OPEN HOUSE

'Open House' for the newly reconstructed Westmount Park School was held Tuesday night and about 500 parents and interested citizens attended. Here principal M. T. Craig (right), welcomes visitor from the Westmount School Board and the Home and School Association. Left to right are: K. G. W. Smith, proposed president of the Park Home & School, R. Steeves, Superintendent of Education for Westmount School, A. O. Leslie, chairman of the School Board, and Mr. Craig.

'Mums' display opens Thursday

Westmount's annual chrysanthemum show opens Thursday with a record number of plants on display. Altogether about 3,000 plants will be used in the show which will feature 162 varieties of mums in almost every possible color.

City gardeners began preparations for the three week long event back in January when most of the mums were planted.

The display will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. except Sunday when the Greenhouse close at 6.

King's School is sold for $418,931.

The sale of Kings School by the Westmount Commissioners to the New Rochelle Development Corporation for $418,931.25 was approved Wednesday by the Department of Education in Quebec.

Officials of the corporation were not available for comment and it is not known to what use the school building or the property will be put. The area is zoned for apartment buildings, but not offices.

Meanwhile, offers to purchase Queen's School are being studied by the local school board, it was reported. All sales must finally be approved by the Greater Montreal School Board and the Superintendent of Education in Quebec.

Both King's and Queen's were abandoned last spring to be replaced by the Westmount Park School on Academy road, converted within the past three years from a junior high to an elementary school.

Emergency number doesn't work

Don't call WE. 4-1711

If an emergency arises and you require the assistance of either the Westmount Police or Fire Departments don't waste time by trying to call WE. 4-1711, the special emergency number given out last year by the city and the one that so many thousands of Westmounters pasted onto their phones.

It doesn't work.

You'll hear sirens soon enough. But it will only be the monotonous rising and falling wail that the Bell Telephone uses to indicate that one has dialed an "impossible" combination.

Instead of the above mentioned number dial WE. 1-1711. The change from WE. 4 to

WE. 1 was made about three months ago by the Bell Telephone Company as part of an "adjustment move" to many phones in the Westmount area. The Examiner learned this week. Unfortunately, the first emergency number received wide publicity in various pamphlets and letters published by the City including the Westmount residents handbook.

Difficulties arose last week in the apartment fire on Western avenue. A resident of the building, Mrs. J. Wells said that she attempted to call the Fire Department at WE. 4-1711. She was unable to get through, of course, and soon abandoned her attempts as Westmount and other autonomous municipalities on the Island of Montreal were shocked this week when Montreal-executive-committee chairman Lucien Saulnier made use of a Chambre de Commerce platform opportunity to make it clear that he believed Montreal had a right to expand to the water's-edge on all sides, and by 1967.

The target-areas came back fighting, and Westmount's Mayor Chipman H. Drury was well in the van.

Said Mayor Drury when queried by newsmen about the Saulnier statement: "This is neither necessary or essential."

He added, however, that Westmount was always ready to look at any proposal that was properly presented, but that he could not see one good reason for a take-over.

Among citizens of Westmount, however, the Saulnier shaft found a firm landing place and the subject was discussed thoroughly wherever taxpayers met.

Threats of annexation go back to 1882 as far as Westmount is concerned and Mr. Saulnier's statement that the problems were enhanced because "Montreal had abandoned its expansion plans in 1960" stirred the air.

'Already paying its share'

The citizens were also shocked because they felt that Westmount is "already paying its share of costs."

A little ahead of the other suburban mayors in the opinion of most, however, was Mayor Art Seguin of Pointe Claire.

He also used a Chambre de Commerce podium, and the same day, Tuesday, to call for a union of Lakeshore municipalities — before his municipality and its neighbors were gobbled up by the metropolis.

Other suburban mayors were more vocal. Mayor Reginald Dawson of the Town of Mount Royal declared that if Mr. Saulnier was in favor of an area-wide metropolitan authority, his plan would find fertile ground, but he would certainly find plenty of opposition to any suggestion of annexation — even if cloaked in the shrouds of the World's Fair.

Westmount has long been a favorite target as it lies relatively close to the downtown area and is the only city on the island entirely surrounded by Montreal. Elected officials and private citizens alike are frequently heard pledging eternal vigilance to any annexation threats.

Indians pick St. George's former head

Miss Agnes Matthews, immediate past principal of St. George's School Westmount, has been selected by the National Indian Council of Canada as the person best able to examine the entire Indian educational system and suggest means of reforming it.

The Council has written the Federal Government suggesting the appointment of Miss Matthews for the planned study.

The former principal is presently attending Columbia University or special educational studies and has not yet replied to letters from the Indian Council, an independent organization to promote the interest of Indians throughout Canada. A spokesman for the council, Miss Kahn Tineta Horn told the Examiner that while the Council has not yet received an answer from the Canadian government they believe that Miss Matthews "would work miracles for Indian education in Canada. She would really be the one to help us raise the standards of education from its present level of grade five or six," Miss Horn said.

Miss Matthews came to St. George's School in 1935 as Principal and has headed it for more than eighty per cent of its history.

Her experience in teaching has included work in rural schools, a country school, a city high school and summer courses for teacher training in New Brunswick.

Eleven-year old Wilma Richardson, sixth grade pupil at Westmount Park School, was one of the many young guides appointed to show parents about the reconverted building Tuesday night. Here she explains to "goings-on" in one classroom to Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Reno, 314 Lansdowne ave. The Reno's have two daughters at the new school.

Over 500 visit Park School for inspection tour, reunion

Over 500 hundred Westmounters visited Westmount Park School Tuesday night in what amounted to a combination inspection tour and Old Boys' reunion.

It was "open house," an event sponsored by the Westmount School Commissioners to give citizens the opportunity to look over the extensive renovations made to the old Junior High School which has been converted into an elementary school to accommodate the pupils of Kings and Queens, now abandoned.

Not only parents of present pupils at the school attended, but scores of former pupils and teachers were present, some even recalling the school as it was in 1913 when the original building was constructed. While many felt lost in their once familiar haunts now so radically changed there was general praise for the bright color schemes and lighting, the efficient classrooms.

"Why, I can remember when parts of the hall were so dark we once thought of bringing flashlights to do what we were never able to do that last minute cramming for tests while waiting in line," a gray-haired former pupil remarked.

Less noticeable, but also important were the mechanical improvements: A new sprinkler system has been installed throughout the building. The heating system has been converted from coal and steam to oil and hot water. Many new radiators and themselves have been installed.

Fire doors in each stairwell and a new staircase at the east end of the building have been added. The whole electrical system has been rewired. Acoustic and floor tiles and florescent lights should also be mentioned.

The most intriguing feature of the building for many, however, was the closed off west wing. The elementary school does not require all the available space and has built a partition blocking off half of the unimproved quarter on the two upper floors.

The memories remained behind locked doors.

TV's Marg Antony traced through Examiner article

A four month search for a Mrs. S. Webster by the New York Central Railways and the CPR agent at Westmount station ended Saturday, less than twenty-four hours after the publication of a paragraph in last week's Examiner asking readers to help in the search.

Her name was spotted by C. A. Gravenor, 580 Grovenor avenue, who knew Mrs. Webster, better known publicly as Marg Antony, of TV fame.

Mrs. Webster apparently bought a ticket to New York on July 10 and checked a large blue steamer trunk. Obligated, by a sudden change of plans to fly down, she lost track of the trunk and was unable to find it a couple of weeks later, as it had been shipped from Grand Central Station to an outlining New York storage warehouse.

She gave up the search just before it was taken up in earnest by the railways.

The trunk is now on its way back to Westmount.

WE SAY

WMA needs more support

PARTICIPATION in the affairs of the community by every citizen is a high ideal. Of course like most ideals it is not likely to be realized 100 per cent.

The only actual way to participate in the affairs of Westmount this city is through the Westmount Municipal Association. Yet citizens are not taking advantage of this opportunity, seldom available in municipalities of such a large population. The Association reports that membership has declined "considerably" from last year.

If you have been intending to join put this paper down right now and write out a check for two dollars put it in an envelope and take it out and mail it Mrs. E. W. Scroggie, 7085 Fielding avenue.

Now, that done, reserve the night of December 10 for the annual Winter Open Meeting of the Association at Victoria Hall. Go to the meeting and if anything is puzzling you, speak up. Offer your services. Write letters. If you see anything that needs doing, do it.

We believe most firmly in people exercising their rights as citizens by meeting their responsibility as citizens. The people you will meet will be all kinds, but mostly they will be individuals who have discovered that it is both educational and interesting to do their share as Westmounters.

If you like the way things are run here, participate to make sure Westmount will stay that way. If you don't then let your voice be heard.

Don't rely on someone else to carry the burden for you.

Reader protests campaign methods

Sir: Now that the annual campaign of the Federation of Catholic Charities has ended officially, whatever this letter says can have no effect on the results. By the time this is in print these results will be known.

If the drive were a success, and being very sympathetic to the fine work done by federation agencies I hope it was a success, this success was most likely in spite of a booklet issued by the campaign committee. The booklet sent to potential subscribers listed all donors, parish by parish, who gave $25 and up last year, and listed within a few dollars after that how much each person gave. Apart from the fact that there are several mistakes in the listings, the whole idea of the project has disturbed many, many people.

I have heard that some pastors have told their parishioners they do not wish to be associated in any way with the scheme. I believe the booklet has also been attacked on the radio, and I know for a fact that many people who would normally have given as much as they could afford to the campaign, have given nothing this year just because of this booklet.

And so if, by the time this letter appears, it emerges that the drive has failed, I believe it would not do any harm to see how much the publication of this list has contributed to the failure.

One may also legitimately ask if this expensively prepared booklet mailed to several thousand potential donors was paid for out of campaign funds and thus decreasing the amount available for the genuine work and needs of the Federation?

ROVING REPORTER

By Oliver Towne

The 18 census takers employed by the Roman Catholic and Protestant School Boards in Westmount have found that good weather is not always a boon to their work. Faced with the task annual task of surveying the total school population, the census takers were obliged to often pay as many as half a dozen visits to local homes before the occupants could be located. Residents were enjoying the fine weather in the country, and most of the census work was done on the weekends by the part time workers.

That youthful-looking old man standing in front of Brooks Drug store on Wednesday at noon was Albert Smithers, Westmount's popular shoe merchandiser. Albert has only about ten more years to go before collecting his old age pension, but he still has the fire and ambition of youth.

The City Hall is certainly a busy place. Employees rush back and forth carrying important papers, small conferences are held in whispers, everybody looks anxious. As a matter of fact, Mr. Average Citizen might have to wait 10 or 15 minutes before anyone has time to inquire as to what brings him there!

Graham Armstrong Securities Limited, members of the Investment Dealers Association of Canada, have prepared a study on Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. Ltd.

While the supply now appears to be dwindling, Westmount collection of leaves on the edge of the mountain has reached great heights this year. There's a production line of sorts going; just let the leaves settle, don't try to rush them and by and by you have what city gardeners term a "very satisfactory" fertilizer to be used on most of the municipal flower beds.

The ruling by St. Leo's Academy which requires all students taking part in after school athletics to obtain an average of at least 65% has not been duplicated by Protestant Schools in Westmount.

"There is no fixed rule here," Westmount High Principal Norman Wood said. "We watch and see if a student is going downhill and then talk to him about curtailing his athletic activities." The principal said that for some 65% was an "excellent" average, the result of much hard work by the student. "We believe in solid scholastic achievement, but find that what constitutes good work varies from grade to grade, individual to individual."

Rotarians hear:

Rouge river area cited for reforestation plan

Westmount Rotarians Wednesday heard a plea for land conservation in Canada.

The speaker was Manny R. Wilson, president of the Province of Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Clubs, and resident manager of the Grenville Woods for the Canadian International Paper Company.

To illustrate his point, Mr. Wilson related the experience in the Rouge River Valley of the Province of Quebec.

In the Rouge River watershed, he said, draining, as it does, some 2,000 square miles, 221 property owners have planted a total of 1,420,000 forest trees, in a reforestation move.

The valley in question, which is within easy reach of Montreal, Ottawa, the Eastern Ontario area and the North-Eastern United States, had several severe problems.

These included:

Many of the farms in the district had been abandoned.

Sawmill operators were running out of timber.

The rivers were becoming polluted.

There was no stable employment.

There were no well-managed picnic grounds.

Low tax revenues made it impossible to maintain community services in a healthy condition.

With the backing of the clergy,

War dead to be honored

West will hold its annual Remembrance Day ceremony as usual this year, it was announced this Wednesday.

It will take place at the War Memorial opposite City Hall beginning at 2:30 p.m. Sunday November 10 and citizens of Westmount and any relatives of the war dead listed on the monument are invited.

The service will be conducted by the Rev. J. N. Doidge, B.A., L.Th. Chaplain of the Royal Montreal Regiment. The RMR band will play the hymns "O Valliant Heart," "Abide with Me," and will sound the last post and reveille.

Wreaths will be laid by the City, by local military units as well as by a number of individuals.

The saluting base for the march past will be at the intersection of Cote St. Antoine road (North Side) and Stanton street.

Loyola Park

French sign removed

The controversial Loyola Park sign, in French only, has been quietly removed by the city Parks Department, and so far nothing has been done to replace it.

Yesterday details could not be obtained about what the Park proposes, but it was suggested that the sign will be replaced by a bilingual sign.

The controversy arose several weeks ago when nearby residents complained that the sign was in French only, and were unsatisfied with the explanation that later a sign in English only would be added.

Park Church

Senior Choir recital set for Sunday

Westmount Park Church Senior Choir, under the direction of organist and choir-master, Wayne K. Riddell, will present a recital of sacred music next Sunday afternoon at 4:30 p.m. in the Church located at Western and Lansdowne avenues.

Last spring, the choir won the Bach Trophy and a $500 scholarship in a Music Festival held in Montreal.

Sunday's recital will include sacred music from the 16th to the 20th centuries, and works of Purcell, Palestrina, Haesler, Mundy, Vaughn Williams and others will be performed. The evening church service has been cancelled for this week only.

Westmounters awarded for Red Feather roles

Three Westmounters have been awarded for their roles in this year's Red Feather campaign which fell just short of its goal of $2,305,000 objective, ten per cent more than collected last year.

Westmounter R. M. Everson chairman of the "Automotive" group received the John H. F. Turner Cup for having the highest percentage of his objective in the men's executive division.

Mrs. Dent Harrison, chairman for the Westmount North division was awarded the Sutherland Tray for being the first in a division with an objective of more than $5,000 to reach the highest percentage by 4 p.m. on the closing day of the campaign.

The Aird Nesbitt Cub, donated by the Westmount Brigadier which seemed to be significant in preventing a bigger increase in campaign returns, commented Mr. Carsley. "The first is that all sectors of the public have not added to their giving to match the new responsibilities of the Federation and back its efforts for campaign consolidation." Too many of our citizens say it is a fine thing to reduce the number of appeals but they pass on the price tag to their neighbors and fellow-citizens. The second factor is that in the past year or so new and urgent demands for support have been made on the business community and this affected especially the room for growth in the Men's Advance Gifts Division, which in my opinion

Mr. Carsley paid tribute to the work of many of the special guests, among them six Westmounters: N. S. Crerar, Chairman, Executive Division, Cecil Pascal, Chairman, Combined Jewish Appeal, Rev. Callum Thompson, Chairman, Church Liaison Committee, Mrs. J. S. Nixon, Deputy Chairman, Women's Division—Residential Canvas, Mr. Harold F. Kerrigan, President, Combined Health Appeal, Mr. Gavin Ross, Chairman, Special Division.

While short of the goal, general campaign chairman C. F.

Carsley termed the campaign "a very creditable effort," and said, "this has been one of the smoothest and fastest campaigns and I want to thank my divisional officers and all who have helped them to accomplish what has been done." The result announced was the total of all money presently collected or pledged, the value of outstanding cards believed to be productive plus expected funds from other sources.

Mr. Carsley told the gathering in the Ritz-Carlton Hotel that the $2,305,000 objective was "the lowest possible figure to meet the minimum requirements of the Red Feather agencies. The amount we sought was nearly 10% over what was raised last year."

There were two main factors which seemed to be significant in preventing a bigger increase in campaign returns, commented Mr. Carsley. "The first is that all sectors of the public have not added to their giving to match the new responsibilities of the Federation and back its efforts for campaign consolidation." Too many of our citizens say it is a fine thing to reduce the number of appeals but they pass on the price tag to their neighbors and fellow-citizens. The second factor is that in the past year or so new and urgent demands for support have been made on the business community and this affected especially the room for growth in the Men's Advance Gifts Division, which in my opinion did an outstanding job against heavy odds."

ONE OVERALL APPEAL

The chairman of the Red Feather drive pointed out to the campaign workers that "the large federated appeals of this city are losing hundreds of thousands of dollars annually because because we lack a united concentrated approach to management and the larger employee groups. I have a conviction that we shall not tap effectively or adequately the fund-raising of this great city until we have joined forces in one great appeal. One overall appeal would mean a resurgence of leadership and support, and to mention a great saving in time and money, and add unity to our ranks as citizens of one city."

This year's Red Feather campaign was notable for having gained the support of many community groups, said Mr. Carsley in thanking students from McGill and Sir George Williams Universities and Loyola and Marianopolis Colleges, representatives from organized labor, the Federal Civil Service Combined Appeal and the combined appeals conducted by various communities on the Lakeshore, for their valued assistance this year.

In thanking Mr. Carsley and his associates for their work, Red Feather president H. K. McLean said that he had watched the present campaign closely and knew just how much dedicated effort had gone into the effort.

Fish in danger of extinction

Detergent dangers stressed by hobbyists

The Montreal Aquarium Society, which meets on the second Tuesday of every month in the chemistry lab of Lower Canada College, Royal avenue, is currently conducting a double-barrelled campaign: an introduction to the art of fish-keeping, and bringing attention to the dangers of detergent pollution in water systems.

In a release given to each member, the dangers of detergents are given, stating that they do not break down into a simpler chemicals.

"The molecular size of these detergents," the release says, "are 1/1000th smaller than the ciliiform organisms necessary to convert sewage to soil products, and are therefore impossible to filter."

Round and about

In short, the detergents go down the drain into the sewage system, do not break down, find their way into lakes and streams, and eventually back through the water tap.

"Time will make this a national problem," the release goes on.

The Association believes that, while the amount of detergent now in water is not harmful to people, it threatens the very existence of the hobby of collecting tropical fish.

Symptoms of detergent poisoning, in order, are:

- Irrational swimming behavior;
- Thickening of oral region with mouth becoming soft and rubbery;
- Definite respiratory rate increase;
- Minute lesions accompanied by exotoxins leading to degeneration of epithelial tissues;
- Expiration — death.

The pamphlet urges that if detergents must be used, then legislation should be enacted to force their manufacture from a sugar, starch or alcohol base, which decompose more rapidly, but are more costly than the popular petroleum base detergents now on the markets.

The introduction to fish-keeping lists where to begin, whether to keep tropical or cold-water fish; lighting, the kind and quality of fish to keep; what the fish eat; changing water, and other important facets.

Anyone interested in further information can contact Lyle W. Hater, 73 Percival avenue, Montreal West.

'Little' accidents expensive

Each year, "little" accidents which seldom make the headlines, cost Canadians more than $3,000,000 according to the All Canada Insurance Federation.

Many of these accidents occur during the winter, and most could be avoided through care and attention. The Federation, which represents more than 220 Canadian fire, casualty and automobile insurance companies, makes these recommendations for the coming winter season:

- Keep sidewalks shovelled and clear of ice and snow at all times.
- Check exterior stairways and entrances for loose boards, nails and other dis-repair which might cause injury.
- Clear large icicles from the eaves. They can cause serious injury when they fall.
- Make sure that snow shovels, garden rakes, children's toys and similar items are kept clear of walks and not hidden under a deceptive layer of snow.
- Cover accessible steam and hot water pipes which might cause burns to the unwary.

Keystone Clubs

Leadership, service, citizenship factors for new Unity grouping

One of the most gratifying new ideas to become incorporated into Boys' Club programming across the country in many years has been the rapid development of "KEYSTONE CLUBS."

The development is indicative of the interest of Club staffs to follow through with their boy-guidance program to an older group, and provide the interests for an age group that has been a challenge to many Boys' Clubs Personnel.

Where 'Keystone Clubs' have been formed, enthusiastic acceptance and participation have been evident. The reception Keystone Clubs have received is ample evidence of the need they fill.

WHAT IS IT?

The general purpose of Keystone Clubs is: "To create and maintain high standards of health, education, character and citizenship in order to meet the responsibilities of our democratic way of life."

A Keystone Club is a service and citizenship oriented club for Boys' Club members in the senior age category.

Each Keystone Club has its own officers and committees to carry on the affairs of the club and an adult advisor who provides the necessary support and guidance.

A Boys' Club may sponsor more than one Keystone Club. In fact, this is very desirable since an individual Keystone Club would more likely face the danger of becoming an elite type of organization than would several clubs in a Boys' Club. More specifically the objectives are:

To give leadership and service to the Boys' Club in the community.

To train for useful citizenship. To strive for high standards of personal fitness and spiritual well-being.

To foster good will and understanding between groups and individuals.

To co-operate with local and national Boys' Club programs.

To enjoy each other's fellowship through a diversified program in which every member has a voice.

KEYSTONE CLUB

The Unity Boys' Club of Westmount, which is currently enjoying one of its most productive years in membership enrollment and program participation, has inaugurated a system of Group Clubs, one of which has already been identified as a Keystone Club.

Last Saturday, the group conducted the first of a series of projects for the forthcoming season by holding a 'Wash-a-thon' on club premises. Members of the group, consisting primarily of senior club members, worked extremely hard from 8.30 a.m. until 4.30 p.m. Other projects are being planned. It is expected that the Unity Keystone Club will play an important role in this year's Christmas Party.

RADIO STATION

The Unity Boys' Club Amateur Radio Class under the leadership of Arthur Strange, is one hobby which has many fascinations and opportunities for the young as well as the old. Every Saturday at the Club, members are being trained to become specialists in communications of tomorrow.

An amateur radio class, can enlarge the scope of knowledge in the training of boys. It can add to the number of activities, a field of technical and mechanical "know-how". All that is required is the desire to learn. Boys from ten years of age and up have become radio amateurs, regardless of previous training and experience.

The Unity Amateur Radio

Class are currently building their own transmitting and receiving set — a project that will take some six months to complete.

CINDERELLA

Auditions have been held recently for the production "Cinderella" which will be presented to members of the Club and their parents at the Club early in February.

The following have been selected for the play: Christine Henson, Lois Moore, Karen Hogan, Donald Roach, Bill Lucas, Georgia Bowers, Gary Heavysage, Sharon Syvret, Robert Laflamme, Laura Virgo, Vicky Rountree, Darlene Hogan, Nancy Dallas, Lynn Moore, Patti Ann Fernandes, Marie Virgo, Franca Mascuilli, Blair Marshall, Claudette Tremblay, Janet Morrissey, Sydney Strange, Andrew Strange, Billy Soltys, Wilma Richardson, Karen Gaucher, Ruth Collins, Debbie Standing, Margaret Morrissey, Morog McHugh.

Producer and director of Cinderella is Victoria Schrammel and the Assistant Director is Sandra Ives.

TALENT REHEARSALS

Rehearsals and auditions for the Unity Boys' Club Talent Parade are being conducted every Tuesday evening under the direction of Musical Director Fred Johnston and Choreographer Danny Smith.

Money, wits and wife required by Old Boys'

Bring your money, your wits and your wife check your guns — that's what the Westmount High Old Boys Association advise for Friday November 8. They are planning "A Night in Las Vegas" featuring games of chance as well as the annual reunion.

Proceeding begin at 8 p.m. in the Officers' Mess, 3 Hillside avenue, Westmount.

This year's association officials are John J. Pepper, Richard Lord, John Waterston, J. Snyder, P. Johnston, Jim Patrick and Richard Holden.

The Old Boys' Association was formed by Brig.-Gen. J. Aird Nesbitt and the late H. H. Worsfold, senior Latin teacher, so that graduates could maintain an interest in one another, the school and its staff. It is open to all who have attended or taught at Westmount High.

Activities have been many and varied. During World War II cigarettes were sent overseas to Old Boys and an honor roll maintained.

Contributions by members have made it possible to award the Howard H. Mussells Memorial Scholarship in memory of a former chemistry teacher at WHS.

The Doug Smail Memorial Trophy is presented to the winner of the Annual WHS-Proctor Academy football game. The Lt. Smail was one of the greatest athletes in the history of the school.

An award of honor is presented to the boy who during his graduation year has performed the greatest service to the school, and who has best combined the qualities of honor, scholarship and sportsmanship.

Rink now enclosed

Workmen are today putting finishing touches on the two partitions enclosing the Westmount Skating Rink. This completes an operation started last winter when ornamental iron windows were installed around the sides of the arena.

It is now possible to lock up the arena at night and the city plans to dispense with the services of the nightwatchman currently on patrol there.

Contractor for the job is the firm of Pollock-McGibbon. Cost of the aluminum and glass partitions and doors is $5,182.

STEPHAN KONDAKS OBTAINS RARE INSTRUMENT

A local musician, Stephan Kondaks, of Earnscliffe avenue, who is regarded as one of Canada's finest instrumentalists, has fulfilled a long time ambition — to own a viola masterpiece.

He has searched a long time, was in touch with people who buy rare instruments, and after a long, patient wait, was informed by Rembert Wurlitzer (of the celebrated Wurlitzer Organ family) that he had negotiations going through for some instruments by world-famous makers and there was a Gasparo da Salo viola among the collection.

Mr. Kondaks hopes were about to be realized. Shortly after, Mr. Wurlitzer contacted the local violist again and told him he had acquired this remarkable accumulation of stringed instruments from Vienna. Included are violins made by Stradivarius, Guernierius and Geoffriller.

The cherished instrument arrived last week and with it a certificate with a complete and authentic history. It was made by the Italian master craftsman, Gasparo da Salo (1540-1609) and the exact year is not certain. It is thought to have been made in his later years, around 1565-1600 and bears his original undated label. It is considered one of da Salo's finest examples. In order to insure its authenticity, there are photographs attached to prove these facts.

Gasparo de Salo (whose name was really di Bertolotti) was born at Brescia, Italy and lived in that city throughout his life. He was the grandson of a lute maker, Santino di Bertolotti and was one of the first to make the violin in the modern mode. He is especially celebrated for his matchless violas and double basses therefore Stephan Kondaks is really fortunate to procure this rare specimen.

One other celebrity who owns one of da Salo's masterpieces was Louis Bailly, Mr. Kondak's teacher, who has now passed it on to Joseph di Pasquale, first violist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. One of the great viola players of his time, Louis Bailly (born in 1882) was a first prize winner upon graduation from the Paris Conservatoire. Later he was a member of the celebrated Flonzaley Quartet, which J. A. Gauvin brought to Montreal several times. It was the first visiting string quartet that my late mother took me to hear as a child.

I have often said that fate plays an important role in our lives and I think that in this instance fate was kind to Stephan Kondaks because not many days after the Montreal musician received his treasured viola, Mr. Rembert Wurlitzer died in New York City (Monday, October 21).

In his obituary, it was stated that he was the leading authority in the United States and an internationally-known expert on the authenticity, quality and price for rare instruments. Grandson of Rudolph Wurlitzer, founder of the famous Wurlitzer Organ and Piano Company, Rembert Wurlitzer had his own shop in New York since 1949.

We are sure that Stephan Kondaks is enjoying his newly acquired rare old masterpiece.

WHS graduates of yesteryear

Where are they now?

By MARCY PELLY

It is often interesting to speculate on what becomes of Westmount High graduates. Naturally, they are successful in whatever they attempt, but what do they attempt?

Well, take the case of the five young men who graduated from Westmount in 1955. Soon they may be taking your case. It is unusual that all five, John McFarlane, Abbott Smith, John Lockheed, Duncan McCrimmon, and Martin Raff, chose medicine and all graduated in it from McGill in 1963.

The first four are interning at the Montreal General Hospital, while Mr. Raff is taking his training at the Royal Victoria Hospital. Westmount High is proud of these boys, and hope they continue with increased success in the future.

Last Friday night the Junior School of Westmount High held a Halloween dance. There was an exceptionally good crowd of approximately 300 students. The dance was a great success, under the organization of the Junior Committee, advised by Mr. Barr. The orchestra was the Sky Liners. Wigs for glamor or for necessity

By Millicent Hickmore

If you wear a wig for glamor or for necessity, the place to go for service is "Rosalie". This wig salon recently opened at 1243 Greene avenue, is owned and operated by Mrs. A. R. Fallows and her husband.

"You would be surprised", Mrs. Fallows said, "at the number of women, who with thinning hair or partial bald spots, resort to wigs, or partial hairpieces, which is the reason we run a pickup and delivery service." The wigs picked up in the morning are returned the same day. "Women who are accustomed to wearing wigs are self-conscious without them," she remarked.

Wigs at Rosalie's are custom made from human hair and are available on the budget plan. The salon stocks, partial hairpieces, false eyelashes and men's toupees, also accessories, such as shower and night bonnets.

The women's wigs and partial hairpieces, Mrs. Fallows said, are held on by special little combs, or bobby pins and are made quite fast. The men's toupees, depending on the amount of scalp to cover, are treated with a special glue or special tape which provides suction and are held rigid.

False eyelashes, she continued, are very popular, some are made from real hair and those made from fur including mink, are most beautiful — both are self adhesive. Wigs today are quite the trend, when one can be a brunette today and a redhead tomorrow.

CONVERSATION PIECE: Congratulations are in order for Martin and Janis Goodman, on the birth of their son, Jonathan Wise, born in Washington, D.C. on October 14, Marty, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Goodman, reside at 4842 Victoria avenue, is well known in the West End.

THE OPEN AIR LOOK: Elizabeth Arden is advocating the open air look this autumn, radiant, contemporary and a perfect complement to current fashion. Highlight of the make-up is Saratoga red, in lipstick, cream rouge and nail lacquer. Saratoga red is a clear vibrant shade with just a hint of orange and completely rules out the pale lipsticks of summer.

Complexions too, take on illumination and eye make-up appears absolutely natural. To achieve your own interpretation of The Open Air Look visit Miss Arden's consultant (Continued on page 11)

The World Series home run record still stands at 15 by Babe Ruth — a mark compiled between 1921 and 1923. The Babe also holds the record for most series batting .300 or better — he did it six times. The highest Series batting average belongs to Frank (Home Run) Baker. Dividing his time between the Yankees and the Athletics, he rolled up a fantastic .363 total Series batting average in the years between 1910 and 1922.

Proper heat system is big help to housekeeping

One often-overlooked source of grime in the average home is the heating system, and there's really no need for such troubles. Modern heating units can aid materially in keeping your home and its furnishings free of tell-tale smudges, streaks and dust.

If you have the old-fashioned, cast iron radiators in your home, you know what a chore it is to clean them thoroughly. Even if you have a modern attachment for your vacuum cleaner, it's practically impossible to get all the collected dust and dirt out of the hidden recesses of the radiator.

For this reason, as well as for good looks, new smooth-surfaced units such as convector-radiators are being installed in new homes. Most remodeling jobs today also involve the replacement of the old-fashioned heating unit with a newer, more attractive unit such as the popular convector-radiator.

Convectors ease the cleaning problem greatly, in addition to providing more comfortable, more economical heat. The convector cabinet is easily dusted with a flick of the wrist, and the front panel can easily be removed once a year if a thorough dusting of the interior is desired.

Convectors are noteworthy for the clean heat they deliver, since no dirt or dust-laden air is circulated from other rooms or from the basement, as in some heating systems.

The convector circulates only air from within one room, and does it in a manner that leaves no wall smudges or streaks. Convectors work on steam or hot water systems, which in themselves are quite clean.

Take a look around your house now. How much of the dust and discoloration is lodged in or can be traced to the heating units? Solve this problem and you've materially reduced your cleaning chores the year round.

New plastic laminates aid fix-up

Fine woodgrains, marbles, and gleaming travertines are but a few of the handsome effects achieved by the many versatile laminated plastics in use for home improvement.

Only the closest inspection of the material discloses that it is a high pressure laminated "veneer".

Of particular interest to the home owner is the fact that these materials can be applied by the do-it-yourself fan, as well as by the professional.

On walls, laminated plastics may be applied in shower and bathrooms, backsplashes in the kitchen, wall paneling for rooms, on flush doors and as the exterior finish for built-in furniture.

It has also proven to be ideal for use on counter and table tops, sink tops, breakfast nooks, bathroom vanity tops as well as a great many other vertical surfaces.

The laminated plastic sheets are applied directly to a flat surface with an adhesive mastic. A complete assortment of mouldings in a similar pattern to the sheets are generally available for use with the plastic surfacing.

The advantages of the homeowners, in the use of plastic surfacing, are many. It may be cleaned with soap and water, and polished with furniture polish or liquid wax. Difficult stains can be removed with powdered cleansers, and the color remains forever.

Consider rugs when cleaning

Rugs should really be given constant consideration if they are to retain their beauty and deep, luxurious pile. A thorough vacuuming at least once a week is imperative. For daily care, a carpet sweeper is excellent. Rugs should be shampooed twice a year.

A good rug should never be laid in one position too long. This will cause it to wear unevenly. For this reason, it is wise to turn a rug end to end at least once each year.

Good rugs tell so much about a home. They indicate a true appreciation for such things, and for the home itself. In such homes, too, hospitality is usually revealed in many ways — all warm and sincere.

In welcoming friends into their homes, many hosts and hostesses greet their guests with a sparkling carbonated soft drink. The reason for this is not hard to find. The keen flavor always sets a happy mood. Young and old alike enjoy soft drinks and they make a happy prelude to a hearty meal.

Newspaper are more than purveyors of news; they also have a hand in creating it by digging it out of new sources who don't realize they have a news story.

Bob Keene's PLATTER MATTER

RCA Victor: Those music lovers who were fortunate to hear the superb concert by the Boston Symphony Orchestra among the opening series at the Place des Arts, will be interested in some recent discs of the great orchestra under its dynamic new conductor Erich Leinsdorf.

Undoubtedly the most colorful orchestra-wise, is the Richard Strauss Ein Heldenleben (A Hero's Life) on LSC-2641, for Strauss was always a master of the big effect, lofty majestic themes rich with brass, and the whole symphonic works playing at the same time. This one turns out to be a musical portrait of himself, boisterous, romantically charming, flamboyant, the music containing some of his well-known themes from other works, climaxing in a lovely duet between violinist Joseph Silverstein and French horn James Stagliano. A real show-piece!

By far the most interesting and usual, is the premier recording of the Dello Joio: Fan- tasy and Variations on LSC-2667 with young Lorin Hollander at the piano. A modern work, it is crisp and rhythmic, a next mixture of bluesy and jazz themes with both orchestra and piano vying for the limelight in its presentation. This refreshing newcomer is matched with the Ravel, Concerto in G another modern, but some 30 years older and thus mellower in style, nevertheless a racy and witty work with a beautiful adagio movement.

Mr. Hollander, who you may remember as a shy young soloist a few years back on the Perry Como show, turns in a stunning performance of these technically tricky pieces, and for our money this is one of the most exciting records of 1963.

Finally, a superb reading by the Boston Symphony of the under-rated Mahler: Symphony No. 1 on LSC-2642 for us, a very pleasant work, simply constructed and easy to listen to, a recommended representation of this composer.

14 St. Antoine-Westmount NDP's debate formation of new Socialist party

University of Montreal professor Jacques Yvon Morin said Saturday that formation of the new French-speaking Quebec Socialist Party (PSQ) was a difficult step to take, but essential because "French Canada will not accept the welfare state if it does not come from Quebec."

Professor Morin was addressing a symposium in Victoria Hall entitled "The Sixties, Quebec's Socialist Decade," sponsored by the St. Antoine-Westmount NDP Association.

He said that it would be a mistake to believe that progress in Quebec started with Premier Lesage. And Liberals in Quebec "have lost control of their revolution," he added.

"The future of socialism in Quebec is in the PSQ," Professor Morin maintained. "When we have achieved that then we can talk like men at the federal level."

A second speaker at the symposium, David Lewis, a national vice-president of the New Democratic Party said he opposed the entry of the new party because it represented only one segment of Canada's population.

"It pains me to hear the statement that the left wing in Quebec is concerned with Quebec and not the rest of Canada," he said. "You can't ask an NDP man representing only nine of Canada's ten provinces to understand what you mean unless you are there."

A third panalist, Charles Taylor

professor of political science at McGill accused the PSQ of refusing to make an attempt to put the nationalist sentiments of Quebec in a framework of honest social objectives."

The NDP, he said, unlike the PSQ, firmly believes in the idea of co-operative federalism.

Chairman for the discussion was Professor Michael Oliver, a resident of Grosvenor avenue and political science professor at McGill.

Mrs. Henderson elected by Lawn Bowlers

Mrs. John Henderson of the Westmount Lawn Bowling Club was recently elected treasurer of the Province of Quebec Ladies Lawn Bowling Association. Immediate past president, Mrs. Gilbert Hill, also from Westmount, becomes press representative.

New president is Mrs. H. Flook. Other officers are: Mrs. S. Larbalestier, vice president; Mrs. Ludlam Hawkins, secretary; Mrs. C. J. Weeks, match chairman.

Traffic problems may be discussed by Park H&S

The first general meeting of the newly formed Westmount Park Home and School Association takes place Monday November 11.

On the agenda for the evening is the election of officers, a "meet the teachers" session and a possible discussion of traffic safety problems around the school. The Westmount Commissioners have indicated that they may invite City Aldermen and traffic safety experts to the meeting to discuss what might be done to protect the young children from the heavy traffic in the area.

The primary purpose of a newspaper is to bring you the news and enable you to keep that news with you as long as you wish.

Mammoth TV auction sale to be conducted by Lions on Saturday

A mammoth TV auction sale, the first of its kind to be held here will be seen and heard over Channel 12 next Saturday morning from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at which over $50,000 worth of goods will be auctioned off to the viewing public for the benefit of the Province of Quebec Society for Crippled Children.

The TV auction is being sponsored by 23 Lions Clubs of the district of which there are over 900 members. The Lions Clubs have pledged themselves to raise $35,000 to assist in the building of a new dining hall for the summer camp located at St. Alphonse, Que. in the Laurentians.

The items will be auctioned off and the bidders will bid from a list of articles to be advertised in the press and which may be seen in this week's issue

Over $40,000 worth of merchandise has been collected and will be put up for auction. A battery of phones have been installed to receive calls from bidders on articles to be shown on the TV screen. Among the articles to be auctioned are a swimming pool completely installed, a Chevrolet car, a live steer, two sheep, a pony, a dog and hundreds of other items TV sets, refrigerators, washing machines, etc. All sales will be for cash with travellers cheques accepted.

Teamwork is secret of success, says VPH President

Team work is the answer of the tremendous amount of work which confronts the staff of the Verdun Protestant Hospital stated D. Ross McMaster, Q.C., President of the Hospitals Board of Management in addressing the graduating class of 1963 when 56 graduates were given their prizes and awards at the hospital last week.

"The Verdun Protestant Hospital is no ordinary hospital but is recognized as the finest of its kind on the continent," he said.

The hospital is now looking after, as at September 30, 1963, a total of 2,726 patients. Of this number, 1,562 were in residence, 81 were on Home care, 1,074 were listed with the After-Care Clinic, and nine children were in residence in the Adolescent Unit.

The co-operation of a host of people — doctors, nurses, nursing assistants, volunteers, social workers, physiotherapists, occupational therapists, pharmacists, dieticians, and technicians, together with the office staff, the administrative personnel and many others has made this possible.

Obviously, medical care in an institution such as this is a most complicated affair and calls for team work of the highest order.

"The patients you care for are ill — just like patients in other hospitals. I suggest, however, that the illnesses of your patients are, in the main, not the same as those found in other hospitals. In the circumstances, you are obliged to have more than ordinary patience and more than ordinary understanding in your relationships with your patients.

The senior team from LCC is coached by Mr. Wood and they trounced Marymount decisively on Friday afternoon by 27-12.

Congratulations to all three teams on a perfect week!

Wanderers earn 5th shutout stampeding Buffaloes 95-0

The Westmount Wanderers scored their fifth shutouts in nine games last Saturday when they stampeded the Buffaloes 95-0 in the Black Section of the Draft Touch Football League.

"Sonny" Gavin the league's leading scorer added four touchdowns to his season's total to lead the Wanderer attack. Other scorers were Bill McNally, George Christie, and John McCabe.

In other Black Section games last Saturday, Powderuffs moved into a third place tie with the Westies by edging that team, 30-28. Dick Shadley and Dunc McNeill each scored two TDs for the Powderuffs. In the third game, Lakeshore defeated the Drifters 42-27.
