week. Police used both tear gas machines and the canister type to rout the thousands of students. The demonstration was dispersed after Black students had spent the day barricaded in the Administration building. The students had left the building before the police activity started.

Labor congress raps gov't over employment

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Labor Congress today accused the government of pursuing policies designed to moderate prices rather than maintain full employment and urged a commitment to comprehensive economic planning.

The 1,600,000-member organization made the point in its annual submission to the government on problems facing the country.

The 8,750-word brief took its hardest swipe at the economic situation. But it also prodded, caajoed and recommended in the areas of housing, social legislation, bilingualism and biculturalism, human rights, international affairs, natural resources and broadcasting.

Labor legislation came in for only a passing reference, mainly because the report of the federal commission on labor relations has not been released. The brief said there "appears to be some hesitancy" in releasing the report and urged its publication. On the economy, the CLC said:

"It is our belief that the most essential ingredient in the development of meaningful policies is a commitment on the part of government to the need for comprehensive economic planning."

...and lashes out at building policy

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Labor Congress lashed the federal government housing study today for clamping a lid on construction of large, public-housing projects until the subject can be reviewed.

In its annual brief to the cabinet, the CLC termed the public-housing proposal the "most surprising and objectionable" of all of the recommendations.

"The people in our lower-income brackets need decent housing now, and for the foreseeable future public housing is their major hope. We have no disagreement with the research project but we cannot allow the poor to stagnate in slums and hovels until other viable alternatives can be discovered."

Some other recommendations were "completely inappropriate" and few offered immediate aid in the most urgent areas.

WANTS NEW DEPARTMENT

The CLC recommended adoption of these points:

- Creation of a department of housing and urban affairs with a full-time minister. This would aid planning and "serve as a focus for the demands, proposals and complaints of the public."

- Assembly and servicing of lands by municipalities with the aid of federal loans. Taxation of the profits from land sales would further curb speculation.

Economic developments prompting most concern were prices and unemployment. Prices rose by 4.1 per cent in 1968 and unemployment reached 4.9 per cent of the labor force with some 373,000 jobless.

Certain government decisions served to aggravate the situation. The two-per-cent tax increase would have a deflationary impact and cancellation of the winter works program would lead to worsening of seasonal unemployment.

Gervais wants ways to combat terrorist wave

Sherbrooke's Liberal MP, Paul Gervais, said Friday he is going to propose amendments to the Criminal Code to establish new deterrents against terrorist activities.

Mr. Gervais said he was "shocked and disgusted" about Thursday's terrorist bombing at the Montreal and Canadian stock exchange with injured 27 people.

"Apart from endangering innocent people's lives," he said, "or mutilating them, the bombing is 'a serious economic setback' to Quebec."

Mr. Gervais hopes the authorities will take necessary action to cope with the terrorists.

He recalled Quebec Premier Bertrand's recent statement that Quebec would meet violence, with violence.

He said Quebec is getting to be known as a "trouble spot... a place of unrest."

In Ottawa, he said, the MPs will not ignore Montreal's plight, eight bombing since January 1. Thursday's bombing is "definitely going to have a reaction" in the House of Commons.

MONTREAL (CP) — Lucien Saulnier, chairman of the city's executive council, said Sunday that police may soon set up checkpoints to search vehicles and pedestrians in stepped-up efforts to curb Montreal-area bombings.

"The best way to ensure private and individual liberty is by ensuring collective security," he said in an interview with radio station CJAD.

There was no question of establishing a police state, he added.

Mr. Saulnier said that if checkpoints are established, pedestrians may be asked by police to open packages and briefcases.

But despite such stringent measures, it might still take a long time to catch the persons responsible for bombings.

The latest bombing here occurred Thursday at the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges when 27 persons were injured.

GETTING CLOSER

Meanwhile, a police spokesman said investigators are "progressively closer" to discovering who is responsible for the bombings.

Journalists express horror over bombing

MONTREAL (CP) — Editorial writers in French-language Montreal newspapers expressed horror Saturday at last week's bombing of the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges.

The explosion Thursday sent 27 persons to hospital with injuries and caused extensive damage in the exchange's offices in the 47-storey Place Victoria office building in the heart of the city's downtown financial district.

Claude Ryan said in Le Devoir the mentality of citizens is slipping to the points of accepting "violence as a means of regulating problems... Quebec has quickly become a milieu where violence flourishes."

"Political men, labor leaders and intellectuals have for several years allowed themselves too often to cultivate anarchy and to make irresponsible statements."

Authorities must establish beyond doubt that "aggression against public buildings or possessions will be considered as very grave actions, punishable by strict penalties."

"The stock exchange explosion justly arouses a general feeling of horror and reprobation."

Group urges 'equal citizens'

MONTREAL (CP) — A new federalist organization aimed at making "all Canadians fully accepted and truly equal citizens in all parts of our country" was launched Sunday night.

Leaders of the national organization, to be known as the Pro-Canada Association, say they hope to recruit 1,000,000 supporters "who believe in a united country."

Organized by a group of business and civic leaders, the association will attempt to establish characters in every province prior to Dec. 31, 1969, when it will hold its first national convention.

Announcing the kick-off of the Canada-wide recruiting campaign, President Art E. Seguin, mayor of suburban Pointe Claire and Liberal member of the Quebec national assembly for Robert Baldwin, said the association should not be tagged as an "anti-separatist" body.

preservation and betterment of Canada as the homeland of all Canadians, regardless of ethnic origin, language or religion.

"In this context, we will of course oppose the ideas and activities of all who want to break up and destroy our country."

ESTABLISH CONTACTS

Contacts with prospective organizers of the non-partisan organization have been established in several Quebec cities and large centres across Canada.

A major drive for cross-Canada membership will be made this June when hundreds of civic representatives gather in Ottawa for the annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

At that time, Mayor Seguin said, he will make a concerted effort to enlist the support of mayors and aldermen across Canada.

The bilingual association hopes to fight rising separatism in Quebec and in any other part of Canada where it may arise.

It would contribute "to the development and strengthening of true Canadian national awareness and pride."

Young people particularly showed less hostility and growing interest, Mr. Levesque said at a news conference.

"From the moment it's understood that we don't want to average the Plains of Abraham or attack the English, but seek to escape from a dead-end Canada, there's no hostility."

"On the contrary, they asked questions and they wanted to know more about our solution. Some young people even told us to go faster."

Mr. Levesque took part in 10 meetings at Toronto, Windsor, Ont., and Saskatoon.

His major disappointment, was French-language "ghettos" — areas where French-speaking persons were in minority.

Mr. Levesque then launched aboard the icebreaker Irberville before trying to fire a gun — it wouldn't go off — to open the ice canoe races between Quebec City and Lévis, across the St. Lawrence River.

After watching the races by helicopter, he was flown to Ancienne-Lorette airport 10 miles from Quebec City to spend Sunday night in Montreal.

City police said their 750-man force was bolstered by 1,200 to 1,500 security guards and police on loan from other municipalities for the weekend.

But most were guarding hotels and restaurants, filled to overflowing, or controlling crowds at events like the carnival parade.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE — Bachelors really have nothing against marriage, and they want to keep it that way!

News in brief

Two killed

CARP, Ont. (CP) — Two student pilots were killed Sunday when their light aircraft collided about 1,000 feet above a small airport in this community about 30 miles west of Ottawa.

Smash base

LONDON (CP) — A Scotland Yard informant said today the yard believes it has smashed the manufacturing base in Britain forming part of a huge international ring to supply the hallucinatory drug LSD to addicts on the Pacific coast of Canada and the United States.

Students saw lawyers

MONTREAL (CP) — Students and sympathizers jailed after a 10-hour destruction spree last week at Sir George Williams University spent most of Sunday in meetings with lawyers, friends and relatives in preparation for preliminary hearings scheduled to begin Tuesday.

Sydney Leithman, a lawyer representing some of the 97 charged with conspiracy to commit arson and conspiracy to destroy property, said Sunday night meetings were held to decide defence procedures to be used during preliminary hearings.

An orange thrown from a cheering crowd of 12,000 whistled past the prime minister's car Saturday afternoon as he stepped from the ice after dropping the puck for the final game of the international pee-wee hockey tournament at the Quebec Coliseum. The incident was almost unnoticed and ignored.

At Saturday night's big carnival parade, watched by tens of thousands of natives and visiting revellers, Mr. Trudeau stood on an open platform to review it.

JOINED CROWD

About 150 police, including defectives from Montreal's identification squad, mingled with the cheerful crowd. Some of Montreal's militant separatists were said to be in town.

However, there was no hint of the violence that turned last June's St. Jean-Baptiste Day parade in Montreal into a riotous test of nerve of the cool prime minister.

Later Saturday night, Mr. Trudeau went to the home of author Roger Lemelin for a private party attended by about 80 guests.

hearings Tuesday.

"We're sure the Canadians in the group will get bail. What we don't know, however, is how much bail money will be asked of those who come from outside Canada."

It is "less likely" that "known agitators" will be granted bail, he said.

With the exception of 21-year-old Joan Florence Katz, granted $2,000 bail Friday because she underwent an operation recently and required medical care, the others have remained in jail since Thursday.

Only a few months ago, the Biafrans were condemning the United States almost as strongly as they do Britain, because American recoilless rifles were captured from the Nigerians.

Now the Biafran leaders say they are "prepared to believe" that American arms for Nigeria was never a matter of U.S. policy.

Earlier Senator Charles E. Goodell (Rep. N.Y.) visited both Lagos and Biafra. He said he would report to President Nixon and to State Secretary William Rogers on his return.

The avowed aim of both visits was to study ways of relieving famine. But the Biafrans are confident the congressmen will report on the political and military situation as well.

STRESS ONE THEME

For the American visitors, Lt.-Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu and Biafra's other leaders had one main theme — they regard relief as "a palliative at best," and say the U.S. should re-evaluate its entire policy toward Nigeria and Biafra.

The financial report given by Mrs. H. B. Lawrence was satisfactory. Mrs. D. Harrison reported receiving the pictorial plates which are on sale at $2.25 each inclusive of the

Bomb squad goes home

Yvan Chrtier Friday in Criminal Court, was found not guilty by a jury of stealing seven cases of dynamite and two cases of detonators from a construction shack near Lake Bowker last Nov. 2, and two Montreal bomb squad detectives went home without the information they had come looking for. Mr. Chrtier, 23, of Sherbrooke, won his case when his attorney, Jean Cormier presented his only defense witness, Gilles Breton, who is also charged in the case. Breton, under the protection of the court admitted he had stolen the dynamite but denied Mr. Chrtier was with him.

One of the two Montreal detectives who had come to the trial hoping to find information that would bring them closer to arresting those responsible for Montreal's bombings said after the verdict that there was little hope of gaining any new leads.

A man facing a jail term who hoped it may be shortened is more likely to volunteer help than one who has been set free, he said.

At one point during their contemplation of the case, the jury had the court reconvened so they could ask Mr. Justice William Mitchell if they could find Mr. Chrtier guilty on a lesser charge of complicity in the burglary. Mr. Justice Mitchell told them they would have to find the accused guilty or not guilty on the charge read. He said there was no in-between point.

Gilles Breton took the stand as the only defense witness and after being granted the protection of the court, he said he had borrowed Mr. Chrtier's car after a prolonged drinking bout on the pretext of going for something to eat. After eating, Breton said, he remembered the cache of explosives and drove to Lake Bowker, broke into the shack and loaded the car with the dynamite and detonators. He returned to a bar, picked up Mr. Chrtier and it wasn't until they were half-way home that the accused noticed the stolen goods.

He said he told Mr. Chrtier they would return the explosives in the morning and the accused was too upset to do anything about it. By the morning, he said, they had both been arrested.

Andre Langlais, crown prosecutor, in his plea to the jury, said Breton was lying. He said differences in testimony given by Breton and his sister-in-law the day before showed this. He said it was up to the jury to decide who to believe.

Jean Cormier told the jury his client had been the innocent victim of circumstances. He said the Crown had failed to prove Mr. Chrtier had been directly involved in the break-in at Lake Bowker. He said there was more than reasonable doubt the accused had been there.

The jury took less than 30 minutes to make its decision and later some members said they could not find Mr. Chrtier guilty because no actual proof had been given to show the accused had been at the scene of the break-in.

Close Bishop's faculty vote supports keeping Dr. Plante

By TED KRAWCHENKO
(Bishop's correspondent)

The Bishop's University Faculty Association (BUFA) has come out in favor of Dr. Plante.

Dr. Plante is the French-Canadian member of the Modern Languages Department whose contract the administration decided not to renew for next year. An article appearing in a French-language daily newspaper quoted him as saying several weeks ago his department was discriminating against French-Canadians and said that he was being dismissed for being "too much of an individual." Both the administration and Prof. Yarril denied both charges.

The faculty association, composed of all professors at the university, met last Wednesday and passed a motion asking the administration to rehire Dr. Plante for the forthcoming academic year (1969-70). The motion was passed by a narrow 26-27 vote, with two abstentions.

The administration has not replied as yet.

Two other motions passed at the same meeting, which lasted six hours were:

— that BUFA, recognizing that Dr. Plante has given the administration cause for concern, strongly advise him that in the event of his re-appointment, to perform all the duties associated with his position (motion unopposed);

— that BUFA recommend to the university administration that an independent committee of inquiry be sent up immediately to examine the circumstances surrounding the decision not to re-appoint Dr. Plante, and in the event that this committee cannot report by March 15, that Dr. Plante be re-appointed for 1969-1970, and that the construction of this committee be approved by BUFA. Dr. Plante and the administration (26-16, seven abstentions).

The first two motions were presented from the floor, the last was the BUFA executive's proposal. Dr. C. L. Arnot, BUFA president, explained that the last motion left room for alternative action, which the first does not provide.

The Plante case has created a good deal of controversy both on and off the Bishop's campus. Two bomb scares were reported, the exact cause of both is unknown, but it is presumed to be the work of an extreme group trying to make political hay out of the Plante affair.

On campus, the student newspaper devoted a special issue several weeks ago to Dr. Plante and several students have been collecting letters to be sent to the administration in support of the French professor.

Elaine Oughs held for exam

SWEETSBURG WARD — (Staff) — Preliminary hearing in the case of Miss Elaine Oughs, 21, of Knowlton and Mansonville, has been remanded for a month, pending results of a psychiatric examination.

Miss Oughs pleaded not guilty to a charge of criminal responsibility in the deaths of her two children, whose bodies were discovered in Mrs. C. P. Thornton's home in Knowlton, January 31, 1969.

Crown Prosecutor Louis Carrier made no objection to the request for the examination, which was suggested by Defence Lawyer W. Warren Lynch.

Miss Oughs was found criminally responsible for the death of her children at a Coroner's Inquest held at the Courthouse here Friday night.

Lennoxville Players' operetta in rehearsal

The Lennoxville Players' next theatrical coup will be the performance of the operetta, Gilbert and Sullivan's Pirates of Penzance, March 6, 7 and 8 at the Centennial Theatre, Bishop's University.

The Centennial Theatre is being used because of the large cast employed in the operetta, 60 to 70 actors.

This is the second operetta performed by the Players. The musical director is Harry Dutton and stage director is Lewis Evans.

Mr. Evans said the Players started rehearsing the operetta in September.

The Players are now rehearsing twice a week, Sunday afternoons and Tuesday evenings.

Lennoxville families left homeless

Twenty people, Lennoxville police estimate, are homeless today after a fire extensively damaged a Lennoxville apartment building at 5 James Street, yesterday afternoon. There were no injuries in the fire which completely burned out the back part of the first floor and caused some damage to the rest of the building owned by Joseph Cote, said John Nichol, Lennoxville fire chief.

Chief Nichol said two trucks manned by 12 firemen answered the call at about 3:30 p.m. and within 20 minutes had the fire under control. The fire was completely extinguished in an hour, he said.

Chief Nichol said the fire probably started in the basement ceiling or the back first floor.

It badly damaged three apartments and water and electrical service was cut off. Further water and smoke damage occurred in most of the building but no estimate of damage is yet available, he said.

Lennoxville police said there were seven families living in

Costs limit education dreams

By CUTHBERT JONES
(Record Staff Writer)

Nearly 600 supporters of the Union Nationale party gathered Sunday night for a banquet honoring Raynald Frechette, Member of the National Assembly for Sherbrooke, on his recent appointment as vice-president of the Assembly, a post corresponding to that of deputy speaker of the old Legislative Assembly, a position held by Mr. Frechette for a brief period before the composition of the provincial parliament was changed drastically at the close of 1968.

Education Minister Guy Cardinal was the guest speaker at the banquet, presided over by Laurent Dube, and prominent party members present included Forestry Minister Claude Gosselin, representing Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand; Public Works Minister Armand Russell; Provincial Secretary Remi Paul and Gerard Lebel, president of the National Assembly.

Mr. Cardinal, after paying tribute to the work done by the Sherbrooke MNA, dealt at length with the problems being faced by the Government in the field of education.

While the administration believed that education should still hold priority among government activities, the time had come when a regime of economy must be instituted in this field.

"I regret," he said, "that despite numerous warnings given by those who have the ultimate responsibility in the distribution of the public funds, warnings which have been echoed by editorialists and commentators, that despite the loud cries of the taxpayers, certain people and certain groups continue to enjoy brightly-colored dreams of an ideal system the cost of which is out of all proportion to the means at our disposal."

This inability to finance everything that it desired was not unique to the Quebec government but was shared by all governments everywhere, all of whom were being forced to adapt their objectives to the pressures of reality.

Each citizen, said Mr. Cardinal, was responsible in part for the same administration of the school system and each had a duty to see that each dollar devoted to education served to improve the quantity or quality of services available if it were to be an investment and not an unjustified expense.

Unwarranted variations in the teacher-student ratio and in the number of hours actually worked by teachers was costing the province millions of dollars annually which the

Turning to local problems, Mr. Cardinal questioned the wisdom of erecting a giant comprehensive secondary school in the West Ward to handle 3,000 students. He believed the needs of education and the pupils could be served better at lower cost by two smaller campuses each serving 1,500 students.

He also drew attention to a phenomenon which must be taken into account when studying school construction — the sharp decline in the Quebec birth rate during the past few years.

Educational authorities must realize that the school population will decline during the coming years and must base their expansion plans accordingly.

In thanking the guests for the honor accorded him, Mr. Frechette recalled that earlier he had been rather cool to the appointment of Mr. Cardinal as Education minister but that after his close contacts with Mr. Cardinal he had become convinced of his high qualities.

"It is not a sin to make an error," commented Mr. Frechette, "but the sin is to refuse to admit an error."

Sherbrooke SSJB quits national organization

The Sherbrooke St. Jean Baptiste Society has withdrawn from the national SSJB.

The announcement has been confirmed by SSJB President Andre Drouin. It has actually been in effect since Jan. 30.

Marcel Bureau, director-general of the Sherbrooke SSJB explained that the reasons for withdrawing from the national organization were twofold — financial and ideological.

Mr. Bureau said that the Sherbrooke group was not satisfied with the services that they were getting by contributing to national funds and felt that the SSJB could accomplish more in this area by making use of their own funds. He said the Sherbrooke SSJB did not share the views of the national organization on the constitutional future of Quebec.

"We do not want a unilingual Quebec but rather that the French language should have priority in the province where the majority is French speaking."

The decision of the Sherbrooke group involves about 25,000 members in the Sherbrooke area. The national organization takes in 17 other regions and represents a total of 200,000 members throughout the province.

United action vital to halting bomb terrorism

Few residents of this province, including the anarchists who are causing the trouble, will find much difficulty in linking two new stories that broke on Thursday — one telling of the bombing incident which seriously damaged the Montreal and Canadian Stock Exchanges and the other reporting that unemployment in this province had reached 8½ per cent of the work force, by far the highest jobless rate in all Canada.

One of the essentials for the economic advancement of an expanding population is the provision of additional job opportunities through the establishment of new industries. In turn this requires large sums of capital, much of which must come from sources outside the province.

But capital demands assurance of political stability before it will move substantial amounts into any particular area.

And few can claim that political stability is a feature of life in Quebec today.

Rather the forces of anarchy appeal well-organized and well-financed for the series of bombing outrages during the past few months are not the work of a few disgruntled individuals but are closely connected and must have been carried out by professionals who do not work for peanuts or trading stamps.

Admittedly the solving of these crimes of terrorism offers extreme difficulty for the authorities but the very complexity of the problem provides a challenge which they cannot ignore.

And the provincial government must face up to its responsibilities, taking the leadership in organizing the fight against the anarchy which is sweeping the province.

Local police forces have a duty but their resources and powers are limited, even in the case of Montreal, by the grim realities of geography.

Even at the risk of curtailing some of their regular services, the provincial law enforcement authorities must concentrate on the search for the individuals concerned and on bringing them before the courts.

Secrecy may be the key word of the terrorists, but surely somewhere along the line there must be a weakness in the secrecy set-up, some leak that would permit the authorities to break the plot.

Unless the terrorism is halted — and halted soon — the best this province can hope for is a steady rise in its unemployment rate. The worst is that the work force may be so reduced by death and injury that the unemployment rate would mean little.

The memorial to Mars

The nations of the world will spend over $200 billion on armaments and other military needs in 1969 and they have already spent over four trillion dollars on wars and preparations for wars so far in this century.

If the present rate of increased spending continues that figure will be doubled within 10 years and even if the present rate remains steady, more than 10 trillion will have been spent in homage to Mars by the end of the century.

The figures are from the third annual survey of world military expenditures by the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. A few others:

—Since 1964, the world's gross national product has risen nine per cent per capita; the world's military budget by 16 per cent.

—More than 20 million men and women are in active duty forces; another 30 million are directly or indirectly engaged in productive activities resulting from the military expenditures.

—The average annual expenditure per soldier, worldwide, is $7,800; for the estimated one billion school-age children in the world, the average expenditure is $100 a year. Half the governments of the world, including the United States, spend more on defence than on education.

This is only a sampling of the report. The statistics go on. And on. And on.

TODAY in history

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Feb. 17, 1969...

The Mad Trapper known as Albert Johnson was shot dead by RCMP 37 years ago today—in 1932—after a two-month manhunt. He was reported by Indians for interfering with their traps and shot at police when they visited his cabin at Rat River, N.W.T. After a siege, he escaped in 45-below weather and travelled to the Yukon on foot, killing Const. Millen en route. He was tracked on foot and by air and wounded a soldier before being shot. His real name and history were never known.

The PRAYER FOR TODAY FROM The Upper Room

Beloved, let us love one another; for love is of God. (1 John 4:7)
PRAYER: Dear God, Thou who art love and the source of the love in us, help us to remember always that Thou hast appointed us to love one another as well as Thee. In Jesus' name. Amen.

A Mr. meek and mild could even sink a shaft

OTTAWA OFFBEAT

OTTAWA — So you're an opposition MP, one of 72 Conservatives, of 21 New Democrats, or 14 Creditistes.
You could even be the one independent.

You don't have to be Conservative Leader Stanfield, Acting NDP Leader David Lewis or Creditiste boss Real Caouette to make your mark.

You don't even have to sit on the front bench, the more easily to catch Mr. Speaker Lamoureux' eye and get to ask your questions when the Trudeau cabinet is open to its daily 40 minutes of cross-examination.

You don't have to be a flaming orator, writing your name in large letters across the pages of the parliamentary Hansard and in the big black headline type of the front pages.

You can be Mr. Meek N. Mild.

seldom if ever raising your voice. And silently you can sink some of the deadliest shafts in the elephant hide of the government.

Ask an oral question — a real sharpie, lovingly honed and calculated to bring cries of pain from your intended victim on the cabinet benches — and you run the very real risk of being flogged off.

IN WRITING

Presuming you ask your fifty-of-a-question confidently, without a stumble or a mumble and get it by Mr. Speaker, you're open to instant reprisal and massive retaliation.

The cabinet minister you're trying to clobber can hammer you with an answer far harder than your question. And a snicker of laughter from the government benches sends you sinking back into your seat, humiliated.

Jack Pickersgill of the Liberals and George Hees of the Conservatives, in their cabinet days, were masters of the political blood sport of the boomerang.

The minister has another option of the open-ended answer, starting nowhere, wandering through a maze of words and finishing where it started — still nowhere.

Former Prime Minister Diefenbaker with his endless sentences and former External Affairs Minister Martin with his huffy-puffery were artists at spinning these impenetrable word-clouds.

Finally, the minister, if you have well and truly nailed him, and he knows it, can stonewall you, just sitting there trying to make it look that you are too much the dum-dum to be taken seriously.

But despair not.

You hold in your hand the ultimate weapon — the written question. You can work on it until it's politically letter-perfect, loaded with parliamentary poison, and then sock it to him on the Commons Order Paper.

If you've got your facts and figures — and never, never prepare a question unless you know the answers — you've got him cold.

He has to answer sometimes — so keep nagging him — and when he comes clean, he'll show the bruises, maybe even blood.

TOUCHE

Like just what sort of written questions?

Well, for instance the one being asked by that Maritime Tory, buzz-saw Robert Coates:

... is it the intention of the prime minister and members of his cabinet who have chauffeured limousine service provided at government expense to return their $2,000 car allowance to the federal treasury?"

Now there's a little dandy of a question.

The $2,000 car allowance is just one of the fringe benefits of being a cabinet minister. It goes on top of his $18,000 parliamentary pay as an MP and the $15,000 salary as a minister. For the prime minister it is a little "extra" on his $18,000 parliamentary pay, $25,000 ministerial salary and the roughly $33,000 in housekeeping money for his official residence at 24 Sussex Drive.

With $18,000 plus $15,000 making $33,000 for cabinet ministers, and $18,000 plus $25,000 plus $33,000 totalling $76,000 for the prime minister, you might almost think they could afford to run their own cars without that $2,000 allowance. Especially when some of them get chauffeured limousine service provided.

If they answer "no", to Bob Coates' barbed question they might look like chisellers. And if they answer, "yes", they're out $2,000. Answer them must.

And then Coates has a follow-up set of questions almost as difficult to answer as his first doozier:

"How many Cadillacs are in the government motor pool available for cabinet use... and since June 25, 1968, (when this government came to power) how many and specifically who among the ministers (pocketing the $2,000 car allowance) have used them how many times?"

Into Europe

It looks as if Wilson has won one round

In his apparent attempt to get into Europe by the back door if not the front, Prime Minister Wilson appears to have won a point as a result of his current approaches to West Germany.

He and West German Chancellor Kurt Kiesinger have jointly declared they must work towards a united Europe and that a united Europe is inconceivable without Britain.

That by itself is merely airing a generality with which President de Gaulle of France cannot quarrel since he himself has stated that one day Britain may be ready to join the six-country European Common Market though he cannot predict when that day will come.

But Wilson's trip to Bonn was not merely for the purpose of shaping generalities. Britain has launched a determined policy to engage members of the Common Market in a number of joint operations. These may tend to draw members closer to Britain and possibly away from the domineering influence of France which has constantly opposed British attempts to join the Common Market.

FRANCE WON'T COME

One such project involves joint foreign policy discussions with a meeting in London which the French government has openly stated it will not attend. Britain wants to discuss a joint policy on the Middle East. France has launched its own idea of Big Four talks and thinks it is presumptuous of Britain to grab the limelight.

There is no doubt that de Gaulle is watching Britain's manoeuvres with close attention, particularly British-West German relations. West Germany and Britain are launching joint operations in a number of industrial fields, including a new gas centrifuge to produce enriched uranium, a project that has enraged the Russians who have accused the two countries of trying to establish a military-political axis.

DE GAULLE HAS CARDS

Growth of common interests between Britain and West Germany, particularly their common determination to continue and strengthen the North Atlantic Alliance, might in time challenge de Gaulle's self-assured political dominance of Europe. But de Gaulle has cards of his own to play.

He shortly will hold talks with President Nixon and it is reported that Nixon is so anxious to improve French-American relations that he might concede a few points to de Gaulle's, perhaps opening a new kind of special relationship between the two countries.

Failing that, de Gaulle could revive his old threat to forge a new kind of special relationship with the Soviet Union, a matter which has deeply troubled the West Germans. This perhaps was one reason why West German leaders have carefully avoided pressing too hard against de Gaulle's wishes.

Some women forget names of babies

AMAMBA (AP)—Some of the mothers who come to Sister MacArten's clinic in the bush of Biafra are so dazed and weak that they forget the names of their own babies. Grown men sometimes are incoherent, the nun-doctor says.

Once a week she travels to this village by dirt trail to administer to the ailing.

"The malnutrition affects their intellects," said Sister MacArten, a Holy Rosary nun from Ireland.

"And then there are the shell-shocked soldiers, coming out of the bush screaming at the top of their lungs. We help them all as best we can."

Sister MacArten's once-a-week hospital is a tiny thatched hut just seven miles from Owerri, where Biafrans and Nigerians have been battling for more than four months. The population is swollen by refugees. Even the natives of the area are badly off, said the sister, because the place was never much of a farming zone.

The condition of many of the 400 persons lined up to see the sister in one week recently testified to the contention of many relief officials that, while the famine situation is in hand near the administrative centre of Umuahia, it is more acute in forward areas near the battle-grounds.

SIGNS OF DEFICIENCY
Children with puffed stomachs and reddish hair—signs of the protein deficiency disease kwashiorkor—were scattered among the group. The lips of others were turning white, a sign of a malnutrition disease called marasmus which, said Sister MacArten, stems from a lack of protein and carbohydrates. It was relatively rare in Biafra until now, when yams and other carbohydrates are scarcer.

Sister MacArten also said malnutrition was rising steadily among adults. Men and women waiting to see her, especially mothers, appeared emaciated and listless. The sister said about 50 persons a day were dying of malnutrition in a geographical subdivision that holds 30,000 persons. Many also are suffering from tuberculosis, she said, and a measles epidemic which at its height killed 100 persons in one day has just been overcome.

There are feeding centres in the area, but a visit to one at Sister MacArten's home base of Amimo, four miles away showed that many persons had to be turned away. Hundreds of men, women and children were eating a daily bowl of garri and fish soup, but scores had to wait outside for any leftover scraps.

"You can't take care of 25,000 people," said Sister Gabriele Mary, another Irish nun who works at the feeding centre. "You just pick the worst."

At an outpatient clinic in back of the feeding centre, about 100 persons waited for treatment, most of them women and babies suffering from some stage of malnutrition.

EYES BULGED

The nun spotted a woman crying softly next to a child of about 10 years. The boy's lips were white. His eyes bulged.

His head rolled and his stick-like arms buckled when he tried to lean on them. "He's dying, he looks like he's dying," the sister cried. She spoke sharply to the woman: "Have you not seen a doctor all this time? When did the child eat last? Is he baptized? Go inside immediately."

The woman, who that day had come to the centre from the bush for the first time, picked up the boy. He clutched her neck feebly, his face thrust up to the sky, as she carried him in.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Musical instruments not only make beautiful sounds, they are objects of great beauty in themselves. The World Almanac notes. Look closely at a cello. Physicists can describe it as four catgut strings stretched the length of a carved wooden box, producing sound when scraped with a horsehair bow. But the cello's sound transcends its humble origin, just as its shape is something more than the sum of all its parts.

Wild rampage

There's a theory youthful revolt in Western world may be waning

By STEPHEN SCOTT

NEW YORK (CP)—There is a theory that the effectiveness of youthful revolt in the Western world—of which the wild rampage of some Montreal students Tuesday is a violent example—is on the wane.

That is not to say that protest, be it by students or black militants, will not continue. And the protests will have a degree of success.

But moderates in the various areas of society, the public and thus government now are rebelling against excesses.

In the last decade or so protest could count on support from much of the community. In the United States in particular protest resulted in changes in the face of society.

Then the militants went too far in the eyes of the middle class wage earner who has to foot the bill and who elects governments. His "backlash" was felt in the last U.S. election when Richard M. Nixon, running in part on a law-and-order platform, was elected.

The same backlash was felt in France last year when Frenchmen rallied to President de Gaulle after the May student riots.

NON-STRIKERS ACT
And the same backlash is showing up at the university level. For instance British non-strikers moved against strikers at the London School of Economics and Cambridge University recently.

In Montreal non-strikers cheered as police routed 150 to 200 students who caused much damage at Sir George Williams University.

There are signs that government is coming to the end of the road with student militants. During the British trouble, Education Minister Edward Short made a strong statement in the Commons which said in part that the strikers were harming the educational chances "of the vast majority of students who are just as idealistic and decent as ever they were."

Educational authorities throughout the U.S. are closely watching the situation in California where Governor Ronald Reagan and S. I. Hayakawa, head of San Francisco State College, are fighting to keep universities open in the face of actions by angry militants.

Particular attention is being paid to Hayakawa Vancouver-born educationist who took over San Francisco State when it was in a chaotic situation.

The outspoken Hayakawa has introduced a new element into the continuing controversy of university revolt. He compares militant leftist disrupters with students who disrupted universities in Hitler's Germany.

WI members discuss 1969's program

STANBRIDGE EAST — (Special) — Mrs. Charles Moore entertained the members of the Stanbridge East Women's Institute for the February meeting. The president, Mrs. C. Rhicard, was in the chair and welcomed two guests, Mrs. Brian and Mrs. C. Harvey, to the meeting.

Since the last meeting, members had been saddened by the death of one of the members, Mrs. G. D. Harvey, who, though she had moved away from Stanbridge three years ago, had always retained her membership in this branch. In asking the members to stand for a few moments of silence, Mrs. Rhicard paid tribute to the unfailing devotion Mrs. Harvey had always paid to the WI. Having joined this branch in the first year of its organization, she had served it faithfully going on to County and then Provincial offices and as President of the Quebec Women's Institute had represented this province at the ACWW Conference in Ceylon in 1957.

The roll call, State what you think is the most worthwhile project of the WI, was answered by 20 members. Correspondence included letters of thanks from Unitarian Service Committee for boxes of clothing sent from this branch, from Montreal Children's Hospital for scrapbooks and magazines at Christmas and from Miss Eva Macdonald, sister of Mrs. Harvey, for flowers.

The outline of the program for the coming year, which had been drawn up by Mrs. Shepardson and Mrs. Tait was presented for approval. After being discussed and a few changes made to accommodate the members, the program was accepted and a vote of thanks given the committee by all present. The president appointed Mrs. C. Moore and Miss I. Corey to the nominating committee for 1969-70 and Miss Corey kindly consented to audit the treasurer's books.

Squares for an afghan, knitted by several members had been assembled by Mrs. Moore and is to be donated to the local Red Cross Branch. A donation of books by Mrs. Woods is to be sent to the Brome Rehabilitation Centre at Foster.

The program was in charge of Mrs. G. Tremblay, convener of publicity. Mrs. Tremblay read an article from Federated News the FWIC Bulletin, entitled Our Greatest Challenge, this being the extension work of the Northern Canada Women's Institutes in the Mackenzie District and the Yukon. A contest on the recognition of the new road signs which have replaced the old word signs was conducted by Mrs. Tremblay, resulting in a draw between Mrs. Shepardson, Mrs. Tait and Mrs. Woods, Mrs. Shepardson being the winner.

Refreshments were served by the co-hostesses, Mrs. Gage and Miss Corey, assisted in serving by Mrs. T. Brown and Mrs. J. Cheek.

The March meeting will be the annual meeting and will be held at the home of Mrs. N. Creller.

University women's wine, cheese party draws good sized crowd to libraries

By MARGUERITE SMITH
(Women's Editor)

Sherbrooke and surrounding area's art conscious — nearly 400 persons — crammed into the municipal and Sherbrooke libraries Thursday night to enjoy some good professional and non-professional art while savoring their favorite wines and cheeses.

The wine and cheese evening, organized by the Sherbrooke and District University Women's Club and the Association des Femmes Diplomes de l'Université, marked the debut of a sale and exhibition of art which will be at the libraries until Sunday.

A wide assortment of art was on display including sculpture, graphic art, pottery, oils and watercolors, etchings, weaving and acrylic art.

Among some of the local artists exhibiting their works were: Jocelyn Lussier, a professor of plastic arts at Montcalm School, Graham Cantini of North Hatley; Karl Keirstead of Quebec City; Victor Rose of Waterville; Marie Rees Boulanger of Sherbrooke; Edward Brown of Ayer's Cliff; Angel d'Elcheverry of Sherbrooke; Sadie Gaulin of East Angus; Chantal Gallez, Albert Poulin of Sherbrooke; Pierre Lecomte of Magog; and Paul Millard of Lennoxville.

Most of the work shown was non-professional, however, it portrayed a great deal of spontaneous interpretation.

Said Mrs. Joyce Cochrane, a free lance art teacher: "If art could be defined as the visual expression of an idea or an emotion than a lot of this work could be classed as art. It's not professional — but it's certainly original."

Commercial artist Mrs. Helen

Austin of Sherbrooke commenting on the variety of art shown said "It's all interesting in its own class."

One of the pieces shown by Paul E. Millard, a graduate of the Ontario College of Art now working at Bishop's University in material art design and metal sculpture, was interesting. Called A Mechanical Aid, it was composed from tin can tops and large metal rings.

A fascinating combination of colors in five tableaux showing bright blues, reds, yellows, greens and a subdued black and brown called Quintique by Jocelyn Lussier, was created to please the eye and as part of the artist's expression.

Each tableau stood alone on its own merit and yet formed a combination.

During the evening, the visitors were entertained by two Bishop's University students, Don Eastman and Julie Cornell.

Proceeds of the sale are to go towards the improvement of both libraries.

Why not drop around and see the exhibit? It's for a good cause.

Those making the evening responsible were: Mrs. R. J. Reid, general convener; Mrs. James Ross, wine and cheese convener; Mrs. Geoffrey Chinn, and Mrs. James Bledsoe, ticket convener; Mrs. David Bourne, secretary; Mrs. Daniel Heilig, publicity; Mrs. Royce Gale Jr., assisted by Mrs. John York, display; all of the Women's University Club working in liaison with Mrs. Jean Larocque and Mrs. Andre Lemieux of the Association des Femmes Diplomes de l'Université.

LUMINESCENCE — Non-professional artist Albert Poulin displays his eye catching painting at the wine and cheese evening Thursday night which marked the opening of the art exhibition and sale at the Sherbrooke and municipal libraries. With Mr. Poulin are members of the organizing groups, Mrs. Louise Dixon, (left) of the Association des Femmes Diplomes de l'Université and Mrs. R. J. Reid of the University Women's Club.

Mining expert to address Cdn Club

Dr. Gilbert Clarence Monture, who has one of the most distinguished records of anyone in Canadian mining, will address members of the Women's Canadian Club, Wednesday at the New Sherbrooke Hotel at 7 p.m.

Not content with graduation from Queen's University in 1921 as a Bachelor of Science in mining and metallurgy, he took extra-mural courses in business finance, commercial law, economics, accounting and commercial geography.

Dr. Monture was born in Tuscarora Township, Ont. He served overseas as a Lieutenant in the Royal Canadian Field Artillery in the First World War and on his return he spent one year in underground mining before re-entering Queen's to complete the course commenced in 1914.

In 1921 he organized and managed the university employment service along with the university co-operative bookstore. This was the first student employment service to operate in Canada.

In 1923 he was appointed editor of publications of the Dominion Department of Mines, a position he retained for the following 16 years. From May 1939 to July 1940 he was chief of the Division of Mineral Economics, Mines Branch, Ottawa.

Dr. Monture was seconded to the Department of Munitions and Supply and served as executive assistant to the Metals Controllers until December 1943, following which he was Canadian executive officer of the Combined Production and Resources Board at Washington.

From December 1945 until June 1956 he was chief of the Mineral Resources Division, Mines Branch, Ottawa, with the exception of the period February 1951 to August 1952 when he was seconded to the Department of Defence Production to serve with the Canadian team in Washington as officer in charge of the metals and minerals section.

Dr. Monture resigned from government service in June 1956 and two months later was appointed vice-president of Statnat Ltd., which position he continues to hold with office at 610 56 Sparks Street, Ottawa.

He has officially represented Canada at British Commonwealth Scientific Conference, London, 1946, and meetings of the International Tin Study Group in Washington, London, The Hague, Paris, Geneva, London, Geneva and London over a ten-year period.

His numerous representations on behalf of Canada have taken him to New York, Paris, Malaya, Indonesia, Jamaica, Israel, Ghana, Ecuador, and in 1960 to the Philippine Islands and Singapore as consultant for United Nations Special Fund Projects.

Dr. Monture was awarded the OBE in 1946 and was presented with the honorary degree of Doctor of Science by the University of Western Ontario in 1948.

In 1957 he received notable contributions in this field, the first Canadian Indian to be so honored. (The Indian Council Fire was founded in 1923 as an organization of Indians and interested friends to function along social service, legislative, and educational lines. In 1923 it established the annual award to honor Indians who have made notable contributions in all fields of endeavor.) In 1958 he was made honorary chief of the Mohawk tribe of the Six Nations at Brantford, with the name "Ohs-to-sera-gowash", meaning "Big Feather".

He is a member of the CIM of the AIME, the Rideau Club of Ottawa and the Engineers Club of Toronto. He is currently serving on the mineral economics committee of the AIME, Council of Queen's University, and the executive committee of the Indian Eskimo Association of Canada. He is a director of the Queen's Alumni Association.

Dr. Monture is a member of board of governors at Trent University, Peterborough, and is presently serving as special consultant to AD Board.

Sun signs give lowdown on character hang-up

NEW YORK—(NEA)—For the past several years the fellow who had the piano bench pulled out from under him when he sat down to play didn't feel any more a social outcast than the gal who went to a big party and couldn't quote her psychiatrist. It didn't matter that she didn't need one. It simply wasn't chic to be without one.

But the way things are going now, "my astrologist said" may well replace "my psychiatrist told me" as party jargon.

Just look at what has been in the news. Astrologian Frances J. Littlejohn predicted the California mud slides and she predicts further disturbances in the area this spring.

Weeks before the Super Bowl, NEA's Sports Editor Ira Berkow asked astrologist Jonathan Booth to predict the outcome of the recent football game between the favored Baltimore Colts and the underdog New York Jets. Booth predicted a victory for the Jets. And many a better tucking away his wagers-plus may well have become an instant convert to the way of the sun signs.

On a recent television program, veteran designer Norman Norell, who has called the fashion shots unchallenged for years, listened respectfully, albeit a trifle self-consciously, to a prediction in future fashion trends from astrologist Maurice Woodruff.

So it would seem that in everything from football to fashion astrology is making itself heard.

It should be as interesting a subject to use for a social gambit as psychiatry. They both concern the topics nearest to the heart of each of us—ourselves.

We all want to know how we can best manage our lives. And few really debunk the possibility that astrologers may have the answer. Some openly espouse astrology as a guidepost, day by day. Others spoof at it and blush if they're caught with their newspapers open to the horoscope column. Still they shake their heads knowingly when they read about what they should look out for tomorrow. "Could be," they admit secretly.

One of the prettiest astrologists around is the author of "Linda Goodman's Sun Signs," published by Taplinger. A former contestant for the title of Miss West Virginia in the Miss America contest, Linda took her place among respected astrologists and writers on that subject after a varied career as newspaper columnist, staff writer for radio, hostess on a woman's interest interview program, disc jockey and playwright. After intensive study in her favorite field, Linda, now the mother of four, is a practicing astrologist and is waging a personal campaign to have astrology accepted as part of the standard curriculum in American colleges.

New York's posh Clos Normand restaurant where we lunched seemed a more fitting background for this attractive woman than a desk covered with zodiac charts. But she completes six to eight personal horoscopes a year.

Her clients include Broadway producers seeking to find an auspicious date for opening night as well as doctors and psychiatrists who engage her to do charts for their patients.

In her book she explores the signs of the zodiac with humor. Taking them one by one, she tells how you can recognize those born under each sign, what to expect from them and how to deal with them. Everyone gets the full treatment—husband, wife, lover, child, boss and employee. Her claim is that astrology can help you to REALLY KNOW the people you know.

Make flame-proof spray after accident

TORONTO (CP) — Chemist Alec Robertson was naturally frightened when the sleeve of his daughter's dress caught fire. Luckily, it was extinguished quickly, but it set him thinking about ways of flame-proofing material.

As a result, after a year's work, a new spray-on flame-proof mixture now is becoming available across Canada.

The mixture, called M5, is produced by M. I. L. Industries of nearby Brampton, Ont.

M. I. L. president Mike Marmar says they decided to go ahead with development of the spray after Mr. Robertson related the story of his daughter's dress.

"It now is being used by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind," says Mr. Marmar.

QUEBEC SCENE

System starts in uneasy climate

OTTAWA (CP) — The post office's new "straight-tough" delivery system started Sunday, in a climate of continued disagreement over work terms.

However Jack Colville, national secretary-treasurer of the 10,000-member Letter Carriers Union of Canada, said Sunday the new system will be tried while agreement is sought.

"We are not anticipating any work disruption," he said.

Two main points still are in dispute about the new system, under which carriers will not have to return to the post office at mid-day to sort mail for the afternoon delivery.

One is the question of transportation time for the carrier and lunch break. The post office has agreed to pick up carriers and take them to the post office for lunch, and to take them back to the route afterward.

But it says this must be done on the carriers' time, while the union feels the carrier should go back on duty when he leaves the post office.

The other point is whether two five-minute washup periods should be included in the 41 minutes now allowed for "rest and personal needs" during the day.

A post office spokesman said treasury board lawyers are studying an adjudication ruling to see whether the two five-minute periods must be added to the 41-minute total.

This also is the first week of the five-day delivery. There will be no service on Saturday.

Change in plans lead to death

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A sudden change in plans—a turn to the right instead of the left—brought Senator Robert F. Kennedy beneath his assassin's gun, testimony at the trial of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan has disclosed.

The trial resumes today after a weekend recess. In his 13th floor jail cell, the 24-year-old Sirhan passes the time reading, listening to a radio, and exercising by lifting himself with his hands on the cell bars.

Among state witnesses scheduled to testify is an Ambassador Hotel dishwasher, Jesus Perez. He was shaking hands with Kennedy in a kitchen area of the hotel on June 5, 1968, when the New York senator was killed.

Perez told a grand jury that indicted Sirhan that he saw the defendant loitering in the kitchen area for about 30 minutes, and that Sirhan asked him three or four times whether Kennedy would pass that way.

As a matter of record, Kennedy was not supposed to pass through the kitchen area. He had just completed a speech in the Embassy ballroom of the hotel, proclaiming victory in California's Democratic presidential primary.

CHANGED DIRECTION

The senator was led out of the Embassy room by an assistant maitre d'hotel, Karl Uecker, who testified Friday: "I was going to make a left turn to go to the Ambassador ballroom but someone said, 'No, he's going to the press room.' I said, 'This way, senator,' and took him to the right."

To the left and downstairs was the ballroom, where Kennedy was to have addressed an overflow crowd from the Embassy room. To the right, through the kitchen, was the Colonial ballroom, converted for the occasion into a press room.

Edward Minasian, a hotel employee who aid Uecker in guiding Kennedy, said it was a last-minute decision of the senator's aides that he go to the press room so that his post-midnight victory speech could be televised to the eastern U.S., where it was after 3 a.m.

So Kennedy allowed himself to be turned right and led to his death.

The defence has contended that when Sirhan fired the fatal shot he was "out of contact with reality, in a trance in which he had a no voluntary control over his will, his judgment, his feelings or his actions"—in short, that he killed without premeditation.

Dief's not for setup

WINNIPEG (CP) — John Diefenbaker said Saturday agreement on changes for Canada's constitution cannot be obtained at open, short conferences.

The former prime minister told a news conference: "What took place in Ottawa last week reaffirms the views of myself and my associates during our time in office that there is no possibility of coming to conclusions on amendments to a new constitution in open meetings which are broadcast to all."

"As an educative process, it was beneficial to the people of our country but those who believe such meetings are bringing us closer to attaining our constitutional goals are deluding themselves."

Mr. Diefenbaker said the changes should be hammered out at closed meetings held for weeks at a time genuinely believes Canada can afford to wait."

Mr. Stanfield said Transport Minister Paul Hellyer's committee on housing made recommendations which did not need constitutional amendments to be effective.

"Let's face it. The BNA Act will be with us for some time to come. It is time for the prime minister to come down to earth and realize that the country cannot stand still, and that problems will not wait for the constitution to be reviewed and revised."

Mr. Stanfield emphasized he is not against constitutional changes, but added that the federal and provincial governments must make the BNA Act work until agreement can be reached on what should be changed in it.

He also accused Ottawa of inflexibility in refusing to recognize fiscal requirements by provinces and imposing shared-cost programs without effective consultation.

Ottawa, he said, has consistently refused provincial pleas for agreement on taxing and spending priorities. He said some agreement must be reached to place demands on taxpayers on a more rational basis.

Shoot me like a horse if I can't teach now

MARSHALL, Calif. (AP) — "If they don't let me survive as a teacher, I wish they'd take me out and shoot me like a horse," says Betty Blodgett, a gym teacher fired because she was overweight.

Eight months after losing her job at Redwood High School in Larkspur, the 41-year-old woman is broke and fears she may never work in her profession again.

When he asked for her dismissal, Redwood Principal Donald Kreps called his 253-pound physical education teacher "a living hypocrisy of what she's teaching." That was in January, 1968.

The five-foot-seven inch Miss Blodgett weighed 211 pounds when the high school district trustees fired her in June. On a punishing 900-calorie diet, she is now down to 195 pounds.

"It's been a struggle," she says. "Meat and potatoes were part of my life. Now it's grapefruit, cottage cheese and skim milk."

The unmarried teacher says she never expected a man to find a woman her size attractive. But last spring when her problems got national publicity, she found out otherwise.

Twenty eight are killed

At least 28 persons died in Canada during the weekend, 18 in traffic.

The survey does not include industrial deaths, known suicides or slayings.

the building, about 20 persons who could not return home after the fire.

A Sherbrooke fire truck yesterday speeding to the Marie Reine du Monde Church smashed a car at the Galt-Bowen intersection but continued on its way to put out the fire in the church's wardrobe.

Captain Roy who was in charge of the three trucks and 10 men who fought the small fire at the church said one car tried to make the light at the last second while the trucks were coming down Bowen Street South. The truck was barely dented while the car was badly damaged, Captain Roy said. No one was injured.

At the church a small fire in the closet where gowns and other church clothing is kept was put out by one stream of water. Captain Roy said the damage might reach $1,500.

COMPENSATION FOR A MOSCOW WINTER — Shapely Russian skater twirls in Moscow's Gorky Park, a 100,000-square-yard rink that accommodates thousands and appears to be government's compensation for the hard Soviet winter. Fairy lights and ban on hockey sticks during certain times make the area a glistening escape for those who just like to skate in the crisp air. (CP Photo)

Winter wonderland

For a little more than two bits, you can wander around Moscow's winter park

MOSCOW (CP) — For little more than two bits, you can buy your way into a winter wonderland in Moscow.

It's called rather grandly the "Park of Culture and Rest named after Maxim Gorky" and it stretches along the south bank of the Moscow River, a huge centre of mass entertainment on the fringe of the downtown area.

In summer Gorky Park is chock-a-block with Muscovites of every age, riding what is reputed to be the biggest ferris wheel in Europe, gazing at visiting Bulgarian pop singers and other free shows in the little outdoor theatres, queuing at the cafes, playing chess or just strolling along the dusty, tree-shaded paths.

It makes a distinct change from ordinary city life, but it's not to everyone's taste. Martial music and grating female voices echo relentlessly from a hundred loudspeakers, crowds jostle past each other unmercifully and quiet nooks are rare.

In winter, however, Gorky Park seems genuinely transformed, particularly in the evenings and even more particularly after a fresh snow or frost.

PATHS BECOME RINKS — Almost the entire park is given over to skating, as if the city authorities were trying to compensate their citizens for the severities of a Moscow winter.

Where in Canada is there anything that really compares with it? More than 100,000 square yards of terrain are flooded to make improvised skating rinks. Not only a paved terrace near the entrance to the park and the wide walkways beside the Moscow River, but also dozens of sheltered pathways and smaller clearings among the trees become skating fields. They are kept constantly flooded and cleared.

Free-skaters who've had their skates cracked competing elsewhere for ice space with hockey players can relax. Except in certain locations and at certain times of day, hockey sticks are forbidden.

The field is left open for those who just like to skate in the crisp winter air. At night, with the lights glistening magically on the frosted branches and colored bulbs illuminating the idle ferris wheel, the city seems a hundred miles away.

Summer's martial strains on the loudspeakers are replaced by waltzes and the occasional Western popular tune.

SOME ARE BEGINNERS

Even the police seem more relaxed than elsewhere, gliding by with ankle-length blue overcoats almost hiding their skates as they keep rambunctious kids under control and watch for skaters in distress.

Despite the Soviet preoccupation with hockey, it's a mistake to expect the ice to be crowded with star-class sportsmen. If anything, there seem fewer really excellent skaters than in a comparable Canadian setting.

The long straightaway beside the river usually has a couple of amateur speed-skaters, whooshing past on their long blades. And there are always high-spirited boys showing off for giggling girl friends. But wobbly ankles and snow-covered behinds are everywhere.

The crowds—as many as 18,000 on a busy day, park authorities say—are predominantly youthful.

Since sports clothing and equipment are usually hard to find here, many of the skaters turn out in street clothes—jackets and pants for the men, skirts or slacks for the girls. A really cold day means an overcoat on top.

OPEN SPACES APPEAL

The 25-kopek (28-cent) entrance fee gets a visitor past a succession of women superintendents into one of several aged wooden buildings in the park set aside for changing. It also covers the cost of checking street shoes and parcels.

Once out of the changing room, there's a full choice. Several rinks of standard size and shape are available for anyone who wants them. A special rink has been set aside for budding figure-skaters.

But most skaters go for the open spaces—long runs that seem to go on forever, down paths glowing from attractive-ly quaint street lights, or along the uncrowded expanses of ice beside the river.

There are other places in Moscow for skating, of course. Hockey players have a wide selection of rinks and free skaters can pick from several possibilities.

But Gorky Park comes into its own during the winter, and it would be foolish to waste all that magic.

Derby Line Bank holds shareholders meeting

DERBY LINE — The annual meeting of the shareholders of the National Bank of Derby Line was held recently. The Bank president, Lloyd Selby, welcomed the shareholders present and he presided. Arthur S. Judd, Jr., was appointed as clerk of the meeting.

Mr. Selby, giving the president's report as of the end of the fiscal year, Dec. 31, 1968, noted particular emphasis given to the increase in the liquidity ratio and to the growth in the various departments. Mention was made of the change in bookkeeping equipment to enable the bank to change over to account numbering on the checking accounts, also, that school savings were being phased out due to the inability to offer a program to the students of all age groups in the area.

Out of a total 20,000 shares of authorized stock of the National Bank of Derby Line there were 18,053 shares represented, either by proxy or by stockholders in person. There was a good attendance of shareholders, which was encouraging to the management of the bank.

It was voted to have eight directors for the new fiscal year. The following were nominated for election as directors and were elected by the shareholders: Arthur S. Judd, Jr., Donald Kilborn, Hollis Manning, Warren Mitchell, Arthur S. Palin, Paul R. Rexford, Lloyd O. Selby and Frederick Taylor.

The Articles of Association of the National Bank of Derby Line were amended by vote of the shareholders to authorize an increase in the authorized, but unissued stock of the bank from 20,000 shares to 30,000 shares. The board of directors believed it was desirable to have the additional 10,000 shares available to pay stock dividends.

event, the Radio-Television Trophy, Ralph Caunter and his Lennoxville rink registered a 13-3 win over Reg Jackson's Sherbrooke foursome. The Hodge Trophy and Sherbrooke Record Trophy were played in Lennoxville.

Charles Simard, president of the Sherbrooke Club, presided at the presentation of the trophies and prizes. Bob Dube awarded the Mitchell Trophy to Skip Les Gartshore while Fred Sangster presented the J. R. Sangster Trophy to Skip Fowles and Henri Delorme presented Skip Ralph Caunter with the R-T-S Trophy.

Greg O'Boyle, president of and the outcome was decided in the final three ends of the match. After four ends the Lennoxville quartet held a slim 3-2 lead. Danville tied it in the next end and when Skip Parker missed in the following end Danville picked up two for 4-3 lead.

In the seventh end Skip Gartshore got two on a measure and in the next two ends he picked up singles for a 7-4 lead coming home. Skip Gartshore got two in the house, well spread, and from then on the two skips kept exchanging shot and finally the Danville rink emerged the winner 7-4.

In the Sangster Trophy, Skip Fowles got two to start but when he missed in the next end with four in the house Skip MacKay pulled in one more to count a big five. The Fowles rink bounced right back with a four. The MacKay quartet tallied two and Skip Fowles made a good draw for a counter and the score was tied 7-7. The Fowles crew took over and chalked up counters in the next two ends for 13-7 count coming home. Skip MacKay got hooked on his key shot and the Fowles rink got one for a 14-7 win.

In the Caunter-Jackson battle it was close at the start but when Skip Caunter chalked up a big-four end in the fourth for an 8-2 lead and from then on they never looked back. Skip Reg Jackson couldn't get his rink together although they did get a single, it wasn't enough and the game finished 13-3 for the Caunter rink. The Sherbrooke quartet just couldn't show any of the form which carried them into the finals. Nothing was working for them while the Caunter pulled off some very good shots to earn the decision.

At Lennoxville, Charlie Warner's Brail rink from Lennoxville scored an 8 to 4 win over Ted Jarman's threesome to win the Hodge Auto Parts Trophy, second event in the Eastern Townships Bonspiel final on Saturday night.

Warner's team took the first three ends scoring four points. Jarman's trio scored two points in the fourth end. Warner two in the fifth and Jarman one in the sixth making the score 6-3 at this point.

The seventh end was blank and the teams went in to the eighth end with the Warner rink still ahead three points. Warner scored two on the eighth and Jarman picked up a single on the ninth, but conceded the game as his rink was down four and did not have last stone on the tenth end. Both final games at Lennoxville ended with nine ends of play but spectators witnessed good curling and a number of fine shots.

Harold Mulligan's crew from Manotick, Ont., a new entry in the Eastern Townships Bonspiel, defeated Romeo Langlois and his Magog rink 12-4 in nine ends to win the 10 end Record Trophy final.

The match was a close contest in the opening ends with the teams tied four all at the end of the fourth. Magog scored a single on the first end and three on the third. The Ontario boys took a point on the second and three on the fourth. Mulligan scored two on the fifth to take the lead, added two in the sixth end, one in the seventh, two in the eighth and a single point in the ninth. The Magog team played well but they just couldn't seem to get on the scoreboard after the third end.

Jack Ride, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ride of Hatley played second rock on the Manotick rink. The lead, Gordon Bracken, is the grandson of John Bracken, the well-known Conservative leader.

Annual School Boy Curling Tourney begins today in North Battleford

NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask. (CP) — Saskatchewan rinks, which have dominated the Canadian schoolboy curling championship since 1949, rate top position from summaries of past records and highlights of previous tournaments.

Bob Miller of Shellbrook, Sask., hopes to add to the list of nine titles in the 23rd annual competition which begins today.

Eleven rinks, including defending champion Ontario and a Northern Ontario foursome from Fort William, will take part in the five-day round-robin tournament.

Saskatchewan's domination started in 1949 when a Humboldt rink skipped by Jack Thompson took the title at Edmonton.

The province has captured eight other titles and has been the only representatives to claim two undefeated championships, in 1952 when the late Gary Thode of Saskatoon won nine straight in a 10-rink tournament and in 1963 when Mike Lukowich of Speers had a 10-0 record.

The 1952 Saskatoon foursome raced the only eight-under in the history of the championship. Alberta has won five titles and Ontario, three.

Rinks with 17 wins in 22 tournaments, can be considered the strongest, Saskatchewan faces a tough test in the first three draws of the 1969 event.

MEETS NFLD. FIRST

Miller meets Doug Ryan of St. John's Nfld. in today's first draw, then takes on Ontario skip George Cox of Renfrew in the second, and battles Manitoba skip Bill Henry of Winnipeg in the third round Tuesday.

Ontario, skipped last year by Bill Hope of Trenton, topped Saskatchewan 10-3 in a playoff at Port Arthur, and Manitoba placed third with a 7-3 record. Ontario finished with a 9-2 record and Saskatchewan was 8-3 for second place.

Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Ontario each picked up a bye in Thursday's play, the key to the competition because of the three scheduled draws.

Cox meets John Brady of Bridgewater, N.S., in the opening round, and plays Miller in the afternoon, then Claude Brouillette of Pointe Claire, Que., and Ron Lehotovaara of Fort William in Tuesday's action.

The rinks arrived here Saturday and took part in a variety of activities Sunday. After practice sessions and opening ceremonies today, the rinks get down to business at the North Battleford Granite Curling Club.

The first draw Northern Ontario has the bye.

Guinness pulls this off five million times a day

How's that for openers?

Why do people drink five million glasses of Guinness daily? Well, it could be Guinness' delightful touch of bitterness. Or that rich, creamy texture. Or perhaps its deep ruby colour. This old Irish brew is unique. Constantly unique. Guinness is now available where beer is sold in Quebec—at non-imported prices, but the same great Irish taste. Why don't you discover the brew that tastes like no other on earth. Just for a change.

Habs catch Bruins, tie for NHL lead

Gump Worsley is flying again and so are his Montreal Canadiens team-mates.

The 39-year-old goaltender, idle for more than a month earlier this season because of bad nerves and an aversion to airplane flight, was at his best Sunday night.

Worsley, who has flown without incident since rejoining the team, gained his third shutout of the season as the Canadiens blanked Pittsburgh Penguins 4-0.

The victory moved the Canadiens into a first-place tie with Boston Bruins in the Eastern Division and stretched their unbeaten streak to seven games.

In other games Sunday, Chicago Black Hawks trounced Boston 5-1, Gordie Howe scored three goals to lead Detroit Red Wings to a 6-3 triumph against Los Angeles Kings, New York Rangers downed Toronto Maple Leafs 4-2, Philadelphia Flyers edged Oakland Seals 3-2 and Glenn Hall helped establish a shutout record as St. Louis Blues blanked Minnesota North Stars 6-0.

Saturday, Montreal took Boston 3-1, Toronto downed New York 6-2, Minnesota crushed

Detroit 6-2, Chicago defeated Philadelphia 3-0, St. Louis topped Los Angeles 4-1 and Oakland and Pittsburgh played to a 4-4 tie.

MADE 36 SAVES

A crowd of 5,882 at Pittsburgh saw Worsley make 36 saves in recording the 38th shutout of his NHL career.

Ralph Backstrom scored two goals for the Canadiens while single goals came from Dick Duff and Yvan Cournoyer. It was Cournoyer's 34th goal of the season, tops on the club.

The Black Hawks, in last place in the Eastern Division, won their second straight in a desperate attempt to squeeze into the playoffs.

Scoring for Chicago were Doug Mohns, Bobby Hull, Jim Pappin, Howie Young and Andre Boudrias. Fred Stanfield connected for the Bruins.

The Bruins, outshot 22-6 in the first period, felt behind 2-0 and never threatened to catch up.

A Chicago gathering of 16,666 saw centre Phil Esposito of Boston, the NHL's leading scorer, held scoreless for the second consecutive game.

The Black Hawks outshot Boston 51-25 to move within one point of fifth-place Toronto. The Bruins still have two games in hand on the Canadiens.

TIE SHUTOUT RECORD

Hall's shutout before 15,906 at St. Louis was his eighth of the season and the 81st of his career. His eight shutouts combined with five by Jacques Plante gives the Blues 13 for the season, tying the team and individual record set by Harry Lumley of Toronto in 1953-54 and matched by Terry Sawchuk and Dave Garthraun of Detroit the same season.

Hall also was credited with an assist on a third-period goal by Terry Crisp when he set up the Blues' forward with a long pass while referee Tom Smith was calling a delayed penalty against Minnesota.

Other St. Louis goals went to Larry Keenan, with two, Ab McDonald, Red Berenson and Jim Roberts as the Blues moved 23 points ahead of runner-up Oakland in the Western Division.

It was the second three-goal performance by Howe this season and the 18th of his career. The 40-year-old right winger has 33 goals this season.

Howe's first goal came at 17:05 of the second period and evened the score at 3-3. He scored twice in the final period and Garry Unger once.

Unger and recently-acquired Wayne Connelly picked up first-period goals for Detroit while Los Angeles tallies went to Bill Flett, with two, and Real Lemieux.

TOOK CROZIER'S PLACE

A crowd of 13,553 at Detroit saw Roy Edgars replace Roger Crozier in the Red Wings' goal at the start of the final period and make 13 saves, many of them sensational.

Vic Hadfield and Larry Jeffrey scored in the first period for the Rangers before 17,250 at New York. Jean Ratelle and Dave Balon tallied in the final period for New York, which ended a four-game winless streak.

Toronto goals were scored by Jim Dorey and Floyd Smith.

It was the 23rd goal of the season for Hadfield, the Rangers' and the first for Jeffrey, a penalty-killer most of the season. Balon's goal was in an empty net in the final minute.

Defenceman Larry Hale scored two goals for Philadelphia, which broke a nine-game winless streak and moved four points ahead of Minnesota in the battle for the fourth and final playoff position in the Western Division.

Andre Lacroix gained the other Philadelphia goal while Ted Hampson and Earl Ingarfield replied for Oakland before 11,104 at Philadelphia.

A first-period goal by Henri Richard started Montreal off on the right foot in Saturday's big game against Boston. John Ferguson and Jean Beliveau connected in the final period for the Canadiens.

SCORES FIRST GOAL A Montreal turnout of 18,290 saw rookie Don Marcotte of Boston score his first NHL goal, in the first period, to tie the score at 1-1.

Cookshire W.I. enjoys slides at meeting

COOKSHIRE — The special feature of the Women's Institute meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Heatherington, was the showing of slides of the Megantic Outlaw, Donald Morrison, and of the Holy Land, by Rev. Carl Gustafson, Lenoxyville.

Many Scotch people maintain that Outlaw was not the correct name for Donald Morrison, as he was a good living man, but that he was a victim of circumstances. His father had been cheated in business transactions, and, therefore, the Scottish people all rallied round Donald when he tried to look after his father's interests. However, he was rather impetuous, and did not always count the cost of his actions until it was too late. When he was being searched for by officers of the law many people hid him or gave wrong directions as to his whereabouts. The Caledonian Society in Montreal helped to defend him financially when at last he was apprehended, and he served a jail sentence for having killed an officer of the law who tried to take him into custody. He lived only a few years in jail, and the day he was taken to a hospital because of grave illness, he died, and was buried in the Kiska Cemetery. His father's home, the various hide-outs, and the country in that district were vividly pictured and described by a tape recording made by Mr. Gustafson.

The second group of pictures showed the itinerary which Mr. and Mrs. Gustafson took on their trip a few years ago. One could readily visualize the Biblical stories, for so many of the well-known places mentioned in the Bible were shown, Athens, the wonders of the Colossus of Rhodes, the harbor area, showing some Greeks loading the boats, beautiful colored flowers; Alexandria, in Egypt, the Sphinx monument, street vendors selling their wares made of twigs, Cyprus, different boats in the harbor, Beirut to Damascus and Syria, showing the steep hills. A mosque in which it is claimed they have the head of John the Baptist; the street called Strait, the gate of St. Paul, where Paul, the apostle, was let down in a basket and escaped his enemies; many beautiful marble columns are still in a good state of preservation, oxen used to help with the harvesting; the hills near Jericho, the place spoken of in the Parable of the Good Samaritan on the road from Jerusalem to Jericho, the Jordan River where John the Baptist baptized Jesus, the Dead Sea, the Mount of Temptation where the devil tempted Jesus, the Church of the Ascension in Jerusalem, the walled city, beautiful city gates, olive trees in the Garden of Gethsemane, the church where Jesus knelt to pray (in the garden) the Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem, a shrine shared by different denominations, murals in some of the churches, St. Stephen's Gate (where Stephen was stoned to death). Also shown were, the Pool of Bethesda, the Wailing Wall, the doorway of the Holy Sepulchre, Mount Zion, the road from Haifa to Nazareth, the place where Joseph's carpenter shop was situated, the Sea of Galilee, fish rearing ponds in the Jordan River, the site of the Sermon on the Mount, mosaics in various buildings, the place where Jesus performed the miracle of the loaves and fishes, Mount Carmel, Turkey, the ancient city of Smyrna, Ephesus, the tomb of St. John and many other items of interest.

Following the showing of the slides, Mr. Gustafson held a period of questions and answers. The president, Mrs. R. B. Learned, introduced the guest speaker, and he was thanked by the vice-president, Mrs. Heatherington.

A short business meeting was held prior to the entertainment, and a $500 bond is to be given to the Cookshire Cemetery Fund.

There was a large attendance of members and friends who enjoyed the refreshments, which included a birthday cake in honor of Miss Esther Farnsworth who is leaving shortly for a holiday in Spain, accompanied by two friends. A birthday song was sung by all present, and best wishes for a very pleasant holiday were extended to Miss Farnsworth.

An informative program on the history and work of the Order, Municipal, Provincial and National, was presented.

There were four new members in the year, total membership was 40. The autumn bazaar was the big event of the year to which each member puts in a great deal of time and thought to make it a success. The proceeds from this project make it possible for the Chapter to meet its commitments at all levels of the Order.

Particularly interested in education and young people, the following donations were made at the local level. A sum of $100 to the Haskell Free Library; $50 to Stanstead College for prizes; money for book prizes to the Ursuline Convent (books purchased by the Chapter); $20 to Sunnyside High School Library; $15 to the Sunnyside Students Council; $104.25 spent for vitamin pellets to Beebe Elementary School, students Grade 1 through 4; Nursing Bursary of $120, plus another $60 on another Nursing Bursary to students at the Sherbrooke Hospital School of Nursing. A member of the Chapter donated The Canadian Magazine, Canadian Beaver, to Sunnyside school library.

Other donations in 1968 included $40 for a picnic table in Hackett Park, Stanstead, and $50 to the Community Christmas Basket Fund.

In the autumn a new project was begun, this was a bridge marathon, the proceeds to be donated to the Frontier Swim Project, of some $160

Other work carried on during the year included sending a collection of books for the Navy Institute in Montreal; Christmas gifts sent to the Douglas Hospital, Verdun, for patients; baby clothes were knitted and sent to the Provincial IODE Headquarters; 22 picture scrapbooks were made and sent for children of new Canadians at Ports of Entry; assisted in collections for the cancer society; sold IODE calendars. The Chapter purchased for its use a new Canadian flag with staff and finial.

The Chapter, expressed gratitude to Stanstead College for permission of the recreation room for the monthly meetings, and to the Stanstead County School Board for use of Sunnyside school for the bazaar, and to the public for interest and support of the Chapter endeavors.

Appreciation was also extended from the Chapter members to Mrs. Ruby Wilding, who has resigned as Public Relations secretary after holding this office for several years and fulfilling her duties so efficiently.

Mrs. Greer, the regent and the members present began the work, planning activities for the new fiscal year. A report was read by Mrs. H. M. Cass of the January executive meeting to include recommendations on which action was taken.

The date of Oct. 4 was set for the annual bazaar at the Sunnyside school. Arrangements were made for the treasurer, Mrs. Wallace to order supplies which will be needed for the bazaar. Also to order for the use of the Chapter, the book, The Canadian Family Tree, about the ethnic groups that make up Canada. Mrs. Greer was given authorization to order eight dozen new china cups and saucers for the Chapter use.

A note of appreciation was voted to Roy Wells for auditing the treasurer's books. Following discussion, this Chapter agreed to support financially the National Travel and Exchange Fund. This is a new program which will send two girls from each of the ten provinces to Ottawa on an educational tour, meeting the Prime Minister and so forth.

The meeting was adjourned and the hostesses, Mrs. John Anderson and Mrs. H. L. Renwick served afternoon tea. Mrs. McGregor poured.

Feb. 13 was IODE Founders Day and the National Chapter observed its 69th birthday. During these years the IODE has prospered and grown in every Province across Canada. The work done at the three levels is tremendous with emphasis on youth work among all race and creed that make up Canada.

Bursaries, scholarships, music, assistance in many ways to persons of all ages, in hospitals and out is done at home and abroad.
