SELF-HEATING IRONS.
PATENTED, QUEBEC, AUGUST, 1852.
FOR SALE BY THE SUBSCRIBERS.

LADIES are invited to call and examine the IRONS. Those who have tried them acknowledge their superiority over every other description of Smoothing Iron, for all laundry purposes.
The large amount of fuel consumed in heating the common Iron causes an uncomfortable heat, and an extravagant expense, both of which are avoided by using the SELF-HEATING IRON.
With this Iron, three bushels of charcoal are sufficient to do the ironing of a common family twelve months. Once filled, you can use the Iron five hours without replenishing. While using it you do not require to suffer the annoyance of a heated stove or fire place. You need not labour so hard pressing with it as you do with the common iron. The Irons being finely finished, they are easily kept bright and clean, and cannot possibly soil the finest linen.
Manufactured in Canada East only at the Montreal Foundry and City Works.

PLANTAGENET WATER.
Another Certificate.

THE following testimonial in favor of this great natural remedy, is from the last number of the American Lancet, edited by Dr. Horace Nelson, M.D.:—
PLANTAGENET MINERAL WATER.—This mineral water, now so favorably known throughout the British Provinces, and just coming into general favor in the Northern and Eastern States, is destined to occupy the first rank among medicinal waters for its strongly marked properties. It is but a few years comparatively that its virtues have been tested in numerous and varied forms of disease, and in the present day it is highly and universally recommended by the Canadian Medical profession. It is a strong saline, and contains a large quantity of the compounds of Bromine, Iodine, Sodium and Magnesia,—remedies admirably combined for cures of gout, rheumatism, dyspepsia, dropsy and scrofula, and in the numerous class of affections requiring an antacid or alterative preparation. We have been a witness of the good effects attending its use, and cheerfully endorse the opinion of our father, Dr. Wolfred Nelson, which is to be found in the advertising department of this number.
Fresh supplies of the water are constantly being received at the Depot, 4 Place d'Armes, Montreal, and not elsewhere.

EXTRACTS FROM ENGLISH PAPERS.

The "Eastern Question."

(From the London Daily News—July 11th.)

The Austrian policy regarding the Eastern question is said to have prevailed; and the Coalition Cabinet have for the present resolved to leave Turkey to her fate. After encouraging the Sultan during the last three months to stand tenaciously on his rights, and advising him to brave the wrath of Russia, inasmuch as he might rely with confidence on French and English support—and after proclaiming to the world that France and England were thoroughly united in the policy of maintaining treaties or preventing their infraction, Lord Aberdeen and a majority of his colleagues have, it appears, resolved upon doing nothing; and the moment when action is most imperatively required, and the insolence of the aggressor most loudly calls for rebuke, the British Government notifies to that of France that it does not consider the invasion of the Danubian Provinces an act of war, and that in point of fact it would much rather not interfere. At the same time, through the daily organ of the Treasury, the British people are lectured upon the cost of keeping their word, and the imprudence of resenting a blow, and the disagreeableness of assisting to save an ally from being robbed and mutilated before their eyes in open day. And this is called policy and statesmanship, and the courtly and aristocratic view of the question. All this it may be, but sure we are that it is not manly, and that the English people will not willingly assent to it. The people of this country detest and despise Austrian practices. They feel that they are dishonouring to the country and ruinous to its interests. They feel that it was not only by cringing and truckling to Absolutism that the national name has in former days been made renowned. They feel that it is not only by suffering the lesser States of the Continent, with whom four-fifths of our European commerce lies, to be devoured by the great military monarchies, English trade can hope for permanence of extension. The independence and integrity of Turkey is not alone a question of the faith of treaties and the protection a of Liberal State against a despotic one, but it is also a home question with the English manufacturer, the English merchant, and the English artisan. Thousands of English families are now directly dependent for work and wages upon the growing commerce of the Danube. Russia has long been labouring undisguisedly to cripple our trade with those populous and prolific regions. And as we have repeatedly shown, she has done so with but too much success. Those to the north of the river are already occupied by her armies, and Lord Aberdeen and his supporters avow themselves afraid to interfere. What is to prevent Russia from crossing the Danube and occupying Bulgaria also? This is the policy of Austria, and, in the temporary absence of Lord J. Russell from the Cabinet, this, it is said, has been decided to be the policy of Lord Aberdeen.

But England is not alone concerned in this.—Surely France has nothing to gain by succumbing to the Czar, or to his imperial vassal at Vienna. The people of France feel as the people of England do,—dislike for the Russian Barbarian, and detestation of his tyrannical sway. Happily for them in this instance the French Government sympathises with the French people, and the most popular Paris journals approve all that the Ministers of Louis Napoleon have said and done in the matter, as far as it has been made public. If Lord Stratford de Redcliffe is forbidden by his new instructions to give the Sultan the only advice that is consonant with his ultimate safety and honor as an independent sovereign, M. de la Cour may probably be placed under no such disability; and that the Ministers of Abdul Medjid will perceive and comprehend the advantages as well as the dangers of their position seems clear. If, upon the advice of either of the Ambassadors, or if acting upon their own responsibility as counsellors of an injured and insulted Prince, they declare the empire to be in danger, denounce the invasion of its Danubian provinces as an act of open war, and call upon the representatives of the Great Powers to protect the capital by the presence of their fleets, the territory of the Sultan may yet be saved. The Ambassadors have and can have no discretion under such circumstances; and if they had, the announcement of such a demand, and the effect which such an appeal would have on the public mind of Western Europe would speedily tell them what their duty was, and that they must perform it.

But there is another power of whom little has hitherto been said or thought in reference to this momentous question. The United States has recently evinced a disposition to sympathize with the nations whose interests and aspirations are alike opposed to aristocratic and dynastic oppression. Between Russia and America there have heretofore been few occasions for the open manifestation of that antagonism which is instinctive and ineradicable in their opposing systems of religious and political life. America is the land of religious equality; Russia of sectarian intolerance and persecution. America is the home of democratic freedom; Russia of military aristrocracy captained by military despotism. America is rapidly adopting in her commercial intercourse the principles of Free Trade; Russia labours incessantly to destroy, wherever her withering influence extends, every germ of competition. Turkey has already given proofs of her earnest desire to liberalize her commercial and religious policy; and the Cabinet of Washington will undoubtedly be sustained by the cheering approval of the whole Anglo-Saxon race on both sides of the Atlantic, if at this critical juncture they prove themselves worthy of our common origin.

Count Nesselrode's Manifesto.

(From the London Globe, July 15.)

Lord Lyndhurst and Lord Fitzwilliam last night corrected an error Lord John Russell had not committed; but we cannot regret that work of super-erogation, since it elicited the more important and authoritative correction of the errors Count Nesselrode has committed.

Lord John Russell was perfectly correct in stating that no declaration is made in Count Nesselrode's Circular that matters could not be arranged between Russia and Turkey, unless the English and French fleets left the Turkish waters.

Lords Lyndhurst and Fitzwilliam are correct in stating that it is implied in that curiously compounded document of diplomatic bullying and diplomatic cajolery that the Russian troops will withdraw from the Principalities only conditionally on the withdrawal of the combined fleets from Besika Bay.

Lord Clarendon said of course that no condition would be made with respect to the departure of the one or the evacuation of the other.

The point of time at which either force may be withdrawn is totally immaterial to the main point at issue. It is not there that the question pinches. It was indeed a momentous question—and one upon which, in our judgment, the Western Powers would have been perfectly entitled to take an opposite decision to that which, for the present, they have taken whether the casus belli did not arise at once upon the Russian entrance into the Principalities. That act having been suffered to pass, under protest, neither the "military position" of Russia and "maritime occupation" of France and England, are the immediate subject-matter for diplomatic transactions. If any such transactions are practicable, they must bear directly on the main point in dispute; and if that were settled, there would remain no motive for maintaining an "attitude" whether of military or maritime "pressure" on either side. In the event of any pacific arrangement being concluded, such an arrangement would, as a matter of course, include the withdrawal of the forces on both sides—not on one side conditionally on withdrawal on the other—but on both sides, immediately on the notification that the dispute, which was the sole reason for their presence, was terminated. The declaration, on either side, of an intention to wait, and see whether the faith of a treaty just concluded was observed on the other—would deserve the resentment due to an impertinence, and would resemble the precautions taken in semi-barbarous times and countries when plenipotentiaries met, lest perchance they should cut each others' throats. So far as Count Nesselrode is addressing a semi-barbarous audience, it may suit him to imply such a preliminary condition as that above-noticed; but as he is also addressing civilized Europe, it does not suit him directly to express it. Lords Lyndhurst and Fitzwilliam place a sense on the terms of the Circular which is not expressly contained in them, though it is doubtless intended, as well as some other parts of that document, for the Russian "home-consumption." The words are—

"Des que celle-ci [Turkey] nous aura accordé la satisfaction qui nous est due, et qu'en meme temps viendra à cesser la pression qu'exerce sur nous l'attitude des deux puissances maritimes, nos troupes rentreront à l'instant meme dans les limites de la Russie."

Lord Lyndhurst, seconded, and strengthened, by Lord Fitzwilliam, said that "the interpretation be put on this particular passage amounted to this, that—

"As soon as the Ottoman Porte does what he (the Emperor of Russia) requires, and as soon as the English and French fleets quit the Turkish waters, then he will withdraw from the Principalities. He does not absolutely say that he will not withdraw sooner, though it implies 'not sooner.' * * * * *

The words are to the effect that 'as soon as the British fleet shall remove from within sight of the city of Constantinople we will retire.'"

Now it cannot be correctly stated that the words are to that effect, though doubtless they are intended to convey the idea of such a preliminary condition to the Russian true believers.

It is enough that our Government, through Lord Clarendon, repudiates the assumption of any such condition as that implied in Count Nesselrode's phrase of the cessation of "pressure exercised upon us by the attitude of the two maritime Powers." The Foreign Secretary brushed away, clearly and curtly, in the following sentence, the whole cobweb of misrepresentation and sophistry, which had cost the Russian Minister such elaborate spinning. The noble lord said shortly—

"The English and French fleets are neither within the Turkish water nor within sight of Constantinople; and therefore, though it may be so asserted in the Russian note, there are certainly no reasons to take precautions on that subject."

One does not suspect Russian diplomacy of any very susceptible sense of shame; since, as political gratitude has been defined "a lively expectation of future favors," so diplomatic modesty may be defined as a keen sense of effective exposure. What exposure in Parliament, or by the Press, can exert any effective influence on those bearded believers, running over with quass, and "Russo-Greek" religion, who kneel in the dirt when their Pope-and-Emperor-in-one appears amongst them, and dance delight in hopes of a crusade to subdue South-Eastern Europe to the same pure religion, moral and social regimen, which so eminently distinguish the empire of all the Russias?

MONDAY MORNING, AUGUST 1, 1853.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.—In preference to any lucubrations of our own as to the probabilities of the grasping ambition of the Russian autocrat towards Turkey, and his arrogant defiance of her allies, England and France, leading to war, we present our readers, so far as our limits will admit, with the opinions of our leading London contemporaries. For ourselves, we confess that, as the armed invasion and occupation of the Turkish territory does not appear to have been viewed by the Grand Signior and his allies, as a sufficient casus belli, we are somewhat at a loss to conceive what action, on the part of Russia, would be viewed in that light; and, therefore, although we are utterly unable to discover in what manner the vexed question can be settled, without the sacrifice of the rights of Turkey and the honor of France and England, we still have ground to hope that it may be honorably disposed of, at least for the present, without an appeal to arms.

MEND YOUR WAYS.—The following remarks of the Quebec Chronicle merit the attention of our "City fathers"—whatever may be the state of the streets in the "Ancient Capital," it is impossible they can be worse than many of our principal thoroughfares:—

"Is is in Canada less difficult, certainly less disagreeable to travel from one city to another, than to walk or ride through the streets of our provincial towns. Neither paved nor macadamized properly, the towns of the province are either thick with dust or deep with mud. In Quebec drainage is so bad that after a very heavy shower the streets are left in ruts, which, as soon as possible, are filled up with limestone chips, or broken bricks; in Montreal the streets are sprinkled with soft lime stone, which being speedily pulverized, is ever throwing dust in the eyes of the citizens; and in Toronto, if the middle of the road is free from sand, the side-walks are so wretchedly laid down, without curbstones, that it is next to an impossibility to walk for half a day without tearing the toe-part of the sole from the upper part of the boot. Here the streets would cover with shame any Corporation but ours which is so used to kicking as rather to like it than otherwise."

Our Quebec contemporary adds:—

"At a meeting of the Cobblers and Importers of pegged boots held yesterday in Crispin Hall, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:—

Resolved,—That the thanks of this meeting are due to the City Council for keeping the streets in so wretched a state of repair, that it is utterly impossible to wear longer than a few weeks, other than the stoutest boots or shoes, and that a petition be drafted and addressed to the City Council, requesting that enlightened body to take no steps whatever likely to interfere with a branch of business on which the livelihood of many respectable people depends, but that they will go on treading in the steps of their illustrious predecessors."

CHEAP WASHING AND BATHING HOUSES.—We directed the attention of our readers, a few days ago, to the great advantages derivable from the erection, in all cities, of such establishments, conducive as they cannot fail to be to the health and comfort of the poorer classes; and we are glad to see, by the following extract, that the experiment is being fairly tried in New York:—

A company of N. Y. gentlemen are trying the experiment of furnishing cheap bathing and washing accommodations for the poor in that city. The establishment is in Mott Street. It is of brick, 45 feet front, and 85 feet deep, two stories high, with a basement. The basement contains two swimming baths, one for males, 42 feet long by 17 broad, and the other for females 20½ feet long and 17 broad. On the first floor, besides offices, sitting-rooms, &c., are 53 bath-rooms, one side devoted to males and the other to females.—The second floor is devoted to washing and drying clothes. Here are 68 double tubs, four feet long and two feet wide; and just behind them, a range of closets for drying clothes by steam; and adjacent, are conveniences for heating flat-irons.

The wash room is a very capacious, airy room, occupying the entire floor of the building and having twenty-nine windows, besides skylights in the roof. The establishment is furnished with a steam engine and has two-boilers, one for hot water and steam to be used in the baths, tubs, &c. The whole seems to be arranged in the best manner, and at an expense to the proprietors of about $42,000. It is the first establishment of the kind ever opened in this country, and is modeled after the London Bath and Wash Houses. But it is most earnestly to be hoped, that this is not the last establishment of the kind that shall be erected in our great cities. What an immense convenience, and how great the economy of time and labor, this wash-room must be to the poor washwoman. Here, at an expense of about three cents an hour, she can be furnished with an ample supply of hot and cold water, and the very best conveniences for using it; and then, immediately behind her, half of her wash may be drying while she is engaged on the other half; and by the time the first half is ironed the other portion is ready for the flat. Thus no time is lost, and everything can be done to the best possible advantage, in all weathers; and despite the lack of sun or drying wind, the washerwoman's clothes are ready for her customers at the set time.

And though this is something entirely new to our people, it is pleasant to learn, as we do from the first report of the "People's Washing and Bathing Association," that the number of persons disposed to avail themselves of its accommodations is quite large and steadily increasing. Over ten thousand washings have been done in the establishment during the year, at a cost to the washers of $1526; the amount paid in the last quarter being nearly double that paid in the first quarter.

But this does not tell the whole story. Besides the ten thousand washers, over eighty thousand bathers have been accommodated during the year, at from three to twenty-five cents each. Of these, 32,269 have used the swimming baths, at three cents each; 29,692 have used the cold baths, at five cents each; 17,751 have taken warm baths, at ten cents each; and 634 have taken vapor baths, at twenty-five cents each; making the total receipts from this source during the year, $4,393 72.

The total income of the establishment this year has been $6037 02, while the ordinary expenses, exclusive of interest, are estimated at about $5,500. It is believed that the stock will ultimately pay interest, and if so, a strong inducement will be offered to increase such establishments for the accommodation of the public.—Boston Traveller.

RUINS OF THE MORMON TEMPLE AND THE ICARIANS.—A correspondent of the Dover (N. H.) Star, under date of June 17th, gives some interesting facts in relation to the city of Nauvoo, Mormonism, &c.:—

Before the temple was burnt, it was nearly finished. Now, all that remains is the end facing the river, and this is seen for a few miles back in the country, and at some distance on the river, below and above. It was built of limestone, the outside hewn and carved, exhibiting some of the most beautiful figures that I ever saw made on stone. The location for the city is considered one of the best on the river. It is on a point of land formed by a great bend in the river, overlooking quite a portion of Iowa. A considerable part of the city is below the bluff, yet is so high that it is never inundated. The present number of inhabitants is about 3000, and there is but one evangelical meeting, and this is the Methodist. The Catholics have a meeting in the place.

The ruins of the temple are not the only ruins. Many of the brick houses in the back part of the city are deserted, and the remains of many burnt houses continue upon the grounds. Had the Mormons, even with their humbug, conducted a little better, this would have been a great place. Most of the villages in this county were under their control.

Joe Smith's widow has married, and lives in the city. She and her husband keep the mansion-house. Her oldest son is about twenty years of age. They have no fellowship with Mormonism. Boynton, who first preached in Maine, as a Mormon, and induced about thirty families, with their innocent children, to leave my native town, has for twelve years been an Anti-Mormon. Yet Mormonism is still flourishing. A few miles below, thousands are now encamped, preparing to emigrate to the Salt Lake country. Most of the Mormon sufferers have been women and children.

The temple site is owned by a company of socialists, called Icarians, mostly French. They number about 400, publish a weekly paper in English, and are infidels. I visited their buildings—had an interview with their President. They are noted as being peaceable and temperate. They all dine in one room; yet every man has a separate room for his family.

Seventy more Protestant refugees from Madeira have arrived at New York to join their brethren in Illinois.

Progress of His Excellency the Governor General.

(From our own Correspondent.)

BYTOWN, July 30th, 1853.

I have already described to you the particulars of the Governor General's trip up to his arrival at Bytown, on Wednesday evening. On Thursday, he was occupied during the morning in visiting the more interesting sites of the "City of the Woods." At about eleven o'clock, the festivities were commenced, by a procession from the residence of the Hon. Thos. McKay to the Barrack Hill, where the newly created artillery had been stationed the preceding evening, and where they again, under the charge of two or three retired veterans, thundered forth their noisy greetings. Several arches of pine trees had been constructed in the streets through which the procession passed, and both sides of the ways throughout the town were decorated in a similar manner. On the hill, a platform had been erected, with a handsome carpet, and other decorations, and to this His Lordship was conducted, to receive the addresses which were to be presented to him. The first of these was from the Corporation of Bytown, which was read by J. Turgeon, Esq., the Mayor, in French and English. Then came an address of the Sons of Temperance, read by Wm. Edwards, Esq., of Clarence, and then one from the Cadets of Temperance, by Master Kennedy. These addresses, which I give, together with the rest presented during the trip, elsewhere, having been replied to, Lord Elgin next proceeded to visit the Mechanics' Institute and Athenæum, which was opened according to the arrangements by "His Excellency in person." Dr. Hill received His Lordship at the door, and then went round the room to point out the objects most worthy of notice. Doctors Van Cortlandt and Sewell, and Messrs. G. Heron, Dufton and Billings deserve great commendation for the zeal and ability with which, in the short space of a few days, they created this exhibition, which formed perhaps the most interesting object of the whole excursion. The articles shown were not, it is true, very numerous; but they were so selected as to illustrate very effectively the march of civilization over the recent wilderness, and so to afford, as a legend across the room well expressed it, "a presage of a coming time." Decidedly, the most instructive part of the exhibition was the geological and mineralogical collection made by Mr. Billings. Among these, says the Citizen, "were six kinds of Iron Ore, one of them probably a new species, and all being from large and valuable deposits of the mineral in the valley of the Ottawa."

The first specimen was the:—

Magnetic Oxyde of Iron, from Lot 11 in the 11th Con. of the Township of Hull.

Analysis by Mr. Hunt, of the Geological survey:—

Magnetic Oxyde of Iron	96.09
Silica and Graphite	3 18
	99.27

The above is equal to 69 per cent. of pure Iron. The bed from which this specimen was procured is 20 feet in thickness.

This Ore is situated about four miles from the Chaudiere. There is a running stream near it, which might be used as water power.

The second is from the Madawaska, a valuable species of ore, very easily smelted, and is—

Specular Iron Ore:—

Peroxyde of Iron	84.10
Silica	4.00
Carbonate of Lime	8.80
Water by loss	3.40
	100.00

The bed is 12 feet in thickness, and will yield 25 tons of pure iron for every fathom in depth and length. The ore contains 59 per cent, of iron.

The next is a boulder taken from the drift formation. The bed is not known, but the deposit will probably yet be found among the primary hills that skirt the north shore of the Ottawa. It has been examined by Mr. Hunt. He pronounces it to be a Silicate of Iron, probably constituting a variety of the species known as Lieverite or Yenite. The following is his analysis:

Silica	27.80
Peroxyde of iron	10.80
Protoxyde of "	56.52
Lime	.64
Magnesia	2.40
Water	1.20
	99.55

The fourth species is—

Bog Iron Ore, from Vaudreuil, Analyses:—

Peroxyde of Iron	76.95
Alumina	.80
Silica	1.50
Water and organic matter	10.80

The bed is 4 to 8 feet in thickness. It yields 54 per cent of pure iron.

Magnetic Oxyde of Iron, from the Township of Ross, near Portage du Fort, crystalized in cubes.

A fifth kind is the Carbonate of Iron Plumbago, or Black Lead, as it is usually called, although there is not a particle of lead in it. The dimensions of the vein from which this was taken is not stated, but from the size of the specimen it must exist in considerable masses exhibited by the Hon. R. U. Harwood:

The sixth species is Sulphuret of Iron, remarkable for the splendid six sided crystals of carbonate of lime, with which its surface is incrusted. It is labelled—

Sulphuret of Iron of the species called Marcasite, or Rhombic Pyrites, from a vein in the Trenton Limestone at the head of the Chaudiere Falls at Bytown.

There were also several other kinds of ore and large samples of the cement stone of Nepean, both in its natural state and as it appears when hardened between the stones of a building.—These were also furnished by R. Wright, Senior, Esq., of Hull.

There were many specimens of painting around the walls of the Exhibition, and many articles of needlework from the Convent, including some magnificently embroidered vestments for the priests. Other ladies had also contributed several articles of fancy needle-work, amongst which one by Miss Aumond was very much remarked. Two tents on either side of the room, consisting of articles of British manufacture, were designed to show the degree of luxury which is indulged in by the inhabitants of the Ottawa region. These articles, from the establishments of Messrs. Heron, Brough, McLachlan and Gordon, prove conclusively the strides made in wealth and taste in this part of the Province. Richer goods could hardly be sold in any city of Canada. There were besides a number of specimens of tweeds from the factory of the Hon. Thos. McKay, from imported wool, fully equal to cloths of the same description from British mills; and from these native cloths Messrs. Story and Torrence had constructed—the one a most marvellous coat, and the other a vest which admitted of protean changes, in six different styles. Mr. Punch's dandies ought to see this garment. It is one of those "stunning" affairs which they delight to wear, and the artist to depict. Even the youth of genius whom we saw last week, and who had achieved such glory by giving his mind exclusively up to the building of waistcoats might have had new ideas struck out by the study of this ingenious invention. Messrs. Bangs, Freligh and Fraser, and Mesdames Minnis and Gibson further illustrated by their contributions the style and taste of the Ottawa fashionables.—Messrs. Heney, Borbridge, Montgomery and Waugh gave proof that leather manufactures were as far advanced as the other arts of life, and in the mechanical department we noticed carriages from Humphreys & McDougall; agricultural implements from Workman Griffin and Hay; cabinet ware from Angus and Walkley; a model of chain pump, a model of original suspension bridge, Carpenters' tools from McArthur & McDougall; a newly invented churn by E Woods; superior biscuit baking machine from Mr. A. Scott.

There were specimens of book-binding, by Mr. Horne.

A fine array of glass from the Ottawa Glass Works at Vaudreuil.

A lathe and a portable bellows, from Booth—both remarkable for beauty of design and perfect workmanship; and a beautiful eight-day clock, from Leslie.

A large quantity of confections from Mr. Scott.

Thirty-three specimens of woods prepared by J. Fitzgibbon, Esq.; a small tub, manufactured by R. Kenly, cooper, was much noticed; window blinds, and other articles of domestic use, by Messrs. Currier, Dickenson & Co.

Having viewed the exhibition the Governor General proceeded to Dorans, and received those gentlemen who desired to be presented. From thence, after visiting the Roman Catholic Cathedral, he drove to the hospitable mansion of the Hon. Thomas McKay, where a very handsome luncheon had been prepared, in the splendid grounds which surround Rideau Hall; a large party of gentlemen having been invited to meet him. Having partaken of the refreshments, of which all who took part in the proceedings of the morning stood in need, His Excellency, with his attendants set out for Aylmer. On the Union Bridge his carriage was halted just over the slide on the north end, in order to give him an opportunity of witnessing the descent of several cribs of timber, which had been stopped there for that purpose, and the procession being again set in motion, met a deputation from Aylmer over the centre of the arch, within a few yards of the cataract, which here rushes down a dam of perpendicular rocks broken into a variety of awful looking chasms, that distort the falling waters into all sorts of shapes, and divide them into shoots of all imaginable sizes from a thundering sheet of foam to a single silver thread, or even a few drops falling one by one from some angular projection of the ledge into the boiling caldron (chaudière) below. The deputation, which had come to receive Her Majesty's Representative in this romantic spot was accompanied by a cavalcade of substantial yeomen, mounted on their own horses, and by a band of music, in a large carriage, bearing a magnificent banner. Having joined the previous procession the whole party again moved forward to the northern end of the bridge, where more rafts were allowed to go down the slide on that side, in order to show the different character of the works at the two ends. Hence along the road to Aylmer there was a continued feu de joie kept up by some musketeers who rode with the band and by the inhabitant on the route. The village was decked with fir branches, and his Lordship proceeded to the new Court House, where he received an address, and replied from the platform in front of the door. Then after receiving such persons as desired to be presented, he went to the residence of Mr. Egan, and due time having been afforded for necessary refitting after a dusty ride, the evening was closed by a very handsome dinner, and a dance. A fine display of fireworks added to the pleasures of the entertainment, which the worthy member for the County had provided for his guests, who departed at a late hour, tired but not satiated with the enjoyment of the day. During the whole day His Excellency's party had been augmented by the presence of the Hon. Thos. M'Kay, Mr. Aumond, Mr. Justice M'Cord, the Mayor of Bytown, Mr. Sparkes, Mr. Conroy and several other gentlemen.

On Friday morning the whole party embarked on board the Emerald, Capt. Cumming, for the Chats Lake. Passing Horaceville, the seat of the Hon. H. Pinhey, His Lordship was saluted with twenty-one guns from that gentleman's battery, which was returned by cheers from the boat. At the Quillon an address was presented by Mr. King on behalf of the neighboring townships, to which His Lordship replied nearly as follows:—

Thanking them for their kind reception and welcome. In their address they said other places might make a more imposing display, but he never desired a better reception or of a different kind than he now received. The more he saw of this part of the country the more he was impressed with its magnitude, its great resources and importance. He was fully aware of the importance of the lumber business, and valued it very highly. As he had said yesterday at the Mechanics' Institute in Bytown, "the lumberman is followed by the Farmer, who finds in the wants of the lumberman a ready market for the produce of his industry; and the Farmer is in his turn as immediately succeeded by the Mechanic and the Artizan." In his progress through this part of Canada, he felt a pleasure in hearing the addresses read so often in the Scottish tongue, and seeing in them evidences of their coming from Scotch pens. He thanked them again, and hoped he would often see them, and find them equally loyal and happy, and find them growing richer.

The next stopping place was Unionville, at the head of the Chats Lake, a place where the river falls over a ledge of rocks, which crosses its course in a diagonal direction, and descends from the higher to the lower level by some sixteen or twenty different cascades, which at times of high water are said to become thirty. Hence the route lay across the Portage on a railroad, erected at very considerable cost at the joint expense of Messrs. Egan, Aumaund and Wright of Hull, at an expense of some four thousand pounds per mile—a striking proof of the enterprise of these gentlemen. It is at this Portage that it is intended to construct the Canal, for which £50,000 was voted last session. At the upper end of the Portage, the company embarked in another very handsome iron steamer called the Oregon.

The next stopping place was at Arnprior, the mouth of the Madawaska, where the Bytown and Pembroke railroad is expected to cross one from Bytown. D. McLachlin, M.P.P., who has a fine property at this place, had caused a large tent to be erected here, under which a number of his neighbours had assembled; and while the boat was at the wharf, the whole party came down to welcome His Excellency. The next stage was Sand Point, the residence of Alex. McDonnell, Esq., who entertained the company at luncheon. The grounds at this gentleman's house are laid out with exceeding good taste, and the horticultural display was greatly admired. Addresses were presented from Lanark and Renfrew, by Jas. Morris, Junr., the Warden; from Pakenham, by A. Dickson, Esq.; from the Sons of Temperance; and from the Town of Perth, by Jno. Doran, Esq. Bonnechère was the next stage. The Point is one of the most beautiful places on the Ottawa. This large and very valuable property belongs to Robert Conroy, Esq., of Aylmer, who has within the last two years greatly improved the wharf, and erected some valuable buildings. From Bonnechère upwards to Portage du Fort is an interesting part of the trip. The scenery is peculiarly wild and grand, and the channel narrow, rapid, and rocky.

The Oregon arrived at Portage du Fort, at a few minutes before two o'clock, p.m.

At this place, the wharf was crowded, and the discharge of firearms by way of salute was more lively than at any other point on the way up.—Upon arriving close to the wharf, I observed that almost all the male portion of the members wore Orange insignia, and that four large Orange banners waved from the centre of the array. It was said that these were the representatives of four lodges present, numbering some two hundred and fifty persons. The Scribes had their pens, and these were several persons carrying documents in frames, which, we presume were the licences from the main body of the society to the different lodges. Several persons also bore white scarfs, with green rosettes. An address was then presented by D. McLaren, Esq., on behalf of the inhabitants of the Portage, and another by the Rev. Mr. Neave, on behalf of the Protestants of Clarendon. A procession was then formed of the whole party on the wharf, and the band from the steamer, and the company, with drums beating and flags flying, escorted His Excellency to the mills, at the head of the village, and back to the steamer. Before leaving, Mr. Egan addressed the people on the wharf, and thanked them for the welcome they had given the Governor General. He said he knew them for as industrious and honest a yeomanry as ever existed in any country. He knew that they were men of substance, with every man his own farm—men, whose welcome must, therefore, be gratifying.—They had known him (Mr. E.) too for many years, and he believed that they felt how much he respected them and wished for their welfare, which he hoped would be largely augmented by the improvements about to be effected on the Ottawa. This speech was replied to by three cheers, in the midst of which the boat left the wharf. On the way down, lunch was served on board the "Oregon," and a most recherché dinner on board the "Emerald," as Aylmer was approached; Fitzroy Harbor having been touched at on the way down, with the usual ceremonies. During the dinner, His Excellency proposed the health of Mr. Egan, the hon. member for Ottawa, to whose enterprise, be said, much of the present prosperity of that section of the country was due. Mr. Egan returned thanks, and concluded by proposing "The Ladies."

Before leaving the latter boat an address was signed to Captain Cumming, to be communicated to the other officers of the Emerald and Oregon, expressing the sense, which the gentlemen on board, accompanying Lord Elgin and his personal suite, felt of the attendance and zeal, which had marked their management on the trip.

The steamer reached the wharf at Aylmer about eight o'clock, and Lord Elgin drove direct to Bytown; the village of Aylmer and every house on the route being illuminated. On the other side of the Union bridge; on the Barrack Hill; and on some other elevated points large bon-fires had been lighted, and the discharges of musketry were constant. On Saturday his Lordship returned to Montreal accompanied by the Hon. Col. Bruce; Mrs. Bruce; Lt Col Irvine and Captains Hamilton and Grant, having on his way down received and answered addresses at Longueuil and Hawkesbury.

On board both the Phœnix and the Lady Simpson, the best management is always to be calculated upon, and His Lordship reached Montreal in ample season for the Quebec steamboat.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY CONTRACTORS.—The Hon. P. McGill left town on Saturday for Portland, where he expected to meet Messrs. Jackson and Peto, of the Grand Trunk Railway, who arrived out in the "Asia," and were to proceed to Portland. We believe Mr. Stephenson, the eminent engineer, is of the party.

THE GOVERNOR GENERAL'S VISIT TO THE OTTAWA.—We have received, together with our letter from Bytown, a crowd of addresses and answers, for which we can find no room to-day.

THEATRE ROYAL.—"The Hunchback" will be played to-night, for the second and last time.—Those who did not have an opportunity of witnessing the performance on the first representation of this magnificent play, will have an opportunity of doing so this evening, and, those who did see it, we are persuaded, will go again.

As the Rechabites appear determined on repeating their visit to St. Albans, we would suggest a "smart improvement." Cheap trips are usually crowded trips, and to many this very crowd, as at balls and routs, is a great attraction; while to many others crowds are objectionable, and they would prefer paying a little more for tickets, to secure a little more room or accommodation in the cars. By something like the "reserved seat" system, all parties may be gratified, and probably it might be introduced with advantage on occasions of this kind.

A LOCOMOTIVE WITHOUT RAILS.—We abridge the following from the Courier des Etats Unis:

"A Paris journal gives an account of the invention of a locomotive destined to run on ordinary roads, by M. Alexandre Levoi. Yesterday we saw the locomotive, attached to a couple of cars, rolling up the streets, turning the most abrupt corners, and advancing and retiring with the greatest ease. The locomotive has a ten horse power, and is mounted on four wheels with broad felloes. The inventor seems confident of success."

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the MONTREAL HERALD.

Sir,—I rejoiced to observe, in your paper of Tuesday, an article drawing attention to the facts that, in Montreal, we have no Public Park, no Public Library, and no Baths and Wash Houses, accessible to the working classes.

Believing that Baths and Wash Houses may be made self-supporting, I think it is the duty of the Corporation to make the necessary enquiries on this head, and if this opinion be found correct, they should be provided forthwith. The time is favorable. Let us make the most of the large supply of water, which we are soon to possess.—I commend this subject to the notice of the Chairman of the Water Works Committee.

It is to be hoped that the press will now endeavour to rouse the citizens to a sense of the necessity for taking immediate steps to purchase land for a public Park. Time has already been lost, and property is rapidly increasing in value.—Within a very few years, suitable sites, which could now be obtained, will probably be covered with buildings. That the greatest possible number of citizens may share in the benefit of a Park, it should be near the city. The Mountain is too far away.

The want of an extensive Library is a serious bar to the progress of intelligence. We ought to have one good one, for French and English, Protestant and Catholic. The complete success of the Manchester Free Library has induced other towns in England to follow the noble example.—Why should not Montreal do so too? It is manifest that the somewhat heterogeneous character of our population would present some difficulties to the carrying out of such a project here; but was any considerable undertaking ever accomplished without obstacles having to be overcome?—In this matter, the Manchester plan should be followed. The institution should be established by private subscription, and then it should be transferred to the Corporation, upon condition that it undertakes to support it.

The question now arises, how shall we set about supplying these great wants? A wholesome pressure from without, in the shape of resolutions passed at a public meeting, would doubtless have its due effect upon the city fathers; and a committee should be appointed at the same meeting, to procure subscriptions for the Library. I trust that some public spirited individuals, who have more leisure and influence than the writer, will take the matter up. They shall have the co-operation of

Your obedient Servant,

COMMON WEAL.

Oratory and its Power.

Wherein is the secret? Demosthenes revealed it when he put the pebble in his mouth and harangued the waves on the sea shore. To cure an impediment in his speech? Not so much so as to acquire a calm, deliberate, forcible mode of expressing his thoughts. Thought is the main spring in oratory; words are but the dial and the hands which point to its operations. As the main spring is, so will its representatives be. When wound up too hard the indicators testify it by their unusual rapidity of motion; when wound up but little, their sluggishness equally tells the tale. How very few of our public speakers think of this! How many imagine that by clapping their hands, stamping their feet, throwing about their arms, and performing all sorts of unnatural gesticulations, they are throwing Cicero into the shade! How strange that men will not reflect and learn from the brightest examples of our own day. No one denies that Webster and Clay were orators; no one who has heard Soulé and Douglas will deny that they are entitled also to be placed in that category.—And in what was the secret of the power of the two great men who so lately passed off the stage? It was in their distinctness and deliberateness of speech, each word in its right place, and conveying its proper meaning, and uttered in just such time as was necessary to make an impression upon those to whom they spoke. All was graceful, dignified, powerful. No sentences two yards long. No befogging and mystifying and bellowing to excite people's nerves, sensibilities, and their faculty of astonishment, and then leave them to wonder at their own ignorance, stupidity and folly. When they spoke they had something to say; and they said it in such a manner as to make a suitable impression. Their thoughts flowed not in such a rapid current as to prevent their being decently clothed; nor were they huddled together in such a crude mass as to be striving among themselves for the mastery. O'Connell and Peel among the recently dead were orators of this class; Brougham, Russell, Macauly, among the English living, still retain the same power. From such men a hearer goes away refreshed and informed. Their thoughts become stamped upon his mind, and, by the value of those thoughts, he is so much the wiser or the better. These reflections have been suggested by a speech which was made in the Massachusetts convention a few days ago—a speech evidently of fine thought, but so rapidly and confusedly expressed as to produce no other effect than that of wonder. A style calm—impassioned yet deliberate—forcible yet calm—There is no necessity, in order to produce an effect, to "tear a passion to rags." It has been the good fortune of the writer to hear nearly all the great orators of England and America who have figured within the last twenty years both in the pulpit and at the bar, in parliament or in congress, and he has always found that the most effective speakers—those who make the most lasting impressions—are those who have their thoughts clearly defined in their own brains, and who take the coolest and consequently the likeliest method of implanting them in the brains of others.

UPPER CANADA.

FIRE IN THE WOODS NEAR KINGSTON.—A fire, said to have originated from burning brush heaps, commenced in the woods in rear of Mahony's lot on the Montreal road, about three miles from, and within sight of, this city, on Tuesday last at noon, and is said to have gone over one hundred and fifty acres already, destroying much property in the shape of lumber, crops and fences. Yesterday evening the smoke and flame was quite visible from the north end of the city, and the fire appeared to be extending rapidly. From the dry state of the atmosphere, it is feared that it may do more damage ere its progress is stayed. —Kingston News.

The body of David Thom, the young man who was drowned by the sinking of the pleasure yacht Gipsey Queen, on the 14th of May last, in the channel opposite the city, was picked up by Mr. Briggs' ferry boat on Tuesday evening, near the spot where the accident occurred.—Ib.

LONDON RAILWAY DEPOT.—The Free Press says the contracts for the construction of the railway depot have been awarded to Mr. Rolfe, of London. It is supposed that the cost will be about $45,000 or $50,000. This does not include the Passenger Station, which is altogether a separate affair.—Mr. E. J. Leonard has secured the contract for the "frogs and switches," which will amount to about $7,000. The whole of the above work is to be finished during the month of December.—Ib.

THE HARVEST IN UPPER CANADA.—Throughout Whitby the Fall Wheat will be ready for the harvester early in the ensuing week. In many parts it is already, but haying is not quite completed. There is no sign of rust in any of the neighborhood heard from, but considerable smut is said to have made its appearance. The yield promises to be equal to last year on an average. The spring Crops were suffering from drought, but a recent heavy shower of about an hour's duration have brightened them up. The prospects of the markets abroad are most cheering to the farmer. —Ontario Reporter, 23rd July.

THE ORANGEMEN.—WHAT'S IN THE WIND?—The peace of the western portion of Toronto has been jeopardised for two or three nights past by the movements of considerable bodies of Orangemen. On Sunday evening, between eight and nine o'clock, a party of forty or fifty, well-dressed, and for the most part armed with heavy sticks, marched two and two westward, from the "Enniskillener's Home," a tavern or boarding-house in Queen-street, returning about ten and then dispersing. On Monday evening, at about the same hour, another and a still larger gathering was formed at the same place, and again marched westward in a solid rank, well provided with sticks as before.—They returned at about ten, when there was a good deal of cheering at the corner of Queen and William-streets. When dispersing numerous pistol shots were fired, and soon afterwards both pistols and guns were discharged near to the "Queen Victoria" tavern, situated a short distance west of William-street; proving that the parties, whoever they were, and whatever their purpose, were well provided with the means of effecting mischief.

Persons residing in the western suburbs of the city state that both on Sunday and Monday evenings bodies of this character, more or less armed, marched from place to place between the setting-in of dusk and ten o'clock; causing much speculation as to their probable purpose, and in many instances not a little alarm. A rumour current on Sunday evening was that an unfortunate Catholic had rendered himself obnoxious to summary punishment; another and not more probable story is, that the Benjamites and Gowanites—the respective followers of the two great shining lights of the Orange faith—are intent upon displaying their relative strength. Having no familiarity with the secrets of the prison-house, we give the surmises for what they are worth.

But though the question, "What's in the wind?" must remain unanswered until the leaders condescend to speak, we submit that the facts we have mentioned call loudly for the interposition of the authorities. No steps have been taken to check or watch these movements, although there are two police stations within less than half a mile of where the disturbance occurred.—Toronto Leader.

UNITED STATES

SHIP CANAL ABOUT NIAGARA—CLEVELAND REJOICING.—The long-talked-of Niagara Canal is at last a fixed fact. The bill creating it has passed the New York Legislature, and has been signed by the Governor.

The passage of this measure is of the highest importance to Cleveland. Hitherto the Welland Canal has had every thing its own way, and has charged just what it saw fit. This monopoly is now destroyed.

The advantage accruing to our Lake commerce from the Niagara route may be briefly summed up as follows:—The distance is only eight miles—being twenty miles shorter than the Welland route. The number of locks is much less—and there are no ascending locks whatever. The capacity is much larger, being fitted for boats of at least 500 tons, custom house measurement. The tolls are materially lighter. The rates are as follows: For passengers, each ten cents; for barley, rye, oats, beans, &c., thirty cents; for steamers and other vessels, per ton measurement two and a-half cents; for pork, beef, bacon, hams, lard, fish, &c., forty-nine cents; for ashes, flour, butter, cheese, wheat, and other agricultural product, &c., sixty cents. The reduction on most articles range from one-third to one-half. The time consumed in the transit will be about one-third of that on the Welland Canal.

Nearly two bushels to one of all the wheat and other produce sent from Cleveland and other Lake ports now goes through the Welland. The effect of the new project upon our commercial interests, by the reduction of tolls and of time, and the enlargement of accommodations is, of course, highly beneficial.

From a copy of the bill now before us, we learn the following facts relative to the stock and management of the Niagara Canal. The capital stock is five million dollars, and it will be divided into shares of one hundred dollars each. The affairs of the corporation shall be conducted by a board of fifteen directors. Among the first board enumerated we find the name of Martin B. Scott, of this city.

The canal will leave Niagara River at a point between Tonawanda and Schlosser, and enter again at Lewiston. The entire work will be completed in from three to five years.

In honor of the seventeen Senators in the New York Legislature, who voted for the passage of the Niagara Canal Bill, the Cleveland Light Artillery will fire, at six o'clock this evening, a salute of seventeen guns, at the foot of Superior street.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

MORE TROUBLE WITH THE BEAVER ISLAND MORMONS—SIX MEN WOUNDED.—The Detroit Free Press has the following:—

ST. JAMES, BEAVER ISLAND, July 14.

A most bloody and murderous assault was made upon Joshua A. Miller, Sheriff of this (Emmet) county, at Pine River, yesterday afternoon. Mr. Miller went to Pine River yesterday morning, to summon three jurors, residing there, who had been drawn for the July Circuit at this place. As many threats had been sent out from Pine River, against the serving any process there, he went with two boats and seven men in each, all unarmed, thinking the presence of that number of witnesses would prevent any sudden outbreak until his business was understood, when he thought, there could be no opposition.

He was on shore but twenty-five minutes, finished his business, and got into the boats to return, when a body of forty men, who had hastily gathered on the bluffs, commenced a most murderous fire upon them. More than one hundred guns were fired before the boats got off the shore, and all within the distance of five rods. Six men were wounded, but, surprising as it may be, none mortally.

The firing continued until the boats were beyond gun-shot range, when they filled three boats and pursued. At a distance of ten miles out, the first boat in pursuit, with thirty-five men in her, commenced firing again, and continued the fire for five miles, when the Sheriff and his party made the bark Morgan, Capt. Stone, and were taken aboard.

They arrived at home last night, and by this time their wounds are all dressed. The following is the list of the wounded:—

Isaac Pierce, an ounce ball through his arm, both bones broke. It is to be hoped his arm will be saved.

A. J. Porter, shot through the hip; the ball passed, as he sat on the rail of the boat, lengthways of the limb, stopping at the knee—doing well.

A. J. Hall, severe flesh wound in the arm, just below the shoulder; bled very profusely, but not dangerously.

J. T. Pierce, Alex. Wentworth, and Louis Briggs, slightly wounded.

J. L. Miller, Sheriff; Franklin Johnson, Lorenzo Tubbs, Christopher Scott, Orlendo Briggs, David Fink, F. Longfield, L. D. Hickey and Egbert Carpenter were uninjured. Their escape under the circumstances, seems impossible.—More than two hundred shots were fired, all at short range, at men well exposed to view, without the slightest means of resistance, and whose only means of escape was to sit in plain view and row the boats, with a vastly stronger force in pursuit.

The intention was both apparent and avowed, to leave none to return here alive; and no pretence was made for the deed but the determination to have no law there.

No arrest had been made or attempted, and, whatever wicked men may please to say, there can be no pretence that any improper act was intended on the part of the Sheriff or his party; for the transaction was in the most public position, at two o'clock in the afternoon, and the Pine River men were two to one to the Sheriff's party.

By giving publicity to this transaction, I think you will only do what the public expect of you as a journalist.

I am, truly and sincerely,

JAS. J. STRANG.

LIVERPOOL, July 15.

Our market for Montreal Ashes remains in the same lifeless state, occasionally a retail sale at 27s for both Pots and Pearls. The advices of large falling off in receipts at Montreal has not affected us here in any way.

Provisions—Retail sales only making at former prices. Ordinary Prime Mess 80@90s; Fine 92s 6d@100 per tierce. Pork in moderate demand; Western 70@75s; Eastern 76@80s per barrel, for Prime Mess. There has been more doing in Bacon, at an advance of 1s per cwt; Western 44@50s; Eastern 50@52s per cwt. Tallow has declined slightly; United States 47@52s per cwt; Canadian Butter 62s@68s ℔ cwt. Grease Butter 40@46s ℔ cwt.

Corn Market—Since our last we have had changeable weather. In the early part of the week it was fine, and then changed to heavy rain for the past two days, which we believe has been pretty general over the country. At our Tuesday's market, prices of Wheat gave way fully 2d per 70 lbs, and Flour 6d@1s ℔ barrel, with very little business doing at the decline. At our market to-day there have been some considerable sales of Wheat at a slight improvement on Tuesday's rates, and also a moderate demand for Flour, at 3d@6d advance; so that we close about 1d per 70 lbs on Wheat, and 6d per brl on flour, lower than on this day week. Canada Peas maintain their value at 37s@37s 6d. Indian Corn in demand, at full rates.

The Ships of this Line are fitted with Emerson's Patent Ventilators and carry Francis' Metallic Life boats.

THE BALTIMORE CLIPPER BARK

INCA,

900 TONS BURTHEN,

HAVING made two successive voyages from China, each in the very short period of 101 days, has thoroughly established her reputation for fast sailing, and will be dispatched for MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA, on the 25th of August. The ships of the Pioneer Line have made remarkably quick and healthy voyages; losing only one passenger among 950 that sailed in the first five ships, whereas it appears, from the report of the Emigration Commissioners, that the mortality on board English ships to Australia has equalled 4-90 per cent. This very gratifying result shows that no care and expense have been spared in selecting, ventilating and provisioning the ships of the Pioneer Line.

The "INCA" will only carry a limited number of passengers, at as moderate rates as are consistent with justice to passengers and owners.

For Freight or Passage, apply on board, at Pier 12 E. R., or to

R. W. CAMERON, 116 Wall Street.

(Reported for the Montreal Herald.)

BY MONTREAL LINE, Office, Great St. James Street.

NEW YORK, July 30.

The steamer Franklin sailed to-day, at noon, for Southampton and Havre, with 85 passengers and $855,000 in specie.

BOSTON, July 30.

The British steamship Medea arrived here this morning, it is supposed, with despatches in connexion with the Fisheries.

A desperate encounter took place last night between the new Harbour Police and the River Thieves who had been boarding and robbing vessels at the wharves, wearing masks. The robbers were seen leaving a vessel in a boat, and were captured. They afterwards escaped and were re-captured after a desperate struggle with firearms—the robbers firing firearms and the police returning the fire without effect. The robbers were armed with six barrel revolvers. Each robber had several gold watches which he had stolen—the property was stolen from the brig Mary Wilder on Tuesday night when the Captain was put to sleep with chloroform.

WASHINGTON, July 30.

The President has concluded a contract with Clark Mills for the erection, in this city, of the statue of Geo. Washington, at a cost of $50,000.

NEW YORK MARKETS,

July 30.

Increased firmness in low grades of State and Western Flour. More doing for home and Eastern trade. Canadian quiet at $5,12; sales 5500 brls at $5@$5,25 for common to good Ohio; $4,94@$5,19 for Michigan and Indiana, and $5,12 for State.

Wheat—Less doing. The advance rates restricts the demand, and we have only to note a sale of 2300 bushels of common Canadian at $1,22, and 3000 do upper Lake at $1,06½.

Red mixed dull.

Corn better and in good demand—sales 23000 bushels at 70c@71½c for unsound; 70c@72½ for Western mixed.

Pork firm; arrivals light; sales at $15,87@15,95 for Mess; $13@13,12 for Prime.
