Rifle shot starts worst rioting yet in Mexico City

MEXICO CITY (CP) — The bloodiest battle yet of Mexico City's student rebellion raged through the night after a rifle shot touched off a thunderous crossfire between snipers and army troops at the crowded site of an anti-government rally Wednesday.

The Associated Press said police and hospitals reported 25 persons killed, Hundreds more were injured. The toll appeared likely to go higher.

Reuters quoted a government spokesman as saying at least 20 were dead.

The news agency said unofficial reports had at least 500 injured and 1,000 arrested.

The International Olympic Committee called a meeting today to discuss the effect of the city's violence on the 1968 Games, scheduled to open in the Mexican capital in nine days—on Saturday, Oct. 12.

Firing in the area of the Plaza of the Three Cultures near downtown continued sporadically into the early morning hours. Soldiers said the main pockets of student resistance were two buildings in the adjoining Tlatelolco apartment district.

CHARGE A RALLY

Troops, backed by armored cars and flare-dropping helicopters, had charged a rally of 15,000 persons in the plaza Wednesday night.

The riots were the worst in two months of student and worker demonstrations against the government and raised fears about the chances of staging a peaceful Olympics.

But presidential press secretary, Fernando Garza, said that "with last night's problems and the subsequent cleaning up, the end of the situation has come."

Gen. Marcelino Garcia Barragan, the defence secretary, said he had orders to crush the student uprising at any cost.

One reporter said hundreds of persons were lying in the plaza after the first volley of gunfire.

Throughout the evening, snipers with automatic weapons fired from apartment windows and troops brought armored cars into the battle and poured machine-gun fire back into the high-rise buildings. The troops began clearing out the buildings about four hours after the battle began. Hundreds of residents already had fled.

But elsewhere, students roamed the streets with 22-calibre automatic pistols and Molotov cocktails, setting dozens of buses and cars afire.

An army official said para-troop Gen. Jose Hernandez Toledo, who led troops who occupied the University of Mexico last month, was critically wounded.

A secret police agent said snipers were shooting at ambulance drivers and "we can't get in and pick up the dead bodies lying in the plaza."

About 6,000 striking students had gathered in the plaza for a march to the Santa Tomas vocational school, scene of the major fighting in a battle that left 15 dead by AP count on the night of Sept. 23.

Because of troops along the route, student leaders called off the march. But then four flares fell into the plaza, scattering the crowd, and a soldier appeared around the corner of a church.

A shot rang out, presumably from a sniper firing at the soldier, and the plaza quickly was filled with a roar of automatic weapons fire.

Gromyko to air Russian views

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, who listened impassively Wednesday while U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk denounced the invasion of Czechoslovakia as dangerous to world peace, today delivers Moscow's views on current problems.

After speaking in the general debate of the 125-member General Assembly, Gromyko will attend a Canadian luncheon along with Rusk and 17 other foreign ministers.

The luncheon, given by External Affairs Minister Sharp, is in honor of Emilio Arenales, the Guatemalan foreign minister who is president of the 23rd General Assembly. The guest list includes the heads of delegations from Argentina, Australia, Brazil, Italy, Japan, Kenya, Mexico, Nigeria, Pakistan, Romania, Tunisia, The Netherlands, Upper Volta, Venezuela and Yugoslavia.

It is being given at the residence of Ambassador George Ignatieff, Canada's permanent UN representative, with a number of senior members of the Canadian delegation attending.

Gromyko discussed Middle East diplomatic strategy with diplomats of five Arab countries at a private luncheon given Wednesday by Foreign Minister Archad Husain of Pakistan. The Soviet Union has backed the Arabs in their continuing struggle against Israel.

OFFERS NOTHING NEW

Rusk, speaking on the opening day of the general debate, had no new initiatives to offer.

He declared that the occupation of Czechoslovakia by troops of the Soviet Union and four other Warsaw pact allies had "sent a shock wave of indignation and apprehension around the world and shaken hopes for better East-West relations."

His emphasis on the harm to East-West detente caused by the Soviet bid to reverse liberalization trends in Czechoslovakia established a theme which will be repeated many times and by many speakers during the next few weeks.

Rusk had a number of questions for Soviet leaders.

Does the Czechoslovakian occupation, he asked, mean that the UN charter's prohibition of the threat or use of force against other states "will be dismissed as a mere abstraction whenever the Soviet Union finds it in conflict with the laws of the 'class struggle'?"

"Does it mean," Rusk asked, "that the Soviet Union's doctrine of peaceful coexistence does not apply to its own allies or those with the same social system?"

WILL TROOPS LEAVE?

And he asked, finally, when the Soviet Union will make good on its repeated promises to remove its occupying forces from Czechoslovakia.

Other main points of Rusk's speech:

—The U.S. hopes North Vietnam's representatives in Paris will soon indicate how the Vietnam fighting can be scaled down.

—The U.S., looking for an Indo-China settlement on the basis of the Geneva agreements, will stop bombing North Vietnam "the moment we can be confident this would lead toward peace."

—The opportunity should be seized, while UN envoy Gunnar Jarring and many foreign ministers are in New York, to encourage the Arabs and Israelis to move toward a settlement of their long struggle.

—The U.S. and its NATO allies will uphold the security of West Germany and West Berlin until Germany can be reunified in peace; furthermore the Warsaw pact countries have no right, under the UN charter, to intervene unilaterally by force in West German affairs.

—The U.S., despite "the blow which recent events have dealt to international confidence," is prepared to continue work on a number of arms control measures now before the 18-nation disarmament committee.

—The U.S. hopes the assembly will draw plans for co-operation in the development of low-income nations, in increasing the world's capacity to feed itself and in preserving man's environment from pollution.

—Regardless of the outcome of the U.S. election on Nov. 5, the American people will faithfully support the United Nations and its high objectives.

Premier urges more solidarity

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand's first public statement after swearing-in ceremonies Wednesday called for the progress of French Canada coupled with "the strengthening of Canadian solidarity."

Mr. Bertrand, a reform-minded federalist, was chosen as successor to the late premier Daniel Johnson at a special caucus of Union Nationale members of the legislative assembly and council Wednesday morning.

He said, however, the leadership choice could be made subject to a leadership convention of the Union Nationale party at a later date.

Party members said the 52-year-old lawyer was a unanimous choice as successor to Mr. Johnson who died last Thursday in Manicouagan, Que.

The new leader formed his government immediately without making any changes in the Johnson cabinet. He retained the justice portfolio he has held since 1966 and assumed the intergovernmental affairs portfolio held by the late premier.

In a brief statement at his first news conference as premier, Mr. Bertrand stressed the need to "work together with a toughened courage toward the development of the French-Canadian nation and the solidarity of Canada."

EXPECTS NO PROBLEMS

Asked how he thinks his relations will be with Prime Minister Trudeau, he replied:

"I believe that there is a way for Canada and Quebec to walk along together. This is no problem."

Premier Bertrand said it would be "practically impossible" for him to visit France Oct. 11-16, the dates scheduled for a visit by Mr. Johnson, who planned to meet with President de Gaulle.

But he reiterated that "it is essential for Quebec to continue these relations and develop them" in cultural, educational, technical and economic domains.

He would discuss with his cabinet colleagues the possibility of fixing a new date for the visit and would continue a policy of close relations with France.

WON'T CHANGE POLICY

The new premier said he believes he has been given a mandate to implement what he described as the late premier's "political testament" and he would continue to govern in the same spirit as Mr. Johnson.

A short cabinet meeting was held after the swearing-in ceremonies. Two orders-in-council were passed.

Mr. Bertrand told the news conference the cabinet ruled that:

—The period of mourning begun last Thursday when Mr. Johnson died will be extended to Thursday, Oct. 10, meaning that Quebec will be in official mourning for a full two weeks.

—Hydro-Quebec will be invited to change the name of Manicouagan, 250 miles northeast of here where Mr. Johnson died, to "the Daniel Johnson Dam."

Mr. Bertrand said an autopsy had revealed that Mr. Johnson, 53, died of coronary thrombosis or clotting of the blood. Mr. Johnson suffered a mild heart attack here July 3.

News in brief

'Paper gold'

WASHINGTON — (CP) — Perhaps within a year, a "paper gold" will take its place alongside gold, United States dollars and the pound sterling as a world monetary reserve.

Rapid creation of the new special drawing rights breed of reserve—paper gold—was being indicated by the temper of the International Monetary Fund meeting here this week. Some countries already are asking "how much."

Dubcek arrives

MOSCOW — (Reuters) — Czechoslovak Communist leader Alexander Dubcek arrived here today at the head of a top-level delegation for crucial new talks with Soviet leaders on the 44-day occupation of Czechoslovakia.

Dubcek was accompanied by Premier Oldrich Cernik and the Slovak party leader, Gustav Husak, who also is a deputy premier in the Czechoslovak government.

"No ducks"

OTTAWA — (CP) — Their children can't swim in the reserve pool at Caughnawaga because the youngsters have white fathers, a group of 22 Mohawk women told the royal commission on the status of women Wednesday night.

Sporting headbands and feathers, the women complained of the "injustices and atrocities" of the Indian Act that deprive Indian women and their children of reserve rights if they marry non-Indians.

Must adapt

MONTREAL — (CP) — The fishing industry must have young men and must be adaptable to the advances of modern technology, former transport minister Jack Pickersgill said Wednesday.

Mr. Pickersgill, chairman of the Canadian Transport Commission, told a conference on fisheries that "fisheries methods must be modernized" in order to attract young men to the industry.

Make amends

OTTAWA — (CP) — Indian Affairs Minister Chretien and Robert Andras, minister without portfolio, have patched up any differences they might have had over administrative changes in the Indian affairs and northern development department.

Mr. Andras, who had said he believes Indians should have been consulted on the changes, said Wednesday he agreed re-organization of the department will provide more efficient and effective services for the Indians.

PM raps the critics of his just society

REGINA (CP) — An unscheduled meeting with militant University of Saskatchewan students demanding increased financial assistance elicited a sharp reply from Prime Minister Trudeau Wednesday.

The prime minister answered student chants of "just society, just for the rich" with "just for the rich—I suppose that means just for the students."

The demonstration followed the unveiling of a statue of Louis Riel, a Metis leader executed here Nov. 16, 1885, for treason.

Mr. Trudeau departed from the text of his address at the unveiling of the partially-clad, life-sized bronze sculpture to urge students to take their complaints through normal channels.

He asked the students: "Have many of you applied for loans and not got them?"

The crowd roared, "Yes!"

A student earlier had handed the prime minister a three-page submission complaining about handling of the student loan program, financed by the federal government and administered by the provinces.

Mr. Trudeau told the students: "I suppose you realize that the government doesn't print money. They don't make it on their own. The high cost of education is born by society as a whole."

The students complied with a request by Dave Shearer, president of the students' representative council at the Regina campus, to keep quiet during the ceremonies that preceded the unveiling.

"We must never forget that, in the long run, a democracy is judged by the way the majority treats the minority. Louis Riel's battle is not yet won," Mr. Trudeau said.

The statue, the work of sculptor John Nugent of Lumsden, Sask., is located in a formal garden on the grounds of the provincial legislature. Riel was executed after leading an unsuccessful uprising.

10-day fast

OTTAWA — (CP) — A Montreal grandmother is sticking to a 10-day fast on Parliament Hill in the hope of persuading the Canadian government to cut off defence contracts that she says held the US war effort in Vietnam.

Claire Culhane, 50, is living on water, orange juice and vitamin pills and sleeping at night under the portico of the East Block. She began her fast Monday.

Five infants hold on to life

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — Five tiny infants, survivors of Britain's first sextuplets, kept a frail hold on life today on an hourly diet of sugared water. Doctors gave them an even chance of lasting through their first critical week.

The instant family came to Sheila Thorns in three minutes Wednesday—her 30th birthday. It was a fertility drug that ended 10 years of childless marriage in such spectacular style.

Four girls and two boys, ranging in weight from two to three pounds, were delivered by Caesarean section at Birmingham Maternity Hospital. One girl, the last to be born died an hour later as surgeons prepared to give her a blood transfusion.

Lying taped, tubed and naked in incubators, the five survivors were last reported "yelling their heads off." Doctors described their condition as "extremely frail but fairly satisfactory."

Gynecologist Margaret Shotton, who led a 28-strong medical team at the delivery, said: "If they live a week we can begin to be hopeful."

NAMES THE BABIES

Mrs. Thorns, weak but well, named the babies Lynne, Ian, Julie, Susan and Roger—in order of appearance. She has spent the last 23 weeks in hospital but learned only in August that six babies were on the way.

"If I just get one or two alive out of this I shall be happy," she said before the birth.

Her husband Norman, 33, is a die designer with the British Motor Corp.

British medical authorities said the chance of having sextuplets has been calculated at 3-272,800,000 to 1.

About 20 sets of sextuplets have been reported in various parts of the world since 1900, but some reports were unconfirmed and others were hoaxes.

PM applauded for suggesting that cutbacks in spending on government programs are coming

CALGARY (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau won standing applause from 1,000 business executives and their wives Wednesday night for suggesting that further cutbacks in government spending on social and other programs is on the way.

Speaking to the closing banquet of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce's 39th annual meeting—where delegates heard frequent warnings about the dangers of inflation—the prime minister said the government cannot ignore the over-all economic effects of increased spending.

"In the past years we have devoted a substantial proportion of our resources to a progressive system of social programs and we will continue to do so," he said.

"But we realize that social progress must be paid for, even in a prosperous country like Canada, we have to ask ourselves at any given time how much we can afford."

Mr. Trudeau said the severe limitations of the government's present financial situation requires a reassessment of existing programs in the light of fresh priorities.

It would have "to concentrate our efforts in those areas which contribute most to the health of the economy, to exercise the utmost care in selecting specific projects and programs within those areas and to make the best use of available resources."

TAKES TWO STEPS

In general, the government was taking two steps to tackle its financial problems—which Mr. Trudeau said came in large part from spending programs started earlier this decade during a period of exceptional growth.

First, it was taking a look at all existing programs "to find out if there are any which have served their purpose and should be discontinued."

Second, it was setting up new priorities for services which social and economic conditions demanded.

Establishment of these priorities resulted in the government recently cancelling two projects for which it has been sharply criticized—the intense neutron generator and a telescope atop Mount Kobau, B.C.

"Having carefully selected the projects and programs which we must support, we have to make sure that we are making the most efficient use of the available facilities and personnel, that we are getting the maximum value for each tax dollar."

He suggested indirectly that the government could be thinking of ways to save money on various hospital and higher-education programs it takes part in.

PROVIDE SAME CARE

Recent studies had shown that low-cost convalescent homes could provide equal care for many types of patients now in hospitals, while it had also been suggested that the present division of the academic year in many universities is not efficient.

"All those who contributed to the costs of hospitals, vocational schools and universities have an interest in ensuring that these institutions are efficiently operated."

Mr. Trudeau said that despite his remarks about financial problems the outlook for the Canadian economy is encouraging. Inflationary pressures were still high, but appeared to be easing.

Metal workers threaten strike in Great Britain

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — The Labor party moved into the realm of foreign policy today but the threat of a countrywide strike of metal workers hung like a cloud over the party's annual convention.

Hugh Scanlon, general secretary of the big Amalgamated Engineering Foundrymen's Union, announced that his union will start its strike Oct. 21 if the government does not back down on statutory curbs on wages.

The union, he told a rally outside the convention hall, was acting in the full knowledge that the walkout "will literally bring the economic life of this country to a standstill."

He said this direct defiance of Prime Minister Wilson's Labor government was the fault of its "adamant stand" on limiting wage increases to 3.5 per cent in any 12-month period.

The AEFU, which represents workers in the aircraft, automotive, shipbuilding and other heavy metallurgical industries, is holding out for a 6.5-per-cent raise. About 3,500,000 workers are involved.

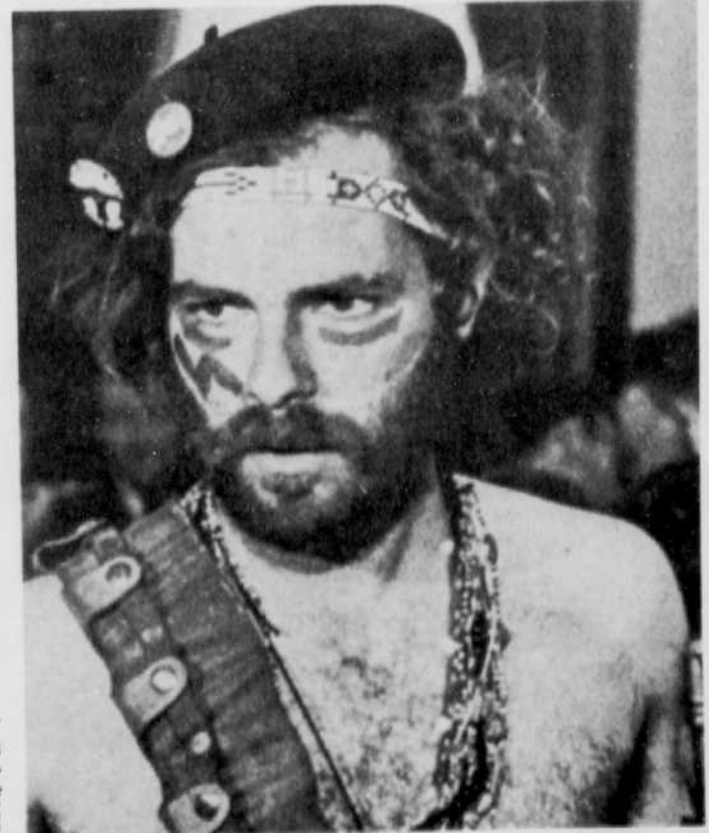

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart meanwhile reported to the convention on the government's foreign policy.

The Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia has taken much of the fire out of left-wing attacks on the government for its support of U.S. policy in Vietnam. The convention already has approved a resolution demanding the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Czechoslovakia.

Wilson's government expects a trickier time in handling the Rhodesian question, which probably will come up this afternoon despite behind-the-scenes moves to have the issue shelved.

It is a difficult moment for the government. High officials were recently in Salisbury for talks with Ian Smith, premier of the breakaway regime, and there are insistent reports of impending talks to see whether any change in Smith's views would make meaningful negotiations possible.

Some leftist delegates already are charging that Wilson's government is preparing a "sell-out" in Rhodesia.

THIS IS A WITNESS — Jerry Rubin, one of the leaders in the August demonstrations during the Democratic convention in Chicago, showed up Tuesday in this fashion at a hearing held by the House Committee on Un-American Activities. He wore over his shoulder a bandolero studded with live ammunition and carried a toy-model of an automatic rifle. Later, he was ejected from the hearing room. (AP Wirephoto)

To study closing of Penman's Two-party system seems inevitable

SEEKS SOLUTION — Compton-Frontenac MP Henri Latulippe, shown at work in his furniture factory, has announced the formation of a conciliatory board to study a solution to the problems created by the closing of Penman's Industry. (Record photo: Gerry Lemay)

COATICOOK — (Staff) — As the result of a meeting between Henri Latulippe, MP for Compton-Frontenac, and Manpower Minister Marchand and Industry and Commerce Minister Pepin, a conciliatory board has been appointed to study a solution for the closing of Penman's Industry.

In a letter to The Record Mr. Latulippe said, "waiting for results, one knows that this situation continues, and that some victims must suffer."

The situation referred to is the untimely closing of Coaticook Penman's Industry, a firm which employed 225 persons.

Mr. Latulippe continued in the letter to say "all have to admit that the automation, the evolution and the progress which accelerate production in some places, make devastations in others."

Machinery replaces man, he said, in great proportions. The production increases, but employs less workers, so, giving less salaries. "The distribution system of incomes between citizens has to be corrected completely."

He said those who do not work have the right to live, even if they have no salary and no work. In the whole of Canada, the victims multiply. "We know that every person has needs to be satisfied."

Two aldermen at City Hall last night, after hearing the results of the South Ward aldermanic election, said that the results would almost definitely lead to a two-party battle in 1970 when the city holds its first en bloc municipal elections.

Marcel Savard said that in 1970, people will choose between two parties, and not judge the man.

Alderman Gaston Roy agreed that the two party system, which Mr. Savard called the normal situation today, will son be in effect in Sherbrooke.

Marc Bureau's election to the South Ward aldermanic seat gives the Civic Action League four voices at council.

There are 10 aldermen, plus the mayor on Sherbrooke City Council.

The CAL members now on council as aldermen are Romeo Quintal and Hilaire Beliveau, elected in 1967, Gerard Deziel, elected by acclamation last week and now, Mr. Bureau.

Although Mr. Bureau said last night that he did not intend to support his CAL colleagues if he were against their proposals, he did call the CAL aldermen "a force of four associated people."

By DENNIS FINLAY
(Record Staff Reporter)

Alderman Romeo Quintal once said the CAL was not a political party when he was confronted with the question by Mayor Armand Nadeau.

Mr. Quintal slammed his fist on his desk and responded loudly the CAL was not.

Mayor Nadeau has said a number of times during council meetings that there was no room for party politics at City Hall.

However, last week when the nominations for the South Ward battle were being completed, he said the possibility of a two-party battle in 1970 seemed imminent.

And it could be that after seeing what happened to Mr. Berard last night, incumbent aldermen are wondering how they'll fare alone in an election battle against a well-organized machine.

It is a fact that Mayor Nadeau does not feel in favor of the CAL as, time and time again, he has fought a CAL proposal and has come out in public against the organization.

Some aldermen agreed with the mayor.

When Mr. Berard opened his campaign last week, he called the two CAL aldermen, Hilaire Beliveau and Romeo Quintal, scap-hunters.

He said Mr. Beliveau blindly agrees with everything Mr. Quintal proposes.

Now, there are four CAL members on city council.

The implications could be a formation of two camps around the council table.

Civic Action League gains fourth seat

The Civic Action League gained its fourth aldermanic seat yesterday when one of its members, Marc Bureau, defeated Gerard Berard by a majority of 51 votes to become the new South Ward alderman.

Both Mr. Berard and the new alderman remarked that the 34 per cent population vote was too low and City Hall speculators said last night the decision was not a true verdict.

A number of aldermen were on hand at City Hall last night when both the winner and loser of the election made their appearances and they all remarked that the people in Sherbrooke lack a sincere interest in municipal politics.

There were five polls set up yesterday in the South Ward to accommodate its 1,596 voters.

The results started coming in to Henri - Paul Emond's office at City Hall only 10 minutes after the polls closed at 7 p.m.

Poll No. 5, located at 380 Laurier Street gave its results first, and Marc Bureau was ahead by eight votes, 62 to 54.

Then Poll No. 1's results were returned, and Mr. Emond, the city clerk, acting as returning officer last night, read this poll's results as follows: 42 for Mr. Berard and 36 for Mr. Bureau.

Poll No. 1 was located at the Public Market on Grandes Fourches Street.

Poll No. 3, located at 412 Min-

Street, extended Mr. Bureau's slim majority, resulting in 55 votes for him and 45 for Mr. Berard.

Poll No. 2 on Gordon Street padded Mr. Bureau's majority by eight votes as the results were Bureau 67 votes, Berard 59.

Mr. Bureau's majority was now just 19 votes and the last results, to be returned from Poll No. 4, were delayed.

Aldermen Everett Nicol, Robert Gauthier and Tony Pinard were anxiously waiting for this last poll's results.

About 15 minutes after the previously returned poll's results were in, the telephone rang and it was announced that Bureau had 78 votes and Berard 54 in Poll No. 4, giving Mr. Bureau the biggest majority of any poll.

The total votes entered yesterday were 545 of a possible 1,596.

Mr. Bureau got 298 votes and Mr. Berard 247.

Mr. Berard, who has been South Ward Alderman since 1964, got one vote in a provisional poll set up at City Hall.

When Mr. Berard came into City Hall after hearing the results, his colleagues shook his hand and he said, "we tried."

He came only five minutes before Mr. Bureau entered with his wife and three children.

Mr. Bureau told reporters he had ideas and projects but he would have to "study" and learn before he could divulge any information.

He said teamwork helped him get in.

Pleads not guilty of deer trapping

Roland Bissonette, of Chartierville, changed his plea from guilty to not guilty in Court of Sessions yesterday on charges of setting a trap with a loaded firearm and hunting deer out of the legal season.

Two weeks ago, Bissonette's nephew was injured in both legs by a bullet fired from a rifle whose trigger was attached to a suspended wire.

The youth yanked on the wire, which was behind the accused's hunting cabin, and the gun went off, the bullet going through one thigh and lodging in the other.

Bissonette had previously pleaded guilty to the charges but he changed his mind yesterday.

Judge Benoit Turmel fixed the accused's bail at $1,000 cash or $2,000 property value.

He asked for a trial by judge and jury, to be preceded by a preliminary hearing.

He will appear pro forma on October 10.

Jean-Guy Morin, of South

Hadley, Massachusetts, changed his plea from not guilty to guilty on a charge of driving without a permit and without car registration forms.

He was fined $10 and costs or three days in jail.

Charles E. Legault, 33, of Ville St. Michel, pleaded not guilty to a charge of impaired driving.

He will appear pro forma on October 10 and was granted bail of $100 cash or $300 property value.

He was arrested October 2 on the ET Autoroute by autoroute police officers.

Oxfam walkathon bug bites Bishop's

Two Bishop's University students bitten by the Oxfam walkathon bug over the weekend, have launched a whirlwind campaign geared to send fellow students on a return Lennoxville to North Hatley stroll Saturday.

The university student walk will tie in with a Stanstead to Magog jaunt led by veteran Oxfam "tripper" Lynne White.

Both walks will begin at 9 a.m., and cover approximately 20 miles.

The Bishop's University walkathon is being organized by third year General Arts student Ron Taylor and Miss Susan Edwards, a freshette General Arts student.

Miss Edwards and Mr. Taylor starting penciling out initial walkathon plans and publicity posters yesterday.

Miss Edwards said they had hoped to accompany the Stanstead to Magog walkers but realized this would involve stiff expenses for bus rentals.

Miss Edwards added that it would be easier to obtain sponsors from Lennoxville and Hatley than more distant localities such as Stanstead and Magog.

Miss White has thrown her moral support to the "sister walk" and phoned Montreal Oxfam headquarters yesterday to send about 200 sponsorship forms to Miss Edwards who is filling the role of the walkathon co-ordinator. Mr. Taylor is in charge of fund collection.

Miss Edwards said the student body will be told of the walkathon this evening during a scheduled movie. Further announcements will be made at different on-campus activities Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The Sherbrooke YM-YWCA has joined the mushrooming interest in walkathons throughout the Eastern Townships. Co-ordinator George Quick, an English-born walker who has entered a number of competitions, said the walk is earmarked for the middle of the month.

The route hasn't been mapped out yet. Mr. Quick said all funds will go to the Y World Service — an international organization which provides children with food, clothing and education.

On the Stanstead to Magog walkathon front, Miss White said yesterday all of the 190 boys attending Stanstead College will each sponsor her for a one cent a mile — but they have opted out of joining her for the Saturday jaunt.

Miss White expects to arrive in Magog about 2 p.m. She will start out from the Sunnyside High School court yard with fellow walkers.

Miss White said she has picked up a few Stanstead sponsors, several from Sherbrooke and one in Magog.

Some 37 gung - ho students from Ayer's Cliff indicated they will join the Stanstead to Magog walk, and another 15 to 20 students from Sunnyside High School have said they are willing to slog away the miles for Oxfam.

Miss White said she has mailed sponsorship forms to both groups. She stressed that cars are needed to patrol the walkathon route to aid any foot-weary travellers and also to provide return transportation from Ma-gog.

Her office number is 514-243-6454. She will be at this Knowledge number until Friday noon.

Miss White quipped yesterday morning that she intends walking the three miles from her family's farm just outside of Stanstead to the starting point Saturday morning.

The actual route follows highway number 5 to the Ayer's Cliff turnoff. If then swings onto route 22 through Ayer's Cliff and then onto Magog.

Miss White suggested walkers should pack a lunch of sandwiches and wear a pair of canvas-type shoes with thick rubber soles.

School Fair trophy won by Coaticook girl

COATICOOK — On Sept. 20 in the Auditorium of the Coaticook High School the principal, Mr. Stark, gave out the names of the students who won prizes at the School Fair held recently at Ayer's Cliff, and congratulated the students.

Miss June Gosselin received the trophy, with 22 points.

A short program, put on by the students of the school, included a song, Three Little Kittens by Grade II and Tiny Butons, sung by Liane Mayhew, Sandra Patterson, R. Lepitre and Wayne Howitt.

Square dancing was put on by Grade IV, a song, Waltzing Matilda was done by Grade IV and a piano solo was given by Diana Paquette.

Sound of Music was rendered by Grade VIII, a piano solo by Carole Johann, and a senior group square dancing was by Grade VII. The song, Michael Row the Boat Ashore, Alleluia was by Grade V.

She added that sneakers are not practical on long walks.

Jean-Jacques Bertrand gives Quebec new hope

The selection of Jean-Jacques Bertrand as Premier of Quebec will be received with satisfaction by residents of the Eastern Townships and particularly by the citizens of the County of Missisquoi which he had represented in the Legislative Assembly for the past 20 years.

His assumption of the Premiership should go far toward strengthening the already close relations between the provincial government and the Eastern Townships established during the administration of the late Daniel Johnson, a native of Richmond County who always maintained close personal links with this district.

With the advent of Mr. Bertrand as head of the Quebec government a new era may be opening in the relations of this province to the rest of Canada.

He is known as a strong supporter of federalism, believing that the French-Canadian people could best advance their interests by strengthening Canada as a whole, although maintaining that vital reforms are needed to bring the Canadian constitution in line with the times.

One of the most reform-minded of the Union Nationale cabinet ministers he pressed forward the educational changes initiated by the Liberals and worked for the modernization of the system of justice and law-enforcement.

Representing a bilingual constituency it is not surprising that the new Premier is a strong supporter of minority rights and one of his strongest desires has been to improve the links between the party he now heads and the English-language community.

Perhaps his greatest disadvantage is the very thing that should be considered the strong point — intellectual honesty and moderation.

Lacking the excessive zeal of the super-partizan he may find his leadership challenged by the more extreme elements in his own party, a development that might prevent the adoption of many of the policies he so hopes will work for the advantage of Quebec and its people.

The emu, one of the largest of birds, fits easily into one of the smallest spaces in the crossword puzzle.

Crime out of control

Sympathy and understanding may be felt for the Montreal district police over their failure to solve any of the rash of underworld murders which are plaguing the metropolitan area — at least 26 having occurred so far this year.

For obvious reasons it is difficult to find witnesses willing to give evidence that would assist in the arrest and successful prosecution of those responsible for the murder epidemic.

And without this evidence it is difficult for the authorities to make a case.

But many people will hold the opinion that the law-enforcement authorities are to a great extent to blame for the position in which they find themselves.

If police spokesmen are to be believed, the murders are part of a campaign by rival gangs to gain control over the various phases of underworld activity.

The question that immediately comes to mind is how this illegal commerce reached the point where the profits were substantial enough to justify wholesale murder without interference by the authorities.

Neither of the obvious answers reflects much credit on law-enforcement agencies.

One is that the police at all levels were ignorant of the build-up of the crime empires for which the bloody battle for control is being waged. This option indicates stupidity and incompetence.

Or for reasons best known to themselves the authorities were willing to turn a blind eye to the build-up until it has become out of hand.

A protest-type acquaintance of ours objects to being arrested for anything.

Fears hunting season

Wife praises farmers who saved her husband

Dear Sir:

As I watched and waited intently for television news reports on Senator Kennedy's gunshot wounds, I could not help remembering my own experience when in November 1966, my husband and father of my sons was in critical condition for approximately three weeks as a result of a bullet injury.

Being an ardent hunter, he would go into the woods every spare minute during the hunting season and the fall previously, he was accidentally shot in the region of the head and face with "bird-shot". Pellets pierced through to the bone and surgery was necessary to remove them. Fortunately, his eyes were not damaged as he could have been blinded for life. I felt that this incident should have dimmed his desire to hunt but being of a nature that he seldom worries decided that it was a freak accident and would not repeat itself.

The following fall against my inner wishes, he prepared for a weekend at a friend's camp to participate in a "deer-drive". At the time, he was manager of an up-coming finance company, working to the point of exhaustion so I tried not to worry and felt the change of atmosphere would be good for him. I willingly prepared his food supplies while he was getting the necessary equipment in order. He put on his red plaid hunting jacket and with gun in hand said "see you tomorrow afternoon around five o'clock." Jokingly, I called out "don't you dare get shot or fit you do, don't bother coming back to me." With that remark, he grinned and took a large bullet from his pocket and replied "If I get it with this, I sure as hell won't be back."

The following afternoon, I slowly prepared Sunday supper and when it reached five o'clock we decided to eat even though he had not arrived. While we were eating, the door bell rang and my husband's brother and his wife stood in the entrance in an uncomfortable manner. My brother-in-law trying to be as gentle as possible told me of the accident and was optimistic with the fact that my husband was in a conscious state upon his arrival at the hospital. Realizing, that obviously he was mistaken for a deer and the type of wound it would be, I felt utter panic. After the accident, his intestines literally came out of his body. Upon hearing this, I had little hope for his survival.

My sons, who were four and nine years old at the time did not realize the seriousness of their father's accident, so I was able to depart for the hospital without too much confusion. When I arrived there, my husband was in surgery and I was told it would be a long operation and that I may as well wait at home until it was over. I was given a tranquilizer which took the edge off the anxiety for the next few hours.

Finally, we received word that my husband was still alive. With this information, I had a glimmer of hope. I went immediately to the hospital and spoke with the surgeon and he gave me the nature of the injury saying that the bullet had penetrated the right side of the back and ejected through the left side of the abdomen causing extensive damage to the small and large intestines and a slight abrasion to the liver. Surgery had to be terminated before completion and a colostomy performed as blood pressure readings were dangerously low. I was told that the second operation would take place within a fourteen-day period. The forthcoming events proved that it would not be all that simple.

There was not too much change during the night, he had awakened once and asked if I had been notified. In the early morning, his condition had deteriorated drastically. A combination of unexplained internal bleeding with blood pressure dropping steadily had caused post-operative shock and the next forty-eight hours would be extremely critical. A heart specialist was summoned and with attending physicians around his bedside, my husband was pulled through. During that morning, he was unable to speak and I was doubtful as to whether he recognized me but in the afternoon there was slight improvement. He said faintly, "Well, I guess I'm going to make it after all."

After the third day, I asked the doctors if at last I could have definite hope of my husband's recovery and once again a catastrophe. They told me that it was unlikely for a relapse of shock but there was possibility of gangrene as the bowels were seriously damaged with third degree skin burns. If this had been the case, he would not have survived. Large abscesses formed and a blood clot lodged in his lung which extended the fourteen-day period to seven weeks for the bowel re-section. This period had an extremely depressing effect on his morale as he is a fastidious type of person and he could not accept the fact that he was unable to function normally for the time being.

My children and I spent Christmas alone, although we managed to install a small tree and tried to have a happy spirit in our home, there was such an empty feeling. The day before New Year's, my husband returned home in a dreadful weak and nervous state of health. The previous seven weeks had certainly taken its toll. For four days, he seemed to be without too much discomfort but on the fifth day he complained of intense cramps. As it became increasingly worse, he had to be taken back to the hospital in an ambulance as an emergency case. His bowels had knotted and the extreme pain was causing the heart to become very irregular and rapid. With this turn of events, I began to have nervous symptoms of choking and numbness in my hands. I was hospitalized for a short period but it was imperative to get home to my sons as soon as possible as my four-year-old was failing rapidly. There were definite signs of weakness and loss of weight so I made an appointment with our pediatrician and the diagnosis was "diabetes". Before an onset of coma, he was hospitalized and given insulin intravenously. Daily injections of insulin and a properly balanced diet will be his treatment for the duration of his life. This blow was almost unbelievable as there was absolutely no history of such a disease on either side of our families. Now my task was to notify my husband who was still in the hospital. His attitude was one of gratefulness that it was a disease which could be controlled and that his life had been spared to cope with our new problem.

We owe our thanks to the farmers who painstakingly made a stretcher out of branches and who succeeded in getting him out of the woods on a tractor, the doctor who hastily made arrangements at the hospital for his arrival and of course to the surgeons who performed what they considered "hopeless surgery". But above all, thank God that he had the mental and physical strength to endure it all.

Every fall, at the beginning of the hunting season, I wonder how many lives will be lost. When will an end come to this unnecessary loss of life? Does the answer lie in stricter gun laws? My husband's opinion is that the answer is within the hunter himself. He should observe closely before pulling the trigger. If hunting is to remain a desirable sport, the accident rate will have to decline. It will be a decision of the sportsman himself to use caution while in the woods with a loaded gun in his hands. Then and only then will our woods be a safer place for the people who participate in this sport.

(Mrs.) Constance Girard Magee.

COMMENT

Lubor J. Zink

OTTAWA — (TNS) — Three decades ago occupation of Czechoslovakia was the last of a series of preludes to world conflagration.

Is it conceivable that history could repeat itself?

Practically without exception, diplomats, politicians, editorialists and other opinion moulders say: No, it can't happen.

I wish they were right.

Unfortunately, the very same people who are so cocksure that Russia won't invade the Federal Republic of Germany, no matter what the Moscow propagandists may be saying, were equally convinced only a few weeks ago that Russia wouldn't invade Czechoslovakia.

Warsaw Pact

It is, of course, possible to argue — and that argument is very popular right now — that there is a great difference between the occupation of a Warsaw Pact country by Warsaw Pact troops and a move by these troops across the dividing line in Europe against a member of the Atlantic Alliance.

It's a valid and serious argument if one assumes that the hardliners in the Kremlin who ordered the invasion of Czechoslovakia are rational men who realize that military intervention in West Germany would automatically trigger a world war.

I personally don't see how, after Aug. 20, such an assumption can be made with any degree of certainty.

After what happened last month no one can be sure that to the men in the Kremlin rationality means the same thing the term denotes to us.

There can be little doubt that, from their point of view, the invasion of Czechoslovakia was not only a perfectly rational but also an absolutely necessary move. Bearing this in mind, how can anyone rule out the possibility that they may see the hinted military intervention in West Germany in exactly the same way?

Granted that even the most distorted mind in the Kremlin cannot possibly overlook or brush aside as unimportant the vast difference between the international position of Czechoslovakia and West Germany. But this need not necessarily be an unsurmountable obstacle to identical action.

For years Communist propaganda has been portraying the Federal Republic of Germany as an increasingly dangerous hotbed of "neo-Nazism". This well-orchestrated effort, which often got powerful assistance from non-Communist information media, found fertile soil in the residue of anti-German feelings in Western Europe and North America.

Embarrassing partner

The result is that even in the NATO countries many people regard the federal republic not only as a dubious and embarrassing partner in the Western system of collective security, but find it emotionally inconceivable that a situation might arise in which they would be called upon to defend a former enemy against a former ally.

It is this confusion Soviet propaganda is endeavoring to exploit for an unopposed military move which it is trying to portray as a necessary peace-saving intervention in West Germany.

First man on moon will fall on his face

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — An astronaut's first action after setting foot on the moon probably won't be to make a speech or plant a flag or even comment on the view.

More than likely, many U.S. space officials believe, the first thing he'll do is to flat fall on his face.

Space physicians and lunar environment experts say that because of a difference in gravity and because of the bulky, cumbersome suits they must wear, the first astronauts on the moon will be pathetically clumsy creatures.

A miscalculation may turn their simple step into a dangerous bound. If an astronaut leans over to touch the lunar soil, he probably will pitch forward. Or, should he fall on his back, he may lie there thrashing, like an inverted turtle, before he's able to regain his feet.

UNUSED TO GRAVITY

The problem simply is that the human body is not designed for the lunar surface. Man is accustomed to the full gravitational pull in which he developed. And, because the moon is an airless desert being hit constantly by micrometeorites, man must carry with him an artificial earth atmosphere and protection from an alien environment.

For the United States' first two moon visitors, their needs outside the spacecraft will be met by 250 pounds of equipment called the extravehicular mobility unit. This includes a space suit, overshoes, visors and a back pack containing oxygen, a coolant system, controls and communications equipment.

He may not notice the weight—since the moon's gravity is one-sixth that of earth—but the suit will still make him clumsy and slow-moving, says William O. Kineade, a member of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration crew systems division team.

The restraint of his portable environment is only part of the mobility problems an astronaut will face on the moon. His biggest battle may be with the moon's low gravitational field.

Outline developments in teachers' talks

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — A. McGerrigle, vice-president of the Quebec Association of Protestant School Boards, explained the negotiations that have been carried on between the La Federation des Commission Catholiques du Quebec, The Quebec Association of Protestant School Boards, and the Province of Quebec, and the teachers, at a meeting held at the Cowansville High School, September 30.

Mr. McGerrigle was introduced by M. Cedric Mooney, Chairman of the District of Bedford Regional School Board. Approximately 50 people attended the meeting and Gerry Neilson, General Secretary of the Quebec Association of Protestant School Boards, answered questions from the floor.

The main area of dispute once again was in the area of acquired rights in the field of time off for sickness. The present coverage allows a teacher full salary from the date of sickness. The health insurance plan that has been offered to the teachers calls for payment of benefits from the first day in the case of an accident and from the third day in case of sickness.

The teachers are unhappy with the proposed work load, and have asked that functions outside the classroom, such as secretarial work and attendance functions, be considered supplementary work units. If such a plan was approved, the cost would exceed the $91 million dollar wage increase that could be implemented over a three-year period, if the contract is signed.

One other area that indicated the disquietude of the teachers is the Union's demand that they can suspend a teacher for disciplinary reasons, and thus cancel their professional status throughout the province, effectively cutting off their income.

The QAPSB hope that these meetings that are being held will enlighten the tax payers on the problems encountered in the present negotiations that have been going on full time since July 1967, in hopes of averting a strike that could start as early as October 16.

Will play dart games

MANSONVILLE — (Special) — The Round Top Dart League expects to play the season's first games on Oct. 8. There are at the present time, eight teams in the League: Glenfon, Glen Sutton, Horizon and Canadian Legion both of Sutton; Vic's Grill, Roger's Grill, American Legion, all three of Richford, Vt.; Mansonville and Prince of Wales of Abercorn.

On Oct. 8 the teams will play as follows: Glenfon versus Sutton Legion; Horizon of Sutton against Prince of Wales; Vic's Grill versus Richford Legion and Mansonville against Roger's Grill. The host team in all cases, is the first team named.

Give nod to Bertrand

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — A sampling of Cowansville residents indicated that they felt that their member Jean-Jacques Bertrand would be a provincially popular choice as a replacement for the late Daniel Johnson.

The consensus of opinion was that Mr. Bertrand has been the bridesmaid too long, and that he should be given an opportunity to show his mettle as provincial premier.

A surprisingly large number of the group of over 70 interviewed said that they felt the Levesque movement would come close to devastating the Liberals in the next provincial election, and that a moderate head of the Union Nationale, such as Mr. Bertrand, is the only hope in keeping Quebec within Canada, and averting economic chaos.

Two keen observers of the local political scene suggested Mr. Bertrand might be willing to accept the premiership on a temporary basis, until such time as a party caucus can be held to select a new party leader.

One person compared Mr. Bertrand to the chap who had been the assistant-general manager of a company for more than enough years, and when pushed and asked why he had never accepted the general managership said "I've been here for years, know the operation inside out, and when all runs well nobody complains and when the going gets rough the general manager gets blamed. Furthermore, with my seniority I earn more than most of the general managers."

Most people replied that they did not feel that Mr. Bertrand was this type of man when told of the analogy. None of the group interviewed would state that they had are among the minority in Missisquoi, but one was left with separatist tendencies, which the feeling that the road to Canadian unity is still quite bumpy.

Explains new school plan

By JOHN McCAGHEY
(Record Staff Reporter)

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — Malek Hanna, Director General of the District of Bedford Regional School Board, was pleased to outline some of the plans which are to be carried out in preparation for setting up classes in the new composite high school, due to open here next year.

Mr. Hanna said "The course to be followed in implementing these plans should be of the greatest possible benefit to the boys and girls of our district."

"In preparation for the opening of the new regional school a program of testing is being organized for all the students in the district," Mr. Hanna said. The tests will be given between October 7 and November 14.

The chief objectives of the testing program are to determine the ability and achievement of every student in order that the school administrators may advise students and parents in the selection of the most suitable courses.

The DAT (differential aptitude tests) results will be interpreted to students and parents in late November or December.

Department heads are paying weekly visits to all secondary schools in the district. The objectives of these visits is to co-ordinate all teaching in all the high schools; to give advice to all teachers in their departments; to provide teaching aids and supplies wherever they are needed.

As a result of these visits, the Regional Board, on the recommendation of the Director-General, has authorized the establishment of an in-service program for the teaching of the new mathematics.

Negotiations are presently underway to secure the services of an experienced mathematics professor to give a course to all mathematics teachers under the jurisdiction of the regional board.

This has the advantage of providing in-service training during the school year, instead of sending teachers to courses in higher educational institutions during the summer vacation. The board will consider giving other courses as the need arises.

Vance Patterson, the Coordinator of Elementary Education has been visiting schools in this area, and advising boards on the problems concerning elementary education. It is expected that Regulation I will be implemented in all the regions' elementary schools.

Mr. Hanna reported that there are 280 registrations in the adult education program. Fourteen courses are in progress: Bedford 4; Cowansville 4; Knowlton 4; Waterloo 2.

It is hoped, with the authorization of the Department of Education, to add courses in agriculture, and a full-time grade nine course.

Mr. Hanna reported that construction of the new school is progressing at a satisfactory rate, and should be open for classes in September 1969.

Drug effects described

OTTAWA (CP) — LSD and marijuana and their effects are described in two consumer memos from the consumer division of the food and drug directorate of the department of national health and welfare.

The monthly memos are part of the directorate's public information program. They are usually concerned with passing along facts about the normal use of and regulations covering the sale of more mundane food and drug products.

Dr. A. C. Hardman, acting deputy director-general of the directorate, says the LSD and marijuana fact sheets were issued because of a number of requests from parents worried about drugs and from students who need accurate background information for essays.

They describe what marijuana and LSD are, what they look like, some of the slang used to refer to them.

Copies are available from the Food and Drug Directorate, Department of National Health and Welfare, Tunney's Pasture, Ottawa 3, Ont.

Macdivitt-Wilder marriage

AYER'S CLIFF — The marriage of Mildred Ida, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wilder, Massawippi, Que., to Pte. David Ellis Macdivitt, of Germany, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Macdivitt, Sherbrooke, Que., took place at 2:30 p.m., August 31, 1968, at Beulah United Church, Ayer's Cliff. Rev. Ralph Rogers officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. Gordon Shipway, Massawippi, played the wedding music and the soloist was Mrs. Roland Olson, of North Hatley. Multicolored gladioli were used in decorating the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of nylon sheer over taffeta featuring a lace bodice and detachable train. She carried a cascade bouquet of red carnations and white stephanotis.

Mrs. Sidney Keeble, matron-of-honor, chose a dress of Chantilly lace over jade green peau de soie, with white hat and she carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

The Misses Meta Smith and Winnie Wilder were in dresses of yellow peau de soie fashioned with lace yokes, they wore white hats and carried bouquets of shasta daisies.

Flower girls, Sherri Campbell and Ann Macdivitt, wore matching blue dresses and carried baskets of shasta daisies.

The ring bearer was Duncan Campbell. Mr. Douglas Raymond acted as best man and the ushers were Messrs. Sidney Keeble and Clayton Wilder.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. Wilder, was in an aqua dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of white mums.

Mrs. Macdivitt, the groom's mother, wore a dress of gold and bronze brocade with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Following the ceremony a reception, catered by the U.C.W., was held in the United Church Hall, Ayer's Cliff, which was decorated for the occasion with pink and white wedding bells and streamers. The bride's table was centered with the wedding cake, arrangements of sweetpeas completing the table decor.

Later, the couple left on a wedding trip to New Hampshire and Vermont, the bride travelling in a yellow suit with white accessories.

Guests attended from Ulverton, Richmond, Rock Island, Magog, Sherbrooke, North Hatley and the surrounding district.

Pte. and Mrs. Macdivitt will reside in Germany.

Leads to juvenile delinquency

VANCOUVER (CP) — A University of British Columbia professor says speech and hearing impediments can lead to juvenile delinquency.

Dr. John Gilbert, assistant professor in UBC's pediatric department, said in an interview it is extremely important that children with speech and hearing defects be diagnosed and treated as early as possible.

He said that most children with speech problems grow out of them by the age of 12 or 13, but this is often far too late. These children will already have experienced difficulty in learning to read and in communicating with other children.

Dr. Gilbert said recent surveys in Oakalla provincial jail indicate that 83 per cent of the inmates have reading difficulties.

"We depend on reading as much as we do on speech after the age of seven," said the professor.

Bracelets save lives

By JEAN SHARP
CP Women's Editor

TORONTO (CP) — A Hamilton woman who had a heart attack in Toronto was told later by hospital personnel that her bracelet saved her life.

A California man who had a fishing accident in British Columbia says he got extra-fast attention at a clinic in Nelson because a nurse spotted his bracelet.

Both are Medic-Alert members whose bracelets or necklace marked with the ancient medical symbol of the red serpent and staff and letters spelling Medic-Alert tell medical personnel they have a problem, and what it is.

Heart patients wear them, diabetics, epileptics, people with allergies, contact lenses, special blood types, hemophilia, glaucoma. Anyone who has a chronic health problem a doctor should know about in an emergency might be glad to have the identification.

The Medic-Alert Foundation was begun in 1956 by Dr. Marion Collins, a California surgeon whose daughter had nearly died because of her allergy to tetanus antitoxin.

MAGOG — The marriage of Barbara Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Pott, Magog, to Mr. George Allan Finlay, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Finlay, Elora, Ont., took place recently at St. Patrick's Church, in Magog, Que. Rev. Herve Vail officiated at the ceremony and the organist was Mrs. J. P. Gosselin.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white floor-length gown of nylon organza over taffeta, with a white organza chapel train edged with lace daisies; the bodice being appliqued with lace and seed pearls. Her veil of tulle illusion was held by a cluster of pearled white organza leaves and she carried a single red rose with greenery.

Miss Mary Finlay, Montreal, sister of the groom, as maid of honor, was in an empire floor-length gown of pale yellow peau de soie appliqued with white daisies and she wore daisies in her hair.

The bridesmaids, Miss Jene Flynn, Newburg, N.Y., and Miss Heather Pott, of Magog, aunt of the bride, wore orchid gowns and headresses similar to that of the maid of honor and carried colonial bouquets of white daisies.

Mr. Steven Finlay, Bagotville, Que., brother of the groom, was best man. Randy Finlay, Elora, Ont., also a brother of the groom and David Pott, Trois Rivières, brother of the bride, were ushers.

Mrs. Pott, mother of the bride, wore a pale blue silk knit jacket dress with matching pill box hat and navy accessories. Her corsage was of pale pink rosebuds.

Mrs. W. C. Finlay, the groom's mother, chose an apple green dress of lace over crepe with beige accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds.

Mrs. Charles Mercer, Sydney, N.S., maternal grandmother, wore a burgundy two-piece lace suit with white accessories and corsage of yellow carnations.

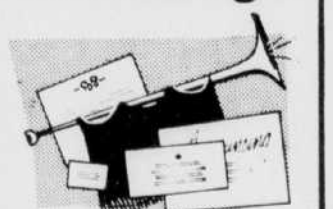

Mrs. M. H. Saar, Victoria, B.C., paternal grandmother was in a cream shantung two-piece ensemble with matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink and white carnations.

Following the reception, held at the Chateau de Lac, the couple left on a motor trip to New Hampshire, the bride travelling in a multi-colored print dress with matching voile print coat.

Guests were from Victoria, B.C.; Elora, Ont.; Trois Rivières, Que.; Montreal, Que.; Sydney, N.S.; St. Bruno, Que.; Bagotville, Que. and Newburg, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Finlay have taken up residence in Ottawa, Ont.

Charles A. Cadieux

Richard C. Pilon

Mr. Harold J. McPhail, President of F. W. Woolworth Company Limited, announced today the appointment of Mr. Charles A. Cadieux, to the position of Vice President of the Canadian Woolworth Company, and the appointment of Mr. Richard C. Pilon, to the position of Director of Sales of the Canadian Woolworth Company.

Mr. Cadieux, a native of Montreal, started with the company in 1923, and served in a number of executive positions. He is presently the General Manager of Woolco Department Store Division.

Mr. Pilon began his career with the Woolworth Company in 1955, and comes to his new duties from the position of Montreal District Manager, including the cities of St. Jerome and Repentigny.

Says Quebec family is Trudeau's family

QUEBEC (CP) — Some comments made by Quebec's new premier, Jean-Jacques Bertrand, during his 20-year career as a Union Nationale member of the legislative assembly:

—To Prime Minister Trudeau, received by Union Nationale MLAs Sept. 29 before the open coffin of the late Premier Daniel Johnson:

"Pierre, you have just met the Quebec family that toils for Quebecers and for French-Canadians. It is your family and it is our family."

—On a speech made by his nationalist cabinet colleague, Jean-Noel Tremblay, who advocated elimination of "official collective bilingualism," Sept. 18:

"You don't play around with acquired rights."

—On education, May 30, 1967:

"The Quebec government, elaborating a policy of participation at all levels, wants to build a modern state really responding to the needs of the mass of people without, however, treading on the rights of anyone."

RESPECT RIGHTS

—On human rights, May 21, 1967:

"I want, by all means possible, to promote the common good of the whole Quebec society, guarantee absolute respect for rights of the human person and facilitate the free exercise of these rights in the limit permitted by the common good."

—In announcing his candidacy for the Union Nationale leadership Aug. 13, 1961:

"My candidacy is an act of faith in the renewal that I wish for and that I want, an act of faith especially in democracy and the principles of liberty and responsibility."

—On patronage, Aug. 13, 1961:

"The common good demands that all citizens be treated equally before the law and no government should merit the popular confidence without making serious guarantees to respect this principle."

Lesage sends wishes to the new premier

QUEBEC (CP) — Opposition leader Jean Lesage said Thursday he learned "with pleasure" of the swearing-in of Jean-Jacques Bertrand as Quebec's 21st premier.

In a telegram to Mr. Bertrand, Mr. Lesage, former Liberal premier, said:

"Please accept my congratulations and best wishes for success in the accomplishment of your very heavy responsibilities. I assure you of the opposition's co-operation any time Quebec's interests are in question."

Mr. Bertrand succeeds Daniel Johnson who died last Thursday.

To back French

MONTREAL (CP) — Dollard Mathieu, president of the Montreal branch of the St. Jean Baptiste Society, said Wednesday the society will be more aggressive than ever in promoting French as Quebec's official language.

Mr. Mathieu told a news conference that one of the society's main goals is the establishment of a single language system of education in Quebec.

He said this policy would accommodate both English-speaking pupils and new Canadians but would prepare all for work in a French-language province.

He said other points the society will stress are the integration of new Quebecers into the French community and the adoption of an "associate state" status for the province.

Mr. Mathieu said a brief to the provincial government is being prepared for early 1969 which will emphasize Quebec's right to self-determination and sovereignty.

School commissioners are re-elected

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

At a general meeting of the electors of the School Municipality of Sherbrooke, held according to law, in the office of the school board on Tuesday, October 1st, 1968 from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, the retiring commissioners Donald Jones and Gordon MacMillan were re-elected by acclamation to a three year term as commissioners of the Protestant School Board.

Mr. MacMillan is also a commissioner of the Eastern Townships Regional School Board, being a representative from the local board.

The next election to the Sherbrooke Protestant School Board will take place in 1969 when the term of Dr. James Ross expires. Dr. Ross was appointed in August 1968 to complete the term of Dr. John Silny who resigned due to the pressure of his work at the Sherbrooke Hospital and as lecturer at the University of Sherbrooke.

Other present members of the Protestant School Board are Commissioner C. Lorne Campbell, chairman, and Jeffrey Wilson, vice - chairman, whose term of office expires in 1970.

Every bridge expert when cornered will break down and admit that he is one of the greatest men in the world when it comes to a two-way queen location problem.

The theory is that some sort of clue is always available to increase chance, from 50 per cent to something a lot higher in favor of finding it.

Today's hand is an invention of English expert Terence Reese. If you run off your tricks in spades, diamonds and clubs, you may find out that East started with four hearts and West with three. That increases declarer's odds to four to three but this time the queen is in the hand with only three hearts.

Reese adds some zest to the problem by saying you are playing in a pair tournament against two elderly ladies you have never seen before. It is a master's event, so you know that they are good players. Now, how do you play the hand?

There is no guarantee to go with the line of play that Reese suggests, but it is most ingenious.

Lead a club to your hand, then play the jack of spades. Go up with dummy's ace, return to your hand with a second club and lead the jack of hearts.

West is going to react some way or other to the lead of the jack of spades. He will also react to the lead of the jack of hearts. If you get the same reaction, just play East for the queen of hearts. If you get materially different reactions, play West for that card. At the worst, you are betting even money. At the best, you will have a sure thing going for you.

Apollos face Beavers tonight at 8:30 p.m. at Sports Palace

Jim Beckman became the 12th man to sign with the Sherbrooke Beavers for the 1968-69 campaign, announced Real Veilleux, club general manager, last evening.

Beckman, a veteran Quebec Senior Hockey League right winger, scored 26 goals and 30 assists for a total of 56 points last season with the Beavers. Beckman is also well known for his baseball ability having played this past season with the Thetford Miners of the Provincial Baseball League. He is 30 years old.

Jean Levesque, veteran Beavers' defenseman, surprised many local hockey enthusiasts last night when he showed up at the Beavers training camp. Levesque could not say whether he will or will not be in a Sherbrooke uniform this year.

Tonight, at the Sports Palace at 8:30 p.m., the Sherbrooke Beavers will play host to the Houston Apollos. Houston is the principal franchise of the Montreal Canadiens of the NHL. This will be the second time that the visiting Central Pro League team will play in the Sports Palace.

Sunday night the Apollos will meet the Philadelphia Flyers at the Sports Palace. Simon Nolet, whose hockey started with the Beavers, will be in a Flyers' uniform for the game. This should be a treat for both Simon and Sherbrooke fans.

FOR TONIGHT

Defensively for the Beavers tonight, Robidas, Tessier, Lampson, Foster, Maltais and Langlois will line up along the blue line.

Coach Cline has indicated that his first line will be Sara-Bourne, Lafond and Rene Pepin. His second line will be made up of Hurtubise, Bouchard and Haines. His third line will be Bergeron, Lacoste and Beckman with Synder and possibly Eastman as spares.

Bill Dupre, now sidelined with a back injury, will not see action tonight. The injury, suffered in the Beavers' first exhibition tilt of the season against the Kansas City Blues, is healing and Coach Cline does not want to take any chances before the regular campaign starts.

Robert "Bob" Lepage, ex-Drummondville Eagles defenseman, will play for Houston tonight. Al McNeil will be behind the Apollos bench.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Just as he did last year, St. Louis' Bob Gibson has turned a potentially great pitching duel into a one-sided affair and confronted the opposition with the problem of finding another road to a World Series victory.

Gibson, who dominated his seventh game match with Boston's Jim Lonborg last year, struck out a Series record 17 and allowed just five hits as the Cardinals won Wednesday's opener with a 4-0 decision over Denny McLain and Detroit Tigers.

The 32-year-old right-hander so overwhelmed the Tigers—he permitted two men on base in only one inning—that they may be faced with the problem of how to lose to Gibson and still win the Series.

Mickey Lolich was the Detroit starter for today's second game, and Earl Wilson is manager Mayo Smith's choice for game No. 3 in Detroit Saturday.

Thus Lolich and Wilson have the task of trying to do to Nelson Briles and Ray Washburn what Gibson did to McLain.

McLain, meanwhile, had the problem of getting over his anger following Wednesday's loss. Smith pulled the 31-game winner for a pinch hitter in the sixth inning.

MAY RAISE ISSUE

Asked if he might talk to his manager about it, McLain replied: "I just may do that."

Gibson struck out seven of the first nine batters he faced, then eclipsed Sandy Koufax' Series record of 15 strikeouts by fanning the side in the ninth.

The victory also was his sixth straight complete game triumph in Series play, and that meant two more marks—a share of the record for six straight victories and sole ownership of the mark for consecutive complete game victories.

Gibson, however, wasn't the only asset the Cardinals displayed in the first game. They stole three bases in four attempts, and Lou Brock had only one of them. Julian Javier and Curt Flood got the others, which is another thing Detroit must worry about.

At the same time, though, Smith was rewarded for his bold experiment of playing center fielder Mickey Stanley at short in order to get Al Kaline into the lineup. Stanley played er Pat Dobson for a homer in the seventh.

"I just had real bad control," McLain said. "There's nothing else I can say. It probably was the worst rhythm I've had in a long time."

Despite the outcome, Smith plans to send McLain against Gibson again in the fourth game Sunday.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

LHS and BCS battle to 1-1 tie in soccer

Lennoxville High and B.C.S. fought to a 1-1 tie last night in the Senior Boys section of the St. Francis Valley Interscholastic Athletic Association soccer circuit.

Scott Planché scored for the Yellow and Black while Bob Moffat was B.C.S.'s marksman.

Tonight in S.F.V.I.A.A. Soccer league Lennoxville Jr. Boys meets Mitchell. Saturday, as part of Lennoxville High School Day, two soccer games will be held. The B.C.S. Junior Boys will meet the Yellow and Black Saturday morning and at 1:30 p.m. Sherbrooke High and L.H.S. Senior Boys, staunch rivals of many years, will duel at Lennoxville.

flawlessly in the field while rapping two hits, and Kaline doubled in the sixth, the only inning the Tigers had two men on base.

"Gibson's pitching was on a par with anything I've ever seen," said Kaline, a 15-year veteran. "He had an excellent breaking ball. I know he's a great pitcher, probably one of the greatest."

CONTROL WAS GOOD

"I didn't feel strong, but I did have real good control," said Gibson, who posted 13 shutouts among his 22 victories during the season.

No matter how Gibson graded his effort, it was far superior to McLain's. The 24-year-old right-hander issued two walks that contributed to St. Louis' three-run outburst in the fourth inning.

Following the passes to Roger Maris and Tim McCarver, Mike Shannon singled to left for one run and Javier later knuckled in two more runs with a single.

Brock hit a 3-2 pitch off relief-

Gibson ties record and sets new one

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bob Gibson of St. Louis Cardinals spent the evening before his first start in the World Series at a small Italian restaurant with his family. Denny McLain spent it playing the organ at a local night spot.

And, maybe, that's why Gibson was the hero of Wednesday's opening World Series games, winning his confrontation with Detroit's 31-game victor by striking out a record 17 batters in St. Louis' 4-0 triumph.

Gibson set the Tigers down on five hits, tied a Series record with his sixth consecutive victory and broke the strikeout record of 15 set by Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles Dodgers in 1963.

"In the early innings I didn't think I was pitching strong," Gibson said in the dressing room. "I asked Tim (catcher Tim McCarver) about it, and he agreed I wasn't as strong."

But over the first three innings, Gibson struck out seven Tigers.

"I didn't feel strong, but I did have real good control," said Gibson, 32, looking for an explanation for all the strikeouts.

"You know, getting more strikeouts doesn't necessarily mean you pitched a better game."

And so, Gibson proceeded to mow down the Tigers.

In the sixth his aching arm, tired by 305 innings of work during a regular season that brought him 22 victories—13 by shutout—began to bother him.

ACHES ALL THE TIME

"It aches all the time—sometimes in three spots, all around the elbow," said Gibson. "It never really goes away. But I never change anything."

The only thing that changed was Gibson's rising strikeout total—14 after eight innings. He needed one to tie Koufax' record, two to break it and three to go home.

"I knew I had struck out a lot," Gibson admitted. "But I didn't know how many. I really didn't."

Al Kaline became strikeout victim No. 15 in the ninth on a 1-2 pitch. Then Norm Cash came to the plate. The count went to 1 and 2, before Cash fouled off three straight pitches and then took another ball.

Gibson then fired another—and Cash swung and missed to become No. 16.

Then Willie Horton stepped to the plate. The count went to 2 and 2. Gibson fired—and umpire Tom Gorman signalled for a called third strike. No. 17.

It took 14 pitches. "Maybe," said Gibson, "I surprised 'em a little with more curves and sliders than they expected."

McLain little put out for being yanked

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Denny McLain was on the losing end of the celebrated World Series pitching duel Wednesday against Bob Gibson of St. Louis. But Detroit's 4-0 defeat didn't seem to shake McLain's nerves.

People flocked around him in the Tigers' dressing room and the right hander answered questions in his usual, almost cocky fashion, smiling as if he had just won the Series.

Although he acknowledged his lack of control resulted in the loss, he expressed surprise and even indignation at being pulled from the game after five innings. Pat Dobson relieved him in the sixth.

"Yes, I was very surprised. You don't pitch 340 innings this season and then get yanked out."

"Do you plan on seeing Mayo (Manager Mayo Smith) about it?" he was asked.

"I just may do that," he said.

McLain allowed only three hits and three walks, but he was behind on many batters and two of the walks came in the fourth inning in front of a pair of singles as the Cardinals went ahead 3-0.

"Control was his problem," Smith said. "I don't think it had a bit to do with nerves."

"I don't think it was the heat or anxiety, either," he added. "He'll tell you himself he's a hot weather pitcher."

"I don't think the weather bothered anybody," said McLain.

"I just had real bad control; there's nothing more I can say about it."

McLain will face Gibson again Sunday in Detroit.

"It's always an advantage to play in your home park, but actually I prefer to pitch away because most other parks are larger," Denny said.

The Cards stole three bases against the Tigers Wednesday, but Smith said the blame shouldn't all fall on catcher Bill Freehan.

"It wasn't just Freehan. The pitcher has to control the base runners."

Gibson set a World Series record in the game by striking out 17 batters. The previous mark of 15 was set by Los Angeles Dodgers' Sandy Koufax against New York Yankees in 1963.

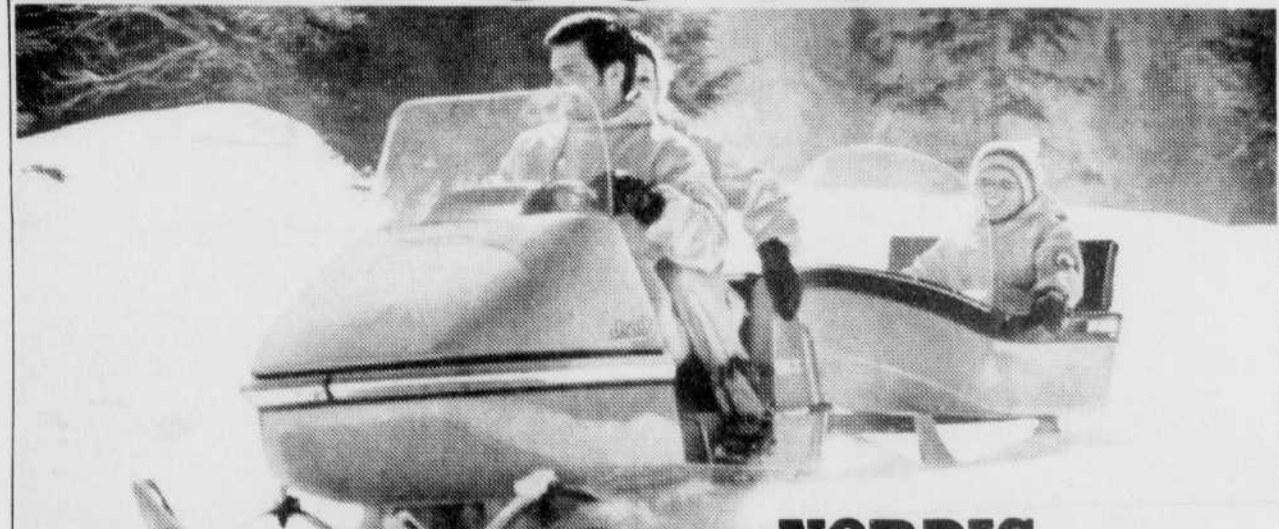

"That was the whole show," Smith said.

"I've seen that guy pitch before, but this was his best."

McLain also wouldn't take anything away from Gibson's victory.

"That was the greatest performance I've ever seen."

Mixed tourney closing event at Lennoxville

The closing event of the Lennoxville Golf and Country Club will be held Sunday, Oct. 6. The mixed tournament was slated for Sept. 28 but was postponed owing to inclement weather.

The field will commence play at 11:30 and all interested in getting in a final game are requested to contact Garth Smith, club pro, at 562-4260. Starting times will be allotted but post entries will be accepted.

Some beautiful prizes have been donated by individuals and merchants and the officials are hoping for a large field.

Knowlton Larks walloped 40-13 by St. Lambert Combines Sunday

KNOWLTON — (Special) — Knowlton Larks played only 30 minutes of football last Sunday afternoon and lost the game, 40-13. Larks trailed 14-13 at the half, after outplaying the St. Lambert Combines at Seaway park in the first two periods.

Dave Mullins, the Larks' flanker, caught a 25-yard Albers pass in behind the St. Lambert deep backs and ran it all the way to the end zone. The play covered 72 yards and featured a key block by Ken Breese, the left end, to spring Mullins loose after the catch. Sandy Lenz got the convert and the Larks were in front.

Shortly before the end of the first quarter, St. Pierre, Combines' slotback, took a pass at the Larks' 20 yard line and scored from there. The convert was good, making the score 7-7.

The Larks again moved down the field on some good inside running by Turner and Marsh, the halfbacks. The Larks scored their second major on a 28 yard sweep around the left side by Alain Lambert.

The convert was blocked making the score 13-7 for the Larks. The Combines moved the ball to centerfield after the kick-off and the Larks' defense yielded only four yards on the ground forcing a punt. A player was called for a face-mask tackle giving St. Lambert a first down inside the Larks' 30 yard line.

Preston, Combines left end, got in behind the Larks' defensive backs and hauled in a pass just inside the goal line for a major score. The convert was good and the Larks went into the dressing room down by one point at the half.

In the second half the Larks defense gave up four touchdowns. One was set up by a Lark fumble on the two-yard line and to all intents and purposes that was the ball game. The Lark offense sputtered on good drives, for lack of one extra block inside St. Lambert territory. Many times they missed the first down by inches.

Jim Rogerson played a good game from the middle line-backer spot making tackle after tackle. Real Delorme was probably the only other Lark to give a good account of himself on defense, playing left corner spot.

The Larks are back home this weekend to take on the powerful Longueuil Vikings at Lion's Park.

Q—How much does a face-lifting operation cost? Can only a plastic surgeon do this?

A—This operation is admittedly expensive (roughly $1,000) because it is regarded as something of a luxury item. You would have to learn the exact amount from the surgeon. He will be glad to discuss his fee and hospital costs with you before you make any commitment. It is best to have this type of operation performed by a plastic surgeon.

Q—How long must a person stay in the hospital after a face-lifting operation? Is there any danger involved?

A—The usual stay in the hospital is about a week. There is some danger associated with any operation but barring an infection or some unforeseen complication things should go well.

Q—Is it too late to have a plastic operation on my nose after the age of 50?

A—No, nor after the age of 70 or 90.

Q—What causes Peyronie's disease? Is it true that the only cure for this disease is an operation?

A—The cause of Peyronie's disease or fibrous cavernitis is unknown. In this disease a rigid curvature of the penis occurs and intercourse is painful or impossible. Vitamin E with potassium iodide or potassium para-aminobenzoate by mouth are highly favored in the treatment. The results of operation have not been satisfactory.

Q—A specialist says my husband has Peyronie's disease. He prescribed Potaba but he says there is not much chance for a cure. Will this condition become cancerous?

A—Potaba is a combination of potassium aminobenzoate and pyridoxine. Some authorities believe it to be the best drug for this disease. The condition is not a forerunner of cancer.

The art of plowing

Plowing match draws ET's best

The art of plowing takes many years of hard work to master. The best plowmen in the field will demonstrate their skills on Saturday, October 5, in the Asselin Farms, Route 5, between Sherbrooke and Bromptonville.

They will be competing in the Sherbrooke Ploughmen's Association annual plowing match, the 89th annual match held by this group.

This year, all plowmen interested in competing in the association's match must submit their entries to the association's secretary, Jack Drummond.

Mr. Drummond can be reached by telephoning 562-1912. Entries must be submitted no later than Friday night, October 4.

The winners of the local championships will move on to compete in next year's provincial championship matches.

This year, the provincial and Canadian Championship Plowing Matches are being held on the Miron Farms, in Deux Montagnes.

These matches will be held on October 2, 3 and 4.

However, the winner of the Eaton's Special 1968 prize at the Sherbrooke Ploughmen's Association's match, which will be awarded for the best plowed land by a junior plowman, mounted plows only, will be able to compete at the International Plowing Matches to be held in Ontario this year.

There will be nine plowing classes of competition.

The first class is for any horse drawn plow, skimmers recommended and wheels allowed. First prize in this class is $25 cash and merchandise value; second prize is $20; third, $15; fourth and each additional entry, $10; best crown, $2.50; best finish, $2.50.

The prizes are equal in all classes.

The second class is for tractors, open to boys and girls 14 to 17 years old.

Class No. three is open to boys and girls 10 to 13 years old, plowing with tractors.

The fourth class is tractors, open to ladies.

Class No. five is for tractors with plowing, having three or more furrows, open to all comers.

The sixth class is also open to all comers, and the competition is tractor with two furrow hydraulic plow.

Class No. seven is open to all comers, and the contest is for tractors with trailer plows.

The eighth class is competition with tractors, any type plow, open to plowmen who have never plowed at a match with a tractor before.

And the ninth class, the Championship Class, will be contested by winners of classes 6, 7, 8 and 9 in 1967.

The competition is tractor, any type plow and in this class, Canadian Rules will be followed.

Special prizes at the match will be awarded by Eaton's, Simpson's, the Sherbrooke Ploughmen's Association, Sherbrooke Rotary Club, International Harvester Co., Co-Operative Agricole de Sherbrooke, Albert Goss and Sam Hopper.

THE ART OF PLOWING: It takes many hours of work before a farmer can plow a straight furrow, deep and narrow enough to ensure the best possible growth of the seed he sows. This man is plowing as twilight covers his fields.

To award special prizes at match

Fifteen special prizes are to be awarded at the Sherbrooke Ploughmen's Association 89th annual plowing match.

The matches will be held on October 5 at the Asselin Farms on Route 5 between Bromptonville and Sherbrooke.

Strictly enforced rules to govern

To ensure the success of its annual plowing matches, the Sherbrooke Ploughmen's Association has drawn up a strict set of rules for the matches.

Below are the rules which will be strictly enforced throughout October 5, the day of the 89th annual matches.

1a. All plowing will be judged on a scale of points. Score sheets will be used. 10 points will be deducted if the competitor is not on the field at ten o'clock.

1b. No person will be allowed to interfere with the plowmen or aid them in any respect, except in the setting of poles or measuring of ridges, except the Directors appointed by the Association for Boys and Girls' Matches. Plowmen persons to follow them or walk alongside of them, while the plowmen are at work. No one will be allowed to fix the furrow of any plowman on pain of disqualifying him; plowmen may do it themselves, but not after the two first rounds, with exception to Class No. 9, in which Canadian Rules apply.

2. All entries for this match must be given to the Secretary not later than Friday evening, October 4th. Lots will be drawn for position at ten o'clock on the morning of the match. Plowing will commence promptly at 10:30 a.m.

3. Furrows shall be at least 12 inches wide and six inches deep unless otherwise specified by the Board of Directors. All furrows must start and finish at scratch.

4. The finish will not be considered complete without a sole furrow. The sole furrow shall not be more than three inches deep. Crown to be scratch and 12 furrows on each side in all tractor classes.

5. In tractor classes, plows must be left intact until lands are completed. Not more than two persons will be allowed to plow with the same tractor, however they must comply with Rule No. 6.

6. All crowns must be completed by ten o'clock, and plowing completed by 3:30 p.m. The judging will be done on the plowing that is completed by 3:30 p.m. Nevertheless, all plowmen must complete their ridges.

7. Members of the Association may compete in any match free; adult non - members on payment of $4, boys and girls $2. All farmers upon payment of $5 automatically become members.

8. The decision of the Judges must in all cases be final.

9. The Directors may change rules that they deem necessary.

10. If the contestant disobeys a rule, the Executive Committee may deduct 10 points on the recommendation of the Director in charge of the match.

11. The Board of Directors reserves the right to substitute collateral in place of cash prizes.

12. The Association will not be responsible for any accidents on the field.

13. If prizes advertised exceed donations, the Association reserves the right to reduce prizes in the same proportion.

REGIONAL COUNCIL WELFARE OF SHERBROOKE
The Regional Council Welfare of Sherbrooke was instituted after a decision of Caritas-Sherbrooke to improve henceforth the parochial charity work throughout the Christian Sherbrooke Diocese.

It is this newly formed Welfare Council that will, from now on, plan the coordination, the organizing, the social meetings and will represent welfare problems with government officials regarding Sherbrooke Diocese social welfare problems.

It is also their parochial service that is in charge of the Regional Welfare Council of Sherbrooke Charity Campaign, formerly known as Caritas-Sherbrooke.

The Welfare Council is controlled by an administration council consisting of 15 members who are responsible for organization. Quoting the work accomplished this year by the Council, we can mention the necessary steps towards the accomplishment of "Villa Marie-Claire", future home for unwed mothers and a home for young delinquents.
