

HORRIBLE SLAUGHTER IN A RUSSIAN PRISON

Political Prisoners' Attempt to Attain Their Freedom

BOMB THE INCEPTION

Guards Fired Volleys into Open Windows of Jail—Many Killed and Injured.

Yekaterinoslav, May 13.—The attempt made yesterday by prisoners to break out of the Government jail here after making a breach in the wall of the guard-room with a bomb was a complete failure, but it brought about horrible scenes of slaughter in and around the jail building. Twenty-eight of the prisoners were shot to death by the guards and another of them has since died of his wounds.
Thirty others were wounded, and it is expected that several of these will succumb. As soon as the bomb was thrown, one of the detachments of the prisoners charged the guards in the court room and attempted to climb the wall. Twelve of these men were killed instantly, while others were wounded. At the same time a second body of prisoners rushed to the kitchen and seizing knives and other weapons attempted to cut their way to liberty. They were surrounded and killed to a man by the soldiers who were hastily summoned by the prison authorities. The explosion threw the whole prison into a state of panic.
The inmates who took no part in the plot gathered in the windows overlooking the court yard. They were ordered to draw back, but refused, whereupon the guards fired volleys into the windows. Two prisoners were shot down while attempting to escape over the roof of the building. So far as is known not one succeeded in getting away. The chief warden of the prison is among the wounded.

TROOPS AT QUEBEC

Stated That Total Number
Will be Only 5,000—Que-sition Up in the House.

(Special to Chronicle.)
Ottawa, May 13.—Colonel Sam Hughes, Conservative for Victoria, in the House to-day asked whether the statement was correct, as reported in the press, that volunteers were not to take part in the Tercentenary celebrations at Quebec. If it was true, was it due to the inability of the Militia Department to transport troops?
Sir Frederick Borden said it was not correct to say troops were not going to attend the Tercentenary. It was however, a fact that camps of instruction would be held as usual throughout the Dominion this year instead of being held at one common point as was proposed, namely, at or near Quebec. The annual drill of city regiments would take place as usual this year. The reason for the change in programme was chiefly due to difficulties of transportation. One of the chief points to be attained was to bring together crowds of visitors and some time ago the chairman of the Tercentenary Commission called attention to the fact that transportation lines must be left free as far as possible to handle these crowds, and asked the Militia Department not to move troops for a certain number of days before and after the celebration. As to the statement that the militia headquarters were quite unable to cope with the mobilization of 25,000 or 30,- 000 troops at a central point, that was not true. The department was able to mobilize 40,000 within a few days or a few hours at a central point such as Quebec.
It is stated to-night that the total number of troops to go to Quebec will be about five thousand, of whom twelve hundred will be of the permanent corps.

METROPOLITAN HANDICAP.

New York, May 13.—In the presence of such a throng as only a perfect day and the real opening of the Metropolitan racing season in beautiful Belmont Park could bring forth, Jack Atkin, carrying top weight, won the rich Metropolitan handicap to-day.
Restigouche, one of Chas. R. Keen's two entries, was second, while Don Creole, regarded in the betting as a rank outsider, was third. McCarter, the heavily played favorite, was no where at the finish and King Cobalt, also heavily played, brought up the rear fully twenty lengths back of the leader. The time was fast, 1:38 3-5.

WEIGHTED BODY

Elizabeth, N.J., May 13.—The heavily weighted body of a man was taken from the water near a coal wharf here to-day. Around the waist had been fastened 75 pounds of pig iron and across the chest was a heavy iron bar. Apparently the man's death occurred several months ago as the body was in such condition that identification seems impossible.

MEETING OF DIRECTORS OF LA BANQUE ST. JEAN

Decided to Ask Court for Appointment of Liquidator

FACTS DIFFICULT TO GET

Hon. Mr. Roy's Replies Regarding Specific Transactions Were Unsatisfactory.

St. Johns, P.Q., May 13.—At a meeting of the board of directors of La Banque St. Jean, held at the bank building, it was decided to ask the court to appoint a liquidator for the formal winding up of the bank's affairs. Mr. Tancredi Blevins, the curator, and Mr. John Knight, Secretary of the Bankers' Association, were present, and took part in the discussion of the condition of the bank's affairs. Hon. Mr. Roy was present, and was asked questions regarding specific transactions, but his replies were unsatisfactory. Finally it was decided that no amount of effort on the part of the directors, Mr. Blevins or Mr. Knight, would result in getting at the facts, and a resolution was therefore passed by which it was decided that the ninety day clause of the banking act should be waived and a requisition be made to the court to appoint a liquidator at once. The appointment of the liquidator will be left to the board of directors and will leave the affairs of the bank in the hands of one man who will have control of the winding up. The statement, which is in course of preparation, was said to show that out of the realized assets the circulation and the preferential claim of the Province for a deposit will be paid with a small percentage of the deposits, in addition to whatever may be collected from the shareholders.
As to what the depositors will eventually get is merely a matter of guess work and ranges from fifteen to fifty per cent. An illustration of how things are tied up in family connections is given in case of the St.
Cesaire Hydraulic Company.
It is nearly two years ago since the company's effects were sold by sheriff's sale. There were three purchasers, two of them bought movables for sums aggregating $5,000, which sum was paid, and a third man named Bosquet bought the actual works for $15,300.
Bosquet's bondsmen were Ph. Roy, C.
S. Roy and J. C. Poulin. The St.
Cesaire Hydraulic then became the property of the Roy family and an effort was made to make it a paying institution. The failure to do this is another chapter in the long story which may be told when investigation lays bare the bank's inner secrets, but the effort of the sheriff to collect the $15,300 is now one of the most interesting of the topics of street discussions. In case of failure, the sheriff announced that he would not wait any longer for the payment of the money, and would re-sell and call upon the bondsmen for the difference, should the institution fail. The failure to do this the property was sold to Bosquet. In default of the payment of this sum the law provided for imprisonment of the bondsmen. Hon. Ph. Roy was of course the man to whom direct notice was given, and the sheriff then found that exception was taken to the curator's fee in the settlement of the estate previous to the sheriff's sale, and that an appeal from the amount had been ended in court. Thus the settlement of the $15,300 is still a long way off.

HE SIGNED RETURNS

Handwriting of Dredging Inspector Resembled That of Scow Captain.

Ottawa, May 13.—In the Public Accounts Committee this morning, D.
Williams, a Government inspector of dredging at Collingwood, was subjected to a severe examination by Mr.
Bennett. He claimed that he signed all the returns, in spite of the strong resemblance pointed out by Mr. Bennett between some of the signatures and the handwriting of Mr. Rodgers, a captain of one of the boats, but the witness maintained that the writing was his own.
Mr. Williams was asked what he meant by the word "allowed," which appears on a number of his returns, and which had excited the curiosity of the members of the committee. He insisted that it did not mean that the scows did not have the actual quantity required, but beyond this he made no explanation.

CANDIDATE FOR OTTAWA.

Ottawa, Ont., May 13.—At a large attended Conservative convention held in Hull this afternoon, Dr. Ouimet was chosen as the Conservative standard-bearer for the County of Ottawa in the coming Quebec provincial elections. Dr. Ouimet is a resident of Hull and is a son of the late Hon. Gedeon Ouimet, who was premier of Quebec from 1878 till 1882.

WILL LAURIER DISSOLVE PARLIMENT

Question Eagerly Debated at Ottawa Last Night

THE TREASURY IS EMPTY

And Conservatives Have Refused Point Blank to Accept Laurier's Concessions on Election Law.

(Special to the Chronicle)
Ottawa, May 13.—The Wednesday evening recess gave abundant opportunity to the politicians to discuss the situation. In the sitting rooms of the House, in the hotel lobbies and at every place where men congregate, the important question tonight is "Will the Government dissolve Parliament?"
Conservatives to-day point blank refused to accept Laurier's concessions regarding the election law on the ground that they were absolutely meaningless, and leave the lists in the Western Provinces in the hands of partisan revisers. A truce has been declared until Monday, when the Premier will give his final decision. Meanwhile the Treasury is empty and at present there are no salaries forthcoming for the civil service.

STEEL & COAL CASE

Significant Move Made by the Dominion Steel Co. for Postponement.

Montreal, May 13.—It is announced that the members of the judicial committee of the Privy Council will not be called upon to hear the famous steel and coal case, which was to have come before the highest court of the Empire, before October, even if the case ever gets to the Privy Council at all. The announcement is officially made that the lawyers of the Dominion Steel Company have applied to the Privy Council to have the case postponed until the October term, and this move will ensure to the Coal Company the increased price now being received for their coal until well on in the fall. Should this cause celebre remain in litigation it is not at all probable there will be any opposition to this significant move of their opponents. This is one of the most important moves that have been made since the commencement of the long drawn out litigation between the big corporations, and its significance will be fully appreciated by the legal, finance and commercial community.

Q. O. C. H. REGIMENT

Have Fine Turnout—New Officer Attached to the Corps.

What was described as the best turnout for the present season of that crack corps, the Q.O.C.H., took place in the Drill Hall last evening. Lieut.
Col. Ashmead in command. The initial part of the drill took the form of troop drill and skirmishing. The regimental band was in attendance, and the corps practiced a march past.
Regimental orders were read for the promotions of the different troopers.
Lieut. J. L. Strong, of the Second Dragoons, Bramford, Ont., has been attached to the regiment. This gentleman qualified at the Royal School of Cavalry, Toronto, and is a very capable and efficient officer and will prove a valuable acquisition to the regiment.
The regiment will hold a church parade on Sunday next at 10.15 a.m. when a large turnout is expected.

COMING TO TIME

Opposition Forcing Concessions from Government on Election Bill.

Ottawa, May 13.—Yesterday Sir Wilfrid Laurier hung out the white flag.
Slowly but surely the Government is giving way to the steady untiring attack of the Opposition regarding the Aylesworth Bill. The capitulation is not yet complete, but the members on the left, after seven days of inching of the keenest order, have victory almost within their grasp. The end is in sight. The white flag was hoisted by Sir Wilfrid in a speech bristling with his old-time cleverness, and tricked with all the arts of graceful oratory of which he is an admitted master.
But the white flag was not waived aloft. It was carefully concealed, except for fleeting moments.
The Prime Minister made his retreat in good order, but it was a retreat nevertheless. First of all he has verbally consented to permit the allocation of voters in constituencies where there is an overlapping of provincial and federal polling districts to be in the hands of county court judges.
Then he acceded to the revision of the lists by judges, and, lastly, but not least, he will invite the cooperation of the Opposition to conserve the secrecy of the ballot.
In view of the strong stand of Mr.
Aylesworth a week ago, these concessions are tantamount to the Prime Minister once more going over the head of the minister.

MR. LASCELLES SPOKE OF COMING PAGEANTS

An Inspiration from the Great Romantic Past

WHAT A PAGEANT IS

History of a Form of Celebration which is Old Yet New—Striking Scenes in Canada's Making

There was but a feeble rally of citizens to the call for a public meeting at the Court House last evening to hear from Mr. Lascelles, Master of the Pageants, further details with regard to these historical representations. This was due, no doubt, to the rather brief and insufficient notice.
This fact was most regrettable, as Mr. Lascelles delivered a most lucid and interesting exposition of the coming Pageants.
Dr. Verge presided, and introduced the speaker, who, in his own gifted manner, delivered himself in the following terms:—
Gentlemen, I am very glad to have an opportunity of meeting you here this evening to tell you something as to the details of the work that we all have before us, in the great festivity which this ancient city of Quebec has in hand this coming summer.
The eyes of the world, as we know, will be turned in a few weeks' time upon this city, of which you are all so proud, and there is no time to be lost in getting to work with a will;
in order that you may show to the hundreds of thousands of men and women of the old countries who will throng within your gates, that the fame of this city, the story of its hospitality, its beauty and its charm have not been overrated and that amongst these festivities stand those great and dramatic scenes, in which you will show forth to the world what great things were done in the days of old, and how filled with romance and chivalry of old France is every page of your history.
It is no mere spectacular or theatrical performance which you are going to organize or in which you are going to take part. It is a great historical representation, which will leave its mark on time, and will be remembered as one of the great things which were done in Quebec in this generation.
It will give a keener interest to the study of your great beginnings, it will show forth in flesh and blood before you the great men and women whose deeds of bravery and heroic suffering have made this country what it is.
It will show the noble hearted ideas which prompted the pioneers in their pilgrimage from old France and will make all Canada realize that here in this ancient city, this city set upon a rock, was the cradle and birth-place of their great country.
And the world is prepared to honor your festivities as few festivities have been honored before.
The heir to the throne of your mighty empire is coming to show his respect to the memory of the great founder of Canada, Samuel de Champlain.
The soldiers and battleships of three great nations which were once at war, will come to show how much greater and more powerful is peace, and side by side in this city where once all three were at enmity, will march the representatives of America, of England and of France.
But, gentlemen, the summer is drawing on and our time is short. It is for you and me (and I am proud to remember that like so many of you I have the honorable blood of old France in my veins) to see that all our preparations are made and that nothing is wanted to make this coming Tercentenary celebration as great an actual spectacle as it is an inspiration from a great and romantic past.
It is a striking fact and one on which you are undoubtedly to be congratulated that you should have been chosen to commemorate the three hundredth year of your foundation by a form of celebration which is new and yet old. A form which sets out with all the charms that a beautiful situation, a great history and a chival-rous and a poetic minded population can give—a country's history.
It will enable the youth of this country to realize better than they have ever done before, the greatness of your national history. It will show forth with all the adjuncts of archeological accuracy, beautiful color, stately ceremonial and the sweet tones of music, the great events that you have to remember. And it is of the form of this presentation and the method of its production that I want particularly to speak this evening.
What is a pageant? I have often heard during these last few weeks.
Now, I will tell you what it is, and what with your help this will be.
Long ago in the early days of the Catholic Church, the clergy realized that the story of our redemption would be more easily impressed on the minds of those who were unlearned by giving them some ocular demonstration of the great scenes of the Church's history; hence arose up the mystery and miracle plays of the mediaeval church, performed often in the parishes themselves, later in the church yards and then on movable cars which paraded the streets. Gradually with the growth of heresy the religious aspect of these processions changed, and throughout the continent these religious processions had become secularized and the word pageant was used to represent a symbolic procession through the streets.
These pageantries were popular for many years and survived in a very modified form even until recently in the parades themselves and make-believe of a London Lord Mayor's show. But during the last three years a New Art has arisen, which although it has the name "pageant" is more nearly allied to the early endeavors of the Church, than to the later theatrical show and

The Quebec Chronicle

QUEBEC, MAY 14, 1908.

WORTH CONSIDERING.

In his speech to the Conservative gathering at St. Martin on Sunday last, the leader of the Opposition, Hon. Mr. LeBlanc, recalled a certain episode in the general elections in 1904. At that time Hon. Mr. Gouin was campaigning in St. John's, and declaring the government of Mr. Parent to be immaculate, and that gentleman to be the greatest statesman ever known in the Province. Elsewhere Hon. Messrs. Turgeon and Weir were following on the same lines, and asking the electorate to support the Government on its clean and honorable record, exactly as these same gentlemen, Hon. Messrs. Gouin, Turgeon and Weir are doing now. Apparently they were given credence by the people; at any rate the result is well known in the return of the Parent Government to power supported by an overwhelming majority. A few weeks later a very remarkable thing happened. Messrs. Gouin, Turgeon and Weir suddenly discovered that they had been mistaken, and had, inadvertently, of course, been deceiving the people. Mr. Parent's government was not the ideal Government they had represented it to be in the heat of the campaign; very far from it; it was, not to put too fine a point upon it, such atrocious misgovernment that they could not conscientiously give it their support, so even countenance it by remaining members of the Cabinet. Therefore they resigned, or as some would put it less euphemistically, "bolted," and the great and good Parent Government "non erat inventus," it was a thing of the past, and Messrs. Gouin, Turgeon and Weir set up another Nebuchadnezzar's statue in its stead.

Mr. LeBlanc, taking what would naturally be the general view of this proceeding, said that these gentlemen had stabbed Mr. Parent in the back and taken his place, and that the people of this province never would condone treachery. Neither Liberals nor Conservatives in this province were admirers of the policy of "the knife for our friends," and this seems to have been the private opinion of Mr. Parent himself, and of those who remained loyal to him, judging by the libel suits, and rumors of libel suits that were about in those days. But, is it not possible that this is too harsh and hasty a judgment? That there was no deliberate treachery; no intention of using Mr. Parent's name to draw out the electoral chestnut from the electoral fire with the ultimate design of profiting by them for their own personal consumption? Is it not possible that Hon. Messrs. Gouin, Turgeon, and Weir, honestly conceived the Parent Government to be "all their fancy painted" it previous to the elections, and just as honestly discovered that it was quite the reverse and unfit to command the support of honorable men after the elections? In other words, that they were deceived themselves, quite as much as deceivers of the electorate? There is no Christianity in politics, otherwise we should say that the public was bound in Christian charity to give them the benefit of the doubt. Treachery to one's friends, and treason to one's leader are grave political crimes which should not rashly be charged against any, if a milder explanation is reasonably possible.

But then note carefully the logical deduction which follows from this hypothesis. If the judgment of Messrs. Gouin, Turgeon and Weir was so unreliable respecting the merits of Mr. Parent's Government, will it not be still more unreliable respecting the merits of their own? We are all apt to magnify our own virtues, and to be lenient to what we term peccadilloes in ourselves, but should not hesitate to call vices in others, and it would be preposterous to suppose that the present Provincial Cabinet is so much above the level of ordinary men as to be exempt from this failing. The very strong presumption, therefore, is that if Messrs. Gouin, Turgeon and Weir were the victims of a strong delusion, (prior to the elections) concerning the qualities of the Parent administration, with which they had ample facilities for becoming intimately acquainted, they are now laboring under a similarly strong delusion, (also prior to the elections) with regard to their own. Self-praise is never the best kind of praise at any time, it is less so than ever now when the public remembers how mistaken these gentlemen turned out to be, according to their own account, when they landed the Parent Government and will suspect that they are still more mistaken now when they land their own. Supposing that the Gouin Government should be returned to power in June, what security has the public that a few weeks afterwards, three or four members of the Cabinet will not suddenly discover that the same mistake which was made about the Parent Government has been repeated with respect to that of Mr. Gouin, that it is really not a government, but a misgovernment.

WEST ELGIN AGAIN.

The bye-election in the County of Stanstead, which was held a few months ago, and resulted in the return of the government candidate, Mr. Lovell, son of the former member, by a majority of upwards of four hundred votes, was a great surprise to all who knew the electoral conditions in that county, and there was a very general talk of widespread corruption and fraud which resulted in a protest being entered. In the course of the proceedings it was necessary to produce in court the poll-books, and other records of the election, but when search was made for them in the Ottawa office where they ought to have been, it was found that they had disappeared completely. They had been in the custody of the clerk in chancery, an officer who died recently, and whose integrity is unimpeachable, and afterwards of Mr. J. G. Foley, who was appointed in his place, and who had nothing to do with the ballots and papers until he was summoned to take them to Stanstead for the election trial. Then he took down the package and found that the ballots for 1904 and the documents for the year, had been placed in the box and that those for 1908 were missing. Diligent search went to show that they had now been mislaid, and the only solution of the riddle is that they have been burned. Nobody attaches blame to the officials, but the documents were so loosely kept that they were easy of access to others, and it would seem that they have been obtained surreptitiously and destroyed after the death of Mr. Lamothe. It was known that the Stanstead trial was coming on, and the fact is recalled that when it was found necessary to trace the West Elgin election steal there was a disappearance of ballots from the Ross Government office where they belonged, and it was finally admitted that this valuable evidence had been burned—by mistake of course. To complete the parallel the same excuse is now being put forward at Ottawa. It would not be a bad thing if Mr. Aylesworth should insert a clause in his election bill providing that when documents essential to the trial of contested election cases are, from any cause, not to be come at, the election should be held over again. Meanwhile it looks as if the Ross machine had been transplanted to Ottawa.

THE C.C.S. MONTREAL.

"A thing of beauty," says the poet, "is a joy forever"; that may be the rule, but there are exceptions, and one of these is that famous addition to the Canadian "navy," the ice-breaker Montreal. Instead of being a joy forever, she is just the reverse, and a continual source of expense. Last winter when she should have been breaking ice she was laid up in dock undergoing repairs, and the other day, after she had got out, she placed herself in the path of a C. P. R. steamer which almost cut her in two. Happily the bottom of the river was not far off, and we are glad to learn from the reply to a question asked in the House of Commons the other day, that care will be taken to recover her precious $2,758 fitting-room outfit of silver and cut glass, including the three fruit stands, cost $148.50; six dish covers, $118; two coffee pots, $46; four milk jugs, $68; two sugar bowls, $54; fish cutters, $6; nut crackers, $27; ice pitchers, $61; cherry, ruby hock and champagne glasses, 18 dozen, $125.14, and game carvers, $60.61. As an ice-breaker, the Montreal may not be a success, but as a banquet room she has still a great future before her.

THE SAGUENAY PEOPLE AND THE TRANS-CANADA.

The people of the Saguenay and Lake St. John districts have been having an anxious time on railroad matters. For years they have cherished the idea that the Saguenay is the natural outlet not only of the James Bay country, but also eventually of the great Northwest, to which it offers the shortest route to the Atlantic. These ambitions have been played upon by politicians and deferred by means of rival charters and endless promises, until at last the Saguenay people begin to fear that they are being tricked, and that they are in danger of losing control of their natural back country, through the building of rival lines from the St. Maurice Valley or from the Transcontinental Railway. And these fears are not without foundation, because a very determined effort is being made to reach James Bay by a line from Temiscaming which would parallel the Ontario Government railway on the boundary line between the two provinces, and would thus be of very little use for the development of the Province of Quebec. Hence the Saguenay District Board of Trade, a very powerful and representative organization, daily increasing in numbers and influence, has sounded the note of alarm, and at a general meeting held at Roberval last week, at which there was a very large attendance from all parts of the district, this important question was vigorously discussed, and the following resolutions were unanimously adopted with great enthusiasm:—

"Resolved, That the Saguenay Board of Trade learns with great pleasure that the Trans-Canada Railway Company has concluded an arrangement with a strong contractor for the construction of thirty miles of its railway from Roberval, through St. Prime and St. Felicien to Chute à l'Ours, and that the said contractor is ready to push the work forward as soon as the Federal and Provincial Governments shall have consented to transfer to the company the subsidies already voted for this distance; and the Board of Trade learns with pleasure that the said contractor has also undertaken to build the road to Chibougamau as soon as the subsidies are voted for this distance. It is therefore resolved that as the construction of this railway and the great expenditure of money which must necessarily result, will be of incalculable value to the Saguenay region, the Board of Trade earnestly requests that the Federal and Provincial Governments shall without delay, place the subsidies already voted at the disposition of the Trans-Canada Railway Company, and that copies of this resolution be sent by the Secretary to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, to Hon. Lomer Gouin, to Mr. Jos. Girard, M.P., and to Mr. Geo. Tangay, M.P.P."

Fat Defeating Extraordinary

MARGARET KNOLLY.

"SLENDER Margaret Knolly now, if you please. The fascinating leading lady of the Bijou, now more fascinating than ever, astonished all her friends on Broadway the other day by presenting to their admiring gaze a sleek and willowy form in place of the plump, not to say fat, outlines with which she graced away to new triumphs and foreign shores last January. After a good deal of diplomatic cross-examination from interested fat acquaintances the secret was cautiously whispered to a few dear friends, with the result that everybody knows it now. It was not exercise, nor fasting, nor sea air, nor worry about her new venture that had brought about this wonderful willowy change in the charming Margaret; no, none of these; nothing but a simple mixture which all druggists are familiar with and can supply at small cost, to wit: One half ounce Marmola, 4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 44 ounces of Syrup Simplex. "Grown folks need a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime," explained the now slender Margaret. It is simply wonderful. It takes off the fat quickly, as much as a pound a day, and keeps it off. You can eat what you like, too. In that respect it is unlike anything of the kind I ever heard of, and, besides, it has another splendid feature—it is entirely harmless and will not cause wrinkles. I think it is about as essential a toilet article for the woman who is fat and wants to get thinner as face powder. In order to get the best results, however, you should buy the Marmola in the original package and mix it with the other two ingredients after you get home.

A FRIEND'S COUNSEL.

While we cannot too strongly prize the quality of self-reliance, which is so highly valued to-day, we lose a great deal when we allow it to crowd out the faithful counsel of a loving friend. This counsel is the one part of friendship that we imagine we can most easily dispense with. We prize our friend's affection, sympathy, and good fellowship, and are often eager for his help in various ways; but, when he offers counsel, however much we may need it, we are apt to fancy that he is assuming a superiority of judgment or intruding upon our affairs, and we either openly resent or silently disregard it. The consequence is that our friend shrinks from offering what is so lightly esteemed, and modern friendship is thus bereft of one of its most valuable results. It is true that advice of a certain kind is plentiful and cheap; it is often given without wisdom, discretion, or tact, and is deserving of no better reception than it receives. But the course of true friendship is of a very different type. It is not the idle and officious utterance of one who cares less for our interests than for the sound of his own voice, but the deliberate and thoughtful opinion of one who truly desires our best welfare.

POLITICAL GOSSIPCandidates Being Rapidly Chosen—Want Bourassa in Quebec County.

The work of selecting candidates to represent the Conservative party in the coming elections is going on briskly in the various constituencies. In Two Mountains, Mr. Arthur Sauve, Editor of Le Canadien, has been chosen and will at once inaugurate a vigorous campaign. Among the other Conservative candidates recently formally chosen are Mr. A. Bellevue in Champlain, Mr. J. Sylvestre in Montcalm, Mr. H. Desrosiers in Chateauguay, and Mr. Alf. Labelle in Tamaqua.

Hon. G. A. Nantel, ex-minister of public works, in the DeBoucherville Cabinet, has been chosen as the Opposition standard-bearer at the convention at St. Jerome. Mr. Nantel states that he had never entered a campaign with such hopes of success as on the present occasion. He will return at once to the county and on Sunday next at Ste. Therese the first gun of the campaign will be fired when he will address the electors.

On the night following the conservative meeting at the Monument National (the 19th) of the month, Hon. Lomer Gouin will speak in the same hall surrounded by his standard-bearers and leading supporters of the city and district of Montreal. The statement is made that Mr. Gouin will make some announcements of interest to the city and he will, of course, reply to the speech to be delivered by the opposition leader the night before, and also to Mr. L. P. Pelletier's speech at St. Henedine.

Mr. C. W. Stephens has addressed a letter to the electors of St. Lawrence division announcing his decision not to become a candidate in the coming election.

La Presse, in announcing Mr. Bourassa's resignation from the secretaryship of the Sauvegarde Life Insurance Company, states that it was hoped for since a long time by the company, and in doing so is very unjust towards the Nationalist leader. As a matter of fact, the company offered to increase Mr. Bourassa's stipend a thousand dollars a year if he would remain with it. Yet he considered it his duty to resign.

Requisitions are being signed in the County of Quebec, according to L'Eveque's statement, asking Mr. H. Bourassa to become a candidate against Mr. Cyr. Delage, and they are stated to be filling up rapidly.

It was stated yesterday that if Mr. Fleury, nominated by the Opposition in Brome, Mr. F. W. Vilas, ex-M.L.A., will abandon the field, and that a French Canadian candidate will replace him in the fight. Several names are already mentioned as probable standard bearers.

There is stated to be a strong feeling among the Liberal electors of Portneuf to have Premier Gouin contest that constituency. The Premier is a native of that county.

At a meeting of electors of Lake St. John, held at Roberval, Mr. T. L. A. Brost was selected to contest the division in the Liberal interest in succession to Mr. Geo. Tanguay, the present member, who is retiring.

LAWYER LEVESQUE TO OPPOSE HENRI PETIT AT THE COMING ELECTION.

Chicoutimi, 13th May, 1908. At a largely attended meeting of the citizens of Chicoutimi, at which were present many persons from outside villages, Lawyer Elzeir Levesque was chosen to oppose the present member of the local House, H. Petit, Esq., M.P.P., in the counties of Chicoutimi and Saguenay, at the coming elections. Lawyer Levesque is a native of Chicoutimi and also as town councillor he has made many friends in the town. He is also well and favorably known throughout the country. At the two last elections Mr. Petit was elected by acclamation, Mr. Levesque is representing as an Independent.

DROWNING CASE IN BEAUCE.
News comes from St. George, Beauce, of a sad drowning accident some days ago in the St. John River, at a place called the "Beggars' Hole." A man engaged in driving logs, W. J. Noble, was the victim. His body was recovered a few minutes later and taken to St. George, from whence it was sent to Bangor, Maine, his home. Deceased was 30 years of age, married and father of one child.

QUEER NAVIGATIONEngineer of Wrecked Government Steamer Chalked Signals on a Post.

Montreal, May 13.—Judgment on the Montcalm-Milwaukee collision investigation will be given by Commander Spain before the end of this week, the Commander making that announcement yesterday afternoon, when all necessary evidence was concluded and the legal arguments heard before the Wreck Commissioners' Court. This means that the captain of the Milwaukee will know the terms of the judgment before sailing from port on Saturday.

Some curious revelations were made in the afternoon as to how signals to the engine room were recorded on the Government boat. These came out during the examination of the engineer in charge of the Montcalm's engine room at the time of the collision. His name was Mathias Roy, known as third engineer. He stated that he held a certificate as fourth engineer, which, however, he could not produce in court. He admitted that his former occupation was that of greaser on board the Aberdeen.

Just before the Montcalm engineer's testimony, Chief Engineer Craig, of the Milwaukee, had given an explanation of how signals were recorded in the latter steamer's engine room. On the C.P.R. boat a special man was kept beside the telegraph apparatus for the purpose of chalking records of signals on a blackboard, to be later inscribed in the log book, already exhibited in court.

After this came the evidence of Engineer Mathias Roy, of the Montcalm. At the time of the shock, he said, his engines were set full speed astern. They had been so set for seven or eight "minutes," he said.

There was a general laugh in the court room.

Asked to bear out his assertion as to time, he produced a "small crumpled piece of paper. It was on such a piece of paper, he said, that he generally recorded the engine movements. On the paper in question there was a series of figures.

"I can't make head or tail of this," muttered Commander Spain, after studying the exhibit for several moments and trying to make a calculation of his own from it.

"Better put it in a museum," exclaimed one of the C.P.R. counsel.

Witness, cross-examined by Mr. Meredith, said he thought his engines had been set seven or eight minutes astern, but he could not state exactly what portion of this time was before or after the collision.

Mr. Meredith—"What is the beginning and what is the end of this paper?" showing the crumpled exhibit. "There are two sides to it."

Engineer Roy explained that part of the paper on which the engine movements were recorded contained a private memorandum, which had nothing to do with the engine.

When further pressed by Mr. Meredith, witness said that he did not immediately record engine signals on pieces of paper like the one in question, for as each signal was given he was accustomed to mark it on a nearby post, and afterwards he copied the memoranda so recorded.

He could not say whether or not the engineer's log book had been lost.

Mr. Meredith—"Where do you make out from this paper that the engines had moved back seven or eight minutes?"

Witness—"I cannot remember. I did not mark it down."

Mr. Meredith—"How is it that you have a paper for the night of May 7th, which only gives a certain number of your engine movements at that time?"

Roy answered that it was only in case he should be asked for the date of the accident that he had made the memorandum in question.

Subsequent examination showed that there was no recorded movements of engines before 9:40 o'clock on the night of the collision. The explanation of this from the witness was that he was not on duty before that time.

Mr. Pelletier, one of the Government counsel, suggested that as the times marked on the paper exhibited were taken from the engine room clock, there might be differences between the time of that clock and the one in the wheel-house. Witness said that there was a difference.

Captain Belanger, of the Montcalm, who was in court during the former evidence, was subsequently brought into the box and asked by Mr. Pelletier if there was not a difference between the time of the engine room clock and that of other timepieces on board. The captain said that there was a marked difference, the engine room clock having a tendency to go much faster than the others.

Mr. Meredith—"Are you prepared to swear that the engine room clock was fast or slow on the night of the accident?"

Capt. Belanger admitted that he was not, and further admitted that on the night in question he did not go down to the engine room to inspect the clock in question.

The next witness was Fourth Engineer Hartge, of the Milwaukee, who held no certificate, but whose duties were to record signals in the engine room. He was standing by the telegraph at the time of the accident. Just before feeling the shock of the collision he had written the order: "Full speed astern" on the blackboard. The engines had been set full speed astern about half a minute before the shock.

Mr. Meredith then presented his arguments on behalf of the C.P.R. boat. He did not see how there could be any possible blame attached to the Milwaukee. However, he would apply each rule of the road to the case. Sup-bright idea.

It looks also likely that Laurier will have to do some tall running in his endeavor to get clear of the Conservative opposition.

And the drums will beat,
And the trumpets bray,
And we'll have some music
In the month of May;
We'll toddle away,
On the Terrace so gay,
To the strains of the good old

OF COMING PAGEANT

productions which have borne its name.

Quite quietly at first, and on a small scale, the modern pageant was evoluted. A few hundreds of people in various small towns in England took part in folk plays, semi-historical comedies or tragedies as the case might be.
Gradually they increased in size until I had the honor of reproducing for my old university of Oxford a history of its foundation and development, which I decided should have nothing in common with a stage play, but should reproduce as nearly as possible, as closely as the greatest historians could reproduce for me the details, some of the stirring scenes in the great history of the past.

To aid in the artistic ensemble of the scene, I called in the great musicians of the day, the great artists and the archeologists, so that in place of the simple folk play, the little acted dialogue and the home made costumes of the amateur, we should blend the greatest beauty and perfection in the music, color, and dress with the most precise and learned historical and archeological accuracy.

For the first time in history some four thousand persons took part in this revivification of the past, and (while small pageants at Chelsea, Cheltenham, Dover, Bury, Warwick and Ripon keep the local interest alive throughout England) in the summer of next year I produce in London, the great capital of this Empire, with the greatest musicians, artists and historians at my side, and 15,000 performers to take part, the greatest spectacle of this kind ever seen.

And here at Quebec, you have an opportunity, (for which I shall strain every nerve of my being to see that we avail ourselves in full) of reproducing a spectacle on a site which I have no hesitation in saying is one of the finest in the world, the banks of the River St. Lawrence.

On the corner of the Plains of Abraham with the grounds of Marchmont on the right and the river flowing beyond and below, a grand stand is already in course of erection, which will seat many thousands of onlookers; and on the broad stretch in front of it, between the grand stand and the river, will be reproduced with as great exactitude as possible the stirring scenes of early days which have been chosen by your historical committee.

It is hardly necessary for me now to go into details of the great scenes to be reproduced. I hope to have an opportunity very soon, if you can arrange it, to go piece by piece, detail by detail, through all the scenes and explain to the general public their scope.

Briefly, we shall see as the strains of the overture die away a group of wigwags set beneath the trees and a wild Indian dance in progress on the banks. Jacques Cartier comes in sight with his crew and plants in the earth in the midst of the assembled Indians, the mighty cross which bears the golden lilies and the arms of France.

After a scene which will recall as vividly as history can help us to do the actual progress of events, he reads to the crowded savages, grouped on the banks of the river, as he did nearly four hundred years ago, the familiar words of the Holy Gospel of St.
John. Then down he goes to the river to embark on the ship which is to bring him back to France.

So the French pioneers and the Indians pass out of view and we are transported in our imagination to the court of France. The same green-sward is under foot and the same sky is over head, but the strains of music and groups of gay courtiers show us that the scene is no longer a wild village on cliffs at the river side, but that this is the court of Francois Premier at Fontainebleau.

In great state, he rides at the head of his cavalcade and Cartier, who has returned from his voyage to the west, is brought before him and tells him of his wanderings, and presents some Indians whom he has brought back with him from the New World.

Then the scene shifts away and the scene changes again. Once more we are at the Court of France, but here it is the court assembled at the Louvre and a throne is set up in the centre and tapestry unfolded round, while gorgeous halberdiers keep guard. The court of Henry IV. has succeeded that of Francis I.; resplendent in satins and silks of many colors, the ladies and gentlemen troop in. A minstrel is danced before the King, who arrives in state, and to a young man, who stands at the foot of the throne, is given a commission to set out where Cartier had gone before, and Champlain receives his orders from the King.

Then back the next scene brings us to the little village of Stadacona, and Champlain with his girl wife is received with wonder by the savages.

When the years again pass by, and Champlain and his wife are long since dead, Stadacona has become Quebec and the populace has increased to over 200. The Governor, Montmagny, goes down with his guard and receives the gentle and holy mother Marie and the ladies from old France who have given up their lives to bring the name of Christ to the new country. She teaches the little children the Bible stories that were taught to each of us at our mother's knee, and the scene passes on.

A fort is being defended by 17 brave young Frenchmen against the hordes of Iroquois, and the flying arrows, the awful war-whoops and final burning of the fort, recall to us scenes of the terrors and martyrdoms through which our forefathers had to pass.

Then the ashes of the little fort are swept aside and the sound of chanting falls upon our ears. The great archbishop and patriot, the saintly Mgr. de Laval, surrounded with all the stately ceremony of our dear mother church comes down to meet the representatives of the King who resplendent among his courtiers and his nobles pays reverent homage to the church.

Then in the presence of the fur traders and the merchants Daumont de Saint-Lauson takes possession in the King's name of the country of the west and later on the brave Frontenac gives his answer, "at the mouth of my guns," to the demands of Philip.

Last scene of all, side by side, shoulder to shoulder, French and English together, victors both, in one great parade of honor, march our brave heroes of the past.

The river, the mighty battlefields boom as an inspiration to the world. In the centre Jacques Cartier, with his cross, Champlain, Mother Marie, Dal-lard, Monsigneur de Raval, Daumont de Saint-Lauson, Frontenac and many

A Lazy Liver

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as a savage thing to beat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to lash it with strong drastic drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with over work. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active.
Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the deflection of other organs.

If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, dependent, frequent headaches, pain in or distressing "small of back," gnawing or distressing "small of back," perhaps nausea, or "water brash" in the throat after eating, and kindred symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or effectively than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.
Perhaps only a part of the above symptoms will be present at one time and yet point to torpid liver or biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all hot bread and biscuits, griddle cakes and other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to it until you are vigorous and strong.

The "Discovery" is a non-secret, non-alcoholic, is a glyceric extract of active medicinal roots with a full list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Its ingredients are endorsed and extolled by the most eminent medical writers of the day and are recommended to cure the diseases for which it is advised.

Don't accept a substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

more, without number, and beyond the soldiers of three great nations sent to do honor to the living descendants of these brave men; while below, on the river, the might battlefields boom out in a salute, with all the assembled multitude, to the Past, the Present and the Future of Canada, the golden granary of the world.

So, all too briefly, a few words as to the scenes. Now as to our work.
The ladies, as you know, are hard at work on their costumes, and soon the list of their performers will be filled.
The gentlemen's costumes, the uniforms of the military, sketches of which have been sought out with greatest care, are being made, every one of them here at your door in Quebec.
Now it remains to us (and to you, gentlemen, in particular, as a performers' committee on which I greatly rely) to see that the ranks of our heroes of old are all filled up.

It is a noble opportunity and a great honor we have, to which each true citizen will look back with pleasure in the days to come, the great opportunity of presenting in flesh and blood our great ancestors of the past.

No one is too old and no one is too young, no one is too rich and no one is too poor to take part. It is a duty of every man, woman and child to see that the history of the past does not suffer at the hands of the present for lack of patriotic citizens.

No one can claim that they have not time. The performances will never take place till five in the afternoon, and if any man cannot get off his work in time, I cannot help thinking that you, gentlemen of the committee, will not appeal in vain to the patriotism and civic enthusiasm of the great employers, all of whom I am well aware desire from the bottom of their hearts that the good name of their fair city shall be enhanced.

No one can claim that are too poor for dresses will be provided for those who otherwise would be prevented from taking part, and babies in arms, who in days to come will be told of the great events in which they took part, and old men and women past three score years and ten, who may never see another festival, each will have their part.

Remember no one is too busy, no one too poor, no one too rich, no one too young, no one too old to take part in your great festival of thanksgiving for the glories of 300 years and to impersonate his forefather of those far off days.

The five performances on July 24th, 25th, 27th, 29th, 31st, will begin at 5 and end at 7. Everyone taking part can come through the streets in his historical costumes, through those streets which will be decorated with the emblems of Old France. The four full dress rehearsals (July 14th, 16th, 18th, 21st) will be at the same time and an opportunity will be given the school children and the poorest all to be present. Each person will take part in one scene only beside the grand finale, and on the great Champlain day (Thursday, July 23) those who wish (and I hope they will be many) will pass in a great parade of honor before the Primer of Wales standing at the foot of Champlain's monument.

The speech undoubtedly sounded the proper chord, for Mr. Lascelles, as he resumed his seat, was greeted by the earnest applause of all present.

Mr. Lascelles, in reply to questions from different gentlemen, stated that the rehearsals would commence toward the middle of June, and would start at 7 o'clock or later in the evening, each evening to be devoted to one scene. Costumes will be provided and participants desiring to retain them as souvenirs of the occasion would be permitted to purchase them.

Remarks followed from Ald. Cannon, Hon. Chas. Langelier, J. B. Morrisette, Ald. Pouliot, M. Monaghan, Jos.
Dussault, and Neville Belleau, the tenor of which was that public meetings should be called both in St.
Roch's and Upper Town, to be addressed by prominent men, who would arouse the enthusiasm of the public, which was an absolute necessity for its ultimate success. Recruiting offices, where intending participants might register their names, was another suggestion. Both of these will be acted upon and a monster public meeting called as early as possible.
