Alaskan quake death toll reaches 70

WRECKAGE AT VALDEZ — This was the ruin at Valdez where the earthquake struck with deadly force. Cars were buried and overturned by huge slab of ice pushed ashore by tidal wave which followed quake. (AP Wirephoto)

SWEPT AWAY BY THE WAVE — A barren, fissure-marked earthquake area at Seward was swept clean of its buildings by a tidal wave that destroyed 90 per cent of industrial capacity. Pillings of the buildings can be seen as square dots in the picture. (AP Wirephoto)

Digging out amid aftershocks, population fears economic ruin

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Shattered Alaska, weary and jittery amid repeated aftershocks, dug through a jackstraw heap of wrecked cities and towns today tallying the results of a tragic earthquake.

Approximately 70 deaths had been counted in the quake zone, a surprisingly low figure, with at least 16 others dead in California and Oregon from resultant seismic wave action.

Some of the Alaska deaths were not confirmed. The death toll in Alaska was certain to climb — many still are missing — but most state officials expected the final total to stay below 100.

A stunned population — bolstered by a high-level recommendation for massive federal aid — began to realize the economic ruin carried by the quake. In some communities, industry was as much as 90 per cent wiped out.

"It might take a year and a half to two years to rebuild," said Mayor Bruce Woodford of Seward, "but we will make it."

ESTIMATE REVISED — Governor William A. Egan revised his estimate of property damage upward to $360,000,000 and admitted he was being conservative. Other unofficial estimates were higher.

Egan increased his figure after visiting Valdez. His hometown, where 32 died, Information from many of the heavy-hit areas was sketchy at best. In Kodiak, where a tidal wave washed out the waterfront, one report said martial law had been proclaimed. Police refused to confirm or deny the report.

From civil defence and military sources, this toll of Alaskan dead emerged:

Anchorage, 6 to 12; Kodiak, 11 to 12; Valdez, 32; Chenequa, 11; Seward, 2, and Whittier, Cordova, Kayak Island and Port Ashton, 1 each.

Edward A. McDermott, President Johnson's personal representative on the scene, was flying back to Washington today to recommend special relief legislation.

ROAD TO OBLIVION — Forces of earthquake and tidal wave combined to create this havoc at Seward. This is the way the former active waterfront looked after the tidal wave struck destroying the major supply port of Alaska's interior.

Nuclear test in 1962 is blamed for quake

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — A Swedish scientist predicted in January that an earth tremor should occur at the end of this month as an echo of the Russian nuclear explosions at Novaya Zemlja Aug. 4-10, 1962.

Sven Svantesson, a retired chemist who lives near Stockholm, said at the time that recently-registered high-frequency seismological and meteorological abnormalities on the earth and sun were echoes from chain reaction of earlier nuclear explosions.

According to Svantesson the February earthquake on the Azores was caused by echoes that also were linked with the tremors at Skopje in Yugoslavia in July and August last year.

He claimed the earthquake at Santiago de Chile March 21 was the 10th echo of a nuclear explosion in Russia Sept. 29, 1958.

CITES CHILE — The third echo from that explosion caused the week-long earthquakes and volcanic eruptions at Concepcion in Chile May 22, 1960, he added.

Svantesson further warned in October that if his theory was proved right, "things will be popping" for the last two weeks of the following March.

Svantesson said a 10-year study of atomic explosions, solar activity and seismic disturbances indicated a link between the three which followed "a regular rhythm."

He said the current sequence appears to have started with the explosion of Russian nuclear bombs in August, 1962.

Four killed in ET

Four people were killed in highway accidents over the Easter weekend in the Eastern Townships. Three were killed instantly in a two-car collision and one pedestrian was struck and killed instantly by an automobile.

Dead are Fernand Delage 24, Michelle Bourrie 20, and Jeanne Rancourt 20, all of La Patrie, and Michel Simard 17, of Thetford Mines.

The three persons from La Patrie were instantly killed in a two-car collision, Saturday at 9 p.m., two miles from La Patrie Road in the direction of Island Brook. Four persons were injured in this accident. They are Mrs. Fernand Delage 19, Bernard Gaudreau 23, of La Patrie, Yvon Gaudreau, La Patrie and Jacques Tessier 20, of Scotstown.

Michel Simard 17, was killed Saturday at 11:45 p.m. on the Robertsonville Road, Thetford Mines when he was struck down by a car driven by Marcel Jacques of 392 St. Henri Street, Thetford Mines, police reported.

He was instantly killed while walking along the road in company of his brother Benoit 18. His brother was uninjured, it was reported by the Thetford Mines police.

More tremors — MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — The rumble and jolt of a slight earthquake awakened residents of this St. Lawrence Seaway city early Sunday. No damage was reported. Such tremors are considered unusual in this area, which suffered damage by an earthquake in 1944.

SANTIAGO (AP) — A strong but brief earth tremor was felt in Santiago, Chile, early today. It caused alarm but no damage or casualties were reported.

Teens terrorized — CLACTON (Reuters) — Police with Alsatian dogs today patrolled this English seaside resort town following an Easter weekend wave of teen-age terror that raged like a British version of Marlon Brando's movie The Wild Ones.

The cells of the local jail were packed with about 90 boys and girls charged with crimes ranging from drunkenness, larceny and assaults on police and civilians to burglary and wreckage property worth thousands of pounds.

Pope gets tough — VATICAN CITY (AP) — The framework of a tough new Vatican policy toward Communism stood out today after the first Holy Week of Pope Paul's reign.

The hardening emerged in speeches delivered by the pontiff during the week. He also again stressed the search for Christian unity and closer ties between Roman Catholics and other Christians.

Conference — OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government likely will be asked by the provinces this week at the Quebec City conference to take over responsibility for about 3,000 criminal convicts now in provincial jails.

The Pearson government's response probably will be that it will try to do this ultimately — but not now, when the federal prison system already is bursting at the seams with more than 7,600 prisoners.

Confiscate opium — DAMASCUS (Reuters) — Syrian customs officials Saturday night confiscated more than a ton of opium after a 30-minute clash with a gang of smugglers near the Syrian-Jordan border, a Syrian customs official said Sunday. The gang leader and three camels, which were being used by the smugglers, were killed.

Exchange shots — NICOSIA (Reuters) — A United Nations spokesman said today British soldiers of the UN force twice opened fire in self-defence during a 40-minute shooting exchange early today in the Nicosia suburb of Omorphita.

US will help — WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Defence Secretary Robert McNamara said Sunday Premier Nguyen Khanh of South Vietnam plans to conscript up to 30,000 men to fight Communist guerrillas and that the United States will help foot the bill — at about $1,000,000 a week.

MacArthur fights — WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur, fighting for his life, developed a kidney condition of grave concern during the night, doctors at Walter Reed Hospital reported today. They said his condition remained critical.

The doctors also reported the general had developed a recurrence of intermittent bleeding from his esophagus, the condition that prompted his second operation more than a week ago.

ET city asks Black Feet to settle

DRUMMONDVILLE, Que. (CP) — If the Black Feet are admitted to Canada as immigrants, the Junior Chamber of Commerce in this industrial city 60 miles northeast of Montreal would like to see them invited to settle in Quebec.

A resolution to this effect, sponsored by Marcel Guay, 27-year-old businessman, has been passed by the chamber and sent to the Quebec government.

The Black Feet are European Algerians who fled to France when their North African homeland was granted independence.

There has been some suggestion that, with a background of anti-Arab violence, some Black Feet would be poor candidates for immigration to Canada.

But, Mr. Guay says, "I wonder what we would have done in their place."

"Those people are very attached to their traditions. Many Canadians are the same way — just look how people defend the Queen."

Mr. Guay says the agricultural backgrounds of the French Algerians are an important factor in the chamber's proposal.

"We have plenty of room in Quebec for farmers needing placement. There is unoccupied land that they may have the initiative and the capital to make profitable."

"They don't know English and we think they'd be better off at Lake St. John than somewhere in the West."

At the meeting one member of the chamber suggested an amendment asking that the immigrants be screened carefully. It was rejected on the grounds that this was a matter for the federal department of immigration. The resolution dealt only with province's position.

Vancouver Island surveys damage from tidal wave

PORT ALBERNI, B.C. (CP) — Provincial officials began a survey of flood-stricken sections of Vancouver Island today while residents counted their blessings that no lives were lost in the after-effects of the Alaska earthquake.

It was expected to be days before the full extent of the damage in terms of dollars would be known. But Mayor Fred Bishop of Alberni said it would total "a good many millions."

Dan Campbell, provincial municipal affairs minister, said he would seek to have Alberni and its twin city of Port Alberni declared a disaster area.

A gurgling sound, like water emptying from a gigantic bathtub, signalled the start of a weekend ordeal for residents on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

The tide rolled up a 40-mile channel from the sea in successive giant waves, inundating low-lying areas of the twin cities where 20,000 people live. It floated houses from their foundations, upended cars and sent logbooms crashing into buildings with the force of giant battering rams.

The first big wave rolled ashore at 12:10 a.m. PST Saturday. Hours later the people of the twin cities realized they had endured — and survived — without death or serious injury — the first recorded major tidal wave on Canada's West Coast.

Churches were reported jammed Easter Sunday. The waves were set up by successive shocks from the massive earthquake that caused devastation and death in Alaska.

Laurie Wallace, deputy provincial secretary who also heads B.C.'s civil defence organization, said the survey will be aimed at determining financial loss. A report will be put before the provincial and federal cabinets to decide to what extent the governments will provide financial aid.

The tidal surges were felt at Mayors Bishop and Mayor Less Hammer of Port Alberni sent a telegram to Northern Affairs Minister Laing saying the Alberni Valley is a serious disaster area and requesting fast federal aid.

In integration demonstrations Yale chaplain, 36 youths nabbed

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Thirty-seven young persons, including a Yale University chaplain, face court hearings today on charges resulting from weekend integration demonstrations in St. Augustine, oldest city in the United States.

Police feared more demonstrations. Among those who have announced plans to protest segregation was Mrs. Malcolm Peabody, 72, mother of Governor Endicott Peabody of Massachusetts.

Mrs. Peabody was accompanied by Mrs. Donald Campbell, wife of the dean of the Episcopal (Anglican) Theological Seminary at Cambridge, Mass., and Mrs. John Burgess, wife of the first Negro ever elected an Episcopal bishop in the United States. Mrs. Peabody said they would protest like "three nice peaceful women."

The trio flew to Florida Sunday to join some 30 other members of the Massachusetts chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in the

45 die in plane crash

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — The bodies of 45 persons killed in an Easter eve airliner crash on Mount Vesuvius lay in a Naples morgue today as three investigations sought the cause of the tragedy.

Officials said it would take some days before identification could be completed. Most of the bodies were too burned and mangled to be identified except with the help of dental charts.

ASK AID — Mayor Bishop and Mayor Less Hammer of Port Alberni sent a telegram to Northern Affairs Minister Laing saying the Alberni Valley is a serious disaster area and requesting fast federal aid.

The tidal surges were felt at

Highway safety committee formed for Sherbrooke

A Sherbrooke and regional highway safety committee of Prudential has been formed because of the 17 per cent increase in the Sherbrooke area of auto insurance this year, says committee treasurer J. A. G. Girardeau.

The committee was founded at a March 23 meeting in the Knights of Columbus room in Sherbrooke.

Accidents are both the physical and moral responsibility of citizens, he says, for they should not only pay taxes and insurance for accidents but also educate their fellows toward the safeguarding of human life on the highways.

The meeting was convened

BROOKBURY

Reginald Thompson and Rejean Lapointe were celebrated.

Friends of Mrs. Mary Lowe regret to hear she is ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lilie Cathcart in Sawyerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Lebourveau called on Mrs. W. B. Downes on March 23, the occasion being her birthday.

Miss Elizabeth E. Clark, of Bishop's University, is a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Clark.

Seventy-seven street lights were reported defective to the electrical department and two road signs to the public works.

Nine arrests were made during the month. One summons was served. Three persons sought over-night protection. Three animals were destroyed, on the authority of the owners. Ten establishment doors were found unlocked, by the night patrol. Eight identification cards were issued.

The fire department answered six calls for chimney fires. The extent of damage in all instances was slight.

Houseparents appointed at Maplemount

The Maplemount Home for Young Folk had many new things this Easter season to make the season bright, it was reported in the home's recent newsletter. The most important new acquisitions were new houseparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ewald Schmidt. The home also acquired a new operating permit, cabinet record player and insulation for the building.

Mr. Schmidt had been a teacher at Miller Memorial Bible College, Pambun, Saskatchewan for 25 years. The couple has two grown-up children. Mr. Schmidt will be doing deputization work in Montreal, Toronto and London areas in the near future and would be happy also, to speak and show pictures of the home to any interested local organizations. To arrange this, contact him personally at the home, the newsletter reports.

The previous houseparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeanpretre left in February to serve in a French children's home. The Maplemount Home has received its new operating permit from the government which raises the allotment per diem per child. Under this new arrangement, however, the home is responsible for clothing the children. The home still has three boys for whom it receives no government welfare support, the newsletter states. The home would welcome assistance from any group or individual who would like to sponsor one of these boys.

The home now has 23 boys and girls and with this number of children, the letter continues, there is a constant need for dental work and since the home receives no provision for this need it has established a dental fund.

Bungalow destroyed by a flash blaze

A flash fire Saturday at 9 p.m. completely destroyed a one storey bungalow on the Beau Site road in Deauville. The bungalow was the residence of Emilien Dubreuil. He and his family were away at the time of the fire. A faulty oil furnace is thought to have been the cause of the blaze.

Two neighbors who saw flames in the basement of the house rushed to the back of the structure and removed the oil tank and piping, while another Roger Plouffe, put in a call to the Mayor of Deauville who in turn got in touch with Sherbrooke authorities for assistance. Deauville has no fire service of its own.

One truck was sent from Sherbrooke with three firemen, under the direction of Gerard Belisle. The detachment arrived on the scene at 9:20 p.m. and returned to the station at 11:45 p.m.

Missionary visits Sherbrooke

Says trouble in British Guiana of racial as well as political origin

Present troubles in British Guiana are not only political but also racial, a field missionary for the Presbyterian church who spent seven years in the country said yesterday.

There are two races in the country, African and East Indian said Rev. Joseph Muchan, who was visiting the local Presbyterian Church over the weekend.

The Indians came as sugar workers and when their work was done chose to remain in the country rather than return home, he said.

Rev. Muchan spoke at a missionary rally on Saturday evening and at the morning and evening services of the church. He spent the weekend at the home of Rev. Alex McCombie, Portland Avenue. Mr. McCombie was his assistant for a period of three years in a rescue mission in downtown Toronto.

He speaks tonight to the Sherbrooke Kiwanis Club. Mr. Muchan spent five years at the Toronto rescue mission giving aid to alcoholics and others who were down and out.

He said the Indians in British Guiana chose to establish a little India in British Guiana and this hasn't been a healthy situation. There is no Guiana culture.

The Africans still refer to themselves as Africans and not Guianese and the Indians still refer to themselves as Indians whereas they should all be Guianese.

This causes much strife, he said. The races are almost equally divided.

Many of the young students, chiefly the East Indians are being provided with scholarships by the government and sent to East Berlin, and Cuba, mostly Cuba, to complete their education, Mr. Muchan said.

The country was disturbed in 1963 by political and racial strife which resulted in an 80-day general strike called by the Trades union council, the main opposition pro Marxist a group of Premier Jagan's administration.

The Christian church at that time appealed to churches outside the colony and set up a Christian Social Council, representing all the churches to raise money and food for the people of the colony. Soup kitchens supplied 1000 children with food every day, he said.

Jagan's government blamed the length of the strike on the church, saying that because the children were being fed there was no reason for the people to fight the situation, said Mr. Muchan.

Dr. Jagan, even though he does not give any indications of being a religious man, is not violently opposed at the moment, to the Christian faith.

This may be due to the fact that many of his supporters, who are East Indian, are members of the church. Unemployment and a form of anarchy have developed from unrest in the country and thievery is the order of the day.

What Rev. Muchan feels is needed in the country is for the heads of the different parties to forget their political ideologies and work together for social betterment of the country.

If that were done capital would flow freely into Guiana. Much of British Guiana is still jungle, he said. Ninety per cent of the 600,000 people live along the coast line in an area of about 200 miles.

long and 10 miles deep, leaving the interior unopened. Mrs. Jagan is a brilliant, outgoing personality, and it would appear that she is the brains behind the party and a devoted Communist, Mr. Muchan said.

MISSIONARY VISITOR—Rev. Joseph Muchan, Presbyterian evangelistic Missionary arrived in Sherbrooke Saturday evening to speak at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church here. Mr. Muchan was in Guiana for seven years and in Jhansi, India for 11 years. He is a member of the Toronto mission. (Record photo by Gerry Lemay)

Rotary speaker Tuesday

One of Ontario's leading figures in the movement to rehabilitate the physically handicapped will be the guest speaker at the Tuesday night meeting of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club at the New Sherbrooke Hotel.

He is Wade Hampton, president of Operation Reliance Inc., an enterprise in the Metropolitan Toronto area which has established an international reputation for the excellence of the products turned out by its handicapped workers.

Mr. Hampton, who has just been appointed consultant to rehabilitation to the Rehabilitation Foundation for the Disadvantaged, will be the speaker at the March of Dimes—heads an operation to become the Ontario's leading organization to free the handicapped from the shackles of disability.

Born in Toronto, Mr. Hampton was one of Canada's leading competitive skiers. In 1950 he won the open class of the Quebec Kandahar and was past president of the Canadian Ski Instructors Alliance and vice-president of the Mont Tremblant ski club.

In 1953 Mr. Hampton was hit by polio. Today he gets around on crutches.

He is president of the Downsview Rotary Club and vice-president of Rehabilitation Industries (Ontario) Inc.

Figures for Township of Magog

MAGOG — In a brochure published by the Municipal Corporation of the Township of Magog, and released to property owners by Mayor Edgar Bournival, it is noted that there are 1,223 rate payers in the community with total evaluation holdings of $3,294,015. Of these 86 are farmers and 163 residential home owners.

The farmers' evaluation amounts to $465,225 while the residential properties are evaluated at $570,500.

In comparing the rise in rural ownership throughout the township for the past twenty years, it is interesting to note that in 1944 when there were 405 rate payers, evaluation was $1,178,620. In 1954 the figures had risen to 698 property owners, with an evaluation of $1,975,430, and this year with 1,223 rate payers, the evaluation is $3,294,015.

Being very concerned with the value of their tourist establishments, the Magog Township council never fail to seize every opportunity to promote the Mt. Orford Provincial Park and its ski centre and golf course, as well as the JMC Musical Camp. Besides these tourist attractions however, there are numerous other fine establishments that are paying handsome dividends toward the townships prosperity.

A sensible Canadian defence policy

Canada's defence policy has traditionally hung on the sharp horns of a peculiarly Canadian dilemma.

One is that Canada, as a sort of buffer between Russia and the rest of North America, has an important defence role to play that demands the very latest in defence techniques and the most modern of military equipment.

The other is that Canada is a small country that has difficulty affording both superior guns and good butter (as the economists describe the defence and consumer goods picture.)

Up until Defence Minister Hellyer's white paper last week, no one since the Second World War had made a very successful effort at resolving the dilemma. Such attempts as were made consisted largely of piecemeal decisions, such as the one to cancel the Avro Arrow program.

But now we have a government making a most determined effort to give us the most effective military strength possible at a price we can afford.

The decision to integrate all armed forces, at least at the administrative levels, is the basis for this effort. If it can be carried out the way it is planned on paper, it will cut $100,000,000 a year off our present defence budget.

This will not necessarily represent a saving, since it is Mr. Hellyer's intention to plow this money back into the defence budget for new military equipment.

The emphasis will be more on machines of war than on manpower.

The general design for Canada's future in the military world is closely connected with integration and improved equipment. We will, if Mr. Hellyer's policy prevails, have smaller forces, but they will be better equipped, better trained and more mobile than they are now.

They will fit not only into our own defence capabilities, but into the general trend of Western defence, as it is evolving. And they will make a contribution that is of significance to the Western alliance.

In their broad outlines, Mr. Hellyer's plans represent the first sensible, comprehensive defence policy this country has ever had under modern conditions. Every effort should be made to see that they are implemented substantially the way Mr. Hellyer wants them. Any attempt to do otherwise would be a backward step.

The idea of fingerprints often settles the question of which one of your youngsters used the guest towel in the bathroom.

Compensation for crime victims

Suggestions frequently advanced by legal and welfare bodies that some system be set up for compensation of victims of criminal violence may be incorporated into law in Great Britain as the result of legislation to be introduced into the House of Commons.

Standing in the name of Home Secretary Henry Brooke, the measure is expected to receive early passage and upon approval will be applied quickly, Brooke declared.

The experiment would be administered by a board whose members would have legal experience.

The board will consider paying compensation only where there has been an appreciable degree of injury—one that causes at least three weeks loss of earnings or where not less than 50 pounds sterling should be awarded.

The Home Secretary did not specify any comprehensive list of crimes whose victims may apply for compensation, but applications are expected to arise out of such crimes as murder, manslaughter, assault and sexual offences; offences against property accompanied by personal violence, including robbery; and from personal injuries due to malicious damage to property, including arson.

For years there have been growing complaints that criminal law has been more concerned almost exclusively with the idea of vengeance—punishment of the wrongdoer—and has given little thought to the sufferings inflicted upon the victim and his family.

A man injured in an industrial accident receives a degree of financial compensation from the state operated compensation boards. But should he be permanently or temporarily disabled as the result of a vicious attack by a lawbreaker he must bear the entire loss himself.

The family of a man killed in an automobile accident are given economic assistance from liability insurance or unsatisfied judgment funds. But the dependents of a murdered man are forced on relief unless he had private means or life insurance at the time of his death.

Undoubtedly the British efforts to partially remedy this situation will be studied by other countries, including Canada, with the probability that similar action will be taken elsewhere.

Depot once village focal point

The small, weather-grayed building with its attached freight shed sits patiently beside the two rusted steel rails. It is abandoned and up for sale. Just a small, unpretentious depot that has served its purpose.

Time was when the depot was a focal point of village and farm life. In the morning men and boys came with milk jugs and cream cans; in the afternoon they gathered to get the empty cans when Old 57 returned from the city.

A 12 year-old enjoyed his Saturday afternoon trip with the Morgan mare and pump. It was good to listen to the man talk around the big, pot-bellied stove. A lad could spend time reading the posters describing desperate bandits and train robbers — $500 dollars reward for information leading to arrest and conviction. Countless boys across the nation have stood beside the depot agent and listened to the mysterious clacking of the telegraph key.

There are men in teeming cities who recall the long, drawn-out, faint high-pitched whistle of the train far down the line; they remember the haunting song of the steel rails as the train drew near, the rattle of metal, the clanging bell and hissing steam as the train drew into the station.

And when the train pulled out and disappeared around the curve on its way to Centerville, many a farm lad has resolved that someday he would be on that train, riding away to life's high adventure.

Other papers say:

No push button in world politics

President Johnson, in what was undoubtedly his most effective press conference since he took office, has brought some of his countrymen up to date on the facts of life in international policy-making.

He took issue with those who believe that "all we need to do is push a button and determine everybody's foreign policy."

For some reason, the king-making syndrome of the postwar years is still with us in some elements of North American society.

Those days when we could sell or give away everything we wanted, when the industry of great nations was run down and worn and destroyed by war, it is true that North America, particularly the United States of course, was able to exercise a tremendous influence on the policies of other nations.

Even Canada, which emerged from World War II as the world's fourth military power and with her industry greatly strengthened by forced growth, exercised an influence out of proportion to her size.

North America has to face the fact that the nations have recovered from war, that old nations such as France have found new vigor and strength, and that they want to go their own way.

It implies no weakening of the determination of the U.S. to support freedom and battle totalitarianism that her President recognizes her limitations.

But her role is no longer to lay down conditions. It is to persuade, by her voice and by her actions. To recognize that she can no longer lay down terms is a step to strengthen, not weaken, her voice in international affairs.

One Big, Happy Family

The readers say:

Let's keep it English speaking

Sir:

There wasn't anything in Confederation about a free French state, a republic of Quebec, or a French nationality, nor was there a partnership mentioned. This is an English speaking nation and in all fairness to all those millions of immigrants who have settled here and helped to build up this country to what it is today, let us keep it, an English speaking country. Who ever heard of a two language nation. Why should we go to the expense of teaching about sixteen million people French when 95 per cent of them would never use it, and it would just cause confusion where it was used? It would be a simple matter to teach the remaining three million English. The point is, are we going to force all those who have settled here to learn French? I say no. There is enough of them going to the United States as it is.

If Quebec is backward, it is of her own choosing. She chose to be non-commercial, non industrial a non scientific society, and don't forget in 1803 had she been a French state she would have been sold to the United States along with a lot of other territories by the new monarch of France, Napoleon Bonaparte and in 1813 if it hadn't been for the British she would have been taken over by the Americans. France didn't want her then, why should she want to be free now. Also she lacked religious freedom, she's been dominated by the Roman Catholic Church for centuries and they kept the economy poor building great big churches in every little village. In the 1920's an order was formed, in opposition to the masonic order called the "Order De Jacques Cartier", O.J.C. which is giving a lot of orders and must be watched. The separateists are being encouraged by some very influential businessmen from Paris, also a writer, who wrote a book on the revolution in Canada, which is being played up in France including receiving the congratulations of General De Gaulle, so Canadians awake. Sir John A. MacDonal said of confederation, "a strong central government is indispensable to the experiment we are trying." If ever we needed a strong government in Ottawa it is now, and it's something we haven't got.

We need a government in Ottawa that will put Canada first, Canada for Canadians, the decisions we make now will decide what kind of a country we'll have in 2067, a government that will dismiss the committee on bilingualism and biculturalism, which is a farce, a government that will change the site of our centennial, it will be a farce if left where it is, a government that will change all separate schools to public schools and set up a uniform system of education, a government that will take a long hard look at our immigration policy, in another twenty years we should have fifteen to twenty million more people in this country, what kind of a country are we going to offer them, a divided country, and what kind of immigrants are we going to accept.

So again I say Canadians awake and keep this country for Canadians.

Pre-Confederation question

A mare jusque ad—let's see now

OTTAWA (CP)—One hundred years ago this month—slightly more than three years before Confederation—Canada didn't know where its western boundary was to be.

Some wanted it just west of the Lakehead, others in the foothills of the Rockies, and the ambitious wanted it to extend clear to the Pacific Coast.

There were conflicting claims to the vast reaches between the Great Lakes and the Pacific. Most of the land was left to the buffalo and the Indians—and a few hardy settlers.

With their minds already set on some form of union with the Atlantic provinces, the united provinces of Canada East and Canada West—now Quebec and Ontario—began to covet the lands held by the Hudson's Bay Company.

In the spring of 1864, this appeared in the throne speech opening the new legislative session in the old Canadian capital at Quebec City:

"The condition of the vast region lying on the northwest of the settled portions of the province is daily becoming a question of great interest. . . .

"A definition of boundary is a desirable preliminary to further proceedings with respect to the vast tracts of land in that quarter belonging to Canada, but not yet brought under the action of our political and municipal system."

BECAME GOVERNOR

In the debate that followed William McDougall, commissioner of Crown lands, said the first thing to be done was to determine whether the Red River territory, where the Selkirk settlers had made their start at colonization in 1812, belonged "to Canada or to some other country."

Five years later McDougall became lieutenant-governor of Rupert's Land and the new Northwest Territories.

The first move towards civil government of the Canadian West was made in 1858 when the British government decided to make Vancouver Island a Crown colony and in 1859 when it revoked the Hudson's Bay Company licence to exclusive trade in British Columbia.

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — Instalment 2 of "The Great Confrontation" opens at the Palais du Parlement in Quebec City tomorrow.

Sub-title: "When Grits join Grits, then was the tug-of-war."

Our hero, poor but honest Jean Lesage, will be trying to pry more millions of filthy tax lucre out of his tight-fisted Uncle Lester and his supercilious cousin Walter.

Our hero's problem is heart-rending. He needs oodles of boodle to be "master in our own house," as he quaintly puts it — said house and property needing a lot of investment for which he doesn't want to be beholden to Uncle Lester, Cousin Walter and their ilk. In this, as in other things, they just don't speak his language.

He could, as some on his side of the family urged, present Uncle Lester with an ultimatum . . . either pay up, divide the total family income to give us a bigger share, or we'll get out and take all our goods with us. But somehow, Honest Jean doesn't think Uncle Lester would buy that. The smart old uncle might call our hero's bluff — and that would be disastrous for our hero.

You'll recall that in Instalment 1, aired last November, Jean travelled to Uncle Lester's house for a four day visit, along with nine other cousins, some legitimate members of the Grit family, some not.

Jean, who has never been a backward boy, had let it be known beforehand that he would put the bite on Uncle Lester for 25 per cent of all the money Cousin Walter collects from the incomes of the tenants on Jean's estates, and 100 per cent of the taxes Jean's tenants pay when they die. Cousin Walter's accountants calculated this would amount to a total of $275 millions a year.

But the wily old uncle, pretending he'd never heard of Jean's designs on his revenues, offered with mock magnanimity to increase the allowances of all 10 visiting cousins by settling an additional $87,448,000 a year on them. And because Jean had been such a squeaky wheel, he got the most grease: $42,716,000. Mollified, Jean asked everybody to a big party at his house the following spring, which brings our story up to next Tuesday.

Jean is a crafty lad, and purpose number one of this party is to part Uncle Lester from more money. He's been making a big noise about how repugnant it is to him, as master in his own house, to have Uncle Lester paying part of his bills. He wants the uncle to give him the money and he'll take care of everything.

Uncle Lester has been doing some talking too. And he says he's willing to forego revenues if the 10 cousins want to collect those revenues and pay all their own bills. This suits Jean just fine, but some of the cousins don't like the collecting part one little bit.

Jean also wants Uncle Lester to let him run lotteries, but some of the other cousins are against this: they don't want Jean's lottery tickets taking their tenants' money. Jean says he's going to start a pension plan for his tenants, but Cousin Julia is starting a better one that will pay more and cost less. As many as 72 per cent of Jean's tenants have said they would prefer her plan.

Meanwhile Cousin Judy, as our hero already is calling her, is smiling coyly at him . . . but whether anything will come of this won't be known before next week. Don't miss Instalment 2. It should be a corker.

COMPANY UNHAPPY

With the establishment of the new Crown Colony on the West Coast, Canada proposed that a direct line of communication "by railway or otherwise" be established through the Red River and Saskatchewan territories to the Fraser River and Vancouver Island. Canada asked the Hudson's Bay Company for road and telegraph rights through the territory. The request wasn't happily received.

"The Red River and Saskatchewan valleys, though not in themselves fur-bearing districts, are the sources from whence the main supplies of winter food are procured for the northern posts from the produce of the buffalo herds," said Alexander Grant Dallas, the resident governor of the company for Rupert's Land.

"A chain of settlements through these valleys would not only deprive the company of the above vital resources but would indirectly, in many other ways, so interfere with their northern trade as to render it no longer worth prosecuting on an extended scale."

BOUGHT LAND

But the reluctance of the Hudson's Bay Company to have its hunting grounds corrupted by settlement and the discouragement voiced by Palliser did not daunt Edward Watkin, a British railwayman who already had become interested in linking the Atlantic provinces with Canada by rail. He saw the potentials of telegraph and transport links between Canada and the far west.

Watkin negotiated the transfer of Hudson's Bay Company land to the Crown, and reconstructed the company into a new one with plans for colonization and development. His was the Atlantic and Pacific Transit and Telegraph Company, and later he claimed a share of credit for Confederation itself.

It was then that the provincial government of Canada began to move. It couldn't help Watkin with finances out of its own limited treasury, and it was quailish about the boundary and territorial jurisdiction problems involved.

So, 100 years ago this month, an official appeal was on its way to London from Canada seeking "some speedy, inexpensive and mutually satisfactory plan" to settle the western border question.

WANTS NEW ANTHEM

VADUZ (Reuters)—The tiny principality of Liechtenstein is having trouble finding its own national anthem. There isn't a single composer among the 16,000 population, and the government insists that the new national anthem must be written by a Liechtensteiner. The present anthem uses the same music as My Country 'Tis of Thee.

ET man makes horses his hobby

WATERLOO — (Special) — Love of horses is in his blood. His father has always been interested in horses and today owns one of the finest strings of race horses in the Eastern Townships. His stable is a show place.

But in spite of this hobby—or perhaps on account of it—Real Choiniere has been able to graduate as a licensed chiropractor and open an office in Waterloo. Successful dealing in horses made it possible for Orpha Choiniere to provide higher education for his sons. Real and his brother, Andre, are chiropractors, one in Waterloo and one in Granby. The third son, Jean-Pierre, is in secondary school. His ambition is to become an engineer.

A call at the office of Dr. Real Choiniere, d.c., was interesting, especially if one has only a hazy idea of this method for the treatment of illness. A receptionist sat at the desk in the panelled room, done in modern decor. A proof that the young doctor did not start with everything was the ingenious stands for ash trays. Two very artistic arrangements of drift wood, painted coal black held receptacles for ashes.

Real picked up the driftwood on a beach and cleverly used them as an economy point. Driftwood is sought today for decorative purposes in many homes and offices.

The large inner office for chiropractic care looked very professional to the novice. The huge chiropractic adjusting table and X-ray machine were modern to the last degree. It was a bit of a surprise to be told not just back injuries but nerves, sinus and other respiratory ailments were helped with treatments on this complicated table.

The value of these recognized treatments is being accepted in the Province of Quebec by industries for employees' benefits.

Real Choiniere is a native of Shefford County, born and brought up in Granby. After one year in medical college, he entered the Palmer School of Chiropractic at Davenport, Iowa and graduated in four years, a licensed chiropractor.

His father, Orpha Choiniere, has always been greatly interested in education. A resident of Granby, he has worked for the development of that city, especially in the educational line. Today he is President of the Catholic School Board and Vice-President of the Regional Meilleur School.

Three years ago this young chiropractor came to Waterloo and has entered whole heartedly into the community life. All outdoor sports have a special place in his schedule. Golf in summer and skiing in winter keep him physically fit for his demanding profession. He is thoroughly bilingual and joins with his wife in seeing the little children are learning English as well as French. The older ones have a start at being bilingual. As yet, the youngest is no problem in that respect. He was born this year.

Cancer drive starts April 13

WATERLOO — The annual Canadian Cancer Society Crusade to save more lives through research, education and services will be launched in Waterloo on April 13th.

J. H. Beaudry said that preparation for this year's campaign will concentrate on more effective training of volunteers to do the door-to-door bell ringing which is so important in raising funds and educating the public in ways to protect themselves from death from cancer.

"Against this background of training," Mr. Beaudry said, "we can expect a most successful Crusade, surpassing last year's receipts."

Mr. Beaudry urged all those wishing to volunteer "in this vital struggle against possible death from cancer" to contact for information about training. Mrs. Denis Laporte telephone 539-1161.

"We need volunteers and we must saturate the community with life-saving information if we are to do the job we are called upon to do. Because of the importance of the job to the community's welfare, I am sure the people will respond."

Are We Facing A Moral Breakdown?

"They all do it." Have you ever used that excuse for yourself...or for your children? The April Reader's Digest tells what can happen to a society in which nobody takes the responsibility for evil. with enthusiasm out of a sense of duty and compassion for peoples' lives."

Mr. Beaudry said men and women everywhere are becoming increasingly aware of the urgency of the cancer problem and what they can do about it personally. Last year, he pointed out, more than 5,000 men and women were saved from cancer who would have died had they developed the disease ten years ago.

The Canadian Cancer Society explains that it is now possible to save at least one out of two of those who develop cancer, but only one out of three is actually being saved. "This means," Mr. Beaudry said,

Waterloo Guild to promote sale of cook books

WATERLOO — St. Hilda's Guild has accepted to promote the sale of Indian Cook Books, proceeds going to the Indian Medical Missions. These books, printed clearly on white paper contain many recipes of foods popular in India. Many of them tested at the Family Supper, held recently in St. Luke's Hall. Requests for the unusual dishes resulted in the books being prepared.

The members heard an interesting report from Mrs. Paul Jones on the meeting of the Montreal Diocesan Theological Guild, which she attended. Dr. Gay, principal of the Theological College spoke on Ministry. Plans were made for the military whist on April 4, in the church hall.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Nellie Darling and Mrs. Shirley Chapman.

"some 6,000 persons will die of cancer this year simply because they did not get to their doctors in time for early diagnosis and prompt treatment."

Mr. Beaudry said that the Society's No. 1 goal in the April Crusade will be saving lives that are lost unnecessarily and "that means getting everyone to a doctor in time for early detection and prompt treatment. Delay can be fatal. One's best protection against death from cancer is an annual health checkup. The annual checkup should be observed as regularly as a birthday."

The second goal, he said, will be to raise money for research, education and service. "The hope of saving half of those who develop cancer rests in research, and with the growing number of scientists involved in it," he added.

Waterloo High has many changes in 102 years since its beginning

By WENDA BOBO

It is fitting in this year 1964, as the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers celebrates its centennial, that we look into the history of Waterloo High school which is celebrating its 102nd birthday.

Our present Waterloo High School is situated on the site of the first Waterloo Academy which was officially opened in 1862. This 1862 school replaced the original Frost Village Academy which housed the First District of Bedford Teachers Association in 1858 — the forerunner of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers.

To go back into the records of education in Waterloo, we find the first school house was erected in 1825, known as the old stone school house, near the site where the Girard Block stood prior to its fire. Since this time Waterloo has never been without excellent school accommodations.

Due to the opening of the railroad in 1861 and the available water power from Waterloo Pond and Yamaska River, the population began to move from Frost Village to Waterloo. Steps were taken by leading citizens to have the Shefford Academy moved to Waterloo. Senator A. B. Foster, whose granddaughter is married to the present chairman of our school board, Mr. A. J. Buckland, donated the land on which the present school is situated.

On Monday, December 22nd, 1862, the school was opened with Mr. R. W. Laing, M.A. as principal assisted by an efficient staff of teachers. Mr. Laing was the president of the association of teachers in the District of Bedford and it was through him that the idea of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers originated. He remained as principal until 1869 when he was succeeded by Mr. C. E. C. Brown. In 1870 the Academy came into the hands of the school commissioners and a graded school was established. Mr. Lane, R.A. was the first principal under the new regime. He was followed by Mr. Charles W. Bastable who remained but one year. Edward Archibald was the next to assume the principalship to be followed by Mr. C. Thomas in 1874.

The academy maintained a high standing among the educational institutions of the Province. Many young people graduating from this school have gone on to Universities and have made a prominent name for themselves in business and in the arts.

As the population of Waterloo increased rapidly the demands for a larger school soon arose. On February 1, 1907, Chairman Moyon of the School Commissioners of Waterloo signed a contract with Mr. G. Wallace for the building of a new academy at the cost of $11,000.00. The old academy was torn down and a new building was erected on the same grounds but fording a wider campus in the front. On September 3, 1907, the school opened with Mr. E. S. Rivard, B.A. as principal. The new building was erected to accommodate 150 pupils. There were six classrooms, a cloak room and the "first teacher's room." White and blue were chosen as the school colors and these are the same school colors used today.

In 1912 Mr. Hubert D. Wells became principal. Mr. Wells' widow still has a residence in Waterloo and takes an active part in our town affairs. At this time the Academy celebrated its fiftieth year. It was one of the most up-to-date buildings in the province. It was pleasantly situated and had an extra large campus. The teachers, Miss M. Matheson, Miss L. Durrell, Miss L. Temple and Mrs. M. Green were experienced and well fitted for their positions. In 1947 there were 275 children, some coming from Warden. The need for expansion was evident. The planned addition would cost about $160,000.00 with the Province paying $150,000 of this amount. Under the direction of Chairman Robert Flood and school commissioners O. L. Lewis, W.A. Parkes, P. W. Bockus and Mrs. D. Adams, this extension was commenced.

In 1948 the new addition was opened with Mr. O. T. Pickford as principal. Mr. Pickford is now retired from the teaching profession but continues to live in Waterloo and to serve the community unstintingly of his time. The Charles W. Slack Gymnasium occupied a considerable portion of the new building. Serving as an auditorium, the fine gymnasium was donated by Mr. Slack. The new addition also comprised ten classes, a library and new washrooms. While digging the foundation for this extension, the foundation of the old 1862 school was struck. Therefore part of the present school is built directly over the original school site.

Time went quickly and the population rose. In 1960 the Townships of Shefford and South Stukely were included in the Waterloo school municipality. Again the school commissioners were faced with the problem of space. A new extension had to be planned.

Chairman A. J. Buckland and the school commissioners Mr. R. Flood, Mr. D. Schaenfield, Mr. R. Savage and Mr. K. Birch took approximately two years in preliminary work before architects were chosen and contracts finally awarded. The new extension was four stories. A three-bus garage and furnace room occupy the lower level floor. Directly above is a playroom and cafeteria. The two top floors contain ten classrooms and a staff room, a science laboratory and washrooms.

The school was officially opened in November 1962 with Mr. S. Wayne as principal assisted by a staff of twenty-one teachers and a school nurse. The school has changed completely in appearance over the 100 years since its early beginnings. The 1907 building is now the center part of the entire structure. On the first floor it houses a modern audio-visual room complete with television, movie projector and slide projector, and an up-to-date Household Science room. On the second floor is the Principal's, Nurse's and Secretary-Treasurer's offices, the staff room, a science laboratory and washrooms.

When we delve into the history of our school, we see changes in appearance both inside and out. However, one thing has never changed. The Waterloo High School has always maintained its high academic standard set by Mr. Laing, its first principal.

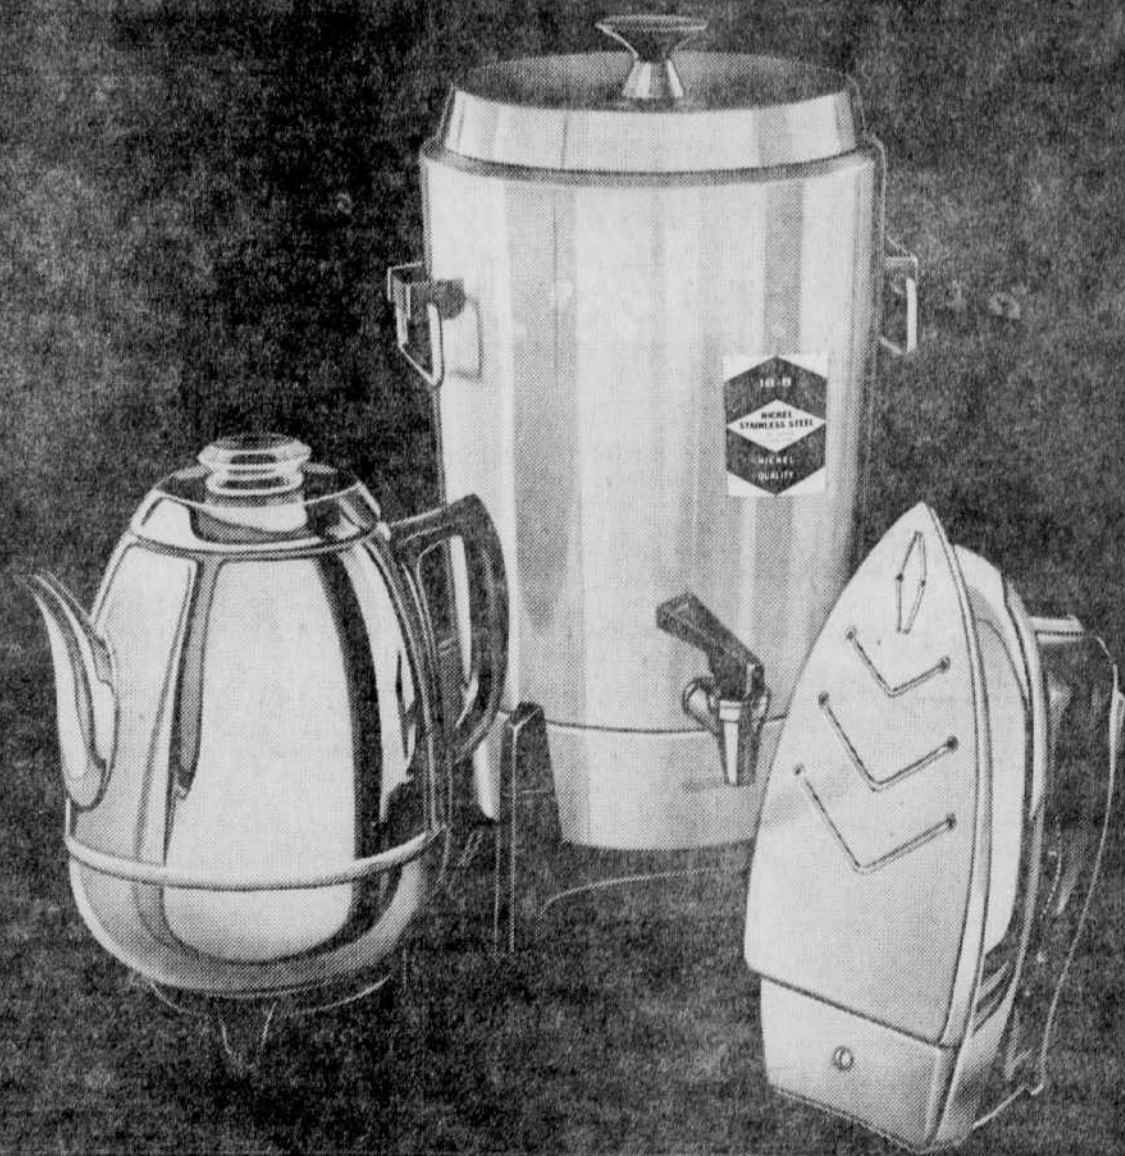

Thousands of students have walked its corridors. Some returning after an absence of even ten years are amazed at the improvements. Yes, many students do return to the school to visit because there has always prevailed an atmosphere of leadership yet comradeship, between students and staff. Mr. Wayne, who has been on the staff for seven years, is principal of the school and is proud to number among his teachers many who have served in this capacity from ten to twenty years. On each holiday as former students return home to Waterloo, it is normal for them to first visit their friends on the staff. This is a tradition of which Waterloo is justly proud.

Establishes clinic for care of retarded pre-school children

WINNIPEG (CP)—A clinic for care of pre-school children whose mental and physical development is retarded has been established by the Manitoba Hospital Commission.

Due to go into operation at Winnipeg Children's Hospital by summer, the clinic will be run at a cost of $50,000 a year, to be paid by the province's Hospital Service Plan.

Hospital officials say they hope the clinic will result in hundreds of children with developmental delay being saved from lives in institutions.

Dr. W. Wallace Grant, a psychiatrist-pediatrician, has been named director and his assistant will be pediatrician Dr. Kenneth McRae.

Children with poor hearing or sight, speech impediments, lack of muscular control, difficulties in habit formation or problems resulting from brain injury will be referred to the clinic by family doctors or pediatricians, hospital out-patient departments and child health centres.

While trying to help children make the most of their positive attributes and prepare them for regular schools, the clinic will also provide a centre for giving specialized training to medical students and graduate physicians.

Fried sea foods simply cry out for pickle-y tartar sauce

No matter how we may treasure the delicate flavor of some kinds of fish, we find so many varieties that are enhanced or just plain brought to life by the right kind of pickle.

How many times, for instance, have you reached for the gherkins when you come to garnish a tuna or salmon or shrimp salad? And can we deny the interest that a pickle sauce gives to steamed fish—not to mention how fried sea foods simply cry out for a pickle-y tartar sauce?

And I was reminded lately by the manufacturers of an excellent line of pickles that all pickles can do a lot for a variety of fish dishes.

You'll like the following recipes. They use pickles to give a new twist to some old familiar fish favorites.

DILLED TUNA CASSEROLE

- 1 tablespoon salt 3 quarts boiling water
- $\frac{1}{2}$ pound noodles or elbow macaroni
- 1 can condensed cream of celery soup

- 1 can (5-oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained (or $\frac{1}{4}$ pound fresh)
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped dill pickles
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup mayonnaise
- 1 teaspoon salt
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon pepper

- 2 cans (6 or 7 oz. each) tuna
- Add 1 tablespoon salt to boiling water and in it boil noodles or macaroni until tender. Drain, rinse with hot water, again drain.

Combine soup, mushrooms, pickle, mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon salt and pepper. Drain tuna and break in bite-sized pieces or flake.

Spread noodles in greased baking dish and top with tuna, then with sauce. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, until thoroughly heated—about 25 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

NUT-FISH BAKE

- 1 package (8 oz.) frozen fish sticks
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup chopped blanched almonds
- 1 cup grated cheddar cheese
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sour cream (or rich milk)

- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped sweet mixed pickles
- Arrange frozen fish sticks in a shallow baking dish, about 6 inches across.

Combine remaining ingredients and spread over fish (the pickle mixture makes a quite thick layer over the fish). Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs.

Bake in hot oven, 425 degrees, for 15 or 20 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

FROSTED SALMON STEAKS

- $1\frac{1}{4}$ to $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups drained chopped sweet mixed pickles
- 2 pounds salmon steaks Salt, pepper, accent
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
- Paprika

Spread pickles in greased baking dish, 13x9x2 inches. Arrange fish over pickles and sprinkle with some salt, freshly-ground pepper and accent. Cover and bake in hot oven, 400 degrees, about 30 minutes or until fish may be flaked easily with a fork.

Combine sour cream and $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt. Spread over fish.

MAPLE COPSE CHAPTER I.O.D.E.

Mrs. C. G. Skinner, 1st vice-regent of Maple Copse Chapter, I.O.D.E., conducted the March meeting in the absence of the regent.

Mrs. Darcy Bennett, convenor, reported that the bridge marathon was completed, the winners being Mrs. C. Beaudreau and Mrs. C. Squires, the second prize going to Mrs. L. Brosseau and Mrs. L. Memory. The proceeds of this had been very satisfactory and Mrs. Skinner congratulated Mrs. Bennett on its success.

The newly appointed Services secretary, Mrs. P. Staples, distributed wool and reported the receipt of a number of knitted articles which would be sent to Provincial headquarters before the end of the month.

The monthly bulletin from the Provincial secretary was read and members noted the date of the annual meeting to be held in Quebec April 14 and 15. Miss Molony was appointed chapter delegate.

It was decided to hold the annual birthday tea, Mrs. Austin Scott once again offering her home for the occasion. A tentative date, Thursday, April 30, was chosen.

Contributions were voted towards the Korean Projects fund, Overseas relief and the McLennan Travelling Libraries. Mrs. G. S. Sutherland reported sending three parcels of paper back books to Germany and asked for more which are needed to complete a March shipment.

It was noted that the April meeting will be addressed by two students from Bishop's University, who will talk about their home land, Kenya.

Business concluded, the meeting closed with the usual ceremony and refreshments were served by Mrs. Austin Scott.

Bikini clad secretaries thing of the future

VANCOUVER—(CP)—The secretary of the future may come to the office clad in the briefest bikini this side of the Riviera.

At least that was the implication recently at a secretarial fashion show, part of the board of trade secretaries luncheon. The bosses took their secretaries to the luncheon, which ran overtime.

Secretaries - turned - model illustrated the evolution from the secretary of 1900 with her flowered hat and floor-sweeping skirt to the "secretary of the future"—in a brief black bikini.

The luncheon also featured a round-robin discussion — on what the boss looks for in a secretary. The consensus: He looks for gratitude and punctuality in the girl he hires—not necessarily efficiency, youth and good looks.

Lawrence Stevens, a fire insurance company manager, had a word for secretaries afraid of automation:

"Don't be afraid. Remember, the boss can't tell the machine the secrets he tells you."

The guest of honor was the recipient of many useful gifts, and after they had been opened and admired, the bride-elect graciously thanked her hostess and friends for their thoughtfulness.

British bosses urged to hire women over 60

LONDON—(AP)—British bosses were urged Monday to hire women 60 and over for their office staffs.

"Compared with the dizzying procession of young girls passing through secretarial and typing posts, a fit and capable woman of 60 is a very rock of stability," said a report from the National Corporation for Care of Old People.

The report was an analysis of 1,763 women of 60 and over still at work in the London area. Among them, it said, is a competent stenographer of 85.

Check Wardrobe

This is a good time to check over your spring wardrobe. Try on all of last year's clothes, have alterations made if needed, and discard anything that you know you won't wear.

Ruth Millett

Wrong group of 'Joneses'

This harried husband writes of a problem that is all too common in the early years of married life.

"For the five years we have been married, my wife and I have been going around with a crowd that has a lot more money to spend than we do.

"My wife doesn't complain because my job is small potatoes compared to the jobs of the other husbands in our crowd. But I know it makes her unhappy not to have as good a home as her friends have, not to be able to entertain the way the other girls do, or to dress as well.

"I think that gradually, we ought to stop seeing so much of this crowd and look for friends more nearly on our economic level. But my wife thinks that for the sake of our two young daughters we should keep the friends we have so that our children can grow up with theirs, etc. . . . even though it is all we can do to try to keep up with the kind of social life they can afford. What do you think?"

I think that you're absolutely right. Evidently trying to keep up a social life with friends who have so much more to spend is not making either of you happy.

And what possible good can it do your children, as they grow older, to be shoved into a situation where all their friends have a lot more than they have?

There's no need to drop out completely from the crowd you have been going around with—but you can do it gradually without causing any hard feelings.

Taken at random from the Paris Collections, are three British fabrics being used this season by leading couturiers. The Yves St. Laurent suit (left) with its snug little button-up jacket and yoked and pleated skirt is in a flat-surfaced grey worsted by Garigue. Note the easy, natural shoulders, the slender, bracelet-length sleeves, the lean-to front fit of the jacket, the "school-girl" hat and pussy-cat bow. Lastly, the Jeanne Lanvin travel coat (center) caught casually at the waist with a buckle fastening. The deep V-opening and huge patch pockets are very "right" by the season's fashion standards. It is cut in a beautiful beige wool melton, also by Garigue. The Philippe Venet coat (right) in a salmon pink pure wool worsted fleece by Garigue is a miracle of tailoring—an exercise in perfection.

Snow and high water hit Canadian Easter

It was more like Christmas than Easter across most of Canada during the weekend holiday as cool temperatures and heavy snowstorms limited most commemorative events to church services.

Exceptions were in British Columbia, especially Vancouver Island, where churches climbed through tidal-wave rubble under sunny skies, and in southern Alberta where temperatures in the 50s were recorded.

While poor driving conditions from the Maritimes to Manitoba cut down holiday traffic, the grim prediction of 38 deaths by the Canadian Highway Safety Council for the three-day holiday was surpassed.

Little change in weather conditions was expected today as the weatherman predicted more snow from the southern Prairies through to Newfoundland.

NO FASHION SHOW
Across Canada Sunday, special church services were packed but no Easter parades were reported.

Annual peace marches by the Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament were held in Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston, Ont., Saskatoon and Vancouver where placards were displayed calling for removal of nuclear weapons from Canada.

In the Toronto march a shaggy crepe - paper dinosaur trundled along bearing the words: "Once armed to the teeth: Now extinct".

In Kingston, a group of 24 peace marchers, mostly Queen's University students, kept a cold and lonely four-hour vigil around a war memorial.

In Halifax, a sunrise service on Citadel Hill drew a large crowd despite foggy, damp weather. It rained most of the day with only an occasional glimpse of sunshine.

In Newfoundland, sunny skies over the province Sunday and slackening winds allowed temperatures to recover quickly from overnight lows in the 20s. Activities were limited to church services.

In New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, rain and snow discouraged fashion displays but churches were crowded for regular and special services, including some at sunrise. Roman Catholic churches also had traditional Holy Saturday ceremonies.

Trinite dance
The Trinite Boys' Club will be sponsoring an Easter Hop Tuesday night at the Trinity United Church on Sherbrooke's Court Street.

Dancing is from 8 to 11 p.m.

News flashes from around the world

SOUTH MOUNTAIN, Ont. (CP)—A holstein cow owned by Arthur Marriner in this Ottawa-area farming community gave birth to six calves. All were dead before birth and one was deformed.

Veterinarian Larry Gray said he could neither recall any similar case nor had he read of any. Federal agriculture department scientists in Ottawa were also unable to recall such an occurrence.

They said the best guess is that the fertilized egg divided several times, accounting for the multiple birth, and added that a comparable human example would be the birth of quintuplets.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—James L. Knight, president of the Miami Herald, and four other persons were rescued Sunday when his yacht, Jimiana, sank about 40 miles east of Miami off Cat Cay, the U.S. Coast Guard reported.

The 60-foot yacht sprung a leak and the coast guard sent a plane to the scene and dropped a pump, but the craft could not be saved.

The Knight party had been fishing in the Bahamas during the last week and he landed a world record blue marlin in the 50-pound-test-line class. The fish weighed 585 pounds and was landed in only six minutes aboard the yacht Reun, on which Knight and his party had been fishing.

EDMONTON (CP)—English and French - Canadians were urged Sunday to settle their differences by a representative of Canada's first residents, Chief Walking Buffalo, 93-year-old chief of the Stony Indians in Alberta.

He said in an address to 250 delegates attending a Moral Re-argament conference here: "Remember, Canada is our country. I call on English and French - Canadians to stop bumping their heads together and get rid of bitterness, cheating and impurity."

FAIRBANKS (AP)—The Fairbanks Daily News Miner flew

250 copies of a special edition by charter plane to Anchorage Sunday for free distribution in that newspaperless city.

The edition carried the mastheads of the New Miner, Anchorage Daily Times and Anchorage Daily News. It contained both news and pictures of the earthquake which smashed Anchorage and half a dozen smaller cities Friday evening.

The Times and News plants were damaged in the quake and neither published Saturday.

Carnation case is dismissed

Judge Edouard Tellier of the Superior Court in Montreal has dismissed with court expenses, the attempt by the Carnation Milk Company to operate the joint plan with the Milk Producers' Office of Quebec.

If the company does not appeal the judgment, talks will re-open to set the price of milk which the milk producers sell to Carnation.

Judge Tellier ruled that the law of agricultural markets of Quebec is not ultra vires and that the Office had not under the present circumstances exceeded its jurisdiction and powers.

"There is no doubt," Judge Tellier said, that the legislature has the right and the power to regulate a contract between seller and buyer.

He dismissed the company's claim that the laws regulating the buying and sale of milk at the primary level were under federal jurisdiction and thus ultra vires of the Quebec legislature.

The judge also disallowed the company's charge that they were not consulted during the negotiations. Judge Tellier ruled that the negotiations which had been going on for five years before the company made the claim could not be questioned.

He concluded that the application, administration and conduct of the joint plan are confined in the Milk Producers' Office of the Province of Quebec which will administer all bona fide milk producers of the province of Quebec which deliver their milk and milk products to the Carnation Company and its factories in the province.

low casualties but mighty ruin. Anchorage, the metropolis of the state with an area population of 100,000, counted 12 dead. Its business district and its best residential sections were tottering heaps of awesome wreckage.

Kodiak Island also counted 12 dead. Its fishing fleet and canning plants were wrecked.

DOCK SMASHED
One hundred and fifty miles southeast of Anchorage, reports from the small town of Valdez said many of the 32 dead were on a dock that collapsed when hit by a huge sea wave.

The waves also worked terrible and deadly destruction thousands of miles away, killing at least 16 persons in California and Oregon. Worst of these sufferers was Crescent City, Calif., more than 2,000 miles from the quake's epicentre. There 11 persons died and 15 are missing.

Anchorage, centre of the Alaskan recovery effort, went soberly about its business, flinching at successive aftershocks.

One shake, felt strongly in Anchorage Easter night, was rated at 7.3 on the Richter scale of energy by the University of Washington at Seattle. 1,500 miles away, University scientists said it was a separate quake in the Aleutian trench 600 miles northwest of Friday's epicentre. But Anchorage felt it with jittery apprehension.

NEW WARNING
A mid-afternoon shock led to a warning of a new tidal wave headed for Seward. It was called off quickly, but those who had lived through Friday night's terror fled to high ground.

The Friday quake was rated by experts at 8.2 to 8.7 on the Richter scale. This scale, measuring the release of energy, has never before rated a quake higher than 8.6 and then only rarely and in unpopulated places.

The problems of immediate food and shelter were being solved rapidly but temporarily. Anchorage grocers estimated they had about a 30-day stock of essential foods on hand—mostly in wrecked warehouses but still usable.

Electric current was being restored slowly. But many homes and buildings were without light, heat or power. Drinking water had to be boiled or melted from snow. Typhoid inoculations were arranged.

other Vancouver Island communities facing the Pacific. One of the worst hit was the Indian village of Hot Springs Cove, north of the Alberni, where inhabitants were evacuated by a rescue vessel from 17 flooded homes.

But the Alberni took the brunt of a sea gone crazy. Of the four successive tidal waves, the first was of lesser force but it gave the people warning of the second giant wall of water surging their way.

T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, toured the Alberni flood area Sunday. He said he will ask Ottawa to send in army engineers to help in rubble-clearing and rebuilding.

MUST SEE IT
"One has to see the destruction to appreciate the terrible handicap these people are operating under," said Mr. Douglas after seeing scores of wrecked homes and stores.

Many buildings had a foot of oozy mud on their floors.

The giant MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River sawmill-paper mill operation employing 4,000 men was damaged and closed down. Night shift workers early Saturday tried to stem the tide of disaster as great logs crashed through windows from the booming grounds and salt water surged over plant machinery.

The Red Cross set up a special bureau in Vancouver and shipped blankets, diapers and pillows to the area. Most flood victims were being cared for temporarily in the Catholic church hall in Port Alberni. Investigation showed there was no apparent health hazard.

ORGANIZED HELP
When the first wave struck, off-duty RCMP and civil defence workers established a mobile headquarters.

Officers and volunteers splashed to this point from all directions, bringing an assortment of police cars, fire trucks, boats, searchlights and radio equipment.

Officers took off in boats to cover a half-square-mile area along the seafloor, coping with darkness—there was a power failure—and the strange problems of water navigation over areas where there should have been gardens, trees and playgrounds.

They found at least 60 houses in the immediate area heavily damaged, and perhaps 200 more were evacuated in the face of rising water.

VETOOES GROATS
LONDON (AP) — The only groat that will get you a bus ride in Britain is an old groat. The chancellor of the exchequer vetoed a Conservative MP's suggestion that the four-penny groat coin—discontinued in 1856—should be revived since basic bus fares have been increased the four pence. But an old groat will serve if any turns up, he added.

Leafs edge Canucks 2-1, Wings stop Hawks 5-4

Big M finally catches on fire to pace Leafs to victory, outstanding in new spot. Gilles Tremblay lost

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens fans finally have seen what their Toronto counterparts sometimes call the eighth wonder of the world — the real Frank Mahovlich.

For years these Canadiens partisans have heard and read rave notices of the celebrated Toronto Maple Leaf but seldom has he performed with any distinction on Forum ice. The big M might have been marvelous elsewhere but has been rated mediocre here.

Until Saturday night. Mahovlich, recharged with his change of assignments from left wing to centre, baffled the Canucks and Montreal admirers with a display of hockey brilliance that put the Maple Leafs in the driver's seat in their best-of-seven semi-final Stanley Cup playoff.

SCORED ONE

He scored one goal, set up another and just missed on three other chances as he led the Leafs to a 2-1 victory over the Canucks that squared the series at one game apiece. The third and fourth games are scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday in Toronto.

"Mahovlich played his best game in the last two or three years," coach Punch Imlach said afterwards. "It took him a long time to find desire but when he did the Canucks couldn't catch him."

It could be that Imlach found it for him when he switched the sometimes - spiritless Mahovlich from left wing to centre near the tail end of the regular schedule. Mahovlich credits this change for his improvement.

"It's playing centre that does it," the tall 26-year-old explained. "You're not standing still as much or waiting for anything. You've got freedom to skate around."

WAS CHECKING

Mahovlich did just that. He was circling in the Canucks' end, just waiting, when the play was there and backchecking, in a fashion too often foreign to him, when Montreal was on the attack.

He dug out the puck and passed out to Kelly for the opener at 8:50 of the first period and was in position when Kelly returned the favor at 12:03, whipping home a 20-footer. Twice he hit the goalpost in that frame and only an awesome save by Charlie Hodge robbed him of a second-period goal.

The Canadiens made an aborted comeback attempt on Jean Beliveau's goal at 15:29 of the second frame on a power play but the Leafs' brawny defence held, with the result that the Canadiens were outshot 25-22, a rare occurrence.

The loss on home ice made the Habs underdogs to take the series, a sharp contrast to the 11-to-5 choices they had been after beating the Leafs 2-0 in the opening game. The Canadiens, as Toe Blake sees it, must win one of the two Toronto games.

Tremblay won't be aboard when the Canadiens travel to Toronto by train today. He's out for the rest of the season with a fractured ankle he suffered when Leaf defenceman Care Brewer sat on him in the early minutes.

"Brewer is trying to end the same way he did last year," Blake said. "He's due for another broken arm."

Tremblay won't be replaced immediately because the Canadiens still have 11 forwards and can't bring in an emergency recruit unless the bench strength is reduced further. Red Berenson took his place on the Henri Richard-Bobby Rousseau line and Blake said he played "fairly well."

Harrison claims endurance record for swimming

DURBAN (AP) — Lionel Harrison, 26, emerged from a swimming pool in this South African city Sunday and claimed a world endurance record for staying under water.

Wearing a forger's suit, he submerged in a hotel pool for 37 hours, 20 minutes, 24 seconds — beating the mark set by a student in Cape Town, South Africa, recently by 1:21.8.

Harrison, who almost lost consciousness twice during his submersion, was helped by two divers who exercised him under water and helped keep him awake. But he emerged fit and well.

NHL governors liable for fine-Campbell

MONTREAL (CP) — National Hockey League governors are subject to discipline just as the players are, league president Clarence Campbell says.

It was to illustrate this point that he disclosed, during a television panel show prepared Friday, that he fined NHL Governor William Jennings, president of New York Rangers, $500 for invading a referee's dressing room.

The incident took place during a game in New York last December, when Jennings entered the dressing room of referee Vern Buffey and criticized him for alleged inadequate refereeing.

Campbell said no disciplinary action could be taken in advance of the next governors' meeting.

OOPS — Frank Mahovlich of Toronto Maple Leafs straddles goalie Charles Hodge of Montreal Canadiens during action in the second game of their Stanley Cup best-of-seven semi-final series in Montreal Saturday night. Toronto won the game 2-1, tying the series at one game apiece, on goals by Mahovlich and Red Kelly.

Rookie Bob Champoux takes over for injured Terry Sawchuk as Norm Ullman registers hat-trick

CHICAGO (CP) — "You say sham-poo, like the stuff you put in your hair," said the quiet little man in the sweaty underwear.

That was Bob Champoux, 21, the goaltender almost nobody had heard of before Sunday night, telling reporters in the steamy Detroit Red Wings dressing room how to pronounce his name.

Minutes before, he had been out on the ice in smoke-filled Chicago Stadium, living up to his name by getting into the hair of Chicago Black Hawks as a pinch-hitter for Terry Sawchuk.

With the untried rookie in the nets the Red Wings out-battled the Hawks 5-4 to tie their best-of-seven Stanley Cup series at one victory each. The Hawks won the opener 4-1 Thursday.

Norm Ullman scored three goals for the Detroit club and checked ferociously. Gord Howe played a powerful game, scoring once and earning an assist, and Andre Pronovost counted the other Detroit goal, his second of the series.

SCORES TWO GOALS

Bill (Red) Hay scored two goals 47 seconds apart in the second period and Eric Nesterenko got within 33 seconds in the third to wrap up Chicago's scoring.

The series goes to Detroit for the third and fourth games Tuesday and Thursday. After that the teams meet here Sunday April 5 and, if necessary, at Detroit Tuesday, April 7 and at Chicago Thursday, April 9.

Champoux, a five-foot-10 165-pounder in his first year of professional hockey, was regular goaltender this season for Cincinnati Wings in the Central Professional League. He had an unspectacular record with the last-place club, allowing an average of 5.34 goals in 60 games.

He stepped in for Sawchuk after five minutes and 25 seconds of the first period. Sawchuk, 34, suffered a pinched nerve in his left shoulder as he reached for a shot by Hawks' Ken Wharram in the fourth minute of the game.

Sawchuk left the ice briefly, then returned for slightly more than a minute of play while Champoux, cold from the stands, dressed hurriedly.

STOPS HULL FIRST

Moments after he replaced Sawchuk, the Montreal-born goalie who, like Sawchuk, wears a protective mask, got his first test when NHL goal-scoring leader Bobby Hull fired a slap shot from just inside the blue line. Champoux flung out a leg and steered it away.

He got excellent protection — except for a few brief lapses — from the Wings' defence and stopped 14 shots in all. Sawchuk handled eight before he left with the score 0-0.

Chicago's Glenn Hall stopped 30 shots from the fired-up

Wings. "I just made up my mind not to worry about who was shooting, whether it be Bobby Hull, Stan Mikita or anybody," Champoux said. "I just wanted to stop all the shots."

"Gordie Howe came up to me and said 'do your best' and that gave me a lift. Then after Chicago scored two goals in the second period, all the players told me not to worry, that I really didn't have a chance on the shots."

Wings' coach Sid Abel said after the game he expected to have Sawchuk ready for the third game. The veteran's arm was placed in traction and it was expected his condition would be normal by Tuesday.

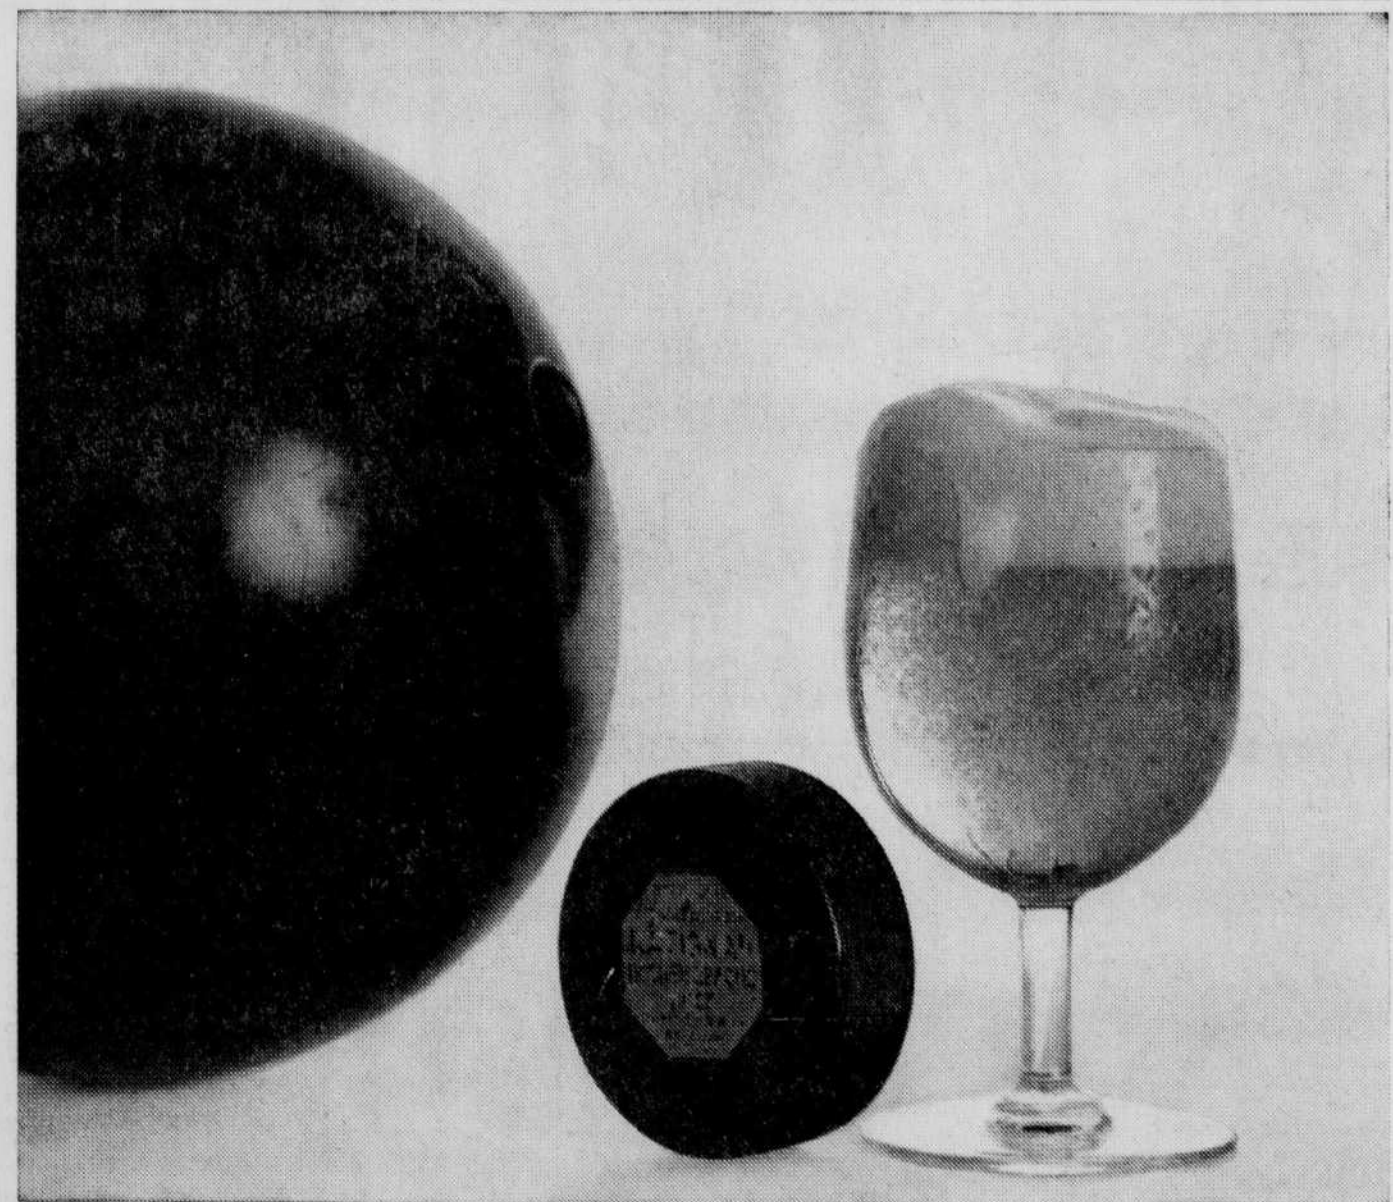

Abel said he would not use Champoux again if Sawchuk is not ready, but would call up Roger Crozier from Pittsburgh of the American League, a goaltender with several games' experience in the NHL.

However, NHL president Clarence Campbell said after the game that Crozier could not be used except in case of emergency. He said Detroit's situation could not be considered such an emergency with Champoux on hand to replace Sawchuk.

Ullman started Wings on the way with a power-play goal at 9:45 of the first period, deflecting Alex Delvecchio's shot behind Hall while Chicago's Ron Murphy served an elbowing penalty. Ullman made it 2-0 for Wings before the period ended, cashing in Larry Jeffrey's goal-mouth pass.

Andre Pronovost made it 3-0 early in the second, scoring while the Wings were short-handed with Jeffrey in the penalty box. Bruce MacGregor broke away from the Hawks' power play after Mikita missed a pass at the Detroit blue line, and skated in close to test Hall.

Chicago defenceman Pierre Pilote piled MacGregor on top of Hall and Pronovost picked up the loose puck and shot it into the unguarded net.

Bill Crothers wins event at Wembley

LONDON (Reuters) — Bill Crothers of Toronto, one of the favorites for the Olympic 800 metres title in Tokyo next October, gained a brilliant victory in the 600-yard event at the British indoor athletic championships at Wembley Saturday.

With an electrifying finishing burst, Crothers defeated the world indoor record holder, Wendell Mottley of Trinidad, to retain the title he won last year.

His time of one minute, 10 seconds bettered his own United Kingdom indoor mark by more than two seconds, but he was eight-tenths of a second outside Mottley's world mark.

What is a Volkswagen, really?

A Volkswagen is a car.

A different kind of car.

It has its engine in the rear instead of the front.

We do it that way to put extra weight over the drive wheels and improve the traction. That's why a Volkswagen keeps going on sand, mud, snow and ice.

And the engine is cooled with air instead of water. So there's no radiator to boil over in summer or freeze in winter. Or anti-freeze to buy. Or water pumps to fix. Or hose to replace.

The 1500 Station Wagon (pictured above) is a Volkswagen.

A new kind of VW. (Even though it has all the features just mentioned.)

It has a great new engine that will take you from a standing start to 50 miles per hour in twelve seconds. It's like driving a sports car. Or an expensive touring car.

There's no secret to the outstanding road holding qualities of the 1500. We use independent torsion-bar suspension. And an anti-sway bar. And an engine that is mounted low.

A Volkswagen is one more thing. Economical.

And that's not a phrase with us. We're ready to prove it. Anytime.

Bill Fuller's rink wins Dow Invitation Bonspiel

Posis 12-6 win over Ivan Lavallee, Stan Hamilton posits 8-5 win over Nicol's rink in Consolation event

By LEN O'DONNELL

Bill Fuller guided his rink to victory in the main event of the annual Dow Invitation Bonspiel Saturday evening at the Sherbrooke Curling Club. In the Consolation section Stan Hamilton of Lennoxville emerged with a win while in the special Consolation playoff Darcy Bennett of Lennoxville came through with an 8-3 decision over Ken Jackson's Sherbrooke rink.

Following the final games President Gerry Armstrong thanked Dow Brewery for staging the annual special event and at the same time thanked all the contestants and congratulated the winners. Doc Beaulieu, local representative for Dow, awarded the trophy to Skip Fuller, and assisted by Ivan Boisvert presented prizes to the other rinks.

The Fuller rink came through with a 12-6 win over Ivan Lavallee's Sherbrooke foursome after a close battle. After three ends the Fuller crew was ahead 3-2 but when Skip Lavallee missed on a take-out they posted two more.

In the sixth end Skip Fuller made a perfect draw to the button to cut his opposition out of a possible three and count one. In the seventh when the Lavallee rink missed they added three more for a 9-3 but then Smith came back with count but in the following end Lavallee's crew came right back with three. In the ninth end Skip Fuller picked up three for a 12-6 lead and the Lavallee rink conceded.

The Hamilton quartet got off to a good start over the Nicol rink, skipped by Ossie Smith. The score was tied 2-2 in the third and exchanging shots it was deadlocked once again 5-5 in the eighth. Skip Hamilton's crew snared two in the next end and in the final they picked up one for a 8-5 victory.

In the semi-finals of the main event the outcomes were only decided towards the end. In the Fuller-Jackson duel it was close until the fifth when Skip Fuller pulled off a three-end to move out in front 5-2. Prior to this they had two dead-ends.

The Fuller aggregation added one more in the sixth and extended it with two more for a 8-2 to lead and after this Skip Jackson conceded the match after tossing the required number of stones.

The Bennett-Lavallee battle was another close one until the fourth end. Skip Ivan Lavallee pulled off a beautiful shot to put Bennett rink out of a possible four and count one. This was the turning point of the match. They moved into a 6-1 lead and although Skip Bennett bounced right back with two Lavallee added four more in the next two ends for a 10-3 lead and they finished 11-3 when Bennett got a single.

In the Consolation section Skip Stan Hamilton pulled out with a 9-3 win over Keith Lane of Lennoxville also. After five ends the Hamilton crew held a 4-2 lead. They bounced back with a big four end and 8-2 lead coming home. Skip Lane tallied one but failed to get anything else as the Hamilton rink kept the house clear.

In the other section Skip Ossie Smith guided the Nicol crew to a 9-3 victory over A. Doiron of Lennoxville. The Smith squad started with a big three-end to open and from then on held the upper hand. After five ends they held a 6-2 lead. Doiron snared a single but then Smith came back with a three end for a 9-3 lead coming home and Skip Doiron conceded the match.

In the quarter-finals, I. Lavallee posted a 11-7 win over H. Mooney as D. Bennett eked out a close 6-5 win over Paul Leger. Bill Fuller posted a 5-2 decision over Rup Atto as Ken Jackson downed Dr. J. Dion 8-1.

The finalists follow:

CRANSTON, R.I. (AP)—The Quebec Castors pee-wee hockey team scored a pair of victories Saturday against Rhode Island pee-wee aggregations at the Ice Bowl in Cranston.

The Castors, Trois-Rivieres provincial pee-wee tillists, scored two goals in the first period and defeated Norwood Motors 3-1 in a morning encounter and then downed the Rhode Island pee-wee all-stars 5-2 in an afternoon game.

Jacques Carpentier was the day's high scorer for the Canadians with three goals.

Mantle's leg may be weak but bat is strong

The good news from New York Yankees' camp is that they've got back to using tape on Mickey Mantle's prodigious home runs instead of wrapping it around his legs.

The million-dollar slugger with the dime-store gums took a four-day layoff last week, complaining that his left knee ached where torn cartilage had been removed during the winter. On Sunday he hit his first two homers of the exhibition baseball season as the Yankees defeated Cincinnati Reds 6-4.

His first shot travelled 350 feet in the first inning and the second, in the fifth, rocketed 430 feet.

Sandy Koufax of the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers turned in his sharpest pitching performance in a 3-1 loss to Minnesota Twins.

Koufax became the first pitcher to go all the way this spring as he limited the Twins to five hits. Jimmie Hall ruined the effort with a two-run homer in the fourth and the Twins added an unearned run in the fifth.

Other hitting stars were Detroit rookie Willie Horton, Julio Gotay of Pittsburgh Pirates, Tim Lincecum of New York Mets and Tony Conigliaro, a rookie with Boston Red Sox who may be compiling one of the oddest hitting records ever produced.

HIT TWO HOMERS
Horton connected for a pinch-hit homer in the ninth inning of the Tigers' 2-2 triumph over Chicago White Sox in the opener of a double-header, then homered in the third inning of Detroit's 3-0 nightcap victory. Horton now has five homers.

Gotay collected two homers and two singles for five runs batted in as the Pirates walloped Philadelphia Phillies 13-4 while Harkness, the first baseman from Lachine, Que., broke a hitless string that had extended to 16 at-bats by slamming a homer, double and single in the Mets' 8-3 belting of Washington Senators.

Conigliaro led the Red Sox to a 6-4, 13-inning victory over Los Angeles Angels with a homer, two triples and a double. The 19-year-old outfielder now has collected 15 hits, 13 for extra bases. His batting average is .288; his slugging average .750.

In other games, St. Louis Cardinals edged Milwaukee Braves 6-5 in 11 innings, Kansas City Athletics defeated Houston Colts 2-1, Chicago Cubs outslugged San Francisco Giants 11-7, Baltimore Orioles nipped the Colts' B team 2-1 and Cleveland Indians downed the Angels' B squad 7-6.

On Saturday the Giants whipped the Tribe 7-4, the Red Sox topped the Angels 12-10, the Mets shaded Baltimore 3-2, Pittsburgh defeated Houston 8-6, Washington blanked the Orioles' B team 6-0 and the Cubs hammered the Angel Bs 10-6.

SENATE INVESTIGATORS ARE STUDYING BOXING AND UNDERWORLD FIGURES AS THEY PROBE SONNY LISTON ON FIGHT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators have more questions today about reports that underworld figures hung around while Sonny Liston trained for his heavyweight championship fight with Cassius Clay.

They also want to know why Liston gave away stock, which brought $100,000 in profits from the Clay fight, to a man identified as a former associate of mobster Frank (Blinky) Palermo.

Those questions came up as the Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee sought to wind up its hearings into circumstances surrounding the Feb. 25 fight won by Clay when Liston failed to come out for the seventh round.

In the new development, Senator Kenneth B. Keating (Rep. N.Y.) asked the investigators to find out whether associates of Frankie Carbo had been in Liston's and Liston's Florida training camps. Carbo, now in prison, is former underworld czar of boxing.

Keating, a member of the subcommittee making the inquiry, said he has information about a Washington meeting six years ago between Carbo and fight world figures.

Keating said he had been told there is evidence from New York investigations linking figures in the Clay-Liston fight with the Carbo combine.

"It is most essential that we discover whether Frank Carbo has reached out from behind prison bars and placed his cohorts in both the Liston and Clay camps."

Witnesses last week testified that Liston signed over, apparently getting nothing in return, 275 shares of his 500-share, 50-per-cent control in Inter-Continental to Sam Margolis, Philadelphia vending machine operator identified as once owning an apartment house with Palermo.

Margolis has said he got the stock for helping Liston set up the deal to get a share of the fight's promotional profits, something fighters normally don't get.

Margolis was identified last week as a close friend of Liston, one the former heavyweight champion trusted greatly.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Dr. Robert C. Bennett, Sonny Liston's personal physician, said Sunday night he was shocked by reports that the former heavyweight boxing champion was not in condition for his bout with Cassius Clay.

Bennett said in an interview with Milwaukee Sentinel boxing writer Ray Grody: "There was no question in my mind that Liston was sharp for the fight."

"I was with him for 10 days prior to the bout, actually lived in the same home with him. In fact, a few days before the fight, we laid off boxing because of his sharpness."

"I checked the man every day, as a doctor I think I should know whether a man is in good physical condition."

Liston lost his title to Clay when he did not answer the bell for the seventh round, complaining of a sore shoulder.

Jack Nilon, Liston's adviser, testified last week before the Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee in Washington that Liston seldom did any road work and as a whole did not train properly.

Bennett said: "As to the road work, I can tell you Sonny would get up at 5 a.m. every day and do his roadwork. Joe Louis was there and he'll tell you the same thing."

Cathy Chapman pace Don Mills to victory

RECORD SETTER — Cathy Chapman (92) sets a record of 6.5 seconds in the juvenile women's 50-yard hurdles at KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Toronto's Don Mills Track Club, paced by 16-year-old Cathy Chapman, came through as expected to dominate the first Canadian indoor age-class track and field championships here Saturday.

The club, with more of its athletes sweeping the running events, accumulated 140 points to win the individual team award. British Columbia finished a distant second with 94 points while Quebec took third with 86.

Miss Chapman, rated in a class by herself in the women's juvenile 50-yard hurdles, opened the early heats with a time of 6.7 seconds in the hurdles, equalling her own Canadian juvenile record. She stepped up the pace in the finals to shave a fifth of a second off the mark.

Her time matched the Canadian women's open mark established by Jenny Wingerson of Toronto in a February meet at Baltimore. The world record of 6.4 is owned by Tammy Davis of Frederick, Md.

NOT IN SHAPE
"I was happy with my time but I wasn't in top shape," said Miss Chapman after the final.

the Canadian Indoor Age-Class Track and Field championships at Kitchener, Ont., Saturday. Her time tied the

"I've still got a long way to go before I'll be in the shape I want."

"Right now I'm aiming for the Olympics. I'm working out six times a week and I hope it won't be too long before I'm in the right condition."

The Canadian juvenile record for the 50-yard dash was broken five times in the course of the meet with Yvonne Breeden of Vancouver, the eventual winner, achieving the fastest time of 5.9 seconds in a heat.

The old mark of 6.1 was surpassed by Miss Breeden, Judy Dallimore of Ottawa and Miss Chapman, the first three finishers in the final, all timed in 6.0.

HEADS FOR TOKYO
Miss Breeden, a 17-year-old member of Canada's last Pan-American and British Empire Games teams, holds a number of Canadian open and juvenile records and is expected to be a top sprint candidate for the Olympic Games at Tokyo next October.

Abigail Hoffman, Canada's leading track star who was expected to stir up the crowd, finished the juvenile 880-yard run in a disappointingly slow 2:21.2. She waved aside her slow time, saying: "I wasn't going, were taken."

for any records. I just wanted to win the race." Her time was some 10 seconds off her own open mark.

"I've been writing exams the last few weeks," explained the 17-year-old gold medal winner at the Pan-American games in Sao Paulo, Brazil, in 1963.

SLACKED OFF
"Because of the exams I've been slacking off my training. All I'm interested in is working myself back into shape."

John Reynolds, 19, of Galt, Ont., chalked up a record in the junior men's 600-yard run, winning in an impressive 1:14.3. The old mark of 1:19.8 was set in 1935 by W. Sprules of Hamilton.

The only other record was set by Eddie Hearner, a 17-year-old Toronto star. He chopped one-tenth of a second off the previous mark in the men's juvenile 50-yard dash with 5.4. Frank Barnes and John Thompson, both of Hamilton, hit 5.5 at a Hamilton meet in 1963.

Larocque School loses title to Rosemount club

MONTREAL (CP)—Midget, bantam and pee-wee teams from Quebec City play off next weekend in the final games of the Quebec Provincial Minor Hockey League championships.

Clubs representing Montreal's Comite des Jeunes de Rosemont are the opposition in the midget and bantam sudden-death games.

A spokesman for the Quebec Minor Hockey Association said Sunday night it has not been decided yet whether the two games will be played here or in Quebec City.

The pee-wees meet a team from South Durham, Que., at Richmond, Que.

In the juvenile category, Verdun police, 4-3 winners over Drummondville in overtime, go against the Saguenay district winner in Saguenay next Saturday.

The Rosemount Midgets beat Sherbrooke's Larocque school 9-2 here Saturday while the bantams whipped Drummondville 6-2 in Drummondville.

In a pee-wee semi-final at Richmond, South Durham shaded Verdun Red Wings 2-1.

When I graduate from High School, I'd like to work for a large organization—but would I get individual "coaching" to help me move right ahead?

YES—that's one of the big advantages at Royal Bank

Royal Bank ranks as one of the world's largest financial institutions, with more than 1,100 branches in Canada and abroad.

Yet each Royal Bank branch operates much like a local business, with a relatively small staff. This means that in the branch where you start, and others where you'll go for extra experience, your training and progress will be the personal concern of the manager. And he will help and encourage you in further studies, including special bank courses and training schools that give you valuable preparation for a banking career.

YOU CAN AIM FOR THE TOP AT THE ROYAL

Most of our managers came to us right from High School, were put in charge of their first branch by their mid-thirties. Senior officers, right up to the top, started the same way.

At Royal Bank, your aptitude, your desire to work, and get ahead, and your talent for dealing with people are the things that count. Staff benefits include an outstanding pension plan—group life insurance—health and hospital insurance—generous sick leave and vacation policies.

For further details, ask at any Royal branch for our booklet, "Your Future in the Royal Bank". Or have a talk with any Royal Bank manager about the interesting work and the human and financial rewards awaiting you in the challenging, growing field of modern banking.
