Queen's Condition Is Unchanged

London—(AP)—Doctors attending Queen Mary said today the 85-year-old queen grandmother had a less comfortable night but her general condition remains unchanged.

She has been confined to bed for the last three weeks at Marlborough House, her residence, with a recurrence of gastric trouble.

Queen Mary's oldest son the Duke of Windsor, who interrupted a Florida vacation to visit her, went to Paris by train last night on business. He is expected back in Britain in a few days before sailing back to the United States.

Einstein Comes Out Of Seclusion

Princeton, N.J.—(AP)—Prof. Albert Einstein yesterday emerged from his customary seclusion and discussed his revolutionary new theory aimed at explaining all physicial laws.

At a press conference after a reception in honor of his 74th birthday Saturday, Einstein said that his Unified Field Theory is mathematically correct, but he has not yet been able to demonstrate that it is physically true.

The theory seeks to explain gravity, magnetism and electricity in one series of mathmetical equations.

"There are ways of showing which laws are mathematically correct," he said. "The mathematical difficulty is to find out if the whole theory has to do with nature—if it is true in the ordinary sense

Asked why he became a scientist, Einstein said he saw a compass when he was five and learned about plane geometry when he was 12, and that those "stimuli" apparently "had considerable influence on my development."

He was informed at the reception that a new college under Jewish auspices was to be called the Albert Einstein College of Medicine.

Malenkov Sounds Peaceful But West Awaits Action To Match His Statements

Soviet Premier Declares There Are No Issues That Cannot Be Solved Peacefully.

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow — (AP) — The more than 1,000 members of the Supreme Soviet yesterday unanimously confirmed Georgi M. Malenkov as the Soviet Union's prime minister and cheered his inaugural assertion that all "troublesome and unsolved" issues with other countries can be solved peacefully.

In Washington, government officials said they were studying Malenkov's words but commented that the sincerity of any peace overtures would be shown better by action rather than words.

As in his funeral oration over Stalin's bier a week ago, Malenkov in his address yesterday again stressed a policy of peace.

"At the present and in the future," he said, "there is no such troublesome or unsolved question which cannot be solved by peaceful means."

This, he continued in a specific reference, applies to the Soviet Union's relations with all countries including the United States.

Not once did Malenkov refer to "warmongers" or to American "imperialists." Both these terms have been absent from pronouncements of Soviet leaders and the Soviet press since Stalin's death.

Malenkov said his new government's foreign policies are based on respect for the rights of other countries, "strict adherence to all treaties" signed by the Soviet Union, and co-operation and development of business relations with all nations, whether communist or capitalist.

The Soviet Union, he went on, will draw even tighter its links with its allies, and especially with communist China and the "people's democracies" of Eastern Europe.

On the home front, Malenkov said, his government will work for five things: To make the state even more powerful, tighten the bonds among the Soviet Union's various nationalities, strengthen the armed forces, better standards of living and guarantee the "unity" of party and government.

The two legislative houses—the Soviet of the Union and Soviet of Nationalities — met for only one hours and seven minutes, then adjourned and headed for home. During the session they also confirmed the other members of Malenkov's regime named after Stalin's death and approved a sweeping government reorganizations streamlining the previous 54 minorities down to 26.

Malenkov's nomination as prime minister was put before the delegates yesterday by Lavrenti P. Beria, new interior minister and a first deputy prime minister. Beria termed Malenkov a "talented pupil of Lenin and a true comrade in arms of Stalin."

After his speech, Malenkov said the new government reorganization all was planned while Stalin was still alive.

In addition to Beria, he designated Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, Defence Minister Marshal Nikolai Bulganin and Lazarus M. Kaganovich as "first deputy" prime ministers. A. I. Mikoyan, minister for foreign and internal trade, was listed as "deputy prime minister."

Washington — (AP) — Eisenhower administration officials today studied Soviet Premier Malenkov's latest words of peace in search of the answer to this question: Is the new regime in Moscow actually interested in trying to improve relations between Russia and the United States?

Officials said that fundamentally the true test of sincerity would lie in the action rather than in words, whether spoken by Malenkov or anyone else in Moscow. There are many issues on which the Soviet could demonstrate good intention by specific action, ranging from an easing of tensions in Germany to a Korean armistice.

Nevertheless, top administration officials evidently believe, as State Secretary John Foster Dulles said a week ago, that with new personalities in control in Russia and the U.S., there may be new opportunities to work for peace.

Malenkov's assurances of peaceful Soviet policy are being discussed here in the light of this approach to world affairs.

Some high officials privately suggested that Malenkov's assertions before the Supreme Soviet parliament in Moscow Sunday fit into a pattern of reaction to the line which Dulles took in a careful statement he made in New York last week.

Dulles said the death of Stalin marked the end of an era and that it came shortly after Eisenhower had become president in this country. He expressed the view that Stalin's death, ending his "malignant" influence, would enhance chances for peace.

Malenkov said yesterday there were no controversial issues with the U.S. or any other nation that could not be settled peacefully.

Experts on Soviet relations suggested that what Malenkov said was in most respects about as vague as anything Stalin ever said about peace.

Experts on Soviet history and conduct said that, quite apart from the question of whether Malenkov sincerely is putting forth an olive

US Merchant Navy Largest In World

Washington. —(AP)— The maritime administration said today the United States, which ranked second as a merchant marine country before the war, now ranks first, with nearly a third of the world's commercial shipping.

The report disclosed that U. S. shipping grew 335 per cent during the Second World War, but has declined about a third since then.

Russia's merchant fleet including ships of Latvian and Estonian registry had the second biggest growth during the war—70 per cent.

The British Empire fleet was the only other major shipping group to some out of the war bigger than before. Despite war losses of 11,500,000 tons out of 14,500,000 sunk by enemy action the British Empire fleet was 2-per-cent larger June 30, 1956, than on Sept. 1, 1939.

Italy suffered the largest proportionate war loss—82 per cent. Losses of the other major merchant shipping powers in the world, the maritime administration said were:

Germany, 80 per cent; Japan, 79 per cent; Greece, 64 per cent; France, 49 per cent; Netherlands, 40 per cent; Norway, 35 per cent; all other countries 11 per cent.

As a whole, world commercial shipping at the end of the Second World War was 21-per-cent larger than it began—from 12,798 ships totalling 58,270,000 tons to 12,445 ships totalling 71,000,000 tons.

This tonnage growth despite fewer ships emphasized the maritime administration's summary of shipping changes over the 13 years to the end of 1951. It said:

"There were more freighters and tankers, though less passenger ships at the close of 1951, than there were at the outbreak of war in 1939. Ships generally are newer, larger and faster. Specialized types are being built in rising numbers to carry petroleum products, iron ore, bauxite and other commodities in world commerce.

During the war, the report said, the United States built and delivered to U. S. and foreign fleets 33,500,000 tons of shipping. This was four times the size of the U.S. fleet before the war and 60 per cent as large as the world per-war fleet.

The maritime administration gave these tonnage figures for the 10 major merchant shipping powers before the Second World War, with changes for June 30, 1946, and Dec. 31, 1951:

British Empire—17,771,000, 18,064,000 and 18,844,000;

United States — 8,126,000; 35,364,000 and 25,208,000;

Japan — 5,102,000, 1,086,000 and 2,087,000;

Norway — 4,499,000, 2,934,000 and 5,470,000;

Germany — 3,916,000, 801,000 and 841,000;

Italy — 3,178,000, 576,000 and 2,862,000;

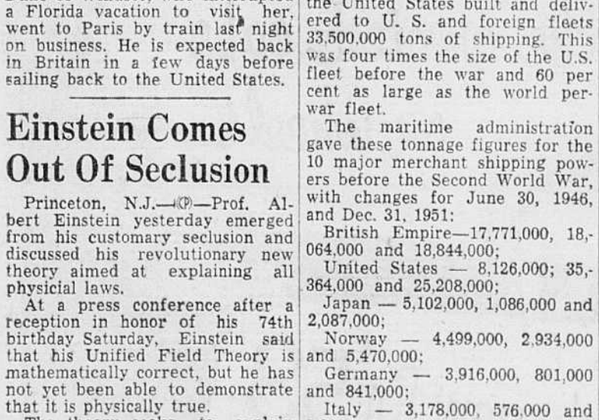

France — 2,678,000, 1,591,000 and 3,109,000;

Netherlands — 2,670,000, 1,591,000 and 2,882,000;

Greece — 1,698,000, 619,000 and 1,200,000;

U.S.S.R. — 1,135,000, 1,917,000 and 1,973,000.

Taipeh, Formosa. —(AP)— The Chinese Nationalist news agency today said a small band of guerillas raided a Communist co-operative 10 miles southwest of Canton Feb. 28 and seized and executed four Red officials of both sexes. It did not say how many of the four were women.

"THE MURDERED" — British and West German attendants at Hamburg Hospital take care of the sheet-covered body of one of the five British crewmen killed when Soviet-type fighters shot down a British Lincoln bomber. Two other crewmen were seriously wounded in the "incident". A British note of protest to Soviet Zone commander in Germany, Gen. Vassily I. Chuikov, charged the Red airmen with "murder."

Reaction To Malenkov's Speech Cool

Paris— (Reuters) —(AP)—Georgi Malenkov, Stalin's successor, left most western observers wondering over his cryptic "peace" message delivered yesterday to the Supreme Soviet legislative body.

French newspapers today generally gave it a cool reception.

Most considered Malenkov's words would have been more convincing without the recent shooting-down of American and British planes in Germany by Russian and Cezch fighters — Malenkov failed to mention them.

The Socialist Le Populaire wrote: "To Malenkov's statements proclaiming Russia's will to peace and the possibility of co-existence of the Stalinized world and the free world, the bursts of machine-gun fire of the Migs reply like a sarcastic and sinister echo."

"A grinning and criminal farce," it said.

Action, not words, are needed on Korea, Indo-China, the Austrian treaty, disarmament and control of atomic energy before the west will be convinced, said the Conservative Figaro of Paris.

In Britain, press reception was mainly cool.

But the Conservative Yorkshire Post saw some hope: "Few as they were, Mr. Malenkov's words to the Supreme Soviet constitutes a statement that deserves to be carefully weighed."

The London Daily Telegraph, also a Conservative paper, reasoned Malenkov is playing for time until he feels his own job is secure.

The Conservative Daily Mail declared: "Though Malenkov speaks softly, his airmen behave brutally."

Elections Will Decide Fate Of Japan's Premier Yoshida

By JIM BECKER

Tokyo — (AP) — Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida and his political opponents are squared off for new national elections that will decide the fate of the little man who has led Japan for five years.

The 74-year-old premier, fighting for his political life, called the elections Saturday after the lower house of the Diet (parliament) passed a vote of non-confidence in him.

Instead of resigning after the vote, as his opponents wanted, Yoshida dissolved the lower house and took his case squarely to the people.

He set a tentative date of April 19 for the balloting.

The elections will give about 45,000,000 voters—slightly more than half of them women—a chance to decide if Yoshida has tied his country too closely to the U.S., as some opponents charge, and is following too "reactionary" a line in internal policies.

The voters will choose all 466 members of the lower house.

Half the 250 members of the upper house of councillors, which roughly correspond to Britain's House of Lords, will stand for election a few days later.

The three major opposition parties—Progressives, Rightist Socialists and Leftist Socialists—jammed their non-confidence motion through the lower house with the aid of 22 members of Yoshida's own Liberal party. The vote was 229-218.

The crumbling Liberal party split formally after the voting, when Ichiro Hatoyama, who founded the party, announced he was forming a new group for the elections.

Hatoyama and about 35 other dissident Liberals decided to form a new political party today. They call their group the "Liberal party," the same name Yoshida's party uses. Japanese newspapers call it the "New Liberal party" to avoid confusion.

Yoshida's party headquarters today expelled 34 "traitors" including all 22 rebels who voted against the prime minister Saturday.

The opposition parties based their motion on three bills backed by Yoshida that they say would lead Japan back down the road to the wartime police state.

The bills would give more government control over education and police and ban strikes in coal and electric industries.

London — (AP) — Japanese Premier Shigeru Yoshida, who has just dissolved the Diet (parliament), is trying to restore the self-respect of the Japanese people while at the same time winning the confidence of the outside world, the independent Times says in an editorial today.

"He has not hesitated to make certain changes," the Times says. "The Saibatsu combines have been revived; he has introduced a bill to restore centralized control over the police.

"But he will not embark on large-scale rearmament, nor will he revise the constitution to permit the restoration of an army, navy and air force.

"The Japanese electors will now have to say definitely whether they wish to leave the middle of the road."

The Liberal Manchester Guardian calls it "a pity" that the Japanese government fell "because Mr. Yoshida has been a good prime minister."

Noting that some of Yoshida's own Liberal party followers contributed to his down fall by lining up against him on a vote of no confidence, the Guardian commented:

"This quite artificial crisis comes at a time of falling production in Japan, growing economic difficulty because of import restrictions by the sterling area, and threats of strikes.

"In the eyes of the outside world Mr. Yoshida has lost no credit during the transactions. The same cannot be said of the Japanese government."

Security Restrictions Are Imposed As Tito Arrives For Visit To U.K.

London —(AP)— Yugoslav President Tito began his historic official visit to Britain and the Western world today as Scotland yard clamped unusual security restrictions on London's 8,000,000 to protect the black sheep of world communism from possible assassins.

The anti-Soviet but still Communist Balkan leader arrived for his five-day official visit aboard the Yugoslav naval training ship Galeb Seagull, which anchored last night in the Thames estuary, 35 miles downriver from London.

A thick morning fog delayed for four hours the start of the formal trip up the river. During the delay, Tito could be seen from the air pacing the deck impatiently.

The exact hour this afternoon when he would come up the river to Westminster pier, near the House of Parliament, was kept secret.

Prime Minister Churchill, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and the Duke of Edinburgh, were to meet Tito at the river side. Other cordialities will include lunch with the Queen at Buckingham Palace.

Time of the royal luncheon and other events, including high-level policy talks, are being kept secret as a safety precaution.

Scotland Yard ordered Westminster pier closed to the public from noon until 4 p.m. today (7 to 11 a.m. EST). All shipping was warned to keep on the opposite side of the river channel between 2:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. (9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. EST).

Extra detectives have been called in from the provinces to help guard Tito from possible assassination attempts.

Officers of the Scotland Yard special security branch and the MI-5, the country's top secret service agency, have asked the thousands of Yugoslavs living here—many as refugees from Tito's Red regime—to report any rumors of plots on his life.

Four British destroyers and a torpedo boat formed a cordon around the heavily-guarded Galeb last night. All other shipping was ordered to keep at least 400 yards away.

An escort of 13 motorcycle patrolmen, all wearing bullet-proof vests, was detailed to shepherd Tito's bullet-proof car as he travels about the city. The location of the house where he will stay has not been disclosed.

Police reserves patrolled last night at an anti-Tito protest meeting called by Sir Oswald Moseley's Union movement, an outgrowth of Moseley's pre-war black-shirted Fascist faction.

An official of the Yugoslav embassy told reporters yesterday: "To put it bluntly, one power is not pleased Marshal Tito is coming here. We may have enemies, even in London."

Just what Tito will discuss with British statesmen during his stay here has not been divulged.

The official Yugoslav news agency quoted him yesterday as saying:

"The main thing is that we exchange views and get to know each other's views on international questions and questions concerning our two countries and reach some understanding."

U.N. Planes Attack Rail Yard

By GEORGE A. MCARTHUR

Seoul — (AP) — Allied planes roared into the dawn today and plastered a rail yard deep in northwest Korea into a smoking shambles.

Other U.S. fighter-bombers swarmed down on the supply route between Wonsan and Yangdok on the east coast. Pilots reported 26 Red trucks destroyed and 75 damaged.

Screening Sabre jets tangled with Communist MIG 15s and shot down one of the Red fighter planes, the U.S. 5th air force reported.

F-84 Thunderjets hit the rail yards at Chongju and set off a series of secondary explosions. At least 17 box cars were destroyed, the air force said. Chongju is in MIG alley on the west coast.

Along the ground front, probing beams from Allied searchlights flushed Red infantry just before daybreak and at least 50 Communists were chopped up in a hail of explosives from UN artillery guns.

Last night 18 B-29 Superforts smashed at two Red supply centres near Pyongyang, the Red Korean capital, in the biggest Superfort raid of the month.

The 8th army reported Allied tanks and artillery ripped into Red positions with telling effect last week. A weekly report showed 845 Red bunkers destroyed or damaged and 740 Communist gun positions smashed.

Atomic Test Will Be Made On Houses

Atom Bomb Site, Nev.—(AP)—A little white house is due to take a fearful pounding tomorrow, in an atomic attack.

Fortunately, this house is in the middle of sprawling Yucca Flat, atomic testing grounds.

There—as 1,000 troops and a group of 20 picked reporters crouch in foxholes—the two-storey frame-and-concrete structure will be put to a fiery atomic test.

It may or may not withstand the blast from a tower less than 1½ miles away. Another house only 3,500 feet from the tower is expected to be demolished.

It may be a "bomb" to the average man, but tomorrow's test object is still a "device" to Dr. Alvin C. Graves and his fellow scientists. He said neither a shell nor a bomb is being detonated. But the device will still pack a punch equivalent to 15,000 tons of TNT.

Troops and front-line newspaper men will be dug in two miles south of the tower.

There are 19 dummies in the home—seven of them in two bomb shelters in the basement. The rest are in the living room, dining room and an upstairs bedroom.

The typical family picture is expected to be rudely shattered, but civil defence project director Harold I. Goodwin and his aides hope that the bomb shelter groups will weather the explosion.

Visually, the explosion will not be as photogenic as last year's televised shot, Dr. Graves predicted. Being so close to the ground, the burst will pick up more dirt and dust.

The pressure on the front-line soldiers will push with an extra force of one pound per square inch. The heat rise will be one calorie per square centimetre, enough to give "a slight reddening of the skin—like a good sunburn, nothing more," Graves said.

Seventy automobiles and trucks are scattered within an 8,000-foot radius of the shot tower.

A few contain dummy families on perhaps their last outing.

From all this, civil defence experts may learn which is safer under A-bomb attack, a home or a car.

The AEC is conducting its usual bio-medical studies on various animals placed in bunkers as close as 400 yards to the detonation tower. These animals include dogs, pigs, monkeys, rabbits and mice. uuov9 fencp 01

Narriman Wants Son Returned

Cairo — (Reuters) — Ex-Queen Narriman's family today signalled the start of a legal battle to have her infant son, King Ahmed Fuad II, returned to Egypt.

Madam Nahima Kamel, grandmother of Farouk's estranged wife, announced application for the return of the 14-months-old monarch will be made at the same time Narriman files a divorce suit in Egyptian courts.

Proceedings will start soon after the 19-year-old former queen and her mother fly back here Thursday, she said.

"Narriman's greatest grief was in parting from her son," Madame Kamel said. "She will apply for his custody in divorcing Farouk."

The baby king remained under Albanian body guards today at Farouk's 40-room villa outside of Rome. In an open letter to a Rome newspaper pleading for his red-haired wife's return, the 33-year-old exiled king declared to her:

"Remember always that I love our baby and must always have love for you because there is a part of your blood and of your spirit in him."

RAF Planes Will Avoid Soviet Zone

High Wycombe, Eng. — (AP) — The RAF bomber command will give Communist-controlled territory a wide berth when it launches a gigantic six-day exercise over Western Germany and the continent at dusk today.

This was announced by its leader Air Chief Marshal Sir High P. Lloyd, as the air crews made ready to take off. Sir Hugh said the planes, now as always, will not go within 30 miles of the line dividing East and West Germany. They will not use the international corridor to Berlin.

This was described as a "business-as-usual" move by Sir Hugh. The plans for the operation were worked out before the recent incidents involving Communist piloted planes and British and American aircraft. Seven British fliers died when an unarmed bomber was shot down and the United States lost a jet fighter in a similar attack by Communist planes Tuesday.

Sir Hugh said the British bombers "will carry ammunition during the exercise as usual." The exercise goes by the code name "Jungle King." Explaining the name, Sir Hugh said:

"Today we live in pretty much of a human jungle, and in this jungle the bomber is king."

Wiesbaden, Germany — (AP) — The United States Air Force announced today it has rushed its latest-type jet fighters from Britain to patrol the Iron Curtain border.

The F-86 Sabrejets — air force headquarters did not reveal the number involved — had been attached to the 81st fighter wing stationed in Britain. An announcement said the transfer was a temporary measure.

The move follows the loss of two Allied planes to Communist guns over Germany last week. An American F-84 Thunderjet was shot down by Czechoslovak MiGs over the U. S. zone Tuesday. Seven British airmen were killed Thursday when two Russian MiGs shot down their four-engined Lincoln bomber over the East-West border.

The RCAF also has announced plans to send a wing of F-86 Sabre jets into Germany. They will be based at Sweilbruecken as part of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's growing air force in Europe.

Arrival of the Sabres for the first time gives the U. S. air force in Germany a plane which can fight on even terms against the fast Soviet MiG-15s which made last week's attacks.

Previously only the older, slower F-84 Thunderjets were based in Germany. The air force announced last week that 25 Sabres will come to Germany "very soon" under a program of replacing all the Thunderjets here with Sabres.

But today's announcement indicated the air force decided not to wait until these jets could arrive from the United States.

"They may be used as required to supplement other aircraft available in the performance of the normal missions of the 12th air force," the announcement said.

"The investigation of unidentified aircraft flights over the U. S. zone of Germany is a standing operating procedure of the 12th air force. These F-86s may participate in such investigations when appropriate."

Hollywood— (AP) —Suffering from an acute nervous breakdown, British actress Vivien Leigh was believed showing some improvement today.

Miss Leigh was ordered to bed last week and production was halted on a film starring her. She had just returned from location in Ceylon two weeks ago.

State Funeral For Gottwald Will Be Held On Thursday

Vienna— (AP) —A state funeral will be held in Prague Thursday for Klement Gottwald, 56, president-dictator of communist Czechoslovakia, who died suddenly Saturday.

The Czech radio announced last night that all work will halt through Czechoslovakia for the opening five minutes of the services scheduled for 1 p.m. (6 a.m. EST). Before the funeral, the broadcast said, Gottwald will lie in state in the Spanish hall in Prague castle.

The national observance for Gottwald will be a small-scale version of the elaborate Russian observance last week for his communist comrade, Joseph Stalin. Gottwald attended the outdoor services for Stalin in freezing weather in the Soviet capital's Red Square—and there apparently caught the cold that developed into pneumonia with complications and resulted in his death.

Gottwald's place of burial was not announced.

Nor was there any announcement of the successor to Gottwald's dictatorial control over the Czech government, the all-powerful communist party and the army and police.

Observers here speculated that the authority might be split among several top Reds. The presidency, possibly turned into a figure-head position, might go to 75-year-old Vice-Premier Zdenek Nejedly.

The four-man commission appointed to make funeral arrangements was looked upon as the likely heir to actual authority.

Heading the commission is Premier Antonin Zpoaocky, apparently the top contender for the highest power. The others are:

Alexei Cepicka, defence minister and son-in-law of Gottwald, possibly the new army commander-in-chief.

Vice-Premier Vilem Siroky, former foreign minister, who may share government and party authority.

Karol Bacilek, minister of national security. He may continue running the police and border guards.

Czechoslovakia already has been torn by two drastic cleanups in five years and thousands of office holders and party members have been arrested or thrown out. The latest purge centred around the recent trial and execution of former communist boss Rudolf Slansky.

The Budapest radio reported yesterday that Hungary's Prime Minister Matyas Rakosi called on the Czechoslovak minister in the Hungarian capital to convey condolences on Gottwald's death.

This was the first mention that Rakosi had returned home from Stalin's funeral. Failure of the Hungarian radio to mention his whereabouts all last week had aroused speculation that he might have been detained by the Kremlin.

Arctic Winter Is Preferred To Our Summer By Woman

Edmonton — (CP) — A woman who has lived 15 years in the far north prefers the cold Arctic winter to summertime.

Mrs. Douglas McNeice, who now lives in Edmonton, says the reason for her preference is mosquitoes. Big, hungry mosquitoes fill the air in the summer.

When Mrs. McNeice, then Pauline Audienko, left Edmonton for Aklavik, N.W.T., 15 years ago, she was advised by friends to "take lots of mosquito lotion."

She found the advice excellent—all insect life runs rampant during the brief summer season at Aklavik near the mouth of the Mackenzie river.

Pauline Audienko went north in 1937 after hearing stories about life at Aklavik.

At first employed at a hotel, she lated worked in the Hudson's Bay Company store. In 1942 she met Douglas McNeice, HBC trader. Two years later they were married.

Mrs. McNeice said her Arctic residence was comparatively modern with all electrical appliances and oil heating. The natives usually live in log cabins furnished with a stove, beds, assorted chairs and, almost invariably, a sewing machine and a phonograph.

"The people are very musical, and will sit for hours listening happily to their favorite records," Mrs. McNeice said.

She became well acquainted with several Eskimo and Indian Women and often entertained them in her home.

Mrs. McNeice said the natives in the Aklavik area are fond of the luxuries enjoyed by their white neighbors. Most of them prefer white man's food to their old diet. A great many are able to read and write in English.

The McNeice family moved to Edmonton after Douglas McNeice was tranferred by the HBC. But they have one big memento of their stay in the north in addition to Eskimo parkas. It is a huge polar-bear rug in the living room of their modern Edmonton home.

"Home is where the heart is and I shall always think of the north as my home," Mrs. McNeice said.

Lt.Col Gautier Addresses Lions At Cowansville

Cowansville, March 16 — With winter taking it's toll in sickness, and with other disabilities, the Lion's Den in Cowansville at the Ottawa Hotel was not over crowded on Tuesday evening. And a combination of curcumstances left Lion L. S. Henderson acting as chairman of the meeting. President "Al" Webster was away in Boston on business and vice-president Donald Blinn was obliged to leave after opening the meeting, leaving the chair temporarily vacant.

Accepting the honor on the basis that third choice was better than none, the chairman called for reports from various committees. The first received was from Lion John McClure, who stated that the current canvass on behalf of the Canadian National Institute For the Blind was not turning out a great success, although a reasonable amount of money had been received and further donations expected.

Following this report Lion Arthur Tanner informed those present that the "Booster Club" was continuing its success and a reasonably large cash balance was growing toward another future donation to the B.M.P. Hospital. Lion Howard Hastings also reported that the dances held in conjunction with the "Booster Club" were being maintained on a good social and financial basis.

The guest speaker for the evening was Lt.-Col. J. P. Gautier, D.S.O., manager of the Quebec and Maritime branch of the Dominion of Canada General Insurance Co., Montreal, who addressed the gathering on "Compulsory Automobile Insurance or Not?" The speaker opened his address with some rather personal remarks concerning his brother, Lion Andre Gautier, who he said started life in Cowansville as a farmer but finding that he could not grow bacon quickly enough he decided to start a career in insurance where he now finds the results more to his liking.

Becoming more serious however the speaker described the various methods employed for compulsory auto insurance in the various provinces of Canada and in the U.S., stating that in his opinion the Safety Responsibility Plan now in effect in five Canadian provinces, and forty states across the border is beyond doubt the best.

"Basically the legislation provides that a driver can be insured or not as he sees fit but as soon as he is involved in an accident he must show proof that he is financially capable of paying for any damage if it is found to be his fault. If he can not show such proof he is put off the road and he stays off until the damages are paid and he has in addition provided proof of financial responsibility for the future."

The speaker was thanked by his brother, Lion Andre Gautier, after which Lion Guy Cousens suggested that he be asked to return with an especially prepared address to deliver to a group of teen age drivers who will be guests of the Lions Club in the early coming fall. It was decided that this suggestion be seriously accepted.

St. Francis High School News

On Tuesday, February 24, the Grade XI pupils of Asbestos-Danville, Drummondville and Richmond had the privilege of attending the 6th annual Macdonald Royal held at Macdonald College. A Laramee bus was chartered to transport the senior pupils of the three high schools.

The bus started from Asbestos at 7.00, left Richmond at 7.30 en route for Drummondville where the ten Grade XI pupils joined the group. With a total of 48 pupils and 3 teachers, Miss Knowles of Drummondville, Mr. Rothney, of Asbestos-Danville, and Mr. Somerville, of Richmond, we set forth for St. Anne de Bellevue where we arrived at 10.45. At 11 o'clock, we attended the opening assembly, where we were welcomed by the president of the Macdonald Royal, Murray McEwen, a fourth-year agricultural student. Murray acting as chairman introduced the vice-principal of McGill University, Dr. Brittain, the head of the school for teachers, Prof. Munroe, and the head of the School of Household Science. After the opening assembly we proceeded to the dining hall where a delicious lunch was served.

At 1 o'clock we were taken on conducted tours throughout the college grounds. From 2.30 until 5.30 many pupils were free to visit the different exhibits and displays showing the nature and extent of the work carried on in the college. At 5.30 we ate our supper and at 7 o'clock we attended the Green and Gold Revue.

At approximately 10.30 a crowded bus-load of tired but happy students started back to their homes in Drummondville, Richmond or Asbestos-Danville, after a most profitable and pleasant visit to Macdonald. Grade XI raised their share of the transportation expenses by a food sale for which we are indebted to Dyson and Armstrong Ltd, for the use of their showrooms.

The proceeds from a cookie sale held by Grades 8A and 8B amounted to $6.05 which is being forwarded to the Junior Red Cross.

On Saturday, February 21, the Junior and Senior Girls travelled to Asbestos - Danville to play against the girls from there. Joan Coles, a valued player on the Richmond Senior team, suffered a sprained foot. She was taken to the Asbestos Hospital for X-rays. However, Richmond came through victorious with a slight margin of 2 points, the final score being Richmond 16, Asbestos-Danville, 14.

In the Junior game our Juniors also came through victorious with a score of 26 to 14.

Explosion Of "Dud" Mortar Bomb Takes Life Of Eight-Year-Old Boy

Eight-year-old Andre Lacourse was fatally injured on Saturday morning when a mortar bomb, which he was using to straighten a nail, exploded.

The fatal accident occurred in the cellar of the victim's home, 1165 St. Louis street.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Lacourse, he died on arrival at St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, where he was taken by Hamel and Frere Ambulance.

He was playing with a mortar bomb, which is believed to have been found in 1947 by the child's father. The father built the home in 1947 and the bomb is believed to have been found on the vacant lot.

The repeater and cap were removed from the bomb and it was thought that the explosive was no longer dangerous.

The father used the bomb frequently as a base to straighten a crooked nail and the child is believed to have been attempting to straighten some rusty nails found in a broken jar, near the body. Whether he hit the floor with the hammer and a spark set the bomb off or whether he just hit the bomb is unknown.

The child's mother heard the explosion in the cellar and rushed to the scene only to find a smoke-filled cellar and her son's shattered body.

Mrs. Lacourse went for help and Arthur Thibault, a neighbor, arrived on the scene. Ambulances sped to the scene and the child was rushed to hospital but it was impossible to save him.

Dr. Louis Gagnon, coroner for the district of St. Francis, will preside at an inquest to be held at the Marquette Municipal Police Station this afternoon.

Municipal police detectives A. Gosselin and Sgt. Det. Rolland Gaboriault investigated.

The boy would have been nine years old next month.

Fire Causes Damage To Local Home

A two-storey wooden-construction house, owned and occupied by Joseph Bibeau, and located at 10 Jubilee Street, was damaged by fire yesterday morning.

The fire broke out in the kitchen on the second floor and flames spread to the attic. Firemen had to pierce a hole in the roof to extinguish the blaze.

It is believed that the cause of the fire is due to an overheated stove pipe in the kitchen.

Firemen from the No. 1 and No. 4 stations, under the direction of Director Percy Donahue, fought the fire using fog control.

Youth Festival Grand Concert Set For May 2

Dates for this year's Youth Festival were announced Friday evening at the fifth annual general meeting of the Youth Festival Committee, held in the Sherbrooke Trust Building.

Auditions for the Festival and the display of art exhibits will be held at the Superior School from April 18 to 26, the winners concert will be held April 30 and the Grand Concert at the Arena on May 2nd.

Mrs. Paul-Emile Genest Committee president, was in the chair for the meeting and announced that L. W. Dixon had been appointed to the scholarships' committee to replace J. A. Archambault. Mrs. Genest also stated that this year the donors of the various scholarships would present them in person to the winning young artists.

Plans for a bigger and better youth Festival than ever seem to be well advanced with the exception of the dramatics end.

Mrs. Rene Leclaire, who is in charge of French-language dramatics, said that she had received only one entry—that of Ecole Larocque.

Floyd MacPherson, of Stanstead College, announced that only his school had expressed willingness to enter a play in the English drama section. Mr. MacPherson, who is in charge of English Drama for the Festival, said he had sent invitations to 11 High Schools. Only Stanstead College was "sure," two schools said "maybe," two said "no," definitely, and the other schools hadn't replied.

Rev. Maurice O'Bready announced the titles of seven selections which will be sung at the Grand Concert. They are: I Went To The Market by Brother Barnabe, of Arthabaska; the spiritual, Deep River, arranged by Sylvio Lacharite; Schubert's Minuet, arranged by Mr. Lacharite; Jesus My Friend, by Bach, also arranged by Mr. Lacharite; Schubert's Rosebud, arranged by Paul Marcel Robidoux; La Grande Demand by Brother Oscar O'Brien, also arranged by Mr. Robidoux, and Schubert's Ave Verum.

Father O'Bready said that the Grand Concert program will be well-balanced between English and French selections and that the Festival itself will help young people develop themselves in other things than sports.

The other persons present, most of whom gave reports at the meeting, were, Francois Labrecque, auditions; Denis Tremblay, vice-president; Mrs. Rodrigue Boisvert, charter president; Florent Hebert, vice-president; Fernand Drapeau, representing Hon. J. S. Bourque; Pauline Roy, corresponding secretary; Joseph Henri Belanger, decorations committee; Paul Emile Fortier, director; Mrs. L. P. Leveque, auditions; Dr. Jacques Olivier, who invites the adjudicators and fine arts; Mrs. Octavien Leveque, seating arrangements; Claude Poulin, president of Jeunesse Musicale; Evelyn Robidas, recording secretary; and Jacques Brisson, treasurer, Jeunesse Musicale.

MGH Nursing Director Is Laid To Rest

Funeral services were held today in Montreal for Miss Mary S. Mathewson, R.N., director of nursing at the Montreal General Hospital, who died suddenly on Friday. She was in her 56th year.

She was a native of Montreal and her father, the late Dr. George H. Mathewson, was director of ophthalmology at the Montreal General.

One of the projects she helped pioneer in Montreal was a training school for practical nurses and aides which freed professional nurses from non-nursing duties.

This school for nursing aides was established in 1948 at the Montreal Convalescent Hospital under the auspices of six Montreal hospitals.

Several years after its inauguration she was able to report that school graduates had proved their worth in looking after patients not actually under the care of professional nurses.

Miss Mathewson graduated from the Montreal General Hospital School of Nursing in 1925.

Tax-Raising By-Laws Come Before Council

Three important by-laws that are designed to hit the purses of every Sherbrooke householder are scheduled to come before the City Council at its regular session this evening. Implementing the budget adopted at the last meeting, the by-laws will increase the tenant tax from two to five per cent of the annual rent, jump the water rates by approximately forty per cent and boost the gas charges by ten per cent.

The increase in the tenant tax is expected to bring an additional $90,000 into the civic coffers with $27,000 more coming from the higher gas rates and about $90,000 from the higher water charges, meaning an extra revenue of approximately $207,000 to the city from these three sources.

With these increases, the city revenues for the current year are estimated at $4,618,000 and the surplus for the year is placed at $19,000. This compares with 1952 budget revenues of $3,950,000 and a surplus of $2,450.

Some aldermen are reported as reluctant to bring down these by-laws tonight in view of the forthcoming aldermanic elections for which nominations are being held tomorrow morning.

Two of the three retiring aldermen are already assured of opposition, ex-Alderman Oliva Deziel having entered the East Ward race against Ald. Sylvio Rousseau and Carrier Fortin, a local attorney, running in the Centre Ward against Ald. Eugene Thibault. So far, there has been no opposition forthcoming to the return of Ald. Henri Labonne of the South Ward.

Nominations close at eleven o'clock tomorrow morning and voting will take place the following Tuesday.

St. Patrick's Society At Richmond Holds 76th Anniversary Banquet

By SALLY HALLETT

Richmond, March 16. — The Irish last night hailed the 76th anniversary of St. Patrick's Society of Richmond district at a banquet in the Richmond Hotel. Master of ceremonies was president of the Society, L. R. Delaney, and Rev. John Corkery, of Montreal, was the guest speaker and most honored guest.

In his words of welcome, the president revived the memory of a hard course run by the devote Irish in retaining their ideals and his most ardent hope expressed was that those assembled should strive in their common interest to preserve a noble heritage.

In reply to a toast to Ireland, proposed by J. L. Burns, Father Corkery moved to the midst of the crowd where he reminded the people that "the Irish like to tell the whole world of their blood and nationality, a significant display of feeling."

"St. Patrick," he said, "found as his purpose in a visit to Ireland the understanding of a people. There he encountered an admirable race of people — sturdy, hardy, accustomed to braving the storm and sea and a people who loved to fight. His greatest mission revolved around this fighting spirit; he resolved and effected to persuade them to turn their vehemence of war into a love of God. In this way their principles took on a new character."

"The Irish since then have distinguished themselves for austere living and for an austere embracing of their faith. As a people they are a generous crowd and it is to be remembered that St. Patrick detested stinginess or meanness in any form.

"The Irish have no fear of their convictions, they are not afraid to give their very best to Faith and Church. This is exemplified in the act of sacrifice by the many who left the homeland they loved to give of themselves and their religion to the New World.

"A proud race with a pride of their Land, their Faith and their Church, they will take pleasure in the propogation of their heritage and a pride in knowing that they are right. Although Ireland may have lost its one-time prestige as an intellectual centre of the world it has retained the all important spiritual post as axis of the religious world."

Previous to Father Corkery's remarks a toast to Canada was proposed by Mike O'Donnell with marked allusion to the million and a half Irishmen who contribute to Canada's populace.

"It was a potato famine in the black '47 when Ireland was faced with starvation that saw the migration of 75,000 Irish to Canada. Our people recognized the opportunity to progress and now their vision is mirrored in the role they play in Canadian business, religious and civic life. We have much to be thankful for," he said.

Pro-mayor H. B. Stone praised the Society and the Irish people and expressed his sincere pleasure in attending the banquet.

A toast to the sister societies, St. Jean Baptiste and St. Andrew's, was proposed by Frank Johnson, Sr., with a reply from Jean-Paul Brouillette on behalf of the St. Jean Baptiste Society and Leslie Rattray on behalf of the St. Andrew's Society.

E. Lafrance, Richmond M.L.A., spoke a few words to members of the Society congratulating them on their loyalty to their mother country.

Mr. Delaney thanked Father Corkery for his address.

Following dinner musical entertainment was provided by Mrs. J. Fortin, Miss Francoise Proulx, Mrs. Eileen Rattray, "Joe" Doyle, and an orchestra led by Jack Hobbs.

Seated at the honor table were, J. L. Burns, and Mrs. Burns, Rev. Armand Gauthier, E. Lafrance, Mrs. L. R. Delaney, Father Corkery, L. R. Delaney, H. P. Stone and Mrs. Stone.

Sherbrooke Hospital Today Launches $100,000 Appeal To Erase Deficits

The campaign for $100,000 for the Sherbrooke Hospital officially opened today.

As previously explained by hospital officials, this drive for funds is to meet an accumulation of deficits over the past few years.

It is the first time that the hospital has had to appeal to the public in general for funds for this purpose.

Campaign headquarters were opened several days ago in the Canadian Bank of Commerce building on Dufferin Avenue and already literature has gone out to some thousands of people in the Eastern Townships.

Canvassers will be approaching special names during the next two weeks.

The joint chairman of the campaign, Colin L. Campbell and E. W. Gilbey, point out that approximately 60 per cent of the patients are from outside the city of Sherbrooke. A special appeal is therefore made to residents of points from outside the city.

"It is the hospital of the whole district," they said, "and it is therefore the duty and the privilege of the people throughout the E. T. to support it in the most generous manner possible."

UNHAPPY EXPERIENCE OF TRIUMVIRATES

Those who did the picking in Moscow decided upon Georgi M. Malenkov as premier. They resisted the idea Russia should be ruled by a triumvirate, consisting of Malenkov, V. M. Molotov and Lavrenti P. Beria. They were alert to the lessons of history, even of Soviet domestic history. Triumvirates have been a singularly unsuccesseful form of government.

The system derives from two experiments in the old Roman Empire, the first triumvirate being formed in 60 B.C., comprising Caesar, Pompey and Crassus. Crassus was killed in battle. Pompey and Caesar (who was Pompey's father-in-law) fell out. They warred upon one another and Caesar defeated Pompey at the battle of Pharsalus in 47 B.C. Thereafter Caesar became a complete dictator, until his murder in 44 B.C., ironically at the foot of Pompey's statue. Significantly, from the Communist viewpoint, it is recorded that among his murderers were more "friends than enemies."

The second triumvirate, formed in 40 B.C., also was a faliure. It was composed of Mark Antony, Octavius and Lepidas. It held office amid a reign of terror. Antony became enamored of Cleopatra and, engaging in pleasure, ignored his defences. The triumvirates broke up and Antony committed suicide.

Communist Russia also has had its experience with triumvirates. When Lenin lay ill, a triumvirate ruled from 1924 to 1926, being Josef Stalin, Grigory Zinoviev and Leo B. (Rosenfeld) Kamenev. All were old Bolsheviks. Upon Lenin's death, Zinoviev became the exponent of "pure Leninism." Kamenev, at first violently anti-Trotsky, later joined Zinoviev in opposition to Stalin. They were expelled from the Communist Party in 1926, later readmitted, but were the victims of the purge in the 1936 when, with 14 others, they were shot.

I GIVE AND BEQUEATH

At Somerset House, just off the Strand in London, all the wills in Britain are stored. A member of the probate registry has made a hobby of collecting extracts from some of the more eccentric wills that have come his way.

There are plenty of them, including one written on an eggshell, a wartime one inscribed on a soldier's identity disk and another with a bullet through the middle of it. The longest runs to three hundred and sixty-six pages, and the shortest, written on the photograph of a soldier's girl friend, simply states, "All for her." One written during a plague in India was sent to Registry sealed in a bottle and apparently will, plague and all, are still inside.

The experts interest lies particularly in the content of the wills and any peculiar statements that catch his eye are jotted down in a notebook that he has kept for nearly fifty years. One thing he has noticed over this period is the way in which husbands make sure of having the last word by attacking their wives in their wills. One commented that he would have left at least four hundred pounds more had it not been for his extravagant wife, and a really vitriolic father wrote of his two children: "How I hate and detest the sight of Charles and Ivy, and I die with the hope that they may both meet an early-violent and unnatural death." It was only fair to contrast with these uncharitable wills the many others that showed the happiness of a family. Among the curious bequests that testators made, was the man who left his friend a pair of boxing gloves and a life saver, and the woman who bequeathed her cat, together with the shopping basket in which he slept.

HUMPHREY, STICKLER FOR FACTS, MAKES HASTE IN POLICY SLOWLY

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey has emerged rapidily as one of the solidest citizens of the new Eisenhower administration.

His counsel is being sought on nearly every new issue that comes up. Sixty-three years old and with a broad experience in law, engineering, manufacturing, the management of banks, iron and coal mines, shipping lines, steel and industrial rayon mills — he has the background necessary to run the far-flung conglomeration that is the U. S. Treasury.

He is now boss of 85,000 employees with a finger in tax collection, narcotics, customs, the mint, the Secret Service, the Coast Guard with another 35,000 hands. Last, but not least of his responsibilities, is that vast $260-billion hole in the ground — the public debt.

Money may not be everything, but in government operations everything is money.

The team of top lieutenants that Mr. Humphrey has assembled swears by him. Included are Undersecretary Marion B. Folsom of Eastman Kodak, Deputy Secretary Randolph Burgess of National City Bank, Assistant Secretary H. Chapman Rose from Mr. Humphrey's own Hanna Co. in Cleveland, Assistant Secretary Andrew N. Overby from the International Monetary Fund, General Counsel Elbert Parr Tuttle of Atlanta, and Commissioner of Internal Revenue T. Coleman Andrews of Richmond. Mr. Humphrey has always prided himself on being able to pick good men.

Secretary Delegates Authority

This sextette meets as a group once a week with Mr. Humphrey in the secretary's private dining room for a broad look at all their problems. Otherwise, they say, he lets them pretty much alone. He is a great believer in delegating authority. He wants reports as progress is made. And he is a demon for facts. All his life, every decision he has made has been based on facts.

There have been no annoucements of any great changes of Treasury policy since Secretary Humphrey took over on Jan. 20, largely because he did not have his facts. He has reorganized his fact-finding agency — his research and analysis staff. But it will be some time before they will have all the information he wants, on which to base his decisions.

Before he came to Washington, it is reported that Mr. Humphrey told an acquaintance it might be some time before any reforms could be effected and any results obtained.

"Oh," said the friend agreeably. "I wouldn't expect any results at all in the first 30 days."

If any big new Treasury plan emerges within the first six months, it will be considered satisfactory progress.

One timid experiment was made on refinancing a short-term government loan for a longer period and at a higher rate of interest. The experiment was later described as "a successful operation, but the patient died."

The climate wasn't right, the time wasn't ripe for this particular change. So the new team at the Treasury will feel its way cautiously and conservatively, making haste slowly. That appears to be the sound Humphrey way.

Learning New Way To Run Things

This Washington experience is proving to be something of a revelation to nearly all of the big businessmen of the Eisenhower administration. Like Secretary Humphrey, they are sticking their own toes into the political puddles for the first time.

This past belief has been that the responsibility of the businessman was to raise money for the best candidate available, then leave it to him to run the government. Now they are a part of government itself.

In the business world they made their big decisions with only two or three other executives, meeting privately. Their belief was that any time larger groups got together, all they did was make speeches at each other.

Now, in government, they make their decisions in cabinet meetings of 10, with another 10 or 20 advises sitting around the edges. And they get their authority from a majority of 531 congressmen.

There is no conviction among the businessmen in government that the government way of doing business is the wrong way — for government. But they are having to learn to do things the political way.

So it will be several months before the new team knows exactly what it is going to do or how it is going to do it. It will take that long to get the facts together.

TRAFFIC JAM
Calgary Albertan

If all the cars in California headed for New York, in six lanes and bumper to bumper, the last ones would still be in California long after the first ones reached New York.

There are 14,000 miles of state highway in California, but if all the cars took to the state highways at one time they would completely fill two lanes on about 11,000 miles of that highway.

In greater Los Angeles alone there are 2,244,000 cars.

Those statistics give one an idea of the magnitude of the traffic problem in California. And it's even worse in many other states because they are much less well equipped to handle the current automobile population.

COFFEE ADDICTS
Wall Street Journal

Coffee came to the cup of man through the capers of a goat.

That, at least, is the story handed down through ten centuries from the land of the ancient Arabians. More than a thousand years ago, the story goes, an Arab goatherd noticed that his charges became uncommonly frisky whenever they munched the berries from the coffee tree. The goatherd tried them himself and found them good — starting coffee on the road to your breakfast table.

Today the world consumes about 200 billion cups of coffee each year. More than half of that cascades down the throats of Americans. The U. S. consumption is equal to nearly two cups a day for every man, woman and child in the land.

Faith means finding the eternal God through the tragedies of life: it means finding Him intimately in the things that make you uncertain. It means that the more insecure a man feels financially, physically and socially, the more he may become aware of that which economic security cannot provide or the lack of it take away. —Oscar F. TODAY'S MESSAGE

Salvation is not the result of a single act, but of a continuing belief and trust in the grace of a loving Saviour. Through faith we hold on to Him, feeling assured that He will not fail us. Every venture in life demands faith, and the more important the undertaking, the greater the faith to be exercised. No wonder, then, that faith in religion surpasses all other faith, and carries us out beyond the tangible things of life into the realm of Divinity.

Faith, therefore, can do much to buoy us up in the dark hours of distress and grief, in sorrow and sickness, in bereavement and loss; but it should do more. It should become an integral part of the blood that courses through our bodies, an entwining vine about the tendrils of our hearts and minds, and a vital, radiant note expressed in every word we utter.

Then in all the ever-broadening affairs of life, let us maintain a consecrated faith in God's goodness, love and devotion for us, and accept His plan as our plan and His will as our will. "If God be for us when can be against us?" should be sufficient for every need.

TODAY'S PRAYER

O Christ, the "Author and Finisher of our faith," the friend of the friendless, the comforter of those in sorrow, strength for the weak, salvation for all who believe and trust Thee, we commit ourselves anew into Thy keeping today. Amen.

MY WINTER GARDEN

What has happened to my garden of yesterday
The flowers, birds, blue skies, the scented breeze;
These ghostly arms on spires of spruce
Clutching the white plastic forms of dead flowers
Fallen to their knees.

The sleet, the snow chills one's marrow to the bone
And freezing rain like tear drops on my window-pane,
Can this be my garden, my garden at home?
The winding pathways are gone,
The happy voices, now just a siren's moan.

The quivering aspen leaves the shivering birches,
Strange white blossoms of winter's artistry,
Can all this be true or just a fiendish mockery?
The drifting snow is blowing. Am I awake
Or just a lonely dream?
Perhaps these things are not really what they seem.

The arrogant fir trees with their caps of golden cones
Scorn all this, and revel while the blue pine moans.
The pert blue jay sits in his suet swing,
Nothing to him what old winter brings
The blood-red berries on the old mountain ash
Paint a vivid picture and this question I ask:
Should we close our eyes and dream of coming spring
When shy tulips, violets bloom and perhaps a white-throat sings,
This "white silence" for just a little time
A silence not to be broken till nature gives her sign.

Into every life winter must come, must go.
We must not despair, for He has willed it so.
We cannot help this heartache
Our pathways lie far apart,
This weird strangeness of my garden
Lies heavy on my heart.

Jacoby On Bridge

OPENING BID ISN'T PROPER 'BOOK' BID

In today's hand South's opening bid of two no-trump is not quite a "book" bid. South has only 21 points in high cards, and the opening bid of two no-trump usually shows 22 to 24 points. The strong five-card suit is easily worth the missing point, however, and the opening bid can therefore not be criticized.

North has an obvious raise to game. With 6 points in high cards, North expects that the combined holding is roughly 28 to 30 points, which ought to be ample for game but not nearly enough for slam.

When West opens the jack of spades, South must win the trick at once instead of holding up. South can then go right after the clubs, by laying down the ace and then continuing with a low club, without fearing the spade suit.

South reasons that if the spades are 5-2, and if East has the king of clubs, East will be able to lead only on spade through South. This will not be sufficient to let West run the suit.

There is never anything to fear, of course, if the spades are 4-3. At worst, South can lose only three spades and one club trick.

As the cards lie, South easily makes his game with four clubs, two hearts, two diamonds, and at least one spade.

There may be a different story to tell if South makes the mistake of refusing the first spade trick. West can then defeat the contract by switching to hearts.

South can win in his own hand and go after the clubs, but West will lead another heart upon taking his king of clubs. South now can run only eight tricks, and when he tries to set up his ninth trick the opponents can take two heart tricks. They will thus defeat the game with a spade, a club, two hearts, and either a second spade or a diamond.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 Heart	Pass	1 Spade	Pass
3 Hearts	Pass	?

You, South, hold: Spades K-Q-7-5-3, Hearts Q-J-4, Diamonds 7-5, Clubs K-Q-4. What do you do?

A—Bid five hearts. Your partner's rebid shows 17 to 19 points with a strong heart suit, and you have a count of 13 points in high cards, together with 1 point extra for the queen of North's bid suit and 1 point for the doubleton.

The total is probably enough for a slam, but you cannot show an ace and shouldn't bid a Blackwood four no-trump. Your best course is to extend the general slam invitation of five hearts.

Bilingualism Is Basic Aim In Wales To Save Language

London — (AP) — Billingualism as a basic aim of education in Wales, with stress on vigorous steps to keep the Welsh language alive, is urged in a report brought down by the central advisory council after a fact-finding inquiry lasting two years.

The report, third of a series undertaken by the council on the future of secondary education in Wales, describes as "catastrophic" the decline of Welsh-speaking pupils in some areas. The most serious decline, it declares, has occurred in Merthyr and the Rhondda valley and that of the total number of school-children between the ages of five and 15, only 21 per cent could speak Welsh.

In the council's opinion disappearance of the Welsh language would be an irreparable loss to Welsh culture.

"The only feasible way it can be kept alive and saved for posterity," the report says, "is to see that the children of Wales and Monmouthshire are taught both English and Welsh.

It submits that the more suitable of the two languages should be taught as an essential second language at all junior schools and carried into the secondary school curriculum as a continuous process.

To implement the policy proposed, the council urges the university of Wales to undertake special research into all phases of billingualism and to initiate a more progressive policy towards the use of Welsh in teaching. It also recommends establishment of a Welsh teachers' training college.

The report regards the advent of television school lessons as a danger to a bilingual policy unless the specific needs and characteristics of Welsh schools and the language are taken into account.

British Housewife To Receive Extra Rations As Bonus

London — (AP) — Norman Dodds, Socialist member of Parliament for Dartford, claims angry British housewives are in a receptive mood to stage a ceremonial roasting of the minister of food and his assistant, as a Coronation barbecue celebration.

The suggestion was made in the House of Commons after the minister, Major Gwilym Lloyd George, had rejected a plea by Mr. Dodds that special coronation bonuses of margarine and sugar should be increased and extended to other rationed commodities. Dodds argued it would be of greater importance to the nation than the right extended to some communities to hold ox-roasting parties.

As a Coronation concession British housewives this summer will receive an extra ration of four ounces of margarine and one pound of sugar. The normal weekly allowance is four ounces of margarine and 10 ounces of sugar.

"Is the minister aware that these miserable bonuses have made housewives very angry and have even galvanized members of the Housewives' League to say unkind things about the minister?" Mr. Dodds asked.

"In view of the blistering remarks by countless women, will he re-consider the ox-roasting ceremonies and substitute them by the more appropriate roasting of the minister of food and his parliamentary secretary?"

As the house rocked with laughter, the minister shot back: "As I issue the licences myself there is little likelihood of that happening."

SHORT STORY

Benny Wises Up

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

3-Minute Fiction

Benny got a big kick out of eavesdropping on the sheriff. It smacked of adventure and the wild life he loved. He got a bigger kick when he heard Sheriff Conrad mention Slick Dearborn.

Slick Dearborn was the smartest outlaw with whom Canrad had ever had to contend. He was Benny's idol, for he represented the dangerous freedom of which the boy had always dreamed. One day three weeks ago Benny had seen Slick in the Faraway Saloon, and something about the worshipful look in the youngster's eyes had attracted the outlaw's attention.

Benny had been almost speechless with gratitude when the outlaw spoke to him. They had a long conversation and when it was over Benny knew a sense of importance that was almost the fulfillment of his dreams.

Ears glued to the side of the building, Benny held his breath while Sheriff Conrad and his deputy, Joe Hicks carried on their low-voiced conversation.

At 4 o'clock that afternoon Benny drew rein in the secret canyon where Slick was hiding. He gave the secret whistle that he and the outlaw had agreed upon, then waited breathlessly.

Minutes passed and nothing happened. Benny moved down the canyon a ways and whistled again. Suddenly two men emerged from behind a boulder. One of them was Slick Dearborn. Benny shouted at them.

"Slick, I just heard the sheriff and his deputy talkin'. They found out it was you who held up the bank last week, an' they know you're hidin' up here an' they're coming to get yuh."

"You come with us," said Slick shortly.

"Nemmine keepin' guard," Slick called, and the other outlaw slid back to the ground. "Ge gotta get out of here and git fast. Kid, did anyone see you leave town?"

"No, sir. Not a soul. I done jest like you told me."

"Good. You're comin' with us."

The second outlaw came from behind a screen of bushes riding one horse and leading another. Slick swung aboard the extra animal.

Then came the sound of a shot. The second outlaw uttered a scream, clutched at his breast and plunged from the saddle. A second shot followed, and Slick's mount went to its knees.

Slick swore violently as Benny crawled up beside him. "You damned little rat! Thought you said nobody followed you out of town?"

"Honest, Slick—"

"Shut up!" Suddenly Slick seized him around the middle and leaped out of plain view of the two coming up the canyon. The pair reined in, holding their fire as the outlaw, using Benny as a shield, began shooting rapidly.

Sheriff Conrad and Joe Hicks, sensing the bandit's purpose, flung themselves from the saddle and scurried for shelter.

Benny suddenly understood the purpose he was serving, suddenly knew that Slick was using him as of means of protecting his own hide.

"Slick! Slick! Lemme go. They'll blast me down in cold blood!"

"Shut up, you rat!" Slick brought the barrel of his gun down crushingly, on the boy's head. Benny gasped, struggled feebly, then went limp.

When Benny opened his eyes he found Sheriff Conrad and Joe Hicks bending over him.

"Feeling better, kid?"

"Ye-e-ss, I'm all right. Where's —Slick?"

"Taken care of." Sheriff Conrad eyed Benny intently. "Listen, Benny, you better get home before your maw begins to worry. You can say you helped us run down Slick Dearborn. Fact is, you did. When we saw you talkin' to him three weeks ago we figured somethin' like this, which is why we did some talkin' so you could lead us to where he was."

"Gosh!" said Benny. There were tears in his eyes. For the first time in his life he realized what a perfectly swell guy Sheriff Conrad was.

Can Malenkov Stay On Top?

Battle For Kremlin May Continue For Years

By LEON DENNEN AND ALBERT PARRY
NEA Service Russian Experts

New York—(NEA)—Fat Georgi Malenkov is off to a long head start in the struggle for dictatorship in the Soviet Union. He's Prime Minister and Secretary of the Russian Communist Party. But his ability to remain on top is by no means a sure thing.

The jockeying for power may continue for years.

Not until after the first major purge will there be any clear signal to the world outside whether Malenkov has eliminated his rivals, V. M. Molotov, Lavrenti P. Beria and Nikolai Bulganin.

Like a snarling wolf who has fanged his way to the top of his pack, Malenkov must now defend his flanks. His elevation to the prime ministership is only the beginning.

Now, he must consolidate his power—inside Russia and throughout the Red Realm.

Malenkov's rush to the fore seems to confirm that Stalin chose him near the end as his heir.

Besides shadowy signs of Stalin's favor, Malenkov has other, more tangible assets in the struggle for power. At 51, he is the youngest of the contestants.

As Stalin's private secretary during the early 1930s, Malenkov excelled at the preparation of private dossiers on Stalin's enemies. Most of these turned out to be obituary notices.

Malenkov wore then—as he does now—the kahaki military blouse and cap which was the uniform of the early Bolshevik. He early adopted Stalin's habit of thunderous profanity—often directed at subordinates. He became so good at it that he was known behind his back as "The Turkey of the Kremlin."

Malenkov was given an impressive string of jobs: Secretary of the Communist Party (only second in command to Salin), Deputy Prime Minister, member of the Central Committee (Stalin's ears, eyes and whip), and dictator of tank and aircraft production during World War II.

He occupies the position that Stalin once used as a springboard to dictatorship. As general secretary of the Party, he controls the 6,000,000 members who form the core of official Russia. He wields patronage that has enabled him to place his most trusted supporters in the most vital posts.

Despite his importance in modern Russia, little is known about the man. He was once an obscure engineering student at Moscow's Polytechnic school. He is known to have married twice, and his second wife is a Moscow actress.

The second Mrs. Malenkov, as befits her new station, has quit the stage and has a cushy administrative job in the Moscow University which she runs from a handsome office. She goes in for expensive clothes, mannishly tailored.

He is believed to have been

MALENKOV: Kremlin turkey.

the "stage director" at the purge trials in the mid-30s, which cleared out the last remaining supporters of Trotsky and solidified Stalin's grasp on Russia.

He is fat and slow-moving, but gets things done. During the war, he seemed tireless.

He is of a first generation, purebred Communist, having been politically reared on Lenin and Stalin. He has never been out of Russia, never sampled democracy, never deviated.

Possibly the only sign that he might be cautious internationally is the knowledge that he respects American's production might. His experience as head of the aircraft industry during the war made him realize the importance of U. S. aid.

He saw the laminated wooden airplanes Soviet factories were producing. And he saw the armored sky giants from U. S. plants. From then on, in Politburo discussions, he was a steady advocate of getting increased American help.

Perhaps he still remembers the lesson he learned from comparing airplanes.

Malenkov has one relaxation. He likes to lie in a duck blind in the mashes near Moscow potting away at wild life with a shotgun. The rumor that he sometimes shoots sitting ducks has been attributed to Molotov.

On many occasions Malenkov even cracked down on top communist bureaucrats. One of his victims was Polina Zhemchuzhina, Molotov's wife, whom he fired as Commissar of the fish industry.

Since then not much love has been lost between Malenkov and Molotov.

When the first conference of the Cominform was held, Malenkov was at the side of Zhdanov, who was then considered Stalin's likeliest successor. Now Zhdanov is dead. The Kremlin claims that he was killed by a group of "Jewish doctors." Malenkov now stands alone.

Visit Made To St. Adrien Mine

St. Adrien de Ham, March 16—Representatives of Toronto and Montreal securities dealers and a group of private investors visited the mine and mill of the Dominion Asbestos Company Ltd near this Eastern Township village Saturday.

The party watched mining operations in the pit, directed by Patrick Harrison, mining contractor who has moved $500,000 worth of mining equipment to the property. They then proceeded to the newly-completed mill, where they saw workmen busy with the installation of milling machinery. The mill, with a capacity of 2200 tons of ore daily, will commence operation within a few weeks.

Three Lose Lives In Hotel Fire

Prince Rubert, B.C. — (CP) — Firemen picked through the ruins of the King George hotel today for more bodies in a $100,000 fire which claimed at least three lives.

The bodies of a young man and woman and an elderly man were recovered early Sunday. Police feared that more persons may have been trapped. The victims were not immediately identified.

branch now, he might be motivated by any of several purposes.

He might want to raise hope in the outside world that Stalin's death would increase the chances for peace. He might want to reassure people inside the Communist world if they are especially nervous due to the change of government control. He might hope to lull and even split the Western alliance. He might be aiming primarily at creating a relaxed international atmosphere in which Western European countries would refuse to go through with a European Defence Community and West German rearmament.

OBITUARIES

WILLIAM JOHN CARTON, OF STANSTEAD

Stanstead, March 16 — William John Carton passed away suddenly at Stanstead on February 26th. Although he had been in failing health for a lengthy period, his death came as a great shock to his family.

Born in County Antrim, Ireland, in 1876, he went to Scotland at an early age. He was united in marriage to the former Jeannie Walker and came to Canada in 1911, settling in Cookshire, where he carried on a boot and shoe making and repair shop.

He moved to Stanstead in 1939 and did repair work until a few years ago, when he was forced by failing wealth to retire. A kind and loving husband and father, he will be greatly missed by his wife and family.

Surviving are his wife; a son, Harry; a daughter-in-law, and two grandchildren, in Scotland, two sons, John and Jim, at home, and a daughter, Mary, Mrs. Colin Kane, and a son-in-law, of Bury.

Bearers were R. Wallace, Ira Bullock, E. Batcheldor and H. Smith.

The many beautiful floral tributes were testimony of the esteem in which Mr. Carton was held.

JOHN CARL KNUTSON, OF WATERVILLE

Waterville, March 16 — Many friends from all walks of life joined in paying tribute to John Carl Knutson, a prominent resident of Waterville for 67 years, when funeral services were held here on Thursday, February 26. Mr. Knutson, who was in his 86th year, died on February 24.

Rev. John Butler, of Waterville assisted by Rev. C. Gustafson, of Magog, officiated at the service held in the Waterville United Church, following prayers at the residence.

The bearers were S. Hopper, E. Swanson, G. Bryant, G. Knutson, R. Nilson and A. Hedenbergh.

Mr. Knutson was born in Orsten, Norway, and came to Waterville at the age of 19. With the exception of a few years out west he spent the rest of his life here.

At the time of his death, Mr. Knutson was retired.

Originally a farmer, Mr. Knutson opened a small saw mill in Waterville in 1886. He then operated a sash and door business and a lumber business until 1939 when he went into lumber manufacturing. In 1943 he turned his business over to his three sons and the firm is now known as John Knutson and Sons Reg'd.

Mr. and Mrs. Knutson celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary last September 6.

A devoted family man, Mr Knutson was also a popular resident of Waterville and was held in high esteem by his many friends. He served with the Compton Cavalry in the First World War

He is survived by his widow, the former Hannah Walghren; three sons, John Victor, Olof F., and Frank S., all of Waterville; eight grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

GEORGE A. HARRISON, OF BISHOPTON

Bishopton, March 16 — The many friends and relatives of Mr. George Albert Harrison were deeply moved and saddened when they learned of his death on January 18th.

His passing removed one of the oldest residents of Bishopton. He had been in delicate health for the past four years, due to a heart condition, but was confined to his bed for only the last two weeks.

Mr. Harrison was born on December 20, 1865 in South Dudswell, the eldest child of a family of eight. He was the son of Thomas Harrison and his wife, Esther Barber.

The greater part of his life was spent in Bishopton where for many years he was engaged in the woodworking business. He was a very industrious man, a kind friend, a good neighbor and a man much respected by all who came in contact with him. He was a faithful member and supporter of the Anglican Church.

In 1892 he married Miss Lily Bishop, of Bishopton. On June 1, 1952, relatives and friends honored Mr. and Mrs. Harrison by observing the 60th anniversary of their marriage. On this occasion representatives of civic, church and social groups, as well as the community in general, called to congratulate them and express their appreciation of the many services they had given.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Harrison is survived by a niece, Irene Harrison, and a nephew, Lloyd Harrison, both of whom made their home with Mr. and Mrs. Harrison for a number of years; two brothers, Herbert Harrison, of Bishopton, and Irving Harrison, of Drummondville; a brother-in-law, Mr. Howard Andrews, of East Angus, and several nieces and nephews.

The funeral service was held on January 20, at the church of the Good Shepherd. Rev. Mr. Robins, of East Angus, officiated, assisted by Rev. A. T. Love, of Westmount, who gave a short address in final tribute to a dear friend. Two favorite hymns, "Nearer My God To Thee" and "Abide With Me," were read by Rev. Mr. Robins, with soft organ music being played by Mr. Grant Sampson, of Sherbrooke.

The bearers were Messrs. Tom MacDonald, Lyle Herring, Ernest Jenkerson, D. L. Gilbert, Ivan Jenkerson and Herbert Hawes. Interment was in Lakeside Cemetery.

The beautiful flowers which showed the love and respect in which the deceased was held by his many friends and relatives.

MRS. THOMAS BRAZENALL, OF BURY

Bury, March 16 — On Sunday, December 21, this community received the sad news of the death of a respected and highly esteemed resident, Mrs. Jennie Brazenall, who on that day had entered into eternal life, at the home of her son, Allan, in Learned Plain.

Mrs. Brazenall had been in poor health for several months, during which time she had twice been in the hospital, but returning from her last stay there, to convalesce at the home of her son, she had improved to such an extent, that she was considering returning to her own home, as soon as the Christmas festivities were over. However her hopes were not to be realized; on the Sunday preceding Christmas she was stricken with a change for the worse and passed away soon after.

Mrs. Brazenall, whose maiden name was Jennie Hamilton was born at Cranbourne, on February 10, 1882, the eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hamilton. When but a small child, she came with her parents to Bury, where she has since lived, with the exception of several summers spent with her aunt at Averill, Vt.

In June 1904 she was married to Dr. Thomas Brazenall, V.S., who predeceased her a few years ago. To their marriage one child was born, a son, Allan, who survives her.

Owing to the nature of her husband's business and later her son's, in which she gave material assistance by taking the office calls, her activities outside her home, were somewhat restricted but her kindly nature and quiet humor, her open-handed hospitality attracted many friends to her home where they were always assured of a cordial welcome.

A devoted wife and mother, a loyal friend and a kind and obliging neighbor, she was ever willing to lend assistance to any worthy or charitable cause. Following the death of her father, and later that of her brother, Sam, in 1939, she took her aged mother to share her home, where she gave her every attention and comfort to ensure her happiness in her declining years.

She was a member of St. Paul's Church, and as long as she was able, a faithful attendant. She was also a member of the Women's Institute, the Ladies' Guild and a charter member of St. Paul's W. A., to all of which she gave generous support.

The funeral was held from her late residence on Tuesday, December 23, to St. Paul's Church and was attended by many relatives and friends. Beautiful flowers, given by family and friends, bore evidence to the respect and esteem in which she was held.

Burial was in St. Paul's Cemetery, beside her late husband. Rev. Mr. Dunn of Cookshire conducted the services.

Left to mourn are her son, Allan, and daughter-in-law, Lillian, her three sisters, Mrs. Annie Dougherty, of Lennoxville, Mrs. Esther Morrow, of Lancaster, N.H., and Mrs. Hazel McNeilly, of West Stewartstown, N.H., as well as several nephews and nieces.

Strongly Marked Characteristics Are Noted In Duke Of Edinburgh

(Trying to plumb the depths of royal character is often unrewarding. But the Duke of Edinburgh, husband of the Queen, is a man of strongly marked characteristics. His high position has not changed his personality. This story, one of a series, describes his striking qualities.)

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London — (CP) — It's easy to write a character sketch of the Duke of Edinburgh.

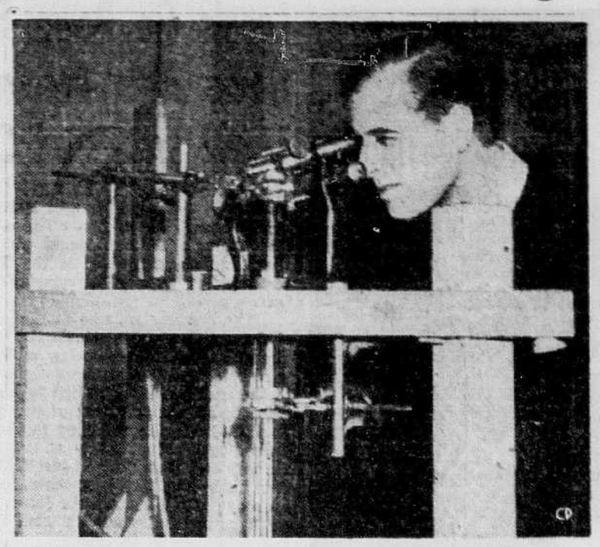

"Write him up as fast-moving, dashing, lively, breezy — anything like that and you're near the mark," says a Buckingham Palace official.

"The Duke leaves you with an impression of driving force," says another close observer of the Royal Family. "He likes to get things done. He works hard and plays hard."

Court officials comment on an exceptional briskness in the Duke's movements, and his quick, unobstrusive way of getting about. On tours of inspection, he sometimes shows such hustle that the official timetable is upset.

He even changes clothes quickly. This may be a trick picked up from his "Uncle Dickie"—Admiral Earl Mountbatten—who used special wardrobe wrinkles such as detachable gold braid to get a reputation as a quick-change artist.

Vigor pervades the Duke's personality. He is forceful in argument, sometimes controversial. Perhaps because of his unbringing and naval background, he favors directness and admires a hard-hitting reply.

INTERESTED IN SCIENCE—In civilian matters, as in most other things, the Duke of Edinburgh shows a quick brain. He assimilates scientific subjects readily and often impresses guides on industrial tours with his ability to reel off long technical terms. While visiting the road research laboratory at Harmsworth, Middlesex, the Duke looks through a measuring microscope on a soil moisture apparatus. These study the effect of moisture and moisture movement, compaction and embankments, and soil stabilization.

TAKES UP FLYING—The Duke of Edinburgh creates an impression of driving force, says a close observer of the Royal family. He likes to get things done. He works hard and plays hard. Recently he took up flying. Here he gets ready for his first training flight in a Chipmunk plane at White Waltham airport, Berkshire. His instructor, Flt. Lt. Caryl Ramsey Gordon, is at left. (CP Photo)

"He appreciates the dignity of his position, of course," friends say, "but like the late King he doesn't want you to regard him as sacred."

As a sportsman, he is amazingly versatile, but shrugs off any suggestion of exceptional aptitude. In the British phrase, he likes to "have a go" at anything from snooker to sailing. It is typical of his enthusiastic but unprofessional approach to sport that his shooting style wins little expert acclaim. He just blazes away indiscriminately.

He is likable, offhand, casual—he has been seen in the palace in shirt sleeves—and occasionally a little impatient. He sometimes bridles at criticism.

Buckingham Palace officials are undisturbed by rare examples of impetuous behavior. One example occurred at Niagara Falls, Ont., during the 1951 royal tour when the Duke's comments about photographers were audible and explicit.

Courtiers say this tendency is something that will pass.

"Perhaps it's true that the Duke is not yet wholly mature from the standpoint of the court," a royal spokesman said. "But that will come. And Philip, of course, is entitled to a certain latitude."

Philip likes movies and the theatre, though he admits his own boyhood efforts in the plays of Shakespeare didn't reveal great promise. He doesn't care for the opera, court circles say. He likes the atmosphere of an English inn and his favorite drink is said to be draught beer.

He has his critics. Richard Higbed, regional organizer of the Lord's Day Observance Society, rapped him publicly for playing polo on Sunday at Cowdray Park, Sussex.

"Surely we don't have to copy everything His Royal Highness does?" said Higbed. British papers brushed this criticism aside as "sniping by busybodies."

The tall, athletic ex-Prince of the Hellenes, with his blonde good looks and ability to wear crisply-cut uniforms, is definitely a man's man—with an eye for an attractive woman. An Australian woman, having passed along the receiving line at a royal reception, decided to go around again. When she came up for the second time, Philip said with a smile: "Haven't we met some place before?"

Like all Mountbattens, Philip has salt water in his veins. At 21 he was second-in-command of the destroyer Wallace, which landed troops in Sicily for the 1943 invasion. Royalty, it seems, robbed the Royal Navy of an outstanding officer.

In civilian matters, too, the Duke shows a quick brain. He assimilates scientific matters readily and often impresses guides on industrial tours with his ability to reel off long technical terms. At school, classics and history were his worst subjects.

Toward the Queen, Philip displays a tender protectiveness. It is said that when the couple return from Kenya a year ago after George VI's death, Elizabeth broke down just as their plane landed at London airport. The Duke spoke quietly to the pilot. The plane taxied slowly to the waiting party of officials by the longest route, giving the Queen time to recover her composure.

This then is Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh - sailor, sportsman, student of science and technology, uninhibited, an easy mixer with a basic seriousness. As husband of the Queen in a troubled time, he appears to have a job worthy of his talents, the sort that a former teacher may have had in mind when he wrote:

"Philip is a born leader, but he will need the exacting demands of a great service to do justice to himself. His best is outstanding; his second best is not good enough."

THE DUKE AT DARTS—The Duke of Edinburgh is a man of strongly marked characteristics. His high position as husband of the Queen has not changed his personality. He remains "fast-moving, dashing, lively, breezy" says a Buckingham Palace official. Here he plays at darts at a Gordonstoun school fete. A good mixer, Prince Philip likes the atmosphere of an English inn and his favorite drink is said to be draught beer. (CP Photo)

Saints Win 3-1 Saturday But Drop Deciding Game 2-0

Bobby Pepin Sets Hot Pace With Two Tallies As Locals Cop Sixth Tilt 3-1 Before 4,626 Saturday

Paced by Bobby Pepin the Sherbrooke Saints came up with another fighting display here Saturday evening to down the Montreal Royals 3-1 and knot the quarter-finals at three games each before one of the largest crowds of the season 4,626.

The slap-shot expert banged home two markers while Ronnie Matthews, another artist in the slap-swinging department, accounted for the other. Gerry Desaulniers avoided a shoutout for the Royals by tallying their lone goal.

The Saints still fighting to stave off elimination came through with flying colors to knock off the highly-rated Royals of Pete Morin and force the series the limit. It was the sixth time in the present duel that the Dugre men had established a 2-0 lead and once again they held on to it to emerge the winners in the fast-open tilt as both sides went all out to cop the verdict.

The Royals were minus Red McAtee and Jimmy Moore but had Les Douglas, a vet of many hockey battles, was in uniform. The Montrealers threw the pressure on from the opening whistle and Burchell and Gerry Plamondon were right in on Dion but he turned their efforts aside. The Little Fellow posted another stellar exhibition between the pipes for the local squad and in the dying minutes of the game he made some outstanding saves to ease the pressure as the Royals were driving all out.

The first few minutes of the game the locals were bottled up in their own end. Pete Wywrot was the first to get away to test Renaud from close range but he made the save and right after he stopped Pete Wright's hard drive. Frampton was in close on a clean break but Dion kicked his shot out.

Bobby Pepin Gets Opener

Just after the half-way mark Pete Wright cleared the disc up to Tod Campeau and the foxy pivot man rifled a hard drive between the Royals' rearguard and Bobby Pepin coasted in to pick it up and was alone with Renaud whom he had no trouble with to register the local's initial tally.

Wright went off for falling-on-the-puck, right in front of his own net, and this was the sign for the Royals to turn on the pressure. Although they came close several times they just couldn't beat Dion as he turned everything they tossed at him aside.

Rollie Rousseau got the nod for holding St. Hilaire on a break and during his enforced rest Ronnie Matthews pulled the trigger for the Saints' second tally after a passing play with Locas and Nils Tremblay just before the end of the frame.

At the start of the middle frame Frampton and St. Hilaire went off together for roughing but nothing happened. Dube came very close on a back hand which hit the side of the net. Gerry Desnaulniers was credited with the first and only Royal goal when his shot hit a defenseman's skate to deflect into the net behind Dion.

This seemed to give the Royals a new lease on life and they commenced to buzz around the Saints and kept the pressure on them. Three times in a row the Morin men broke clear with only one rearguard back but they failed to do much.

Just before the end of the game Ronnie Matthews got the nod for putting Walt Clune over his hip. it was announced as tripping. In the final frame the Royals had the man advantage but the locals held until their mate returned.

Pepin Tallied Insurance Marker

The Saints took over when Matthews joined his mates and Campeau's line threw on the pressure. Gilles Dube went into the corner after the disc and when Harmon made a pass out it was right on the stick of Bobby Pepin and again he rifled it behind Renaud to give the Saints a 3-1 lead.

With five minutes left to play Coach Morin used four forwards but the locals held on like dear death and kept clearing the disc out of their own zone at every chance. Litzenberger wound up on one but Dion made a spectacular save. Plamondon was close right after but again Dion made a flying catch to save until the gong sounded to announce the end and the victory.

THREE DEFENSIVE STARS IN SERIES—Pete "Big Train" Wright is seen congratulating Roger Leger, one of the main stars for the Royals in the blueline brigade, immediately after the game at the Forum yesterday when the Royals copped the seventh tilt of the series to win 4-3 and move into the semi-finals against Quebec Aces.

LOSER CONGRATULATES WINNER — Ivan Dugré, popular coach of the Sherbrooke Saints, is seen wishing Pete Morin, pilot of the Royals, good-luck after the game. The Dugré clan fought to the finish and gave the Royals plenty of trouble before bowing out of the play-offs.

Locals Go Down Fighting In Seventh Game After Forcing Series To Limit; 12,302 Witnessed Close Checking Tilt

By LEN O'DONNELL
Sherbrooke Record Sports Editor

Montreal, March 16 — The Sherbrooke Saints bowed out of the Quebec Senior Hockey League playoffs here yesterday afternoon when they went down fighting to the Montreal Royals 2-0 in the seventh and deciding game of the quarter-finals before a top crowd of 12,302 fans.

The Dugre clan, who at the start of the series was only given a slight nod by experts against the highly favored Royals of Pete Morin almost pulled another hockey upset by forcing the Montrealers to the wire before they went down fighting. The locals trailed at one time in the series 3-1 but rallied to knot the count and force the seventh game before dropping out of the picture.

The Saints kept driving to the final gong but a late start in the early stages proved costly as the Royals got the jump and moved to the fore and from then on just sat back and protected their advantage. The locals lost plenty of their drive when Bob Drainville, who had been one of the stars in the series, was forced out of action with torn cartilages in the knee. He tried a comeback but was unable to skate and retired from the game.

Connie Doin came up with another strong performance while the rest of the team kept driving but failed to beat Jean-Paul Renaud in the Royals' nets. Jacques Locas was in alone with him in the first period and when everybody figured he would register the first marker of the game the young net minder made a spectacular stop to save the day for the Royals.

The Royals took over from the opening whistle with a strong offensive and drove away from all angles at Dion. Denis and Burchell was in but Dion came up with the saves. Harmon walked in with Burchell and the local net minder dropped to save right in front of the Royal rearguard.

Bobby Frampton broke away alone but Roger Rebe[illegible] came up with a nice effort by turning him into the corner b[illegible] got his shot away. Denis was put in the clear but the disc bounced over his stick when he was in the open.

Jacques Locas drove in but Renaud turned his effort aside and then Gerry Plamondon drew the nod for giving Bobby Pepin his knee and during his absence the Saints bombarded Renaud from all directions. Renaud made three close saves from the edge of the goal crease to ease things.

Tremblay put Locas in again but his effect was kicked out. Drainville and Wright were driving from the point but their shots failed to reach the net. With both teams back at full strength Bob Drainville wrenched his knee when he crashed into the boards with Frampton. He left the ice but returned at the end of the frame. Dion handled nine shots while Renaud had four to play with.

Bobby Pepin almost tallied in the opening seconds when Renaud came out to clear and the local winger flipped it back. He dropped to save. Locas then followed in but Renaud made the save again. Campeau and Pepin were in but they failed to click in close.

Burchell and Rene Pepin went off together for high-sticking but nothing happened during their enforced rest. Dion was then called upon to make several close saves from close range. He fell on the disc to hold on from the scramble right in front of his nets.

Royals Tally Two Quick Ones

Jimmy Moore got away on the win and relaid over a nice pass to Les Douglas and the veteran pivot man rifled it into the for the Royal's first tally. The second one came three minutes later and started in the corner. Denis picked it up and passed it out in front when Rousseau swooped in to bat it by Dion who walked out a little too far leaving plenty of the net to catch the drive.

Ed Litzenberger came up with a hard drive but this time Dion cut off the angle and made the save. Just before the end of the frame Locas was in close but failed to click on the play. Bobby Pepin drove right back but his effort was stopped by Renaud.

Connie Dion came up with a beautiful save on a screen shot from Roger Leger with Les Douglas parked on his doorstep. Gilles Dube was away but Renaud made the save from in close. Royals starting to ice the disc to clear their own zone.

Ronnie Matthews made a nice save on a three-man rush then got away right after but failed to click. Locas was in the clear but his shot was turned aside. Litzenberger missed a open corner right in front and right after Leger went off for boarding Dube.

Locas was standing on edge of crease when Renaud came up with a wonderful catch to save the situation and ease the pressure. The Saints had one shot on goal during his absence. They couldn't get organized.

The Royals kept clearing and didn't take any chances. They would hoist it from centre ice and turn back to pack their defense until the final gong.

Bob Richardson Cops Nordik Title

St. Sauveur, Que.— (CP) —Bob Richardson of Mont Gabriel, Que., won the 1953 Nordik combined and the Quebec provincial Alpine ski crown here during the week-end.

Richardson, who won the Kandahar last week, won Saturday's slalom and took Sunday's giant slalom with two runs of 119.4.

The junior "A" men's title was won by Bob Gilmour, Mont Gabriel, Que., and the junior "B" crown by Rolland Beaulieu, Nordik.

Citadels Trounce Jr. Canadiens 5-3

Quebec — (CP) — Quebec Citadels came back with a vengeance Sunday to trounce Montreal Canadiens 5-3 and take a 1-0 lead in their best-of-nine Junior Amateur Hockey Association finals.

The Citadels were behind 3-1 going into the final period when they broke loose for four goals to cinch the game.

Camille Henri put the Citadels ahead with a goal at 5:59 of the first period, the only tally of the frame.

Then in the second, Denis Boucher, Guy Rousseau and Henri Richard tallied for the Canadiens to give them what looked like an unbeatable lead.

But, at 1:19 of the third, Maurice Collins tallied; Camille Henri followed through with a pair of goals, the second proving to be the winner; and Michel Labadie notched the insurance marker.

Eight penalties were handed out during the game.

Dates Released For Maritime Golf Championships; To Be Held In July Over Charlottetown Country Club

Saint John, N.B.—(CP)—The New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island golf championships have been scheduled for the Charlottetown Golf Club July 20, 21 and 22.

Dates for the tournament were released in Saint John Sunday night by James F. Foster, secretary-treasurer of the N.B.-P.E.I. Golf Association.

The tournament was played at Edmundston last summer when Pete Kelly of Fredericton won the amateur title, and Archie Skinner of St. Andrews walked off with the professional crown.

Mr. Foster also announced that the Maritime Amateur championship would be played in New Brunswick this season, later than the N.B.-P.E.I. tournament.

He said dates and site for the Maritime championship, and dates for the annual Fundy National Park championship would be settled shortly.

Frank Byrne Offers His Famous Quebec Citadels For Sale; Also Suggests That Loop Should Expand

Quebec—(CP)—Frank Byrne said Saturday his Quebec junior A Citadels club is for sale and made suggestions for the expansion of the Quebec Junior Amateur Hockey Association.

The peppery Citadels' boss said the buyers could operate the Quebec club in whatever league they wished.

However, he described as 'fantastic" an Ottawa report saying the new owners might operate with Shawinigan Falls, Three Rivers, and four clubs in the Lake St. John area—Chicoutimi, St. Joseph d'Alma, Jonquiere and Dolbeau.

A league like that could not operate on a good junior level, he said. They would not have enough players of that calibre.

Byrne indicated he was through with junior hockey but was still interested in the game.

He suggested the JAHA might expand to include Hull, which will have a 7,000-seat rink Oct. 1, Shawinigan Falls and possibly Chicoutimi.

It is understood Hull interests have already asked the JAHA for a franchise.

Byrne did not indicate whether he had received any offers and declined to name his price. There have been rumors that Quebec Aces of the Quebec Senior Hockey Loop were interested in having a junior A club here. Aces already have a farm club agreement with Three Rivers Reds.

Charles Smith, Aces treasurer, was reported in Ottawa as a possible Citadels buyer. He was not available for comment.

A hockey source here suggested the JAHA might expand with western and eastern sections. The western section could include two Montreal teams, Hull and possibly Sherbrooke or Valleyfield.

The eastern group would include Quebec, Chicoutimi, Three Rivers and Shawinigan Falls or Grand'Mere.

Junior teams in Sherbrooke, Valleyfield and Shawinigan might possibly mean withdrawal of QSHL teams from those towns, now that the QSHL has withrawn from the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association, and may operate on a professional basis.

The QSHL resignation from the QAHA teams from a dispute between the Quebec Association and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

The JAHA now includes Quebec, Three Rivers Reds, Montreal Canadiens and Montreal Royals. Executives here favored continuing inter-locking series with Ontario junior teams started this year.

Halifax St. Mary's Play To 5-5 Tie

North Sydney, N.S.—(CP)—Halifax-Dartmouth St. Mary's battled to a 5-5 overtime tie with North Sydney Franklins Saturday, deadlocking the best-of-seven Maritime junior hockey finals at three games each with one tied.

The game was called at 2:34 of the sudden-death second overtime period when Halifax goalie Thane Doyle, the star of the series, was injured. After Doyle was allowed 10 minutes, the game was discontinued because of the Sunday curfew.

Date of the final game was not announced.

The Franklins took a 3-0 lead on goals by Kays, Dorrington and Gouthro after a scoreless first period. Halifax reversed the play in the third, sniping four goals to North Sydney's one by Billick.

Halifax marksmen were Gaudet, with two, Norman and Warner. Dorrington and McLeod tallied in the first overtime period, and play was even in the sudden death session until Doyle was hit by the puck.

Glace Bay Dumps Islanders 6-3

Glace Bay, N.S.—(CP)—Glace Bay Miners ended the regular Maritime Major Hockey League schedule at their goal-scoring peak Saturday, downing the second-place Charlottetown Islanders 6-3 in a well-played game.

Frank Roper, a junior, turned in a good game in the Charlottetown goal while regular netminder Al Millar rested. The Miners meet Charlottetown in the best-of-nine semi-finals starting in Charlottetown Monday.

Glace Bay, currently the hottest team in the league, took a 2-0 lead in the first period on goals by Jim McKenzie and Ken Watson. Gordie Miller and Eddie Joss made it 4-0 in the second before Erwin Grosse tallied for the Islanders.

Junior McCallum opened for Charlottetown in the third to make it 4-2, but Neil Amadio and Pop Bickor tallied while Charlottetown's only other goal came from Bob Gray.

Roper had 42 stops while Don Lockhart turned away 25.

Chataway Covers Mile In 4:08.4

London— (AP) —Chris Chataway of Oxford ran the third fastest mile in British track history Saturday when he won the feature race of the 79th Oxford-Cambridge track and field meet in 4:008.4.

Chataway, fifth in the Olympic 5,000-metre race last year, was two seconds slower than the 4:6.4 by Syd Wooderson in 1937, which stood as the world record for five years. He also snapped the meet record, betting his own 1952 mark of 4:10.2.

Roger Bannister, with 4:07.9, is the only other British runner to cover the distance faster.

Czech Hockey Team Drops Out Of Event

Zurich —(AP)— Czechoslovakia's national hockey team withdrew from the world and European hockey championships here Saturday as a result of the death of President Gottwald.

The Czech team was in second place in the four-nation tournament and the withdrawal automatically made Sweden world and European hockey champions for 1953.

Canada and the United States did not enter teams.

American League Expected To Give Bill Veeck Green Light For Shift; International Must Give Permission

Tampa, Fla. — (AP) — The American League is expected to give Bill Veeck the green light today in his efforts to shift the St. Louis Browns franchise to Baltimore.

Lou Perini's plans to move Boston Braves to Milwaukee will come up for a vote Wednesday when the National League meets at St. Petersburg following an American Association meeting earlier the same day.

No solid resistance to either move appeared at Sunday's executive council meeting at Belleair, Fla., where commissioner Ford Frick held a preliminary hearing with officials of the four clubs and leagues involved.

Approval by the American league at today's special meeting at Tampa would not bring major league ball to Baltimore officially. It would still require the sanction of the International League which will meet within the next 48 hours as soon as the scattered officials can get together.

Frick told both Veeck of the Browns and Perini, president of the Braves, they must follow the established rules of procedure in their franchise shifts. He pointed out each move must have the approval of the major and minor leagues concerned.

Both the American Association, which will lose Milwaukee, and the International League, which must give up Baltimore, will have to find new cities to round out their circuits.

The American Association, having won the "battle of Toledo" from the International, apparently is all set to move back into the Ohio city abandoned last midsummer when its franchise was shifted to Charleston, W.Va.

Perini huddled with Bruce Dudley, association president, on the proposed move yesterday. Approval of the association at its meeting Wednesday at St. Petersburg appears a mere matter of formality.

The International League, however, has a more difficult problem. President Frank (Shag) Shaughnessy, irked by the sudden turn of events, complained, "if we want to draft territory of some other minor league, we can't do it. But the majors can take one of our best cities any time they feel like it."

The minors adopted a rule last December banning any move into the territory of another minor league, except between Oct. 1 and Dec. 1.

Although Shaughnessy refused to name any potential cities for his eighth franchise, should Baltimore turn major, indications were that Hartford, Conn., might be the spot. Hartford is an "open city" in baseball law.

Veeck said there would be no schedule problems if Baltimore replaced St. Louis. He said the "Orioles" could play the Browns' schedule without any changes.

American League rules require six votes for a franchise shift. The National needs a unanimous ballot.

Ralph Kiner Reaches Terms With Branch Rickey; Heads For Havana; Signs For $76,000 For One Year

Palm Springs, Calif.—(AP)—Home run specialist Ralph Kiner, his luggage packed for days, heads for Havana today to join the Pittsburgh club and conclude a stormy holdout session with the Pirate general manager Branch Rickey.

Kiner said he was booking airline passage to Cuba as soon as he could make it.

Last night—30 minutes before another ultimatum to Rickey that Kiner agree to terms—Kiner disclosed he was coming to terms.

The terms, Kiner said, were almost exactly those he and Rickey agreed on at their meeting in Hollywood Feb. 13. They call for Kiner to receive something under $76,000, a cut he agreed upon from the $90,000 he is supposed to have received last year.

Kiner was asked bluntly who won the bitter, wordy and long-range squabble between himself and Rickey.

"The only thing I ever held out for was what we originally agreed upon a month ago. Some of the things we agreed on at that time were withdrawn in the days that followed."

Kiner and Rickey have been at swords' points since their Feb. 13 meeting. At one point Rickey demanded that Kiner report to camp by March 1, then March 7 and finally by March 15, although the month before he had said Kiner would not have to be there until the middle of March.

Kiner said he had sent the following wire to Rickey last night:

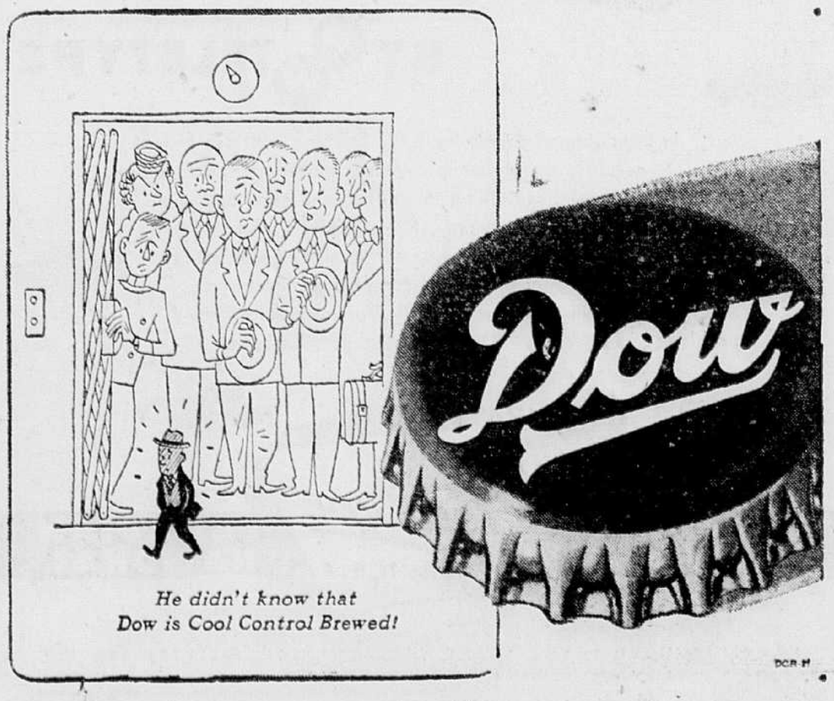

"I accept the terms of your March 14 telegram and will report as soon as transportation is available. I am anxious to get to spring training and I am in good condition. I hope that I can in some way help the team get into the first division, and I hope to be with Pittsburgh the rest of my baseball career."

Lennoxville Curling Club Downed Wayagamack In Quebec Challenge Cup Play 32-19 In Final Fixture

The Lennoxville Curling Club stood off the last bid of 1952-53 for the Quebec Challenge Cup on Saturday night by defeating the Wayagamack Curling Club of Three Rivers 32-19 in a two-game match.

This was the final challenge of the season to the Lennoxville curlers, who have held the cup since they won it from Sherbrooke in February, 1952. Their convincing victory meant that they will retain the trophy at least until the first challenge next season, and longer if they continue their high calibre play.

Skip Stan Hamilton's rink piled up a convincing 19-5 victory over C. Desmarais's foursome to give Lennoxville its victory. The other game, decided by a two-end by R. Laperriere's Wayagamack curlers on the 12th and last end was won 14-13 by Three Rivers. T. E. Burton was the Lennoxville skip in this closely-fought game.

A reversal of form by Hamilton's rink in the last eight ends was responsible for the Lennoxville win. After four ends in this game, Wayagamack held a 5-0 lead, but Hamilton's team, curling flawlessly, did not concede a single point after that and won going away.

The Wayagamack curlers came from behind to win the other match. Burton's quartet built up an 8-2 lead early in the game, but a big six-end by Laperriere's team evened the score and from then on it was anybody's game. The lead changed hands several times, with Lennoxville ahead 13-12 going into the final end. Three Rivers counted two stones by the narrowest of margins on the last end, however, to win the game.

The victory was the seventh in a row in Quebec Challeneg Cup competition, which is somewhat of a record for modern play in the series that begin in 1874 for rinks that are members of the Canadian branch of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club.

After winning the trophy from Sherbrooke 13 months ago, Lennoxville defended it successively against Metcalfe, Ont., Perth, Ont., Pembroke, Ont., Lachute, Que., (by default), Shawinigan Falls, Que., and finally Wayagamack.

Saturday night's match was the 307th played for the massive cup since it was put up for competition.

Sports Of Sorts

By GLEN BROWN

Well winter is over and comes time for an assessment of the worth of running Pee Wee Hockey teams. Pee Wee for your information, Sir, is the age group of 12 and under who play hockey under the benevolent eye of Maurice Parsons, ye convenor of Minor hockey in the Eastern Townships area. Maurice should be called father Parsons because he takes on all the headaches of a proud father multiplied about a thousand times. Between placating H. Q. in Montreal for the mistakes of his underlings, and trying to jack the boys up to organized hockey at the 12-year stage, and convincing new areas that if they want real hockey they had better remember the youngsters, Maurice is busier than the proverbial one-armed paper hanger.

Anyway, out at the Knowlton rink layout 64 pre-teen-agers toiled on four teams the Maple Leafs, Red Wings, Canadiens, and the now champions Rangers — through a fine season of regular hockey and playoffs. During the regular season Rangers were the dogs and remained undefeated for the schedule Red Wings were the runners with the Maple Leafs in third place, and the last year champions in the cellar in the shape of Canadiens. Peculiarly enough, last year the positions were reversed with Canucks tops and the Rangers in last spot.

In the playoffs Rangers bumped off Leafs in three closely-fought games while Red Wings took three tries to rub off the hard fighting Canadiens. Then in the final, Rangers won the first one and with it the championship. Supposedly the finals were going to be a best-out-of-three series but the end of ice pushed it into a sudden death.

For the champions, Fred Whitehead and John Patterson were outstanding in defense. Up front Allan Reynolds, Pete Rogerson and Bobby Arnott seemed to be the cream of the Rangers' scoring and back checking corps. Naturally it takes 16 players to make a team an dall the boys I mention could not show unless they had some team mates.

For Red Wings, Lloyd Coote and Peter Hamilton were the big wheels with Buzzy Hamilton (Bill's boy) in goal, and Larry Lacroix, Roger Beaulieu and Vince Hall up front. For Maple Leafs, Dawson Wing, Mike Pille, Lenard Mescott and George Ede were the key men of the situation, and lastly, Canadiens had Don Cousens, Frankie Stanbridge, Orville Ling, Lyndon Page and goalie Stan Smith to cheer for.

The boys improved a great deal over last year and with the movement in full swing you can expect bigger and better results next year. Raymond Lanctot has helped the cause along by giving the league a beautiful trophy to be presented to the champs at their annual league dinner.

Chaff: Gordie Ladd's idea for a town basketball round robin series is underway at Waterloo. So far Waterloo have belted Bedford, and then lost a close one to Knowlton Wednesday night. Mears and Cousens have looked very sharp for Waterloo and Thornton and Doug Marsh for Knowlton—John Black took his girls up to Thetford to trounce the asbestos town girls convincingly 51-15. Millinchamp, Cousens, and Bailey played a fine guarding game for Waterloo. In the boys game, Thetford came back to take Waterloo with Komery showing a fine game for the winners and Cousens for the losers.—St. Helen's girls tied Granby up smartly in their playoff game at Knowlton and won the Reglin Trophy for the district of Bedford Senior Girls Basketball.

Flem Mackell Puts Leafs Almost Out Of Playoffs As He Haunts His Former Mates; Bruins Win 3-1

If Conn Smythe ever suffers from bed dreams, he may spend a few summer nights contemplating the handsome features of Fleming David Mackell.

To hockey-minded ladies of Boston's younger set, the vision of the 22-year-old Bruin centre might not qualify as a nightmare. But none of them runs a hockey club that Mackell knocked out of the playoffs. And if any of them had him under contract, they would be disinclined to trade him — even for a stalwart young defenceman like Jim Morrison.

Smythe's Toronto Maple Leafs aren't officially out of the National Hockey League playoffs yet. But in the space of nine seconds, Mackell transformed them from red hot contenders into a club that needs a succession of near-miracles to make the grade.

It happened Saturday night at Maple Leaf Gardens, where Mackell plied his trade for years, first as a promising centre for St. Michael's College juniors, then as a hustling utility right-winger for the Leafs.

About a year ago, Smythe decided that Morrison had the makings of a top-notch defenceman and brought him up from a Boston farm club in exchange of Mackell.

The Bruins switched the crew-cut youngster back to centre this season and he began burning up the NHL. Also, he mentioned to a Boston reporter that he thought the Leafs would have got a lot more mileage out of him if they'd played him at centre and played him regularly.

Smythe laughed it off at the time, and kept trying to make a topnotch defenceman out of Morrison to take the curse off the deal. But he finally gave up Saturday night, benching the youngster in favor of an extra forward.

For two periods the tactics looked good. Ron Stewart gave the Leafs a 1-0 lead and it looked as if they were on the road to fourth place.

But early in the third frame, Mackell picked up a short pass from Eddie Sandford and beat goalie Harry Lumley for the tying goal. Nine seconds later he set up Sandford for another tally and the Leafs never recovered. Woody Dumart fired a third into an empty net in the last minute of play when Lumley had departed in favor of another attacker.

The stricken Leafs stumbled to a 1-1 tie against the last-place Rangers at New York Sunday night — Harry Watson managed to match an early goal by New York's Hergesheimer — and the handwriting appeared to be on the Toronto dressing-room wall.

Meanwhile the Bruins grabbed a 2-1 victory at the expense of the second-place Montreal Canadiens and moved into a third-place tie with Chicago Black Hawks, who had grabbed a win and a tie in a home-and-home series with the first-place Detroit Red Wings. They lead Toronto by a comfortable six points.

Another rookie, Jerry Topparzani, started the Bruins on another uphill climb Sunday as he fired the tying goal in the second period after Richard had given the Canadiens an early lead. Johnny Peirson salted the game away at the halfway mark of the third frame. It was Boston's eighth victory over Montreal against only three losses.

The Hawks, who hadn't won at Detroit all season, also had to come from behind as they downed the leaders in the opening frame, a couple of second-period tallies by Jim Peters and George Gee put Chicago in front. Jimmy McFadden made it certain five minutes before the game ended.

Both clubs were content to play defensive hockey at Chicago Sunday, ending in a scoreless tie — the ninth shutout of the year for Detroit's Terry Sawchuk and the seventh for Al Rollins of the Hawks.

No NHL action is scheduled until Wednesday night, when the Hawks get a chance to put the Leafs out of their misery at Toronto while the Bruins pay their last visit to New York.

Dalray Breaks Down After Race

Melbourne — (AP) — The champion New Zealand race horse Dalray broke down in the Carabine Stakes at Flemington racecourse Saturday and may never race again.

The four-year-old Dalray won last year's Melbourne Cup and was regarded as the outstanding racehorse in Australia.

He broke down after finishing out of the money in one of the longest flat races in Australia — 2¼ miles.

Halifax Cops Top Spot In Maritimes

Halifax — (CP) — Halifax Atlantics whipped Sydney Millionaires 6-2 Saturday night in a rough, weird game which gave the Atlantics first place in the Maritime Hockey League.

Halifax, which led the four-team circuit all season, go into the best-of-nine semi-finals here Monday night against the last place Millionaires.

Charlottetown Islanders, beaten 6-3 by the third-place Glace Bay Miners Saturday, finished four points behind the Atlantics. They begin their series at home against Glace Bay Monday.

Halifax took a 3-1 lead in the first, added another in the second, and two to Sydney's one in the third. Ken Laufman, Billy Goold, Hugh Campbell, Bob Bowness, Doug McPhee and Bill Ford scored for the winners, while Danny Weaver and Dunc McIntyre tallied for Sydney.

Twenty-two penalties were called and play was held up for more than 10 minutes in the third while officials, players and police restored order.

Bob Hayes and Johnny Morrow fought on the ice and later belted each other in the penalty box. An irate Nick Pidsodny clambered over the boards, threatening to strike a hooting spectator.

He received a misconduct penalty. Then he jostled with teammate McIntyre, after taking exception to some of the defenceman's remarks.

Coach Johnny Horeck threw his stick and gloves high into the air. Another Sydney player hurled a towel to the ice. It was thrown back into the player's face by Halifax coach Dugger McNeil.

Valcartier, Que. — (CP) — Olympic jumper Jacques Charland of Trois-Rivieres, Que., won the Eastern Canada ski jumping championship Sunday with jumps of 181 and 172 feet for 214.08 points.

Charland, who won the Canadian title two weeks ago at Ottawa, was far from the 201-feet record he set last week for the 70-metre jump in this resort near Quebec City.

Charland's distance, however, was enough to keep him ahead of Lucien Laferte of Trois-Rivieres. Laferte, also a Canadian Olympic skier, gathered 212.35 points on jumps of 167 and 170 feet.

McGill Redmen Edge Carabins

Montreal — (CP) — Whitney Schutz, with two goals, paced McGill Redmen to a 3-2 victory over University of Montreal Carabins in a senior intercollegiate hockey game Saturday.

Henry Emo and Pete Constable scored McGill's other markers, while Jean-Marc Desrochers and Claude Dagenais counted for the Carabins.

Minus Two Top Players For Important Fixtures But Give Good Account In Annual Event; Lose To Champs 56-52

By ARNOLD BARON

Quebec, March 16 — Thetford Aces, Basketball Champions of the Eastern Townships, could be called the hard luck team of the year following their two games in the Provincial Intermediate Basketball tournament this week-end.

Aces made the journey to the capital without high-scorng Eric Pharo, a ten or twelve point man per league game., Eric, a veteran and a steadying influence on the team in crucial tests remained with his wife who is in hospital.

But even without this outstanding player, Thetford Mines took on the power-packed Montreal Amateur Athletic Association squad, Senior "B" Champions of the Big City League, and lost by only four points, 56-52.

In the second game, which they had to win or be eliminated, Aces faced Laval University, champions of the Quebec City League. For the test with the collegians, Thetford was without the services of stellar guard Bob Moore, who suffered a badly wrenched knee half way through the tilt with M.A.A.A.

Also missing was a first-string forward Irwin Komery, who is a member of the Thetford High School team which has first call on his services.

Saturday night, unfortunately for Aces, Thetford High School was playing at Quebec High School in the quarter-final round for the Visser trophy. The high school from the mining town was ahead by only four points on the round as the result of their 50-46 at Thetford Mines last week so Irwin was needed.

Irwin played for the high school at the same time as Thetford was losing to Quebec's Laval University, 61-52.

Irwin Komery scored 22 points as the Thetford hight students walloped the home squad, 48-39 in the meantime, Aces had to use other players on the forward line with Albert Nakash and Marcel Samson. This didn't work nearly as well as Irwin Komery would have.

Shawinigan Jannas, composed mainly of last year's Shawinigan Tech. Provincial Champions, played Verdun's Southwestern "Y" in the first game of the tournament at the Limoilou gymnasium and won, 64-48. Thetford then lost its hearbreaker to M.A.A.A. and Three Rivers Radissons put Laval on the brink of elimination, defeating the scholars, by 15 points, 69 to 54.

In the fourth game, M.A.A.A. handed Southwestern "Y" their second straight defeat and eliminated them, 69-54.

In their loss by a small margin to the Montreal team, Aces were down by seven points at the end of the first half. They managed to out-score M.A.A.A. by three points in the second half but fell short by four in the overall total.

Against Laval, Thetford trailed by ten points at the half, whittled it down to three points with three minutes of play remaining but got jittery and allowed university to extend its margin in the dying moments of the game.

Three P.Q.A.B.A. referees are being used for the series, Ewart Jones and Dick Schroeder of Montreal and Duncan Breese, of Three Rivers.

Jack McCammon's Thetford crew, nevertheless, convinced a large majority of the fans that they were the second-best team in the tournament, at least, by their sensational display against Montreal Amateur Athletic Association. In that game, Thetford lost one of their Aces, Stewart Vaudry via the foul route early in the fourth quarter.

Summaries of the two Thetford games is as follows:

Thetford Aces: McNaughton 2, Irwin Komery 10, Marcel Samson 15, Guy Samson 2, Vaudry 5, Desrosiers 3, Nakask 14, George McCammon 1, Moore, Bob Komery. Total—52.

M.A.A.A.: Wilson 6, McLeod 5, Gibson 2, Binmore 3, Dudley 7, Brown 22, Jones 2, Putnam 9, Wray, Sterling. Total—56.

Thetford Aces: Simons 2, Marcel Samson 8, Desrosiers 7, Nakash 15, Guy Samson 7, George McCammon 2, Bob Komery 1, Vaudry 10. Total—52.

Laval University: Drolet 4, Marcel Hebert 8, Lemaire 12, Marquis 3, Whalen 3, Bedard 7, Paulin 8, Massicotte 16, Lortie Claude Hebert. Total—61.

Ives Hill And Draper's Corner Farm Forum Met

Draper's Corner, March 16.—The Ives' Hill and Draper's Corner Farm Forum meeting was held on March 9, when an exceptionally interesting broadcast was listened to by fifteen members and friends at the home of Mr and Mrs. Stewart Cairns.

On the question, How important is the appearance of the farmstead? All agreed it is important to have the farm homestead made so attractive one may feel proud of their home and surroundings. It would be encouraging for the young people on the farm.

Can you suggest farm home improvements that can be made with little cost outlay? It wouldn't cost much to keep the lawn cut, burn up all rubbish about the buildings, dead flowers etc., repair fences and driveways.

How can the more costly improvements be fitted into the farm budget? The only way is use the money needed and let the budget take care of itself. Farm budgeting has to be very elastic.

Have your Forum members done any farmstead beautification in the last three years? Three years ago a beautification contest was held among the members.

Would a rural beautification project serve a useful purpose in your community? Yes, we feel a beautification project would be a benefit to our community.

A routine meeting followed with Albert Cairns chairman for the evening. Ten dollars was voted sent for flood relief victims.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Suitor will entertain the next meeting at their home, when Mrs Evans will assist Mrs. Suitor; and members will have freedom from lunch responsibilities.

how many greats for grandfather?

This is a day when popular sayings of the past are being challenged. Modern parents apparently don't believe in "Spare the rod and spoil the child." Next door neighbours wish they did.

There's another old-time saying that might stand revising. It's many a year since it was first used: "The Ale Your Great-Grandfather Drank". Repeated today, does it really do full justice to the antiquity of Quebec's favorite ale? As a matter of fact, it doesn't.

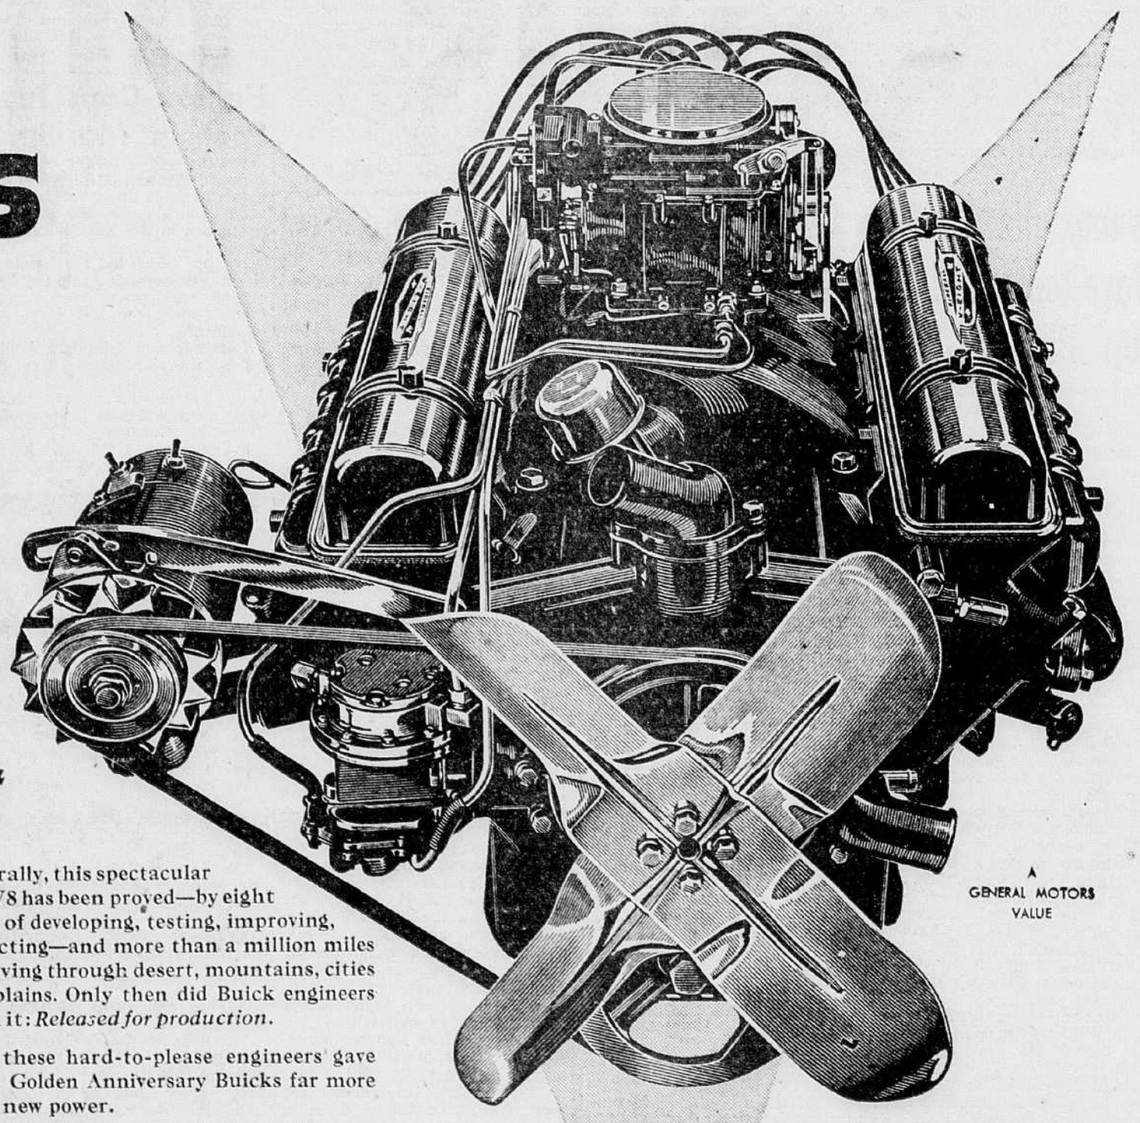

The dictionary gives us 30 years as a generation. That makes it five or six generations since John Molson first produced his agreeable brew in 1786. That means a couple of extra "greats" should be added to "great-grandfather". And of course it could be many, many more. For example:

Consider that in 1786 there was a lusty young Egbert in Montreal who that year had a son, Egbert the Second. And that each succeeding Egbert in turn at the age of twenty had a son. Why today there could be an Egbert the Tenth looking forward to enjoying "the ale his great . . . grandfather drank"!

Just try figuring it out some time — over a glass of the best.

World's newest V8

with a million miles behind it

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

HERE, in literal fact, is the most advanced V8 engine ever placed in a standard-production automobile.

It is the first such V8 to reach an 8.5 to 1 compression ratio, and the first with a dynamic flow muffler that cuts power loss to zero.

It is the first V8 to utilize vertical valves together with a 12-volt electrical system instead of the usual 6. It is also the first designed with new "T" type intake manifold to replace the "Y" type conventionally used in V8s.

It is, quite simply, the first V8 Fireball Engine—the engine that brings electrifying performance to the greatest Buicks in fifty great years—the engine that powers the 1953 Buick Roadmaster with 188 hp, and the 1953 Buick Super with up to 170.

Naturally, this spectacular new V8 has been proved—by eight years of developing, testing, improving, perfecting—and more than a million miles of driving through desert, mountains, cities and plains. Only then did Buick engineers mark it: Released for production.

But these hard-to-please engineers gave these Golden Anniversary Buicks far more than new power.

They gave them, too, a still finer ride, more superb comfort, new braking power and handling ease—and a sensational new Twin-Turbine Dynaflow Drive* that adds new quiet and whip-fast getaway to absolute smoothness.

Nothing, we believe, will do more justice to your automobile dollars—or to your love of magnificent motoring—than a visit to us right now.

THE GREATEST BUICK IN 50 GREAT YEARS

Oil Industry Language Is Colorful

Saskatoon — (CP) — Colorful language used in the oil-drilling business is enough to make a greenhorn scratch his head in dismay.

It's possible to walk into a drilling supplies firm here and hear a drill boss order some "mud," a "Christmas tree," a "boomer" and maybe even a "pig."

All can be bought in Saskatchewan and if they're needed in a hurry they can be flown to the buyer at no extra cost.

But the original cost might strike the layman as fantastic. Mud ranges in price for $1.70 a hundred pounds to $1.15 a pound. To regular customers who can't do without it, the money is unimportant.

The price of Christmas trees will rock the steadiest nerves, running all the way from $275 to $1,200. They'd never look quite right in the corner of a living room.

The oil business understands mud as a mixture of betonite clay and chemical used when drilling with rotary tools. The Christmas tree is a weird contraption of valves fitted on top of the production casing in a flowing well. Oil flow is controlled through it.

The pig, also known as a "go-devil" is a cylindrical apparatus with blades fitted to the forward end. It is forced through pipelines under pressure as a means of cleaning and scraping the inside. Crews also use "snakeskins," pliable fittings used to join two ends of wire cable and a "boomer," a lever used for tightening chain.

Philatheas Met At Lennoxville

Members of the Philathea Society of the Lennoxville United Church held their regular monthly meeting in the Gertrude Scott Hall.

Mrs. H. Worster, the president, opened the meeting with prayer. Due to the prevailing illnesses, only thirteen members were present.

The treasurer's report showed a satisfactory sum realized from the sugar-on-snow social held recently at which time the door prizes went to Mr. Goodwin and little Miss Winslow. Plans were made to hold a rummage sale on May 2nd and a food sale on March 20th.

Donations of baby garments or materials for same are to be brought to the next meeting. This meeting will be "Secret Pal" night, the two hostesses named at this meeting being Mrs. C. H. George and Mrs. T. Saunders, others to be added.

The bearers were: John Colton, Sr., Edward Harrison, Ted Aldrich, Eric Nobes, William Whitaker, and Sidney Spanswick. Interment was held in Malvern Cemetery, in Lennoxville, Que.

Pipe Major Andy Forrett, of the Canadian Legion, Branch No. 10, played the Lament and WO2 Irving Richard, of the R.C.A.F., played the Last Post.

The many flowers and cards of sympathy showed the high respect in which the deceased was held in this community.

Calgary Woman Is Collecting Ear Rings As Hobby

Calgary — (CP) — Women everywhere like to collect things—recipes, antiques and possibly husbands. Mrs. S. R. Farquharson of Calgary collects ear-rings — the bigger the better.

A harpist in the Calgary Symphony Orchestra board, Mrs. Farquharson has been collecting ear-rings since she was 17 and now has more than 50 pairs. If they aren't big enough to be impressive she remodels them to meet her style specifications.

Mrs. Farquharson does the designing. But it's her husband who does all the work.

Working with tweezers, pliers and magnifying glass, he follows her directions and the result is something to startle the passerby.

"I bought my first pair of ear-rings when I was a student at the Brantford, Ont., Conservatory of Music," Mrs. Farquharson said. "They were tiny pearls and I had to wear them discreetly, with my hair pulled down over my ears, because nice girls just didn't wear ear-rings in those days."

When she goes on a trip the ear-rings have a special box and every pair goes with her.

Included in her collection is a pair of Maltese crosses from her mother. However, these aren't worn since Mrs. Farquharson has not had her ears pierced and the crosses go with pierced ear lobes.

Also in the collection is a pair of jet "chandeliers" from France, others with hand-painted china medallions with matching pendant and some fashioned in more traditional styles and studded with stones. These are classed as antiques.

Then there are the concoctions or "junk" as Mrs. Farquharson prefers to call her more unusual ear-rings.

There are huge gold loops, four-in-one rhinestone and pearl affairs which dangle to a length of four inches, four-inch red hoops and huge plastic flowers.
