Food Cause Of Unrest In New Nation

Colombo, Ceylon — (Reuters) — Amir Didi, the first president of the Maldivian Republic, has resigned and today was reported under house arrest.

The political volcano erupted only eight months after the natives of the palm-studded cluster of 2,000 coral atolls in the Indian ocean set out on the road to democratic self-rule.

The 42-year-old Didi resigned Monday as president after mass demonstrations by hungry Maldivian islanders who demanded more to eat.

The food crisis began last June when tropical storms whipped the little islands 400 miles west of Ceylon, and kept the natives from putting out to sea to catch fish. This brought on a near famine. Fishing provides the main item in the Maldivian diet and the backbone of the young republic's economy.

P. B. Umbichy, newly-appointed Maldivian envoy to Ceylon, said today he had collected 1,400 bags of flour which will be rushed to the disaffected islanders as soon as possible.

Ex-president Didi, who had been in Madras, India, to take a cure for blood pressure trouble, flew back to the Maldivian capital, Male, last Monday and handed in his resignation.

His cousin, Ibrahim Mohammed Didi, 38, is acting as president.

The political unrest came to a head last week when the natives held protest meetings and demonstrations throughout the islands.

Amir Didi is a descendant of the dynasty which gave the Maldives its sultans for nearly 200 years. He was sworn in as president last January.

Britain gave up her protectorate over the islands on New Year's Day when the republic was proclaimed. Since then the Maldivians have run their own affairs except for defence and foreign affairs which still are under control of Britain.

Seek Postponement Of Vote On Admission Of Red China

By MAX HARRELSON

United Nations, N.Y. —(AP)—The United States will propose that the coming UN general assembly postpone the question of seating Red China for another year, informed quarters said today.

These sources said the United States already has consulted some delegations and is confident the assembly will sidetrack the issue, at least until its 1954 session.

Soviet delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky served notice two weeks ago that he would press to seat the Peiping regime when the assembly opens its three-month 1953 session Sept. 15.

Since then the Soviet newspaper Pravda has been giving the China representation questioning a big buildup. It insisted that the seating of the Chinese Communist government in the UN is "an absolute precondition" to the preservation and consolidation of international peace.

The U.S., however, has decided to follow the same procedure used last fall to avoid a showdown on the seating of the Chinese Reds. At that time, the United States succeeded in pushing through a resolution saying simply that the assembly would postpone for the duration of its seventh session consideration of all proposals to exclude Nationalist China and seat Red China.

The United States won an easy victory then because the Chinese Communists were fighting UN forces in Korea. Many of the 17 UN members which have recognized the Peiping regime voted for postponement. The U.S. proposal

Additional Persons On Lost plane

Roberval, Que. —(C)—The number of men aboard a Mont Laurier Airways plane, missing since Aug. 25 in northern Quebec, today was fixed at seven, two more than reported earlier.

Poor radio communications were blamed for the lack of information on the passengers, until a search plane returned with their names from Fort Chimo, on Ungava Bay.

Three passengers and two crew members were known to have been aboard the pontoon-equipped Norseman which disappeared on a 600-mile flight from Fort Chimo's sea plane base at Lake Stewart to this Lake St. John town.

Capt. J. F. Henley of Maritime Central Airways who landed his Canso at Bagotville's RCAF station, 50 miles east of here, said there "definitely" were seven men aboard the missing aircraft.

He identified the two passengers whose names were known Thursday as J. Ray Vanstone, a Toronto student, and a man named Levesque, whose first name he could not give.

Passengers identified earlier were: H. Theinhaus, a German geologist, K. Koetan, a Dutch engineer, and Victor Abel, of Senneville, Que., an experienced bush traveller with Fenimore Mines Company, whose iron ore holdings in the Ungava Bay region the group had inspected. Vanstone was a member of the surveying party.

The crew was made up of pilot J. R. Mullin of Kenora, Ont., and flight engineer Richard Everitt of Montreal.

The missing Norseman, carrying equipment and rations for several weeks, was last heard from while passing over Fort McKenzie, 100 miles south of Fort Chimo, and 200 miles north of Nitechequon, halfway refueling point on the flight to Roberval.

The plane's disappearance went unreported three days because of the lack of communications.

Say Nimitz Resigning Kashmir Job

New Delhi. —(AP)—A Foreign office spokesman said today the Indian government has been informed that U. S. Admiral Chester W. Nimitz has resigned as plebiscite administrator for disputed Kashmir—a "name only" post for the past two years.

At his home in Berkeley, Calif., Nimitz refused to confirm or deny the resignation.

Provincial Day, Final Judging Took Place Yesterday.

The week-long Sherbrooke Fair comes to an end tonight. This year's exhibition, 68th in the history of the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association, will go down on record as one of the most sun-baked of all time, for there has not been a day since the Fair started last Saturday that the temperature has not soared well past the 80 degree mark.

Today was no exception and humidity was added to the heat which was due to touch a record 92-degree high some time during the day.

The heat has not detracted in any way from the excellence of the Fair, but it has affected attendance figures, many persons who normally would visit the grounds two or three times during the week, finding it just too much of an effort under the humid conditions to make more than one trip to the grounds.

Surprisingly, though, the exhibition grounds have been just about the coolest spot in the city, catching whatever breeze there was.

Attendance yesterday took another dip from last year's figures, with 8,020 persons passing through the gates, compared with 11,376 on Thursday in 1952. Grandstand attendance last night was 4,320, compared with 5,020 last year.

Total attendance for the week now stands at 62,344, compared with 72,323 for the comparable period last year. Today's figures should increase, however, because a wet Friday last year reduced the Friday gate to 2,868.

Judging at the Fair ended yesterday, but this is an excellent day to visit the grounds. All the prize winning exhibits will be on display and the entertainment program will be operating at full swing.

The George Hamid grandstand show will be staged tonight and it is the opinion of almost everyone who has seen this revue that it is best that has come here in many years.

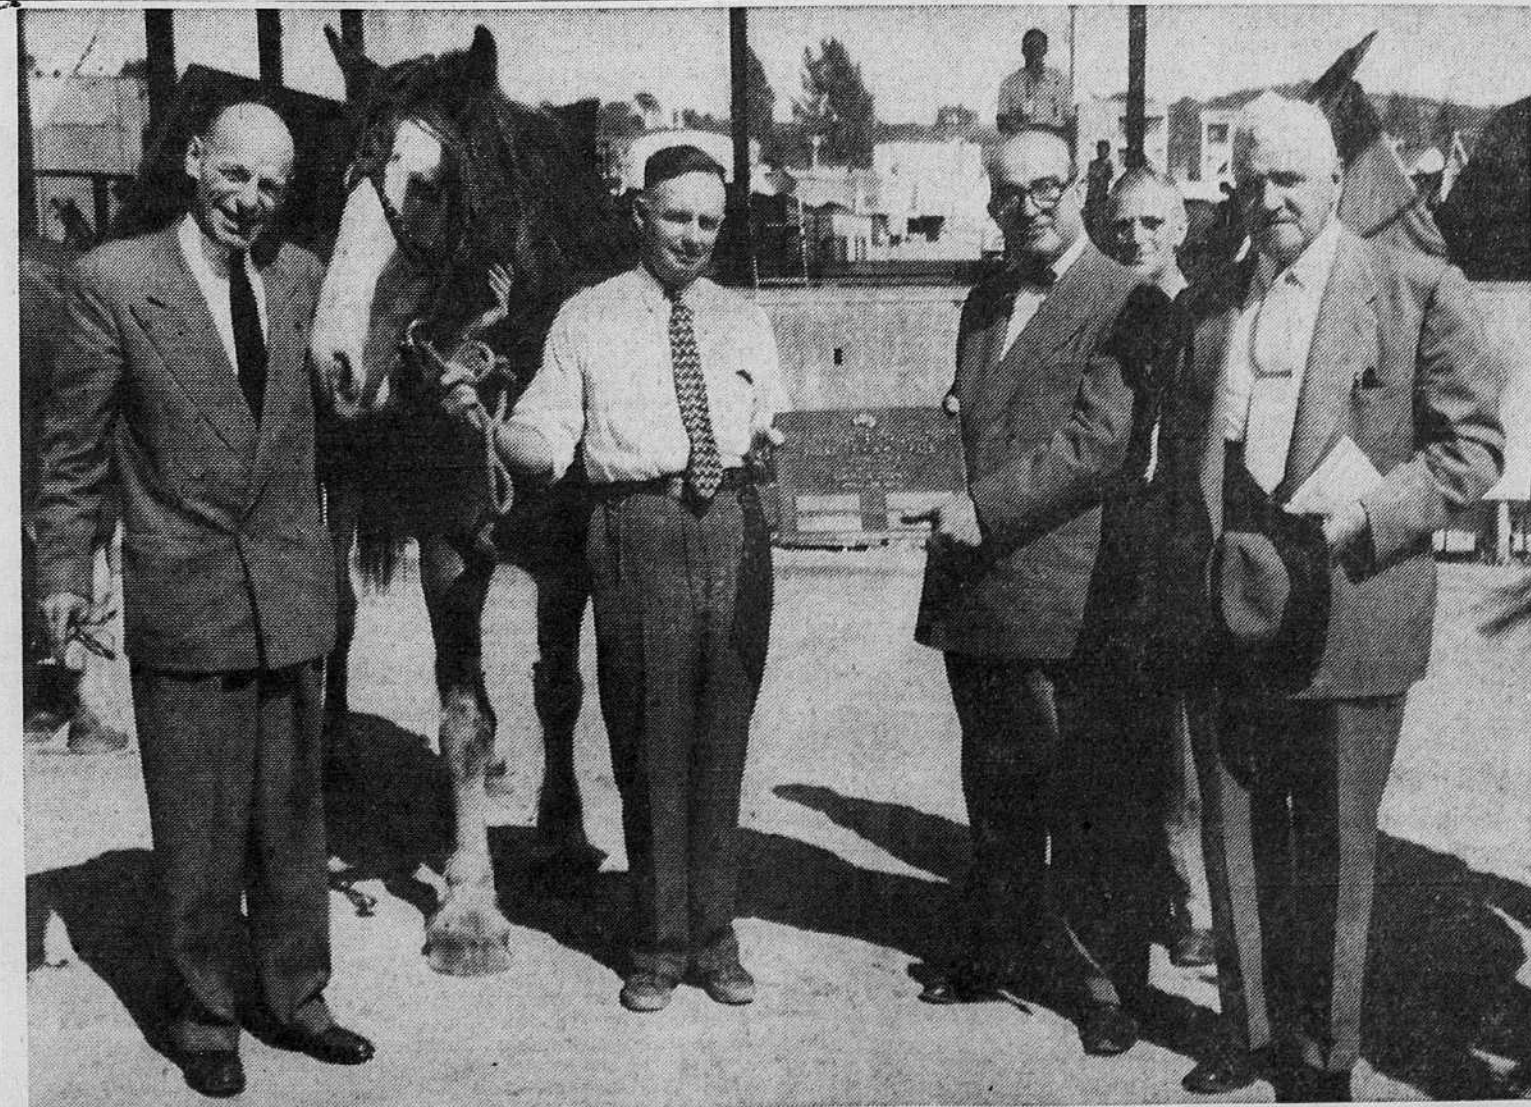

Conklin's Midway, of course, will operate until midnight and one of the most pleasant ways of closing off an evening is to take a spin on some of the many rides.

Yesterday's activities were highlighted by the visit of several Eastern Townships members of the Quebec Legislature and other provincial government officials. A luncheon for these guests was held at noon.

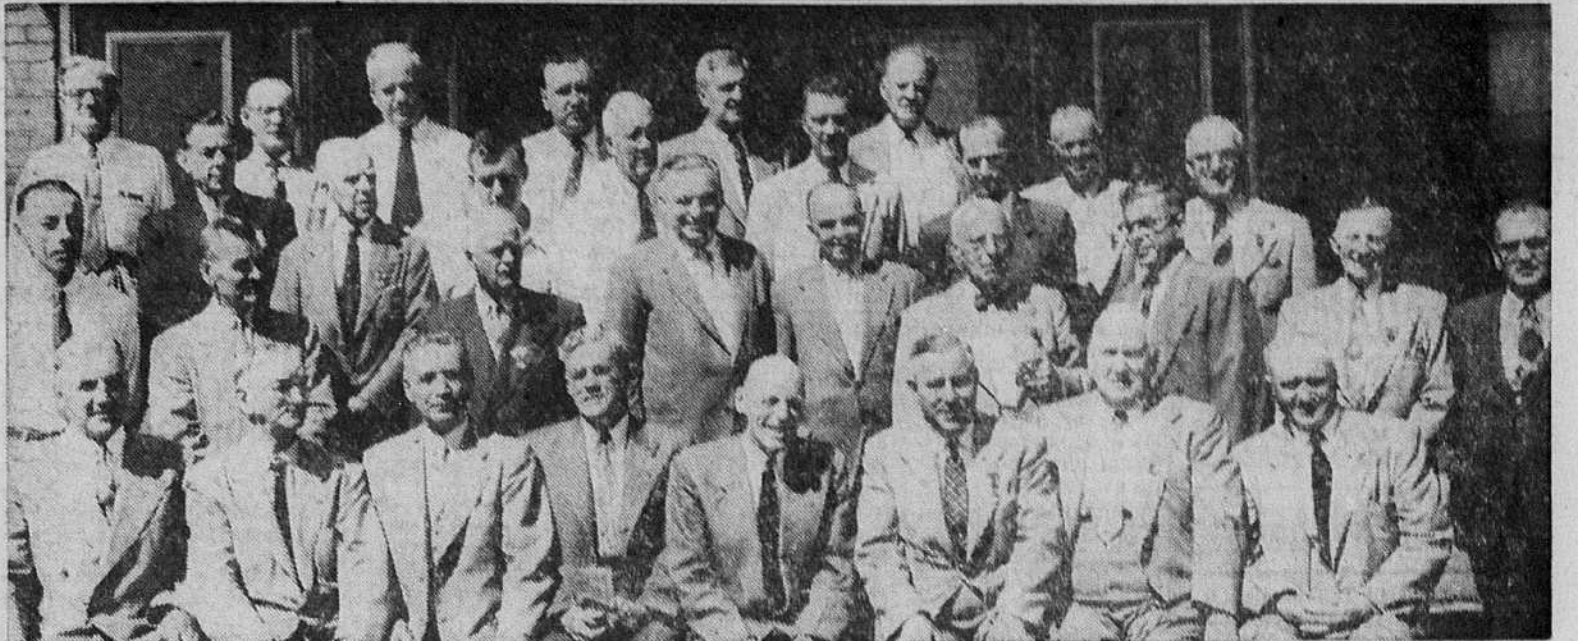

Judging was completed in the Jersey and Canadian cattle classes. Two well-known E.T. Jersey cattle breeders shared top honors in that class. Pierre Veillon, of Sweetsburg, was awarded the grand championship ribbon for his bull, while Mrs. A. R. Virgin, of North Hatley, showed the grand champion cow.

In the Canadian section, the grand champion bull and cow were both shown by O. A. Fowler, of Kingsbury. Mr. Fowler, in fact, won all the championship ribbons, with the exception of the reserve grand champion bull, which was

German Reaction To Dulles Speech Worries Washington

By EDWARD E. BOMAR

Washington. —(AP)—U.S. officials crossed their fingers today in concern over what effect state secretary Dulles' outspoken endorsement of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer may have on the German elections.

The fate of Adenauer's coalition government, which is friendly to the United States and other Western powers, is at stake in elections on Sunday.

The United States traditionally has kept hands off elections in foreign lands to avoid any appearance of outside interference. But at his press conference Thursday, Dulles threw that tradition out the window in Adenauer's case.

Failure to retain the Adenauer coalition, he said, would have a disastrous effect on the possibility of German unity and the prospects of restored sovereignty to all Germany.

Promptly a spokesman for the German Socialist party, which is spearheading the opposition to Adenauer, complained at Bonn that Dulles was guilty of a "vicious attempt" to interfere directly in German affairs.

Senator Lister Hill (Dem.-Ala.) said that while he agrees with Dulles that Adenauer's election would benefit the United States greatly, he doesn't believe the state secretary should undertake to tell any other people how they should vote.

"Any nation usually resents outside interference in its election and reacts against it," the Alabama Senator observed. "It is a dangerous thing when outsiders, particularly an official of another government, attempts to influence an election in any nation."

American diplomatic officials, privately fearful that Dulles' endorsement might cost Adenauer votes, look for the Communists and other foes of the chancellor to try to make a telling last-minute issue of the episode.

It has been no secret that the General Dean Tells Of Long Stay In Communist Prisons

Freedom Village. —(AP)— Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, white-haired and thin after more than three years in Communist prisons, today rode a Russian-built jeep back to freedom.

Dean, who won the Medal of Honor fighting beside his men in the streets of Taejon, had aged 10 years in appearance. He came back wearing a dust-covered blue cotton suit, brown sneakers, yellow shirt, a red tie and a wry grin.

He said he had not seen another American since July 21, 1950.

"It is certainly good to see so many fellow citizens," Dean said warmly. "You all look better to me than I do to you, I'm sure."

At this processing centre the tanned old soldier told of his capture in the midst of the swirling confusion of the war's dark early days . . . of sleepless days . . . 68 hours once—of questioning during which he wore out relays of Red interpreters . . . of the terrible isolation of more than three years.

Much of the time, he said, the Communists gave him nothing to read and no pencils or paper. He spent his lonely days working mathematical problems in his head.

The general was greeted by high-ranking officers and fighting men. He beamed as cheers rang out. He arrived in the last ambulance to come from Panmunjom and after routine processing was flown to the evacuation hospital at Seoul. The air force said Dean probably would be flown to Tokyo Saturday.

The 54-year-old general, a veteran of almost 30 years in the army, said he wandered a month through Korea trying to reach American lines. For 20 days he went without food. Then came his capture, long marches and hours of questioning.

The Communists used several teams of interrogators but only two interpreters, he said. Questioned me 68 hours," Dean said. "I think the interpreters just wore out."

"The next time it was only 41 hours. The third go was 32 hours."

"I was very thin at the time. It hurt me to sit down. I sat on my hands until they puffed up."

"They were going to punish me as a 'war criminal' for my activities as military governor of South Korea."

Dean said he met several Communists whom he had seen earlier in various positions in South Korea. He said he became separated from the men of the 24th Division which he commanded on July 21, 1950.

"On five occasions while trying to get back to my division I was surrounded by North Koreans or local boys who had been given guns by North Koreans and who called themselves home guards," Dean said.

By Aug. 25 he had worked his way as far south as Chinnai, about 30 miles below Taejon. There he met a Korean civilian who promised to help him return to American lines.

But when they reached the point where they were supposed to meet American troops, a group of Koreans started shooting.

A Korean grabbed his arm and "before I was able to get my hands free about 20 Koreans were on me."

"That night in a jail Dean's feet were swollen so he took off his boots."

"That gave them the idea," he added wryly. "They took the boots."

"The next day when we were marching north they gave me Korean rubber shoes but there were no soles on them. It was a terrible mistake taking my boots off."

Talking with the reporters here, Dean said the Reds discovered he was a general at Chongju a few days after his capture. They took him to Chongju in a truck with about 20 Korean soldiers.

"They put me in a 20 man cell all to myself."

The Reds called a press conference for him with the "Korean press."

Final Tribute
Is Paid To
Mrs. Powell

The funeral of Mrs. Cecil Powell, nee Kathleen Margaret Little, who passed away at Leominster, Mass., on August 29 after a long illness, was held at St. Patrick's Church on Tuesday.

The remains were received at the church by Rev. J. R. Moisan. The solemn requiem high mass was sung by Father Moisan, assisted by Rev. R. Couture as deacon and Rev. J. Clark as sub-deacon. Interment was made in St. Michael's Cemetery, where Father Moisan officiated.

Among those attending from out of town, besides her husband, Cecil A. Powell and children, Elizabeth and Albert, were Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Little, of Leominster, and Orlando, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sanchez, of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Broadbelt, of Rock Island.

The bearers at the funeral were David O'Keefe, Michael Davey, William Willard, Dan Patton, Lorne McConne and George Povey.

Mrs. Powell leaves to mourn her passing, her husband, Cecil Powell, one daughter, Elizabeth, and one son, Albert; three brothers, Cyril, Gerald and Kenneth Little, and three sisters, Patricia (Mrs. Walter Sanchez), Doris (Mrs. Maurice Cloutier), and Phyllis (Mrs. Lloyd Broadbelt); her mother-in-law and step-father-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. Provincial Day Held At Exhibition, Luncheon Addressed By Col. Bourque

In an address at a luncheon given yesterday by the E.T.A.A. to representatives of the provincial governments, Hon. J. S. Bourque, Minister of Land and Forests and Hydraulic Resources, appealed to the population of Quebec to remember the danger of forest fires.

The minister declared that in the last several weeks, the government has spent a considerable sum of money to fight and prevent forest fires. He said that the government had done its part and now is asking the people to do their share towards forestry preservation.

Mr. Bourque remarked that on a recent airplane trip from Montreal to Quebec, he counted more than forty forest fires. The minister added that this was an "incredible" amount and said he could not understand how the people can be so careless when the government spends thousands of dollars yearly in advertisements warning the public of the great danger of forest fires.

In making his appeal, the minister, particularly asked the co-operation of those who frequently entered the forests, and added that lighting the smallest fire could be dangerous. Mr. Bourque went on to say that calls had been received from many U.S. centers asking for the re-opening of the forest, but he stated that this demand had to be turned down, due to the large number of forest fires at the present.

Mayor Emile Levesque, chairman of the industrial committee of the fair, also addressed the 120 persons at the luncheon.

Mayor Levesque told about the industrial exhibits being displayed in the main building. "This year's exhibition is a great success, and I think the quality of the industrial exhibits shows the fair's success," said the mayor.

"I think the industrial building is the showroom of the fair," he said, "and next year I hope to make improvements in that building if capital is available." Mayor Levesque concluded by thanking all for the co-operation they have given him in making the industrial exhibits such a large success.

W. G. MacDougall, president of the E.T.A.A. then called upon Alderman Leo Cadorette to address the gathering. Mr. Cadorette speaking on behalf of the industrial commission of the city, suggested that a National Trade Fair be held annually in Sherbrooke.

In this city, said Mr. Cadorette, there are many fine products being produced. A trade fair would give industries the opportunity to exhibit these goods. It would soon draw outside exhibitors and perhaps new industries as we would have a good consumer market here, said the alderman.

The citizens of Sherbrooke are working people, and because our annual population growth is 2,000, Mr. Cadorette remarked, we will need new industries to supply work.

Among the many distinguished guests at the head table were: W. G. MacDougall, president of the E.T.A.A.; Hon. J. S. Bourque; Mayor Emile Levesque; Senator C. B. Howard and Senator Jacob Nicol; Hon. Patrice Tardif, legislative councillor; Denis Gerin, M.L.A., Stanstead County; Gerard Lemieux, M.L.A., Wolfe County; and Emilien Lafrance of Richmond County. Aldermen, Leo Cadorette and Carl Camirand; among the directors were: Louis Codere, Leo Laliberte, Colin Campbell, J. A. Ste. Marie, Raymond Ste. Marie, Ernest Mercier of the Experimental Farm, L. A. Gendreau, E. E. Spafford, and D. J. Salls.

Scottish Dances, Queen Of Megantic Are Featured At Megantic County Fair

By HUGH DOHERTY

Inverness—A quartet of twinkling young ladies and a smiling miss from Inverness shared the spotlight yesterday at the 104th annual Megantic County Fair held in Inverness Wednesday and Thursday. Front row from left to right are: G. Pelletier, vice-president; Mrs. G. W. Graham, president; Mrs. R. J. Graham, sec.-treasurer; Olivia Savoie. Second row, same order: Mrs. C. Wright; J. W. Graham; Mrs. B. W. Beattie. Back row: R. G. Graham and Mrs. Claire Dumas. (Record photo by Gerry Lemay)

The young ladies, none of them over 14, were Scottish dancers from the Caledonia Society School of Dancing in Montreal; the smiling miss was the newly-crowned Queen of Megantic County, Miss Cecile Turcotte. Both held the centre of attraction on the stage in front of a packed grandstand for most of the afternoon. On this second day of the two-day fair, more than 1,000 people jammed the grandstand and overflowed onto the grounds, while Wednesday well over 800 attended.

The young Caledonians, all pupils of Mrs. G. Robertson, head of the Dancing School, were the surprise of the afternoon, and captured the hearts of the crowd with their energetic but precise dances. Brought from Montreal to Inverness by the St. George's Kiwanis Club of Montreal, who visit Inverness annually to judge the Queen of Megantic Co. contest the four donned authentic Scottish kilts with full regalia for their first group of folk dances.

In quick succession, they did a Reel a Tullach, a Highland Fling and then thrilled the onlookers with a precisely-executed sword dance, pairing off to whirl and give an exhibition of intricate footwork between the sets of crossed silver swords. A rousing Scottish Gaelic dance, a Shean Thrubas, concluded the first group.

The regular monthly meeting of St. Monica's Guild will be held on Sept. 15, 8 p.m. in the Parish Hall.

Many Calls Made Upon Services Of St. John Ambulance At Fair

By SALLY HALLETT

The St. John Ambulance Brigade this summer has placed its workers in spots where they are coping with an unending stream of first aid seekers, a voluminous task topped off by the Sherbrooke Fair where, as the gates opened for the last day's activities the 154th case was marked down in infirmary headquarters behind the Puppet Show.

Two hospital cases so far have emerged from the fair grounds where most treatment has concerned cuts, indigestion, sun-stroke (in minor degrees), fainting, nose bleeds, blisters and bruises.

Handling this year's swarm of fun farers, St. John Ambulance has had on duty two members from their nursing division, two girl cadets and a boy cadet.

Initially the work of the Association is to be on hand "wherever and whenever there is a crowd" to administer to those who may have incurred minor cuts or bruises as a preventative step toward infection.

The summer season this year has provided scope beyond the course originally mapped out for the Brigade. In their versatile capacity cadets have attended several picnics, regattas, the high school track meet, pilgrimages, baseball games and assisted full-time at a camp for the blind.

Another laurel added to their well-endowed wreath was a month at the children's camp under the supervision of the Sisters of Notre Dame du Bon Conseil at the pre-ventorium, St. Catherine Road, where cadets assisted the Sisters with children ranging in age from 6 to 12 years.

A big job within the city's limits is the O.T.J.-sponsored Vacation Colony where three girl cadets and three boys cadets are on duty daily from 9 a.m. till 5 p.m., supervising games and keeping a constant vigil against possible injuries. Days laid aside for girls bring a swarm of 1,200 to the Jacques Cartier Park playground whereas the rush of little boys lessens the Brigade's liability to an average attendance of 300.

In a small summer-house structure close to the water at Jacques Cartier Park, cadets operate. When the children are well occupied and there is no call to a wailing child's bruised knee cadets keep busy preparing dressings and applicators or washing and sweeping the hut's floor, maintaining the under-lined law of cleanliness.

Cadet works extends to the assistance of graduate nurses, guiding the blind, instructing young children in games, continually taking courses in Morse or semaphore code or in child welfare work.

Offering free time and free assistance are area officers for the Eastern Townships district, Helen Slattery teaching the feminine forces and J. N. G. Piquet instructing the boys and men.

In operation are the St. John Ambulance Brigade Vacation Colonies at Coaticook and Windsor Mills; nursing and ambulance divisions at Coaticook; two nursing two cadet and one ambulance division in Sherbrooke; a nursing division in Magog and a cadet division in Windsor Mills where also is located an ambulance division.

Aspects of the Brigade's program during the war years included time put in at hospitals; since the end of World War II, however, officers discontinued the hospital branch work for lack of enough recruits but with the renewed interest on behalf of the young people in the city it is hoped that such duties will be resumed.

Penitentiary Terms For Dion And Soucy

Luc Dion and Gaston Soucy, of Sherbrooke, charged with theft and illegal entry and having in their possession stolen goods, were sentenced to three and two years in prison respectively by Judge Joseph Marier after they pleaded guilty in Court of Sessions here.

Dion appeared today and received his sentence while Soucy appeared yesterday. Soucy was sentenced to two years in prison on each of some dozen charges but the sentence was concurrent. His sentence, however, will run consecutive, not concurrently with a two-year term he is now serving in Burwash, Ontario.

Roland Dugre, Q.C., handled the cases for the crown.

The two men operated together. Both are in their early twenties.

They pleaded guilty to the theft of five cars, and some $2000 worth of cash and merchandise.

The thefts and break-ins occurred throughout the Eastern Townships.

The thefts included in addition to automobiles, fur coats, sewing machines, auto tires and cash.

Provincial and municipal police worked together in making investigations to bring the some two-year-old cases to a close.

One-Minute News from Johns-Manville

Unusual Variety of Products Added to J-M Stability

• We are often asked: "How many kinds of products does Johns-Manville make?"

Few people realize that Johns-Manville makes a wider variety of products and materials than most manufacturers.

Few people realize that J-M makes and sells more than 400 "lines" — or groups — of products.

These groups include products used as thermal and electrical insulations, building materials, filter powders, water and sewage pipe, gaskets and packings, friction materials and many others.

J-M is really made up of many different businesses, both large and small, in many different fields.

In other words, J-M doesn't have all its eggs in one basket but in a lot of baskets. If during unsettled times the bottoms drop out of some of the baskets, there are still a lot of eggs left to keep the company going.

That is why the wide variety of products make Johns-Manville and J-M jobs more stable. The whole community benefits when employment is stable.

UNCERTAIN TRADE OUTLOOK

Over all the Canadian economy continues in uncertain balance, says the current issue of the commercial letter published by The Canadian Bank of Commerce, pointing out that this is due, in large measure, to international tension.

This section deals briefly with employment, industrial activity and production, and construction contracts awarded, before commenting that there are problems ahead due to the very large carry-over of grain and the anticipated heavy crops. The improvement in the foreign trade balance in June is noted and prices and sales volumes, both wholesale and retail, are examined.

At any point in time the level and character of retail trade reflect Canada's standard of living. In view of the far-reaching changes in Canada in the past twenty-five years it is not surprising that the distributive trades, and retailing in particular, should have struck out in new directions and taken on new conformations.

The most striking development is the very marked rise in both value and volume over a period of less than twenty years. Valuewise, retail trade averaged about $2.4 billion a year in the 1935-39 period and reached a post-war peak of $11.3 billion in 1952. Volume-wise — that is using the purchasing power of the 1935-39 dollar as a gauge — the increase was from $2.4 billion to $5.3 billion.

The chart that supplements the text clearly illustrates the interplay — in the quarter century under review — of the three major factors affecting the volume and character of trade. These are the level of personal disposable income, population characteristics and the availability of goods. The effects of a scarcity of consumers' goods, such as existed during the war, in expanding savings, of a period of deep depression in reducing savings or actually creating dis-saving, and of ready availability of a wide range of goods are all graphically shown.

The letter then deals with the three major factors above-mentioned in turn, in considerable detail, before examining the changes in types and importance of retail trade outlets. Canada is becoming more urban in population and this has resulted in a decline in the trade done by country general stores. At the same time, the growing tendency of the population in metropolitan areas to move away from the more densely populated central sections to the suburban perimeter is resulting in changing marketing patterns.

The net result of the various shifting pattern of retailing does not appear to have been damaging to the position of the independent firms (excluding department stores), who as a class have done close to 75 per cent of the retail trade of the past three years as compared with just over 70 per cent in 1941 and less than 68 per cent in 1931. Nor do the relative data indicate any untoward concentration of business or decline in competition. Retail trade appears, indeed, to be more, rather than less, competitive than formerly as various types of business explore and experiment with new lines of goods, new types of outlet and new methods of merchandising. Changing conditions demand a flexible approach to the whole business of bringing goods and services to the consumer, and the present period of transition appears to be evolving considerably altered concepts of this important aspect of the economy.

"UNCONSCIOUS HEROES"

Somebody said once that our kind of industrial civilization is carried along by thousands upon thousands of "unconscious heroes."

He was right. Many walks of life men today perform the often hard tasks with efficiency and day out. The sum of their efforts is the level of national attainment.

One of those "unconscious heroes" rode the cab of a freight locomotive near Mattoon, Ill., the other day. While at the throttle, he suffered a stroke that paralyzed his whole body except his left arm. Yet with that arm he worked the throttle and brought the train safely into the Mattoon yards 10 miles away.

Fortunately for this continent, it has many men like Engineer G. S. McNeil.

Press Comments

CENSORSHIP DANGEROUS

The Canadian Library Association has told a senate committee investigating salacious and indecent literature that "censorship is a dangerous and delicate instrument" and should be used only with caution. It also feels the "prohibitive approach to the problem is negative; it forbids the consumption of tainted or suspected food without offering the substitute of healthful fare." Its first reason for expressing dismay at the growing number of groups seeking to prevent Canadian children, young people and adults from reading books and periodicals that seem to members of the groups to be harmful, is its strongest point. The regulation and suppression of literature and the printed word is the type of thing that tends to snowball when it is given into the hands of one group. Without proper caution, it could lead to the muzzling of public opinion such as evidenced in past and contemporary dictatorships.

Yet, the suggestion that tainted food is forbidden while healthful fare is not offered, further raises the question of "What do the people want to read?"

There is no shortage of good reading material. There are novels galore which fill the mind with wholesome and circumspect imaginings. There are biographies which inspire, and classics which bring beauty of poetry and prose from the inspired pens of the great linguists as well as the inspiration and philosophy of great thinkers.

The sad feature, though, seems to be the necessity of the fast pace which life today demands. There is apparently a large section of the population which can afford only the short hour's devotion to reading which the pulp and pocket magazine provide. The smuttiness of some such offerings seem to give a psychological thrill to such readers.

Who can forbid a man to read what he wants to read? Yet, it must be also remembered that from what a man reads he gets most of his opinions, ideas and philosophies. Reading, especially in earlier years tends to build a person's character, rather than reflect his personality.

The problem, then, is not one of censorship alone. As the librarians point out, there is also the task of presenting a substitute class of reading material which will suit the needs of the readers and still be of a desirable character. There is also the need for an educational program to convince the readers that it is not necessary to grab from the stands the first piece of decadence and gore that comes to their eyes in order to obtain enjoyment from reading.

WISDOM OF SOLOMON

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

The wisdom of Solomon is sometimes revealed in a flash by a weary person trying to keep peace between people who just won't keep the peace.

Six housewives in a Chicago apartment fought constantly and finally they were hauled to court. They jabbered at the judge, each accusing the other.

The judge sat stunned at the torrent of words, charges and counter-charges. Suddenly he rapped for order.

"Now," he said, "I'll hear the oldest first."

That closed the case. This is reminiscent of the mother who had two quarreling sons, each always figuring that when an apple was halved he got the worst of the deal. The mother finally made one cut the apple in half and then gave the other the choice of the halves. That also settled it.

LET'S KEEP THEM SIMPLE

Financial Post

Quite a fuss has been raised in certain parts of the country over the discovery that drivers' licenses have been issued to persons who could not read English. How could such people hope to understand warning signs along the highways, it is asked?

Well, if they can't the basis trouble is with the signs. If these are simple enough and follow an international standard then their meaning should be grasped instantly by any motorist regardless of language.

Until we get such signs in all cities and towns, in all provinces and in all countries on this continent, motoring will not be nearly as safe as it could be.

Canadians motoring in Europe don't see road signs in English and yet they have little trouble either in finding their way or instantly understanding warnings. The reason? These signs follow an international standard and no knowledge of the local language is necessary in determining their meaning.

On this continent we are only beginning to standardize and we are far too inclined to clutter up important turns and intersections with all sorts of fancy names and notices that even a person who is familiar with English may not readily understand. There are still too many differences in basic warnings and the position and color of traffic lights, in various provinces, and again when one moves across the U.S. border. Motoring is becoming as international as rail, air or water travel but it still lags behind these others in using warning signals that are universally understood.

CUTTING DISTANCE COST

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

Something pretty sensible in western Canada transportation to overcome time and distance has been bawled by a Vancouver company which has applied to the Ottawa authorities to operate a tourist air service.

The scheme by the Pacific Western Airlines is to have a tourist class air service between the major cities of western Canada including Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina and Winnipeg. It must get the approval of the Air Transport Board.

Some of the luxury items in present air travel would be eliminated to reduce the cost. Meals, for instance, would be cut to a minimum.

This type of transportation has been tried and is successful in the United States, but it is new within Canada, although a cut-rate, night service by one company is operated from Montreal to New York and Trans-Canada Airlines has a trans-Atlantic tourist service.

The outcome of the application will be interesting. Institution of such a service would undoubtedly diminish TCA travel and, generally speaking, the government protects TCA rather jealously.

ARE YOU AN INCHER?

Vancouver Province

Do you know what an "incher" is? Well, our definition of an incher is subdivided into two classes. There is the foot-incher and the wheel-incher. The foot-incher is the man or woman who inches out from the curb while the light is still red, to the distraction of the driver who has still a legal right to cross the intersection.

The wheel-incher is the driver who, with the light still against him, inches his car over the line of the pedestrian lane.

Both are traffic annoyances, and often annoy each other. We think traffic annoyances set up a chain reaction that leads to serious trouble. Prayed tempers lead to bad judgment and bad judgment leads to accidents.

Letters To The Editor

IN DEFENCE OF TRAILERS

Sir: Your interesting editorial of August 14 touched on some of the problems of trailer owners in Canada, but not the most pressing ones.

You romance when you say gypsy blood flows in the veins of trailer owners. Among the two million Americans, and the 10,000 or more Canadians who make trailers their year-round homes, there are no doubt some gypsy-like people. But most of us are just ordinary citizens who for one reason or another find that trailers are a happy solution to our housing need.

Ask 100 trailer people why they live in trailers, and you'll find that 35 to 40 are construction workers—laborers, bulldozer operators, mechanics, riggers, drillers, hard-rock miners, foremen, and engineers, likely earning more than average incomes for their trades. Trailers allow them to keep their families together, and avoid paying double rents, and they take them wherever the best paying jobs are to be found. Without trailers they would have to turn down some jobs because there is no accommodation, or the rent is too high.

Another 20 or 25 of every 100 trailerites will be members of the armed forces. They're in the same housing boat; if they don't take their furnished homes with them, they either live separated from their families, or take sub-standard housing at exorbitant rents.

Perhaps, another 10 or 15 in Canada (and up to 25 in the United States) are retired people who have raised their families, and don't want to be tied down to a big house. They buy a trailer, go south in winter, and come home north in summer. They're happier with light housekeeping, and their homes on wheels are their own. As a result, they probably live longer.

The rest will be young couples in various occupations—probably none of them fortune-telling!—who buy a trailer rather than mortgage their early years on furnished apartments and shared accommodation. Within a few years the trailer is paid for, and they can either sell it as a down payment on a house, or buy a bigger and better trailer.

Among all these people will be those who, as your editorial states, prefer trailer life, and who say they will never go back to permanent homes. Why? Because money is no longer a problem, they have all the comforts of home, plus the out of doors, and it's a wonderful way to bring up a family.

Your editorial misses out, however, when you say that the rigors of our winters are too much for trailer living. Actually, the modern trailer home is cozy, insulated, and equipped with under-floor heating or forced hot air.

Our biggest problem today is persuading local authorities to allow modern trailer parks, worthy of our trailers, to be built. The reason is partly that the first trailer parks were unsightly. Fortunately, a lot of headway has been made, and we have banded together in an association to promote the idea of beautiful parks that will be a credit to the community.

And what's more, we're insisting that we be allowed to pay taxes, in order to support schools and public services, and in order to enjoy all the rights of citizenship.

Finally, we like trailer living, and want everybody to know it!

Yours truly,
Canadian Trailer Coach Ass'n.

SHYNESS WITH BOYS MAY BE FEAR TO TEST ATTRACTIVENESS
By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Joyce's bedroom is decorated with pictures of movie stars who are reputed to have fatal fascination for the opposite sex. But Joyce herself, at 15, has never had a date with a boy.

As this is a source of much secret humiliation to her, you'd think she'd be glad to be asked for a date. She wasn't. Recently when the attractive boy cousin who was visiting next door asked her to go swimming with him, she first accepted his invitation—and then in a panic, telephoned to tell him she had to baby-sit instead.

Her mother vigorously protested this behavior. Joyce's reaction was to burst into tears and retreat to her room, seeking consolation in chocolate cookies and movie magazines.

"Will she outgrow this shyness with boys?" her mother wants to know.

I couldn't say. Were I Joyce's mother, I would be less concerned with her shyness than with the idea behind it. For this shyness may express Joyce's conviction that, like her favorite movie stars, she must exert fatal fascination, too.

That is a terrible idea. It can put such a train upon Joyce that she dares not accept a date with a boy. Indeed, it can force her to discourage his interest. The exaggerated demand she makes on her physical appeal may make it so impossible to test it with a boy that she avoids the risk of failing with him by ignoring or snubbing him.

Her point of view could be, "If I don't test my attractiveness, I won't have to discover I haven't any."

So now we know where we are. We're run away from the neighborhood's attractive boy cousin because we don't think we can sustain his original interest.

At Joyce's age, lots of us feel like that. Though it's a mean feeling to face, it's good to face it. Then we may do something practical about it. We may stop over-eating sweet cookies that are bad for our skin and quit envying movie stars' figures by losing some weight of our own.

If we reach the point where we can openly discuss our fear with other girls who suffer from it too, we may begin to lose the idea that we're a queer freak with a special awful problem.

That's an important point to reach. It means that we can regard ourselves as a normal girl, instead of an odd one. When this happens, that idea of having to score a knock-out with every boy we meet looks pretty silly.

Then we're ready to accept the fact that normal girls don't expect every date to fall in love with them.

SHORT STORY

The O'Maddigan's

By Patrick J. O'Brien

Tomorrow is Flannagan's wake. Kathy O'Maddigan recalled, as she hurried up the brownstone steps leading to the apartment where she and Paddy had lived since their marriage three years ago, this very day.

Kathy smiled as she visualized the new spring outfit she would wear at the gathering. Paddy was proud of her dress, too, even if he didn't say so. She knew he liked the way it emphasized her figure. Of course he had complained about the cost, adding: "If you want to waste money on clothes, you should have married a banker."

But the argument about the dress was not the real reason she had left. The breaking point was reached when Paddy had refused to buy the darling bonnet displayed in Murphy's window. "Ridiculous!" he said.

Ridiculous? How could a hat be ridiculous when every day, for nearly a month, she had stopped to look in the window and admire it?

Reaching the apartment door, she turned the knob, but the door refused to open. Apprehensively, she turned the knob back and forth, but to no avail. She was locked out. Kathy blushed furiously with indignation.

Then she exploded: "Open this door! Do you hear me?" she shouted, pounding frantically on the warped panels. "It's not enough that I work myself to the bone so a body can have a decent home to live in. No, I must be locked out of my own house. My home, mind you!"

"Your home," Patrick O'Maddigan's voice vibrated through the thin partition. "Is it now?"

"Your home," Patrick O'Maddigan's voice vibrated through the thin partition. "Is it now? And only this morning you were ready to walk out of my house."

"When I get my hands on that stubborn neck of yours," Kathy O'Maddigan shouted, "I'll . . ."

"Sure now," Paddy said, "would you be wanting to harm your bread and butter?"

"Open this door, I say!" "It's good time, woman!" Paddy replied. "It's your Irish temper that has the best of you."

"Temper!" Kathy shouted. "A fine one you are to be talking of an Irish temper. Who was it that woke the neighbors with this carrying on in the wee hours of the morning?"

No answer. "That was Patrick O'Maddigan, that's who it was. And all because I wanted the money to buy the hat."

"But the price, woman, I couldn't afford a week's wages for a bit of lace and cloth."

"Don't you want your wife to be the best dressed lady at the wake tomorrow?" Kathy asked.

"That I do, but could you not purchase a hat that's more reasonable in price?"

"I had my heart set on wearing that hat to the wake," Kathy said. "Don't you love me?"

"It's not a question of love," Paddy replied. "It's the money I'm thinking of."

"Then you'll not buy the hat for me?"

Silence. "Let me in, Paddy," Kathy pleaded, a pathetic note creeping into her voice. "I'll be good . . ."

There were sounds of movement in the apartment. Kathy heard a key rattle in the lock. Swiftly she stopped, slipped a shoe off her foot and straightened up with it grasped firmly in one small hand.

She struck swiftly as the door was opened suddenly. But it was so sudden that Kathy was thrown off balance and the momentum carried her to the center of the room. She landed unceremoniously on her hands and knees.

Brushing aside a strand of hair that was tickling the tip of her nose, she looked up at Paddy who was standing beside the open door. In his hand was a bit of Kelly green and a little white veil with a pink and blue ribbon on the side. "You did buy it, Paddy. But . . . you . . . said . . ."

"I meant to surprise you, Kathy," Paddy explained. "I couldn't let you down. Have your forgotten our wedding anniversary?"

"Oh, Paddy," she said tenderly.

Men Developed Young
Boys grew into men at an early age during the pioneer days of America. A Baltimore lad named Joshua Barney became captain of a ship on the high seas in 1775, when he was only 15 years old!

Bog Ore
America's first successful blast furnace operated on "bog ore" taken from swamps near Saugus, Massachusetts. This type of ore was used widely on the eastern seaboard until early in the 1800's.

Less Rain Last Month Than Aug. '52

A decrease in the rainfall was noted last month compared with the month of August, 1952, according to meteorological data released by the Dominion Experimental Station in Lennoxville.

Last month 2.29 inches of rain fell compared with 3.41 inches for the same period last year.

The average temperature last month was 64.19 degrees compar-

Little Sisters Hold Tag Days

The work of the Little Sisters of the Assumption has become well known in Sherbrooke during the last few years. All trained nurses, these women go into the homes of the poor, regardless of race, color or creed, take care of the sick, clothe and feed the children and look after the house, without any remuneration whatsoever.

Many people who cannot afford medical care are assured of efficient treatment at the hands of these Sisters. However, supplies are expensive and in order to keep up their fine work, these valiant women must turn to the public for a helping hand.

Today and tomorrow are tag days in aid of the Little Sisters of the Assumption. Won't you give generously?

be made until a "precise forecast showing conditions are safe" has been made.

Duncan Sandys, British minister of supply, said in Adelaide that Australia had put tremendous "enterprise, enthusiasm and skill" into the development of the Woomera range.

Just returned from a visit to Woomera, Sandys said he had not previously realized "the magnitude of the enterprise on the Australian side." Operation of the range is a joint Australian-British project. "Between us we can go ahead in this novel complex field of developing guided weapons," said Sandys.

"We can add to the defensive security of the British Empire and make a powerful contribution to the peace and freedom of the world," he said.

the report. He said, however, that an announcement could be expected from UN headquarters in New York within the next few days.

According to the report received in New Delhi, the Indian spokesman said, Nimitz's resignation had been submitted to UN secretary-general Dag Hammarskjöld. The spokesman refused to name the source of his information.

A UN official in New York said Thursday night, however, that Hammarskjöld had not received any notice of resignation from the Second World War naval hero.

U. S. embassy sources in New Delhi said that Nimitz has been trying to resign the post "for nearly a year." They added that his move had no connection with recent Indian-Pakistan talks on the future of the Himalayan state, a source of friction and even hostilities between the two nations since Britain freed them in 1947.

Nimitz was named by the UN in March, 1952, to run a plebiscite to determine the future nationality of the Kashmiri people but India and Pakistan were unable to agree on terms for conducting the poll. The two countries had occupied separate parts of the state.

UN sources said the admiral left UN headquarters two years ago, discontinued his salary and returned to his old California home. They quoted him as saying "he would serve if he could be helpful and would retire if not needed."

ed with 66.38 degrees for the same period last year.

A total of 252 hours of sunshine was recorded last month compared with 237.2 hours for the same period last year.

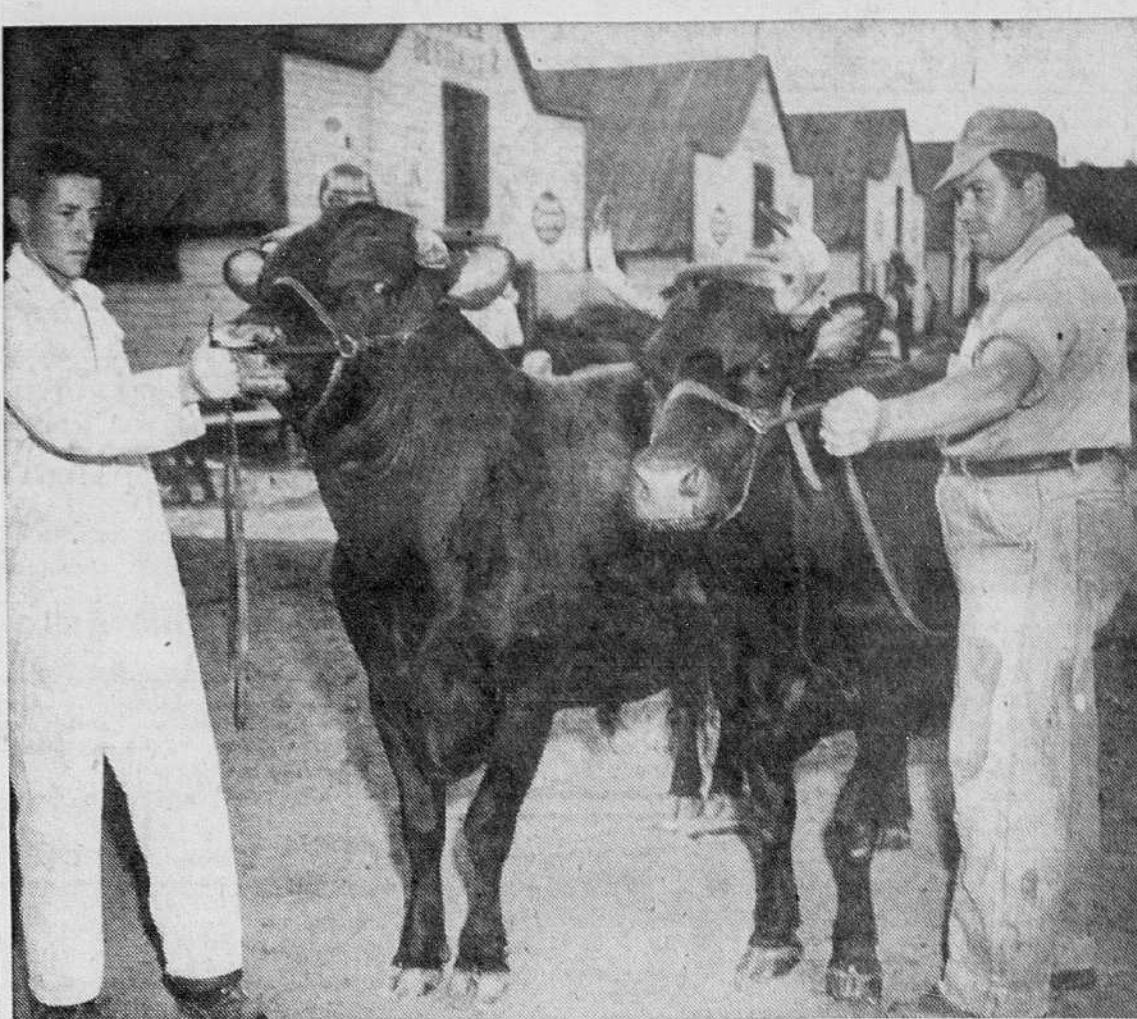

Last month the temperature reached 91 degrees on the 30th but that was not a record as in 1935, on August 18th, the mercury rose to 97 which is the record for the month of August.

TWO CHAMPIONS: O. A. Fowler, of Kingsbury, made almost a clean sweep of the titles in the Canadian class of cattle. He won the first prize for his bull and also the top award for his cow. His sons are shown holding the prized animals. Lewis is seen holding the bull at the left while Lloyd is holding the cow.

TOP HERD: W. K. MacLeod, of Disraeli, won the Conklin Shield for the best herd on display in the cattle parade at the Sherbrooke Fair. The holsteins are seen being led by the herdsman and attendants, dressed with black capes and white suits. Leading the herd are: Wesley Nichol, general chairman of the livestock committee; Colin L. Campbell, vice-president of the E.T.A.A.; and V. R. Beattie, a director of the E.T.A.A.

as numerous villages, was tendered Miss Turcotte in the Megantic Hotel, where she works as a waitress. On behalf of those assembled and the owner of the hotel, Rodolphe Jutras, J. H. Y. Cruickshank, manager of the Inverness branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, presented a purse to Miss Turcotte and called for a toast in honor of the new queen.

Following the contest on the stage, the Caledonian quartet presented their second group of dances, this time changing their costume for each different dance. A lively Sailor's Hornpipe in naval costume was followed by a sparkling Scottish-Irish jig, the two dancers appearing in bright skirts and blouses. It proved to be a fitting climax to the efforts of the dancers, featuring as it did extremely fast footwork and rapid rhythm.

All of Scottish descent, the talented group were later introduced as Carol and Maureen Walsh, 12 and 14 respectively, Diane Browne 13, and Ruth Tooke, 12. Ruth, who holds at least thirty medals for dancing, last year won the Ontario Championship and two cups for Scottish folk dancing and has appeared with the rest of the group in front of many Canadian and Scottish officials. Despite the exacting nature of the dancing, she revealed that she was performing on this occasion despite an open scrape on her knee, sustained in a fall from her bicycle.

On the grounds, one of the distinctive features of this Fair is the Children's Fair, sponsored by the Inverness Women's Institute and held in the top floor of the main building. There, beetles, corn, flowers of many varieties, cucumbers, carrots and other garden products grown by children in the area were on display. Six prizes are donated each year by the Women's Institute for this particular fair, and four others by a friend. Top prize winner this year was Raymond Dempsey.

Combining the efforts of the Inverness Horticultural and Agricultural Societies, the fair also featured displays of vegetables and flowers notable for their very high quality. Competition in bread making, cake making, handicrafts, preserves, jellies, cookies and maple products had been completed Wednesday, but complete results were not yet available. All of these were on display in the main building.

Yesterday, judging was carried on chiefly in the cattle division, featuring registered Shorthorn and Hereford beef cattle. Dairy cattle, Ayrshire, Holstein, Guernsey and Jersey, were also judged, mostly in the calf section. Elsewhere on the grounds heavy draught horses, general purpose horses, driving and carriage horses were being exhibited. Judging was also carried on in the swine, sheep and poultry departments, but no results were available.

Behind the main building, a small midway was in operation, largely composed of various games of chance and wheels of fortune. The inevitable "hit-the-bell-and-win-a-cigar" booth attracted a large crowd of onlookers and aspiring strongmen all afternoon, while demonstrations of the latest in chain saws and farm machinery occupied the rest of the grounds. Although not the oldest fair in the Eastern Township, the Me-

SCOTTISH DANCERS AT THE MEGANTIC FAIR: Shown in this picture are members of the Caledonia Society School of Dancing together with members of the St. George Kiwanis Club, all of Montreal. Brought down for the fair by the Kiwanians, the dancers yesterday gave an exhibition of Scottish folk dancing at the Megantic County Fair held in Inverness Wednesday and Thursday. In kilts from left to right are: Carol Walsh, 12; Maureen Walsh, 14; Diane Brown, 13; and Ruth Tooke, 12. Next row, same order: Charlie Ritchie, of St. George Kiwanis; Mrs. G. Robertson, head of the dancing school; Wilf Hunt, Kiwanian. In back are Kiwanians Bill Cockburn and Allan Crawford.

New Company At Bedford

Bedford, Sept. 4—News has recently been received from Gama Toy Co., Nuremberg, Germany, that they are shipping their machinery to Bedford, in September. This equipment will go into the new factory the Town of Bedford built for this company.

Four technical experts are coming out from Germany to install machinery and train new personnel. It is anticipated that the new factory will be ready to begin operations in November.

Karachi, Pakistan—A—The Punjab government has decided to continue its anti-malaria operations in water-logged areas of the province. They will cover more than 4,000 villages with a total population of 30,000,000.

General Dean

He was shuttled around to a number of Korean cities and villages during his captivity.

Last June 16, Dean was returned to the Pyongyang area. He reached Kaesong Aug. 5.

"There I lived like a plutocrat," Dean said.

He said it was not until his "Korean press conference" at Kaesong that he knew the news of his capture had been suppressed for more than a year.

He said he was in the custody of Koreans the entire time. His guards were Koreans, each equivalent to a master sergeant. "The only English they could speak was what they learned from me," he said.

"I was addressed for three years as 'you'."

Oslo—A—A total of 232,652 tourists visited Norway in the first six months of 1953, a jump of more than 20 per cent over the same period last year. Swedes accounted for a large portion of the increase.

The Doctor Says

CONGENITAL DEFECTS OFTEN ARE TREATED SUCCESSFULLY
By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

It is entirely possible for a child born with a club foot, webbed fingers, a cleft palate or some other inborn malformation to rise to heights of fame, and indeed to receive national and international acclaim. This has been done in many fields of human endeavor and speaks well for the ability of human beings to overcome adversity.

Such conditions as those mentioned and many other physical variations from normal may be present at birth and naturally come as a shock to the parents. All, or most of them, are the result of incomplete development inside the womb of the mother and are not really inherited.

What causes them is still not entirely clear although it now seems that infections of the mother with German measles and possibly other diseases, while she is carrying the child, greatly increase the likelihood of this sort of trouble. Certainly, it is a good idea for the prospective mothers to dodge exposure to infections, and particularly German measles, just as carefully as possible.

A newborn baby with a club foot or other inborn malformation almost certainly does not suffer pain, but the parents are acutely distressed. They want to know if it is their fault, what can be done about it, will it interfere with the child's physical or mental development, and how likely it is to happen again with other children.

It is not the fault of the parents. There is nothing they could have done to prevent it (except to avoid contagious disease during pregnancy). What can be done is something else. A lot can be done for hare lip, cleft palate, club foot and several of the other congenital malformations, especially if they are attacked early enough.

For this reason parents should promptly consult someone who knows about these conditions, even if manipulation or operation is to be postponed for a few months or years. The more that can be done, of course, the less will be the interference with the child's normal development.

Once in 213 Births
As to the chances of having a later child with a congenital defect, one has to deal with average figures. The parents of one malformed child have about seven chances out of eight that the next child will be normal, whereas taking all births, a congenital defect occurs only about once in 213.

From the physical standpoint the disadvantages can often be largely overcome by modern treatment methods. It is equally important to battle the mental effects. The sympathetic understanding of parents, teachers, and the rest of us help, but the will to overcome obstacles on the part of the youngster himself is the most important.

Many youngsters with these congenital defects are remarkable in the way they face and surmount their problems.

An occasion for celebrating!

Anniversary Ale was brewed especially for just such an occasion. The lightest and smoothest of all ales, it leaves no regrets. Yet Anniversary contains all the traditional Labatt's body and character to brighten an already glad occasion. Luckily there's no need to wait until you ring the bell to celebrate with Anniversary Ale. The combination of a thirst and a bottle, or better still a case, of lighter, smoother Anniversary Ale is an occasion in itself. John Labatt Limited.

MARRIAGES

STICKLES—PERKINS

East Angus, Que., Sept. 4. — On the afternoon of August 15, at three o'clock, Christ Church, of East Angus was the scene of a pretty wedding, when Beulah Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Perkins, of Lennoxville, Que., was united in marriage to Mr. Leslie Gerald Stickles, of Camp Petawawa, Ont., son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stickles, of East Angus, Que., the Rev. George Robins officiating. Mrs. R. J. Westgate, organist, played the wedding march and other appropriate selections, and accompanied Miss Thelma Crawford, of Lennoxville, who sang "O Perfect Love," during the signing of the register.

The church was decorated with white, yellow and pink gladioli. The guest pews were marked with pansies and bows of white ribbon. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was attended by Mrs. James Stickles, as matron of honor, Miss Louise Perkins and Miss Jean McCrea, as bridesmaids, and little Miss Heather Perkins as flower girl.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of French lace over nylon net and bridal satin, the fitted bodice having a yoke of net finished with lace scallops and long sleeves ending in points over the hands. The scalloped lace opening in the front of the skirt revealed a panel of pleated nylon net and she wore a matching net veil caught by a satin bandeau, and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The matron of honor was in a floor length gown of pale green nylon net and lace over taffeta with a lace bolero and net mitts and she carried a colonial bouquet. The bridesmaids' gowns were fashioned of yellow nylon net with lace capes and they wore matching net mitts and carried colonial bouquets.

The little flower girl was in a floor length frock of nylon net over taffeta, the neckline and sleeves being trimmed with ruffles of net and a taffeta sash at the waistline was tied in a bow at the back. She wore mitts of net and carried a basket of pastel flowers.

The ruffled headbands worn by all the attendants were trimmed with pearls.

Mr. James Stickles was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Garth Perkins and Mr. Herbert Stickles, Jr.

Mrs. Perkins, mother of the bride, was in a gown of navy blue crepe worn with a lace jacket with a navy picture hat and a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Stickles, the groom's mother, wore a suit of grey gabardine with a small matching hat and a corsage of red roses.

The reception was held in the Knights of Columbus Hall, the bride's table being decorated with summer flowers and centered with the three-tier wedding cake.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Stickles left for a trip to Lake Champlain and through the Adirondacks, the bride travelling in a suit of periwinkle blue imported wool and wearing a small matching hat, navy and white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Out of town guests were from Timmins, Camp Petawawa, Palmerston, Ont., Sawyerville, Bury, Lennoxville, Windsor Mills, Greenlay, Waterville, Sherbrooke, Asbestos.

party, was unusually attractive with quantities of flowers, the long table featuring a large silver bowl of mixed petunias and lighted with white candles in silver holders.

The celebrations opened with the entry of the bride and groom to the accompaniment of the Wedding March, played by Mrs. P. D. Mathias, and the presentation of a corsage to Mrs. Stenson, by her sister, Miss Gertrude Imrie.

During the dinner, following the cutting of the wedding cake by the bride couple, Mr. Frank Milne proposed a toast to the jubilarians and on behalf of the group, presented them with a purse of silver dollars and several beautiful gifts, among which was a painting from Mr. and Mrs. Gordon MacKay, of Toronto.

The groom responded to the toast and voiced his wife's appreciation joined to his own, of the observing in such a delightful manner, the occasion of their anniversary.

97th Annual Fall Exhibition Starts At Brome Sunday

Four-Day Fair To Have Racing Daily For Purses Totalling $2,700, Midway By Green And Garden Grandstand Show

"Meet all your friends in the genial happy atmosphere of the big Brome Fair" is the slogan of the 97th annual Fall Exhibition of the Brome County Agricultural Society. The Brome Fair this year is being held on Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, September sixth to ninth inclusive, day and evening.

The Brome Fair has the reputation of being the "biggest little fair in the country" and this year will be no exception. A satisfying array of agricultural and horticultural exhibits is being arranged and there will be harness racing every day with purses of $2,700.

Green's big, modern midway offers the latest and finest in entertainment for young and old. Garden Brothers grandstand attractions are back and better than ever. They will operate day and evening, rain or shine, before a new covered stand.

A grand display of fireworks will be staged every evening.

The highly-rated Knowlton High School Band, under the direction of Harry Long, will be in attendance.

The grounds contain all modern buildings and conveniences and good meals are served in the dining hall.

The Grand Parade of Livestock will be held Monday and Tuesday afternoons.

The Brome Fair executive, of which John P. Macintosh, of Bolton Centre, is president and George A. McClay, of Knowlton, is secretary-treasurer, promises that there will not be any dull moments at this year's fair. "Bring the whole family and spend a happy, enjoyable and profitable holiday."

The management would appreciate it if patrons would have the proper change handy for admission in order to speed up traffic through the gates. Admission to the grounds, days, is fifty cents each for adults and autos.

Children under 10 years of age will be admitted free of charge. Highways from all points lead to Brome but drive carefully so you will reach the Fair.

EXPERT FOR PAKISTAN

Karachi, Pakistan — The Pakistan government has approached the United Nations for a ship-building expert to supervise projects for construction of barges and small ships. Repair depots are also planned for vessels visiting Pakistani ports.

C. B. Kelly's Mighty Tarr Cops Dr. Dupuis Memorial Event

Lowers Record To 2:11 1-5 In Final Heat In Winning; Eight Races On Agenda For Tomorrow Evening At 8:00

Mighty Tarr, a three-year-old brown gelding owned by C. B. Kelly of Derby Line, Vt., and driven by C. Taylor, won the Dr. A. N. Dupuis Memorial platter yesterday afternoon when he edged out his opponent by a nose just at the wire in the seventh race of the program.

The little gelding, who placed third in the first part of the double feature, came home strong in the second half when he made his stretch drive to edge out the top-heavy favorite, Ima Royal Protector, a bay horse owned by A. Demers and Sons of Quebec, just under the wire in a very close finish. A photo was required to determine the winner.

The trophy was presented by Ivan Dugre, Dow representative for Sherbrooke, immediately following the final heat. The top price of the day for a straight bet was paid to the backers of Valentine Benedict in the first race with the sum of $12.70.

The next racing card will be presented on Saturday evening at 8:00 when eight races will be on the program. The first two are single affairs while the third, fourth and fifth are double fixtures.

On yesterday's card the second high price went to Some Day E in the third when the Rexton, N.B., mare placed second to Shady Lady. The rest of the wagers ran around the usual amount as the bettors backed the favorites.

Shady Lady, the property of A. Demers and Sons of Quebec City, took both ends of the B Pace for a purse of $400. In the first she edged out Some Day E in the six-furlong dash while in the mile she came up with another bid to cop the honors.

The results of yesterday's races and Saturday's starters follow:

1st Race
Valentine Benedict	12.70	5.90
Roy Dillard	4.30
Time 2:15. Also ran: Janie B. Whiskaway Direct, Lucky Chips, Big Ed, Dewey Brooke, Thais Dale.

Bows And Arrows To Be Used In Hunting Moose

St. John's, Nfld. — (CP) — Moose and caribou may be hunted with bows and arrows this year for the first time in Newfoundland's history.

The big game season opens Saturday in the interior and on the south coast, and hunters will be allowed to take either a stag caribou or bull moose.

Fifty-seven non-residents and 179 residents have so far bought big game licenses.

Newport Dreams Sets 2 New Records

Duquoin, Ill. — (AP) — Newport Dream, owned by the Newport stock farm of South Plainfield, N.J., broke two records for two-year-old trotters at the Duquoin state fair Thursday.

The colt shattered the 1949 mark set by Lusty Song in the $26,000 Castleton two-year-old trot by winning the second heat in 2:01.6. The old record was 2:02.2.

Newport Dream's first-heat victory in 2:03.6 gave him a combined time of 4:05.2 to break the previous mark of 4:05.5 set by Titan Hanover in 1944.

Terry Reardon To Coach Sydney Club

Sydney — (CP) — Terry Reardon, coach of Providence Reds of the American Hockey League the last six years, agreed Thursday to coach Sydney Millionaires of the Maritime Major Hockey League.

The former National League defenceman told club secretary Steve MacDonald that he would start lining up players without delay.

GUY DUROCHER WINS E. T. TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

Defeats Levesque 6-2, 6-0, 4-6, 6-2; Doubles Disputed Tomorrow Afternoon; Invitation Tourney Opens Next Week

As everybody expected, Guy Durocher won the men's singles title in the E. T. Tennis Tournament, last night.

Durocher, second-seeded Quebec junior player, downed Jean Levesque before a gallery of 400 fans at the Sherbrooke Sporting Club, Fraser Street. Levesque took a set from the red-hot 17-year-old Durocher.

The scores were: 6-2, 6-0, 4-6, 6-2. Durocher had previously won the singles in Sherbrooke for both juniors and seniors and has now added the E. T. championship, won for several years in a row by Bob Bedard, who didn't challenge this year because of out-of-town and more prominent tennis commitments.

Only one title remains to be declared in the E. T. Tournament and that is in the men's doubles which will be fought out tomorrow afternoon between Levesque-Durocher and Dr. John Hibbard-Roger Roy. The tilt is scheduled for 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Fraser Street club.

Red Wings Extend Lead With 10-0 Shutout Over Cubs; Royals Move Back Into Second Place With Win

Rochester Red Wings are enjoying the most comfortable lead held this season by an International Baseball League club in their drive for the flag.

The Wings registered their 10th straight triumph Thursday night—a 10-0 shutout victory over Springfield Cubs—increasing their pace-setting lead over their nearest rivals to 4½ games.

The win streak is the second in three weeks for Rochester, which now has taken 21 of its last 23 decisions in its drive from third to first spot.

George Condric gave a good account of himself as Rochester strangled the Cubs. The hurler gave up 10 hits and only three walks in beating the tail-enders.

Next in line in the pennant race are Buffalo and Montreal. Thursday night, the Royals advanced into a virtual second-place tie with the Bisons, blanking the Herd 6-0 as Ken Wood hit a grand-slam homer and Glenn Mickens pitched a masterful live-bitter.

With a little more than 10 games left to play in the schedule for each club, it would be a good bet to consider the rest of the teams out of the running for the flag.

Baltimore Orioles are in fourth spot, but 10½ games back of the leaders. Mathematically they have a chance in the race, but that's all.

Thursday night, they held on just long enough to edge Syracuse Chiefs 7-6. Dick Starr's fine relief hurling pulled the game out for them.

In another game, Ottawa Athletics bombarded four Toronto pitchers for 14 hits, including five doubles, to sink the Maple Leafs 9-4 and sweep a three-game series.

Marlene Stewart Taking To Task For Conceding Putt

New York. — (CP) — Marlene Stewart, 19-year-old Canadian golfer, is taking to task editorially by Life magazine for conceding a crucial 18-inch putt in the recent United States amateur championship.

Marlene, British amateur champion, was eliminated from the U. S. tournament by Joyce Ziske of Waterford, Wis., when she conceded the foot-and-a-half putt on the extra-hole playoff.

"What monetary madness could have seized Marlene Stewart?" Life asks in its editorial page. "If the 18-inch putt is not the most difficult shot in golf it is surely the most taxing, particularly when a match depends on its successful execution."

The editorial concludes with a suggestion that Marlene stay after school and write out 500 times: "I will never, never, never concede another 18-inch putt—especially on the 19th hole."

$300,000 To Be Handed Out At Woodbine Track

Toronto. — (CP) — More than $300,000 will be distributed to horsemen at the 21-day Woodbine Autumn race meeting which opens Saturday. This is by far the largest purse distribution in 94 years of Ontario racing.

Traditionally, the autumn meeting at Woodbine features some of Canada's greatest stake races, notably the Coronation Stakes for two-year-olds and the Jockey Club Cup. Each of these purses carries an added purse of $10,000 this year. Actually, when horsemen's subscriptions and starting fees are taken into consideration, the Coronation will have a gross value of approximately $20,000, making it Canada's richest stake of juveniles.

FOOTBALL Canadian Track And Field Coaches Unanimous In Praise For Olympic Training Plan Held In Toronto

Toronto. — (CP) — Track-and-field coaches are almost unanimous in praise of the first Canadian Olympic Training Plan that wound up its four-day session Thursday at the Canadian National Exhibition.

There was one small note of criticism—from Graham Knox of Hamilton—who said he believed the clinic wasn't as far-reaching as he had hoped.

For the athletes, from Newfoundland to British Columbia, their work has just started. Two events were held Thursday—the women's discus and the men's javelin—and Friday and Saturday the most representative field brought together in years will circle the CNE cinder track.

This almost could be called a Canadian championship. Every province, except Prince Edward Island, has hand-picked athletes here for the plan designed to bring Canada out of its track-and-field doldrums.

This is the first Canada-wide track competition, other than Olympic and British Empire games trials, in years, and is sponsored jointly by the CNE and a group of Canadian sportsmen. The athletes were brought here on an expense-paid trip for the clinic followed by actual competition.

On Canham of Michigan University, head coach at the school, said he was "amazed" at the enthusiasm shown by the coaches and athletes.

"I was glad to see that the backs of the project put the emphasis on youth. We've seen some good prospects this week."

Coaches handling the various provincial teams were given pointers by Canham, Bruce Humber of Victoria, coach of Canada's 1952 Olympic team, and Rev. Bob Richards of Long Beach, Calif., Olympic pole-vault champion.

Knox, who said that the coaches should be gathered together in Toronto for a coaches' clinic, said he believed this clinic—first of four proposed—would have "little effect on Canada's showing in the 1954 British Empire games" but in 1956, when the Olympics are held in Australia, the country's track athletes should be strong.

Here is comment from "other coaches":

Joey Richman, Montreal: "I was amazed at the good spirit shown by athletes with almost 100-percent attendance at the school. It's a big thing for the sport in Canada."

Eric Coy, Winnipeg former Olympic and B. E. games athlete: "This clinic was a terrific idea. I got Canadian coaches together to exchange ideas and to get a general picture on what the rest of the country is doing."

Frank Richard, Calgary: "The idea of this program can't be underestimated. It should bring a lot of renewed interest in track and field in Alberta and the rest of the country."

Lorne Davenport, Regina: "This program, built on youthful athletes, should pay off in future international competition."

Herb Jenkins, St. John's, Nfld.: "The clinic was a great start for the youth of the country and should be backed to the limit."

Art Pottle, Saint John, N.B.: "The younger athletes in future years now will have something to shoot at with the trip to Toronto. It should produce untold results."

Leigh Miller, Halifax: "The plan is big and while it will be years before any results become apparent, untold good will undoubtedly come from it."

In the events held Thursday, Bob Adams of Saskatchewan won the men's discus event with a toss of 143 feet, 4½ inches to beat John Pavelich of Vancouver, who placed second, and Stan Raika of Toronto, third.

Ed Purgalis of Sudbury, Ont., won the javelin with a throw of 176 feet 11 inches. Ian Hume of St. Lambert, Que., was second and Pavelich third.

BATTING

Eddie Mathews, Milwaukee Braves, hit his 44th home run and two doubles in the Braves' 6-1 triumph at Brooklyn.

PITCHING

Lew Burdette, Milwaukee Braves, beat the Dodgers for the third time this year in registering his 14th victory against three losses, the best percentage record in the National League.

Milwaukee Sends Out SOS Call To Rest Of League; Mathews Clouts His 44th Homer; Indians Tie For Second

The Milwaukee Braves still cherishing pennant ambitions, hustled home today and sent out a "help wanted to beat the Dodgers" plea to the rest of the National League.

The Braves are going to need lots of help to get anything like really close to front-running Brooklyn. With 21 games to play they trail by nine. Even 21 consecutive victories wouldn't guarantee the flag unless the Dodgers were beaten at least 10 more times.

Milwaukee has 15 home games left, starting tonight against St. Louis. The Cards play four and then the Braves visit Chicago for a Labor Day doubleheader. They come back home for two game series with Philadelphia, Brooklyn, New York and Pittsburgh and a three game set with Cincinnati. Then they wind up on the road with pairs at St. Louis and Cincinnati.

A surprisingly consistent club all season, the Braves have played slightly better ball on the road than at home. They've won 44 and lost 27 out of town and have a 38-24 record in Milwaukee.

Brooklyn, a sensational home club this year, has only six more games at Ebbets Field and 15 on the road. The Dodgers have won 55 and lost only 16 games in Brooklyn. Aaway from home they've won 36 and lost 26.

The Dodgers open a three-game visit with the Giants at the Polo Grounds tonight. They're back home Labor Day for two with Philadelphia, then head west for two each at Cincinnati, Milwaukee and Chicago and three at St. Louis. When they get home they've got three with the Phillies and one with Pittsburgh before shoving off for Philadelphia to end the season with three against the Phils.

The Braves beat the Dodgers Thursday 6-1 and ended their visits to Brooklyn with a 6-5 record, the only team in the league to gain the upper hand over the Dodgers at Ebbets Field.

Eddie Mathews broke a 1-1 tie with his 44th home run in the eighth. It came with two aboard. Later in the same inning Jim Pendleton belted an inside-the-park blast that scored two more. Low Burdette won his 14th game against three losses, best record in the league.

In other games Philadelphia shaded the Cardinals 2-1 and Cincinnati thumped New York 9-2. The New York Yankees whipped the St. Louis Browns 8-5. Cleveland climbed into a second place tie with Chicago by beating Philadelphia 9-4 as the White Sox lost to Washington 5-1 and Detroit edged Boston 5-4.

The Yankees' lead is now 10½ games over Cleveland and Chicago with 22 to play.

The Phils' winning run against the Cardinals came in the eighth when Granny Hamner tripled and then scored as he knocked over catcher Del Rice during an attempted run down. Curt Simmons bested Harry Haddix.

Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati broke his batting slump with his 38th homer, a double and two singles in the Redlegs victory in New York.

Home runs by Yogi Berra, Gil McDougald and Gene Woodling, which produced six runs, helped Eddie Lopat score his 14th victory for the Yanks. The Browns led 4-0 at one point.

The White Sox fell before the four-hit pitching of Bob Porterfield and Johnny Schmitz.

Cleveland's victory over Philadelphia was its 16th in 19 meeting this season. Rookie Dave Hoskins drove in two of the runs in winning his eighth game and his fourth in a row.

Indians Win 14th Straight; Merchants' Night Saturday

Hobson Breaks Doubles' Mark, Nayman Wins 10th; Castro Has Perfect Night; Many Prizes For Fans Here Tomorrow

Making their first local appearance since clinching the Provincial League pennant in St. John's Tuesday, Sherbrooke Indians last night treated St. Hyacinthe's Mike Munsinger, only 20-game winner in the circuit, like a sandlot flinger, clubbing him for a dozen hits and a 5-3 victory.

Only 680 fans were on hand to welcome the champions home and see the Indians win their 14th consecutive game behind the seven-hit pitching of righthander Len Nayman, who won his 10th decision of the season.

The game was featured by Jack Castro's perfect night at the plate (three for three) and Clell Hobson's 30th two-bagger of the campaign, which broke Silvio Garcia's all-time Sherbrooke mark for doubles in one season.

Hobson and Dennis Luby went two for four, Don Saner batted two for five, scored once and drove in another run, while Jack Waters went two for five, scored twice and had two RBIs.

Athletics scored twice in the first, two lucky doubles and an error doing the damage, and once in the seventh, Indians were kept off the score sheet until the fifth only because the local bat batting guns failed to produce with men on bases. Sherbrooke scored once in the fifth and four times in the wild sixth on three hits and three St. Hyacinthe errors.

In the first frame, "Yogi" Byerly planted a hit into the right field corner, fair only by inches and way out of the reach of Bob Diers. That hit was good for two bases and Byerly advanced to third on a passed ball. Next man up, Ted Toles, planted the ball in a similar position but in the left field corner, too far for Waters. That smash was also a double and Byerly scored. Before the fireworks ended, John Creighton hit down to first. The ball was muffed by Saner and Toles scored on the play.

Indians loaded the bases on three hits in their own half of the first but couldn't score. In the fifth,

CLELL HOBSON

Waters and Saner singled in order, Hobson sacrificed them along and Waters scored on a single by Castro into right field.

Everybody but the bat boy went to the plate for Sherbrooke in the sixth inning and leadoff man Luby was up twice. In his first appearance of the frame, Luby was safe on an error by rightfielder John Rice, Don Harper singled but Nayman forced Luby at third. Waters doubled into right, sending both runners home and went to third himself when Rice again erred.

Saner made it to first on a ground ball when the St. Hyacinthe infielder frantically tried to keep Waters from scoring but the speedy Sherbrooke left fielder crossed the plate anyway. Hobson doubled into left centre, sending Saner to third and he scored when Toles muffed Diers' fly ball.

Castro drew a walk to load the bases, O'Donnell grounded the ball to Munsinger who threw to the plate in time to nail Hobson, and Luby struck out to end the big inning.

St. Hyacinthe finished the scoring with a single tally in the seventh. Munsinger singled, Byerly walked and both runners advanced.

Pirie Fails To Lower 10,000-Metre Record In Meet

Stockholm — (AP) — Gordon Pirie of Britain made a brilliant but unsuccessful attempt on Emil Zatopek's 10,000-metre record on Thursday night in the first international Anglo-Swedish track and field meet.

Pirie won the race in 29 minutes, 17.2 seconds, 14.2 seconds slower than Zatopek's world mark. He was ahead of Zatopek's pace for the first 7,500 metres.

Phil Rizzuto Flies Home After Attack

St. Louis — (AP) — Phil Rizzuto, veteran New York Yankee shortstop, flew back to New York Thursday night after recovering from an attack of heat fatigue and food poisoning.

Rizzuto had planned to fly to Washington, where the club plays Saturday and Sunday, but decided to go home first and rejoin the Yankees in time for Saturday's tilt. He collapsed after Wednesday night's game with St. Louis Browns.

Dr. J. G. Probst, Brown's club physician, said Rizzuto was overcome by the heat after eating a dinner of avocado and crabmeat. Willie Miranda played shortstop for the Yankees Thursday.

Four World Top Tennis Players Sweep Forward In U. S. National; Rose, Aussie Davis Cupper, Beaten

Forest Hills, N.Y. — (AP) — The world's four top tennis amateurs of the moment, Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert of the United States and Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hoad of Australia, swept unchecked Thursday into the quarter-finals of the U. S. national championships, but below that level the hottest tournament ever was subjected to a pair of jarring upsets.

Shovelled into the discard were Mervyn Rose, the Australian Davis Cupper who is officially ranked No. 1 in his country, and Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., the 1950 U.S. national champion who was seeded No. 4 on the home list.

The most surprising defeat was that of Rose, the left-hander whom some had fancied as a possible finalist. He went down to Budge Patty of Los Angeles, a former Wimbledon champion, 7-9, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3.

Larsen, after winning the first two sets from Sven Davidson of Sweden, seventh-ranked foreigner, became careless for a space and then made the painful discovery that he couldn't regain his form against a determined opponent. The final score was 1-6, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4, 6-4.

Seixas, the current Wimbledon king, established himself a firm favorite to add a second major title by the convincing manner in which he polished off Billy Talbert of New York, 6-2, 6-0, 6-0.

Rosewall, second foreign seed, was forced to come from behind in each of the first two sets before he finally took the measure of Tom Brown, Jr., San Francisco lawyer, 9-7, 7-5, 6-2.

Hoad, the Australian No. 2, scored just before darkness set in over Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., the intercollegiate title holder, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Trabert seeded second to Seixas among the home forces, turned back Ian Ayre of Australia, 6-2, 7-5, 6-2, thus reducing the Aussie threat to two players.

Gardner Mulloy, the 39-year-old Miami stylist, recovered from a shaky start to eliminate Torben Ulrich, the bearded little Danish Davis Cupper, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5, 6-2, and Kurt Nielsen, the other Danish entrant, disposed of Fred Kovaleski of Washington, 6-3, 5-7, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

The quarter-final pairings will pit Seixas against Nielsen, Trabert against Patty, Davidson against Rosewall and Mulloy against Hoad.

Maureen Connolly, the defending champion from San Diego, led the way into the quarter-finals of the women's division with another easy victory, over Jeanne Arral, a youngster from St. Paul, 6-1, 6-3.

Als Have Best Team In League, Says Clem Crowe

Ottawa — (CP) — Coach Clem Crowe of Ottawa Rough Riders trembled Thursday at the thought of the Montreal Alouette football team.

"I'm telling you, I don't see how we can beat them," he said mournfully, referring to next Saturday's game here.

Crowe returned from Wednesday night's game, in which Montreal defeated Toronto Argos 15-7, to report that "Montreal has the best team in the league."

"If they keep on playing like they did last night, nobody will ever be able to beat them."

Roland Gladu's Son Passes Away At Four Years Of Age

The sympathy of all sport fans will be extended to Mrs. Gladu and Roland Gladu, manager of the 1951 Sherbrooke Athletics of the Provincial Baseball League, now scout for the Cleveland Indians' organization, on the death yesterday of their four-year-old son, Roger.

The boy, sickly almost since birth, passed away in Quebec City. The remains are exposed at the H. N. Brien Funeral Home, Queen Street, from where the service will be held to Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church, Ontario Street, Saturday morning at eleven o'clock. Burial will be in Montreal.

President Rules Against Protest By Chicago Sox

Chicago — (AP) — Chicago White Sox were informed Thursday that their protest of the Aug. 26 game against Philadelphia Athletics has been disallowed.

Sox Manager Paul Richards formally protested a decision by umpire Bill Summers which gave Philadelphia outfielder Dave Philley a triple when Philley's line drive knocked off pitcher Mike Fornieles' glove as he leaped to field the ball.

Will Harridge, president of the American League, said "it is strictly a matter of judgment. The rule states that if a glove is detached from the person of an outfielder, a triple is automatic."

Mr. Bedecki is a graduate of St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, N. S., and a former director of athletics at St. Anne's high school, Glace Bay, N. S. He has played on and coached hockey, baseball, basketball, English rugby, swimming and tennis teams.

THE R.D.A. PROTESTANT CENTRAL SCHOOL BOARD announces that all schools under its jurisdiction will RE-OPEN for the 1953-54 School Year at 9:00 A.M. on September 9th.

School hours on the first day will be the same as on Fridays. Cafeterias at Danville and Richmond will be in operation on the first day. Details regarding bus routes can be learned from the local Secretary-Treasurers.
