ROYALTY VISITS NORTHERN GATEWAY

Holiday Mood Is Apparent At Edmonton

Normal Population of Alberta Capital More Than Doubled as King and Queen Make Northern-most Stop of Canadian Trip—Their Majesties Apparently Much Refreshed With Twenty-one Hour Halt at Jasper.

Edmonton, June 2.—(P)—Monarchs of a far-flung Empire, King George and Queen Elizabeth came today to the northern-most city of their Canadian tour.

Gateway to the vast northwest and its rolling expanse of land, lakes and rivers, Edmonton is wearing finery as it has never done before.

Their Majesties arrive from Jasper National Park at 3:30 p.m. (6:30 p.m., E.D.T.) for a six and one-half hour visit. Before they leave tonight at ten p.m. to ride in the Royal train to Saskatoon they will be welcomed, fêted and dined.

Every street standard along the twelve-mile procession route is decorated, every building gaily dressed. Pennants and flags are strung across streets.

The holiday mood struck the city early in the week. It gained momentum as their Majesties left the Pacific Coast and headed back across Canada over the northern route. Now holiday spirit is at fever pitch.

Hotels are crowded. Special trains run from rural centres. Buses and private cars brought their quota of 100,000 visitors to join Edmonton's 89,000 population in a welcome to the King and Queen. Twelve hundred Indians from the foothills and plains are camped in a teepee village.

Sunshine was forecast here today.

JASPER STOP MARKED BY LIGHT SNOWSTORM

Jasper Park Lodge, Alta., June 2.—(P)—King George and Queen Elizabeth bade farewell today to a cozy cabin home of logs and to the western mountains.

Freed from a day from the press of formal functions, from the loyal din of cheering crowds, their Majesties yesterday explored the beauties of Jasper National Park. After daylight hours of sight-seeing and an evening of quiet relaxation they were ready today for the trip to Edmonton and a new start on the Royal program.

The Queen was thrilled by the novelty of living in a log cabin with her husband and their two servants. She told Robert Somerville, manager of Jasper Park Lodge, how much she liked living like an ordinary couple in a cabin by themselves.

Their Majesties were at home for a day in luxuriously-furnished Out-

Prorogation By Tomorrow Likely As Commons Approves Final Estimates

Ottawa, June 2.—(P)—The House of Commons is racing down the stretch today apparently determined to get it over with tomorrow—provided no one throws a wrench into the machinery.

On paper chances look bright. Some business before the House today is the report of the Banking and Commerce Committee on the Mortgage Discount Bank bill, involving a series of proposed amendments. On the morning is only the senate's disposal of the Salt Fish board bill, undergoing substantial change there.

Routine third reading of the general supply bill was first thing in the programme today, after a unanimous clean-up of estimates calling $28,000,000 yesterday. Flat tax was not only so rapid that John R. MacNeil, (Conservative, Toronto-Davenport) repeatedly complained he "could not turn the pages that fast," but it left the House with nothing to do last night, members not attending the Public Accounts Committee had a welcome light off at 11 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Hon. H. Stewart (Conservative) acting Opposition leader, rose to protest at the haste as the House was about to pass the supply bill. He claimed the Government had been running a "three-ring circus" these last few days, rich the House and two major

OPERATION IN MID-ATLANTIC MET SUCCESS

Young Surgeon Aboard Freighter Well Satisfied Today with Results of Operation Upon Woman Six Hundred Miles from Land.

Halifax, June 2.—(P)—Dr. Ian MacDonald paced the deck of the Blue Funnel freighter Astratus today feeling well satisfied. The twenty-four-year-old ship's surgeon had performed his first operation at sea, and his patient was recovering.

The young doctor from the Scottish Isles had little to say about the operation when the freighter reached here from the East Indies last night. Nor would he tell the name of his patient or the nature of the operation.

Wireless Operator R. W. Jones, however, gave some details of the incident. Wednesday night a "mercy message" from the British freighter Tilapa, Liverpool-bound, crackled across his set, asking medical aid for a passenger.

The Astratus, then six hundred miles southeast of Halifax, was 150 miles away from the Tilapa. With every rivet straining the Blue Funnel liner steamed toward the freighter and at three o'clock next morning reached her side.

The Tilapa put a boat overboard in rough seas and took the doctor off the Astratus. Three hours later he returned to his ship with word the operation was finished and the patient was "recovering."

Then both vessels put about and resumed their courses.

INDIA ADVANCING

Bombay, June 2.—(P)—Adult "literacy" classes, to accommodate nearly 8,000 were opened in May by the Bombay Literacy Committee. Three alternative methods have been prepared for reading and writing instruction.

FOR TOMMIES SUIT

Leeds, England, June 2.—(P)—Nearly 3,000 miles of khaki to clothe Britain's two new armies are being woven in Yorkshire mills. The government's tailor bill will run to £4,000,000 ($18,800,000).

GIVES DETAILS OF JAP CASUALTIES

Tokyo, June 2.—(P)—Domei (Japanese) news service, carried a communique today from the Kwangtung army at Keinking, Manchoukuo, which set Japanese losses in recent fighting on the Outer Mongolian frontier at 125 men, including eleven officers.

The communique said the enemy Outer Mongolian and Russian soldiers had lost fifty-nine Japanese tanks and twelve machine guns. The announcement did not estimate enemy casualties.

NO ANTI-JAPANESE AGREEMENT

Canberra, June 2.—(P.—Reuters)—Neither Great Britain nor Australia "will enter into any agreement prejudicial to the interests of Japan," Sir Henry Gullett, Commonwealth Minister for External Affairs, said today.

Mr. Henry was commenting on a Tokyo statement by Hachiko Nishi, ambassador of the Japanese embassy at Moscow, to the effect that Russia was determined to bring the Far East within the scope of the proposed Anglo-Soviet pact.

THIRTEEN DEAD IN RENEWAL OF RACE RIOTING

Britons, Jews and Arabs Included Among Dead and Injured in Series of Clashes Throughout the Holy Land.

Jerusalem, June 2.—(P)—Thirteen persons were killed and scores injured today in Palestine disorders. Casualties included Britons, Jews and Arabs.

A railroad patrol of four British soldiers and three Jews was wiped out by an Arab band near Kalkileh, thirty-five miles northwest of Jerusalem.

Six Arabs, including a policeman, were killed and a score injured. Continued on page 2, Col. 5.

Famed Town Of Estcourt Resumes Centre Of Parliament Stage

Ottawa, June 2.—(P)—The international complications of the Village of Estcourt, Que., on the Maine border, cropped up again in the House of Commons yesterday.

The House has frequently heard from J. F. Pouliot (Liberal, Temiscouata) of the difficulties of M. Richard, whose farm lies astraddle the international boundary. Today the trouble was that some villagers in Estcourt, Que., were giving a debatable amount of business to a tavern just across the Maine border.

Mr. Pouliot complained that the tavern had been given a Maine licence even though there were only six families on the American side of that district. "You would not give any Province grant a beer licence to a border district where there were only six families," he claimed. It was a "very bold action" on the part of the Maine authorities.

Equally "bold" was the conduct of American customs officers over M. Richard's cattle, Mr. Pouliot submitted. He assailed the External Affairs Department and the Canadian Legation at Washington for their apparent inability to deal with these little matters. "If they can't settle little things like that, how can they settle anything among the nations of the world?" he asked.

He was particularly aroused by a letter from Dr. O. D. Skeiton, Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs, advising him to get in direct touch with the American authorities over the migrant cattle. "We must have pride in our nationality," he urged. "We lost a lot of territory because of the rapacity of others and the timidity of the English. We must not be intimidated by the size of the United States."

Justice Minister Lapointe said he would be happy to do anything to help settle the dispute, being a son of Temiscouata himself. On the question of the Maine tavern, he observed that going to the state of Maine to drink ale was "quite different from the situation in former days."

SIMPLE STYLES MARK WARDROBE OF ROYAL GUEST

Long Straight Coats, Generally of Blue, Save Worries for Her Majesty in Regard Packing, Pressing and Climatic Changes.

Jasper Park Lodge, Alta., June 2.—(P)—Queen Elizabeth has changed her clothes thirty times and all but once has worn different costumes during the first half of the Royal journey across Canada. She will make as many changes again before the Empress of Britain, carrying the Royal guests, sails from Halifax for England June 15.

Blues have predominated in her daytime clothes, varying from palest blue-white through grey to deep crocus blue. Her jewels have been pearls and diamonds.

To save worries with regard to packing, pressing and climatic changes, Her Majesty included in her wardrobe gowns of the simplest style with long straight coats and touches of fur for warmth and adornment to meet the daily exigencies on her Canadian calendar. Washington, which promises to be warm, doubtless will disclose clothes of a cooler nature.

In the evening, when time permits a little extra fussing, Her Majesty presents a queenly figure in her majestic robes and gowns.

Although her hats are designed not to conceal her face, they are styled distinctively. A splash of feathers here, a flippant touch of veiling there, or a tricky bow-knot or flowers add the feminine touch.

Queen Elizabeth has two maids to dress her and keep her wardrobe in order. But for a day or so, after one of her English maids was left behind with an infected finger, she got along with only one. A substitute arrived in Banff from Government House in Ottawa by plane to join the Royal party.

Furs in a smoky shade have complimented the majority of Her Majesty's ensembles. As a knee-throat while driving she sometimes uses a wide smoky fox rug. White fox capes top her evening gowns.

Several images stand out in the minds of daily observers of the Queen: Her fair-like, palest pink satin crinoline gown, with clusters of roses caught on the panned skirt worn in Quebec; her exquisite white satin robe de style patterned on the wide skirts with gold lace; her chic, dusky blue dress, wool coat and perky fuchsia-trimmed hat worn on her departure from Banff; the graceful picture she made carrying a large grey silk. Assurances Of Goodwill Received By Pope In Reply To Peace Appeal

Vatican City, June 2.—(P)—Pope Pius told his cardinals today he had received "assurances of goodwill and of the resolve to maintain peace" from Europe's principal statesmen as a result of his recent overtures through Papal Nuncios.

The Pope said he also had "other information" which had given "greater hope that the considerations of noble humanity, the consciousness of inevitable responsibility before God and before history, and the right judgment of the true interests of their people would have strength and weight to induce the governments in their efforts to reach a stable peace which would safeguard the liberty and the honor of nations, to think and to act in a manner calculated to reduce and

SPREAD FEARED OF CHICOUTIMI RELIEF STRIKE

Jonquiere Workers Threaten to Walk Out Unless Former Conditions Surrounding Relief Work Are Restored.

Chicoutimi, Que., June 2.—(P)—A two-day strike of more than six hundred workers on unemployment relief projects here and the threat at nearby Jonquiere of a similar walkout by three hundred others today confronted authorities in this Northeastern Quebec district.

The strikers, who walked out Wednesday with a demand for restoration of the former wage of $14.40 a week, had before them an appeal by the City Council that they return immediately to work and the promise of Provincial authorities that their demand would receive "serious" study. Each man now is paid according to the number of dependents he must support.

The City Council broadcast its appeal last night after a message was read from Director Michel Guimond, of the Bureau of Economic Reconstruction, which is in charge of all unemployment relief throughout the Province. Guimond said that the men's demand would be given "serious" study at the next session of the Bureau, but that time lost will not be paid for.

Mayor J. E. Bergeron, of Jonquiere said workers there intended to continue on the job at least until the arrival of Antonio Talbot, Government Member of the Legislature for Chicoutimi County. Aime Simard, one of three men named by the strikers to represent them, said: "We are not going to be paid for our strike."

Hitler Pledges Integrity Of Yugoslavian Border To Regent

Fuehrer Declares Germany Seeks Permanent Peace Between Two Countries with Common Borders Established for All Time—Closer Ties Expected to Follow Five-Day Visit of Regent to German Capital.

Berlin, June 2.—(P)—Having assured Prince Paul, Regent of Yugoslavia, of Germany's respect for that Balkan country's border with the Reich, Chancellor Hitler invited him to witness today Germany's military might.

Dominant in the line-up for the military parade were the 4,500 men of the German Condor Legion which helped General Franco win the Spanish civil war.

At an elaborate state dinner last night at Hitler's New Chancellery, the Fuehrer spoke of warm friendship between the two countries and said their new common border had been "established for all time."

In an exchange of toasts, Hitler spoke of the ties between the two countries thus: "I believe in this (German-Yugoslav friendship) all the more since a solidly founded and trustful relationship of Germany toward Yugoslavia—now that through historic events we have become neighbors with common borders established for all time—will only secure a permanent peace between our two peoples and countries but beyond that will provide an element of calm for our jittery continent."

Responding, Prince Paul expressed gratification that Germany "intends to recognize Yugoslavia's freedom and independence as well as the same frontiers which join us as lasting neighbors since last year."

The common frontier was established with the March 13, 1938, annexation of Austria by Germany. Hitler hinted that concrete results in the way of perhaps even closer ties between the two nations might develop from the five days of fanfare connected with the visit of Prince Paul and Princess Olga.

He said that he saw in the visit a "happy occasion for a frank and friendly exchange of views which I am convinced can only be of profit for our two peoples and states."

IMPRESSIVE DISPLAY FOR VISITORS
Berlin, June 2.—(P)—Chancellor Hitler today followed up a pledge of respect for Yugoslavia's border with Germany "for all time" with an impressive demonstration of military might for Prince Paul, Yugoslav Regent.

The Regent, here on a five-day state visit, stood with the Fuehrer and high German army officers near Berlin's monument to war dead in Unter den Linden to see the parade of soldiers and war machines.

For more than three hours troops marched and artillery, tanks and motorized equipment rolled through Berlin's streets while airplanes roared overhead.

The Regent, who arrived here yesterday, opened today's ceremonies by placing a wreath at the War Memorial.

IMPRESSIVE FAREWELL FOR CARDINAL VILLENEUVE AT ROME

Rome, June 2.—(P) Cable—Rodrigue Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec, was saluted by a large group of notables as he departed today for Domremy, France, to represent Pope Pius at dedication of a national shrine to Joan of Arc.

British, French and Italian envoys to the Holy See were among those at the station. A Fascist Guard of Honor presented arms as the train drew out.

Cardinal Villeneuve arrived in Naples yesterday and went directly to Rome. The dedication at Domremy will be held next Sunday.

London, June 2.—(P)—Dr. J. D. Jones, who has preached about 3,700 sermons as Congregational and First Church leader, has celebrated his "ministerial jubilee" here.

London, June 2.—(P)—Forty delegates from all countries went into a huddle at Broadcasting House to find a scientific definition of pitch of note A in treble clef for international standardization.

WHITE HOUSE PARLEY WOULD FREE CAPITAL

Washington, June 2.—(P)—Means of breaking the log-jam of investment capital were generally believed today to have been a major topic at a conference between President Roosevelt and eight prominent industrialists.

The business men dined at the White House last night, with Harry Hopkins, Secretary of Commerce, seated at the head of the table, before talking informally with the President. Mr. Roosevelt was prevented from eating with them by a sinus infection, which kept him from his desk Wednesday and Thursday.

No one present would discuss the conversation afterwards.

Belawasy, South Africa, June 2.—(P)—Taking a three-fold vow, including one of poverty, R. F. Green, a European, will join an Indian semi-monastic order devoted to caring for Untouchables.

It was estimated there was a sufficient air supply in the submarine to last until 2:40 a.m. Saturday (7:40 p.m., E.D.T., Friday), the Admiralty said.

It was believed low tide this morning had revealed the submarine's tail after warships and Royal Air Force planes had searched for the vessel throughout the night.

Machine Gun Contract Fraudulently Obtained, Ontario Leader Declares

Ottawa, June 2.—(P)—Conservative members of the Commons Committee on Public Accounts will have their jinnings today with Lieutenant Colonel George Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, on the stand for the fourth consecutive day.

Col. Drew, under questioning by G. G. McGeer (Liberal Vancouver-Burrard), yesterday reiterated his declaration that the contract awarded the John Inglis Company of Toronto to supply 7,000 Bren machine guns for the Canadian Government was fraudulently obtained.

Mr. McGeer and Col. Drew were at sword's points for three days, but ended their duel late last night. When Mr. McGeer made a reference to "the explosion in East Hastings" (apparently referring to the last by-election in that riding) Col. Drew exclaimed "Now Mr. McGeer you are sinking pretty low."

"I have to sink low to reach your level," Mr. McGeer retorted. Similar clashes occurred throughout the all-day session held in a crowded committee room in which standing room was at a premium most of the time.

Col. Drew, whose magazine article last fall criticising the Bren gun contract prompted the Government to initiate a judicial investigation by Royal Commission, repeated his statement that "he realized the contract was 'bad' when he wrote the article, but had Birkenhead, England, June 2.—(P)—Strapped in oxygen rescue masks, four of the eighty-seven men trapped in the partially submerged British submarine Thetis escaped safely this morning to the sun-flecked surface of the Irish Sea.

While the Thetis lay with her nose in the mud and her great, fin-like rudder glinting above the surface, Admiralty workmen scrambled up her slippery slopes and considered cutting off her tail with acetylene torches to expedite the rescue of the others aboard.

One way or another, Admiralty officials were confident all would be saved, and until a decision was reached about attempting a mass rescue, officers and men were ordered to escape two at a time in their oxygen masks—the Davis "lung" device.

The number of men trapped in the submarine was placed at eighty-seven this afternoon when Cammell Laird, Limited, the builders, issued a list of its men aboard. It gave a total of twenty-six company men, instead of twenty as in earlier reports. In addition there were fifty-eight officers and men of the crew, a pilot and two members of the Liverpool City catering staff.

By mid-afternoon there were no reports of rescues beyond the escape of four men from the submarine in the morning.

The destroyer Brazen first sighted the Thetis' stern at 8:20 a.m. (3:20 a.m., E.D.T.) far out in Liverpool Bay and soon small, fat-bellied boats led down from a ring of warships bobbed around the big gray tail. Experts clambered up her sides and tapped out reassuring messages to the men below.

First to reach the surface were Captain H. P. K. Oram, commander of the Fifth British Submarine Flotilla, and Lieutenant H. G. Woods. They had climbed a steel ladder into the submarine's aft air lock and fastened on their Davis "lungs" waiting for equalization of pressure which would permit them to escape.

The slowness of getting men out by the Davis escape method led the Admiralty to consider cutting through the exposed tail of the submarine.

It was estimated there was a sufficient air supply in the submarine to last until 2:40 a.m. Saturday (7:40 p.m., E.D.T., Friday), the Admiralty said.

It was believed low tide this morning had revealed the submarine's tail after warships and Royal Air Force planes had searched for the vessel throughout the night.

CITY PLANS TO BUY EUSTIS POWER PLANT

Has Taken Binder Option On Property Valued At $30,000

City of Sherbrooke's Hydro-Electric Capacity Would Be Augmented by 1,000 Horsepower—Only Formality Stands in Way of Concluding Transaction with Consolidated Copper and Sulphur Concerns.

Extension of Sherbrooke's municipally-owned chain of power plants in the near future was announced this morning with the report the City of Sherbrooke has obtained a $5,000 binder option on the plant and equipment of the Consolidated Copper and Sulphur Company at Eustis. Purchase price, in the event the transaction is completed, is set at $30,000.

The Eustis power development has a capacity of from five hundred to a thousand horsepower and for many years supplied electrical requirements for the mines and mill of the Eustis mining company. This week company officials announced the Consolidated Copper and Sulphur works would cease operations on June 15th.

Only the necessary formalities now stand in the way before Sherbrooke takes over control of the Eustis plant and it was stated this morning the City Council will ratify

VOLUNTEERS WANTED FOR ROYAL DAY POLICE WORK

About two hundred volunteers, preferably members of local organizations, are desired to swell local police ranks June 12th when the King and Queen visit Sherbrooke. It was announced today by Acting-Chief Captain Percy Donahue at No. 1 Police Station.

These volunteer police officers will be supplied with red arm bands, which they will be allowed to keep as souvenirs of the Royal Visit.

Persons desiring to assist the Municipal Police Force are asked to communicate with Captain Donahue.

The action of the Electrical Department at their regular session Monday night. In the meantime documents establishing ownership of the property will be studied by the City Attorney to assure legal status of the transaction.

Besides a stone power house, two transformers, rights of way, transmission lines and equipment, the city will receive a new water wheel. Power developed by the plant will be a great asset especially during peak load times, it was stated this morning.

Purchase of the development obviates the necessity for erection of an expensive Diesel engine plant, considered by local authorities to provide protection against shortage with which the city is threatened. It also sets aside for an indefinite period plans for the construction of a plant at Ulverton as outlined by city engineers during the past winter.

With acquisition of the Eustis plant the city will be owners of six separate developments and site for a seventh. At present electricity is being supplied to Sherbrooke from the Frontenac, Weedon, Westbury, Rock Forest and Drummond stations. At Two Miles Falls property for a 10,000 h.p. development is also owned by the city.

MILITARY BALL AS CLIMAX TO ROYAL VISIT

Event Will Be Given by Officers of Sherbrooke Garrison June 12 Under Patronage of Governor-General and the Lady Tweedsmuir.

As a climax to the Royal Visit a grand Military Ball will be given by the officers of the Sherbrooke Garrison on Monday night, June 12, at 10.00 o'clock.

The Ball will be under the distinguished patronage of Their Excellencies the Governor-General and the Lady Tweedsmuir, while the invitations are being issued in the names of the officers in command of the three local units, Major C. G. M. Grier, O. C. 35th Field Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery, Lieutenant Colonel L. M. Watson, Commanding Officer of the Sherbrooke Regiment (M.G.), and Lieutenant Colonel E. E. Levesque, E.D., Commanding Officer of Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke. The invitation committee consists of Capt. A. J. Camirand for Les Fusiliers, Lieutenant Ross Bishop for the Battery, and Capt. Eugene Arnold for the Sherbrooke Regiment.

It has been decided to use the Armory on William street for the event as it has a suitable floor. Refreshments will be served.

WARM WEATHER IN PAST MONTH RECORDS SHOW

May Came within Six Degrees of Attaining 25-Year Record High Temperature of 89.

May came within six degrees of attaining the twenty-five year record high temperature for that month of 89 degrees, according to meteorological data issued today by the Dominion Experimental Station at Lennoxville. The average temperature was 51.97 degrees, compared with the twenty-five year average of 51.08. The mercury climbed to 83 degrees for the month's high registration, and dropped to 25 on the 3rd, 4th and 13th.

Total sunshine for the month was 245.5 hours, as against 224.5 hours last year and 205.2 hours twenty-five year average. Highest monthly sunshine for twenty-five years was 265.6 hours in 1934 and the lowest 123.9 in 1927.

Precipitation amounted to 2.05 inches, compared with a twenty-five year average of 2.85 hours. Highest rainfall for one day was .57 of an inch on the 28th, and the highest for one day over twenty-five years was 1.35 inches in 1938.

Mayor Armitage Will Support Demand For Explanations

Statement he would support the resolution of the Chamber of Commerce asking for a public assembly to explain results of the police investigation was made this morning by Mayor Marcus Armitage in an interview with a Record representative.

"The ratepayers of the city have the right to know the reasons that prompted the decision to dismiss Chief H. O. Camirand, Deputy Chief Joseph Prunier and Captain Maurice Lacharite," Mayor Armitage declared, "and a resolution coming from as important and representative a body as the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce must be given consideration."

The Chief Magistrate declared he could see no reason why the Aldermen should refuse the request of the trade body and added that the Council must be prepared to justify the dismissals if the citizens were not satisfied with explanations already given.

Resolution of the commerce group will be presented before the City Council Monday night. The Mayor stated at that time, the question of the public assembly will most likely be debated at that time. Mayor Armitage admitted there might be considerable opposition to the meeting on the part of certain Aldermen in view of the declaration made by Ald. Eugene Thibault that no gathering to discuss the probe would be held.

W. G. KNEELAND IS OBSERVING 80TH BIRTHDAY

Has Been Earnest Worker to Advance Community Interests Wherever He Has Lived.

Congratulations are today extended to Mr. Walter G. Kneeland, of Warden, Que., on his eightieth birthday.

He was born June 2, 1859, in South Stukely, the second youngest son of the late Gardner Kneeland, of that place. There were eight sons, each personally known to the writer of this sketch, Harris, Stillman, Abner, John, Albert, Charles Walter and Warren. All are now dead except the three last mentioned. Harris was an influential farmer of Stukely, Stillman was well-known as a prolific writer, sportsman and lawyer.

During the Civil War in the United States, 1861-65, Stillman served as an officer in the Northern Army and later was well-known as Judge Advocate General of the State of New York. His legal office until his death, when in his eighty-third year, was in the City of New York.

Abner was for many years a professor in the McGill Normal School and later in the Macdonald College. John was a printer and independent evangelist. Albert was a contractor and builder in the Eastern Townships, who spent his last years in the State of Massachusetts. He constructed the United Church edifice in use in Knowlton.

Charles many years ago settled as a farmer in the Western States, where he still resides, entebled by age.

Walter has also followed farming in his native land.

Warren is an honor graduate in law of McGill University, but has spent his life as a teacher, having been principal of schools in Montreal for forty-two years. For three months of the year he resides in Knowlton and the other nine months in his home at St. Petersburg, Florida.

Walter has led a very active life as a humble farmer, but an earnest worker to advance community inter-

REDUCED COST FOR FISH FOR FOX BREEDING

Question of Distribution of Fish to Farmers Operating Fox Ranches Discussed at Session of Co-Operative Syndicate.

A business meeting of the Co-operative Syndicate of Fur-bearing Animal Breeders held in Quebec under the presidency of Antonio Elie, Minister Without Portfolio, discussed a number of matters pertaining to breeding, particularly the question of distribution of fish to farmers operating fox ranches.

During the past two or three years, the Syndicate organized a system of fish distribution from the Gaspé region, and in 1938 1,000,000 pounds of fish were consumed on fox ranches.

But breeders complain that by the time the fish reaches this and other regions west it develops a cost of $70 a ton, a price which they aver is proving prohibitive.

Members of the Syndicate called on Hon. Onesime Gagnon, Minister of Mines, Game and Fisheries, with a request that the Government intervene in the matter with a view to getting the price of the fish for fox food, down to one cent a pound.

Mr. Gagnon promised to give the matter full consideration.

The Syndicate calculates that there are 200,000 foxes in captivity in the Province of Quebec.

DEATH REMOVED DR. A. A. MACLEAY AT AGE OF 69

Native of Danville, Who Was Retired Physician and Surgeon Succumbed to Long Illness at Manchester, N.H.

Dr. Alfred A. Macleay, a native of Danville, died last night at Manchester, N.H., at the age of 69 years. He was a retired physician and surgeon.

Dr. Macleay, a graduate of McGill Medical School, was a member of the American Medical and Surgical Association, Montreal Medical Association, Royal Ophthalmic Association of London, Eng., the New Hampshire Medical Association, New Hampshire Surgical Club and the Hillsboro County and Manchester Medical Associations.

He leaves his widow and a daughter, Mrs. Macleay Leavitt, of Stanfieldville, N.Y. After services at Manchester tomorrow the body will be taken to Danville for burial.

LENNOXVILLE

Mrs. J. S. Fearon has returned to her home, near Lennoxville, from Mansonville, where she has spent the past two months at the home of her brother, caring for her sister-in-law, Mrs. A. M. Sheldon, who has been seriously ill.

Mrs. M. W. Miller and Mrs. Harold Spencer, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Pearson, at their home on the Spring Road, have returned to their homes in Brome. They were accompanied on their return journey by their children, Miss Miss Connie Spencer and Master Douglas Miller, who underwent tonsil operations in the Sherbrooke Hospital recently.

Review Role To Be Played By Veterans Day Of Royal Visit

Fourteen Different Branches of Canadian Legion Will Fall in at 10:30 O'Clock June 12th and March to Their Particular Posts, to Be Designated by Markers—Light Blue Berets Being Issued to Returned Men.

CHANTECLERS TO SING FOR THEIR MAJESTIES

Final arrangements for the part of the 1,200 veterans of Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships will play during the visit of Their Majesties the King and Queen to this city Monday, June 12, will be made at a meeting held in the local Legion hall under the chairmanship of E. J. Struthers, of Rock Island.

The assembly which included the committee of E.T. veterans in charge of the event was featured by the presence of Lewis Grigg of the Sir Arthur Currie Branch of the Canadian Legion, Montreal, who gave many helpful suggestions based on observations made during the Royal visit to Montreal.

Fourteen different branches of Legion men will fall in at 10:30 on July 12th and will march from their assembly point behind the 54th Armory, Beaudette street, to their posts which will be designated by markers. Order in which the returned men will be placed, starting from the C.P.R. station and lining the two sides of Beaudette street, is as follows: Sherbrooke, Drummondville, Granby, Coaticook, Stanstead, Frontenac, Danville, Asbestos, Richmond, Burg-Secotown, Knowlton, East Angus, Magog, Wakefield, veterans from other E.T. points and a representation of returned men from Montreal.

Light blue berets with a yellow crown, of the same type as supplied at Montreal, will be issued to all the ex-service men and ex-service women who may not already have them. The City of Sherbrooke has already donated 1,000 of these berets and these will be issued by E. J. Struthers for Coaticook and Stanstead; Arthur Ruck for Magog; H. R. Cleveland for Danville, Asbestos and Richmond; W. W. Smith for Knowlton and W. W. McAnally for Sherbrooke, East Angus, Burg, Drummondville, Victoriaville, Thetford Mines and other sections.

A special space on the Court House grounds has been arranged for disabled veterans and for mothers, widows and wives of returned men to whom special cards will be issued. Transportation from the railway stations to this spot will also be looked after by the Sherbrooke Branch of the Canadian Legion.

Following dinner, a number of other details Chairman Struthers asked for co-operation in carrying out all arrangements in such a manner that the appearance and conduct of the veterans reflect credit on this section of the country.

Members of the veterans' committee present at the meeting were Col. M. W. McAnally, Col. K. B. Jencks and Arthur Ruck, of Sherbrooke; E.

CHANTECLERS TO SING FOR THEIR MAJESTIES

Les Chanteclers, well-known local vocalists directed by Hector St. Pierre, who have earned a splendid reputation for their selves throughout the Province, will be privileged to sing for King George and Queen Elizabeth when Their Majesties visit Sherbrooke on June 12, it was announced today.

Attired in their colorful costumes, the Chanteclers will be stationed at the Canadian Pacific platform and will sing God Save the King, in French, as the Sovereigns alight from the the Royal train. After the presentations to the King and Queen, the group will sing Abouette, famous French-Canadian song which met with Their Majesties' favor during their visit to Montreal.

Prior to the arrival of the Royal train, the Chanteclers will entertain the people gathered at the station to welcome Their Majesties.

J. Struthers, of Rock Island; W. W. Smith, of Granby; H. R. Cleveland, of Danville; William Buck, of Magog and Lewis Grigg, of Montreal.

Levis, Que., June 2.—(U)—Unveiling of a commemorative monument, which later will be removed from the station platform to a terrace perched high on the cliffside, will feature the Royal Visit June 12 to this city across the St. Lawrence river from Quebec.

Advised yesterday by Justice Minister Ernest Lapointe that the King and Queen would be unable to halt more than ten or fifteen minutes here on the cliffside, the Maritime Provinces' municipal officials decided to bring the 10,896-pound granite shaft to the station. They said the King, who will unveil the monument, would not have time to climb the cliff to the terrace.

Around the station to greet Their Majesties will be all the military corps of the district, school and college students and scout and cadet organizations. The Sixth Artillery Brigade will fire the Royal Salute of 21 guns.

It was expected that thousands of persons will cross the Maritime Quebec, where Their Majesties first set foot on Canadian soil May 17.

THE ROADS PROGRAMME

The motorists of the Province of Quebec, smarting under a two-cent boost in the gasoline levy by the Provincial Government, will take a limited measure of satisfaction in the announcement of a large-scale programme of road construction and improvement in all sections of the Province. Some of the proposed work is of a nature which should have been done years ago while other items on the programme represent new projects.

Perhaps the item which will be received with the most joy on the part of the harassed motorists is the rebuilding of the Sherbrooke-Magog section of the Sherbrooke-Montreal Highway. At the best of times this section of one of the heaviest-travelled highways in the Province has been anything but good, the surface going to rack and ruin within a few months of its construction. From time to time work of improvement has been undertaken with a flourish of trumpets but generally the drive lacked vigor and the work has been abandoned before any noticeable improvement has been achieved. This year, the highway is worse than ever, travel over the section being an actual menace to life, limb and property, and it is to be sincerely hoped that the fresh drive will prove more effective than its predecessors.

The rebuilding and realignment of the Sherbrooke-Norton Mills highway is also desirable, the rather narrow, curvy road now in use being insufficient for the volume of traffic which passes over it and which promises to grow steadily in the future.

Of course the proof of the pudding is in the eating and the efficacy of the programme is more dependent upon the manner in which it is carried out than in the paper plans prepared by the Department of Highways. For this, the motorist must wait patiently to see exactly what will happen.

PENSIONS FOR CABINET MINISTERS

The payment of pensions to cabinet ministers upon retirement, frequently urged in Canada, has been accepted in Eire, formerly known as the Irish Free State, where the members of the cabinet of former Premier William Cosgrave are already receiving pensions of $2,350 annually under the scheme accepted by all political parties. Cosgrave himself has ample private means and is not applying for his pension.

The provision of pensions is part of a widespread plan to better the condition of Eire parliamentarians, special allowances being made for clerical assistance to the leaders of the two main Opposition parties, Fine Gael and Labor, Cosgrave, the Fine Gael leader, receiving $3,760 and W. Norton, the Labor chief, $2,350.

Ordinary members of Parliament were unsuccessful in their claim for free postage, as it was considered open to grave abuses, but their allowances were increased from $1,692 annually to $2,256 with members of the Senate continuing at the former figure.

The qualifying period for a cabinet minister's pension is two years of service in the cabinet for which a life pension of $940 is payable, rising to a maximum of $2,350 for five years of service or over, with widows and children of ex-ministers also being entitled to pensions.

For some years, the payment of pensions for cabinet ministers has been the subject of much debate, instances being cited where many have given years of service to their country, either as members of the cabinet or of the Legislative branches, then being forced to continue in office owing to insufficient financial provision for old age. No good reason appears to exist why cabinet ministers should not get the same consideration as civil servants in the operation of pensions.

BRITISH AIR SUPREMACY

The determination of the British Government to achieve supremacy in the field of aviation is indicated by the recent flight of an eight-gun fighter from Paris to London at an average speed, including take-off and landing, of three hundred miles an hour. This was obtained with no help from the wind, which blew directly across the course followed, with the engine running at cruising speed. The maximum level speed of the plane with full military load is officially stated at 350 miles per hour.

The aeroplane was a standard machine as constructed in great numbers for the Royal Air Force, and was on view at the Paris air show. J. K. Quill, a test pilot, made the trip from Le Bourget to Croydon in forty-one minutes, nine minutes faster than the previous record—made by the same craft.

With several thousand of these machines either in the course of production or on order, it becomes readily apparent that Great Britain's rearmament programme is now on in earnest.

IS PADEREWSKI THROUGH?

Bent under the twin burdens of illness and old age, Ignace Jan Paderewski, a living immortal among musicians, is on the North Atlantic today, his musical career apparently ended. Despite the urgent need for money, the Maestro has admitted the inevitable. He acknowledges that his strength is gone and that it will be physically impossible for him to tour again.

Having given one fortune of $2,700,000 to the re-creation of Poland as an independent nation and hundreds of thousands more to other philanthropies, he had returned to the land of his first great financial success to refill his purse.

Stubbornly staving off illness, he played twenty of his twenty-five scheduled concerts—a trifling few when compared to the one hundred and seventeen he gave on his first North American tour nearly fifty years ago. In those days, when he was all but mobbed by an admiring public, he set box office records. He received $2,500 for each recital in 1892 and earned $118,000, a record for instrumentalists up to that time.

Thus, to all practical intents the world loses another individual who has done much to make the lot of his fellow-men happier and life brighter. Great as is the loss of his profession to Paderewski himself, the loss to the world is even greater.

LAWMAKERS AND LANGUAGE

While certain members of the Canadian House of Commons from time to time indulge in some highly descriptive verbiage in their efforts to describe the characteristics of their opponents, a list of five hundred words and phrases declared unparliamentary by various Speakers of New Zealand's House of Representatives indicates that they are not alone in this respect. Some of the choicest morsels contained in the list are:

A blasted lot of Shylocks.
Blow-fly minded.

A heart the size of a peanut, but of a harder substance.

The thick skull of a Minister of the Crown.
A giggling monkey.

A disgrace to the Scottish race.

Look in the mirror and see a donkey.

The face of the honorable member reminds me of a great cheese, out of which a yokel has taken a bite.

He never played a game that was not crooked.

Put a collar round your necks like dogs.

Judas Iscariot was a gentleman compared with the Government.

Nose so long that he trips over it.

Use a niblick to get out of a bad lie.

Single words ruled out by Speakers during a period of three years included: "Ananias," "ass," "scabs," "coward," "Barabbas," "anti-God," "cad," "common brute," "autocratic bully" and "political chameleon."

Evidently the legislators in New Zealand take their politics seriously—sometimes at least—with a resultant enrichment of a certain section of the language.

FROM THE PEN OF E. T. WRITERS

"A FAITHFUL PILGRIM."

Of a dear, and kindly Christian
May I speak a word of praise?
Who has served his Lord and Master
Since his early childhood days.
Life's aim has been the "Golden Rule"—
Could higher goal be sought?
A pupil, in its wondrous school
Fine lessons he has wrought.

He has trod the path of virtue
With precision, day by day,
And set forth a fine example
For sojourners by the way.
Of, he graced the choir in churches
For some sixty years, his true,
And hymned on high God's praises
In a manner justly due.

He is bed-fast now, yet happy,
For his Saviour is his Stay;
He awaits His call to service
In a higher, better way.
Still, his presence is a blessing
To his brethren, day by day;
He endures affliction bravely
In a truly Christian way.

As he journeys down Life's pathway
Towards its setting sun,
We are conscious that his duties
Have been always nobly done.
And his Saviour hovers nearer
As the evening shadows fall,
To that voyageur He's dearer
Than his earthly loved ones all.

When his work on earth is over
And he lays aside his care,
May he joy in heavenly mansions
To await his loved ones there.

CANADIAN PRESS

THE KING AND THE PRESS

(Brantford Expositor)

The verdict of the London newspapers is quite favorable in regard to the King's reception of Canadian and United States newspapermen in Ottawa. It was a distinct departure from the King's custom as he had never granted a conference to newspapermen in Britain, and British journalists had to come to Canada to enjoy this delightful interview. "The King is to be congratulated," said The News-Chronicle, "on cutting red tape and inviting American journalists to meet him. He could have chosen no better way of showing his humanity and commending himself to the hearts of the American people."

It was a master stroke of policy, and the King is to be commended for his good judgment in breaking down the barrier that has so far excluded newspaper representatives from personal interviews. In this regard the King showed himself to be a democratic sovereign with an earnest desire to come into close contact not only with the people of Canada, but also with those of the United States. One of the reasons why the monarchy has survived in Britain and in the British nations is that "the divinity that doth hedge a king" has been largely broken down, and the reigning sovereign has identified himself with all the interest of the common people. It is safe to say that henceforth not only in the Dominion, but also in the United States there will be an entirely different view taken of the relationship that exists between the monarch and his subjects. His Majesty's illustrious father, King George V, was known as a democratic king, but apparently his son, George VI, is resolved to even surpass him in this respect.

A TRAGEDY OF ITALY

(Port Arthur News-Chronicle)

Information which denies the claim of Premier Mussolini of Italy that his people are solidly behind him in his policies has been brought forward from time to time, particularly in the past few months. The latest to come to attention is given by a Port Arthur man, born in Italy, who fought in the Italian army in the Great War and came to Canada shortly afterward, leaving many relatives who still are there and from whom he hears from time to time.

This man referred to a recent issue of L'Unita del Popolo, an Italian-American weekly, published at New York and described as "dedicated to the cause of peace, tolerance and democracy."

Of six pages, the back page of the paper is printed in English, and on this page is the story of an officer of the Italian army, General Ascoli, who was required to give up his command because he was Jewish.

"The general obtained permission to call his soldiers together to bid them goodbye," the story relates. "Standing in military formation, the soldiers listened to their commander's parting words spoken with a voice filled with emotion and every now and then broken by unrestrained sobs. These were his parting words:

"My men, Brothers-in-arms, for the last time I obey. An order from my superiors compels me to leave the army, to which I have dedicated my entire life. I wish to express how my last farewell to the flag, I have always served with loyalty. Always and everywhere I have had a home and a greater, a nobler and a more beautiful Italy. Together with many of you I have known some terrible hours in the last campaign. With a broken heart I ask you to turn your gaze to our regimental banners so that I can send a heartfelt thought to those who have had the privilege to die while fighting."

"Soldiers, Above all, I bow before you by silence."

In this day and age, when allergy or the vitamin puts the mark of distinction on foodstuffs, a lot of our staples either fight it out with competitors or perish. It is survival of the fittest. The "spud" has survived.

It has not survived because it is good to taste or because it is sustained some sturdy races, or because it is a natural companion of meat. But Sir John Orr, the noted authority on diet, says it is good food. "Eat lots of potatoes," says Sir John. "They're not fattening. Milk and potatoes are almost perfect as a diet."

No longer can the potato be regarded as one of those sinister messengers of starch, those harbingers of obesity that keep thousands in suspense. Like white bread, it has been vindicated. Moreover, by becoming vaguely fashionable through this recent sanction, it should average itself in a revived acclaim.

fore the command of my superiors. If necessary, you must know how to die like heroes. Goodbye my men, goodbye."

The emotion of the soldiers was tremendous. The general then kissed the regimental flag for the last time, and screening his head in its folds he quickly grabbed his gun, shot himself in the right temple and fell dead."

OUR WHEAT CUSTOMERS

(Winnipeg Free Press)

It must not be forgotten in the midst of the present public controversy over wheat that Canada has more than its farmers to worry over. Our customers are also to be considered. If the world will not buy Canadian wheat, it is obvious that all plans of acreage bonus, subsidy, fixed price and what not, become mere relief plans. The essence of the problem is to persuade our customers to use more and more Canadian wheat. If that becomes possible, the rest of the problem will ultimately disappear of itself. For this reason the views and opinions of the men in Europe who buy and use our wheat deserve a consideration which has been somewhat obscured by the domestic controversy over the form which the necessary assistance to farmers shall take. These two aspects of the problem are closely related. Indeed, any study of past years shows that there is a definite and vital connection between them.

THE POTATO WINS

(Hamilton Spectator)

Hoi polloi of the vegetable world, the democratic potato has been beamed upon by science.

In this day and age, when allergy or the vitamin puts the mark of distinction on foodstuffs, a lot of our staples either fight it out with competitors or perish. It is survival of the fittest. The "spud" has survived.

It has not survived because it is good to taste or because it is sustained some sturdy races, or because it is a natural companion of meat. But Sir John Orr, the noted authority on diet, says it is good food. "Eat lots of potatoes," says Sir John. "They're not fattening. Milk and potatoes are almost perfect as a diet."

THE OTHER PRODUCERS

(Trenton News)

Is it fair to pick the Western wheat farmer out and tell him that he is to be guaranteed a satisfactory price for his product and then for this Government to turn its back on others?

What about the dairymen, the orchardists and the other farmers of Canada? What about the fishermen, many whom are in dire want? What about the miners and the lumbermen? All of these workers are essential to Canadian development, all have suffered serious financial setbacks, but none has had the price of their product guaranteed by the Government.

EXPENSIVE CUSTOMER

(Regina Leader-Post)

Six months ago a Portland, Maine, man was jailed for non-payment of a poll tax of three dollars. Then somebody got to figuring a little. After six months in the calaboose, this gentleman had cost the community about $100. He was released, without having paid the tax. Everything then stood as at first, except that the community was out $100. Thus thirty-three citizens had to pay their poll tax to provide the money for a vain effort to collect it from the thirty-fourth. It costs money to enforce the law, but if you are going to have laws they have to be enforced.

Secretary, American Contract Bridge League

FINE DEFENSIVE PLAY MAKES OLYMPIC HAND NO. 13 A JINX TO DECLARER

This is hand No. 13 of the 1939 World Bridge Olympic contest, conducted by the American Contract Bridge League. Each hand involves a definite principle in bidding or play.

1. If North opens the bidding with one club, should East make an informative double, or bid spades or diamonds?
2. If East plays the contract at four spades, what card should South lead?
3. What card should North play to trick two?
4. If the second club lead is ruffed by East with the ten of spades, should South overruff?

Solution to Bridge Quiz

1. East should bid two or three spades over one club. To double might lead his partner to believe that he held high card tricks and the double might therefore be left in for penalty.
2. South must make the natural lead of his singleton club. His partner has bid clubs, and this will give South an opportunity to ruff a club and possibly defeat the contract.
3. Even though North counts East out of clubs, he should return a club. The lead of the deuce by his partner clearly marks him for a singleton, and North wants to give his partner a chance to overruff the declarer. He should lead either the ace or ten of clubs, to indicate that after ruffing, his partner should lead a heart. This is the suit-directing play. 4. South must not overruff, but should discard one of his diamonds. Then when declarer leads the king of spades, South should win with the ace and return a heart. Now when the third club is played by North, South's nine of spades will be established for the trick that will defeat the contract.

An ungrateful woman is detested by all; everyone feels hurt by her conduct because it operates to throw a damp upon generosity, and she is regarded as the common injurer of all those who stand in need of assistance.—Cicero.

Mrs. Sydney Bayles received word that her mother, Mrs. Gignilliat, passed away yesterday morning at the home of her son, Mr. T. H. Gignilliat, in Savannah, Georgia.

Mrs. W. O. Robney and Mrs. Roderick MacLeay are among the Sherbrooke ladies representing the W.M.S. of Plymouth Church, at the annual meeting of the Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbyterian, now in session in the Ancient Capital.

Word has been received of the sudden death of Mr. E. F. Shurtliff, only brother of Mrs. W. B. Le Baron, of Sherbrooke, who passed away on Tuesday at the home of his daughter, Miss Dorothy Shurtliff, in Boston, Mass.

Mrs. John Rowe and her daughter, Joan, of Portadown, County Armagh, Ireland, arrived on Monday on the S.S. Andania, and will spend the summer with the former's sister, Mrs. John Scott, and Mr. Scott, London street.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pease, Richmond, Que., announce the engagement of their elder daughter, Alta Grace, to Alexander Jonathan Fowler, Lennoxville, Que., elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Fowler, Kingsbury, Que. The marriage will take place early in July.

Mrs. R. F. Morris, "Prospect House," entertained at bridge yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. J. B. Beach, of Montreal, who is her house guest. Tea was served in the dining room, Miss Hunt presiding at the table, which was lovely with yellow tulips and polyanthus in a crystal basket.

Mrs. L. L. Heath, of Waterville, has left by motor for a trip through the New England States, where she will visit friends and relatives.

Miss Doris Cilles is leaving this afternoon for Montreal to attend the Harvey-Conner wedding which is taking place tomorrow in St. Stephen's Church, Westmount. Miss Cilles will be accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. W. Cilles, Mrs. A. E. Cilles, Miss Noreen Dunsmore and Miss Kay McLennan.

Mrs. Gedeon Nadeau, Mrs. Charles de L. Mignault and Mrs. J. Roy entertained at a delightful luncheon at the Sherbrooke Country Club yesterday in honor of Miss Germaine Denault, a June bride-to-be. Covers were laid for twenty-three, the table being attractively centred with yellow tulips in a Sheffield rose bowl.

Among those from out of town who were here to attend the last obsequies for Mrs. D. C. Hallett were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mathews, Thorold, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wood, Bloomfield, N.J.; Miss Constance Lewis, R.N., Montreal; Mrs. John Westgate, Mrs. L. Woods and Miss T. Woods, Sawyerville, and Mrs. Augustus Barter, Crossbury.

Miss Catharine Speid, of Lennoxville, who has spent the past year abroad, is a passenger on the Duchess of Bedford, arriving in Montreal tomorrow. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Speid, left by motor this morning for the metropolis to meet the traveller, who will accompany them home to Lennoxville.

MAKE SURE YOUR VACATION WILL BE REALLY YOURS

All over the country nice-looking young women who work hard for their pay checks are figuring how they are going to spend the money they have managed to put aside for a vacation.

Many of them are going to be disappointed in their two weeks' worth of being "away from it all."

The timid girl will fall in with some friend's plan, and spend her precious time hiking in the Ozarks when she's much rather be hiking down Fifth Avenue.

The girl who hasn't saved as much as she meant to will try to take a longer trip than she can manage luxuriously—and her vacation will be as filled with skipping as the rest of the year.

The girl who lives at home will let her family talk her into putting her vacation money into a World's Fair trip, made in the family car. There'll be too much baggage, too much family, too much discussion—and too much supervision.

No girl can guarantee herself an exciting, eventful vacation, but any girl can avoid the most obvious risks to one.

If she teaches school, she can make up her mind not to vacation with another school teacher. To go with some girl who does an entirely different kind of work—a nurse, a reporter, a receptionist, anyone whose everyday interests are different from her own. Or she can go alone.

No matter who she is or how she travels, she can take herself in hand and buy the smartest-looking travelling clothes she can afford. Nothing exciting is going to happen to a girl who decides to travel in something old, "because travelling is so hard on clothes."

And if she has a grain of humor, she'll make her own decision about "speaking to strangers." Of course, the "etiquettarians" tell her not to, but they shrug off the responsibility for telling her how else she can find a little excitement.

Well, have a wonderful time. And do forget to write.

SHOW QUEEN'S DOLLS

London.—Toys belonging to Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose, one of Queen Victoria's dolls, a dress which Victoria made herself and some things of Queen Elizabeth's from Glamis are among the exhibits at a charity showing opening to the public at 145 Piccadilly, London, June 28. This was the home of the King and Queen as Duke and Duchess of York.

Dainty Frills Don't Go Well With Weather-Beaten Faces

Dark brown coats of tan or sunburned, peeling noses will have no place in the beauty picture next summer. Frilly, feminine clothes will be as important then as they are now. But with them, a complexion which looks weather-beaten, or even slightly neglected, will be positively incongruous.

This, then, is the time to decide not to let your enthusiasm for early spring sunshine get the better of you. Play golf or go fishing or picnicking every week-end, of course, but keep your hair covered, at least during the hours when the sun is brightest and hottest. Otherwise, you'll have to spend vast sums on reconditioning treatments next September.

Use a sunburn preventive on your face, neck, arms and hands. A red, peeling nose just isn't attractive even though it proves that you aren't the kind of a woman who spends sunny week-ends in the house.

A coat of copper-colored tan may set off your denim frills, but it won't do much for your navy town suit and the frosty white touches.

For active sports, you might use a liquid sunburn preventive which is slightly oily, a touch of rouge, bright lipstick and no powder. This kind of makeup is especially nice on brunettes. A blonde might use a preparation which is a sunburn preventive, a foundation and a powder, all in one, bright lipstick and no rouge.

Gone are the days when all suntan preparations were excessively oily, sticky or otherwise unpleasant. Today, the oily ones are lightly, pleasantly oily. The greaseless ones do not make your face feel uncomfortable. There are lotions, oils, creams and liquid powder types from which to pick and choose. They protect your skin from the burning rays of the sun, but they do not make you look like a scarecrow while you have them on.

His mother tells him that the police will get him. It neither scares him nor deters him.

To get the reaction of another mother, I asked her what she would do in this case. She answered at once, "Just what she is doing. It is a clear case of kleptomania."

We shall discount that. There are kleptomaniacs in the world, that we know, but the rate is low, as compared with the amount of petty stealing that goes on. Kleptomaniacs get a thrill out of stealing for stealing's sake.

They love it, even if the thing stolen is of no use to them. It is a perversion they cannot help, usually, because normal experiences do not satisfy. They know they are breaking the law and all the rules of fair play, but they crave that.

This child of seven has not reached that stage. He is still normal enough. In time, however, he may transfer the thrill and motive for his actions to that of the act itself. This is dangerous.

Base Vacation Wardrobe On Sports Togs

The chic woman builds her vacation and week-end wardrobe on a foundation of classic sports clothes—the kind of outfits that do not become dated after one season, or even three, and of which she doesn't tire all too quickly.

A simple, perfectly tailored sports suit in a good quality light-weight wool and some equally well-tailored flannel slacks which may be worn with the suit coat form an ideal backbone for any sports wardrobe. Given these as a nucleus, any wise shopper can build an adequate wardrobe for any kind of holiday, from a casual week-end in the country to a long vacation at a swank resort.

It takes careful planning, of course. And a preference for a few few things of excellent quality rather than a wide variety of "novelties."

Before you buy a single item, make two complete lists. One of the sports clothes you know you can buy, and the other of the clothes you would like to have eventually. The color schemes selected for the first list should be followed, or at least kept in mind, as you make the second.

Items Should Be Interchangeable. For example, if you can have a suit, slacks, one sweater and one blouse right now, be sure that the pieces are interchangeable. You ought to plan to wear the sweater and the blouse with the skirt as well as with the slacks. And, of course, the suit coat ought to be perfect when worn with the slacks.

Later on, you'll buy a separate sports coat, perhaps in a plaid, check or striped woollen. You'll be able to wear it with slacks or suit skirt. If the time comes when you feel that you can afford another skirt, let it be in a color that harmonizes with the plain jacket and the more recently acquired plaid.

Never let bargains tempt you to buy a sweater or blouse in a shade which cannot be worn with everything you have. That is, unless your budget is unlimited.

Fill in With Accessories. Once you have the basic sports clothes, you can begin to acquire small, less expensive novelties with which to make the classic look quite different from time to time. A smart little halter, a gay bandanna, a smart and unusual belt, a cotton knit sweater, a printed cotton bolero—these, and similar types of accessories, are what you'll be looking out for.

As your one vacation and week-end evening gown, you may choose a foundation type of dress in a sheer, soft, chiffon wool. It won't wrinkle when packed and, without looking

These interchangeable sports clothes of good woollens make a vacation and weekend wardrobe which will give years of service. The gray flannel slacks are shown with a pale yellow cashmere sweater and a brown and white tweed jacket. The white suit, right, is worn with a soft green blouse in lightweight wool. The plaid jacket is stunning with the white suit skirt. The green blouse is perfect with the slacks. There are endless mixing possibilities.

News Of Women's Clubs

Mrs. Walter S. Sutherland, president of the Women's Association of Plymouth Church, occupied the chair yesterday afternoon when the members assembled in the church hall to settle all business prior to adjourning until the autumn.

Final preparations for the "garden fête" to be given at Rockmount on June 22nd, was the chief concern of the members, who together with society en masse anticipated with pleasure this annual event, made possible through the kindness of Mrs. Andrea Paton Robinson, whose courtesy is very much appreciated.

After the meeting tea was served informally on the lawn, Mrs. F. A. C. Dossie and Mrs. F. S. Rugg acting as the impromptu hostesses.

CHILDREN'S PETTY THIEVERY IS OFTEN JUST THEIR EFFORT TO STEAL THE SPOTLIGHT

A mother is broken-hearted because her seven-year-old son has learned to steal. She asks me to tell her what to do. So far, she has punished him severely but it doesn't do any good.

It seems that he takes things to give away, such as pens from the teachers' desk, pennies from her purse and flowers from a neighbor's garden. In every instance he has given the "presents" to other children.

His mother tells him that the police will get him. It neither scares him nor deters him.

To get the reaction of another mother, I asked her what she would do in this case. She answered at once, "Just what she is doing. It is a clear case of kleptomania."

Yesterday's session of the thirteenth annual meeting of Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbyterian in conference for three days in Quebec City was of especial interest as delegates from the Eastern Townships figure largely in the list of officers elected for the coming year.

The slate elected yesterday includes Mrs. E. C. James, Danville, president; Mrs. F. A. Johnston, Ayer's Cliff, first vice-president; Mrs. W. E. Johnston, Ulverton, second vice-president; Mrs. B. Malloch, Sutton, third vice-president; Mrs. C. C. Gilbert, Richmond, fourth vice-president; Mrs. E. C. Woodley, Quebec, fifth vice-president; Mrs. A. E. Swogher, Magog, recording secretary; Mrs. W. A. Edwards, Hatley, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. George Hall, Sherbrooke, treasurer.

high marks and being monitor. There is Sam, with money to treat the kids. And Herby who has a dozen aunts all thinking that Herby is the salt of the earth.

The teacher tells our small Jimmy that he is away behind in his reading. The class may laugh when he gets up to stutter over his lesson. The boys won't let him play because he is considered an outsider. Maybe one of the crowd does not like Jimmy or is jealous of him and starts propaganda that makes him the butt of the whole room. Maybe he has a lot to contend with at home, as well as at school. His family may be "different," of another race or religion or nationality.

Buy Others' Favor. Jimmy gets desperate. He has to satisfy the drive in every child's mind, of establishing himself in the good graces of his classmates. He tries to bring his stock up to par. So he gives presents.

At first, the youngsters who so cruelly neglected him are delighted and amazed. That's just grand. He tries it again. That is his mistake. They get onto him. He never thinks of that. No child of seven looks ahead or weighs the consequences of his actions much. He will take tons of punishment, for it is worth it, he figures, to know that he has attracted the attention he hungers for.

He needs to be shown that stealing will not pay, and that any sort of thief won't have a friend left.

NO ALPACA GRANNY. Salzburg.—Regarded as Germany's oldest inveterate motorist, though she got her license just four years ago, Frau Betty Reithner, seventy-six, nearly every day goes for a long drive with her three "girl friends," their ages totalling three hundred years.

Given a foundation evening gown of sheerest wool, like the soft blue one shown here, and several per little jackets, any girl will be nicely fixed for summer weekends in the country. The striped taffeta jacket, above at right, comes in red, white and blue, summer's patriotic color combination. The lumberjack model, below, is of white eyelet pique. The feather cape, in the model's hand, is in a gay shade of rose.

NORTH HATLEY GUILD PLANS A ROYALTY TEA

Ladies' Guild of St. Barnabas Church Studies Arrangements for Musicales and Play—Will Bring Waterville Play Here.

North Hatley, June 2.—The Ladies' Guild held their regular fortnightly meeting in the St. Barnabas Guild Hall. The president opened the meeting with prayer and the minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

Final arrangements were made for the Royalty musicale and tea to be held in the Community rooms, and it was also arranged to present a play, "Deacon Dubbs," by the Waterville A.Y.P.A. in the near future.

A special feature of the afternoon was the presentation of a luncheon to Mrs. George Rediger prior to her departure for Shawinigan. Mrs. E. H. Clark made the presentation, expressing the appreciation of the Guild members to Mrs. Rediger for all her assistance during the time she has lived in North Hatley, and their regret at her departure. Canon Roy also expressed regret as she will be missed in the church as well as in the Guild.

A picnic lunch was served by Mrs. C. Reed and Mrs. F. Auger.

Christian Science

Entitled
Christian Science: The Law of God
Demonstrating Substance and Supply by

Judge Frederick C. Hill, C.S.B., of Los Angeles, California
Member of the Board of Lecturership of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

In the Church Edifice, Montreal street, last evening. The speaker was introduced by Miss Eva Mallory.

The history of the human race is an unfolding record of mankind's endeavor to grasp the meaning of substance and supply and thereby acquire a sufficient amount of something to meet his needs and demands. The results of this endeavor have been the establishment of laws regarding the acquiring of property; the ownership and the possession thereof; and the universal belief that substance is a material thing needing an owner. The supply is regarded as limited. Some have abundance; and some have nothing. Between these extremes is a vast throng ceaselessly engaged in laborious effort to get something and to hold it in possession, upon the assumption that "life, substance, and intelligence" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 43) reside in matter.

Religion has been an important factor in the affairs of mankind, and from canonical writings the fact is disclosed that substance and supply are to be found in the mental realm, and not in the material world. The Bible's injunction is, "Get wisdom; and with all this getting get understanding." "Honor the Lord with thy substance," and in so doing there is sure reward. "So shall thy barns be filled with plenty, and thy presses shall burst out with new wine."

No doubt the masses were just as confused then as they are now. Instead of knowing and understanding substance, mankind has believed and accepted something that life, substance, and intelligence are in matter—and this believing has separated him from God; hence, the need for salvation, the need for a redeemer.

The greatest event in human history occurred nineteen centuries ago when a child was born in Bethlehem of Judea. About thirty years later, that child, now grown to manhood, appeared as a prophet, preaching the gospel, healing the sick, and laying the basis for the redemption of mankind. As a result, the Christian religion has come down to us to use in the life which we "live in the flesh." The Christ, Truth, is destroying that ancient belief of a big God up in the skies and a little man down on the earth, and is establishing man's at-one-ment with God.

Enter Christian Science

About the middle of the nineteenth century, Mary Baker Eddy, through her spiritual insight, caught the import of Christ Jesus' profound saying, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly," and through proof and demonstration there came to her the revelation, "All is infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation, for God is All-in-all." (Science and Health, p. 468.) This revelation constitutes a challenge to the idea of the big God and the little man. It brought about a religious revolution throughout the world, and it furnishes a working basis for the establishment of understanding in place of belief.

Some Objections

The objection is sometimes raised that Christian Science is difficult and hard to understand. You are not asked to believe anything that you do not understand. You are asked to accept the fact that "All is infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation." The knowledge of this divine fact destroys belief and places you well on the way toward its demonstration.

For many centuries the earth was believed to be a flat surface. The material senses confirmed that belief. It was almost universally accepted. How many blinking individuals now accept that belief? Demonstration has presented the proof of its falsity, and the belief has almost disappeared. No one ever knew that the earth was flat. No one can ever know that which is untrue. Hence, in Mrs. Eddy's revelation of the allness of Mind and its manifestation we have the basis of perfect God and perfect man from which to demonstrate the all-inclusiveness of that which is good and the nothingness of everything that is unlike and opposed to good.

The divine fact is that which is good is real; and that which is not good is unreal. Then in this life which we "live in the flesh," we are continually making decisions; striving to separate the good from the evil; holding to the good and casting out evil. This is a perpetual unfolding. Is it difficult? It is natural and normal. It is Christian Science—"the law of God, the law of good," operating in your human experience. As the law of God operates in human consciousness, the nature and character of God unfolds. This unfolding is going on and will continue to redeem human consciousness. "The objects of time and sense disappear in the illumination of spiritual understanding, and Mind measures time according to the good that is unfolded." (Science and Health, p. 584.)

God and Man—Belief About

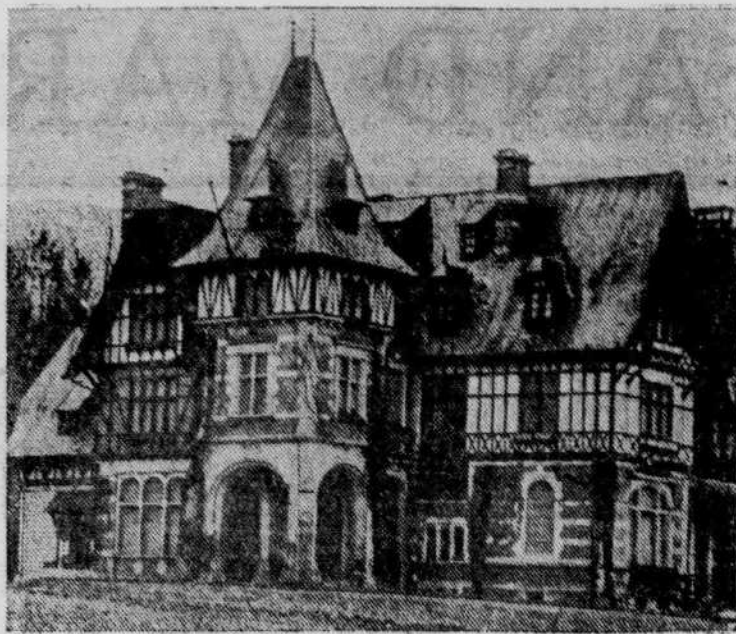

As human consciousness is re-deemed, clearer and more correct views of God are obtained. It follows as a necessary result that the right understanding of man is gained through the knowledge of God.

Mrs. Eddy makes it very plain that God is Mind, Soul, Spirit, substance, Principle, Life, Truth, and Love. There is nothing difficult about this to understand. God is Mind—not God with a mind. God is Spirit—not God with a spirit. God is Life—not God with a life. A religious revolution was impending the moment Mrs. Eddy gave to the world the revelation that God is Mind, God has never changed, but man's belief about him has been undergoing continual changes until at this moment your understanding of God, to some extent, has set aside some false belief about him.

HAVEN OF ROYAL EXILES MAY GET A NEW TENANT

Beautiful Chateau de Neuhaus, right, at Spa, Belgium, famous as a home for royal refugees, is being prepared for guests—reportedly for Crown Prince Umberto of Italy, left above. His reputed anti-Fascist sentiments are said to have aroused Mussolini's displeasure to the point where exile of the Prince is imminent.

There is nothing wrong with man; and there is nothing wrong with the life of man. That which causes all the trouble is our belief about man, and this is due to a false claim of a mind opposed to the one and only Mind. This so-called mind is termed mortal mind. It is the sum total of all evil.

Demonstrating Supply

It must be remembered that what Jesus did is within the reach of anyone who attains the same degree of spiritual understanding. In feeding the multitude, walking on the water, healing the sick, and raising the dead he was proving the allness of Spirit. That spiritual law is the law of annihilation to the false beliefs opposed to Spirit, as manifested through human consciousness. He established the fact of one consciousness, the consciousness of Spirit. In this consciousness there is no scarcity, no object or thing through which it can operate, and no law to support or sustain a claim of scarcity. He established the fact that the belief about gravitation could not operate as a law to prevent him from being where he ought to be. He proved the omnipresence of infinite Life. He proved that individual life could not be destroyed, because it is the manifestation of everlasting Life, God.

When his disciples would send the multitude away because of their belief in the scarcity of food he took what they had, fed the five thousand to the extent of their needs, and gathered up the remnants, even more than the original supply at hand.

You must understand, just as Jesus did, that this material world and the material body are beliefs. Mind, Spirit, which is God, is the only substance and the only supply; and that this supply is infinite and omnipresent.

The idea of God as infinite, omnipresent supply appeals to you because it is your instinctive desire, as His idea, to have and to possess it. You seek God and you find man; because man is idea, reflecting Mind. You would not find man by seeking man; and so while your instinctive desire for supply is natural, you cannot find supply by seeking it in matter. You must get supply by seeking God—Spirit; as you find God, Spirit—you have substance—supply. It has no relationship to materiality and cannot be associated with it in any way, because supply is idea. As used in Christian Science, idea is not the idea of or about something. It is the fact. God, Mind, expresses His infinite Being in ideas. Ideas are imperishable, tangible, present, real. Even from a human standpoint, ideas are everywhere, all of the time. To illustrate: two times two is four, where you are now. You make a long journey to China, you do not have to send two times two four there for your use upon arrival. It is there now before you start, and it will be there upon your return.

The divine fact is that supply is idea in divine Mind; it is infinite, imperishable, tangible, real, present. It is where you, God's child, are all the time. You have it now, but you must claim it. Your understanding and application of that divine fact operates as an immutable law upon the human sense of mind and body, and fear, doubt, anxiety, lest your supply become limited and exhausted will abate. You are demonstrating supply. You are proving that "Science reverses the false testimony of the physical senses, and by this reversal mortals arrive at the fundamental facts of being" (Science and Health, p. 120).

Business—Employment

The question may come to you, "If my supply is a spiritual fact, then have I a business or an occupation?" The normal things which we perceive in daily life indicate or bear evidence that divine facts, divine ideas, exist as the only realities.

You are engaged in that which mortal mind says is your business, or occupation. That should indicate something to you. It should indicate that as mortal mind sees a business as something, located at some place, so your real business is a divine fact, existing as idea in Mind, fully established as a good business promoted by divine intelligence and operating according to immutable law. This is the fact about your business. In the morning as you go to that place which you call your business, know the fact regarding business. Recognize continually that you reflect the intelligence of infinite Mind, and by reflection you possess the necessary ability to manage and direct that business successfully. That course of action will establish in your consciousness the operation of divine law governing and controlling business; and the so-called human belief of supply and demand will yield to the divine fact of infinite supply meeting every human need.

If you are out of a job, and need to be employed, hold to the fact that as the reflection of divine Mind you have something to give. Declare the fact that what you have to give is necessary, useful and good; that you are here to serve some useful purpose. As you go out to look for a position, become conscious of the

FINE DEBATE WAS ENJOYED AT ULVERTON

Appreciative Audience Hears Debate by Intermediate School Pupils in Dunkerley Memorial Hall—Prizes Presented.

Ulverton, June 2.—A very interesting debate was listened to by an appreciative audience in the Dunkerley Memorial Hall when the subject, "Resolved that the forests are of more benefit to Canada than the mines," was upheld by the Misses Gwerith Massey, Helen Massey and Laurie Fraser and opposed by Elwyn N. Doyle, Miss Aleta Hughes and Kenneth Patrick, pupils of the Intermediate school.

Many excellent points were brought out by the speakers on both sides. The pastor of the United Church, Rev. W. E. Johnston, the pastor of the Anglican Church, Rev. Denton, and Mayor J. Gordon Smith acted as judges and decided in favor of the negative side, to the entire approval of the audience, which was evidenced by the applause when Rev. Denton announced the decision.

The individual prize, the 1933 Commissioners' Silver Cup, was to be given to the best debater in the opinion of the judges, who had difficulty in choosing between Aleta Hughes and Elwyn Doyle and only decided in favor of Miss Hughes because Mr. Doyle having had the advantage of speaking first on the negative side, being the leader, while the disadvantage of being the second speaker on the negative side fell to Miss Hughes.

First and second prizes also were donated by Mr. and Mrs. C. Lyster, of Toronto, the former a graduate from the Ulverton Model School, to Miss Hughes and Mr. Doyle. The proceeds from a silver collection and sale of home-made candy is a donation to the Red Cross Society.

Mr. Albert Harriman acted as chairman for the evening. The collection was received by Messrs. Lorne Boggs and Elton Doyle and the candy was sold in bags by girls of the school. The evening was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem with Mrs. Arthur Lyster at the organ.

BRIDE-TO-BE FETED

An enjoyable social event was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Oote and family when Mrs. Oote and Mrs. A. M. Weare were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower for Miss Marjorie Johnston, a very popular bride-to-be. Over fifty friends of Miss Johnston were present.

Miss Vera Massey and Miss Nina Weare carried in a large basket, prettily decorated in rose and green and full of gifts, and presented it to Miss Johnston, who was seated between her mother, Mrs. Clifford Johnston, and grandmother, Mrs. Charles Nixon, on the chaise longue, which was also decorated in rose and green with streamers to the ceiling adorned with bells.

After the gifts had been opened, passed around and admired by all, Miss Johnston thanked her friends for their remembrances in a very gracious manner. The color scheme was repeated in the dining room with streamers from the ceiling to the table, which was centred with a very prettily decorated three-layer bride's shower cake which, with other delectable refreshments, was served by the hostesses, assisted by some of the ladies.

General Note

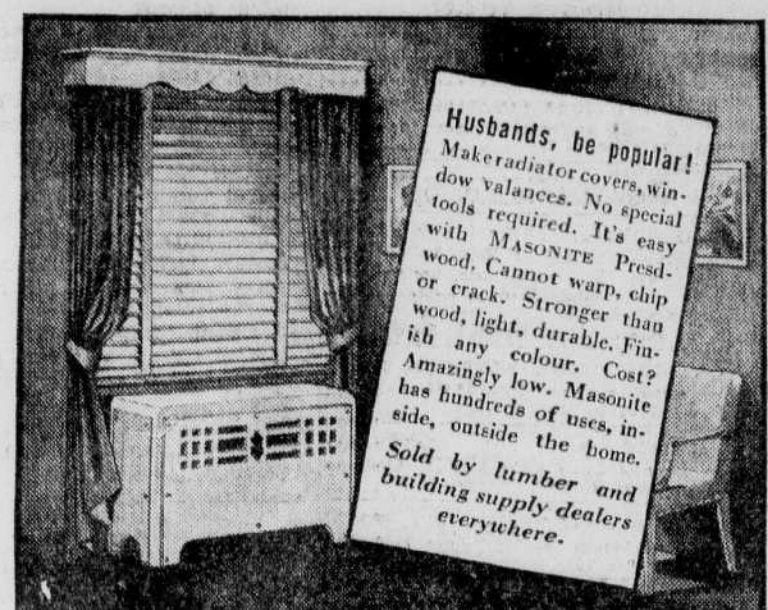

Mr. Peter Millar, of Richmond, spent a few days with Mrs. Millar and Miss Mary Millar.

Major and Mrs. Howard Rick and family, of Montreal, were weekend guests of Mrs. W. H. Rick.

Mrs. Forrest Hughes spent a few days in Montreal and St. Lambert with relatives.

The sympathy of this community goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Skillen in their bereavement by the death of their sister, Miss L. A. Skillen, in California, to Miss Jessie Skillen with whom she had made her home, and to other members of the family.

Rev. W. E. Johnston and Mr. J. Gordon Smith accompanied Mrs. Johnston and son, Allen, to Montreal, whence they sailed on the S.S. Montclair for Ireland, where they will visit Belfast. The best wishes of her many friends accompany Mrs. Johnston and son on their voyage.

SIX TEAMS ARE SET FOR START IN INDUSTRIAL

Mitchell's, Canadian Silk Products and Kayser Second Admitted to Industrial Softball League — Opening Monday Night.

Six teams will compete this year in the Industrial Softball League, which opens activities on Monday, June 5th, with a two-game programme. The championship will be battled for by Superheaters, last year's title-holders, Fairbanks and Rand, all of last year's circuit, and Mitchell's, Canadian Silk Products and Kayser second, newcomers to the league.

Officials of the circuit are W. McCabe, president, G. MacKay, vice-president, and Ernie Taylor, secretary-treasurer. The race for the championship should be a wide-open affair, since the Elscro squad will field only four of last season's champions.

Mitchell's will tangle with Superheaters Monday on the Fairbanks diamond while Canadian Silk Products will meet the Rand on the latter team's home diamond. At the Fairbank field the George W. Murphy cup will be presented to Elscro outfit, and it is expected G. S. Thompson, plant manager of the Superheater, will toss the first ball.

Complete list of games: Monday, June 5 — Mitchell's vs. Superheater at Fairbanks; Canadian Silk vs. Rand at Rand.

Wednesday, June 7 — Fairbanks vs. Kayser at Rand; Canadian Silk vs. Superheater at Fairbanks; Kayser vs. Rand at Rand; Mitchell's vs. Superheater at Rand; Fairbanks vs. Mitchell's at Rand.

Thursday, June 8 — Superheater vs. Fairbanks at Fairbanks; Kayser vs. Canadian Silk at Dufresne Park; Rand vs. Mitchell's at Rand.

Tuesday, June 13 — Superheater vs. Rand at Rand; Canadian Silk vs. Fairbanks at Fairbanks.

Wednesday, June 14 — Kayser vs. Mitchell's at Rand.

Thursday, June 15 — Rand vs. Fairbanks at Fairbanks; Superheater vs. Kayser at Rand; Mitchell's vs. Canadian Silk at Dufresne Park.

Friday, June 16 — Canadian Silk vs. Superheater at Fairbanks; Kayser vs. Rand at Rand; Fairbanks vs. Mitchell's at Rand; Rand vs. Canadian Silk at Dufresne Park; Kayser vs. Fairbanks at Fairbanks.

Monday, June 26 — Fairbanks vs. Superheater at Fairbanks; Canadian Silk vs. Kayser at Rand; Grounds; Mitchell's vs. Rand at Rand.

Thursday, June 29 — Rand vs. Superheater at Fairbanks; Fairbanks vs. Canadian Silk at Dufresne Park; Mitchell's vs. Kayser at Rand.

Monday, July 3 — Fairbanks vs. Superheater at Fairbanks; Kayser vs. Superheater at Fairbanks.

Wednesday, July 5 — Canadian Silk vs. Mitchell's at Parade Grounds.

IT'S A WONDERFUL WORLD

GERTRUDE GELBIN

RESUME

Guy Johnson, detective, earns a hundred dollars a week for looking after William (Willie the Pooh) Heyward, society scion with an endless capacity for Scotch highballs. Willie celebrates his fortieth birthday by marrying Vivian Brown. Dolores Gonzales, his former flame, has a raft of letters that spell trouble for Willie. At Willie's request, Guy recovers the letters. Next day, Guy notices an item in the Personal Column of a newspaper signed HALF-A-DIME. Guy vaguely recalls that the new Mrs. Heyward has a charm bracelet of coins, one of which is a half dime. Phoned that Willie is off on a drinking rampage, Guy sets out to find his boss. He finds Willie at Dolores' apartment. But Dolores lies dead on the floor; and Willie, in a drunken stupor, holds a smoking gun in his hand. Guy finds a half a dime lying on the floor next to Dolores' body.

CHAPTER TWO

DUMMYHAND

Guy Johnson peered cautiously up and down the deserted dock, then climbed aboard the large yacht lying at anchor. Willie Hey-

"Lay 'em down, Lockstep."

ward looked up at him from the lounge in the main salon. "Oh, it's you," he greeted. "How are you feeling?" Guy asked. "No good," Willie frowned. "Listen, Guy, I'm getting nervous." "Who isn't?" the other demanded. "How do you think I felt when the papers for nothing. Personal item. That's cold. There's nothing in any of 'em. And I've taken all the chances I'm going to." "I'll give you fifty grand if you pull me out of this," Willie pleaded. "Are you guilty?" Guy demanded brusquely. "No," yelled Willie. "I've told you a dozen times—somebody shot her in the dark and put the gun in my hand. Johnson, I'll give you a hundred grand—if you can find out who did it—sides me—"

"Put it in writing," answered Guy. "Done and done," Willie replied. He scribbled to a desk and began drawing up a quick contract. "This is legal—you needn't worry. I'm a lawyer on the side—"

"There's one slim chance," Guy said thoughtfully. He took from his pocket the half dime he had found next to Dolores' body. "What's the chance?" Willie asked eagerly.

"That this half a dime belongs to your bride."

"Vivian?" Willie started. "What are you talking about?" "Vivian—or some pal of hers—"

"You're mad!" Willie cried. "Vivian loves me—"

"She'd love you even more if you were to burn in the chair and she collected ten millions as your widow. You were framed, Willie—"

"The frame was a husband in a baker's dozen of criminals. The trial brought visitors from all the surrounding States. And the wheels of justice ground on. The hand-picked jury sentenced William (Willie the Pooh) Heyward to die for the murder of Dolores Gonzales. Private Detective Guy Johnson was sentenced to one year in Sing Sing for obstructing justice in the capture of Willie the Pooh."

On board the train heading for Sing Sing, four men sat playing bridge. One was a detective in plain clothes; the second was Lt. Miller. The third was Sgt. Koretz; and handcuffed to the latter was Guy Johnson, en route to serve his sentence.

Guy studied his hand as if he had no other concern in the world. A porter sidled up to him. "Here's your paper, boss," he said and handed Guy a late edition of a New York newspaper.

"Thanks," Johnson placed the paper on the seat beside him. "I'm going to be sorry to lose you as a partner, Johnson," Miller laughed. "You play very well." He eyed his cards. "I bid one spade."

"I double one spade," Koretz announced. Guy looked up. "I bid six spades." The fourth man passed. Koretz doubled the bid. "I redouble," Guy said blandly. "I didn't give you much help, partner," Miller warned. "That's alright," smiled Guy. "It's a psychic bid."

"Lay 'em down, Lockstep," Koretz ordered. Guy put his hand down on the table. Miller stared at it with mounting rage. "Listen you! Have you gone crazy? Six spades on that! Why we're down five tricks, you dumb cluck—doubled and redoubled—"

"Maybe I was in error," Guy answered coolly. He picked up his newspaper. With his free hand he thumbed over the pages until he came to the Personal Column. His eyes riveted themselves on one item: "Why don't you come to Saugerties Theatre Wednesday evening and see your long lost husband? HALF-A-DIME."

Guy put down the paper. "Excuse me," he said quietly. "I'm a little dizzy. I'd like to take a walk before you deal them out again." He rattled the handcuffs that bound him to Koretz. "Would you care to join me, Sergeant?"

"Sure," grinned the other. "Sorry to drag you along," wisecracked Guy as they reached the platform. He took out a cigarette. "Got a light, Sergeant?"

Koretz took a lighter from his pocket. He tried to make it light, but it failed him. He pulled at the wick with his nails. As he concentrated on the lighter, Guy's free hand found the train door. Imperceptibly he opened it. He watched furtively as the train pounded over a trestle.

Koretz continued trying to work his lighter. "Was Miller burned up on that bid?" he chuckled. "You crossed him on purpose—when we go back, make another one of them bids, will you? Say it's psychic—then we'll go fifty-fifty—"

"Fifty-fifty is okay with me, Sergeant," Guy said tersely. And with a sudden jerk, he leaped through the open train door, with Koretz hurtling after him.

He landed in the backwater beneath the trestle. The train sped on. Guy came up first and fought Koretz to hold him under; but it took a knockout blow to the jaw to put him out. He hauled the unconscious sergeant up on to the bank and began working over him. A low groan rewarded his efforts.

"You're okay," Guy sighed in relief. "I was afraid you were drowned. You'll be alright in an hour." He reached into Koretz's pocket for the key to the handcuffs. In another moment he was free. He shoved the sergeant's gun into his back pocket.

As he started up the bank a small terrier tore out of the darkness, yelping at him and snapping at his heels. Guy bent down, picked up Koretz's hat and threw it into the night. The dog barked after it joyously to retrieve it. With the hat in its mouth, the terrier started back for more of the same, then stopped before a tree to begin barking wildly.

Guy hurried up to the tree. Hiding behind it and watching him with wide-eyed terror was a girl—a young girl—a beautiful girl—in fact, quite the loveliest girl Guy Johnson had even seen.

Who is the girl? Did she see Guy and Koretz leap off the train? Don't miss tomorrow's chapter.

BEEBE

Mrs. Scott Williams and son, John, of Eum Secum Bridge, Nova Scotia, are visiting Mr. Frank Wilkinson.

The annual meeting of the Women's Institute was held in Beebe. The morning session was held in the Sunday School room of the United Church and was presided over by the vice-president, Mrs. B. Holmes. Dinner was served to between fifty and sixty members and the afternoon meeting was called to order at two o'clock in the Town Hall. Miss Marjorie Woodard and Miss Dorothy Lees gave most enjoyable piano and vocal selections during the afternoon. Miss Collins and Dr. Doherty, of Sherbrooke, were present to discuss the possible opening of a health clinic in Stanstead County.

COWANSVILLE Y. P. U. FETES YOUNG PEOPLE

Popular Members of United Church Presented Gifts by Young People—Y. P. U. Work Is Discussed.

Cowansville, June 2.—A regular young couple, Miss Evelyn Funk and Mr. Lawrence Stowe, were honored by the Young People's Union of which they are both valued members when they were presented with a number of pretty and useful articles for kitchen use. The gifts were packed in three decorated boxes shaped like a huge wedding cake.

Miss Ella Jones, on behalf of the choir of the United Church, presented Miss Funk with a silver-chased sandwich plate and Miss Funk expressed sincere thanks and said she would always be pleased to help in the choir when possible. All joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Mr. Wendell Scott had charge of the devotional period which opened with the singing of "I Need Thee Every Hour." The Scripture lesson was taken from Matthew 6:25-34, after which Mr. Scott read a report of the findings of a discussion group which were, among other things, that the Young People's Union owes its origin, training and experience to the Christian Church and therefore should be loyal in their support in every way possible.

The president announced that an invitation had been received from the Y.P.U. of East Farnham, to take part in a treasure hunt and also announced that the Montreal-Ottawa Conference Y.P.U. convention is being held in Montreal at St. Luke's Church, special speakers being C. Raymond Booth, M.A., Toronto, Dr. F. Langford, Toronto, and Rabbi Dr. Harry J. Stern, of Montreal. A highlight of the convention will be an inter-city drama competition between Montreal and Ottawa.

Reference was made to Camp Wantanapa at L'Orignal, Ont., to be open August 17 to 27 for young people and leaders. This Camp provides a splendid place to spend a vacation on the banks of the Ottawa River, the forenoon are devoted to Bible study and programme buildings, the afternoons in directed recreation and evenings in vesper, camp fires, sing-songs, etc. There are also fine beaches and comfortable sleeping cabins.

David Christie led the members in a sing-song after which ice cream and cake were served. A miniature wedding cake was made by Miss Reda Dougall.

BOB LUMIANSKY TWIRLS FIVE-HIT SHUTOUT

Humbles Champs 4-0 As Locals Shake Off Jinx

Brilliant Hurling by Tall Left-Hander Ties Sorel Batmen in Knots—Sherbrooke Collects Eleven Safeties Off Lefty Dow, Kasso Pacing Attack—Both Clubs Execute Brilliant Fielding Plays.

Big Bob Lumiansky came into his own as a twirler last night as he held the Sorel batsmen in a knot of five feeble safeties over the nine-inning route and his mates reacted to the stellar elbowing by crack out eleven base-knocks for a four-nothing, shutout triumph.

Lumiansky, in chalking up his richly-deserved victory, retired four batters in the first, and issued only four bases on balls, while his control was practically perfect. He found himself in trouble in the ninth only, when, with two singles and a walk, he forced Albertson to fly out to Al Kasso in right and the game was over.

Sherbrooke swung their bats in merry tempo, hitting safely in every inning except the first and collecting eleven base-knocks altogether. Al Kasso paced the attack with four straight singles in four times at bat, and drove in two of his team's four markers. First baseman Leo Manion poked out a brace of singles and passed in a third run, catcher Walt Goebel smashed a stinging double to left and Johnny Crowley, John Zuberli, Frankie Gula and Lumiansky connected for singles.

The game was featured by the prettiest fielding plays seen here this season. Sorel pulled off a pair of twin-killings, Galen to Albertson to Rock and Albertson to Murphy to Rock while Frankie Gula engineered a double play for Sherbrooke, spearing a hard smash by third sacker Kahback, touching second to retire Albertson and winging the pill over to Manion to catch the runner.

Al Kasso and Johnny Crowley pulled off three pretty nabs in centre and right, and the whole Sherbrooke nine kicked in with glee-filled support for their flashy left-hander.

Dow, Sorel southpaw, walked five men and chalked up five strikeouts, but the eleven hits, coupled with wobbly fielding by his mates at critical moments, allowed Sherbrooke to romp around the sacks for their four runs.

In the first frame Albertson was hit by Lumiansky and was waved to first base, but Kahback forced him at second, Zuberli to Gula, Tony Signor Galento was there and gave the fotters a lesson in professional courtesy. While Baer and Nova tore into each other, Tony politely refused to pose with his thumb firmly grasped between the thumb and forefinger of his left hand.

Enlarged Soccer Loop Will Open Tomorrow

Sherbrooke Receives Drummondville at Parade Grounds, Three Rivers Invades Asbestos and Granby Travels to Magog as Eastern Townships Soccer League Opens—President Harry L. Pettes to Officiate Here at Kick-Off.

Schedule for the Eastern Townships Soccer League, embracing teams from Asbestos, Three Rivers, Sherbrooke, Drummondville, Magog, and Granby, released for publication today by the president, Harry L. Pettes, of this city, will swing into operation with a three-game programme tomorrow.

The Sherbrooke team will receive Drummondville on the Parade Grounds, Three Rivers will invade Asbestos and Granby will travel to Magog.

Soccer is due for a big revival in this section, and it is the first time in many years that Three Rivers and Granby have been represented in the Eastern Townships circuit. Sherbrooke, Magog, Drummondville and Asbestos have been operating throughout the lean years and with the new clubs added the league should experience a very successful season.

Interest has come back in Sherbrooke, largely because the local eleven is back on the Parade Grounds after beating around the bush on prospect street for some time, and officials of the league are determined to field a powerful team which will be a dangerous threat for the title.

President Pettes will officiate at the kick-off at three-thirty o'clock on the Parade Grounds tomorrow, and the tilt will be handled by Ambrose Weston.

Drummondville, always a tough proposition, are reported to have strengthened their team this year and will be out there gunning for an opening victory tomorrow.

Harold Stoyles, former star net-minder with Q.C.R., will be between the posts for Sherbrooke, with Ewen Taylor and Harry Twyman as full backs. Other local players are Joe Quinn, Art Caygill, Charlie Head, Spackman, Sanderson, Hunt, McLeod, Clint Gardiner, Russ Foley, Bob Bell and Alex Smith.

Complete schedule follows—First team mentioned is home team:

June 3 — Asbestos vs. Three Rivers; Sherbrooke vs. Drummondville; Magog vs. Granby.

June 10—Drummondville vs. Asbestos; Granby vs. Sherbrooke; Three Rivers vs. Magog.

June 17 — First round Charity Cup.

June 24 — Asbestos vs. Granby; Sherbrooke vs. Magog; Drummondville vs. Three Rivers.

July 1 — Magog vs. Asbestos; Three Rivers vs. Sherbrooke; Granby vs. Drummondville.

July 8—Asbestos vs. Sherbrooke; Drummondville vs. Magog; Granby vs. Three Rivers.

July 15—First round E. T. F. A. Cup.

July 22—Three Rivers vs. Asbestos; Drummondville vs. Sherbrooke; Granby vs. Magog.

July 29 — Asbestos vs. Drummondville; Sherbrooke vs. Granby; Magog vs. Three Rivers.

August 5 — Semi-final Charity Cup.

August 12—Granby vs. Asbestos; Magog vs. Sherbrooke; Three Rivers vs. Drummondville.

August 19—Semi-final E. T. F. A. Cup.

August 26—Asbestos vs. Magog; Sherbrooke vs. Three Rivers; Drummondville vs. Granby.

September 2—Charity Cup final.

September 9 — Sherbrooke vs. Asbestos; Magog vs. Drummondville; Three Rivers vs. Granby.

September 16 — E.T.F.A. Cup final.

WENSTON-WARRINGTON IN DRAW

Edmonton, June 2. — (P) — Clouds still hung over the Canadian heavyweight and light-heavyweight boxing picture today following the fifteen-round bout here last night between Edd Wenstob, of Viking, Alta., and Terry (Tiger) Warrington, of Liverpool, N. S., which ended in a draw.

The fight, recognized as a Canadian championship bout for the two crowns, both by the Western Canadian Boxing and Wrestling Federation and Eastern Canada's Canadian Boxing Federation, did not see either battler gain much of an edge at any stage.

by identical scores, ten to seven. Both were hitting battles with six pitchers being used in each game.

REDER RAIDERS MOVE ALONG TO FOURTH BERTH

St. Hyacinthe Strengthens Hold on Provincial League Peak by Downing Tigers 13-8—Quebec and Granby Tie 6-6.

While Sherbrooke was blanking Sorel for nothing here last night, Jimmy Irving's St. Hyacinthe slugs were battering down Henry DeMeo's hapless Drummondville Tigers thirteen-eight and consolidating their hold on first place in the Provincial Baseball League. In the third game on the programme, Granby and Quebec tottered to a nine-inning, six-six deadlock at the Ancient Capital.

The starting today pits St. Hyacinthe setting the pace with seven wins and two defeats, Three Rivers in second place with seven victories and three losses, Granby in the third spot with five triumphs and four setbacks and the locals in fourth, with an even split in eight contests. The second-place Tri-Fluvians were idle but get a chance to regain lost ground when they play host to Quebec in tonight's only scheduled game.

At Drummondville Zummer pitched the Saints to victory, giving way to relief-hurler Connors when Tigers rallied in the eighth frame. The outburst was good for six runs but left the homeesters still on the losing end.

A three-run rally in the ninth handed Granby a draw at Quebec. The visitors were trailing six-three going into the final frame, but they, four walks and an error knocked the count. Darkness prevented further play.

AYVAZIAN AND MORRIS EXPECTED TODAY

Shortstop Johnny Ayvazian and pitcher Walter Morris, their courses completed at Providence College, were expected to report to the Sherbrooke Baseball Club today. Charlie Walker, candidate for the second base job, is practising with the team but will have to show Reder he is better than Johnny Zuberli before getting a regular position.

Baer tried to look stern and determined while they were tying on his gloves, but before the ceremony was over he had either bowed or winked at everybody in the gallery. That will give you an idea of the size of the crowd.

Lou Nova In Technical K.O. Of Badly Beaten Maxie Baer

Twenty-Four-Year-Old Ex-Collegian, Fighting Only 27th Professional Bout, Cuts Former Champion Down Steadily and Methodically—Referee Stops Cruel Beating in 11th Round—Battle Decided in Second When Nova Weathers Flurry of Baer Rights and Comes Back Swinging.

New York, June 2.—(P)—Victory over Max Baer by a technical knockout in the eleventh round of a bloody duel at Yankee Stadium, Lou Nova of California stands qualified today to fight either Joe Louis or Tony Galento for heavyweight championship in September or early next summer.

The twenty-four-year-old ex-collegian, fighting only his twenty-seventh professional bout, cut the ex-champion down steadily and methodically until Referee Frank Fullam stopped it in 121 of the eleventh when Baer was choked and unable to continue from the blood that poured from a badly lacerated lip.

Almost 17,000 fans banked in the great arena saw the younger man survive a bushel of Baer's thunderous rights in the early rounds and come back to give him a cruel beating. Baer bled like a stuck hog from the third round on.

Nova, his left ear blooming like an eggplant from Baer's despairing rights, said in the dressing room he would have stepped his rival clean as a whistle if he had not hurt his right maul in the third round. Maxie, looking and feeling terrible, said he didn't know whether he would fight again. At the same time he mumbled a warning to Nova:

"He's a good, strong boy, but he's a long way off. He gets hit too much."

His listeners, nodding agreement, most of them feeling in their bones that Lou, though he made a game, damaging fight against Baer, is not quite ready to face Joe Louis.

Nova's manager, Ray Carlin, said he wanted a few days to think it over before deciding whether to tackle this big negro this year.

From the start, last night's fight was a rip-roaring, brutal exhibition that kept the spectators on their feet. There was no flinching-out. They went at it, slugging and grunting and scowling, hitting on the breaks and after the bell. The referee took two rounds from Nova for hitting low and one from Maxie when he eluded Lou an awful smash after the bell.

At the end of ten rounds the Associated Press score sheet gave Nova six chapters and Max four. During the ninth and tenth rounds Nova hit his tired, distressed rival almost at will, smashing his bloody features with both hands as Max stewed crimson all over the ring.

Fullam wanted to stop it earlier in the eleventh, but Maxie refused the reprieve and took a dozen more blows before he consented to retire.

The fight really was decided in the second, when Baer suddenly lashed out with his famous old right and caught Nova cold with a half dozen in fast succession. That was when Baer's followers had expected the bout to end. But Nova proved strong and resolute and didn't go down. He wobbled and staggered a bit from the fusillade, but he stuck to his feet and came back fighting.

In the long run, it was Nova's straight left, delivered with all his 202 pounds behind it, that ruined Baer's comeback. The veteran didn't know how to escape the stalling leathier, and gradually as the rounds went on it cut him to pieces.

Montreal Royals won last night's other tilt, edging out Toronto four to three mostly because of the last-place Leafs' inability to hit in the pinches. The Leafs left fifteen runners stranded.

SCHULTE STARS AS BEARS EDGE UPWARD IN I.L.

It's traditional in baseball that no team really can be good unless it's strong "down the middle" — from the catcher through the pitcher's box and second base and out to centre field. And if you asked this year's Newark Bears about it, they'd probably agree and point to Herman Schulte as proof.

Schulte set an International League fielding record yesterday when he made twelve assists — without an error — in the Bears' impressive three to two victory over Syracuse Chiefs. But that's just one example of his value to Newark.

Last year he compiled a .970 fielding average, the best of any International League second sacker who played seventy-five games or more. He hit only .285, so the Bears tried to get along without him at the start of the current campaign but they didn't do so well. About the time Schulte came back they began to perk up. Newark is third now, three games behind Rochester Red Wings, and yesterday's victory enabled them to gain a half game on Jersey Giants, whose game at Baltimore was rained out.

In addition to his new record for assists, Schulte cracked out three hits, but on two occasions he was thrown out trying to stretch singles.

Rochester maintained its lead over Jersey City and Newark by snapping a pair of Buffalo winning streaks. They beat the Bisons eight to seven with a ninth-inning rally that gave Buffalo its first defeat in four games and pitcher Art Jacobs
