RUSSIA THREATENS UNITED RED FRONT

Local Firm Experimenting To Produce New Super Cloth

By CAROL WITTY

Experiments with a new type of fabric for the Department of Defence are being carried out at the Paton Manufacturing Co. Ltd., here, it was learned today from R. Neill, general manager.

The new fabric, combining synthetic and natural fibres, is achieved by a new method of spinning yarns. It is said to have five to 10 times the strength of ordinary materials. According to a release from Ottawa the material soon will be made available to the textile industry under crown-owned patents.

Defence Minister Campney informed the Commons yesterday that the British government also has asked for test samples of cloth made under the new method developed by defence department scientists.

Mr. Campney commented on the new spinning method in reply to questions by Harold E. Winch (CCF—Vancouver East).

He said it will mean both lighter and stronger clothing for the armed forces. It also could be applied to canvas, upholstery and other heavy fabrics. It combined the tensile strength of synthetic fibres with the qualities of natural fibres.

Col. H. A. Delcellier, one of two men who developed the method, already has said clothing made from the new-type yarn has a "tearing strength" five to 10 times that of present fabrics

In The Short Run

China Worse Threat Than Russia – Dulles

New York —(AP)— State Secretary Dulles said Monday the Chinese Communists parallel Adolf Hitler in their aggressive fanaticism.'

They are "dizzy with success," Dulles said, and have an "exaggerated sense of their own power."

Though Russia may be more dangerous to the free world in the long run, Dulles said, "in the short run, the Chinese Communists may prove more dangerous and provocative of war."

"The picture I have to draw is a sombre one," Dulles told an advertising club luncheon, "but it is by no means a hopeless one.

"I believe that there is still time to bring the Chinese Communists to a more sober mood. The fact is that their so-called 'successes' have not in fact been due so much to their own strength as to contributing causes. Among these have been the restraint and patience of the free nations and their love of peace."

Dulles said this does not mean the free powers are weak and fearful. He said this forebearance stems from "strength and resolution."

With these qualities, the free powers can afford to be "patient up to the point where patience is clearly productive only of dangerous misunderstanding and increased risk," he said, adding:

"The task of peacefully bringing the Chinese Communists to see that reality is one of utmost difficulty."

A major step in that direction, he said, was "the action whereby Congress, with virtual unanimity, authorized the president to use the armed forces of the United States in the Formosa area."

Dulles said "it is not surprising that the Chinese Communist leaders should feel a certain sense of intoxication. They have, with impunity, three times challenged and rebuffed the United Nations." He added that the Chinese Reds seem to feel the entire free world in the Western Pacific is "ripe to crumble under the impact of their successive thrusts."

Aruba Turns To Romania

Helsinki, Finland—(Reuters)—The Finnish tanker Aruba, bound for Communist China with a cargo of jet fuel, was reported here today to have turned back to the Romanian Black sea port of Constanta.

The newspaper Helsingin Sanomat, which gave the report, says it has not been confirmed. The Re Be Company, the tanker's owners, declined comment.

The Aruba was reported earlier to be near the Nicobar islands in the Indian ocean with her 13,000-ton cargo. The crew had agreed to take the ship as far as the neutral Indian-held islands but had refused to sail to "dangerous" ports.

The Western powers claimed the shipment, originally loaded at the Romanian port, violated the United Nations ban on the export of strategic goods to Communist China.

CNR Boss Is Optimistic Despite Loss

Ottawa—(CP)—The biggest cut in operating expenses since mid-depression 1932 wasn't enough to keep the publicly-owned Canadian National Railways out of the red last year. But CNR President Donald Gordon doesn't fear the future.

A general slackening in North American rail traffic hit the railway with the worst revenue drop in its 33-year existence, leaving it with a 1954 deficit—first in three years—of $28,785,000.

A $50,800,000 drop in freight revenues was the big factor in a $56,000,000 fall of operating intake to $640,637,000 from $696,622,000 in 1953. But operating costs were slashed roughly $32,600,000, through employee layoffs and improved operating methods, to $626,465,000 from the $659,000,000 the year before.

And despite last year's financial showing, Mr. Gordon expressed optimism for the future in the $2,500,000,000 company's annual report tabled Monday in Parliament. He said the year had been one of progress in many ways.

As in all its other years, the CNR reported a 1954 operating surplus of $14,171,000, compared with $37,573,000 in 1953. But this was before taking into account its bond interest liability of $31,209,393, divided between $25,883,306 owed the public on bonds and $5,376,087 owed the federal treasury.

Never Such Reaction

Billy Graham Reaps "Harvest Of Souls"

Glasgow. —(AP)— Billy Graham's all-Scotland religious crusade got off to a flying start Monday night. The "harvest of souls" from the 13,000 persons jamming four-acre Kelvin Hall was the greatest ever, the American evangelist said.

Hundreds responded to Graham's pleas to make "decisions for Christ" and filed off into a side room for a private word with the evangelist. No exact check could be made on the number, but Graham said he had never had such a reaction at an evangelical meeting.

Almost all the Protestant religious notables of Scotland appeared on the platform for the opening of Graham's six-week salvation drive. There was no sign of the dissensions which some had feared, and the reaction when he asked for "decisions" stilled the forecasts of some clergymen that traditionally reserved Scots would not respond to his type of evangelism.

Graham stood in the consulting room with bowed head as the throng of penitents filed in. Most of them were women.

Graham told his audience that through their souls they would live to be 1,000,000 years old.

"You feed your body, brush your hair, put on makeup and wear clothes," he said, "and it's all for the body which dies like grass withers. But for the soul, which goes on and on, you do so little."

City services were mobilized to care for the crowd attending the service.

Graham said Scots are to be found all over the world, and repercussions of a revival in Scotland would be felt everywhere—certainly in Canada and the United States.

Plan To Rebuild Nicolet

By SHIRLEY MORRIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Nicolet, Que. —(CP)— Municipal authorities, with the help of the Red Cross, made plans today to rebuild the heart of this town and find homes for 300 persons forced into the streets by a $700,000 fire.

The ruins of 35 buildings, covering nine blocks of the main street, were still smouldering when the town council met yesterday in emergency session.

Committees were appointed, under the supervision of Red Cross workers from Quebec, to launch a relief fund; to find temporary shelter, food and clothing for the homeless; and to draw plans for reconstruction of the business district. The first contributor was Bishop Albertus Martin of Nicolet who pledged $5 000.

The fire, which gutted most of Notre Dame street in this town on the south shore of the St. Lawrence river 86 miles east of Montreal, started in a restaurant owned by Albiny Mathieu at midnight Sunday.

Fire chief Edouard Beaulac of Nicolet called for help from Drummondville, Pierreville, St. Gregoire and St. Leonard when he saw that his nine-man voluntary crew was no match for the flames, fed by 12 explosions from gas tanks and oil furnaces.

The people of Sherbrooke sent an official letter of condolence to burned-out Nicolet residents this morning.

The letter, coming from Mayor Emile Levesque, expressed the sympathy felt by local residents for those left homeless in a fire which raged through Nicolet yesterday morning leaving hundreds homeless before finally being brought under control.

It took only 90 minutes for fire to engulf the nine blocks but another six hours to bring it under control.

The homeless were fed supper Monday night at the Nicolet Academy, run by the Brothers of Christian Schools. Another religious order, the Sisters of Charity, offered to repair clothing salvaged from the fire but most of the families were left with only the clothes they wore.

Repair crews started work at daybreak restoring power and telephone service as demolition gangs used heavy pieces of timber to topple crumbling walls and chimneys.

The town's five schools and main factories were closed for the day to give the people time to recover from the disaster.

Mayor Ubald Caron, an insurance broker, estimated the loss at $700,000 and said 100 claims were filed Monday.

Two firemen were injured in the blaze—Jean-Luc Lemire of Nicolet who suffered minor burns on the face and Adrien Larrivee of Drummondville, whose foot was pierced by a nail.

The first was the worst in the province since 1950 when flames destroyed 300 dwellings and 20 stores at Rimouski at a loss of $20,000,000. Three days later, on May 9, a $16,000,000 fire in Cabano destroyed 120 buildings and left 1,000 homeless.

Film Board Vetoed Parliamentary Show

Ottawa—(CP)—Immigration Minister Pickersgill said Monday the National Film Board itself made the decision to sheive a television film showing Parliament at work.

He added that he agreed with the decision and takes the responsibility for it.

Mr. Pickersgill was asked about a press report that the film board had been forced to shelve the film after criticisms by the minister and other officials.

He said the film board's decision was made after he and other members, including Commons Speaker Rene Beaudoin, had seen a number of shots taken by NFB crews.

The press report said one of the criticisms was that the film did not contain shots of Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Mr. Pickersgill said Monday he does not think "a picture purporting to show Parliament at work would be very adequate if it showed neither the Prime Minister nor the leader of the Opposition at work."

He was asked why the project wasn't shelved before the money was spent.

"I intend to come clean," Mr. Pickersgill replied. "Sometimes things are done by enthusiastic government employees without notifying the minister responsible."

That had been done in this case and then the NFB itself suggested it would not make a satisfactory film, he added.

Retaliates For West's Paris Pact

London — (AP) — Russia has repeated her threat to form a unified Communist military command for Eastern Europe if West German rearmament is ratified.

In a Moscow radio broad cast, the Soviet foreign ministry announced Monday night that the Russians and their seven East European allies have held new talks in connection with their Dec. 2 pledge to draw up their own mutual security treaty if the West approves the Paris agreements.

"In the course of these consultations," the announcement said, "complete unanimity of views revealed itself . . . concerning the principles of such a treaty and the organization of unified command of the states."

American officials in Washington view the new Soviet announcement as a further propaganda effort to quicken French opposition to West German rearmament. The French National Assembly has approved the arms treaties but the upper house, the Council of the Republic, takes them up Wednesday.

The Americans said any "unified command" set up by the Soviet Union for East Europe would merely formalize what already is a fact— that the Russians control the military in their satellites.

The Russian announcement said the latest talks were attended by representatives of the Soviet Union, Poland, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, Albania and Communist China. The Peiping government "expressed its full agreement with measures outlined," the announcement added.

Junior Size Atom Blast In Nevada

Las Vegas, Nev.—(AP)—The sixth atomic test of the 1955 series, believed to be a "junior grade" size, was triggered by the United States atomic energy commission at 8:05 a.m. EST today.

The explosion was seen here, 75 miles from the Yucca Flat test site, as a quick white flash with a diminishing orange color that lingered for a second or two.

The blast was also seen in Los Angeles, 250 miles away, where the white and orange brightness illuminated the intervening mountains. The cloud from the blast rose high and fast.

It was assumed that as scheduled 2,000 Marines were taking part in atomic warfare manoeuvres in the area of the blast site.

The two-day manoeuvres began Monday when the Marines moved into bivouac areas 11 miles from ground zero. Some were to remain there during the blast, waiting for operations planned for after the explosion.

Eight hundred others were poised in trenches 3,500 yards from the detonation tower. After the explosion they were to move into loading zones and board helicopters for an airborne attack on simulated objectives in the blast area.

The Marine force is scheduled to make further simulated attacks Wednesday in the blast area.

Advise Churchill Against "British Version" Yalta

London. —(AP)— Foreign office chiefs have advised Prime Minister Churchill against publishing Britain's version of the Yalta conference because it might damage Anglo-American relations, it was learned Monday night.

Foreign Secretary Eden's view is that Britain's record of the proceedings will expose differences between British and American interpretations of the same conversations, inaccuracies that may have been completely unintentional and wrongly-drawn emphasis on individual statements.

In turn, public discussion of these differences inevitably would lead to a long-distance hassle between London and Washington, Eden apparently fears.

The final effect on Anglo-American relations and on the two countries' ties with their European allies would only be harmful, in the opinion of foreign office chiefs.

These views apparently were held even before American records of the Yalta meetings of President Roosevelt, Premier Stalin and Churchill were released last week.

A first reading of the American version has served only to reinforce the opinions of foreign office high-ups, it was learned.

The American text is still under close study both by the foreign office and Churchill's aides.

Britain lodged a blanket objection in principle against one-sided disclosure of secret talks so recently held. There has been no new British objection since that attitude was outlined.

The Doofer Family

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY

SPRING AGAIN

Tall, skinny Hammie Hoofer leaned against a tree, playing his accordion. He was half asleep. The bright warm spring sun was bringing out even more freckles, and soon his face would be as red as his hair—from sunburn. Fat Sammie Spoofer sat on a log fishing, his straw-colored hair blowing wildly. It was just like a wonderful dream. Winter had gone—and now it was spring again!

Aside from Hammie's accordion playing softly, and an occasional bird call, all was peaceful and still. Soon Hammie's animal friends began to venture from their holes and from the trees. The woodland creatures knew Hammie and Sammie well. Both boys kept quiet for awhile, so as not to frighten them. Then the birds joined in the music and sang with Hammie's accordion. After awhile Sammie Spoofer broke the silence. He sighed happily:

"Oh boy! Isn't this something Hammie? You know what?"

"What?" Hammie asked lazily.

"You know I just feel so sorry for all our good ole friends back there in Dooferville—workin'. Slaves—that's what they are. Just slaves."

"Well," Sammie yawned, "somebody's got to work. How do you figure we're goin' to eat if somebody doesn't work?"

Sammie shrugged. Then he shook his head. "But it's a pity—that's what it is. An awful pity. Ever'body with their noses to the grindstone on a nice warm day like this. The first day of spring ought to be a holiday. Like George Washington's birthday—or the the Fourth of July. I'm goin' to write to the President of the United States. That's what I'll do. To make it a holiday!"

Hammie scoffed: "You and your crazy ideas. You're coo-coonuts!"

Suddenly Sammie sprang up. He threw down his fishing line. "Oh boy! Have I got an idea, Hammie! I know how we can get all our good ole friends out of their stuffy ole houses and stores and office and places. Oh, boy!

Hammie looked alarmed. "Now Sammie, don't you dare get us into any trouble. You're up to something again."

But Sammie didn't listen. He was running toward Dooferville—just as fast as his fat legs would carry him. Hammie sighed. But it was too nice a day to worry. So he fell asleep—playing his accordion.

Ashby Judgment

Six Year Sentence In Shooting Case

Six years in penitentiary was imposed upon Ulric Ashby, 65, of East Angus, found guilty on March 4 on a charge of manslaughter in the death of Gerard Lemire, 21, a boarder in the Ashby home on December 13.

Ashby had been originally charged with murder but a Court of King's Bench jury sitting under Mr. Justice Philippe Cliche reduced the charge to manslaughter.

Before Judge Cliche pronounced sentence this morning, Armand Nadeau, Q.C., the defence attorney, made a plea for clemency, pointing out that the jury had accepted the defence contention the shooting was accidental, although an element of negligence may have been present.

He pleaded that because of the age of the deceased a long sentence was unjustified and also referred to the mental sufferings experienced by the convicted man and his family.

Crown Prosecutor Roland Dugre pointed out the seriousness of the case and said that there was no reason to consider outside circumstances because Ashby had been found guilty of criminal negligence.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Cliche declared that there had been grave negligence and that he felt the defendent should be put away as an example to others and a protection to his fellow men.

He had considered imposing a life sentence, he said, but in view of the plea advanced by the defence attorney had decided on a six-year prison term.

Lemire was shot while playing cards at a table in the Ashby kitchen on Saturday morning, December 13. The defence made no effort to deny the facts concerning the shooting but argued that because the Crown had failed to provide a motive and that there were all indications that it was accidental, a verdict of murder was unjustified.

Jury Provides Difficulty In Bordeleau Case

Difficulties in the selection of a jury prevented the actual opening of the trial of Georges Bordeleau, 27, of Asbestos who is appearing before the Court of King's Bench on a charge of manslaughter arising out of the shooting of his wife, the former Jeannine Dion, at Windsor Mills, on November 14 last.

At a late hour this morning, only two jurors had proved acceptable to the crown or the defence, although twelve had been examined.

Five were rejected on preremptory challenges by the defence and one by the Crown, with four being ruled partial by the tellers, apparently the chief ground being that they had read the story of the case as it appeared in a certain Montreal weekly devoted to crime news.

The incident which claimed the life of Mrs. Bordeleau occurred at the home of her mother, Mrs. Lucien Dion, in Windsor Mills on the late afternoon of Sunday, November 14.

Bordeleau had returned from a hunting trip in the vicinity of Brompton Lake on which he had been accompanied by his brother-in-law. He entered the room in which his wife was sitting, rocking their young baby.

He began manipulating the rifle with the apparent purpose of cleaning it, when the gun discharged, a bullet striking Mrs. Bordeleau in the heart, killing her instantly, but the baby escaped unharmed.

At coroner's inquest held a few weeks later, Bordeleau was held responsible for the death of his wife and after the preliminary inquiry held before Judge Redmond Hayes in Magistrate's Court on January 14, he was ordered to stand trial before the current session of the Court of King's Bench on a charge of manslaughter.

Lodges Donated Hospital Chairs

Wheelchairs which were presented to the Sherbrooke Hospital Sunday afternoon were sponsored by the individual Rebekah Lodges in Lennoxville and Sherbrooke.

It was stated in Monday's issue of the Record that the wheelchairs were donated by the Rebekah Assembly of Quebec, the provincial body of the organization. However the money was raised by two local lodges, Princess Rebekah Lodge No. 4 of Sherbrooke, and Myrtle Rebekah Lodge No. 28 of Lennoxville.

Each lodge presented one chair and was responsible for raising the money for its presentation.

Bury It!

Council Approves Change In Disposal Of Garbage

Within the next few weeks, Sherbrooke will inaugurate a new system for the disposal of its garbage. The refuse will be buried, instead of burned.

The first step in this direction was taken at the regular session of the City Council held last evening when the purchase of a special-type Allis-Chalmers tractor from Mussen's Equipment Ltd., at a cost of $17,900 was approved.

The idea of burying the garbage is simple. First the tractor digs a deep trench into which the refuse is thrown. Then the waste is flattened out by a heavy power roller and the earth thrown back to level off the ground.

Proponents of the scheme claim several important advantages from the new system.

First and foremost, it eliminates the need for the construction of a new incinerator to replace the present installation which is in such a bad state that it is virtually useless. Thus something in the vicinity of $250,000 will be saved in capital costs.

Secondly, operating costs are much cheaper than by the use of the incinerator. It is estimated that the new system will cost in the vicinity of $10,000 a year, whereas the present system of burning the garbage approximates $45,000, representing an annual saving of $35,000—an economy equal to double the investment in the first year.

It will also permit important improvement in the terrain of the city. Gullies and quarries can be filled in and the larger parks levelled off.

The only other item of importance to come before the meeting last evening was an amendment to the traffic by-law designed to curb motorists in their practise of splashing pedestrians during slushy periods.

The new clause reads:

"It is forbidden for any driver to operate his vehicle in a manner to splash persons using the sidewalk or waiting to cross the street; in addition to the penalty provided in section 82 (covering the fines for speeding and reckless driving) all persons found guilty of an infraction of the present by-law will be condemned to pay the cost of cleaning and any other damage incurred."

Funeral service for Ernest E. Spafford, who passed away at his home, 1072 Dominion Avenue, Friday evening, was held in St. Peter's Church at three o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The largely attended service was conducted by Rev. Guy Marston, while the choir, under the direction of Morris Austin, sang three hymns, Let Saints on Earth, Jesu Lover of My Soul and Jerusalem the Golden.

Bearers were Dr. E. Cooper, A. C. Ross, Russell McCabe, Harry Connor, East Broughton, Vic Newton and Colin Campbell.

In his early days, Mr. Spafford worked for J. S. Mitchell, the Eastern Townships Bank and for Phillips-Dodge Mining Company in Arizona.

A noted sportsman, he was a former race horse owner including both saddle horses and hackneys. Before his death, Mr. Spafford was the last surviving member of Sherbrooke's first hockey team, formed in 1901.

He is survived by his wife, the former Luceille O'Donnell; one son, Warren; a brother, Earle, and a sister, Mrs. Ross Stevenson, Montreal. Three brothers, Claude, Arthur and Lorne, predeceased him. Visiting E.T.

Noted Naturalist To Deliver Lecture

Sherbrooke and district residents interested in wildlife will have the privilege of hearing Roger Tory Peterson, famous naturalist, artist and author, who has agreed to stop over on the way to his Connecticut home from an engagement in Westmount's Victoria Hall.

Mr. Peterson will provide explanatory comment for "Wild America," a ninety minute colored motion picture, dealing primarily with waterfowl and other bird life of North America, and secondarily with animals, scenery and flowering plants. The programme will start at 8.00 p.m. Saturday, March 26, in the Lennoxville High School Auditorium. The sponsor of this programme, the newly-formed St. Francis-Massawippi Bird Club, suggests that, in general, children under twelve years of age should not attend unless they are already very interested in nature study and accompanied by adults. Mr. Peterson will speak to a children's audience in Montreal but his busy schedule left no time for such a gathering here.

Few nature or bird lovers need an introduction to Roger Tory Peterson. His Field Guides to the Birds have become ornithologists' Bibles, and are now the standard guides for field identification of birds, for beginners and experts alike. His famous bird paintings adorn the walls of many homes, his splendid illustrations highlight bird books; and he has lectured before many distinguished audiences.

Although Mr. Peterson is known today as an outstanding authority on the bird life of North America and as a popular lecturer on natural history subjects, with a strong interest in conversation, he began as a decorative artist, preparing for this work by four years' study in New York City, chiefly at the National Academy of Design. Weekends he roamed the fields and woods studying birds, to whose fascination he had succumbed at the age of eleven. He soon turned this training to advantage. In his middle twenties he produced his first Field Guide, a book that set completely new standards of excellence and practical usefulness.

Over 200,000 copies of this guide have been sold. Under Peterson's editorship Houghton-Mifflin has produced a series of similar Field Guides for the study of mammals, butterflies, shells, etc., and just a short time ago his outstanding Field Guide to the Birds of Western Europe was released. His "Birds Over America," beautifully illustrated with his own photography, and written for the general public, is an outstanding volume.

As an author, artist, scientist and lecturer, Roger Tory Peterson has probably interested more people in birdlife than any other man living. Since 1946 he has been an Audubon Screen Tour lecturer, one of a group of naturalists who have been carrying beautiful and instructive nature films to more than 100 cities in the United States and Canada, thus reaching an estimated half a million people each year. The growing enthusiasm for these programs is akin to that shown for the Disney wildlife productions of recent years.

Mr. Peterson suspects that the fundamental reason that people are attracted to birds is that they suggest freedom and escape from restraint. He quotes an acquaintance as saying that "it becomes necessary, occasionally, simply to throw open the hatches and ventilate one's psyche, or whatever you choose to call it. This means an excursion to some place where the sky is not simply what you see at the end of the street." On March 26, we will have the rare opportunity to see the work of and hear a man whose interest in birds started as a release and changed to an intellectual pursuit. All who are interested in the nature of the living world about them may be stimulated by this naturalist whose artistry, whose nature writings and whose interest in the educational aspects of his profession have enhanced the enjoyment of wildlife by many thousands of the residents of North America.

Soviets Speed Training Of Scientists

A research chemist said last evening that Canada's rate of growth in the number of research men falls far short of that in the Soviet Union and drastic steps in education will have to be taken here within the next 15 years.

Dr. F. W. Mathews, assistant manager of C.I.L.'s Central Research Laboratory at Beloeil told a Kiwanis meeting that "universities will have to be doubled in Canada in the next 15 years if we want to keep our lead in the field of research."

Stressing the importance of education, he said that in proportion to population Russia is turning out nearly twice as many engineers as the whole Western world.

"Though Russia is not up to us in actual number of trained men, this indicates a great need for more students. For our research is no better than the men we put in it," he added.

Dr. Mathews went on to talk about "Prospecting in Chemical Industry" and told a few of the problems facing today's research.

A former student of Lennoxville High School and Bishop's University, born in Newfoundland, he was introduced by Dr. Tom Cadman and thanked by Dr. Merlin Hicks.

Seated at the head table at this regular meeting in the New Sherbrooke Hotel were: Dr. Cecil Delaney, Dr. Tom Cadman, Dr. F. W. Mathews, Reg. Bishop, who presided, Dr. Merlin Hicks, Gaston Gaucher and Sid. Hart.

The Bevan Ouster

When the British Labor Party tossed fiery Aneurin Bevan out of its parliamentary councils as a prelude to full expulsion, it entered upon what may be the rockiest road it has travelled in many years.

Between now and October, 1956, Britain must hold another national election. Probably the Labor party's chances of overturning the Conservatives were not very strong anyway, but certainly Bevan's ouster has further weakened its prospects.

For years the party has been torn by factional strife. Bevan, a left wing neutralist always loudly critical of America, gave the battle sharp focus in 1951 when he quit the then ruling Labor cabinet. What brought the issue to its present pass was his recent taunting public challenge of Clement Attlee, party leader and former prime minister.

Stung by Bevan's contempt, Attlee saw his own position imperiled. Never a strong leader, he often has met Bevan's powerful thrusts by compromise, by borrowing from his opponent's proposals in an effort to undercut him. But evidently he was convinced or pressured into accepting that he had to meet Bevan's newest defiance.

As it turns out, the narrow 141 to 112 vote for Bevan's ouster is no great help to Attlee. The feeling grows in political circles that the long quarrel has impaired his leadership seriously, and that soon he must yield the reins to another, probably Herbert Morrison.

Whether or not Attlee hangs on, his party's immediate future has dimmed. Among the party membership in Parliament, Bevan has a considerable personal following which is unlikely to be easily reconciled.

Even a good many Labor right wingers were reluctant to cast him out. They were not thinking only of his House of Commons following or his hold on some parts of the British public, enhanced by his flair for oratory. They remember he was expelled once before, in 1939, and came back to gain greater stature than ever. It could happen again, and there could be reprisals against those who voted to oust him.

On the other hand, some Laborites see the move as a healthy gain, arguing that Bevan's general wildness and especially his rash outlook on foreign affairs have driven thousands away from Labor's banner.

If there is to be a beneficial result, it will hardly be quickly felt. British citizens may well conclude that a party so badly shattered is not a fit instrument for governing.

The Labor Party's distress is naturally the ruling Conservative Party's opportunity. But it's an open question whether Prime Minister Churchill will call an early election to take advantage of the split. Some say it's better to wait for a time more favorable to the Conservatives' program, for Labor's internal troubles seem destined to go on so long as Bevan has the voice to attract a following. And his vocal cords are reported to be in excellent condition.

Close Scrutiny Needed

The decision of the federal government to delay action for one year, at least, on a request to guarantee the bonds of the Trans-Canada Pipeline Company, formed to carry natural gas from Alberta to Eastern Canada, can be easily appreciated when the many factors entering into the proposal are examined.

First, there is the broad principle of whether or not the government of Canada should contribute financial assistance, either by outright grants or by the guarantee of bonds, to private companies. Anybody who has studied the story of the railway-building era of the early part of the twentieth century can appreciate the dangers inherent when a government — municipal, provincial or federal — lends its credit to supporting the interest of a group of promoters.

Then there is the proposed method of financing itself.

Although there has been no official statement, all reports indicate the Company plans to raise $225,000,000 or 75 per cent of the estimated $300,000,000 cost, through an issue of 4½ per cent mortgage bonds, which would be a first charge on the revenues of the line and ostensibly guaranteed by the federal government.

Then there would be an issue of $37,500,000 of six per cent debentures, later convertible into common stock. A second $37,500,000 would be in common stock. Even when the debentures are converted, the holders of one-quarter interest in the line would control the company and after the payments of the mortgage bonds, would collect the profits.

Another important factor is that the company will be a monopoly, with an important hold on producers and consumers of gas alike and on the national interest at large. Certainly the government will have considerable difficulty in justifying extensive financial aid to any such undertaking until the promoters give some indication of risking some of their own money, rather than of advancing a "Heads-I-Win, Tails-You-Lose" proposition.

Wonder Why?

Not long ago a delegation came before the City Council seeking organization of a morality squad to combat obsene literature. Councillors said they would approach the Chief of Police to take the necessary measures but we have heard nothing since.

We are wondering why this session, unlike a number of others elsewhere, did not produce much response to the challenge of horror comics and improper literature.

After all, as an American humorist has pointed out — this will perhaps bring indignant comment — there is fun in it:

Senator Smoot is an institute
Not to be bribed with pelf;
He guards our homes from erotic tomes
By reading them all himself.

Bet Pays Off

Radio Show Aids Wheelchair Drive

By WILLIAM HARCOURT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

New York. —(CP)— At exactly 11:30 Monday morning a picture of a man lying rigid in a hospital bed flashed on the screens of several million American television sets.

A voice said:

"This is a picture of Walter Callow. They call him the human log. He's blind. He can't move enough to brush a fly off his nose. Yet from his bed in a Halifax, Nova Scotia, veterans' hospital, he directs a wonderful work for handicapped people. A friend of his here is going to tell you about him."

The picture of the man flashed off and a picture of a box of slap flashed on. An excited announcer's voice cried:

"Strike It Rich!"

The "show with the heart" was on the air.

Seconds later Master of Ceremonies Warren Hull introduced John Fisher, Canadian radio reporter, to tell Walter Callow's story.

In a few, brief minutes Fisher told the story: How Callow, training as a pilot for the Royal Flying Corps, first injured his back on a training flight in 1917; of 13 years of hospital treatment and long periods in bed; of Callow's entering the hospital for the rest of his life in 1937; of his going blind in 1939.

Fisher described Callow's work for servicemen during the Second World War. Canadians serving overseas received more than 3,000,000 cigarets in his name.

After the war Callow's work turned to crippled veterans and civilians, and handicapped children.

"Nova Scotia well knows Callow's wheelchair coaches. For eight years they've taken crippled children to outings, brought maimed veterans and civilians to sports events, carried aged folk on drives through the country

"The bus with the back that lowers to become a ramp for wheelchairs is Callow's own invention. But he's never seen one.

"Only his lips move. His arms are locked in knots. He has no legs—now. After nearly a quarter of a century of suffering, they were amputated above the knee."

Fisher's voice, warm and sincere, told of Callow's hope of interesting organizations throughout Canada and the United States in similar work.

Callow needs money for more coaches. He wants to send them on a tour of the continent to spread his work of aiding shutins, although he'll never again move from his hospital bed.

As Fisher talked, the hush in the studio deepened. Blase TV lighting crews paused to listen. In front of monitor sets backstage, other contestants on folding chairs leaned forward attentively.

"Walter looks like a big covered log in white. His voice has the undertones of a physician or minister. He's the finest human being I'll ever know," Fisher said

When Fisher finished with an appeal to his listeners (estimated by the producer at 20,000,000) for aid, a roar of applause rolled up from the studio audience. Then Hull took Fisher across stage to a giant heart-shaped sign where the quiz is held. Fisher was ready to try his luck for Walter Callow.

Each contestant starts with $30. He can bet as much as he wants, and if he wins its doubled. If he bets it all and keeps winning he has $240 at the end of the third question. If he answers the fourth and last correctly he wins $500.

He made it.

Fisher won the $500. He named the date: father's day; the song: "Three O'Clock in the Morningf"; a French expression: bon vivant; a famed ship: the Graf Spee.

Fisher went back to his hotel to call Callow, in his bed at Halifax's Camp Hill Military Hospital.

In Callow's room a nurse adjusted the phone head-set. "Hello," said Callow.

"Hello, Walt? John. You'd better get up and start dancing. I've got $500 to start . . ."

And across town in the "Strike It Rich" offices, phones were ringing—people wanting to help the work of "The Human Log."

Hold On, Folks, We're Going Around a Corner!

First Syrian Orthadox Church Was Established In Montreal

To The Record:

Referring to the recent articles in The Record concerning the local Syrian Orthodox Church, I would like to point out the following facts:

Canada's first Syrian Orthodox Church was established in Montreal in 1910. Known as St. Nicholas Cathedral, it was built on Notre Dame Street East. It was disposed of in 1949 and a new, larger one, was built on St. Dominique and De Castelnam Streets. May I add that my grandfather, Rev. Georgious Mahforiz, was one of the founders and first pastors.

Other Syrian Orthodox Churches in Canada are St. George in Montreal, St. Elias in Ottawa and St. George in Toronto.

I do hope that with this in mind, Father Carim Karma will refrain in future from referring to the local church as Canada's only Syrian Orthodox Church.

Referring to comments made about local Syrians, I certainly agree with Mayor Levesque. They are well liked and are definitely most popular in this city.

SHARP BID ASSURES TOP-NOTCH GAME

The bidding of today's hand was easy and reasonable. South had a strong five-card suit, with a total count of 14 points in high cards. This give him an opening bid and a natural rebid in his strong suit.

North marked time with a response in a new suit. As soon as South showed that the spades were rebiddable, North could afford to bid a game since he had, opposite an opening bid, good trump support and a count of 12 points in high cards together with slight distributional strength.

West opened the deuce of clubs, and South made a correct decision in playing low from the dummy. South could afford to lose one trick in each of the side suits, and there would be time to put up the queen of clubs on a later trick if the need arose. In the meantime, the low play from the dummy gave East the chance to make a mistake.

When the hand was actually played, East didn't make a mistake. He finessed the ten of clubs, and South won with the ace.

South immediately led a low heart towards dummy. When West played low, dummy won with the king. Declarer was now able to return to his hand by leading a trump to the king. It was to allow for such a return that South had postponed drawing trumps.

Declarer now led his remaining heart, and West hopped up with the ace. West led the jack of clubs, and dummy's queen was put up now. It lost to the king, and East decided to switch to a low diamond instead of continuing with the clubs.

The shift to diamonds would have been vital if South held the king of diamonds instead of the ace. South might then guess wrong and lose two diamond tricks immediately. As it was South put up the ace of diamonds.

Declarer didn't like to depend on a 3-3 break in hearts, but he didn't seem to have much choice. He led the queen of spades, intending to draw trumps with the queen and then the ace, after which he would try to run the hearts.

South changed his plan quickly, however, when West followed with the ten of spades. South overtook in dummy with the ace of spades, ruffed a low heart, and led a low trump to dummy's eight. Now he could cash two heart tricks, discarding losing cards from his own hand. The contract was thus assured.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 Club	Pass	1 Spade	Pass
2 N.T.	Pass	?

You, South, hold:

Spades Q-J-10-8-6-3-2, Hearts J, Diamonds Q-7-6, Clubs 4-2.

What do you do?

A—Bid three spades. If North goes to three no-trump, you will bid four spades. You intend to finish at four spades, but you avoid a trump bid at any time because you cannot encourage any slam amibitions.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold:

Spades K-7-5-3, Hearts J-9, Diamonds 7-6, Clubs K-6-4-2.

What do you do?

Firemen Save Home

Flames which threatened a Gauvin street bungalow yesterday were extinguished by Sherbrooke firemen before the damage got beyond the smoke stage.

Mrs. G. Verlaeckt, 1526 Gauvin street, was the sole occupant of the bungalow at the time the fire broke out in some rags which were drying over a stove in the cellar. She noticed the clouds of smoke billowing up from the cellar and called the Fire Department.

Firemen and equipment from No. 5 and No. 1 stations arrived on the scene shortly before 11:30 and using fire extinguishers were able to confine the flames to the basement.

Operations were under the direction of Cpt. Charles Audet and Lt. L. P. Lessard.

Longshoremen Sign Contract

Montreal—(CP)—The International Longshoremen's Association (AFL-TLC) Monday accepted an hourly wage increase of five cents and adjustments in the vacation and social security fund, ending contract negotiations with the Shipping Federation of Canada.

The new contract boosted pay for some 3,000 longshoremen in Montreal to a basic rate of $1.83 an hour. Workers get a 15-cent premium for handling bulk cargoes and a 35-cent hourly bonus for handling ammonium nitrate fertilizer.

The men get time and a half for night work and double pay for Sundays and legal holidays.

Shake-Up Anticipated In Russia

London— (Reuters) —A new Kremlin shakeup among Russia's intellectuals appeared in the making Monday as Moscow radio announced the firing of Culture Minister Georgi F. Alexandrov, 53.

Philosopher Alexandrov represented an "easier" approach to the arts as against the total cultural regimentation of the years immediately after the war.

Alexandrov was a protege of Georgi M. Malenkov, who was made to resign his post as premier last month.

The newly-appointed culture minister, Nikolai M. Mikhailov, is a high-ranking Communist party member known to be in the good books of Nikita S. Khrushchev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist party and the Kremlin's big boss. A former first secretary of the Komsomol (youth central committee), he was a member of the special court which sentenced secret police chief Lavrenty Beria to death for treason in December, 1953.

Baroness On Trial In Counterfeiting

Montreal — (CP) — Mrs. Harry Pursey, 41, former Hungarian baroness and now wife of a British Labor member of Parliament, Monday went on trial for the second time on a charge of knowingly possessing more than $1,700 in counterfeit United States currency.

The 41-year-old petite woman, arrested in a furrier's last Sept. 20 while visiting Montreal in the course of her honeymoon, appeared pale and ill during part of Monday's hearings.

At the close of the First World War 21,986 members of St. John Ambulance had served with military and naval forces overseas.

Talks Slated On Montreal's Civil Defence

Montreal — (CP) — Mayor Jean Drapeau met Defence Minister Campney in Ottawa Friday to study Montreal's civil defence situation, City Hall said Monday.

Officials said Mayor Drapeau will return to Ottawa in April for further talks.

Montreal's civic executive committee decided several months ago to scrap the city's civil-defence program, holding civil defence to be a federal responsibility.

"The results haven't been such as to give us cause for satisfaction but the conference is continuing," he said.

Farm Forum Activities

COOKSHIRE

In addition to the usual discussion of the topic for the week, the Cookshire Farm Forum devoted much time at their meeting on March 7th to arraingements for a dance with which it is planned to close the season, on April 11th.

The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ian Kirby, when the broadcast was listened to with great pleasure and profit, and three groups then proceeded to discuss the question, "How can the farmer offset industry's high wages and shorter hours in order to secure farm labour?". It was agreed that the farmer cannot offer the same terms as that for a city job, but that at certain times and seasons farm help must be required to work longer hours; yet this disadvantage can be offse to some extent if the farmer will agree to certain conditions. He should give his farm help regular hours, good living accommodations, and as high a wage as he can afford. The farm help can also be made to feel comfortable and at home as a member of the household. There should be a definite understanding that the help gets certain holidays. When assigning work, the farmer should be prepared to allow his helpers what that the farmer might try to extend his operations so as to keep his help all the year round.

The matter of a proposed Quebec Farmer's Association, which has been under discussion for the past two months, was finally disposed of by the passing of a resolution which had been prepared by the executive officers at the request of a previous meeting. This resolution expressed the opinion of the Cookshire Forum that the Farm Forum movement should retain its present status, and leave any formation of other farm organizations to those particularly interested; it expressed the feeling that to enter upon the organizing of a wider farm movement would involve the loss of many farm forum members without bringing in any new strength to offset this loss; and that the whole question of Farm Forum finances should receive further study with a view to remedying present difficulties, several suggestions along this line being submitted to the provincial organization.

During the business session, a committee consisting of Don Macrae and J. R. French was appointed to bring in a slate of officers at the next meeting, several committees were appointed to take charge of arrangements for the dance on April 11th, and it was decided to invite all the neighbouring forums for this occasion.

The meeting ended with a social hour and lunch. The next meeting, March 21st, will be held at the home of Mrs. H. Hodgeman, and the subject for discussion will be "Highway Safety."

FORDYCE

The Fordyce Farm Forum was entertained at the home of Miss G. Jones when twenty-five were present to listen to the broadcast and the discussion led by Mr. George Hansen. The questionnaire sent by the Provincial office at Macdonald was filled in.

The blanket donated by Mr. F. Jensen to be raffled was on display, and the tickets are reported to be selling very well. This will be drawn at the Forum Card Party to be held April 15th in Trinity Church Hall at Cowansville.

An Irish contest was conducted by Miss Jones and refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

BEDFORD

The weekly meeting of the Bedford Farm Forum was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Muncaster on Monday evening, when the Green Leaf was read by the secretary, Mrs. Neil Creller and Mr. Clayton Muncaster was chairman.

The question for the evening's discussion was, "Can the farmer compete in the labor market?" Among the factors stressed for the making of satisfactory relationship between the farmer and his hired help were, reasonable and regular hours; good food and living quarters and good wages. Hired help is still important to many farmers. Workers, it has been noted, have been moving rapidly out of farming into their lines. It is expected that this migration will continue as other work appears more attractive. One great factor in other lines of work is, that there are stated hours of employment with in many cases, either a five or five and a half day week, free evenings and week-end. The number of people working on farms in Canada has decreased but production has increased, because farming is being done more efficiently.

Points brought out in the evening's discussion as best facilities to attract farm labor was, the need for modern machinery and modern housing, with attendant comforts of running water, electricity and bathrooms. If the farm help is single, do not insist that he work after chores at night. Another important point is to pay sufficient salary so the help may be independent, and pay it promptly and regularly.

A social hour was followed by refreshments served by Mrs. Muncaster, Mrs. William Taylor and Mrs. N. Robinson.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair McIntosh.

Perfume That Clings

Q—Dear Claire,

I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I want a new perfume but first I must find out about a lasting one. —Mrs. J. M.

A—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not stay with them is Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily and lingers on and on because of its sachet base. The Chantilly fragrance really clings to you. I am sure you will love it! Get the original Liquid Skin Sachet Chantilly by Houbigant, "the perfume that clings." Also available in Quelques Fleurs fragrance. Only $2.00.

Clash In Second Game For League Title; Windsor Leads Best-Of-Seven Series By Copping First Tilt 7-4

The second tilt of best-of-seven series for the championship of the Massawippi Valley Hockey League is slated for this evening at the local Arena at 8.30. The Paper Makers have selected the Arena for their home fixture tonight.

The Edgar Gendron clan pulled an upset by knocking off the highly favored Meteors of Asbestos in the opening game Sunday 7-4 at Asbestos. The Paper Makers decided owing to the weather to play the second game of the series in Sherbrooke.

In Sunday's tilt the Couture-Gendron-Laporte trio led the pace with four goals and played a big part in the outcome of the game. Claude Couture's tally, the first one of the game, was a big one as the Meteors up to that point had the better of the play and were forcing the attack.

In the middle session they batted home another and from then on they set the pace and with their fore checking kept the league winners off balance. Windsor turned in another top two-way performance and are now rated by the experts to hold their own.

It was the first real hard game for the Meteors since they brushed aside the Eagles of Brompton in the quarter-finals while the Paper Makers after knocking off the Butterfield aggregation from Rock Island ran into a hard series with Sherbrooke which went the full limit. The Champagne squad played only one exhibition tilt during their layoff.

Following tonight's game the teams will move back to Asbestos for the third engagement on Thursday evening. The fourth tilt is slated for either Windsor or Sherbrooke depending upon the condition of the ice over the week-end.

Ottawa Knocks Off Noranda In Junior Playoffs

Ottawa — (CP) — Ottawa Shamrocks defeated Noranda Toilers 4-2 Monday night to take the best-of-three Eastern Canada Memorial Cup quarter-final series in three straight games.

Ottawa now moves into a best-of- three series next Monday against the winner of the Quebec-Maritime quarter-final series.

Bishop's University Girls Dump Tartans 47-18; Cairine Gilmour Leads Scoring Attack For Winners

The smooth-passing Bishop's University cagettes last night buried the Y.W.C.A. Tartans 47-18 in a regular Sherbrooke House League basketball tilt played at the Bishop's University Memorial Gymnasium, to post their fourth league victory in five starts.

The win boosted the Co-eds to within two points of the front-running Sherbrooke Hospital Nurses, who finished the six-game schedule with ten points. Bishop's now has eight points.

The Purple and White squad got off to an early start, piling up eleven points in the first quarter of the contest, while the visitors could garner but a single point on a free throw by Bev Bockus. Bishop's moved further ahead in the second quarter, pouring thirteen more points through the twines, while the Tartans could score only two, and the home crew walked off the floor at half time with a huge 24-3 bulge.

In the third quarter, the Smith-coached co-eds really went to town, adding thirteen more points to their total, while the Tartans snared only three. In the final quarter, the Bishop's crew were content to pass the ball around in the Tartan zone, and Brenden Larrabee's squad came to life with a fifteen point splurge, outscoring Bishop's 12-10 in the final canto.

The Bishop's scorers were led by Cairine Gilmour, who fired nine points through the hoop on three field goals and three free throws. Alison Perry and Shirley Kitching snared eight points for the winners.

For the Tartans, Joan Fraser and Bev Bockus each fired six points.

A total of 36 personal fouls was handed out by referees Don Wells and Don Stringer in the scrappy contest, with 17 being called against Bishop's, and 19 against the Tartans. For the visitors, Carol Witty and Bev Bockus were both banished with five personals near the end of the tilt.

Bishop's University: S. Kitching (8), S. Burt (7), C. Gilmour (9), M. Crosbie (5), A. Perry (8), C. Martin, V. Boland (3), S. Woodward (1), M. Jarand, B. Burley (6)—47.

Y.W.C.A. Tartans: B. Ross, J. Fraser (6), B. Bockus (6), C. Witty (4), C. Vrba, M. Blanchard, B. Bennett, B. Rouse (2), H. Johnson—18.

Toronto Coach Encouraged By Showing Of Canadian Swimmers At Games; Pick Up Seven Points; Miss Fisher Stars

Mexico City— (CP) —Swimming coach Tommy Walker of Toronto was all smiles today after Canada's scrappy four-man team placed third in the 400-metre medley relay swim Monday and Lenore Fisher of Ocean Falls, B.C., smashed the Pan-American Games record for the women's 10-metre backstroke.

The Canadian quartet finished behind the United States and Argentina to give Canada its first third placing since the games got under way 10 days ago. Two Canadian girls came in fourth and fifth in the synchronized swimming individual competition.

And with eight Canadians already qualified in five events at 100-metre distances, the swimmers seem to have a golden opportunity to pick up a goodly number of points for Canada and perhaps even a gold medal.

Official Confusion

Canada's third-place finish in the relay race was not accomplished without some official confusion.

The first report of the race placed Canada fifth and the summary of the race, released later in the evening, showed the Canadians in sixth place behind the U.S., Argentina, Mexico, Brazil and Cuba. But a recheck of the figures some hours after the race showed the Mexican and Canadian teams had been transposed.

The race was strictly a duel between the U.S. and Argentina with the Americans winning by a good 20 feet in four minutes, 29.1 seconds. The Canadians were third in 4:35.5 and Brazil wound up fourth in 4:38.2.

Miss Fisher, 18-year-old blonde Canadian backstroke champion, established a games record in winning the second qualifying heat of the 100-metre backstroke with a time of one minute, 16.8 seconds.

Miss Fisher and 14-year-old Sarah Barber of Brantford, Ont., who finished third in another heat, were among eight women who entered the finals set for Thursday.

Best Day Yet

Canadian swimmers picked up a total of nine points Monday, the best day for Canada in the games. Based on the 10-5-4-3-2-1 method of scoring for the first six finishers, Canada captured four points in the men's swim, and five in the synchronized event to make it 12 all told for swimming.

In the unofficial team standing Canada was ninth with a total of 31 points. Canada earlier had picked up 17 points in track and field and two horsemanship.

Big Four To Ask For New Ruling On Broadcasts

Ottawa. —(CP)— The Interprovincial Rugby Football Union is asking the CBC board of governors to change broadcasting regulations on reconstructed play-by-play radio broadcasts.

The Big Four, with teams in Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Hamilton, seeks an amendment to "prevent stations from reconstructing a play-by-play broadcast of events unless consent of participating organizations has been obtained;"

The league's application will be heard at a public meeting of the CBC board here April 15.

CBC regulations now forbid reconstructed broadcasts of sport or other events until after the end of the event. A reconstructed broadcast must be identified as such at the start and end of the broadcast and at 15-minute intervals during the program if it lasts more than 15 minutes.

Montreal — (CP) — Kelly Burnett, stylish forward with Montreal Royals, is this year's scoring champion of the professional Quebec Hockey League.

When the QHL's regular schedule ended Sunday Burnett had 30 goals and 45 assists for a 75-point total.

The league's official statistics, released Monday, showed Lulu Denis of Royals second with 20 goals and 47 assists, 67 points. Third were Orval Tessier of Royals and Rollie Leclerc of Valleyfield with 66 each.

George Faulkner of Bishop's Falls, Nfld., first Newfoundlander to break into professional hockey, ended well down the list with 18 goals and 25 assists for 43 points.

Faulkner plays for Shawinigan Falls, winners of the league championship. Quebec Aces finished second, Montreal third, Chicoutimi fourth and Valleyfield fifth in the five-team loop.

National Hockey League Makes It Official; "Boom Boom" Geoffrion New Scoring Champion For 1954-55

Montreal — (CP) — The National Hockey League made it official today, naming Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion scoring champion and Terry Sawchuk of Detroit the loop's top goalie.

But Geoffrion can credit the fiery temper of teammate Maurice (Rocket) Richard with an assist in winning the Art Ross Trophy and $1,000 as the top scorer.

Richard was leading Geoffrion by two points until he was slapped with a suspension for the last three games of the season and the playoffs for punching linesman Cliff Thompson.

Geoffrion passed him with a goal and two assists Saturday as Montreal defeated New York 4-2. One of the assists was his margin of victory, giving him 37 to 36 by the Rocket. Each had 38 goals.

Just as Close

Sawchuk's win in the Vezina Trophy race was just as close. He went into the final game of the season Sunday with two more goals against him than Harry Lumley of Toronto. Sawchuk blanked the Montreal Canadiens while Lumley allowed New York to score three goals against him.

The final count showed Sawchuk with 134 goals against him, and Lumley with 135.

Jean Beliveau of the Canadiens took third place with 73 points on 37 goals and 36 assists.

The top performance of the week was turned in by Earl Reibel of Detroit, who picked up 10 points in three games to vault from seventh place to fourth in the standings. He wound up with 66 points, nine less than Geoffrion.

Howe Fifth

Gordie Howe, the scoring champion for the last four years, finished in fifth place with 62 points. Six games missed through injuries early in the season prevented him from moving into the battle for the title.

George Sullivan of Chicago was sixth with 61 points, followed by Bert Olmstead of Montreal with 58, and Sid Smith of Toronto and Ken Mosdell of Montreal, with 54 each.

Only Boston and New York failed to place men in the top ten. Danny Lewicki of the Rangers just missed, winding up with 53 points, while the top Bruins scorers were Leo Labine and Don McKenney with 42 apiece.

Broda-Pilous Draw Two Game Suspensions

Toronto— (CP) —Coaches Turk Broda of Toronto Marlboros and Rudy Pilous of St. Catharines Tee-Pees were suspended Monday night for the next two games of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A finals as a result of the wild brawl that occurred during the second game of the series in Toronto Sunday.

Defenceman Al McNeil of the Marlboros was fined $10 "for leaving the bench to take part" in the fight, which resulted in 29 five-minute major penalties and 23 10-minute misconducts. No other players were fined.

St. Catharines won the game 3-0 to tie the best-of-seven final 1-1.

Williams' Status Still Unchanged

Sarasota, Fla. —(AP)— Boston Sox officials Monday termed the Ted Williams status as "unchanged" in denying published reports that the Sox slugger was on his way to the training camp here.

Manager Mike Higgins told oston reporters 'you fellows will be the first to know" in spiking reports that the club has been advised Williams will sign his contract today.

Higgins still lists Faye Thorneberry as Williams' No. 1 replacement pending further word from the Sox' home-run hitter.

Williams announced last season that he was retiring. There have been frequent reports that he would rejoin the club, but officials reiterated they have heard nothing definite yet.

Oxygen Playing Major Role In Pan-Am Games

Mexico City— (AP) —Probably never before in any major sports show such as the Pan-American Games has so much oxygen been used.

An oxygen tank here is as essential to sports as the ball, bat and glove in baseball. Athletes, winners and losers alike, head for a whiff of oxygen as soon as they finish an event.

Most common plaints of the competing athletes are short breath and "heavy, dead legs."

Summed It Up

That was the way United States Olympic champions Mal Whitfield, the runner, Jimmy McLane, the swimmer, and Chuck Logg, Jr., the rower, summed it up.

We've helped carry out four athletes on a stretcher. As soon as they were given Oxygen they perked up. After helping three other fellows lug out hurdling champion Josh Culbreath, we needed a little refresher from the oxygen tank, too.

The doctors and trainers as well as most athletes believe the 1½-mile altitude and its air affects distance men primarily. But double sprint champion Rod Richard told us "it offects the sprinters, too. It hurts our recuperative powers."

Red Wings Insist There Will Be No Letdown In Stanley Cup Playoffs; Open At Home Tonight With Leafs

Detroit — (AP) — Despite a sizzling streak of nine straight victories to wind up the regular National Hockey League season, Detroit Red Wings insist there will be no letdown in the Stanley Cup playoffs.

The best-of-seven semi-final between the Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs start here tonight. The Detroiters have been made 2½ to 1 favorites to take their second straight cup championship.

The other best-of-seven semi-final also gets under way tonight. In that one, Boston Bruins go against the Canadiens at Montreal.

"We're fresher than ever," boomed general manager Jack Adams when asked if he thought his Red Wings would suffer a letdown in the playoffs.

In Best Shape

"We have no injuries and we're ready for the Leafs," Adams said. "We're in better shape for the playoffs this year than for any of the others in the past."

Although Adams figures his club can take Leafs in about six games, he has plenty of respect for the Toronto club. He says goaltender Harry Lumley, who lost the Vezina Trophy by one goal to Detroit's Terry Sawchuk last week-end, is the man Wings fear most.

Wings are in near-perfect physical shape as they start defence of the Stanley Cup title they won from Montreal last spring. The only casualty is team captain Ted Lindsay and he proved there's nothing too serious about his bruised right shoulder when he scored three goals Sunday night against Montreal in the 6-0 victory.

Leafs will be forced to go through the entire playoffs without star defenceman Tim Horton. He suffered a broken leg and jaw late in the season. Another doubtful starter tonight is centre Rudy Migay, who is suffering from a blood condition.

Leafs Still Threat

While the Leafs won the league championship, Leafs barely finished in third place, edging out Boston in the last week-end of play.

Leafs, always considered a strong playoff threat, surprisingly were the weakest scoring team in the league. They tallied only 147 goals—an average of 2.10 a game. Red Wings, on the other hand, rolled up 204 goals for a 2.77 average.

Detroit took the season's series from Toronto, winning seven games, losing four and tying three. The most significant fact, however, is that Leafs scored only 15 goals in the 14 games against the Wings. Detroit scored 27 goals.

This is the 15th time these teams have met in Stanley Cup competition. Toronto has won eight previous series to Detroit's six. Half of Red Wings' victories have been in the last three years, and now they're heavy favorites to make it four in a row.

Aussie Track Fanatics, Saddened By John Landy's Retirement, Perk Up As Dave Stephens, Flying Milkman, Stars

Melbourne — (AP)—Australian track fanatics, saddened by the retirement of miracle miler John Landy, have found a new idol in Dave Stephens, the "Flying Milkman" of Melbourne.

Stephens, an "unknown" only five months ago, isn't threatening Landy's 3:58 world record for the mile. He runs longer distances.

But he resembles Landy in many wants and Aussies are confident that the 24-year-old milkman will climb to the same athletic heights.

Dave is an athletic fanatic who covers enormous distances by himself and trains without a coach. He can perform sensationally on bad tracks, in shocking weather and with virtually no competition.

CAREFREE NATURE

But unlike serious-minded Landy, Stephens has abundant natural color, a carefree, happy-go-lucky nature. He's a born showman and an outspoken critic of official bungling. The crowds love him.

He runs like a machine, talks nearly as fast when the race is over and then tears home for a few hours' sleep before he begins delivering milk in the Melbourne suburb of West Footscray.

Stephens first drew real attention Jan. 13, when he set Australian records for five and six miles in a Victorian selection trial run. Racing on a grass surface, he was timed in 24:01.8 for five miles and 28:38 for six miles, cutting 48.2 seconds off the old six-mile record.

His best personal six miles before then had been "about 32 minutes" and actually he seldom had lasted the distance. Since that time he has broken the two mile and three mile national records.

Dave has three main ambitions: To win either the 5,000 or 10,000 metres at the 1956 Melbourne Olympic games; to repay, by succeeding, the interest shown in him by Czech "human locomotive" Emil Zatopek in 1952; to beat Catopek.

After he has achieved these ambitions, he hopes to become a schoolteacher.

Zatopek, who took Stephens under his wing during a visit to Bucharest in 1952, is Dave's idol and athletic model.

Baseball In Brief

A couple of weeks ago Bucky Harris, manager of Detroit Tigers, said "I'm looking for this kid Frank Lary to take his turn as a starting pitcher this year." And Bucky has been taking a good look at the 24-year-old righthander ever since.

Thus far, Lary has worked 11 innings for the Tigers, more than any other hurler in Tigers' Lakeland, Fla., camp. He's up from Buffalo, where he had a 15-11 record last season, including a seven-inning not-hitter.

The kid blanked Baltimore Monday through five innings. Two other rookies, Paul Foytack and Babe Birrer, continued the whitewash the rest of the way as Detroit won 4-0.

FIFTH VICTORY

It was Tigers' fifth victory in 12 spring decision and their first shutouts. Both clubs got seven hits, but Detroit had the help of some walks and a 360-foot wallop by Wayne Belardi with a man on.

Three more blasts came as Milwaukee Braves defeated Chicago White Sox 5-2. Andy Pafko, Billy Bruton and Joe Adcock uncorked the homers to boost Braves atop the grapefruit standings with an 8-4 record. Milwaukee rookie Humberto Robinson retired the 12 men he faced after coming on in the sixth.

Cleveland Indians held on to defeat New York Giants 3-2. Al Rosen's two-run single in the ninth broke up a 1-1 tie and Don Mueller's solo homer wasn't enough for Giants.

Indians, incidentally, also came up with a signed contract from Bobby Avila, the tribe's holdout batting champion.

PIRATES LOSE

Ted Kluszewski hit a home run to put Cincinnati Redlegs back into the ball game at 3-3 in the eighth, and Johnny Temple singled home the winning run with two out in the ninth as Pittsburgh lost 4-3. Rookie outfielder Roberto Clemente homered for Pirates.

St. Louis not only lost to Philadelphia 3-2, but rookie first-baseman Joe Cunningham was beaned by Tom Casagrande. X-rays didn't show a fracture, but Cunningham will be out for two or three days.

New York Yankees clubbed Brooklyn Dodgers 19-8 with Bill Skowron and Bob Cerv each getting four hits.

Elmer Valo's home run was just one of 11 Kansas City hits as the Athletics banged the Memphis Chicks 6-1.

Canadiens Open With Bruins At Home; Police Ready For Anything; First Clash Since Famous Game

Montreal— (CP) —Montreal Canadiens, still reeling from the loss of the National Hockey League championship, go against the Boston Bruins here tonight in the opener of a best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final.

Toronto Maple Leafs will meet the league-winning Detroit Red Wings in Detroit.

The Canadiens, who appeared to have the NHL title clinched until they started blowing games right and left last week, will be without the services of their star, Maurice (Rocket) Richard, suspended for the last three games of the regular schedule and the playoffs.

It will also be the first meeting between the teams since Richard clashed with Hal Laycoe of the Bruins and linesman Cliff Thompson in a stick-swinging duel that resulted in his suspension by NHL Presidence Clarence Campbell.

To guard against a possible attack by the fans on Laycoe—similar to the one on Campbell that wound up in a full-scale riot last Thursday — police officials said they will have "plenty of men" at the Forum tonight.

No Chances Taken

"We don't know if the fans will be after Laycote's blood," a police spokesman said. "At any rate, we're not going to take any chances. There will be plenty of men on hand to nip any trouble before it starts."

There was no announcement from Campbell yet on whether he plans to attend. After Thursday's riot, in which the fans smashed hundreds of windows and looted jewelry stores, the Forum management asked the NHL president to stay away from Saturday's game against the New York Rangers.

Education Week Is Observed By Border Schools

Rock Island, March 22. —On Tuesday, March 15, Sunnyside School in Rock Island and Stanstead College were visited by a number of parents and friends, when the annual "open house" marking Education Week was held.

Sunnyside featured dialogues in French, which showed the excellent method of teaching the language under Mrs. Hugh McClary, debates among the students, gym periods, under the instruction of Miss Windeler, and a short preview of the operetta, "The Cobbler of Fairyland," to be presented in the school auditorium on March 25, by students of Grade VI and VII.

In all the class rooms from Grades I to VII was a display of art work done by the students, which was very interesting, as was the opportunity of seeing the various methods of teaching the different school subjects.

At the college the domestic science room was most popular. The visitors were received by the instructress, Mrs. Fleming, who briefed them on the gifts the class have received this year, electric sewing machines, electric mixer, cooking utensils, and of the work being done by herself and students in making cancer pads. On display were aprons, jumpers, crinolines and sewing bags, all of which were original, and showed some fine hand sewing. Mrs. Fleming has a class of 85 girls, which is divided into groups of 24 or less.
