The Total Eclipse of the Moon, Sunday, July 22nd, 1888.

(For the "Quebec Morning Chronicle.")

This eclipse will be, in every respect, like that previously witnessed on January 23rd last.

The different phases will occur as follows:

First contact with Penumbra.... 9.57 p.m.

First contact with Shadow.... 10.55 p.m.

Beginning of totality.... 11.54 p.m.

Middle of Eclipse.... 12.45 a.m.

End of totality.... 1.35 a.m.

Last contact with Shadow.... 2.35 a.m.

Last contact with Penumbra.... 3.32 a.m.

That part of the Eclipse from the first contact with the Penumbra to the first contact with the Shadow, and last contact with the Shadow to last contact with the Penumbra, will be phenomena that are hardly noticeable, unless carefully watched for, owing to the earth's shadow, through which the moon is about to pass, not being sharply defined at its margins. The contact with the "Shadow," till the moon passes beyond it again, will be a well marked phenomenon.

This Eclipse, as well as that of last January, are peculiar because of the "magnitude of the eclipse," or length of time that the occurrence lasts, a fact that depends on the thickness of the earth's shadow-zone at the point where the moon passes through it. The larger this distance the darker will be the "middle of the eclipse."

Abbe Marceux on the Relations Between Laval and the Jesuits.

Rev. Abbe Marceux, Vice-Rector of Laval University, returned from Quebec to-day and was interviewed this morning as to the rumors regarding the relations of Laval to the Jesuit estate question. He refused to enter upon the question itself, but denied in toto the assertion, that in case the Jesuits in this province received the $400,000, Laval University would not only not receive those magnificent buildings here, but would furthermore close up their schools at Quebec, as they were unwilling to compete with the Society of Jesus in educational matters.

"We are not unwilling to compete with any one if it is necessary, but I think the question of competition is rather far fetched. As you are about to erect the new buildings here on St. Denis street, of which the plans have been published in the Star?"

"Indeed we shall erect these buildings exactly as planned at first. In fact, there has been no change in our plans."

"When do you intend to begin with the construction?"

"I cannot exactly determine the date. In so large an undertaking many preparations become necessary. But I think and hope we shall begin within one year from now, possibly in the spring. We will not start until we have made the plans for us, will be the architects, notwithstanding the rumors spun out in some one's fertile brain that that firm was about to sue for $50,000 for breach of contract."

"Is it true that a number of old Liberals have signed a collective dispatch to Rome in which they advocate the claims of Laval to the interest on the $400,000 for educational purposes?"

"The rumor is not divided in party lines, but the greater portion of the House have signed that note in which they state that the Jesuits have decided to pay the interest on the $400,000, but that nothing had been said about paying the principal."

"From a personal friend of Hon. Mr. Morier it is learned that he will leave for Rome early in September, when the whole question will be again laid before the Pope."—Montreal Star.
