THE ISSUE BEFORE THE ELECTORS TOMORROW

The issue which confronts the electors of Canada to day is the identical issue which they turned their backs upon in 1891. Both policies were initiated in the fertile brain of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The Unrestricted Reciprocity policy of 1891, with which Sir John Macdonald as "veiled treason," and Hon. Edward Blake, the greatest leader that the Liberal party ever had, also looked upon it in the same way, and deserted his party rather than support a policy which he considered would prove ruinous to Canada and tend to sever our connections with the Mother Country. On that occasion the electors of Canada rose in their might and almost wiped the party which advocated such a disloyal measure out of existence. For twenty years nothing more was heard of the obnoxious policy of Commercial Union with the United States.

It remained for Sir Wilfrid Laurier in this year of grace 1911 to resurrect his love of 1891, and, disguised under another name, seek to impose it upon Canada. In 1891 Sir Wilfrid time and again declared that he would consecrate his life to Unrestricted Reciprocity, and would never rest content until it was adopted by the people of this country. But the emphatic manner in which Sir Wilfrid was answered at the polls showed him, for a time at least, he must bury his desires if he wished to obtain office. For twenty years the question has never been mooted.

There is no distinction in principle between the proposal presented by Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the present time and his proposal of 1891. Sir John Macdonald won the supreme triumph of his life when he called upon the people to put down that veiled treason twenty years ago. Mr. R. L. Borden will duplicate that triumph when the people go to the polls tomorrow.

In spite of the ridiculous assertions appearing in the Liberal press to the effect that Laurier will go back with an increased majority, the very opposite is the case. The swing of a Conservative victory is in the air. How many Ministers in the Cabinet are sure of their seats? Is Templeman, is Fielding, is Lemieux, is Graham, is Mackenzie King, is Paterson, is Pugsley? Not one of them, and what is more, there are not a quarter of the seats in this district sure for Laurier. People are beginning to see that the gang of boodlers is only using Laurier to draw attention from their own scandalous plundering. When a Lanctot is caught or a Letourneau gives himself away, these gentlemen say, Look at our Premier. He, at least, is pure. His White Plumes are unsullied.

He may be pure, we do not doubt it for a moment, but, after all, he should be responsible for the sins of his followers. He benefits by them, and he takes care to see that all inconvenient motions for investigations are blocked. Vote for Laurier, say the boodlers who know that only by the return of Laurier can they continue to plunder from the public exchequer. But the country is sick of men of the stamp of Letourneau, Lanctot, Oliver, etc. It has got wise to the game, and will stand for it no longer. It will chase the grafters out tomorrow.

NOT QUESTION OF POLITICS

Vote for Reciprocity Will Vote
Away Probably Your Present Employment.

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—"When you come to consider for whom you shall vote on Thursday," said Mr. W. H. Rowley to the employees of the E. B. Eddy Co. at noon to-day, "lay aside all question of politics. There is no question of politics in this matter at all. "We are doing at present an immense business all over Canada and we feel certain that if the reciprocity bill goes through we will not be able to employ so many men and women as we now do. Vote for reciprocity and you vote away your own means of subsistence. "Canada is now the best market for the E. B. Eddy Company. If it were not we would not be doing business here; we should be doing business in the United States. But we want to stay here in Canada. Our people need us here, and we have no politics but what is best for our people. You are comfortable and happy and prosperous and your conditions are far in advance of the conditions in the United States, and you had better not allow yourselves to be persuaded into changing it."

JEERS FOR SIR WILFRID

Liberal Leader Had an Unusual Send-Off From Montreal Last Night.

Montreal, Sept. 19.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier left Montreal to-night followed by a storm of hoots and hisses from the throats of Henri Bourassa's followers. The Nationalist leader on the conclusion of his speech in the Ontario Rink proceeded with his followers to the Place Viger station, where he delivered another short address.

In the midst of this the Premier and his followers arrived, Sir Wilfrid being on his way to catch the 11.45 train for Quebec.

The Nationalists espied the Premier and mindful of the heckling and jeers which their leader had encountered from the Liberals on his recent tour, broke into a storm of jeers. No personal violence was offered, however, and the Premier got away according to schedule.

Following this demonstration clashes occurred between the followers of Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Bourassa and so threatening was the aspect that the police were called out. However, the disorder was soon quelled and the crowds gradually dispersed, shouting and cheering for their respective leaders. The trouble started when a parade of Nationalists, headed by Mr. Oliver Asselin, and including a number of floats and effigies came along the road. A number of young Liberals charged and the floats were broken up and clubs improvised from the wooden supports. The police dispersed the rioters, however, before much damage was done.

The streets were full of people all night, however, and cheering and jeering continued until an early hour this morning.

Immediately upon the conclusion of this meeting the Premier proceeded to east end of the city to support the candidature of Mr. Robert Bickerdike in St. Lawrence.

On his way to St. James market, where a crowd of 5,000 people were waiting him, he spoke twice, once, at the corner of City Hall Avenue and Ontario street, and again at the corner of St. Lawrence and Ontario streets. On each occasion he received an ovation. He arrived at St. James Market at about 9.45 p.m. accompanied by Mr. Robt. Bickerdike and Ls. Letourneau, Liberal organizer. Here again he had difficulty in getting through the dense crowds to the platform. While awaiting the arrival of the Premier there had been some disorder among the crowd and several women were carried away, having fainted. This ceased when Sir Wilfrid arose and he was given another hearty reception.

He spoke along the same line as in Hochelaga division, only devoting somewhat more attention to the naval question, Mr. Bourassa having been waging a strenuous campaign in St. Lawrence.

Other speakers were Senator Dandurand, Hon. Jeremie Decarie, J. C. Ethier, L. A. Lapointe, Liberal candidate in St. James, and Mederic Martin, Liberal candidate in St. Mary's.

WEDDING OF PREMIER GOUIN.

Montreal, Sept. 19.—Sir Lomer Gouin, Premier of Quebec Province, was married this morning to Mlle. Amos. The ceremony was a private one and took place in the chapel of Mgr. Bruchesi at the archbishop's palace. Father Gouin, cure of St. Henri, brother of the Premier, pronounced the nuptial benediction. Sir Lomer and bride left later on a honeymoon trip.

SIR WILFRID SPOKE IN MONTREAL.

Montreal, Sept. 19.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier arrived here late this afternoon and immediately entered upon the last leg of his reciprocity campaign. He addressed mass meetings in both ends of the city, opening at Atwater avenue in the centre of Hochelaga division, where Mr. L. A. Rivet, Liberal candidate, is opposed by Mr. Louis Coderre. The entire space between St. James street and Notre Dame street was packed with a mass of swaying humanity, it being estimated that fully twelve thousand people took part in the reception accorded Sir Wilfrid in the west end of the city. A platform, decorated with party colors and illuminated with electric bulbs, had been placed on the roadway and at 8 o'clock, the time appointed for the meeting, it was with difficulty that the Premier was able to make his way to it through the dense crowds.

FIFTEEN THOUSAND CHEERED BOURASSA

Nationalist Leader Was Given a Remarkable Reception in Montreal.

Montreal, Sept. 19.—Mr. Henri Bourassa was given a remarkable reception tonight at the Ontario Rink, when 15,000 people turned out to hear him outline the aims and ideals of Nationalism.

In addition to stating very clearly his policy on the navy question and on reciprocity along the lines of former speeches, the Nationalist leader gave a vicious indictment of the Liberal regime, running over the various alleged scandals, which have been charged against the administration, in concise manner and giving full vent to his sarcastic and biting wit.

He also turned his attention to the Liberal press, which he claimed had misrepresented him and vilified him. The English-speaking people were not to be longer deceived, however, by racial cries and the accusation that his policy was one of French domination.

He attacked the Liberal leaders and the Liberal press for raising the race cry, and especially referred to a Toronto paper which had pictured him as ambitious to found a French republic on the banks of the St. Lawrence.

Mr. Bourassa was enthusiastically cheered by an audience which was, of course, largely French, but which contained a fair sprinkling of English-speaking electors.

The audience, which had paraded to the rink from all quarters of the city, was also addressed in English. Mr. C. H. Cahon, K.C., made an appeal to his hearers to be true to the interests of the Dominion. He came out strongly in defence of Messrs. Monk and Bourassa, whom he pictured as making a splendid fight to maintain the constitutional right of the electors to decide national issues, which vitally affect the political, commercial and industrial interests of Canada. "They have," he declared, "made a splendid effort to clean and efficient government in Canada and to wipe out mere politicians, who subsist upon the gifts and grafts of the administration."

He then referred to the Leduc affair. "So far have the partisan followers of Sir Wilfrid Laurier," said he,

THE CHOICE

At last, then, we have come to the hour that is heavy with the fate of Canada. For the issue cannot be obscured. Neither the vague generalities nor the meretricious casuistry of those who, through wilful blindness or cowardice, refuse to consider their national responsibilities, can have the effect of disguising the question before us. As we vote tomorrow, so shall we decide the destiny of Canada.

In making our decision we should remember that we have a duty to our forefathers, just as to our children. In brief, we are the trustees of a heritage which has been delivered into our hands by our fathers to be transmitted by us in turn to our children, and to be handed down intact through future generations, as in the past.

Let us consider those who adopted or inherited the land before us, their sacrifices and their hardships. First came the French with their glorious role of pioneers, their Champlain, La Salle, Maisonneuve, Frontenac, Laval, Montcalm and many other heroes and distinguished men. They fought, they dared, and died. From this old rock city went forth the indomitable pioneers to plant the fleur de lis and the cross among the savage tribes in the very heart of the trackless wilderness. They faced hunger, sickness and dangers such as we of this day can scarcely picture. Time after time, in the paltry shelter of their stockades they showed their prowess against relentless hordes. When they tilled the soil and reaped the scant harvest for their store of winter food they were in peril of death. But they persevered until in the end, through the rapacity of their rulers and the indifference of their Motherland, they came to share our destiny. Since then, for a century and a half, we have stood shoulder to shoulder, free men beneath the same flag, working for the upbuilding of a great nation, and ever uniting in time of stress to save and defend Canada from the invader. Are the great heroes of our history no more than a name? Are they not also an inspiration to defend with our ballots the heritage which they defended with their swords?

Who will seriously deny that the chief result of the agreement must be to check inter-provincial co-operation, to reduce the volume of inter-provincial trade, to establish trading connections with the United States, instead of to strengthen the commercial and political unity of the Dominion, and to widen the chasm between East and West which constitutes the permanent danger to the Confederation?

Moreover, we have entered into this compact with Washington when we had proved our independence of American tariffs, when every portion of Canada was pulsing with prosperity, when our whole national outlook was luminous and confident.

Who can pretend to see the end of the path upon which we have entered? At best the pressure of ninety millions of people upon seven or eight millions must be overwhelming.

Can we live together if we are not to trade together? Can we breed national sentiment without "the habit of trade"? Can we be for long of the commercial empire of the United States and of the political empire of Britain? Is Canadian patriotism a thing of the lip and not of the heart? Do we think that a nation can be made without travail and sacrifice? There have been political absorptions on the American continent. The whole teaching of history is that "Empires dissolve and nations disappear."

With Canada detached from the Empire, the whole Imperial fabric would fall into ruin, and the British Empire be cast upon the rubbish heap of time with those once as proud, as affluent and as powerful as it has been.

Nothing is more certain, however, than that the political destiny of Canada cannot be changed without a mighty convulsion and surely therefore it is profoundly unwise to commit ourselves to engagements which must strengthen all the influences inimical to Canadian nationality and the Imperial connection, which are demanded by no very considerable body of public opinion and which are wholly unwarranted by any actual or prospective commercial necessity. Let us keep our heads up and our minds clear, and for once rise above all party obligations in supreme loyalty to country.

From the agreement with Washington many Liberals must shrink when they reflect upon the progress which has been made under the Laurier Administration, the national character of some of its best achievements, the gratitude of the Mother Country for the trade preference and the deep and anxious concern of the Imperial Sovereign and Imperial statesmen to possess and deserve the regard and confidence of the Dominion. Let us keep Canada free, united, self-reliant. British in heart, and in fiscal and political relationships.

"In the grayness of the dawning
We have seen the pilot star,
In the whisper of the morning
We have heard the years afar.
Shall we sleep and let them be?
When they call to you and me?
Can we break the land asunder
God has girdled with the sea?
For the fog is floating o'er us
And the track is clear before us
From the prairies to the ocean
Let us lift the mighty chorus
For the days that are to be."

THE ONLY WAY.

All in all, there is but one thoroughly satisfactory mode of adjusting commercial relations between two contiguous countries. And that is for each to mind its own business, doing at all times whatever it conceives to be in its own interest, and reserving absolute liberty to change its tactics in accordance with developing circumstances. Canada, for instance, should trade with the United States just so far and in such manner as it is in her own interest to do so; not otherwise. There can thus be no talk of one country beating the other in a dicker. If we want to alter our tariff half a dozen times in one year, no treaty or understanding can hinder us. We will put an export duty, if we please, on our raw materials. The welfare of our farmers, our manufacturers, our wage-earner, will be the only thing we shall have to consider, and we shall vary our methods as much as we please in promoting it. The United States will do the same. We shall respect each other all the more, because neither country asks, nor thinks of asking, for concessions or favors. And as it happens, the United States—strictly in its own interest and without thinking of anything else—will soon lower its tariff to a more reasonable level and extend its free list. Then we shall have obtained for nothing almost everything the Feilding pact should have purchased for us at a suicidal sacrifice. And any change to our advantage in the American tariff will be permanent, because based entirely on American self-interest.

Treaties and pacts are artificial and therefore as fragile as ever is the works of man. Independent legislation is natural—as natural as the growth of trees or the running of water down hill. We know what it has done for us in the past. It is our safest course for the future.

TAFT'S POLICY IS THE SHERMAN POLICY.

In 1887 John Sherman, chairman of the United States Senate Committee of Foreign Affairs, took a journey over the Canadian Pacific Railway. In a letter, dated the 3rd of September in that year he gave an account of the trip to his brother, General W. T. Sherman. He said that he had stopped over at the chief points of interest; that he found the trip very instructive; and that it gave him "an inside view of many questions that may be important in the future." He added:—

"The country did not impress me as a desirable acquisition, though it would not be a bad one. The people are hardy and industrious. If they had free commercial intercourse with the United States—their farms, forests, and mines would become more valuable, but at the expense of the manufacturers. If the population of Mexico and Canada were homogenous with ours, the union of the three countries would make the whole the most powerful nation in the world. I am not so sure but this would be a good thing to do."

Replying, three days later, General W. T. Sherman said:—

"If we could take in the territory of Ontario, it would make a good State, but the vast hyperborean region of the North would embarrass us with inchoate States and Territories without a corresponding revenue."

Senator Sherman advanced very rapidly from the point of dubiety indicated in the letter here quoted from. Almost exactly a year later, as Colonel George T. Denison notes in his "Struggle for Imperial Unity," the Senator made a very strong speech in the Senate in favor of immediate steps being taken for the acquisition of Canada. He said in part:—

"The way to union with Canada is not by hostile legislation, not by acts of retaliation, but by friendly overtures. This union is one of the events that must inevitably come in the future; it will come by the logic of the situation, and no politician or combination of politicians can prevent it. The true policy of this Government is to tender freedom in trade and intercourse, and to make this tender in such a fraternal way that it shall be an overture to the Canadian people to become a part of this Republic. With a firm conviction that this consummation most devoutly to be wished is within the womb of destiny, and believing that it is our duty to hasten its coming, I am not willing, for one, to vote for any measure not demanded by national honor that will tend to postpone the good time coming when the American flag will be the signal and the sign of the union of all the English-speaking peoples of the continent from the Rio Grande to the Arctic Ocean."

This Sherman doctrine is accepted and acted upon by President Taft as a more vital article of American policy than the Monroe doctrine itself. Taft is a disciple of Sherman. He talks of reciprocity in trade, and of neighborly feeling, and keeps in the background the real object he has in view, the annexation of this country to the United States.

Better retire Sir Wilfrid than let Sir Wilfrid retire Canada.

Depend upon it, the Yankees have an eye to the main chance.

The tide of public feeling all over Canada has set in strongly against our losing control of our home markets.

There's going to be a big silent vote tomorrow, and it is the silent vote that will put reciprocity where it belongs—in the scavenger heap.

In the past five years over half a million American farmers have seen it to leave the market of 90,000,000 and become residents of Canada. Why?

The Government did not put up a pro-reciprocity Grit to oppose the late Welland member, W. M. German. Hon. Mr. King threatened to bolt if a finger was raised against a German.

Laurier newspapers that were shouting in former campaigns for "the full dinner pail" for the Canadian workingman, now want Uncle Sam to get his lunch out of the pail first.

The Telegraph says a vote for Borden is a vote for Bourassa, and a vote for Bourassa is a vote for the disruption of Canada. The Telegraph would prefer to hand Canada over in one piece to Uncle Sam. Canadians of all the Provinces will be loyal to British connection.

It looks now as though a number of Liberals will back down and not vote for the pact after all. The fact that they are placing themselves under the Star Spangled Banner in thus voting against home and country is too much of a sacrifice for any loyal Canadian to make.

We can afford to lose a Government, but not to lose our country. As between Canada and Laurier, let the people choose Canada. We are risking everything by giving the Americans a voice in our tariff making without the fullest and freest discussion as to the advisability of doing such a thing. We have never been consulted as to so momentous a change.

Much is being said in some quarters about what, between 1854 and 1866, the former reciprocity treaty did for Canada. One thing it did was to make a lot of the weak-kneed Canadians of the day think that their country could not progress without the commercial good will of the United States; and in spite of forty-five years of going ahead there are some of the tribe left. However, no one who can see with his eyes needs to pay heed to their wails. Canada, as a whole, has learned that Canadians can take care of themselves.

STEAMER ARCTIC RETURNING HERE

The C.G.S. Arctic, Capt. Bernier, from the Far North, passed Point Amour, inward bound, at 1.30 p.m. on Monday. Reports all well on board. If favored with easterly wind the Arctic ought to reach Quebec on Friday next.

Ottawa, Sept. 10—Capt. Joseph Bernier, commander of the steamer Arctic, which left on an exploratory Point Amour on the Labrador Coast, reports the arrival of the Arctic at Point Amour on the Labrador Coast. Capt. Bernier left with the intention of trying to make the northeast passage, but his return by way of Labrador indicates either that he did not enter the passage or that the attempt made was a failure. The Arctic is expected to reach Sorel in about one week.

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE.

SCHOONER WRECKED.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 19—The four-masted schooner Stella B. Kaplan, of Portland, Me., Capt. Dow, from Washington and Norfolk bound to Savannah with coal, was thrown by a strong tide on Tail-of-the-Horseshoe shoals in lower Chesapeake Bay during the night while becalmed and is probably a total wreck. Her crew of ten men escaped in their boat and were brought here to-day. The Kaplan was attempting to sail out of the Virginia Capes when the wind died out and the strong tide carried her on the dangerous shoals. She settled quickly and her crew took to the lifeboat. Coming on a buoy, they made fast and awaited daylight when they were rescued and brought here.

UNPRECEDENTED RECORD.

New York, Sept. 19—The exact time, including stops in port, of the Cunarder Lusitania on the third of her rush trips, which she finished off the Ambrose Channel lightship on Saturday night, was 19 days and 18 hours. Heavy weather on two days of the trip reduced her speed or she would have been able to dock instead of anchoring over night down the bay. She brought 913 first and second cabin passengers. The Lusitania finished the unprecedented record of making three trips across the Atlantic within 20 days, covering more than 10,000 miles. She has succeeded this in getting back on her schedule, broken by the British strike which tied her up in Liverpool more than a week.

COLLISION IN MONTREAL HARBOR.

Montreal, Sept. 19—The Canadian Lake line steamer Corruna, of Toronto, was hit broadside at her dock by the Lake Manitoba, of the C.P.R. line, Saturday morning. At present the Corruna is tied up at Tarte's wharf, where a gang of workmen are tightening up her bolts. She has taken a considerable amount of water, which is being pumped out almost as fast as it enters, but there is sufficient in the vessel's hold to make her sag down below the water line at the stern, while the bow projects up about two feet above the water line. The Corruna was lying alongside section 24, below the Tarte pier, loading bridge iron for Fort William, when the Lake Manitoba started down the river from the C.P.R. sheds. How the latter vessel happened to be so close on to shore at that distance down is not known, but it is estimated by officers of the Corruna that the Manitoba must have been out of her channel, and striking a cross current, was thrown against the lake steamer. She hit the vessel first a glancing blow on the port beam, and then swung in broadside, after which she proceeded down the river. The Corruna is not dented, and it requires a close examination to notice the loosening of the bolts, while to the casual observer the springing of the plates cannot be seen. Capt. McKay fears that she will be delayed here for some days, however. He was to have sailed for Fort William this evening. Lake Manitoba was evidently not seriously injured, as she proceeded on her way to Liverpool.

THROUGH NOVA SCOTIA WITH BRITISH-BORN

(By Arthur Hawkes.)

I did not expect a call to the Atlantic Coast to discuss the election with the Britishers who are more numerous than I supposed. So far I have been to Amherst, Stellarton and Halifax—three places of distinct characteristics, but all alike in devotion to the Imperial connection of Canada. Enthusiasm is a feature of this election as it has not been for several elections.

For instance the British-born meeting in the Masonic Hall, Halifax, afforded standing room only for scores of men on a wet Saturday night. During the election of 1908 I happened to be in Halifax, and went to a meeting in the same hall at which a famous prime minister was the chief speaker. The audience only two-thirds filled the place, and there was about as much enthusiasm for the winning side as you would expect at an anti-vaccination meeting. The difference between 1908 and 1911 is the difference in the issue. Then the appeal was chiefly as between the ins and the outs. Now it is between Canada pro-American and Canada pro-British.

"Old Home" Spirit.

This campaign makes it more and more clear that the British-born between Halifax and Prince Rupert have long felt the need of some connecting link that will do for those what old boys' societies and kindred organizations do for those who have been scattered from their native counties and towns in Canada. The old home week is a great ideal; a splendid adjunct to unselfish patriotism.

Everywhere I find men who are delighted to know that hundreds, thousands of miles away from where they are settled, other men, from their old country in the old land are feeling the same impulse to social and political work as they feel—a new impulse created by the revival of an old issue that is quite new to ninety per cent of the old country men in Canada.

For they see that with such a large immigration of alien blood to Canada, the British, who is endowed with all the rights of Canadian citizenship the moment he sets foot on Canadian soil, is the natural balance weight, from the point of view of British connection; and that on him is a peculiar duty, arising from the fact that he is the only living link with the Empire that his alien neighbors, especially in the West, come in contact with.

It Is Up To Us.

All this means that his countrymen who come from the British Isles should be far better prepared for Canadian citizenship than is possible with the hap-hazard methods of encouraging British immigration. It is up to the British-born to make it easy for the British immigrant to become speedily a creditable Canadian, if only for his inevitable influence upon other immigrants to whom the idea of British connection is new and almost incomprehensible.

That is the sentiment I found in Halifax, which from its naval and military associations, past and present, was more easily British than many other cities. There are hundreds of ex-service men in the city whose influence is on the right side. Government employees—Halifax is the terminus of the Intercolonial Railway—are a tremendous factor here, there being two thousand in the constituency of Halifax city and county. Government employees who differ from the Government, perforce keep a discreet silence about their views. But Halifax Britishers have a message for their fellows in every other province. It is: "Be pro-British, not pro-Taft."

TO THE YOUNG MEN ELECTORS OF QUEBEC CENTRE.

Young men, students, clerks, apprentices: Do you want to be independent and free? Do you like to hear a man saying without fear what he thinks and acts according to his conscience? Do you want to show that you are free and unprejudiced?

Vote for the independent candidate that only has one line of conduct—duty.

THE PAID PRESS

When an agent drives up to your gate in a pretty "slick" outfit, dons a shiny hat, and begins to talk to you glibly about something he has to sell, do you take his word for every good point he claims for his goods?

If not, why not?

He ought to know all about them. That is his business. He has talked to the man who makes them. He probably knows more about them than you will after you have used them a year.

Yet you do not believe what he says about them—that is, not without corroboratory evidence. Why? Because you know that he is paid to talk you into buying them.

If, on the other hand, a neighbor comes along who has no interest in the thing, one way or the other, and tells you that he knows a man who used them once, and that he found them pretty good, you are interested. You take more stock in this "hearsay" testimony from a man who is in nobody's pay, than you do in the direct and expert testimony of the paid agent.

It is all in the fact that the man is paid. As things go in this world, you distrust a man when he is telling you something he is paid to tell you.

Now do you realize that the Government press of this country is a paid press?

It is allowed to feed at the public trough because it supports the Government and tries to convince people that its measures are good. If a Government paper ceases to grunt in the right way, its nose has got to come out of the trough. "No grunt, no swill," is the party motto. Sometimes they put it more elegantly—"To the victors belong the spoils."

SOME POINTERS ON RECIPROCITY

You Won't Read Any This Time Next Week—There'll
Be No Need Then.

"To cure a lame back quickly apply a porous plaster, and vote for reciprocity."

Up with wages and down with reciprocity!

Canada for Canadians and naturalized Yankees.

You can't have reciprocity and the factories too.

Get the factories in by keeping reciprocity out!

Even the most optimistic Conservative was amazed.

Every boost for reciprocity is a knock at Quebec's future.

The thin edge of the wedge will be fairly blunt by tomorrow night.

Sir Wilfrid intimates that if defeated he will retire with a broken heart. But even that would be less calamitous than a broken back for Canada.

"To exterminate lice on calves, read Hearst's yellow Journalism, and vote for Champ Clark, viz. to wit, i.e., annexation."

The Liberal press just now are making wonderful discoveries of millions of American dollars being sent into Canada, to fight against reciprocity. This bluff on the part of reciprocity has a very suspicious appearance, and is intended for a mask. The war they will get from Uncle Sam to help along their own disloyal cause will probably be as bulky as a tone of loose hay.

"To remove corns without pain, throw a vote for Taft."

A little boy once drew a picture and handed it to his little sister for inspection. She was unable to tell whether it was intended to represent a rosebud or a cow. This must be the same chap that is doing the cartoons for the Liberal papers.

In reading the Liberal papers and listening to the Reciprocity orators in their laudation of this pact, one is reminded of the advertisements in connection with some of the quack patent medicines. There is no ill which these medicines will not cure or relieve, and according to grit orators, there is no limit to the good things which reciprocity with the United States will bring to the Canadians.

"Our Liberal friends, Fielding of Nova Scotia, Davis of Prince Edward Island, Mercier and Laurier of Quebec, Cartwright of Ontario and a host besides, look to us, the people of the United States, for the sign by which they shall conquer." Can we deny them? The whole region of Canada will, when this commercial union is established, become as if she were so many vast territories added to our domain. Mr. Lane, president of the Boston Merchants' Association, 1891.

Canada is in no need of Reciprocity; then why run any risk?

"The Pact" is a Yankee trick, and Canadians should leave it severely alone, and thus keep themselves safe.

No Canadian, be he Liberal or Conservative, who believes in "Canada for the Canadians," can vote for the means, sooner or later, "Canada for the Yankees."

When the Laurierites succeed in explaining how it is possible for all the farmers to get higher prices for their food products, and all the people who buy from them to pay lower rates, then the Laurierites may have some chance of winning this election; but not till then.

Don't forget that a Yankee Meat Trust, or a Yankee Fish Trust, can oppress or squeeze both the producer and the consumer, and that that is just what would happen in Canada under Reciprocity.

Acceptance of "The Pact" would be Canada's first wrong step. It is the first wrong step that leads to ruin.

TYPHOID FEVER STILL PREVAILS IN MONTREAL.

Montreal, Sept. 19.—The typhoid germ is still found in Montreal water, milk and other products, for last week 24 cases were recorded. However, there has been an appreciable falling off during the past few days. Of these 24 invalids, there were seven deaths.

LIBEL ACTIONS HAVE BEEN ENTERED

Montreal, Sept. 19.—Actions of $10,000 have been entered by Mr. M. Martin, Liberal candidate for St. Mary's, against Mr. Jules Fournier, publisher of L'Action, against La Patrie Publishing Co., and against Publicite, publishers of Le Devoir.

MAGISTRATE CURED OF PILES & ECZEMA

One of the latest prominent gentlemen to speak highly of Zam-Buk's favour is Mr. C. E. Sanford of Weston, King's Co., N.S. Mr. Sanford is a Justice of the Peace for the County, and a member of the Board of School Commissioners. He is also Deacon of the Baptist Church in Berwick. Indeed it would be difficult to find a man more widely known and more highly respected. Here is his opinion of Zam-Buk. He says:—

"I never used anything that gave me such satisfaction as Zam-Buk. I had a patch of Eczema on my ankle which had been there for over 20 years. Sometimes also the disease would break out on my shoulders. I had applied various ointments and tried all sorts of things to obtain a cure, but in vain. Zam-Buk, unlike everything else I had tried, proved efficacious. I took course in using my brother's medicine, and if the publication of my opinion of the healing value of Zam-Buk will lead other sufferers to try it, I should be glad. For the relief of suffering caused by Piles or Eczema I know of nothing to equal Zam-Buk."

Zam-Buk cures piles, hemorrhoids, blood-poison, ring-worm, festering or running sores, bad leg, various ulcers, cuts, sprains, pruritis, itchy, burns, bruises, baby's sores, etc. Purely herbal, 100% pure, drug-free and stores. Refuse imitations.

TROUBLE OVER CIVIC ACCOUNTS IN MONTREAL.

Montreal, Sept. 19.—Considerable talk of applying for an injunction against the city to prevent the paying of certain accounts the form of which is objected to, was heard at the City Hall to-day. An alderman said that one bill which was passed by the City Council yesterday was for an account of 15 or 16 year's old, which swelled from a little over $200 to $600. It was a claim for damages, and the Quebec law distinctly sets forth that the payment of a claim that was unsettled for two years should be stopped by an injunction. Accounts are going through the Council every week and many of these are not made out properly. Any business establishment could never pay bills presented in the forms these often are, for they are often for lump sums and without dates.

It is suggested that the Board of Control organize a finance department to go over accounts and check them off with vouchers.

PECULIAR CASE

OF SMUGGLING.

Montreal, Sept. 19.—A peculiar case of smuggling is now engaging the attention of the Montreal legal department. The Customs Department is after the city in connection with the plans drafted by Messrs. Herrin & Fuller, of New York, for the construction of the proposed new big filtration plant. It appears that the plans were made in New York, and then brought to this city without duty being paid. The customs officials notified the civic officials that a seizure would be made against the corporation if any attempt was made to use the plans before duty was paid. It is contended by some of the officials that the duty ought to be paid by Herrin & Fuller.

Popular Candidate in Quebec West Visited His Committee Rooms Last Night.

Mr. William Price, the popular candidate for Quebec West, was given a great ovation last evening when he made a tour of a number of his committees, starting at Cap Blanc. At all the rooms there were large gatherings of the electors, and speeches were made by Mr. Price and those accompanying him. Mr. Price was received with the greatest enthusiasm at every committee room.

WORKMAN INJURED.

A Finlander working at the construction of the apartment house at the corner of Lachevrotiere street and Grande Allee, fell at the works yesterday morning and injured one of his legs. The ambulance was summoned and he was removed to Jeffery Hale's Hospital.

Your attention is called to the programme of the concert to be held tonight in the Y.M.C.A. Hall. The programme is provided by a section of the Empress of Ireland Pierrot troupe. The talent is splendid.

RECORDER'S COURT.

Seven prisoners charged with drunkenness appeared before the Recorder yesterday. One was fined $5 and costs or one month's jail; one a similar fine or 15 days; one $2 and costs or eight days, and four were discharged. A defendant out on bail failed to appear and a bench warrant was issued for his re-arrest.

Come and hear at the Y.M.C.A. Hall to-night the concert provided by a section of the Empress of Ireland Pierrot troupe. We are sure that you will have an enjoyable evening. Come and encourage the work.

A FOREWORD OF FALL.

"Jack Frost will soon be tinting trees and tingling our cheeks and noses," said Mr. J. L. O. Proulx, as he was superintending the arrangement of a window at the Fit-Reform Wardrobe, 105-111 St. Joseph street. "So I am giving you advance notice that we have the new styles in Fall Overcoats ready."

"Those who like to be first in wearing the new styles should make it a point to visit the Wardrobe and make selections. It is a pleasure to show Fit-Reform garments to men of taste, who really appreciate the best there is in fine hand-tailored overcoats."

FUNERAL OF THE LATE MRS. BAYLISS.

The funeral of the late Mrs. J. S. Bayliss, which took place yesterday afternoon, was largely attended. A large number of friends of the highly esteemed deceased young lady and her family attended. The chief mourners were her husband, Mr. J. S. Bayliss, and her father, Mr. Charles W. Thorne, besides other relatives. The funeral service, which took place at St. Matthew's Church, was a very impressive one, and was conducted by the Rev. A. R. Kelley, among the other clergymen present being the Very Rev. Dean of Quebec. The vested choir and the ladies auxiliary choir were in attendance and a number of hymns were sung. The interment took place in Mount Hermon Cemetery, a large number of mourners following the remains to their last resting place. The floral tributes to the memory of the deceased were very handsome.

QUEBEC WEST LIBERALS DESPERATE

Every conceivable means to defeat the election of Mr. William Price is being resorted to. In one case it has come to our knowledge where the employees of an establishment were paraded and asked how they were going to vote. Naturally, as will be expected, they were obliged to say they would vote in order to keep their jobs. It has also been discovered that a number of government employees have been approached. Provincial positions are being offered galore, and the freedom of the ballot is being tampered with to a dangerous extent.

The Conservative organizers have been given the names of a large number of employers who are taking an active partisan campaign against Mr. Price, and we would specially warn these gentlemen that their individual cases will be taken up and dealt with in the proper manner and at the proper time, and they will have no body to blame but themselves for the consequences that will follow. Later a number of men have been taken out of town and will not return until after the 21st instant.

VICTIMS OF AN EXPLOSION

Two Men Were Painfully Injured on the Line of the Transcontinental.

Two victims of an explosion on the line of the Transcontinental Railway at St. Perpetue, L'Islet county, were brought to town yesterday morning at an early hour, and are now at the Hotel Dieu and Jeffery Hale's Hospital respectively. The victims are Eadras Gagnon and Scott Brown, and at last accounts neither of the two were reported in serious danger.

The accident was due to a premature explosion, which took place while the men were preparing for a blast. Some sparks communicated with the explosives and both men were thrown a considerable distance. Eadras Gagnon was injured about the eyes and legs, while Brown had a hand badly mutilated.

ONE MURDERER

KILLS ANOTHER.

Folsom, Cal., Sept. 19.—Jake Oppenheimer, under sentence of death for murder, today killed Francisco Quijada, also condemned to die, with an iron bar, in the corridor of the prison here. The killing was the result of bad blood that has existed between the two men for several months.

TWO FREIGHT TRAINS IN HEAD-ON COLLISION.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 19.—A despatch from New Glasgow says that last evening at 7 o'clock two freight trains met in a head-on collision half a mile east of Tracadie station. The east-bound train ran through the station when it was expected to stop. Both crews jumped and no one was injured, although both engines were badly damaged. One car was overturned. News was sent to New Glasgow and Y. C. Campbell and A. B. Gray at once set out for the scene of the accident. Five hours after the collision, while employed in getting the engines back on the track, a hawser snapped, hitting Engineer Jones of the west-bound train, breaking his leg. Jones was brought to the hospital in New Glasgow this morning. The Sydney express was delayed five hours last night on account of the wreckage.

For my part—I have never made any secret of it—I have the greatest possible admiration for the American people. I have always admired their many strong qualities. But I have found in the short experience, during which it has been my privilege and good fortune to be placed at the head of affairs by the will of the Canadian people, that the best and most effective way to maintain friendship with our American neighbors is to be absolutely independent of them."—Sir Wilfrid Laurier in speech advocating National Transcontinental Railway, 1903.

PAINS in the BACK and in the KIDNEYS

Pale, weak, suffering from anemia, Miss Eva Dumont, of Isle Verte, Temiscouata County, finds in ST. MICHEL'S WINE her health restorer.

A COMPLETE CURE

There are many young girls who have suffered for years when they could easily have strengthened themselves by taking ST. MICHEL'S WINE, and thus have renewed their blood impoverished by growth, losses, irregularities in the system and many other troubles peculiar to their sex.

ST. MICHEL'S WINE acts as a tonic: it is the oil which helps the normal functions of the human machine, it acts also as a restorer repairing as they occur the continual losses sustained by our bodies.

This is what Miss Eva Dumont writes us:

Gentlemen:—It was by reading your advertisements in the newspapers that I learned of the marvellous and beneficent effects of ST. MICHEL'S WINE. Two years ago, I was pale and weak, and I felt pains in the back and in the kidneys. I called upon a doctor but without result. One of my friends came to see me and during our conversation we talked about ST. MICHEL'S WINE. She advised me to take some as she had found her own health improved by its use. I followed her advice and after the first bottle, I felt relieved. I am continuing to take it and I feel its good effects, so I advise all those who read this letter to give it a trial.

Yours very truly,
EVA DUMONT,
Isle Verte, P. Q.

The weakness from which so many persons suffer, women, young girls, children, proves conclusively that the blood is impoverished and that it requires certain reconstitutive elements, precisely those that are found in ST. MICHEL'S WINE and which are so much better assimilated because nature has made them in her marvellous laboratory, for the use of suffering humanity.

ST. MICHEL'S WINE contains all the qualities, that makes the blood rich and pure. Superior in every way to pills or other inert products which are not digested by a delicate stomach, it is in its liquid form, immediately digested, absorbed and assimilated, that lies the secret of its action in cases of weakness and anemia, which it has completely cured.

Why then should it not be efficient in your case, and effect another cure? Try it and you will not fail to be benefited by its use.

REVOLUTIONISTS IN RUSSIA RECOVER

Stated to Be Closing Up Their Ranks for a New Movement
Against Government.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 19.—According to the police reports the revolutionary bodies are showing signs of recovering from the staggering blow dealt them two years ago by the exposure of the dual role of Eugene Azef who was at once the head of the fighting Socialists and a police spy. The Revolutionists are now, the officials say, closing up their ranks in preparation for a new campaign. Some time ago Russian police agents abroad in reports to their government indicated that a new outbreak attended with terrorism was impending.

Recent acts of violence directed against those in the employ of the government have appeared to give some disturbance to these reports. The assistant public prosecutor of St. Petersburg, Alexander Shopinsky, was murdered in a train on the Simferopol Railroad on August 2 by two men who entered the car at night and have since evaded detection. The fact that none of the murdered man's property was taken led to the belief that his death was a political act. Shopinsky occupied an important post in the Department of Justice and is said to have been slated for high promotion in the Ministry of the Interior. He earned the hatred of the Revolutionists in 1904-07 because of the conviction of certain terrorists who are said to have vowed to take his life.

On August 12 Paul, the 17-year-old son of Commander Kurosh, of the cruiser Admiral Makroff, was murdered at Oger. On the eve of the assassination he received a letter saying that the Riga fighting organization on the demand of the Helsingfors fighting organization, wished to inform him that he had been sentenced to death "to expiate the blood which your worthless father spilled in Helsingfors." The note added that to kill the father would be a lesser punishment than the suffering over the death of his son. The father, when in command of the cruiser Finn in the Helsingfors roadstead in 1906, did much to suppress the Sveaborg mutiny.

Other recent acts are the killing of the prison warden Efimoff, in Volodga, and a series of similar murders. In Izhedsk, Pskov province, the assistant public prosecutor Golokhdastov, was wounded in the back with a dagger on August 23. Two days later an agent of the Okhrana political police named Artemenko, was killed at Alexandrovsk; on August 29 an unknown person fired into the bedroom of the assistant chief of the Gendarmes at Yelizabepol, Lieut.-Col. Gamrekidze, but hit a pillow instead of the lieutenant. On the same day a band of thirty men attacked the arsenal in the center of the fortress at Kertch, apparently with the purpose of stealing rifles, but were driven off after a fight in which one of the invaders was killed. The chief of the penal settlement at Zaremui was murdered on Sept. 4.

Also, according to the police, meetings of important leaders of the Social Revolutionary party from Russia were held in Paris this summer when the plan of the new movement was determined. Reports, it is asserted, were read indicating an increase in revolutionary activity but deploring the lack of workers and the means for furthering their purposes. Nevertheless small but well organized groups were said to be at work. In the re-building of the party organization which plan was decided upon, the Social Revolutionists are said by the police to have composed a new statute. They hold to the elective principle temporarily corrected by the right of co-operation, in view of the necessity for conspirative work under the present circumstances. The question of participation in the elections for the fourth Duma was decided in the affirmative. As delegates from Russia according to the Golos Moskwy declared against an immediate campaign as planned by the "foreign" members and asserted that the latter were ignorant of actual conditions in Russia, it was decided to hold another conference in 1912. The delegates from Russia feared that the renaissance organization might suffer a shock and be exposed to "provocation" and demoralization if acts of terrorism were resumed. They acknowledged, the police say, the existence of two flying detachments executing such acts. The conference disclosed the fact that Azef, who was reported killed at Wiesbaden, had been traced and the execution of the death sentence hanging over him, entrusted to two workers of unimpeachable faithfulness.

THE QUESTION OF VOTING.

To the Editor of the Chronicle:

Dear Sir—Will you grant me space for a few words to the electors who are entitled to vote on Thursday? I am strongly against our religious teachers concerning themselves with party politics. Their mission is high above such matters as the heavens are above the earth, but it clearly comes within their province to use their great influence to impress upon the members of their congregations the great responsibility the right to vote carries with it and the wrong involved in anyone voting against his honest convictions, or in abstaining from voting without good and sufficient reason. I may be exceptional, but never a word on the subject have I heard from the pulpit. The importance of a single vote so often underestimated by its holder. A government in the Province of Quebec remained in power for some time sustained by a single vote, and one of the supporters in the House of that government was elected by a majority of one. That is what the vote of one elector did in that instance. I do not propose to discuss the merits of that government, or allude to its demands, but it is certain that if one voter at that election had voted differently or abstained from voting, the history of the Province of Quebec would have been different. This is not a solitary example. On a most important division in the United Kingdom House of Commons, during the last century, when the people were struggling through their representatives to obtain relief from conditions they found unbearable, the government of the day was sustained by one vote, when defeat would have entailed resignation. In that case also the majority contained a member who had been returned by one vote over his opponent. At the present time the great city of London is ruled by the Moderate party instead of by the Progressive party, on the vote of one elector, a vote that was not discovered till after two recounts following an election tie. Such is the importance of a single vote. It should be needless to allude to the wickedness of offering or giving one, but there are many who do not realize the full force of this and treat it lightly enough. We have had many times in Canada the promise of honest government. Have we at any time had thoroughly honest, even-handed justice dealt out by any government to its party supporters, workers and organizers? In the old time it was short shrift and a horse-hair halter to men found worthy of the same. Now it should be banishment from the party and from political life of any supporter accused of using questionable or worse than questionable means to advance its interests, unless he can clear himself.

We have been fortunate in having premiers with personally clean hands and never a government without many honorable and honest members, but we are yet far from such approach to perfection as is quite possible. The fault lies with ourselves. When we look upon a voter who sells his vote as worse than a sneak thief, and upon the giver of a bribe, or the promise of any inducement to influence a voter, as we look upon the soldier who betrays his comrades, or as they look upon a dirty informer in a dear old land beyond the sea, and refuse to associate or have anything to do with such men, then honest government will be ours, for under election by general suffrage it will always be "like people, like rulers." It was written long ago that men do not despise a thief if he steal when he is hungry, but many a hungry man has fought that battle and kept his honesty and self-respect by enduring till better times, and shall a voter do less when tempted. There is one other thing I would like to say and will try to avoid politics in saying it. The Americans are our neighbors, and our duty towards them as such has been clearly defined on sufficiently high authority. Quebec welcomes them in the summer, and even hopes to persuade them to come when the snow is on the ground. To me it is painful to hear reciprocity discussed as if the question were one of getting the better or worse of a bargain. Surely there is more in it than that. Will it lead to better feeling and more kindly relations between the two peoples or not? Canada is a large country and the British Empire is very great, but the wide world, with its teeming millions and many interests, is still greater, and to myself and many others the hope of the world is in closer and even more friendly relations being established and maintained between the United Kingdom, or rather the United Empire, and the United States. Sons of Canada are in the old land and the new. It may be well for us to have a tariff wall to keep unduly expanding trade with our neighbors in check. It might even be well to have no dealings with them even as the Jews had no dealings with the Samaritans, or it might be well to protect ourselves by higher and still higher customs duties, of course doing it all in the kindest possible way and with full consideration for their prosperity and happiness, but do not let us discuss such matters as reciprocity and anti-reciprocity as though it were a mere question of filling our pockets somewhat fuller. Let us try to find higher ground for our action. Nor let us allow the coward fear of annexation to influence us. The eagle might absorb the beaver, but the moose is a different proposition. The annexation of one country by another is not settled by votes, not while a sufficient minority of determined men will not have it so. How then can we live side by side on this great continent on the best possible terms? How will reciprocity or letting things remain as at present affect that? This each voter must answer for himself. Yours truly,

ED. HARPER WADE.

Sept. 19, 1911.

To the Electors of Quebec Centre

TO THE ELECTORS OF QUEBEC CENTRE:

In answer to the desire and request of a great number of you, I accept with pleasure the honor of being your candidate in the present election in this division, where I live and where also I have established my office.

It is not as a Conservative, a Liberal, or a Nationalist that I seek your votes. I present myself simply as a citizen of Quebec, opposed to the navy as at present constituted and still more opposed to the Taft-Fielding measure, which the American Government would impose upon the people of Canada. The country cannot accept this arrangement without renouncing all the traditions of its past, without repudiating a policy which has created our present prosperity, and without compromising forever the future of our confederation, of our province and our city.

In short, to speak only of our city, the project of Reciprocity which the United States would have us accept would deal a fatal blow to Quebec. For there can be no question, if our products are going to pass through American channels instead of following the St. Lawrence route for the European market, the whole traffic of the Canadian West will be diverted from our port to our disadvantage and our port will relapse into utter insignificance.

My wish, and, no doubt, it is your wish also, is to assure to the old port of Quebec all the importance which its geographical position merits. I would desire to procure for it the terminals of all the great ocean lines and utilize it in such manner that it would provide every requisite facility for the great steamers. Montreal has been presented with a large dry dock to the detriment of Quebec and I promise to see that our City also should have the same privilege as is only just.

I am for the entire reform of our Harbor Commission, in conformity with the desire of those who are especially interested in the prosperity of our town.

My past is known to you. I have always worked in the interests of the City and, more especially, of the port of Quebec, seeking to bring to it the important companies which might give work to the working class and leave something of their riches and prosperity in our City.

Being a citizen of Quebec myself, it is my desire to encourage every enterprise which can make for the progress of our town and the welfare of its population.

It is my aim to see that the interests of the wage-earner, of the merchant, of the contractor and the manufacturer should be protected; that commerce and industry should prosper and by their prosperity improve the condition of the workingman; and that the relations between capital and commerce should be regulated in such a manner as to ensure justice to all.

Such is my programme. I submit it to all the electors of the division, while assuring them of my determination to fulfil faithfully to the very end, the mandate which they will entrust to me.

Being purely a business man, utterly without any ambition to make politics a stepping stone to arrive at office or honors, I have only one desire to do my duty, only one ambition, to work with good intention to realize the prosperity of our country and our City.

POLITICAL NEWS

AN EASY VICTORY.

When the Mackenzie Government went to the country in 1878 they had a majority of sixty. The Government was overthrown, and the Conservatives won by fifty.

In 1896 the Conservatives had a majority of nearly 50. The Liberals were victorious by nearly forty of a majority.

Sir Wilfrid had a majority of forty-one. A change of twenty-one seats means the Government's defeat. A gain of thirty seats means a working majority. Victory is assured. Ontario will give a strong Conservative gain and Quebec and the other provinces will do the rest. The Conservatives will make gains in every province except probably Alberta, where they will have the same number.

THE WORKINGMAN AND RECIPROCITY.

The Liberal demagogues may succeed in inflaming the minds of a few workmen against the Conservatives here and there by connecting the Conservatives with trusts, combines and millionaires. The workingman to-day is intelligent, however, and even if the Liberals succeed in convincing him that there are such trusts and combines in Canada the argument will be a boomerang against the Liberal party which wants to put the workingman, about whose welfare he seems to be so anxious at present, under the power of the hundred fold worse American trusts. We are enjoying a taste of these trusts now in the Standard Oil Co. brought in under the Laurier Government. Did the price of oil come down when the Standard Oil obtained control of the oil of Canada? They cheapened the distribution of the oil and the management of the oil business altogether and yet, if I am not mistaken, we are paying about three cents more for our oil per gallon and two cents more for gasoline than before the arrival of this typical trust. In addition to this trust Laurier, Fielding and Patterson would like to put us under the Beef, Sugar and Milk Trusts as well. Laurier's work will finish Laurier, that work is being unmasked daily. He has led the American people to believe that the people of Canada want Reciprocity and the American people believe that we want annexation as well. He has requested hosts of American workers to promote Reciprocity. Hearst, Champ Clark and all the newspapers, including the good ones, cannot be made to believe that we do not want annexation as well.

The U. S. Steel Trust wants a monopoly in Canadian iron. I know that it is, at the present moment spending much money in Canada to bring this about. Should such a calamity happen as Reciprocity being established all these trusts would extend their operations into Canada. Take the all-powerful Beef Trust for instance — They would dictate to each butcher the price he should pay the local butcher and the price he should sell at. They compel him to buy their beef under a threat of putting in their own butchers, so that farmers, butchers and consumers are absolutely at their mercy and everybody knows how many millions of dollars they extract from the people annually.

This is the Laurier-Fielding-Patterson plan for making us rich. Do we see through it? Well rather—

COUNTY OF L'ISLET.

Mr. Paquet, the ex-opposition member in this county, held three meetings on Sunday last and was received with considerable enthusiasm in L'Islet, St. Eugene and St. Cyrille.

The Liberals in the county of Soulanges, where Sir Wilfrid Laurier is a candidate, have tried to get his opponent, Dr. Lortie, out of the field by offering him $5000 and a government situation, both offers being refused by Dr. Lortie.

The Telegraph says it can't live on air. All the more reason why it shouldn't surflet its readers with the warm variety of that element.

If young Mr. Parent is as sure of election as the Telegraph says, why the hurry up call for the Old Cock?

No Breach of Promise Suit.

Mrs. Alice McLane Hamilton, who has been spending the summer abroad, has been studying the ways of courting in different countries. In some parts of Russia if a man slights a woman she goes at dawn with an effigy of the man made of straw, and, nailing it to one of the sacred trees surrounding the family shrine, prays for the death of the man.

Domestic Science Teachers.

Fifty-five young women were graduated from the Kansas Agricultural College in the domestic science course this summer. This college was the pioneer in introducing this course into colleges and universities. The fifty-five women will probably not have much trouble in securing positions, as most of them take the course in order to teach in the schools of the state.

BARS OPEN ON ELECTION DAY

But They Must Not Sell Any Spirituous Liquors — Only Soft Drinks.

Montreal, Sept. 19.—No bars, no groceries selling liquor, can retail spirituous liquors on election day, Sept. 21. Section 261 and 258 of the revised statutes makes it liable to a fine of $100 or six months imprisonment for each infraction of the law.

The law does not prevent the bars from being open, however, but no sale of liquor can be made on the day. The bars can sell only soft drinks or cigars.

Chief of Police Campeau states he has not given an order, but it is probable that all bars will be shut on Thursday, as it is in his power to close. It would be a difficult matter, if they were left open, to watch them all in order to prevent infractions of the law.

NEW VOLUNTEER POLICE FORCE

English Home Office Issues Detailed Instructions for its Establishment.

London, Sept. 19.—The Home Office has issued a detailed circular to the chief constables in the Kingdom, instructing them how the volunteer police force, which it is proposed to raise in each of the large centers of population should be organized. It will consist of a registered police reserve in two bodies, the first reserve consisting of men who have previously undergone police or military training and who could be temporarily attached to the regulars with uniform and pay, and the second, consisting of men registered as willing to serve as special constables.

Home Secretary Churchill suggests that this scheme would to a great extent obviate the necessity of calling out the troops. He further proposes that in times of strikes it might be legitimate to enroll strikers as special constables, because strike disorders, he points out, are for the most part prompted by hooligans, and the strikers themselves would likely be anxious to suppress disorders which would bring discredit to their cause.

When the despatch was shown to principal officials of the company this afternoon a flat denial of the statement was made. The Canadian Pacific Railway management has neither asked for nor received any information whatever regarding the probable result of Thursday's polling.

SOULANGES FOR A CONSERVATIVE

Should Laurier's Acclamation Bar Him as Candidate in That Constituency.

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—The misguided zeal of his supporters in procuring Sir Wilfrid Laurier's election to the Commons for Quebec East by acclamation bids fair to bring about some consequences which were evidently not anticipated. It has been expected that the Premier would be voted for as a candidate simultaneously in Quebec East and in Soulanges. Now that he is elected a member of Parliament for East Quebec can he run next Thursday in Soulanges? The general opinion here is that Dr. Lortie, the Conservative candidate in Soulanges must be declared elected by acclamation, and that at any rate, votes cast in that riding for Sir Wilfrid on next Thursday cannot be counted. It does not seem possible that Sir Wilfrid can qualify himself by resignation. There is no Speaker of the House to whom his resignation as member for East Quebec can be forwarded. It therefore seems certain that Soulanges, which had been counted as possibly a Liberal gain, will remain in the Conservative column.

A similar question arose some years ago when Mr. W. F. Maclean, then

SON WHO SHOT AT HIS FATHER

Was Found Guilty of Attempted Murder by a Jury in Montreal.

Montreal, Sept. 19.—Guilty of attempted murder was the finding of the jury in the Court of King's Bench today in the case of Harry Lusher, aged 25, accused of having shot his father in their residence at No. 1 Mount Pleasant Place, opposite the General Hospital.

Samuel Lusher, the young man's father, and the chief witness against him, was not present, as it seemed that he had relented and wished to withdraw the charge. The deposition which he had made, following the shooting, when he charged his son with the act, was read, however, and on this evidence the son was convicted. It seems that the son had quarrelled with his father, the latter having cause to find fault with him for his alleged unwillingness to support himself, and one night after a particularly vehement altercation the son lost his temper and shot his parent.

Sentence was deferred until the close of the session.

M.P. for South York, was invited to contest a bye-election in Queen's and Shelburne against Hon. W. S. Fielding, who had just been unseated. At that time legal advice was taken, and the decision was reached that Mr. Maclean could not run in Queen's and Shelburne without first resigning his seat as member for South York.

A CANADIAN POLICY

The Liberal-Conservative party gives its pledge to carry out the following policy if returned to power:

1. A thorough reorganization of the method by which the public expenditure is supervised. The increase in what is known as ordinary controllable expenditure from $21,500,000 in 1896 to nearly $74,000,000 in 1911 is proof of extravagance beyond any possible defence.
2. The granting of their natural resources to the prairie Provinces.
3. The construction of the Hudson Bay Railway and its operation by independent commission.
4. The control and operation by the state of the terminal elevators.
5. The necessary encouragement for establishing and carrying on the chilled meat industry.
6. The establishment of a permanent tariff commission.
7. The granting of substantial assistance towards the improvement of our public highways.
8. The extension of the free rural mail delivery.
9. The extension of civil service reform.
10. The granting of liberal assistance to the Provinces for the purpose of supplementing and extending the work of agricultural education and for the improvement of agriculture.

"And, lastly, we pledge ourselves to a course of policy and administration which will maintain independent and unimpaired the control of our own affairs by the Parliament of Canada, a policy which, while affording no just cause of complaint to any foreign nation, will find its highest ideal in the autonomous development of Canada as a nation within the British Empire."

"In the past we have made great sacrifices to further our national ideals. We are now face to face with a misguided attempt to throw away the result of these sacrifices.

"The true issue is this: Shall we continue in the course which has led us to our present enviable position of prosperity and national development, or shall we at the moment of greatest success and achievement lose heart and abandon the fight for national existence?"

"Upon this momentous issue I appeal to the people with the utmost confidence, and in the strong belief that their verdict will be for the unity and not for the disintegration of Canada; for the strengthening and not the loosening of the ties which bind this Dominion to the British Empire."

LAZY LIVER, BILIOUSNESS, HEADACHE, COATED TONGUE OR A BAD STOMACH.

You men and women who somehow can't get feeling right—who have an almost daily headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel worn out.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

WHERE LIES THE RESPONSIBILITY OF IT ALL?

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has undertaken, within the last few days, to be in and out of Quebec as often as possible, and we all now know how the machinations of a certain section of his local organization have resulted in the nefarious outcome, whereby he has been delivered from the danger of a vastly reduced majority in the constituency of Quebec East, if not from actual defeat. His intimate political friends, of course, lay all the blame of the purchase of his (Sir Wilfrid's) opponent on certain sub-agents caught in the very act of committing the crime. But honest people are asking where the five thousand dollars of purchase money came from. Did it come from the same quarter that these five thousand dollar bills of American gold issue came from, which have been located in other Canadian cities, or direct from the slime around the tentacles of that marvellous octopus in which Quebecers are taking such a lively interest at the present moment? The facts are sure to come out, when once the protest against Sir Wilfrid's return by acclamation comes up for investigation. The unfortunate Premier claims that he had no previous knowledge of the transaction. And we have to believe him. But, as things stand he has been no more legally elected by acclamation than was Mr. William Roche of Halifax at the last general election, after which that gentleman was allowed to retain his illegal sitting in the House of Commons, for several years. Sir Wilfrid announces his intention to resign. And unless he does so, when once the returns are in after Thursday, and presents himself in St. Roch for reelection, he will hardly pass muster in the House of Commons as the rightful owner of a seat on either side of the House as member-elect of Quebec East. And is this whole thing not a fitting finish to a fifteen years' regime that has brought a blush to the face of every right-minded Canada who has the least grain of respect for public morality? There are few people in Quebec so rapidly opposed to the distinguished candidate for Quebec East as to wish that he should suffer a total defeat at the hands of his opponent. But now, as one of his own local organizers in Quebec, he has been so inopportunistly careless in his choice of sub-agents, that he has actually brought about his own defeat. He surely could not have known of what was going on; but, as an organizer, he ought to have known, and put a stop to it. And, now, if he conscientiously believes that he has been unjustly dealt with by his sub-agents, he ought openly to say so in order that the public may do him no personal injustice, while judging of the most unseemly occurrence that has ever happened at any election within the memory of the present generation. Meantime Quebecers are all up in arms over the disgrace of the thing to our fair city. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in his speech at the Drill Hall last Thursday, commanded the citizens of Quebec to vote against Messrs. Price and Hone, as if their votes were his by some kind of divine right, and not their own, as their birthright. Is there an honest elector in the city going to obey the behest, after what has happened in St. Roch? He also counselled them that if they would be prosperous and happy, they should join their fortunes with the cities of the United States. That was bad enough. But, when the despicable advice has been followed up by what has happened in St. Roch, the electors of Quebec, who have not yet been robbed of their chance to vote, can have only one opinion to give at the polls on Thursday, casting their votes, as they cannot but with all party feeling set aside, for the two independent candidates in Quebec Centre and Quebec West. Messrs. Power and Lachance, while court-ing party favors fine and simple, announced at the meeting on Thursday last, that whatever Sir Wilfrid Laurier said or did, they were ready and willing to uphold. But now that the honest voters of their own party are opposed to reciprocity and indignant, on moral grounds, over the nefarious transaction in St. Roch, what is there left to them but to take their defeat tomorrow as nonchalantly as possible, and seek out for more honorable connections in the future. As they sit down by the river front at the end of the week to make an inventory of the harbor improvements, and count the number of vessels lying at the wharves, they may possibly get up their courage to compliment Messrs. Price and Hone on having a chance to do better in behalf of Quebec than they could have done. And in preparation of what is leading up to their reverie tomorrow, elected or non elected as they may be, let them ask themselves these queries which all Quebec is propounding today: We were promised a reorganized Harbor Commission. Have we got it? We were promised additional harbor appliances. Have we got them? We were promised that Quebec was in the way of being made the great and prosperous eastern terminus of the Transcontinental. Have we got further than the laying of the Champlain Market in a heap of unsightly ruins towards such a consummation? Five thousand dollars have been spent in buying off Sir Wilfrid Laurier's opponent, but how much has been set apart for the poor beggars who are in worse straits than Sir Wilfrid?

And a final word to the electors, as yet safe from the Letourneau style of canvass, is now all that is needed. If Quebec is to be saved from disaster, now that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has been deprived of a legal seat in Parliament, the two candidates that are no cringers to his influence must be elected to stand up for Quebec's interests to the upholding of them to the very last point of realization. And who is to do this save the electors of Quebec Centre and Quebec West? Who is to elect Mr. Price save the men who elected him at the last election, with others who cannot but admire his splendid independence of action? He is the kind of representative, with the courage of his convictions ever in evidence, whom any constituency might well appreciate. And who is to elect Mr. Jules Hone, an alert business man, who knows the good end of an enterprise from the bad end, and is sure to be a faithful ally to Quebec in its endeavors to realize on its splendid natural advantages as a seaport and manufacturing centre? And who is to vote for Sir Wilfrid's opponent?

Aye, who would have cast votes by the thousands for him, had he not been tempted from the pathway of straight dealing with the electors of Quebec East by his enemies, and thus deprived the wage-earners of that constituency from voting against the reciprocal pact which, according to the opinion of their employers, is sure to deprive them, if passed, of the means of earning an honest living. "Hurrah for Laurier!" is a dead letter in St. Roch today. As well might we expect to hear in that quarter "Hurrah for Taft and Fielding!" who have been in at the deception of the "Knight of the White Plumes," who, alas, now lies defeated by the misguided tentacles of the octopus that injuriously grasps at everything within its reach. Over in Quebec Centre and Quebec East there still may be heard, perhaps, in very subdued tones in the vicinity of the very last meetings of Messrs. Lachance and Power, "Hurrah for reciprocity!" But what does that half-whispered note of expectancy mean, if it does not mean "Hurrah for the loss of the trade of Quebec! Hurrah for the loss of our birthright! Hurrah for the putting of Quebec to shame!" These are the kind of cries which may still be indulged in, by those who, from party instinct, would do honor to the broken promises of the corruptionists—by those who would further encourage the disastrous game at Ottawa, even when it is now completely played out—even now when the gamblers, with a last throw of the dice in their hand, would traitorously hand over our trade and our country to the United States. But only from such do they come. Quebec is solid against reciprocity, and the corruptionists who were in with William H. Taft at its underhand inception as a possible pact!

BAD FOR WORKINGMEN

To-morrow the people of Canada will have to choose for or against commercial union with the United States.

There cannot be any half-way arrangement; they must choose one or the other.

Commercial union can only mean the destruction of Canadian industrial life and the throwing of thousands and thousands of Canadian workingmen out of employment.

This has been recognized by all the labor unions of our larger cities, and resolution after resolution has been passed by these representative bodies of workingmen, denouncing the reciprocity pact and advising all who have the interest of the laboring classes at heart to mark their ballots against the candidates of the Laurier party.

MADE ATTACK ON RECIPROCITY

Sir William Van Horne Made a Remarkable Speech at Montreal Last Night.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 19.—Sir William Van Horne appeared tonight in Montreal on a political platform for the first time.

The Monument National, in the heart of St. Lawrence division, was crowded to the doors to hear him, and he received an enthusiastic welcome. Sir William's theme was reciprocity, which he attacked unsparingly, both from the economic and national viewpoint. He addressed his appeal to all the various elements which make up the population of the division, having something to say to French, English and Hebrew alike.

Mr. G. F. Johnston of the Opposition candidate of the division, also spoke to the electors.

After brief introductory speeches by local orators, Sir William was called upon.

Sir William Van Horne was received with loud applause when he rose to speak. He devoted his address entirely to the reciprocity issue, opening with the following words:

"I do not come before you as a politician, nor do I speak for any corporation or special interest. I speak only as a plain business man, who has the interests of the Dominion of Canada very deeply at heart. It does not matter to me which political party is in power at Ottawa, so long as the material interests of the country are protected and promoted. I have never in my life voted at any election, but I shall cast my first vote Thursday against reciprocity. This silly and dangerous thing is not a question of men or of party. When it came before the American Congress it was supported by a large majority of both political parties. They had much to gain, and they ignored party lines. We have much to lose by it, and we should likewise ignore party lines."

The speaker then outlined his reasons for opposing reciprocity. It would, he declared, destroy Canada's fiscal independence; it was supported by many Americans because they hoped that it would make towards the estrangement of Canada from the Empire; it would undermine the foundations of Canadian trade and manufacturers, laid with such effort and success in the past twenty-five years; it would be a damaging blow to Canadian railways and the merchant marine; and it was an utterly unnecessary agreement, Canada having made her own way to prosperity.

Continuing, he showed that Canadian trade per capita was three times that of the United States and that reciprocity would bring the two countries down to a common level.

The speaker admitted that a few localities might reap temporary benefits but that in the end everybody would suffer.

Sir William then quoted extensively from speeches and articles appearing in the American press to show that the leading men of the United States hoped that reciprocity would finally be consummated by political union; and that at all events thousands of business men in all parts of the country were counting on it to bring them increased trade and wealth at the expense of Canadians. The divergence of traffic to the American railroads and ports would greatly harm those of this country.

He then pointed out the unexampled freedom which the French Canadian enjoys in Canada. The speaker referred particularly to the school question. If Canada should ever be swallowed by the United States, the British treaties which guarantee French and Catholic rights would be gone; the Canadian constitution which supports religious schools for the Catholic people would be gone; annexation would put an end to parish law in this Province, and would refuse to French Canadians the right to speak in their own language in the national Parliament.

In support of Mr. Johnston's candidature against that of Mr. Bickerdike, he referred to the numerous pledges and promises which the Liberal candidate is making. He stated that the latter had declared himself in favor of everything which might catch a few votes, with the utmost inconsistency. In conclusion, he requested his hearers to support the Conservative candidate, and to show their disapproval of reciprocity.

TO THE WORKINGMEN

ELECTORS OF QUEBEC CENTRE.

Reciprocity, say the partisans of that measure, will have the effect to increase the price of goods, materials, etc.

Workingmen, are you not paying high enough today for the necessities of life? Could you, with reciprocity, do honor to your obligations? How can you educate your children? How can you bring up your families? Workingmen, vote against reciprocity.

REBELS BURN

CHINESE PREFECTURE.

Peking, Sept. 19.—The French legation has received a despatch from Sui-Fu that the prefects Yamen at that place have been attacked and burned by the rebels. Many persons were killed.

The Chinese Foreign Board has received reports of an attack on the Yamen at Kiating-Fu but details are lacking. The board also has been advised that the Yamen has been looted in five towns in the neighborhood of Cheng-Tu.

A message from General Chao Erh Feng, commander of the troops within the besieged capital, says that he will dispatch troops to the disturbed districts as soon as it can be arranged. He is evidently awaiting reinforcements.

The Chinese government is pleased that the Hong Kong authorities have not permitted the holding of a meeting there by those who are opposed to the railway loans.

MOUNT ETNA

RESUMES ERUPTION.

Catania, Sicily, Sept. 19.—The eruption of Mount Etna, which yesterday seemed to be calming down, today resumed its former activity. It is feared that eight peasants have been cut off by the lava. Shots from their guns, evidently to attract attention, were heard, but no aid could be given, as nobody was even able to approach the spot because of the floods of lava.

TECUMSEH WILL REPLACE RENFREW

Lacrosse Club Management Secures Its Charter in the National Hockey Union.

Toronto, Sept. 19.—The Tecumseh Lacrosse Club has secured the Renfrew franchise in the Eastern Hockey League. The negotiations have been under way for the past three months and have just been closed.

This will give two professional teams in the big circuit with Ottawa and the Montreal seven. The one will be run by Percy Quinn and the Tecumsehs will have Charlie Querrie as president and manager. The Renfrew franchise will, of course, carry with it the players with that team last year.

Lindsay, goal; McNamara, point; Taylor, cover-point; Rowe, rover; Smith, centre; O. Cleghorn, right; S. Cleghorn, left, as well as the Patricks, if they play in the east.

Of course all of these would not come to Toronto. Meanwhile Querrie will try to pick up a player or two in the west.

CORINTHIANS RAN

Philadelphia, Sept. 19.—The Corinthian soccer football team, amateur champions of England, easily defeated a picked eleven composed of members of the Associated Cricket Clubs, in a match here to-day by the score of 19 to 0. The visitors scored in the first minute of play and made seven goals in the first half.

AVIATOR FELL

His back was slightly injured.
