Dedicated Foreign Minister

Israel Pays A Double Price For Western Friendship — Golda Meir

Record Publisher John Bassett with Mrs. Golda Meir, Israel Foreign Minister, in her office. "Her life is one of complete dedication," Mr. Bassett writes.

By JOHN BASSETT
Publisher of the Record

JERUSALEM — Israel pays a double price for its strong friendship with the West, Mrs. Golda Meir, former Milwaukee school teacher and this country's dynamic Foreign Minister, told me in a private interview in her simple office at the ministry.

She said that because of Israel's adherence to Western principles, Russia has turned her back on this small nation and is giving strong support to the Arab states, particularly Egypt.

"But," continued Mrs. Meir, "because the West knows that Israel is for their side our friends do not concern themselves as sympathetically as they might with our problems. We have no nuisance value for them. Thus we pay twice for our friendship with you."

Mrs. Meir is a tall, strongly made woman, with jet-black hair, and large facial features that can set themselves into stern lines that are almost grim when she talks of her country's difficulties, but break wide open when she smiles or laughs, which she does often. Her laugh booms out with a deep, man-like quality—but don't tell her she "has a brain like a man," because she takes this as something very much less than a compliment.

Like all the leaders of Israel whom I met, her life is one of complete dedication. A chain-smoker, she works an average of 16 hours a day, often seven days a week.

LINES OF FATIGUE

Mrs. Meir, after a noon-meeting in her office, asked us to her home later that evening after dinner to finish our discussion. By that time, lines of fatigue were etched deeply into her face; but her mind was as clear as eight hours before, and her speech as concise.

Although she has a sister still living in Bridgeport, Conn., Mrs. Meir's life before she came to Israel obviously now seems somehow unreal and of a far distant world. Her one, burning reality is Israel.

Speaking of the possibility of a final settlement with the Arab states, Mrs. Meir, like her Prime Minister, believes this will come only when Nasser, as Arab leader, realizes that Israel is a permanent fact, that the country is destined not only to survive, but to develop and grow economically. "In the meantime," she said, "the way is fraught with difficulties. First our Western friends always want us to make concessions. They argue that we are a reasonable people — often the Arabs are not — and therefore we realize the implications to world peace if discord flares into action. They ask us to pay and pay. Give a little here and a little there. We cannot always do this. Often the price is too expensive."

BORDER STAND

The Foreign Minister referred to the Arab contention that Israel must return to the borders of 1948, before the war of liberation. "This we will never do," she said emphatically.

"Those borders were wiped away with the blood of our young men and women, and they can only be revived when those young

Violence Erupts In Malta

VALLETTA, Malta — (Reuters) — A British military vehicle was set on fire and buses were stoned today as an island-wide strike against Britain's policy toward the colony erupted in violence.

Groups of youths roamed the island, stoning buses and spreading oil patches on the road. Overhead lines carrying radio broadcasts to homes throughout Malta were cut.

The strike brought the island to a virtual standstill. A few buses ran early in the day but were pulled out of service after being stoned by strikers.

Police guards surrounded the telephone exchange, gas company offices and other important buildings here.

Governor Sir Robert Laycock has taken over the day-to-day administration of the British island colony following the resignation last week of Prime Minister Dom Mintoff. Mintoff refused all responsibility for maintaining order after he accused Britain of making excessive cuts in its annual contribution to the Maltese budget.

Aden Fort Besieged By Tribesmen

Rebel tribesmen today continued their siege of an Aden fort near the border of the British Red Sea protectorate and Yemen.

A British military spokesman said a platoon of government guards holed up in Assairir Fort in the Western Aden protectorate, had been dropped fresh supplies by air and were holding out against the tribesmen.

Government guards defending the fort make up the main security force guarding the strifetorn border area between Western Aden and Yemen. They have been subject to frequent attacks by hostile tribesmen in the last few years.

Schweitzer Denounces "Clean" H-Bomb Tries

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Albert Schweitzer demanded today an end to nuclear bomb tests for the sake of the yet unborn. He denounced the United States effort to make a "clean" H-bomb as just window dressing to continue its testing.

No world power, he said, has the right to test nuclear weapons if they are harmful to future generations. Radio active elements from past tests still hover above the earth only to fall one day in the future, he said. He urged the United States and Britain to follow Russia's announced ban on nuclear testing.

In another world-wide appeal against nuclear weapons, the 1952 Nobel Peace Prize winner accused the great powers, the international press and the guardians of international law of facilitating the dangers of radioactivity.

Schweitzer's appeal was made in the first of three statements being distributed by the Nobel Institute in Oslo, Norway, to 80 countries on both sides of the Iron Curtain. The statement was distributed in the United States by the Albert Schweitzer Fellowship in New York. The second and third statements will be made public today and Wednesday. He made a similar appeal last April.

STOP TESTING

Asserting that nuclear bomb tests have nothing to do with disarmament, he urged the world's powers to stop testing first, then sit down and talk.

As for the U.S. clean bomb project, he said: "The 'clean' hydrogen bomb is intended, I believe, for display cases purposes primarily—and

Freighter Runs Aground As Pilots Tie Up Lake Traffic

Ship Pulls Self Free; Some Longshoremen Cross Picket Lines

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A German vessel, running without a pilot because of a dispute between foreign owners and Great Lakes pilots, ran aground in the St. Clair River during the weekend.

Robert Worsch, captain of the freighter Ciandra which managed to pull herself free, said he asked for a pilot but could not get one. Since last Monday, when the dispute began, no foreign ship has had a union pilot in the lakes system.

Both parties—the Shipping Federation of Canada, representing foreign owners, and the Great Lakes Pilots Association, local 47C of the International Masters, Mates and Pilots Union (AFL-CIO)—agree pilots are needed in narrow waters. The dispute centres on whether pilots are needed on the open lakes as well.

For the last 25 years pilots have been carried from Kingston, Ont., at the entrance to the lakes, through the entire trip and back.

RESTRICT PILOTAGE

This year the shipping federation proposed a restricted pilotage district from Port Weller on Lake Ontario to Sarnia at the southern end of Lake Huron and refused to take on pilots at Kingston. The pilots' union refused pilotage anywhere in the lakes system.

The pilots, acting through the parent union in the United States, and the affiliated Upper St. Lawrence Pilots' Union, have been bottling up foreign shipping in American lake ports.

Members of the International Brotherhood of Longshoremen (AFL) have refused to cross picket lines.

Some unloading was done at Detroit piers by stevedores not under the control of the longshoremen's union.

At Cleveland Saturday, non-union men and supervisory employees crossed picket lines and unloaded the freighter Prins Frederik Hendrik.

In Kingston, Capt. V. W. Make, secretary of the pilots association, said the pilots are gradually tying up lake ports.

The Norwegian freighter Himming was reported anchored at Kingston awaiting a river pilot to guide it back down the St. Lawrence to Montreal.

So far river pilots have refused to cross the picket lines. But Capt. George Downey, not a member of the international union, crossed the picket lines for the second time to guide the Francesca Sartori down river Saturday.

Stray Locomotive Startles Police

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Started police halted a stray locomotive towing a small string of miniature railroad cars along a downtown street early Sunday.

They identified the tuxedoed engineer as John O. Spice, 27, a Midland, Tex., geologist. Spice told officers he and a feminine companion, in evening dress, spotted the rolling stock on a parking lot after leaving a party.

The train is used during the day to take customers from the parking lot to a department store.

Spice explained to police. "A couple with us dared me and the lady to take the train."

He was booked on a charge of operating an unregistered vehicle on a public road.

RC Prelate Has Arm Amputated

ROME (AP)—The right arm of Samuel Cardinal Stritch, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, was amputated just above the elbow today to check a blood clot. The 70-year-old prelate's condition was described as "very good."

The 35-minute operation was performed by Dr. Pietro Valdani, Italian surgeon who saved the life of Communist Leader Palmiro Togliatti after an attempt to kill him 10 years ago.

Two Chicago physicians assisted in the surgery on the veteran churchman who was stricken aboard ship en route to take up his new duties as prefect of the Vatican's world-wide mission activities.

Dr. Filippo Rocchi of the Vatican medical staff said the cardinal probably would remain in hospital about two weeks.

The Pope, who had sent his blessing and had been praying for his colleague, was notified at once of the success of the operation. Shortly before the operation, the cardinal was visited by the pontiff's personal physician, Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi.

RAF Role Challenged

Navy Won Battle Of Britain — Writer

LONDON (AP)—This is the memory: In the tense hot summer of 1940 a handful of RAF fighter pilots threw themselves at the mighty German air force and against all odds turned the Nazis back in the skies over Southern England. Now the question: Is the memory historically accurate?

From the memory, people around the world have concluded that the Battle of Britain was one of the decisive battles of history.

According to this view—reinforced by Sir Winston Churchill's reference to so many owing so much to so few—the struggle in the skies saved Britain and ultimately gave Hitler's enemies the chance to win.

Now Duncan Grinnell-Milne, a former Royal Air Force officer, has challenged this concept.

NAVY WAS DECISIVE

In a new book, The Silent Victory, Grinnell-Milne said the Royal Navy—in wide-ranging operations, nightly destroyer patrols close to Nazi harbors and in deployments—was the decisive factor in preventing an invasion of the British Isles.

He said the Germans actually were close to air superiority, and that Britain's naval superiority really blocked the invasion.

Grinnell-Milne concedes the RAF contribution two important results, however. Germany for the first time in the war lost the prestige of invincibility in the air because British planes were able to stay in the sky with the Nazis. And British people, seeing the air battle, were heartened for the long struggle ahead.

Grinnell-Milne said there was no question of Hitler's determination to invade Britain. For three months the Germans gathered steamers, tugs and barges in channel ports for Operation Sea-lion. They intended to strike England's south coast.

Eisenhower Writes Krush

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower's latest note on disarmament may be delivered today to Soviet premier Nikita Khrushchev.

There was no definite word regarding timing from the president's weekend vacation headquarters at the Augusta National Golf Club.

But James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told reporters the Eisenhower message would be in Khrushchev's hands in Moscow very soon.

Meanwhile, Western allies were pondering weekend developments in negotiations for a summit conference.

Andrei Gromyko, Russian foreign minister, proposed Saturday that Poland and Czechoslovakia be included in talks on summit preparations.

In Moscow, Western observers predicted the West will accept an earlier Russian proposal that the Western envoys meet separately with Gromyko. Either of the Russian proposals — adding two Communist countries to the negotiating table or holding separate meetings — would assure Russia of not being outnumbered in the talks.

Eisenhower plans to make his message to Khrushchev public as soon as it has been delivered to the Kremlin.

The president's message is in reply to Khrushchev's note of last week rejecting Eisenhower's proposal April 8 that the United States and Russia put technical experts to work studying what specific nuclear test ban controls "are necessary if there is to be a dependable and agreed disarmament program."

The Soviet Union has announced it is halting tests of atomic and hydrogen weapons and has called on the United States to do the same. Khrushchev says Russia is reserving the right to resume tests if this country does not order a ban.

At a recent Washington press conference Eisenhower labelled the Soviet announcement a propaganda gimmick.

Auto Union Proposes Price Cuts

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers union was expected to offer the auto industry a three-month contract extension today in return for a cut in car prices and a boost in unemployment benefits.

The reported plan, to be served on General Motors Corporation, Ford Motor Company, and Chrysler Corporation, would extend present contracts with the Big Three from the end of next month until Sept. 8.

In return, the auto builders would be asked to cut car prices by an unspecified amount and increase supplemental unemployment benefits from the present 60 to 65 per cent of workers' take-home pay to 80 per cent.

Some 450,000 of the UAW's 1,350,000 members now are laid off. The union itself is laying off 100 of its employees while cutting its executives' salaries by 20 per cent.

Bombers Set UK Tanker On Fire

SINGAPORE — (Reuters) — Unidentified bombers today attacked two British tankers in Indonesian waters, setting one of them on fire and forcing her crew to abandon ship.

Some 50 crew members of the 12,278-ton San Flaviano were picked up by the other tanker, the 8,139-ton Daronio.

The attack took place near Balikpapan, an oil port. The port previously has been the target of rebels fighting the central government.

BC Celebrates First 100 Years

VICTORIA — British Columbians gave thanks Sunday for the bounty of the province's first 100 years, then lit bonfires against the night sky to herald their next century of progress.

Special services in churches throughout the province and a string of beacons from the southern tip of Vancouver Island to the Peace River country of B. C.'s northeastern corner marked the official start of summer-long centennial celebrations.

The day's observances, solemn and gay, centred on this flag-decked capital city where 2,500 persons heard acting premier Eric Martin declare it a time for prayer.

Show Business

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—And now Lana Turner starts to put together the pieces of her life, shattered on the nightmarish Good Friday night when her daughter, Cheryl, 14, stabbed to death Lana's lover, Johnny Stompanato, at the climax of a savage quarrel.

Last Thursday a judge cleared Cheryl of murder charges, but placed her in the care of her grandmother for two months. Thus the judge avoided for a time the decision of who gets custody of the troubled child—her mother; her father, Steve Crane; her grandmother or the state of California.

In juvenile cases, the child is of prime importance. What is best for the child is generally decided. But giving Cheryl to her maternal grandmother would indicate that Lana has a good chance of regaining custody of her daughter.

Mrs. Mildred Turner, herself a victim of tragedy—her own husband was murdered—is close to her daughter. Lana has long supported Mrs. Turner, and they have always lived together or nearby.

WHAT THEN?

If, as it seems possible, Lana should resume custody of Cheryl, what then?

There is no doubt that Lana's life will change. Certainly it could never be the same since the moment her daughter plunged the knife into Stompanato.

As guardian of Cheryl, she would have to lead an exemplary life. That means avoiding the bright lights and headlines which have followed her since she was "the sweater girl" at 16. It won't be easy to do.

For one thing, Lana finds herself in a unique position for herself—without a man. The last of her four marriages have been erased, as has been her latest romance, Stompanato.

Lana has always had a man around. In her frank autobiography, she listed some of them: Victor Mature, Greg Bautzer, Tony Martin, Peter Lawford, Tyrone Power, Turhan Bey, Howard Hughes and Bob Hutton. Not to mention her four husbands: Artie Shaw, Crane, Bob Topping and Lex Barker.

FIRE PRESS AGENT

In the autobiography — which she later regretted and fired the press agent who suggested it—she said: "I think men are exciting and the gal who denies that men are exciting is either a lady with no corpuscles or a statue."

What happens now? A date will mean headlines and endanger custody of her daughter.

Another thing, Lana wants to return to work and producers are eagerly seeking her. How can she face the usual publicity grind and how can she remain dignified in the eyes of the court?

Friends indicate that Lana will continue following her pattern of recent years in spending most of her time away from the studios at Acapulco, Mexico—if she can take Cheryl with her. There she can remain more out of the public eye.

Whatever happens, it's apparent that life will have no end of problems for Lana in the future.

Contractors Group Seeks Provincial Heating Code

Hon. J. S. Bourque, Minister of Finance, of Lands, and Forests and of Hydraulic Resources for the Province of Quebec, Saturday promised his support for the project of the Corporation of Plumbing and Heating Contractors by which they hope to obtain a provincial code on heating services.

The Finance Minister spoke at a Corporation dinner at the Sherbrooke Hotel which marked the end of a series of 16 courses in plumbing and heating given by Gaston P. Ste. Marie, professional technician from Montreal.

Present at the dinner were about 50 guests representing several Quebec centres. Seated at the head table were: Mr. Bourque, Maurice Allard, MP for Sherbrooke; Mr. Ste. Marie; M. Alphonse Demers, president of the Corporation, Sherbrooke section; J. H. Hudon, Provincial president of the Corporation; Andre Cloutier, member; and Adrien Lemire, secretary of the Corporation executive committee.

The plumbing and heating courses were given over a period of eight weeks in various provincial centres by Mr. Ste. Marie on the new techniques of heating and plumbing, and how to offer the public the best service and operation.

Besides teaching the new techniques, the course was designed to give the public greater confidence.

Speaking after the dinner, Mr. Hudon, the Provincial President, thanked all those who had in some way helped in organizing the course and also those who had become interested and given their time. He addressed a special word of thanks to Mr. Ste. Marie for his efforts.

Mr. Hudon told the guests that at the next convention, in two weeks, the Corporation planned to submit a petition to the government for a provincial code which would govern heating installations, facilities and services in the same manner as plumbing services are governed at the moment.

The Finance Minister congratulated the officers of the Corporation for having come up with the idea, and promised every effort would be made to see the required legislation approved.

Maurice Allard, in support of the new code, said that he would do his best to ease credit restrictions in the realm of construction.

Park, Playground System Proposed By Town Planner

A park and a playground are recommended for each new neighborhood by Town Planner Jean-Claude Lehave according to the summary of his report prepared by Director of Services Charles Langlois and submitted to the city council.

Starting with the church or parish center as the nucleus of the new community, Mr. Lehave outlines the park-playground units for small neighborhoods of 3,000 to 4,000 residents.

The grounds are divided into three sections: Facilities for youngsters 6 years and under, children 6 to 14 and for adults.

A financial and administrative collaboration between the city, the school board and the archbishopric could make this area the heart of the neighborhood and center where community activities are held, he says.

The area covered by this neighborhood park-playground unit is estimated at 11 acres.

Having investigated the needs of four neighborhoods Mr. Lehave visualizes a 25-acre center providing facilities for 12,000 to 16,000 people.

At the heart of the four-neighborhood area, he suggests grouping the larger park and playground facilities, such as a gymnasium, lighted baseball diamond, which cannot be provided by the small units.

The park-playground could be adjacent to the high school and, as in the smaller communities, would provide facilities for students.

Sherbrooke's needs as far as large parks, equivalent to the present Victoria Park, are seen as 150 acres for a second natural park, 100 acres for a municipal golf course, from 20 to 30 acres for decorative parks giving a total of 280 acres.

This area would serve all of the city's population.

Mr. Lehave plans the future development of the city around the church or parish center because according to his investigation the future population will be largely French-Canadian and Roman Catholic.

Presentation Of Awards Marked Bishop's Banquet

Over 100 students were honored at the largest Awards Banquet in the history of the Students' Association of Bishop's University held Saturday evening with Ray Jensen presiding, his first official duty as the newly-elected president of the Students' Council.

The coveted Golden Mitre award was presented by Prof. A. Preston to five graduating students, elected by the members of their class. This award goes to the students, who, in the eyes of their fellows, have done the most work for the University in various fields of endeavor. The five were Tony Ketchum, Dave Scott, Hugh MacDonald, John Pratt, and Peter Blaikie.

Ketchum was past president of the SEC, and particularly active this year in representing Bishop's outside the university. Dave Scott made his greatest contributions in the field of publications, having been both editor of The Yearbook and president of the Board of Publications.

Hugh MacDonald was vice-president of the SEC, and was chairman of the Winter Carnival, one of the most responsible positions on the campus.

Although never a member of the SEC, John Pratt's contributions have been diverse, concentrated mainly in the fields of athletics and entertainment, in the form of singing with the Glee Club, and working with the Carnival Committee. Peter Blaikie was elected a Rhodes Scholar this year, and he too has served the student body in a variety of ways.

For the first time in several years, there was a great contrast in the subject matter of the speeches, which comprise a major part of the evening.

In proposing the toast to the Alma Mater, Blaikie pointed out certain deficiencies of Bishop's, while in his timely reply, Dr. W. O. Raymond countered every statement, and presented the University in a very favorable light.

Both Dave Scott and Prof. D. Finch, who proposed and answered the toast to the societies, took a humorous approach, climaxed by Mr. Finch's proposal that there be a society for those who don't belong to any other society. The only drawback was that once a member of this society, one would immediately have to resign.

Stu Clarke toasted the faculty in a polished address, while Dr. J. D. Jeffers, who recently starred in the St. George's Players production of 'You Can't Take it With You', responded in biting fashion, suggesting that things would be quite different if his money were paying for our education.

Peter Blaikie was elected 'Athlete of the Year,' succeeding Don Stringer, who won the trophy the past two years. Blaikie won out over five other candidates in an election held on Friday, with over 60 percent of the male student body voting, as compared with 12 per cent last year. In his four years at Bishop's, Mr. Blaikie has represented the University in five sports and has also participated in intra-mural sports. This year he played football, basketball, and golf for Bishop's, while last summer he won two championships in the first Canadian Army Track and Field Meet. Next year, Blaikie will be at Oxford, where he hopes to win a blue playing either golf, basketball, or track and field.

In addition to this award, Mr. Blaikie was also presented with the Abbott Trophy as the outstanding debater of the year. Competition for this trophy was so close that a special award was made this year to Miss Elaine Clarke, for debating excellence. Both Mr. Blaikie and Miss Clarke have represented the faculty of Arts and Science in Skinner Trophy competition, and have represented Bishop's in inter-university debating circles.

The Warren W. Lynch Trophy, to the most improved football player was won this year by Sandy Sinclair, offensive centre and defensive guard of the Bishop's Gaitsers. This award was made for the first time last year in memory of Dr. Lynch of Sherbrooke, whose son Wally Lynch was an outstanding athlete at Bishop's.

Work on the new school will start immediately and it should be ready for occupancy in September, 1959.

The new school will be for French-speaking boys where general sciences will be taught.

Robbery Foiled

SGT-DET. EUGENE MORIN, of the Provincial Police detachment at Sherbrooke, is seen above holding a box of dynamite caps seized Friday night when burglars apparently were preparing to break open the Canadian Bank of Commerce in Waterville. The alarm was originally given by town Secretary Jules Gervais when he noticed a considerable amount of unclaimed and unnecessary heavy equipment lying in the basement of the building containing both the Bank and the town hall. He notified police immediately. Sgt. Morin claimed that the equipment seized was valued at considerably more than $3,000 and it would take the robbers a long time to recoup their loss. Among the loot: a walkie-talkie, cutting tools, hammers, sledges, spikes, punches, and a jack drill which also employs dynamite caps. (Record Photos by Gerry Lemay)

Home Betterment Financial Aid Plans Outlined

GRANBY — Home owners were told here last week how they can obtain financial assistance from Canadian banks to renovate their homes when the first O.H.I. (Operation Home Improvement) campaign in Quebec Province was launched here.

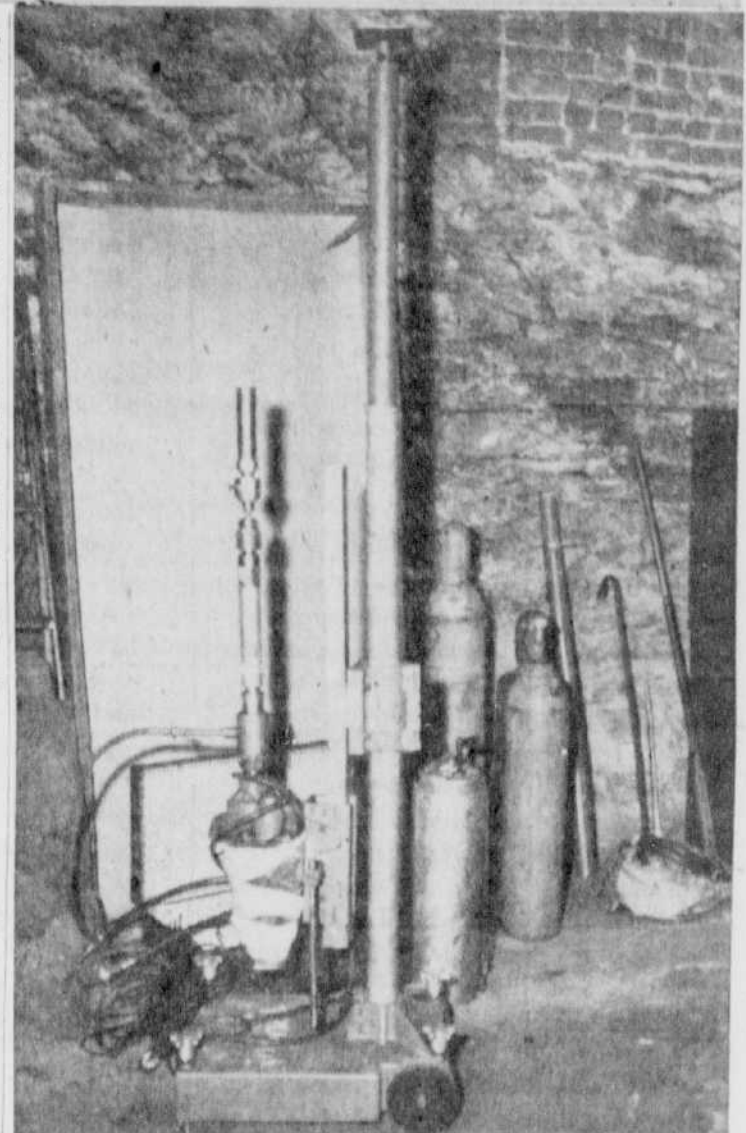

The campaign, expected to be the first of a series in this Province, got under way at a meeting sponsored by the Quebec Retail Lumber Dealers Association, the Quebec Wholesale Lumber Association, the Granby Chamber of Commerce, and the Bedford District Manufacturers Association.

Alex Babin, president of the Quebec Retail Lumber Dealers Association, presided over the meeting which was attended by over 100 members of various lumber groups, allied building trades, builders supply houses and banking and government officials.

The Federal Government was represented by H. Graffley, M.P. for Brome-Missisquoi, Marcel Boivin, M.P. for Shefford and Armand Roussel, M.L.A. for Shefford. Mayor Horace Boivin represented the Granby City Council, and A. M. Crack, the Granby Chamber of Commerce. Ken Foreman attended as President of the Quebec Province Wholesale Lumber Association.

Norman Deboys, Toronto, executive secretary of the Canadian Council O.H.I., outlined the progress made by the campaign in other sections of the country, and underlined the potential market for all building trade existing in the renovation of present dwellings.

R. E. Keer, manager of the Bank of Montreal, Cowansville, and R. Lamothe, manager of the Bank of Montreal, Granby, explained how the banks were ready to lend financial assistance for home improvement.

Delay Closing Of Cancer Campaign

The Sherbrooke branch of the Canadian Cancer Society is extending its annual campaign for funds another two weeks. Reason for the move is the number of volunteers who have not finished their canvassing and the large out-of-town area to be covered.

The goal in the Sherbrooke area this year is $20,000.

Science Is Constructive Too

Too often the application of science (by non-scientists) to destruction has overshadowed its benefits to humanity. H-bomb and missile tests make more spectacular reading than the decline of polio. Nevertheless, exciting things are afoot on the human side.

Now comes word that the Cleveland Clinic Foundation has developed a plastic artificial heart which kept a dog alive for 90 minutes.

The goal behind the work is that of prolonging life in a human being after the natural heart has become so damaged that surgery cannot repair it.

Development of a tiny motor to run the plastic heart has been under way for about a year. The motor would be run by portable, rechargeable batteries delivering power by wires through the chest.

The doctors are, of course, cautious about speculating on future uses of the artificial heart. Permanent replacement of a damaged human heart may be years away. But the possibility is there.

In this connection, it is interesting to consider something which has come up in a related field — geriatrics, or the study of old age.

Addressing a recent conference, Dr. Edward A. Strecker observed that although the life of the body has been lengthened, the life of the mind and personality has not.

Unless man learns how to preserve mind as well as body, he warned, the increased life span could be a curse.

But mind and body are intertwined, and Dr. Strecker's concluding remarks bear repeating:

"May the gods of science bring the labors of physiology . . . chemistry . . . and humanity to fruition so that old age may become a blessing and not a burden, and may this meeting give inspiration to the effort to stay the ebb tides of the mind."

Leprechauns

"Up the airy mountain,
Down the rushing glen,
We dare not go a-hunting
For fear of little men."

The government in Dublin may be in for a bit of trouble and if it's not mistaken we are they may have themselves to blame. It's not the fault of "the good people" at any rate.

Near Belmullet in County Mayo there is a fairy palace and 20 employees of the state land commission were ordered recently to build a fence right through the middle of it. They were sensitive men who knew something about leprechauns and, of course, they refused. The foreman, uninitiated in the ways of the little folk, threatened to fire their champions, a report was sent to the lands minister and the work has been suspended. Local superstitions, says the despatch, have been aroused and dismissal of the men wouldn't be liked by the 30,000-strong union to which they belong.

Of course the workmen knew the leprechauns for a friendly lot who do many a quiet good turn to neighbors. But they knew, too, that they can be capricious and prankish when aroused.

ed. They might guide a deserving man to buried treasure but they might also put a curse on him. It pays to be careful with "the good people."

Because they are so unpredictable the leprechauns have been handy to have around. A rake is gone; they might have taken a fancy to it. A child fails to sleep one night; the leprechauns have sneaked in the window to tell him stories. A few eggs disappear; they have gone to nourish leprechaun babies. The fairy folk have saved a good deal of trouble and have relieved the devil at one time and another of a job of responsibility.

And if anyone thinks leprechauns are confined to the old land it's mistaken they are. The small ones are right here in Sherbrooke. It's out here at nights they are, too, and they use type-writers, leaving the shifts and spacers all wrong but we're not really complaining about that.

Our local leprechauns smoke. They'll take two or three fags from a package in a fellow's desk. But sometimes they're generous — they'll leave a package of their own.

You never can tell about leprechauns.

Everything For Hire

This is the day of the service trades. Put your money on the line and you can rent something you don't want to buy or get something done you can't do or don't want to do.

Many of the jobs mother used to perform around the house are done now by shops outside. The rest of the time she's running household machinery which usually has to be repaired by outside servicemen.

To supplement their labor-saving equipment, many people rent tools for use around the house, like sanders, drills, saws and floor polishers. Things have got to the point where even manufacturers rent tools and machinery, and then the buildings to put them in.

Nobody's figured out a way to rent food, but the retailers of fresh-baked and ready-cooked foods are doing fine.

Clothes, of course, are a service item from way back. Especially since we went casual and dress affairs became uncommon, the dress suit renters have done well.

If we're lucky, in another 10 years we'll be able to rent people to put the suits on and go to boring dinners in our place.

HEART NINE IS IMPORTANT

Gordon Keel of Vancouver writes: "Here is a hand that may interest you. I didn't have much of an opening bid and can't blame my partner for putting me in six. The use of the Blackwood convention made me declarer at diamonds and West opened the jack of clubs."

"I won the trick in dummy and played the ace of diamonds in hopes of dropping a singleton nine. When that failed I kept a cheerful a countenance as possible."

The hand is most interesting. To start with, North can't make the slam or even five odd since a spade will be opened against him. A heart lead would have beaten Mr. Keel but no one can blame West for his club opening. As for East's heart discards, I am inclined to be a trifle more severe than Mr. Keel. East might have seen that his heart nine could be important. Certainly his low spades weren't.

sible and ran off dummy's trumps. "If I had been clairvoyant he might have realized the importance of his nine of hearts and I would have been a dead duck but East discarded hearts early and often."

This put West in an unusual squeeze. I wound up by cashing dummy's other high club and retaining three hearts and the king of spades. West had to blank his ace of spades in order to hold three hearts. Now I took dummy's queen of hearts and threw West in with the ace of spades. He had to lead to me and the slam made."

REINFORCEMENTS AWAITED!

Tourist Season

Should Be Bigger And Better Than Ever

By BERNARD DUFRESNE

Early reports from federal and provincial tourist officials indicate that visitors to Canada this year will be larger in number and they are expected to spend more money than ever before.

Alan Field, director of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau in Ottawa, estimates that between 7,000,000 and 8,000,000 Americans will spend all or part of their holidays in Canada this summer.

He bases his estimates on the fact that mail inquiries about highways, hotel accommodations, national parks and the like are 30 per cent higher than at the same time in 1957. Similar reports from provincial tourist bureaus tend to show that the tourist season may be Canada's biggest on record.

CHIEFLY MOTORISTS

Federal tourist officials figure that 80 per cent of American tourists in Canada travel by car. However, provinces that can check on inter-provincial travel—something that is not done by the Canadian Government Travel Bureau—place the percentage of motoring vacationists as high as 90 per cent.

Last year federal figures show that travel revenue from all foreign visitors amounted to $362,000,000, a gain of $25,000,000 over 1956. Of this total, U.S. tourists spent about $328,000,000, or a gain of $19,000,000 over the previous year.

However, U.S. figures issued from Washington by the Commerce department placed American spending in Canada at $390,000,000.

Canada conducts a big program of advertising in American publications. The federal government, for example, is spending $1,380,000 on travel ads in the U.S., more than ever before.

"All indications show a greater interest than ever before in travel to Canada," Mr. Field said. One day early in April, the travel bureau sent out nine tons of mail in replies to inquiries about Canadian travel.

Here is the picture, province by province:

Newfoundland
No great attempt is being made to attract visitors because as a provincial travel folder says, "we're still building roads, motels, filling stations, restaurants, picnic sites and parks and everything that's needed to make a visit enjoyable."

Despite this, an uncounted number of tourists last year spent $9,549,000 in the province.

Prince Edward Island

A. A. Nicholson, travel bureau director, reports inquiries are double those at the same date last year. In 1957, an estimated 150,000 visitors spent more than $5,000,000 in the province.

Improved ferry facilities across Northumberland Strait will help attract visitors.

Nova Scotia

Although last year's figures are not available, tourist bureau director Dan Wallace says they were higher than those in 1955 when 500,000 tourists from the United States and Canada spent an estimated $40,000,000. This summer a new ferry service between Boston and Yarmouth will supplement the Yarmouth-Bar Harbor, Me., ferry to ease traffic facilities between New England and Nova Scotia.

Some of Nova Scotia's attractions include the rugged, picturesque sea coast, the Cape Breton Highlands National Park and Cabot Trail and salt water angling.

New Brunswick

A million visitors came to this province in 1957 and the provincial travel bureau is hoping for as many again this year. Last year, 377,000 cars carrying an average of three persons each entered the province.

New Brunswick regards itself as a family holiday spot. For this reason improved accommodations have been provided at Fundy National Park, at roadside picnic sites for campers and other places.

Quebec

Prospects for 1958 are good, says Raoul Baby, director of the provincial publicity bureau, but it is too early to say whether the increase of each of the last 10 years will be continued. Last year, there were 5,210,000 tourists—up from 4,795,000 a year earlier — divided almost evenly between Canadians from other provinces and Americans. They spent an estimated $208,000,000, touring such fabulous spots as the Gaspé Peninsula and the rolling Quebec Countryside.

Montreal, perhaps Quebec's biggest tourist attraction, expects to accommodate 4,000,000 visitors ready to pour more than $100,000,000 into its hotels, shops, eating places and night clubs.

Charles Smith, manager of the Montreal Tourist and Convention Bureau, said: "There is no indication of any recession as far as the tourist business is concerned. The only recession is in the minds of some people."

Ontario

Exact figures on the number of visitors last year are not known, although more than 1,500,000 cars passed through U.S. border points. Almost two-thirds of the visitors tour the province, about 10 per cent go to summer resorts and a similar percentage are fishermen.

Mail inquiries are up. Bit attractions include the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto and the Stratford Shakespearean Festival.

This year, early summer visitors to Ottawa will see Parliament in session.

Manitoba

The keystone province welcomed more than 1,000,000 visitors last year and looks for 1,250,000 this year. The main attraction in Manitoba is fishing. Last year, visitors spent an estimated $31,284,000.

Tourist officers note a growing number of single women planning fishing trips. To encourage visitors, the provincial government sent a 28-foot trailer, equipped with maps, mural displays, Eskimo sculpture and art, on a tour of eight cities in the Dakotas.

Saskatchewan

Improved roads are the magnet for the province's fishing, hunting and camping areas. Although no figures are available for last season, the province expects tourists to spend some $20,000,000 in Saskatchewan.

Alberta

The provincial travel bureau forecasts an increase of 20 per cent from last year when more than 2,090,000 visitors spent $62,000,000—an increase of $5,500,000 over 1956.

Chief attractions for visitors, mainly motorists from the U.S. or from British Columbia, are the

SHAPE OF CHEESE

(Hamilton Spectator)
Gouda, in South Holland, is noted for its market square (largest in The Netherlands), its Gothic town hall, the Groot Kirk of St. John which has stained-glass windows dating back to 1485, its paving stones and — having no association with the previous product — the delicious white pressed cheese which the town gave its name.

Since it was first evolved in the Middle Ages, Gouda cheese has been round. But the latest issue of Holland Shipping and Trading tells us that West German housewives have been demanding that the cheese exported to them be moulded in square blocks. The Netherlands journal didn't say just why the German ladies wanted square cheese. Perhaps it's easier to store that way. Once started in motion, round cheese is more likely to roll of the table.

Now the dairy farmers of Gouda were reticent at first about altering the specifications of their tasty product. But the customers are always right, especially when they buy about 38,000,000 kilograms (about 83,000,000 pounds) in one year and pay 83,000,000 guilders, about $21,000,000 in our money, for it.

The West Germans are now getting their Gouda cheese square.

And what has all this to do with Canada? Well, Canadian soldiers "liberated" the town in 1945 after it had been occupied by the Germans for five years. And who won the war? Economists might say the West Germans did, because they are eating cheese of the shape they want from liberated Gouda.

Calgary Stampede in early July, the Edmonton exhibition, the following week; Indian Days at Banff, July 17-20; the Canadian open golf tournament at Edmonton in July; the Totem Pole Golf Tourney at Jasper in early September.

National parks are big tourist draws, while the badlands in the Drumheller area are attracting more visitors.

British Columbia

The province's centenary will be the biggest tourist attraction this year. The most famous tourist, of course, will be Princess Margaret. She will spend 14 days — July 12-26 — in the province.

Last year, 855,000 visitors came to B.C. from the U.S. Tourists spent an estimated $103,000,000 last year, including $48,000,000 by Americans, $35,000,000 by Canadians from other provinces and $20,000,000 by wandering British Columbians.

Travel inquiries are up 33 per cent from the same date in 1957.

accept at face value as a Jew," was the laughing reply. Actually there are a few non-Jews who have settled in the country, inspired by the complete political freedom and the opportunity to build a new life. They are as welcome as anyone else. There is no anti-Semitism in reverse in this country. Mrs. Meir made it clear, also, that defense policy is supported by all. Each man spends two and a half years in the army, each unmarried girl two years. Older immigrants are trained in the use of arms by army NCOs. All citizens after their regular training are fitted into reserve forces and spend one month a year in refresher courses. I shall write more fully about the army in a later article but there is no doubt in my mind that the West is fortunate indeed to have this force in the Middle East. As to development, the Foreign Minister said that the entire country was dedicated to the principle of building the nation. The most superficial trip through Israel provided ample evidence of the tremendous development taking place everywhere, in cities, in towns and in rural areas. The regular work week is six days, 48 hours and labor through its central organization, is the strongest corporate force in the country. It is obvious to any observer that to govern this country its leaders need infinite patience and tact. "I think," said Mrs. Meir with a rueful laugh, "that Israel must be the only country in the world where the diplomatic corps decide where the capital is to be." She was referring to the fact that most diplomats still recognize Tel Aviv as the capital and not Jerusalem. The reason given is that 10 years ago the United Nations passed a resolution that Jerusalem should be internationalized. The resolution was stillborn and Jordan also is opposed to it. But no change has ever been made officially. "We must use tact and understanding to achieve even the smallest progress in the area of foreign affairs, but we will do it."

Golden Wedding Is Celebrated By Lennoxville Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sheldon, who reside at 8 Warren Street, Lennoxville, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary recently at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Locke, in Barton, Vt. when their grandchildren and great-grandchildren gave them a surprise party. Plan To Submit City Financial Report May 5

He said his department has set the dates as their goal but other factors might cause a delay. He said, for example one of the aldermen might be absent and the report might be delayed to accommodate him. It is believed that the city will again record a slight surplus.

Talk On Forests At Richmond Board Of Trade

RICHMOND — "Natural Reproduction of Forests and Man-Made Forests" was the title of the talk given by J. L. Morin, supervisor of Forestry and Nursery of the Southern Canada Power Co., at the monthly supper-meeting of the Richmond and Melbourn Board of Trade, held at the Brunswick Hotel, about 45 members and friends listened to Mr. Morin talk on forest conservation. He explained that the many aspects of forestry are our most important national resources, and the preserves of all natural resources but mining. Forests play a very important part in the economy of our country, our province and our region. It is important that we should use the earth's resources to the best advantage without destroying them, in order that we may enjoy their abundance far into the future. To do this, we must protect them, Mr. Morin continued.

Explaining what "conservation" meant, Mr. Morin said that "in general, it means 'storing up or putting in reserve'. This is not, however, the meaning when applied to forests; no meaning of depriving ourselves; it simply means 'understanding, protection of interest in protection, defence and wise use'. To do these things, one must know what a forest is". Mr. Morin then went on to speak about the forest, its importance and value, which benefits man.

He was introduced to the board members and guests by George Ewing, who is on the advisory board of the Quebec Federation Fish and Game Association.

Head table guests included Mr. Ewing; Mr. Morin; C. A. Charter, local manager of the SCP, who succeeded H. P. Stone; G. R. Stewart, secretary of the Board; L. P. Labrosse, Board president; Mayor Alfred Geoffrey; George Poulin, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Roger Cote, of the Canada Paper Co., Windsor Mills.

Mr. Morin was thanked by Dr. Jean Smith and the members then carried on with their regular business meeting. Reports were made by the various committees.

The Doctor Says

GENERAL OR LOCAL CAUSE MUST BE SOUGHT IN DRY MOUTH COMPLAINT

I can well imagine that this symptom is unpleasant indeed. Q—Please say something about the cause of dryness in the mouth. What can be done for it?—D.P.

A—This presumably is the result of not enough saliva from the salivary glands. It carries the medical name of xerostomia. It is frequently present in diabetes, in nephritis and in belladonna poisoning. It can accompany severe fevers.

All too often, however, an exact cause can't be identified. A hunt should be made for a general or local cause which can be treated and perhaps corrected. If none can be found, mouth washes, perhaps containing glycerin, may relieve the unpleasantness to some extent.

Q—Is there such a thing as swallowing air as a result of nervousness?—J.T.

A—Yes indeed. Swallowing air is rather common. It is generally done unconsciously. It appears to be particularly frequent after meals. In most instances it is responsible for belching.

Sometimes the habit can be broken by conscious effort. It is impossible to swallow air with the mouth open. A person with this difficulty may be able to solve the problem by putting a cork between the teeth for 20 minutes or so following meals.

Stanstead College Activities

Rear Admiral Donald MacMillan, of the U.S. navy, a noted explorer, was at Stanstead College, where he gave a lecture on many of his exploits, illustrated by films.

The lecture, attended by staff and students of the College and a few invited friends, was the first event to take place in the new school auditorium.

The Admiral's love of the Arctic and of the Eskimos was shown many times in the films. The pictures, of marvellous beauty and interest, showed animals and flowers and the people above the Arctic circle; the great icebergs and the feared ice fields, which have caused havoc and taken many lives when ships have been crushed and the crews left on barren islands to die.

The lecture and films, based on scientific expeditions, revealed many things pertaining to the Arctic, the birth of icebergs, the life of Eskimos beyond civilization, and how these people live and hunt their food from the sea and worship in the early Egyptian religion.

Admiral MacMillan, now a man of 83 years, made his first expedition to the North in 1908, under the command of Robert Peary. Since then, with his own ship, he has returned many times to study the Arctic and is at present planning another expedition, as well as planning to write his own autobiography. Recently he flew over the North Pole with Lowell Thomas.

The Admiral was introduced by Dr. Arthur Langford, professor of biology at Bishop's University, Lennoxville, and thanked by E. J. Struthers. Following the lecture, Admiral MacMillan left with Dr. Langford for Bishop's University, where he was a guest for the remainder of the week.

The College has already begun the last term of activities. On April 10th, the College Alumni Association board met in Montreal and plans were made for the annual Alumni re-union to take place at Stanstead College on May 10th. J. Alex Edmison, assistant to the principal of Queen's University, will be the guest speaker. The same night, the popular play, "Twelfth Night" will be presented by the dramatic students in the new auditorium. There is a possibility the play will be given again on Friday evening, May 9, and be open to the public. Announcement of the decision will be made at a future date.

On April 11th, Miss Clara Aikenhead, director of nursing of the Sherbrooke Hospital, spoke to the girls of the matriculation classes.

On May 14, the annual inspection of the Cadet Corps will take place on the campus. The Corps is daily training for this event.

Other events of the term will include track meets for boys and girls, dates to be announced later, the annual June Prom and dance on June 6, followed by Convocation and prize giving on June 7.

The week-end of April 11-13, a European Art Exhibit took place at the Del Monty Hotel. The display included scenes from many parts of the world, the works of several artists.

The exhibit was visited by the art teacher and several students of the College. Mr. Thorbjorn, an artist who displayed a series of works on Greenland, held a contest for the students. The pupils were required to select a painting and write an essay on it. Winners were David Filman and Alan Macfarlane, who chose to write "Cutter at Sea", the painting of an earlier period by a young Norwegian who signed his initials D.K. The prize was the painting upon which the boys wrote their paper.

Among the many improvements taking place at Stanstead College, is the renovating of the ground floor of the main building. The principal's office has been moved to the former John Colby Memorial Library and the library to what was formerly used as the boys' play room. This change makes a much improved library. It has sections of cases with books as well as shelves around the walls, small tables and chairs for reading use. Mrs. D. M. Hackett is librarian.

New drapes are to be hung at the reception room windows and the reception room drapes will be used for the library windows.

Prior to the holidays, members of the staff moved into their new quarters in Colby Hall, the girl students also, taking up residence in the hall.

How Should We Pray

Prayer is far more than an SOS, says Bishop James A. Pike. In May Reader's Digest he tells why "day-to-day life takes on an entirely new dimension as you are more and more conscious of living out your moments under God, for God, and with God."

How To Be A First Lady In Your Home

EDITOR'S NOTE: Most busy housewives would like to follow in the footsteps of the First Lady of the United States and tie themselves to a special retreat to catch up on their health and beauty. Not many can—but every woman can be a First Lady in her own home. NEA Service beauty editor Alice Hart shows you how in this special seven-part series, of which this is the first.

BY ALICIA HART

The busy First Lady of the United States realizes the importance of taking time out from her heavy schedule to review her beauty needs. And you, as the First Lady of your home, owe it to yourself and your family to do the same.

Expensive professional beauty care is undoubtedly the easiest method of maintaining our good looks. But if it can't be managed, only a defeatist attitude can stop you from doing the job yourself at home.

The face that launched a thousand ships belonged pretty exclusively to Helen of Troy. And the perfect figure is almost as legendary.

When you see an attractive woman, nine times out of ten you can be sure her good looks are a result of diligent effort, not an accident of birth.

Any woman who uses lack of time and money as an excuse for looking dowdy is kidding herself. To get your own beauty schedule in operation, sit down and analyze yourself objectively. Find out what you need to do to emerge looking your best.

Answer these questions honestly: Is your complexion oily or dry? Have you lost or gained weight recently? Have you let yourself become sloppy about the way you look around the house? Do you choose the proper clothes for you?

Beauty is a habit. But habits can become ruts, and it's important to look at yourself with a "fresh eye" every so often. The one thing that never changes, however, is the base on which beauty is built. Without scrupulous cleanliness of body and clothing, there is no beauty.

This series will help you give yourself a real once-over. You can work out a system so smooth that within a week, you'll have your husband wondering why he'd forgotten how pretty you are. And you can do this without his knowing about it at all.

Join our tour of beauty. You'll be delighted with the dividends you'll collect in self-improvement.

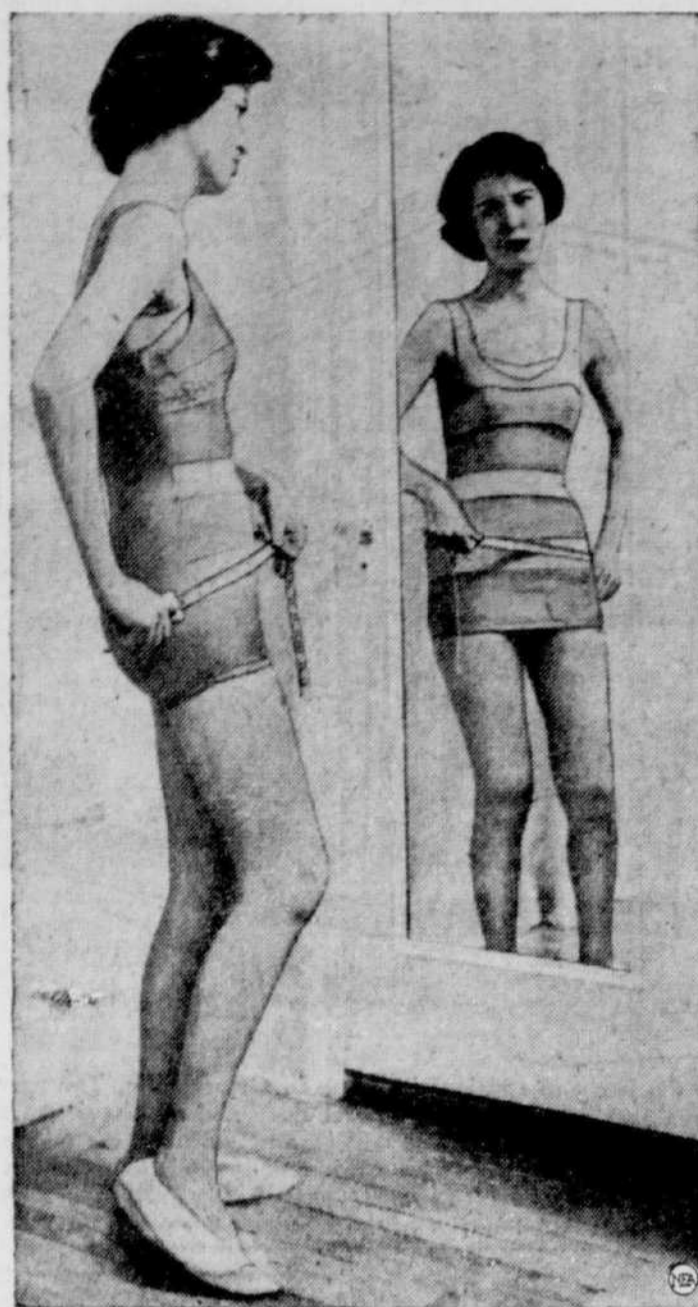

Next: Map a campaign and stick to it.

EAST ANGUS — Blue skies and fleecy clouds, white picket fence and seasonal flowers formed an attractive garden scene on the stage of the Catholic parish hall of when the Our Lady of Lourdes Subdivision of the Catholic Women's League held a fashion show recently. The commentary will be made in both English and French by Miss Susan Batrie.

DUDSWELL JUNCTION

Mr. Paul Leclerc and family have moved from the Charlie George place and the house is now being torn down.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heath attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Evans at the Bury United Church on Saturday, April 19, also the reception, held in the evening at the Brookbury Community Hall.

Izaak Walton, the famed English angler who died in 1683, was a drygoods merchant in London in his business hours.

Skinner & Nadeau and handbags by J. N. Boisvert & Fils. Make up for the models will be supplied by Budning's Pharmacy.

The show will start at 8:15 and door prizes will be drawn at intermission. A sweater set will also be raffled.

Education, Charities Benefit

Proceeds from the "My Fair Lady" fashion show will be used by Admiral Sir Dudley Pound Chapter for welfare and educational work.

Throughout the year the chapter supplies needy families with milk daily, and clothing when needed. At Christmas, baskets of food, and toys for the children are packed and sent to brighten the homes of the needy.

In conjunction with other local chapters, Admiral Sir Dudley Pound Chapter subscribes to bursaries which are made available to graduating high school students, to enable them to further their education.

The chapter also participates in provincial and national I.O.D.E. projects to assist the less fortunate.

In the sunny days of spring, we blossom out in fashions like these, cut from rusty pure silk. Willow green blooms (left) in a leaf pattern on a white background. Collar and cuffs are linen; wide skirt spreads over taffeta and net petticoats. The easy, slightly fitted dress (center) is in pure silk shantung. It's a black-and-white herringbone print. There's a big black organza bow. The navy blue-and-white polka-dotted silk print dress (right) has bloused sleeves, neckline with knotted bow tie and full, billowy skirt of unpressed pleats.

Fashions Whirl

Drastic Style Change Most Talked Of In Years

Never has there been such a controversy over a season's styles as in the spring of 1958. Usually the difference in hemline, neckline and silhouette is trifling. But this spring, fashion has done a right-about turn, so conspicuously different, that it has the fashion world in a whirl. The chemise, sack, or the unfitted look, has a definite relaxed look. The free falling at the waist, and no tight-fitting waistline, emphasizes the softly curved bustline and hipline. Plain and basket weave tweeds, of fine imported wool, give a look of luxury to the ever popular spring suit, and with a printed silk blouse, softly tying at the waistline, a touch of color is added. The soft muted greys and blues of spring, promise a burst of riotous color for summer. Lovely flowered prints, in silk and cotton vie for favor with the vivid solid reds and blues. For the woman who feels the chemise is not for her, there is a flattering array of gay printed shirtwaist dresses, with a choice of straight slim lines or the flowing fullness of the gored and pleated skirts. Hats are delightfully feminine, from the flirty petal-strewn brim of the picture hat for that special summer occasion to the head-hugging cloche. Surely with such a variety to choose from, the style-conscious woman can find that special outfit, to give her the feel of elegance.

WELL HIDDEN

CHADDESSEN, England (CP) Mary Maxwell found a good place to hide her key when she was out—in the coalbin. But she returned one day to find the coal merchant had dumped several hundred pounds of coal in it. The fire brigade came to her assistance and retrieved the key.

CUTE DEER

Roe deer, still kept in some forests in Britain, grow to a height of about 26 inches at the shoulder.

Beauty Tips

Once baby curls disappear, young women experiment with hair styles. But many never seem to find the right combination to flatter their face shape or camouflage nature's mistakes. For example, hair pulled back severely from the face makes a large nose seem larger. Use loose waves to soften this large feature.

Fashion

Newest cufflinks from Paris for a white blouse are made of printed cotton and matched to a small collar-bow and flowered hat. Paris shows new swimsuits with long and very tight legs. They are for people who pine to look like a 1924 Mack Sennett bathing beauty. For a street dress of flannel, Jacques Heim shows sleeves made of chiffon. Chiffon appears in some form in nearly all Paris collections.

Los Angeles Fans Wondering Where Old Dodgers Are Gone, Only Two Left

Hodges And Gilliam Only Starters Yesterday From Team Who Faced Yanks In 1956, Dump Cards 10-3

Disillusioned National League fans in Los Angeles probably are wondering whether these are the same Dodgers who made Brooklyn famous.

The starting Dodger lineup against St. Louis Cardinals Sunday showed only two incumbents from the one which faced New York Yankees in the final game of the 1956 world series — Gil Hodges at first base and Junior Gilliam at second.

Gone were third baseman Jackie Robinson, catcher Roy Campanella and left fielder Sandy Amoros. On the bench were shortstop Pee Wee Reese, right fielder Carl Furillo and centre fielder Duke Snider. In their stead were Dick Gray at third, Rube Walker behind the plate, Norm Larker in left field, Don Zimmer at shortstop, Elmer Valo in right and Gino Cimoli in centre.

With Larker, Gray, Cimoli and Walker playing key roles, the transplanted Dodgers walloped St. Louis 10-3 to win their first series of the year 2-1. Gray walloped a home run, his fourth of the year, and a single, driving in three runs. Cimoli and Walker knocked in two runs each and Larker one.

STREAK SNAPPED

San Francisco Giants had their four-game winning streak snapped by Chicago Cubs who came from behind to take a 5-4 triumph. In the only other game Sunday, Philadelphia Phillies beat Milwaukee Braves 6-2. The scheduled doubleheader between Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Redlegs was postponed because of rain.

In Saturday games, the Braves defeated Philadelphia 4-2, Pittsburgh walloped Cincinnati 8-4, St. Louis beat Los Angeles 6-4 and San Francisco edged Chicago 3-1.

Johnny Podres went all the way for the Dodgers Sunday, spacing 10 Cardinal hits for his third straight victory. The left-hander has accounted for all but two of the Dodgers' triumphs in their first 12 games. Four double plays helped him immeasurably. Stan Musial rapped two of the St. Louis hits to give him 24 in 45 times at bat for a league-leading .533 average. He has hit safely in all 11 of his team's games.

FIRST OF SEASON

The Cubs not only snapped the Giants' streak to pull up into a second-place tie with Milwaukee, a half-game behind San Francisco, but executed the first triple play of the major league season. The triple killing came in the first inning.

With Willie Kirkland on second base and Willie Mays on first, Hank Sauer lined to pitcher Dick Drott, who fired to Tony Taylor at second, getting Kirkland. Taylor relayed to Dale Long at first before Mays could get back, completing the triple play. Sauer later hit his sixth homer of the season with nobody on base.

The Cubs, trailing 3-2, scored twice in the eighth to take the lead and scored what proved to be the winning run in the ninth on a triple by former Giant Bobby Thomson and a double by Long.

Jack Sanford's five-hit pitching and Richie Ashburn's first home run in two years featured the Phillies' victory over the Braves. Ashburn also singled twice and walked as the Phils rapped losing pitcher Lew Burdette for four runs and nine of their 12 hits in five innings.

The executive of the Sherbrooke Beavers closed activities for the champions of the intermediate league last night with a banquet and recreation evening at the LaSalle Hotel. Detroit Manager Jack Tighe Says Bench Has Helped Club, Dump Indians 9-5 With 14 Hits; Red Sox Win 7-5

Despite Detroit Tigers' horrible spring showing, Manager Jack Tighe maintained they were at least 25-per-cent improved over last year. Why.

"Among other things," he said, "we have a much better bench. Last year our bench was a joke. The guys used to hide when I'd be looking for a pinch hitter. This year they march up and down in front of me so I can see them."

Sunday, Tighe's Tigers whipped Cleveland Indians 9-5 in what was supposed to be the first game of a doubleheader. Rain, which caused the postponement of scheduled games in Chicago and Baltimore washed out the second engagement.

Playing with four reserves in the starting lineup, Tigers assaulted six Cleveland pitchers for 14 hits as they ended the Indians' four-game winning streak and climbed into a fourth-place tie with the Tribesmen.

CRAWL FROM CELLAR

Boston Red Sox crawled out of the cellar, beating Washington Senators 7-5 for the first time this season. The Senators had taken the first five decisions from the struggling Red Sox.

In Saturday games Kansas City Athletics overpowered Chicago White Sox 7-1, the Senators edged the Red Sox 7-5, New York Yankees shut out Baltimore Orioles 2-0 and the Indians beat the Tigers 4-1.

The limping Tigers, having dropped two straight to Cleveland, took the field with reserves Milt Bolling at shortstop, Gail Harris at first base, Gus Zernial in left field and Tim Thompson behind the plate.

Harris walloped three hits, including a double, and drove in a run. Bolling rapped two hits and Zernial got two and drove in two runs. Thompson didn't hit but he handled hurler Billy Hoef well as the left-hander chalked up his second triumph without a defeat.

SISLER GETS WIN

Pitcher Dave Sisler picked up Boston's victory but needed help from Murray Wall when the Senators racked him up for all five of their runs. Fortunately for the bespectacled righthander, the Red Sox already had seven runs off starter Russ Kemmerer and Bud Buerly.

Wall, 31-year-old relief specialist obtained from Dallas of the Texas League last August, put down the big rally by Washington and retired the Senators in order in the last two innings. Frank Malone homered and singled for the winners. It was only the fourth victory in 13 starts for the Red Sox but it moved them ahead of the White Sox, who were rained out of their game with Kansas City.

A scheduled doubleheader between the Yankees and Orioles in Baltimore also was washed out.

Five Schools Take Part In Annual E. T. High School Badminton Tourney; SHS Cops Nine Of Ten Championships

Sherbrooke High School wrapped up nine of the ten titles at stake in the Eastern Townships High School Badminton Tournament staged Saturday morning at the local school.

The only loss for the SHS squad was in the senior girls singles where Mildred McNeil, of Danville, upset the highly-favored Janet Sangster in a hard fought three-set affair. Miss McNeil posted a 12-10 win in the opening match but Miss Sangster rallied to knot the battle with a 12-11 verdict. In the deciding set it was a close battle with the Danville lass emerging with a 11-8 count to win the title and prevent SHS from making a clean sweep.

Five schools took part in the tourney with Danville, Waterloo, Drummondville, Bedford with Sherbrooke comprising the list. All matches were closely contested before the winners were declared.

In the senior boys R. Mawhood walked off with the title taking George Young of Waterloo 15-0, 15-11. In the senior mixed doubles the team of Batrie and Skinner stopped the Danville combination of Munroe and Healy. In the boys double it was Quinn and Lindsay who eked out a 17-16, 15-10 win over Cook and Harrison of Bury. The combination of Astbury and Marit took the girls doubles title from Whitehead and Milneham of Waterloo.

P. Watson of Sherbrooke continued the sweep with a 15-3, 18-13 win over D. McNeil of Danville in the Junior boys singles while R. Muir posted a 11-2, 11-2 verdict over B. Jones of Bedford to win the girls crown.

In the doubles section Math and Coates pulled through with a 15-1, 15-1 victory over Rosenbrier and Ross of Danville while Rose and Dillon duo capped the girls doubles with a 15-3, 15-3 win over the Bedford team of Munster-McCaw.

The junior mixed doubles was won by Sherbrooke with the duo of Ehenberg and Ilvis emerging with a victory over McCaw and Giroux of Bedford 15-3, 15-0 for the ninth title of the day.

Maple Leafs Take Three From Miami Despite Wide-Open Battle With Fans; Royals Split With Havana Sugar Kings

Toronto Maple Leafs swept a three-game weekend series against Miami Marlins after one of the International Baseball League's biggest rubarbas in years.

For the record, Leafs edged Marlins 2-1 Saturday, erupted for 13 hits and an 8-2 victory in the first game of a doubleheader Sunday and then won the nightcap 7-5.

The ruckus started in the third game. It broke out when Archie Wilson's blast over the left field fence in the seventh and final inning was ruled a home run. It broke a 5-5 tie. One man was on base and two were out at the time.

Umpire Augie Guglielmo ruled the hit fair. Marlins figured it went foul. So did the 2,887 fans. ROARED IN RAGE
Miami manager Kerby Farrell roared in rage and was banished from the game. Miami pitcher Windy McCall got too windy and was tossed out. So many Marlins crowded around home plate that Leafs' Stan Jok, who had walked, and Wilson had to move around them to touch the plate.

Fans rushed on to the field after the umpires. Police escorted the officials to the dugout and made several arrests. Guglielmo said he was struck on the nose by a fan who railed the officials' dressing room.

The Miami fuss overshadowed Rochester Red Wings' sweep of a doubleheader Sunday from Columbus Jets to take over first place by a half-game over Montreal Royals. The Wings won 3-2 and 4-2.

Havana Sugar Kings split a twin bill, winning the first game 3-1 and dropping the nightcap 3-2 to the Royals. Richmond Virginians took two from Buffalo Bisons 4-3 and 7-3.

Saturday, Rochester beat Richmond 3-2, Buffalo edged Columbus 5-3 and Montreal clobbered Havana 8-2.

After the ruling, the Miami game was delayed 20 minutes as the crowd threw bottles on the field. When Marlins failed to score in their half of the seventh and suffered its sixth straight loss, fans ran on to the field.

Guglielmo, who declared Wilson's hit was fair by three feet, said later:

"I was sitting in the ump's room when somebody knocked on the door and said it was sports service bringing out post-game refreshments. Pete D'Ambrosia (a fellow umpire) opened the door and a bunch of irate fans tried to get in.

"One of them popped me." This struck here (pointing to his nose). Naturally we defended ourselves and pushed them out.

Today's scheduled: Columbus at Rochester, Richmond at Buffalo, Montreal at Havana and Toronto at Miami.

Kelowna Packers Rally To Edge Belleville McFarlands 4-3; Meet Tonight In What May Be Final Tilt

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Young Davy Jones of Belleville will be in hospital tonight as his teammates meet Kelowna Packers in what may be the last game of the Allan Cup final.

Tonight's game is in Kamloops, 15 miles north of here.

Packers rallied in the third period Saturday to snatch a 4-3 win from the McFarlands and move ahead 3-1 in the best-of-seven final for the Canadian senior hockey championship.

Jones suffered a hair-line fracture of the neck when he tripped over Packers goalie Dave Gathrum. He struck his head on a slick as players ganged in front of the net.

The little forward will remain in hospital for at least a week.

Saturday it was another Jones who defeated the Macs. Red-haired Bugs Jones of the Packers scored two goals—the tying and winner—in the third period as the Packers came back from a 3-2 deficit. The winner came with only 17 seconds left in regulation time.

Playing a coach Ike Hildebrand, Ed Marineau and Jones counted for McFarlands while Bobby Daves and Brian Roche tallied for Packers before Bugs Jones counted his big ones.

Stan Leonard Wins Tournament Of Champions

Canadian Posts Course Record To Edge Casper

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (CP)—Stan Leonard, the little golfing veteran from Vancouver and Lachute, Que., has moved into the high-tax bracket.

After two years of trying, Leonard Sunday won a major United States golf event — the $40,000 Tournament of Champions — and collected $10,000.

It was the biggest single prize won by a Canadian golfer and sent Leonard's total winnings from the golf trail to $14,693 so far this year, fifth highest of all professionals.

He also got a bonus, believed to be another $10,000.

This came from C. E. Anderson of Los Angeles who "bought" Leonard in the Calcutta Pool, a legal gambler's auction in this state.

Anderson paid $11,500 for Leonard and collected $95,760 from the pool of $266,000. In a Calcutta, individuals or syndicates bid for a player. The winning bidder takes 40 per cent of the net.

ENDED NEAR-MISSES

Leonard's win ended a run of near-misses at other tournaments where he couldn't maintain his form in the clutch.

Sunday he was superb. He entered the final round with three 69s under his belt—three under par on the long, sun-baked course of the Desert Inn Country Club. Par is 36 in and out for the 7,048 yards. His final round of 68 gave him a total of 275.

Leonard, for 13 years professional at the Vancouver Marine Drive Club, won by one stroke from Bill Casper of Apple Valley, Calif.

Casper was one stroke ahead of Leonard after three rounds, thanks to a sizzling first-round 65. Tommy Bolt, the temperamental pro from Chattanooga, was equal with Leonard but his game faltered after an eagle and a birdie on the first two holes.

TWO-WAY DUEL

This set the stage for a pressure-packed duel between Leonard and Casper.

The Canadian led at the 15th hole but at the next slipped to a one-over-par 4 and the scores were equal.

Casper lost the tournament on the 17th. A water hazard trapped his ball on the 406-yard hole and he took a 6. Leonard had par 4.

Leonard had a last-minute fright on the 18th when his ball hit a spectator in the back. He took a 5, one over par, but Casper couldn't do better than a par 4.

This gave Leonard his 68 and a 72-hole total of 275, 13 strokes better than par and a record for the course. Casper's 70 for 276 and $5,000 second prize was also under the previous tournament record of 278 set by Art Wall jr. in 1954.

In Canada, Leonard set a record for winning the PGA championship six times in 1940, '41, '50, '51, '54 and '57. In the international Canada Cup matches, he has represented his country all five times and won the individual trophy in 1954.

Max Mekilok Tallies Winner For Cataracts

SHAWINIGAN, Que. (CP) — Gene (Max) Mekilok, the Quebec Hockey League's top rookie, scored the only goal of the game while netminder Eddie Johnston kicked out 41 shots Sunday as Shawinigan Cataracts blanked Quebec Aces 1-0 to take a 3-2 lead in a best-of-seven playoff final.

The 23-year-old centre from Fort William, Ont., counted at 13:57 of the final period to give Cataracts a chance to end the series in the sixth game Tuesday at Quebec City.

Quebec won the playoff crown last year and defeated Brandon Regals of the Western Hockey League for the Edinburgh Trophy.

SUNDAY'S STARS

Batting — Dale Long, Chicago Cubs, drove in three runs with a home run and double as the Cubs snapped San Francisco Giants' four-game winning streak with a 5-4 victory.

Pitching — Jack Sanford, Philadelphia Phillies, beat Milwaukee Braves with five hits and 6-2 win to prevent the Braves from taking over first place in the National League.

St. Laurent Jets Win Provincial Junior Crown

CHICOUTIMI, Que. (CP)—St. Laurent Jets won the provincial junior hockey championship here Saturday, blanking Port Alfred Nationale 5-0 for their third straight win in the best-of-five final series.

Les Strike, Lionel Gendron, Roger DeJordy, Real Trepanier and Andre Samson scored for the Jets.

Ottawa - Hull Jr. Canadiens Win 4-2

HULL, Que. (CP) — Ottawa-Hull Junior Canadiens are throwing everything but the kitchen sink at Regina Pats in the Memorial Cup hockey final, deadlocked at one game each.

The junior Habs, trying to avenge last year's loss to Flin Flon Bombers, held a 35-16 shooting advantage Sunday as they downed Pats 4-2 after losing the opener 4-3 despite a 31-19 edge in the shots.

Netminder Ken Walters has been outstanding for the Western champions and had little chance on the seven shots that got past him.

Third game of the best-of-seven series will be played Tuesday with the fourth Friday, both in Ottawa.

SERVISS OUT

In Sunday's game, Regina defenceman Jerry Serviss, picked up from Prince Albert Mintos for the playoffs, broke his right arm in a second-period collision.

Regina coach Frank Mario says Serviss will miss at least the next two games and may be out for the series.

The junior Canadiens scored all their goals in the first 12 minutes of Sunday's game but couldn't beat Walters in the last 48 while Pats counted once in each of the first two periods.

The line of Bill Carter, Gilles Tremblay and Bob Boucher accounted for three of the winners goals, Carter tallying twice and Tremblay a single. Captain Ralph Backstrom got the other.

Gordon Berenson and Bill

Hicke, a three goal man in the first game, replied for the Western champions late in the opening two periods.

The waters hereafter described are set apart for the natural propagation of fish:
In Lakes Massawippi and Little Magog, angling is allowed from May first to October thirtieth in each year; provided that the taking of Perch by angling is allowed at any time of the year in Little Lake Magog and in Round and North Hatley Bays in Lake Massawippi; provided, further that in that part of the Magog River, extending from Memphremagog Lake to the first dam, an approximate distance of four thousand feet, angling is allowed a set for Lake Memphremagog.

In Perkins Landing and Taylor brooks, tributaries of Lake Memphremagog, any kind of fishing is unlawful the year 'round; in the other following tributaries of Lake Memphremagog, the Castle, Channel Bay, Sargent Bay, Hog's Back, Powell, MacPherson, Bunker and Fitch Bay brooks, all kind of fishing is unlawful at any time before June 16th in each year.

Lake Massawippi
No person shall fish for, catch or kill in one day in Lake Massawippi, Stanstead County, more fish of any kind than will in the aggregate weigh more than fifteen pounds round weight.

Pollock Fishing Popular In East Said As Good As Salmon Fishing

HALIFAX (CP) — An angler hauling in a frisky 10-pound pollock off Hunt's Point on the Nova Scotia south shore said: "Boy, this is as good as salmon fishing!"

He had learned what more and more sport fishermen know: Pollock angling can be a lot of fun. It's inexpensive too.

Our Hunt's Point sportsman isn't the first to compare the pollock to a salmon, for he's a real fighter when hooked on light tackle.

KIN TO CODFISH
The once-neglected pollock has become one of the most popular saltwater game fish on Canada's east coast. It is kin to the codfish, mainstay of the Atlantic commercial fishery; but the pollock has a protruding lower jaw that distinguishes him from his cousin.

Forrest Watson, chief fisheries protection officer for the Maritime provinces, says pollocks are plentiful all around the maritime coast but especially in Nova Scotia.

Pollock range in weight from two to 30 pounds. Anglers catch the smaller fish—from two to five pounds—in sheltered inlets almost everywhere. The big ones are most often taken from boats off the mouth of a harbor or cove.

As the water warms the pollock moves inshore following the baitfish—herring or smelt, for instance.

June, July and August are generally the most productive months. But some anglers get them as early as April or as late as November. Mr. Watson says some have even been caught in January at Tiverton on Digby Neck near the entrance to the Bay of Fundy. As with most fish, though, they are less active when the water is cold.

CAUGHT 27-POUNDER
Cecil Griffith of Shelburne, N.S., set a world record for pollock taken on 20-pound-test line when he landed a 27-pound fish off Blanche in Shelburne County Aug. 25, 1954.

Al Simmons, outdoor editor of the Cleveland News, watched Griffith land his big one.

"The pollock is a great game fish," Simmons says. "They fight all the way and on light tackle are top sport. It's the closest to surefire fishing that I know about because Nova Scotia waters are full of them."

Most shore anglers use spinning tackle with large line capacity. Almost any type of lure will work.

The pollock is a surface feeder, and in pursuit of smaller fish on the surface he'll jump at spoons, feathers, flies, artificial minnows, plugs, even a piece of red flannel.

A Cape Breton angler says the incoming tide and the first two hours of the outgoing tide are the best times for pollock fishing.

"Be ready for his first surging run," he says. "At times he'll strip off 60 to 80 yards of line when he's first hooked."

"They will chase a top-water plug like crazy. One fisherman at Pollock Point had one jump nine times after his top-water plug."

Pollock are good eating filleted or salted. But here's an angler's tip: Bleed your pollock as soon as you land him. This will keep the fish in good shape for cooking or salting.

Check Your Tackle; It's Fishing Season Once Again

Meeting Held By Marbleton W. A.

MARBLETON — The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Church was held at the home of Mrs. Peter Jensen, Lime Ridge.

The president, Miss Hunt, was in the chair. Mrs. Clifford Weyland read the Litany from the Living Message and the usual prayers were said. Lenten offering boxes were handed in, also the last of the sewing and knitting for the Gordon School Bale.

Members were reminded of the forth coming biennial meeting to be held in Lennoxville May 20th and 21st. Mrs. William Hetherington and Mrs. R. W. L. Thorndloe, will attend as delegates.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. R. J. Pudden presided at the tea table arranged with Spring flowers and white tapers.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday Evening, May 27th.

A WHOPPER — Frank Urbash, 14, and 160 pounds (right) poses with his uncle John S. Kardyko and a "friend" they pulled from the Fraser river near Vancouver. The 350-pound sturgeon was caught on a seven-pound test line after it had been lured by dew worms. Frank's reel jammed after the fish had taken about 200 feet of line and he pulled the monster in by hand after a four-hour battle. The fish pulled them about five miles through the river in their dinghy. (CP Photo)

Annual Attack Of Fish Fever; Cure — Open Angling Season

Fishing fever is making its annual attack on thousands of Canadians this month. The only known cure—the opening of the angling season—is getting under way.

From coast to coast fishermen are checking tackle and poring over regulations that vary as widely as the stories they'll tell next winter.

For example — though true anglers shudder at the thought—Ontario residents may spear coarse fish in April and May in certain clearly defined areas.

NOVEL ANGLING
In Saskatchewan—With special permission—you can even use a bow and arrow. It's becoming a popular sport in the province.

In Newfoundland — as in New Brunswick — use of any bait or lure except an artificial fly is prohibited for salmon fishing.

One major change in salmon angling has been proposed for all three Maritime provinces but has not yet been put into effect by the federal government, which sets regulations on migratory fish.

The change would bring forward to May 15 from June 5 for the opening date for salmon angling on streams entering the Bay of Chaleur on New Brunswick's north shore and the Northumberland Strait from northern Nova Scotia. It would also apply to streams in Prince Edward Island and Cape Breton Island's Inverness County.

In New Brunswick "jugging" and "jigging" are specifically prohibited. Jugging involves attaching a line to a bottle or can and letting it drift, while jigging refers to hooking a fish on parts of its body other than the mouth.

SNARES BANNED
Ontario regulations specify that no baited or unbaited snagger or snare may be used.

Anglers are forbidden to have live lampreys — an unwelcome, eel-like parasite—in their possession for bait. And live bait fish may not be released into any waters other than those from which they were originally taken.

In Manitoba, fish of any size may be retained but regulations warn that any fish released should be returned to the water uninjured.

Beginning this year, the fisherman who lands a fish over a certain weight for the species, will be given a bronze "master angler" badge and a certificate signed by the Manitoba minister of mines and resources to prove he actually did land it.

Saskatchewan has also dropped size regulations this year. The province has banned use of minnows — alive or dead — as bait. They've found minnows are a deterrent to carp, the hardy and voracious species that has been steadily encroaching on the province's game fish preserves for the last five years.

"PLUS ONE" RULE
Like many other provinces, Saskatchewan has a "plus one" regulation connected with its bag limit. For example, in certain areas an angler may take 25 pounds of lake trout in a day, plus that big one that will end up over his fireplace.

A new development in Alberta is the stocking of rainbow trout by the provincial government in "potholes"—small lakes rich in food but which have experienced summer or winter kills.

In British Columbia, there is an all-year open season on most streams and lakes and in salt

Plans Made For Compton County Historical Society

COOKSHIRE — About 50 citizens from Compton County and a few of their friends from other counties, met in St. Peter's Anglican Church Hall here to form the initial plans for an Historical Society and Museum in connection with the county.

The guest speaker, Ed Struthers, of Stanstead, president of the Stanstead County Historical Society, gave an interesting and informative resume of the history of the district, dealing with the modes of transportation for people and of mail, giving a number of anecdotes about the Indians, the French, the English and the United Empire Loyalists, the famous "Craie Road", the means of earning one's living in saw-mills, tanneries, etc.

Mr. Struthers gave a list of documents and books which would provide invaluable information to French and English, alike, if they would take the time to read them. He maintained that in forming a society, one should keep in mind the hardships of their ancestors, their worthwhile endeavors, accomplishments, etc., and that the three "A's" could maintain this ideal, namely, "accuracy, awareness, appreciation".

Other speakers were the Rev. Father Labrecque and Dr. Leppine, of Cookshire, Claude G. Gosselin, M. L. A. for Compton, of East Angus, "Mac" Stearns, M. P. for Compton-Frontenac, of Lake Megantic, all of whom pledged their support to the worthwhile project. Dr. Lowry stated that the Sawyer Hill Cemetery was being cleaned up, and asked any who had relatives there to contact him.

The Canon W. C. Dunn, interim chairman, introduced and thanked the speaker. He made special mention of two of the oldest people of Compton County who were in the audience, Miss Ida McKay and her brother, Wilbert McKay of Sawyerville.

Mrs. Ronald Learned presented the names of the nominating committee who would draw up a slate of officers for the society, namely, Mrs. F. G. Bennett, of Canterbury, Mr. Pierre Beaudoin, of Scottstown, Thomas Stokes, of Bury, Mr. C. M. MacRae and Mr. Laurent Dumont, of Cookshire, Mr. Alden Rousseau, of East Angus, Mrs. George Parsons, of Bury, was appointed interim secretary.

There was a short question and answer period, and Canon Dunn stated that, already, a number of articles and literature were in the hands of the interim committee of all kinds would be welcome, but that contribution.
