Training to fit job needs urged by U of S professor

The Quebec government should appoint a 'manpower commission' to coordinate school technical training with the needs of industry, the University of Sherbrooke political economy director said yesterday.

Students should be trained for the jobs most in demand in industry, Father Emile Bouvier told delegates to the Quebec Industrial Commissioners' Association being held in Sherbrooke this week.

To know what skills are becoming more important and what ones less important, accurate statistics are needed, he said. These the National Employment Service is unwilling to provide.

Father Bouvier was asked why a Quebec commission should be set up when the National Employment Service (NES) now works in this field.

Juridically, the BNA Act makes labor a provincial concern and moreover, the federal body gives incomplete service to the province, he replied.

By DAVID WEBSTER
(Record staff reporter)

"The NES does not give out regional statistics on employment," he continued.

"If one asks for them, the service replies that it doesn't give such statistics to Ontario and other provinces and that it has to stay within its budget."

QUEBEC RATE HIGH

"We have statistics to show a 6.7 unemployment rate in parently at a high rate and growing — something that shouldn't be happening with business expanding at the rate it is, he said.

Such commissions have been set up in the United States and in Ontario, stated Father Bouvier.

In the NES, provincial interests are subordinate to those of the dominion. Also, the un-trying to classify such jobs so as to know where given persons can be placed."

Father Bouvier pronounced himself in favor of labor moving to industry rather than vice versa.

"An industry should locate itself in an area with a large labor force ONLY if cost is no more than in another location," he declared.

CAREER

Father Bouvier's career includes studies at College Ste. Marie (Montreal), Boston College, Georgetown (Washington, D.C.) and Harvard.

He has held positions as professor of political economy and industrial relations at the University of Montreal; co-organizer of administration courses at Tientsin University, China; organizer of the Mexico school of industrial relations; director of the Georgetown University political economy department; organizer of the administration school of Buenos Aires University; delegate to the June 1959 NATO conference; rector of the University of Sudbury; and first rector of the bilingual Sudbury Laurentian University.

Quebec during the last five years. These were definitely not recession years," said Father Bouvier.

Areas such as the Gaspé and North Shore had an 8 per cent unemployment rate. In Rimouski it was as high as 13 per cent.

Montreal with the lowest Quebec rate had 5.4 per cent out of work.

Thus unemployment is ap-employment problem poses itself differently in Quebec than elsewhere, he said.

Every student should push himself to the grade 11 level, declared Father Bouvier. Otherwise he will only be able to take lower, less-demanding jobs.

The problem is what to do with the 30 per cent of the population whose intelligence quotient is below 80. They can't go to industry except to do the more routine jobs. "We are

14 killed and 10 wounded

US casualties heavy in Viet Nam battle

SAIGON (CP) — The United States suffered its heaviest combat casualties of the Viet Nam war today in a fierce battle raging north of Saigon.

Fourteen Americans were reported killed and 10 wounded when Viet Cong forces estimated at two battalions overran the town of Dong Xoai, 60 miles from the capital, and part of a camp of troops specially trained in jungle warfare.

Radio communication with the town was possible only from planes flying overhead and casualties in the government forces were unknown.

Rob caisse of $2,600 at Bury

BURY (Staff) — Two armed and masked men helped themselves to all the cash on hand at the Caisse Populaire branch here yesterday afternoon. They got away with $2,600.

The two men, one brandishing a revolver, entered the branch at about 2:10 p.m. Giving commands in French, they ordered manager Raoul Turcotte to open the vault.

He was alone in the bank at the time.

The bandits then emptied the contents of the vault and the cash drawer into the manager's brief case.

They then sped off in a late model car driven by a third man, in the direction of Scotstown.

Officers of the Quebec Provincial Police, Cookshire detachment, who arrived at the bank about 2:30 p.m., found the car about 90 minutes after the holdup, parked in a field about one mile out of Bury on the road to Scotstown. It is believed the car was stolen in the vicinity of Montreal.

The bandits were in and out of the bank in less than two minutes, said Mr. Turcotte.

No shots were fired and Mr. Turcotte was not mistreated in any way, he said.

The men apparently had another car waiting when they abandoned their first one, said an official of the Provincial Police.

Numerous roadblocks were set up all over the area, said the QPP.

A previous attempt to rob the bank was on the evening of May 31, when the Caisse office was broken into and an unsuccessful attempt was made to break open the vault.

The battle appeared to be the biggest since the bloody action at Quang Ngai about 250 miles farther north 10 days ago when guerrilla forces cut two government battalions to pieces.

The attacking Viet Cong poured 200 60-millimetre mortar shells into the special forces camp, a mile from the town.

There were about 300 South Vietnamese troops training in the camp.

A U.S. military spokesman said the 24 U.S. servicemen killed and wounded were believed to be the only Americans in the area. Some were reported to be navy Seabees constructing an airstrip; the rest were training advisers.

Fighter planes and armed helicopters guided by parachute flares tried all night to drive the guerrillas off. One report said a U.S. B-57 bomber and a single-engine plane were shot down.

About 500 government reinforcements were flown into the area by helicopter three hours after dawn. Later in the day bad weather made air attack and helicopter operations difficult.

It was believed the guerrillas were aiming mainly at the partly finished airstrip in an attempt to foil any U.S. plan to set up a key base in the centre of an area the Viet Cong consider "liberated" territory.

During the last four years the government has suffered hundreds of casualties and lost tons of equipment in Communist ambushes and attacks around Dong Xoai. But it was the first time the Viet Cong overran the town.

Three persons were killed and about a dozen were wounded today when a booby-trapped bicycle exploded in a crowded Saigon street.

The Viet Cong issued a statement over Hanoi radio threatening to seek international help if U.S. troops fight alongside South Vietnamese forces.

The statement was in reaction to a U.S. state department declaration Tuesday that the U.S. military command in South Viet Nam has been authorized to send American troops into combat alongside the South Vietnamese if asked.

THE SMOKE OF BATTLE — Smoke pours from one of the buildings at Dong Xoai as a battle raged today between Vietnamese troops and Viet Cong forces who overran the town and threatened to wipe out a nearby special forces camp.

London papers say:

US policy 'turnabout' follows hot line call

LONDON (Reuters) — The mass-circulation Daily Mirror today claimed that an alleged "turnabout" in Washington's Viet Nam policy followed a "hot line" call from British Prime Minister Wilson to President Johnson.

British newspapers editorially attacked two Washington statements in the last two days on the decision to make U.S. troops available for combat duty alongside South Vietnamese forces.

Richard Scott, Washington correspondent of The Guardian, said: "Never has the Johnson administration appeared to be more fumbling in its foreign policies than today."

The Mirror recalled the statement Tuesday by a state department spokesman that Gen. William Westmoreland, U.S. military commander in Viet Nam, was authorized to switch his troops from defensive to attacking roles.

Another statement Wednesday denied any change in the U.S. military role.

The Mirror said this was believed to have been the result of a call on the London-Washington "hot line" by Wilson to Johnson asking for a clarification of Tuesday's policy statement.

Scott in his Guardian report quoted extensively from the texts of the two controversial statements.

The Mirror said this was believed to have been the result of a call on the London-Washington "hot line" by Wilson to Johnson asking for a clarification of Tuesday's policy statement.

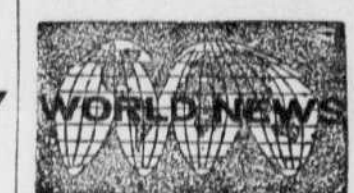

Scott in his Guardian report quoted extensively from the texts of the two controversial statements.

For more than a year after he succeeded the assassinated President Kennedy in November, 1963, President Johnson put almost all his attention on the field where he was expert: Domestic doings and dealings with Congress. Under his prodding Congress made remarkable progress.

But within a month after taking office on his own last January, Johnson plunged into the foreign field where his experience was limited and his ability never proven because it was never tested.

He moved in a big way, ordering the bombing of North Viet Nam, an order still being carried out although the North Vietnamese have not visibly budged an inch.

No appeasement

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Martin today rejected any appeasement of the Communists in Viet Nam but warned that an exclusively military response to aggression there may bring Russia into the conflict openly.

He told the Commons external affairs committee:

"If North Viet Nam succeeds in taking over the whole of Viet Nam by force, if the rest of the world is prepared to sit back and see this happen, saying feebly that it is after all only a domestic rebellion so why not accept the inevitable, we would, I think, be guilty of an error of the same nature as the mistakes made at Munich and, before that, in the League of Nations."

Montreal moves

MONTREAL (CP) — The third day of a strike by 3,900 employees of the Montreal Transportation Commission began today as the deadline approached for a walkout of 600 drivers of the Provincial Transport Co. Both groups of employees are seeking higher pay.

With two days and four rush hours behind them, commuters are getting used to finding other means of transportation.

Fear for schools

MONTREAL (CP) — Fear that Quebec's classical colleges — "the roots of our survival" — may disappear as the price of Quebec's "revolution in education" was expressed Wednesday by the Union Nationale party's education critic.

Albert Gervais, Quebec legislature member for Montmorency riding, told a service club that classical colleges "are rooted in the most precious human knowledge," he said.

Classical colleges are private institutions run by Roman Catholic Church orders.

French Canadians lucky, says Breton

QUEBEC (CP) — Yann Plunier thinks French-Canadians are a lucky minority.

Mr. Plunier, 42, a husky engineer's assistant, came here from Baie Comeau, Que., to tell the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism Wednesday what it is like to belong to the Breton minority of France. He left France 12 years ago.

"French-Canadians are a minority who have been lucky enough to find a majority who treat them fairly well," he said in a French which showed small trace of the Breton he spoke until after the age of 20.

"In Brittany we have no rights at all. I myself spent four months in jail for the cause of Breton autonomy, and you can still get into trouble with the great de Gaulle for putting up a sign in the Breton language."

As well as excellent French and Breton, Mr. Plunier speaks good English and Italian. His brief to the commission came out for "multiculturalism."

"Do you mean by that that there must be a Breton school in Baie Comeau because there is one Breton there?" asked commissioner Jean Marchand.

"No," said Mr. Plunier, "but if the minority is a considerable one, it should have the right to educate its children in their native language."

PRESERVE TRADITIONS

The witnesses in earlier days were active in European movements for a federally-divided continent which would give more autonomy to pockets of traditional culture like Brittany.

"I also participate in the meeting of the World Celtic Union, which groups representatives of Scotland, Ireland, Wales, the Isle of Man and Brittany."

Bretons, fisherfolk from whom many French-Canadians are descended, speak a language related to Gaelic. They number about 1,500,000.

What language is spoken at the Celtic Union's meetings, a commissioner wondered.

"I'm afraid," said Yann Plunier with a sigh, "that it's English."

The commission also heard Wednesday from a pediatrician who wants to divide Canada up into language zones based on the percentage of French-speaking and English-speaking people; a separatist who said the trouble is that English-Canadians are not one solid group like French-Canadians; and businessmen who want Quebec to oversee French culture everywhere in America.

Protection from errant rulings by speaker sought in Commons

OTTAWA (CP) — Having won at least a partial victory in their cry for safeguards against time-limited debates, opposition parties in the Commons now are pressing for some protection against errant rulings by the Speaker.

While a special nine-man committee studied how to ensure that cabinet ministers won't abuse their proposed power to cut off debate, spokesmen for two opposition groups spent Wednesday's short day in the House rules-changes debate calling for some recourse against ill-founded rulings by the chair.

Their initial efforts met indifferent success.

The issue under debate was a government plan, part of the package of proposed rule changes, to eliminate the right of members to appeal through a recorded House vote against Speaker's rulings.

Credited Gilles Grogan tried first to have the government plan dropped entirely, only to lose out to combined Liberal, Conservative and Social Credit opposition.

When that failed, New Democrat Leader Douglas called for creation of a House committee to ensure that, if the Speaker makes a bad ruling, it at least will not stand as a precedent for the future.

This idea won wider, though qualified, acceptance from the major parties and observers suggested Mr. Douglas' amendment might be accepted in some form when the House resumes its debate, in the 14th day, on the rules today.

Meanwhile, outside the chamber, three Liberal cabinet ministers along with a trio of Conservatives and a representative from each of the three minority groups began consideration of the government's proposal to allow a minister to cut off debate on legislation after a specified period.

The committee, set up by the House Tuesday night, has until Friday morning to report back to the Commons on its deliberations. One committee source said there is "a good chance" the nine members will reach agreement by then.

The committee, which held two meetings Wednesday and has more set for today, has before it the government's desire to provide some means for allocating debate on any specific measures.

'Horror stories' unfounded

Astronauts headed for Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut James McDivitt and Edward White — still recalling some grim expectations — hurried to the arms of their families today.

McDivitt told officers of the aircraft carrier Wasp:

"When we came down we didn't know what kind of shape we would be in—the doctors had told us a lot of horror stories about what to expect. When we got down on the water safely, I don't think there were two more pleased people than Ed and I."

Horror stories' meant.

Just one week ago, the astronauts blasted off from Cape Kennedy, Fla., for their four-day space journey aboard Gemini IV. Today, they arrive at Mayport, Fla., on the Wasp for their first step on U.S. soil since June 3.

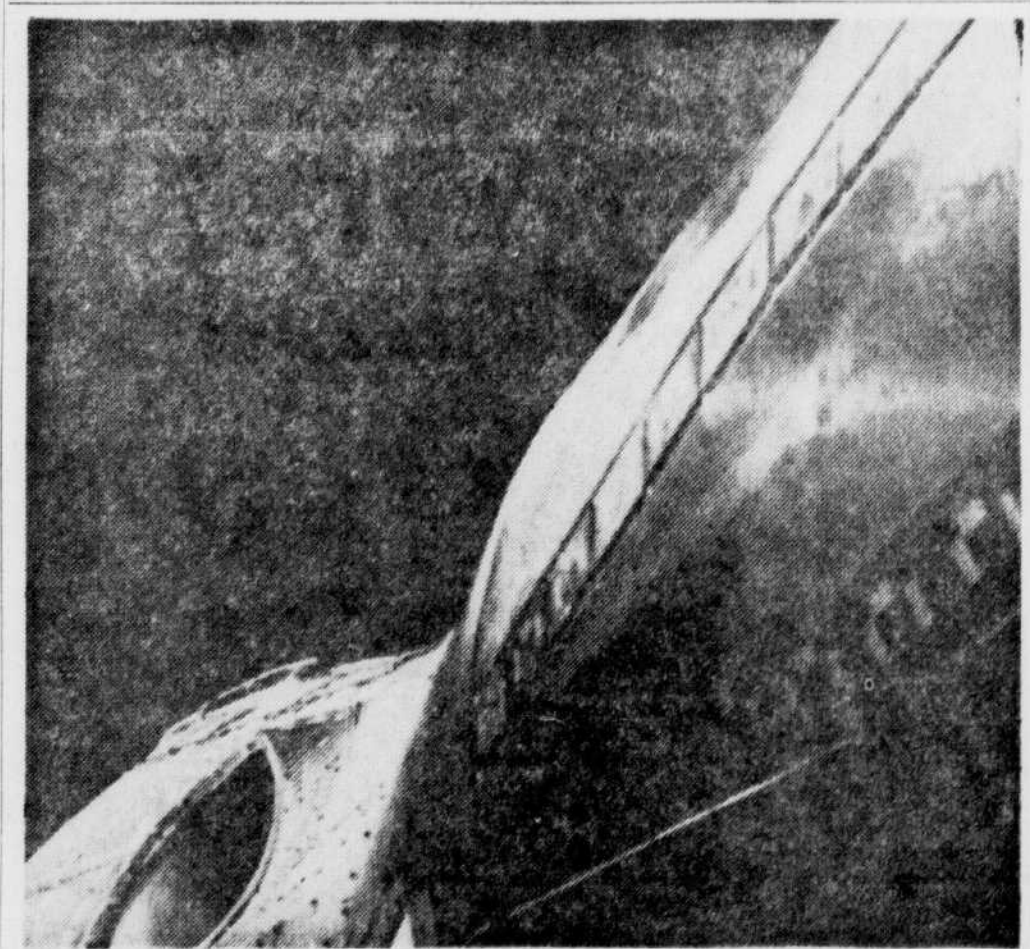

The astronauts go directly from the ship to a plane. Half an hour later, they were to be winging their way to Houston where their wives and children await—and where McDivitt will celebrate his 36th birthday.

Spacewalker White, apparently near tears in an emotional farewell to the Wasp officers and crew, said: "I thank you from the bottom of my heart for being on the spot when our ship came in."

Ahead for the astronauts are six days of heroes' welcomes, a weekend visit with President Johnson on his Texas ranch, a Monday ticker-tape parade in Chicago and a Tuesday honors ceremony at their alma mater, the University of Michigan.

A pleasant surprise came Wednesday on the carrier. The first man ever in space, Soviet cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin, sent the astronauts a congratulatory telegram.

Show Business

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Donna Douglas is vacationing from The Beverly Hillbillies to play Frankie to Elvis Presley's Johnny. It's a big step for a girl whose last movie role was as a secretary in Lover Come Back.

Donna has a philosophical approach to her life and work unusual for one of such tender (24) years. Her conversation is studded with observations like: "You can have success if you can handle it."

She seems to be handling her life. She came up the hard way, from beauty contests to letters girl on the Perry Como show to bits in movies like Career and L'il Abner. Then producer-writer Paul Henning asked her whether she could handle the role of Elly Mae in his new TV series, The Beverly Hillbillies.

"I just looked at him and grinned," recalled Donna. "Could I handle Elly Mae? Why, it was just like my own life."

Louisiana-born Donna, who had struggled to erase her drawl, had to recover it for the series. The Hillbillies became the No. 1 show in audience ratings. That meant instant fame for Donna Douglas (born Doris Smith).

CAN'T HANDLE IT
"Some people can't handle success; it's too much for them," she said. "They aren't willing to give as well as receive. It's important to do both."

Donna is delighted to be playing opposite Elvis in Frankie and Johnny. Unlike most of his leading ladies, she hasn't dated him.

"I just met him when he recorded the songs before the picture," she said, "and we've been working steadily ever since. Who has time to date?"

But her datelessness doesn't cause Donna to fret. She had one ill-fated marriage as a teen-ager and has a son back home.

As soon as Donna finishes Frankie and Johnny, she heads back to her work as Elly Mae. She has served three years and is under contract for another three.

2 out of 3 new Ambassador buyers switched from other manufacturers this year.

(Ambassador sales up 211%)

For thousands of people who had always been loyal to the other makes, 1965 was the year of the big switch. They turned their backs on cars they'd always bought and moved to Ambassador. You can bet they must have had some pretty good reasons. We bet disillusionment was one of them. (When you've put up with rust, rattles and repair bills year after year, you start wondering if you really have to!)

But we think the new Ambassador itself was the most important reason. This year's Ambassador is the biggest, most luxurious ever built—more solid Rambler quality designed for the larger car buyer. And the Ambassador offers more options this year—everything from bucket seats to power disc brakes. Improved performance, too—including the new 232 cu. in. Torque Command Six, the most powerful, smoothest-riding six on the road, and a mighty 327 cu. in. V8. Of course, Ambassador's truly outstanding interior must have sold quite a few people (or was it the big car luxury at a medium price that did the selling?).

No matter what their reasons were, you can probably think of some of your own to go Ambassador. Who knows—maybe the famous Rambler features (Deep Dip Rustproofing, Double Safety Brakes, Ceramic-Armoured Muffler, rattle-free Single Unit Construction) are beginning to make a lot of sense to you. They've already made a lot of sense to thousands of people who were in the same boat.

Radio station sought

A new French-language radio station will begin broadcasting in Sherbrooke within a few months, if an application for a licence about to be presented to the Board of Broadcast Governors is granted.

The public hearing of the BBG which begins next Tuesday in Ottawa is scheduled to consider an application for licence "by a company to be incorporated represented by Jean Nadon to establish and operate an AM broadcasting station at Sherbrooke, P.Q.," according to the Canada Gazette.

Mr. Nadon, who is a radio broadcast representative in Montreal, explained in a telephone interview that this new company comprises four men, two of them from this city.

The latter are Jacques Lagasse, Sherbrooke notary, and Joseph Bessette, Sherbrooke accountant.

The other two members of the company are both Montrealers: Raymond Crepault, a lawyer who also owns radio station CJMS in Montreal, and Mr. Nadon.

"This company will have one hundred per cent ownership of the new French-language radio station in Sherbrooke," said Mr. Nadon.

The station will, if its establishment is allowed by the BBG, be independent, that is, not affiliated with any network.

It will begin strictly as an AM station, though when asked Mr. Nadon allowed it to be a "possibility" that it would later try to extend into FM broadcasting as well.

"Modern studios will be constructed in space rented in a building in downtown Sherbrooke," said Mr. Nadon, "and an option has been taken on land in Rock Forest, roughly five miles from our planned studio, as a site for our transmitter."

The application to the BBG says that the AM station will have a power of 10,000 watts DA-1, and will be on the frequency of 1480 kilocycles.

One out of seven city residents is industrial worker

Approximately one out of seven Sherbrooke residents is an industrial worker, according to a 1964 report in the city's financial statement.

The report lists the 91 Sherbrooke industrial establishments having over 10 employees. The total number of such workers comes to 9,471, while the city population is about 70,000.

The largest single employer is the Canadian Ingersoll-Rand Co. which employs 1,055. The plant manufactures heavy machinery.

The next biggest is Domil Ltd. located off King Street West with 849 employees.

Third on the list is the Walter M. Lowmyer confectionery company with 634 employees. It is also located off King Street West.

Fourth is the 568-employee American Biltrite Rubber Company off Bank Street in the North Ward.

The Dominion Textile Company located near Pacific Street in the West Ward employs 539 workers.

Textiles major source of work
Sherbrooke's still a textile city.

A city report shows that one-third of its industrial employees work in mills for textile, hosiery and related products.

About one-sixth work in plants for the making of machinery and mechanical equipment.

The report, dated 1964, says that 9,471 persons work in industrial establishments having 10 or more workers.

Textile, hosiery and clothing plants claim 3,018 persons while the machinery and equipment factories employ 1,892.

Is killed by lightning

RICHMOND (Staff) — A Melbourne Ridge man was instantly killed by two of his horses by a bolt of lightning yesterday afternoon at 3 p.m. while hauling stones from a field of his farm.

Garnet Dawson 63, of Route 39, Melbourne Ridge, about seven miles from Richmond, was found dead by the wife of his partner, Mrs. Stainhorpe beside his wagon. She had become worried, said corporal Donat Sevigny of the Richmond QPP, and had gone to the field to investigate. She telephoned Dr. Dagman, of Richmond, who later informed the police.

"All the left side of his face was burned as though he had been in a fire and his cap had been ripped by the force of the bolt of lightning," said Corporal Sevigny this morning.

The investigation was carried out by Constable Marcel Vigneault of the QPP.

SKELETON IS ALL THAT REMAINS — The side and roof of an old covered bridge, right, over the Coaticook River on the Hatley Road within the municipal limits of Compton, have been removed. At right is the bridge recently constructed by the provincial government to replace it, on the original site of the old bridge. Estimates of the age of the old bridge range from 60 to over 100 years. A provincial work crew is to demolish the rest of the bridge in a short time. There appears to be no chance of preserving the well-known Compton County landmark. (Record photo by Doug Gerrish)

Covered bridge demolished

The covered bridge over the Coaticook River on the Hatley Road within the municipal limits of Compton, is being demolished.

A lack of interest and a lack of funds were the reasons cited by different officials over the planned disappearance of the old landmark.

An official of the Department of Public Works in Quebec City told the Record that the covered bridge is to be demolished now that it has been replaced by a recently constructed bridge.

The old covered bridge is now sitting upstream from the newly constructed bridge, with its roof and sides removed.

The bridge was moved upstream so that traffic could be re-routed over it while construction was taking place on the new bridge, located in the original place of the covered one.

The secretary-treasurer of the village of Compton said the municipal council has no plan to preserve the bridge. He said the council hadn't given the preservation of the bridge any thought, officially anyway.

Estimates of the age of the bridge range from 60 to over 100 years.

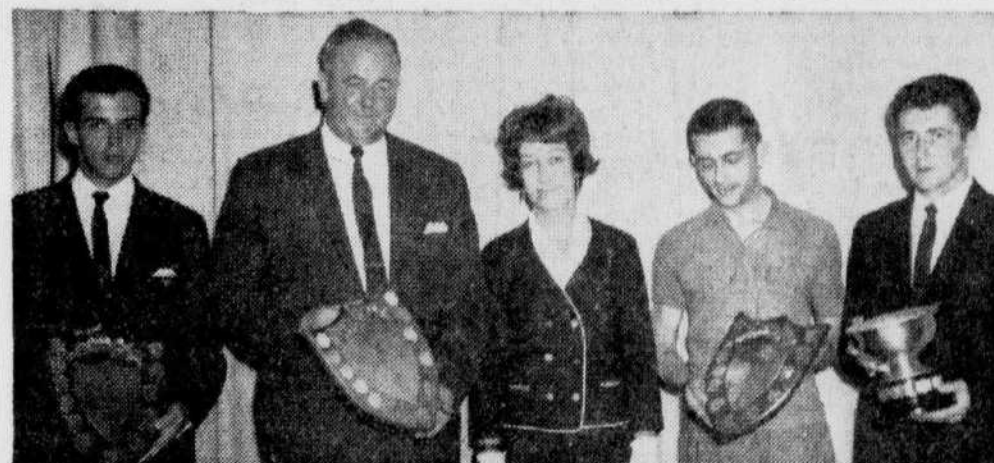

The Compton County Historical and Museum Society regrets the demolition of the covered bridge, but is unable to preserve it because of lack of funds.

Preservation of this bridge would be possible if the society received aid from the provincial government, but this is not available, said Society president Lionel Hurd, of Sawyerville, in an interview yesterday.

There are three more covered bridges in Compton County that have survived, though, and the Society hopes that when there is talk of replacing them with new bridges, the Quebec government will be giving some form of financial assistance, said Mr. Hurd.

Mr. Hurd said the three remaining bridges in Compton County are: on the East Angus road on the outskirts of Cookshire; on the Salmon River on the road between Gould and Weedon; and between Sawyerville and Bury near Flanders, over the North River.

According to a spokesman for the Minister of Cultural Affairs in Quebec City, there are about 300 covered bridges left in the province in various states of repair.

prentissage, of which a record 62 per cent of the eligible students donated; Nils Hanson, plant manager of S. W. Hooper and Co. Ltd., of which 40 per cent of the employees gave blood; Mrs. Ralph Owen, in charge of the English-language section of the Red Cross Ladies' Auxiliary; Andre Collin of Sherbrooke Wood Products, another 40 per cent achievement; and Jean-Denis Champoux of the Sherbrooke Seminary, of which 25 per cent of the eligible students gave.

Forms not intelligible — judge

Marcel Cote 46, of South Durham, near Richmond, was acquitted yesterday of a charge of making false declarations to the Richmond unemployment bureau when Judge Turmel ruled that the forms sent to him by the bureau were not completely understandable to a layman.

Mr. Cote, his wife testified, did not receive instruction material from the Unemployment bureau on the proper filing of the forms until after he had filed the declarations for the weeks of August 9 and 16, 1964.

Claude Breton of the insurance bureau claimed that the accused had received the amount of $70 under false pretenses.

Robert Pinard of Iberville was sentenced to a fine of $10 and court costs when he pleaded guilty to a minor traffic infraction.

He was accused of crossing a double white line while driving in the Sherbrooke area.

A trial for Joseph Siros, of St. Francois Xavier de Brompton was again postponed yesterday when his lawyer reported that his client had just undergone an operation and would be confined to bed for about three weeks at least. Siros is accused of cow theft. His trial date was set tentatively for July 28.

Siros is accused of stealing 25 cows, valued at $3,569, from the property of Julien Dutilly of Racine, Sherbrooke County in the fall of 1962.

The trial has been adjourned several times before and was reopened briefly on May 27, in Sherbrooke Court of Sessions before Judge Benoit Turmel.

Two Sherbrooke men who appeared before Judge Benoit Turmel in Court of Sessions yesterday morning on charges of breaking and entering are to reappear today, one for his preliminary hearing and the other for sentencing.

Robert Lamirande and Denis Rousseau were arrested yesterday morning at 1 a.m. in the St. Jean Baptiste Church by police. No theft was committed.

Suggest free autoroutes for economic progress

Quebec's industry should be decentralized by the developing of regional centres linked by free-of-charge autoroutes, a prominent University of Sherbrooke economist declared yesterday.

"There can be no decentralization without developing regional industrial complexes centred on a large city," said Dr. Rossaire Cousineau, newly-appointed dean of the university extension department.

The roads constructed should not be parallel but should fan out from the regional centres, he said.

Mr. Cousineau was asked who would pay for construction of the autoroutes.

"The taxpayer," he replied. "We are not highly taxed in Quebec."

He distinguished "recreation roads" from industrial ones: "Roads leading to recreation areas, such as the Laurentian Autoroute, should remain toll roads while roads built to further industrial expansion should be toll free," he declared.

Dr. Cousineau described his view of the regional city: "This city must be accepted within the region as the leading centre."

"The government must give it the material, educational and organizational tools necessary for its role," he said. "For this, it must give generous subsidies, often preferential, in the interests of the whole."

The construction of autoroutes to join these regions will be expensive, he conceded. However it will be still more expensive to overdevelop the road system around an ever-increasing Montreal.

Says air service important

A Sherbrooke industrialist determining location sites for industries. Private enterprise is founded on the need to make a profit, he stated. Thus a company must consider all the factors that will reduce its costs and increase its efficiency of production.

These include such disparate factors as climate, power resources, skill and union organization of local people, government regulations toward industry, tax rates, transportation facilities, and financing institutions, he said.

Perhaps regional airports should be built in Canada as they are in Scandinavia, he said.

Mr. Hooper described factors

Sell export market, industrialist urges

Sherbrooke industrialist, Sydney Hooper, yesterday urged manufacturers to do more selling in the export market.

"I would heartily recommend Canadian businessmen to do more exporting," he told delegates to the Quebec Industrial Commissioners Association convention meeting in Sherbrooke.

"All it takes is the courage to go abroad and find buyers," he said. "Canadians are quite sympathetically received."

The export market is especially lucrative for goods with high labour content, he added.

Canada exports a large proportion of raw materials for which labour content is very low. She should manufacture more of these goods at home and export finished products.

Mr. Hooper is president and general manager of S. W. Hooper and Co. Ltd., the Sherbrooke firm which manufactures pulp and paper mill equipment.

The company exports 40 to 50 per cent of its goods, he said.

"When we started in 1958 we knew that we'd have to depend on the export market since domestic demand would not be sufficient," he stated.

Freak repair accident kills Richmond man

RICHMOND (Staff) — A Richmond man, father of four children, the oldest five years of age, was killed in a freak accident last night at 7:15 p.m. while repairing a tire in the Deslaurier Garage.

Roger Morel 30, of 7th Avenue was working with two other men attempting to replace a rim in a huge truck tire. The inserted tube had been inflated and they were attempting to insert the rim. Morel hit the rim a blow with a sledge hammer. The tube blew out and his skull was fractured when hit by the rim. The force of the blowout knocked him several feet through the air, police said.

His two working companions, Robert Deslaurier, the garage proprietor and Rene Brochu, uninjured.

Though he was not dead when the doctor arrived or the scene he was pronounced dead a few minutes later, police said.

The first on the scene of the accident was Corporal Donat Sevigny of the QPP who lives nearby. "I heard what sounded like a terrific explosion and jumped from my seat and ran. This is the first time in 20 years I've seen anything so terrible," he said.

Harbors son, woman charged

A 55-year-old Sherbrooke woman pleaded not guilty yesterday, before Judge Roger Bouchard in Social Welfare Court to a charge of harboring her son who had escaped from the Boserville Protection Home recently. She was released on bail of $200 and her hearing was set for Tuesday, June 29.

The charge arose following the finding of the boy asleep in a bed in his home by a court investigator. He had previously asked the mother of the boy's whereabouts and had been told that he was not at home.

Provincial demands menace nation

The federal-provincial conference which opens in Ottawa later this summer undoubtedly will be featured by demands from the provinces for a greater share of the tax dollar — of course at the expense of the federal authority.

Even before the date of the parley had been announced, the Quebec, Saskatchewan and British Columbia governments have indicated they will ask for assistance from the federal treasury, either through increased subsidies from Ottawa or by the central government abandoning certain fields of taxation.

Within reason a revision of taxation powers is necessary and desirable in the light of the increasing provincial responsibilities in such fields as education, municipal expansion, welfare and public works.

But the complete picture must be examined.

The national treasury has no large excess of revenues out of which it can make payments to the provinces or hand over to them certain sources of revenues. Rather it is running at a substantial deficit on current account, which could be increased to a dangerous level if a substantial part of the wishes of the provinces were acceded to.

As the provincial premiers must know this without having to be told by us and must realize that whether the taxes are collected by the federal, provincial or even municipal governments they all come out of the same pocket — that of the taxpayers — it is obvious that more than just revenues are at stake.

It seems part of an overall plan to erode the powers and the functions of the central administration in favor of greater autonomy for the provinces.

The particular aims may differ. In Quebec it is the growth of nationalism. In British Columbia it is the desire of the government to establish a provincially-controlled bank. In Saskatchewan it is something else again.

But the extent of the demands by the provinces is making a showdown between the central and provincial administrations inevitable. Unless the federal government takes a strong stand it must be prepared to accept the consequence — that Ottawa soon will be unable to act in the interests of the country as a whole.

Many a cool cat gets burned.

Innocent seldom ask news secrecy

Happily the suggestion of Justice Minister Favreau that legislation might be considered to ban the use of the names of defendants in court actions by news media has been ruled out by Prime Minister Pearson.

But the idea behind the proposed ban — that it would protect the names and reputations of those wrongfully accused — raises some interesting thoughts.

Most reporters of court proceedings, of which this writer has had his share, will agree that it has been guilty persons who felt the adverse effect of publicity and who tried to avoid it.

In most cases the request to have their names kept out of the paper have come from those found guilty. Sometimes the appeal for secrecy came while the case was in progress, sometimes after the guilty judgment was rendered. Sometimes the request was accompanied by an offer of pecuniary compensation, sometimes by threats of retaliation either against the newspaper or the individual.

But seldom have these appeals for concessions come from innocent people at any stage of the proceedings.

Maybe this resulted because the innocent accused had a feeling that virtue was its own reward, but more likely from the realization that if what went on in court were fully recorded in the press, they would not only be freed by the court but vindicated in the minds of the public at large.

In Central America

Army regimes sit on dynamite

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — Growing signs of political discontent challenge further military rule in Central America.

Army regimes in Honduras and Guatemala are sitting on "a couple of barrels of dynamite," says one diplomat.

Resentment is stirring against the rule of the Somoza family in Nicaragua.

Revolutionary plots have even been reported in Costa Rica, which has no army, as its 1966 election approaches. No conspiracies are known in El Salvador but some officers there are reported to want a more military-minded president than the color in office.

Castro - Communist subversion is in the background. Many Guatemalans and Hondurans fear the outlawed Communists are infiltrating political parties in the hope of gaining sway in any upset.

In Honduras, the Liberal party is bitter about its defeat in the February election, accusing the government of frauds. The election, in effect, kept Col. Oswaldo Lopez Arellano, 43, and the Nationalist party in power. Lopez and other officers ousted Li ral President Ramon Villeda Morales in 1963.

Both Lopez and Col. Enrique Peralta Azurdia, chief of Guatemala's military government, have reported terrorist plots.

Peralta imposed a state of siege in February after the bombing of an army truck killed two soldiers. Francisco Villagran Kramer and several other left-wing politicians were arrested and exiled from Guatemala.

OVERTHREW PRESIDENT

Peralta overthrew President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes in 1963 to set up an even stiffer anti-Communist regime.

Nicaragua's election is due in 1967 but the campaign of Gen. Anastasio (Tachito) Somoza al- ready is well advanced. Head of Nicaragua's National Guard, son of assassinated strong man Anastasio Somoza, the general is a younger brother of ex-president Luis Somoza.

A Somoza man, Rene Shick, now is running Nicaragua — as president. But Gen. Somoza's candidacy, manifest in public receptions given by various official and semi-official organizations, is stirring up again the opposition's resentment against what it calls the Somoza family dynasty.

As Costa Rica prepares to elect a new president next year, government leaders have reported the discovery of revolutionary plots among persons identified only as "dissident elements."

Elections in El Salvador are two years off. Army colonels have long provided Central America's smallest country with its presidents, like President Julio A. Rivera, 43, who was elected in 1962.

Confidence returns

Ceylon's Selanayake promising

COLOMBO (AP) — Ceylon's new prime minister, Dudley Senanayake, is striving to build this island nation's confidence in itself.

Only two months in office, Senanayake makes no pretence at having solved the country's economic, political and social ills. But there are signs that Ceylonese — dispirited and disunited a few months ago — are beginning to believe they can lick the problems.

Senanayake, a 53-year-old political moderate, also is moving to polish Ceylon's name abroad and attract U.S. economic aid and British investment.

His predecessor in the prime ministry, Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike, isn't giving up easily. Strengthened by Marxist allies, she has opened a stiff campaign against Senanayake and his coalition government.

Mrs. Bandaranaike, 49, is keying her campaign to the Sinhalese, Ceylon's majority language group. She is playing on fears that Senanayake somehow will "sell out" to politicians who speak Tamil, a minority language originating in nearby South India.

FEAR RIOTING

Ancient tension exists between the two linguistic blocs and there is serious concern Ceylon could be in for a repeat of past bloody rioting.

One of Senanayake's first — and most dramatic — moves after taking over the government was to inspect personnel rosters of Communist embassies in Colombo. In short order, about 20 Red diplomats — from the embassies of China, East Germany, North Korea and North Viet Nam — packed their bags and left town.

What Senanayake was doing was moving to reduce Communist influence in Ceylon — a major factor in the reluctance of Western capitalists to invest in the island's faltering industry and agriculture.

Senanayake also took a direct hand in negotiations with Western oil firms on compensation for properties expropriated by Mrs. Bandaranaike's regime.

Immediately after Senanayake's election victory, Peking stopped buying Ceylon's tea and coconut oil. Last year, it bought more than $5,000,000 worth. But Senanayake and his top advisers obviously are betting that assistance from the West would more than make up the difference.

International Craze

EDMUND VALTMAN, HARTFORD TIMES

Who will run the CDC?

Can. Development Corporation offers political abuse scope

There's nothing inherently wrong with government enterprise — I give you Polymer Corporation, which has been pouring about $10 million a year into the Canadian Treasury.

There is nothing inherently right with it either — I give you T. C. Douglas's Saskatchewan ventures in such things as leather and boxes.

So it is that the success or failure of Hon. Walter Gordon's proposed billion-dollar Canada Development Corporation will depend on who will run it and what they are required to do.

In a speech, Mr. Gordon said he talked with about a dozen "outstanding business and financial leaders" before announcing his plans and that all were enthusiastic about the corporation and offered ideas on how to set it up.

He also intimated that some of them might serve on the Corporation's board of directors.

The trick will be to get men of great business sagacity and integrity to run this billion-dollar venture. If, as Mr. Gordon suggests, it will be going heavily into the stock market on occasion, the scope for massive error will be overwhelming and the scope for tipping off "friends" on good stock bets boggles the imagination.

Other papers say:

Clergy have no place in politics

(Calgary Herald)
The separation of church and state is a principle essential to the healthy functioning of a democracy, and especially one made up of groups representing a wide spectrum of spiritual belief.

We disagree most emphatically, therefore, with the view expressed at a recent church conference in Banff by a United Church clergyman that more church laymen and clergy should take an active role in politics. It is to be expected that politicians tend to be lay members of churches, and no one could question the propriety of that. But they should carry out their political duties as such, not as adherents of this or that particular denomination. And clergymen should stay out of party politics.

Politics and religion simply do not mix well together. Each has an important role to play in the life of a nation. And there are points at which they must meet and influence each other. But these points are indirect and do not include clergymen running public affairs or politicians acting as spiritual advisers to the people.

The role of the clergymen is to instruct their flocks on theological and spiritual matters and point the way toward maximum observance of high moral and ethical standards of behavior. To the extent that they are successful, especially in moral and ethical terms, the political side of the community and nation will be improved. This task is a great one. It should be sufficiently challenging and all-engrossing to leave no time for descent to the practical and, at times, compromising level of political administration.

Freedom of politics from religion is no less important in our kind of nation than freedom of religion as guaranteed by our politicians.

By HARRY HALLIWELL

The CDC board will be no place for men who are respectable because they are loaded, and who just happen to be friends of the government-of-the-day.

As for the tasks to be assigned to the CDC, the best thing Mr. Gordon has said about these is that a central purpose will be "to secure in Canadian hands a greater measure of control of future economic developments."

Mr. Gordon's talk of taking over Polymer Corporation frightens me a little. It's a proposal to take something belonging to all Canadian taxpayers and give it to those who invest in CDC.

His proposal to use CDC to prevent foreign takeovers frightens me a great deal more.

In many takeovers, the price offered exceeds the going market price. This is because the firm taking over can integrate the company it is acquiring into a larger entity and cut overhead, or because it can eliminate competition, or because it acquires a new market at a net cost lower than, say, a long, hard advertising and sales campaign.

Unless CDC could get some of these advantages — and it's difficult to see how it could — it would simply be preventing takeovers at un-economic cost to its shareholders.

Most of the same perils would attend attempts of CDC to repatriate control of industries and resources.

The really constructive side of the proposed Corporation would be to finance big Canadian developments with surefire long term prospects, involving heavy capital outlay without immediate returns.

Mr. Gordon has noted that an institution of the size and scope of CDC might have kept control of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines in Canadian hands. Another venture that might have been kept under domestic control is the rich Steep Rock iron deposit at Atikokan, beyond the Lakehead in Ontario's "far west."

The scope for political abuse of such an institution would be on the grand scale. The safeguard is that failure of CDC as an investment would bring political disaster.

Anyway, let's not write this off as another of Mr. Gordon's questionable economic diversions until we see the whites of the CDC directors' eyes.

Influenza, the "flu," was described by Hippocrates in the 5th century B.C. But the first clear description is that of an epidemic in 1610. Children are the most susceptible to it. In 1918 the most destructive influenza epidemic in history occurred. It ranks with the Black Death in the toll it took. More than 20,000,000 persons died of it and at least 50 times as many were sick. It took 548,000 lives in the United States.

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — Part of Lester Pearson's job is to function as a one-man fire brigade, and in this role last Friday he saved a damsel in distress. Girl named Judy LaMarsh.

Only three days earlier he had rescued a tyro swimmer in the political sea who, not for the first time, had gotten well beyond his depth. Chap named Guy Favreau.

The distressed damsel — who of course is none other than our minister of national health and welfare — got in that sad situation by taking too lightly the demands of the Conservative opposition that she hold up a drug company's program to manufacture trifluoperazine pending a safety evaluation of this drug used in the treatment of mental illnesses. She said she had no legal authority.

It wasn't so much this rebuff as what followed that got Tory backs up. Action, she suggested, could be expedited if the Tories would stop talking. And then she noted "it was under the aegis of the former government that the thalidomide trouble was allowed to occur."

Things had arrived at a snarling impasse when Mr. Pearson reached for his ever-ready can of oil for troubled waters. "I am sure my colleague (Miss LaMarsh) and I will do everything possible," he said. "I will have a word with her immediately to see what can be done to meet what is obviously a very dangerous situation."

On Monday an ostensibly contrite Miss LaMarsh thanked Tories for their "intervention", promised to refer their suggestions to a panel of experts, and deeply regretted her thalidomide slur, offering "my freely tendered and unconditional withdrawal."

On May 28 Justice Minister Favreau said he had "under very serious consideration" the idea of prohibiting publication of the names of accused persons prior to their conviction. John Diefenbaker leaped up: "a gross interference with freedom," he said.

The PM was not in the Commons at the time, but he plunged into the political surf a few days later to pull Favreau to safety. It was the minister's duty to look into this matter, the PM said, but the government wouldn't stand for any interference with freedom of the press.

Lester-to-the-rescue has almost become a way of life for the quick tongued and the stumblefooted in the cabinet. Earlier this year Labor Minister Allan MacEachen told the Creditists it would take six weeks to provide a French translation of the evidence heard by the Senate-Commons committee on the Canada Pension Plan. Next day Pearson said the job would be done over the weekend, and it was.

Mr. Pearson believes in giving his ministers freedom in making administrative decisions. Therefore when he feels he has to correct them, it often has to be done in public. Last fall Mr. Favreau wanted a closed-door inquiry into the executive assistants' scandal. Mr. Pearson made it a public inquiry. He reversed Miss LaMarsh's position on the kind of a pension plan we will have. He reversed himself on the flag, and he probably had something to do with Immigration Minister Nicholson's reversal on Prof. Sibley, and with Finance Minister Gordon's reversal on the 30 per cent takeover tax.

If you think you don't need disability insurance, you haven't seen the statistics.

Of 1000 persons aged 35, 33% will be disabled by illness or injury — for three months or more — before they reach age 65. That's what the statistics show.

What kind of a statistic will you be? It makes sense to look into a Manufacturers Life Personal Income Protector Plan. Nothing can give you such peace of mind as the sure knowledge that if you are disabled and cannot work, a guaranteed income will come your way.

Our Plan has many advantages. It offers you a wide flexibility in amount of income and the length of time it will be paid. For example; you may be able to arrange for income benefits right through to age 65 for total disability due to sickness or for life when an accident is the cause. Accidental death and dismemberment benefits to age 65 are also offered. You can co-ordinate the plan with your other resources; tailor it to your needs and your pocketbook. Manufacturers Life cannot cancel the policy nor can your premium rate be raised — ever. The plan can be adjusted to correct the inadequacy of any short-term coverage you already have.

If you are interested, call the Man from Manufacturers. When advising you on disability income he offers you the same competent counsel available to you when you are planning your life insurance security.

Waterloo clinic breaks record

WATERLOO (Special) — The most successful Blood Donor Clinic for some years was held on Monday in the Town Hall.

President of the Clinic Andre Plante expressed his appreciation for all those who helped in any way to make this record possible. The local president of the Waterloo Red Cross, O. T. Pickford, added his thanks to those of Mr. Plante.

The objective for Waterloo was 175, which was surpassed by 75 donors, making a total of 250 for the day. Mrs. Emelienne Godbout, chairman of the committee of ladies, reported 16 volunteers served coffee, doughnuts, cookies and soft drinks to the donors through the afternoon and evening.

Town planners and Junior C of C meet

Need for Sutton master plan discussed

SUTTON — (Staff) — Three Montreal town planners and members of the Sutton Junior Chamber of Commerce discussed the feasibility and need for a master plan for this town.

Sutton Mayor Max Gagne and Alderman Lachapelle were among the several guests who attended the dinner meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday evening at Gaitie Inn.

Pierre Gerin Lajoie, one of the town planners who has lectured on town planning at the University of Montreal, said a master plan gives direction to a town's expansion and avoids wasteful building or loss of money and time on impractical ideas.

Victor Lambert, another of the Montreal town planners also pointed out that a master plan was needed so the whole community can join in achieving goals set by a master plan rather than having everyone go off into different directions.

It was also pointed out by the third town planner at the meeting, Paul Fournier, that before implementing a master plan, the community must meet to map out their future.

In the case of the Town of Sutton this means meeting together industrial, commercial, residential as well as the winter sports interests.

But it was pointed out that in order to achieve a master plan, the whole region must be taken into consideration rather than just the town itself.

Harold Miller said that to make an effective master plan a definite line must be drawn as to what area this master plan encompasses. Then the geographic setting, altitude and the existing utilities must be considered as well as the history of the area. Therefore, he said, the administration of a master plan is more difficult than the plan itself as the plan follows the frame work.

In arriving at a master plan, the engineers pointed out that the community of the area must also be considered. In Sutton's case this means, for example, taking into consideration the 12,000 skiers who come to the area every winter.

This difference was explained by the engineers who said zoning is the legal instrument of a master plan. "Zoning of areas implements the goals set out by the master plan."

It was also explained that a master plan cannot definitely state which direction a town or area will take but rather it will give a general direction as to where the community is going, combining all the interests of the region. This is a kind of linkage of activities.

Mr. Miller pointed out that in composing a master plan the density of the population must also be considered seriously for practical reasons such as distributing the tax money.

The aim of such a discussion or forum on the subject of a master plan was for the members of the Sutton Junior Chamber of Commerce to gain an insight into the problems of achieving a master plan for Sutton and also to realize the need for one, an official of the Junior Chamber of Commerce said.

The accident occurred at about 8:10 p.m. and the youth received injuries to the ribs but did not require hospitalization, Cowansville Police reported.

The car was driven by John Buzzell, of Cowansville R.R.1, police said.

Friends shower bride elect at Mansonville

MANSONVILLE — On May 28 a number of young friends gave a bridal shower, in the Town Hall, in honor of Miss Roseleen Morse, a June bride-to-be. The hall was decorated with pink and white streamers radiating from two central balloons.

Miss Morse entered the hall to the strains of the Bridal Chorus played by Mrs. Guy George. She was met at the door by Mrs. Alfred Derby who presented her with a corsage of red roses. Her grandmother, Mrs. Lucy Cote, and her mother, Mrs. Harvey Morse, were seated at one side of a large table, on which the presents had been placed.

The Misses Alberta and Elaine Morse assisted in passing gifts as the guest of honor opened them, helped by her mother and grandmother.

Refreshments were served, the table being centered with a three-tier cake iced in white and trimmed with pink roses. The work of Mrs. Archie Cote, North Troy, an aunt of the bride, to be.

The 36 guests present were from Sutton Junction, Stanbridge East, Knowlton, Dunkin and North Troy and Jay, Vt.

CHICKEN-PINEAPPLE ASPIC

2 stewing chickens, about 4½ or 5 pounds each
1 large onion, halved
2 carrots
4 stalks celery
Several sprigs parsley
OR pinch of poultry seasoning
Salt
Freshly-ground pepper
Boiling water
2 tablespoons plain unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
3 cup chicken stock
1 can (20-oz.) pineapple dice, drained
1½ cups finely-diced celery
½ cup slivered toasted almonds
Pimiento or tomato sections (optional)

Cut up chicken and put in deep kettle or saucepan. Add onion, carrots, celery stalks, parsley, 3 teaspoons salt and a generous sprinkling of freshly-ground pepper. Cover with boiling water. Cover. Simmer gently until chicken is tender (about 1½ to 2 hours). Lift the chicken into a bowl, cover and chill.

Strain stock. Simmer until reduced to 5 cups. Taste, and season further if required. Skim.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Dissolve in the hot stock. Chill, stirring occasionally, until slightly thickened.

Meantime, remove bones and skin from chicken. Cut in dice or chunks. Add to slightly thickened jelly along with the drained canned pineapple, diced celery, almonds and pimiento or well drained tomatoes.

Turn into ring mold and chill until firm. Unmold on serving plate. Surround with greens and centre ring with a bowl of thick salad dressing.

If preferred, jelly can be set in individual molds. Makes 20 to 24 reception-size servings.

Zippy cheese burgers

2 pounds ground beef;
1 envelope or can (about 1½ ozs.) dried onion soup mix;
½ cup (a 6-oz. can) of undiluted evaporated milk;
Prepared French-style mustard (optional);
Cheese slices;
Toasted hamburger buns;

Extra Flavor Suggestions: Season with seasoned salt and pepper, garlic salt, monosodium glutamate. Or, if the flavor is liked, rub very lightly with a cut clove of garlic before cooking.

WHO pays for WHAT has become slightly fuzzy in the last few years. Many rules of bridal etiquette cracked as attitudes changed. However, a swing back to such etiquette is strong. Cementing the chinks is the desire of families to provide the most correct, formal wedding they can afford.

With this in mind, it is well to know where the financial responsibility rests. This is outlined in a small pamphlet by the Sterling Silversmiths of America in its wedding guide for the mother of the bride. If you are in the process of wrestling with wedding plans, here is the "correct" expense breakdown:

THE BRIDE pays for marriage license, bride's engagement and wedding rings, bride's bouquet and going-away corsage, boutonnières for men of wedding party, flowers for both mothers, gloves, ascots or ties for men of wedding party, gifts for ushers and best man, accommodations for ushers and best man, fee for clergyman, the honeymoon.

THE BRIDE pays for their wedding apparel, their own traveling expenses and hotel bills, rehearsal dinner (if they wish to give it), and wedding gift for the bride.

These are basic to the etiquette of a wedding. Certain regional and religious customs may shift responsibilities.

The above listing is a good breakdown, though, from which to plan wedding expenses.

A "Polly Dollar" winner is Mrs. Myrtle Durrant, 2035 Vermont Street, for her homemaker idea submitted to Polly Cramer, who features Polly's Pointers. A tremendous volume of mail is received from readers who like to share ideas and is recognized by Polly through the Polly Dollar Award.

Mrs. Durrant's submission was: Making neat buttonholes with a sewing machine zigzag attachment was difficult for me when the thread was the same color as the material. Now I take a piece of paper that is a different color from the thread and long enough and wide enough for the required number of buttonholes. Pin the paper to the right side of the garment after marking the buttonholes on the paper. A fold in this paper will show the required distance from the edge to the buttonhole. Sew through the paper and material. Tear off the paper and have a neat buttonhole. — ANNIE

Garfield-Bowen wedding

HATLEY — A pretty spring wedding took place at Hatley, in St. James Anglican Church, on Saturday May 29, when Gail Maureen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bowen, of Massawippi, became the bride of Robert Alden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Garfield Sr. of East Montpelier, Vt. Canon H. C. Denton officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Fannie Bowen, grandmother of the bride, at the organ, played the wedding music. The church was decorated with apple blossom and lilac.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length bell shaped gown of white LaRose satin brocade with a matching train, the bodice fashioned with a scoop neckline and long fitted sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her Chapel tiered veil was held in place with a matching pillbox and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink and white roses.

Miss Mary Waite, of Ayer's Cliff, as maid of honor, was in a dress styled similar to that of the bride in pale blue satin brocade, with a matching pillbox and veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue carnations and white mums.

Mrs. James Goodall, sister of the groom, and Miss Lucille Parker as bridesmaids, wore dresses styled identically to that of the maid of honor, with matching pillboxes and veils; Mrs. Goodall in pale pink satin brocade, carrying a colonial bouquet of pink carnations and white mums; Miss Parker in yellow satin brocade, carrying a colonial bouquet of yellow carnations and white mums.

Mr. Dean Riley acted as best man and the ushers were Messrs. Gilles Bateau, Arnold Bachand and Franklin Garfield Jr.

Mrs. Bowen, mother of the bride, chose a dress of pink brocade, with matching hand bag, a white hat and corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Garfield Sr., the groom's mother, wore a two piece dress of blue lace, with a white flower hat. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Massawippi Hall, where a buffet lunch was served. The bride's table, attractive with apple blossom and spring flowers, was centered with the wedding cake.

Later the couple left for a wedding trip through the New England States, the bride wearing for travelling a two piece white lace dress, pink hat and shoes and a corsage of pink roses. On their return they will reside in Montpelier.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Garfield are graduates of Dior's College of Hair Design, Barre, Vt.

Guests were from East Montpelier, Vt., Montpelier, Vt., Barre, Vt., Conway, N.H., Westfield, Mass., Boston, Mass., Newport, Vt., Pennsylvania, Rock Island, Choisy, Waterville, Lennoxville, Stanstead and Ayer's Cliff.

New hosiery fashion traced to Chicoutimi

No longer are new fashions spawned only in throbbing cosmopolitan cities. Now, a hosiery fashion that originated in Chicoutimi some months ago and spread to Quebec City, is being adopted in Montreal.

The stockings are mod but not mad. They're also not exactly new — a similar construction having been on the market ever since the day nylon came back from the war. But, the sudden discovery by young business girls of a stocking their older sisters and mothers used to turn their noses up at is something of a twist.

The Chicoutimi stenographers and bank tellers christened them "double-mesh" (double-mesh) and that's exactly what they are — double the weight of standard 15-denier sheers.

However, colors such as basic beige and taupe won't do for these avant-gardists, according to Kayser-Roth. The firm is now hard pressed trying to keep up with demand for the 30-deniers they used to make only in limited quantities for elderly ladies.

Although the stockings are available in seven decided shades, the runaway best-seller is tropical tan. Perhaps because its deep natural tone resembles an expensive Florida tan, Chicoutimi and Quebec City streets were dotted with it throughout the winter.

Now the deep-tanned look is more camp than the bare-legged look which depended on shades skin to skin tones.

Could the fashion for ever-sheer hosiery be reversing itself at last? It started when silk replaced cotton and lisle half a century ago. The popularity of textures which depend more on being seen than seen through also suggests that the long cycle is grinding to halt.

MONTREAL, June 10th—It's good to "get away from it all" by exploring new places in a new car. But you can't get away from the cost of the car... and this is where THE BANK OF MONTREAL can help! A Scotia Plan Car Loan is a truly practical way to buy or refinance a car. The cost of the loan is low—it's life-insured—and you get wonderfully speedy service when you do business with the folks at Scotiabank. So why not talk over your car-buying problem with them? They'll be glad to take the worry out of car-buying for you!

DO YOUR CHILDREN need a laxative now and then? Help keep them "regular" with this special children's laxative. Called FEEN-A-MINT Children's Mint Laxative, it's developed by Pharmaco (Canada) Ltd., and is gentle, yet effective. What's more, it tastes good! It comes in attractive pink pastille form and can be chewed or sucked. More and more mothers are discovering that it's an effective laxative their children like to take... a pleasant way to help keep your youngsters "regular"! Ask for Feen-a-Mint Children's Mint Laxative at your favourite drugstore.

EVEN IF YOU'RE BLESSED with both a power mower and a green thumb, something more is needed for a perfect lawn and garden. For the garden, I recommend BLACK LEAF 40. It kills aphids and a host of other sucking insects, both by contact and by fumes, yet can be used on almost all flowers, fruits and vegetables without injuring foliage. One teaspoonful makes half a gallon of spray. Equally economical and effective is BLACK LEAF 2, 4-D... another selective spray that keeps your lawn free from dandelions and other broad leaved weeds without harming the grass itself in any way. Get both today!

JUST POP THE CORK of President Champagne and your special occasion will be off to a sparkling start! Whether it's a June wedding, an anniversary or just a celebration, Brights PRESIDENT CHAMPAGNE (made right here in Canada) will guarantee its success. Light and lively President Champagne is everything you want of a "celebration" wine—and because it's Canada's own prize champagne, its price is much less than that of comparable imported wines. You won't need to worry about counting the cost of any special occasion when President Champagne is the "star guest"!

Africans meet
LAGOS, Nigeria (Reuters)—Ministers of 36 African states met here today in a desperate bid to save the continent-wide Organization of African Unity from being split into "radical" non-aligned and "moderate" western-oriented states.

The ministerial meeting, proposed by Nigeria, was arranged to seek a settlement before an African summit conference scheduled to be held in Accra, Ghana, in September.

On moon course
MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russian scientists remained silent today on the mission of their moon-bound unmanned space station Luna VI which is expected to reach its goal late Friday or early Saturday.

With the 3½-day journey approaching its last stage, the 1½-ton satellite's equipment was still working perfectly, Tass news agency said.

Shastri due today
CAIRO (Reuters)—Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri left here by air today for his first visit to Canada.

Shastri, leaving on a regular Air India flight scheduled to call at Rome, Frankfurt and London, was due to arrive in Ottawa this afternoon.

FULFORD
The Fulford Ladies' Guild met in the Fulford Hall on May 25 with Mrs. Douglas Bockus as hostess. During the meeting a gift was given to Mrs. Arthur Wright, who is leaving Fulford. Mrs. Wright has always assisted the Guild.

GEORGE, FRANCES AND ELIZABETH SOLES.
LLOYD AND RUTH ELLIOTT.

CARROLL — I wish to express my sincere thanks to all my relatives, friends and neighbors and all those who sent me cards, letters, plants and flowers, while I was a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital. Special thanks to Dr. Ross, Dr. Douglas and Dr. Campbell, the nurses and nurses aides on the third and fourth floors, and to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Burnham. Those who brought food and flowers after my return home. Your kindness will always be remembered.

MRS. THOMAS CARROLL, North Hatley.

DEMERS — We wish to express our sincere thanks to all who helped in any way at the time of the death of our dear sister, Mrs. Mary Louise Demers (nee Maguire).

MISS MARGUERITE MAGUIRE, MRS. ALICE HEES (nee Maguire), (sisters).

HARRISON — I wish to express my sincere thanks to all my relatives and friends for the flowers, cards, and gifts sent me while I was a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital. A special thanks to Dr. Cadman, Dr. Kinck, and the nurses and nurses aides on the second floor for their wonderful care. Your kindness will always be remembered.

MRS. JAMES LEROY HARRISON.

MORROW — The family of the late Mrs. Mary Ellen Morrow wishes to express their sincere thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings received from their relatives and friends, also the beautiful lunch served before and after the service by the ladies of Sawyerville and Island Brook, during their recent bereavement of their mother and grandmother.

MILLAR — We wish to express our sincere thanks to all our relatives and friends for the gifts, money, flowers, telegrams, cards, which we received on our Golden Wedding Anniversary, and to those who called in the afternoon and evening to offer congratulations. A special thank you to our three daughters who organized the occasion and to Mrs. Herbert Jolliffe and Mrs. Hector Bolduc, of Sherbrooke for their kind assistance.

MR. & MRS. FOREST R. MILLAR, Melbourne, Que.

WINTER — Our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to everyone who did so much in so many ways to make our Silver wedding anniversary reception such a happy and memorable occasion. It will never be forgotten.

LAWRENCE AND CHRISTIE WINTER, Stanstead, Que.

News flashes from around the world

OTTAWA (CP) — Employers seeking deferment of the $1.25 minimum wage under the Canada Labor Code must apply before the code goes into effect July 1, the labor department said Wednesday.

The code, covering all workers under federal jurisdiction, also provides a 40-hour week with a maximum of eight hours overtime, two weeks annual paid vacation and eight statutory holidays a year.

The code's wages and working hours may be deferred if the minister is satisfied immediate introduction was against the interests of the employees or would seriously impair the operation of the business.

MONTREAL (CP) — An armed gang burst into a downtown bank Wednesday and, without firing a shot, escaped with two paid vacation and eight statutory holidays a year.

The money had been brought into the Bank of Montreal branch earlier to provide a reserve for cashing pay cheques of Bell Telephone company employees.

BOGOTA (AP) — A bandit said to have killed more than 100 persons during a long career of terror in the Colombian countryside was shot to death Wednesday in a bloody four-hour battle with 500 soldiers and policemen.

Four soldiers were reported killed and 10 wounded in a Bogota suburb where the bandit, Efraim Gonzalez, was hiding out with his bandits.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Business attitude towards borrowing has changed since the last century, but not the legal attitude, says a Saskatchewan law professor.

J. S. Ziegel of the University of Saskatchewan told a meeting of the Canadian Association of Law Teachers Wednesday.

The ministerial meeting, proposed by Nigeria, was arranged to seek a settlement before an African summit conference scheduled to be held in Accra, Ghana, in September.

Bruins grab Gerry Cheevers from Leafs

72 players swapped in NHL drafts

MONTREAL (CP)—Since 1954 when the first National Hockey League draft was held, 72 players have been swapped among the clubs for a total of $1,420,000.

A compilation by Ron Andrews, public relations director of the NHL, showed that the greatest number of players drafted at any one time was 10, in 1958.

At the current NHL annual meeting seven were drafted.

Montreal Canadiens have drafted only two players since the draft was inaugurated. In 1958 Canadiens picked up Danny Lewicki and Dave Creighton from New York Rangers. They have drafted none since.

Johnny (Coose) McCormick, Montreal Canadiens centre, was the only player drafted when the system was put into effect in 1954. He was claimed by New York.

White Sox broke into the winning column in the Little League last night as they came up with a narrow 9-7 win over the Yankees. Orioles shaded Indians 5-2 in games played at the Parade Grounds. Tonight one game on tap Orioles and Red Sox clash.

Daniel Beauchemin, pitching for the first time for White Sox was their big man in their win over the Yankees. He kept his aits well scattered and was only in trouble in the last inning.

James Coley, White Sox centerfielder, rapped out a home run with two on in the last part of the first inning. Bruce Coley drove in the other run in the inning. Sox got three more in the second on hits from Beauchemin, J. Coley and Jacques Lacasse. One in each of the fourth and fifth finished off the White Sox scoring.

Yankees did not hit the run column until the third stanza when they pushed two runs across the plate. Gary Smith and Lyle Sample were the hitters. They got two more in the fourth on a home run by Michael Clark. Yankees almost pulled even as they came up with three runs in the sixth but the rally fell short and the Sox held on to their first win.

Orioles, the surprise of the league so far, are still going after and upsetting the big ones. Their 5-2 win last night over the Indians was a mild surprise and with Felix Boisvert in relief on the mound this team is dangerous.

It was a 2-1 ball game after three full innings. Orioles got a run in the first and third. Indians got their tally in the third.

Fishing Derby at Coaticook
COATICOOK — The annual fishing derby, sponsored by the Lake Lyster Fish and Game Club, will be held Sunday, June 13th. To enter, one must be a club member.

Many fine prizes will be available for the competition, and all types of fish may be entered during the day's catch. Registration forms are available from Olive Cabana at Lake Lyster, at Fournier Barber shops, situated in Coaticook, on Main Street, or at the Hotel Child.

Parade route, upon leaving the town hall, will move along Church street, South, along Main, to the ball park on Main Street.

Art Stocks, in the head position for the 1965 season with the Little League, states that the schedule has been under way, but pleasant weather has been awaited for the opening.

Other invited guests for the opening include Reverend John Peacock, Reverend Father

Petit, D. J. Morrison, M. Chalfoux, George Tickle, Lions Club executive, Jack Baker and Reverend Father Fontaine.

Included in the parade are the Cowansville Girls Drum Band and Majorettes, police escort, members of the press, and the open cars. Others playing a big part in the preparations for the festivities are Yvon Monast, Art Stocks, E. Desmarais, Grant Paterson, Jacques Paquette, Wilfrid Rondeau, Ken Scott and Marcel Boulet.

The Cowansville Lions' Little League, comprised of four teams, the Orioles, Braves, Cardinals, and Pirates, has been playing games throughout the past few weeks, with the results showing an evenly balanced circuit.

Following are the lineups for recent games:
Pirates 330 200—8 6 1
Braves 221 52x—12 12 1
Blanchet, W. Scott (5) and H. Hauber; A. Larose and Lemieux.

Pirates 000 000—0 7 0
Orioles 040 020—6 7 0
J. Bromby and H. Hauver; R. Lafrance and R. Viens. (First shutout of the season registered)

Braves 605 012 2—16 12 4
Cardinals 923 000 0—14 14 7
Sirois, Leblanc (1), Lafrance (1) and Gingues (4) and Lemieux; Lamontagne, J. Kerr (5) and Sylvain Sirois.

LHS presents sports awards

Darryl Abbott and Janet Sparkes were honored by their fellow schoolmates and team partners yesterday afternoon at the Lennoxville High School, as they received the student body nominations as students who best exemplify sportsmanship, leadership and citizenship during the 1964-65 school term.

Darryl Abbott received the Harold S. Pye Memorial Trophy for his award, while Miss Sparkes received the Ella Hoy Trophy, as girls' winner.

Wally Billing, who offered top performance in sports in which he participated, was named winner of the John Brady Memorial Cup for Most Valuable Player in hockey, soccer, volleyball and basketball. He was nominated by members of the various teams with whom he played.

In the last general assembly of approximately 400 students at Lennoxville for the 64-65 term, Roland Dewar, physical education instructor, presented the various awards, crests, school letters, and achievement trophies.

REVIEWS HIGHLIGHTS OF YEAR
Mr. Dewar reviewed the highlights of the year sportwise with the students, beginning with the basketball teams. Both girls' teams, senior and junior, copped the St. Francis Valley Interscholastic Athletic Association trophies. They were presented with SFVIAA crests and congratulated for their achievements.

In badminton, three individuals were singled out in returning from the SFVIAA tourney with cups. Susan Hallam won the junior girls' singles while Vicki Hughes-Games and Abbott teamed up for the senior mixed doubles.

Following badminton, thoughts returned to the track meets, in which Lennoxville once again offered the best of competition. Roland Dewar recalled that the girls placed second to Knowlton High School in the 100-metre race. In the 200-metre race, Lennoxville placed third, while in the 400-metre race, they placed fourth.

records to break. This is your challenge.

House awards, for competition among different groups within the school were presented. House "C" took the combined house awards with 2507 points, as compared to 2451, House "A"; 2195, House "B" and 2008, House "D".

STUDENTS RECEIVE LETTERS
Six students received school letters for athletic achievement, having taken part in two different sports and two activities in two years, (girls), and three different sports and two activities for boys.

Vicki Hughes-Games, Robert Dunn, Sandy Kingsley, Mark Kingsley, Ken Smyth and John Beerworth were the letter winners.

Sets world record for mile run
Michel Jazy, 29, French track and field runner, is watched by track official at right as he bettered the world record for the one-mile run with a time of 3:53.6 at Rennes, France last night. The present recognized record is held by Peter Snell of New Zealand at 3:54.1.

RENNES, France (AP)—Michel Jazy, who apparently runs best against the clock rather than against tough opposition, today has the world's fastest time of 3:53.6 for the mile and solid confidence he'll break the 3,000-metre mark Friday.

The 29-year-old French veteran, a disappointment in the 1964 Olympics, Tuesday night bettered the world record of 3:54.1 set by Peter Snell of New Zealand. This brought the blue-ribbon mile mark to France for the first time since 1961 when Jules Ladoumègue was clocked in 4:08.2.

Ironically, Jazy does not think the mile is his best distance. He prefers 5,000 metres. But he said before the race that he was going for a world record and he made it. He then said he plans to shoot for a sensational exploit in the 5,000 metres Friday night in Paris.

In his record-breaking mile, Jazy had the aid of pace-setters who took relays in the lead, trying to pull him to a record. He ran third or second during most of the race and went into the lead about 20 metres before the three-quarter mark. He then rapidly pulled away from the nine-man field. Gerard Vervoort, who set the pace in the third quarter, finished second in 3:59.9.

Jazy complained that the cinder track had been chopped up by earlier races on the program and said: "Now I know that I can still pick up a second on the mile. Certainly 3:52 is not impossible."

YESTERDAY'S STARS
Batting—Willie Mays, Giants, drove in three runs with a single and his 18th homer in San Francisco's 4-2 victory over New York Mets.

Pitching—Mel Stottlemyre, Yankees, checked Kansas City on six hits and struck out 11, bringing his record to 7-2, as New York defeated the Athletics 3-1.

HAD BUSY WEEK
Jazy's mile record capped an amazing series of races in the space of one week. On June 2, he ran the fastest mile by a European with a time of 3:55.5 at Saint Maur, a Paris suburb. On June 6, at Lorient, he erased the old European record for the 5,000 with a time of 13:34.4.

In Paris he will be aiming for the 13:25.8 record for 5,000 metres set by Ron Clarke of Australia last week in Los Angeles.

Pick up four in all, Ingarfield and Watson in odd deals, board of governors discuss expansion

MONTREAL (CP)—An inactive internal draft, a governors' meeting that set plans for league expansion, a retroactive rule change and an active "reverse draft" was the main order of business at the National Hockey League's annual meeting Wednesday.

Boston Bruins, reeling from last place finishes in the last six seasons, grabbed four players in the draft for the asking price of $30,000 each, while three other clubs claimed one each.

Toronto Maple Leafs and the Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens declined to add any new faces.

The board of governors decided to call a special meeting in New York before the end of this month to deal with applications for new league franchises already submitted.

The governors also ruled that from now on the Vezina Trophy will be awarded to both netminders on the team, if the club alternates its goalies.

The reverse draft—an innovation this year—was held late Wednesday night and saw the nine American League clubs and six from the Western League pick up 29 players at $10,000 each from a list of 60 supplied by the NHL parent clubs.

The Bruins, under new general manager Hap Emms, may well have solved their netminding problems as they grabbed Gerry Cheevers, 24, from the Toronto organization.

Cheevers was an all-star with the Calder Cup Rochester Americans of the AHL last year. In addition the Bruins managed to keep goalie Jack Norris who they had removed from their protected list in order to grab Cheevers.

Earl Ingarfield, New York Rangers centre, and Bryan Watson, a young defenceman, figured in the oddest deals of the draft.

Ingarfield found himself right back where he started from New York.

He had been part of a two-for-four deal Tuesday which sent him to Canadiens. Wednesday he was left unprotected by Montreal in the reverse draft and was promptly grabbed back by New York.

Watson, who originally belonged to the Canadiens organization with Quebec Aces of the AHL, for most of last season and was picked up Tuesday by Chicago Black Hawks on the deal that sent Don Johns and an undisclosed amount of cash league expansion, NHL president Clarence Campbell said.

Montreal, however, Chicago left Watson unprotected in the definite applications will now be drafted and he was promptly snapped up by Detroit Red Wings.

In announcing the governors' decision to call a New York meeting this month to discuss league expansion, NHL president Clarence Campbell said the definite applications will now be drafted and he was promptly snapped up by Detroit Red Wings.

Nine American Hockey League clubs and six Western pluck 29 players in first so-called reverse draft
MONTREAL (CP)—The nine clubs of the American Hockey League and the six of the Western Hockey League had a field day late Wednesday night by plucking a total of 29 players in the first so-called reverse draft of National Hockey League and minor circuit operations.

At the $10,000 draft price in the innovation, $290,000 was tossed around, much of it from one pocket to the other of the parent NHL clubs.

Under the regulations, each of the six NHL clubs named 10 players subject to draft by the AHL and WHL clubs. Virtually all the players were already minor-league farmhands who have been playing in the two leagues.

All players subject to draft had to have at least one year in professional hockey or a total of at least 60 games in all. The requirements specified also they had to have 35 games with their pro club the previous season.

Beginning after next season, NHL clubs will be allowed to draft one player from the two big minor circuits.

AHL teams grabbed 29 players in the draft and WHL teams took none.

CANUCKS TOOK THREE
Cleveland Barons and Baltimore Clippers of the AHL each took four. Vancouver Canucks of the WHL was highest in that circuit with three choices.

Portland Buckaroos of the WHL, who now own all their players, were the only club to draft no players.

Players drafted from NHL-owned clubs, with their minor league clubs in brackets:

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Giants' Willie Mays roars back to end his famine

Belts his 18th homer with a single as Giants edge Mets 2-1 to boost his average to .324, Dodgers lose

Herman Franks would like to give Willie Mays a day off, but every time the San Francisco Giants' star earns a rest he gives his manager another reason for keeping him on the job.

Willie, who came into New York two days ago nursing a heavy cold, worked over the Mets Wednesday night for the second straight game, driving in three runs with a single and his 18th homer in the Giants' 4-2 victory.

The previous night Mays had ended an 0-for-18 famine by doubling home two first-inning runs that stood up for a 2-1 decision over the National League tail-enders.

"I would like a real day off," the great centre fielder said after that game. "I'd like the manager to tell me to stay away from the park for one full day." Franks has held Willie out of his starting lineup several times but invariably has had to call on the 34-year-old slugger as a pinch hitter or defensive replacement.

At the outset of the Giants-Mets series, Willie was battling a prolonged skid that had lopped 75 points off his batting average since May 22. He had only one run batted in and three hits since that date and had not homered in 15 starts.

Wednesday's night's spurt gave Willie 41 RBI and a .324 batting mark for the season.

Ernie Banks rapped a three-run homer, lifting Chicago Cubs past Milwaukee Braves 4-2 in an afternoon game. Philadelphia Phillies knocked off Los Angeles Dodgers 7-3, Pittsburgh Pirates ripped Houston Astros 11-3 and St. Louis Cardinals beat Cincinnati Reds 6-4 in other National League night games.

Mays put the Giants ahead 2-0 in the first inning with a towering drive over the left field fence following a walk to Dick Schofield. The Mets pulled even in the fourth on Charlie Smith's two-run homer but Mays broke the deadlock in the eighth by singling home winning pitcher Gaylord Perry.

Banks powered Chicago from behind with a first-pitch homer off Wade Blasingame in the seventh after two-out singles by Billy Williams and Ron Santo. Tony Taylor's three-run homer in the third inning led Philadelphia past the first-place Dodgers and ruined the major league debut of Los Angeles southpaw Mike Kekich.

Vern Law scattered eight hits and the Pirates routed the Astros with four-run rallies in the fifth and eighth innings.

Sherbrooke Als don't like playing in the rain; Quebec tilt postponed, Als travel to Coaticook tonight

Indian rainmakers were up at the Sherbrooke Park Avenue Stadium last night, but they weren't from Quebec.

Quebec Indians, presently holding the anchor in the Provincial Baseball League, and the Sherbrooke Alouettes, awaited the heavy rains to subside before attempting to play the scheduled game. However, Len Cote, general manager of the Als, postponed this tilt, owing to wet field, and rescheduled it for Monday evening, June 21.

Sherbrooke, nevertheless, is still knee-deep in slated tilts this week, as they travel to Coaticook tonight to meet the Canadiens. Their last game played this week was with Plessisville, winning it 12-9.

Coach Raymond Daviault pondered on the idea of pitcher for tonight, but then came up with his battery for the next two games. Gordon Breenbaum will start against the Canadiens tonight, with Kabat back on the mound against Thetford Friday night.

Meanwhile, in other Provincial Baseball League games played, Lachine Mets narrowly escaped defeat by Coaticook and pulled out a 6-5 squeaker on four big misuses in the seventh. They were trailing 5-0 up to this inning. Elsewhere, Drummondville's Pete Cianfone walked over the Plessisville Braves 13-0 and picked himself up a three-hitter in the process. Drummondville is now in second spot, with Granby Cardinals.

Recently acquired property of the Sherbrooke Alouettes, Luke Lumboley, from Madison, Wisconsin, has yet to be with the team in competition. The field looked good to him yesterday, and his opinion is that he has "as good a chance of remaining as any other player."

Coach Daviault, in sizing up the situation for Friday and the weekend, has decided to save pitcher Jim Steinhour for Saturday, with Acton Vale.

Twelve-year-old competes with world stars

TORONTO (CP)—What does a 12-year-old girl think about competing against some of the world's best women track stars?

"I try not to think about it," Brenda Mah of Toronto said Wednesday.

Brenda is entered in the women's 880-yard race at the Toronto international track meet tonight. The meet's star-studded field includes six gold medalists from the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo.

The six are United States athletes Bob Schul in the 5,000 metres, Billy Mills in the 10,000 metres, Edith McGuire in the women's 200 metres, Wynonia Tyus in the 100 metres, Brit-jin's Mary Bignal Rand in the women's broad jump and New Zealand's Peter Snell in the 800 metres and 1,500 metres.

Another world record holder, Ron Clarke of Australia, is competing. Clarke broke his own record with a time of 13:00.4 over three miles at Compton, Calif., Friday.

WANTS EXPERIENCE

"I don't think I have a chance of winning," Brenda said. "It's my distance, but dad feels the experience will be good for me."

Her father, Cy Mah, coached Brenda to win the Ontario senior women's cross-country championship.

Britain's finest golfers face seven Americans in British Amateur golf championship today at Prothcawl

PORTHCRAWL, Wales (AP)—Some of Britain's finest golfers faced the seven remaining Americans in the British amateur golf championship today.

The Americans, led by Bill Hyndman, Hunter McDonald, an emigrant Scot, and Bob Gardner eliminated three British Walker Cup stars Tuesday in match play over the par-72, 6,700-yard Royal Prothcawl links.

Hyndman, 49, drew one of the toughest assignments of the day. He was pitted against Scotland's Ronnie Shade who blows either hot or cold and is hard to beat when he's hot.

Gardner, 44-year-old Walker Cupper was matched with Alan Thirlwell, 34, twice champion of England. McDonald appeared to have an easier task against Gordon Clay of Wales.

McDonald only just survived Wednesday when he beat former champion Dick Chapman of the U.S. on the 19th green. John Miles of New York City today found himself up against the redoubtable Joe Carr of Ireland, Britain's Walker Cup captain this year.

Hole in sweatshirt proves costly to Twins' Jim Kaat as Indians post win, Red Sox stops White Sox 4-2

A stitch in time might have saved two runs for Jim Kaat Wednesday night.

The left hander with Minnesota Twins dropped a 2-1 decision to Cleveland Indians that might have been a 1-0 victory if there hadn't been a hole in his sweatshirt.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Indians spotted the hole in Kaat's sleeve while the pitcher was working on Rocky Colavito in the ninth inning. He complained to umpire Bill Haller.

The umpire sent Kaat to the dugout to have both sleeves shortened. When he returned, he walked Colavito, served up a two-run homer to Max Alvis, and that was the ball game.

Despite the loss, the American League leaders remained 2 1/2 games in front of Chicago White Sox, who lost to Boston Red Sox 4-2. Elsewhere, Detroit Tigers downed Los Angeles Angels 4-2, Washington Senators edged Baltimore Orioles 3-2 in 10 innings and New York Yankees whipped Kansas City Athletics 5-1.

Kaat, now 5-6, was involved in a scoreless duel with the Indians' Ralph Terry until the Twins pushed across a run in the eighth.

Tebbetts then took a hand, ap-

Milwaukee Club offers $500,000 for Atlanta move

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Milwaukee Braves, still hoping for an early exit from Milwaukee, offered $500,000 Wednesday for relief that, if granted, would permit the National League baseball club to move to Atlanta this summer.

Braves board chairman William Bartholomay said he offered Milwaukee county officials $400,000 and Teams, Inc., another $100,000 to sever contractual ties binding the team to Milwaukee.

The Braves' offer will be considered by the county board next Wednesday.

Cowansville Colts drop out of BM Juvenile Football League as other clubs open training camps

By DOUG MACKENZIE

Cowansville's Football Colts, not announced dates for workouts, however, these are expected in the near future.

The League is presently negotiating with a team from Otterburn Park to fill the vacant spot left by Cowansville's departure. Otterburn Park has expressed a great deal of interest in joining the B-M loop, however the long travelling distance between the towns of Waterloo and Knowlton, the farthest away may be a stumbling block.

Waterloo Lions and Knowlton Larks will play an exhibition tilt at Knowlton, Saturday, July 24th, starting at 2:00 p.m. This game is expected to draw more than passing interest, due to the fact that yours truly and Coach Guy Lefebvre of the Lions coached this same Larks team last year. The Larks players are expected to be up for this one, to show up their old coaches, even though the Lark coaching staff insists that this will only be a glorified scrimmage.

The Knowlton Cubs baseball team, is still finding the road to a victory mighty tough, after losing their last two games to Cowansville 4-2 and Richmond 13-6.

The closest they came to winning, was in the second game of the schedule, when they held the Richmond Lions to a 10-10 tie at the Lions home stand. The game was called for darkness at this point.
