretoria, June 27.—Services in intercession for the recovery of King Edward were held yesterday. The various municipal and commercial bodies have adopted votes of sympathy. Generals Botha, De La Rey and Lucas Meyer, on behalf of the Boers, are now holding a meeting to frame a message of sympathy.

THE EMPEROR'S TRIBUTE

Kiel, June 27.—The Emperor William has made King Edward an honorary admiral of the German navy. Subsequently to making the appointment he issued an order to the fleet by flag signals, saying: 'I hope the fleet will always be mindful of this high honor, which, at the same time, brings into closer relations with its comrades of the British navy. The fleet is to immediately hoist the British flag at the masthead, fire a salute of twenty-one guns and give three cheers for the King of England.' The order was immediately obeyed.

THE KING'S CORONATION

NEWSPAPERS BEGINNING TO FORECAST THE PROBABLE DATE.

New York, June 27.—The London correspondent of the 'Tribune' says the King's condition remains so favorable that newspapers are beginning to forecast the probable date of the coronation. One of them claims indisputable authority for the announcement that the function will take place the first or second week in October. As the King is not out of danger, this is but guesswork at random. No court official is prepared to discuss prematurely a contingency dependent upon the King's recovery from a serious operation, nor is there any disposition in any responsible quarter to retard or prevent the removal of the sacred decorations and stands by a vague intimation that the coronation will come on in the course of a few weeks or months. The Abbey is the source from which these rumors come. The transformation of the hallowed Abbey into a theatre for the splendid pageant has been costly and laborious. The canons and laymen naturally desire to avoid the expense and trouble of repeating this transformation. It is probable that the Abbey will remain closed for a fortnight or longer until the King is pronounced out of danger, and there is reasonable assurance that the ceremony can be conducted. Early in October, in that event, would be a convenient period, and the Abbey would remain closed during the intervening months. There is general agreement among officials that the autumn programme will differ materially from the calendar for the June festivities, and that both the naval review and the second day's procession will be omitted. The coronation ceremony itself, unless all signs fail, will also be abridged, and the attendance of colonial statesmen and Indian princes, with military contingents and bodyguards, will be dispensed with.

THE COLONIAL CONFERENCE

CANADIAN PREMIER WILL BE AMONG THE CHIEF FIGURES PRESENT.

New York, June 27.—The 'Tribune's' London correspondent says: The Colonial Premiers and Ministers, while sorely disappointed over the postponement of the coronation, are consulting among themselves and receiving cues from Mr. Chamberlain respecting the imperial conference next week. There is reason for the belief that the conference will gain adventitious importance from the collapse of the general festivities, since public attention will be centred upon it. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Edmund Barton and Mr. Seddon will be the chief figures, but there will be strong men behind them.

There is a hopeful feeling among Canadian Ministers and Premiers that by the help of Mr. Chamberlain something may be done in the direction of preferential trade. Astute men, like the Hon. G. W. Ross and Messrs. Fielding, Muloch and Paterson, do not wish to commit themselves prematurely to any statement of policy, but they are convinced that the self-governing colonies have in Mr. Chamberlain a resourceful leader, who commands support.

THE CROWNING OF KINGSHIP

JUNE 28, 1902.

(By Alfred Austin, poet laureate of England.)

What do we crown and celebrate to-day? Kingship and Empire, throned on peaceful power; Since to be weak is to endure the sway Of every threatening hour:

Kingship symbolic of a People's will, Themselves born kingly, Sovereigns of the Sea. And, like the sea, let whatso tempests shrill. One, world-wide, feared, and free:

For 'tis not Crown nor Scepter men revere, But the majestic mind and regal soul, That amid clashing clamors serve to steer A Realm unto its goal:

Kings who, than wise counsellors yet more wise. Because of the calm height wherefrom they scan The orbit of their Empire, can surmise God's destiny for Man:

Who honor worth and genius, and share Their Kingliness with nothing base or mean. And, at their side, One tender-souled as fair, A woman and a Queen:

Whom, themselves simple, splendid for the State, And steadfast as the stars tho' seasons veer, Priesthood can bless and poets celebrate, With conscience clean and clear:

Whom neither pomp nor paeon can be fool To lurk the scutcheon of their ancient Line. Transmitters of a Race whose Right to Rule Shall seem and be divine.

So may a throne-knit people long while crown Kingship and Kings, who, as the ages run, Heirs to Victoria's virtues, hand them down From sire to son, and son! From the New York 'Independent.'

TWO MEN PERISHED.

Kingston, Ont., June 27.—A boat, oar and clothing having been found at various points down the river establishes quite clearly that Mr. Hiram Martlow and his son George perished on Saturday night, during a storm, while crossing from the city to Wolfe Island, their home. They came to town, hired the boat and said they did not fear crossing the harbor. The boat owner watched them as they pulled over to Garden Island. In the last mile of their journey disaster overtook them.

FOREST FIRES IN COLORADO.

Durango, Col., June 27.—Forest fires on Lighter Creek are raging, and the flames are rapidly working northward. A herd of several thousand sheep are hemmed in at the upper end of the canyon, and the entire lot probably will be destroyed.

THE WESTERN TIDE.

Winnipeg, June 27.—About four hundred Ontario and Quebec people arrived in the city yesterday on two sections of the Canadian Pacific Railway express from the East. Among these were about eighty French-Canadians, who have been induced to come West by Father Blais.

THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

CIVIL GOVERNMENT BILL ADOPTED BY THE UNITED STATES HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Washington, June 27.—At eight o'clock last night at the end of a nine-hour session and of a debate lasting night and day for a week, the House of Representatives passed the Philippine civil government bill practically as it came from the committee. It was a party vote, 141-87.

The minority substitute for the establishment of a temporary government in the islands and their permanent independence as soon as a stable government could be established, was defeated by 95 to 138.

Admiral Dewey made a statement before the Senate committee on the Philippines yesterday concerning the early operations at Manila, when he was in command of the American naval forces in Philippine waters. This statement contributed an important addition to the history of the surrender of the city of Manila. It consisted of a positive statement by the admiral to the effect that the city had been surrendered to him at the time that the Spanish fleet was sunk, and that when the city did surrender it was in pursuance of a definite understanding between himself and the Spanish Governor-General.

CAPE BRETON RAILWAY

WORK OF CONSTRUCTION HAS BEEN DISCONTINUED.

Sydney, N.S., June 27.—Operations on the construction of the Cape Breton Railway between Hawkesbury and Louisburg have ceased with the completion of thirty miles of road as far as St. Peter's. This is the railway which Dr. Seward Webb, backed by the Dominion Securities Company, undertook to build. Operations were begun over a year ago and with the failure of that company the work began to drop off until finally it was stopped on Wednesday. While the work was going on over 1,200 men were employed. They were paid regularly and even now Chief Engineer Leonard says the company does not owe one dollar. It is estimated that the company expended over three hundred thousand dollars on the construction of the railway. Thirty thousand dollars were paid for terminal facilities at Louisburg, and the line was surveyed through to Louisburg. Some hopes are entertained that the construction of the line east of St. Peter's will be resumed next year upon the local and federal governments granting subsidies amounting to $3,200,000 per mile. Hopes are also entertained that the government may be persuaded to take the line over, but this is discounted on account of the fact that should the line be completed Louisburg would be in direct opposition to the line now running to Sydney.

MURDER THEORY EXPLODED

NOW CLAIMED SINCLAIR'S DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL.

Ottawa, June 27.—The mystery surrounding the death of Alexander Sinclair, who was found lying unconscious on the sidewalk early on Wednesday morning, has, according to the police, been cleared, and the murder theory exploded. They say that Sinclair met his death by falling on the sidewalk and striking his head on the pavement, causing a fracture of the skull. James McGaw, the man who was held by the police, as he was the last one to be seen with Sinclair, before he received his injuries, has been released. McGaw and the deceased were good friends and he has proven to the satisfaction of the officials that when he parted company with Sinclair the latter was all right.

SECOND MOUNTED RIFLES

INDICATIONS ARE THAT THEY WILL RETURN SHORTLY.

Ottawa, June 27.—The Militia Department is advised from South Africa not to issue any further pay to dependents of the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles. This is taken as indicating that the corps will be home inside of two months, as an arrangement was made with the men before leaving to discontinue pay to dependents shortly before they return home. Another message informs the Canadian Government that many Canadian soldiers in South Africa are applying for discharges and asking whether the authorities here have any objection to their being granted. A reply will be sent that Canada is willing the discharges should be granted.
