"Adventure in Citizenship" Described For Rotarians

Ainsley Helm Visited Ottawa Under Auspices Of Huntingdon Rotary Club

AINSLEY HELM

Members of the Huntingdon Rotary Club heard a description of the trip to Ottawa taken by Ainsley Helm during the past week. Ainsley was picked by the Rotary Club here to take part in the Ottawa Club's "Adventure in Citizenship", and the following is his account of that adventure. He gave the talk at the luncheon held on Monday.

Mr. Chairman,
Members of the Rotary,

Before I attempt to describe my trip to Ottawa, I wish to express my sincere appreciation and thanks for the opportunities which have come to me from the Huntingdon Rotary Club. I was most happy to find myself in the local public speaking competition. From the practical side, it meant a dinner. But to me, it was far more valuable. It was an opportunity to speak before a large group and gain confidence in myself. A further opportunity came my way when I was chosen to speak again—this time in Montreal. I am sorry that I was unable to bring more honours to the Rotary Club and my school, but I did my best, which is all a person can do. Had it not been for the Rotary Club, these opportunities would never have passed my way. Then came the great opportunity. Mr. Pope asked me to represent the Huntingdon Rotary Club in the Citizen Conference in Ottawa. This opportunity was again the result of the Rotary Club. I am happy in thinking that the same opportunities will fall on another person or persons next year.

With several other Rotary Students, I arrived in Ottawa Sunday night. Greeted by Rotarians we were soon taken to their homes, open to our convenience as if they were our very own. I might include that this trip was enjoyed by one hundred and fifty-five students. These students came from all over Canada reaching from Revelstoke in British Columbia to St. Johns in Newfoundland. Several times we were told that we would be the transmitters to the people of Canada of the trip to Ottawa. I shall do my best to live up to the name of transmitter.

Monday morning we assembled in the Chateau Laurier Convention Hall for a message of welcome from the president of the Ottawa Rotary Club, Mr. E. H. Charleson, and a civic welcome from Her Worship, Mayor of Ottawa, Dr. Charlotte Whitton. Following these two welcomes we had an explanation of the programme by Mr. McGregor Easson. McGregor Easson is chairman of the Canadian Citizenship Conference and it was the opinion of all on this trip that Mr. Easson certainly worked hard to make this conference a success.

Our next stop was Carleton College. Here on the first three days of our trip, we had group discussions about our government. The first morning we had a group discussion on Canadian Citizenship including First Reading of Bill No. 33 entitled "An Act to Establish the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority". At this college we were divided into groups meeting in different rooms. The group I was in was lectured by Professor Wood, who explained to us the different divisions of the government such as the Cabinet, Privy Council and Senate. This discussion brought Monday morning to a close and we then proceeded to the Ballroom at Chateau Laurier for the Rotary Luncheon. The meal was sumptuous and was followed by an address from the Honourable Brooke Claxton, Minister of National Defence.

Monday afternoon we visited the Parliament Buildings. For an hour and a half we had a conducted tour to places of special interest in the centre block of the parliament buildings. This included such places as the House of Commons, the Senate Chamber, Confederation Hall, Hall of Fame, Memorial Chamber and the Library. The next attraction was the Speaker's Parade at Main Entrance. There were so many people present, I was unable to see this but a fellow student described it as stately and dignified. But this hardly describes the proceedings and debate in the House of Commons which we next saw. We were seated in the Ladies Gallery. We were asked not to criticize the proceedings too harshly but I cannot help but express that while one member of parliament was speaking, incidentally, Mr. Drew, others were reading newspapers, chewing gum, walking in and out and yelling order at every turn of his speech. One student from last year's conference said the children were in the house and the statesmen in the gallery. Sitting in parliament, in my opinion, is no place to catch up on your news and exercise your jaws in that manner.

Following this debate we went to the Railway Committee Room where we were presented Certificates of Canadian Citizenship by the Right Honourable Louis S. St. Laurent, Prime Minister of Canada. This ended our tour of the Parliament Buildings and Monday afternoon.

Monday evening we went to Fisher Park High School for dinner and for a "Get Acquainted Party". We were the guests of the Ottawa Col-

Fiance Fails To Get Bride Over Border

United States immigration officials at Malone, N.Y., are holding a beautiful Austrian immigrant and the physician sweetheart she jumped the border south of Montreal to be with.

They said Editha M. Kowar, 23, a blonde dressmaker, had arrived in Canada only two weeks ago and was arraigned Friday on a charge of illegally crossing the border.

Her fiance, Dr. Sigmund Milke, 40, a displaced person from Poland and an interne at Mercy Hospital, Davenport, Iowa, was charged with attempting to assist Miss Kowar's illegal entry. He was held for questioning when on Friday he appeared at the U.S. customs and immigration office at Trout River, N.Y., seeking information about his sweetheart.

Police said the two had left Toronto, where Miss Kowar had resided since reaching Canada, by bus last Thursday and separated on reaching Huntingdon, Que. Miss Kowar was arrested Thursday night walking on a street in Malone.

Dr. Milke asked for an examination, which was set for Monday. He is held on $1,000 bail and she on $500. bail.

Miss Kowar was said to have applied for a quota visa so she could join her fiance, but her number was not due yet. She arrived in Canada as an immigrant from Austria on May 12.

Critical of Ottawa Policy

Auditor-General Says Civil Servants Do Not Need Private Offices

Ottawa, -(CP)- Watson Sellar, outspoken auditor-general of Canadian Government accounts, said he believes "we go to extremes in providing private offices" for civil servants.

"We in the civil service like our own cubbyholes," he said in continuing testimony before a committee of the Commons, studying government accounts for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1951.

He said he believes the civil service should follow the example of private industry and put more people into large open offices to save floor space.

David Croll (L—Toronto Spadina) and Philippe Picard (L—Bellechases) said they disagreed to a certain extent with Mr. Sellar. Private offices were essential in some cases.

Mr. Croll said men doing important work should have small rooms to which they could withdraw for meditation.

"There generally are small rooms provided for meditation," interpected Douglas Harkness (PC—Calgary East), amid laughter.

Mr. Croll said the Toronto income tax offices were an example of the need for private offices. There hundreds of assessors must keep taxpayers waiting in order to obtain a room where affairs could be discussed in private.

Mr. Sellar said he agrees there are cases where private office space is essential. But the line should be drawn somewhere. Now once a man got a private office for himself he asked for a stenographer and then a private office for her.

He said that in the Defence Department he has a staff of 15 who are serving as guinea pigs. An effort is being made to see if by use of low partitions private offices can be eliminated and floor space saved.

Catholic School Groups Hold Celebration in Huntingdon

J. G. Marien, Regional Inspector, Observes Golden Jubilee in Teaching

At a Regional celebration on Monday, the Golden Jubilee in the teaching career of Mr. J. G. Marien, regional Inspector, Commander of the Order of Scholastic Merit, was held in Huntingdon. The great celebration started with mass at 10.30 in St. Joseph' Church, with Father Romain Boule, pastor of Longueuil parish of which Mr. Marien is a member, in charge. Noticed in the choir were His Excellency Mgr. J. A. Langlois and many priests from the surrounding parishes. The singing was rendered by the girls of Notre Dame School.

After mass, H.E. Mgr. Langlois addressed the gathering saying how glad he was to be with those who were celebrating the Golden Jubilee. He welcomed the regional inspector in this diocese where he has worked for so many years. "I salute Mr. Marien as an educator of first class, a fine citizen, a kind and amiable man, a friend of order and peace." The bishop ended by encouraging the educators to follow the example of Mr. Marien. On coming out of the church the guests walked between rows of flags, offering their best wishes to Mr. Marien.

At 12 noon, a banquet was held at The Chateau, Huntingdon, under the chairmanship of Mr. O. J. Desaulniers, superintendent of Public Instruction, and of his Excellency the Bishop of Valleyfield. Seated at the table of honour were Mr. J. A. Girard, Rodolphe Maltais, Mme. J. E. Ducharme, M. A. Cloutier, Miss Marie Paule Marien, Mayor Leo Cappiello, Mr. O. J. Desaulniers, superintendent of public instruction, His Excellency Mgr. Langlois, Bishop of Valleyfield, Mr. J. G. Marien, Father A. Pigeon, Father Romain Boule, Mr. Omer Demers, Frederic Girard, Mrs. O. Demers, Mr. J. D. Ducharme, M. Victor Gagnon, J. E. N. Desrochers, Father Emile André, pastor of St. Timothée, Rev. Mr. Francois Cloutier, School Inspector, Master of Ceremonies for the occasion, thanked H.E. Bishop Langlois for the fine words pronounced in the church. He said it is a tradition in Huntingdon to have a speech in English at every reunion, in homage to our English speaking citizens. He invited Mayor Cappiello to say a few words. Mr. Cappiello welcomed the people to Huntingdon and said how glad he was to see Huntingdon chosen for this particular celebration. He expressed to Mr. Marien his admiration, "He is a gentleman in every sense of the word and has done great work for education during the past 50 years." Mr. Cappiello also offered a few words in French to his personal congratulations to Mr. Marien.

In the absence of Mr. J. A. Larin, president of the Diocesan Association of Scholarship Commission Dr. Abran, vice-president of the same association was asked to say a few words. The speaker told about the family of Mr. Marien, his natural family and his big family of educators who are so glad to meet together today to celebrate this milestone of their venerated chief. "In these days we need a spirit of decision, sense of the responsibilities and competence. We can find these qualities in our regional inspector and it is with great confidence we carry out his orders." In ending, Dr. Abran spoke of his admiration, his gratitude and his desire for many more years of friendship with the guest of honor.

The representative of the teaching staff, Mr. Frederic Girard, director general of the schools of the City of Valleyfield, followed Dr. Abran. This Golden Jubilee is a fiftieth anniversary of devotedness. He gave a biography of Mr. Marien who was born in Epiphanie in 1884, entered Normal School Jacques-Cartier in 1899, became instructor in 1902 continuing until 1912, when he was named inspector. He became a regional inspector in 1930 and was awarded the gold medal of Scholastic Merit in 1933. Mr. Girard enumerated a few of the numerous functions of this man of action.

Mr. Cloutier introduced Miss Monette, teacher of Ste. Cecile School, in Valleyfield and vice-president of the provincial association of the teachers. She underlined how great, how noble was the work of education and how much has been given by those who worked at it during these 50 years.

J. Albert Chartrand, of Montreal, was re-elected president of the Province of Quebec Milk Distributors Association at the final business meeting of the annual two-day convention Wednesday at the Queen's Hotel.

Other officers elected were: J. Peter Nadeau, Valleyfield, vice-president; Leonard Roy, secretary; I Bouthillier, Longueuil; J. H. Armitage, Conrad Giguere, Donat Gaudet, Frank Cousin, all of Montreal, directors.

The following were named to represent association groups in various districts: Paul Gingras and Jean Royer, Quebec; Marc Leclerc, Granby; Jules Trudel, Shawinigan Falls; J. Marcel Fortier, Levis; L. P. Dallaire, Rouyn; Dr. Marcel Picard, L'Epiphanie; J. Peter Nadeau, Valleyfield; J. Arthur Beaudoin, Thetford Mines; L. P. Desbiens, Chicoutimi.

In his annual address Mr. Chartrand stressed the importance of "promoting fair business practices and progressional ethics and of doing everything to protect the interest of the consumer." He emphasized that the future of the dairy industry depended upon good relations between distributors and producers and that the association had taken steps to improve relations with producers.

He warned that "internal trouble resulting from favors granted to one class — detrimental to the other —are the work of those who find their profit in shaking our economic situation."

The association, he said, had worked to improve the quality of milk, and a new regulation on the hygiene of milk and dairy products for the Province of Quebec promised for 1952 "will crown our efforts in that field."

He did not give details about the expected new regulation.

He said that the association had "noted with pleasure" that the department of health of the City of Montreal was thinking of amending the old municipal by-law governing milk hygiene.

The association accepted the principle of state control of the dairy industry and hoped to be able to keep that form of control, he said.

"Owing to the force of circumstances, it is from the Dairy Industry Commission that we can expect the most."

During the afternoon session papers on subjects, connected with the industry were read by Jules H. Cote, W. R. Aird, J. Roy, Isidore Bothillier, Adrien Patenaude and Marc Leclerc.

Big Shakeup in Textile Union at Montreal

R. Kent Rowley and Madeleine Parent Among Officers Suspended

A major shakeup in the leadership of the Canadian division of the United Textile Workers International Union, AFL, took place at Montreal, Monday in a move to drive alleged Communists from the ranks.

Twelve officials, including R. Kent Rowley, Canadian director of the union, a long-time thorn in the side of the country's officialdom, was suspended. A new staff was appointed, with Sam Baron, former Canadian director of the Textile Workers Union, CIO, as top organizing official.

The 12 suspended include Madeleine Parent, Quebec representative of the union; Val Bjarnasson, Toronto, director; Charles Lipton, Montreal organizer; George Berkett, organizer at Yarmouth, N.S.; John Holowecki, organizer at Windsor, Ont.; Eduard Gauthier, Montreal organizer; Vernon Mustard, Welland, Ont.; Guy Joannette, Montreal organizer; Conrad Leblanc, Valleyfield organizer; Gilles Heneault of Montreal, public director, and Charlotte Gauthier, Montreal office secretary.

Alleged Communists

The company has refused to deal with leaders alleged to be Communists. The secretary treasurer of international union, Lloyd Klemert, in Montreal, advised the 12 that their alleged Communist affiliation, plus the violence in the strikes, has resulted in their suspension.

It is expected the international union will take over administration of funds of the locals affected by the purge.

The charge under which the 12 union officials are summarily suspended is that their party line activity has hindered settlement of the walkouts and confused the real issues.

It has long been known that almost the entire leadership of the U.T.W. in Canada has been under alleged Communist domination. Most of the decisions of the leaders it has been contended, followed the Communist party line.

Rowley was interned during the war, and has long been eyed by Canadian Government officials as the source of much labor dissension.

Pawn of Communists

The Canadian division, with 15,000 members, has long been considered a pawn of Communist leadership. The immediate reason for suspending the twelve officials is said to be their conduct of strikes against two Canadian textile companies.

The two strikes have been marked by violence, including the shattering of plant windows. They have been going for eight weeks at the Montreal plant of Dominion Textile Co., Ltd., said to be the largest Cotton manufacturers in Canada, and the plant in Valleyfield of the Montreal Cottons Ltd.

On strike at the Dominion plant are 3,000 members of local 102 of the U.T.W. and at the Montreal Cottons plant 2,750 members of Local 100.

The Dominion company has offered a 10 per cent wage increase. A three-member board recommended three different settlements. The company representative suggested an increase of 7 cents an hour, the board chairman suggested 13 cents and the labor representative 25 cents. The union was willing to accept 18 cents. Average wages are about 98 cents an hour.

Montreal Women's Press Club Visits Huntingdon

Are Guests at Rod & Gun Club and of Huntingdon Agricultural Society

The travel and entertainment season, like the leaves and the flowers, is bursting out all over. Friday, May 23rd, at end of a perfect day, the beautiful sunset viewed from the Rod and Gun Club, Port Lewis, by guests awaiting the arrival of members of the Montreal Women's Press Club.

A delayed start and heavy traffic caused a late arrival of Press Club party, but added, if possible, to the delight and satisfaction of the delicious food table arranged in the popular "Smorgasbord" (self-serve" style.

W. L. Carr, as M.C., introduced the Huntingdon citizens who sponsored the reception. Adam Sellar, Publisher of Huntingdon Gleaner, welcomed the Montreal members of the Women's Press Club and friends, and entertained the party with an outline of Huntingdon County and Town as a production centre for meat, milk, apples, textiles and as a summer scenic playground within fifty miles of Montreal. With a glance backward, he noted that the building they were in was known, in the last century, as the Percy House, and the post office was where the bar is at present. The direct road to Huntingdon was first built in 1865-70 through the boglands and covered with planks, to make a military road for soldiers who landed at Port Lewis to suppress the Fenian Raids.

Miss G. Barre expressed the thanks of the members of Montreal Women's Press Club and promised an acknowledgment in writing, as more in keeping with the profession. But she assured the gathering that the very wonderful evening would become the highlight of the year's entertainment, expressing the deepest appreciation for a wondrful time in fresh and delightful surroundings.

In a thoroughly satisfied and happy mood the party left to join the Barn Dance at the invitation of Huntingdon Agricultural Society, entering enthusiastically into the "square" and other dances. Shirley Brett of C.B.C. and Helen Gougeon of Weekend, were called to the platform and spoke briefly. Miss France Barrette sang two numbers, "I'll Walk Alone" and "Because of You", to unrehearsed accompaniment by violin and accordion, which were received with great applause. The orchestra leader announced the presence of the Womens Press Club, called them to the front and led the applause that followed. The party left around one o'clock with many expressions of thanks and promises to return whenever possible.

Mrs. W. L. Carr, who has been a member for fifteen years, made the arrangements for the visit of Montreal Women's Press Club to Huntingdon and is very grateful for the co-operation and cordial reception extended.

Fear "Strife and Bloodshed" In Textile Union Control Fight at Valleyfield

Scuffles Take Place and Some Arrests Made in Disturbance on Monday

The expectation among labor leaders on Tuesday was for "strife and bloodshed" in Montreal and Valleyfield as a result of the coup which ousted Communist-line Canadian leaders of United Textile Workers of America.

First rumblings of unrest came Monday in Valleyfield, minutes after the announcement that R. Kent Rowley and his staff of 11 had been suspended for Communist affiliation and handling of strikes in both centres.

A group of 50 anti-Rowley strikers marched on union headquarters and attempted to oust Rowley and his supporters. Fists flew and two persons were arrested for attacking police in the scuffle. They were Conrad Leblanc, one of the dismissed organizers, and a Mrs. Duranceau, allegedly a Rowley supporter.

Anti-Rowley strikers captured the local and stayed put until 3.30 p.m. when Rowley came back with 10 supporters and marched inside. A few minutes later the anti-Rowley group emerged, amid cheers from the Communist-line group.

A crowd of 500 strikers and several police were on hand but no further incidents occurred. Rowley and his men were still in possession of union headquarters Monday night.

Meanwhile, in Montreal, officials of the new executive took over Union headquarters on Notre Dame street, east, without opposition.

Lloyd Klenert, international secretary treasurer of the A.F.L. union, who fired the entire staff, spent the day in conference with labor chieftains organizing a $100,000 strike fund for 6,000 union members in plants of Dominion Textiles Ltd., in Montreal and Montreal Cottons Ltd., in Valleyfield.

The UTWA in a statement said 40 international unions, representing 500,000 Canadian workers, had pledged financial and moral support to the 6,000 strikers at Montreal and Valleyfield.

Roger Provost, newly-appointed Quebec director of UTWA, said he was making an effort to get negotiations resumed immediately with Dominion Textile Ltd., for settlement of the 10-weeks-old walkout.

Provost said he had urged Dominion Textile Ltd., to agree to immediate reopening of negotiations for the purpose of consummating an agreement to the satisfaction" of both labor and management.

Hal C. Banks, Canadian director of Seafarers' International Union, one of a dozen labor leaders who pledged financial and member support to the new executive, said:

"We can expect opposition from the Communists. I think there'll be strife and bloodshed and we're prepared to meet it."

Ousted Director Rowley issued a statement saying dismissal of his staff was "completely without effect." He charged that "American gangster methods" had been used in an attempt to smash the Canadian union.

"We reject completely any authority of these American gangsters and will carry on the fight until victory in the strike," he said.

He claimed the council's office was broken into Sunday night and that documents and $500 to $600 in cash was stolen.

In reference to Rowley's statement, a spokesman for the international executive said: "This Canadian textile council had its conception in Rowley's mind . . . it's preposterous to think any man can set himself up as a Canadian president."

Rowley announced a closed meeting of union members Monday night in Montreal, another in Valleyfield on Tuesday night, with a meeting of the council later in the week.

In a prepared statement Klenert said he is convinced that charges of Communist leadership against the Canadian organization "were well founded."

At the same time Klenert promised to carry on the strike under the new executive.

Klenert said he acted on authority of Anthony Valente, U.T.W.A., international president, and the union's executive council.

A few hours after Klenert's announcement, Percy R. Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, said in Ottawa that the congress "is pleased to see the textile union cleaning house."

"While these things are always regrettable, in this case the action was most necessary. The congress will be pleased now to do anything it can to help these people, especially those on strike in Montreal and Valleyifeld."

"Poor Man's Diamonds" Brighter Than the Real Thing

In a laboratory on the outskirts of London a group of industrial scientists have set 1952 merrily on its way with a headache for South Africa's vast quarter billion dollar empire of diamonds. They have discovered the "poor man's diamond."

From a stick of silvery titanium, a metal which is actually the earth's ninth most common element and far more plentiful than nickel or copper, they have found a cheap and simple way of mass-producing gems which, when properly polished, can even outshine diamonds.

These new titanium gems glitter with vivid diamond "fire" and are tougher than steel. For research purposes the experts have produced a "diamond" pencil ten inches long, which flashes like a magic wand yet can be sliced into hundreds of small discs, each outshining a true $2,000 diamond.

Is this the beginning of the end for the world's merry but monopoly-fostered diamond boom? To foreshadow the future, crystal experts have glanced back to the day—5 years ago—when French scientist Louis Verneuil dripped aluminum oxide through a furnace, added metallic pigments and built the first synthetic sapphire. Thanks to this process the Swiss were soon turning out millions of synthetic sapphires for watch-makers and selling them for as little as a dime apiece. The world's watches would otherwise cost roughly double their present price.

Sapphire bearings are used in the armaments drive in gauges and measuring instruments, and millions are now pouring from an important British factory.

In the export drive a pound of sapphire needles for long-playing microgroove records sells at $100,000. Yet that works out at little more than fifteen cents each!

By a similar process the Verneuil method led to synthetic star rubies. Until recently most of the world's 50 star rubies were zealously guarded in India and market prices averaged $1,500 a carat. Now artificial star rubies sell at $35. a carat. Thousands of perfect speciments have been made, including the largest star ruby ever cut, a stone nearly as large as the Koh-i-nur.

Now diamonds are marching along the same high road. Only an X-ray crystallography examination can establish the difference between many titanium diamonds and genuine, natural stone.

"They are too good—nature is never perfect," jewellers say. Scientists believe, however, that it will be possible to introduce slight flaws into stone to overcome this.

Chief merit of the new process is its cheapness. It has always been claimed that a Victorian experimenter named John Hannay actually made synthetic diamonds seventy years ago, but the cost made them as dear as real diamonds.

Did Hannay really produce real stones? Mrs. Kathleen Lonsdale, an eminent British crystal expert, heard recently that two of his stones were in the safe keeping of the British Museum and asked to be allowed to subject them to scientific tests.

Permission was readily granted and Mrs. Lonsdale made an exhaustive scrutiny at the Davy-Faraday laboratory.

Old Hannay's diamonds, though synthetic, were proved to be real diamonds. Hannay's experiments had to be kept in cold storage, but it's evident that the cheaper titanium stones have come to stay.

legiate Institute Board. This school has been recently constructed and cost over two million dollars. There is no need for me to describe this building as the cost explains it. All I can say is that I've never seen one like it before! We had dinner in the cafeteria, watched a programme presented by the students of the school in the auditorium and closed the evening with a dance in the gymnasium.

We started Tuesday morning with a visit to the National Art Gallery. The notable aspects of this visit comprised seeing Queen Mary's Carpet, Canadian and Foreign Paintings, some of which were four hundred years old.

We then returned to Carleton College for a second group discussion including demonstration of second reading of Bill No. 33. And if I may say so we did it in a much more orderly way than the members of parliament. This ended Tuesday morning and we proceeded to the ballroom of Chateau Laurier for Luncheon. The guest speaker was the Honourable George Drew, leader of Her Majesty's Royal Opposition. He spoke to us on "The Good Citizen".

The first highlight of Tuesday afternoon was a visit to N Division R.C.M.P. Training Depot at Rockcliffe. Here we saw the "mounties" in training. The remainder of the afternoon was a visit to Government House, the Residence of His Excellency the Right Honourable Vincent Massey, Governor-General of Canada. The house and surrounding gardens have an area of eighty-five acres. We saw the Main Drawing Room, the rug in which weighs three tons, the dining room where the portraits of all past governors-general are found, the green drawing room, and the green houses. I cannot attempt to describe the beauty of this place.

We dined in Rideau Hall of Murphy-Gamble Ltd. where we heard brief remarks by Mr. M. J. Coldwell, M.P. and by Mr. Solon Low, M.P. We then went to a baseball game at Lansdowne Park to see Baltimore vs. Ottawa Athletics. But the game was called off in the fourth inning due to rain. This ended our tour of Ottawa for Tuesday.

Wednesday morning found us at the Royal Canadian Mint and the Public Archives of Canada. At the mint we saw the various processes of a coin in the making. My interest was attracted to the Public Archives of Canada founded in 1872. Here all treaties, agreements, and grants are to be found. A scale of old Quebec was very interesting. Other points of interest were the different specimens of money, firearms and the telephone used by the king and queen in the royal train while on visit to Canada in 1939.

Just before noon we had the final group discussion of Canadian Citizenship including third reading of bill no. 33 at Carleton College. We lunched at the Coliseum, Lansdowne Park. Here we were the guests of the Federal District Commission — a body or authority for the planning of Ottawa. In the afternoon we had a tour of the National Capital and District under the supervision of the Federal District Commission who explained the changes they are planning for Ottawa. Following this tour we visited the National Museum of Canada where the minerals, wild life and prehistoric animals, to mention a few things, are on display.

Dinner was again served in the Ballroom of Chateau Laurier. The address was given by B. K. Sandwell, L.L.D.,F.R.S.C., member of the Federal District Commission. Following his address there was the showing of the National Capital Model and of a Film on National Capital Planning. The main object of the Federal District Commission is to remove all industries and railways from the centre of Ottawa and make Ottawa truly a national capital worthy of Canada. It would be a capital adorned with parks rather than lofty chimneys and railway tracks. The Federal District Commission has authority over 900 square miles in and about Ottawa. This includes the Gatineau Park about Hull, which is also to become a part of the National Capital. This is truly a great aim and I can only hope that I am alive to see it completed.

Thursday morning was a continuation of the tour of the National Capital and District including the Experimental Farm and Dow's Lake where tulips by the hundreds were on display.

Our trip to Ottawa ended with a farewell luncheon given by the Rotary Club at the Banquet Room in Chateau Laurier. Here one student from each province was asked to make farewell remarks.

I now realize why this trip is called "Adventure in Citizenship" When I arrived in Ottawa, I believed in Canada as my speech to the Rotary Club in Montreal indicated, but when I left Ottawa I was more convinced than ever that we have a truly great and remarkable country. Therefore once again I thank you for a most entertaining and yet educational trip.

Ad Revenue Said Free Press Need

Advertisers, Publishers Co-operation a Must Says ABC Official

Quebec -(CP)- The free enterprise system desperately needs a free press and a free press has equal need of advertising revenue if it is to remain free, James N. Shryock, of Chicago, executive vice-president and managing director of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, told Canadian circulation managers the past week.

"Mutual interests demand that co-operation between publishers and advertisers continue for the benefit of both," Mr. Shryock said.

He was guest speaker on the closing day of the 19th annual meeting of the Canadian Circulation Managers' Association.

"Great as was the vision of the men who founded the Audit Bureau of Circulation . . . the founding fathers of the bureau could hardly have realized they were doing so much to maintain a free enterprise system and a free press," Mr. Shryock said.

"Let's not deceive ourselves, Our free entreprise economic system could not long survive the destruction of a free press. Where but in a free press could industry defend itself against government encroachment or tell its story to the public?

"How could the press as we know it remain free and independent of government control without any revenue from advertising?"

Mr. Shryock went on to say that A.B.C. had made it easier for newspapers to operate at a profit. He added:

"Anything that helps any part of the free enterprise system to operate at a profit conbritutes mightily to the freedom of all free enterprise."

With Fair time drawing near the birthday cake was made to represent a merry-go-round, using iced sugar cookies for animals going around the outside of the cake. Covey Hill

COVEY HILL — One afternoon in early spring while William and Edward Perry sat in the sitting-room at Cornerstones, the latter sorted over a collection of old papers and letters. Because of Willie's failing eyesight he had asked his brother to do this. Presently their brother-in-law, Scott Simpson, joined them for a friendly chat as was his wont.

One old letter proved of particular interest to the three men. It was written 97 years ago by James Simpson, Scott's father, then a young man employed not far from Boston, and it was addressed to John Perry, Willie and Ed's father, then a young farmer at Covey Hill. And now here sat their sons, three "Ancient Mariners", peering backward over Life's "sea of troubles", (Mr. Coleridge, meet Mr. Shakespeare) — and of hopes and joys.

Reading between the lines of well-formed penmanship, the writer's genial spirit was revealed in his inquiries about matters on the Perry farm where he had worked before leaving for the States. He had the true worker's interest both in the outcome of his own labors and those of his friend, asking about the hay crop and how the buckwheat was doing. And there was a hint of nostalgic feeling in the wish that he might have joined his friends here at their annual 12th of July picnic.

James Simpson married Martha Currie and they had eleven children, six of whom are alive. John Perry married Alice Ball, and they had nine children, three of them now living. The old bond of friendship was renewed by the marriage of Flora Estella Perry to Scott Milligan Simpson.

School Notes

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent has proclaimed May 23rd as National Citizenship Day, and in observance of this, the students of Dundee Consolidated School along with their teachers, Mrs. Chas. Fraser and Mrs. Geo. Sutton, followed through with the National Citizenship program. The principal, Mrs. Fraser, read an article explaining what it meant to be a Canadian. The students repeated the National Citizenship Pledge and sang "O Canada" and the National Anthem, bringing to a close a short but impressive ceremony. The Women's Institutes are endeavouring to introduce Citizenship Day throughout the schools of the Dominion, and in some small way help young people to be justly proud of being Canadian Citizens.

Salesmanship Week

The Salesmanship Week which was conducted through special arrangements with a Canadian Publication Company has come to a close with very satisfactory results, both to the students and to the school. The total amount of subscriptions amounted to $126.25. Of this, the school's share was $47.87, minus a deduction of $8.55 which was 50 per cent of the money allotted to students' prizes, thus making a clear profit of $39.32 for the school.

The students and their teacher, Mrs. Chas. Fraser, have chosen a number of games suitable for inside as well as outside recreational activities.

This project has been exceptionally good experience for the students in giving them sound selling and business experience as well as presenting an opportunity for them to earn for themselves very worthwhile prizes along with financing certain game equipment which is not otherwise provided for in the school budget. To the many friends of the school who generously gave their support, the students feel a deep sense of gratitude for their loyal support. Following is a list of the various students and the points they made during the salesmanship campaign and the prizes won:

Fern Sutton, 45 points, camera; Margaret Arnold, 38 pts., beach bag and wallet; Dawn Elder, 34 pts., beach bag and wallet; Kenneth Sutherland, 28 pts., hunting knife; Elizabeth McNicol, 10 pts., wallet; Bertha Henderson, 10 pts., Scout knife; George Sheard, 8 pts., Scout knife; Dennis Carrière, 5 pts. (At least 6 points to win a prize).

Demand Soars For Aluminum

Canada and the United States will be producing about five times as much alpminum in 1960 as in 1945 and probably even then will not be able to supply the demand, financial analysts were told at San Francisco.

Increasing use of that metal in place of steel and copper is the reason, said Donald Browne, vice-president and treasurer of the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp.

He made the statements in an address prepared for delivery before the National Federation of Fnnancial Analysts Societies.

U.S. production in 1946 was 400,000 tons. Under expansion plans spurred by defence needs, this will increase to 1,500,000 tons by 1960 and Canada will turn out another 1,000,000 tons, Browne said. By that time, however, the United States demand will be around 2,600,000 tons on the basis of market analyses and assuming defence operations fall short of general mobilization.

Editorial Notes...

School Centenary Plans Should Go On

SINCE there were doubts some weeks ago that the celebration for the One Hundredth Anniversary of Huntingdon High School would be proceeded with as originally planned, the public has been patiently waiting for some word from the School Board. It is thought that a public statement should be made as to what decision has been arrived at in view of the already wide publicity that has been given to the matter. In addition the students have been busy with a "Year Book" which was based on the theme of One Hundred years. The public is naturally looking forward to this celebration and while rumours have been current that the celebration will not be held, no public statement has been made by The Board.

The Gleaner now understands that the celebration has definitely been cancelled. It also understands that a large number of the ratepayers are not in agreement with this idea and will be much less in agreement with the decision reached to cancel the celebration. One hundred years of existence or service is something that is recognized in some way or another as that which is outstanding. It is with this in mind that the ratepayers feel that the plans should be carried through. The matter has had wide publicity and much of the arrangement and planning has been done with a view to suitable recognition of the milestone reached in the school history.

Despite the events that may have led to the Board coming to a decision to cancel this event, they should have no bearing on the carrying out of this important part of the history of the school. From a morale point of view it makes the carrying out of the original plan all the more imperative. To drop the celebration at this time does not help matters at all, but tends to add to the general confusion. It is therefore believed that the School Board would do well to reconsider their decision at an early date and make a public statement on the matter.

This and other matters pertaining to school business is gradually building into a contentious issue. There is need for much evolution in the methods of the operation of the school which would ultimately be of benefit to the students. It is felt that there is room for improvement in the athletic field and that more attention should be paid to sports, especially to track and field. There has been much dissatisfaction on the matter of teaching French, which is a compulsory subject, for several years past. The general feeling is that the Board should give this important matter the utmost consideration when engaging a new specialist in this field. It is felt that perhaps two persons would be of greater benefit, if one finds the subject too hard to handle alone. Great concern is being manifest over this subject due to the very poor showing of the students throughout the school and in view that a graduating class is approaching.

Shake-up in Textile Union

FOR some time this newspaper has considered the actions of some of the top organizers in the United Textile Workers Union as at least bordering on the Communistic and has not hesitated to say so. Events of the week-end would seem to prove we were right. Announcements made in the Daily Press and over the Radio say that twelve officials will be suspended. Among them are R. Kent Rowley and Madeleine Parent.

These two in particular have been a bone of contention in the textile disputes that have taken place in the Beauharnois District. They have also caused trouble at other points, but we are not so much concerned with these other places. At the present time a strike is going on in Valleyfield at the Montreal Cottons Mill and there is no doubt that the striking employees are suffering hardship that they should not. They were thoughtlessly led into this strike by their leaders at a time when the industry is feeling what may be called a depression. It was no time to call a strike for higher pay when workers in the industry are being laid off on account of piling stocks. However, Kent Rowley and Madeleine Parent decided that a strike should be called and it has now been going on for about two months. The workers would have been better advised to have accepted the increase offered by the company and kept on working. There is no doubt they were ill-advised by the leaders and we feel that the suspension of the trouble makers from the Union will result in an early settlement of the dispute. We also feel that further disputes will be more amicably handled with the Communistic influence out of the way.

The violence that has taken place in Valleyfield on both this occasion and previous occasions have been uncalled for and work to the detriment of the strikers in the end. The leaders disclaim responsibility for these acts, yet they have been countenanced. Excuse could be accepted for one such act of violence which might result from tempers flaring, but it would be up to the leaders to council the strikers against further such acts. This apparently was not done as several such acts have been carried out in this particular strike. These acts have been allowed to go on with the idea of causing further unrest than just the matter of the strike itself. When the strike is over it will be some time before all parts of the mill can operate, due to repairs which must be made and caused by the acts of violence.

Cheese Prices Discussed in House

OUR attention has been called to an editorial appearing in the May 20th issue of the Ottawa Farm Journal relating to the price of cheese from Ontario and from the United States. We quote the first of the editorial to show what is meant:

"The complicated and controversial Ontario cheese situation got an airing in the Commons last week and some things were said which were less than fair to Ontario cheese milk producers and Canadians as a whole. In an exchange between Hon. C. D. HOWE and Mr. J. A. CHARLTON (PC Brant-Wentworth) the Minister of Trade and Commerce at least gave the impression the main reason the UK was not interested in our cheese this year was the price charged in 1951.

"Said the minister at one point: "We had been supplying it at a competitive price but last year the Ontario producers went over to England and made a contract for a small quantity of cheese at a very high price, the highest price Great Britain has ever paid for cheese." Later a price of 36 cents a pound was mentioned.

"Britain did not pay 36 cents a pound for cheese last year, but between 30 and 32 cents. The Canadian trade paid 36 cents by agreement and the price to the producers was a combination of the two. In effect Canadian cheese consumers and the cheese producers subsidized the UK. Further the Ontario producers sent over several million pounds in excess of their contract.

"At the same time the UK bought a lot of cheese in the United States, a great deal more than from Canada. The official British figures are 23 million pounds from Canada and 73 million from the U.S., the latter 350 percent. higher than in 1950. There is some doubt as to the average price the UK paid for its American cheese, as some went under a special price arrangement, but a lot of it was at the U.S. market price, better than 40 cents a pound. These figures hardly indicate that Canadian cheese men were bilking the UK by charging excessive prices."

Having Mr. Gilbert MacMillan, President of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, close at hand, The Gleaner questioned him about the matter. He explained that the Ontario producers did not go to England to make the arrangement, the deal was made in Ontario by the trade representative of England. It was a satisfactory arrangement and with respect to the buying of cheese in the United States, Great Britain did this because she wanted more than could be supplied by Canada, despite the fact that much more was supplied than originally arranged for. Furthermore, part of the cheese obtained in the States was in the nature of a gift.

The price of cheese does have a great bearing on the price of raw milk, more especially in Ontario than in this province. In this province the manufacturers are better equipped with dual machinery that can make either butter or cheese according to the demand and thus take care of the surplus. Mr. MacMillan feels that more processers should have this type of machinery and it would benefit the producers and the industry in general. Although the price of surplus milk is low at present, Mr. MacMillan feels that this is controlled by the price of butter and cheese. Great Britain wants our products, but unfortunately she is not in a position to buy as much from us as she would like, due to our being in the Dollar area. She must therefore trade with the sterling area in order to conserve her dollars for those things she must buy from the dollar area. Mr. MacMillan also feels that we are only producing enough dairy products for our domestic market and that it can be built up to use considerably more in the near future.

The situation created by the outbreak of foot and mouth disease must be regarded as a temporary condition, and we should not attempt to form permanent policies on the basis of present conditions.

Last week's Palladium announces that it is now printed on a new $2500 press and that its pages will soon be enlarged. The Palladium is the most carefully edited and best printed paper we receive, and it has always been a surprise to us, that a journal which reflects such credit on Malone, should not receive the united support of the Republicans of Franklin County. That is prospers in spite of undeserved opposition it is satisfactory to learn.

The city papers make a long and sensational yarn about a man, named G. A. Coulson alias Carter, being arrested for smuggling opium. He left Montreal with a trunk and got off at White's Station, where a team was in waiting that drove him to Bangor, N.Y., where he intended taking the train for New York. The customs officers had been informed about him, and met him at Bangor, when 120 lbs. of opium were found in the trunk, with about $4,000. He is now in jail at Plattsburg, and as he is a smuggler by repute will likely be sentenced to serve a while in jail.

Haying may be said to be over in this locality and harvesting is in progress. Hay has not bulked like last year and a considerable portion has been injured by wet during saving. However there will be no scarcity. The hailstorm which wrought such damage on the upper Ormstown concession on Sunday, touched New Ireland, and struck a number of fields of grain badly. The country is full of ripe grain and a dry spell would be a great blessing.

While making no outward show, improvements are going on at the Academy that will cost a good deal and enhance the comfort of its inmates. There has been difficulty ever since it was built in properly warming the rooms and to end it, the commissioners decided on putting in a second furnace. This has necessitated the excavation of a cellar, which has been a laborious job. The soil taken out will be used to grade the grounds. The classes open on Monday and there are indications of a prosperous scholastic year, applications from a distance for admissions being numerous.

September 6

At every fair the lack of some entertaining feature on the second day has been felt. Addresses and games have been tried with moderate success. This year there is to be a new departure, for there is to be a balloon ascension which remarkable to say, will be the first seen in the district. That it will draw a crowd is certain. The secretary reports entries coming in freely and there is good prospect of a large and fine exhibition.

Weekly Review

Steel and Cost of Living

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

There is something ironical in the fact that while the British government is preparing to denationalize the steel industry, the government of the United States has taken over the steel industry in that country. The previous British government, of course, took over the industry as part of its program of socialism, and its action was quite constitutional. The action of President Truman, however, was taken without the regular reference to Congress. Mr. Truman claimed to have acted under his authority and power as the commander-in-chief of the military forces in a state of emergency brought about by the threatened strike of the steel workers. He had no intention of nationalizing the steel industry, but he did just that for the time being. If this situation should become permanent, the boasted free capitalism of the United States would go by the board and be displaced by a form of state socialism that would rejoice the heart of Marshal Stalin.

That is an extreme view of the situation, but the growing power of the labor unions in the United States and their repeated demands for higher wages, with other benefits, could eventually destroy the capitalist system, and the government would have to take over or finance a lot of bankrupt industries. In a statement before the Wage Stabilization Board, Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the United States Steel Corporation, said the latest demands of the union call for a total pay increase averaging more than $1,000 a year per employee. He declared that the wages, benefits and living standards of the employees of the company have gone up five times in the five years since V-J Day, and far beyond any increase in the cost of living. "Today," he said, "our steel workers are among the highest paid wage earners in the world, and their wages are far above the average pay of American industrial workers generally."

In order to meet the latest demands of the union the steel companies insist that they must raise steel prices. The union is opposed to this and is backed by President Truman. They contend that the increased pay should be absorbed by the companies out of profits and other capital funds. Mr. Fairless pointed out that in comparison with other industries the profits of the steel industry, after taxes, are low and on the downgrade. Taxes have gone up tremendously, and the amount of profit left for use in maintaining and expanding production was reduced last year by 17 per cent. "The union proposal," said Mr. Fairless, "is that the steel companies should take money which they are using to increase production, and give it to the steel workers to add to their purchasing power, thus forcing the companies to engage in inflationary borrowing if they are to continue their constructive program."

How is all this going to affect Canada? Is it none of our business? It is very much our business. The steel workers in Canada are asking that their wages be made equal with the wages in the U.S. steel industry. As this would automatically increase the cost of production, the price of steel would be increased and that would result in a rise in the prices of all iron and steel products and other goods that depend upon steel for their manufacture, from farm implements down to canned goods. Most union demands for higher pay are based upon the cost-of-living index, but there is no surer way of raising that index than by increasing the cost of producing the things by which people live. There is also the danger of Canadian steelworkers pricing themselves out of the market and into unemployment. Already Japan and Germany are shipping steel products into Canada at prices which cannot be met by Canadian companies, and Canadian exports would be priced out of the world markets by a rise in the cost of production in our steel industries.

Letter to the Editor

384 Lansdowne Avenue,
Westmount, Que.
May 22, 1952

To—
The Editor—
Minister of Education for Quebec

Dear Sir:—

Judging from the reception of my motion for a Minister of Education put forward at a Meeting of the Protestant Committee on Tuesday, April 13th, some clarification is in order.

(1) Under present procedure, all plans, specifications for new buildings, or alterations, go through the local Board to the Department at Quebec for approval of—

(a) Superintendent
(b) Director of Protestant Education
(c) Chairman of Municipal Commission — if bonds are to be issued.
(d) Provincial Secretary and Provincial Treasurer
(e) and sometimes to the Prime Minister.

(3) This cumbersome procedure results inevitably in worrisome and costly delays. When approval is finally secured it is often found that costs of building are up and votes or grants of money are not sufficient to allow letting of contracts.

A score or more of such cases might be listed. One will do for illustration.—

Some three years ago plans and specifications and estimates of cost by actual tender were prepared for a Central County School. Nearly two years elapsed before approval. Then it was found estimates were short by $150,000. due to rising costs. Valuable time was lost before monies to cover the increased costs were authorized. Before the amended contract could be let costs of building again advanced but the contract was let anyway with the hope that further grants would be made. The school is expected to open September 1st, up to now the necessary additional money to complete is not in sight. The Board is faced with temporarily finishing the school, short eight classrooms. This means putting a temporary roof on and depriving some 240 or more children of attending school. When the school is finally finished the cost will likely be $350,000. or $400,000. in excess of the original estimate.

At September 1st the school will be inadequate, it will be at least two years too late, it will cost more than 1½ times the original estimate. No estimate can be made of frustration to parents of children deprived of the right to attend school. Multiply this by ten and you get some idea of the cost to the Province of continuing our archaic and medieval methods of school finance.

(3) The Province is just on the edge of an era of Industrial expansion and population growth as will astonish the world. This growth on the Island of Montreal and the immediate surrounding territory will be so great and so rapid it will be well-nigh impossible to provide schools to meet the growing needs. Where we are now spending $70,000,000. (Hon. Mr. Cote's figures), in ten years this will likely be doubled. The spending in the Department of Education will exceed the spending in the Department of Roads or any other Department of Government.

(4) The voting and spending of such vast amounts should be under a Minister responsible to the Legislature. The Minister should be supported by a competent and efficient administrative staff.

(5) It is suggested the Minister should have two Deputy-Ministers, ranking equally, one Protestant, one Catholic. The Council of Education would continue as at present. The Catholic Committee controlling Catholic schools as to textbooks, courses of study, regulations, etc. The Protestant Committee in the same way would control the Protestant schools.

(6) We cannot go on as we are. The old system that worked well when government grants for education were negligible or non-existent, has broken down. It is not, and cannot be made, adequate to the new and changed conditions in which we live.

(7) The blood, bones and marrow of democracy is found in taxation and control of the purse by elected governments responsible to the people. Present methods and practices in voting, spending and controlling funds for education is the negation of this fundamental principle. And as always where principles are violated in practice, complications, dissatisfaction, frustration and inefficiencies follow.

Yours sincerely,
A. KIRK CAMERON,

The Week At Ottawa...

OTTAWA (CP) — Talk of transportation in Canada held much of the spotlight on Parliament Hill last week.

Much of the discussion arose when the Transport Department's budget estimates went through the Commons. That was followed a few days later by the announcement that the Canada Steamship Lines had challenged a series of railway freight rate reductions between eastern and western Canada that were based on a $7,000,000-a-year federal subsidy passed by parliament last session.

There was little indication, however, of when this session will end, although the subject is a growing factor in the thoughts of backbenchers on both sides of the House as summer weather draws near.

The transport department was only the second department whose estimates have been dealt with by the House. The great bulk of departmental estimates — about $4,300,000,000 for the 1952-53 fiscal year — is still to be dealt with.

There were reports the cabinet had set July 15 as the target date for ending. But many members were doubtful if that could be done without leaving a carryover of legislation for next session. Many important bills still must go through Commons, and one of them — providing for redistribution of Commons seats — is still being shaped up by small provincial committees of members and may produce a long debate.

Sharp Exchanges

The week saw no spectacular activity in the Commons, but it did produce some sharp words from the opposition on two subjects.

The House voted down, 92 to 42, a motion by Progressive Conservative leader George Drew calling for a judicial inquiry into defence department handling and supervision of equipment.

Mr. Drew said the investigation was necessary because of "wholesale looting" of military stores and a "complete breakdown" of administration supervision.

Defence Minister Claxton denied the charges, said they were a reflection on the armed forces, and added that losses of military equipment were lower than in civilian establishments of similar size.

Four C.C.F. members made public a letter to A. J. Bater (L — The Battlefords) urging reopening of the investigation into the government's handling of the foot-and-mouth disease outbreak, which was being made by the agricultural committee under Mr. Bater's chairmanship.

Obstruction Charged

The letter charged Agricultural Minister Gardiner with thwarting the will of Parliament by "his attitude of obstruction" to the investigation. It was signed by Percy Wright (Melfort), Hazen Argue (Assiniboia), William Bryce (Selkirk) and Owen Jones (Yale).

The investigation had lapsed for more than a week when the letter was written, and there was little hope that it would resume immediately.

Both Mr. Gardiner and Mr. Bater were in Saskatchewan where a provincial election will be held June 11.

The subject of railways was raised in the Commons and may also come before the Supreme Court of Canada if the Canada Steamships Lines is successful in getting a hearing of its motion to block the railway freight reductions ordered by the Board of Transport Commissioners.

In the Commons, Social Credit leader Solon Low charged the railways with "snatching away" from the prairies some of the lower rates on transcontinental shipments. Transport Minister Chevrier said only a comparatively few rates had been increased after they had been lowered under the federal subsidy. But Mr. Low said he was "bitterly disappointed that the government-owned C.N.R. had followed the C.P.R. in raising the rates.

The Merchant Marine

Howard Green (PC — Vancouver Quadra) turned to Canada's merchant marine and said the country had allowed the fleet to "fade away" after the Second World War. He urged modernization of Canada's deep-sea shipping fleet.

Mr. Chevrier replied that Canada's shipbuilding industry now is at its post-war peak with 17,515 employed and $234,000,000 in orders at hand. Of these orders $64,000,000 were for merchant shipping and the remainder for the Navy.

Canada was having a hard time building merchant shipping, the minister said, because construction costs are higher than those of other countries.

In the C.S.L. Supreme Court case, Mr. Justice John W. Cartwright set May 28 as the date for a hearing on whether to allow the company leave to appeal to the full court.

The C.S.L., whose lake and river fleet competes with the railways for east-west freight business, had asked the Court to disallow subsidized freight-rate reductions which went into effect May 1 on rail traffic between eastern and western Canada.

The reductions, ordered by the Board of Transport Commissioners, are based on a federal subsidy to the railroads of a maximum of $7,000,000 a year. The subsidy is pegged to the cost of maintaining transcontinental rail lines across sparsely-populated Northern Ontario where rail traffic revenues are small.

The rate reduction order amounts to about five per cent on some $150,000,000 worth of traffic a year between east and west, and western provinces plan to fight the C.S.L. appeal.

Bank Credit Eased

Another ray shone on Canada's brightening economic picture with the announcement by the Bank of Canada that all but one of the restrictions on commercial bank credit may be lifted.

The restrictions went into force 15 months ago as one of several measures designed to counter inflation. Their removal followed announcements of reductions in living costs and the ending of consumer credit restrictions.

The latest move will have its biggest effect on the buying public in that it allows merchants and consumer credit firms to obtain bank loans on the strength of promissory notes they hold from customers buying goods on the instalment plan. A sharp increase in bank lending is not expected immediately, however.

Horse Show at Ormstown Exhibition One of Best

Record Number of Entries From Variety of Points in Canada and States

Ormstown Exhibition's night Horse Show has long rated as one of the best of its kind. However, during the past several years it has attained a leading position and can therefore be bracketed with the other three or so Canadian Horse Shows which are only next below in importance to the Royal Winter Fair Horse Show.

Part of Ormstown's recent success has been due to the fact that this Exhibition is a member of the Canadian Horse Show Association, under whose rules Ormstown's Horse Show is mainly conducted. In that respect it may be explained that many of the leading light horse exhibitors are averse to showing at Horse Shows which are not recognized by the Canadian Horse Show Association. It has therefore been that, year after year, ever since Ormstown Exhibition became a member of that Association, and adopted its rules, etc., more and more leading exhibitors have been showing at Ormstown — from such large light horse centres as Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, etc., a few from the United States.

And, this year will be no exception in that respect. In fact there is a record entry in all sections of the Horse Show this year, both as regards the number of animals and as regards the number of exhibitors, especially so as regards the geographical distribution of same.

In the Saddle and Jumper classes there are 16 exhibitors comprised as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Bishop, Sherbrooke, Que.

Miss Mimi Coloumbe; Mrs. M. L. Mineau; S. V. Barmash; John Fyon; Desfosses Riding Academy, all of Montreal, Que.

Bonnie Brook Farm, St. Laurent, Que.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Cunningham and Kilreen Farm (Mr. and Mrs. F. Ryan), both of Ottawa, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. F. Hurdman, Hurdman's Bridge, Ont.

Mrs. Carl I. Dowdall and Mrs. Bert Rayme, both of Ogdensburg, N.Y.

Sonnybrook Farm, Huntingdon.

D. A. McCormick, Brysonville, Que.; Miss Jean White and Gordon R. Smith, both of Howick, Que.

The entries in the Jumper classes are as follows:

Owners only, classes - 25; Scoring class - 24; Knock down and out, 31; Pairs Jumpers - 14; Handy Jumpers - 28; Performance - 28; Unicorn - 8; Jumping Stake - 29.

The entries in the Hunter classes are also heavy with: Lightweight - 24; Middleweight - 11; Heavyweight - 4; Lady's Hunter - 14; Green Hunters - 24; Pair Hunters - 8.

There are 9 entries in the Saddle Horse Stake competition, one of the most interesting competitions in the Horse Show. The stake is comprised of $100.00 offered by the Show, plus an entry fee of $5.00 by each exhibitor.

Six well-known studs have entries in the Heavy Hackney classes as follows: Dufferin Stock Farms, Mont Tremblant, Que. Mr. and Mrs. H. J. O'Connell, Ste. Genevieve, Que.; Benoit and Petit, Chateauguay Basin, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ryan, Ottawa, Ont.; Gordon N. McNeil, Summerstown, Ont.; K. McMillan, Georgetown, Ont.

There are entries in the Roadster classes by Roy Calder, Montreal, Que.; Cecil Carpenter, Chateauguay, Que.

R. E. Greig; Ormstown Stables, both of Ormstown, Que.; A. St. Onge, Huntingdon, Que.

Gordon McNeil, Summerstown, Ont.; Dr. D. R. Cherry, Ottawa, Ont.

With 8 entries in the Roadster Stake this should be an interesting event, the stake being $100.00 plus entry fees of $5.00 each.

One of the highlights in the Harness Pony section will be furnished by the entries of F. W. Lamb, Town of Mount Royal, Que., which he recently imported from the United States.

Nine well known studs have entries in the Harness Pony (Hackneys) classes as follows:

Dufferin Stock Farm, Mont Tremblant, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. H. J. O'Connell, Ste. Genevieve, Que.; J. A. Savoie and Wm. Burnett, both of Montreal, Que.; Sterling Allatt, Sherbrooke, Que.; Albert Quesnel, Hull, Que.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Ligotte, Magog, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ryan, Ottawa, Ont.; A. B. C. Farms, og Brampton, Ont.

Incidentally, four of the animals entered in this class won the first four places in the Pony Stake at the 1951 Royal Winter Fair. Information is not available as to which was which in that line-up but Ottawa, Ontario; A. B. C. Farms, (2); Dufferin Stock Farm and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. O'Connell (1 each).

There are 9 entries in the Harness Pony Stake competition, that stake being comprised of $200.00 offered by the Show plus entry fees of $10.00 each.

The Horse Show will be staged each evening of the Exhibition, June 4, 5, 6 and 7.

On their arrival at the hall Miss Valerie Moore, niece of the couple presented Mrs. Moore with a beautiful corsage of red roses.

During the early part of the evening those present enjoyed card playing until lunch time. Then the guests, nearly one hundred in number, were seated at long beautifully decorated tables, and were served delicious refreshments which were arranged for by Mrs. J. R. Campbell, Mrs. Earl Moore and Mrs. T. Duncan.

Afterwards Mr. E. King, very capably and humorously on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Moore's many friends, addressed the bride and groom and presented to them a well-filled purse while extending to them the very best wishes of all for many more years of wedded happiness. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Moore and family also presented the happy couple with a family gift. Mr. James Winter and Mr. McLeich also spoke a few words of greeting. Albert, on behalf of himself and Ann, thanked everyone for their thoughtfulness.

Mrs. J. R. Campbell cut the three tier wedding cake which she had made for the occasion. This was passed around for everyone to enjoy.

In the interval the R. Fisher trio (father and two daughters) delighted everyone with musical selections very appropriate to the occasion. Afterwards the guests enjoyed the remainder of the evening dancing.

Everyone was pleased that Mrs. Gentle of Huntingdon was able to be present to celebrate with Albert and Annie.

Shower for Miss Marjorie McCartney

On Saturday evening, May 17th, Mrs. J. R. Campbell was hostess at a shower for her niece, Miss Marjorie Ella McCartney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McCartney, whose marriage takes place in the near future.

After the guest of honour had arrived to the accompaniment of the wedding march played by Mrs. B. Campbell, she was presented by Mrs. J. R. Campbell with a beautiful corsage of tulips.

When seated in a chair, decorated in pink and blue with streamers suspended from an umbrella, the bride-to-be was greatly surprised when two little boys, Jackie and Donnie Campbell approached her on a tricycle, loaded with a large and mysterious-looking parcel. On opening it, she was delighted to find a beautiful woollen blanket. Marjorie, although surprised, graciously thanked her friends and asked them to come to see her in her new home.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. J. R. Campbell assisted by Mrs. B. Campbell and Mrs. J. D. Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Wilson and friend, Mrs. Monks, of Toronto, are week-end guests of Mrs. J. R. Campbell.

Mrs. H. J. Wolff has returned to her home in Brooklyn, N.Y., after having spent the past three weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rennie. Mr. W. J. Wolff spent the week-end at the same home.

Mrs. Lavina Rennie, of Sweetsburg, Que., called at the home of her nephew, Mr. Ernest Rennie, during the past week.

Miss Anne Page Honoured

On Friday evening, May 23, 1952, Mrs. Walter Froom and Mrs. Ewen McDougall, were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower, given in honour of Miss Anne Page whose marriage takes place shortly.

Upon arrival, Miss Page was greeted by the strains of the wedding march, played by Mrs. Douglas Glover. Although taken completely by surprise Anne greeted all who had gathered. After being led to the seat of honour Anne was presented with a corsage of roses.

Misses Betty Jean and Joyce McDougall then brought in a wagon decorated for the occasion, laiden with gifts. After Anne had opened them, they were passed around and viewed. Ann graciously thanked all for their beautiful gifts and hoped that they would be able to help share them in her own home.

Games were then enjoyed. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, bringing a delightful evening to a close. All depatred wishing Anne every happiness for the future.

The May meeting of the Howick United W.M.S. was held on Wednesday 21st, at 2 o'clock in the church. The president, Mrs. W. A. Edwards presided. Mrs. Wallace Kerr led the devotional exercises taking as her theme, "The Sower and the Seed." Some of the wonderful truths found in that parable were pointed out, also much encouragement for our everyday living. 25 members answered the roll call by a verse containing the word "Seed." A goodly number of the Evening Auxiliary members were also present. Mrs. Russell Stewart gave interesting current events, mentioning Rev. Mestral's recent appointment and how he was the former editor of 'L'Aurore'. Notes concerning the Korean lad, who is studying Agriculture at Macdonald were given, also the story of two negro physicians who have excelled in their studites in the U.S. Mrs. Math. McKell introduced the special speaker for the afternoon, Miss Moats. She is a graduate of the United Church Training School, has spent two years in Trinidad, at present is in St. Colomba House, Montreal, but intends to go to a mission field in Saskatchewan in the Fall. She gave a splendid description of Trinidad. This Island is only 60 miles long and 40 miles wide, so called on account of its three mountain ranges after the Holy Trinity. Two main types of mission work are carried on there—evangelistic and educational. When the Schools were opened years ago, Canadian teachers taught in them, but now it is mainly East Indian teachers and a few negroes who manage these schools. Even excellent High School Courses are given in some centres. Miss Moats' address was very effective as it was given in such an earnest manner. Her listeners will long remember her plea for all to know Christ and live the Christian life. Mrs. Roy Younie thanked the speaker.

$41 Million More Given World Bank, Canada Paid Up

Washington -(AP)- Canada on Thursday released an additional 41,000,000 Canadian dollars to the World Bank, to be loaned to member countries at the bank's will.

The step made Canada the second country among the bank's 51 member countries to release, in effect, its full queta of capital for bank loans. It also made Canada the second largest contributor to the international bank.

The Canadian Government now has contributed about $65,000,000—it had put up $24,000,000 before today. The United States has chipped in $635,000,000 of the bank's total present capital of $829,861,584.

World Bank president Eugene Black told reporters Canada's decision is a significant step forward for the bank and will help the program of lending to member countries to develop their economies.

Black expressed confidence other countries will release their full quotas as soon as their financial conditions permit. He said Canada's move is an indication of the financial strength of that country.

The Canadian dollar recently has climbed in value one to two cents above the U.S. dollar, in international exchange.

Call For Bibles In Japan, Brazil

Demands for Scriptures and Testaments in unprecedented numbers were described by the general secretaries of the Brazil and Japan Bible Societies at a luncheon given in New York City in their honour by the American Bible Society.

Rev. Ewaldo Alvez of Rio de Janerio said that "from all corners of Brazil" requests are pouring in for Bibles to be used by people of different social and economic levels by the armed forces, by hospitals, and churches. He related the increased demand to the "rapid progress" of evangelization in Brazil in recent decades.

Ti Miyakoda of Tokyo reported that over 5,000,000 Bibles, Testaments, and portions were absorbed in Japana in the first two years after the war, and that hundreds of Bible-study classes are conducted among students, factory workers and war widows.

Plant Gives Telepathic Powers

LONDON -UP)- Some tribal doctors in Peru smoke huilca, a plant resembling tobacco, and seem to get from it telepathic powers enabling them to describe scenes thousands of miles away, said a British explorer.

John Brown, 40-year-old engineer and leader of a 1951 Amazon-Andes expedition, is awaiting a shipment of huilca promised him by Sebastian Snow, now heading a pioneer source-to-mouth journey on the Amazon.

"I wasn't able to get any of the plant when we were in Peru last year," Brown said. "When Snow went back again I asked him to send me some. I'm not an expert on its effects, but Snow and other witnesses claim the tribal doctors achieve some remarkable results with its help."

"According to Snow they apparently can describe the home town or some other distant scene connected with visitors," Brown said. "Huilca is a rare plant, found in only seven places in Peru. One of them is at Zilca Berbe."

Brown's book, "The Source of the Amazon," concerning his expedition last year, will be published in the United States next Fall.

Brown said that not every medicine man or tribal doctor can use huilca "and maybe I won't get any result from it. But it's laboratory analysis ought to be interesting. It might be some new kind of narcotic."

He went to Peru originally to study reclamation of flooded areas and has submitted a report to the United Nations Economic and Social Council. At the same time he discovered several new ruined cities, mountain fortresses and temples.

He plans to lead another expedition this Autumn to the Namib Desert of Southwest Africa and across to Zimbabwe through the Kalahari Desert. He hopes some enthusiastic American male or woman archeologist will volunteer to join him.

Prog. Cons. Win 4 of 6 By-elections

Progressive Conservatives won four of the six Federal by-elections Monday and Liberals won the other two. In the voting, Progressive Conservatives captured three traditionally Liberal seats.

The biggest upset was a Gloucester, New Brunswick, held by the Liberals since 1900. A. M. Robichaud, Progressive Conservative, defeated H. J. Robichaud, Liberal, by 10,049 to 8,770 with 64 of 71 polls reported.

Complete returns for Victoria-Carleton, New Brunswick, previously held by the Progressive Conservatives, showed 9,511 votes for G. W. Montgomery, Progressive Conservative, and 7,151 for Hugh Tait, Liberal, publisher of the Woodstock Weekly Sentinel-Press.

The former Liberal seat of Roberval, Quebec, elected Paul Spence, Progressive Conservative, in a three-way fight with Cyrille Potvin, Liberal, and Adjutor Boulanger, independent-liberal.

The traditionally Liberal seat of Brome-Missisquoi, Quebec elected J. L. Desllieres, Liberal, over Henri Demers, Progressive Conservative, and Philip Brogan, C.C.F.

Ontario county, held almost continuously by the Liberals since 1924, elected Mayor Michael Starr of Oshawa for the Progressive Conservatives. With 191 of 199 polls reported, Starr had 11,757 votes to 8,789 for John L. Lay, Liberal, and 8,047 for H. R. Scott, C.C.F. This seat was formerly held by Walter Thomson, who resigned from the Federal House to lead the Liberals in the last Ontario Provincial election.

Waterloo north, a Liberal seat since 1917, was retained for the Liberals by N. C. Schneider with 12,440 votes to 10,860 for Elizabeth Jansen, Progressive Conservative, and 4,656 for Leonard Schroeder, C.C.F.

Work Hazards

Safety precautions in factory or plant are often ignored by workers who have too much self confidence. The worker who neglects to use safety goggles, belt or other devices planned for his protection is asking for troubles. Industrial hazards include other dangers than mechanical ones—oil underfoot, uneven floors, dark unlighted stairways, bad stair treads or unguarded holes in walls or floors are all possible causes of serious accidents to workers.

Air Vs. Sleep

Good ventilation of a room is important to health, especially at night when complete relaxation is partially dependent upon the air breathed during sleep. By keeping the window partially open and the room darkened, it is much easier to sleep restfully. The bed coverings should be warm but light. A stuffy room and too heavy bedclothes often prevent sleep or cause restlessness.

Big Things Ahead

Canada is to keep up its expansion for many years to come.

We have great opportunities for resources and industrial development, a growing domestic market, and a good chance to expand foreign markets if international tensions don't worsen.

This is the confident public forecast of O. J. Firestone, economic adviser to the Department of Trade and Commerce.

"There's some pessimism in this country today", says The Post, "because some industries have been hit by declines in demand, some lines of goods have not been selling. Obviously, some adjustments are called for and inevitable. But these are mere shadows in the over-all picture. In a competitive individual enterprise economy, the race will still be to the swift and to the wise and to the enterprising".

Needless Danger

Every year, thousands of young Canadians are victims of whooping cough and many die from it. Some who recover may be left with bronchitis, tuberculosis, impaired hearing or even an affected brain. There is no excuse for allowing a child to run the danger of this disease when immunization is so effective and so easily available as a protection.

Catholic School

the School Inspectors and Mr. Rodolphe Maltais representing the regional inspector also added their congratulations.

Father Pigeon, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, was invited to speak in the name of the clergy. Father Pigeon said the big part played by Mr. Marien was the help he had given in the establishment of the central school in Huntingdon. He talked about the poor conditions of ten years ago, and how much better the present system is. He said Mr. Desaulniers was a great superintendent because he had signed the order authorizing the erection of Notre Dame School. Father Pigeon expressed his gratitude to His E. Mgr. Langlois and offered him his congratulations on the occasion of his Golden Jubilee, celebrated in the Valleyfield Cathedral, last Sunday.

M. O. J. Desaulniers offered his wishes to H. E. Mgr. Langlois, bringing at the same time a message of admiration from Honourable Omer Coté, who was unable to be present, and also best wishes to Mr. Marien. Mr. Desaulniers praised Mr. Marien as a model citizen, a good Christian, an accomplished educator. He talked on the progress in our province as far as education is concerned. The changes in system, the changes in program, all this work we can do because of the increase in the amount of grants. He ended with words of appreciation for Mr. Marien.

After the presentation of a purse by Mr. Lucien Gignac, School Inspector, Mr. Marien made a reply. "I wish I had the eloquence of the preceding speakers to express my gratitude and my joy. I can find only a word but I say it from the bottom of my heart—thanks. They have said many nice things about me. I did not know I had that much merit. I have only done my duty." He thanked his pastor Mr. Boule, the Mayor, the hospitable population of Huntingdon and everyone in general.

Following the banquet the 200 guests went to Notre Dame School for a public gathering where Mr. Marien was honoured by the teaching staff, the pupils and their parents. There was a programme of piano pieces by a few girls of Notre-Dame School, a song by the choir, by Mrs. O. Cabana, and Robert Cabana, 6 years old, a piano solo by Miss Lucett Guite from Sweetsburg, a song by the choir of Ste. Cecile School from Valleyfield, an acted song, a recitation by Miss Gisele Leduc, from Beauharnois, a song by the boys of Ste. Cecile School, a vocal number by Mr. Guy Lavoie, a French and an English song by the boys of St. Joseph, finally a song by the girls of Notre Dame. Miss Micheline Mainville read an address and Mr. Marien replied with a few words of thanks.

Mobile T.B. Clinic to Visit Here

Will Also Be At Ormstown Fair

Tuberculosis Mobile Clinics will visit various towns in this area starting on Monday, June 2nd and with a two-day stand at Ormstown Exhibition. The X-Ray examinations are open to anyone over 15 years of age free of charge. Several places of business have been supplied with cards and individuals are asked to fill these out in readiness for when they visit the clinic. In this way there will be very little delay and no one is required to undress for these examinations.

These X-Rays show what is going on in the inside and determine if there is heart trouble, cancer or unusual growths. H & S Meeting trip, also that a letter of appreciation be sent to Beauharnois Home and School Association. Mrs. W. L. Carr extended a vote of thanks to the adults who had accompanied the children, thus showing their interest and approval of the children's efforts.

The three delegates to the Home and School Conference held recently in Montreal, Mrs. S. Robb, Mrs. S. Smith and Mr. MacLean, gave very fine reports. Each dealt with different phases of the conference which were most interesting and helpful to both teachers and parents. It is to be hoped that many of the suggestions made may be carried out in the future.

Mr. MacLean called on Mr. K. Farquharson, Principal, Huntingdon High School, who addressed the members, giving witty and appreciative remarks in support of the Home and School Association.

A pleasing item on the programme was the rendering of two piano selections by Mrs. F. G. McCrimmon, and which were her own composition. These were much enjoyed by all.

At the close of the meeting two films were shown on "The Family Circle", showing the influence of family life on the mental attitudes of young people. Refreshments were afterwards served in the Domestic Science Room. This will be the last meeting until the September school term opens.

U.S. Buyers Show Confidence In Canadian Cattle

Buy at National Holstein Sale For Delivery After Embargo Lifted

"United States buyers showed their confidence in the early winning of the Foot and Mouth Disease battle in Saskatchewan by buying eight top animals at the National Holstein Sale held at Oakville, Ont., on May 19th," said John Powell, Publicist of the Holstein Friesian Association of Canada. "The National Sale, which rates as the top annual spring sale of Holsteins in Canada, provided the best news for cattlemen since the outbreak of Foot and Mouth disease was reported", said Mr. Powell.

To which might be added—the United States breeders concerned also showed their appreciation of and faith in Canadian-bred Holstein cattle.

The National Sale was staged as usual by Lorne E. Franklin as sale manager and chief auctioneer, and despite the present situation created by the Foot and Mouth outbreaks, the consequent U.S. Embargo on Canadian cattle, the 60 animals offered brought $54,337.00, with 16 head selling at $1,000.00 or more.

The general average, $905.00, was therefore only $139.00 below that of last year. Moreover, last year's top of $1,975 for a female was twice surpassed this year.

A crowd of approximately 1000 breeders was in attendance, including several from the United States, and interest remained high right to the end of the sale.

Altogether United States buyers purchased eight of the top animals which will be kept in Canada by the sellers until the embargo is lifted. They are, however, being held at the purchaser's risk.

Theodore Devine, Devine's Mount Hope Farm, Taunton, Mass., paid the top price of the sale, $6,500.00, for the eight months old bull calf, Glenafton Booster, consigned by J. J. E. McCague, Allison, Ont. This calf is sired by the seven times "All Canadian" Montvic Rag Apple Marksman, while his dam has two records of over 900 lbs. butterfat. The top priced female was the bred-heifer Elmcroft Silver Duchess, consigned by George R. McLaughlin, Oshawa, Ont., and sold at $2,850.00 to John Steckle, Kitchener, Ont. She is the daughter of the "All Canadian" Elmcroft Sylv-O-Gram and of the *Excellent cow Montvic Duchess Abbekerk. Next high was $2,000.00 for the *Excellent cow Glentree Polly Inca, which was jointly purchased by J. E. Houck & Sons, Brampton, Ont., and W. S. Hall, Oakville, Ont., from J. O. Trepanier, and H. Millar, Brantford, Ont.

One of the two females which reached the $1,750.00 mark was jointly purchased by Paul Smith, Newark Valley, N.Y., and Harvey Stevenson & Son, Ithaca, N.Y., from C. J. Carswell, Beeton, Ont. She is by Montvic Rag Apple Markman and her dam has a record of 855 lb. butterfat. Upway Farms, South Woodstock, Vermont, purchased a bred-heifer from a Marksman daughter, at $1,500.00, from J. J. E. McCague.

The other female selling at $1,750.00, was purchased by H. C. McClockey, Queensville, Ont., from Rosafe Farm, Brampton, Ont. She is a daughter of the "All Canadian" bull A.B.C. Reflection Soverign and of the *Excellent cow Eastmount Rag Apple Queen.

The other three bull calves, in addition to Mr. Devine's, were also sold at top prices, as follows: Rosafe Farm entry, to J. J. E. McCague, at $1,650.00. Premier J. Walter Jones, of Prince Edward Island, entry to Hamilton District Cattle Breeding Association at $1,500.00; Wm. Bousquet, La Presentation, Que., entry to Ashville Farms, Milton, Ont., at $1,275.00.

Other highlights of the sale included the sale of a bred-heifer consigned by R. C. Given, Georgetown, Ont., to N. W. McConkey, Peterboro, Ont., at $1,000.00; a 4 year old cow consigned by Premier J. Walter Jones at $1,000.00 to Massey-Harris Farm, Millikin, Ont.; a bred heifer consigned by J. M. Fraser, Streetsville, Ont., at $1,000.00 to the Massey Harris Farm.

The 4 bull calves averaged $2,731.00, 13 milking females $767.00; 39 bred-heifers $785.00; 3 open yearling heifers $733.00 and one heifer calf $575.00.

In Memoriam

PATENAUDE—In loving memory of our dear Mother who passed away May 20th, 1950 —

There is never a day that passes by
But our thoughts reach out to you,
A thousand times a day you bring
Some little things to renew
A trail of loving memories
That winds back through the years,
A trail that all too often leads
Into a veil of tears.
When waning shadows are falling
And we sit in quiet alone,
To our hearts there comes a longing
If you only could come home.
If all the world were ours to give,
We'd give it yes and more
To see the face of one we love
Come smiling through the door.

Always rememberd by her two daughters and sons-in-law,

Margaret and Daymond Iby,
Dorothy and Norman Stowell.

High School Year Book Now Completed

The students responsible for the Huntingdon High School Year Book are certainly to be congratulated on an accomplishment well done. Having only a very short time and with a much shorter length of experience in the compiling and publishing of a year book, the students have done a really first class job. The design, the reading matter and the layout of the book are all the work of these students in Grade 10 and 11 under the management of Ainsley Helm and the supervision of Mrs. Cecil Brown, Grade 10 teacher and Vice-Principal of the school. This group of students gathered and solicited the advertising content for the purpose of defraying at least part of the cost and now they wish to solicit subscriptions for the book from the general public. It is hoped that the public will support them in this endeavour as they really deserve it. Enquiries can be made at the school for the Year Book and we feel sure that no one will be disappointed. Many items of interest as to the history of the school will be found in the pages of this year book as well as current events and short essays by the pupils of all grades. Many pictures will be found that will have interest in many homes for years to come. Get a copy of the Year Book now while there is still a good supply.

Obituary

THE LATE
LIONEL EDWARD UPTON

On Sunday, May 18th, death claimed one of the community's finest young men in the person of Lionel Upton. On Wednesday, May 14th, he suffered a fall in his workshop at Howick High School, which, in spite of all medical skill could offer, this accident proved to be fatal.

Lionel was born at Ormstown, on Oct. 5, 1919, and graduated from Ormstown High School. He attended Macdonald College where he received his Intermediate Diploma. He taught at Covey Hill, Lachute and Grenville, Howick and Huntingdon and later attended Queen's University and Toronto University and Summer School at Hamilton, where he became fully qualified as a specialist in Industrial Arts. For the past several years he has given instruction in Industrial Arts at Howick High School and Huntingdon Academy.

In 1942, he married Phyllis McLean of Ormstown, who, with their three children, Garry, Gail and Gordon are left to mourn his loss.

He was a true teacher. He loved his profession and he worked not only to better his own qualifications, but also unceasingly to better teaching conditions in the Chateauguay Valley. Lionel had a trade which could have been far more lucrative than his profession but he chose a career of teaching—teaching boys his trade. He served as president of the Chateauguay Valley Teachers' Association, and on committees both local and provincial, too numerous to mention.

Lionel was a devoted husband and father and a staunch friend, his unselfish co-operation and his keen sense of humor endeared him to all who knew him.

He leaves to mourn his untimely passing, his wife, two sons, Garry and Gordon, one daughter Gail, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Upton, Tatehurst, and one brother, Rupert of Cornwall, many relatives and a host of friends and students.

Funeral services were held at St. Paul's United Church, on Tuesday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. C. L. Taylor, assisted by the Rev. T. W. Payne. Six students from his Howick and Huntingdon Classes were pall-bearers: Brodie Templeton, Ronald Tennant, David Watson, John Campbell, John Beattie and Peter Fox.

Four flower bearers were: Ross Brown, John Logan, Bobby Boisseau and David Rankin.

Among those who attended the funeral from a distance were Mr. Apperby of Toronto University, Mrs. Dora Fuller, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Neil McMartin, Mr. Sandy McMartin, Martintown, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, Schenectady, Mr. and Mr. Donald McClintock, Beaconsfield, Mr. Jack Dodd, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gervais, Mr. Jack Gervais, Miss Olive Robertson, Mr. Sam Upton, Mr. Merlin Davies, Mr. and and Mrs. Roy Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. Romeo Brault, Mr. Wm. Collegan and Dr. Paton and Mr. Arthur Howden, representatives of the Provincial Teachers' Association and Industrial Arts, all of Montreal.

Covering The Sports

by Don Hutton

We hate to mention the weather, but anyway, old Jupiter Pluvius must dislike baseball for he opened all the faucets and washed out the two games planned for our Huntingdon Royals in the past week.

The ball game scheduled to have been played in Malone, last Thursday, was concelled because of wet grounds and Sunday's contest at Clyde's Corner's was also rained out.

The club hasn't been able to get in any practice sessions either, but is hoping for a break in the weather. The management has been busy however, in lining up several exhibition games. Constable will play Huntingdon at the Fair Grounds at 7 p.m. today, Wednesday, and Chateauguay will play Huntingdon on the Grounds on Sunday.

Speaking of baseball, that 19 inning affair under the lights the other night in Montreal must have been a killer for players and spectators alike, next we'll be hearing of a new human ailment, probably "Mazda Madness."

Tennis Topics

Some of the hardier members of the Huntingdon Tennis club have already been out doing the usual necessary spring work on the courts and by dodgint the showers, have managed to get in a few sets of tennis. At a recent meeting, the club elected the following officers for the coming year, President, Francois Cleyn; Vice-President, Mike Rosenschein; Secretary, Geoffrey Holmes and Treasurer, Bernice Caza.

Orders have been given for a complete overhaul of the lighting system and it is expected that the courts will be completely resurfaced before the members settle down to serious play.

In an interview with President Cleyn, we were informed that a membership of about forty is forecast, and the Huntingdon Chateau courts should be the scene of much active competition this summer, as negotiations are under way for a number of exhibition matches and the possibility that the club will enter a league.

Softball

One of the more pleasant phases of this business of sports reporting is, of course, the covering of the distaff side of the sports whirl.

Your observer has had this privilege, but, it seems that the girls have been having a little trouble in getting started this year, mainly for lack of a coach and a few players.

Effie Middlemiss and Helen Paul are hopeful that they won't have to disband their club after all a team like the girls Royals, last year's champions of this district, should not be idle this season.

Anyone interested in playing or helping these girls along may get in touch with either of the above mentioned officials and we are sure that, with a little help, the gals can keep the championship in Huntingdon for another year.

And that seems to wind up the local sports picture for another week. This corner is being published with the idea in mind of bringing all sporting activities in the district to the public's attention, and we will be pleased to print interesting notes pertaining to any sport. Club officials are invited to submit news of their activities, a phone call to 961 will do it.

Franklin Centre

FRANKLIN CENTRE — On Wednesday evening the Ormstown Presbyterian Y.P.S. presented their three Act Play, "Bolts and Nuts" in the Franklin Town Hall under the auspices of the Woman's Association.

A large and appreciative audience was in attendance and certainly enjoyed the well acted play, which was quite humorous and entertaining at all times and the "Actors" deserve much credit for their fine performance.

Home made candy was sold during intermission and brought in $20.46 for the W.A.

Door receipts amounted to $60.55. After expenses were deducted the remainder was divided between the two societies.

The C.G.I.T. group and Leader, Mrs. James Manning, held a social evening on May 22nd, in the Franklin United Church. Coloured films of the Holy Land (for which they were indebted to our late pastor, the Rev. E. Davis) were shown, also "A Day at Camp." These films were loaned to the group by one of the Leaders, Miss Frith of Montreal, which depicted Camp Life in all of its activities for one day. Refreshments were served in the Basement to all present including guests from the Hemmingford C. G.I.T. group.

A very pleasant evening was spent and around $30. were realized from the evening's entertainment; this amount will assist in paying expenses for some of the girls of the Franklin group who expect to attend "Camp" this summer.

The regular meeting of the C.G. I.T. was held on Tuesday afternoon at the school. Dorothy Manning had charge of the Devotional period and Iris Barr gave the Missionary Story. After the business period the group finished up their course in making artificial flowers. The meeting closed in the usual manner.

Record-Breaking Jet Bombers Join West's Defences

MORE POWER is being added to Eisenhower's "Ace in the Hole," as the British Royal Air Force has been described—going into squadron service is the new English-Electric Canberra, twin-engined jet bomber, recent breaker of the London-to-Tripoli record at an average speed of 538.13 m.p.h. Pictured are Canberras of 101 Bomber Squadron, R.A.F., in flight above English clouds. Under the name B57A, the new bomber is being U.S. manufactured by Glenn Martin. Another British contribution to Western defence this year: one-third of the 4,000 planes for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Dundee

With the announcement that wedding bells will ring shortly for Miss Marjorie Ross and Mr. Gordon Fraser, pre-nuptial parties have been the order this past week. Mrs. John Fox and Miss Doris Fraser entertained at an afternoon tea on a recent Saturday afternoon for their friend, Miss Ross. Quite a number of friends and neighbours were present. The bride-to-be was given a pressure cooker and thanked everyone for their generosity. Last Wednesday evening about 60 men friends and neighbours of the groom gathered at the Community Hall to help him celebrate his departure from bachelorhood. An interesting programme consisting of violin music by Dennis Lafleur, Huntingdon, tap dancing by Bill Webb, mouth organ selection by Howard Fraser, were rendered for the audience. The highlight of the evening's performance was a magic presentation by Rev. E. Little of Moira, N.Y., who mystified the crowd with his bag of tricks. A mock wedding scene featuring several local males specially dressed and made up for the occasion also drew rounds of applause. At the close of the programme, Mr. A. H. Fraser, who acted as master of ceremonies for the occasion, called on Rev. A. E. Hagar to make a few remarks and present Mr. Gordon Fraser with a purse of money amounting to $100. This he did in his usual able manner. Mr. Fraser very graciously thanked everyone for their kindness. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served in the dining hall upstairs. The groom almost missed being present after being delayed in Montreal when his truck became stuck in a city street. He was forced to borrow a car to get to Dundee on time. Mr. Fraser is a war veteran who has made good progress since his demobilization from the R.C.A.F. in 1945. Prior to the war's end he had been in hiding in Holland over a year, after being forced down with his fighter plane. Since his return home he and his brother have operated a milk route to Montreal and he has become the owner of two 100-acre farms in Dundee.

Messrs. Roy McNicol, Rowat McGibbon and A. H. Fraser, who sponsored the event, are very grateful to all those who, by their donations, helped to contribute to the party's success.

All were assembled when Gladys arrived about 8.45 and as she was escorted to gaily decorated chair Mrs. E. M. Wood sang the Bridal Choruc from "Lohengrin." A well laden table of miscellaneous gifts kept the bride-to-be busy for some time. Dainty and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess who was assisted in entertaining by Miss Isabel Hamilton and Mrs. Morris McLean. Before opening her gifts the bride was presented with a corsage of red carnations by little Linda Atcheson.

Going To The Fair

Get right down to early seeding,
Give yourself a chance to scoot,
Buy that fancy dress you're needing,
Or that flashy summer suit—
Get your car that new transmission;
Save some cash up pretty soon—
See the Ormstown Exhibition
In the merry month of June.

When the carefree cars go streamin'
You'll need rest without a doubt—
Quit your work and put the team in
Back the family flivver out.
Pack in Mother, Grace and Mabel,
Take the tickled hired hand.
Slip some coin to Cain and Abel
For the fragrant hot-dog stand.

Go the cars in quick procession,
Slow but surely as you see,
At the wheel in grim possession
Of his ancient Model T,
Here old uncle Hiram's going—
Pure-bred Ayrshires his decoy,
With his wide white whiskers blowing,
And a heart that's full of joy.

Some are making lively whoopee—
Someone threw a bottle out
From that party in the coupe,
Sailing by with song and shout.
Here each family member's present,
Rolling out in ease that's fine,
Sitting proud and prim and pleasant
In a car of newest shine.

There are blow-outs to be mended;
There are Taverns to be passed;
But all find their journey ended
At the Soldier's Gate at last.
Butcher, baker, doctor, drover,
Worthy mayor, gone ahead,
Barefoot boys that used to hover
Round the posters that they read.

Horses Whinny, sheep are bleating—
All the animals are looking.
If your heart is set on eating
There's a heap of country cooking.
All the cows have comely graces.
Watch the fancy-drivers go.
Wander round and greet the faces
Of the Friends you used to know.

Hear the barker's lusty bawling.
Try your luck, or buy a notion.
And the midway, rising, falling,
Like a syncopated ocean.
Here all laughter and no care is
Gaze on Bossy's gentle charms.
Climb to Heaven on the Ferris
With your sweetheart in your arms.

Drink and get a little tipsey.
Are your fortunes on the rise?
Stagger round and greet the gypsy
Hit the nigger 'tween the eyes.
View the bright and shining wonder
Of a modern milking-pail.
See the horses smoke and thunder,
Coming home around the rail.

Get right down to early seeding—
Tell you spirit you'll be there;
Soon the roads will all be leading
To the County Cattle Fair.
Give your old tail-coat a swishin',
Burnish up your hat and shoon—
See the Ormstown Exhibition
In the merry month of June.

Did you identify the photos in last week's quiz correctly? In the top photograph was a view of the St. Agnes Roman Catholic Church which is only a few years old. In the lower photograph was seen the Agricultural College at Ste. Martine, Que. In this week's quiz are two pictures. One is of a church. What church is this and where is it located? The lower photo shows a well known and heavily travelled highway. What highway is this and to what place does it lead?

Rev. Thomson, Guest Speaker At Chateauguay Y.P.U.

CHATEAUGUAY — St. Andrew's Young People's Union invited parents and friends to attend the weekly meeting held Monday night in the Church Hall.

The president, Elizabeth McKell, presiding, welcomed the guests and conducted the business period.

The Worship Service was taken by Marion McKell and Evelyn Watt and Alison Smith at the piano.

The Study period was in charge of Missions and World Outreach Commission, the guest speaker was James S. Thomson D.D., dean of the faculty of divinity at McGill University, who spoke on "The World Mission of the Church.

Beginning with the band of disciples, who were all young men, none over 30 years of age, Rev. Thomson traced the growth of the Christian movement through the years when the Roman Empire was flourishing, but in 412 when the Vandals and Goths descended uopn the City of Rome to pillage and destroy the Roman legions were called home, Christian Missionaries took their place, and became the civilizing force that Rome had never been and gradually all Europe became civilized.

The first missionaries to Canada were Roman Catholic; for each pioneer ship brought its French missionary priest.

A tremendous responsibility rests upon North America today. We have been given privileges in this country and we have a great heritage but our responsibility does not stop on our doorstep.

The unruly heart of man has to be subdued and fear conquered.

At the close of the address, a short time was allowed for discussion groups to be formed followed by questions directed to and answered by Dr. Thomson.

The president introduced the speaker and Douglas Lang thanked him for his inspiring and educational address.

During the social half-hour refrishments were served under the convenership of Selena Lang and Frances Watt.

Bride-to-be Honoured

A crystal shower was held on Friday evening in the Hall of Mr. X. Bourdeau's Hotel, in honor of Miss Therese Foisy, youngest daughter of Mrs. Wilfrid Foisy, whose marriage to Laurent Bissonnette takes place in the near future. Joint hostesses were Mesdames Paul Gagné, Raymond Primeau, Lionel Demers and Eucher Bonhomme. The hall was tastefully decorated in pastel colored streamers and over the stage hung the traditional shower umbrella, of white tulle trimmed with lily of the valley, multicoloured pastel streamers hung from it to fall on the nine dozen crystal glasses which were the bride-to-be's farewell gift from her friends in this locality. Miss Foisy graciously thanked all for their lovely remembrance. Games were played and songs and recitations enjoyed and a dainty lunch served by the hostesses. All parted wishing Therese many long years of happiness in her new home in Papineauville.

Birthdays Are Always Great Occasions! Don't you find that everyone, from the very young fry to Grandad, enjoys the celebrations? And oh! that moment when the Birthday Cake comes in, aglow with candles. When it is a Swans Down birthday cake, you know you can relax, for the great moment will be climaxed by that first gorgeous, mouthwatering taste. M-m-m. So tender, moist and delicate. All cakes made with SWANS DOWN CAKE FLOUR are especially delicious. Y'see, Swans Down is made for better cake baking. As Far As I Can See, the only really bothersome thing about these lovely spring and summer days, is that no one wants to spend any time indoors—least of all, the kiddies! And often, mothers have to be downright cross to get the youngsters in to meals. But there is an easy way. Just say "Jell-O Pudding for supper," and watch the kiddies come scrambling in. Milk-rich JELL-O PUDDINGS are so delicious and flavorful the children love them. Mothers too, appreciate the smooth nourishment Jell-O Puddings provide, and the speed and ease in preparation . . . no double boiler is needed. Keep several packages of the favorite Jell-O Pudding flavors on hand. There are four Jell-O Pudding flavors, and three Jell-O Tapioca Pudding flavors. Economical as they are satisfying.

Remember The Old Fable about the grasshopper and the ant? While the foolish grasshopper spent the summer chirping merrily, the industrious ant stored up provisions for the winter. And when the first icy blasts swept the landscape, you know who was in a pretty pickle! Therein lurks a lesson for all. . . . The happier the summer, the faster it flits by. And the sooner Fall and Winter will be upon you. So provide for those new cold-weather clothes now—by regular saving! It's nearly painless that way. If you don't, "you-know-who" will be wrestling last year's hat into an excuse for this year's fashion. Why not put a small amount aside every week in a Savings Account at the BANK OF MONTREAL? And if you find it hard to save steadily—as so many of us do nowadays—ask for your free copy of "Personal Planning for Successful Home-makers" at the B of M. It's helped Canadians from coast to coast—and it can help you, too!

Striking Illustration

During the past two weeks there have been striking illustrations of, first of all the value of purebred registered livestock; secondly, the value of R.O.P. (Record of Performance) backing and, thirdly, the value of Advanced Registry, Type Classification and/or, as in the case of Holsteins, Selective Registration.

The foregoing, of course, applies to the recent shipment of 350 Canadian Holstein heifer calves and two bulls to Italy, and to last week's annual National Holstein sale, at Oakville, Ont.

In both instances the type or conformation of the animals concerned and the Record of Performance backing of same were first considerations when they were being selected either for shipment to Italy or acceptance for the National Holstein Sale.

And, that such a large number of animals of the required type or conformation status and high R.O.P. backing were readily obtained should indeed be most gratifying to the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada as a whole. Moreover it was a nice recognition by the Italian customers of the potential value of Canadian Holstein heifer calves, inasmuch as their purchases were all under 9 months of age. Therefore at an age at which even the most discriminating judges would only hazard guesses as to what the future development of these youngsters might be. However, they were all registered animals, therefore with pedigrees that assured their purchasers that their ancestors were likewise registered animals for a great many generations, back, even to 1881 when the first Holsteins were imported from Holland. The Holstein-Friesian Herd Book having been closed since then. That is, no "gradings-up" being eligible for registration, as is the case with several of the Old Country Herd Books.

Faith in Future

Despite the unsettled situation which has resulted from the Foot and Mouth situation, the consequent United States embargo, the National Holstein Sale was eminently satisfactory. A summary of the results of that sale being given elsewhere in this issue of "The Gleaner", it is not necessary to enlarge on same. However, here again, we might emphasize that the factors contributing to that successful sale included that the cattle concerned were purebred and registered, the result of constructive breeding policies. The latter including Record of Performance and Selective Registry backing.

The moral of the foregoing and which we have been leading-up to is not aimed at the considerable number of leading breeders of different breeds of cattle in this district.

"TAK'TENT?"

However, we are suggesting that a large number of other breeders of all breeds of cattle in this district might well "tak'tent", as the Scots say, of the object lessions presented by those two outstanding Holstein sales. That is as regards their own chosen breed as it is not our intent to suggest that all should become Holstein adherents.

Hit and Miss Methods

Unfortunately, however, a large number of what are usually termed "rank and file" breeders are actually "hit and miss" breeders. That is without any definite, constructive breeding policy, especially so as regards the selection of their herd sires. Particularly so as regards not putting their herds on R.O.P.; not taking advantage of the Type Classification Plans of their respective breed associations (in the case of Holsteins, Selective Registration).

It is true that, until the present temporary, we hope, lull created by the embargo most of those referred to have found a ready market for their surplus stock, or those raised as a "cash crop". However, it is becoming more and more evident that many of the ordinary U.S. cow buyers are looking for something more than "physically evident" producers. That they will only pay top prices for animals that are backed by documentary (R.O.P.) evidence of either their own or their immediate ancestors' milk and butterfat production capabilities. And so it is that many good producing cows are in lesser demand or sell at lower prices than do those backed by either their own or their ancestors' R.O.P. records.

Sale Qualifications

There is still another factor that the average breeder overlooks, to his own detriment. That is, as regards district and national auction sales where entries without records of their own or ancestral record backing invariably sell below the prices paid for animals with documentary evidence in that respect, even if, as often happens, the latter may not be as good appearing individuals. Moreover, the sponsors of such sales are seldon willing to accept entries of non-qualified, non-R.O.P. backed animals.

The same also applies to animals offered at private sale for service or as additions to other herds. Especially as regards special export orders such as the recent one from Italy. In that instance, a considerable number of good conformation animals were offered, but! they lacked any record backing and so were not even considered.

Grade Breeders

As regards still another class, that is, those with either mixed purebred and grade herds or with herds comprised of grade animals. It is true that at one time many of the grade cattle of this district were of a very high order. And there are still quite a few good grades in this district, some of them probably purebred in effect, although not recognized as such because the breeders of their dams, granddams, etc., neglected to register those ancestors.

We are therefore venturing to suggest to the grade herd owners that the time is now ripe, in fact overdue, for them to start building up a purebred herd. Even if they only start off by purchasing good young heifers or heifer calves — but heifers or calves that are fully registered, that have some record backing and are good individuals themselves.

Weeding Time

However, to all concerned we would suggest that there is no time like the present to weed-out the poor individuals, the poor or mediocre producers. Not to one's neighbours or new beginners, but to the block. And in that respect we are actually quoting, in effect, the advice given by W. L. Carr, past president of the Holstein Friesian Association of Canada, at the time of the recent Holstein Barn Meeting; by Gilbert MacMillan, past president of Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association, at the time of the recent Ayrshire Barn Meeting. Neither Mr. Carr nor Mr. MacMillan had any "axe to grind" by way of selling cattle to their audience. They were just passing on to them the benefit of their own observations and experience. And, in both instances, they are well versed in all matters pertaining to sound, economical animal husbandry.

Top-priced Jersey To Sylvan Brae

The Sun-O-Val Jersey Herd Dispersal Sale

The highest price received so far this year for a Jersey bull at Public Auction was realized at the M. E. Binz, Sun-o-Val Farm Jersey herd dispersal sale, held at Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que., on May 20. Brampton Very Good Beacon, a senior yearling bull was sold in that sale for $2,150.00 to Sylvan Brae Farms, Howick, Que. The runner-up being Fundy Jersey Farm, Truro, N.S. This bull is not only an outstanding individual but he also has a wealth of pedigree and record backing. His sire is the noted Brampton Very Good Basil.

Eric R. Smith who represented Sylvan Brae Farms, was also the runner-up on the top priced female, River North Jester Girl which went at $1,600.00 to Mrs. A. R. Virgin, North Hatley, Que. This is a 6-year-old cow, classified Excellent, which originally came from Prince Edward Island.

There were 22 buyers at the sale, all but two of them from the Province of Quebec, the other two being from Ontario. The sale was managed by James Bremner, Secretary, Canadian Jersey Cattle Club, with Tom Whittaker, Brandon, Vermont, U.C.A., as auctioneer.

Seventy-nine head, including 10 baby calves, were sold for a total of $17,495.00, or a general average of $221.42. Since the report furnished us only listed the animals selling at $100.00 or over, we are unable to give a complete breakdown insofar as the totals and averages received for the animals in the different age classes. However, the 59 head which sold at $100.00 or over realized a total of $16,135.00, or an average of just over $273.00. A further break-down of the figures in connection with the 59 head selling at $100.00 or over indicates that 18 cows, 4 to 9 years of age averaged just over $362.00; 14 three year old heifers averaged $226.00; 11 two year old heifers (bred and open) averaged $176.00; 10 yearling heifers and heifer calves averaged $161.50. The 6 yearling bulls and bull calves, including the top priced bull, sold for an average of $482.50.

In addition to the top priced cow Mrs. A. R. Virgin purchased 2 others and paid a total of $2,710 for the three.

The largest individual buyer, Ernest Montanden, Bedford, Que., is not only a new recruit to the Jersey ranks but also a comparatively newcomer to Canada. Mr. Montanden who recently came to Canada from Switzerland, paid $4,195.00 for 22 head, mostly 2 and 3 year old heifers.

Another New Jersey recruit is A. Spoerri, who also recently purchased a farm at Sweetsburg, Que. He paid $900. for 4 head.

J. E. Dion, East Farnham, Que., purchased 5 head for a client for a total of $990.00, while Pierre Veillon, Sweetsburg, Que., paid $1,720.00 for 7 head.

L. T. Chapman, Hudson Heights, Que., paid $260.00 for the bull calf Sun-o-Val Jester's Barileus, while Joseph Pare, Hemmingford, Que., paid $100.00 for another bull calf.

Balsam Lodge Roderick Dhu

Ormstown-bred Ayrshire Sire Attains High Rating in United States

John K. Dickson, Manager of the Balsam Lodge Ayrshire herd and farm of Peter Dickson & Sons, Ormstown, Que., was naturally quite elated when it was reported by the Ayrshire Breeders' Association of the United States that the Ayrshire bull, Balsam Lodge Roderick Dhu, had been rated as an "Approved Sire".

As indicated by his name, Roderick Dhu was bred by Peter Dickson & Sons. He was born September 4, 1944, and, after reaching service age, he was used in the Balsam Lodge herd for a time before being sold to Meredith Farm, Topsfield, Mass. It therefore is that in the Balsam Lodge herd there are 6 daughters of Balsam Lodge Roderick Dhu, all qualified in their first lactation periods with good records. One of these daughters being Balsam Lodge Eleanor with a record of 10,512 lbs. M., 412 lbs. F. as a 2 year old.

Altogether, he now has 23 registered daughters and 23 registered sons in the United States to his credit.

In the Meredith herd Roderick Dhu has 8 daughters whose combined records average 12,455 lbs. M., 537 lbs. F., 4.31%, on a mature equivalent, 305 day basis.

The Ayrshire Association of the United States has therefore credited Roderick Dhu with a Regression Index of 12,054 lbs. M., 516 lbs. F. A very high Index indeed. In making that study the records of the dams of the daughters are also taken into consideration and, in that respect, it may be mentioned that the records of the dams concerned averaged 9,903 lbs. M., 412 lbs. F.

Roderick Dhu also sired the first prize junior get of sire at the 1949 Dairy Cattle Congress, Waterloo, Iowa.

However, Roderick Dhu has at back of him a wealth of blue-blooded production backed ancestors which have figured largely in both the Cherry Bank herd of P. D. McArthur & Son, Howick, Que., and the Balsam Lodge herd of Peter Dickson & Sons. His sire is the "Approved" and "Preferential" sire Cherry Bank Winter Royal, one of the greatest of present day sires and, in turn, a son of the famous Alta Crest Winter Royal and Cherry Bank Bonnie Buttercup 3rd.

Balsam Lodge Lady of the Lake, dam of Roderick Dhu, has to her credit a lifetime production of 104,453 lbs. M., 4,376 lbs. F., in 2,303 milking days. Her first 100,000 lbs. were produced before she was 11 years of age. All her records were made on 2 milkings per day and on three occasions she produced 600 lbs. F. in 30 days. At 5 years of age she produced 14,286 lbs. M., 600 lbs. F., 4.20% and at 6 years of age she produced 15,947 lbs. M., 638 lbs. F., 4.00%.

In addition Balsam Lodge Lady of the Lake has to her credit 4 R.O.P. qualified daughters with records up to 14,339 lbs. M., 555 lbs. F.

She also has to her credit one Class AA and two Class A sons. Moreover, with the exception of 5 head, all the animals in the Balsam Lodge herd are descendants of Balsam Lodge Lady of the Lake.

Reductions In Both Meat And Groceries

Some Menus Drop Five Cents Across The Bill of Fare

Skidding since the United States embargoed Canadian meat exports last February, beef, pork and veal in the butcher shops of Ottawa and cities across the land had reached their lowest price levels in five years.

Meat and a selected line of other foods were selling at prices of much lower than cost-of-living 1947.

Food advertising—in city daily papers—told the story, one of woe to the farmer, bewilderment to the retail and wholesale trade and glee to the housewife—and confirmed by Government agricultural agencies.

Meat Price List

The meat price list—at a five-year low—read this way, after a slow skid that started in February and picked up swift pact this week:

Steaks, 85 cents per pound;
Best beef roasts, 85 cents;
Short rib roasts, 55 cents;
Blade and shoulder roasts, 55 cents;
Brisket of beef, 49 cents;
Pork shoulders, 35 cents;
Pork hocks, 19 cents;
Pork roasts, 39 cents;
Breakfast bacon, 37 cents;
Lard, 10 cents.

As recently at January, lard was 25 cents—now down 15 cents to 10 cents;

Pork hocks were 39 cents—now down 20 cents to 19 cents;

Bacon was 80 cents—now down 43 cents to 37 cents;

Best beef roasts, $1.15—now down 30 cents to 85 cents;

Steaks, $1.05—down 20 cents now to 85 cents.

General Foods:

Coffee—from 96 cents in 1951 to 92 cents today.
Tea—89 cents to 83 cents.
Lard—23c to two for 25c.
Shortening—33c to 27c.
Strawberry jam—49c to 39c.
Sugar—56c to 49c.
Eggs—89c to 49c.
Butter—71c to 62c.
Pineapple juice—43c to 31c.
Grapefruit juice—30c to 19c.

Not a Price War

But it wasn't a price war, both the packing house and retail trade warned.

It was the old law of supply and demand being applied with pressure increased by the killing of the Canadian meat export trade through the American embargo raised against livestock following the outbreak of hoof and mouth disease in Southern Saskatchewan.

Prices could not go much lower, the trade advised, because the Federal Government was supporting hog producer prices at 26 cents per pound for the high class cuts.

At Government instruction, packing houses were paying a 26 cents per pound price to producers on carcasses for such as pork shoulders, hams, back and breakfast bacon.

This surplus was going into cans and what storage the Government could find, and its final disposition would be a problem.

The "sundry cuts" of pork—liver, lard, ribs and hocks—were not being given Government price support and were selling on the open market at what the farmer regarded as ruinous prices.

Pork hocks at 19 cents per pound was the greatest meat bargain of years, the retail trade emphasized.

Producers could not hold and feed pigs . . . two weeks of that and excess fat would spoil them for the market.

They could, and many were, holding beef. Cattle could be fed another year and held off the market with deterioration of sales quality.

A spotty system of price support for beef on a provincial basis was being worked out—but not quickly enough for the farmer—who, for instance, a year ago paid $50 for a veal calf and now was selling that same animal after feeding it all Winter for under $44.

Contrast of Few Months

Just what was happening to meat prices could be seen with this list of consumer costs of today as against those of only a few months ago.

Hamburger, 69 cents, down to 49.
Spare ribs, 53 cents, down to 29.
Bacon, 80 cents, down to 46 cents.
Red brand roast beef, $1.15, down to 85 cents.
Steaks, $1.05, down to 85 cents.
Blade roasts, 79 cents, down to 59c.
Frankfurters, 57 cents, down to 49 cents.
Ham, 59 cents, down to 39 cents.

Plummeting food prices, led by a wide range of meats, brought marked changes in restaurant menus across the city ranging from an across-the-board slash of five cents on all items to special reductions on selected dishes.

Despite the rising wave of menu price cuts, several uptown restaurants including one popular chain were standing pat for the time being—but alert to quickly meet competitive pricing.

Down—And Up

One manager told The Journal that while meat prices and many other food costs were down and still dropping, vegetables were high and rising.

Ottawa buyers were getting tomatoes from Mexico, onions from Egypt and expected next Spanish potatoes already in the New York market.

A combination of a poor crop and farmers concentration on the former high-priced meat market led to an acute North American vegetable shortage—supply houses were "scratching the bottom of the barrel".—Ottawa Farm Journal.

This Week iu Quebec

Quebec, May -(CP)- A new town will spring up out of the Gaspé peninsula wilderness.

It will be a mining town, set up in Holland Townships, 60 miles from Gaspé village, where the Gaspé Copper Mines Limited, a subsidiary of Noranda Mines Limited, is developing copper ore deposits. Actual mining operations are scheduled for 1954.

Premier Duplessis announced last week a government order-in-council had authorized building of the town on 358 acres of land.

While the mining company is committed to construction of all public service, the construction work will be carried out under the supervision of the mines and municipal affairs departments. The town will obtain its electric power by submarine cables laid across the St. Lawrence river from the north shore.

Premier Duplessis said Sunday the Federal government collected too large a share of tax-money, and not enough went to the provinces and municipalities.

Speaking at the inauguration of the new Quebec bridge turnpike, roadway and approaches, the premier said "the bridge of Federal-Provincial relations" is the most important bridge to build today.

He said Quebec needed all the revenues to which it is entitled under the constitution. Out of every dollar in taxes, 77 cents goes to the Federal Government, 13 cents to the Provincial administrations and the rest to municipal and school corporations.

Premier Duplessis made two other public speeches last week.

At La Patrie, in Compton county, he said the good understanding between French and English speaking in Quebec province is an example for all America. He told an audience of farmers that "the rights of all are recognized in Quebec."

He said he regretted that Liberal opposition leader George Marler supported "a racial campaign" in nearby Brome county by telling the population that a French-speaking member should be elected for that constituency.

(Brome is represented in the Quebec legislative assembly by Warwick Fox, a Union Nationale member.)

"We need representatives of all ethnic groups in the Quebec legislature . . . we need representatives of the English-speaking population.

At Grand'mere, Premier Duplessis said the population of Quebec province owed an "eternal debt of gratitude" to French-speaking clergy for the care it brings to education.

He said the school is a fortress, a source of strength, of greatness and patriotism.

"It is the richest mine we have because its duty is to develop the wealth of the spirit and the heart" of Quebec's youth.

Lands Minister Bourque, in a speech before the Quebec branch of the technical section of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, last week said the progress of the newsprint industry in the last 10 years has been "amazing."

The capital invested in the pulp and paper industry jumped from $349,000,000 in 1942 to more than $464,000,000 he said while the value of production increased from $112,000,000 to $315,000,000.

The figures are for Quebec province.

Russian Labours 16 Hours For A Pound of Tea

A Russian industrial worker must put in 16 hours to make enough to buy a pound of tea.

He must work two hours and 12 minutes to buy a pound of beef, 4 1/2 hours to buy a pound of butter and an hour and 50 minutes for a pound of sugar.

These figures have been released by the Bureau of Labour Statistics.

The bureau has collected data on countries in Western Europe, Russia and the United States.

The Labour Bureau says it thinks, with the same amount of work, an industrial worker in the U.S. can buy more than five times as many groceries as a Russian worker can buy in a Moscow state store.

Figured in minutes, here is the time needed in each country to make enough to buy one pound of each product.

	U.S.	Russia
Tea	49	960
Beef	31	132
Butter	30	270
Potatoes	2	56
Bread	6	14

Working conditions vary greatly from country to country, and from product to product.

But as a sample, here are the number of minutes needed in each country to make enough to buy a pound of sugar:

U.S., 4; Austria, (Vienna), 29; Denmark, 5; France (Paris), 21; Germany, 21; Ireland, 9; Italy, 37; The Netherlands, 26; Norway, 7; Switzerland, 14; Russia, 110.

Howick

HOWICK — Miss Doris Buchanan of Howick, Que., was honoured at a linen shower at the home of Mrs. Raymond Anderson, the evening of May 23. Over 40 guests were present when Doris arrived to call for her mother and was invited in to see the newly decorated living room. The door was opened — the lights flashed on — the laughing guests discovered and the astonished Doris was escorted to the chair of honour to the strains of "Here Comes the Bride" played by Mrs. Robert McCaig. The gifts beautifully wrapped were presented to her from the tastefully decorated table. The colour theme being pale pink and blue with lovely spring flowers.

The sets of percale sheets and pillow cases in pale blue and pink were passed around and the trio sets of matching towels were much admired. Doris rose and in a few gracious words thanked all her friends for the lovely gifts and invited all present to visit her in her new home.

A very amusing "mock" marriage was put on by Mrs. Wm. Cullen, Mrs. Max Cullen and Miss Ethel Cullen and enjoyed by all.

Singing was next on the programme and Mrs. Murray McCartney and Mrs. Raymond Anderson sang accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Robert McCaig.

Several groups joined the singers and a happy time was had by all.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Merrill Kerr, Mrs. Allister McArthur, Mrs. Russell Kerr, Miss Joyce Begbie and Rosemary and Margaret Anderson.

Tea was poured by the bride's grand mother, Mrs. Maude Reddick and Mrs. Percy McCartney, the groom's mother.

The bride-to-be invited her father Mr. Arthur Buchanan and brothers Ross and Lyle and her fiance, Mr. Calvin McCartney to view her gifts.

Out of town guests present were Mrs. Thomas Begbie and daughter Joyce, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Carsen of Franklin, Que.

The regular monthly meeting of the Howick United Evening Auxiliary was held on Thursday evening, May 22nd, at the home of Mrs. Whiteford McKell.

The President, Mrs. Edgar McKell opened the meeting with prayer which was followed by the singing of "When Mothers of Salem."

The devotional on the theme "Love" was given by Mrs. Whiteford McKell. The roll call was responded to by a verse containing the word "Love."

The final chapter of the Study Book on Japan was read by Mrs. Cecil Younie.

Mrs. Brodie MacFarlane gave a poem entitled "If We Only Knew."

The meeting closed with the singing of a hymn and by repeating the Mizpah Benediction in unison. After which refreshments were served by the hostess and committee.

Hospital Care Last Year To One in Six Canadians

One in six Canadians received hospital care last year compared with one in 85 a century ago, the Canadian Hospital Council has reported. The average stay of each patient was 10 days compared with four weeks of 50 years ago.

Those were two facts about the care of Canada's sick released by the council in connection with National Hospital Day, May 12.

A council survey found that in 1951 some 2,671,000 persons received care in Canada's 845 public General Hospitals which gave more than 21,000,000 days of service in that time.

Veterans hospitals, mental hospitals, sanatoria, and other institutions, gave another 33,000,000 days of service to special patients.

At present 88,000 beds and cribs are in use for acute cases. And 12,000 bassinets for newborn babies. A daily average of 57,450 patients occupied those beds in 1951.

A survey disclosed that hospitals handled 1,377,502 operations in their operating-rooms in 1951.

Some $300,000,000 was spent on hospital services in Canada last year.

Uprising in P.O.W. Camp Causes Tightening Regulations

Crisis in Truce Talks — Reds Warned Final Effort Now Being Made

The United States army is taking precautions against any more incidents on the Koje island prisoner-of-war camp off Korea. The U.S. 187th airborne infantry regiment has moved from Japan to the island to reinforce the United Nations guard over the Red prisoners. Gen. Mark Clark, supreme commander in the Far East, said its job is to help prevent "mass outbreaks which inevitably would result in additional violence and bloodshed."

The Koje uprising had repercussions all around the world recently when prisoners seized the camp commandant, Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd, and held him hostage for 78 hours while they bargained about various concessions. Dodd and his successor, Brig. Gen. Charles Colson, who agreed to stop screening prisoners in return for Dodd's release, both have been relieved of their posts by Clark and returned to previous duties.

Clark has repudiated the concessions granted the prisoners by Colson, and the camp's present commander, tough Brig. Gen. H. L. Boatner, has strengthened the island defences since he took over. In a statement at the week-end General Clark said flatly: "I do not propose to countenance for one moment further unlawful acts on the part of these prisoners-of-war and civilian internees."

Fighting Continues

Sporadic action seems to have stepped up since the Korean ground battle-lines first settled into an uneasy quiet during the truce talks. In one action on the western front an Allied patrol stormed a red-held hill with bayonets and rifles, killing 27 Communists and wounding 13. This fight took place northwest of the Panmunjom truce site and both sides rushed in reinforcement before the fighting broke off.

A tank-infantry patrol also raided Communist lines on the central front, while Allied patrols on the eastern front fought brief engagements with Communist. patrols Meantime Allied land and carrier-based planes continued their relentless attack on Red supply lines in North Korea. Communist guns were silenced at various points, troop bunkers were destroyed, rail lines and bridges were damaged.

Allied destroyers meantime were active off the Korea west coast, pounding Red gun installations, troop and supply buildings on the Ongjin peninsula.

Crisis in Talks

United Nations truce delegates told the Communist negotiators at the week-end that the U.N. command has made its "final negotiatory effort" and suggested that the Reds reconsider their behaviour "in the tragic situation you are creating."

Vice-Admiral Turner Joy, the senior Allied delegate, bluntly declared at Saturday's session: "We have made our final negotiatory effort in the interest of an early armistice. We will not consider further concessions or counter-proposals. Your tactics . . . make increasingly difficult the consummation of an armistice."

Huge Fire Losses

Costly fires made news in the United States and Canada in the past few days. A great oil fire at Corpus Christi, Texas, was extinguished Saturday after causing damages estimated at $1,000,000. The blaze started at the big oil tank terminal on the gulf of Mexico. It was Texas' third big oil fire in a few days. Previously a refinery at Houston burned and a railway accident at Corsicana set fire to cars loaded with gasoline and oil.

At Burbank, Cal., an area two blocks square in the vast Warner Brothers film studio lay in ruins after a fire that caused damage officially estimated at $1,500,000. Warner's stage 21, the largest sound stage in the movie industry, was destroyed with other sets and valuable equipment and scenery.

At Toronto, the century-old wholesale fruit and vegetable warehouse at the foot of Yonge Street was destroyed early Saturday with loss of about $750,000. The big two-storey wooden structure, once Toronto's railway station, is where produce arrives from all over Ontario and elsewhere for sale to retailers. The fire was quickly brought under control in the early hours, but had it broken out later it might have had worse results, because workers and customers would have jammed the building. Actually no one was hurt.

Oil Dispute

Hopes faded for a speedy end to the strike of oil workers in the United States, which led to curtailment of airline operations in the United States, Canada and abroad. The country-wide strike of 90,000 refinery and pipeline workers for higher wages started May 1. Decision of the government's Wage Stabilization Board to limit wage increases in the industry to 15 cents had been expected to bring a quick end to the strike. But agreement on a plant-by-plant basis was a slow process and in some cases union and management were still at odds.

Lake Level Problem

President Truman has asked army engineering experts to figure a remedy for damage by high lake levels to waterfront property on the Great Lakes. The damage has been felt on the Canadian and American shores, particularly on Lake Ontario. In the United States the damage has been estimated at more than $1,000,000,000 in the last few years.

Farm Forum Conference In Montreal This Week

The annual conference of National Farm Radio Forum will be held at McGill University, (Physical Sciences Centre) on Friday and Saturday, May 30-31.

In past years this conference has been held in Regina and Brandon in the west, Brockville and Niagara Falls, Ont., and Amherst, N.S.

This year the conference is within easy driving distance, and it is hoped that many will take advantage of it.

Eastern Ontario is sending bus loads and car loads and we should not show a lack of enthusiasm in Quebec, the original home of the first Farm Forum Group.

Delegates from every Province will discuss subjects vital to the future of the Farm Forum movement.

Get in touch with your friends and bring them along. You can be assured of an interesting and enjoyable day.

American congressmen from the lake states have charged that at least two Canadian developments were partly responsible for the high water. They cited the diversion of two Canadian rivers from the Hudson Bay watershed to Lake Superior, for hydro-electric purposes, and also the Gut Dam on the St. Lawrence that was built by Canada 50 years ago with consent of the U.S. government. Canada has agreed to the re-diversion of one of the two rivers flowing into Lake Superior. It was announced recently that the Ogoki would be diverted on a temporary basis to the Hudson Bay watershed.
