ANTICIPATE SUBMARINE RAID HERE

Both British and German Undersea Boats Capable of Voyage

ADMIRALTY SILENT AS TO PRECAUTIONS

British Warships Off New York on the Lookout, However

Special Star Cable from our own Correspondent. (Copyright).

MONTREAL STAR OFFICE, 17 Cockspur street, London, July 8.—The New York story of German plans for a submarine blockade of the Atlantic coast of Canada, with secret bases at Belle Isle and Anticosti, excite no surprise here. It is known that the German War Bureau has long been well supplied with most detailed secret information likely to be serviceable to any power using the North Atlantic seaboard for military purposes.

Krupp's agents were the secret intermediaries through whom this information was gathered. It is suspected that certain persons in St. John's Newfoundland, were in the secret service of Germany, and possibly still are.

Naval experts also agree that the voyages of both British a : German submarines of the newest types, as far afield as the Dardanelles, put the German plans within reach of achievment.

Official circles here preserve complete secrecy as to possible measures to combat the new peril, though Lord Selbourne, speaking for the Ministry in the Lords last night, said:

"We must anticipate the engagement of more German submarines as the war proceeds. The German Admiralty probably is now putting its whole shipbuilding strength into submarines. We must expect the submarine menace not to diminish but increase. It will not be the fault of the German Admiralty or the German Navy if they fail to deal a blow to our carrying trade especially that which brings necessary food to the people.

"As sensible men we had to look the danger straight in the face. There is no need to exaggerate, but it would be foolish not to calculate the consequences if the British Navy is less successful in vigilance and the German navy more successful in attack."

"On the other hand, Sir Norman Hill quotes the Liverpool Dock Board figures showing how miserably the German submarine attempts to blockade British ports have hitherto failed. He says that since the outbreak 20,000 voyages have been made to and from the port of Liverpool. The Germans captured or destroyed only twenty-nine ships. Thus the ships sailing in and out of Liverpool completed in safety 998 out of every 1,000 voyages upon which they started.

MILITIA COUNCIL MAY REPORT UPON ROSS RIFLE SOON

Special to The Montreal Star from Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, July 8.—The declaration of the British Under-Secretary of State for War today that the military report on the Ross rifle is now before the Canadian Government, and that in the light of information received the British contract for Ross Rifles is being reviewed, caused much interest this afternoon in unofficial circles here.

The official set of the Militia Department are all away today. The Militia Council, headed by Senator Lougheed, Acting Minister, are in Quebec investigating, presumably, this very matter.

As stated yesterday, it has been known here for some time that all was not well with the Ross rifle, but the Minister of Militia, who is a great advocate of the arm, kept to himself any report received.

In view of the statements in the British House, it would seem that an official explanation is now called for from Ottawa. If one is made, however, it cannot be till the Militia Council get back, probably tomorrow.

Meanwhile efforts are being made to straighten out the situation by a personal investigation at the factory.

SELLER CERTIFIED HIS OWN ACCOUNT AS BEING CORRECT

O. K. of T. A. Russell Accepted on Bill Presented by Him

Special to The Montreal Star from Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, July 8.—In the War Contracts inquiry this afternoon, H. W. Brown, director of contracts, produced formally the papers in regard to the contract for "Housewives" and those relating to the Brownlee contract for hospital boxes.

Mr. Brown said that Major Jacques, of the medical stores, who had certified to the Brownlee charges as fair and just, had gone to the front.

When Brownlee got the order he communicated with the Parke, Davis Company and the National Drug Company, which supplied the goods and shipped them direct to the department.

Mr. Thompson: "Why was Brownlee instead of the wholesalers given the order?"—"The request was made to our (the contracts) office by Col. Jones."

"Are you not an independent official?" asked the commissioner.

"Yes, but Col. Jones wanted me to place the order with Brownlee, with whom he had arranged matters."

"Would it not have been possible to phone the drug companies, as you did Brownlee?"

Mr. Brown explained that Col. Jones did the 'phoning. He reiterated that he was carrying out an arrangement made by Col. Jones.

ACCEPTED PURCHASER'S O.K.

"But you sent the specifications to Brownlee, who sent them to the companies. Why was it not done directly?"

"Brownlee had more time than we had. We were overwhelmed with work."

"Did you certify to the motor trucks accounts?"—"Formally, on the O.K. of Mr. Russell."

"Do you usually accept the certificate of a man who supplies goods as to the accuracy of his account?"—"No, not generally, but in this case I looked upon Mr. Russell as their responsible representative of the Minister, commissioned to do the buying."

Mr. Brownlee, recalled, gave further figures of his dealings with the department. On his open account, goods supplied without tender, the prices to the Government totalled $22,808; the involved cost wos $16,-010. The percentage of gross profits was thirty per cent. On goods furnished by tender the amount was $13,611, and the invoiced cost $11,-487. The gross profit was sixteen per cent. The percentage of cost of doing business was fourteen per cent. The net profit on the open account was sixteen per cent, and on goods supplied by tender two per cent. He maintained that this was a reasonable profit.

"Forty-nine or fifty per cent reasonable?" asked the Commissioner.

"I am taking the average of the year's business with the Government."

"It is not the average on the regular business, but on isolated transactions," said Sir Charles.

Mr Brownlee maintained that his charges on the whole were not unfair.

T. A. Russell, recalled, was asked if his company had been appointed agent for the Kelly Springfield before he got the commission from Major-General Hughes to buy the trucks.

He said it was about that time. It was after the twenty-five were bought for Valcartier, but before the second order. His company had secured the rights from the Kelly and Jeffrey companies to assemble and build their trucks in Canada.

"When you got the commission from the Minister, did you know your company had been appointed agens?"—"No. The assistant manager had attended to it when I was away."

About a week before that again, Mr. Russell explained his company had been appointed agent for the Jeffrey truck. He had been told by the manager that there had been negotiations for an agency in Toronto, but that none was concluded.

Asked if there had not been a lawsuit over this agency matter, Mr. Russell stated that he understood it had been settled. The Peerless cars had all been sent overseas.

The Commission adjourned at this point until Monday afternoon.

TWO SUFFOCATED IN BREWERY VAT

Two employes of Dawes Brewery, 703 St. Paul street west, were suffocated while at work this afternoon.

The men, Patrick McNally, aged 40, and Alex. McCann, age 45, were working about the vats, and in cleaning out one of them were suffocated by the carbonic acid gas which had colected therein. They were supposed to test for this with a lighted candle and had done so in one case, omitting the precaution in the other. McNally went in first and was overcome, and his friend, seeing him in trouble, without calling for help, went to his assistance. When the men were discovered both were dead. The bodies were removed to the morgue, where an inquest will be held tomorrow.

BERLIN, via London, July 8. — Official despatches today admitted that Russian reinforcements have caused a redistribution of the Austro-German forces between the Bug and the Vistula and have temporarily halted the German advance toward Lublin.

Special Star Cable.

AMSTERDAM, July 8. — German newspapers, according to advices from Berlin, admit that the attacks of the Russians between the Dniester and Pruth rivers are becoming very vigorous, and that the Russians appear to have gained a serious advantage on the Dniester and Bug over the armies of Gen. ALPINISTS TAKE MONTICELLO

Special Star Cable by United Press.

GENEVA, July 8. — By a daring midnight attack, Italian Alpinists have captured Monte Monticello, driving the enemy down the northern slopes, according to despatches received here today.

The Alpine troops roped themselves together in long chains and made their way up the peak by clinging to rocky projections.

The Austrians, who had established themselves behind barricades on the mountain paths, were attacked in the rear and taken by surpise.

The Italian advance upon Roverto has been resumed.

BATTLE STILL RAGING FIERCELY

Special Star Cable by United Press.

PARIS, July 8.—In a bloody bayonet struggle north of the Souchez railway station, a French battalion slaughtered the defenders of a German trench and occupied the earthworks, permitting an approach to the village itself. Despatches from the front this afternoon reported that not a single Teuton soldier escaped alive.

All along the region north of the Bethune-Arras road, Germans and French are locked in a fierce infantry struggle. The battle began early yesterday, following a heavy bombardment from batteries on both sides, and continued throughout the night.

Both sides are bringing up reinforcements around the German wedge to St. Mihiel. The enemy is making desperate attempts to push the French positions at the tip of the salient. The official communique this afternoon reported "lively fighting in the entire region between the Meuse and Moselle."

Soissons was heavily bombarded by the Germans during the night, but no serious military damage was done.

LIBERAL AGENT TAKES ALL BLAME FOR "SLUSH FUND"

Premier Norris Was Only Told of "Saw-offs" Not Money

AGENT COULDN'T RID OF MONEY

Witness Chambers Testifies He Discussed Possibility of Criminal Actions

By The Montreal Star's Special Commissioner.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 8. — The Star witness of the Fullerton inquiry commission has come and gone in one day, full of sensation. If Mr. Fullerton did not know in advance what his evidence was to be, it must have been something of a bombshell to him.

In yesterday's despatches I outlined the two agreements alleged to have been made by different elements in the two parties, and pointed out that in order to make a case against the Government, it would be necessary to establish a connecting link between them, and this link was obviously Hon. T. C. Norris, the Premier.

The evidence of "Bill" Chambers, practical politician, the man who received the corruption fund, today is a picturesque and flat denial that he ever discussed the least creditable end of the business—that is to say, the money end, with the Premier, that the Premier appeared to be quite indifferent to whether the election petitions, for the suppression of which the money was supposed to be paid, were suppressed or not, and that, so far as he knew, Mr. Norris never knew of the existence of the "slush fund" being in his (Chambers') uneasy possession.

WORRIED-LOOKING, BUT PHILOSOPHICAL.

William Chambers is a rather worried-looking gentleman, evidently over middle age. Like every other witness in this remarkable business, he appeared to accept his position under the Fullerton microscope with good natured philosophy.

"It was not so much what he said, as the way he said it," that keeps the courtroom in laughter. According to his own story, his position was a quaint one. For a time he went about with his pockets literally bulging with bills—$25,000 in twenties, and hundreds make something of a roll—and could find no one to relieve him of it.

But his evidence is worth repeating. Whatever subsequent events may prove as to his veracity, it is a tale that is not told twice in a generation.

"FIXING" THE PETITIONS.

Some time during the last session of the House, a man called Newton, a personal friend, though an active Conservative, came to his office and asked him whether the pending election petitions could not be "fixed."

As Chambers knew fixing cost money, he mentioned casually and jocularly $50,000.

Newton was shocked at the size of the sum, and went away, but came back. Twenty-five thousand was mentioned, and then followed an interview with Howden, the then Attorney-General.

$50,000, BUT NO PROMISES.

Chambers told the Minister that the condition precedent to action on his part was $50,000, "to do as he liked with."

More negotiations followed, and then came $25,000 in cash from Newton.

Chambers gave no assurance, "absolutely none," that he would have petitions suppressed, he says.

"You could throw the money into Red River if you wanted to?" asked the incredulous Mr. Fullerton.

"But I didn't," said Chambers, smiling.

With his pockets stuffed with Union Bank bills, Chambers boarded a car and went home with the money. He deposited it in a bureau drawer guarded by his wife.

"FEELING OUT" THE PREMIER.

Some time elapsed, during which he saw Norris. Chambers was exceedingly wary, "feeling out" his old friend as to how he felt about the election petitions. He says he did not tell Norris what he proposed to do, this whole proceeding was off "his own bat," as he said. His caution was inspired by his feeling that "something was going to come out," and he did not want to involve Norris in it.

He found Norris very indifferent on the subject of election petitions every time he saw him. That brought him to the conclusion that there was no need for him to proceed further with his personal plans to "do things in his own peculiar way," as he said.

He never said a word to Norris about the money in his possession, and that was the end of his conferences with Norris. He spoke to no other Liberal about the election petitions, he swore.

TROUBLES ONLY BEGIN.

But Chambers' troubles were by no means over. The first Royal Commission had been in its work, and was ferreting out evidence right and left. Chambers began to imagine that the probe would get to him eventually, and ungarth him with the twenty-five thousand dollars in his possession. He never had any intention of keeping it, he says, now that he couldn't give value for it, and he found he couldn't give it back.

Gradually "stage fright" took possession of him.

He had a talk with Howden, in which "rough stuff," that is, criminal actions, were mentioned. The "rough stuff" was to be "cut out," it appeared. But Howden wouldn't take the money back, and Chambers was afraid to deposit it in banks for fear of causing comment.

He did manage to put $7,500 of it into safe keeping that way, but a lot of it was left and there was a burglary next door. Newton had said he wouldn't take it back. Then he said he would and then when the joyful Chambers met him at the Royal Alexandra with the $25,000, less $3,000, borrowed by his partner, Newton wouldn't touch it and he had to carry it back home again.

GONE "SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE"

Finally, seizing an opportunity when Newton was away, Chambers took the money to his house and left it there. Newton promptly put it in a safety deposit vault to Chambers' order. That is the last Chambers knew of it. He learned what became of the money yesterday. It has gone to the man from whom it originally came, Doctor Simpson, "somewhere in France."

Cross-examination at the hands of Mr. Pitblado did not shake Chambers' evidence. He was not an insider in the Liberal councils, he swore. Newton had trusted him absolutely with the money.

"What made you suggest fifty thousand dollars" queried Mr. Pitblado.

DID IT ALL HIMSELF.

"I opened my mouth and it said fifty thousand dollars," said Chambers. "It might as well have been one hundred thousand."

He had never been authorized to represent anyone in the matter, but had acted entirely of his own accord. The idea of getting the protests removed was entirely his own, and he had not told Newton he could carry it out. On no occasion had he spoken to any Liberal except Norris about election petitions.

After the money got into the safety deposit vault, he thought he would let it stay there, "until it found its father." "He had seen Kelly, who insinuated that the money was his, or managed to convey that impression. He admitted, however, that he had arranged a meeting between Howden and Norris at the former's request.

NEWTON ADDS LITTLE.

G. M. Newton, Chambers' partner in the money deal, added very little to the sum of evidence before the commission. He saw Howden and Norris meet at the Royal Alexandra. He denied having any deal with Howden. He confirmed Chambers' story of his (Newton's) unwillingness to take the money back at the Royal Alexandra. Eventually Chambers left the money at his house. He wanted Howden to take the money after Chambers abandoned it, but Howden wouldn't.

When it went into the deposit vault he admitted that Howden had a key, and that he (Newton) had finally taken it out without consulting Chambers.

CHIEF-JUSTICE ON STAND.

But Chambers was not the only important witness of the day though perhaps the most important. Chief Justice Howell of the Court of Appeals, whose name has repeatedly been involved in the preliminary agreement between the parties, was called to the stand.

He told how the Lieutenant-Governor came to him saying he had "no confidence in his attorney general" (Howden) and consulted with him as to his powers in ordering a royal commission.

Later on came the conference with Hudson and Phippen. He had agreed that it would not be fair to Kelly to go on with a civil action against him while the Royal Commission was in session.

The arrangement made was, he firmly believed, an entirely proper one. There was no suggestion of smothering the Royal Commission. It had been argued that, now that Sir Rodmond Roblin was willing to admit the truth of the Hudson charges, there was no necessity of going ahead with the Royal Commission. He had gained no impression that a bargain was to be made. He had seen Chief Justice Mathers, Chairman of the Commission, who had agreed on the suspension of the Commission on certain conditions, one of which was the admission by Sir Rodmond Roblin of the truth of the Hudson charges.

Lieut.-Col. H. F. McLeod, M.P., who now has a staff position with the first Canadian division in France, called to see Col. Guthrie at the hospital while en route to the front, and writes that Col. Shillington says Colonel Guthrie's foot is likely to have to be amputated.

TO REMAIN FREE CANADA MUST AID TO THE UTMOST

"No Munroe Doctrine Will Help," Says Mr. Meighen

MAJOR HANSON ON CANADIANS' VALOR

Stirring Patriotic Rally Held at St. Lambert Last Night

"If Canada is to be free in future it will be because she, with the other Allies, shall have been able to prevent the Germans from imposing slavery upon her." In these frank terms the Hon. Arthur Meighen, speaking at St. Lambert last night, impressed on Canadians the seriousness of the present issue.

"No Monroe or Bryan doctrine will help now. We must depend on ourselves and our Allies," said Mr. Meighen.

The meeting was one of the most striking patriotic rallies held since the outbreak of the war. A feature was an address by Major Paul Hanson, who was recently invalided home from the front, suffering from wounds incurred at Langemarck. He described the work of the 14th Battalion, and gave some advice as to the gifts to be sent to men at the front. The meeting was under the auspices of J. H. Rainville, M.P., and other speakers included J. A. Desjardins, M.P. for Jacques Cartier; Mayor Venne, who presided, and others.

PLACE OF HONOR.

Describing the preliminary experiences of the Canadians at the front, Major Hanson said that the British Government had shown reliance in them by having them replace in the trenches such regiments as the Grenadier Guards, Black Watch, and the Border regiment. In the battle of Neuve Chappelle the Canadians remained in the trenches, keeping up a heavy fire on the Germans to prevent a counter-attack, while the British troops did the work. Then, after a review by Gen. Smith-Dorrien, the Canadians marched to Ypres and were given the place of honor on the extreme left of the line.

Major Hanson described the Ypres fighting, saying that while every man who had no ties here should go to the front, it was no place for weak or immature men. After the Germans had broken through by means of asphyxiating gases, the Canadians held St. Julien, but in his company of the 14th there were only 32 men left next morning out of 227.

The speaker advised against sending cholera bands to the soldiers. The men used them for cleaning rifles and for baseballs. The same was true of socks. Things more appreciated were toilet articles, stationery, playing cards, and tobacco. Major Hanson referred to the Canadian boot question.

The boots worn by men of the First Contingent went to pieces in the Salisbury mud. British boots were substituted and they also went to pieces. In a short time the men were clamoring for their Canadian boots again, and returned to their use. "The whole cost of the investigation could have been saved by writing to Lieut.-Col. Meighen," said the speaker.

In his address Mr. Meighen said that 15,000,000 armed men had challenged Britain's right to live. If the Teutonic allies could defeat the Allies of Britain, the people of Canada could not trust to the Atlantic Ocean. They were in danger in almost the same degree as border cities of France. Germany's bi-west prize from the war would be the fertile fields of Canada.

Belgians Here to Celebrate Birth of Their Free Country

The Belgians of Montreal, on July 21 will celebrate the independence of their country. It is announced that the Hon. M. de Sadeleer, president of the Belgian Senate, will take part. The Board of Control yesterday recommended to the City Council a grant of $500 for the festivities.

The kingdom of Belgium became an independent nation on July 21, 1830. This year will be the eighty-fifth celebration, and in view of the sympathy of Canada for the little nation and the great friendship which has sprung up during the past year, it was felt that the occasion was one which should be celebrated. The matter came up before the Board of Control through a letter from Gustav Francq, president of the Belgian Chamber of Commerce, who stated that the program suggested included a Requiem Mass for the Belgian soldiers who have fallen on the field of battle, a patriotic meeting in the Monument National, a civic holiday and a reception at the City Hall in honor of M. de Sadeleer.

Lawyer Declares He is Certain Fire Was Set Deliberately

Declaring that he was convinced that the fire in the Montreal Waterproof Clothing Company, Limited, 170 McGill street on May 29 was of incendiary origin, J. A. Mann, K.C., appearing in the interests of the insurance people before the fire commissioner yesterday, stated that he was determined to find the guilty parties.

The affair was investigated, it will be remembered, at length, after the fire, some thirty-six witnesses having been examined. Detectives were also employed by H. Wener, the proprietor, and their reports were placed in the hands of his attorneys. No origin for the fire was discovered, however by Fire Commissioner Ritchie and the inquiry was reopened yesterday.

The brief session was taken up in tilts of counsel and argument as to whether certain phases of the evidence already taken should be reconsidered. The inquiry was then adjourned until July 21, when a report of Dr. St. George, city analyst, on a bundle of alleged oil-soaked streamers will be presented.

PASSPORT RULE MAY INTERFERE WITH FASHIONS

WASHINGTON, July 8. — The statement that the French Government is discouraging attempts on the part of naturalized Americans of German or Austrian origin to secure passports comes as a surprise to the State Department, which was notified by Ambassador Page at London, on June 24th, of this attitude on the part of the French Government. In his dispatch, received on that date at the State Department, the Ambassador reported that the French passport bureau in London which is under the direct control of the military authorities in Paris, "refuses to vise passports hencefourth held by naturalized citizens of the United States of German, Austrian or Turkish origin."

Mr. Page reported that the ground given for this refusal was that a plant for forging American passports had been discovered in Antwerp. He added that without the vise of a French consul no one can go to France from Great Britain. The State Department has been giving serious consideration to the Page dispatch and its effect upon American citizens, who may have legitimate business in Paris, and it has been intimated that the new French rule may work hardship on many buyers who wish to go to Paris to inspect the fashions.

TWENTY-FOUR PER CENT NET PROFIT ON ARMY BICYCLES

T. A. Russell Gives Full Particulars of Motor Car Purchases

HOLDS PROFIT WAS NOT IMPROPER ONE

Challenges Hon. Col. Thomas' Claim of Large Savings Effected

Special to The Montreal Star from Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, July 8.—The supply of touring cars, tires, and bicycles for the Canadian troops was gone into this morning before the Army Contracts Commission, and the examination of Thomas A. Russell, head of the Russell Motor Car Company, was continued.

To John Thompson, Mr. Russell said he had furnished seven touring cars at the list price of $2,750, less 10 per cent. That the cars gave satisfaction, he said, was indicated by the fact that six of them had gone to France after use at Valcartier and Salisbury. The other was badly damaged in a collision.

The examination next turned on the supply of tires for trucks. Mr. Russell said he bought them from the Canada Cycle and Motor Company, a subsidiary of the Russell Company. There were 158, all told, in addition to the 800 on the trucks. The Canada Cycle Company did not make them, but got the tires from the Dunlop Company.

"Did they make a profit?"—"Not at the price sold to the Government."

Mr. Russell said he explained that a profit had been shown at first, but when he checked over the account this was struck out.

Asked as to the cost, the witness said there were different sizes and the figures ranged from $375 to $390 per set, originally a 30 per cent discount was arranged. Finally it was 30 per cent, on the steep equipment. On the rest there was a discount of three tens and a five. This method of discounting was not uncommon.

On his return from England in January he arranged for the extra discount and this procedure saved about $5,000.

NO PROFIT ON SPARE TIRES.

"Dir your company make any profit out of these spare tires "—"No."

"Did the Canada Cycle and Motor Co."—"No. Had the discount remained at thirty per cent, we would have made a profit, but in the final arrangement I eliminated it."

"Why?" asked the Commission.—"I thought that the Canada Cycle Company had done no work apart from placing the order and measuring. The Dunlop Company handled the whole thing practically."

Mr. Thompson observed that apparently, despite the discounts, the tires for the second contingent cost less than for the first.

Mr. Russell attributed that to a different scale of prices and to tires being cheaper on the second occasion than on the first. His information was that there had since been two ten per cent reductions.

In the further examination Mr. Russell figured out that the tires per set for the second contingent cost $272, as compared with $309 he had paid for the first supply at the outset. The price was $375, but before the order was concluded it was down to $309.

In regard to the second contingent supply, there was a refund of duty on imported materials, which accounted for a difference in price of $13 per set as he figured it.

"Were all the touring cars sold to the Government new cars?"—"Yes."

"None of them second hand?"—"No, I know that such a thing would not be done by my company."

"Were any of the trucks second-hand?"—"No, in some cases the companies brought in trucks from outside show rooms, but they were all new."

In regard to the purchase of bicycles, Mr. Russell said his commission from the Minister of Militia did not cover these. The Canada Cycle and Motor Company had supplied Cleveland bicycles at the rate of $62 for the first contingent, and $55 for the second. The retail price was $45, but for war purposes steel was substituted for wooden rims, heavier tires and pedals, lamps, straps, luggage carriers and other extra equipment were put on. When, in 1912, a cyclist corps was proposed, the company submitted a sample wheel which was approved. They cost $62. No orders were placed in 1913, but after the war broke out 450 were ordered at the original rate of $62. For the second contingent 520 bicycles were ordered. The company, as a result of investigation into the cost of the first order, voluntarily reduced the price to $55.

PROFIT IN CYCLES 24 PER CENT.

"Have you calculated what this extra equipment you put on cost?"—"About sixteen dollars."

"Allowing for this, it would still appear that the Government was charged more than an ordinary individual would pay."

Mr. Russell explained that that would be the case if the bicycles were built specially, but in this case, the wheels were already done. They were taken down and apart and rebuilt under conditions foreign to the ordinary, and the factory worked day, night, and even Sundays. Allowing ten per cent for overhead charges, the witness said the Canada Cycle and Motor Company made a profit of 24 per cent. He thought it a good, but not an improper, profit. The 450 bicycles cost $20,963 and were sold at $27,900. The bicycles had given every satisfaction.

In carrying out the Ministers's commission, Mr. Russell said he had placed his whole organization at the work. The total factory cost of the machines supplied by the Russell Company was $255,862; adding overhead charges it was $285,382; the price at which it was sold to the Government was $299,670, a net profit of $14,287.

Outside of the Russell Company he had bought wagons totalling $100,217; trailers $2,200; motor trucks, $349,624; parts $9,410, a total of $461,452. In regard to these he received no commission or compensation, and also had supervised the shipment of much outside equipment at Montreal.

"Was a cent paid or promised to be paid by way of commissions to anyone?" asked Sir Charles.

"Absolutely not."

"Did you get any personal recompensation save from your company?"

"None whatever."

MAINTAINS CHARGES FAIR.

Mr. Russell reviewed his work in England. The investigation Committee. It was not fair, he said, he had made and the reports he had submitted. He took strong exception to claims made by Hon. Col. Thomas that he (Thomas) had been responsible for saving $180,000 to the Government on buying motor equipment for the second force.

Mr. Russell analyzed Mr. Thomas' statement before the Public Accounts Committee. It was noa fair, he said, to say that a big saving had been made on trucks when they were never purchased.

Mr. Russell resented very keenly the suggestion that improper prices had been paid in regard to the equipment of the first contingent. He pointed out the rush attending the first orders. Twenty-six days after the mechanical transport was ordered it had sailed, and in seven weeks it was at Salisbury, doing what Gen. Alderson styled was better work than any transport system done on those plains.

Col. Thomas had been seven months on the job, yet the mechanical transport for the second force was still in Ottawa. A force was employed still getting the trucks ready and premises had to be rented to store them. Had the commission paid to Thomas been paid on his (Russell's orders) it would have totalled $11,000 on $760,000. Mr. Russell was quite prepared to have the total claimed saving of $22,000 compared with the cost of administration.

LOST MONEY ON WAGGONS.

Warren Y. Soper, vice-president of the Ottawa Car Company, was the next witness. He told first of the purchase of eighty waggons from the Ottawa Car Company at $112 each. The retail price was $125. The company on the deal lost $11.05 per waggon.

Mr. Soper was then questioned in regard to the buying of Gramm motors, for which the Ottawa Car Company is an agent. He stated that by the terms of the agrement between his company and the Gramm, in 1912, the Ottawa Car Company is entitled to a commission on all Gramm cars or trucks sold to the Government, whether at Ottawa, or elsewhere. He had been present at Toronto when Mr. Russell ordered the Gramm cars, nineteen in all. He considered that this order came within his company's agreement. The bill to the Government was $78,544, and the Ottawa Car Company's commission was $15,200. A car had been supplied by each of the Gramm agents at Winnipeg, Quebec, Vancouver and Montreal, and the Ottawa Car Company had half of those agents' commissions, by virtue of the agreement referred to. Mr. Soper stated that no commission or inducement had been paid any official.

Representatives of the Pierce-Arrow and Peerless companies swore that no commission had been paid,

Can Newspapers Nationalize?

There is a certain corset that is known and sold all over North America.

It is a standard product alike in style and price everywhere.

It is said to be more largely sold than any other similar article.

Its sales were built up almost entirely by newspaper advertising which sent women directly to the dealers' stores.

"Quality plus newspaper advertising is the secret of our success" say the manufacturers.

Manufacturers who want to know how to nationalize their product through newspapers are invited to address the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.

FIVE DEAD AT SEA ON ONE TRIP

Sicilian Arrived Today Reports Deaths on Voyage to England

Five of the passengers on board the Allan liner Sicilian died at sea on her last voyage from Montreal to London. Four were buried at sea and one taken ashore at London.

The Sicilian which arrived in port this morning, had a heavy list of passengers when she left this port last month. The first death was that of Mrs. Gordon, from Vancouver. She was in a weak condition when she began the voyage and suffered from paralysis.

Daniel Cassidy, a steerage passenger, died the following day.

Two days later J. H. Cook died. Both he and Cassidy were advanced cases of tuberculosis. Cook's demise was followed the day after by the death of a seven month's child in the steerage. After leaving Plymouth for London there was one more death that of a young boy, G. H. Willis. He was the son of engineer-commander Willis of the Princess Irene which blew up at Sheerness.

Three of the burial services were conducted at sea by Purser R. Mitchell, while Cassidy's was read by one of the Catholic members of the crew.

On her trip to Montreal this time, the Sicilian carried but nine passengers, two in the cabin, and seven in the steerage.

Another ship of the same line, the Pretorian, is due to arrive this afternoon. Her list of passengers is fairly heavy, and includes some convalescent soldiers. The Mongolian, formerly of the Allan Line, is also in the river and will dock this afternon. She is now under Imperial Government charter.

Tow Boat on Ohio River Struck Pier and Capsized

CINCINNATI, July 8. — Available reports early today show that thirty-three persons are dead and fifteen or more missing, and are believed to be buried in the ruins of buildings wrecked during a heavy rain and wind storm which passed over Cincinnati and its suburbs at 9:30 o'clock last night. The known dead are:

James T. Allen, of the Ohio Humane Society; Mrs. E. Cohen, Mrs. Rosa Tennenbaum, Charles Kline, Brad Williams, captain of the towboat Fulton; William Hempleman, a manufacturer; Irene Glatthaus, Phillip Rizzo, George Fagan, unidentified woman killed by falling tree; unidentified man killed in train wreck caused by storm; unidentified negro, killed by falling sign; unidentified woman and two unidentified men drowned by overturning shanty boat on Ohio River; eighteen deck hands and roustabouts drowned by capsizing of towboat Convoy.

More than a score of other persons were injured, some seriously. During the height of the storm the wind blew seventy miles an hour, according to the local weather bureau. Twenty or more houses were blown down, many buildings were unroofed, windows crashed in, and several

RACE HORSES STAMPEDE

The plant of the Western Union Telegraph Company on the fifteenth floor of the Ingalls building was prostrated. Windows were blown in, admitting the rain in such volume as to flood the office, rendering useless the dynamos and other equipment.

Several freight cars on the Pennsylvania Railroad were overturned at Terrace Park. Two of the cars contained valuable running horses. The animals stampeded and many of them were so badly injured that they had to be shot.

Brewery and Factory Collapse at Vincennes

By Canadian Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 8. — The wind and rain storm which swept central and southern Indiana last night caused three fatalities, many injuries, and much property and crop damage. Telephone and telegraph services were interrupted, and many interurban and steam lines suffered from washouts.

Indianapolis, Brazil, Bicknell, Martinsville, Terre Haute, Greencastle, Vincennes and Muncie felt the storm most. In all these cities an unprecedented seasonal rainfall was reported, accompanied by high winds. Streets were flooded, telephone poles blown down, and, in many instances houses were wrecked.

At Vincennes a brewery and a furniture factory collapsed under the gale, and near Vincennes the farm home of Tom Riley was blown down and Riley's daughter killed. Silas Felton, night engineer, was caught beneath the falling walls of the brewery and fatally injured.

At Greencastle a prisoner in the State penal farm was struck by lightning while walking in a field and killed. Two companions were stunned, but were revived.

LANDSLIDE AND WASHOUT.

At Martinsville, Floyd Oakes, an electrician, was electrocuted while repairing a broken wire. The storm knocked out the lighting system and left the city in darkness.

Terre Haute and Muncie reported no loss of life, but much property damage. At La Fayette the Monon railroad reported a 1,000 foot landslide over its tracks near Logan and a 400-foot washout near Ellettsville.

Rural sections detail damages to the corn crop and to wheat in the shock.

Million Dollar's Damage Done in St. Louis, Mo.

ST. LOUIS, MO., July 8.—Reports early today from Western Missouri, which was swept by a tornado late yesterday, show that seven persons were killed, several score injured, and three are missing.

The damage to buildings and crops is estimated at between $500,000 and $1,000,000.

One of the remarkable features of the tornado was the small number of deaths, considering the nature of the property damage. Thus, in the city of St. Charles, 162 blocks were practically demolished, but not one life was lost there. Forty of the sixty buildings which formed the town of St. Peter were blown to fragments, but only a few slight injuries were reported from that place.

Gilmore, Mo., was nearly wiped out, yet only one man was found dead there. Between Gilmore and Wentzville a Wabash passenger train, known as the Colorado Limited, crossed the path of the storm, and the first four coaches in the train were neatly plucked by the wind, and laid to one side of the right-of-way.

Not a person was injured seriously in this accident. Those in the ditched cars ran back to the five-passenger coaches left standing on the track; these were coupled to the tender, and the train proceeded on its journey.

Two miles west of O'Fallon, the wind lifted a buggy off the road, carried it, with horse and three occupants, some distance through the air and then hurled it to the ground. Daniel Miner, the driver, escaped with a few bruises, but his wife and one child were killed.

At Dardenne, Mo., the home of Thomas Flaherty was demolished, and Mrs. Flaherty and their two children were killed. Fifty other homes in this town were reduced to splinters and piles of brick.

At Wentzville, Mo., Mrs. Herman Oberlind was killed, and at Gilmore the body of Frank Kunzie was found on the railroad station platform after the storm.

St. Charles, after a night of total darkness—the electric light plant having been put out of commission—today looked upon the ruins of the entire central portion of the city, including more than 300 residences. Search was instituted for the bodies of a woman and two small children, who took refuge in the St. Charles Borromeo Catholic church, a few minuptes before it was razed by the wind. It is supposed they perished. The Borromeo was the oldest church in St. Charles, having been built in 1862 at a cost of $100,000.

With the death last night of Charles Byrne, of Belocil, who passed away in the General Hospital at midnight, the cordite fire in the plant of the Canadian Explosives, Limited, Belocil, claimed its ninth victim. Four other patients, two men and two women, in the General Hospital, are progressing favorably.

TORNADO WRECKS TOWNS AND KILLS SCORES OF PEOPLE

Trains Overturned, and Boats Sunk in Seventy-Mile Hurricane

FACTORIES AND HOUSES FALL DOWN

Storm Lasted Half An Hour and Many Cities Were in Darkness

NEW YORK, July 8.—According to figures compiled early today, more than fifty persons were killed and several score injured by the violent wind and rain storm which extended from Nebraska to Ohio, last night. The property damage is estimated at several millions of dollars.

The greatest loss of life occurred in Cincinnati and vicinity, where thirty-three persons are known to be dead, and fifteen missing, eighteen of the dead there being deck hands who were drowned by the capsizing of the tow boat Convoy, on the Ohio river.

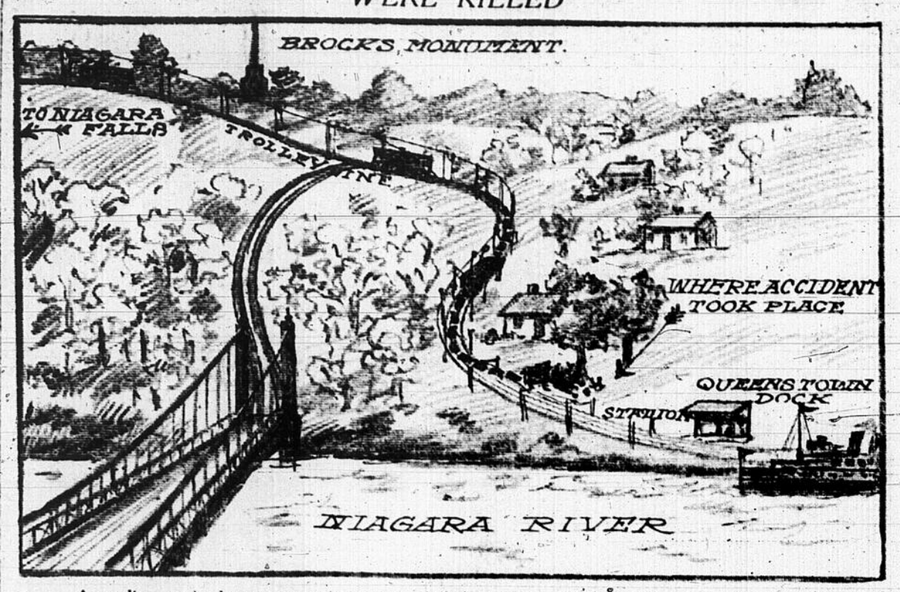
In eastern Missouri, the storm assumed the proportions of a tornado, demolishing 162 blocks in St. Charles, a town of about 11,000 people. St. Peters, a town of 300 inhabitants, and Gilmore, a village of 100, were almost wiped out by the tornado.

In St. Charles and St. Peters there was, however, no loss of life, while in Gilmore only one person was killed.

In southern Illinois the storm was severe, causing heavy damage in many localities.

In central and southern Indiana, three persons were killed and many injured. Telegraph and telephone service was demoralized, buildings were unroofed, and crops damaged by the heavy wind and rain.

SCENE OF ACCIDENT IN WHICH SIXTEEN TORONTO PEOPLE WERE KILLED



According to the latest report sixteen were killed and two score injured when a trolley car ran off the track between Brock's monument and Queenstown, on the Niagara river, last evening. The grade from the dock at Queenstown to the top of bank is a very steep one. The car was crowded with women and children returning to Toronto from a church picnic. The above sketch of where the accident took place was made from a telegraphic description.

DETECTIVES NOW SUPERVISING THE SUPPLY OF STONE

City detectives have been ordered by the mayor to supervise the laying of curbstones on works already started by the corporation; they have been provided with copies of the specifications and will permit no stone to be laid which does not meet the standard under which the contract for the material was awarded.

"I want to be sure that the city uses none of the material already delivered by the contractor unless it is up to specifications," said the mayor to The Star today. "I want no more stone inspectors, for they do not seem to have done their work in the past. So I thought the best thing would be to put one detective in the north end of the city, one in the east and one in the west end. When it is decided by the engineers that curbstones shall be laid in a certain street, it will be the duty of the detective to see that each of the stones laid is absolutely up to specifications. The city has lost enough money through putting down bad curbstones, and I am determined that it shall lose no more.

"The danger in putting down such stones is that it exposes the city to indefinite damage in the future. If the curbstone is irregular in shape, water gets under it, it sinks, and it takes with it the cement or asphalt sidewalk which has to be repaired."

F. D. UNDERWOOD TO JOIN C. P. R. STAFF?

A special despatch from Chicago to The Star today stated that F. D. Underwood, President of the Erie Railway is to join the staff of the Canadian Pacific Railway. In this connection it is rumored in Chicago that Mr. Underwood would take Sir Thomas Shaughnessy's place temporarily, Sir Thomas to go into the Government service until the end of the war.

In this connection Sir Thomas stated this morning:—"There is no truth in the rumor."

STATES UNLIKELY TO COMPLY WITH GERMAN REQUEST

Probable Attitude Will Be to Stand Pat on Former Notes

CABINET IS BEHIND PRESIDENT IN THIS

U. S. Wants Negotiations to Be Ended as Soon as Possible

Special Star Cable by Theodore Tiller of the International News.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The next step in the United States Government's controversy with Germany over the latter's submarine warfare was up to President Wilson today, and word was awaited at the State Department giving the chief executive's opinion of the informal outline of the German reply, which was sent to him by Ambassador Gerard at Berlin.

The Secretary of State, Mr. Lansing, did not expect to communicate with Ambassador Gerard until he received instructions. It was not denied, however, that the German Government is parleying for concessions from the stand taken by the United States regarding the rights of neutrals to travel unmolested on the high seas.

There is little doubt in official quarters that the counter-proposals made by Germany are unacceptable in their present form. The German suggestions have not been made public either in Berlin or Washington, but it is known that Germany is fighting against any promise to the United States which might destroy the effectiveness of the Kaiser's submarine warfare against Great Britain.

GERMAN TERMS SUMMARIZED.

It is believed that Germany, in the tentative draft of its reply to this Government, goes to the extent of agreeing that Americans may travel in any ship, provided the United States gives assurances to the German Government as follows:

(1) That the ship, belligerent or otherwise, is unarmed.

(2) That she carries no contraband of war.

(3) That she will stop for search if signalled by a German submarine.

(4) This Government also would be required to notify Germany of the sailing date of such a vessel.

Germany is believed here to be unwilling to make any agreement to spare a ship simply because she has Americans on board.

It is realized by this Government that the United States will invite much work and worry, should she accede to the suggestions to keep constant espionage on departing ships that they may be marked as having Americans aboard.

The purported counter-proposal of Germany also means that this Government must go to the trouble of exacting from vessels' promises that they will submit to search or seizure on the high seas, and the Washington authorities furthermore must assume the responsibility of attesting that the vessel is unarmed and carries no contraband.

U. S. LIBERTY TO STAND FIRM.

Although the President has not made public his views on such a program, it is not believed here that he will enter into an arrangement of this sort. The Administration, as outlined in two notes to Germany, wants that nation to guarantee freedom of the seas to Americans and would leave to Germany, rather than the United States, the adoption of means to provide such freedom.

Several members of the President's Cabinet are said to be ready to advise him to stand firm on his previously announced position, which is founded on international law and which is regarded as sound in principle.

If Germany insists upon radical concessions, it is not thought that there will be an immediate settlement of the controversy. There is a disposition, however, on the part of the United States to end the pending negotiations as soon as possible, that the patience of the American people may not be taxed unduly by continued parleying as to details.

The German reply is understood to be ready for transmission, should the United States make the concessions desired in Berlin. The probable refusal of this Government to make radical concessions, however, may force another change in the note, as there still prevails here the optimistic feeling that Germany will not deliberately sacrifice the goodwill of the United States at this juncture.

LEFT A LETTER TELLING WHY HE ENDED HIS LIFE

Without calling a jury, Deputy Coroner Biron disposed of the case of Henry Whitehead this morning as one of suicide. Mr. Whitehead was thirty-seven years old, and lived at 787 Champagneur street. He shot himself in the head yesterday in the Windsor Station, where he acted as ticket agent.

Several witnesses were examined by the deputy coroner in his private office, but he declined to divulge what he learned.

"Is it not a fact," he was asked, "that Mr. Whitehead left a letter, explaining the motive for his act?"

"It is," replied Mr. Biron, "but the contents of that letter are not a matter of public interest. Mr. Whitehead was financially embarrassed, and the letter says so. That is all."

REAL ESTATE MAN ARRESTED IN TORONTO

A well-known Montreal real estate man who left this city recently, was arrested last night in Toronto, by a deputy of the High Constable's office, and was brought to Montreal this morning.

Three warrants were sworn out against him by one of his former clients. One charges conspiracy, and two false pretences. Search warrants have also been issued.

Pending the serving of the search warrants the authorities will not give anything out about the case. It is understood, however, that the sums of money involved are large.

Bishop Hayes Here Tomorrow

The Rt. Rev. Patrick J. Hayes, D.D., Auxiliary Bishop of New York, will arrive in Montreal tomorrow. Bishop Hayes will be the preacher at the dedication of the new Congress Hall, Dorchester street, on Sunday morning. While in this city he will be a guest at St. Patrick's Presbytery.

The ceremony of blessing the new edifice adjoining St. Patrick's Church is the preliminary of the functions that will mark the Eucharistic Congress next week. The Priests' Eucharistic League, under whose auspices the congress will take place, celebrates this year the silver jubilee of its foundation in Canada.

Besides several members of the hierarchy, many priests well known throughout the country will be present.

Lieut. George Lawrence Pirie, a director of Pirie and Sons, Limited, Aberdeen, and a trainer of racehorses, has died in London of wounds received at Neuve Chapelle. He joined the Northamptonshire Yeomanry last September.

PROBABILITIES.

Northerly winds, a few local showers today. Fine and moderately warm tomorrow.

The disturbance is centred south of Lake Erie, and rain has fallen over the greater portion of Ontario, quite heavily in the southern districts. Local showers have occurred in Saskatchewan and Alberta, while in Manitoba and the Maritime Provinces the weather has been fine and warm.

SEVENTEEN DIED WHEN NIAGARA CAR JUMPED THE TRACK

Terrible Accident to Sunday School Excurtionists from Toronto

CROWDED TRAMCAR GOT OUT OF CONTROL

Motorman Could Not Negotiate Dangerous Curves on Steep Incline

DEATH ROLL IN CAR TRAGEDY IS NOW SEVENTEEN PEOPLE

TORONTO, July 8—At noon today seventeen dead and ninety-seven injured had been totalled up as the casualty list in the Queenston car wreck, in addition to the nine identified before morning the names of the following dead persons are announced:

Mrs. William Orr, 8 First avenue; Robert Watson; Margaret Tomlin, aged fourteen, 31 De Grassi street; Reta Wiggins, Rosa Wheaton. Two dead remain unidentified.

Special to The Montreal Star.

TORONTO, July 8. No sand, a useless brake, a bad rail, too much power, and the steep incline and terribly sharp curves on the trolley line from the famous heights of Queenston to the steamship dock at the Niagara River edge, were the factors which, combined last evening to add one more to the long list of tragedies for which the Falls district has become noted.

Only today is Toronto beginning to realize, to some extent, what a scene of terror was enacted last night, when a Gorge Route trolley car ran amok, in full sight of the crowded steamer Chippewa, and hurled over 150 frightened excursionists, mostly Sunday School children from the Woodgreen Methodist and St. Johns Presbyterian Church, Toronto, down the river embankment, many of them to awful injury and suffering, and at least fourteen to sudden death, without any chance of escape or rescue.

The scene of the accident was at the last curve the trolley line takes before it reaches the station and wharf at Queenston, and brings it within a few yards of the river, just where it breaks from the narrow gorge. The current is swift, the water turbulent, with dangerous eddies near the shore. The river bank on the Canadian side falls precipitately to a great depth.

JUMPED THE TRACKS.

It was here that the car left the track. The end of the descent had been reached. In its course down from Brock's Monument, curving away from the river, the railway hugs the shoulder of the heights for a considerable distance, then bends back sharply on itself, and travels a distance of half a mile before it reaches the final curve at the river's brink. The grade is heavy all the way, and motormen are supposed to make the descent slowly. According to survivors, the momentum gained by the runaway car was terrific.

It is stated that the motorman lost control of the car through the brakes failing to respond at a considerable distance up the heights, and as a result the car dashed down the track. The screams and cries of the women helped to unnerve the motorman and attracted the stupified attention of those above and those waiting for the car on the dock below. There was no means possible of rendering aid.

CITY CAN NOT HELP AUTOBUS

So Decides City Attorney, Agreeing with Mayor's Own View

PERMISSION IS NECESSARY FIRST

Quebec Legislature Would Have to Act—Wanted Big Guarantee

In a report submitted to Mayor Martin, today, C. Laurendeau, city attorney, gives the opinion that the city cannot legally guarantee the obligations of the Canadian Autobus Company to the extent of $3,000,000, for ten or thirty years, unless with the permission of the Quebec Legislature.

The report was prepared in response to a request from the Board of Control, which wanted to know whether or not it could accept the proposal made by the company on June 29 that it would operate an autobus service in and around Montreal if the city would guarantee its obligations in the manner mentioned.

The document will be presented to the board this afternoon by the mayor at the moment when representatives of the company are due to meet the controllers, further to explain the proposition put forward to the administration.

That just bears out the opinion I expressed at the time when the proposition was submitted to us," said the mayor today, when he received the report. "I knew that at present the city had no power practically to provide working capital for the company in this manner, but I wished the city attorney to give his opinion in the matter, so that everyone might be satisfied."

WHAT REPORT SAYS.

Mr. Laurendeau's report follows:

"Gentlemen,—By your resolution of June 29, you ask us if the city has the power to guarantee the obligations of the Autobus Company to the extent of $3,000,000 for a term of ten or thirty years. Provided that the guarantee and the vote of council be ratified by the Quebec Legislature at its next session.

"We are of opinion that the city cannot, in virtue of the powers it possesses, guarantee the obligations of the Autobus Company. To give this guarantee, it would be necessary for it to obtain the authorization of the Legislature.

"If the city decided to give this guarantee, this decision could only become effective when it had been ratified by the Legislature. In the interval, the city cannot execute this decision.

"We think it our duty to remind you that the case concerning the annulment of the bylaw and of the contract between the city and the Autobus is at present before the Supreme Court."

FLYING SCHOOL WILL BE OPENED HERE ON AUGUST 2

Forty acres of land and a row of hangars have been granted by Montreal East to the Mongreal School of Flying for three years. In addition, the town council has promised to build a landing station one hundred feet long; the school promising in return to furnish an aeroplane for the regatta to be held there on July 31.

The school will be open on August 2, and one hundred applications have already been received from prospective students. It is expected that those qualifying will offer their services for overseas service in the British flying corps.

The needed machines, three aeroplanes and three hydroplanes, will be built by the Aeroplane Construction Company of Montreal, with a temporary plant at Lachine. J. A. Pyke is the manager, and Daniel Cole and Mr. Saulsman are the experts whose help is being obtained. W. A. Dean of Toronto will be the instructor of the school, and Robert M. Sugars the secretary. There will be place for thirty students, the course costing $350 for 350 minutes. Mr. Dean declaring that longer time is not needed to master the art of flying if the pupil is apt.

Those graduating will receive the American Pilots' certificate, which is accepted by the authorities in England and other countries.

HOLT BOMB ON LINER EXPLODES

Steamer Minnehaha on Fire with 17,000 Tons Ammunition Aboard

BOAT RETURNING TO HALIFAX NOW

Captain Sends Message That Flames are Now Under Control

NEW YORK, July 8. — As if in answer to Frank Holt's last warning that a ship at sea "should sink, God willing, on the 7th," there came last night a wireless message, made public today, from Captain Claret, of the Atlantic transport line steamer Minnehaha, telling that his ship was afire at sea 570 miles southeast of Halifax. The ship had sufficient ammunition aboard, by the Line's admission, to sink her should the flames reach it, but whether the blaze in her hold was started by a bomb which Holt had placed there, was at first a matter of pur econjecture.

Captain Claret's message said that the fire was in No. 3 hold and was not serious. The ammunition aboard the ship was stored aft, at an appreciable distance from this hold. In No. 3 hold, it was asserted, the cargo was of a general nature. She was at her pier about a week, taking on cargo, before she sailed for London last Sunday, July 4.

A wireless message received at 12:40 p.m. today from Captain Claret read as follows:

"Fire caused by explosion. Now under control by suffocation and steam. Much smoke in holds. Deemed it expedient to make for Halifax. Due off Chebucto Head 9 a.m. Friday. Advise agents."

The message came by way of Cape Race.

The Minnehaha carries a crew of 150 men, but had no passengers aboard when she left here Sunday.

The liner carried 17,000 tons of ammunition, consigned to the British Government, and purchased here through the firm of J. P. Morgan and Company. Officials of the line expressed the opinion today that the liner would be able to reach Halifax without difficulty.

The Minnehaha is one of the largest vessels of the Atlantic Transport Line. She is a steel twin-screw steamer, displacing 13,714 tons, and is 600 feet in length, with a 65 foot beam. She was built in 1900 at Belfast, and is registered from that port.

The Minnehaha was built as a big passenger-carrying boat. She had four decks and was equipped with wireless.

C. W. Thomas, of the Atlantic Transport Line, declared today that it was highly improbable that Holt's trunk of explosives started the fire aboard the Minnehaha.

The fact that the steamer carried no passengers made the idea that a trunk might have been slipped aboard almost absurd, he said. While the Minnehaha was being loaded, from Tuesday to Sunday, extraordinary precautions were taken to keep strangers away from her dock.

The marine department of the Dominion was prepared this afternoon to send a Government vessel to the assistance of the burning Minnehaha should it be asked for. Preparations were made to push out a steamer on the strength of the press messages which were read to officials, though in the absence of a wireless from the ship herself, giving her course, nothing more could be done. The Minnehaha did not call at Halifax on her trip.

Reformatory Lads Prove Themselves Heroes in Battle

Special Star Cable by United Press.

LONDON, July 8—England's "bad boys"—nearly 20,000 of them—have become heroes in the trenches in Northern France. Figures given out here today showed that 19,649 former inmates of reformatories and industrial schools have served with honor in the army and navy since the war began, and that three have been awarded Victoria Crosses by King George for gallant conduct.

Twenty-five of the once wicked youths have received the Distinguished Conduct Medal, and twenty have been mentioned in despatches. Eight hold commissions and three have been decorated by the French Government.

The roll of honor includes the names of 530 who have been killed in action, sixty-two who have died of their wounds or sickness, and 1,540 who have been wounded.

Quebec Steamer Hauled Off Mud; is Undamaged

By Canadian Press.

QUEBEC, July 8. — After being stuck hard and fast in the mud, a little above Three Rivers, since early Tuesday morning the Canada Steamship Lines steamer Quebec was refloated at 5:25 p.m. yesterday.

The vessel, which had run some distance on the bank a mile and a half above Three Rivers, was pulled into deep water by five tugs — the Magnolia, Hudson, Alaska, Spray and Rosalie. The steamer Quebec was reloaded last night and reached Quebec this morning.

The local officials of the Canada Lines, Ltd., stated today that she was not at all damaged, and that she will resume her regular service this evening, leaving for Montreal at 6:30.

French Take Trenches from Germans North of Souchez — Berlin Officially Admits This — Russians Drive Teutons Back Twelve Miles in Poland—Italians Make Successful Air Raid

Special Star Cable by International News.

PARIS, July 8.—While the German troops are continuing their attempts to break through the French lines in the Argonne and to establish more firmly their salient at St. Hilliel, the French forces have renewed their assaults against the enemy in the region north of Arras.

Official announcement was made today that this new French offensive has been succesful in capturing a line of German trenches north of Souchez. All the defenders were killed, except several who were taken prisoners. The French also captured a German gun.

The War Office statement reads as follows:

"In the region to the north of Arras there were last evening and last night several infantry actions of considerable violence. Between Angres and Souchez, to the north of the road running from Bethune to Arras a German attack, preceded by a very heavy bombardment, was completely repulsed.

"At a point to the north of the railroad station of Souchez we delivered an attack which made it possible for us to draw nearer to the village. We took possession of a line of German trenches after having put an end to all the defenders thereof by the use of hand-grenades and bombs. After this we advanced beyond these trenches. We made some prisoners and captured a cannon.

"The town of Soissons has been bombarded.

"In the Argonne infantry fighting and cannonading lasted all night. At daybreak, in the region of Marie Therese, the Germans made an endeavor to come out from their trenches, but they were driven back.

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle last night there was much fighting.

"In the forest of Apremont and in the forest of Le Pretre there was cannonading, rifle fire, and the throwing of bombs, but with two exceptions no infantry engagements. These exceptions were between Fed-en-Haye and the forest of Le Pretre, where two attacks on the part of the enemy were checked by us."

BRITISH EYE-WITNESS REPORTS

Special Star Cable.

LONDON, July 8.—A report of the British official eye-witness, dated July 3, at a "certain place" in France says:

"An artillery action occurred on June 28, participated in by both sides along the right half of our front south of Armentieres. Our machine gunners shot down a German flag which was planted between the lines and brought it in as a trophy. On the following day the Germans bombarded Armentieres for four hours.

"Near Cuinchy our field guns dispersed a working party and our miners blew up one hundred yards of the enemy's trench, with considerable loss to the Germans.

"On Wednesday we mined and destroyed fifty yards of trenches on the German front two miles north of Neuve Chapelle. On July 1 the Germans fired a small mine on the front at Ploegsteert wood and shelled our machine was brought down by our guns and fell within our lines.

"For these five days there have been numerous skirmishes between patrols, and sniping is carried on steadily. A German officer who crawled out alone was killed by a bomb on our parapet.

"Firty men of the German 105th Regiment were recently asphyxiated in the neighborhood of Hill 60 by the escape of gas from a cylinder which was hit by our shells.

"On some sections of the enemy's front a number of men carry reservoirs of oxygen strapped to their backs to revive men who have been affected by gas."

GERMANS ADMIT DEFEAT.

Special Star Cable.

BERLIN, via wireless to London, July 8.—The War Office admitted this afternoon that French troops penertated the German trenches on a half mile front in the furious battle west of Souchez.

The official statement given out by Army Headquarters said:

"In the western theatre of war: "West of Souchez the French succeeded in penetrating our outer trenches over a width of 800 yards. They were driven out again by our counter-attack. A second attack made by the enemy broke down under our fire. Hand grenade fighting still goes on for possession of a small section of trenches in which the French still are established.

"Enemy attacks on the positions which we had captured to the west of Apremont lasted throughout the day and night without any success. The number of prisoners was increased by three officers and 400 men.

"On the entire western front lively artillery battles are in progress.

"In the eastern theatre:

"An enemy attack from the direction of Kovno (in Lithuania) was repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy.

"At Stegna, northeast of Przasnysz, a few Russian trenches were taken and retained.

"Enemy advances in the region of Stzegowo and Starozreby, northeast and east of Ravlonz, were unsuccessful. Attempts made by our opponents to take away hill 95, to the east of Dolowatka, which we captured yesterday, failed.

"In the southeastern theatre:

"There is no change in the situation of the German troops standing between the Dniester and the upper Vistula. To the west of the upper Vistula, a number of enemy positions were taken by storm."

It was further stated that the station would be run by the Government, like the other similar stations under its control.

Neutrality violations were given as the reason for the step.

Recipe to Stop Dandruff

This Home Made Mixture Stops Dandruff and Falling Hair And Aids Its Growth.

To a half pint of water add:

Bay Rum	1 oz.
Orlex Compound	a small box
Glycerine	¼ oz.

These are all simple ingredients that you can buy from any druggist at very little cost, and mix them yourself. Apply to the scalp once a day for two weeks, then once every other week until all the mixture is used. A half pint should be enough to rid the head of dandruff and kill the dandruff germs. It stops the hair from falling out, and relieves itching and scalp diseases.

Although it is not a dye, it acts upon the hair roots and will darken streaked, faded, grey hair in ten or fifteen days. It promotes the growth of the hair and makes harsh hair soft and glossy.—Advertisement.

UNVEIL MEMORIAL TO CHAMBERLAIN IN EMPIRE CENTRE

By Canadian Associated Press.

LONDON, July 8.—The Rt. Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, unveiling today a memorial to Joseph Chamberlain at the Guildhall, said:

"The common feeling of Empire among all our free and self-governing Dominions is absolutely novel in history, and has no parallel. It was a creation scarcely dreamt of by our grandfathers, and yet is now in actual operation before our eyes."

"When they welcomed the contingent of gallant men from Canada Australia, New Zealand and the Cape, they could not forget the spirit which had produced this marvellous result.

"That the British Empire stands for peace has been admitted sometimes with admiration, sometimes with scorn, but that the British Empire, when attacked, may stand for war, is a feature which we now see before our eyes."

WOUNDED SOLDIERS ON THE PRETORIAN

Special to The Montreal Star.

QUEBEC, July 8.—While in port here the captain of the Pretorian denied that his ship had been chased by a German submarine.

Some Canadian volunteers, a few of them found medically unfit for service, were returned on the Pretorian in charge of Capt. Weld, a wounded officer, of the 8th Battalion, who is over on a short leave of absence. Capt. Weld, who is a resident of London, Ont., fell a victim to German fire in the battle of Ypres, April 23. He is suffering from a gunshot wound in his leg and also from gas poisoning.

He returned with Ptes. Riggs, 1st Battalion, and Hornfield, Gerard and Potvin, of the 14th Battalion. Among the other passengers on board the Pretorian is G. D. Duguid, of Toronto, who was on board the steamer Lusitania when the Cunarder was sunk without warning by a German submarine.

SAYS ROSS RIFLE NOT SUITED TO TRENCH WARFARE

Special Star Cable From Our Own Correspondent.

MONTREAL STAR OFFICE, 17 Cockspur Street, London, July 8. — The Ross rifle question has been brought before the House of Commons by Sir Arthur Markham, M.P., the well-known colliery owner who loaned his country home, Beachborough Park, Shorncliffe, for a Canadian hospital.

In answering your representative who called on him, Mr. Markham said today:

"I understand the Ross rifle has been the subject of political dispute in Canada, but know no one connected with the manufacture of the rifle.

"I have only raised the question because every wounded Canadian whom I have seen condemns the Ross rifle for trench warfare. The Canadians say they throw away the Ross rifle in order to get a Lee-Enfield.

"All the Canadian soldiers say the Ross rifle is a first-class target rifle, but that the sights are very delicate, and that the rifle jambs because the nose of the bullet of the English cartridge is thicker than that of the Canadian bullet."

FIND NO BOMBS ON OCEAN LINERS EN ROUTE TO ENGLAND

Search of Saxonia and Philadelphia After Holt's Message Fruitless

NEW YORK, July 8.—Fears for the safety of the Cunard Line steamship Saxonia were dissipated late yesterday when a wireless message, saying there was no bombs aboard, was received here from her captain in answer to the warning sent out that Frank Holt had asserted that this boat and the steamship Philadelphia of the American Line were in danger of internal explosians. Earlier a reply had been received from the Philadelphia that no bombs were found aboard her.

However, the tension caused by the warning of the man who set off the Capitol bomb, then shot J. P. Morgan and finally killed himself, was not entirely believed, because it ws not known that the had not left explosives aboard other steamers.

Both the Saxonia and Philadelphia left New York on July 3 for Liverpool. The Philadelphia being the faster boat, is due to dock on the other side on July 10 or 14, while the Saxonia should reach her destination on July 13 or 14. Both boats were in mid-ocean today. Holt had written that "steamers leaving New York July 3 will be destroyed in mid-ocean by an explosion."

The growing belief that Holt was Erich Muenter, the alleged wife murderer, was strengthened here today by the positive identification of the dead man as Muenter by three men who knew the latter as the former Harvard instructor.

While the police are working hard on the theory that Holt had accomplices in his dynamiting operations, nothing was made known tonight as to the result of the investigation.

Holt's Letter to His Wife Told Her What He Planned

DALLAS, Texas, July 8.—Dr. O. F. Sensabaugh, father-in-law of Frank Holt, the attempted murderer of J. P. Morgan, who committed suicide on Tuesday, gave out the following letter, received by Mrs. Holt, and presumably written on July 3rd, as it was headed "en route," and was without date:

"My Dear Darling—You are the only one I can and must trust, and entrust with this news. I know you are strong in your faith in God and love your fellow men, and do therefore approve of my actions. The fact that it should strike our family instead of John Smith's may seem hard, but it can't he helped. One hundred times I said, like Jonah, 'Lord, send somebody else,' but I got only one answer. Nobody else seem to be available. I have prayed and trembled, and doubted, and lain awake at night, and thought and thought, that here is no way out of it. The slaughter in Europe must be stopped and America must stop sending ammunition. If it goes on I cannot live, for I am responsible, insofar that I do not stop it when I can. So I will try.

"First, R. Pearce, of Washington, That is my appeal. It is a starter and may do some good. Let us pray that the people may wake up to the crime they are committing by allowing the slaughter to go on. Second, the steamer leaving New York for Liverpool on July 3rd should sink, God willing, on the 7th. I think it is the Philadelphia or Saxonia, but am not quite sure, as according to schedule these two left on the third."

On the margin was written, "Tear this off until after it happens."

"Third, I need a powerful assistant and have chosen J. P. Morgan, of Glen Cove, Long Island. By the time you get this it will be all over. I shall either be dead or in prison with the Morgan family in their residence in Glen Cove, while Mr. Morgan will go to all the manufacturers of ammunitions and persuade them to stop sending them. If he does not he must forfeit his family, and his course, my poor wife and babies, also their husband, also their husband and father.

"My dear, believe me, I have many proofs that God is guiding me in this work, and that He has answered my prayer for guidance. I should not wonder if some people will say that I was mistaken, because the results for my family are so severe. But what about the hundreds of thousands of fathers and husbands who are forced to do the very thing I am attempting; save my country from moral ruin. The path of duty is hard, but it must be trod, and to gain life we must offer our life.

"If the rich of this country wish to get richer by the European horror, they must also be ready to participate in the horror."

Store of Dynamite Startling Feature of Holt's Career

LONDON, July 8.—The Daily News says:

"The tragic end of Morgan's assailant is as mysterious as almost everything connected with the crime. The most startling and disquieting feature of his career is the amount of dynamite which he seems to have had at his command.

"It is evidently of some interest to the American public that the alleged stores of dynamite, if they exist, should be discovered without loss of time, and it would seem to be clearly advisable to take such steps as are possible by strict police measures to make at least the accumulation of dynamite in the States more difficult than it appears at present to be."

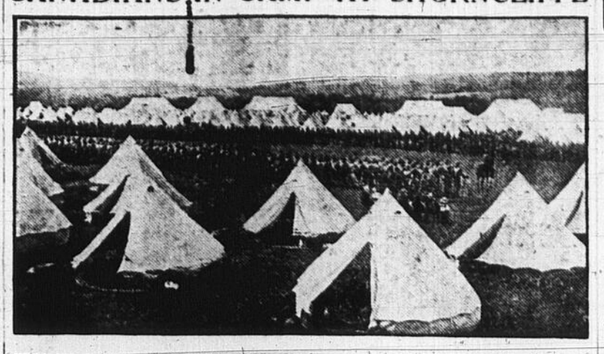
CANADIANS IN CAMP AT SHORNCLIFFE



METAL EXPORTS NOW PREVENTED.

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, July 8. — Steps have been taken by the British authorities to prevent the further exportation from Great Britain of lead, spelter, antimony nickel or any other metal necessary in the manufacture of munitions of war.

Announcement to this effect was made by the Minister of Munitions Lloyd George, in the House of Commons yesterday.

GERMANS CORNER ALL COD LIVER OIL

By Canadian Press.

NEW YORK, July 8. — Germany has cornered the supply of cod liver oil, and American dealers are doubtful whether they can obtain sufficient stock for next winter, according to a drug market authority.

Dealers in cod liver oil said they understood the Germans are using it as a lubricant in place of petroleum oil, said to be difficult to obtain in Germany.

Norway, the centre of the cod liver oil trade, is said to have not more than 20,000 barrels which have not been contracted for by Germans.

TOTAL CANADIAN FORCE TO REACH 150,000 TROOPS

OTTAWA, July 8.—The total strength of the Canadian expeditionary forces is to be raised to 150,000.

The recent intimation that this step would be taken has been followed by the necessary formal action, and arrangements are to be made immediately for raising the additional troops.

An Order-in-Council has been passed authorizing the increase. This will provide the reinforcements necessary for the two divisions overseas and for the maintenance of a force of fifty thousand in training in Canada.

This force will be recruited up to strength from time to time as drafts are made upon it for the filling of gaps in the 100,000 overseas. The arrangement is exactly in accord with the plan outlined by the Prime Minister some months ago, but with the strength increased.

Mr. Rowell Says Canada's Share Should be 500,000

EDMONTON, Alta, July 8.—Speaking before the Canadian Club at luncheon today, Newton W. Rowell, leader of the Opposition in the Ontario Legislature, said that it was an undoubted fact many more had volunteered than had been accepted by the Government, and the West in this respect had put some of the older districts of the East to shame. Great Britain, it was stated, had 3,000,000 men enlisted, and if Canada had raised as many in proportion, there would be in the Dominion at least 500,000 men under arms.

There were thirteen stars in the United States flag at the time of the revolution, fifteen in the war of 1812, twenty-nine during the Mexican war, thirty-five at the time of the civil war, and forty-five in the Spanish-American war. Now there are forty-eight.

ON LOOKOUT FOR SUBMARINES OFF CANADIAN COAST

British Warships Off New York Harbor Also on Watch

Special Despatch Over The Montreal Star's Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, July 8. The Evening World today says:

A German submarine is expected to appear off New York harbor any day. The British Admiralty, in anticipation of such warfare, has made extensive preparations to counteract it, but keeps secretly guarded the steps taken.

All along the Canadian Atlantic coast, from New Brunswick to Labrador, public warning has been given to merchant ships and fishermen to be on the lookout for signs of a German attack. As a result, the British naval authorities in Halifax and in the United States are receiving daily reports of suspicious craft along the north-eastern coast, which indicates the alertness of the fishermen. None of these reports have proved well grounded so far.

There have been reports for six months that the Germans would attempt to establish a secret supply base for their submarines on some almost deserted island off Newfoundland or Nova Scotia. The new U boats can cross the Atlantic, and would need only oil fuel and provisions to enable them to raid southward along the coast, destroying British ships from New York or out of the St. Lawrence.

The British naval authorities assert there is no possibility of any supply station being established. The whole northern coast is on guard. Every island is being searched.

The real German plan, so the naval experts predict, is for one or more of the submarines to sneak northward along the coast of Norway to meet with a supply ship and then proceed across the Atlantic north of the regular track of ships, and when near the coast of America turn southward. Then the mother ship will load the submarines to capacity with fuel and provisions and cast them off to do as much damage as possible off the American coast to British ships.

They will approach New York and try to catch some of the guarding British warships and the big merchant craft steaming with foodstuffs and munitions of war for England.

When out of fuel the submarines will run into some United States port and there intern, the report says.

At a concert given in the Eaton, Ind., Town Hall by the Garrett Boys' Band which is to play at the National G. A. R. encampment in Washington, D.C., in September, the director was Paul Garrett, who is but seven years old. Nothwithstanding his age, he is an accomplished musician. He was but six years old when he had his first experience as a director.

BRITISH ADMIRAL WOULD ARM ALL MERCHANT SHIPS

Special Star Cable by Admiral Sir William Robert Kennedy, G.C.B., former Commander-in-Chief in the East Indies.

LONDON, July 8. — The loss of the Armenian, with its valuable cargo of 1,500 mules, is a public scandal. If she had been armed with one or two guns to fire over the stern she would have now been afloat, and the U-39 at the bottom, for, unlike the Lusitania, the Armenian was chased an hour with the submarine in sight all the time. But, because the captain pluckily refused to surrender, his decks were strewed with dead and dying.

The objection raised, that armed merchant ships may be sunk does not apply, as they are sunk in any case, and the crews killed if they don't meekly surrender.

Another fine ship, the Anglo-Californian, has been served the same way, and there will be many more. There must be plenty of guns and men available for arming these ships, and several fine old captains have written me to say they would have made a fight for it if they had had a gun.

I feel sure that if America was at war they would not allow their ships to be sunk by wholesale as ours have been. An eminent judge told me there was no legal objection to arming merchantmen, and that we were within our rights.

I hope the captain of the Armenian and the mate of the Anglo-Californian will be rewarded for their gallant conduct.

STRANGE SOCCER PROPOSAL---AWAIT CANOE RACE TRUSTEE

200 MILE CANOE RACE TO TAKE PLACE IN SEPT.

Work of Mapping Out the Course on the Rideau Will Be Completed This Week and the Exact Date Fixed

Special to The Montreal Star.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 8.—President David Robertson of the Rideau Aquatic club stated this morning that the arrangements for the holding of the 200 mile canoe race for the Graham-Brown trophy could not be gone ahead with owing to the non-arrival of trustee Smith of Montreal. It was expected that Mr. Smith would have arrived this week, but no word has been received from him yet. The work of mapping out of the course will begin as soon as trustees Smith arrives, as will the fixing of the date. It is likely that the race will be held in the early part of September, probably during fair week.

The start and the finish will probably be in front of the Clubhouse on the Rideau Canal, and the course over the Ottawa is on a picturesque one and will not be many days in the event of the race, which was covered last year. Nevertheless the Rideau will put the paddler to a severe physical test. It is likely that Thompson and Coombs, of the Rideau's, winners of the trophy last year will be out to defend their title.

All the local clubs will be well represented and a small army of paddlers are expected from the Montreal associations. Conspicuously among the absentees this year will be Lieut. Talbot Papineau, of the few surviving officers of the Princess Patricias.

Percy Smith expects to visit Ottawa within a day or two.

DARE-DEVIL GAUTHIER WILL BE WITH NATIONAL ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Peter Murphy, President of National Lacrosse Union, Will in All Probability Referee the Match Himself on the National Grounds

The lacrosse game on Saturday promises to be a hummer. At the first match the Nationals put it all over the M.A.A.A. team. At the second match the Winged Wheelers surprised the Flying Frenchmen by handing them defeat. The field of the Nationals went to pieces that day, and "Newsy" Lalonde spent too much time at the penalty bench. There was method in the madness of the player who got "Newsy" ruled off, for in doing so the backbone of the scoring end was broken. "Newsy" is determined to stay at his post on Saturday, and show if any defence man on the M.A.A.A. team can hold him. The more you bother Lalonde the quicker he responds to action in showing his great scoring qualities. "Newsy's" career in lacrosse has been a wonderful one, and this being his last year at the business he wants to retire with the honors of helping his team to win the championship and probably the Minto Cup. Great stress has been brought to bear to have McKerrow play on the M.A.A.A. team for Saturday's match.

MURPHY MAY ACT.

President Murphy, of the National Lacrosse Union, was unable to obtain the services of Eddie St. Pere and Jos. Lally, the two well-known referees for Saturday's big game between the Winged Wheelers and Nationals, so it is very probable that he will jump in the breach himself and handle the match with Geo. Carpenter. The Montrealers held a stiff workout at the Westmount grounds last night, and will put in the touch to their training tonight. Sprague Cleghorn, who, like his father, has become a great lacrosse player, will be moved back nearer the nets, and this should add speed to Tom Carlind's defence. Secours will also be moved back, and will have the task of looking after the redoubtable Newsy. The Montrealers realize that this coming game is the most important of the season, and are working earnestly to be fit and ready. Albert Dade, the one time famous Winged Wheel inside home man, and the best goal getter in his day, is coaching the home, and is getting remarkable results. At the Maisonneuve grounds the National squad was out at full strength, with the addition of Joe Cattarinich and Dare Devil Gauthier, who have been trotted out for this occasion. President Caron, of the National A.A.A., at one time a great lacrosse player, is taking special interest in the club this season, donned a uniform at last night's work out, and kept the players going at top speed for an hour. The players of both teams are preparing faithfully, and it is a long time since a lacrosse game has caused as much interest locally. Each club has won its home game, and the betting recorded has been made at even money. A big bet was made last night between a National director and a winged wheel supporter, and it is claimed Joe Cattarinich and Newsy Lalonde have pooled together on another big amount. The big block of tickets that were put up for sale for the match have been going at a rapid clip, and a bumper old time attendance will witness the match.

ALL LIGHTS OUT AS THE REFEREE STARTED COUNT

NEW YORK, July 8. — When he hurdled that tough old bird, Leach Cross, in a ten-round session here a couple of weeks ago, Johnny Dundee planted himself firmly in the realm of class. The bouncing, hopping, jabbing little Italian proved conclusively in battering down the dentist-boxer that he belongs up among the top-notchers in the lightweight class.

There has been some talk of putting Dundee and Charley White, Chicago's knock-'em-dead champion, together, in order to eliminate one of them as a Welsh opponent. Dundee and White met once—at New Orleans. That contest ended very unsatisfactorily for the Chicago. Dundee slammed the daylights out of him. Dundee's manager, Scotty Monteith, makes the charge that some funny work was pulled off in that New Orleans encounter. Early in the scrap Dundee planted a mighty wallop on White's jaw. The Chicagoan went down in a heap and it looked like the bout was over. Just as the referee started to count all the lights in the hall went out.

The referee, badly rattled, quit counting, and there was a big hubbub during which White's seconds rendered first assistance to him. After considerable delay the lights were restored. White was sitting in his corner, a little pale around the gills, but ready to go some more. Dundee and his manager protested loudly that White had been knocked out. The referee couldn't see it that way and made them continue. The bout went the limit, ten rounds. Monteith believes that the sudden extinguishing of the lights was not an act of Providence. He thinks a human hand had something to do with it.

Captain John Graham, the famous golfer, has been killed in action with the Liverpool Scottish in Belgium.

John Graham never won a championship—although he was in the semi-final when only nineteen—but in the opinion of many judges he was the best amateur player in the world. If, however, before the tournament for championships and open, Graham, the future at Sandwich last year declared he would never compete at golf in any event again. He played ten times to Scotland vs. England, and won the St. George's Vase in 1911 and again in 1914. He was then 44 years old.

UNIQUE CHALLENGE FOR CANOE RACE IN VERCHERES BOATS.

Here is a unique challenge. Montreal, July 7, 1915. To the Sporting Editor, "The Star," Dear Sir—As the crew for a seven paddles race, picked up to represent Pte. Fortune, at St. Andrew's Boating Club regatta held on July 1st, was supposed to be the first paddle handlers of the place, I beg to let them know that I am ready to meet them in a contest, for a distance from one-quarter mile to two miles, for a bet in a Vercheres flat bottom boat, 18 feet long, one paddle, one man. Trusting you'll insert these few lines in your most appreciated journal, I remain, Sir. Truly yours, ALB. LACOMBE, Pte. Fortune.

Resta Set Down For Whole Year

OMAHA, Neb., July 7. By consistent driving Eddie Rickenbacker won his second 300-mile race in two days with a Detroit Maxwell, averaging 91.07, and leading from the start, in the opening events of the new mile and a quarter board speedway.

Eighteen cars were entered, but only seven appeared on the track ready to start. Immediately after the race Richard Kennerdall, chairman of the American Automobile association contest board, announced that Dario Resta, the Peugeot star, winner of the Indianapolis 500, and holder of many world's records, would be suspended and not permitted to drive for at least one year, for failure to repair for the race or to take the necessary steps to withdraw.

Resta's car was damaged at Sioux City, but under the rules he is required to report to the referee to be excused from starting. Similar action will probably be taken against the other drivers who missed report.

Rickenbacker won $6,000, getting $4,000 for first money and $2,000 for leading at the first 200-mile point. His time for the distance was 3:17:52.26. Eddie O'Donnell's Duesenberg was second, Tom Orr's, Maxwell third, and H. Donaldson's Emden third. W. W. Brown in the Duchess had entered the race after the lead-off had completed 100 miles, and was placed fifth.

Ralph DePalma set a new World's record for five miles before the race, doing the distance in three minutes flat with a Maxwell. Calvin Bragg held the old mark, 3:11.76.

TECUMSEHS HOT AFTER ROSEDALE

Special to The Montreal Star.

TORONTO, July 8.—Tecumsehs are out to even up the series with Rosedale in the Queen City lacrosse fixture at the Island Stadium on Saturday. Rosedale have a margin of one game at present on the Indians, but the latter intend to make it up on Saturday. Both games are evenly matched and the brand of lacrosse in the last games has been the best seen in years. Rosedale will be strengthened by the addition of Davidson, the crack centre player of last year's Toronto's

REGULAR TEAM ONLY TO PLAY MONTREAL AGAINST NATIONALS.

President Tom Carlind, of the Montreal Lacrosse Club, wants it distinctly understood that the team which will face the Nationals on Saturday will be the same team that has been playing all season, and will not be reinforced by any supposed pro-stars who have played in former years. "We are building up a new team, and we are well satisfied with it thus far," says Carlind.

BOXING AT THE FRONT; AMUSING PROGRAM GIVEN

Bombadier Duncan, writing from Somewhere in France, says: "I am mailing you a program of a boxing tournament which took place behind the guns of the Battery R.F.A. I.E.F., on June 17, just to show that we are nothing like downhearted yet. The last bouts had to be postponed owing to the Huns shelling the ring. I don't know whether they objected to the different men in the ring or wanted to see a knock-out. I am rather inclined to think the latter." Appended are some of the "events".

Three Rounds Lightweight Bout — E. Quinn, ex-Gunner, R.G.A., champion of the Giants' Causeway, v. W. Harmer, the Anglo-Indian winner of 100 tea fights.

ANOTHER RAINY DAY GREETS FORT ERIE RACE GOERS

Special to The Montreal Star.

BUFFALO, N.Y., July 8.—The feature of the day's racing at the Fort Erie course yesterday afternoon was the riding of the young Kentuckian, M. Garner, who rode the last three winners of the day. He was astride White-Crown in the firth, followed it up with riding Investment in the following number, and landing home Old Joe Finn in the closing dash. All of his three mounts rewarded their backers handsomely. The youngster is the leading rider of the present month, and comes from a family of race riders, being a brother of the famous rider of a few years back and at present in Europe.

The threatening weather had its effect on the crowd at the course this afternoon, but despite overhead conditions a large number availed themselves of the opportunity of witnessing the day's offering.

The card, again, lacked class due to the track conditions, the absence of high class horses in the different dashes detracting from the day's sport. A dash of six furlongs for Canadian bred three year olds was awarded the feature position of the card, and was captured by Joseph E. Seagram's Sea Lord in a driving finish over Slipper Day with Fair Montague a distance third. Slipper Day set out a fast pace for her field to follow opening up a big gap in the early stages. She was tiring rapidly at the end under the weight she was asked to carry, and faltered when the winner drew alongside her. Smyth the Montreal youngster, had the mount on the winner and rode a well-judged race, in laying off the fast pace with a speedy mount.

Rain which commenced to fall before the day's card was completed, changed the track conditions, which showed a world of improvement over those earlier in the week. The crowd took to the shelter of the stands, but were drenched in the walk from the grandstand to the train sheds.

MURRAY WILSON, BELOEIL SOCCER CLUB WAS BURIED

The funeral took place today of Murray Wilson, who was one of the honorary vice-presidents of the Beloeil Association Football Club, he having been one of the victims of the explosion at the Beloeil Explosive Works.

He was much respected by all the men connected with the works, and took a tremendous interest in the fortunes of the football team.

He started the old team about six years ago, and has always done his utmost to keep up the interest, with the result that there is a club to be proud of at present.

Out of respect for his memory the team has cancelled its game for Saturday.

Manager Bob Walker, the committee and nearly all the players attended the funeral.

SOCCER TEAMS FOR SATURDAY.

Daredevil auto racer, set down a year for non-compliance with rules.

PARI-MUTUELS FOR HALF MILE TRACK

When the well-intentioned Mr. Miller, godfather of the racing bill of that name, after much investigation and considerable fighting and obstruction against it, managed to get it carried through both houses of the Canadian Parliament and signed by His Excellency the Governor-General in Council, the amendments forced upon it left many loopholes.

Through these the bill brought forward ostensibly to restrict gambling on horseracing has come near defeating and obliterating the very purpose for which it was created.

For though racetrack betting in Canada was restricted somewhat by definite clauses permitting each track, only two meets of seven days' racing per year, no provision was made to keep the number of tracks within reasonable limits. The result is that little half-mile tracks, in most cases very carelessly managed, and often little less than legalized open air poolrooms have been springing up like mushrooms in all parts of the country, nor for the purpose of encouraging the breeding of superior horse-flesh, not even for the sake of having good, interesting horseracing but merely to give those who bet an opportunity to get rid of their wealth as quickly and easily as possible without any fear of police interference and often without really a run for their money.

While the big racing organizations have obeyed the rules laid down by the Miller bill both in spirit and letter and guided by the gentlemen at the head of the Canadian Racing Association with which all the big tracks are affiliated have even gone further and have installed the Pari-Mutuel betting system, most of the smaller tracks have grown from bad to worse.

The owners of the latter in some cases through the aid of the Syndicate Book, and other devices have reaped such noble harvests that it is said, scouting parties have scoured the country to discover small, little used country trotting tracks no matter how bad the going, for the purpose of turning them, with the aid of a hastily organized and incorporated Turf Club and perhaps an old charter into a new running track.

Half mile tracks are at no time desirable. They do nothing to justify the existence of horseracing, the aim of which is essentially "the improvement of the breed", and if anything the shortness of their contests alone should have the opposite effect.

Since, however, the followers of "the ponies" show by their attendance that they want more days of racing than the big tracks can supply under the existing law, the law which permits the half mile tracks to exist should protect its patrons like those controlling the big tracks protect theirs, and the only way in which this apparently can be done is by compelling them to do away with the Syndicate Book and the temptations created by loose management to fleece the public, and to install the Pari Mutuel system.

When it is considered that there are at present about ninety-five race-tracks in Canada, the United States, Cuba and Texas, and when it is realized that out of the six tracks which are to be operated this season in Montreal alone, four are half mile tracks, the proportion disclosed, if applied to the remainder of the territory over which the ninety-five tracks are distributed would go to show that there is some imperative need for reform.

The dislike to the Mutuel system, which was at first evinced by those who did not understand it, is disappearing rapidly, and even the reports from such a track as Fort Erie, known as a place frequented by the most hardened race followers in the world, are all in favor of the new mode of betting.

It certainly is the cleanest and most honest way, a system which virtually amounts to the placing of personal wagers, thrown into a pool, which is divided by the winners, who get all the money wagered by the losers less five per cent for handling which the club takes. The club also gets all the extra cents, which, however, do not as a rule, amount in total to one per cent.

The Pari-Mutuel system is not a means of preventing or suppressing betting, but since there must be wagering on horseracing to keep up the interest amongst its patrons, the Pari-Mutuel system should be forced upon every race track, large and small, because it is honest and above board and does away with elements of suspicion and worse, which with the prevalent systems of bookmaking now so often assail those who patronize half mile tracks.

THE MANN GOLD CUP, EMBLEMATIC OF THE AMATEUR LACROSSE CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE WORLD

Golden cause of much trouble to be forcibly removed by law from the possession of the Vancouver Lacrosse Club.

The ex-champion golfers, James Braid, J. H. Taylor, and Alexander Herd, will, with George Duncan, take part in a tournament to which they have been "challenged" by Sir George and Lady Alexander, Miss Irene Vanbrugh, Miss Grace Lane, Aubrey Smith, Kenneth Douglas, Edmund Gwenn, Owen Nares, and Ben Webster at the Theatrical Garden Party in the Royal Botanic Gardens on July 20, to help the funds of the Actors' Orphanage.

MOTOR BOAT PARADE AND PICNIC FROM VERDUN ON THE 17TH.

The members of the Verdun Motor Boat Club are holding their first motor boat cruise and picnic to La Tortue on the 17th. There will be thirty boats in line, ready to carry passengers, and if the weather is fine there will undoubtedly be a large turnout of the club's supporters.

The boats will leave the club wharf at 9 a.m., and return at 7 p.m. A good time is assured to all.

RAIN PUTS DAMPER ON LAWN BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Special to The Montreal Star.

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont., July 8.—Rain yesterday afternoon stopped play in the sixth round of the association and the fourth round of the Consolation, and the semi-finals of the trophy competition did not furnish much excitement. Brydon, of Guelph took on Lightbourne of Victorias, while Crawford of Fernleigh took on Hobbs of Guelph, and as a result Brydon and Crawford will fight it out in the finals tomorrow afternoon.

In both games the winners went out in front and stayed there. However, there were some rattling games in the association. John Rennie's Granites, and Ecclestones, St. Kitt's rink, who were once picked as trophy finalists, met and had a battle royal, Rennie finally winning out. Sir John Willison, one down on the last end to Heaman of London, ran the Jack with his last bowl and counted the two he needed to win. But those were only incidents of a busy day. The doubles also got under way in the afternoon and part of the first round was played. There are eighty-one entered in this event, making a new record.

In the consolation—round three, Gardner of Westmount defeated Brown of Niagara, 14 to 10. Creamer, of Westmount, was defeated by Blackman, of Toronto, Thistles, 19 to 10. Brown, of Westmount, lost to Muir, of Grimsby, 21 to 8.

BOTH BOATS AND TRAINS FOR KING EDWARD RACES

The race course at Ile Gros Bois was a bustling scene of activity this morning. Between the arrival of more horses for the summer meeting of the King Edward Jockey Club, which opens on Saturday next, and the working track, there was not an idle spot around the plant.

A large staff of workmen, who have been engaged in putting the plant into first class shape for the opening are nearing the completion of their task. Visitors to the course this year will find many changes and improvements in the lay-out.

The efforts of the management of the club in providing a train service for the meeting have been favorably commented on by horsemen and racegoers. A special train will leave the Bonaventure depot of the Grand Trunk Railway each day, at 1:30 calling at St. Henri, Point St. Charles, St. Lambert and Longueuil for passengers, and will arrive at the course in ample time for the first race. The boat service will be continued as hitherto.

GOLF NOTES

The annual golf competition for the Grand Trunk Cup will take place on the Country Club links on Saturday afternoon, July 10, and as it is the only inter-club event to be held this year will no doubt create quite a lit of interest among the golfers of the district. The trophy is played for by teams of four and the lowest total score counts as a win on the cup, which has to be won three times to become the property of any club.

This is the fifth year that this trophy has been played for and will most likely prove the deciding one, inasmuch as two clubs, the Country Club and Beaconsfield have each two victories to their credit, and whichever wins Saturday will become permanent holders of the cup. Most of the clubs in the Montreal and District league have abandoned any inter club fixtures while the war is on and are holding club events each week instead. Beaconsfield have also expressed their opinion against any tourney or inter-club matches this year, but will most likely send a team to play for the Grand Trunk Cup Saturday.

While the is apossibility of Kanawaki, Royal Montreal, Outremont and some of the other clubs sending teams, there is hardly any likelihood of any but the two previous winners of the trophy taking part. The teams to compete in this match will be chosen today. The usual week-end fixtures that have become so popular among the members of the various clubs around the city will be played on Saturday as usual and with fine weather will undoubtedly bring out a large number of golfers.

CAMPBELLFORD WILL HAVE NEW RINK

Special to The Montreal Star.

CAMPBELLFORD, Ont., July 8.—Although this is the middle of summer and hockey is seldom discussed at this season of the year, those behind the game in this town have given out the statement that a contract has been let to a Preston firm to erect a large rink, to be ready for use this coming winter.

The rink will be 66 feet wide by 160 feet long, and will cost in the neighborhood of $3,500. It is to be built of corrugated iron galvanized siding, with circular, self-supporting roof. The erection of the rink will be a great stimulus to hockey and other sports in this district.

BOXING

NEW YORK, July 8.—Al Reich, the local heavyweight, by a remarkable finish outpointed Jim Savage, of Orange, N.J., in their ten-round bout here last night. Reich weighed 203.

The Old Westminster and English International Association footballer, Mr. Stanley S. Harris, has been gazetted a Second Lieut. in the 6th Battalion of the Worcestershire Regiment.

STRANGE SPORT PROPOSITION BEFORE D.F.A.

Motion on Account of Shortness of Cash Amongst Eastern Soccer Men, Only Quebec and Ontario Be in Connaught Cup Finals

It is announced on reliable authority that a motion is now before the D. F. A. council for consideration to the appeal that, failing a guarantee sufficient to meet expenses of bringing Manitoba representatives east for the Connaught Cup finals, the ordinary course of the competition for this year be suspended, and at Ontario and Quebec play two games — one here and one in Toronto—goals to count, as in hockey. While the departure is a big one, the proposer's idea is to meet the extraordinary circumstances of the sporting world. What Winnipeg may think is perhaps altogether different, but it is claimed record gates could be obtained for such a two-day contest, a week's interval between each.

Amendments to the constitution are coming in, one from Quebec, on Fred Barter's old idea, that the finals are between the runnels of east and west.

Another suggested alteration is that every club throughout affiliated provinces pay fifty cents fee, and provinces ten dollars. By this it is expected a considerable sum would accrue the D. F. A. without anyone feeling the loss thereof. Very little is being said of Bailey Fisher's successor, but it is expected Quebec will have the turn. The annual meeting is almost sure to be held in Toronto.

PRIZE FIGHT CROWD, WHEN DEMANDING MONEY AFTER PROMISE, CHASED BY POLICE

Main Bout at Gayety When Chief Attraction Failed to Show Up Was a Fiasco and Caused Small Riot—Preliminaries Good

The boxing game received another solar plexis blow here last night when Young Ahearn who was billed to meet Tommy Madden at the Gayety Theatre failed to put in an appearance, and Madden went on with Soldier Bartfield, introduced as the welterweight champion of the world.

Bartfield is alleged to have beaten Mike Gibbons very recently, but whether he did or not makes little difference here. Suffice it to say that last night's bout did not please many of the fans and they showed it in no uncertain manner.

When Tommy Conway, who was acting as master of ceremonies announced that Ahearn was not on hand and Soldier Bartfield would go on as a substitute, he made the fatal error of announcing that at the conclusion of the fight if there was anyone not satisfied their money would be refunded.

POLICE DISPERSE THEM.

This almost caused serious trouble for when a demand was made for a return of the coin by a hundred or more fans it was found that the cashier had beat it with the money, and then the police was called upon to break up the gathering, and the poor spectators went without.

There were more than a thousand fans present and after they had booed the fighters out of the ring a crowd immediately collected outside the box office and it was with difficulty that Inspector Belanger and Captain Talbot with a number of constables and plain clothes men dispersed them.

Fiascos such as last night's cannot continue without someone getting seriously hurt and it is a safe bet that it will not be the men in the ring who damage one another.

Most of the fans there went to see Ahearn and while they may have seen just as good a fight as if he had shown up they felt that they had been drawn out by false pretences.

Tommy Madden, up until last night was well thought of here. He has fought on two previous occasions in Montreal and showed up well, but he did not have a thing in the world last night and furthermore did not look to be trying.

After stalling along for nine rounds the fighters attempted to give the crowd a run for their money in the last and Bartfield went after Madden pretty hard. Then as a sort of curtain call, and after the fight was all over Madden made a spectacular rush at Barfield and had to be subdued by friends. Why it was necessary to separate them mystified most of those present as they had ample opportunity to fight during ten rounds and did little damage to one another.

The only thing that saved the situation last night was a good bill of preliminaries. Benny Cohen and Kid Burns fought a rattling good six round bout that overshadowed the main go in every particular and ended in a draw.

In the first of the preliminaries Gerardie knocked Amos Russell out in the fourth round of their bout. Gerardie had a big margin all through the fight and landed a short right arm jolt that made Russell take the count. In the other preliminary, which was more or less of a burlesque, Herrea, who was fighting with Young Rogers, left the ring in the third round and would not continue. He had knocked Rogers down on several occasions, and on finding that he could not dispose of him quit and left the ring.

FABRE ENTERED FOR TWO MORE RACES IN NEW ENGLAND TOWNS

Edouard Fabre, fresh from his latest Boston victory, announces that he has already entered for two other New England races.

The first will be run on Saturday at Lewiston, Maine, and the second two weeks from Saturday, at Lowell, Mass.

He states that the track upon which he won the last Boston race was rather difficult for him, as it was seven and a half laps to the mile.

Considering his hard work during the last two weeks, he feels very fit, however.

Harmony at P.Q.F.A. Meet

The First Division last night broke the record for time in disposing of business, half an hour completing the contract. M. A. A. A. were thanked for their courtesy in providing Shamrocks with uniforms last Saturday, when the Irishmen's outfits went astray, and the Sons of England-Sons of Scotland League game, on Grand Trunk grounds, received official sanction. Several registrations were put through, but Bayne's transfer from Shamrocks to Grand Trunks was blocked, not being signed within the legal time, seven days. This league objects to any star chamber methods of the P. Q. F. A., and rumor puts it so do the Second Division. A letter was ordered to be sent the board to this effect, and asking that all league delegates be allowed in the meetings, as one member put it, to see if the elected men are capable of running the business.

LACROSSE NOTES

Wonder if Johnny Brennan will be able to handle "Newsy" Lalonde's shots? If so, then chalk up a victory for M.A.A.A.

L'Heureux will have a busy time of it Saturday. Close range shots bother "Happy," and M.A.A.A. home men are adepts with such shots.

Cattaranich should be a tower of strength to the Nationals.

"King" Brady will handle his cover in capital style, and he's the boy that can do it. "King" is always there with the goods.

The bad actors on both teams will get the medicine that will soothe their troubled brows if they start any dirty work on Saturday.

The umpires better keep their eyes open in order to have no dispute about the ball whether it went inside the net or not.

The crowd will be the biggest of the season, and the National treasurer will have a busy time counting the spoils.

"Newsy" Lalonde, Didier Pitre, Dupras and "Daredevil" Gauthier will make a great quartet of home men, and will require some watching.

The supporters of each team will be given ample opportunity to use their vocal chords in cheering or shouting for their favorites on Saturday.

TORONTO GIRLS ARRANGING A WAR CANOE RACE

Special to The Montreal Star.

TORONTO, July 8.—Efforts are already being made to arrange a war canoe race between the girls crew of Balmy Beach Canoe Club, Island Aquatic Association, and Parkdale Canoe Club, in connection with the division regatta of the Canadian Canoe association on July 24. Island Aquatic recently beat Balmy Beach a length. The Parkdale girls have not yet been in a race.

It is probable that the Western Division will hold their regatta this season on the Canadian Henley course at Port Dalhousie. The National championships will be held on the Toronto Canoe Club course on August 7. The application of the new lakeside Aquatic Association for membership in the C. C. A. will be dealt with on July 13. James J. Dolan has been appointed to assist Secretary Hugh Gall in connection with the divisional regatta.

The following officials have been appointed to superintend the Western Division meet:

ROYALS STILL LOSING; RICHTER DRIVEN TO COVER

HARRISBURG, July 8. — The Royals lost their fourth straight game yesterday when they fell before the local aggregation in the opening game of the series by a score of 9 to 3. Richter was hit hard and driven from the mound in the seventh.

Montreal broke the ice in the opening inning when Smith tallied the first run. Nash and Ireland both proved easy outs on infield hits, but the richt fielder singled to left, stole second, and came home when Holden drove a long single to right.

Their final runs counted in the ninth. Nash was safe at first on Goodbread's error, stole second, and scored when Irelan doubled to centre. A wild pitch advanced the visitors' second sacker and he scored on Smith's drive to Tooley. Holden drove a weak grounder to Goodbread, and Whiteman made the third out.

Harrisburg tied the score in the fourth when Kraft hit a circuit clout to left field. In the sixth, Callahan singled, stole second, went to third on Mowe's sacrifice, and passes to Zimmerman and Tooley filled the bags. Dowd took Richter's place and Callahan hit for three bags, clearing the bases. Kraft's out scored the fourth run.

In the eighth, Witter went out to Flynn, Heckinger singled, Goodbread fanned, then Mowe singled, stole second and scored the final run when Tooley lifted a double to centre. The score:

The famous jockey, "Danny" Maher, is back again in England after a seven months' stay in South Africa, where he sought restoration to health—after a very serious illness—at Sir Abe Bailey's farm at Colesberg. Maher may return to South Africa this winter, as the English climate is against him. He looked pretty fit when he landed at Plymouth yesterday, and hoped to ride again if his health permits, but it is possible that he may eventually take up training over here.

Maher gave up his American citizenship to become a naturalized Englishman, and his riding career came to a sudden close at the end of the season before last, when he had the ball at his feet, for Frank Wootton also had to retire then owing to increasing weight. Like his brother Stanley, Frank has now received a commission, but George Duller's first attempt to join the Royal Flying Corps was frustrated owing to a slight physical defect.

BIG OLD COUNTRY FOOTBALL CLUBS AND THE LOSSES

Of the sixty clubs in the English and Southern Leagues, twenty-eight have issued a balance-sheet, and in only three cases is the balance on the right side. Derby County's figures look surprising until one gathers that the profit is due to sacrifices made by the club in the early part of the season, and as a matter of fact the financial result of the season was, in the words of the directors, "disastrous." This means that only the Liverpool and Manchester City clubs escaped a loss last season, and as will be seen from the following figures, the profit in each case is very small.

Profits.

Derby County (Second League)	£501
Liverpool (First League)	45
Manchester City (First League)	17

The losers of the Southern League clubs—with the exception of West Ham—were very heavy, and it is significant that of the Second League clubs Fulham suffered most. The figures are:

First League.

Aston Villa	£4,620
Blackburn R.	3,547
Sunderland	3,090
West Bromwich	2,219
Sheffield U.	2,052
Notts County	1,028
Newcastle	726
Middlesborough	501
Everton	45

Second League.

Fulham	£2,654
Blackpool	2,916
Bury	1,875
Preston N. E.	1,622
Wolverhampton	1,554
Bristol City	1,417
Notts Forest	900

Southern League.

Swindon	£2,325
Brighton	2,046
Cardiff	2,014
Norwich	1,764
Crystal Palace	1,942
Southampton	1,971
Bristol Rovers	1,096
Gillingham	1,065
West Ham	170

Other Leagues.

South Shields	£1,145
Darlington	698

Bristol City's Liabilities.

Bristol City's balance-sheet records a loss on last year's trading of £1,417, so that the club's liabilities to sundry creditors and bank overdraft now amount to £5,701. To "date" money last season, however, to £4,533. Salaries of players and staff exceeded the previous year's, but the total expenditure fell from £7,736 to £6,350.

LAWN BOWLING

The Outremont lawn bowlers turned the tables on the St. Lambert players last night when they defeated the South Shore club by a two-shot margin in a postponed M.A.A.A. trophy fixture, played on the green of both clubs. The North Enders won on both of their home rinks and were twenty shots up, but while they won on one rink and lost on the other at St. Lambert, the latter club were eighteen shots to the good there, leaving Outremont two up on the match.

The fact that the rinks from the South Shore were not finished worse can be attributed to the defeat of E. J. McCormick by the score of 31 to 8, but on the other hand, had S. J. Milligan, of St. Lamberts, not been defeated by such a large margin by J. H. Domelle, the outcome might have been reversed. H. B. Potter and George Clarke furnished a closely-contested game at Outremont. No large ends were made, and it was only on the last end that it was decided. J. H. Domelle made a seven on the fourteenth end of his match with S. J. Milligan, of St. Lambert, and this helped him to win by such a large margin.

Three singles for the P. M. Black trophy were played by the members of the Outremont Ladies' Club last night, in the club competition. Mrs. H. McKenzie defeating Miss C. Domelle 14 to 8, Miss Fleming winning from Miss Roberts 14 to 11, and Mrs. D. Munroe beating Miss Gagnon 14 to 4.

NOT A BIG LEAGUER.

"I have swiped a thousand bases," said a baseball star one day.

"I have pulled a lot of fielding stunts that made them shout hooray!

"I have hit about three hundred for a dozen years or more

"And have always hit the pellet when a bit would fit the score.

"But I feel that there is something I have always left undone,

"Though I've been a major leaguer since 1903.

"Though I've been a major leaguer since 1903.

I have played a thousand baseball games against old John McGraw,

But I've never up and handed him a wallop on the jaw."

For Women and the Home

LITTLE STORIES for Bedtime
By T. W. Burgess

THE BOX THAT SEEMED ALIVE.

(Copyright, 1915, by J. G. Lloyd.)

Whate'er you do, where'er you go,
It's best, my dears, to know your know.

Just thinking you know doesn't do you a bit of good when you find out that you didn't know, and because you didn't know are in trouble. Now there was Grumpy Possum, one of Unc' Billy Possum's venturesome youngsters. When Grumpy crept through the hole in Farmer Brown's henhouse and saw a strange box right in front of him, a box which hadn't been there a few hours before, when he was up there, he was suspicious. That was the way to be. He was very wise to be suspicious. It is always best to suspect strange things until you find out all about them.

But when Grumpy peeped inside and saw a nest of hay and in that nest two nice brown eggs, he forgot all about being suspicious. He knew all about eggs. At least, he thought he did. The big white ones were no good. They were so hard he couldn't put his teeth through them no matter how he tried. But the brown ones—they were different! It was no trick at all to make a hole in the end of one of those, and then such a feast as followed! And here a nest and TWO brown eggs in it! That was all that interested him now. What matter how the box came there so long as it was there with a nest and two eggs in it? For that matter, he didn't exactly understand how the eggs came in the nests he had visited so why worry about a mere box? A box couldn't hurt any one.

To be sure, this box had a queer looking door, but what of that? He had only to go in, get the eggs and come out again. So in he went, first making sure that no one saw him. Once inside a very delicious smell tickled his nose.

"My, that smells good," said he. "I wonder what it can be."

Now the easiest way to find out was simply to follow his nose, and Grumpy did. It led him straight to the back of the box, and there was a little piece of meat. Grumpy licked his lips. He hadn't tasted a scrap of meat since he got away from Farmer Brown's boy. Now, he would have both meat and eggs.

Now, you would suppose that he would have stopped to wonder how under the sun that meat came to be there, wouldn't you? He didn't think of anything, but the fact that it was there right within reach. Greed is often that way. It puts everything else out of one's head. So Grumpy just reached up and pulled at that little piece of meat. Bang, Grumpy was so frightened that he squealed right out. He was in the dark. When he turned around to run away he couldn't. No, sir, he couldn't. That funny door on the box was closed, and try as he would, he couldn't move it. It had closed just as if it were alive. It seemed as if that box had just been waiting for him, and then had closed its jaws and swallowed him whole. He never had had an experience like that before, and he shook all over with fright.

But as nothing further happened he stopped shaking after a while. Then the smell of that meat tickled his nose again. He was shut up in that box, but, thought he, "I may as well eat."

So he ate the meat and it tasted almost as good as if it hadn't gotten him into trouble. Then he ate one of the eggs, and that tasted so good that he ate the other. After that, as there was nothing else to do, he curled up and went to sleep. Of course, he was worried, for he hadn't the least idea in the world how he was going to get out of there, but worrying wouldn't help him, and the easiest way to keep from worrying was simply to go to sleep and forget his troubles. So that is just what Grumpy did.

Pretty Design for Handkerchief Linen or Dotted Swiss.

Simple, untrimmed little dresses of fine white materials are in the very best taste for a small girl's afternoon wear and the dainty little design offered in the accompanying illustration seems to express all the attributes of childhood. Very fine handkerchief linen or a tiny dotted swiss will be lovely for its development. There are no trimmings other than its own scalloped and corded edges, and the shirring around the waist.

The elbow-length sleeves are cut in one piece with the body and have a line of shirring run part way up the outside of the arm. The little scalloped heading is added separately, but it must be done to give the effect of being a part of the sleeve. The neck of the dress is similarly finished with a little set-on scalloped collar and a gathered neck. The corded edge is continued down the front of the waist for about five inches, and holds in place a slight line of shirring.

The length of the waist is a couple of inches below normal and to its edge the skirt is applied with three rows of corded shirring and a scalloped heading left above.

The brief skirt is quite full and is finished at the bottom with a cord run through a narrow tuck rather than the usual deep hem. This cord serves to make the edge of the skirt stand out away from the knees.

All of the scalloped edges are finished with a tiny cord. The dress fastens in the back with little crocheted buttons.

To-Day's Household Affairs
By MARY LEE.

THE BARREL STORY.

"I have just been telling brother and baby my famous barrel story, and I think that I shall have a little more order for a while," said Mrs. Happy Homemaker.

"Don't you know the story? It is about a little girl who simply would not pick up her things.

"The mother had insisted on the child caring for her room as soon as she was old enough, but the results were anything but gratifying.

"The mother was obliged to make daily pilgrimages to the little room, where she straightened hastily-spread bedclothes; picked up and put away ribbons, sashes, shoes and stockings; hung up hats, coats and dresses.

She puzzled long and hard and finally hit upon a solution.

"One day the child came into her mother's room almost explosively.

"'What is that old barrel doing in my room?" she demanded.

"'That, my dear, is for my convenience,' replied the mother calmly. 'I am tired picking up your things and putting them away, so after this when I find them out of place I shall simply drop them into the barrel. You may take them out or leave them in as you please.'

"'But, mother, the old thing looks perfectly horrid, I don't want it in my room.' The child was ready to cry.

"'My dear, the moment I find that it does not have to be used it will be taken out. As long as I find things to put in it there it stays.'

"For awhile there was marked improvement; but little by little the barrel repository began to fill up.

"Every few days there was a rummage and emptying to find some mislaid article; it seemed as if the discipline were failing of its effect; the child did not in the least mind digging into the barrel for what she wanted. One day there was a party and an especially pretty frock for the occasion. The next morning the frock hung over a chair just as it had been taken off. It wrung the mother's heart to do it but she felt this was the Spartan test.

"Another party was imminent; the day came; it was time to go; no sound was heard above stairs. The mother finally went up. Sounds of sobbing came from the child's room; she softly opened the door. On the floor lay the party dress, a mass of crumpled muslin, lace and ribbons; on the bed lay a disconsolate little figure; a tearstained face was lifted.

"'Oh! Mother! You put my best dress in the barrel and now it is ruined.'

"'Mother is sorry, but you were warned.'

"'Oh, I know it!' But if you will only take that barrel out I will never never leave anything about again.'

And I think the story goes she did not.

"Now this is the way I warned the children. I told them that when I went into the play room at night and found it looking like a cyclone's path, that I would put everything into the barrel I proposed installing. As I said in the beginning, I believe I shall have order."

Gems of Thought

Sorrows humanize our race. Tears are the showers that fertilize this world. And memory of things precious keepeth warm the heart that once did hold them.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY
July 8.

Do not let fear of poverty prompt you to save. If this is your birthdate, you will be troubled by fear and worry over finances, but this fault you must bravely fight.

Part of this comes from your great desire to dress well and make a little better appearance than those with whom you are acquainted.

Once awakened to your power of attracting the right conditions for success, you will find yourself having no cause for worry.

Your governing sign is Cancer, and your governing planet is the Moon. This makes you rather fickle in affections, with a tendency to change your business plans and a desire to make frequent changes in places where you live.

You should cultivate calmness and repose of mind, and try earnestly to overcome your restless nature. You have talents and are keenly intuitive and sensitive. The Montreal Daily Star Want Ads will point out positions for stenographers and clerks and bookkeepers during the coming two weeks.

FOR THE LATE SUMMER

A Smart Frock with New and Interesting Features

By MAY MANTON

8717 Yoke Dress for Misses and Small Women, 16 and 18 Years.

Pattern No. 8717. Price 15c.

There are all sorts of charming materials being offered for the late summer and between seasons time. This frock shows one with pipings of velvet and the contrast of materials is a charming one. The wide belt is lifted just a little above the normal line and the sleeves with their flaring cuffs and puffs of muslin below are exceedingly dainty and attractive. Made as it is shown here, the dress is an excellent one for all afternoon occasions. The high collar is liked by many girls and is exceedingly smart, but is not necessary, for the neck can be finished without it and the sleeves can be made plain. The skirt is in two pieces and it and the blouse are joined by means of a narrow belt. The blouse is closed at the front, the skirt invisibly at the left side.

For the 16 year size will be needed 6⅝ yards of material 27 inches wide, 4 yards 36, 4¼ yards 44, with ⅞ yard of velvet for piping, ⅝ yard 36 for the under sleeves and 2 yards of lace 3½ inches wide for the sleeve frills and the collar and 1½ yards 27, 1 yard 36, ¾ yard 44 for the band on the skirt.

The pattern No. 8717 is cut in sizes for 16 and 18 years. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper on receipt of 15 cents.

All correspondence for this department should be addressed to Margaret Currie.

All communications must have name and address signed.

RED ROSE.

I am troubled with blackheads on my nose and occasionally I have pimples. I have tried bathing the face with hot water and afterwards applying cream. I find that bathing it in hot water causes red patches to appear. Is there any other way to remove them instead of doing the way I have mentioned? Is there any other cause that brings them besides the diet? I do not understand why some people are troubled with them, and others have no sign of them, whatever they eat. What is the reason?

2. The lining under my finger nails is always coming off and it makes them look ugly. What will prevent this?

What is good for hair that gets greasy soon after being washed?

Ans.—Pimples usually come from the condition of the stomach. Take a teaspoon olive oil in the juice of an orange every morning before breakfast. Walk in the open air as much as possible. Three miles a day is a good allowance. Do not eat pastry, sweets, rich or greasy food. (2) I can't tell you. (3) Try a "dry shampoo." Shake Talcum powder through the hair, then brush vigorously with a stiff brush until all traces of the powder are eliminated.

SOLDIER AND PASTRY.

I have a friend at the front and I don't know his army address, could you through your useful page tell me where I could get it?

Could you also tell me how to make flaky pastry such as jam puffs, etc.

"FAIRIE."

(1)—Write to the Canadian Base Record Office, Victoria street, London, England.

(2)—Will give recipe in Economy Corner.

WEDDING QUESTIONS.

(1)—Will you kindly tell me when a wedding march should be played at a house wedding, and if a hymn is sung?

(2)—Should the groom and best man stand before the bride enters?

(3)—Does the bride remove both gloves?

(4)—Is a Church of England minister allowed to marry a couple in the house?

BRIDE-TO-BE.

Ans. — (1) — When the bride is coming down stairs and entering the room for the ceremony. As soon as she reaches the bridegroom, the march should cease.

(2)—Yes.

(3)—No. Just the left glove.

(4)—Yes, but the Church of England prefers church weddings.

INK STAINS.

Could you please tell me how to remove ink stains from a pair of buck-skin boots.

KATHLEEN.

Ans.—Try dipping an old toothbrush in a strong solution of oxalic acid and water and scrubbing vigorously.

PERPLEXED.

(1) I am a stenographer and on most of the letters that we get in our office I note they are dated thus: "June 8th, 1915." Should it not read "June 8, 1915?" I was told at school that when the year follows the day, the "th" is omitted. Am I right?

(2) I was also told that a comma should never be placed after the word "and." Is this correct?

(3) In using peroxide for your teeth, how often should you apply it? and how?

Ans.—(1) It is immaterial which way the date is written.

(2) There is no comma after "and" when it is used as a conjunction between two independent clauses of equal value, but when "and" is followed by a subjunctive or dependent clause, the comma is used.

(3) You may put a quarter teaspoon in a half-glass of water, morning and evening.

COAT-OF-ARMS.

(1) What entitles one to a coat-of-arms? (2) How is a suitable design obtained (3) Why is the sovereign's head turned face the other way, on our coins, every time there is a new accession? NOVA SCOTIAN.

Ans.—(1) and (2) Write to Herald's College, Queen Victoria St., London, E. C. England, for full information on this subject.

(3) There is an old tradition to the effect that, if this is not done, some calamity will befall the nation during that reign.

WOMAN SWIMMER.

Would you kindly tell me if ever a woman swam the English Channel; and the date she did it.

A CONSTANT READER.

Ans.—I can find no record of a woman's performance of this feat.

CONSCRIPTION.

Can they have "Conscription Law in Canada," if so can they force Canadians to fight across the seas.

A FRIEND.

Ans.—Before such a law came in force, no doubt it would be fully discussed, and it would be passed by Parliament. In that case it would have to be obeyed as the law.

FLUFFY.

1. My age is nineteen. My hair is soft but very curly. Could you suggest a way of combing it?

2. Is it proper for a young lady to allow her fiance to pay for her wedding trousseau, providing he has requested it

3. If a young lady's fiance should ask her to choose the engagement ring, should she do so, or leave the choice to him?

4. What would you suggest as a pretty, but not too expensive, engagement ring, the young lady having received a diamond ring from her fiance as a Christmas gift?

5. Could you tell me, anything about "Polly Varden?" I ask, because I have heard different people remark on my resemblance to her.

Ans.—(1) The more simply you dress your hair, the better. Try parting it on one side and combing into a loose knot at the nape of the neck. Low styles in hair dressing are the newest thing.

(2) It is usual for a girl to provide her own trousseau. Better to have only two frocks in your outfit and let your husband buy you as many things as he likes AFTER you are married.

(3) If he wishes her to choose it there could be no objection.

(4) I prefer a solitaire diamond for an engagement ring, but if you already have one, any combination of stones which you prefer, would be correct. I think emeralds and diamonds, a beautiful combination.

(5) If your hair is short and curly, your friends probably think you look like Lube Glaser in her famous impersonation of "Dolly Varden," in which she was charming and most attractive. Please accept my best wishes for your happiness.

LILY OF THE VALLEY.

ST. ANTOINE GUIDE.

Looking over your page, I see Cornishman wishes to know what S. A. G means. The meaning for this is St. Antoine, Guide. It is more of a habit nowadays than anything else. But some people think by putting this on, their letter is sure to reach its destination. Now, I would like to ask you a question. I have been keeping steady company with a young gentleman for nearly three years. Sometimes he doesn't come as he promises. So I often take a walk. The next time he sees me he says folks have told him I was out with other boys, a thing I never would do. Please tell me how I can make him trust me. Sometimes I think it is more jealousy than anything else. And my girl friends tell me not to worry, as it shows he cares a lot for me and imagines these things. "Do you?"

G. M. H.

Ans:—Thank you for the information, also for your kind reference to this page. I think your friend is rather unreasonable to expect you to sit at home alone when he breaks an engagement with you. Can't you have a quiet talk with him, telling him that his suspicions hurt you? Some people think jealousy is a proof of love, and I suppose it is, to a certain extent, but absolute trust is a much greater proof.

FRENCH HAVE NEW WEAPON OF DEFENCE.

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, July 8.—To meet a renewed German offensive in the west, reports from northern France state that the French have been supplied with a new weapon of defence which is expected to achieve astounding results.

No hint of what this weapon is has been allowed to filter through. It is described as an "important new weapon of defence, which is expected to play an important part in the coming fighting."

Roosevelt Agrees with Preacher as to U. S. Neutrality

Special Despatch Over The Montreal Star's Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, July 8.—"Such neutrality as ours is the negation of righteousness."

Theodore Roosevelt indorsed this sentiment yesterday and pronounced the Rev. Dr. Watson, rector of Holy Trinity Church, Paris, "absolutely right" when he said so in the sermon cabled to the New York Herald and printed last Tuesday.

Mr. Roosevelt with no less vigor placed the stamp of his approval upon the words of another of the clergymen, quoted in the Herald to the effect that "pacificism emasculates manhood."

In his sermon Dr. Wilson declared that the time had gone by when the United States should remain neutral, and that it should enter the war.

BOY SCOUTS DIE FOR FLAG IN BIG CHARGE AT HUNS

In Forefront of Fighting at Ypres, Scouts Show Heroic Qualities

Special by Wilbur S. Forrest, of the United Press.

LONDON, June 22 (by mail to New York).—British Boy Scouts have been in action in Northern France.

Addressing an assemblage of 1,000 Scouts at Stratford, the Rev. Edward Digby, London's famous "fighting parson," announced that, for the first time in the history of Boy Scouts, these lads had fought and died for their country. Of forty East London scouts and officers who joined the colors two months ago only four are left, he announced. They were in the front of an attack on German lines during the Ypres fighting. They charged with great gallantry in the face of heavy fire.

"When the story of the past fighting near Ypres is recorded, London will know how proud she ought to be of her Territorials," the Rev. Mr. Digby told his youthful audience. "Many hundreds of London Boy Scouts are serving with the Territorials. "Thank God," he added, "those scouts were in the forefront of an attack on the German trenches when the order came to charge. They never wavered. A scoutmaster was the first to fall. The battalion, 750 strong, swept on and took three lines of trenches at the point of the bayonet. Finally, overwhelmed by numbers, they were forced to retire."

The minister told how his own scoutmaster, Sergt. Shrosbee, lay wounded in a ditch after the charge until darkness fell, and then got lost between the British and German lines. After wandering about for two hours he found himself between barbed wire entanglements and a trench and called out for a sentry, only to be answered by a "star" shell and a volley of rifle fire. He had wandered back to the German lines. He lay down flat and finally crawled to safety. There seemed reason to believe, he added, that the Germans took none of these boys prisoners; most all were killed, and the next day wounded that were lying between the lines were shot at by the Germans every time they moved.

"That," he concluded, "was the story of Boy Scouts in action. I believe every boy here would go to fill their places if he had the chance, and before this war ends many of you will get the chance to show what you are made of."

HALIFAX POWER COMPANY MAKES CITY NOVEL OFFER

HALIFAX, N. S., July 8.—The City of Halifax received a novel offer yesterday from S. M. Brookfield, president of the Halifax Power Company. He informed Mayor P. E. Martin that representatives of the company would call on the Board of Control today with an offer to give the city a half-interest in the company. Mr. Brookfield wrote as follows:

"The Halifax Power Co. own the nearest and best water power for the supply of hydro-electric power to the city; in fact, the only one adjacent that, in their opinion, would be profitable to develop, capacity about eight thousand horse power. It is eighteen miles from the city and combines the waters of the Indian and Northeast rivers with large reservoirs. They now offer the city one-half of the undertaking at the same price as it has cost them.

MEAN BIG SAVING.

"The company has the right to supply light and power in the city so that if the city acquires the power company's property or joins them in the development of the undertaking, the street lighting could be done, it is claimed, and fifty per cent more light supplied for the price now paid. The private light and small power users could also be supplied at a saving of at least 25 per cent."

The net profits from these two sources, Mr. Brookfield went on to say, as will be seen by the public utilities' reports, is $123,482. Any reduction in rates would be speedily made up by an increased consumption and a lower cost of operation.

The new terminals will take about 2,500 horse power and the proposed dock, which is to be built after the war, will take a maximum of 5,000 horse power.

If this matter is taken up at once and is found to be most advantageous to the city and accepted by them, the first unit should be in operation early in the new year.

Teutonic Allies Bid for Roumania's Neutrality Still

PARIS, July 8.—The Rome correspondent of the Havas Agency says that the Giornale D'Italia has received the following despatch from Sofia, Bulgaria:

"A conference was held at Vienna, Monday, by Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg (German Imperial Chancellor), Gottlieb von Jagow (German Minister of Foreign Affairs), Baron Burian (Austrian Minister of Foreign Affairs), Count Stephen Tisza (the Hungarian Premier), and a special Roumanian envoy, Titu Majoresco (Roumanian Premier), to discuss the attitude of Roumania and Bulgaria. Roumania is said to have been offered for her neutrality until the end of the war Bukowina and Bessarabia."

CAPT. BUSCOMBE KILLED WHILE HONORING DEAD

Special to The Montreal Star.

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 8. — On June 19, "Somewhere in France," a small party of Canadian officers were officiating at the last rites accorded to those sons of the Maple who had lost their lives in defence of Canada. Dawn was just breaking, and the chaplain and the accompanying officers were moving from grave to grave reading the church service for the dead.

They had paid tribute to two or three of the fallen, and were reading the Lord's Prayer over the next grave when a sniper spoke and Capt. Robert F. E. Buscombe, son of a former Mayor of Vancouver, fell. He was instantly killed.

News of how young Capt. Buscombe gave up his life for Canada came to hand today in the form of a letter to his father. That he should have been struck down in all the pride of his manhood while attending to the burial of his men brings home to us the unscrupulous methods of the Germans, who did not even respect the party which was paying the last respects to those brave boys who had fallen.

The chaplain of the 1st B.C. regiment, with Lieut. Charlie Winch, Lieut. Leeson, and Capt. Buscombe went out to see to the proper burial of the men. It was three a.m., and dawn was just breaking as the party approached the first grave. The chaplain read the burial service and then asked where the next grave was.

"I'll show you," said Capt. Buscombe, and led the way to the next mound, which showed where one of the Canadian boys had been hastily buried.

Capt. Buscombe and Lieut. Leeson (Lieut. Winch had done his share and had returned to the dugout) uncovered while the chaplain read the Lord's Prayer.

And then came the smack of a sniper's bullet and young Capt. Buscombe fell across the grave of the man he was honoring. Death was instantaneous.

He was given a funeral with full military honors, and is buried at Beauvrey.

BRITAIN CANNOT PAY COMPENSATION TO LUSITANIA VICTIMS

Special by Canadian Press.

LONDON, July 8. — "The British Government cannot undertake to pay compensation for losses at sea owing to the action of the enemy, Reginald McKenna, the Chancellor of the Exchequer yesterday informed a questioner in the House of Commons, who wanted the survivors of the Cunard liner Lusitania compensated for their lost effects.

GERMANY'S AIM IS FATAL BLOW AT FOOD SUPPLIES

LONDON, July 8.—The Earl of Selborne, president of the Board of Agriculture, in moving in the House of Lords last evening the second reading of the Bill which empowers the Government to prohibit the slaughter of young stock so as to preserve the meat supply, expressed the opinion that the Germans were putting their whole shipbuilding strength into the construction of submarines.

German submarines, he said, were taking a steady toll of British ships, and as the war continued it was probable that more submarines would be engaged in this task.

It would not be the fault of the German Admiralty, he continued, if they failed to deal a fatal blow at the carrying trade which supplies Great Britain with food. As it was, even if there was no diminution of the overseas supply of meat, there would probably be less for the use of the civil population.

The Bill passed the second reading.

Germany Will Not Send Dyes Until She Gets Cotton

By Canadian Press.

WASHINGTON, July 8. — Efforts of the United States Government to secure dyestuffs from Germany for American manufacturers have reached a deadlock, which appears unbreakable, and officials here today expressed little hope of an arrangement being made which would give this country a supply of German-made colors.

State Department officials will continue their negotiations, but it is practically certain that Germany will not permit the exportation of dyestuffs unless some arrangement is made which will give Germany a much-needed supply of American cotton.

The German Government is understood to have taken the position that unless American cotton reaches German ports, no dyestuffs will be released for export.

Australia to Have Emden Refloated and Then Exhibited

By Canadian Press.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., July 8. The Department of Defence has awarded a contract for the salving of the German cruiser Emden, which was sunk off Cocos Island, in the Indian Ocean, by the Australian cruiser Sydney.

The contractors say the raider can be easily floated, and will be here by Christmas. The Emden will be exhibited.

CANNON NOT RAIN MAKERS DECLARE METEOROLOGISTS

Concussion Augments Rainfall But Does Not Create Rain Storms

Special by International News Service.

LONDON, July 8. — A close study of the effect of heavy gunfire on the weather has been made during the whole of the war in Northern France and has resulted in the statement by scientists here that cannonading does not "make rain" according to the popular fancy.

"A lecture on "Battle Weather in Western Europe," just delivered by Charles Harding, one of the investigators, explains the real effect of this series of tremendous explosions. He says:

"In the recent hot weather the rainy conditions have not been caused by gun-firing, but it seems quite possible that at times, when the conditions are favorable to rain, the rains have been augmented or accelerated by the concussion initiated over the battle grounds.

"While it happened that during the battle which proceeded the fall of Louvain an inch of rain fell in Dunkirk, it must also be taken into account that Dunkirk was at that time the centre of an area of low pressure that would have brought a heavy rain without any undue disturbance. In this case the precipitation probably was augmented.

"The battle of Ypres-Armentieres was fought during a period when conditions were antagonistic to rain, and despite the days of heavy cannonading, there was very slight precipitation.

"It seems from this that when the conditions are anti-cyclonic, that is when the whole character of the weather is opposed to rain, no amount of concussion or explosion could produce rain in anything like a measurable quantity."

Greek Steamers are Taken by the British to Malta

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, July 8. According to an Athens despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company, the Greek steamers Thessaloniki and Janina, from the United States, were stopped at Gibraltar, and were subsequently convoyed to Malta for further examination.

The Thessaloniki sailed from New York on June 19 for Piraeus. There is no record in the maritime records of the Janina.

THE RUSSIANS STAND

THE good news that the Russian lines are stiffening south of the Lublin railway agrees with recent reports that munitions of war have have been pouring in for some time through both Archangel and Vladivostok. It is impossible to believe that the armies which have held for months in front of Warsaw, in the face of the fiercest efforts of the Germans to drive them back, cannot hold in even better positions farther from the German base when they get the necessary ammunition. The Grand Duke Nicholas has undoubtedly been waiting for this re-filling of his powder-horn before he exposes his soldiers to German fire. The one thing he will not and cannot sacrifice is his armies. He will withdraw until he meets his powder-cart, and then he will strike back at the exhausted and probably poorly supplied German columns.

We are told that the loss of the Lublin railway would be serious to Warsaw. It would be serious to Ivangorod, and so—indirectly— to Warsaw. But Warsaw would still have plenty of railway communication with central and northern Russia. Until the Brest Litovsk railway goes, there would seem to be no real reason for the evacuation of Warsaw.

THE OFFER TO ROUMANIA

THE rumored offer to Roumania at the recent Austro-German official Conference at Vienna—the assembling of which was perfectly well-known at the time—is precisely the offer which the Germanic Powers would be expected to make. If a well-informed newspaper correspondent were guessing at the offer, this is the guess he would almost certainly venture. The offer is, in short, Bukowina and Bessarabia in exchange for continued neutrality. "Bukowina" probably only means Roumanian Bukowina, but is likely to include the Capital of that Crown Land, Czernowitz. Bessarabia is the Russian-Roumanian Province which runs down along the eastern boundary of Moldavia.

The offer is not a very generous one, and is probably not the best the Germans will do. Roumania can get better terms if she holds out—provided she proposes to close with any Austro-German offer. Bukowina the Austrians can spare with a light heart. It is not important to them and must always be an exposed and vulnerable outpost of the Hapsburg dominions. Bessarabia the Germans will be in a position to deliver to Roumania at the close of the war, only in the event of a smashing victory over the Allies. If Roumania really sells out for a price, the payment of which depends upon the dismemberment of Russia, she is taking a far different view of the prospects of the war than that which obtains among the Allied nations.

The big thing which Roumania wants is Transylvania, and that is precisely the gift which the Hungarians will never permit the Austro-Germans to present to her. The loss of Transylvania would strike a heavy and almost fatal blow at the prestige of Hungary. Without this Roumanian province, in which the Magyars lord it in despotic fashion over the unhappy Roumanian serfs, Hungary would shrink to an inconsiderable factor in the Dual Monarchy, and could no longer hold her own on equal terms with Austria. Austria might, of course, be willing to sacrifice her "pushful" and pugnacious partner—Hungary—to this extent; but, with the Hungarians in the commanding position they are today in Austro-Hungarian affairs — even the Austrian Foreign Minister is a Hungarian—no such sacrifice is likely to be made.

This is where the Allies score. They can and probably will offer Transylvania to Roumania, and they can—especially with Roumanian help—deliver the goods. But Roumania is trying to get them to add the Banat of Temesvar to this offer, and here Serbian interests block the way. Serbia wants the bank of the Danube opposite Belgrade. Still the Allies can offer Roumanian Bukowina. So that, in any case, the Allied territorial offer exceeds that of the Germanic Powers. Moreover, the fact that the Allies want military co-operation, while the Germans only ask neutrality, is not as important as it looks. For if Roumania is to get Bessarabia from Russia, she knows perfectly well that she must fight—and fight hard—for it.

There is, in addition to this, the question of Constantinople and the command of the gate-ways of the Black Sea. Roumania is a wholly Black Sea country. It has no other access to the outside world. So it is vitally interested—much more so than Bulgaria—in the control of the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles. But here, again, the honors are easy. An Allied victory will put Russia in command of this outlet, while a German victory will put Germany in command. It is not, as some imagine, a choice between a Great Power and a weak nation at Stamboul. The day of the weak nation at that critical point is over. If Russia does not secure it, Germany will be in virtual command of it, even if the hand which is apparently on the key remains Turkish. The Dardanelles are now in German hands. German guns command them, and German generals direct the guns. Roumania must make her choice between these two possible gate-keepers, and the vital thing for her is to choose the gate-keeper who is most likely to find himself in control when the war ends.

Thus the whole Roumanian problem comes down to the old original question—which group of belligerents is going to win? It is Roumania's job to "pick the winner" like any speculator at a race-meet. If she "picks" the Germans as winners, and they lose, she will get neither Bessarabia nor Bukowina, and she will find a Great Power, which she has wantonly antagonized, established astride the Bosphorus. But if she "picks" the Allies to win and goes to the help of the Russians, and we win, she will get Transylvania, Roumanian Bukowina and find a friend in possession at Stamboul.

With Bulgaria, the position is different. The Allies cannot offer her any part of Macedonia which is inhabited by Serbs, while the Germans can and probably have. The Allies will not offer her any part of Greece; while the Germans would make no bones about doing so. Moreover, the Germans are quite capable of offering her the reversion of Constantinople, when once they have squeezed the Turkish orange and thrown it aside. So the only force which is likely to bring Bulgaria to us will be a settled belief in Sofia that we are sure to win. In that case, she will see that she might as well make the best bargain she can with the sure winners.

THE WORLD'S PRESS

Fighting the Air Raiders

London Chronicle:—Since the war began no finer deed has been recorded than that of Flight Lieutenant Warneford. His success must give the deepest satisfaction to people living in those areas where Zeppelins have recently been reported. It goes to prove what many people have all along held, that the proper weapon with which to meet the hostile airship is the aeroplane in the hands of a cool and resourceful flier.

The Nation Waits.

London Daily Telegraph:—Publicists have long speculated on what a National Government might accomplish if such a freak of political nature should happen to be born. Today a real National Government is in existence, not as a freak, but, in the Prime Minister's words, as "a national necessity." That is the spirit in which it has been accepted by the nation, and the nation awaits with the deepest interest the first public indications which the head of the Government may make.

Pacifism a Poor Policy.

Philadelphia Ledger:—It is true that the British were not prepared for war as the Germans were, that they went into the fight reluctantly and that they made not a few mistakes in carrying it on. But the Lion is far from dying yet, and the Eagle's claws have not been made impotent by disuse. Mere pacifism is not the ideal which any nation should pursue; and the pacifist quality of much of our diplomacy has not increased our prestige. But it is a long jump in logic from this admission to admiration of the German method of seeking to impose the national will by force on all the world.

Learning Our Lessons

Westminster Gazette:—If a long and exhausting struggle lies ahead, it is a struggle which we can face with a stout heart. We are learning the lessons of war, many of them lessons which nothing but war could have taught us. We have to change our methods and make new machinery to meet unexpected demands. Let us face it and do it thoroughly; and be sure that a few months hence there will be other discoveries and yet other demands on us. Mr. George has the makings of a first-class Minister of Munitions, and we are sure that he will do the country great service; but those who try to pose him as the hero of a lurid melodrama will not assist him in his work.

The Munitions Measure.

Lloyds' Weekly:—The general scope of the bill shows it to be a carefully considered and rational measure. It entails certain disciplines, but those disciplines, apart from their being enforced by the workers themselves, fall impartially upon the employer and the employee. The chief value of the discipline is its voluntary aspect, just as the chief value of the bill is its voluntary conservation and concentration of all available efforts and resources into the national channel. It is a bill which will concentrate behind the firing line the army corps of labor. It is a bill which will bring no more (and actually much less) pressure than has been brought on those men who are serving at the front.

Consider Napoleon Obsolete.

New York Evening Post:—To take the offensive on both fronts at the same time was not the German plan of campaign of last year. It would be to violate the Napoleonic maxim which warned a commander not to seek to be strong at all points at once. But the German strategists have considered Napoleon obsolete. They prefer to follow Clausewitz, whose theory of war was to bring great masses of troops together, like two heaps of gunpowder, and see which side would have something like over after the conflagration. Something lie this idea appears to be behind the present German tactics. The policy of the Allies, in response, is plainly indicated. It is the policy of "hanging on." If they can do this long enough, their superior resources, in men, material, and, above all, money, will be decisive.

Germany and the Food Supply.

London Times:—Some months ago the German Government made great play with the cry that England had entered on an inhuman policy of starving out the German people, and conveyed the impression that the innocent civilian population was threatened with frightful privation in consequence. We warned the public at the time against placing any reliance on the alleged lack of food in Germany, and suggested that the cry was raised for tactical reasons—partly for domestic consumption and partly to impress neutral nations. That reading has been amply confirmed by subsequent events. We hear nothing now of the threatened starvation; it has given place to boasts about the abundance of food. And we may well believe that the future is fully secured for a long period ahead. It is high time for us to think about our own supply.

THE PASSING HOUR

A British officer inspecting sentries guarding the line in Flanders came across a raw looking yeoman.

"What are you here for?" he asked.

"To report anything unusual, sir."

"What would you call unusual?"

"I dunno exactly, sir."

"What would you do if you saw five battleships steaming across that field yonder?"

Sign the pledge, sir.

THERE ARE OTHERS.

Hokus—"Skinnum boasts that he believes in doing the greatest good to the greatest number."

Pokus—"Yes, but Skinnum always regards number one as the greatest number."—Judge.

He went to dine with a bachelor friend who prided himself that his few pictures were gems. After having enjoyed themselves well—too well, in fact—at dinner, they adjourned to the picture gallery, where the host pointed out to his guest a landscape, saying:

"What do you think of that, my boy—eh?"

The following reply was hiccoughed, rather than spoken:

"Beautiful, old chap—very fine—awfully good! The trees wave about so naturally!"

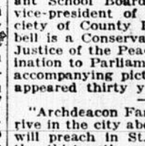
"Senator, you promised me a job."

"But there are no jobs."

"I need a job, Senator."

"Well, I'll ask for a commission to investigate as to why there are no jobs and you can get a job on that."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"This safety first idea is pretty good stuff," said Pennsylvania Hungry, as he sat down in a soft corner of his private box car.



"That's right," agreed Hobo Frank. "Every now and then you read about some guy or other who's been getting drowned in a bathtub."

EXHIBIT A.

"There's money in preserves."

"You bet! I know a girl who made $20,000 by preserving the letters a man wrote her."—Boston Transcript.

A young woman who had no knowledge of natural phrases asked a friend:

"Do you know, I often wonder why a ship has to weigh anchor every time it leaves port?"

The answer of her friend was not illuminating.

"Well — er — the weight is constantly changing, you know, because of the — er — binnacles and things that accumulate on the anchor!"

GREECE AND THE WAR

Written for The Montreal Star by K. P. Tsolainos, of the McGill University, Vice-President of the Hellenic Society of Asia Minor.

"As long as the sun shall keep the same path in the heaven we will never make peace with Xerxes; but we will face him, trusting in the help of Gods and heroes, whom he has insulted by burning their homes and shrines."

These words were the reply of the Athenians to the General of Xerxes Mardonius in 479 B.C. After the defeat of the Persians at Salamis, Mardonius tried by promises and gifts to entice the Athenians away from the other allies.

"As long as the sun shall keep the same path in the heaven, we will fight for freedom," was the answer of the Hellenes in general, and in particular of the people of Attica, to the emissaries of the German Kaiser, in the recent elections in Greece.

For the last four months the God of War has been drawing his chariot over the plains of Troy, and the shores of Hellespont. And this struggle against the fiercest enemies of civilization has re-echoed in the tombs of heroes of the classical land. And thus, awakening from their slumber, they rose to mingle in the fray. But hellas! not a single Hellene in the fight, not a single Spartan spear, nor an Athenian galley. No! not even the cry of the Athenian boy. Night after night they have been rising up, and the neighing of their phantom horses and the clashing of their swords sends their message to their descendants in the cities of Sparta and Athens. "Tell the Greeks at their bidding, oh, passer-by, here in death we lie."

And over all the Classical Country the mysterious voices of those who fought that Greece unyoked might stand, nor crouch under a tyrant's hand, breathed their message to man and woman alike. When the critical moment came during which Greece was deciding whether to listen to that voice or shut her ears and run away, the very soul of Achilles visited the people, and once more following their traditions, the people of Attica and Sparta enlisted to fight for Freedom.

THE CIRCUMSTANCES.

Greece had just sheathed the sword from two wars, and had undertaken to peacefully reorganize the recently emancipated provinces in the country of Alexander the Great. She was in need of many years of peace, wished to see the wounds of her people heal, and the sighs of orphaned mothers pass away. She wished to rebuild what five centuries of Turkish rule had shattered and defiled, and had just sent her veterans to their homes after an absence of nearly two years, when the scourge of the Huns started ravaging the beautiful and peaceful country of the brave King Alfred. The deed done, the cause known, Greece again called back her spartans to lead them by the side of those who were defending their homes, their honors. She did not start negotiating what the recompense would be, for then she would not be true to the ideals she herself has been preaching to the world since the dawn of civilization.

But our enemies of the north wished us to pay for our right to defend the cause of Right and Freedom, and the price was the enslaving of over 500,000 Greeks to the rule of Bulgaria.

Freedom herself blushed at this Persian request, and would not have us do a wrong in order to right another. Thus the people of Hellas have been living from day to day with this problem before them, until Eleftherios Venizelos, the then Premier, took the first step and called them forward to join the ranks of honor at any cost. But another voice, that of the Father of the Country, stopped their hurried steps: "Not one inch of my country, not one of my beloved people shall be enslaved."

KING CONSTANTINE.

Much has been lately said about the relations between King Constantine and Eleftherios Vanizelos and as some of the reports are far away from the truth, I take a few lines in sketching out these two great factors of Greater Greece.

When the first child of King George and Queen Olga was born in July 22, 1868, the people of Athens crowded before the Royal Palace and when the Prime Minister announced from the balcony of the Palace the birth of a son, a Prince, the Hellenes cheered enthusiastically.

"Long live the Crown Prince of the Hellenes, Constantine," all the Hellenic world welcomed the Prince as the Saviour of Greece, on him all the hopes were built, all national dreams based. Since the capture of the Greek citadel, the city of Constantinople, by the Turks in 1453 A. D., during which event the last Emperor of the Greeks, Constantine the Eleventh, fell fighting in the ramparts, a popular legend has been running among the people of Greece that a Constantine will some day regain the city for Hellenism.

Thus from the time of his birth, the Crown Prince grew in the love and adoration of his people. The failure of the campaign in 1897 against the Turks cast a shadow of discredit over the ability of the Crown Prince Constantine, but in the campaigns of 1912-13, King Constantine won for himself a position abroad as well as at home. He, today is not only the King of Greece but the great national hero, one whose profound and sincere patriotism cannot be questioned and one to whom the nation looks with absolute confidence and trust. His motto is, "My Power is the Love of my People."

E. VENIZELOS.

Although much has been said and published about Greece's most famous statesman by many writers and journalists who claim to know him intimately, I think I am safe in naming three persons in Europe who are justified in authoritative knowledge of the man: Dr. Dillon the celebrated English journalist, Monsieur Clemanceau, the famous French statesman, and Take Joanesko, Roumania's most brilliant statesman who worked with Venizelos side by side in all matters concerning the future of their countries.

E. Venizelos is the son of an Athenian family, having spent his boyhood and most of his life in the Island of Crete, the island whose mountains have never bowed to the Turkish rule. The European statesmen had a profound respect for the man long before he played any important part in the administration of the affairs of Greece. He showed himself an accomplished strategist, possessed of great intelligence and far-sightedness, while yet handling the question of the Island of Crete, In 1910 he was asked to come to Athens by the military league and represent them in the Parliament. The country was then in a revolutionary state, and King George found in Venizelos the man to whom he could trust the destinies of the nation in those very critical times.

Venizelos had, from his former position in Crete, gained the respect of the European diplomats and now he gains the full confidence of the Grecian people and their beloved King George.

Since 1910 he has doubled Greece not only in territory but in the respect of the European people, and how the country and the people of ten or fifteen years ago, are leaders of the Balkan States not only in educational, commercial and industrial matters, but they possess the best equipped Balkan army of nearly 500,000 soldiers, a formidable navy (the only navy in the Balkan Peninsula), which has proved far superior to the Turco-German combination of 1912-13.

Such is Venizelos, who although supported only by popular excitement and not a party, yet bravely refused to grant the people's wishes and controlled the mob when their demands were against the country's good; who never made an effort to conceal the pure truth from the people, however bitter that might be; who placed above all things the grandeur and prosperity of Hellas; who did not accept the power for the sake of the power, but only to serve his country, and the high principles of right and freedom. This uncorrupted statesman presented to the world a "Greece loved and admired by her friends and respected by her enemies," to quote the exact words of King Constantine in the spring of 1914.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINIONS.

When the present war started, Venizelos unhesitatingly proclaimed Greece in favor of the Allies, ceding islands occupied by Grecian troops to the Allies to be used at naval bases. He quickly set to work to prepare for participation in the war when the Government of Bulgaria wished to impose on Greece a heavy tax, namely the ceding to Bulgaria of a Grecian province in Macedonia. The refusal of this request meant a Bulgarian attack on Greece while the Greek army would be operating at the Dardanelles or in Asia Minor.

Venizelos got a diplomatic assertion from the then Triple Entente that Bulgaria would be prevented from carrying out this act of treason, but the King, knowing well the Bulgarians from the experience of the last two wars, would not trust their statements.

And the King was right; the Bulgarians proved so when they treacherously attacked the Servians while the little nation's brave soldiers were defending their capital from the Austrian invaders; and have not the Bulgarians showed their true intentions when today they are still negotiating for cessions of territory from Roumania, Servia and Greece and are still the cause of keeping out of the war Greece and Roumania?

Thence arose a crisis: Venizelos thought that if Greece was to best help the Allies immediate action was necessary; not a minute should be lost; and he was absolutely right, because if the Grecian army had landed troops in the Gallipoli peninsula when the attack against Constantinople was first attempted, this much-coveted city would either be in the hands of the Allies or be besieged by them, for the Turks were wholly unprepared then to meet a spirited attack. But the King, although not disapproving the scheme, yet anxiously looked at the Greco-Bulgarian frontier, where troops had already begun to gather and where plans had been drawn by the Bulgarian staff for a rush on Salonica.

Thus Greece lost the golden opportunity, may I say, the most glorious moment of her history, that of first entering the gates of Constantinople. This time Bulgaria played her cards most successfully. The Greek trops meant for the Dardanelles and Smyrna were despatched to Cavalla and Ghevghiley, towns of the Greco-Bulgarian frontier. Venizelos had to resign and another man had to take his place, much to the sorrow and disappointment of the Greeks at home and abroad.

THE VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Greece is the one state among the Eastern European countries which enjoys a purely constitutional government, ruled with the spirit of enlightened democracy. The people speak, and they speak freely, not carried by bonds of friendship nor moved by personal or private interests; the man of the country and of the city alike goes to throw his vote for the man whom he thinks capable and trustworthy. This vital question therefore was thrown to the people.

Under ordinary circumstances Venizelos' victory would be sure and easy. His opponents, however, taking advantage of the King's serious illness, represented to the people that the King, their idol, was against Venizelos' policy, and that Venizelos wished to cede to Bulgaria the Macedonian provinces for two reasons: (a) These provinces have only recently been emancipated from the Turkish rule and the people voted as they were accustomed under the Turkish rule, viz, for the party in the Government at the time of the election; and (b) these were the provinces which the opponents of Venizelos represented as the ones to be ceded to Bulgaria in case Venizelos would be returned to power.

With all these odds against him Venizelos won, and his victory is more significant because the people of Greece proper, the people of Attica and Peloponesus voted wholly for him. Now he comes to power with a majority of nearly seventy, which majority will be doubled after one month of administration. The Greek nation has been without its two national leaders and heroes since the King's illness and Venizelos' resignation. Now, thanks to God, in less than a month we shall have them both co-operating in heart and soul for the cause of Right and Freedom.

By their glorious vote the Greeks have given their answer to the Germanic envoys and the greedy dreamers of Sofia that "As long as the sun keeps its path in the heaven Greeks shall always fight for freedom."

Bingham Fails to Prevent His Extradition Here

Special to The Montreal Star.

CHICAGO, July 6.—The United States District Court yesterday denied the petition of attorneys for John Bingham, alias Billings, for a writ of habeas corpus, to prevent his extradition to Canada, where he is wanted on a charge of receiving money stolen from the branch of the Bank of Montreal at Westminster, B.C., in September, 1911.

Attorney Almon W. Bulkley, representing the British Consul in Chicago, opposed the petition.

Attorney Dillon, for Bingham, argued technical objections, setting forth that no evidence had been presented to show that Bingham had received the stolen money in the Province of Quebec, where he is wanted, and that the courts there have no jurisdiction.

He also argued that the treaties between the United States and Canada do not provide for extradition under such circumstances as obtain in the Bingham case.

Judge Geiger, sitting in place of Judge Carpenter, who is on his vacation, gave the attorneys for Bingham five days in which to prepare an appeal, if they wish to take one, to the United States Supreme Court.

ITALIAN FEUD ENDS IN MURDER AT SHERBROOKE

SHERBROOKE, Que., July 8.—A coroner's jury investigating the death of Catano Calaro, who was murdered on the Belvidere road a week ago, brought in a verdict holding Jos. Care, Tom Ceminero and Joe Mitz responsible. A number of witnesses were examined, the evidence of a feud between this trio and deceased being revealed. The accused were brought to Sherbrooke Jail to await trial.

The murder is believed to have been the outcome of a feud that existed between Calaro and the men in question. A month prior to the murder, Calaro, Care and Ceminero, had a quarrel which led to blows. On the night in question the quarrel was renewed in a house occupied by Italians at the Albert Mines.

The prisoners left together and were overtaken by Calaro. The trouble was renewed. Calaro being left lying in a dying condition on the roadside, suffering from a fractured skull and body wounds, the latter inflicted by a knife.

Prison for Dealers Charging Too High Prices for Food

MUNICH, Bavaria, via London, July 8.—The military authorities of Bavaria today issued an ordinance providing for a maximum of one year's imprisonment for dealers charging excessive prices for articles of daily consumption, including food and heating and lighting substances.

A similar penalty is to be inflicted on those withholding stocks from sale to produce higher prices and on retailers refusing to sell to intending customers.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

60TH BATTALION ENJOY GOOD TIME AT QUEBEC CAMP

The latest reports from Valcartier tell of the splendid position occupied by the 60th Battalion, and the great time the men are enjoying.

They are nearest the Post Office and the swimming pool, and just across the road from the Y. M. C. A. where the moving picture shows are given. In addition, they have, close by, a fine open space for baseball, football and other games. The ground is high and thus the tents are always dry. Black flies and mosquitoes are practically unknown. Soup, roast beef, potatoes, vegetables, bread and butter, jam and tea is the usual menu and there isn't a man who will not vote it a mighty good meal. They all are working hard, but not so hard that they have not plenty of time to enjoy themselves, having two hours at lunch and three hours after 5:30 p.m.

Thirty-five more men will leave for Valcartier tonight under Capt. Edgar, to join the 60th. The men are still coming in, but the officers are anxious to bring the new unit up to strength within another week. Plans to accomplish this were laid at a meeting held in the Victoria Rifles Armories yesterday, at which officers from the Vics., the Grenadier Guards, the Westmount Rifles, and the Irish Rangers were present. The idea of holding recruiting meetings in connection with band concerts was voted splendid, and it is hoped that in this way 600 men will join within the next ten days. Some new and very striking posters are to be issued.

The highest truck farm in New York city is believed to be the one on the roof of the municipal building, where Peter Kearney, the elevator dispatcher, is raising lettuce and tomatoes at the altitude of 300 feet. He intends to present the first tomatoes to Mayor Mitchell.

PILOT IS BLAMED BECAUSE ROMNEY WAS RUN ASHORE

Branch Pilot Jules Lamarre was held chiefly responsible yesterday by Capt. A. L. Demers, Dominion Wreck Commissioner, for the stranding of the steamship Romney in the St. Lawrence River on June 24. His certificate was suspended for six months, dating from June 29, and he was fined $100. Second Officer Cooper was reprimanded for "showing an extraordinary and lamentable indifference in the accomplishment of his duties." Capt. Thomas Moss, the master of the Romney, was exonerated from all blame.

Pilot Lamarre, in his evidence, stated that he had mistaken a light he saw for that of Red Island lightship. He admitted that he might have been drowsy or sleepy at the time. This, he stated, had been due to lack of sleep occasioned by pains in his legs the day before.

ROMNEY'S MISHAP.

The Romney went ashore on Green Island Reef, below Riviere du Loup. The pilot stated in his defence that smoke had obscured the light. This was held as an excuse only by the wreck commissioner, who says in his judgment:

"There are intermissions in the emission of smoke from the funnel, and during these intervals the light must have been sufficiently visible to show the difference between the light exhibited on Green Island and the one on the lightship, or on Red Island, each one of which is a different type."

It was the duty of the pilot, the judgment further reads, to inform the master of his physical disability.

Second Officer Cooper was reminded, in pointed language, that it was his duty to call the captain if the weather became thick or hazy. If the light could not be discerned on account of smoke, he should have advised the master of the ship. He should also have assured himself that the pilot was right in regard to the ship's navigation.

In conclusion the judgment reads: "This court wishes to point out that in dealing apparently in a lenient manner with the second officer, it recognizes the peculiar situation created by the war, which has reduced the number of officers available to a minimum, therefore causing untold delay in vessels in carrying out their schedule."

Nearly forty electric towing locomotives assist vessels through the locks of the Panama canal. The tracks on which these locomotives run are built near the wall on either side of the canal. When a vessel must be taken through, four locomotives, two on either side, are required for the work.

AUSTRIANS WEAR BREAST PLATES AND USE STEEL SCREENS

TURIN, July. — Reviving the methods of the Roman legions under Julius Caesar, Austrians are adopting back steels and breastplates. On the Alpine front some of their infantry use a portable steel screen, rectangular in shape, for protection against shrapnel shots and grenade splinters. A quantity of these have been picked up in front of trenchments north of Val Grande, where the enemy suffered particularly grievous losses in a futile attack on Monday.

Austrian reinforcements continue to arrive at the Isonzo front, and the Italians find themselves faced by superior numbers at certain points. They, however, are holding their ground and making use of their wonderful artillery, which is playing havoc with the Austrian entrenched positions and rendering ineffective the repeated attempts to regain lost ground.

News from Austria is that the Italian advance on the Tolmino from the southeast is meeting with determined resistance on the part of the Austrians, who have concentrated a large force of artillery in this district.

Several German prisoners brought into Feltry declare that they were drafted from the German front north of Arras during the last week in May.

GERMAN GUNS ARE USED TO FORCE TURKS TO FIGHT

A copy of Turkish army orders picked up by the Allies on the Gallipoli Peninsula shows that German officers commanding the Turks place machine guns behind the regiments and when the men advance on the Allied positions they know that if they waver or attempt to retreat, they will be wiped out by fire from their own guns. "The Turks don't seem to have their heart in this war," says Pte. A. L. Fullwood of the 1st Australian Regiment, writing to his sister, Mrs. P. Hey, of 6 Union avenue.

After describing the landing of the Australians on the Gallipoli Peninsula on April 25, Pte. Fullwood says: "Since that Sunday the Turks have made several unsuccessful attempts to drive us out, always with loss to themselves. The last time they were repulsed and the dead were estimated at 3,000 and the wounded at 5,000. Two days after they asked us for an armistice to bury their dead. It was given to them, and from 7 30 a.m. to 4 p.m. not a shot was fired. That happened to be Empire Day.

"The Turks are a fine big healthy lot of fellows but they don't seem to have their heart in this war. Every day somewhere along the line there is a prisoner taken. They come up to our trenches and just give themselves up; they all complain of being ill-treated by their officers—most of whom are Germans.

"A specimen of their daily orders was picked up which stated that machine guns were placed behind them and if they did not advance, the guns would be turned on them, so that they would be under fire both ways."

HIS BROTHER WRITES:

Mrs. Hey has also received a letter from another brother, Sergt. A. E. Fullwood formerly of New Zealand, who writes of the great difficulty wounded soldiers sometimes experience in getting back to the hospitals when the trenches are being shelled. Sergt. Fullwood joined a British Regiment, and was wounded May 9 in a charge to capture some German trenches. He describes his adventure thus:

"The artillery work was over for a time. It was now our turn, and 'over the parapet' was the order. We went like fury under a murderous machine gun fire. Three parts of the way over I was brought down, having been hit in the right foot. I lay still, in case they might see any movement, but it was too hot to stay there. They were absolutely cutting the grass all around me, so I decided to try to get back. I rolled over and over until I came to a sap and was just about to roll into it when I was hit again in the left thigh. I crawled along until I got back into our own trenches again and get dressed. I lay there all day and I could not get out that night as there were so many wounded to carry in from the front. At dawn I started to crawl along through the trenches, it being about a mile and a half to the Rest Aid station, and I managed to get there at 8 o'clock after travelling three hours. I had lost a lot of blood and was completely exhausted, but I was soon in a motor ambulance and off to the clearing station at Merville."

There has been founded, by the graduate and undergraduate students of the department of geology and mining of the University of Kansas a professional fraternity, Sigma Gamma Epilson. It is proposed to establish chapters of the organization in the leading educational institutions of the United States and Canada. At present there does not appear to be any such fraternity and it is hoped that its organization will promote an increased interest in geological science.

WAY IN WHICH MOTOR TRUCKS WERE BOUGHT

T. A. Russell Gives Details Before War Contracts Commission

IS TOLD HE MAY FACE ALLEGATION

Sir Charles Davidson Comments on Witness's Methods

Special to the Montreal Star from our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, July 8.—At yesterday afternoon's sitting of the war contracts investigation the examination of Thomas A. Russell, of Toronto, head of the Russell Motor Company, turned upon the motor trucks which he purchased for the first division, as distinguished from the cars bought and sent to Valcartier. He got his instructions from the Minister of Militia, who insisted that the trucks must be ready to go when the first division went.

The instruction were to get 134 three-tone trucks, seven motor cars and sixteen motor cycles. The minister told him that the Jeffreys truck had been highly recommended and intimate dthat some of them should be got. Mr. Russell communicated with the Gramm, General Motors, Packard, Peerless, Jeffrey, Garford, White and Kelly Companies, and after a test to which these concerns submitted sample trucks, he selected the Gramm, Peerless, Jeffrey White and Kelly cars.

Asked as to why he left out the Packard, the witness expressed the opinion that it had "fallen down" on the test. The General motor truck got stuck in the test, while the Garford went over the course, but did work altogether well. He selected what he thought was the best. He bought thirty-eight Whites, twenty-five Peerless, nineteen Gramms, twenty-six Jeffreys and twenty-five Kellys. Witness admitted that it would be well if all of one make could have been got, but the most any company would supply was fifty.

Asked as to the price of the Gramm truck, Mr. Russell said it was ten per cent off the list price of $4,600. The Peerless cars cost $3,700, the American price, less ten per cent. The Canadian price would have been about $5,000, but they were shipped through in bond. The Kelley was bought at the American price of $3,400, less ten per cent. His Company got a commission as Canadian agents of Kelley and Jeffrey trucks. For the lafter $2,750, less ten per cen For the latter $2,750, less ten per cent. was paid, while the White cost $3,700, less ten per cent.

MINISTER RECOMMENDED TRUCKS.

"How did the Minister come to recommend the Jeffrey trucks?"—"I understood that it was recommended to him by U.S. army officers."

"Did you receive any commission on these trucks, either directly or indirectly?"—"Nothing."

"Outside you commission on the Kelly and Jeffrey trucks, did your company get any commissions?"—"No."

"What commission was your company allowed by the Kelly company?" "15 per cent outside the 10 per cent allowed the Government."

"And the Jeffrey Company?"—"13 1-2 per cent."

Mr. Russell then told of meeting different motor car representatives in Toronto and discussing with them the question of discounts. He took the ground that a 10 per cent cut should be made. Some of the companies agreed to this and others wanted full list prices. Finally he decided that unless 10 per cent discounts were given, none would be bought.

"Any discount allowed the Government would be so much out of the pocket of the agent?"—"Yes."

Mr. Russell went on to say that his company, as agent for the Kelly and Jeffrey companies, had financed the buying of these machines. His idea in dividing the orders was to keep them in comolete units of twenty-five.

"Was Macquarrie with you in this second lot?"—"No."

"Why was he dropped?" asked Sir Charles. "He was at Valcartier and I didn't call him in."

"Where is he now?"—"He is acting for our company in the West."

The Commissioner remarked that he would be needed to give evidence about using his influnce to secure an order for three Gramm trucks from the department.

NO TIME TO INVITE TENDERS.

"That had nothing to do with these orders," said Mr. Russell.

"Did you formally invite tenders for these 133 trucks?"—"No. It was out of the question. I had only twenty days in which to have them tested, bought, and delivered at Montreal. There was no specifications then. They have them now."

"Were the trucks shipped with bodies?"—"No, only the chassis; our company handled the bodies."

"Did you give the Government the advantages of wholesale prices from your company?"—"Yes."

"What did you charge them?"—"$270 for bodies and accessories complete. The object in building them here was to have uniformity."

Mr. Russell said that nearly all the woodwork on the bodies was done by the Massey-Harris Company.

"So all you did was some little assembling?"—"Yes, and fitting."

"What did these bodies cost you?"—"$225."

"And what did you charge the Government?"—"$270."

"So you made a total profit of $5,376 on these bodies?"—"Yes."

"What percentage of profit?" queried Sir Charles.—"A little over 16 per cent."

"You charged the Government $34,920 for these 126 bodies?"—"Yes."

SOMEWHAT INCONGRUOUS.

An invoice to the Government from the Russell Company, certified to by Mr. Russell, drew a remark from the Commissioner.

"It seems a little incongruous," he said. "You were the agent of the Government, who did the buying, and you were also the vendor and the certifying officer?"—"I acted for the Government in buying from many firms. My own was one of them."

To Sir Charles, Mr. Russell said he owned less than 5 per cent of the two millions capital stock of the Russell Company.

Mr. Russell further testified that body built by the Massey Company was so satisfactory that some of its features were adopted by the War Office.

Sir Charles remarked that there was a sharp contrast between the way Mr. Russell had dealt with the trucks and the bodies. In one case he had bought as agent for the Government. In the other case he had turned first to his own company and then a third party. The Massey-Harris Company.

"Why did you not go straight to Massey-Harris to get the bodies, rather than to your own company?"

"Because sey-Harris Company knew nothing as to what was a proper body, nor was I in a position to tell them. I am not a mechanic. I was in Toronto only two days in all this time, and I availed myself of an organization that could design the bodies."

"After they got the first sample, what did the Massey-Harris Company do?"—"They built all the bodies."

SERIOUS CHARGE TO MEET.

The Commissioner advised Mr. Russell that he had to practically meet an allegation of charging $5,670 for a specification.

Mr. Russell proceeded to enumerate a long list of articles furnished with the bodies.

"But you were paid for them separately, and got a profit"—"Yes."

"What is the use of enumerating them?" asked the commissioner.

After some further questions, Sir Charles remarked:

"The Massey Harris Company first makes its profit and then hands the work over to you to make your profit."—"How much did they make?"—"I do not know," said the witness.

"I suppose it was as much as you did," said the commissioner.

Mr. Russell went on to say that by doing away with the crating of trucks in shipment, $20,000 had been saved. The trucks were packed in hay and oats. His company charged $4,466 net disbursements for supervising loading.

This disposed of Mr. Russell's evidence for the day.

Mr. Follers, the Toronto representative of the White Company, was next examined. The reason he said no discount was given in the first order was because they had to be got in the country in twenty-four hours, and moreover, it was not customary to give discounts to consumers, but only to agents.

QUESTION OF DISCOUNT.

"They would be more likely to give a discount in the United States than in Canada because of the competition," said the witness. "On the second order we gave a discount of ten per cent because we were told that unless we did it there would be no business."

Asked, as to the discount allowed him from the parent White Company in Cleveland, Mr. Fellers asked:

"Is that quite fair?"

Mr. Thompson did not press the question.

"Did the White Company pay any commission to any one in connection with these orders?"—"Absolutely not, not a five cent piece."

The commission adjourned till the morning.

DANUBE TERROR IS ANNOYING TO AUSTRIAN FLEET

BELGRADE, July 8.—Beyond the Austrian town of Semlin, opposite Belgrade, and the island of Grosser Krieg, six Austrian river monitors are lying inside a boom, for since their number was reduced from seven to six by a pretty piece of torpedo work on the part of the solitary Serbian picket boat known as "The Terror of the Danube," these monitors have been singularly uninteresting.

The composition of mixed artillery force which, under Gen. Jivkovitch, has charge of the defence of Belgrade, is thoroughly well known to the Austrians. This force is charmingly cosmopolitan. The young gentlemen who have charge of "The Terror of the Danube" have great larks. They poke their way on dark nights into creeks and passages where they are not expected, and annoy the Austrians dreadfully.

The Austrians have three picket gunboats, like toy dreadnoughts, with machine-guns mounted in the turrets. Any one of them could destroy the "Terror" in a few minutes, but the "Terror" comes up when it is dark, makes rude remarks with her single machine gun, and then runs.

Recently one of the Austrian dreadnoughts chased it into a prepared mine field, and the dreadnought drifted ashore on Kojara island.

Night after night the "Terror" goes gaily on errands of the utmost danger and keeps terrorized an Austrian force of monitors and gunboats more than a hundred times its strength.

Passengers on Cameronian Had Exciting Time

SEWELL, Man., July 8.—Sergt.-Major Stammers, of the 10th Mounted Rifles, received a letter from his wife this morning stating that the passenger steamer Cameronian had been chased by two submarines and that the passengers had been forced to get into the boats, in which they remained for over an hour.

Mrs. Stammers left Regina June 4, and left New York on the Cameronian June 11. She writes:

"Arrived war zone Friday morning 7 a.m. All went well until 11 p.m., when two submarines were reported sighted. All hands were called on deck, boats were swung, lowered and filled, and the captain changed his course and zig-zagged for an hour, after which we returned on board."

SIXTEEN DIED WHEN NIAGARA CAR JUMPED THE TRACK

ADJOURN INQUEST FOR TEN DAYS TO HEAR MOTORMAN.

By Canadian Press.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., July 8.—The inquest on the trolley accident at Queenston has been adjourned until the 19th, owing to Motorman Boyt being so badly hurt he will not be able to attend court before then. Coroner W. T. Greenwood said this morning that the inquest will be held at Queenston.

Two of the sharp curves the madly speeding car negotiated in safety, and as it swept around them the spectators held their breath. On the third and last curve the car plunged from the rails. It completely jumped the tracks, and, wiping away a trolley pole as though it were tinder, plunged over the embankment. It landed on its side and plunged some few feet along the ground, cutting down a tree as though with a knife.

Alongside the track, directly in the path of the car as it left the rails, was a large maple tree, with low hanging branches. When the car hit it all the uprights supporting the roof were smashed and the upper and lower parts of the car were piled in a tangled mass of splinters and twisted iron at the foot of the fifeen foot decline.

PEOPLE KILLED OUTRIGHT.

When the car finally crashed against a trolley pole and turned turtle, the rear half of the car was completely wrecked and ten persons were killed outright. The car was closely packed and a number of injured is likely to total between fifty and sixty.

Many of the latter were hurried to Niagara Falls, but a large number were brought to this city on the Niagara Line steamer. Of these, four died during the trip across the lake, making a total of fourteen dead.

As soon as possible word of the accident was rushed to the military camp at Niagara-on-the-Lake, and doctors and medical equipment were hurried in motor cars to the scene. They at once took charge of the work of assisting the injured. Pouring rain added to the horrors of the situation.

WHEN SURVIVORS LANDED.

When the Chippewa docked here with the survivors and some of the maimed and dead, the driving rain had driven most citizens home, and only a few anxious relatives, who had heard wild rumors were waiting for the rush to shore. There were many pathetic scenes.

Strong men controlled their anxiety till they caught sight of the dear ones they sought, and then, in many cases, broke down. Among the first to rush off the gangway were four girls, the eldest about twelve years old, the others apparently her smaller sisters.

"Oh, it was an awful day," she wailed, throwing herself into t' arms of a man who had gained a place directly in front of the exit. The children, apparently all unhurt, clutched at the man and burst into tears.

"Thank God, you're all safe," said the father, then he too, broke down. This episode was typical of scores, but today many less fortunate are anxiously walking the hospitals here, where many of the injured were brought.

EVERY DOCTOR BUSY.

The steamer carrying the dead and wounded that were brought to Toronto reached here shortly before 11 o'clock in a downpour of rain. It was met by all the available ambulances in the city and these had to be supplemented by automobiles.

Several trips were necessary before all were laid in the wards of the General Hospital. Numbers of less seriously injured were assisted by friends to the street cars. Many were lame and wore bandages on their heads and arms.

At Niagara Falls every doctor in the city, with assistants from the American side, attended to the wants of the injured.

The automobile transports conveyed the injured from the car to the hospital on Jepsom street. The limited staff at the hospital did all in their power to alleviate the sufferings of the injured, the injuries consisting of broken and lacerated legs, arms and heads.

MOTORMAN'S STORY.

Until the facts are brought out at the inquest, the cause of last night's tragedy is best indicated by the statement of Motorman Sydney Boyt, of Niagara Falls, Ont., who, with Conductor George Caswell, of the same place, was in charge of the car. He says:

"At Lowry's Corner, the third curve above the wharf, the car began to skid. I saw that it was getting away from me, and began to work in every way to curb its momentum. The brakes would not work, neither was there any effect when I tried the reverse. The rails were greasy, and the sand I poured on the tracks did no good.

"I passed the second curve safely, but she was gaining speed all the time. I knew that even if the next curve was passed all right the car would plunge through the platform at the wharf. I did not lose my head, but tried again and again to break her speed, but to no avail."

Motorman Boyt is an old and tried employe of the system. His shoulder was dislocated and both hands lacerated.

SURVIVOR'S DESCRIPTION.

One survivor described the accident as follows:

"We were passing the third of a series of curves coming near the dock at Queenston when the fuse blew out. The brakes would not work then and on the steep slope the motorman lost control of the car. We went hurrying down, going faster every minute.

"The car was packed and it swayed, swinging violently until it toppled over. As it fell it struck a tree, shortening the fall, but doing more harm by smashing in the ceiling. People were thrown against each other in a jumbled mass and many were caught between the seats. Soldiers came to our rescue and did the work."

DEAD AND INJURED.

All of the dead and injured are from Toronto. The known dead are as follows:

Harold Partridge, organist and choirmaster of Woodgreen Church, 22 Garden avenue.

Charles P. Jennings, accountant, Imperial Varnish Company.

Albert Little, aged 12.

Robert Watson, of Toronto.

Mrs. A. Westney.

Miss Crombie, maid for Rev. J. McP. Scott.

S. Bage, Westminster Printing Company, Toronto.

The body of a woman about 25 years of age, who died on the way from Queenstown to Niagara Falls, Ont., lies unidentified in Russel's undertaking rooms, Niagara Falls.

Died on Board Steamer Chippewa, Mrs. Sloan, 24 Fairview Boulevard, mother of C. J. Sloan, manager of the Royal Bank of Canada.

Mrs. Hart, 421 Broadview avenue, sister of Governor Chambers, of Toronto Jail.

Two other bodies are at Niagara Falls. They are Dorothy Keates, aged 10, of 250 Silver Birch avenue, and a young woman unidentified. She is aged about 20, and wore a signet ring engraved "R.W."

The unidentified dead also include a stout man with a card case marked "S. W. Grant," a young woman in whose pocket was found a picture marked "Margaret Tomplin, 31 Degrasse ave., Toronto," and a man of 40 whose cuff links are marked "J. C."

The body of the ten-year-old girl believed to be Dorothy Keats has not been positively identified. Both her mother and father are among the twenty-three persons seriously hurt in the hospital here. Mrs. Keats said she saw Dorothy dead in the wreckage at Queenstown, and this is the principal ground for the belief that the dead girl is her daughter. The dead were brought from Queenstown by Coroner Greenwood, and placed in morgues at 2 o'clock this morning.

THE ORPHEUM

A comedy of originality and charm, abounding in humor and strong characterization is "The Marriage Game," the Orpheum production for next week. Mrs. Anne Crawford Flexner, the authoress, has selected a lady who has travelled the primrose path of dalliance to instruct unhappy wives in the gentle art of pleasing husbands. No one but a clever woman could handle the comedy's situations with the dexterity and wit that Mrs. Flexner displays. Mrs. Flexner was one of the authors of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch."

The comedy has proved a very strong drawing card wherever it has been shown, and is considered one of the wittiest comedies of the day. It has a particularly strong appeal for people who enjoy wit that is pointed but without malice, and its good-natured though keen satire on many present-day conditions is highly diverting. The company is well cast for the production, and a distinct success is anticipated.

THE LONDON

The portrayal of vaudeville acts on the moving picture screen is a novel method of introducing change into a program, but that it is appreciated is evidenced at the London, where the management have secured one such act in pictures for each week. For today and tomorrow it is the dancing set of "The Cameron Sisters," a graceful contribution which loses none of its charm through the camera. "Larry O'Neill, Gentleman" and "Their Sacret" are the two-part dramas, and the comedy in, "When Hubby grew jealous."

A great western railroad drama, "The Test of a Man," is one of the features for the change of program for the week end, and pictures the explosion of a car of dynamite—an explosive with which many factories have recently, unfortunately, become familiar. King Baggot, in "The Marble Heart," is the other feature, and is in four parts, while the third episode of Detective Duck and Lady Raffles comedy serial, and "The Mechanical Man," will also be given.

THE STRAND

Pathe presents Edwin Arden as Wu Fang, with Arnold Daly and Pearl White in the "New Exploits of Elaine." The fifteenth episode, in two parts, entitled "The Serpent Sign," written by Arthur B. Reeve, will be shown at the Strand Thursday and Friday.

In conjunction with this a Broadway Star Feature, with Maurice Costello, Norma Talmadge and others, entitled "The Criminal," in three parts, will also be featured, besides the regular program. In the run of things a young girl is caught fast in the net of circumstantial evidence. Both of these above-mentioned features are well up to the high standard of photoplays shown at this theatre, and any one seeing them will be well pleased.

THE ARCADE

The opening episode of the new serial, "The Broken Coin," which is being shown at the Arcade every Friday and Saturday, will be able to be seen free by all ladies who visit this house, for the management has extended an invitation to all of the gentler sex to see this instalment of what promises to be a fine story.

The principal characters are being taken by Grace Cunard and Francis Ford, and the story, which unravels a mystery, are so many and varied that interest will never flag in the story.

RAILWAYS OF UNITED STATES TOO HAMPERED

The United States has too many railway commissions and so falls behind Canada in railway regulation, in the opinion of Lewis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern Railway system, who was in the city yesterday. Mr. Hill stated in an interview that the Canadian Railway Commission, a single body with jurisdiction over the entire Dominion, had proved a great success.

Mr. Hill with his father, J. J. Hill, builder of the Great Northern, came to Montreal with the body of the late J. Thorne, who died suddenly while accompanying the Hills on a salmon fishing trip up the St. John's River. They left for New York last night.

Discussing the falling off in railway earnings in the United States and elsewhere, Mr. Hill said the railways believed an increase in rates justified, but the trouble lay in the fact that there were too many railway commissions, almost every State in the Union having one. He believed that if the United States had a national body like that of Canada, matters would be much better for everybody.

CANADA'S STATESMEN.

"The whole trouble is," continued Mr. Hill, "that while Canada is governed by statesmen, the United States is governed by politicians."

Many American lines, said Mr. Hill, had reached the receivership stage. While in Canada both the Federal and Provincial Governments were doing something for the railroads, there was no disposition of the kind in the United States. The future, he believed, would vindicate the wisdom of the Canadian railway policy by the complete development of the country and the greatly increased value of the country's products from year to year.

Mr. Hill insisted that the administration of the law is more strictly carried out in Canada than in the United States. He mentioned as an instance, the case of an Italian who was sent to the penitentiary for six years for attempting to kill a man, and stated that in the United States it was probable that had Morgan's assailant not committed suicide he would ultimately have escaped punishment.

PRAISES STRATHCONA.

J. J. Hill, who was a lifelong friend of the late Lord Strathcona, referred indignantly to the "Life of Lord Strathcona" written by W. T. R. Preston. "Rubbish," was the word used by the railway magnate.

"Lord Strathcona had a clean mind and was one of the greatest men this continent ever produced. They have very little to do who attempt to besmirch his reputation among his people," added Mr. Hill.

With characteristic optimism Mr. Hill prophesied bumper crops both in Canada and the United States. The war, he said had unsettled conditions in both countries, but matters would balance up all right in time.

Speaking of his friend, Mr. Thorne, whose body he and his son were taking back to New York, Mr. Hill said he was one of five men, Lord Strathcona being one of the number, who began the great work of railway building and the development of the Northwest out of which grew the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The Hill party came to Montreal yesterday on their yacht Wacouta, which sailed last evening.

LOCAL MARKET DULL AND HEAVY--WALL STREET STEADIER

RESISTANCE TO PRESSURE IN WALL ST.

Special to The Montreal Star.

NEW YORK, July 8.— Price movements and the market tone were confused today. There was a general resistance to selling pressure, but although most of the buying came from professional room traders, this demand and some local commission houses inquiring was sufficient to check the declining tendency and cause some moderate rallies.

At the start speculative interest was influenced by the news of the fire on the Atlantic transport Minnehaha and hurried selling at the opening caused declines ranging around 1 point. Covering of board room shorts was in order at lower levels, when brisk rallies followed, carrying prices of many issues above Wednesday's final figures.

The upturn was without substantial following, however, and recessions were again in order, but the market generally held a good part of its gain. St. Paul was in better demand, and, after yielding ⅝ to 79¼, rose about 80, selling as high as 80½ in the late forenoon.

Studebaker was also strong, advancing over 1 point to 80⅞, and Central Leather moved up over 1 point to 42⅞. American Can, which closed yesterday at 41¼, was strong from the start, advancing to 45½.

Canadian Pacific opened down 1⅛ at 141 and recovered its loss, but was again under pressure. American Coal Products moved up 2 points to 140. Louisville and Nashville continued weak falling 3⅛ points to 110½, with the sellers talking of the fear of another bad year in the South. The market position of Louisville and Nashville, however, continued far out of line with Baltimore and Ohio, also a 5 per cent dividend payer.

Most of the market talk was of a discouraging character, the attention being devoted to reports as to the character of the German answer to President Wilson's note and to uncertainty in regard to the Adriatic, which is now due on the English coast.

Opinions from Wall Street

Laidlaw & Co.—If the foreigners who have been selling stocks and bonds in our market follow their custom of several months past, they will not press their sales on declines.

Post & Flagg.—The market is a shade better, but without special tendency. The selling of a block of St. Paul last week seems to have affected the price of Great Northern Preferred and Northern Pacific, and to have led to a test of the real demand for Louisville and Nashville, and Atlantic Coast Line. If Atchison is to be taken as a standard most of these, other stocks have been selling somewhat too high for their dividends and earnings.

J. S. Bache & Co.:

While there was some foreign selling in bonds, there was an absence of liquidation in the stocks which have been weak features of market of late. The market become dull in second hour, and activity was confined to seeking out spots by bearish traders.

Shearson, Hammill & Co.—There is a nervous feeling here, the feeling generally is not very good. It is difficult to form an opinion regarding the market because of extreme dullness.

E. & C. Randolph—There has been a continuance of foreign liquidation in the market, and notwithstanding that the declining movement is now in its sixth day, the short interest does not appear to be very large.

Burnett & Co.—One of the morning papers suggests that foreign selling will be materially less after the 19th instant, as that is the date for the final payment on the subscriptions to the new British loan, whereby a rebate is to be allowed subscribers.

WEAK UNDERTONE IN LOCAL AGAIN SHOWN

The heavy undertone to the local market was again demonstrated today when just before the noon adjournment some sales of Scotia took place at 61, a point under yesterday, and Power sold off to 214½. Crown Reserve was also easier at 59.

Considering the situation generally it need occasion no surprise that prices should develop weakness when any liquidation develops. Fortunately there has been very little, otherwise prices would have undergone considerable changes. At times like these, when buyers are scarce, sellers are compelled to make marked concessions.

Most of the business was in odd lots again, Steel of Canada selling at 14⅛, Spanish River 4, Mackay pfd. 67, Cement pfd. 90½, while some bonds also figured in the transactions.

After touching a new low level at 140¾ yesterday, and rallying to 142 at the close, C. P. R. opened weak with the general list at 141, but rallied to 142¼, and subsequently sold at 142 to 141¾.

UNION TRUST DIRECTOR

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Union Trust Company, Limited, yesterday, in Toronto, Mark Bredin was elected to the vacancy on the board caused by the recent death of the Hon. Samuel Barker, late vice-president. Mr. Bredin is vice-president and general manager of the Canada Bread Company. He served in the City Council some years ago.

SENTIMENT CHEERED

LONDON, July 8.—Money continues a drug on the market, but discounts ruled firm on the prospects of a temporary tightness until the war loan application money is released. The good bank statement cheered sentiment, but failed to affect rates.

Calgary Power Will Change Report Plan

Carl C. Giles, managing director of Calgary Power Company, announces that the company have recently entered into an arrangement with the City of Calgary under which to supply additional amounts of power; have the right to call the city to operate its steam plant under certain conditions, and assume certain of the costs of such operation.

This arrangement will add a new item to operating expenses without decreasing any of the former items of expense. Consequently, the company will in the future, in sending out statistics of earnings and expense, show the item of the steam plant's expenses separately, so that those interested may be able to intelligently compare the expense of the hydro-electric system of last year with those of the present year.

During May, 1914, the operating expenses of the hydro-electric system were $3,966.00. During May, 1915, they were $3,154.00, and the company's proportion of the operating expenses of the steam plant amounted to $736.00.

Press Opinions on N.Y. Situation

Special to The Montreal Star.

NEW YORK, July 8. — The Sun—Stocks moved further downward yesterday, the decline being accentuated by an increase in the volume of trading to more than half a million shares. Railroad issues provided the chief influence in the unsettlement of the list, but in the industrial department there were many substantial recessions in prices. Foreign sales seemed again to furnish the initiative, but some domestic liquidation was excited, although a good deal of pressure seemed to be of a purely bearish trading nature.

The Journal of Commerce: —Yesterday's market for securities had much to contend with in the direction of purely outside influences. During the greater part of the day it was under active pressure. At the close some rather sensational declines in what are usually regarded as high grade investment stocks had been recorded, although final quotations were in a number of instances well above the lowest figure of the day. The stocks in which the greatest declines occurred are more or less dependent on southern business. Some large holders have finally realized that the handicap that the war has placed upon the distribution and the price of cotton constitutes an active source of present and prospective depression in the south.

The Post:—European liquidation affected both bonds and stocks, and it was stated to have originated not only at London, but on the European Continent. It was possible again to say that the total volume was not large enough to be at all spectacular; but the daily continuance of the movement rolls up a very substantial aggregate, in the course of a week or two. It is natural to associate this present selling movement with the pending subscriptions to the British war loan.

The Tribune:—The international list yesterday was not able to withstand European liquidation, which was more pronounced in stocks than it had been for some time.

The Herald:—Bears selling for short account started a decline in yesterday's market which was intensified by increased liquidation for foreign account.

The Times:—The financial community was reminded yesterday that the stock market's sensitiveness to suggestions of adverse developments in our relations with Germany. It was also called upon to give greater attention to the problem of foreign selling of our securities.

The World:—Heavy advance in sterling exchange yesterday, which carried demand up to 4.77¾, and cables to 4.77⅛, as a result of an avalanche of selling of American securities for British account, caused leading international bankers to express the opinion that, for the time being at least, negotiations for the flotation of a British loan in this country will be suspended. It is the evident intention of Great Britain for the time to pay for the enormous amount of supplies and munitions she is buying in this country through the return to us of our own securities.

The American:—A series of unfavorable reports unsettled the stock market yesterday and caused declines of from 1 to 2 points in the most active standard issues and heavier losses in certain less active but high grade railroad shares.

FRENCH GOLD IS GARNERED AND GUARDED

Special to The Montreal Star.

PARIS, July 8.—A decree has been published prohibiting the export of gold except by the Bank of France. This is a precautionary measure taken at the suggestion of Minister of Finance Ribot. It has been found that gold which has been exported has not been destined always for a neutral country in settlement of accounts. A free outflow might result in a dangerous traffic, according to M. Ribot.

The amount of gold in the Bank of France, has been increased 13,500,000 francs ($2,700,000) this week as the result of the appeal made by the Government that the gold supply of the country be exchanged for bank notes.

Thirteen million francs in gold, about $2,600,000, has been deposited in the Bank of France in the last three days in response to the appeal of the Government that the people bring their savings in to exchange for notes. The line of people before the doors of the bank with their private hoardings has been undiminished for three days. About 3,000 deposited gold yesterday.

M. Ribot and Gaston Thomson, ministers of Finance and of Commerce, appeared yesterday before the commerce committee of the Chamber of Deputies, which is considering the moratorium for commercial bills of exchange, that are falling due. Both ministers declared that it was the intention of the Government to continue the moratorium.

M. Ribot, speaking on the bill which would create a commercial industrial loan bank, told the committee that while he favored every measure looking to the resumption of business, it seemed to him that it would be difficult to create such a bank before the end of hostilities.

SHAWINIGAN ISSUE IS COMING OUT SHORTLY

It is understood in the Street that circulars will be sent out to Shawinigan Power shareholders this week setting forth the terms and other details of the impending issue of new stock which was foreshadowed in The Star some weeks ago.

As was pointed out then, the company has made considerable expenditures on extensions and improvements for which it is now called upon to recoup the treasury by a capital issue.

It is stated that the offer to the shareholders will contain some features which are uncommon in such transactions, and may prove strong inducements to meet the extraordinary conditions under which the issue will of necessity be made.

In any event there is good authority for stating that any portion of the issue left unsubscribed has been already underwritten.

WEEK'S BANK RETURNS

Topics of the Street

While the sinking of many ships by German submarines goes on with vexatious regularity, there is at least some comfort in the knowledge that the sea-borne trade of Great Britain is not feeling it keenly.

June imports by the Mother Country were over $89,000,000 in excess of the same period a year ago, which indicates that there is no danger of the Germans starving the British, as they would do if they could.

Naturally, fewer manufactured goods are being shipped abroad, but that was to be expected, as they are busy at something else than cultivating foreign trade at present.

So far as the above test goes, the submarine compaign is not a success.

A very effective ally will be lost to the New York market bears when the European liquidation stops. They will likely all have to turn bulls then.

Interests in Wall Street are moving for more frequent reports from corporations with listed stocks.

Some leading people here think some companies would be better served if they published fewer statements.

Thus do some big interests vary in their views as to how shareholders should be served.

It seems unfortunate at a juncture like this that the New York market, when sustaining the load of European liquidation, is forced to absorb as well the short sales of the bear speculative element.

Naturally, the opportunity is one that the speculator will not forego on anything like patriotic lines, and there is nothing that Wall Street can do to stop it so long as the game is conducted according to the recognized rules.

At the same time, it seems a hardship to many to see their shares so depressed in value, unless there be some other good seasons for it, and it is a pity that under existing conditions at least something could not be done to modify it.

The situation is bad enough without having it accentuated in this way.

The bears in Wall Street are still gunning for the weak spots in the market.

They seem to have no trouble in finding all they want when they want them.

Tram-Power is back with the submerged in the Stock Exchange list, the selling orders at the minimum of 40 being in excess of the buying.

Under the present order of things, the duty now falls to the exchange committee of apportioning the selling orders as the buying orders come in, each broker getting his share.

This is the second time the stock has gone back after being in the free list. Speculators naturally are disappointed over the turn the franchise proceedings have taken, and are not disposed to wait until the present unpleasant situation is cleaned up.

The Street views with much favor the proposals to place the whole franchise matter in the hands of disinterested persons or public bodies which would see that a perfectly fair arrangement is arrived at.

Why not this for a movie thriller: "Hat Rack Finance, or the Tragedy of the Manitoba Political Sawmill."

LITTLE DONE IN AMERICAN DEPARTMENT

Special to The Montreal Star.

LONDON, July 8.—Securities on the Stock Exchange continued steady in the main today, but there was no improvement in business. Hesitation was shown in the gilt-edged section. The old war loan was active and irregular.

A call for £875,000 was made for the East Indian Government railway debentures.

The Home Railway group displayed firmness. The commerce figures for June assisted the trade lines.

Little was done in the American department, and the tone was heavy, following the market at New York. Canadian Pacifics sympathized, but Grand Trunks remained firm.

Argentine rails were mixed. There were doubts whether the half-yearly dividends of the roads would be maintained.

Foreigners and mines were listless, but the tone of rubbers and oil was firm. Admoments were dull.

The Stock Exchange committee for general purposes have, with the approval of the Treasury, revised the minimum prices of the following securities as under, to come into force forthwith.

British funds—2½ per cent consolidated stock, 65; 2¾ per cent annuities, 73; 2½ per cent annuities, 62.

MR. SHEARSON'S VIEW

R. C. Steven, local manager for Shearson, Hammill & Co., New York, has received the following cable from Mr. Shearson, who is at present in London on business: "Conditions in London more satisfactory than expected. Think worst corner turned. Liquidation of our securities continues."

BELIEVES U. S. WILL BE DRAGGED IN YET

H. K. Evans, of E. & C. Randolph, wires: "The newspapers are beginning to take a much less optimistic view of the probable German note. As you know, I have never imagined for a minute that Germany would have the slightest respect for American rights at sea, and nothing she has done has led me to change this opinion.

"On the contray, the exchange of notes and the delay by Germany is now making the United States rather the laughing stock with other nations of the world. The drifting policy which has been pursued in Mexico for so many years is being pursued here, and I do not think the results, as far as our relations with Germany are concerned, will be any more satisfactory than they have been as far as our relations with Mexico are concerned. Things will probably continue to drift and a lot more Americans lose their lives.

"Whether the peace at any price party will keep the United States from real trouble with Germany, no matter what happens, I do not know. Personally I believe and always have believed, that sooner or later we would be dragged into this war.

"The market is undoubtedly beginning to feel apprehensive over it. It looks as if it had got out of its rut and that this apprehension would be the cause of selling and lower prices."

WINNIPEG JULY WHEAT MARKET ROSE 5C BU.

From the Winnipeg Office of James Carruthers & Company.

WINNIPEG, July 8.—There was pronounced strength in the wheat market this morning from the opening, and at noon the July option in Chicago had scored and advance of 3c per bushel, with Winnipeg July up nearly 5c. The new crop months were also relatively strong, showing advances of 1½ to 2c per bushel. The strength came principally from delayed harvest in the American winter wheat belt, and reports that considerable damage had been done by yesterday's storms throughout Ohio and Missouri.

Cables on Manitobas are very dull, bids for old and new crops wheat being so far out of line that exporters have discounted offerings.

STORM CAUSE OF ADVANCE IN OPTIONS

Special to The Montreal Star.

CHICAGO, July 8.—After opening nervous and irregular with July 1⅜c higher, but with September off ⅛c and December down ⅜c, the entire list soon became uniformly strong under the lead of the nearby position! There was a slight improvement in the export demand which created a bullish impression. Some authorities asserted that the recent small business with foreigners had been largely the result of a lack of offerings. Leading commission houses were good buyers, but the supply was not large. The severe storm in the Ohio Valley will further delay the movement of new grain there, although advices from Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Missouri said that, with the exception of eastern Missouri, there had been no rain there during the last twenty-four hours, and that good headway had been made with harvesting operations in those states.

There was a tendency to await the publication of the Government crop report at the close. The Ohio July report made the wheat prospect 102, the same as last year.

The receipts at Minneapolis and Duluth today were 214 cars against 122 cars a year ago; at Winnipeg 50 cars against 178 cars; at Chicago 8 cars against 244 cars.

In the initial dealings strength prevailed at Liverpool, but later an easier tendency developed. Cargoes there were irregular, with winters off 1½ to 3d, Manitobas unchanged, Plates up ½ to 4½d, and Indians 6d higher. The opinion was expressed that the needs of Great Britain had been provided for for the time being. Crop prospects in Europe have been reduced by bad weather and other conditions. It is believed that imports will be proportionately heavy.

There is only a possibility of Russia being able to satisfy any part of the demand, according to present indications. Harvesting is under way in France in the early districts, but in the late districts prospects are not favorable, and the yield will be under official estimates. Advices from Germany place that country's crop of breadstuffs at 445,00,000 bushels, and the production of potatoes is expected to be heavy.

Corn was firmer on rains in parts of the belt and expectations of bullish Government figures. The market at Liverpool was strong, with parcels ¾ to 6d higher. A further hardening of Argentine freight rates has occurred. The receipts here today were 131 cars.

Covering and rumors of inquiries for export caused an advance in oats. The receipts here today were 128 cars.

It was said that without any great amount of moisture during the rest of the week a large part of the new crop would be cut there.

BETTER ORDERS NOW FOR FARM IMPLEMENTS

Special to The Montreal Star.

HAMILTON, Ont., July 8.—The International Harvester Company announced today that it would give employment to 1,500 more men in the course of two or three weeks. On July 19 the malleable iron factory will open, and a short time later the entire plant will be in operation. The company is not engaged on war orders to any extent, but the increased activity is caused by orders for farm implements from the West. The Oliver Plow Works will also soon be working to capacity.

FLAX GROWERS ORGANIZE

HENSALL, Ont., July 8—With the object of making flax growing and manufacturing a permanent industry in Canada, and the securing of Government assistance to this end, the Canadian Flax Growers' Association was organized here yesterday at an enthusiastic meeting of flax men from all over Ontario. It was pointed out that there was no reason why the flax-growing industry in the province should not have more of the prosperity enjoyed a few years ago when fifty busy flax mills made Ontario the leading flax region on the continent. Howard Fraleigh, of Forest, was elected president of the new association.

COUNTRY CHEESE BOARDS

PETERBORO, Ont., July 8. At the cheese sale yesterday, 2516 colored cheese were offered and sold for 15 3-16c and 15⅛c. Next sale in two weeks.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., July 8.—There were 1700 colored and 130 white offered yesterday. All sold at 15¼c.

MADOC, Ont., July 8.—Four hundred and eighty boxes of cheese were boarded yesterday. All sold at 15¼c.

Tobacco and Sugar Crops are Promising

KINGSTON, Jamaica, July 8.—Good weather from the standpoint of the agriculturist has created a promising outlook for the Jamaican tobacco and sugar yields. After a period of nearly six years of insufficient rainfall there have been fine reasonable rains during the past five months. As a direct consequence the tobacco crop probably will be the finest reaped, both in quality and in quantity, in the history of the island.

The absence of shipping facilities is the only serious drawback in the way of the farmers securing the benefits of the bumper crops.

TOOKE BROS. PROFITS FOR YEAR LOWER

At the annual general meeting of the shareholders of Tooke Bros., Limited, which was held today, the president, Benjamin Tooke, who presided, stated that while the percentage of gross profits earned, had increased, the decline in the volume of business done during the year, had been reflected in the profits, which were shown, according to the statement, to have been $26,306.66.

This amount is arrived at, after writing off all bad and doubtful debts, and the report stated that the directors had thought it wise, in view of uncertain business conditions, to still further strengthen the reserve for contingencies and bad debts, and had transferred from the profit and loss balance a further sum of $10,000, making the total amount at the credit of this contingent amount $31,138.34.

The financial statement of the company showed their active assets to be $754,090.73, and their active liabilities $201,922.64, showing a surplus of active assets $552,168.09.

As previously announced, the directors have declared an interim dividend of 1¾ per cent, being on account of accrued dividends, but the president made it plain that this was not to be considered as indicating a resumption of quarterly dividends, which would be dependent on the volume of trade during the coming season, but it was felt that with the amount at the credit of profit and loss account, and with the liquid condition of the company's assets, a disbursement of part of the profits would be welcomed by the shareholders, especially at a time like this.

Messrs. Creak, Cushing & Hodgson were appointed auditors for the coming year.

At the directors' meeting, held at the conclusion of the annual shareholders meeting, the following officers were elected: President, B. Tooke; vice-president, W. A. Tooke; managing-director, W. A. Brophey; secretary-treasurer, W. S. Barker. Directors—A. J. Brown, K.C.; W. S. Barker, M. A. Dawson, A. B. Edgar, W. F. Heney, F. C. Wolever.

TO INSIST UPON SEEING ORIGINAL OF TRAM LETTER

The production of the original of the photographed letter, purporting to be signed by Controller Hebert and offering to support the tramways report for $200,000, will be insisted upon by Counsel for Controller Hebert when argument on the injunction proceedings taken with the photographed letter as basis comes up in Practice Court next Tuesday.

Ernest Pelissier, K. C., counsel for the controller, will repeat on Tuesday the demand already made to Mr. Justice Guerin that the original letter be produced. The same demand was made by City Attorney Laurendeau and P. E. Lamarche, K.C., representing the city.

Failing an order from the court to this effect, Mr. Pelissier will file an "inscription de faux," declaring that he is not satisfied that the photographic reproduction represents the original letter properly.

CHIEF JUSTICE MATHERS DENIES APPROVING PLAN

Royal Commission Never Gave Its Approbation, He Declares

By Canadian Press.

WINNIPEG, July 8.—Chief Justice Mathers, of the Court of King's Bench, was the first witness called this morning when the Royal Commission resumed the investigation of the "deal."

He said that on May 8 Chief Justice Howell saw him and told him he had been advised by Phippen and Hudson that the Roblin Government was to resign. Norris was to be called on to form a government, and the new Ministry would press a civil action against Kelly.

"Chief Justice Howell," said witness, "asked me if I thought this action, in so far as Kelly was concerned, would not take the place of the investigation by the Royal Commission.

"He thought it would, and my recollection is that he intimated that Hudson was of a similar opinion."

"I told him I did not think it would, that in a civil action there were too many opportunities for delay. I said the evidence given before us indicated grave wrongdoing, and I thought the probe ought to proceed. But I said if Hudson and those associated with him in the prosecution of the charges before us were in office and had means of taking the investigation into their own hands, and they believed that some other means of investigation would be equally efficient and less expensive than the Royal Commission, so far as I was concerned I had no objection personally to adopting that course. The responsibility would be theirs."

Chief Justice Did Not Approve Plan

He told Howell he hoped there would be no bargaining and was assured there would not. He understood from Howell that an admission from Sir Rodmond Roblin that the charges were substantially true was to be made before the Commission.

The Commission never gave its approval of the plan proposed nor did he personally. There was no suggestion that the Commission "should put up its shutters," but it was to proceed to investigate other matters, though he thought it would be difficult, since Kelly seemed so mixed up with all the matters being investigated.

Chief Justice Howell told him the new Government was to have an absolutely free hand to take any proceedings they desired.

Mr. Justice Macdonald, colleague of Justice Mathers on the Royal Commission, was the next witness. Judge Macdonald said he had never been approached by any one in reference to the Commission closing.

Sir Hugh McDonald, third member of the commission, said he never heard of the suggestion that the commission suspend investigation of Kelly until Mr. Fullerton made the charges now being investigated.

This concluded the evidence of Chairman Mathers and the other members of the old commission.

Told Money was All Subscribed

The cross-examination of G. M. Newton by Pitblado, Liberal counsel, was then resumed. Newton said he had been led to believe by Howden that the money paid Chambers had been raised by subscription and last Monday before Mr. Howden came to Court as a witness, he asked him (Newton) to give him the money Chambers had returned.

Wanted to Get Rid of Money

Newton was advised by his solicitors to return the money to Harvey Simpson, brother of Dr. Simpson, and get a receipt from Harvey Simpson, acting for J. H. Howden.

After Chambers returned the money to him and after he had written Chambers telling him he was putting the money with the Trust Company pending investigation, he met Howden and offered the money to him. Howden refused it.

"I wanted to get rid of the money and did not care whether Howden or Chambers got it," said Newton.

Newton said he got nothing out of the deal with Chambers. He wanted to get the protest against Dr. Montague in Kildonan and St. Andrews dismissed, because if it were not it might mean a bye-election, and they did not want to fight another election there against the tactics which he said the Liberals employed last time. He consulted no one except Howden.

Newton said he had had the advice of the Attorney-General and leader of the Opposition in this affair.

Questioned by Fullerton, he said he felt the leaders of the Opposition knew all about it because negotiations regarding the payment of the money had been held up until Howden saw him.

He never saw Mr. Norris in this connection personally.

Stephen Stonehouse, partner of William Chambers, was called in reference to his connection with banking part of the money for Chambers. On one day Chambers gave him $2,000 and the next day $3,000, all in $100 bills. Chambers made no explanation and Stonehouse put it in the bank and gave Chambers a cheque.

Stonehouse was questioned very minutely about his trip to Windsor. Counsel interrupted and the Commissioners wanted to know the object of these questions.

"I am seeking to prove that this $3,000 was never paid this man, that the whole story is a fabrication and that the $3,000 was paid someone else," said Mr. Fullerton.

"I swear," replied Stonehouse, "that Chambers gave me the money." TThis was the $3,000 which, according to the evidence of Chambers and Stonehouse, was lent the latter by Chambers.

A request by Mr. Fullerton's counsel that Stonehouse's books be produced was refused by the witness and taken into consideration by the Commission.

Mr. Fullerton informed the court that he expected to finish the case on Friday, and Mr. Pitblado said the Liberal case would not take very long.

The commission then adjourned.

BRITISH CONTRACT FOR ROSS RIFLE BEING REVIEWED

Questions Asked in House of Commons as to Their Suitability

Special Star Cable from our own Correspondent.

MONTREAL STAR OFFICE, 17 Cockspur Street, London, July 8.—Mr. Tennant, Under Secretary of State for War, replying to Mr. Markham in the House of Commons regarding the Ross Rifle, said:

"To the answer I gave my hon. friend on June 24, I would add, the Ross Rifle has been subject to trial, and report by the military authorities of France, and the results are now before the Canadian Government. In the light of information received the War Office contract for this rifle is being reviewed.

Mr. Markham complained that the question was not answered. The question was, had the War Office notified, and when had the Canadian Government received the reports from the front that the Ross rifle was unsuited for service, and whether the Ross Rifle was still being manufactured to the order of the British or Canadian Governments?

Mr. Tennant replied:—It was not desirable to discuss these matters in the House. They were matters of considerable delicacy, and he had given as much information as he could. It was not desirable to say whether any more of these rifles were being made to the order of the British Government.

WINDERMERE.

CITY CANNOT PAY FOR FLAGS THAT ADORN THE HALL!

Poverty won out.

For the past six months violent warfare has raged in the City Hall between patriotism, which demanded that the interior of the building be decorated with the flags of the Allies, and poverty, which hinted to the Board of Control that the city's purse was already lean enough and could scarcely stand luxuries.

The end came today with the expiration of the lease which the city had on groups of flags which have decorated the entrances to the offices the mayor and the Board of Control as well as the City Council chamber. The city comptroller intimated to the board that it had better give up being patriotic while times are so hard, so the flags were taken down.

Very few people seemed to know what was the cost of renting the groups, but it was said by one official that about $3 a day was the charge.

CAPT. TAYLOR ON LIST OF KILLED HAD FINE CAREER

Capt. A. A. Taylor, whose death in an action at the Dardanelles, is reported in another column, is a son of the late Reid Taylor, and a grand nephew of the late Chief Justice Reid, thus being connected with two old and honored families of this city. The Reid Taylor home, Park House, which stood where Sohmer Park has been built, was one of the most beautiful of the earlier residences in Montreal.

Capt. Taylor received his education in England and was a soldier by profession. He was only thirty-seven years old, and a great future was predicted for him. He served through the South African war and was wounded severely, a bullet passing through both lungs. He recoverd and went back into action under Gen. Sir John French in the Mounted Infantry. His services so impressed Lord Kitchener that the latter took him to Egypt and after some service there, recommended him for a responsible post in the Egyptian Ministry. Here his qualities won him great success.

At the outbreak of the war Capt. Taylor wished to offer his services, but it was felt that he was more valuable to the Administration in Egypt and it was not until a month ago, after the Expeditionary Force at the Dardanelles suffered such severe casualties, that he was recalled to the service. He rejoined his old regiment.

He is survived by his aunt, Miss Reid Taylor, 214 Bishop street.

ENGLISH UNIT TO BE RAISED HERE TO BE THE "73RD"

Lieut.-Col. Peers Davidson Will Take Command as Predicted

The next English battalion which Montreal will be called upon to send to the front will be known as the 73rd and will be commanded by Lieut.-Col. Peers Davidson, as was foretold in The Star some time ago. This morning the official announcement was made at Militia Headquarters. The 5th Royal Highlanders will organize the unit, the third that they will have sent to the front.

This battalion, like the home regiment, the 13th Battalion, and the 42nd, will be allied with the famous Black Watch, the senior Highland regiment in the service, of which the King is honorary colonel. The number 73rd has been given to the new battalion in order that it may conform with the battalions which have been raised by this famous unit.

Col. Peers Davidson held the rank of major in the 5th Royal Highlanders when the war began. He was raised to his present rank a short time later and has been one of the most active officers in the organization of the battalions which have been sent across, and in the maintaining of the home regiment in a state of readiness. Ill-health has somewhat interfered with his ambition to get to the firing line, but he has recovered sufficiently to accept the responsibility. He is know to be very efficient with high organising and administrative ability.

Active work for the formation of the battalion will not be commenced until the 60th has been brought up to strength. In the meantime, the commanding officer will select his subordinate and arrange the recruiting campaign.

Stole Gold Watch, Other Charges of Theft Registered

Louis Mitchell, against whom there are about fifteen charges of theft, was found guilty on two of them this morning in the Court of Special Sessions. Judge Bazin will sentence him on Tuesday next.

Mitchell stole a gold watch and sold it to a Craig street pawnbroker. He was also charged with stealing diamonds and other jewellery from various people. He pleaded that he had received three things from an "old college friend named Turcot." On this charge he was found guilty of receiving stolen goods.

Omer Pageau, charged with striking Mrs. D. Beaufort with an axe was acquitted.

Fritz Rudow, of Teutonic origin, was acquitted on a charge of having stolen architectural plans from one of his employes, G. Koll.

Emile Dubois was sentenced to one month in jail for breaking into a shack.

Alphonse Payette, charged with trying to kill his wife and then himself two months ago, was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

SEEKING TO UPSET THE MOVIE TAX

Managers of Some Houses Meet and Decide to Ask for An Injunction

The city may find difficulties in the way of enforcing the tax of one cent each on tickets to moving picture theatres, and other places of amusement. The Board of Control yesterday accepted the proposal of the City Council that the tax go into effect August 2, but the managers of certain moving picture houses take a different view.

Meeting yesterday the managers decided to take injunction proceedings to prevent the city from imposing the new tax. The view was generally expressed that the imposition of the tax was unjust.

The further objection was raised that the theatre management would be placed in an awkward position legally by advertising admission at 10 cents and refusing to allow patrons to enter without payment of the further one cent tax. The view was taken that the purchaser of tickets could enter action for damages, when refused admission to the theatre at the advertised price.

The application for an injunction had not been made at the Court House this morning.

HARRY THAW UNDER EXAMINATION IN HIS SANITY TRIAL

Special Despatch Over The Montreal Star's Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, July 8. — Harry K. Thaw took the stand today as the first witness, in his efforts to have himself declared sane by a jury in Justice Hendrick's Court room. Thaw was immediately cross-examined by the State's attorneys. Crowds of fashionably gowned women thronged the court room to hear the slayer of Stanford White give his testimony.

Thaw at first appeared slightly nervous, but this quickly wore off, and, when he got into the swing of his testimony, he was calm and self-possessed, and spoke slowly and distinctly. The examination went over familiar grounds.

Evelyn Thaw will not attempt to flee to Canada to avoid being returned to New York to testify. Telephone advices from Lake Chateaugay, where she is staying, said at noon today Mrs. Thaw was declared to be awaiting the arrival of the deputy sheriff sent for her, and will accompany him back to New York.

An instrument for keeping the golfer's eye on his ball has recently been patented. It is to be worn over the eyes like spectacles. The opaque blinders have a relatively small aperture through which, and through which alone, the wearer can see, and thus the distance in front and behind the ball is so small that he must see it definitely and he is thus compelled to keep his eye on the ball. The blinkers are adjustable, so that they can be set to suit the eyes of different persons.

GERMANS CHARGE BRITISH FISHING BOATS ARE ARMED

Declare Five Sank U-14 by Gunfire — Press Comment

NEW YORK, July 8.—The charge that English fishing boats are armed and that the sinking of the German submarine U-14 was due to an attack by five such armed fishing vessels, is made in the Frankfurter Zeitung, of June 16.

The paper publishes a despatch from its Amsterdam correspondent, who says that Capt. Grootveld, of the Schevening fishing vessel, No. 347, saw the submarine sunk by the fishing boats. The despatch says:

"The submarine perceived early that it was facing an armed English fishing vessel, carrying a 7.5 marine gun and two English marines. Presumably it failed to the the four other armed English ships nearby because of the mist.

"The submarine fired a shot to inform the crew of the fishing vessel that they must leave the ship. But the fishing vessel at once summoned the other armed vessels by means of a signal blast, and these at once turned a simultaneous salvo upon the submarine, striking its forepart The forepart of the ship immediately blew up, while the afterpart remained under water."

CREW WOULD NOT SURRENDER.

The submarine could not longer dive. Thereupon, as the crew apparently would not surrender in spite of the condition of the ship, it was rammed. The submarine sank, but it rose a few minutes later, whereupon the crew of twenty-four men, equipped with lifebelts, jumped overboard, while the craft went down again. The men were picked up by the fishing steamer and taken to Peterhead. The fishing steamers belonged to Grimsby."

In addition to the fishing boat 347, another boat from Schevening was in the neighborhood. Both were in considerable danger of being struck by shots. Before the English ships were through, two sailors and skipper came aboard the Dutch fishing boat with loaded revolvers to examine the ship's papers. The fishermen, upon showing these, were left undisturbed.

Commenting on this, the German paper says:

"The English are trying, and not without success, to rouse a sentiment unfavorable for Germany among the neutrals by asserting that Germany is waging war on innocent fishermen But as is shown by this example, these innocent fishing boats are an integral part of the English war fleet, armed, and for the most part acting as scouts or mine-seekers."

Germany Will Not Stop Submarine War, is Certain

BERLIN, July 8, via The Hague.—The Kreuz Zeitung says significantly:

"We do not treat the question—the American demand with regard to submarine warfare—which is now nearing a decision, lightly. We do not underestimate the dangers and difficulties, particularly the possible effect on maritime neutrals. But what is for us a question of life and death must take precedence over all other considerations. We are engaged in a fight for our existence, and, therefore, this difficulty, too, like all others, must be overcome."

Among the mass of doubt and speculation as to the future one central fact stands out clearly—that German will not give up the submarine war. This cannot be repeated too emphatically. Not only the army and navy and the bulk of the German people stand back of it, but the powerful industrial interests demand a continuance of the trade war on England to the utmost limit of effectiveness.

SAY SEARCH SUICIDAL.

It is also believed that the Foreign Office and the Admiralty have at last come to an agreement as to the extent of the compromise to be offered to America, although there are still certain technical difficulties to be smoothed away in the next few days.

The feeling among practical men of the navy is that it would be suicidal to stop and search merchantmen in all cases. A high naval officer, discussing the question with a correspondent, pointed out the extreme vulnerability of submarines and the constant danger they would be exposed to of being suddenly attacked and rammed or fired on by merchantmen.

"Why, we would lose all our submarines inside of a few weeks if it became known that we would attempt to stop and search ships in every case, he said, "Remember Wedigen. Even if England agreed to change her methods, what guarantee would we have that British merchantmen would not sail under false flags and commit warlike acts?"

And again in mine clasp the dear hands,
Of my own, my darling boy.

3 MORE DROWNED, MOTHER AND SON; AND UNKNOWN MAN

Record Since July 1 is Seven—Little Boy was Wading

The record of drownings about Montreal was increased yesterday by three, making the total number since July 1 seven, an average of one death a day. Twenty-two people were drowned about this city and its environs in June.

The deaths registered yesterday were those of Mrs. N. Pinet of Boyer street, and her two-year-old son, who were drowned off the shores of St. Helens Island, and an unknown man, supposed to be a ship's fireman, whose body was recovered at the foot of Letourneaux street.

According to the police report, Mrs. Pinet, accompanied by her son and an infant, with a Mrs. Lambert, of 2117 Boyer street, decided to spend the day at St. Helen's Island. Shortly after their arrival, the boy went in wading on the south side, where the channel is being deepened.

WENT AFTER SON.

Thinking her child was too far out, the mother went to his assistance, and had about reached him when both went from the shallow water into a dredge cut, and were carried away in the swift current. Efforts were made to recover the bodies, but without success.

The unknown man was about forty-five years old. The body had apparently been in the water about a week. He wore only underclothing, and black shoes and socks.

The bodies of two of the boys drowned last week-end were recovered yesterday. The first, taken from the Richelieu, near the Y. M. C. A. camp, was that of Gordon McLeod, sixteen years old, of 2138 Hutchison street. The funeral will be held from his parents' residence tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. The other body was that of Paul Emile Gagnon, 1756 Iberville street, who, with another boy, was drowned at Back River on Sunday. The body of the other, Henri Chamberland, has not been recovered.

Collect One Cent Tax on Amusements from August 2 Next

The Board of Control has set August 2 as the date on which the city will impose the new one-cent charity tax to be paid by everyone entering places of amusement.

The recommendation that the tax go into force on this date was contained in the report of a special committee of civic employes which sat to determine the best method of applying the new bylaw. Its contents were reviewed at length in The Star two days ago.

Ald. Boyd appeared before the board and asked that the city spend $5,500 to open a small road from Cedar avenue northward to the old Redpath property, the object being to afford fire protection to an area which yielded substantial taxes to the corporation every year.

The custom has been started in some western cities of printing the maiden name of a woman after that of her husband in the directory.

IMPORTANT GAINS FOR THE ALLIES ON BOTH FRONTIERS

"A reconnaissance in force was accomplished last night (July 6) in the upper Adriatic. The Amalfi, which took part in the reconnaissance, was torpedoed at dawn this morning by an Austrian submarine and soon listed heavily to port.

"The commander, before giving orders to the crew to jump overboard, cried: "Long live the King! long live Italy!"

"The entire crew, drawn up along the stern, echoed the shout, giving a remarkable exhibition of courage and discipline.

"The commander, who was the last to leave, slipped overboard shortly before the Amalfi sank. Nearly all the officers and crew were saved."

The Amalfi, which was completed in 1908, had a displacement of 9,958 tons and was 426 feet long. Her complement in times of peace was 684.

Pola, the Austrian naval stronghold, is situated in the upper Adriatic at the extremity of the Istria Peninsula, about fifty-five miles southeast of Trieste. It is probable the reconnaissance referred to in the Italian statement was in this section of the Adriatic.

Russians Drive Teutonic Armies Back 12 Miles

Special Star Cable by Francis Lavelle Murray of the International News.

PETROGRAD, July 8.—Maintaining their offensive against the Austrian troops that invaded Poland from the south, the Russian forces have driven the enemy back twelve miles from the Wilkolaz Heights, according to reports received from the front today. The fierce onslaughts of the Czar's troops are keeping the soldiers of Archduke Joseph Ferdinand on the defensive.

The latest advices from the front, Petrograd military experts assert, indicate that the blow which the Austro-German forces had planned against Ivangorod and Warsaw will terminate in complete failure, and that a repitition of the disaster with which the Austrians met last autumn is imminent.

The German offensive against Warsaw from the west is declared at the War Office to have met with failure again. The Germans made several assaults in the region of Borzymow on Tuesday and were able to gain only two unimportant hills which the Russians had abondoned to avoid unfnecessary loss of life under a terrific fire from the German artillery.

The attempted advance that followed their occupation of these hills resulted in the Germans suffering enormous losses. They were met by a galling fire from the Russian artillery and machine guns, and two companies that led the attack were practically destroyed by rifle fire from a concealed trench.

Russian Shell Fire Halts the Teutons

It was a series of fresh supplies of ammunition for the Grand Duke's armies that halted the Austro-German drive on Warsaw and von Linsingen's eastward sweep through Galicia. The Russians south of Lublin not only have been strengthened by the arrival of new regiments, but have been fed by trainloads of shells.

The production of war munitions in the past fortnight has been speeded up since the Committee on Army Supplies conferred with leading manufacturers. Within a few weeks, officials declared today, the Slav armies will be prepared to resume the offensive on all fronts.

Russian shell fire halted Mackensen's advance between the Bug and the Vistula rivers. In several sectors along this front the Slavs took the offensive, capturing 2,000 prisoners in the fighting around Krasnik.

Every attack by the Austro-Germans in Galicia in the past twenty-four hours has been repulsed.

Italians Make a Great Air Raid Upon Austrians

Special Star Cable by United Press.

ROME, July 8. The greatest air fleet Italy has concentrated since the beginning of the war has joined in the attack upon the Austrian fortress city of Goritz and the enemy positions southward to Trieste.

One air squadron, Gen. Cadorna reported today, bombarded an Austrian aviation camp at Aizevizza. Several fires broke out and a number of enemy aircrafts are believed to have been destroyed.

Other birdmen flew over the Goritz forts and bombarded the garrison north of Opicina, an Italian dirigible sped along the railway, dropping explosives on enemy ammunition trains and supply stations. A single Italian aviator bombarded the railway station at Nabresina.

Italians Capture 15,000 Prisoners

The Italian offensive on the Carso Plateau, the gateway to Trieste, has developed into the greatest battle in the Italian campaign.

The artillery preparation for the infantry attacks is described by one observer as "a more furious cannonade than has been seen anwyhere else in the present war."

In the last three days, in this fighting alone, the Italians have taken 15,000 prisoners.

ITALIAN OFFICIAL REPORT.

The official statement issued last night at the headquarters of the Italian General Staff was as follows:

"An attack against our position at Passo Di Campo in the Val D'Aone was repulsed with heavy losses.

"In Cadore our heavy artillery opened fire on the enemy's defensive works at Corte in the Upper Valley of Cordevola.

"At LaTagliata and Tressai in Val Porali, serious damage was done.

"In Carnia we repulsed attacks against our positions at Passo Pramisio, Monte Scharitz and in the direction of Val Grande.

"Combats continue on the Carniac Plateau, where we are making slow but constant progress. Between July 4 and 7 we took 1,400 prisoners.

"On the night of July 6 an Italian dirigible effectively bombarded the railroad junction north of Opcina (northeast of Trieste). Aeroplanes dropped a number of bombs yesterday on the Austrian aviation field near Aisevizza, east of Gorizia, causing fires, and also on the railroad station at Nabresina. Our aviators were obliged to alight but returned unharmed.

Turkish Losses in Three Days 20,000

Special Star Cable by United Press.

ATHENS, July 8.—Turkish casualties in the last three days' fighting at the Dardanelles totalled more than 20,000, according to Tenedos despatches today.

The Ottoman losses in the combined attack on the allied positions Saturday and Sunday, correspondents wired, were "enormous."
