Fire closes Jean Paul II High

Students of Jean Paul II High School got an unexpected holiday this week when the school was closed due to a fire in the gymnasium.

The fire broke out at about 3:30 a.m. Sunday but caused more mess than damage.

"There's an awful lot of soot," said Albert Bechamp, principal of the school.

Although the fire was concentrated in the gym, a general clean-up of the school is needed.

"You couldn't sit down in the cafeteria and have a meal," he said.

Mr. Bechamp said about eight professional cleaners were on their way from Gatineau to start the clean-up.

The fire seemed to have started when a foam-rubber mat was left standing against a radiator in the gym.

Mr. Bechamp said the five year old school is made mostly of steel and concrete.

"If it was strictly wood it would be good-bye school," he said.

Although the clean-up job was expected to be extensive, Mr. Bechamp hoped to have the school reopened by Tuesday, January 20.

Pontiac students speak up

These students have a lot to say–and they say it well.

They were part of approximately 50 students who took part in the Pontiac High School's Annual Public Speaking Finals on December 16th and 17th.

Part of the English instruction at the high school is concerned with public speaking at the classroom level.

Students select suitable topics and prepare and deliver their speeches with the winners moving on to the finals in December.

In this part of the course, the student develops a greater ease in expressing his thoughts and feelings effectively and understandably. This permits a relationship with people that can ease much confusion in ordinary business and social communication. Thus, all those who participate are winners.

In the junior division, which includes Secondary I and II, the girl's results were as follows: Susan Horner placed first, Peggy Hodgins placed second and Leeanne Smart came third. Honourable mentions went to Nancy Caldwell, Leigh Anne McMunn and Kelly Turgeon.

For the boys, Kirk Strutt placed first, Chad Young placed second and Denis Paulin came third. Honourable mentions were Huntley Stark and Peter Routliff.

Secondary III, IV and V make up the senior division and for the girls Jackie Price placed first, Mandy Newton came second and Janyce Horner came third. An honourable mention went to Wendi Campbell.

For the boys, Justin Foster came first, Trent Robinson came second and Gordie Graham placed third. An honourable mention went to Mark Stevens.

An extremely difficult task in selecting the top speeches was excellently performed by judges Muriel Imison, Dianne Conrod, Gwen Wentworth and Mayfred Dods.

Senior students who acted as hostesses were Kelly Malette, Donna Stephens, Wendi Campbell and Tammie Dagg.

Time keepers were Nora Turgeon and Kevin Meisner.

Food at Pontiac High doesn't make the grade

by Derek Conlon

There are many deficiencies at the Pontiac High School cafeteria including a lack of variety, says a study by the Departement de Santé Communautaire (DSC) of the Centre Hospitalier Regionale de l'Outaouais.

Some of the complaints the study makes about the high school food are that the same menus repeat frequently, the nutritional quality of the food "leaves something to be desired", frozen foods are used often and the main dishes usually involve fried food.

The DSC study was conducted to find out if students receive a sound and well balanced meal at school.

Of about 500 students at Pontiac High School, 60 per cent stay in school for lunch. Of those 60 per cent, about 25 per cent, or 75 students, eat the main dish offered by the school.

The rest of the students who stay for lunch bring their own meal, but they also add some of the cafeteria foods to their lunch.

The high school is responsible for the management of the food service, the hiring of personnel and the buying and maintenance of equipment.

The choices of food and the prices charged are proposed by the school and submitted to a commitee at the school board for approval.

The DSC study complains of a complete absence of vegetables and a mediocre presentation of the food.

When the DSC visited the school on May 6, 1986,

Shawville girl chosen Miss Teen Pontiac

by Derek Conlon

More than two months of hard work paid off for Michelle Lepack on Saturday night when she became Miss Teen Pontiac for 1987.

The 16-year-old Shawville resident became only the second Miss Teen Pontiac. Past winners of the Miss Teen pageant were referred to as Miss Teen Mansfield-Fort-Coulonge.

About 270 people filled the Ecole Secondaire Sieur de Coulonge auditorium to see the show

The win means Miss Lepack, a Pontiac High School student, will go on to represent the Pontiac at the Miss Teen Canada pageant on March 2nd.

The theme of the pageant was "New York, New York" with special guest singer, Raymond Cayer, performing the theme song.

Mr. Cayer escorted the contestants on stage during his song. The contestants then introduced themselves to the audience.

During the talent portion of the show the contestants had the opportunity to show what they could do.

Cathy Larue of Campbell's Bay, Donna Dubeau of Otter Lake and Louise Ricard of Bryson each danced. Michelle Lepack did a step dance number that got the crowd going with an "old time fiddle"musical back up. Jennie Chevalier of Fort-Coulonge did a fine cover version of "Vivre dans la Nuit," by the Quebecois group Nuance. Julie Martin of Campbell's Bay played a boogie '40s number on the piano and Heidi Hall of Chapeau gave a thought provoking monologue.

Miss Lepack was selected by the judges as Miss Talent and received $50 and a plaque.

After the intermission and fasion show, Miss Chevalier was chosen as Miss Friendship and from there the pageant progressed quickly to the naming of the three finalists.

The judges asked each of the contestants one question and their response determined the winner.

Louise Ricard finished as second runner-up and Jennie Chevalier was first runner-up.

All the contestants had been interviewed by the judges one week before the pageant and special attention had been paid to their scholastic acheivement and personality.

Richard Charron, Assistant Director of the pageant, said the talent portion was secondary to determining the winners.

"It's the personality that counts the most," he said.

Over their more than two months of preparation, the contestants had to learn how to walk, speak in public and dance.

"I'm very proud of them," said Mr. Charron.

The contestants spent about four hours every Saturday and some Sundays practicing their routines. Even most of their Christmas vacation was used to prepare for the show.

For Miss Lepack the preparations will continue. She'll have to practice modeling and brush up on her Canadian history and politics for the Miss Teen Canada pageant.

Among the prizes awarded to Miss Teen Pontiac were gift certificates totaling more than $400 and a weekend trip for three.

Lamarche-McGuinty not giving up on Hilton Mine

by Derek Conlon

Lamarche-McGuinty and their partners Lavalin Inc. "have no intention of dropping the (sanitary dump) project," said Maurice Lamarche, president of Lamarche-McGuinty.

Their decision was reached last Thursday morning at a meeting in Montreal, even though Bristol council had unanimously resolved not to change its zoning by-law two days earlier.

The Bristol council, in a special meeting last Tuesday night, January 13, decided not to change the zoning by-law, effectively stopping Lamarche-McGuinty Inc. from creating a landfill dump.

Mr. Lamarche said he was "very disappointed" about the council's decision but that the project would continue in Bristol.

More than $1 million has already been spent on the project, said Mr. Lamarche.

"Where else in North America can you find" a site like this, he said, referring to the size of the hole at the Hilton Mine site.

A crowd of about 250 people crammed the municipal hall for the special announcement. Those that couldn't find seats, stood, jammed the doorways and peered through windows to hear the council's decision.

Bristol Mayor Jack Graham read out the resolution, which was passed unanimously, and then the crowd errupted in cheers.

For more than a year the Concerned Citizens' Commitee (CCC) had fought the idea of a sanitary dump in Bristol.

Ed Radey, president of the CCC was happy with the decision.

"I'm really pleased," he said. "This is a classic case of democracy. It's the people who have won this battle."

The decision was made despite the possibility of 220 jobs being created by the project in an area where unemployment is at 12 per cent, higher than the national average of 9.4 per cent.

"You cannot isolate and say jobs are the priority," said Mayor Graham. "Money is secondary, jobs are secondary."

Over the past 14 months the council had to keep in mind that it was dealing with garbage, said Mayor Graham.

"We're not dealing with money, we're not dealing with trucks (that would have brought in the garbage), we're dealing with garbage," he said.

Mayor Graham said it was a decision that was made for the benefit of Bristol.

"We didn't want the garbage and the ramifications that come from it ," he said. "There are too many things that are unknown."

Mayor Graham said the council had been very conscious of the wishes of the 1,805 rate payers of Bristol.

Mr. Lamarche wanted some aspects of the four major by-laws changed.

Some parts of the Administration, Zoning, Sub-Division and Construction by-laws would have had to been changed because they are all related and would have affected the project.

The area where the Hilton Mine site sits is now zoned as semi, light and heavy industrial. It is not zoned for garbage.

Only one area of Bristol is zoned for garbage and that is an in-trench site.

For the sanitary dump to be allowed on the Hilton Mine site, the zoning by-law would have had to have been changed.

If any construction was to be done at the site, the Construction by-law would have had to have been changed and the other by-laws are all related so they would have had to have been changed in some respect as well.

Since Bristol council decided not to change its own zoning by-law, the only way it could be changed is by a Quebec Ministry of the Environment order-in-council.

But Quebec Environment Minister Clifford Lincoln has already said that if Bristol does not want a dump, it won't get one.

Fair Board meeting

The Pontiac Agricultural Society will be holding its annual meeting Wednesday evening, Jan. 21 at 8:00 p.m. at Dr. S.E. McDowell school.

The principal focus of the meeting will be the Shawville fair and the election of the executives and directors for the fair board.

Information booths to help bring more tourists

by Derek Conlon

Four new information booths are being built in the Pontiac to help attract more tourism to the area.

The four tourist information booths, in the form of log cabins are in Portage du Fort, Luskville, Allumette Island and Kazabazua. They were built with the help of a federal grant.

"We received $21,000 from the federal government to hire two employees and train them in log house construction," said Gaetan Boulanger, president of the Association Touristique du Pontiac (ATP).

The booths will provide maps and brochures to the tourists, most of whom come from Ontario and the United States to camp, fish, hunt and canoe.

"The booths are good for the image of Pontiac," said Mr. Boulanger. The booths are made of pine logs and Pontiac is known for its pine.

Students will man the booths in the summer, from July 1st to the end of August, and will be paid through the federal government's "Challenge" project for students.

Statistics from Tourism Canada show that $15 million was injected into the economy of Pontiac by 212,000 tourists in 1982.

For every $1 million that is spent in Pontiac, 40 people derive an income. That represents about 12 per cent of the work force of the Pontiac.

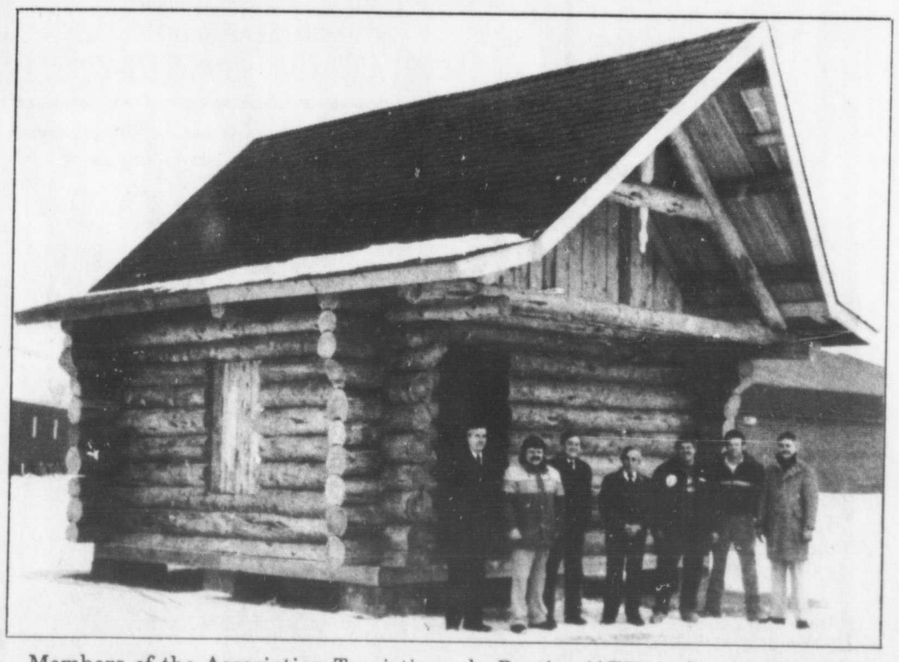
Mr. Boulanger said the Municipalité Regionale de Comté (MRC) Pontiac helped to pay for the logs with a $2,400 grant.

The four municipalities that have the booths will pay for the rough finishing of them.

The municipalities that surround Portage du Fort, Luskville, Allumette Island and Kazabazua have helped defray the cost by contributing to the project. Approximately $1,000 was donated for each booth.

However, the ATP has only $1,360 left to complete the four units.

"We need more money," said Terry Murdock, one of the directors of the ATP.



Members of the Association Touristique du Pontiac (ATP) and one of their new booths (l-r): Dod Dods, former director ATP; Gaetan Boulanger, president ATP; Barry Moore, Conservative MP for Pontiac-Gatineau-Labelle; Marcel Lavigne, Municipality of Pontiac Mayor; James Newberry, director ATP; William B. Keindel, director ATP and Terry Murdock, director ATP.

Election Results. Those elected to councils were: Shawville – Allan Black, Brent Horner and Dr Frank Cowley; Quyon – Laurie MacKechnie, Lyle Bronson and Marcel Beaudoin; Otter Lake – Basil Quaile, Rheal Racine and Helmet Erfle; South Onslow – Lorne Draper and Gervaise O'Reilly; Bristol – Robert Russell, John Smith and Gerald Ireland; Clarendon – Artie Carson; Thorne – Austin Sparling and Ebert Turcottte; Waltham – Kenneth Robinson.

Dickson Named. For encouraging and assisting all the organizations and every worthwhile cause in the area through the pages of THE EQUITY, and for doing a valued public relations job for the district through the press and television, Mrs David Rutherford Dickson was named "Citizen of the Year" by the Shawville and District Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night.

Talk On Survival. A motion to inform Shawville Council that some people in this district are interested in survival in the advent of a nuclear attack was passed at Home and School meeting last night. This followed a talk and short film presented by Charles L Smith, Commandant of Canadian Civil Defence College, Arnprior. Col Smith strongly recommended that people in this area should build Fall Out Shelters. He believes that war is possible and that our way of life after nuclear war won't be very much different, in fact he feels it might be better because we would know that we would never have another nuclear war.

Ag Societies. At the annual meeting of the Pontiac Agricultural Society Division A, held in the New Hall last Wednesday, Arthur Kilgour was returned as president. At the annual meeting of Division C in Quyon Town Hall Jan. 11, Sherwood Henderson was returned as president.

Hockey. In the second UOVHL game played in the Agricultural rink by the Shawville Seniors, they were defeated 6-1 by the Deep River Rockets Saturday, before a crowd of about 300 in a fast, slightly rough game.

In the Pontiac League hockey, Shawville played to a 3-3 tie with the defending champions, Fort Coulonge, before over 200 fans. The game was fast, and with 15 penalties handed out, it sounds a little lively!

ig officer was necessary to break a tie between retiring mayor George Dagg and Chas Brinksworth. The presiding officer's vote returned Mr Dagg to office. Thorne returned its retiring mayor, Wm D McCleary. In Litchfield, Mayor James Peever was given a third term by acclamation. In Leslie, Clapham and Huddersfield, Mayor John Milliken had no opposition. The village of Fort Coulonge returned outgoing mayor Wm Lough. In Quyon, H McCann was re-elected mayor by acclamation. In North Onslow, Andrew Daley replaces Patrick Dolan, while in South Onslow, Ambrose-Kennedy again heads the council.

Shawville History. The first settlement in this part of Clarendon was known as the "Sixth Line". When the first immigrants came, they naturally squatted on lands alongside each other, and when the survey was completed in 1827 , they found themselves on the sixth concession. Twenty or twenty-five years later, Lower Canada Government made a colonization road through the County which mainly followed this sixth line through Clarendon, and this was called the "Calumet Road". In these early days this was considered a wonderful highway and was one of the reasons of the people forming the hamlet on the sixth line, and as it was about the middle of the township, it in time got the name "The Center" . In the early 1840's , we find two churches, a school house and a temporary blacksmith shop. Ten years later, when a regular weekly mail service was established and a Post Office opened, the official name given was "Clarendon Centre", and this was the recognized name for at least twenty-five years. When the municipality was divided and the village incorporated, the name selected was "Shawville". (Submitted by W A Hodgins)

Local News. The Pembroke Observer has learned of a valuable capture made recently by Mr Patrick Grigg, a bush ranger, at the head waters of Black River.Mr Gripp succeeded in killing a black fox, the skin of which he sold to Messrs Poupore and McDonald of Chapeau for $320. The Observer's informant states that this is the first of that species of fox seen in that district, and notes also that Mr Grigg has already realized as much as is ordinarily made in a good winter's work.

Mr T M Argue, a few days ago purchased the property of Mr Rugg Kelly, on the 8th line, thereby securing a pretty fair cut of timber for his saw mill.

People from the outlying country report that the snowstorm last week with its accompanying high wind, played havoc with the good roads which have obtained since winter set in.

Quebec. Among the important changes which the Quebec Government proposes to make in the Electoral Act during the present session is the adoption of the system of "one man one vote", similar to the system which is already in existence in Ontario.

Canada. In the northwest of Canada it is said that a bear once strolled into a church. There was an immediate panic among the women, and some men sprang towards the shaggy beast, intending to slay him. Bruin, however, took all these things very coolly, sat up and looked so amiable and unagressive that, instead of killing him, the men laughed at him. Indeed, it was almost immediately seen that the bear was the identical animal which had formerly been the pet of the village, and which had run from the settlement into the woods about six months before. He had only returned to pay his respects to his old friends, and finding them in church, had evidently thought he might as well go too.

Quyon Lionettes news

by Charlene Graham

The Quyon Lionettes have completed the Fall season with many interesting and rewarding activities.

The executive for the 1986-87 season are as follows: President - Pat McConnell, Past President - Cathy Emmerson, First vice-president - Jean McCann, Second Vice-President - Glenna Campbell, Treasurer - Velma Storie, First year director - Susan Ross, two year director - Alice Dolan, three year director - Ginger McKenny, and Tailtwister - Mona MacKechnie.

For the first meeting in September flowers were sent to the Madawaska Lionettes, the newly sponsored club.

In October peanuts were sold in aid of the Kidney Foundation.

Lionette Susan Ross has designed the logo for the new club pin which bears the motto "Caring and Sharing". The Lionettes are sporting new sweaters with the club crest.

November was a very busy month for the club. At their regular meeting, Carol Pritchard Murtagh and Ray Baker of the Outaouais Alliance spoke about the rights as English speaking Quebecers.

At the Remembrance Day ceremony, the president laid a wreath on behalf of the club. Lionettes Jean McCann and Donna Provost travelled to Montreal to the annual meeting of the Canadian Cancer Society. They were presented with a trophy which is on display in the Lions Hall. This trophy was awarded to the Lionnettes because the community cancer receipts from the April campaign had increased by 40 percent.

On November 22 they assisted the Lions with their auction sale.

In December they were caught up with the spirit of the Christmas season. They assisted the Quyon Business and Citizens Committee with the decorations for the Village during the festive season. On December 2 they gathered together for a lovely dinner followed by a cookie and gift exchange. A visit from Santa and entertainment provided by Marsha Leach, Dana and Krista Ross completed the evening.

On December 10 they visited the Pontiac Reception Centre. Each Lionette sent along a homemade decoration for the tree and they played bingo with the residents. This experience was so rewarding that the club decided to continue this activity on a monthly basis.

On Sunday, December 21 they participated in the Santa Claus parade in Quyon. Incidently, their float won second prize.

The new year promises to be as exciting and fullfilling. At the regular meeting in February they will have the pelasure of inducting a new member into the club. On Saturday, February 14, they will host a Valentine's Dance with the proceeds going towards the purchase of new x-ray equipment for the Pontiac Community Hospital.

On March 7, they will be holding their third annual ski-a-thon. They will also be curling with the other Lionette Clubs from Pontiac on March 15.

Later in the Spring they will introduce the Child Find program to the area.

Middlemiss meets with Pontiac Business Association

by Catherine Lapointe

On January 6th, in the offices of the Shawville Mutual Insurance Company, the Pontiac Business Association met with Robert Middlemiss to discuss various government policies and projects and how they might affect our County. First order on the agenda was the stabilization insurance for farmers. Since farming makes up a large portion of our economy, the stabilization insurance touches many people. The gov't wants to rationalize the insurance by examining the possibilities of setting minimum requirements (if, for example, 10 animals is the minimum, then no less than 10 must be kept in order to qualify) and to establish who is a full time farmer. The Minister of Agriculture will be in the Pontiac on February 14th and anyone wishing to add their views, will have the chance to express them, then.

When the government was campaigning in the last election, they made promises in relation to sales tax. The first, which they did; was to take off the 9 percent tax on life insurance by the end of 1985. Second, ninety days after election, they promised to remove the tax on automobiles and third, the rest of personal insurance. This has not been done apparently due to the economic state of the province. Mr Middlemiss feels that this should be eliminated by the end of this mandate.

The Pontiac Business Association will write a letter on behalf of its members, to remind the government to fulfill their promises.

Many of our members were concerned about the OCQ. As of January 1st, 1987, anyone who is qualified, can get a work permit. The requirement of 1,000 hours has been eliminated. The union wages will remain the same but the government is hoping to negotiate some variances, specifically in rural areas. The members pointed out that in the Pontiac, word of mouth was of a better method of regulation. If a contractor or worker lacked quality, the news would travel fast.

The Quebec government has budgeted 400 million dollars for the renovation of roads throughout the province over the next five years. Last year, $2 million were spent in the Pontiac. This year, Highway 303 from Ladysmith to Schwartz will be paved, the contract has already been given. By the end of the government term, they plan to have Highway 148 between Luskville and Aylmer and the McConnell-Laramie Road improved. A letter will be written to the government stating that the priority, as far as roads are concerned, is to open up the arteries to the Pontiac.

Government hiring policies were again brought up. It seems that when regarding middle to high earning jobs in the government, no one is hired from the Pontiac. People from outside the county are always imported. As an association which represents business, we are concerned, as our economy drops another notch with each person who is hired from outside. Our children cannot find employment in the Pontiac and must leave, and the outsiders do not normally buy in the county. We expressed very firmly that the province give priority to residents of the Pontiac for Pontiac jobs.

Concerning grants, according to Mr Middlemiss, there is not much money available in the form of government grants. The government is looking more toward guaranteeing business loans instead. Our association suggested that the emphasis be placed on small business. We will be drafting a letter with our suggestions for small business to the government. We would also like to be included on a mailing list regarding any information on small business incentives coming from the government so that we can keep our members informed.

Our quality of education in the county is lacking. The government admitted that a report done on the success of our students in Quebec was poor.Pontiac is a difficult case because of its low population within a large district and also being bilingual. Our association suggested that provincial norms be established to assure that education standards are equal on a subject basis throughout the province and also, periodic exams be given to teachers to ensure that they keep up to date and within provincially set quality norms.

The government is committed to building a hospital in the Pontiac. The location will be decided by considering the following three factors:where it will serve the largest part of the Pontiac, where it will cost less and where it will be the most efficient. Eleven million dollars are available for the hospital. The Pontiac Business Association's stand regarding the hospital is that we appreciate the decision to build a hospital but we have no mandate to advise the government on its location. Also to impress on the government that priority be given to people of the Pontiac for employment in the construction, and working in the hospital itself. Mr Middlemiss assures us that an answer regarding the location will be made known within 60 days.

The Pontiac Business Association will be writing letters of its concerns and suggestions to Mr Middlemiss in the near future. Another meeting will be set up with Robert Middlemiss in the month of March to keep abreast on the development of all our discussions.

Bristol Council minutes

The regular meeting of the Bristol Council was held on January 5, 1987 at 8 pm in the Townhall with Mayor Graham and all councillors present.

Motion Crs Orr and Duff that the minutes of the regular meeting of December 1, 1986 be adopted as circulated.

Motion Crs Pitt and Smith that the minutes of December 16 to adopt the 1987 budget; also a special meeting which followed on December 16, 1986 be adopted as circulated.

Motion Crs McCredie and Pitt that the agenda for the January 5, 1987 meeting be adopted.

The Concerned Citizen's Committee and a delegation of 100 plus were present regarding the proposed Hilton Mine Sanitary Land Fill Site. C.C.C. president, Edward Radey addresses the Council. He asks Council's stand on the zoning of the mine property Zone 601. The Mayor replies that no changes are contemplated, and also clarifies the statement made by Le Droit concerning his stand on the sanitary land fill site.

Another question was asked concerning the storing of bio-medical wastes at the Hilton Mine. Mayor Graham replied that Council was aware that 12 truck loads of bio-medical wastes were stored at the Hilton Mine between May 9, 1986 and May 15, 1986. A bailiff order was presented and we understand that the trucks commenced to move on May 15, 1986.

The Mayor gives a committment that Council will render their decision on the Hilton Mine Land Fill Site by January 15, 1987 and a press release will be given on January 16, 1987.

A member of the Norway Bay Municipal Association is present and informs Council that an opinion poll has been taken of the Association members and they are strongly opposed to the land fill site.

A group of residents request a street light for the intersection of Hwy 148 and the Fifth Line on the S turn. Also request two 50 k.m. per hours speed signs for the 5th Line on the dump road.

Motion Crs Duff and Smith that Council erect two 50 k.m. per hours speed signs on the 5th Line in the residential area.

Motion Crs Smith and Orr that Council try to relocate a street light , or if none are available, install a new one at the intersection of Hwy 148 and the 5th Line at the S turn.

Motion Crs Dagg and Smith that the wolf bounties be discotinued as of this date, due to the fact neighboring municipalities and the MRC have also removed the bounties.

Tenders for diesel and furnace oil for the current year were opened. Motion Crs Dagg and Pitt that Council accept Shawville

Editorial

It's not over yet

It is clear that the landfill project for the Hilton Mine is far from dead. Letters to the editor on the subject are still arriving, and Sanitech Lamarche is continuing to present its arguments to residents of Quyon and Bristol.

The decision by Bristol Council to keep the zoning of the mine area the same despite Sanitech Lamarche's appeal for a bylaw change has certainly delayed the issuing of a landfill licence, but this could well be only temporary. Battles remain to be fought in several other arenas, particularly the judicial and political.

It is unfortunate that the discussion had to degenerate into a confrontation. There were opportunities to reach an agreement about the safe use of the site, but they were predicated on everyone agreeing that the pit could be used for sanitary landfill. This the site's neighbours naturally were unwilling to even consider.

However, they were a little late in making their concerns known. In December of 1977 Maurice Lamarche, owner of the mine, wrote to the Municipality of Bristol asking permission to establish a landfill garbage disposal site. In January of 1978 he was informed that the Bristol Council had no objections as long as it was not used for nuclear waste disposal.

If the courts determine that this permission is binding on the Council, Bristol may have to reimburse Lamarche for his expenses. The municipality may also forego an opportunity to negotiate royalties for the disposal if they force a court battle. Neither of these considerations is trivial, yet neither should be allowed to carry the argument. The mayor of Bristol has said that the decision was about garbage, not money, and that is the way it should be. But it may cost the taxpayers a lot.

Rustic Rhetoric

by E.B.W. Mulligan

Decision time

I was in London, Ontario on December 7th, 1941. After coming out of church at 11:00 a.m., two young lads,10 to 12 years old, were selling the London Free Press. Its red headlines read "Japanese attack Pearl Harbour". Below, in smaller headlines, "U.S. fleet crippled–U.S. will declare war".

The good news for Canadians was that the U.S. had inadvertantly, but with cause, entered the war against facism when the allies were weakening and we needed them the most.

Two years later, General George Marshall had modernized, mobilized and managed the largest armed services in history. He was a hero to the service personnel, the administration, the U.S. public and was a protagonist to everyone in the free world. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, as a politician, lent an ear to his popularity and the confidence shown to him. In fact, apart from Montgomery, Eisenhower and two or three minor generals like De Gaulle and Crearer, most Canadians would take comfort under Marshall. Churchill recommended him to F.D.R. in 1943 as the ideal commander of the upcoming cross-channel operations from England to Europe.

Until then, as U.S. Chief of Staff, General George C. Marshall had acted as the alter ego of F.D.R. or nearly so. Marshall really wanted the job. He had said,"Any soldier wants a field command." When Roosevelt and Churchill consulted Marshall about the upcoming European invasion, he told them that war made personal preferences of no account. He was again approached in 1943 about his preference for the Normandy command and he again refused to decide, stating that it was up to the president to decide and that he would cheerfully go whatever way the president wanted him to go.F.D.R. was said to have paused at this high command refusal and whispered to his cabinet,"Then it will be Eisenhower."

This decision may have been the reason we still live in a free world. A man who couldn't make a decision from the summit may not have been able to lead the allies to victory in Europe.

I am bringing this subject up because loss of command at high places seems to me to be leading our country to disaster. For example, shakes, shingles, tuna, conflict of interest, key-hole peeping, patronage. I don't want to disparage our government too much but what I'd like to do is bring to the attention of Pontiacers in particular and Ottawa Valley residents in general–maybe even to Canadians globally–that people in high positions like Carney, grope around without doing their homework and make everyone north of the 49th suffer and look like a lost tribe.

General Marshall became expendable under a Chief of State who was in touch with the common people.I hope our Honourable Prime Minister can see the light and make Carney expendable, like Neilson and all the others who have fallen for failing the final exams.

In Pontiac, after agriculture, silvaculture is the most important resource and to have a group of United States entrepreneurs shake the seeds off our tallest statesmen seems to me the last straw.

Let us advise our Prime Minister that we expect him to stand tall and protect the livelihood of soft-wood producers and workers like oilmen, grain growers, auto makers, fishermen, high tech workers and the multitude of service workers across Canada who have benifited during the last century.

President Reagan's veracity is at stake or up in the air over the Irangate affair. If our Prime Minister (and his cabinet) keep selling off our country in bits, pieces, shingles and softwood, which really started off by closing our iron mines, we are headed back to carrying water and chopping wood.

I guess young people today will continue to pay homage to the U.S. president, as we did in the 30's and 40's to F.D.R., and hope the great eagle will spread its great wings over us.

The Church Corner

A popular lie

by Fr William Craig
Campbell's Bay

It seems to be a rule of human nature that, if an idea is repeated often enough and by enough people, it will be generally believed. There are numerous examples of this rule. One of them hit me rather hard the other night as I spent a quiet evening at home watching a fantasy/adventure flick of the VCR. In the opening prologue (a required feature of the gendre) the usual pseudo-mystical claptrap was followed by the statement that 'there is no light without darkness, no love without hate and no good without evil', or words to that effect.

Now this is one of the ideas that is in the air in our age. It gets trotted out in popular culture almost every time a character needs to sound 'deep'. It is an appealing concept, and seems to make sense of this rather difficult world. After all, we have night and day in turn, so the rest must follow. Or must it? No matter how often I hear this opinion, I cannot shake off the feeling that it is only not true, but that it is a lie. A lie is an untruth uttered in order to deceive.

First, then, let us note that this idea is untrue. It is the faith of Christians that God created all things and declared them good. We have not the space to deal with the "Problem of Evil" in this column, but it is enough to say that it is the result of a misuse of freedom, a result of sin. That is to say, evil is not the essence of things, but is an intrusion, allowed for a reason and finally to be elminated. In no way is evil simply the opposite of good, nor is the Devil the opposite of God. So, for a Christian at least, this popular idea is untrue: God is all-good, in him there is no darkness, and his opposite is not evil, but simply non-existence.

Second, the more troublesome thought: that this idea is a lie. If this idea is not true, why is it so commonly held? The question may well be put like this: In whose interests is it that people should believe that evil and hate are a necessary part of the order of thing? The answer is simple. Such a belief serves the ends of the deceiver and the Father of Lies, who through pride fell, and seeks to mar the goodness and wholeness of God's creation, and would have us believe that he is not just a creature, but a power equal to the Creator.

Now this may seem to be a violent over-reaction to a harmless little film. It isn't so much a reaction to the film as it is a reaction to so many times that the moral relativism and dualism have been put out as a reasonable opinion. The flick (which wasn't very good, and that's why I haven't named it) was merely the last straw, and brought out these few ramblings.

A final thought. In our country people have the right to hold and express all manner of opinions, even half-baked ideas that are really dibolical lies. But we must all be certain that these opinions are examined and not fall into the trap of accepting them just because they are repeated so often, the mistake of breathing them in with the air and drinking them with the water.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,
Subject – Letter to the editor of December 17, 1986, by Mr Douglas Gauthier, Otter Lake.

In response to the aforementioned letter, let me say that it is not my intention to overly criticize Mr Gauthier for his comments on native housing in Otter Lake and in the province in general.

The reasons for not wanting to criticize Mr Gauthier are two-fold, first his comments are prejudiced by the fact that he is a landlord, second it is quite obvious to me that his comments were also written in total ignorance of. What the Native Alliance of Quebec is all about, what the government programs involved are all about and what it means to compete in the market place as a landlord.

Therefore, I would like to thank Mr Gauthier for his opportunity to clear up some of the prejudice and ignorance that may exist in the minds of the general public as to exactly who and what we are and also to clear the air as to the types of government programs we use.

Therefore, I would like to thank Mr Gauthier for his opportunity to clear up some of the prejudice and ignorance that may exist in the minds of the general public as to exactly who and what we are and also to clear the air as to the types of government programs we use.

Over the last 15 years the Native Alliance of Quebec has been involved in many areas of concern to our people such as job creation, community improvement, education, economic development, etc....and naturally not the least of which is our involvement in housing.

After four years of negotiations the R.R.A.P. program has been applied from 1975 to date. This program in 1976 became applicable to every Quebecer (including Mr Gauthier), living in rural areas and small towns in Quebec and it has been the greatest facelift and revenue-generating program these towns have ever known. So far no one has complained about, nor congratulated us for our efforts, everyone just jumped on the bandwagon and got a free ride.

Why did we work so hard to get these programs? Simply because of the poor housing conditions that existed in Quebec and I can tell you from experience that the worst I was given to see was in the County of Pontiac.

Today for these very same reasons we are building new housing units because many of our members still live either in houses that are beyond repair, or in a rental apartment at a cost beyond their means and, in some cases, apartments that should be closed down by the health department.

The programs we are using in housing are the types of programs that are available not only to native groups, but to any individual, municipality or citizens group incorporated as a non-profit housing group.

This rural and native housing program was achieved through negotiations and is cost-shared by both levels of government (75 percent federal and 25 percent provincial) occupants'rent is based on 25 percent of their gross income.

The Quebec Housing Corporation is the partner responsible for delivery. Our Washakegen Housing Corporation is responsible for delivery to our members. The rental units we build are intended exclusively for native people simply because our mandate is exclusively towards native people.

As you can see we are not competing with the open market, we are not using exclusive programs and what we are doing certainly has nothing to do with the Charter of Rights. Some people would be well advised to read particularly article 15 and also sec. 35 of the Canadian Constitution.

Mr Editor, I hope this information will be helpful to your reading public and that in the future we will effectively work together for a better future.

In peace and friendship.

Fernand Chalifoux, President

Dear Editor,
School Board Supports Archives

After many months of searching for an appropriate location for the Pontiac Archives, the Protestant School Board of Western Quebec has given the Pontiac Historical Society a room in the Campbell's Bay Elementary School. With the assistance of Barry Moore M.P. we were able to purchase a typewriter, a filing cabinet, a cartographic cabinet, four sets of metal stacking shelves and a microfiche-film reader from Crown Assets. The Campbell's Bay Elementary School has loaned us two desks, a book shelf, a table and two chairs. On January 5, 1987 we began to organize our new room and furnishings marking the beginning of what is hoped will be a valuable contribution to the preservation of Pontiac heritage for years to come.

The Pontiac Archives is being established with the financial assistance of Quebec National Archives.

The theme of the Archives will be Pontiac Then and Now. Under this heading, we hope to collect historical documents and information about the early pioneers of Pontiac. We are very interested in collecting family trees and other genealogical information which will help other people research their family trees. We are also interested in gathering minute books and any historical information about our Pontiac churches and organizations; our industries such as lumbering , mining and farming and more recent developments in tourism.

Photographs depicting our heritage are extremely valuable and the negatives more so, as reproductions can be made for future publications. It is most beneficial if the pictures can be identified by the owner. A soft lead pencil giving the approximate date, the location and the names of the people on the back of the photographs ensure that the information will not be lost.

The Archives will be open to the public on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 1 pm to 3 pm. If you wish to donate or loan material, we will be happy to receive you during these hours. For further information call Pearl McCleary 647-2810, Elsie Sparrow 647-5620 or Venetia Crawford 648-5668.

Dear Editor,
"Sanitech Lamarche has a deep respect for the democratic process" states the letter to the editor in the last issue of THE EQUITY.

Last Tuesday evening, the citizens of Bristol jammed the hall where a special meeting of Bristol Council was held. When Council voted in public to uphold its bylaws without amendments that would allow for the installation of a landfill site, the cheers of the crowd made the position of the people clear. This was the manifestation of the democratic process.

The Quebec Minister of the Environment has on several occasions confirmed that he would not interfere with this democratic process.

Now it is up to Sanitech Lamarche to live up to its statement.

Yours Sincerely, Ed Radey, President of Concerned Citizens' Committee.

Dear Editor,

On January 5th, 1987, over one hundred people attended the regular council meeting of the Municipality of Bristol, probably the largest turnout of ratepayers in the history of the municipality.

And yet, when readers turn to The Way We Were, twenty-five, fifty, or one-hundred years from now, they will find not one word about this incident.

For some reason THE EQUITY saw fit to write about changes in the wolf bounty, an item discussed later on at the same meeting, while ignoring the fact that over a hundred people came out to find out whether or not council planned to amend its bylaw so as to allow a landfill site.

To deliberately supress its most salient feature gives a totally misleading impression of the meeting and of the issues of concern in Bristol.

Moreover, such selective presentation of the facts is a form of editorializing from the front page.

Yours sincerely, Hope Ledoux, RR4, Quyon.

(Editor,s Note: As the writer knows, the Bristol Council minutes, and those of many other municipalities in Pontiac, are always published, without editorial comment, in THE EQUITY as soon as possible after they are received.)

Dear Editor,

I have studied Mr Lamarche's proposal on the Mine site. I feel this will be a worthwhile project and benefit to us and surrounding areas. I worked with Hilton Mine and then six years with Mr Lamarche. I found him a very honest and trustworthy man to deal with.

My wife was born and lived at that Mine site so I feel we both know the area quite well. We cannot see that this would be anything but a benefit and fail to see that it would be the disaster that some people think.

Jim Corrigall, Bristol

Dear Editor,

Concerns of the Pontiac Citizens: The Chalk River Experimental Station is currently researching the best methods of storing low, intermediate and high level wastes on the Chalk River site. The low level wastes are buried in trenches with intrusion barriers for the more radioactive wastes that will remain active for up to 150 years. The wastes that will remain active up to 500 years are incorporated into massive solids and buried at shallow depths. The most radioactive materials are buried in man-made and natural caverns in rock.

Some of the most radioactive wastes are shipped to Savannah River, South Carolina for reprocessing. Then they are converted into nuclear weapons at the Oak Ridge military laboratory in Tennessee. Some of the reprocessed wastes are returned to Chalk River to be used again for research.

Our Concerns: Will the nuclear wastes stored at the Chalk River leach into the Ottawa River now or in future years?

How much tritiated water that comes from cooling the nuclear reactors flows into the Ottawa River? How often is the tritiated river water tested? Is there any risk from drinking the water, swimming in the water or eating the fish that live in the Ottawa River to the health of the people living immedaitely down river from the Rolphton or the Chalk River nuclear plants? Should the people in Pontiac whose drinking water comes from the Ottawa River be concerned? Should fishermen be encouraged to eat fish from the Ottawa River downstream from the nuclear power plants?

Are emergency measures in place to handle an accident in the event that a truck delivering high level radioactive waste should have an accident in which the lethal wastes were able to escape into the environment? How do people know that they should stay away from a truck bearing nuclear waste? Is it not natural for people to rush to the driver to see if he is injured and to survey the scene to find out how to be of help? Would this not be fatal to the would-be assistant? How many people know the emergency measures number? What is AECL doing to educate the people along the nuclear waste route in order to protect them from such an accident? Do the police, the firemen, the ambulance drivers and the mayors – all people who are likely to be called in case of an emergency – know what to do in case of an emergency? How many trips are made annually? Should the police and the fire departments be notified when the waste shipments are to occur?

Who will pay for an accident? Does AECL and the Government of Canada who are liable for damages to persons and property have sufficient funds to repair the damages in the event of a serious accident? Who will pay for damage to the environment or can the environment ever be completely restored?

Food at Pontiac High

they sampled the chicken vegetable soup and the fish and chips. They found their main dish greasy, without vegetables and poor in presentation.

The DSC complained the meal was not well balanced and not very nutritious.

The study found that some of the more nutritious foods offered at the school were expensive.

Fruit juices and yogourt were identified as being the two most expensive items in the cafeteria costing 50 cents and 70 cents respectively.

Ellard Perry, principal of Pontiac High School said the report was "absolutely correct."

"We sell what the kids will buy," he said.

Mr. Perry said he tries to keep the students in school. The school faces competion at lunch time from four restaurants and two chip wagons.

On the plus side of the report, the DSC liked the staff at the school. The DSC says it cares as much about uniforms as the cleanliness of the kitchen.

Although the staff has had no special training, they are at ease and efficient in their work.

The DSC also admired the distribution system in the cafeteria and the fact that breakfast is available.

Played 20 seasons with Montreal during the Golden years of the Canadiens. Though well over the 1,000 point mark, the Pocket Rocket had to wait until 1973 to win his first major award, the Bill Masterton Trophy, which is awarded for perseverance and dedication to hockey. Playing in league dominated by centres, Henri still managed to be named to the first All-Star team once and the second team 3 times. Holds records for the most Cup games (180) and most Cup winners (11). Henri is a member of the Hockey Hall of Fame.

Atom All-stars win two on weekend

On Saturday, the Shawville Atom All-stars played host to Barry's Bay and defeated them 5-0.

Luke Murphy had three goals for Shawville with Ian Lang and Jamie Richardson picking up singles. Assists went to Murphy (2), Martin Gauthier (2) Rob Fletcher (1), Lang (1) and Darron Barr (1).

On Sunday they travelled to Petawawa and defeated them 7-1. Luke Murphy led the way with three goals and Shawn O'Reilly, Darron Barr, Ian Lang and Martin Gauthier getting singles. Single assists to Gauthier, Lang, Richardson, Barr, and Murphy. Aggressive two-way play provided the Pontiacs with two solid victories on the weekend. Next Sunday the Pontiacs play at Arnprior.

hosted their home tournament on January 17. Shawville's opening game was played against a very strong Petawawa team and Petawawa won 6-1. Glenn Crisostomo scored Shawville's only goal unassisted.

The final game! What a thrill! Following four periods of overtime, Eganville found the net on a high shot to win a 6-5 victory over the Pontiacs. Scoring for the Pontiacs were Garth Yach, Ian Bergeron, Pascal Asselin, Marty Brownlee and Glenn Crisostomo. Assists went to Chris MacIntyre with three, Ian Peck, Glenn Crisostomo, and Garth Yach.

The Shawville boys returned home a little disappointed but realizing they had played well and as good sportsmen. They look forward to hosting their own tournament on Saturday, January 24 starting at 8 a.m.

Shawville Pee Wees

The month of January is a very busy tournament month for Shawville. In Arnprior on January 10th, the Shawville Pontiacs met the South Grenville Ramparts, a game that finished in a 2-2 tie. Due to the format of the round robin tournament, this remained the final score with each team receiving one point. Scoring for Shawville were Glenn Crisostomo assisted by Tim Stevens and Ian Bergeron assisted by Chris MacIntyre and Marc Dufour. The offensive Hustler award was given to Scott Young of the Ramparts with the defensive award given to Scott Young of the Shawville Pontiacs.

In the second game, Shawville played the Laroche Park Senators with Shawville winning by a score of 3-2. Scoring for Shawville were Pascal Asselin assisted by Ian Peck and Tim Stevens, Ian Bergeron assisted by Marc Dufour and Garth Yach with the third goal scored by Glenn Crisostomo assisted by J P Lafleur. In the third game, Shawville played Pembroke to a 3-0 victory. Two unassisted goals, by Ian Bergeron and Glenn Crisostomo, set the pace with Chris MacIntyre scoring the third, assisted by Marc Dufour. Tim Ferrigan earned the shutout.

These three games earned Shawville the victory in their division but to finish as finalist they played the "wild card" team, again meeting the South Grenville Ramparts. Glen Crisostomo's unassisted goal and Pascal Asselin's goal assisted by Ian Peck led the Shawville team to a 2-1 victory.

In the final game of the tournament, Shawville met the home team, Arnprior Packers, but the legs were not there. Arnprior won this game 3-1. Shawville's lone goal was scored by Tim Carmichael assisted by Allen Kuehl and Pascal Asselin.

In the other game, Portage Mont Blanc shut out the Bryson Lions 4-0.

Snowmobile regulations less restrictive

by Derek Conlon

If you drive a snowmobile, consider yourself lucky. You don't need a licence.

The law that governs snowmobiles was changed as much as a year ago. Now you can go where ever you want on your machine without a licence.

Unlike with other vehicles, the laws that govern snowmobiles are not very specific nor are they seriously enforced.

Raymond Lefebvre of the Federation des Clubs de Motoneige du Quebec (FCMQ) said there used to be a law that restricted the age of a snowmobile driver, but now the driver can be any age and travel any distance–all without a licence.

Theoretically, a five-year-old child could drive a snowmobile anywhere he wanted to.

A recent event in Shawville has brought the subject of snowmobile safety to the fore.

On New Year's day a five-year-old Shawville girl was killed and her father injured when they were hit by a snowmobile.

Both had been tobogganing across a snowmobile trail.

Section 59 of La Règlement sur la motoneige,the Quebec Ministry of Transport law that governs snowmobiles, says no one may drive a snowmobile faster than 10 kilometers per hour within 30 meters of a location where someone is practicing an outdoor sport other than snowmobiling. The location must be an area intended for that other sport.

There is no Quebec law or regulation that sets up a cross-country ski trail or tobogganing hill. In order for the trail or hill to exist, it must be created by the person who owns the land it sits on.

While the hill where the accident took place has been used for tobogganing for generations, it is not an officially recognized tobogganing hill.

Within a few days of the accident, signs were posted on the snowmobile trail by the Pontiac Snowmobile Driver's Association (PSDA), warning drivers of the possibility of people tobogganing in the area.

The snowmobile trail that crosses the hill has been there for at least three years and runs along the Canadian Pacific Railway right of way. It is recognized as a snowmobile trail and has the legal right of way.

The PSDA obtained the legal right of way from the CPR through their management company, Marathon Realty.

The PSDA must go through the same procedure every year with all the property owners whose land is used for the trail.

Gerard Deforges, 44, is the regional administrator for the FCMQ in the Outaouais.

He said the permision granted by property owners to the FCMQ (of which the PSDA is a part), gives the Federation "access to a 12 foot wide right of way from December to March."

For the most part, snowmobile clubs are the only organizations that take an active interest in policing snowmobile clubs.

Mr Deforges said it is up to the snowmobile club to provide its own patrolmen who control the trails.

The patrolmen receive a one day course on safety and they have the power to levy fines to people who are on the snowmobile trail but not driving a snowmobile.

The actual tickets are handled by the Sûreté du Québec.

Theoretically, a property owner who has granted a snowmobile club permission to use his land for the trail could be fined by the patrolmen for walking on the trail.

In practice though, this is unlikely because the patrolmen are reluctant to fine people, said PSDA member Brian Murphy.

The question of fining people found walking or skiing on the trail is a delicate one.

"The problem is those people turn out to be land owners and you get your trail cut off," said Mr. Murphy.

One of the duties of patrolmen, as outlined in the PSDA bylaws, is to "work in strict collaboration with Provincial and Municipal police."

But the police will only help patrol the trail at the request of the snowmobile club.

One Sûreté du Québec constable, who wished to remain anonymous, said the police "do road blocks" at rail crossings.

He said the police checked to make sure the snowmobile has a licence plate and that the driver is wearing a helmet.

Because of a lack of resources, police sometimes use game wardens' snowmobiles but they never check for speeders. There are no speed limits for snowmobiles.

Section 57 of the Réglement sur la motoneige says no one may drive a snowmobile at an excessive speed or in an imprudent manner that may put property or the safety or lives of people in peril.

The law does not say how fast is too fast.

Mr. Deforges said there is no "safe speed" for a snowmobile. It could be 15 kilometers per hour or 100 kilometers per hour. It depends on the terrain and the driving conditions.

But Mr. Deforges does recommend speed limits on trails.

"People haven't got the common sense to drive safely," he said.

If a patrolman for a snowmobile club sees someone going, in his opinion, too fast on a trail, he identifies the speeder and then sends a ticket. He never chases the speeder.

"Then we'd have two people speeding," said Mr. Defoges.

Mr. Deforges said people who ski or toboggan across a snowmobile trail, take the same risks as crossing a highway.

"I don't think it's a very safe procedure," he said.

Since the accident, there have been no signs posted to warn people of the dangers of crossing the snowmobile trail.

Charles Dale, Secretary-Treasurer for Shawville council said, "There are no plans that I know of" to post signs.

New cancer program comes to Pontiac

by Derek Conlon

A new organization designed to help cancer patients was created in Shawville this past weekend.

What's different about this organization is that all the volunteers have or have had cancer.

The program is called CanSurmount. It's organized through volunteers and monitored by the Canadian Cancer Society.

For one and a half days, the volunteers sat in the Masonic temple and were trained on "the do's and don't's" of visiting a patient through the use of audio-visual materials.

The emphasis is on "hope and positive thinking," said Shirley Delorme, Prvincial Convenor for the anglophone section of CanSurmount.

CanSurmount is based on providing emotional support to a cancer patient from a cancer patient.

It's the "buddy system".

Although there are many jobs within the CanSurmount program, the only way you can become a volunteer visitor is to have been a cancer patient or if you have cared for a cancer patient.

Jane Mohr had cancer. She decided to volunteer because she saw a need in this area for a program like CanSurmount.

"I thought I could help somebody," she said.

The program has existed in Canada for some time but has just recently come to Quebec.

Selections from Canadian Poets

by Edward Hartley Dewart (1828-1903)

E H Dewart is an important figure in Canadian Literature, not only for his own poetry but because he was Canada's first anthologist. Before Confederation (1867) most of our poetry was published in the regular poetry columns in the approximately four hundred newspapers – a time of unprecented newspaper publications. Dewart realized that much poetry which he read would never appear again unless he "played the role of rescuer". Therefore to preserve some of Canada's early poetry in a more permanent form he published an anthology, Selections from Canadian Poets. It includes one hundred and seventy-two poems by forty-eight authors, an excellent critical introduction, an index and a preface.

However, Douglas Lochhead, the General Editor of "Canadian Poetry and Prose in Reprint", points out that there are many poems still to be collected from these nineteenth-century newspapers and periodicals and given the attention they deserve.

Dewart had very definite opinions about Canadian poetry and these he expresses in his introduction which has been highly praised because much of it applies to Canada today. The point that he makes very clear is that "a national literature is an essential element in the formation of a national identity. There is probably no country in the world, making equal pretensions to intelligence and progress, where the claims of native literature are so little felt, and where every effort in poetry has been met with so much coldness and indifference as in Canada. Poets are national heroes in other countries because their important role is recognized. But not yet in Canada." When Dewart published his anthology in 1864 he felt it was time for Canadians to examine their own poets, their own literature and their own identity, a never-ending process.

In 1973, one hundred nine years after Selections from Canadian Poets was first published it has been reprinted by the University of Toronto Press to take its place among the many other Canadian books of poety and prose that have been reprinted.

Born in Ireland, Dewart was six years old when he emigrated to Canada with his parents. When his anthology was published Dewart was thirty-six years of age, a Methodist minister on the St Johns circuit near Montreal, and an essayist and poet. Five years later, in 1869, he became editor of the Christian Guardian "described as the principal organ of the Methodist Church in Canada."

The poems in Selections from Canadian Poets are delightful and easy to read as the poets describe Canadian scenery, seasons and weather with great love, demonstrating so well Dewart's words when he says "poetry projects a new charm around common objects".

(Selections from Canadian Poets by E H Dewart has just been donated to the Shawville-Clarendon Municipal Library.)

With a smile on your face, and your hand on my brow,
I'm sure the old world would flame with new light;
Oh Mother, come sit down beside me tonight!
Oh no, I'm not praying to Time in her flight
To make me a child again just for one night,
But only that Mother might sit by me now,

Oh God, how the world would flame with new light,
If Mother could sit down beside me tonight!

A message from the Public Curator (45)

A psychiatric examination, which may lead to the issuance of a certificate of incapacity, is usually requested by the family practitioner who perceives a behaviour problem. Such evaluation is also often recommended in hospitals when mental disorder results from accident or illness.

When a psychiatrist concludes that his patient is incapable of managing his own affairs, he completes a certificate of incapacity which, when countersigned by his director of professional services, is forwarded to the Public Curator. The hospital center informs the family of the incapable person that he has been under the protection of the Public Curator.

No one can be obliged to undergo psychiatric examination unless so ordered by court judgment. Any individual advised to seek psychiatric attention can refuse, even if it is in his own best interest.

All individuals declared incapable of acting in their own interest are provided the immediate protection of the Public Curator. This duty will be temporary if a private curator is appointed to take over the responsibility or if, following psychiatric re-evaluation, protection is no longer deemed necessary.

The Public Curator welcomes any requests for information adressed to "A Message from the Public Curator" Le Curateur public du Québec, C.P. 710, Montréal (Québec) H4Z 1J9.

SOCIAL NOTES

Caldwell . . .

by Hermonie Sharpe

Here it is January 19 and winter is really getting by without too much cold or stormy weather. Last week it was so mild but then over the weekend we experienced really cold weather. We'll not count too much yet as we have the rest of January and February to go through and maybe when we are hoping for nice weather, it won't be so nice. To those of you who are in Florida we hope you are enjoying the balmy weather and you are all healthy and happy. We miss you all while you are away and love to see you back in the Spring.

Miss Kim Sharpe of Trent University spent the wekend with her parents, Neil and Margaret Sharpe. It will soon be examination time for the college and university students and we wish them the best of everything as it is a trying time for them all.

I missed mentioning about our Christmas dinners which were well attended. The Shawville Lionettes put on a lovely dinner for the single senior citizens on January 10th which we all enjoyed immensely. Part of the Pentecostal Sunday School and John Langford supplied the entertainment. After the dinner a bus was provided to take whoever wanted to go around town to see the lights. John Musgrove acted as Santa Claus, giving everyone a gift and he and Leslie Musgrove went with the bus load. Congratulations to the Lionettes for this wonderful evening.

Then on December 17th the Bristol senior citizens had their dinner at Bob Smith's Restaurant. Special guests were Mayor Jack Graham and his lovely wife. Jack spoke of how proud he was of the senior citizens club and gave 48 new packs of cards for Christmas. His wife read a really interesting piece she had kept out of the Citizen years ago concerning Christmas which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The dinner was a real credit to Bob Smith and his staff and we wish them and the Lionettes the best in 1987.

Quite a few of us buy beef by the quarter or half and end up with a lot of hamburg. Here's something to try which we really found delicious. Mix your hamburg, as you like it, put it between two pieces of waxpaper and roll it with your rolling pin, so it will be firm. Make some dressing, as you do for chicken, put it in the middle or spread it on and roll it up. Cook it in a loaf pan (like mock duck) and if you like, you can pour tomato sauce over the top. This is delicious as I have tried it this past week.

Visitors with us over the weekend were Neil and Margaret Sharpe from Shawville and Connie McGee from Ottawa.

Jack and Anne Clarke entertained the family on Sunday, January 11. All the Kennedys were out to the mass for Dorthy, mother and wife as well as mother-in-law and grannie. Mrs Joe Kennedy died on January 13, 1971. It is gratifying to see this love and devotion kept up.

In December paper an error was made in the Knox obituary. It should have read that Frank Knox was deceased instead of reading "William". His brothers were William of Calgary, Leo of Parry Sound, and Tom of Ottawa.
