

HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN CANADA'S NEW PREMIER

OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED THAT MINISTER OF THE INTERIOR WILL FORM ADMINISTRATION

Resignation of Sir Robert Borden Will Take Effect Saturday — Two Retirements From Cabinet, Hon. N. W. Rowell, qPresident of Privy Council, to Private Legal Practice; Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Customs, to Become Parliamentary Librarian — Remaining Ministers Will Give Meighen Undivided Support

Ottawa, Ont., July 7.—(By Canadian Press)—The resignation of Sir Robert Borden as Prime Minister will take effect on Saturday. He will be succeeded by Hon. Arthur Meighen, Minister of the Interior, who has undertaken the formation of a new administration. Official announcement to this effect was issued from Government House at 11 o'clock tonight. The announcement reads:

"The formal resignation of Sir Robert Borden will be tendered to His Excellency the Governor-General on Saturday next, the tenth instant, and will be accepted by His Excellency with great regret. His Excellency has entrusted to the Honorable Arthur Meighen, Minister of the Interior, the formation of a new administration and Mr. Meighen has undertaken that duty."

There are to be two retirements from the Cabinet. Hon. N. W. Rowell, President of the Privy Council, is returning to private practice; Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Customs, is to become Librarian of Parliament. The two retirements, it is said, are not due to the change in leadership.

Mr. Burrell has for some time expressed a desire to return to private life. Mr. Rowell's resignation is expected to be announced at the close of the recent session he would retire from the Government. This announcement was communicated to caucus on Thursday last, but at the urgent and insistent request of the Liberal Unionists in Parliament and of the entire caucus, Mr. Rowell promised to consult with his friends in Ontario and communicate his decision to the Prime Minister as soon as possible. Today, Mr. Rowell has informed the Prime Minister that, after such consultation and after having given further and full consideration to the subject he finds himself unable to reach any conclusion other than that communicated to Sir Robert Borden some four months ago and given to caucus on Thursday last. That conclusion was as follows:

"That when a decision had been reached that the work of Union Government as such was finished and that a new departure should be made by the creation of a new party and the formation of an administration to represent that party, he might fairly ask an honorable discharge."

Mr. Rowell will, therefore, retire from the Government with the resignation of the Prime Minister's resignation takes effect."

So far as the remaining members of the Cabinet are concerned, it was stated on high authority tonight, they will give their "undivided support" to the new Prime Minister. In the formation of his Cabinet, therefore, Mr. Meighen will have but two retirements to meet—those of Mr. Rowell and Mr. Burrell, with the administration, of course, of that of Sir Robert, whose resignation will leave the Maritime Provinces without a representative in the Cabinet. Mr. Meighen may assume the portfolio of President of the Privy Council relinquished by Mr. Rowell. In that event it is likely that the Department of the Interior, over which he now presides would be merged with the now separate departments of Immigration and Colonization. The vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Burrell, it is thought, is likely to be filled by the appointment either of F. R. Green, member for Kootenay, West, or of H. H. Stevens, Vancouver Centre. As a representative from Nova Scotia, the name of F. B. McCurdy, of Halifax, has been suggested. Should either of these latter appointments be made, a bye-

POLITICAL CHAOS MEXICO'S FATE

Apparently Unrelated Revolutionary Movements Reported from Different Points

Washington, July 7.—Revolutionary movements in various parts of Mexico were reported in advices received at the State Department from United States officials in that country. The movements apparently are unrelated and of minor importance, but are being carefully studied by department officers.

United States Consul Blocker at Piedras Negras, opposite Eagle Pass, telegraphed the department that Gen. Ricardo Gonzales, a nephew of Gen. Pablo Gonzales, with a force estimated at between 50 and 200 men, had revolted against the present government cutting the lines south of Monclova, Coahuila, on July 4 and advancing as far north as Berterran where they are now located holding coal mines. Federal General Morales left Piedras Negras last night with 200 soldiers to attack the revolting force. Another federal column is reported to be advancing from Saltillo.

Advices from the United States consul at Tampico stated that it was officially acknowledged there that General Carlos Osona and General Larrabee Agadir were in rebellion. General Osona is reported to be between Tampico and Monterey and General Agadir on the San Luis Potosi line.

There also were reports at Piedras Negras that General Jesus Guajardo had revolted at Gomez Palacio near Torreon with 300 men and had advanced towards the United States border over the old Mexican international railroad line.

STEAMER HAMONIC AGROUND. Port Huron, Mich., July 7.—The steamer Hamonic, carrying about 300 passengers from Duluth to Detroit, grounded north of Harbor Beach early today during a heavy fog. The steamer was reported in no danger and tugs were expected to release it with little difficulty. The Hamonic is owned by the Northern Navigation Company.

Last Report. The steamer Hamonic which grounded seven miles north of Harbor Beach in a fog early today was safe, and would reach Sarnia, Ontario, about midnight to-night, according to a message received here late today. No attempt had been made to disembark the 350 passengers, the message added. The Hamonic, of 5,600 tons, was bound from Duluth to Detroit.

FOUR STOWAWAYS WILL HAVE TO BE DEPORTED. Montreal, July 7.—What is regarded as a record in the history of Atlantic steamship travel has just been achieved by four stowaways on board the C. P. O. S. liner Tunisian which docked here today. They were not discovered until after the ship had passed Quebec, fifteen days out from London and Le Havre. They were two Frenchmen and two Poles who admitted boarding the ship at Le Havre. Their hiding place was in the coal bunkers and the men presented a fearsome appearance when they finally came out. Steerage passengers kept the men supplied with food during the voyage.

Before being handed over to the immigration officers the men were given a bath. They will be returned to Europe by the first available boat.

THIRD PARTY NOT LIKELY. San Francisco, Cal., July 7.—Reports that Senator Hiram Johnson might be persuaded to head a "third party" in the United States elections are considered to have been definitely settled by a statement which he issued today from his home here. He declares that support of the Republican Party "with a syndicate standing four squares upon the platform" is the only choice left.

COL. MINDEN COLE HAD FINE RECORD

Started Military Career In 1878 — Saw Many Campaigns

Montreal, July 7.—Lieut.-Colonel Frederick Minden Cole, D.S.O., died this morning at his home on Lincoln Avenue, Westmount, after a brief illness. He commanded a local battery in France.

The late Lt.-Col. F. Minden Cole, D.S.O., D.C.L., was born in Montreal on August 1, 1859, a son of Major Frederick and Louisa Purkis (Barret) Cole. In 1878 he was given a commission in the Montreal Brigade of Garrison Artillery. In 1885 he served through the Northwest campaign (Northwest Medal). From 1892 to 1901 he commanded the Montreal Heavy Brigade, having obtained a first-class certificate from the Royal School of Gunnery in 1899. He commanded the Canadian Artillery sent to Shoburness, Eng., in 1898, the team with Col. Cole as battery commander won the Queen's Prize. He held staff appointments at the Artillery Camps of St. John, N.B., Deseronto and Petawawa, 1903 to 1907, and was commandant of the Province of Quebec Cadet Camps, 1913-14. He held the long-service decoration.

He was President of the Canadian Artillery Association, 1896-1899, member of the Canadian Council of the British Red Cross Society and one of the four called to Ottawa by Lord Minto to organize the Patriotic Fund on the outbreak of the South African war in 1899, and was honorary secretary-treasurer of the latest fund until he was sent overseas.

He was district commissioner of the Baden-Powell Boy Scouts, chairman of the Montreal Council and commander of the Overseas Boy Scouts at the Coronation of His Majesty King George, 1911. He was appointed to the approval of the Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem, in England in 1912.

When the great war broke out, Col. Cole volunteered for service and was for over three years (1915-18) at the front as officer commanding First Brigade C.G.A., composed of Canadian, South African and British (R.G.A.), siege batteries. He was present at operations in the salient, the battles of the Somme, Vimy Ridge, Passchendaele and Lens. He was twice mentioned in despatches and awarded the D.S.O.

Since returning from the front where he commanded a brigade of heavy artillery, Lieut. Col. Cole had been in poor health. He served for some time here as President of the Court martial at Headquarters and in other military capacities, eventually returning to the reserve of officers. He was one of the oldest members of the Canadian militia, having been a veteran of the Northwest rebellion and of the Great War, winning the D.S.O. in the latter campaign. He held a staff appointment at St. John, N.B., Deseronto and Petawawa from 1903 to 1907.

At the wish of his family the funeral service will be private and the veteran soldier will be buried without the military honors to which his service entitles him.

THE FINANCIAL EDITOR REVIEWS OUR BANKING

Likens Conditions Here To Those the English Bankers Have to Contend With

London, July 7.—(By Can. Ass'd Press)—The Canadian banks have seen great expansion in their business during the past year or so, says the Financial Editor of the Times. Profits have advanced, though not always in proportion to the striking advances shown in turnover, and while some of the difference is fore-shadowed for the period succeeding the cessation of hostilities have been encountered, others have proved of much less importance than many of the Dominion bankers had anticipated. Like the Bank of Montreal and the Canadian Bank of Commerce, the Merchants' Bank of Canada is able to show a record of all around expansion in its latest accounts.

The General Manager was decidedly cautious in his survey of the commercial situation at the general meeting, and it is clear that conditions in Canada at the present time have much in common with those on this side of the Atlantic. Production lags painfully and labor difficulties abound, and the work of restoring war's ravages must be protected in these circumstances, however, well the first stage has been surmounted. The period of inflation has come to an end, and it would be unwise to anticipate a continuation of the rate of expansion recorded in the past few years.

APPOINTMENT FOR H. R. POUSETTE. Ottawa, July 7.—The appointment of Mr. H. R. Pousette by the Civil Service Commission to the office of commissioner of commerce in the Department of Trade and Commerce is announced today. This position has been vacant since the death of the late R. Grigg, 1916.

GERMAN PLAN OF DEMOBILIZATION UNSATISFACTORY

Was Presented to Allied Representatives at Spa Yesterday Afternoon

SERIOUS EXAMINATION Calls For Progressive Reduction To 100,000 Men in 15 Months

Spa, Belgium, July 7.—(By the Associated Press).—The German plan for progressive demobilization to 100,000 men in 15 months, was presented to the representatives of the Allied governments here this afternoon and was declared unsatisfactory to the Allies. The Associated Press is informed by a prominent member of the Conference. It will be examined seriously, however, and acted upon after the experts report to-morrow.

The impression in allied circles to-night is far more favorable than yesterday, the presentation of the German plan opening the way for discussion and removing the danger of a rupture.

Dr. Simons, the German Foreign Minister, gave it as his opinion that the crisis had not yet passed. The only moment when there was any bitterness shown at this afternoon's session was when Premier Lloyd George said rather impatiently: "You only have to make a law to reduce your army and execute it."

To this Simons replied: "I wish to remind the honorable gentlemen that there are parts of the British Empire in which there are laws concerning the keeping of arms by subjects, which the British Empire is unable to enforce."

The Allied demand is for immediate destruction of 12,000 cannon, which the Allied commissioners in Germany have under guard, together with 50,000 machine guns. Germany desired to destroy the guns at the rate of 1,000 a month. The Allies hold that this is not sufficiently rapid and express fear that the machine guns will fall into the hands of the insurrectionists. The military experts of both Germany and the Allies began an examination of the German plan immediately after adjournment of the Conference. Premier Millerand declared to the correspondent it was most essential that there be complete accord between the Allies, and that Germany had found that accord existed. The first evidence of this, the French Premier said, was when the Allies agreed to discuss a disarmament in the absence of the responsible German authorities.

"Then when asked to fix a date for disarmament," said Mr. Millerand, "they found the Allies united, and consented to present a plan of demobilization on a definite date. This made it possible for the Conference to go on."

The French Premier added that he had a good impression of the progress of the Conference. The Danzig question, he said, would not be discussed with Germany, as Germany was no longer concerned with it. Speaking of the coming financial conference in Brussels under the auspices of the League of Nations, Mr. Millerand said it would take place on the date originally fixed.

Official Communiqué. The official communiqué issued after the session of the conference today says that General von Secht, German Chief of Staff submitted a detailed note on Germany's position regarding war material and asked for a delay of 15 months to comply with the treaty requirements.

Premier Lloyd George on behalf of the Allies, declared this impossible, as it was known that thousands of guns, machine guns and rifles were in the hands of the German population and a million men were under arms under various pretexts.

The communiqué says that the experts would meet to-night to verify General von Secht's figures and that the Allies would announce their final decision to-morrow.

The German Minister of Defense, Herr Gessler, during a recess of the Conference said to the German newspapermen:

"If I were compelled to disarm then it must be done. But we will not be responsible for internal order in Germany."

BIG CONVENTION TAXES HOUSING ACCOMMODATION. Montreal, July 7.—The second annual convention of the National Shoe Retailers Association and the Shoe, Leather and Allied Trades Fair will open at the Windsor Hotel here next Tuesday and continue until the 15th instant. It is expected that about 2,000 guests will be in Montreal and housing accommodation is at such a premium that sleeping quarters have been even secured on the Canada Steamships boat Richelieu in the River St. Lawrence.

IMPORTANCE OF EMPIRE SHIPPING

Is Insisted On—Imperial Committee Appointed to Consider Its Different Aspects

London, July 7.—(By Canadian Associated Press).—The appointment of an Imperial committee to consider of general moment in regard to shipping regulations in different parts of the Empire is taken as an indication that the Government is preparing the ground already for the meeting of the Imperial conference next year. Discussing the committee and its functions, the Daily Telegraph points out that on the eve of the war only 3.5 per cent of the world's tonnage was registered in the dominions and crown colonies, the United Kingdom possessing more than twelve times as much. Now the Commonwealth of Australia has a fleet of its own, Canada is moving in the same direction, and other parts of the overseas empire are evincing increased concern in matters affecting merchant shipping.

"Though we in the Old Country regard with little sympathy any tendency towards nationalization of shipping," continues the Telegraph, "believing that in the long run a fleet run by a bureaucracy will prove unremunerative to the state concerned that is, after all, a matter to be settled by each unit of the Empire for itself. The current of British opinion after the experiences of the war, is set in the opposite direction. The desire is for freedom in order that initiative and enthusiasm may have free play. Any difference of outlook in this respect between ourselves and the Dominion will not interfere with the useful work which this committee can do."

Apart from the investigations of complaints as to the inadequacy of existing of shipping services to the Empire and the level of freights, the functions which it will perform are of great range and importance. The members of the Committee on which the Dominions will be directly represented, as well as the appropriate departments of the Imperial government, will carry out a general survey of the existing sea communications and make recommendations for the co-ordination and improvement of the facilities.

JAPANESE BLOCKING ONE'S SHIPPING BILL. Washington, July 7.—Charging that Japanese shipping interest were fomenting a propaganda against the recently enacted Merchant Marine Act, Senator Jones, who framed the measure, declared today that Pacific coast ports would not suffer in case embargoes were placed against them by either Japanese or British shipping companies. The Shipping Board was given assurance, he stated, that United States ships will immediately be allocated in sufficient number to replace foreign ships which are withdrawn and "to insure uninterrupted movement" of oriental exports and imports.

If during your vacation your watch should fall into water, open up the case and immerse the whole watch in coal oil, sweet oil, or any oil obtainable, do not delay; watch materials are excessively expensive at present and often difficult to procure, the oil will prevent rust.

THE TIGHTENED WAIST-LINE REAPPEARS.

Now For the Spring Bonnet

By Rita Styvessant. The newest spring bonnets remind one of May flowers growing in January, and what a delightful basis in this cold bleak month. But how one does cling to the midwinter vogue for metallic cloths, and it is not at all unusual to find a hat of gold beautifully decked with rarest of old-fashioned flowers.

To give the final touch of charm so essential to all smart millinery another hat decided to be fashioned of silver brocade and beautiful purple grapes. The model front and receding back. It covered the top and soft crown with the cloth of gold, but faced the underside with the French blue taffeta.

Another interpretation of the Spring styles is shown in a small hat of black and gold brocade combined with peach-colored faille silk. This clever little hat wisely chooses a soft crown for grace and a turned down brim for coquettishness.

SIFTING EVIDENCE IN ELWELL CASE

Dist.-Attorney Swan Investigates Movements of His Former Business Associate

New York, July 7.—William Pendleton, former business associate of Joseph Browne Elwell, was summoned by District Attorney Edward Swan today to clear up what officials said were contradictory statements regarding Pendleton's movements on the evening of the murder of the white expert.

Swan declared: "Pendleton in his first examinations, said he went home early in the evening of June 11 and 12. (Elwell was murdered the morning of June 11.) He said that he put his automobile in his own garage and went to bed early."

"On June 11, he told us that he went to the Jamaica race track, accompanied by a woman friend."

"John Doyle, an employee of the Atlas Garage, informed us that Oliver Bird, Jr., a friend of Pendleton's, drove Pendleton's automobile into the garage at 2 a.m. on the morning of the murder. Bird, according to Doyle, asked him to ride around a while."

"The two men, according to Doyle's story, drove around for an hour and finally Bird left the machine and asked Doyle to drive it back to the garage. Doyle said that on the way back to the garage he met George Post, Jr., also a friend of Pendleton's, who got into the machine. Post remarked, according to Doyle, that this is Pendleton's machine, isn't it?"

"Sam Flaxo, another employee of the Atlas Garage, told us that he saw Pendleton's machine in the garage June 11."

"We have also found a taxi driver at Cedarhurst who said he drove Pendleton to the railroad station on the day of the murder, June 11, in time to catch the 10:26 train to New York."

Telephone operators informed authorities that a call was placed from the Elwell home to the Pendleton home at 1:45 a.m. the day of the murder.

Commenting on this, Swan said: "It is not improbable that Pendleton was in Edwell's home at the time and was calling his wife to tell her that he would not be home that night."

The call was never completed, as no one answered at the Pendleton home.

TWO YOUNG THIEVES ABUSE HOSPITALITY Lady Finds Them at Her Door Crying—Feeds Them, and Is Subsequently Robbed

Montreal, July 7.—Miss Tallon, who lives at 313 Visitation street, was recently visited by two little boys, who came to her with tears streaming down their faces, telling a pitiable story of how cruelly they were treated by their parents.

Miss Tallon's kind heart was touched and she gave them the best dinner she could. Nothing was too good for the poor little fellows and she gave them everything she had in the house.

After they had eaten heartily she left them alone for a minute while she went to the kitchen on some errand. When she returned she was just in time to see them vanishing from sight with her purse and a few other articles.

Miss Tallon immediately acquainted Detective Headquarters, with the result that the clever young thieves were arrested.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT Stockton, Calif., July 7.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, and Democratic nominee for Vice President, said here today he would not resign as Assistant Secretary of the Navy for several weeks. It had been reported that he had planned to resign at once.

OWED WAGES TO CREW Kingston, Ont., July 7.—The steamship City of New York was released today by Sheriff Dawson, acting as Deputy Marshal of the Marine Court, the owners having settled an account of approximately $400 due the Collinswood Shipbuilding Company for repairs.

MOST SERIOUS FIRE OF YEARS

Maritime Bridge Co.'s Workshop, New Glasgow, Is a Mass of Flames

New Glasgow, N.S., July 7.—At 8:00 o'clock tonight, New Glasgow had one of the most serious industrial fires of years, when in a few minutes flames swept the main workshop of the Maritime Bridge Company into a mass of ruins.

The fire started in the northern end of the large building where the rivetting shop is located in a wooden annex. A strong wind was blowing from the south, and the flames with incredible rapidity worked back against the wind through the long shop.

The roof of the whole structure was of wood, but the walls of the greater part were concrete. So quickly did the flames spread that almost before the alarm had ceased sounding, the main building was doomed.

While the firemen succeeded in keeping the flames from the power house, carpenter shop and offices, the main building of the plant is entirely destroyed. Just what damage has been done to the machinery cannot be stated. There is no idea as to how the fire originated.

The Bridge Company under normal conditions, employs upwards of two hundred men. It is a subsidiary of the Dominion Bridge Company and the annual meeting of the directors was to have been held tomorrow, the members of the directorate being now on their way from Montreal. It is impossible at this time to gather any statement of the loss which will be extensive.

EXPRESS COMPANIES IN CLOSE HARMONY Montreal, July 7.—Officers of the Canadian Express Company and the Canadian National Express Company are working in close harmony under the direction of the Board of Management of the Grand Trunk Railway System and already arrangements have been made whereby at common points where both express companies have maintained separate offices, staffs and wagon service, these will be consolidated and managed under a joint agent in the interests of both companies.

Consolidations have thus been made at Hawkesbury, Brockton, Napton, Kingston, Belleville, Trenton, Port Hope, Cobourg, Oshawa, North Bay and Pembroke, Ont.; Regina, Moose Jaw and Saskatoon, Sask.; Calgary and Edmonton, Alberta. Similar steps will be taken at the larger cities as soon as details can be worked out.

The Provincial Cabinet held a sitting yesterday afternoon, when Sir Lomer Gouin was present, with all the other Cabinet Ministers except Hon. J. E. Perreault, in attendance.

The results of the meeting had been widely anticipated for a long time, but nothing was accomplished. No statement of any kind could be obtained and, though the meeting had created keen interest throughout the entire Province, as it was confidently expected that Sir Lomer Gouin would announce his retirement, and would name his successor, all were doomed to disappointment.

It is learned, semi-officially, however, that some announcement is likely to be made after another meeting of the Cabinet to be held this morning.

A large number of members from Montreal and the Eastern Townships were on hand yesterday, around the Buildings, and waited on Ministers, giving rise to many surmises.

REMOVED TRADE RESTRICTIONS

United States Citizens May Now Trade With Soviet Russia

Washington, July 7.—(By Ass'd Press).—Restrictions on trade with Soviet Russia were removed today by the United States State Department, except in-so far as they pertain to the shipments of materials susceptible of immediate use for war purposes.

An individual export license must be obtained for the shipment of such materials and it was announced that such licenses would be granted only in exceptional cases. Individual export licenses also will be required for the export to Russia of locomotives, railroad material and rolling stock and motor cars and components.

In announcing its action, the State Department took particular pains to state that political recognition, present or future, of any Russian authority exercising or claiming to exercise governmental functions was neither granted nor intended. It also emphasized that individuals or corporations trading with Russia, would do so on their own responsibility and at their own risk.

Coincident with the State Department's announcement of the removal of the most of the restrictions of trade with Russia, the War Trade Board section of the Department issued a series of rulings amending its previous trade regulations to make them conform with the Department's policy as to Soviet Russia.

Under these rulings, individual export licenses still will be necessary for the shipment to Hungary, Austria, Bulgaria, or Turkey of any materials unsuitable for immediate use for war purposes. Such materials include locomotives, railroad rolling stock and motor cars.

Emphasizing Russia's economic and transport difficulties and the absorption of her efforts in military activities, the report says: "Ringed from the world by a blockade of all powerful nations, attacked by enemies from without and menaced by fear of counter revolution from within, it is wonderful that a revolutionary government which has maintained any kind of order and discipline amongst its people, has rallied to its support practically the whole Russian nation."

OF INTEREST TO ANGLICAN CHURCH

Legal Decision Regarding Property Given By Judge in Toronto

Toronto, Ont., July 7.—An interesting decision in an Anglican Church issue was given by Justice Rose here today. The rector and church-wardens of Christ Church, Belleville, said the incorporated Synod of the Diocese of Ontario and the incumbent of St. Thomas' Church and rector of Belleville, for "an account of rents, issues and profits of certain lands held for the benefit of the rectory of Belleville and of the income derived from the invested proceeds of the sale of some lands that have been sold."

The plaintiffs also claimed payment of any amounts if such rents, issues, profits and incomes have exceeded $2,000 in any year since 1902."

Justice Rose finds that "if in any year the sum of the revenues arising from the investments held by the Synod and of the rents, issues and profits of the lands of the rectory remaining unsold the remnant of the rights, accrued in 1830—exceeds $2,000, the surplus must be apportioned to and divided among the incumbents of the other churches of the Church of England in Canada in the township of Thurlow, in such proportion as the defendant Synod shall, by law or canon from time to time order or direct."

WILL INVESTIGATE CONSPIRACY TO KILL EX-WIFE

The Ontario Govt. Names Five Commissioners Following Sensational Report

Toronto, July 7.—Hon. Walter Rolto, Ontario Minister of Labor, seen this morning with regard to the action of the Ontario Government in deciding to have a commission report on the hydro-radial scheme said he was entirely in accord with the decision the government had taken.

The commission to investigate the Hydro radial proposition in Ontario will consist of five members, said Premier Drury today in a long distance telephone interview from his farm at Crownhill, Ont. The men to compose this commission have not yet been selected. Premier Drury denied the assertion that the C. P. R. or any other outside interest was behind the government's decision to halt the hydro radials.

The contention that the foes of public ownership had taken a hand in the matter, he characterized as groundless and extravagant. There would be no delay in going to work, if the report of the commission was favorable to it, he said.

Premier Drury said that the following opinion, given by a financial expert, had much to do with the cabinet's decision in this matter: "Ontario would be financially crippled and would have difficulty in floating provincial loans if hydro railway schemes were proceeded with, regardless of the resources of the government."

The Quebec Chronicle

Printed and published by the Chronicle Printing Company, Sir David Watson, General Manager, at the building of the Company, 9 Buade Street, Quebec.

QUEBEC, JULY 8, 1920.

THE NEW PREMIER.

The Chronicle extends its earnest congratulations to the Hon. Arthur Meighen on his succession to the Premiership of Canada, coupled with all good wishes for his success in a position that is not altogether an easy one at the present time.

Sir Thomas White had many qualities to commend him but has been resolute in refusing to act. Quite apart from that fact, the needs of the hour call for a vigorous fighter which Mr. Meighen is to a more pre-eminence degree than Sir Thomas.

The late Unionist party has made not a few enemies and some mistakes but, on the whole, it has a record of achievement upon which it need not fear to face an intelligent electorate in any fair fight.

The man called upon by the Governor-General to form an Administration was born in Anderson, Perth County, Ont., 1874, the son of Joseph and Mary Jane Meighen. He was educated at St. Mary's Collegiate Institute and Toronto University, from which he graduated as a Bachelor of Arts, with honors in mathematics, 1896.

In the practice of his profession, The Honorable Mr. Meighen has been a partner in the following firms: Meighen and McPherson, 1904; Meighen and Hog, 1907; Cooper and Meighen, 1909-1913.

SOME THINGS THE PUBLIC OUGHT TO KNOW.

Many people do not fully understand the distinction between bituminous or soft coal and anthracite or hard coal. For this reason it may be well to explain that the former is used for industrial purposes, the local supply coming mainly from Nova Scotia, while the latter is used for domestic purposes and is imported from the United States.

As shown in previous articles hard coal can easily be placed in any purchaser's cellar at a total cost of $14.50 for a ton of 2,240 pounds by dealing direct with the mines.

Why then should not a Consumers' pool or syndicate be formed of card coal users both large and small to import the same for their own use so as to abolish overhead additional costs?

Under such an arrangement each buyer would deposit in some local bank the money required to pay for whatever quantity of coal he requires, plus freight charges and American exchange. By thus pooling orders, the individual consumer would receive full value for his expenditure without a cent of needless cost; other details, such as cartage and weighing can be provided for without difficulty.

The situation in brief is that coal constitutes a vital necessity of existence in this Province but that the present prices at which it is retailed for domestic use are so high as to expose large numbers of the community to all the inconveniences, hardships and dangers of insufficient heating during the rigorous winter months. Therefore, if a way can be found of reducing the cost of this essential commodity to the slightest extent, it is in the public interest that it should be done.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

The Democratic Convention, following that of the Republicans has now run its course and has been equally barren of surprises unless we except the defeat of Mr. McAdoo for the Presidential nomination. Indeed the two gatherings present numerous and striking points of resemblance. First as regards platform, both parties show lack of clean cut policy, of positive conviction. Both deal with much the same issues in their individual planks, including the League of Nations, the Irish Question and Prohibition, although naturally from variant angles.

However this may be, it seems fair to say that the Democrats have been influenced by opportunist considerations quite as much as their opponents; that they are no more ready to risk their partisan fortunes for the sake of patriotic ideals. Thus the Convention refused to place itself on record in connection with Prohibition as sympathizing with either "wets" or "dries." Now Prohibition is not only the law of the land in the United States at the present time by Constitutional amendment, but it is a social problem upon which every man has and should have decided convictions.

On the Irish question, the Democrats have gone further than did the Republicans which can be readily understood in view of the strength lent to this party by the Irish-American vote. From the first it was a foregone conclusion that San Francisco would go Chicago one better on this plank, no matter what the latter might put into it. On the other hand the actual pronouncement is a weak affair and must have proved disappointing to Irish sympathizers, although irritating to those who are opposed to Sinn Fein Principles.

There are of course conscientious men in both parties who have espoused the Irish cause through belief in its justice or from feelings of racial loyalty. These men have been prepared to stand by their opinions but, if the Republican and Democratic pronouncements regarding Ireland mean anything, it seems to be that for the majority it is not a question of principle but a convenient issue out of which political capital may be made.

At San Francisco as at Chicago there were three strong contenders in the nomination race and a number of also rans. The factions behind McAdoo, Cox and Palmer speedily created a dead-lock paralleling that of Wood, Johnson and Lowden; if it was eventually broken without recourse to a dark horse it was probably more because there was "no such animal" than for any other reason.

Greater significance attaches to the rejection of Mr. McAdoo than might appear on the surface. He is, of course, the son-in-law of President Woodrow Wilson and rightly or wrongly was felt to be a mere figurehead for his wife's father. That was the secret of his strength and his undoing. The Administration forces were solidly behind him and fought stubbornly to the last. The Democratic party, however, with its fingers on the public pulse was determined to break away completely from the Wilson regime, a course which quite fitted in with its private interests. The Democrats might have swallowed the representative of their present task-master, if it had been necessary to do so in order to retain power, but not under any other considerations.

Governor Cox has been no more of a public figure outside of his own country than Governor Harding and, like him, appears to be a safe rather than a commanding personality. Both have risen from printing offices to be publishers of newspapers and the first citizens of their respective States. Whichever is elected is more likely to be run by his party than to run it and the prospect will be generally regarded as a welcome relief. The Democrats have all the advantage of possession of power; the Republicans all the advantage of popular revulsion from things as they are. At the moment the contest has every appearance of being anybody's; the odds, if any, slightly favoring the Republican candidate as such; the position, however, may be radically changed before the elections are held.

Press Comment.

POWER OF PERSUASION?

The plea made by Mr. Hoover that Article X. of the Covenant be dropped and that as a safeguard against war the nations trust to inborn righteousness, soft persuasions and bells, books and candles is just as sound as it has been at any time within the last twenty years, and is just as little convincing. The advocates of a union of nations for peace discussed last matters thoroughly years ago. There was always a strong party opposed to the use of force. The other view prevailed, and the convictions of the world's statesmen at Versailles embodied it in Article X. The Hague Convention was a pious wish, something like the arrangement proposed by Mr. Hoover. It was followed by half a dozen wars, including the greatest of all wars. Even a Court of International Arbitration such as that established at The Hague, or such court of international justice as Mr. Root favors, can have no other sanction than that of the law it declares, precisely the present sanction of international law, which binds and controls so long as nobody violates it. Mr. Bryan is justly proud of his treaties of arbitration. Of what avail are such covenants with nations like Mexico and Turkey?

"THE PRAYER OF FAITH."

Why should the services of James Moore Hickson as a Christian healer be regarded with suspicion and even resentment by many orthodox Christians? His services and the claims that he makes are scriptural. He does not pretend to effect cures by any healing virtue in himself. The cures, he says, are God's gifts, bestowed in answer to "the prayers of faith," which, the apostle promised, would "heal the sick."

Let it be remembered what Christ said to the sick woman who touched the hem of His garment and was healed: "Woman, thy faith has made thee whole."

The science of mental therapeutics is yet in its infancy.

FILLING THE CRADLES.

The best antidote to the Registrar-General's Blue Book report for 1918, which was published yesterday, is to be found in the same official's "weekly return" for the seven days ended May 8. In 1918 the birth-rate was the lowest on record. Last week the birth-rate in the 96 great towns of England and Wales was pretty well the highest on record. In London 2,552 children were born. The next highest total in the corresponding week for 10 years was 2,282 in 1911. In 1918 the number was 1,453. The deaths in London last week were extraordinarily few, only 1,084. So there was an actual increase of population amounting to 1,468.

THE ROMANCE OF INVENTION

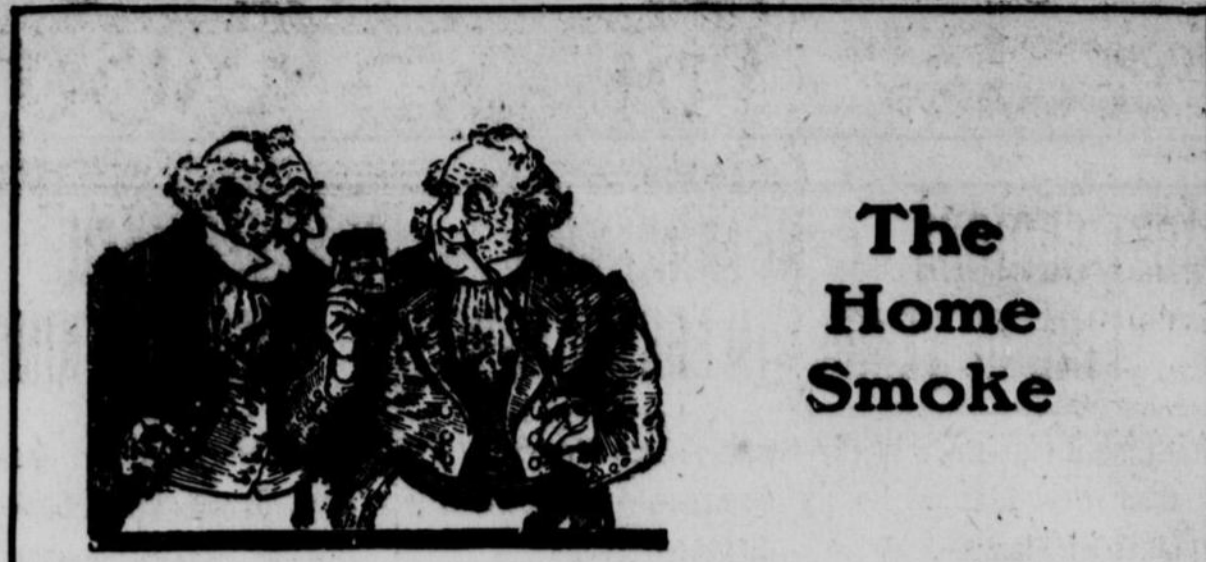

It is an accepted truth that the man who increases the material wealth of the world by the ordinary processes of trade, manufacture, agriculture or mining does much for us, and not alone in the material sense, for he provides those of us who have ideas with the wherewithal to work, or even in extreme cases with the inspiration with which to work. But we are not to exalt the successful business man, manufacturer, farmer or miner to the highest pinnacle without inquiring whether there is not some one else to dispute or at least to share it with him. What of the man with the idea? Before ever the miner, to take one instance alone, can extract wealth from the bowels of the earth, the inventor must show us how to proceed. Before any of us can do any of the things that seem materially worth while, indeed, there must be the inventor to precede and blaze the way.

It may be assumed that the ability to invent and the ability to make a practical success out of an invention in the vast majority of cases are mutually exclusive. The whole record of the advance of civilization shows this. The inventor is too wrapped up in his idea to have a very clear notion of just what to do with it. A doubly unfortunate result follows, unfortunate for the community in that the invention is not developed and got into general use for the common good to the full extent of its capabilities, and unfortunate for the inventor in that he fails by his very circumstance to get his full reward.

Sometimes, however, we meet a man who combines in his one person the qualities which lead him to make a great invention and at the same time make him able to carry it to commercial success. Such a man says the Scientific American, embodies to the last degree the romance of invention - for romance has a wooden leg when it does not stir and happily. And such a man, his struggles to overcome scientific and industrial obstacles, and his final success, we read with never-flagging interest.

NO UNITED ACTION BY SHOE BUYERS

Conservative Trading in the Boston Market by Representatives of Larger Houses

Boston, July 7.—A few wholesale buyers are already in the Boston shoe market, and the number will increase daily for a month or more. Interviews with the prominent buyers show that there will be no united action regarding the placing of contracts for fall and winter footwear during their stay. Representatives of the larger houses admitted that it was their intention to buy conservatively, regardless of the present unsettled conditions, as the season is too far advanced to permit further delay. Prices on all grades have been scaled downward, to meet the demands of the situation. Nevertheless manufacturers feel that in doing so they are speculating upon the price of leather, which is low at present on account of the stagnation of business. Shoe manufacturers intimate that their intentions are to obtain the views of their clients, and meet them if possible. At best, the season appears unpromising. The recent countermanding and returning of goods, for reasons other than positive defects in workman-

PACKER HIDE MARKET.

No large sales of packer hides have been booked for several weeks. The smaller packers are doing some business, but at prices well below those which the larger ones are quoting, or willing to accept. There is no standard range of prices on anything, and those noted in the small lots reported vary materially in the prices obtained. For instance, a lot of native hides were bought last week at 21 cents, but the sale was so small to establish a basis for large operations, especially when the main packer market declined to notice it. Cattle receipts are large, considering how little they are needed, under the present dull conditions. Official reports show that the supply of cattle is large enough to satisfy all requirements, even though a sharp demand for leather should develop suddenly. The steady importation of South America hides is attracting attention. Indications are not very bright, and tanners assert that unless the situation is relieved, hide prices may drop nearer to a pre-war basis than they have for the last three years. Leather Market. Business in the Boston leather market is practically at a standstill, buyers taking little or no interest in quotations. The situation is featured with a strong feeling that prices will drop to a range below the most bearish sentiments, which, in itself, is sufficient to check activity, but the present dull condition in the shoe market limits the extent of transac-

GOING ONE BETTER.

Competition was keen in the street market. Two rivals were selling ready-made coats and things, and each tried to undercut the other. "Look ere," shouted the first, as a brain wave struck him. "I tell yer I am selling these coats at rock-bottom prices. I charge only for the makin'. I don't need to make you pay a penny for the cloth, because I pinches it, see?" The other stall-holder did some hard thinking. He saw that his opponent's glib lie had attracted the crowd. "Oh, yus!" he yelled derisively. "E says as 'e charges you only for the makin', 'cause he pinches the

DRUNKARDS ARE BORN.

Dr. J. Waldechmidt, of Berlin, says that every drunkard is born, not made. He has an inherited predisposition, not necessarily from a parent who is an alcoholic, however, but from one who has transmitted a weakness of the brain. For, he insists, a sound brain repudiates the abuse of alcohol. This, he says, the human race cannot get along without, though its more dangerous forms should be prohibited.

IN AND ABOUT TOWN

"MIKE" PROSKO ARRIVES TODAY

Will Reach Here This Afternoon by C. P. R. Train from Montreal

According to advice received in town last evening, Detective Roussin has reached Montreal with "Mike" Prosko, alias "Big Mike," arrested in connection with the Kenogami murder case.

Detective Roussin and his prisoner, it is stated, will leave Montreal on the C. P. R. train, which is due at Quebec at 3.30 p.m. It is expected that he will be immediately brought to the Court House to appear at the Court of Sessions, and will then be remanded to the jail to await preliminary examination.

Up to a late hour last night, Mr. Marc A. Lemieux, counsel for the two Rumanians now under sentence of death for their part in the murder of Kostianin, had received no word of a reprieve, or a postponement of the carrying out of the execution of the two condemned men, which has been fixed for the 13th instant. Mr. Lemieux, however, believes, that in view of the arrest of Mike Prosko, the Department of Justice will grant another reprieve, at least until after the trial of the latter, though in view of the recommendation of the jury in the case of Debeke and Morari, which was forwarded to Ottawa by Hon. Judge Pelletier, he still has hope that the two men will have their sentence commuted.

AGRICULTURAL PROSPECTS

On the Whole, Satisfactory, From Quebec to Gaspe—Not So Good at Rimouski

Mr. N. Savoie, secretary of the Provincial Department has just returned from an inspection trip, which brought him as far as Perce. He visited the principal agricultural centres and met scientific agriculturists, with whom he compared notes.

Mr. Savoie reports that, on the whole, the harvest from Quebec to Gaspe is sure to be satisfactory. In Rimouski and Matane, however, the result is not likely to be promising owing to the excessive dry season experienced.

It was learnt from Mr. Savoie that the construction of a highway through the Matapedia is almost certain, and it was expected that work on this would be begun next Spring.

SHOE MANUFACTURERS ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN TEMPORARILY POSTPONED.

The Shoe Manufacturers' Association of Canada have found it necessary to postpone their advertising campaign on behalf of "Made-in-Canada" footwear for a month or so, due to the fact that their advertising literature has met with delay in printing, which delay, in turn, is due to the paper shortage under which Canada and the world at large is suffering. Details of this advertising are nearing completion, however, and advertisements will appear in this paper shortly.

MR. A. McCALLUM

HAS PASSED AWAY The many friends of Mr. Archibald McCallum will learn with regret of his death, which occurred at an early hour yesterday morning, at the Jeffery Hale's Hospital, after a long illness.

The late Mr. McCallum, who was born in this city on November 7th, 1854, was the only son of the late Mr. Archibald McCallum, Jeweller and Optician, so well and favorably known in shipping circles when Quebec was a great timber shipping port. He was educated at Emslie's School, and following a sea training he entered business with his father, which he succeeded to at the latter's death. Of late years he was connected with the Customs at this Port. For a number of years he was Chief Ranger of the Court Stadacona, and had also been elevated to the position of District Deputy in the same Order.

The deceased gentleman leaves to mourn his loss, one daughter, Miss Ethel McCallum, of this city, and three sisters, Mrs. J. E. Ellis, Mrs. James Poustie, and Mrs. G. S. Dale, of Montreal, to whom the sympathy of their many Quebec friends will be extended in the bereavement they have sustained.

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF TRADE

Much Business Transacted at Yesterday Afternoon Session of the Board

A general meeting of the Board of Trade was held yesterday afternoon in the Board of Trade Building, which was sparsely attended, only about twelve members being present.

Mr. John T. Ross, presided, and read the reports of the last meeting, which were adopted. Mr. W. H. Wiggs, then spoke on the Excise taxes, saying that some of the suggestions that had been made had been acted upon by the Government, but some of them were ignored, with the result that today in some cases, the merchants were worse off than before. The speaker said that he quite recognized the actual necessity of the Government to tax the people, in order to pay for the heavy cost of the war, but the person who pays the tax is the ultimate purchaser of an article.

There were taxes on both wholesaler and retailer, but in a different way. It was a difficult thing for a house that did both a wholesale and a retail business. In such cases the Government had said to keep two sets of books but this entailed a lot of extra trouble and expense. The more a business man looked into the matter, the more he would see that the only way open was to tax the fountain head. If the tax was imposed on the manufacturer, he would eventually put the tax on the article to be sold.

Mr. Wiggs, then read a resolution, as follows: "While recognizing the desire and intention of the Government to place such taxes upon the manufacturing, importation and 'selling' of such commodities that will bring the necessary increased revenue to meet their financial obligations and at the same time endeavouring to curtail luxurious expenditure and still further recognizing the inability of the wholesaler and retailer in their multitudinous transactions (in many cases impossible to define if wholesale or retail) he it resolved that in the estimation of this Board, the Government be earnestly requested to consider the simpler mode of imposing of all such taxes at the fountain head; viz: by the manufacturer through the Inland Revenue Department and by the Customs Department on importations."

The resolution was carried. Mr. McManamy then spoke on the transportation of Quebec goods to Montreal their unloading there and being hauled back to Quebec for delivery, saying that it was a loss of time, often meaning eight or ten days, while goods were often delivered in a bad condition.

The following resolution was then presented: Whereas the ocean freight for Quebec on board of the ordinary ocean steamers of the C.P.R., instead of being unloaded in the port of Quebec are regularly brought to Montreal to be sent back by rail to Quebec:

Whereas our local trade has to suffer considerably from this very strange policy or rather anomaly, because most of the time the goods for Quebec are delayed in Montreal and transferred to our merchants eight or ten days after their arrival; Whereas moreover, it appears very often that fragile goods put on board freight cars at Montreal arrived here in very bad condition.

Resolved that the Board represent to the C.P.R. authorities, that this policy which results in delays, damages and inconvenience of all kinds is detrimental to the trade of this City and urge that goods consigned to Quebec be directly unloaded in our port;

Resolved that this Board recommends to the merchants of this City to require by an unanimous agreement of undersigning between themselves, that their goods in Liverpool or other European ports be strictly loaded on board steamers stopping at Quebec;

Resolved that goods to be shipped from Quebec to Liverpool be put on steamers stopping at this port.

Mr. Tanguay stated that many steamers were not proceeding their foodstuffs and other supplies here in Quebec but purchased everything in Montreal, and that Montreal gentlemen told him that one or two merchants in Quebec were not too honest, and that these gentlemen look advantage to these steamers stopping here to charge them exorbitant prices.

Hon. Frank Carrel stated that the C.P.R. were selling through tickets from Vancouver to Liverpool, but stipulated that the passengers who bought these tickets had to stop off at Montreal and make all arrangements before proceeding to Quebec. He referred to the time when Valcartier Camp was open in 1914, and the camp officials were ready to give orders amounting to several thousand dollars to Quebec bakers, if the latter would get ready for them, but the local men refused to come to any terms, and the officials had purchased their bread at Ottawa, following which the local bakers complained that they were not getting justice.

Sir David Watson, Chairman of the Harbor Commission, was the next speaker, and he said that on the occasion of his last visit west, he had tried hard to get the grain business for Quebec, and had seen Mr. Stewart. Sir David said he had found that there was a decided discrimination against Quebec, and that the City had a black eye.

He had learned that really nothing could be done without the C. N. R. and the C. N. R. ships, and had accordingly gone to see Mr. Hanna. The latter gentleman had said he would send down Mr. Hayes, and

The house was a new building, but it could not be learned last evening if the loss is covered by insurance. CANADIANS WILL SAIL THIS WEEK

Olympic Trap Shooters Leave Quebec This Week-End for Antwerp

Toronto, Ont., July 7.—The second section of the Canadian Olympic team, consisting of seven trap shooters, will sail from Quebec at the end of this week for Antwerp.

Similar appeals have been made in Great Britain, France and the United States for support of the Olympic teams representing those countries.

Sporting Notes

Patsy Wallace, the man who fought Jimmy Wilde recently in Toronto, and Pal Moore, over whom Wilde gained a decision in London last fall, have been matched to fight twelve rounds at Toledo on Thursday next.

Walter Hagen, the United States golfer who was defeated last week in the British Open Golf Championship, won the French Open Golf Championship yesterday from Louisette, his French rival.

Both the Shamrock IV, the America Cup challenger, and the Resolute, the defender, are in drydock for their measurements, etc.

According to despatches received from New York last evening, Babe Ruth the home run king, was not injured in the automobile accident when his car was overturned.

Both the Shamrock and the Resolute have been hauled out of the water for their measurements, etc., and as there are over 500 measurements to take, it is calculated that this work will not be finished before Saturday.

More fights are on the bill for next week at the Kent. It is probable that the bill will be known to-morrow.

Toronto won the only game played in the International League yesterday, and is placed the Buffalo Bisons in second place.

Vancouver, B.C. July 7 — Dave Black, professional, at Shaughnessy Heights Golf Club, yesterday won the Pacific Northwest open championship, finishing 72 holes with a score of 29.

RUTH NOT INJURED New York, July 7.—"Babe" Ruth, champion home run hitter of the New York American League Baseball Club, was not injured in the accident in which his automobile was wrecked near Wawa, Penna., early today.

Miller Huggins, Manager of the Club, announced here to-night, Ruth returned to New York late today and will play in the game here to-morrow against Detroit, Manager Huggins said.

Ruth, Mrs. Ruth and three other ball players were in the car on their way to New York from Washington, where the team played yesterday.

The accident, according to information received by the Club officials here, resulted when Ruth, who was driving, attempted to turn out to meet another car. His machine was overturned and wrecked.

ATLANTIC CITY AFTER OLYMPICS

Famous Seashore Resort in United States Wants These Games Next Time

Atlantic City, July 7. — Nothing less ambitious than the staging of the Olympic Games in this city on the next occasion of the games in 1924 is the plan which has been launched here for followers of sport who believe that this seashore resort would make an ideal spot for the world sport classic.

Harry Lutz, who has had considerable experience in the promoting of athletic games is the leader of the movement and he has interested a number of other men in the city in the project.

While one object of the enthusiasts is to bring the Olympic Games here, they do not intend to wait so long to put Atlantic City prominently on the sporting world map.

It is hoped to hold contests of interest to persons in all parts of the country here, possibly before the end of the present season, and probably the first event of importance will be a Marathon race on the boardwalk, which is eight miles long, with runners of note participating.

It is pointed out by Mr. Lutz there is room here for the games and probably no city in the world is so well able to take care of crowds which would visit the shore for big games.

At a recent meeting of the Hotel Men's Association, the idea of periodical sporting classics was indorsed and the matter has been taken up with the Chamber of Commerce, which has promoted aerial contests.

The nearness of the resort to New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and other big ports of entry is urged as an argument in its favor in the matter of landing the next Olympic contest.

YACHTS HAULED OUT OF WATER

Doubtful if Work of Measuring Will Be Finished Before Saturday

New York, July 7.—Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV, challenger for the America's Cup, and Resolute, the defender, were hauled out of the water at the Morse Drydock and Repair Company in Brooklyn today for measurement in anticipation of the international races off Sandy Hook beginning Thursday, July 15.

The yachts are being measured by Professor Harold W. Webb, Columbia University, who has a corps of assistants.

Measuring the cup yachts is an exceedingly difficult proposition this year, as the rule requires that the craft be weighed for displacement. This was not done in former cup races.

It will require at least five hundred separate measurements being drawn off on each craft. At the rate of progress made today it is doubtful whether the work will be finished before Saturday.

The figures then will have to be checked with those of the designers of the craft. When the technical end of the measurements work is finished it will be at least another day before the rating will be decided upon and the time allowance known.

It is generally believed that the Shamrock will have to give at least six minutes to the defender.

A look at the two boats as they were out of the water was an interesting study to all interested in naval architecture. Resolute is decidedly smaller and has a more conventional hull.

The challenger looks smoother beneath her waterline than she does on deck. There is no question but that Charles E. Nicholson, her designer, has done a good and a most original job. She is unlike any other yacht that has ever come after the cup.

When Professor Webb finished his work today, the waterline length of the yachts had been taken off. He stated that each yacht was under the 75-foot limitation required by the conditions of the race. The yachts were measured with full crews on board.

Shamrock carries thirty-five hands and five in the afterguard, including Mrs. W. P. Burton, wife of the amateur skipper of the craft. Resolute carries thirty paid hands and an afterguard of five.

It was stated that H. L. Garratt would represent the Royal Ulster Yacht Club on board Resolute during the race and that Sherman Hoyt, a member of the afterguard of Vanitie, would be the American representative on board Shamrock IV.

QUEBEC BASEBALL LEAGUE MEETING

Not Much Business Transacted at Last Night's Assembly in Victoria Hotel

The Quebec City and District Baseball League held a meeting in the Victoria Hotel last evening, but not much business was transacted. Practically the only thing of importance was the fact of switching the game that was scheduled for next Saturday, between Standard and St. Patricks, to a later date, and running a double header on Sunday between C. B. and Standard and St. Patricks and Napoleons.

RUTH INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT Philadelphia, Pa., July 7.—"Babe" Ruth, champion home-run hitter of the New York American League Baseball Club was slightly injured in an automobile accident near Wawa, Penna., early today.

The New York team played in Washington and Ruth and his wife and three other players were motoring to New York. Their team was not scheduled to play today. Ruth was at the wheel of his big touring car. In rounding a sharp curve near Wawa the car overturned.

The occupants were thrown out in a lonely section at 2 a.m. Making their way to a farm house, they had their injuries dressed and were brought to Philadelphia in another motor car. Later they took a train for New York.

The Ruth car was badly smashed. It was hauled to a garage in Media, Penna., not far from the scene of the accident. "Sell it for what you can get for it," Ruth is said to have told the proprietor. "I'm through with it."

LEDOUX K.O.'D LEWIS. Montreal, July 7.—Charles Ledoux, French bantamweight champion, tonight knocked out Kid Lewis, a local lightweight, in the seventh round of a scheduled ten-round bout at the Mount Royal Arena here.

Lewis was knocked down for the count of nine in the opening three minutes of the bout.

In the semi-wind-up, Gerardin, a local fighter, scored a technical knockout over Charlie Ross, the British Columbia featherweight. Ross was so badly cut up in the third round that his seconds tossed the towel into the ring and conceded defeat.

In the preliminary, Demers outpointed Russell in a six-round bout. Both were local fighters.

MOORE TO MEET WALLACE. Toledo, O., July 7.—Pal Moore, of Memphis, and Patsy Wallace, of Philadelphia, will box twelve rounds here Thursday night, July 15. Their contracts were signed today. The boys will weigh 116 pounds ring-side. Wallace is the boxer who knocked Jimmy Wilde down in their two bouts at Philadelphia.

MAKING MICE WORK. More remarkable discoveries about mice were made by Mr. David Hutton, of Dunfermline, Scotland, who died some time ago. He proved that an ordinary mouse averages a run of ten and a half miles a day; he had one mouse which ran the remarkable distance of eighteen miles in that time. A halfpennyworth of oatmeal was sufficient for its food for thirty-five days, during which time it ran 362 miles.

For more than a year he kept two mice constantly engaged in the making of sewing thread. The thread-mill was so constructed that the mouse was able to twist, twine, and reel from 100 to 200 threads per day.

On the halfpenny worth of oatmeal, which lasted for five weeks, one of these mice made 3,350 threads, each 25 inches long. As a penny was paid to women for every hank made in the ordinary way, the mouse at that rate earned ninepence every six weeks. Allowing for board and for machinery, there was a clear yearly profit from each mouse of six shillings.

Mr. Hutton intended to apply for the loan of Dunfermline Cathedral, which was empty, where he planned to set up 16,000 mouse mills. Unfortunately, this extraordinary project was never carried out, owing to the inventor's sudden death.

THERMOSTATIC METAL. A new metal that bends when it is heated has just been announced as a British invention. It is called thermostatic metal. It is prepared by permanently uniting throughout their length, strips of the two metals having widely different coefficients of expansion with heat, so that under a change of temperature the combined strip bends one way or the other. The reaction is stated to be always the same, and strip of given length and thickness, for a given temperature change and thus to provide a reliable basis for temperature indication, control or compensation in oven thermometers, electric heaters, ice machines and scientific instruments of high precision.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE ELEMENT ACTIVE

Would Block Suffrage Amendment Till Too Late to Vote at Presidential Election

Washington, July 7.—Proceedings asking that Bainbridge Colby, Secretary of State be enjoined from issuing any proclamation declaring the suffrage amendment ratified were instituted in the District of Columbia Superior Court today by Charles F. Fairchild, of New York, President of the American Constitutional League.

Mr. Fairchild also seeks to prevent Attorney-General Palmer from enforcing the amendment. Justice Bailey issued a rule on Secretary Colby and the attorney-general to show cause July 13 why the motion should not be granted.

The basis of the proceedings is the claim that the ratification of the amendment by the West Virginia Legislature was illegal because accomplished by fraud and that the proposed ratification by the Tennessee Legislature also would be illegal on the ground that the Legislature lacked authority under the state's constitution to act on the measure.

Only thirty five states have ratified the amendment and as ratification by one other is necessary the attack on the amendments through the courts at this time is a surprise to suffrage circles here. An attack on the legality of the action of the Tennessee Legislature had been expected, but not until the Legislature actually had acted.

In anticipation of such a move by the anti-suffrage forces, the organizations supporting the amendment have urged early action by more than 35 states so that the amendment could become operative in time to permit the women to vote in the presidential election this year.

WELL-DRESSED WOMAN COMMITS SUICIDE

Body Found in Central Park Lake—Husband's Address Pinned to Body

New York, July 7.—The body of a well dressed woman was found today in Central Park lake. A card on her person said: "I am the wife of Daniel M. Bedell and you will find him at the Republican Club, 741 5th Ave., or 51 Chambers Street. I stuck to him in adversity, but when prosperity came, he sought others."

Mr. Bedell, former administrator, insurance broker, and organizer of the American Junior Naval and Marine Recruits Scouts, could not be reached today at his office, 5th Ave. home, nor Republican Club, where it was said he had left for an out of town address.

A man who gave his name as Henry A. Capel and said he was Mr. Bedell's secretary, later identified the body as that of Sally Bedell, his employers wife. Mr. Bedell, he said was up-State, on a golfing trip.

WILL USE AIRPLANES IN SEARCH FOR BOYS

Rochester, N. Y., July 7.—Search along the shore of Lake Ontario by members of Alpha Delta Phi Fraternity has failed to reveal traces of Douglas S. Wolters, 21, and Brooks Gillies, 20, both of Rochester, missing on Lake Ontario. The young men set sail Saturday afternoon from this port for Presque Isle Bay and the Thousand Islands. They had a combination sail and gasoline launch. A boat of this description was picked up by a Canadian steamer and brought to Port Dalhousie, Ontario, on Monday and the boys are believed to have been lost in the storm of Saturday afternoon. It is planned to use an airplane in the hunt for traces of the youths.

GERMAN COMMENT.

London, July 7.—Commenting on the Spa Conference, the majority Socialist newspaper Vorwaerts of Berlin is quoted in a German wireless message today as saying:

"In respect to the size of our army Germany's aims are identical with those of the Allies, namely, the formation of an army adequate to protect the republic from plots and conspiracies."

AN ARTIST IS SECOND ENGINEER

One of Most Brilliant Novelists Toils in Fruit Steamer's Engine Room

New York July 7.—One of the most brilliant of the younger novelists continues to toil for eleven hours daily at a greasy, hot, poorly-paid occupation that most men would find unendurable if they had the means of escape from it. But William McFee would not be capable of having produced such a masterpiece as "Aliens" if he were like most other men. He remains a second engineer on the United Fruit Company's ship Turrilba and says he does so because he likes it. His folks before him were seafaring. He was born on a sailing ship homeward bound from India, the Erin's Isle, a vessel which his father had built in St. John, N.E. All his uncles were shipmasters. He admits that he is the only one of the line that has disgraced the family by accepting a subordinate position, but he has hopes that soon he may be made chief engineer of the Turrilba. Then he will get married, and apparently he has nothing more to hope for.

Might Do Great Work.

There are few who try to keep abreast of good contemporary fiction, who do not know McFee, author of "Casuals of the Sea" and "Aliens". They recognize him in one of the most brilliant of the lights that have shot across the literary sky in the past decade. There is none of them from Wells down so likely to write a great novel as this poetical engineer Conrad, we believe, in an acquired taste, most painfully acquired; but once acquired readers get something out of Conrad they find nowhere else. Others get out of McFee what the former get from Conrad, an idea of the mystery and romance of the sea. For ability to create what is called "atmosphere" we doubt if any living writer is superior to McFee. His "Aliens" is nothing short of superb, and we do not believe that anyone who ever reads it will forget the wonderful picture he builds up of the seafaring man who tells the story, "Casuals of the Sea", is better known and more popular, maybe because it is a longer story and contains more incident and sensationalism. But we consider "Aliens" finer work. Although when Mr. McFee states as he did recently to Arnold Prince, who writes in the New York Tribune that it took him five years to write "Casuals of the Sea" and only twenty eight days to write "Aliens" we concede that popular preference may be sound. You can't do as well in one month as you can in sixty, can you?

"The Call of the Sea."

When Mr. Prince called on McFee for an interview, he found him in his little cabin with another ship's officer, his coat off, and wearing oil spotted jumpers. He said "The last time I was in port the chief happened round just as a magazine photographer was taking my picture and I should have been working. I don't want him to think I'm like a popular actress, spending all my time in having my picture taken and being interviewed." The author struck the interviewer as being a man absolutely without "side." He remains with the ship because he loves the life, not because he could not make far more money writing novels. Indeed, it would be strange if even now his ship's wages are not a small part of his total income. To McFee the call of the sea is no mere poetic form of words. It is a reality. There is a passage in "Casuals" which must have been written from the heart: "The ship takes on an importance you cannot conceive . . . you become a part of her. You hear in the night watches her voice as she labors onward, the little intimate complaints of her fabric." For further information read "The Little Intimate Complaints," read Kipling's "Ship That Found Herself."

Once a Newspaper Humorist.

McFee began to write fiction when a boy at school in North London, among his productions being a vast novel, as yet unsold and uncompleted. His mother did not desire him to follow the footsteps of the McFee family and encouraged him to work on land. At the age of seventeen his itch for writing led him to apply for and secure a job on a small paper in which he conducted a humorous column for which he was paid $3 a month. The pay being insufficient to maintain him he sought an office job, but this failed to interest him, and he determined to head for the element on which he had been born. His uncle was a port captain and he gave the lad a job as junior engineer on a tramp steamer, an experience from which he drew richly when writing "Casuals of the Sea." His life since then has been spent mostly on ship board. In the war he served two years in transport work, and his voyagings have taken him to most of the world's great ports, and he has met strange peoples and has developed a tolerant philosophy which he believes the English speaking peoples are in danger of losing.

New Novel Coming.

For example, he asserts that there is far more freedom in the internal life of the people of Turkey than there is in the United States, and less radical prejudice than one encounters in Western nations. He is rather glad that the United States did not accept a mandate for Armenia because "just as soon as a nation becomes too enthusiastic over its way of doing things, and seeks to impose its system on another people it is in danger of running into trouble. It is an amiable but disastrous illusion on the part of the Western nations that they hold a monopoly of justice and truth and the right conduct of life." Mr. Mc-

What "luscious" means
The Standard Dictionary says:
 "Luscious, (lusk'us). Very grateful to the sense of taste; rich, sweet and delicious; hence, delightful. . . . to any sense, or in the mind; as, luscious fruit, luscious odors, etc."
The Century Dictionary says:
 "Very sweet, excellent in flavor; delicious; very pleasant to taste; hence, extremely pleasing to any of the senses or to the mind, especially delightful, etc."
Webster's Dictionary says:
 "Sweet; delicious; very grateful to the taste; luscious, etc."
The Encyclopaedia Britannica says:
 "Luscious, (lusk'us). Very sweet; sweet in a great degree; delightful to the taste, etc."
 But LANTIC means only:
 "Luscious means Brown Sugar."

Folks delight in Brown Sugar goodies

At the fragrant memory of old-time dishes, what eager lips are smacked! It is taste that lingers longest in the mind. Sweet and luscious to the palate, is the appeal of LANTIC Brown Sugar. Sweet from the actual amount of pure sugar it contains—luscious from other constituents of the cane juice left in it, bodies which represent the "bouquet" of the cane juice.

For tea and coffee and ordinary preserving purposes, where a conflict of flavors is to be avoided—LANTIC Fine Granulated, of course. But where rich flavor is desirable, LANTIC Brown gives to baking and desserts the characteristic molasses taste which is a big improvement. It makes good dishes great!

Spices and LANTIC Brown are on the friendliest terms. Spiced cookies, and cup cakes, and all sweet pickles or spiced fruits are better when made with Brown Sugar. All dishes containing raisins, dates, figs or currants develop a new deliciousness from the use of LANTIC Brown.

Be a little different. Add LANTIC lusciousness to your baking!

LANTIC Brown Sugar should really cost more than white—if deliciousness is the true test of value—BUT YOU GET IT FOR LESS. Your grocer has luscious LANTIC brown sugar only in 100-lb. sacks, but he will give you any quantity you ask for.

ROYAL SALARIES.
 The King of Italy, who has voluntarily reduced his allowance from the state, has been, since the downfall of the Central Empires, the most highly-paid ruler in Europe, his yearly official salary being $3,000,000.

As he, however, has to set aside nearly three-quarters of his income for non-personal expenses, the best paid of monarchs seems to be King Alfonso, whose $1,400,000 a year is his to do pretty much as he pleases with.

The Emperor of Germany's salary used to be $1,850,000 per annum, and the Emperor of Austria's $1,500,000.

DAILY GOSSIP ON THE LEADING STOCKS

Yesterday's New York Financial Bulletin was as follows: Improving tendencies are expected, interrupted by natural recessions, which are likely to offer good buying opportunities in rail. Pool channels are friendly to oil, equipments, sugars, tobacco, and shipping shares.

Spencer Trask & Co., say: "The best that we can is that we are now passing through what are probably the worst and most trying days of the period of readjustment."

According to the Journal of Commerce: Speculative opinion still continues cheerful as far as immediate market operations are concerned and nothing like sensational movements are expected but a gradual improvement is looked for.

Goodbody & Co., say: "The industrial stocks that we are most bullish on just now are Alcohol, Food Products, American Loco, Baldwin, Realty, Corn Products, Paper and American Lineduct."

Lamborn & Co., say that: It is reported that Guantanamo Sugar will be listed upon the New York stock exchange which accounts for the resumption of activity. Dividends is stated as assured at the rate of $3 per share with possibilities of extras from time to time.

The New York Times is of the opinion that: The fact that quotations moved upward last week and again yesterday in the face of stiff money paves the way for debate as to the underlying causes.

According to the Hayden Stone & Co.: As commodity liquidation proceeds, there should be some easing in the money strain and easier money is looked for as a market stimulus.

Foreign exchange quotations yesterday were as follows: Sterling, 3.94; cables 3.94 3-4. Francs, demand, 11.72; cables 11.70. Lire, demand, 16.27; cables 16.25. Guilders, demand 35 1-4; cables 35.33. Marks, 2.65; cables 2.67.

A. R. Hoyt, says: "Things ought to do better, everybody feels that the nominees are both good men, I think stocks should be bought on the decline."

HARNESSING THE TIDES.
 A practical attempt to harness the tides at the mouth of several British rivers is about to be made, and the power thus obtained is to be used for generating electricity. The engineers who are making the plans estimate that the electricity will be obtained at only two-thirds the cost of electric power generated by coal.

The basic principle underlying most of the inventions for harnessing the tides is the working of a turbine by tidal ebb and flow. The tide makes the power at both its inflow and its outflow, only ceasing for a comparatively short time during the period of half tide. In one Cheshire and Lancashire district the great variation in the hour of the tide at neighboring estuaries makes possible, through an ingenious discovery, the production of maximum energy during an almost continuous period.

The plan for harnessing the tides devised by Lewis Woodhead of Murcott Mill House, Broadway, Wodchester shire, calls for the building of a cheap and efficient wall out in the sea or tidal river, in which turbines are placed. Mr. Woodhead claims that 10-foot turbines would be most economical where suitable, each of which would generate over 300 horse-power with a five-foot head. Thus a mile of sea wall would be capable of generating 120,000 horse-power. The position of such a wall would be four to six miles from shore.

HAD HIS MONEY'S WORTH.
 "I canna get over it," a Scottish farmer remarked to his wife. "I put a two-shillin' piece in the plate at the kirk this morning instead o' me usual penny."

The bendie had noticed the milk-lake, and in silence he allowed the farmer to miss the plate for twenty-three consecutive Sundays.

On the twenty-fourth Sunday the farmer again ignored the plate, but the old bendie held out a detaining hand, and in a loud, tragic whisper said:
 "Your thine's up noo, Sandy."

CITY HALL—CITY OF QUEBEC.

Lodging and Accommodations for Tourists and Travelers—Private Boarding Houses—Rooms to Let—Restaurants—Cafes and Dining Rooms and Automobile Garages.

Quebec, 17th June, 1920.

In view of the large number of visitors to Quebec during the summer season, and also of the numerous conventions and gatherings to be held in the City, the Civic Authorities are anxious to offer to all facilities for lodging and dining, so that all may easily find the accommodations required, in order that they may carry back home an agreeable impression of their visit to Quebec.

In consequence thereof, the Mayor of Quebec earnestly requests all proprietors of Hotels, Boarding Houses, Restaurants, Cafes, Dining Rooms of all kind, Automobile Garages, etc., and all those who exercise the trade of giving to the public lodgings and meals, to forward in writing to the City Clerk, in the City Hall, a statement of the number of rooms which they can dispose of, the prices they charge in order to facilitate the making up of a register containing all information useful to tourists and travelers.

The Mayor also requests all residents who own furnished rooms to forward to the City Clerk, in writing, a statement of the number of rooms they can dispose of and the prices charged.

Such information will facilitate the establishment of a special Office permanently opened in the City Hall, during the whole summer season.

By order,
 JOSEPH SAMSON,
 Mayor of Quebec,
 City Clerk.

Commercial and Financial News

CLOSING LETTERS BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

(By Canadian Press)
 New York, July 7.—The recovery in the stock market which had its inception at the beginning of the month, was carried to greater lengths today on the broader sweep of operations, although speculative shares were again the outstanding features.
 Buying of these issues was of a more varied and confident character and originated largely at interior points, mainly Western and South-western centres, while New England furnished a moderate demand for metals, rails and shippings shared in the movement to a greater degree than at any recent period. High grade trans-continental and coalers contributed their proportions to the largest turnover since the first week in June, probably as a result of the better transportation situation.
 More than half the day's business converged around the usual favorites, however, such as steels, equipments, oils, motors and kindred specialties. Extreme advances, as represented by leaders of those divisions, ran from two to five points with considerable impairment on profit taking at the close. Sales amounted to $90,000 shares.
 Changes in the money market were mostly towards further easing. Call loans opened at 86, the lowest initial rate of the month and more relaxation of time funds was reported albeit quotations remained unaltered.
 Mixed conditions prevailed in the market for foreign exchange. Sterling was firm and the Spanish rate strengthened, but reactionary tendencies were displayed by remittances to France, Italy, Spain and the Scandinavian countries.
 The successful flotation of the $25,000,000 Swiss loan, which was readily absorbed, featured the bond market. Anglo-French fives also strengthened. Domestic issues including the Liberty group, were regular. Sales, par value, aggregated $14,450,000. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

MONTEAL EXCHANGE

(By Canadian Press)
 Montreal, July 7.—Quebec Railway continued to dominate a strong and active market today although not to the extent of yesterday. About 15,000 shares changed hands and the best price in over two years was reached at 36 1/2 with close at 34 1/2, a gain of 1 1/2 points. There appears to be strong faith in the rumors that the Public Service Corporation of Quebec City will come to a favorable arrangement with Quebec Railway. Spanish River issues were a good second and the common gained 3 1/2 points and the preferred 3 1/2, both making new highs at 116 and 120.
 In the balance of the list, Breweries was most active and meeting with poor support, sagged off 4 1/2 points to 61 in early trading recovery to 64 at the close with a net loss of 1 1/2 points. The decline was attributed to rumors that action in the courts was pending against beer dispensers for their liquor having more than the legal percentage and to the fear that any such action would react upon the brewers.
 In the Paper stocks, outside of Spanish, Abitibi reached a new high for the movement at 82 and closed at 81, a gain of 2 1/2 points at 80 1/2. Laurentide touched 115 and fell back to 114; Brompton netted a small fraction at the close of 143. Wayagamack moved up to a new high at 135 and retained two points at 134.
 Asbestos common added a fraction and the preferred 1 1/2 points.
 Prominent work issues were Sugar, each of which lost a point; Steamships, down 1 1/2 points at 75; Iron, down a point at 65 and Sherwin-Williams, down 5 points at 113.
 Total trading: Listed, 55,831; Bonds, $48,600.

CLOSING LETTERS BY THE LOCAL BROKERS

(By Bruneau & Dupuis)
 New York, July 7.—The market has been quite active with a sharp rally in prices although at the last hour some profit taking eased figures from the best.
 Money renewed at a point lower, but still at a stiff rate, but there are indications that we may have a month or six weeks of a small space in this respect, this indication is helpful to the market, but the main cause of the rally in the past two days comes undoubtedly from general satisfaction over the political outlook. The prospects for a republican success this year are excellent, but if this should not happen at the present line up would assure the country for more practical and business like administration in the next four years than in the past four.
 It looks to us as if the present tendency from the market wise for taking advantage of a period of less strain in the money market likely in the next six weeks to discount the coming election rather than to wait until later.
 When money might put a stop to such a rise. The railroad bonds and shares would still seem to be out of line with rest from the market but undoubtedly to the extremely poor showing in the net earnings made in 1919 and the current months of this year, but it must be borne in mind that we should be very near the point of a decided change for the better in this respect through an advance in rates and that until the first of September. The government is still guaranteeing the terms of their contracts with most of the roads.
 Total sales, $89,000.

(By Breen & Gourdeau)

New York, July 7.—Fair sized advances were shown at the opening today, with the general share list reflecting a firm to strong undertone. Quiet strength was maintained throughout the forenoon during which demand was more pronounced in such stocks as Vanadium, Mexican Pete, General Motors, Barrett and Reading. Around mid-day the market developed greater activity and a number of the leading speculative issues were advanced to new high prices for the current movement. Trading also broadened somewhat. In the late dealings American Woolen and American Express were particularly strong, although the share list, as a whole, enjoyed improvement to some extent. The high prices invited some profit-taking in the last hour and this, in turn, tended to bring about recessions. The action of the market was similar to yesterday's. In this connection, buying of a more substantial character than has characterized dealings in recent sessions was reported and the session was viewed with a great degree of satisfaction.
 Sales stocks, $50,500; bonds, $13,366,000.

(By L. G. Beaulieu & Co.)

New York, July 7.—Further gains in the steel and oil stocks as well as some of the better rails characterized the early afternoon trading and there was no abatement in the more confident feeling toward the market. Stocks reacted moderately towards the close but this was witnessed more in specialties than in the general run of the market. It was also natural that some profit taking should be witnessed after the decided advances of the past two days.
 Vanadium, Replique, Crucible and Canadian Petroleum were principally affected but even certain of these stocks recovered some what before the close.
 Money got down to 7 p. c. again during the afternoon and opinions continued to expressed that the market would be relieved from acute money disturbance for a time.

That Government Bonds will appreciate largely is as certain as their safety. As conditions become more and more normal, under the influence of the reconstructive forces now at work, Government Bonds will steadily increase and ultimately show a generous profit.

At The Theatres
Eugene O'Brien Today at The Auditorium Theatre

A ruined castle, a ghost, a mysterious tower, and American novelist, a wicked Count—these are the skilfully mixed ingredients in "A Fool and His Money", a Seznick picture adapted from the story by George Barr McCutcheon, which commences a three day showing at the Auditorium today.

Eugene O'Brien is the star of "A Fool and His Money". He appears as an American best-selling author who purchases a castle in the Swiss Tyrol. He is regarded as a fool for having made the purchase, but as it turns out, he gets the best of the bargain. For he goes through all sorts of exciting and amusing experiences, wins a charming wife, and gets material and "atmosphere" for a record-breaking best seller.

The director, Robert Ellis, has provided a picturesque setting for the action of the story—castles, snow-covered hills, a bit of the "beautiful blue Danube," a yacht ing scene, dungeons, and vast medieval halls, accurately presented in accordance with historical detail.

The bill for the week-end also comprises a comedy and other attractive features.

COMING! COMING!

"Male and Female", a picture that will make Quebec sit up and take notice.

"The Guilty Wife," Powerful
Dramatic Story at the Empire

Jane Grey in "The Guilty Wife" a powerful dramatic story with a modern theme is the feature attraction on the program at the Empire today. The star whose beauty, gracefulness and talent are internationally known, has a role in the story that is an intimate revelation of the forces that unite and separate human hearts.

The ninth chapter of the big wild animal serial "The Lost City" and a rollicking two part comedy complete the program which will be shown for the balance of this week.

Today, Jack Pickford Interprets One
Of O. Henry's Big Stories at Classic

Jack Pickford, who endeared himself to the Quebec theatre-goers in such plays as "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" still further distinguishes himself in "The Double Dyeed Deceiver" which opens a 3 days engagement at the Classic today. The story is one of the most popular ever written by O. Henry and in its interpretation by Jack Pickford, assisted by a galaxy of stars, adds much to the enjoyment. The colorful and picturesque settings are very beautiful and reflect in a realistic fashion the slumberous, sun baked atmosphere of South America. It is a play of all-high "entertainment."

An excellent comedy and two other subjects will give still further enjoyment.

Owen Moore at the Victoria
Today in "The Desperate Hero"

Owen Moore, reputed one of the screen's most popular male stars, will be seen at the Victoria Theatre today in "The Desperate Hero" a comedy drama of unusual merit. "The Desperate Hero" is just the sort of a character you'll like. He arrives in a "Silver" and leaves in a Limousine. Gloria Hope is Mr Moore's leading lady and the rest of the cast is also of excellent calibre. A Big V Comedy, the 9th episode of "Silent Avenger" and a Paramount Magazine on same bill

MRS. MARCIL FEELS FRESH AS A LARK, NOW

"I Never Dreamt That Any Medicine Could Build Me Up Like Tanlac Has," Declares Montreal Woman.

"I never dreamt that any medicine could do what Tanlac has done for me for it has not only relieved me of a very bad case of stomach trouble but I am now enjoying the best of health again," said Mrs. Claire Marcil, a well-known and highly esteemed Montreal woman who lives at 400 St. Denis St.

"Before I began taking Tanlac I had no appetite at all, and the little food I did force myself to eat gave me a burning sensation in the pit of my stomach, and I would bloat up with gas until I thought I should suffocate. I had such pains across my face to my back that it was in my mind to give up but I would keep me awake for hours at night. This was just the condition I was in for two years before I got Tanlac, and goodness only knows how many medicines I tried in my efforts to get relief, but none of them did me any good, and I almost gave up in despair.

"When I saw by the papers that so many people were being helped by Tanlac, I decided to give it a fair trial. I am glad I did for now after taking five bottles I am like a different woman. I not only have a splendid appetite, but can eat anything I want without being troubled in the last with heartburn or gas. I have gained at least seven pounds in weight and am stronger in every way. The pains have completely disappeared from my back and I sleep so well at night that I get up in the mornings as fresh as a lark. I shall always have a good word to say for Tanlac for I consider it the best medicine in the world."

Tanlac is sold in Quebec by Jolicoeur's pharmacy; and by Martel and Dion; and in Lewis by Maurice Dion; under the personal direction of a Special Tanlac representative.

25 Years Ago

Rev'd A. J. Balfour, M.A., Rector of St. Peter's Church, who was an indifferent health some time ago, has returned home considerably benefitted by a short vacation, principally spent in Lachine and the Eastern Townships. The much esteemed pastor conducted the services in St. Peter's yesterday as usual.

A Strange Hunting Ground.

During the early hours of yesterday morning, a fur-bearing animal locally known as a siflex (whistler) paid a visit of inspection to the Immigration buildings. As the hour of the visit was most unseemly, Guardian Lepine was rather suspicious, and gave the visitor a warm but rather unfriendly reception. The animal, finding that his visit was not acceptable to the guardian, made for the wharf, but was after an exciting chase, overtaken and destroyed.

THE TROUSSEAU IN CHINA.
How it Figures When Plans are Made for Marriage of Daughter of Family.

When I was ten years old my serving woman made a mark here in the middle of my forehead. It was made with red face paint and had to be renewed every time I went outside the compound. That sign meant that I was old enough to become engaged, and that my parents would consider offers for me. Soon after, an old woman came to see me. She made my serving woman remove all my clothing. Then she looked me over. She made me thread a needle—to test my eyes. She made me sew a seam—to try my skill. She looked at my teeth, and pinched my body all over—to see if I was healthy. Then she went away. One day, when I was twelve, I heard my mother talking about me—with the old woman who had been to see me before. They were talking about my clothing. The middle woman said I should have four pairs of silk trousers and three of cotton. I was also to have six white undergarments of cotton, and four of linen for the hot weather. My outer garments were all to be of silk, and all must have embroidery about them. Two heavy garments were to be lined with silk, and padded with new cotton. These were to wear in cold weather. They talked half a day about my trunks. The middle woman held out that I should have four all covered with pig skin, but my mother was determined I should have only two. At last it was agreed that I should have three pig-skin trunks and two boxes covered with plain cloth. When they came to an agreement about anything a teacher wrote it down, so there would be no forgetting after. He would read it over to them often and had to change the writing when one or the other said they did not understand. The middle woman grew very angry when they were talking about the bedding I should have, and left the court. A servant called her and she returned. All the while they were talking about me I felt most important for I had never before had a value placed on me. Then I thought I had not understood my mother all my life. She had always treated me with unconcern, because I was not a boy, and now she was pointing out all my good qualities and setting a value on each of them. Then they told me I was to be married. I was to marry a man I had never seen and they would not even tell me his name. I asked my mother if he might come to our court and play with me. She scolded me. He lived eight miles away, and could not come that distance just to see me. Silly Child.—Asia Magazine.

ALL-ELECTRIC STEEL MILL.

WHERE IT COULDN'T BE LOST.

When I was asked to be the best man at a friend's wedding I thought right away of the many stories that I had heard of losing the ring and not being able to find it at the right moment. As I walked to the altar on the wedding day my fear grew, so I reached in my vest pocket found the ring, and slipped it on my finger. I felt relieved, but after the last "I do" had been said and the ring was asked for I found that I could not get it off. My hands got cold and perspiration came out on my forehead. I twisted and pulled—moments stretched into years. At last, in desperation, I put my finger in my mouth and sucked the ring off.—Exchange.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is plain mulled coconut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

LITERAL OBEDIENCE.

My little nephew, who was continually saying that he was mad at one of his playmates, had been told by his mother to say "provoked" instead of "mad". One day he came running into the room where I was sitting and in gasps told me he had just seen a provoked dog running down the street.—Exchange.
