Five-year-old Sonia Demers suffocated to death today in a fire at 24 Cathedral street in Sherbrooke. The girl was rushed to St. Vincent des Paul Hospital but was pronounced dead on arrival.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raoul Demers. The fire broke out at 7:20 a.m., and lasted for an hour. It started in the kitchen of the Demers apartment but the cause is as yet unknown.

Four fire engines were sent to the fire and the blaze was put out under the direction of Captain Gerard Roy and Lieutenant Fernand Croteau.

The fire involved three apartments and the estimated damage to the building was $3,000. No one else was injured in the fire.

Seventieth Year

Top slice to Union Nationale UN wave rocks the Townships

QUEBEC (CP) — The Union Nationale, in an atmosphere charged with the drama of upset, emerged from a tight Quebec election Sunday as the party with the largest number of seats in the provincial legislative assembly.

After six years in the political wilderness, the party, led by Daniel Johnson, won 55 of the assembly's 108 seats. The ruling Liberals, under Premier Jean Lesage, found their representation slashed to 51, while the remaining two seats went to independents—one an independent Liberal.

But Sunday night the final outcome of the election was still uncertain. The night's last report to The Canadian Press from the Ste. Hyacinthe constituency indicated that Denis Bousquet, Union Nationale candidate, had defeated Rene St. Pierre, minister of public works.

Later, however, returning officer Richard Bousquet said the result will not be known until this afternoon or Tuesday.

The count had been given as 10,941 for Mr. Bousquet, 10,879 for Mr. St. Pierre, and 1,853 for Claude Riendeau of the Rassemblement pour l'Independance Nationale.

FIGURES TRANSPOSED?

The returning officer said that while counting was in progress he felt some of the figures from various polls may have been transposed.

Apart from Mr. St. Pierre, four other Liberal cabinet ministers went under in the Union Nationale sweep.

First to go down was Labor Minister Carrier Fortin in Sherbrooke. He was followed by Tourism Minister Alphonse Courcier in Riviere-du-Loop, and two ministers without portfolio, Gerard Cournoyer in Richelieu and Albert Morissette in Arthabaska.

Two other leading Liberals to lose their seats were the party's whip, Phil Lalonde in St. Henri, and Jean Jacques Bedard, deputy Speaker of the legislative assembly. He was standing in the Quebec City riding of Chauveau.

On the strength of the returns, Mr. Johnson claimed victory for his party, while Premier Lesage said he would have to study the situation before deciding on the next move.

But to observers it seemed clear another election may not be far away.

TOTAL POLL DOWN

In spite of the lowering of the voting age in the province to 18—which gave the vote to 250,000 persons under the age of 21—and the addition of another 250,000 aged between 21 and 24 who were too young to vote in the last election, the total poll was down by more than six per cent of the last election in 1962.

Based on returns from 15,565 polling stations, or 93.7 per cent, the poll was estimated at about 2,308,000 or just over 72 per cent of the 3,190,304 eligible voters. The percentage vote in 1962 was 78.5 per cent.

The separatist parties, Le Rassemblement pour l'Independance Nationale and Le Ralliement National, won no seats.

But between them they took 8.6 per cent of the votes returned by the 15,565 polling stations, apparently cutting into the Liberals.

Main gains for the Union Nationale were in rural constituencies which before 1960 were considered traditional strongholds of the party. They backed this up in traditionally Liberal Montreal by winning two seats from the Liberals and capturing a new one, one of 13 added in the province since the last election.

TOOK 25 SEATS

In all, the party gained 25 seats from the Liberals and took two of the new seats.

The Liberals, on the other hand, won strongly in 10 of the 13 new seats, and in another, Robert Baldwin, an independent Liberal, was elected.

The close result will unquestionably give both of the independents a special power in the assembly.

Art Seguin, the independent Liberal elected in the new riding of Robert Baldwin, is mayor of the Montreal suburb of Pointe-Claire.

He said after the election: "I was elected as an independent and that's the way I'll remain."

By CUTHBERT JONES (Record staff writer)

The Union Nationale wave, which saw that party return the largest single group of members in the new Legislative Assembly as a result of Sunday's provincial general election, was no more apparent anywhere than it was in the Eastern Townships.

The UN, which went into the campaign holding five of the 12 ridings in the ET, picked up three seats, including two held by members of the Lesage cabinet, while losing none, to emerge with an eight to four lead over the Liberals.

Constituencies changing their allegiance in yesterday's vote were Sherbrooke, where Labor Minister Carrier Fortin went down to defeat at the hands of Raynald Frechette of the Union Nationale; Arthabaska in which Roch Gardner edged out Albert Morissette, minister without portfolio by 366, and Megantic where the Liberal member of the last House, Emile Maheu, lost out to UN aspirant Marc Bergeron by 521 votes.

In the four seats returning Liberal members — Brome, Drummond, Richmond, and Stanstead — the majorities ran up by the Lesage supporters were cut substantially from those obtained in 1962.

On the other hand for the UN candidates who held the five formerly Opposition seats — Compton, Frontenac, Missisquoi, Shefford and Wolfe — the majorities sometimes went sky high.

For instance, in Wolfe Rene Lavoie, who was elected for the first time in 1962 by a lead of 481 votes ran up an unprecedented majority of 2,538 yesterday with 5,199, almost double Labor Minister Carrier Fortin of 2,544 votes.

Final results were Union Nationale, Raynald Frechette, 20,157; Liberal, Carrier Fortin, 17,284; RIN, Denis Brault, 1,495; RN, Philippe Lord, 1,049.

Although the election has ended, work is just beginning. Mr. Frechette accompanied by his wife and six-year-old daughter, Lucie, said last night, "As I said in my campaign, there is no place for separatism in the Union Nationale and you may depend on me to defend your interests in Quebec. I will fight against separatism."

He added that he would represent everyone in Sherbrooke County.

Mr. Fortin attributed his loss in part to those who held him responsible for the Dominion Textile Co. strike. He explained that he had only two weeks to convince people that this was not so. "I was their friend, not their enemy," he said of the textile workers.

HAD ENGLISH SUPPORT

Mr. Fortin said he respects the decision of the people and is proud of work accomplished under the labor portfolio. He thanked the English-speaking population of Lennoxville which doubled his 1962 majority.

In Lennoxville, Mr. Fortin gained 1,143 votes compared to Frechette's 508, and in the predominantly English-speaking Sherbrooke North Ward he earned 4,771 compared to Frechette's 3,429.

The former labor minister will return to his law practice in Sherbrooke.

In November, 1962, Mr. Fortin won by a 1,794-vote majority over UN candidate Mayor Armand Nadeau and PAP entry, Claude Perrault. Before his election he was a jurist and professor of civil law and labor legislation at University of Sherbrooke.

Mr. Frechette was supported in his campaign by Sherbrooke County federal MP Maurice Allard, Independent PC, who is Mr. Frechette's law firm associate in Sherbrooke.

Mr. Frechette first ran for office in Richmond County when he earned 7,200 votes in a race against a provincial government minister.

SEPARATISTS FELT

The part played by the two separatist groups, Le Rassemblement pour l'Independance Nationale and Le Ralliement National, in the outcome yesterday is difficult to determine but it is believed to have contributed substantially to the Liberal defeat in some ridings.

While none of the RN or RIN candidates came within striking distance of electing a candidate in the 12 ET seats, their vote often represented more than

Gemini down safely

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini astronauts rode the Gemini 9 spaceship to a perfect safe landing in the Atlantic Ocean today, climaxing a sensational, often - troublesome flight highlighted by Eugene A. Cernan's record spacewalk.

The four-ton ship, blackened by the fiery dash back through the earth's atmosphere, splashed into the sea at 10 a.m. EDT about 345 miles east of Cape Kennedy — just four miles from the aircraft carrier Wasp.

The thrilling picture of the craft floating down under its orange and white parachute was beamed on television from the deck of the Wasp.

It was the first time that a manned U.S. spacecraft had landed close enough to a recovery carrier to permit the live televising of the landing.

STEERED SKILFULLY — Command pilot Thomas P. Stafford, whose cool on-the-spot decisions played a key role in the flight, skillfully steered his tiny ship through a blazing re-entry dive and parked it in the Atlantic Ocean "on the money."

He had an assist from an easterly wind that helped blow the craft back toward the carrier.

A helicopter was overhead within seconds and U.S. Navy frogmen leaped into the water to attach a flotation collar.

The divers reported Stafford and Cernan gave the "thumbs up" signal through their spacecraft window as it bobbed in the four-to-five-foot waves.

They appeared in excellent condition, the divers reported. The astronauts elected to stay in the spacecraft until the Wasp came alongside.

WORLD NEWS

BRUSSELS (CP) — Opposition led by Canada and Italy makes it appear unlikely the United States, West Germany and Britain will be able to provoke any sort of showdown with France over the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

It was evident France's 14 NATO partners were deeply divided as they began a foreign ministers' meeting today over ways of countering President de Gaulle's military withdrawal from the alliance.

Britain begs out

LONDON (CP) — Britain's Labor government faces a strong attack at home and abroad for its decision to withdraw from the initial project of the European space organization.

The foreign office Saturday, told its partners in the European launcher development organization Britain was dropping out of the Blue Streak missile program for technical and economic reasons.

Conservatives here served notice they will challenge the government on the decision.

Docks quiet

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec City police reported the city's waterfront was quiet Sunday night after striking longshoremen agreed to suspend picketing until 8 a.m. today.

Jean Paul Walsh of the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) said the suspension would allow farmers to pick up grain for their livestock from grain elevators in Quebec City's port.

ET voting orderly

Election day yesterday in Sherbrooke and the Sherbrooke area was as calm as could be desired. No incidents concerning polling were reported by the municipal police in Sherbrooke.

The surrounding area followed suit, with no incidents reported in Lennoxville, Magog, Asbestos, Danville, East Angus, Richmond, North Hatley, Bromptonville and Windsor.

Police reported that the quiet of yesterday's election was not surprising. They have had very little trouble in recent years. To make sure that this year compared favorably with others, police officers were stationed at all polls during voting hours.

Federal relations in question

MONTREAL (CP) — With election results indicating that Quebec will soon have a new government, the question many are asking is: How will this change affect the attitude of the province toward the federal government?

More specifically, how will it affect the upcoming series of federal-provincial conferences?

In Sunday's tight provincial election, the Union Nationale, banished into the limbo of a minority opposition for the last six years, won the largest single bloc of legislative seats.

The governing Liberal party was close behind.

If there is any immediate government changeover, the first conference to be affected would be the Victoria talks on education June 16-17.

However, it is considered unlikely there will be any such rapid changeover.

WAITED 13 DAYS

This is based on the fact in 1960, when the Liberals under Premier Jean Lesage came to power with a much more clear-cut victory, Mr. Lesage did not take up the reins of power until 13 days after the June 22 election.

In Sunday's election, several seats will be involved in recounts and there was some doubt early today about the previously - announced defeat of Liberal cabinet minister Rene St. Pierre.

Andre Durocher hangs self before murder case

MONTREAL (CP) — The body of Andre Durocher, jailbreak buddy of convicted narcotics smuggler Lucien Rivard, was found hanging by his belt from a shower pipe in a Quebec Provincial Police cell here early Sunday.

Durocher, found criminally responsible Friday for the deaths of a Montreal underworld figure and a woman, was found last month in a lime-filled shallow grave near Piedmont, Que., about 40 miles north of here.

Durocher had been serving a term for burglary in Bordeaux jail here when he escaped with Rivard in March, 1965. Paquette was mentioned during the shooting deaths of Andre Paquette, 43, and Allee Rivard, 28. Their bodies were

Sunnyside High School students display work at fashion show

ROCK ISLAND — The 1966 fashion show of garments made by the home economics classes of Sunnyside High School, under the instruction of their teacher, Mrs. Lexie Hultson, were shown to a large audience in the school auditorium on May 25, when the annual fashion show took place.

Also on display was the beautiful wood work of the manual training classes taught by Harry Bacon.

The address of welcome was given by Mrs. Hultson and Mrs. C. Kendall, who has done much with the students in music. Each was presented with a corsage of flowers.

The commentators for the show were Jackie Keeley and Anne Miller.

Miss Miller modelled a very gay and popular bell bottom skirt suit made from a sturdy cotton sailcloth.

Miss Keeley introduced grade eight students, wearing proudly their first personally constructed garment in a varied array of printed cottons, all made from basically the same pattern.

The girls included Elizabeth Markwell, Linda Hultson, Dora Cunningham, Jasmine Espert, Brenda Wallace, Lorna Williams, Wendy Winter, Lucille Balanche, Linda Miller, Lauren Mac, Debbie Shepherd, Joyce Norton, Sharon St. Martin, Diane Prangle, Diane Mosher, Shelly Bronson, Debbie Wallace and Heather Johnston.

Grade nine girls modelled their creations, shirt waist dresses of various materials. The models were Sheila Major, Trudy Davio, Eula Emslie, Janice Wilson, Janet Majury, Pearl Wallace, Jean Elliott, Nan Mallard, Nancy Wilson, Judy Leprie, Susan Cooper, Barbara Falconer and Kathy Bullock.

Then came the garments made by the students of Grades 10 and 11. Made in colorful variety of materials, the jumpers, sheaths, slacks, suits, skirts, blouses and dresses, showed careful attention to detail and excellent work by the young streamresses.

Modelling their own creations were: Lois Dustin, Lynn Belknap, Jackie Emslie, Sharon Ticehurst, Penny Miller, Jackie Keeley, Sue Denney, Betty Young, Sharon Armstrong, Diane Miller, Grace Goodwin, Patricia Bullock, Linda Pellerin, Louise Warner, Wendy Cass, Joyce Hyatt, Maureen Smith, Karen Willing, Doris Boomhower, Marlene Rediker, Blanche Smith, Marion Kennison, Susan Bushnell, Debbie Perkins, Diane Wilson, Linda Davis, Sharlene Bowen, Audrey Baldwin, Joan Miller, Nancy Hartley and Mona Falconer.

The commentators thanked Mrs. Hultson on behalf of the classes for her guidance and patience throughout the year and both Mrs. Hultson and Mr. Bacon received tributes from the visitors for the excellent work of their students of the 1965-66 classes.

MOE'S RIVER

Recent guests of Mr. Irving Lane and Mrs. Gladys Wade included Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Durand, Richmond, Vt., Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Huff, Coaticook, Mr. and Mrs. Yvan Bureau and son, Louie, Miss Marguerite Lane, Douglas Beaucauge and Olga Bienville, all of Sherbrooke.

THREE VILLAGES

Mr. James Cooke, a student at Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, is home for the summer holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hood, Rock Island, received news through the RCMP of the death of his brother, Mr. Jonas W. Hood, aged 75, a rancher in Husar, Alta. Mr. Hood was harvesting a field, when the machine became stuck in a ditch. It is believed that in attempting to dislodge the tractor Mr. Hood was struck with the tongue of the harrow - cultivator, for examination showed he had a broken neck and jaw bone.

Death was instantaneous. He had been dead for about three days before being found by some friends. The funeral was held on May 19 at Drumheller, Alta. A niece from Montreal and a nephew from British Columbia attended the funeral arrangements. Mr. Hood was a bachelor.

Mrs. Grace Taylor, Stanstead was hostess for the Jolly Eight Club held on May 26 at the home of Mrs. James Batchelor. The group had a pleasant evening of playing canasta. Prize winners were Mrs. Norman Chamberlain Sr. and Mrs. Leo Perrault. Mrs. Taylor served refreshments. Mrs. James Batchelor will hostess the June party.

Lafrance is returned by close vote in Richmond

RICHMOND — (Staff) — Richmond re-elected Liberal Candidate Emilien Lafrance to the Provincial legislature in a close election race yesterday.

Mr. Lafrance, who was a minister without portfolio in the Lesage cabinet, won out over his closest opponent, Union Nationale candidate Dr. Lucien Bachand by a scant 352 votes.

Mr. Lafrance, who has served as Welfare Minister, received a total of 8,366 votes to Dr. Bachand's 8,034 votes. Andre Bergeron, RN candidate for the county, came in with 1,088 votes.

Born in Danville in 1912, the member of a family of 15, Mr. Lafrance was educated at Masson Academy and St. Charles College in Sherbrooke as well as at the Sacred Heart College in Victoriaville.

Mr. Lafrance first entered provincial parliament as the Liberal member for Richmond in 1952 and has represented the county ever since. During the Liberals' lean years Mr. Lafrance became known as one of the most outspoken members for the opposition.

He was returned to the legislature in 1962 by a majority of 2,736 votes over UN candidate Raynald Frechette, this year's victorious candidate for Sherbrooke County.

By profession, Mr. Lafrance is a real estate broker.

His closest opponent, Dr. Bachand is a 31-year-old physician who graduated from the Laval University Medical School in 1962. He has been active in politics ever since his student days.

No council — The Sherbrooke city council will not meet tonight, it was learned this morning from the city clerk's office.

Council business has been postponed for one week as too many aldermen are out of town.

PHOTOS FLOOD IN — About 35,000 pictures have been sent in from all parts of the world for Expo 67's photographic exhibition.

Mayors get word

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayors and municipal leaders from communities across Canada started today a study of a report calling for senior government grants to encourage provincial and municipal control of water pollution.

The report, prepared for the 29th annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, says a long-term financial scheme is needed to overcome water pollution.

LASTS FOR EVER — Water is ageless and is one of the few things in nature that can be used over and over again.

UN candidate again chosen in Frontenac

Union Nationale will again represent Frontenac county in the Quebec Legislature.

Fernand Grenier, who replaced Eloi Guillemette on the UN ticket, defeated his Liberal competitor in Frontenac by a majority of 1,607 votes.

Joseph Luc Roy, Liberal standard bearer, was also the Liberal candidate in the 1966 elections.

Mr. Grenier, a professor who is presently completing his

CLAUDE GOSSELIN

Compton returns Gosselin

EAST ANGUS — (Staff) — Claude Gosselin, MLA for Compton County, will return for another term in the Quebec government. He was re-elected for his constituency last night in the 1966 Provincial election over his closest competitor, Liberal Andre Gagnon.

Mr. Gosselin, who was elected in 1957 to the legislature, polled 3,880 votes of the result with six polls not reported in his constituency as yet. He beat out Mr. Gagnon, who had 4,127 votes in his favor, followed by Ralliement National candidate Mrs. Therese Mercier, with 244 votes.

The majority given this native of East Angus sends him back to the legislature for his fourth term in office.

First election results from Compton County showed Gosselin leading by two votes.

With half of the polls returned last night, Mr. Gosselin advanced slightly over Mr. Gagnon, showing a vote comparison of 675 to 629.

Mr. Gosselin was elected to the Legislature in 1957 in a by-election, which was called after the death of John French. He was returned in the 1960 and 1962 elections.

Mr. Gosselin is married to the former Rejeanne Rousseau, and have five children.

Liberals hang on to Stanstead

Megantic goes to the UN

THETFORD MINES — (Staff) — Megantic County, a Union Nationale stronghold for 20 years before voting Liberal members in 1960 and 1962, returned yesterday to the UN camp.

Marc Bergeron, UN candidate, defeated Liberal incumbent by a slim 662 plurality in yesterday's voting.

He polled 11,862 votes, compared to 11,200 for Maher. The RN candidate Harold Vachon polled a total of 226 votes.

Mr. Bergeron was educated at St. Laurent College, and later studied Law at the University of Sherbrooke.

Mr. Bergeron who graduated from law school in 1960 was called to the Quebec Bar in 1961. Since that time he has been acting as legal advisor to three neighbouring municipalities.

He is a member of the Club des Elans of Thetford Mines and the local Chamber of Commerce.

Born in 1933, Mr. Bergeron is married to Jacqueline Marquis. The couple has three children.

Mr. Bergeron is an active sportsman, he is an active supporter of the local baseball club which is well known in the Provincial League.

Alleges attack by victim

FARMINGTON, Me. (AP)—A detective testified Friday that Sillman E. Wilbur, Jr., on trial for murder, said he pummeled the victim when the latter accused him homosexually.

State police Det. Lawrence Vigue quoted the 21-year-old, six-foot-tall defendant as saying: "He made me sick and I beat him. I beat him, I beat him."

Wilbur is accused of fatally beating Claude Hebert, 42, of Sherbrooke, Que., at a Jay, Me. motel in the early hours of Jan. 30.

Lavoie gets highest majority

UN runs up record win in Wolfe

RENE LAVOIE, National Union 1962 candidate for Wolfe County, was elected yesterday with a majority of 2,538 votes. The majority achieved by Lavoie is the highest ever polled in Wolfe County in a provincial election.

The previous record was held by Liberal J. P. Cyrinus Lemieux, who in 1923 gained a majority of 949 votes.

Lavoie's closest rival was Liberal candidate, Leandre Proulx, who polled 2,661 votes. Rassemblement National candidate Gilles Morin did poorly, gaining only 250 votes.

Mr. Lavoie was first elected in Wolfe County in the 1962 election when he defeated Dr. Gerard Lemieux, the Liberal representative for Wolfe county between the years 1956 and

RENE LAVOIE

He is 45 years old and married with nine children. His wife is the former Aline Renaud.

Mr. Lavoie increased his 1962 election majority by 2,047 yesterday. In the election four years ago Mr. Lavoie defeated Union Nationale candidate Dr. Gerard Lemieux, who had represented the county since 1956, by a count of 3,942 to 3,451.

As a result of the election which drew 75 per cent of the eligible county voters to the polls, Dr. Lemieux withdrew from public life.

At present, Mr. Lavoie is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Renaissance Club in Quebec, Knights of Columbus and is active with the Construction Association of the Eastern Townships.

MAGOG — Georges Vaillancourt, Liberal MLA for Stanstead County was returned to office for a third consecutive term in Sunday's provincial election, earning 8,298 of the county's 21,728 eligible votes.

He defeated Union Nationale candidate Lorne MacPherson by a 624 majority.

However Mr. MacPherson's 7,688 votes showed increased UN strength. The UN candidate R. Dion polled 6,817 votes in the last contest, when Mr. Vaillancourt took 8,918 of the 18,934 votes, with a majority of 2,101.

While the election was closely contested from the beginning to end, RN candidate Gerard Marchand of Sherbrooke, running for the Stanstead seat didn't even figure into the race, earning only 624 votes, or a 3.7 per cent of the total votes.

The early pattern of voting had indicated a UN win.

This trend was even more evident by the fact that Mr. MacPherson held the lead for over three quarters of an hour from the time counting began.

The vote showed those in the southern sector of the county favoring their candidate, while the people of the northern district leaned toward their own, making the election more of a contest between districts than parties.

This is shown by the respective votes given Mr. Vaillancourt in Coaticook and Magog which were 2,047 and 2,962, while Mr. MacPherson carried 3,468 from Magog and 1,113 from Coaticook.

In noting the trend shown last evening, first tabulations were registered at 8:17 p.m. when Mr. MacPherson took an immediate lead which he held until 8:46, when the standing was 5,084 to 5,052 in favor of the UN candidate.

Then the tide turned, and Mr. Vaillancourt led the rest of the way until 10:05 when all results were in.

In commenting on his win, Georges Vaillancourt said he felt the people of Stanstead County had been good to him, but emphasized the support he felt the English-speaking minority gave him, despite the fact he was running against an English-speaking candidate.

Pinard retains Drummond

DRUMMONDVILLE — Quebec's minister of roads in the last house and in the house before that, Bernard Pinard, was returned to the legislature last night by voters of Drummond County.

Mr. Pinard has a 358 vote majority over his nearest rival Union Nationale candidate Andre Joyal.

Mr. Pinard obtained 14,494 votes; Mr. Joyal obtained 14,136 votes and Antonio Lemaire obtained 788 votes.

Mr. Pinard, 30, was first elected member of the Lesage government in 1952 when he defeated Robert Menard by a 6,000 majority.

He was beaten in 1956 by Mr. Bernard but regained the Drummond seat in 1960.

Six years ago Mr. Pinard was sworn in as Minister of Roads in the Lesage cabinet.

He assumed the responsibility of supervising the work of 3,000 employees with a $150,000 budget.

Creation of the Autoroute authority was one of the high priorities of his new department's activities in 1961.

With the new body, implementation of the Eastern Townships Autoroute project became possible.

The new roadway was opened to traffic in the fall of 1964. In 1965 the autoroute was opened.

Six years ago in the 1960 election Mr. Pinard earned only a 101 majority over his nearest candidate. This figure jumped to 3,663 in 1962 when he defeated Lucien Morissette, Union Nationale candidate. At the time he obtained 14,621 votes during an election which saw a record 93.7 per cent of eligible Drummond electors voting.

Following his 1962 win, Mr. Pinard attributed his and his party's win to "the major question of nationalization whereby Quebecers will obtain their economic emancipation. The accomplishments of the Liberal government during 27 months also played their part."

He added that the Liberal government had kept its 1960 promises and came before the electorate as "a government which has not betrayed its mandate towards workers, farmers, the sick in short all classes of society."

Mr. Pinard is married to Jacqueline Lamothe and they are the parents of three children.

Degrees awarded at U of S annual convocation

"If, in effect, God created society. He also created that without which it could not endure, authority," Mr. Maurice O'Bready, principal of the Sherbrooke men's normal school, said in his convocation address at the University of Sherbrooke on Saturday night.

All authority comes from God, and this doctrine pays supreme homage to the dignity of man, Mr. O'Bready said.

Mr. O'Bready was one of the four recipients of an honorary doctor's degree from the University of Sherbrooke. He was at one time secretary-general and vice-rector of the university.

The other recipients of honorary degrees were: Mgs. Felix Antoine Savard, a writer and a past dean of the faculty of literature at Laval University in Quebec City; and Kenneth F. Tupper, engineer and vice-president of the Canadian Research Council.

A total of 431 students received their degrees from the university Saturday of which 172 were in Arts, 53 in science, 19 in law, 53 in commerce, 55 in Theology, and 79 in education.

The winner of the Governor General's medal was Jacques Antcl who graduated in law.

In the Faculty of Arts the Swiss Ambassador's prize went to Robert Fissette.

In the Faculty of Science, prizes went to Gilles Desilets and Carmel Jolicoeur, who each received the Lieutenant-Governor's medal; Mr. Desilets and Mr. Jolicoeur also received bursaries from the National Research Council as did Jean Morissette, Robert Papineau, Quebec Engineers' Corporation prize; Jean Dube, Biology Department prize; Louis Lambert and Gustave Boissonneault who received bursaries from the French Association for Technical Advancement; and Franz Collinge, the French Minister of Foreign Affairs bursary.

In the faculty of law, Jacques Antcl took the Lieutenant-Governor's medal and the Wilson and Lafleur Ltd. prize; Claude Boisclair took the Quebec Bar Association's prize; the Dean's prize went to Jacques Lanctot; Jacques Antcl, Bernard Faribault, Pierre Langlois, Michel Pinard, Claude Aubert, Hubert Pepin, Rene Joyal, Leo Daigle, Roger Durand, Jean-Laurier Demers, Pierre Paradis, and Claude Denault all took Chenier Picard prizes.

Invite civilians

SAIGON (Reuters) — South Viet Nam's ruling generals today officially invited 10 civilians to help them rule the country but apparently advanced no farther toward quietening the strident Buddhist campaign against them.

Informed sources said the 10 civilians included one representative of the Roman Catholics and the influential Cao Dai and Hoa Hao Buddhist sects.

Is the pill really safe?

CHICAGO (AP) — How safe are the oral contraceptives? Medical literature reports numerous clinical trials and studies that have adjudged the pills safe and effective.

But some investigators have questioned whether long-time use of oral contraceptives would tend to produce such serious side-effects as blood clots in the legs, long-lasting sterility or susceptibility to cancer.

However, the pioneers in clinical studies of the drug, Dr. John Rock of Harvard and Gregory Pincus of the Worcester Foundation for Experimental Biology, Shrewsbury, Mass., say their long-term followup studies have failed to bear this out.

Tax increases affected E.T. vote

Special conditions resulting from the three-month-old textile strike may have contributed to the defeat of Labor Minister Fortin in Sherbrooke but the Union Nationale sweep in the other Eastern Townships constituencies may be attributed to the natural conservatism of the voters in the districts.

The Liberal Government has offered a program designed to bring this province to the fore in the fields of education and industrial development, but unfortunately its policies have cost money which must come from the taxpayers. In areas where the economy is booming the tax increases may be taken in their stride while the higher incomes of the people more than compensating for the boosts in tax rates.

But in essentially rural districts, such as the Eastern Townships where farm income has failed to keep pace with the general advance of the economy, the higher taxation levies are a matter of grave concern.

Perhaps the greatest concern for the residents of the Eastern Townships is in the field of education.

The insistence of the Education Department on the centralization of school facilities means that children have to travel 60 miles or more in some cases to attend the regional schools, a matter of considerable importance in the winter months.

Add to this the increase in local taxation and the revolt by the rural voters is understandable.

The government policy favoring the replacement of family farm holdings by larger operations may be the only logical solution to the agricultural problems of the province but it is difficult to sell to a population which has been imbued with the idea that the family farm is the basis of a nation's stability.

Probably the sorry showing of the Liberals in yesterday's vote in this area may be charged to the doctrinaire attitude of too many of the ministers.

They felt in their hearts that what they were doing was the right thing but they failed to consider the feelings of the electorate.

The short work week enables a fellow to indulge his laziness in a leisurely manner.

One thing to lead, another to push

It is one thing to lead people, it is another to try and push them.

This might be one of the homilies that can be applied to the great show of strength by the Union Nationale party in yesterday's provincial election.

Since 1960, Quebec has had one of the most forward-looking governments in Canada. It was a government that literally attempted to lift Quebec up by its own bootstraps into the modern ways of the 20th century. But obviously, while it lead, it also pushed — and apparently, much too hard.

Impatient politicians usually end up with worried voters — people who find the pace of change too fast for them, people who find they haven't had the time or sometimes the opportunity to study fully the implications of new and quick action.

And so they react by putting on the brakes — in this case, on Jean Lesage and his Liberal party. To our way of thinking, it was a mistake to apply the brakes too harshly. This province is still only partially grown. Its rejection of separatism yesterday as anything more than a splinter party, shows that its people have the desire to be fully grown.

In this 1966 campaign, the Lesage brand of liberalism had shown itself to be on the way to mellowing, to maturity. But it was also true in this election that Mr. Johnson and his young, new team preached a brand of moderation in each riding that appealed to the fears of many voters that the Liberal government was out-reaching its grasp.

There has been action, and reaction, with the Union Nationale exploiting the latter. It is to be hoped that this does not mean the end of Quebec's intelligent revolution.

Uncommon in girls

Reading lack found emotional

VANCOUVER (CP) — "We board's remedial reading program. Before being admitted to his classes, pupils must have a problem that is so severe that it is best that they lose time at school while remedial action is taken."

Nervously, with damp hands, the boy tried to describe on paper an experience he had enjoyed.

He drew pictures of the farm, but his words were comprehensible only to himself.

"We eat stei to nst," he wrote. But aloud he read: "We ate supper together."

This boy now can read and write, thanks to help received from the Vancouver school board's remedial reading program. Co-ordinator of the program is John H. Sutherland, one-time head of the English department of a high school. He says the class is not for slow learners. "We are interested in finding kids whose difficulty in reading arises from causes other than mental ability. Many of them have enough on the ball to get by in other school subjects."

But they have emotional problems that may be either the cause or the result of their inability to read. They have little success in school and they tend either to withdraw entirely or become a nuisance.

FEEL ALL ALONE

"When they first come down here they feel they are all alone in the world with this problem."

Before being admitted to his classes, pupils must have a problem that is so severe that it is best that they lose time at school while remedial action is taken.

Pupils lacking some fundamental reading skills who can be taught in groups are usually handled by remedial teachers at their schools.

Mr. Sutherland seeks to make the students feel at ease by persuading them to talk about their interests and making them feel that their ideas are important to him.

Mr. Sutherland says most of his students are boys. Girls mature earlier and are usually more ready for schools. Girls with problems can usually be helped by remedial teachers at their schools.

Pearson chooses London way over Washington way of cabinet

By RON COLLISTER

OTTAWA — (TNS) — Prime Minister Pearson has chosen the London way over the Washington way in accepting the idea of a larger, two-tier Cabinet to govern Canada.

One of the key differences between the U.S. and British systems of government is the number of hands on the reins of executive power.

In Washington, the capital for 200,000,000 people, only 11 men gather when President Johnson calls a full Cabinet.

This is the power elite, as small and decisive as one would expect in a country that enshrines efficiency at every level.

Now look across the ocean, to the United Kingdom, where the common thread of democracy was first spun.

In London, capital of only 50,000,000 people, 50 would gather if Prime Minister Harold Wilson called a meeting of the inner and outer segments of his Cabinet.

However, he would be unlikely to do this. The Cabinet, basically, is 23 people. The other ministers are busy running departments and are called in only when their departments are involved in Cabinet discussion.

This huge ministry tells a great deal about the involvement of government in the lives of the British, not just under a Socialist government but as a matter of course on a tight little island.

In the Commons, Mr. Pearson said the size of his own ministry will have to be increased from its present strength, 26.

And he referred to the two-tier structure that exists around the British Cabinet.

But the dangers in this are clear:

What would happen if Mr. Pearson decided tomorrow that half his 26-member ministry would be "inner" and half would be "outer"? The effect could be to place the real power in the hands of 13 people, instead of 26.

In practice, there is already an inner and an outer Cabinet in Canada.

Mr. Pearson conceded it in the Commons when he said that to formalize the two-tier system would be better than the present situation of an inner group within the Cabinet.

"It has developed almost automatically in perhaps a not too effective way because there are difficulties inherent in that kind of informal development," he said.

Another problem he has to face is that democracy, traditionally, flourishes best when power is diffused among as many people as possible.

Public suspicion of intra-Cabinet deals that are never revealed to the outside world would be much more intense after such carpentry on the Cabinet.

Using the British Cabinet as a guide, what would the picture look like if Canada's Cabinet was chopped in half?

The "inner" Cabinet, according to the order of precedence listed each week in Hansard, would be:

'INNER' CABINET

Prime Minister Pearson; External Affairs Minister Martin; Trade Minister Winters; Transport Minister Pickersgill; Defense Minister Hellyer; Finance Minister Sharp; Public Works Minister McIlraith; Northern Affairs Minister Laine; Justice Minister Carlin; Health Minister MacEachen; Fisheries Minister Robichaud; Veterans Affairs Minister Teillet; State Secretary Judy LaMarsh.

Mr. Pearson raised the question of Cabinet overhaul as he tried to guide wide-ranging Government changes through the Commons. The cabinet itself would be smaller, he said.

Probably the most controversial change is in the Justice Department, which has had to answer all the accusations and insinuations of scandal in the past couple of years.

According to Tory Eldon Woolliams, Mr. Pearson was carving up the Justice Department "like a Christmas turkey" because he had had trouble with Justice ministers.

Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons that the Justice Department would remain the principal law department of the Crown.

The changes were intended to free Justice Minister Carlin from "certain administrative and operational responsibilities."

Some of these would now become the responsibility of Solicitor General Larry Penneil, and others would go to the President of the Privy Council, Guy Favreau.

Vacuum cleaners, for instance

Noise gives nerves to civilization

By FRANK TUMPANE

Psychiatrists offer diverse explanations why modern civilization is driving increasing numbers of people right out of their minds, but I think I have the answer.

People are being shoved over the verge right in their own homes by the noises caused by modern inventions, and in support of the claim I cite you the vacuum cleaner.

Sixty years ago, there were no vacuum cleaners and everybody agrees it was a saner world. When women decided to clean the house, they seized a few clean dusters and went to work, supplementing this technique with the use of the carpet sweeper. If they had no carpet sweeper, they just took the carpets out to the clothesline and beat them with wire rods.

But who can argue that the vacuum cleaner has not given large numbers of our citizens the screaming meemies?

And I'll tell you one baffling aspect of the vacuum cleaner menace: its noise seems to have an exclusive effect on members of the male sex. Why is that? Women do not seem to be affected by vacuum cleaners, yet they will get all tensed up over the minor and, indeed, pleasant, drone of an electric razor.

A male will watch with fasinated horror, however, as a vacuum cleaner is plugged in to the outlet. He can feel his nerves getting ready to get up and dance the watusi. He knows that dreadful eeeee sound will shatter his composure just as surely as he will be asked to lift his feet or get out of the room entirely. And he knows, moreover, he can expect little understanding and no sympathy over his aversion to the soul-destroying screech of a vacuum cleaner. A female can't understand what he's being such a baby about.

As another of the curses of the urban civilization, I give you the sound of a dripping tap. Nobody ever heard a pump dripping, for example; in fact, I doubt very much if a pump, by the nature of the thing can drip. However, if it could, and did, it performed this feat at a decent distance where it bothered nobody.

Not only does your modern tap drip, it has refined this art to an eerie degree. Now get this: the modern tap drips almost exclusively at night. No one has been able to establish how it pulls this off. It is a fact, however, that it does.

When a tap starts to drip at night, it always begins in a small way. This is just to lull you into a false sense of confidence. It knows you are in bed; see. When it knows it has you writing, it starts to drip in earnest and every drip sounds like a garbage can being dropped beside your ear.

Surveys have shown that in nine times out of 10, it is the members of the weaker sex (male) who first give up the pretense of being asleep and get up to shut off the drip, and I guess that's all we need to say about that.

In some respect, especially in winter, a flapping blind or curtain can be a menace that is even worse than a tap. With a tap, you are certain that it will never stop of its own accord. You have to do something about a tap. With a blind, you are perpetually in a state of pathetic hope; perhaps the thing will give up; just a sudden shift in the breeze, a slight cessation, even, and there you are freed from the necessity for doing anything.

Give it five more minutes you say to yourself, just five more minutes and then I'll get up and adjust it. And sometimes it does stop. It stops for about 45 seconds and then it starts up at a brisker pace than before. Nobody yet, in the history of the human race has ever outlasted a flapping window blind.

Brown elected again in Brome county

KNOWLTON — (Staff) — Re-elected for his fourth consecutive term as Liberal member for Brome, Glen Brown yesterday polled a total of 3,294 votes, for a majority of 470 over his nearest rival, Union Nationale candidate Kenneth Seal. The separatist banner, carried by RN Armand Francoeur, was given a total of 129 votes.

Mr. Brown's lead, as polls started reporting last night, seemed destined to be greater than it finally became. Twenty-six minutes after the 8 p.m. closing of the polls, five of them gave Mr. Brown 315 votes to 173 for Mr. Seal and five for Mr. Francoeur.

By 9:17 p.m., 25 of the constituency's 46 polls had reported and the totals stood at 1,066 for Brown, 27 for Francoeur and 736 for Seal. Within the next hour, Mr. Brown was elected, but with a majority that had failed to fulfill first promises.

Glendon Pettes Brown was born at Knowlton December 6, 1914, and attended school there and in the United States, 1932, receiving his degree in commerce from North Carolina State College.

Upon his return to Canada, Seal for the Union Nationale, he was a member of to politics, dealt with strictly to three children.

WE'RE IN says Glen Brown, Liberal candidate in Brome. He is seen talking to his organizer Mrs. Elton Rockus. He told the Record that he is "ready to go to work again."

After a successful sports career, Mr. Brown turned to farming, teaching and politics. He was first elected to the legislative assembly in 1936 and re-elected in 1940 and in 1944.

Mr. Brown is honorary president of the Quebec Rugby Football Union, president of the Brome County Historical Society and vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce.

He belongs to the Lions' Club, the Masonic Order and the Liberal Association. He is married to the former Geraldine Smith and they have three children.

Shefford still UN

GRANBY — (Staff) — Voters of Shefford County, which were split into three camps of almost dead-even strength in the 1963 federal election, yesterday backed their Union Nationale candidate for re-election provincially with a comfortable 3,853 majority.

Waterloo Mayor Armand Russell, MLA for Shefford since 1956, polled a total of 14,510 votes in a four-way race that gave his nearest contestant, Liberal Arthur Maheux, a total of 10,357 votes, RN Roland Dubois 1,061 and Gerald Montpetit RN, 1,110.

In the 1965 federal election, only 40 votes separated the winning Liberal from the third place Creditiste, with the Conservative coming in between.

Mr. Russell has been active in Shefford County politics for 15 years. In 1949, at the age of 28, he was elected alderman of his native village of St. Joachim.

He was elected mayor the following year and remained in office for the next seven years.

He was elected MLA in 1956 and mayor of Waterloo, where he had just moved the year after.

Judge rejects two theft cases

SWEETSBURG WARD — (Staff) — Cases against two men stating that his motorcycle Granby men accused of theft had been stolen but later withdrawn were rejected here Friday by Judge Guy Genest.

The two, Denis Nichol and Guy Matte, were accused of having stolen the motor cycle of Jacques Petit against whom charges will be laid Monday.

According to Petit he had given permission to Denis Nichol and Guy Matte to take his motor cycle, a BSA valued at $400. He testified that even though he had given permission he called Granby municipal police and told them that someone had stolen his motor cycle.

He stated in court that he told police to forget about his complaint as he was withdrawing it.

Crown Prosecutor Yves Lagace upon hearing the testimony ordered Petit to leave the stand and asked the judge to reject the case. Judge Genest was just about to do so when lawyers got into a private argument and the case was ordered to be continued.

Granby police officer Gerard Jacques told the court that Petit had filed a complaint with him stating that his motorcycle had been stolen but later withdrew the complaint.

Because Petit, who filed the complaint, withdrew it too late the charges against Matte and Nichol were withdrawn.

Petit is to face charges on Monday. Arising from giving a false statement to Granby police.

Bertrand wins again

Jean-Jacques Bertrand, Union Nationale representative of Missisquoi since 1948, was given an expected re-election yesterday, winning over Liberal Claude Noisieux, RN candidate Jean - Christophe Gaetan and RN Lucien Lapointe.

As of last night, returns from 44 of the 90 polls in Missisquoi showed Bertrand, 3,872 votes; Gaetan, 98; Lapointe, 42; and Noisieux 2,487.

Mr. Bertrand a former minister of lands and forests and also formerly minister of social welfare and youth in Union Nationale government, took an immediate lead as polls began reporting last night. The first three of the 90 polls in his constituency reported Bertrand 184, Gaetan 85, Lapointe 5; Noisieux 146.

Mr. Bertrand's lead increased steadily as more and more polls reported.

A Sweetburg Lawyer, Mr. Bertrand was a candidate for leadership of the Union Nationale party in 1961, finally losing out to the party's present leader, Daniel Johnson. Married to the former Gabrielle Giroux, he is the father of six children.

SCOTSTOWN

Members of the Scotstown Women's Institute and several others attended the Institute plays given at Pope Memorial High School in Bury. The nine members taking part and Miss Gale Irving were congratulated for their fine performance, coming second in the play-off.

The flowers on the flower stand in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church May 29 were in memory of Mr. Kenneth H. MacIver, placed there by the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ozzie Thomas of Dixville, were recent guests of Mrs. Thomas' mother, Mrs. John Simpson.

Mr. P.A. Sherman and Mr. Findlay MacDonald attended the centennial service of the Bulwer United Church.

Kiwanians repair damage by vandals

WATERLOO — (Special) — Sixteen members of the Kiwanis Club of Waterloo assembled at Camp Eben Eden on May 31, to form a work party, cleaning and repairing the premises which had been broken into and wrecked by vandals.

The camp, owned by the Seventh Day Adventist church, was in a state of shambles when the Waterloo boy scouts and then the Kiwanians prepared to get it in shape for the summer months. The working bee was substituted for their regular weekly meeting.

The men repaired some 40 broken windows, cleaned broken articles outside, and installed a new water pump. They worked for more than three hours at the camp, located four miles from Waterloo.

A supper, prepared by the ladies of the South Stukely church, was served to the Kiwanians.

The club's current flower sale campaign is reported to be progressing well, with only 50 boxes remaining to be sold. The weekly meeting of June 7th will feature a speaker in connection with National Dairy week.

LAY-AWAY PLAN

WATERLOO, QUE.

It's berry berry good

Strawberry jam, especially when it's the homemade kind, is delicious on toast. But don't stop there, because there are so many other ways to enjoy this summer treat all year round. Here are some ideas we specially like:

Melba Moments: Spread Melba toast with softened cream cheese, top with strawberry jam.

Jelly Roll Red: Spread a jelly roll with strawberry jam. Top with whipped cream, lightly sweetened and sprinkled with a little freshly grated nutmeg. Roll. Sprinkle with icing sugar.

Strawberry Jubilee: Heat strawberry jam gently with dry red wine. Serve over vanilla ice cream or cream puffs.

Farmer's Treat: Serve hot flaky tea biscuits with a dollop of commercial sour cream and fresh strawberry jam.

Breakfast Bright: Spread hot toasted and buttered crumpets with strawberry jam.

Moscow Tea: Add a large spoonful of strawberry jam to a glass of hot clear tea. Garnish with a lemon wedge. (The Russians like to nibble bitter chocolate with this.)

School Treat: Top Jell-O Vanilla Pudding with a spoonful of strawberry jam. Add a full of dessert topping if desired.

Grandmother's Pudding: Spread a sponge layer cake with strawberry jam. Top with meringue. Place in a hot oven until lightly brown. Serve at once.

Queen's Cake: Split a sponge layer cake. Spread the lower layer with strawberry jam. Top with whipped cream. Add top cake layer and sprinkle with icing sugar.

Questions readers ask

Q—I want to trim off some weight now to look good in my bikini this summer. Please give me some easy rules. Don't tell me to count calories. That makes me nervous.

Here is an easy guide. In general foods LOW in calories are usually thin, dilute, clear, fresh, watery or crisp. Foods HIGH in calories are usually thick, oily, greasy, smooth, gooey, sweet or sticky, compact or concentrated, alcoholic.

fats, oils, sugar and flour in cooking. Plan meals around meat, fish, poultry, vegetables and fruit. Boil, broil, stew, bake or pressure-cook foods. Do not fry them. Keep seasoning with butter or margarine to a minimum. Use condiments, herbs, spices, green pepper and onion instead of high-calorie dressings and sauces. Use poultry often but avoid eating the skin or the dressing. Make lean meats the backbone of your eating plan but trim off all visible fat. Avoid gravies and sauces. Use fish, broiled, baked or boiled. Select fish without dark streaks. Use fluid milk or non-fat dry milk. Concoct low-calorie salad dressings using commercial yogurt in place of sour cream.

Serve a salad at the beginning of the meal. Serve raw fruits that can be enjoyed without sugar. Drain syrup from canned fruits. (NEA)

★ Goode-Boisvert ★

DERBY LINE — St. Edward's Church, Derby Line, Vt., was the scene of a pretty wedding at eleven o'clock, on Saturday, May 14, when Catherine Sara, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard O. Boisvert, Beebe Plain, Vt., was united in marriage to Mr. Stanley S. Goode, son of Mrs. Edward Goode, of Brookline, Mass., and the late Mr. Goode. Father Joseph Dussault officiated at the double-ring ceremony and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Denise Goudreau. Conrad Haselton was soloist. Baskets of mixed spring flowers were used in the sanctuary.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was in a floor-length gown of white silk faille, the bodice fashioned with a round neckline and long sleeves on point, the back interest was a bouffant of lace which terminated into a chapel-length train, the front of the gown featured cut lace with pearl embroidery. Her chapel-length veil of silk tulle was held in place by a crown of matching lace and pearls and she carried a cascade of red roses with satin streamers, in which baby's breath was knotted.

Mr. Wilfred Pare, uncle of the bride, stood as witness for the groom.

Mrs. Boisvert, mother of the bride, chose a sheath linen dress of light blue with bell sleeves, a matching hat, white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Goode, mother of the groom, was unable to attend because of illness. His sister, Miss Lois Goode, wore a navy blue two-piece trimmed with lime green, her accessories were navy and she wore a pink rose corsage.

The reception was held at the Border Motel dining room where the noon dinner was served. The bride's table was centered with the three-tier wedding cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Benoit Blais, in white with pink bells, the center of each bell holding a real red rosebud. The top featured cascading rosebuds.

Miss Agatha Boisvert, sister of the bride, was in charge of the guest book. Father Dussault proposed the toast to the new couple.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Goode left on a honeymoon to the Adirondacks and other points in the New England States. For travelling the bride wore a yellow lined white lace dress, white accessories and carried a pale green wool coat.

Mr. and Mrs. Goode are in residence at Fort Lauderdale, Florida. The bride, a graduate of Sacred Heart, Newport, and St. Louis School of Nursing, Berlin, N.H., has been employed at Pratt Research Institute, Boston, Mass. The groom is a graduate of Brookline High and has just received honorable discharge after serving six years in the United States navy submarine service.

Guests were from Ottawa, Danville, Montreal, Lennoxville, Sherbrooke, Boston, Rock Island, Derby Line and Beebe.

Today's recipe

PARTY CAKE

2 packages white or yellow cake mix
1 12-ounce package or 2 6-ounce packages (2 cups) semisweet chocolate morsels
1 cup sour cream
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 teaspoon salt
4½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar

18 marshmallow flowers and 20 marshmallow leaves (should be made 1 or 2 days ahead of time)

Prepare cake mixes according to package directions. Use tiered cake pans or 10-inch layer cake pan, 7-inch layer cake pan and cupcake pans. Grease pans generously and dust with flour. Fill pans ¾ full and turn remaining batter into cupcake pans. Bake cupcakes about 20 minutes. 7-inch layer about 40 minutes and 10-inch layer about 50 minutes, until the cakes are lightly browned and pull away from the sides of the pans.

FROSTING

Melt semisweet chocolate morsels in top of double boiler over hot (not boiling) water. Remove from water. Blend in sour cream, vanilla and salt. Gradually beat in confectioners' sugar. If frosting becomes too stiff, beat in a few drops of milk.

Place 10-inch layer on serving platter; frost side and top with chocolate frosting. Center 7-inch layer on top of frosted layer; frost side and top. Place a cupcake on top; frost. Place marshmallow flowers and leaves around edge of 2 layers and on top layer.

*To make marshmallow flowers: Use dry but not hard marshmallow into five equal sections (petals), from outside edge almost to the center. Press to make flat petals. Twist petals to finish shape of flower. Color with small brush or cotton swab dipped in water mixed with a few drops of red food coloring. Shade center of petals with undiluted coloring.

Blindness accepted by co-ed

OTTAWA (CP) — The pretty blonde co-ed had what looked like a bundle of white sticks on top of her pile of psychology notes.

"Is that some new kind of baton?" asked the boy sitting next to her.

"I'm a blind student," said Claudette Tougas, "and that's my collapsible white cane."

Like a lot of people he didn't believe her at first. And that's the way Claudette likes it.

She has completed her first year of a social science course at St. Patrick's College and hopes eventually to be a marriage counsellor. Though she's from Sudbury, Ont., she picked an Ottawa university "because I thought my mother was beginning to pamper me a bit too much at home."

Claudette has congenital cataracts, a condition which showed up when she was nine and resulted in total blindness about two years ago when she was 18.

"I was in chemistry class when it started to go, around 10:30. I stayed till the end of the class and then went down to the office. It took about an hour."

PREPARED FOR IT

She had had several temporary attacks of blindness lasting several months at a time and had been told she would eventually become permanently blind.

"So it didn't bother me when it happened. Oh, for the first two weeks or so I thought 'Is this for real or isn't it?' but then I decided I'd just have to live with it."

She's taken some courses at the Canadian Institute for the Blind in Toronto. They included braille — "like learning shorthand" — basketry, leatherwork, and "travel training" — using the white cane.

"But I hardly ever use the cane, and I don't want a seeing-eye dog either. It's too much trouble. You have to take a six-weeks course and then feed it and look after it."

So she travels around the college on her own "although there's always someone there wanting to help me." The residence where she lives is about two blocks from the school, and she admits she does need help crossing a busy intersection.

IODE to retain 66-year-old official name despite movement to update

MONTREAL (CP)—Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire will retain its 66-year-old name despite a recent movement to update it on grounds the empire is non-existent.

"We shall continue to urge use of the initials IODE rather than the full name," Mrs. D. W. McGibbon, of Toronto, past national president, said. Decision to retain the name followed a survey by a committee planning for the future of the order.

Retention of the name was favored, she said, on the grounds that the 29,000-member organization had already created a world image under the name IODE Canada, and that a suitable substitute incorporating the initials could not be found.

The order has been using IODE as its official name ever since the 1938 annual meeting in Halifax.

The work of the IODE remains the same from sea to sea, but on Canada's two seaboard, differing conditions demand different service.

The 90 chapters in British Columbia help 100 isolated or Indian schools in the province. They have also adopted 12 others in the Northwest Territories.

Isolated schools on the coast of Newfoundland, on the other hand, require so much help that the eight chapters there have little opportunity to look farther afield.

"Many chapters in Ontario have adopted schools in Newfoundland," Mrs. Kelvin Young, Newfoundland representative to the annual meeting of the IODE, said in an interview. The meeting was attended by 500 delegates from across Canada.

MUST BUY BOOKS

Mrs. Young said textbooks must still be purchased by students in Newfoundland, and that the IODE is the sole means of providing school library books, prizes and other educational incentives in some outlying areas.

In British Columbia, books, prizes, projectors, sports equipment and such is given to schools around the Fort St. John, Fort St. James and Queen Charlotte Island area.

"And our provincial chapter has adopted a school in Univik, N.W.T., attended by 800 children of mixed origin," said Mrs. C. W. Smith, B.C.'s new provincial IODE president.

Working wife shines —
homemaker burns

"These working wives have certainly made things rough on full-time homemakers like me," writes a reader of this column.

"Because most of the men who work with my husband have wives who also hold down jobs, my husband takes the attitude that I am a privileged character while he is the great provider."

"The fact that I do every bit of the housework — including the laundry — and look after a 5-year-old and a 2-year-old does not impress my husband one bit."

"I figured it up once and my working hours are 80 a week, compared to my husband's 40."

But since, as he puts it, I don't "have a job" and "have plenty of time" he pushes all kinds of jobs that should be a man's responsibility off on me.

"The yard is my responsibility — mowing, watering, weeding, the works."

"I transact all the family business — write the checks, take care of any business letters that have to be written, and so on — which means that anything that isn't done or is not done right in a business matter is my fault."

"And on top of all that, my husband expects us to do all of our entertaining at home."

because since I don't "have a job" I have plenty of time for entertaining at home the couples who take us out for dinner. He thinks it is all right for them to take us to a restaurant because their wives work."

"When my husband asked me to marry him, he didn't say anything about my getting a job. But now he seems to feel that if he doesn't get all the work out of me that he can he's being ripped, because I'm not bringing home a paycheck like most of his friends' wives."

"What I'm wondering is — are there a lot of wives whose husbands feel like mine?"

How about it, you full-time homemakers? Are working wives making your life look easy by comparison in your husband's eyes? And, if so, what have you done to try to show him that full-time homemaking is no snap?

New member is welcomed into Happy Gang

STANSTEAD — Mrs. Ann Mosher entertained the Happy Gang Club at her home on May 25 with all but one member. Mrs. Melissa Chamberlain, attending Mrs. Emma Rollins was welcomed into the gang as a new member.

The gang celebrated the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Pearl Williamson, who received a gift of money and good wishes. A pleasant evening of games was enjoyed. Special prize winners were Mrs. Vera Probyn, and Mrs. Emma Rollins. A door prize was won by Mrs. Mabel Crawford.

Mrs. Mosher served refreshments, including a decorated birthday cake, presented to the celebrant as the gang sang the birthday song. Mrs. Williamson cut and passed the cake.

The next party will be at the home of Mrs. Emma Rollins on June 29, when the anniversary of Mrs. Pearl Crawford will be celebrated.

Says Quebec presents challenge to McGill

NORTH HATLEY — (Staff) — "McGill University will become one of the leading centers in the world of intercultural relations if it responds to the Challenge presented by the emerging New Quebec," Michael Oliver told about 100 members and guests at the spring meeting of St. Francis Valley Branch of the McGill Graduates' Society held here at Hovey Manor on Saturday.

Mr. Oliver is a professor of political science at McGill and the director of the Research Committee of the Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism. He was recently appointed to the post of vice-principal of McGill and will take over the duties of that post at the beginning of January, 1967.

Mr. Oliver said that the current revolution in intercultural relations had its beginnings in 19th century nationalism and that the first phase culminated at the end of World War I with the establishment of the principle of cultural equality.

At that time, he said, the most popular solution to assure this equality was for a cultural group to form an independent state. This solution is still popular today, he said.

CASH GOES TO ORPHANS

CARACAS (AP) — Widows and children in 19 Venezuelan families whose breadwinner was killed in the 1962-63 Communist uprising are receiving pensions from Communist funds. The government set aside for their pensions $220,000 cash seized from a Communist courier last year.

However, he added, with the end of the Second World War there were indications that this solution was by no means the most workable one.

Today Canada is faced with the problem and the challenge of laying down the groundwork for the whole world in establishing a principle whereby two cultural groups can maintain their equality and yet continue to exist in one nation.

One of the severest complications faced by the Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism is the fact that there is no backlog of information or studies on intercultural relations, Mr. Oliver said.

He pointed out that the leading nations in social and cultural studies were nations like France, Great Britain, and the United States who did not have to face this dilemma and therefore carried out no cultural studies in this field.

McGill, he said, is in the unique position of being the best equipped English-language university in the country to further and carry out this idea of cultural equality for two groups in one country. This would not only be for the benefit of this country, Mr. Oliver said, but for the academic community of the world.

MAYOR PROCLAIMS BICYCLE SAFETY WEEK — Saturday at City Hall Mayor Armand Nadeau proclaimed Bicycle Safety Week. The safety week is being carried out under the auspices of the Sherbrooke Optimist Club and lasts from June 11 to June 18. Left to right are: A. Bruygom, A. UN WAVE the plurality obtained by the successful candidate.

As an example, in Arthabaska where UN Roch Gagnon turned a Liberal majority of 1,453 in 1962 into a UN lead of 366, Rene Jutra, co-leader of the RN polled 2,107 and the RN candidate, Andre Martel 625.

Gardner took 10,488 votes to 10,122 for the former Liberal M.L.A. Albert Morissette, minister without portfolio.

In Brome, Glen Brown had his lead of 713 gained in 1962 cut to 470 over UN Kenneth Seal, with 1,139 votes going to Armand Francoeur, RN candidate. Brown had 3,294 votes to 2,824 for Seal.

After a neck-and-neck fight in the early stages of the vote count, Claude Gosselin, UN, took Compton by a margin of 1,673 over Andre Gagnon, Liberal. This represented a sharp increase in the majority of 1,014 he obtained in the 1962 voting.

Gosselin received 5,800 to 4,127 for Gagnon. The RN entry, Mrs. Therese Mercier, the only woman to seek election in an ET constituency polled 244 votes.

Roads Minister Bernard Poirand managed to retain Drummond for the Liberals, but his majority was reduced from 3,668 in 1962 to 358 yesterday.

The Minister polled 14,494 to 14,136 for UN Marc-Andre Joyal. RN Antonio Lemaire received 788, more than the difference between the Liberal and UN votes.

In a four-way race in Frontenac, Fernand Grenier, a newcomer to the political wars, ran up a majority of 1,607 for the Union Nationale as compared with a UN lead of 582 in 1962.

Grenier who replaced Elie Guillemette, who did not seek reelection owing to ill-health, had 6,901 votes to 5,294 for Liberal Joseph-Luc Roy, 870 for RN Cecile Pelchat and 153 for RN Albert Turcotte.

One county in which the presence of an RN candidate undoubtedly had a major effect on the outcome was Megantic, where Marc Bergeron, running on the UN ticket, captured the seat formerly held by Emile Maheux, Liberal.

Bergeron ran up 11,701 votes to 11,180 for Maheux, for a plurality of 521, reversing a majority of 2,420 given Maheux in 1962. Harold Vachon polled 2,372 votes for Le Ralliement Nationale.

MacPherson took a sharp lead early in the counting on the basis of returns from his home town of Magog but when the Coaticook area results began to come in Vaillancourt overcame his early deficit.

The final vote was: Vaillancourt, 8,294; MacPherson, 7,688; and Gerard Marchand, RN, 624, slightly more than the 606 majority registered by Vaillancourt.

New method for jobless application

The unemployment insurance commission wishes to inform the public about an important change in the method of making application for unemployment insurance benefit, for persons served by the SHERBROOKE and MAGOG local offices.

Presently, in Canada, about 20 percent of persons who register to obtain unemployment insurance benefit, complete their application in their own home. Considering that the results have been found most satisfactory, the Commission has decided to extend this practice to the Sherbrooke local office area.

As from June 13th 1966, an unemployed person wishing to file an application for insurance benefit, will only have to communicate with the Sherbrooke local office, either by phone or in writing, and ask for an application form.

The Unemployment Insurance Commission wishes to emphasize, however, that the conditions for entitlement to benefit remain unchanged and that claimants must satisfy to the requirements of the Act and Regulations, as formerly.

Obituaries

RUSSELL W. PLANCHE, OF DEL MAR, CALIF.

Formerly of Randboro, DEL MAR, CALIF. — The death occurred in Del Mar, Calif., on May 12, 1966, of Russell William Planché.

The only son of Charles Planché and Katey Sunbury, he was born in Randboro, Sept. 27, 1889. He attended the country school, the Sawyerville School and graduated from Stanstead College.

Mr. Planché taught for two years in a local school and then went to Brooklyn, N.Y., where he worked for many years.

In 1919 he married Louise Worby, of Cookshire. For a number of years he lived in the Del Mar area of California.

He is survived by a daughter, Jane and two granddaughters.

MRS. ALICE BRAZEL OF WESTMOUNT.

Formerly of Johnville, WESTMOUNT — Mrs. Alice Evelyn Brazel, a resident of Westmount, died at Milton District Hospital, Milton, Ont., April 23, 1966.

Born in Johnville, Nov. 1, 1898, Mrs. Brazel had lived in a number of places, including Cookshire, Sherbrooke, Springfield, Mass., Milton, Ont., and Sand Hill.

She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Oakes, and was married to James O. Brazel at Johnville on June 24, 1935. She leaves to mourn her loss, Doris Mrs. Charles Brown, of Milton, Harold, of Montreal, a step-daughter, Esther, Mrs. Gordon Honey, Foster, and a step-son, Stanley, of Vermilion, Ohio.

Mrs. Brazel moved to Milton in 1955, and attended Grace Anglican Church before moving to Montreal in 1961. While in Montreal, she attended Church of the Advent.

In her earlier years she sang in the choir of St. Paul the Apostle, and St. Peter's at Sherbrooke. Her father was the first organist of the former church. She also sang in the choir of the All Saints' Episcopal Church in Springfield.

She was predeceased by her husband and parents and is survived by her children, three sisters, Rosamond, Mrs. Fred Parker, of Johnville, Olive, Mrs. Fred Riff, and Muriel, Mrs. Albert Carroll, both of Whitey, and a brother, Leonard Oakes, of Oshawa.

The funeral service was from Grace Anglican Church, Milton, with Rev. Dr. T.M. Dugan officiating. Hymns sung were "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" and "The Strife Is O'er." The choir was in attendance. Pallbearers were Leonard Oakes Jr., Elwin Oakes, Dr. Frank Oakes, Lindsay Love, Milton Lake and Joseph Waters.

Interment was in St. Luke's Anglican cemetery, Sand Hill, with Rev. Canon H.C. Denton officiating. Pallbearers were Raymond Brazel, Elwin Brazel, John Brazel, Nelson Tryon, Gordon Honey and George Par-visits to the schools, larger schools were built, with the help of government grants, and now we are advancing to the regional school system.

In olden times, strength of character was prominent and time alone will tell if the cardinal virtue of labor for the sake of producing work of a high quality, rather than high salaries, will prevail in the new system.

The president Lionel Hurd, introduced and thanked the guest speakers.

A number of interesting and enjoyable anecdotes were given by members of the audience.

Doughnuts and coffee were served at the close of the evening.

Ad, Sales club holds meeting

NORTH HATLEY — (Staff) — The first conference of the Montreal Advertising and Sales Executive club plans boards of '66 was held at Hovey Manor last week. The meeting lasted from June 2 to June 5.

The meetings began with an analysis of the past year's programs. The group of 21 then broke up into three smaller groups to plan next year's programs in the areas of club management, sales and advertising.

Meetings lasted from 8 in the morning to 6 in the evening.

It was decided, said president Ross Smith, to initiate a series of 32 club workshops. These workshops are designed to research neglected areas of sales and advertising.

Also discussed was the club project of finding a workable way in which sales and advertising may be introduced into Quebec's school curriculum.

President Smith said that the project is the result of the club being approached by the provincial school board. The project, so far, has been the subject of 18 months research and will probably require another year before their brief is ready for submission to the school board, he said.

Mr. Oliver said that the current revolution in intercultural relations had its beginnings in 19th century nationalism and that the first phase culminated at the end of World War I with the establishment of the principle of cultural equality.

At that time, he said, the most popular solution to assure this equality was for a cultural group to form an independent state. This solution is still popular today, he said.

6 months for death of infant

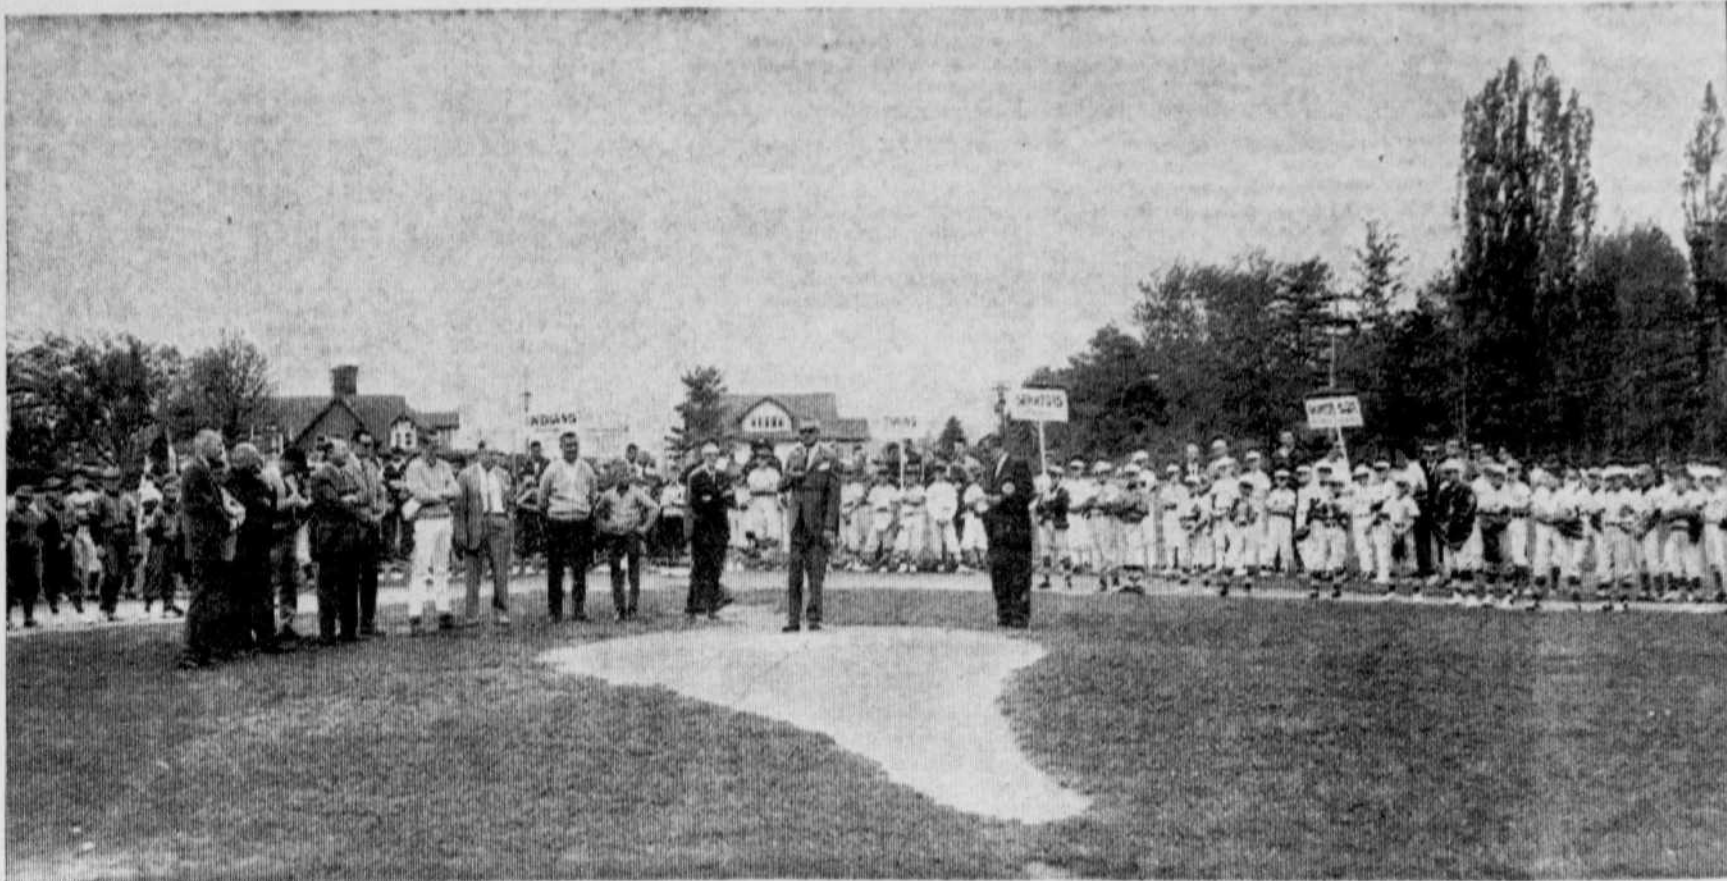

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — A Granby couple was sentenced here to six months imprisonment last Friday after having been found guilty of criminal negligence in the death of their son, Sylvain, who died at the age of four months.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Reloux had their trial before Sessions Judge Guy Genest here.

Mr. and Mrs. Reloux were found criminally responsible at a coroner's jury last year. The preliminary hearing in the case had been postponed because Mrs. Reloux was expecting another child that was born this past spring.

Jacques Plante special guest for occasion, Mayor Nadeau bangs out first hit, giant parade is held

By TED ANDERSON

The Sher-Lenn Little League officially opened its 14th season on Saturday afternoon at the Parade Grounds. Jacques Plante, one time starry goalkeeper of the Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League, was the guest for the opening.

Tigers and Senators were the teams taking part in the opening game which the Tigers won 13-2. Tonight Tigers meet the Yankees at Lennoxville, at the Parade Grounds the Indians and White Sox clash.

Prior to the opening Saturday a monster parade was held starting off from the Lansdowne Market at 1 p.m. The parade headed by the Dynamiques Cadets and the La Marjolaine Majorettes proceeded by the way of King West, Wellington North, Dufferin and Moore Streets to the Parade Grounds. Thirty convertibles conveyed the guests, players and league executive.

Those attending the parade and opening proceedings included Mayor Armand Nadeau of Sherbrooke, Aldermen Tony Pinard and Gaston Lebrun, Parks committee; Clarence Blake, president of The Sherbrooke Rotary Club; P. Bergeron, president of the Richelieu Club; Solo Parker, president of St. Pats Old Boys; Henry Crocetti, representing Sherbrooke Optimist Club; Hartley Graham, president Lennoxville Optimist Club; Art Hastings, representing the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 10; Ron Bishop, president Sherbrooke Y's Men's Club; Bryan Cohen, Len O'Donnell, Sports Editor Sherbrooke Record; Denis Messier, Sports Editor La Tribune; R. Jobel, representing Kiwanis Club, and many other notables.

Members of the Sherbrooke Alouettes Baseball team also took part in the parade. The League executive attending were: Ted Anderson, president; Harry Kouri, first vice-president; secretary Mickey McGuire; treasurer Rick Gilligan, and P. H. Wilson, director and chief umpire Cecil 'Moon' Mullin with his staff. Vice-president Harry Kouri was the chief organizer of the opening day proceedings and 'Moon' Mullin acted as MC for the day.

Jacques Plante, Mayor Nadeau and Tony Pinard formed the guest battery prior to the game.

Roger Cabana, starting pitcher for the Tigers, held the Senators' first three men to face him in the top of the first inning hitless, striking out two. Tigers in their half of the first inning hitless, striking out two.

Senators with two runs in the last of the second inning coupled with a single by Dufresne gave the Tigers another run.

Senators went hitless in the remaining innings while Tigers got one in the fourth and finished up with seven in the sixth. In this inning Dussault hit his second home run; Dufresne also knocked out a homer.

Denis Dussault replaced Cabana on the mound for the Tigers in the fourth and struck out eight of the nine men he faced. Tigers all played well but the Senators were a wee bit nervous on the big occasion but tried hard.

Three-year-old championship is wide open

NEW YORK (AP)—The race for three-year-old championship is again a wide-open affair with Kauai King's defeat in the Belmont Stakes.

The 1¼ miles of the Travers Aug. 20 could be decisive race. The championship first figured to be a struggle between Graustark and Buckpasser.

Then Kauai King took command and appeared to have it all but wrapped up.

The situation changed Saturday when Reginald Webster's Amberoid posted a 2½ length victory in the Belmont Stakes and Kentucky Derby.

Pre-emptive winner Kauai King ran fourth.

Buckpasser returned to competition on the same Aqueduct card with an authoritative decision over older horses in an allowance race.

BEATEN ONCE — With Graustark retired, Creme dale Creme, winner of the Jersey Derby and beaten only once, is the other member of the contending foursome.

Amberoid, who stepped the 1¼ miles of the Belmont in 2:29.3-5 and paid $13 as the second choice of a crowd of 56,011, came out of the race in fine shape.

Buffle came from off the pace to take second while Advocaat had enough left to edge Kauai King for third.

Ron Turcotte of Grand Falls, N.B., brought Rehabilitate home eighth.

Play was under ideal conditions and a good turnout proved the club's popularity. Following the awarding of prizes, a dance, with an orchestra, concluded the evening.

Red's Cardenas blasts four homers

Leo Cardenas and Willie Stargell both fell one hit shy of a record. But while Cardenas won't get another chance without starting over, Stargell will.

Cardenas, Cincinnati Reds' 160-pound shortstop, slammed four homers and drove in eight runs as the Reds split a doubleheader with Chicago Sunday—winning the opener 8-3 before the Cubs took the nightcap 9-5.

By hitting four homers in a twinbill, Cardenas accomplished a feat that hadn't been done since the 1963 season. But he still fell one shy of the five Stan Musial of St. Louis Cardinals hit in a 1954 doubleheader.

Stargell still can match the National League and major league records for most consecutive hits.

The Pittsburgh slugger was interrupted by the end of the Pirates' 10-5 victory over Houston Astros after collecting five straight hits—including two homers. And he still had a streak of nine consecutive hits intact.

TRY AGAIN TUESDAY — When the Pirates meet St. Louis Tuesday night he'll get a shot at the league record of 10—last achieved by Cincinnati's Woodie Williams in 1943—and the major league record of 12 reached by Walt Dropo of Detroit Tigers in 1952.

Elsewhere, Atlanta Braves crushed St. Louis Cardinals 14-4, San Francisco Giants edged Philadelphia Phillies 7-6 in 10 innings and Los Angeles Dodgers and New York split, the Dodgers cruising to a 16-3 victory before the Mets won the nightcap 3-2.

In Saturday's games, Los Angeles defeated New York 6-3, Chicago downed Cincinnati 5-3, Houston lost 9-6 to Pittsburgh, Atlanta took a doubleheader 2-1 and 4-1 from St. Louis and Philadelphia beat San Francisco 6-1.

Cardenas provided all the runs the Reds' needed in the opener, driving in five runs with two homers and a single. Ron Santo and Randy Hundley homered for the Cubs.

Cardenas also hit two homers in the nightcap and added a double while driving in three runs, but the Cubs came from behind and won it with a five-run ninth. Billy Williams drove in the tying and lead runs with a two-out single.

Stargell drove in four runs against the Astros with his two homers, two singles and a double, leading a 16-hit attack that stretched the Pirates' winning streak to five. Roberto Clemente also homered while Jim Wynn hit a pair of the Astros in a 4-for-4 performance.

The Braves rolled to their third straight victory after a string of seven losses by unloading 16 hits against the Cardinals. Denis Menke led the outburst, that included a seven-run fifth inning in which 13 men batted, by driving in five runs with a homer and four singles.

The Giants tied the Phillies in the ninth on singles by Tito Fuentes and Willie Mays around a sacrifice, then won it in the 10th when Hal Lanier tagged reliever Bo Belinsky for a two-out homer. Dick Groat drove in four of Philadelphia's runs.

Sandy Koufax won the opener for the Dodgers with a five-hitter, joining San Francisco's Juan Marichal as the majors' only 10-game winners. Koufax was supported by a 19-hit attack that included five straight hits by Tommy Davis and two homers by Wes Parker.

Davis added two hits and Parker added a homer in the nightcap. But the Mets won it in the ninth when they pushed across a run on singles by Ken Boyer and Jerry Grote around an intentional walk, and a wild pitch by reliever Ron Perzanowski.

Tim Bradley wins Smith Cup at BCS annual Track Meet

Tim Bradley, of Forest Hills, Long Island, New York, won the coveted Smith Cup and Fortune Trophy as the all-round senior athlete in the annual Bishop's College School Track Meet held Saturday.

Bradley won the Open Mile run, and the Kaulback Medal for this feat, and also placed second in the Open Pole Vault. In his own division, Bradley came in second for the 220-yd. dash.

The annual Track Meet marked a close of activities for the BCS students, as the younger classes were dismissed for the term, and higher classes remain for examinations.

Bobby Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Dunn, of Sherbrooke, won the Richardson Cup, the all-around trophy for Preparatory school, and added this Cup to others he won for various events in the annual meet.

The Prep student won the Junior Whitall Cup in skiing, and came first in the Preparatory hurdles, and the Three-Legged race, teaming up with D. Demers. He was also named Welterweight boxing champ.

Another Sherbrooke student who fared well in the Prep division of the Meet was Craig Bishop. He won the High Jump event, and came second in the Broad Jump, Hurdles, and the 100-yd. dash.

In the Intermediate class Championship, Mark Molson was named winner of the Captain C. S. Martin Cup as all-round athlete for this class. The Westmount student won the Senior Tennis Singles title, as well as the Senior Squash honors, and picked up the Senior Whitall Cup, being chosen best senior skier.

Scott Dunlop, from Ottawa, was awarded the RMC Cup for Junior Upper School Championship, the Junior singles tennis championship and squash title, and also winning the 100-yd. dash, 220-yd. dash, and the Broad Jump while placing second in the Hurdles.

In other events bringing individual merit to the BCS students, Robin Montano, of Trinidad, was awarded the Cleghorn Cup by the captain of the football team for being judged as the MVP to his team. Rick Howson, of Willowdale, Ont., was awarded the Gerald M. Wiggitt Memorial Trophy for best combining sportsman with ability.

Charles Collin was named top marksman of the school, and was given the McNulty Cup. The Dyer brothers, David and John, won the Senior and Junior Forteous Cups, being the best Cross-Country Skier and best Junior Skier respectively.

Presentations of trophies were made by Mr. S. A. Cobbett.

Sherbrooke Alouettes finally lose, but it took six games to fall short Super mathematicians the Sherbrooke Alouettes are not. But baseball players, they are.

This fact was proven over the weekend in the Provincial Baseball League, as the Als could not transform three doubles into one triple.

In two games with the Drummondville Royals, the Saturday 5-2 victory gave the Als an opportunity to convert their six games into a winning triple, should they have emerged victorious in yesterday's tilt at the municipal stadium. The 'triple' would be the three 'double' victories against the Royals, Granby Cardinals and Lachine Mets.

However, as baseball players are also human, the Als finally tasted defeat, losing 12-6 to the Royals in a loose game. Over 1,200 persons attended the contest.

Drummondville Royals took over after the third inning Sunday, subduing the Als in every inning except the seventh, when they pulled in a three-run rally and scoring in all but the fourth and fifth.

Sherbrooke's first two runs came in the second, as Claude Groulx came home on Guy St. Vincent's single, after getting to first with a hit. Gerry La-moureux, former Royal in '65 got on base with a free ticket, then rounded the bases, to steal home on Chabot, who was in the middle of his windup.

Two home runs highlighted the action for Drummondville, as Claude St. Vincent and Dave Thorne blasted in the top of the seventh and third innings respectively.

Top hitter yesterday for Sherbrooke was Kenny Kaiser, with two doubles, while Mentis, Groulx, and St. Vincent each got two singles. George Reed had the Royal power, three hits one a double.

BEAVERS WIN TWO
Acton Vale Beavers slid into first place in the Provincial Baseball League by posting two wins on the weekend. On Saturday they rolled over Plessisville 9-3 and Sunday they completed the weekend with a 7-0 victory over Quebec.

The double win gave the Beavers top spot in the Ellyson circuit by half a game over Sherbrooke. Drummondville is in third hole a game and a game behind the leaders.

Lachine Mets came up with a double victory also on the weekend belting Quebec 14-5 Saturday and edging Plessisville 3-1 Sunday. Jacques Monette clouted a grand slammer while Tom Williams and Gilles St. Onge banged out homers Saturday.

Granby took two from Thetford Mines 7-2 and 2-0 to help their cause. No games are slated this evening but tomorrow night all teams will swing back into action. The Als travel to Thetford Mines for their first meeting of the season.

Ambro Flight wins feature

MONTREAL (CP) — Ambro Flight, the world's champion trotting mare, won in local fashion Saturday as she away with the $12,900 feature race at Richelieu Raceway.

The win raised the lifetime earnings of the four-year old mare to $429,237. She has won 48 races in 60 starts.

Ambro Flight, with trainer-driver Joe O'Brien of Alberton, P.E.I., in the sulky, ran the mile in two minutes, 3 1/2 seconds, 1 4/5 seconds short of the Canadian record of 2:01 2/5 set by Darn Safe in 1958.

Ambro Flight beat Sprite Kid by five lengths.

Jets take over top

Columbus Jets hammered out 26 hits to take over first place in the International League baseball standings Sunday, but Richmond Braves moved closer to the top three.

Columbus moved two games ahead of second-place Toledo Mud Hens by sweeping a doubleheader from the Hens 1-0 and 9-2. Richmond dumped Jacksonville Suns 5-4 to move within five games of the Jets and 1 1/2 games of the third-place Suns.

Toronto Maple Leafs split a pair with Buffalo Bisons, winning the opener 6-0 but losing the second 5-4, while Rochester Red Wings split with Syracuse Chiefs, winning 11-10 in 10 innings but bowing 7-3 in the seven-inning second game.

On Saturday, Toronto defeated Buffalo 5-1, Rochester edged Syracuse 3-2, Columbus downed Toledo 7-6 and Richmond and Jacksonville split a doubleheader, the Braves winning 4-0 in the first game and the Suns taking the second 4-3.

Bruce McLean wins Player's 200 in record time as Aussies sweep all three top spots in classic

MOSPORT, Ont. (CP) — Bruce McLaren distinguished himself here Saturday by winning the Player's 200-mile race for sports cars and having three cars of his own design finish ahead of the field.

The 28-year-old New Zealander took the chequered flag after a record-breaking average of 100.5 miles an hour, his rear-view mirror picked up McLaren driver Lothar Motschenbacher pounding in for second place. McLaren's countryman and team-mate Chris Amon finished third in another McLaren.

It was the second time McLaren has won the 200 since 1964 and he clipped more than eight minutes off his mark of two years ago as well as bettering the record set last year by John Surtees of London, 1964 world champion driver.

McLaren's elapsed time for the two 40-lap heats around the 2.5-mile circuit was one hour, 59 minutes, 16.9 seconds, compared with Surtees' 2:02:17.6.

Motschenbacher, from Mission Hills, Calif., was a shade more than 26 seconds slower than McLaren.

A crowd of 49,091 watched the race under sunny skies and

Commander Pick wins in 2:08 2/5, judges crack down on 13 drivers

The Sherbrooke Racing Club presented their first Saturday evening program of the season and judging from the results it might have been better, for the drivers, if it hadn't been held.

A grand total of eight drivers were fined and suspended while on Sunday five more were called on the carpet for their poor showing. Fern Desrochers drew the top fine with Anita Adios in the sixth for his performance, while all in the class were tagged.

It was a poor exhibition and even when Fern Desrochers went to the winner's circle the fans booed him. Cyrille Mathieu drew three days for lack of effort while Desrochers was fined. Florent St. Denis with Lene Elm Reddy, Frank Newell with Justa Pickup and Desmond McKinney were all fined. J.P. Martel drew a warning.

In the second race Robert Jutras and Ardent Jet drew a fine for a slow performance while Patrick Denis drew three days for the same offence. In the fourth race Normand Lachance picked up four racing days for his poor performance with Miss Francine C.

In the fifth race Florent St. Denis teaming Major's Kitty was tagged with a fine and four racing days for his lack of effort in trying to win. After the sixth race all drivers were notified to report to the judge's office and then the boys commenced to race and the last four races went off without a hitch.

On Sunday it wasn't quite so bad but still three were fined. R. Duclos with Prince Hillcrest Harves in the first race was fined for another poor show while in the ninth Claude Grenier and R. Cossette were both fined. Grenier was tagged with reckless driving when he tried to force a hole between Lou Direct C and Success Girl in the stretch.

The best time registered was in the seventh under ideal conditions. Commander Pick, driven by Paul-Emile Cournoyer, paced home in 2:08 4/5 for the top time on the card.

In the big class, the ninth, it went 2:10 4/5 and this was the race in which Grenier and Cossette were fined. In the sixth race Glorian Malo teamed Nat's Son home in 2:09 2/5 and in the tenth F. Langlois with Master Moezelle were clocked in 2:09 4/5.

The highest time of the afternoon was in the first when R. Duclos teaming Prince Hillcrest Harves was clocked in 2:17. In the third Andre Rouleau with Babe Express was timed in 2:16 1/5. The rest of the times were all much lower.

In the seventh the field went to the half in 1:05 2/5 but came home in 1:03 2/5 with Commander Pick setting the pace. It was a close duel the whole way and was decided in the stretch.

The best time Saturday evening was in the eighth when Gilles Jutras with Mr. Lew and Charlie Bennett, teaming Premium, staged a two-horse battle with the former crossing the wire in 2:09 1/5. Bennett set the pace until the three-quarter when Mr. Lew made his usual drive to overtake the early pace-setter and win the class.

Major Richelieu and Tullian formed the double Saturday and $45.40 was picked up. In the first quinella Miss Francine C and Lyse Bell paid $89.20 while in the seventh $11.80 went for Richard Lyn and Jay Spangler. Jacquot and Greene Dale formed the exacta and $9.80 was paid.
