

ENLIGHTENING ADDRESS ON KOREAN LIFE

Arthur Bunce Tells of Low Living Standards—People 80 p.c. Illiterate

On Wednesday night at the North Branch Y.M.C.A. an interesting meeting was held, which was addressed by Mr. Arthur Bunce, who for the past five years has been attached to the Y.M.C.A. World Service Staff in Korea where he served in rural reconstruction work.

Mr. Bunce dealt at length with the social problems of the Koreans, economic, political and religious and touched on the clash between Communism and Christianity, in that country, which is reawakening.

One of the special problems is the population in Korea as well as Japan. In Korea there are four hundred thousand births in excess over deaths per annum. Poverty is rife, the average annual income being $135.00. Hundreds of children go to bed every night hungry. The population is about 80% illiterate. The farming done has been in a very low scale, the chief products of the country being poultry, rice and apples. Mr. Bunce was there particularly as an agricultural expert. He is a gold medalist from the Agricultural School of the University of Saskatchewan, and he was able to bring interesting stories of what they had done to teach Korean farmers to increase their production in these products, many communities being changed in a few years from the methods of medieval England to the up-to-date methods of Canadian farmers of today. On the human side of the story was emphasized the disgust which many people felt for the "dirtyness" of these Orientals. He pointed out that they, too, were conscious of it, that fact did not mean that they liked it better. Economic stringency may mean unattainable luxury. Soap for example was a rare luxury although such a commonplace thing to us.

Christianity's greatest rival is Communism, because Communism promises to make practical and material things in this life. These practical sides of Christianity are being emphasized in Christian missions in such work as Mr. Bunce's in agricultural reconstruction, in the wonderful hospitals and medical services being carried on by the Churches and by ambitious plans of education in hygienic sanitation. Worship and work in the Christian Mission fields must go hand in hand.

It was Mr. Bunce's plan to establish agricultural institutes all over Korea. In eighty such schools eight thousand farmers were instructed in rice-growing, poultry raising, apple production, etc. He said that Koreans predicted a war between Japan and Russia by 1936. Travelling on trains, foreigners are stopped frequently by military officials and closely examined. Steps must be taken, Mr. Bunce asserted, to avert war in far Far East, because of the terrible shambles that would result. The dense population and the flimsy inflammable homes would be an easy prey to the efficient and deadly air attacks of Russia, which is reputed to have the best air fighting equipment in the world.

PLAYGROUNDS

Types And Advantages

BY Stanley Rough

General Supervisor, Montreal Parks and Playgrounds Association

Everyone knows that playgrounds are areas of land set aside by cities and towns for children to play in. These areas should be located in districts where the population is thickest and should be laid out in such a way that the children attending will be free to play in perfect safety. Playgrounds should be located in areas free of heavy traffic, car lines, and railroad lines, so as to reduce the hazards of accidents encountered on the journey between home, school, and ground. If this is not possible, a fence should be erected around the playground, and signs warning motorists that they are approaching a children's playground should be prominently displayed.

As the ages of children using a playground vary, it is necessary to equip a group to meet the needs of each group. Small areas of land can be utilized, and equipped with various pieces of apparatus, such as swings, see-saws, a sand box, wading pool, giant stride, slides, etc., to meet the needs of the younger children, under 12 years of age. Younger children derive a great deal of pleasure from the use of this apparatus, and never seem to tire of repeating the same routine day after day.

Care given to keep the ground clean and neat, the equipment in order, and the use of various pieces of apparatus regulated when attendance is heavy, is all that can be expected of a caretaker, and should not be confused with trained supervision of children's play in all its forms.

Older boys and girls are not content to indefinitely amuse themselves with one piece of apparatus or another, and their desire is to play with and against other children in team and group games. This means that larger space is required to accommodate this group. A playground designed to take care of the play needs of youngsters over 12 years of age must be equipped with softball diamonds, volleyball courts, basketball courts, horse-shoe pitches, a football field, and possibly a tennis court. A ground thus designed would offer a variety of activities which the children could indulge in, and thus satisfy their desire for active sports and games.

Parks and squares are sometimes regarded in a sense as playgrounds. This is not the case. A ground laid out with grass, trees, shrubs, flower, etc., with "Keep off the Grass" signs, is not designed to meet the needs of outdoor recreation of the majority of children in the neighbourhood. These parks and squares, although important, should not be confused with playgrounds.

An ideal playground, fashioned for the use of the whole community, would be a large tract of land, with equipment for the younger children, playing field space for active team games for the older children, and a section laid out with trees, grass and flowers. It would be a combination Playground, Playing Field, and Park, which the community could well be proud of.

A playground should have drinking fountains and sanitation facilities, and also someone on the ground who has a knowledge of First Aid and is able to look after minor injuries that might occur. Playgrounds should be attractive and inviting, and every child should have an equal opportunity to indulge in playing on the apparatus and playing fields.

Horseshoe Competition Planned for Saturday

The Horseshoe Pitching competition which was to have been held last Saturday afternoon at the North Branch "Y" grounds, on Park Ave., but which was postponed due to bad weather, will be held at the same place on Saturday, June 16th, weather permitting. The St. Michael's Horseshoe Pitching Club will take on all-comers in a series of friendly matches. The competition has been arranged by the committee of the "Week of Games," in charge of that branch.

arranged by the Foreign Division Committee, and was presided over by Mr. W. A. Wilson. Representatives attended from the Board, Young Men's and Boys' Divisions.

FAIRMOUNT-ST-GILES CHURCH NOTES

Large congregations are expected at the pre-vacation communion services on Sunday next when the minister, Rev. Burton H. Robinson, assisted by the Session will administer the sacred emblems at the close of both morning and evening services. At the eleven o'clock service the minister will deliver a brief communion address, and at 7:30 p.m. his subject will be "A Quilt Who Came Back." Master Dewi Jones, the Welsh boy singer, of Montreal, will render two numbers at the Sunday evening service. This brilliant boy-soloist, who has delighted many Montreal congregations, and has been recently heard by many in radio broadcasts, is counted by competent critics to be superior to many youthful artists from overseas.

Union midweek services, in which Temple Baptist, MacVicar Memorial, Outremont Presbyterian and Fairmount-St. Giles, have been invited to co-operate, will commence next Wednesday evening, June 20th, and will continue throughout the summer months in Temple Baptist Church. Rev. C. G. Smith will have charge, and during the summer, the ministers of the other churches names will take their turn in conducting these helpful group meetings.—Every Wednesday, at 8 p.m. in Temple Baptist.

The Summer Union services between Fairmount-St. Giles and Temple Baptist Churches will commence next Sunday, June 24th, and will continue until Sunday, Sept. 2nd. Rev. Charles George Smith, will have charge from June 24th to July 22nd, and Rev. Burton H. Robinson from Sunday, July 29th to Sept. 2nd. Both these ministers cordially invite all members and friends, as well as other folk in the district without a Church home, to these friendly services of worship. Please note that all morning services will be at Fairmount-St. Giles and all evening services at Temple Baptist.

Y.W.H.A. CAMP OPENS FOR FIFTH SEASON JULY 2ND NEXT

Activities This Year Under Direction of Miss Rose Arpin

On July 2nd, the Y.W.H.A. Summer Camp will officially open its fifth successive season.

Daily activities are conducted from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m., excepting Saturday and Sunday. The regular indoor and outdoor program includes athletics, handicrafts, dancing, swimming, dramatics, sing-song, nature study, first-aid, quiet games, story-telling, rest hour including free milk to all campers, a Brownie Pack, and a special young children's class. Additional features are movies, concerts, visits to industrial plants and museums, field-day, paper chase, treasure hunt, and picnics.

The Summer Camp will be under the direction of Miss Rose Arpin, assisted by Misses Birdie Dansky, Helen Jacobs, Ethel Barney, Rose Golt, and Rachel Fineberg. The chairman of the Junior Department is Mrs. J. Rubin.

The camp will be open to girls between the ages of 6 and 15 years. Registration will be held every afternoon at the Y.W.H.A., from 3 to 5 p.m., starting June 20th and ending June 29th, excepting Saturday and Sunday.

20TH ANNIVERSARY SALE AT THE ROYAL YORK SHOE STORE

Mr. J. Robinson, of the Royal York Shoe Store, at 1104 Bernard avenue, has just rounded out his twentieth year in business in Outremont, and for the occasion has arranged a Twentieth Anniversary Sale, beginning with today, and extending for a limited period only. During this sale his lines of men's, women's and children's shoes are materially reduced, and shoppers are assured of real bargains. The high quality of the Royal York Shoe stock is well-established, backed as it is by decades of fair dealing and honest value, and it can be safely said that a visit to this Anniversary Sale will be found distinctively worth while.

The SCARLET RUNNER BEAN with its beautiful scarlet flowers and its pods which are excellent for table use.

The MORNING GLORY has a simple and universal appeal with its flowers of bright and attractive colors.

The CANARY CREEPER has very attractive pure yellow flowers, it is a lovely climber but not as well known as it should be.

The WILD CUCUMBER is another rapid growing and handsome climber and deservedly popular.

Among tall-growing annuals which can be used either singly or in groups at the rear of your border we might mention:

COSMOS, a feathery and graceful plant which grows to the height of three to five feet and carries on its long stems beautiful, delicately colored.

TIMELY HINTS ON CULTIVATION OF GARDEN PLOTS

By E. PHIL. McKENNA

NOTE—This is the second of a series of two articles written exclusively for the Examiner-Courier, by Mr. McKenna. The first appeared in last week's issue.—Ed.

HINTS TO AMATEUR GARDENERS

In order to secure a neat and tidy effect in your planting, your seeds should be sown in orderly rows. The experienced gardener accomplishes this by means of an iron reel and stake with a line connecting the two. Firmly sinking the spike into the turf at one end of the bed or border he takes the reel to the other end and having decided where he wants his row he pulls the line taut on the reel and sinks the spike on the base of the reel into the turf. He now either uses the rope as it lies touching the surface of the soil as a planting guide, or else by raising the tightly stretched line at the center and allowing it to snap back on the bed it leaves its print in the form of a perfectly straight line from one end of the bed to the other. The amateur can easily make himself such a line with the aid of two pointed sticks and a piece of string cord.

When planting annuals from seed it is only necessary to slightly deepen this line to a depth of not over half an inch and drop your seeds into it according to the directions printed on the back of the seed packets.

Annuals are flowers which bloom from seed the first season and last but one year, nevertheless among them you will find many of our choicest flowers. They are all easily and successfully grown from seed, and offer a large field for selection. BUY ONLY THE BEST SEEDS OBTAINABLE. Inferior seeds mean inferior flowers. Embodied in each seed is the constitution of each plant. The firm of which the writer of this article is a director, has been planting gardens in and around Montreal for the past eighty-three years and they have always found the best seeds to be by far the most economical. The earlier the seeds are sown the sooner the plants will begin to flower, and the more flowers one cuts the more bloom will follow.

Although possibly the sponsors of the Rochon Garden Plot Contest expected that most of the gardens entered in the contest would be grown from seed, it is not obligatory, and experience teaches us that the best way for an amateur to grow annuals is to buy the smaller plants of selected stock, already showing growth and ready to transplant. Be sure that these are bought from a reliable florist or grower in your locality. Under no condition buy these from a transient trader or a street corner vendor who does not understand the goods he is selling, as plants obtained from this source are usually grown from the cheapest seed, and good results should not be expected. Most amateur gardens are too small and space too valuable to gamble with inferior goods.

As already pointed out, the season is now a little advanced for the planting of annuals from seed, nevertheless I will list a few which should prove satisfactory as these develop more rapidly than some of the others.

Among quick-growing vines to cover fences, walls, trellises, etc., there is the COBAEA SCANDENS, a very useful climbing plant which the writer has seen grow over twenty-five feet in a single season. It bears large bell-shaped purple lilac flowers, and though not really an annual must be so considered in Montreal as it will not survive our winters.

OUTREMONT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NOTES

Preparations have been completed for the Annual Ladies' Aid Lawn Social, to be held on Saturday afternoon. Afternoon tea, a sale of Home Cooking, Plain Sewing, Novelties, etc., and ice cream and soft drinks, are among the features.

Regular services will continue until Sunday, July 1st, after which date the joint arrangement with MacVicar Memorial Church, so successfully carried out during July and August, last year, will be inaugurated.

All departments of the Sunday School have held their closing sessions and will resume after the summer holidays.

Mr. McLean will preach at the morning service, 11 o'clock. His subject will be "Tongues of Fire," the voice of the church on matters affecting the people, socially, politically, and economically. At 7:30 p.m. the Rev. W. J. McIvor, M.A., S.T.D., minister of Ephraim Scott church, will preach. A cordial invitation is extended to visitors to attend these services.

"Week Of Game" Association

A meeting of the North End "Week of Games" association will be held at the North Branch "Y" at 8:30 p.m. on Tuesday next, June 19th. The meeting is an open one, and all interested in sports are invited.

LABOR MINISTER TO ADDRESS HAIRDRESSERS OF CITY

Gustav Francq To Be Present—Will Discuss Hours and Wages

The Hon. J. C. Arcand, minister of labor, will, it is announced, address a mass meeting of Montreal hairdressers to be held at the Mount Royal Hotel on Wednesday, June 20th, at 8:30 p.m. Mr. Gustav Francq, chairman of the Minimum Wage Board, will also be in attendance. Both will, it is stated, deal specifically with the question of shorter hours and higher wages for those engaged in the profession. A committee has been engaged for some time past, working in the direction of improved conditions, and the belief is expressed that a definite agreement between all master hairdressers and their employers is not far off. A petition will be presented to the minister, bearing one thousand signatures, asking for the establishment of a minimum wage and a fifty-four hour week. Permission will also be sought for the establishment of a sick benefit fund, and the institution of an academy for the teaching of hairdressing in all its branches, under the supervision of the Employees' Association. Premises have already been secured where-in will be set up a permanent home, where social and other activities may be carried on in a thoroughly organized manner. It is expected the home will be ready for occupancy early in the autumn.

The meeting on the 20th is an open one, and a large attendance is anticipated.

ALD. ROCHON PATRON AT GRAND PICNIC

Alderman Dave Rochon, of St. Michael's Ward, will preside at a grand picnic to be held at Jarry Park early in July, it is announced. It is understood the picnic is to be open to children—and probably grown-ups—from every section of the city, and that the prize list is a long one. Details will be forthcoming shortly.

We see that a number of Holly wood husbands were returned this month to the circulating library.

WHERE TO SPEND THE SUMMER VACATION

Now that vacation time is here, people will begin to look around where to spend it. Each individual should choose a place best suited to himself. Some people need mountain air and others the seaside. Each place has its merits and its demerits. As a rule those who have had or are suffering from lung trouble should go to places of high altitude. On the other hand, those with heart disease should go to the seaside.

Beside the above considerations these points should also be observed. Namely that the bathing places should be safe and healthy. The milk and water should also be watched. And if an entire family is going they should not be too far away from a train or doctor in case of illness. Good and wholesome food should be attainable. The bathing place should be safe and healthy. Places close to cities are very often used for sewage purposes. These rivers very often contain diseased bacilli such as typhoid and paratyphoid. The same applies to the milk and water. Many times have I seen cases of typhoid as a result of the above. The great number of drownings which occur every year should make us think twice before we go bathing into a place whose safety is questionable. Many a holiday could be easily marred by failing to take care of the above hazards.

When people have already left and should they be uneasy about the purity of the milk or water this can be settled very easily. The Provincial Health Department will be very glad to furnish any information concerning the above. They will also examine any samples of water or milk if such should be submitted to them. Should they answer you that the milk or water contain impurities, they may then advise you what to do, either to leave the place or boil the milk and water. Therefore choose your place where to spend your vacation carefully and not foolishly.

N. E. STANDARD SOFTBALL LEAGUE IN FULL SWING

The North End Standard Softball League is now in full swing, with the teams of both sections playing a very fine brand of softball. The senior section consists of a number of teams, including St. Michael's A.A.A., Mgr. Martin Barry; Extension Wings, Mgr. F. Somerville; Royals A.C., Mgr. A. Benoit; Windsor A.C., Mgr. W. Bennett; Maples A.C., Mgr. M. Kravits; Scott's A.C., Mgr. W. Locke.

The league has as its Hon. Patron, the ever popular Alderman of St. Michael's Ward, Dave Rochon, who in himself is a very good ball player. It is affiliated with the Q.A.S.B.A. and the A.A.U. of C.

The standing of the Senior Section to date is as follows:

REGISTRATIONS FOR VACATIONS PROGRAM HEAVY

Lists For North Branch Summer Camp Close June Twentieth

Registrations for the North Branch Vacation Programme for boys June 25th-July 28th are increasing every day, and from the interest so far indicated by parents and boys the limit of 150 registrations will likely be reached before the 20th, the closing date for registering. Several boys from Rosemount already have registered, so that the "Y" programme will attract boys from even greater distances than last year.

No doubt the emphasis placed on swimming in the Vacation Programme has a great deal to do with the evident eagerness on the part of the boys to join in the daily activities for the five weeks. Periods for beginners, Advanced Swimmers and Life Savers are so arranged as to give everyone enrolling an opportunity to better his ability in this most important form of recreation.

Interest is shown too in the hobby groups. For in the list of informal instruction classes there are First Aid, Aircraft, Pret Saw Work, Woodwork, Rowing, Tactcraft, Dramatics, Soap Carving, Group Games and Boxing. In this list every boy finds two or three which have for him a special appeal and in which he wants to improve. So under competent leadership the vacation becomes something more than a mere holiday.

Moreover boys get tired of just playing ball with a small group of neighbours on the corner lots. This programme includes baseball leagues with regularly scheduled games each week. It also includes hikes, nature study trips, visits to industrial plants, factories and museums, field and track meets and picnics. Altogether this five-week programme will provide an experience in the city almost equivalent to a half summer at camp.

The committee responsible for this summer programme includes Messrs. I. R. Carlin, Chairman, E. L. Gilbert and G. W. C. Ginn of the Board of Management; John Hodgson, Harry Elsey and Bert Towne, assistant supervisors, and C. J. McGerrigle, Secretary.

The group leaders will be Allan Herrgen, Geo. Walker, Albert Hoffman, Fergus Cronin, Geo. Bishop, Charlie Gregory, Eddie Aisen, Earl Carney, Clifford McCloy, John Thomson, Paul Redwood, Alfred Desmond, Miss P. Holliday and Miss D. Robertson.

NEW WAYS OF SERVING POTATOES

Vegetables, like people, can live down their early reputation. This is proved by no less an example than our commonplace but dependable aid to economy — the potato — the common "spud", which appears on our table more than any other vegetable. Potatoes are enjoyed democratically by all ranks and levels. They are served in the most expensive hotels and in the cheapest lunchrooms, in the wealthiest homes, and in the poorest.

Cultivation, skillful cookery, abundant potato crops and low prices have brought this staple commodity to its present popularity. And science backs up the popular taste, putting potatoes high on the list of nourishing foods.

Why not spend a little more time in making this valuable and economical food more appetizing and varied?

Here are a number of ways of cooking old potatoes that are a pleasant change from the customary methods:

Potato and Cheese Puff
4 cups seasoned mashed potatoes
2 beaten eggs
1/4 teaspoon salt
Few grains of pepper
Dash of paprika

1 1/2 cups grated Canadian cheese
1/2 cup hot milk
1/2 cup soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons melted butter.

To the mashed potato, add the eggs, salt, pepper, paprika, and grated cheese. Mix well, then add the hot milk and turn into a greased baking dish (about 3 pint size). Combine the crumbs and melted butter and sprinkle on top of the potatoes. Bake in a moderate oven of 375 deg. F. for 45 minutes or until thoroughly heated and golden brown. Serves six persons.

Volcano Potatoes
4 potatoes, mashed
Grated cheese
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon paprika.
Shape potato in irregular cones three inches high on a baking dish or small platter. Make a deep indentation in the top of each and fill with two tablespoonsful of cheese mixed with seasonings. Sprinkle with cheese and bake 10 minutes in a hot oven 450 deg. F.

German Fried Potatoes
2 cups diced cooked potatoes
2 slices bacon
1/4 cup vinegar.
2 tablespoons sugar

1 small onion diced
1/2 teaspoon salt
Few grains of pepper.

Cut the bacon in squares. Fry. Pour half the fat over the diced potatoes. Brown the diced onion in the remaining fat in pan, add the vinegar, salt, sugar and pepper, and when hot add the potatoes. Heat thoroughly and serve with boiled ham or sausages.

Potato Cakes
Sift 2 cups of pastry flour with 4 teaspoons of baking powder and 1 teaspoon of salt. Rub in with the fingers 1/4 cup of butter and 1 cup of cold, mashed potato. Mix well and moisten with 3/4 cup of rich milk. This should make a stiff dough, which now may be rolled to one-fourth of an inch in thickness and cut into rounds of three inches in diameter. Cook on a baking sheet in a hot oven for about eight minutes, or until nicely browned. Serve hot with fresh butter.

Chantilly Potatoes
Spread hot, well seasoned and beaten mashed potato on a glass platter, and sprinkle with a layer of minced ham. Beat half a cupful of cream stiff, add half a cupful of grated cheese, a bit of salt and paprika spread over the potato mixture, and set in a very hot oven (500 deg. F.) to brown lightly.

Mash lightly five or six boiled potatoes, and add while hot three tablespoonsful of butter or bacon fat, 1 teaspoonful of salt, 1/4 teaspoon of pepper, 1/2 teaspoon of dry mustard and 1 well-beaten egg. These additions should be made quickly, so that the egg may be to some extent coagulated by the heat of the potato. Lastly add six anchovies, freed from the oil in the can or jar, and minced into little bits. Spread the mixture on a dish to cool, then mould into balls about the size of a plum, roll in

Fashion Hints

Not warm but effective! This is what Jean Parker, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature player had to say about the new woodenbead scarf. The scarf is entirely composed of small wooden beads in a variety of colors, woven into a loose mesh. Knotted once at the throat it proves a very smart accessory to the sports wardrobe, especially if there is a purse to go with it.

Play suits are getting very grand — if one can judge from the outfit glimpsed on Madge Evans during a tennis match. It was fashioned of red and white plaid silk. The shorts were pleated in at the waist and the bathing suit top left plenty of expanse to acquire an enviable sun-tan.

Maureen O'Sullivan, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature player wears an interesting tea dansant suit in the new production, "Thin Man," directed by W. S. Van Dyke. The suit is black velvet with a tailored collar and cuffs of ermine. Style interest is particularly high in the sleeves, which are extremely full and cut away under the arms. A velvet Breton sailor completes the costume.

Modern Furniture

One still hears the remark, "I strained modern," for there is a like to look at modern furniture, but I don't think I'd want to do my home in modern." The voices that lift this chorus are growing fewer and fewer, however. In a recent contest of planning the furnishings and decorations of an apartment, each contestant was provided with plans for a five-room home with general suggestions as to suitable furniture and color schemes. Then the contestants were given an opportunity to describe exactly the apartment home each would like to live in. The first prize was awarded for strictly modern design.

The decoration is called "re-ture player. They are pajamas and a matching robe and hat, fashioned from the long over looked unbleached muslin dyed in brilliant hues. Muriel's outfit was in nautical blue and turkey red and the robe featured mammoth, unpolished wood fastenings.

Who says you must have profile of Robert Montgomery, the physique of Johnny Weissmuller, and the personal charm of Herbert Marshall to be a motion picture star?

Slacks have gone decidedly nautical. Irene Hervey, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature player was seen on the lot wearing white slacks held in place by a rope belt with anchor ends. A middy blouse and a small beret completed the ensemble.

Secret of Good Dancing

Dancing is less a matter of moving the feet in rhythm with music than a poetic and fluid expression of hands, eyes, finger tips and body.

This advice to those who stumble around ballroom floors and who feel badly about their awkwardness is given by Veloz and Yolanda, whose decorative dances are seen a new screen offering. They say there is no excuse for clumsy dancing once the average boy and girl learns a few simple rules.

fortless flow of motion for good dancing—in other words, smooth motion without labor."

Here And There In Movieland

In their own dancing these two Latin artists pay less attention to their feet than to other parts of their bodies, and less to musical beats than one would believe. They make their hands and finger tips expressive and achieve a fluid rhythm with their body more so than their feet.

David O. Selznick, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer producer, arrives Tuesday, June 12 on the Ile de France, accompanied by the staff which has been working on "David Copperfield" abroad.

"It is easy to correct awkward and jerky dancing," says Veloz. "All that the student must remember is that the feet must keep correct time with the music. That, and the continuation of a movement forward, backward or sideways, is the only function they serve in correct dancing."

Hugh Walpole, British novelist, who has not hitherto written for motion pictures and who has been engaged to assist with the adaptation of "Copperfield," is a member of the group, which includes George Cukor, the director, and Howard Estabrook, scenarist. In all probability several British actors will also be on the boat. The party will go from New York directly to the California studios of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, to proceed on production of the Dickens novel.

"The feet should never be expressive; that is left to the body and the hands and to a slighter degree, the hands and eyes. In dancing a fox trot of medium tempo, we beat a legato rhythm with our feet and staccato with our bodies."

During his stay abroad Mr. Selznick signed Fritz Lang, noted German director, who is to return to return to California with the Hollywood producer. The Selznick party also made an exhaustive canvass of British and Continental talent for leading roles in "David Copperfield." More than twenty-five hundred European actors and actresses were interviewed by George Cukor, and about one hundred of these given screen and voice tests. Fifty players have been given option contracts and two of this group definitely selected for parts in the production.

"These counter rhythms are what distinguish good dancers from the bad. A tango, for instance, can be the most awkward or the most beautiful dance there is. When correctly done it is danced against the rhythm, not with it."

While in England the Selznick party visited locations described by Dickens in "David Copperfield" and made a study of both exteriors and interiors for the picture. They conferred with members of the Dickens family now living in London and worked on other details of the story.

Veloz believes that the feet should "whisper, never shout" as they glide over the floor, and that the body should be defiant of music and a little superior to its commands. For instance, Mme. Yolanda and I prefer to dance 3-4 time against 2-4 time fox trot. The difference in rhythms gives an appearance of grace that is fanciful rather than real.

Ginger Rogers, who went to Hollywood as a musical comedy star, prefers straight acting and

Don't Say "Boo" Is New Ordinance Or Anteater Won't Eat Any Ants

New York.—Lovers of liberty and freedom of speech hereabouts have run into a new "don't" that sent them staggering to the medicine cabinet for the smelling salts.

The new "don't," solemnly presented by the park commission, is this: "Don't say 'boo' at a bird or an animal."

This gem of legislation was one of a great many taboos listed by the commission in a codification of ordinances, rules and regulations filed with the city clerk.

Students of wild life in the big city pointed out that many animals have very sensitive nervous systems. A boo is apt to upset an anteater, for example, for the entire day, so that he may be unable to eat a single ant. The gross cruelty of booing an elephant or a lion is apparent to the veriest amateur.

DO YOU KNOW THAT?

Phil Regan, ex-policeman, now a movie player, reads every detective story he can lay his hands on?

Claire Dodd is one of the most expert bridge players, in pictures or out of them? She is the champion of the Warner Bros. studios.

Twelve authors are working on the screen adaptation of "Anthony Adverse?"

There are at least twenty speaking parts in "British Agent" played by people with an intimate of Russia, several hundred extra parts that demanded at least an adherence to type and innumerable special bits that must be played by people with exact knowledge of Russian detail in manners, dress and customs.

Kay Francis and Leslie Howard are supported by a cast including Irving Pichel, Walter Byron, Marina Schubert, William Gargan, Ivan Simpson, J. Carroll Naish, Paul Porcasi, Halliwell Hobbes, Doris Lloyd, Gregory Gaye, Alphonse Ethier, Tenen Holtz, George Pearce and Walter Armitage.

Who Will Be the New Movie Stars of 1935?

Hollywood, Calif. — New screen stars in 1935?

There are always new stars with every new season, and the Warner Bros. studios have recently signed six girls of whom great things are expected.

They are Virginia Pine, Chicago society heiress; Barbara Blair, former Ziegfeld Follies girl and radio star; Maxine Doyle, for three years mistress of ceremonies at a Washington D.C., theatre; Joan Wheeler, former Pasadena Community Playhouse actress; Mary Russell, San Francisco stylist; discovered in a department store there by Louise Fazenda; and Pauline True, magazine cover girl from New York.

All have made their screen debuts in films not yet released. Miss Pine will be seen in "Doctor Monica", with Kay Francis. Miss Wheeler will appear in "Smarty" with Joan Blondell and Warren William.

Maxine Doyle plays an Irish girl in "The Key". Miss Russell, Miss Blair and Miss True have parts in Joe E. Brown's picture, "The Circus Clown."

Watch for these names and faces! Some of them at least are likely to be famous ere long.

She Went To Court In Her Night-Gown!

Hollywood, Calif.—Can a lady be presented at court in her nightgown?

Well, Madame Du Barry once went into the royal presence, before the beauty and chivalry of France assembled in the throne room at Versailles, clad only in the filmiest of nocturnal raiment.

The incident figures in the new Warner Bros. feature picture, "Madame Du Barry," starring Dolores Del Rio, which is soon to be nationally released.

Madame Du Barry was nothing if not unconventional. That was part of her charm and part of the explanation of her rise from humble circumstances to be mistress of King Louis XV. Her carelessness, her recklessness of consequences, together with her beauty and essential kindness of heart have written her name large upon the history of France in the eighteenth century. A hundred incidents like that of the nightgown — though that was perhaps the most daring of all — keep her personality vivid and alive in the annuals of that most brilliant epoch. She was a very human person; she loved her friends ardently and hated her enemies deeply, and she had plenty of both.

Dolores Del Rio, in the title role of "Madame Du Barry," is said by those who have had private previews of the picture to present an unforgettable characterization of the merry, lovely, tragic girl of Old Paris whose influence over the King made her the most powerful person in France. The part of the King is played by Reginald Owen; that of the crafty Duc de Richelieu, who was Du Barry's protector before she gained the royal favor, has been assigned to Osgood Perkins. Other members of an exceptionally large and distinguished cast are Verree Teasdale, Ferdinand Gottschalk, Victor Jory, Maynard Holmes, Dorothy Tree, Helen Lowell, Hobart Cavanaugh, Anita Louise and Henry O'Neill.

Cuba has requested the country which demanded the return of Insull to extradite Machado. Sounds to some Americans like "talking Turkey."

The screen play of "Madame Du Barry" was written by Edward Chodorov and directed by William Dieterle. Many months of research preceded the filming of the picture. All the details of the production have been made authentic; the costumes; the furnishings, the backgrounds, are all of the eighteenth century, when the life-story of "Madame Du Barry" proved once more that truth is stranger than fiction.

SCOBIE HOUSE — NORWAY BAY

Up the Ottawa River, within short driving distance of the Capital, lies the feature resort of a district of splendid resorts. Champlain, when he rounded a bend of the Ottawa and came in sight of the compelling beauty of Norway Bay, paused to note it in his daily account.

Nor has it changed greatly from the primeval paradise the great explorer saw. There is still the broad sweep of the curving river, the three miles of fine, sandy sloping beach, and there are still the aromatic pine woods flanking the crystal pure waters of the bay.

But Norway Bay, for all its sylvan beauty and its proximity to Ottawa, has not always been the popular summer resort it is today. In the earlier

Trois Rivières

No City in North America offers more for the enjoyment of the visitor than Trois-Rivières does this coming season.

Situated on the banks of the beautiful St. Lawrence half-way between Montreal and Quebec Cities on the main highway, a city of about seventy thousand souls, a great industrial centre, and the home of the world's greatest paper mills, a thriving business and shopping centre, with numerous places of amusement, drives and sights to see. It is also supporting a fine golf course, where visitors are made extremely welcome.

This is the year of their tercentenary, an elaborate programme has been outlined to be celebrated during the whole months of July and August, the details will be furnished from week to week on this page, and enjoyment seekers will be well advised to watch this space for details.

Literature, folders, and full information may be obtained from our travel bureau upon request.

The Flambeau

Dedicated to Pierre Boucher, governor of Trois-Rivières who saved the Colony in 1653 by his defence of the Fort of Trois-Rivières against the Iroquois.

Pierre Boucher wrote what might be called the first history of Canada. Dated from Trois-Rivières, October the 8th, 1663, his book entitled: "Histoire véritable et naturelle des Moeurs et Productions du pays de la Nouvelle-France vulgairement dite le Canada" (True and natural account of the customs and products of the country of New France commonly called Canada) was published in 1664, in Paris, by Florentin Lambert.

Erected by the youth of Trois-Rivières in honor of the first Canadian ennobled by Louis the XIV for distinguished services to his Country.

Thirty-three feet high, twenty at the base; granite.

This monument has been designed by Mr. P. E. Paulet of l'Ecole des Beaux Arts, Montréal.

Quebec

The Indians had chosen this exceptional site for the construction of an entrenched camp, which was visited by Jacques Cartier in 1534. Champlain selected the same spot, in 1608, for the building of the first dwelling of the city destined to become the capital of New France.

Quebec is the only fortified city in America, and its citadel, crowning the summit of Cape Diamond, renders peculiarly appropriate the likening of the "City of Champlain" to Gibraltar.

Quebec is the capital of the Province. Divided into two distant parts, one of which, the Upper Town, is built entirely on the cliff and the other, the Lower Town, spread out on the littoral surrounding Cape Diamond and up the Valley of the St. Charles River, it presents a charming spectacle and occupies a site unique in the world.

Quebec is, of all the cities on the North American continent, that of greatest interest to the tourist. By the beauty and number of its monuments, by its old houses of an archaic style of architecture, by the absence of order in the planning of its ensemble, it bears a resemblance to the oldest cities of Europe.

The "Old City of Champlain", besides being an up-to-date commercial center, is also a historic city, holding within its confines many a splendid reminder of its glorious past.

days lack of modern, comfortable accommodation discriminated against it.

But with the coming of Scobie House, Norway Bay began to take on new popularity. Scobie House and Norway Bay became synonymous. Electric light, hot and cold running water in every room — here indeed was a change from the earlier camps which had dotted the shore of the river for a generation or more.

Golf at Arnprior, tennis in the shadow in the pines, fresh water beach for the children, riding, fishing, and dancing in the evenings, enliven the days and brighten the nights where once was only forest.

Norway Bay may be reached by either railroad or by motor highways 8, 16, 29 and 31. It is a pleasant drive of an hour and a half from Ottawa.

John Emerson, who with his wife, Anita Loos, wrote the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer story, "100% Pure", for Jean Harlow, has visited Europe sixteen times . . . and plans to go again this Fall.

North Branch
"Y" Notes

Great excitement prevails these days at North Branch Tennis Courts on Beaumont avenue as work is progressing on the installation of a complete new lighting system on four of the double courts. In the past, side lighting has been used, but this year a new approved direct overhead lighting down the centre of the court is being installed.

The men's singles tournament is now drawing to a close. Alton Kahn and Jack Glen are playing off to-night to meet Guy Thomas in the final event. Thomas disposed of Trevor Elphick, the 1932 champion in a terrific battle and went the limit, winning 6-6, 11-9, 2-6, 6-2, 6-2. Alton Kahn came into the semi-finals beating Morton Ross in straight sets 6-2, 6-2; while Jack Glen disposed of Jack Buckle 6-2, 6-2. The order of players on the men's ladder to No. 6 is as follows: G. Kahn, J. Glen, G. Thomas, A. Kahn, T. Elphick and M. Ross. The ladies tournament has now advanced to the third round in which Doris Painter will meet I. Grant; May Francom-Muriel Cowan; Nettie Patterson-Doris Wilson; Adele Painter-Ethel Riley; G. Scheybal-Margaret Henderson, Muriel Cowan, Nettie Patterson, Doris Painter, Doris Wilson and Adele Painter. At present there are sixty men and forty-six ladies, members of the club. This makes a total of 106 members; the club seeks a membership of 120 as there are eight courts, four of which are lighted. There are facilities capable of

WHEELERS TRIM
O-BEL-O TEAM

The Winged Wheelers, promising young north-end softball team, defeated the O-Bel-O Javel Water team at the Globe grounds, 8-5, before a crowd of some-500 people.

A close game right through, the O-Bel-O boys took a two run lead at the end of the third inning, but the Wheelers came back in the fifth to score 4 runs on hits and squeeze plays. The sixth saw two more runs for the Wings on hits by Hennessy, and Williams. The opposition rallied with 4 runs in the seventh. In the eighth, a double from Joe Hennessy, and a home run from Kaiserman's bat clinched the game at 8-6.

During the game Mickey Hennessy struck out 8 men for the Wheelers. The Wheeler line-up: Marugon, c; M. Hennessy, 1b; Kaiserman, 2b; Williams, ss; Leandris, 3b; Nadler, lf; Tessler, cf; Tambus, rf.

Donald S. Munro is president of the Club; Jack Glen and Muriel Cowan vice-presidents; Harold Fewkes, Recording Secretary, Geo. Porteous, Executive Secretary, Guy Thomas is in charge of tournaments and Nettie Patterson in charge of social events. One of the first social events for this season is a Splash Party to be held at the North Branch Y.M.C.A. at an early date.

A great many members have been joining the North Branch Y.M.C.A. during this past month to take advantage of the short term rates and facilities offered for swimming in summer memberships. To date numbers of men have been taught to swim, and during the month of July classes will be continued daily for men on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday from 7:30 p.m. and on Monday and Thursday from 9:30 p.m.

On Monday and Thursday afternoons Mothers are taking advantage of the facilities offered for teaching youngsters six, seven and eight years of age to swim. This special class meets at 3 p.m., and to date several have been taught to swim, the average child taking at the most ten lessons. These classes are in great demand just now previous to parents leaving for country camps and cottages. The ladies' swims in the even-

GOOD GOLF SWING GIVES SENSATION OF ONE CONTINUOUS MOTION.

Here is a question, from a California reader, which suggests interesting possibilities. Although few golfers will have any doubt of which of the two alternatives is the better, many will have trouble in suggesting ways of achieving the ideal which they have defined.

"Should the feeling be that the golf swing consists of an upswing and then a downswing, or should the sensation be that of one complete and continuous swing with no clearly defined sections?"

We are accustomed to speak of the backswing and the downswing, and for the sake of convenience, even of a point or position which we call the top of the swing. Because of the impossibility of throwing around each statement a vast number of qualifications, some looseness in the use of these terms must be forgiven. However, it is perhaps time to make certain that every golfer understands that in the correct swing there is no clearly defined line dividing upswing from downswing, and that the closer he can come to the sensation of one continuous motion the nearer to golfing excellence will he approach.

SMOOTHNESS GOLF VIRTUE

Most players have learned to regard smoothness of movement as the most desirable of all golfing virtues. They have had it drummed into and every one else, that a leisurely backswing and a leisurely start downward, swinging smoothly and without hurry or jerk, will carry them a long way along the road.

It is a fact that one of the critical points of the swing, perhaps the most critical of all, occurs when the movement is changing direction at what we call the top. It is not so very difficult to swing back smoothly, nor to permit a gradual acceleration to build up speed on the way down, if a proper start has been made. But the danger point comes when the backward movement of the club has to be stopped without shock and a start downward made in the same leisurely beat. It is then that all destructive impulses to tighten up, and to yank and jerk the club, are most difficult to resist.

Sometimes I have heard it said that a distinct pause at the top of the swing could be very helpful. For myself I have never found it so. At times I have tried it, in an effort to slow down a swing that I knew was too fast. But to stop and poise myself in a position which at best was not easy to hold, only had the effect of causing me to take off like lightning when I finally let go.

TWO MOVEMENTS SHOULD BE PERFECTLY BLENDED

It is absurd, I suppose, to argue that it is possible to swing a golf club back and forward, or up and down, in one motion. Yet the correct swing accomplishes the reversal so smoothly that it almost makes the absurdity a reality. Because there is no point at which all parts of the player and club cease moving back or up simultaneously and from which they all start down at once, the movement in one direction becomes blended with that in the other so perfectly that they become in effect, one continuous motion.

But the enhancement of the smoothness of the stroke is not the whole story. It is difficult to think of anything more important, on the mechanical side, than that the hip-turn should lead the downstroke, for here is the means pulling taut the rope up the left side and left arm by means of which the clubhead is swung through the ball.

The hips complete their backward wind-up before the club reaches the top of its swing. Immediately the body begins to unwind, and, pulling against the clubhead, it stretches the left arm and increases the angle at which the wrists are cocked. Taking up this amount of slack absorbs the shock of the change of direction and causes the movement back toward the ball to begin smoothly.

The sensation, then, is of one continuous movement, progressing smoothly from one stage to another. There is no feeling of completing one phase to poise oneself before launching upon that which follows.

SOFTBALL RESULTS

OUTREMENT LADIES LEAGUE
Two big innings in which the Cuckoos pounded the offerings of Clara Liston and Ernie Whittingham for a total of 21 runs was more than sufficient to give them a well deserved 35-12 victory over the Rooks in the game played at Rockland Field on Friday last. In the second frame a car-load of base-hits coupled with some loose play on the part of the Rooks enabled the winners to score thirteen runs and they were never headed thereafter. Kay Powell, pitching ace of the Cuckoos, went the full route and was effective at all times. The offensive power was again led by Pat McBain, who besides collecting a home run, also banged out three other hits. Retta Riley and Mary McDonald also shared the lime-light with their homers and singles. Beatrice Gannon slammed out a four-ply clout for the losers, her second of the season.

On the whole the two-way play of the winners was sufficient to earn them a well-deserved victory. One of the prettiest individual efforts of the game and one which drew round after round of applause, was Daisy Riley's head-first slide into second to be called "Safe" when it appeared she would be "out" by at least three feet. Line-up: Rooks—c, D. Cotton, p, C. Liston, 1b, L. Wade, 2b, M. Griffin, 3b, B. Gannon, ss, D. Riley, rf, R. Liston, cf, M. McLaughlin, lf, E. Whittingham, Utility, E. Moran.

P.Q.L.T.A. Announces Re-Arrangement In Ladies' Division

A. R. Porter, councillor in charge of the Inter-Club series of the P.Q.L.T.A. announced the following changes in the schedule of the Women's sections.

The Eastward Tennis club's entry in Section 2 of the Intermediate series has been transferred to Section 2 of the Senior series thus forming a four club circuit in Section 2 of the Senior with Eastward, Outremont, Verdun and C.P.R.A.A.A.

In order to balance the Intermediate series the Notre Dame de Grace Intermediate Ladies' team will play in Section 2 instead of Section 1. The revised schedule follows:

- Women Senior - Section 2
June 18—Outremont at Verdun; Eastward at C.P.R.A.A.A.
June 25—C.P.R.A.A.A. at Outremont; Eastward at Verdun.
July 9—Verdun at C.P.R.A.A.A.; Outremont at Eastward.
July 30—Verdun at Outremont; C.P.R.A.A.A. at Eastward.
Aug. 6—Outremont at C.P.R.A.A.A.; Verdun at Eastward.
Aug. 20—C.P.R.A.A.A. at Verdun; Eastward at Outremont.
- Women Intermediate - Section 1
June 15—Mt. Royal C.C. at Stuart; Nelson at Crescent.
June 22—Stuart at Nelson; Crescent at Mt. Royal C.C.
June 29—Nelson at Mt. Royal C.C.; Stuart at Crescent.
July 6—Crescent at Stuart; Mt. Royal C.C. at Nelson.
July 13—Mt. Royal at Crescent; Nelson at Stuart.
July 27—Stuart at Mt. Royal C.C.; Crescent at Nelson.
- Women's Intermediate - Section 2
June 15—Connaught at N.D.G.; Canadian at C.P.R.A.A.A.
June 22—Connaught at C.P.R.A.A.A.; N.D.G. at Canadian.
June 29—C.P.R.A.A.A. at N.D.G.; Canadian at Connaught.

July 27—N.D.G. at C.P.R.A.A.A.; Connaught at Canadian.

ST. MICHAEL'S A.A.A. ATHLETICS vs. GIANTS

With Pete Kelly, ace hurler, in fine form and allowing the Giants three well scattered hits, the A's hung up their third win of the season and clubbed into first place. Marty Barry, Joe O'Keefe and Charlie Hempey were the only hitters able to solve Pete slants. Besides pitching near shut-out ball, Pete also slammed out a four-ply clout as did his team-mate Edgar Blackburn. Final score: Athletics 5; Giants 1. Incidentally Pete has left for the Maritimes which may account for the frown on Jim Brown's face. Jim has been looking over the minor team and it looks as though Ed Healy will get the call.

DOGGERS vs. SENATORS

A big second inning in which the Senators collected four hits and 2 walks for a total of seven runs gave them their first win of the season. Pat McCarthy again led the offensive with a homer and double, while Fred Palin collected his first hit of the season in the first inning and followed it up with a terrific homer later in the game. Dodgers put on the heat and rallied for four runs only to hame Senators collect an additional two and win out by a 9-4 score. Kevvy Giles clouted one over the fence for a two bagger for the losers. Fred (Casey) Bertrand must have had some worry or other before the game and as much as his team-mates tried to cheer him up, Fred wouldn't even crack a smile. Casey must have had a hunch.

ATHLETICS vs. GIANTS

Following the example of their major team, the Junior A's slammed the offerings of both Bill Quinn and Baz Devine for a total of twenty-five runs to defeat Joe O'Keefe's minors by a score of 25-14. Both Athletic teams now occupy first place in their respective leagues. The two Leos, Callan and McBain both collected homers for the winners.

Baz Devine was pitching his farewell game, as he is on his way up to the majors and we'll bet he can still hear the ring of base-hits in his ears. Leo McBain down from the majors, performed well at the hot corner.

YANKEES vs. BRAVES

In what was considered one of the best pitching battles of the season, Tom Rochon's Braves opposed Ced Kelly's Yankees. With the score tied at 3-3 in the first half of the seventh, the Braves rallied for two runs. Rochon singled and came home with the winning run when Sallie's liner bounded from Ced Kelly's chest into the spectators, on the play Jim stopped at third and during the confusion caught the Yankees napping and stole home with the second run of the inning. In the last of the seventh the first two Yankees succeeded on getting on base, but Dobby was infield out. McGuigan was out trying to steal home and Killoran popped to end one of the best games seen at Globe Grounds this year.

Marty Barry has agreed to manage the team entered in the North End Standard League and with a few additions the team should quickly forge to the front under his management.

Although three Yankee players have places in the "Big Six" the Junior Yanks occupy the cellar position in the league, having won only one game in three starts.

The softball committee announces that Vice President "Bill" Carragher has taken over the umpire-in-chief job and all complaints and compliments regarding the work of the "ump" should be referred to Bill.

Kevin Brophy, Elliot Callan, Grant Hughes, Gerry Haywood and Joe O'Keefe have been elected as members of the softball committee.

200 READY FOR LACROSSE ACTIVITIES

Activities in the Quebec Amateur Lacrosse Association are right now at their height. The Senior and Intermediate Inter-scholastic Leagues have just terminated their schedules and have registered about 200 players.

The Senior Group, operating at the Forum on Monday and Friday nights with Canadiens, Shamrocks, Royals and Verdun, are at fever heat with each team endeavoring to take the lead which they hope will give them the Beatty Cup.

The Provincial and Montreal Intermediate Leagues have about a quarter of their respective schedules completed and are composed of St. Jean de Matha, Ironquois, Villory, Invaders, Celtics and Ramblers, Verdun A.C. Shamrocks, Rosemount, Montiefories and Points.

Quebec City Intermediates are composed of Lauzon, Levis, Y.M.C.A. and Granites, and the winners of this League will play off with the local Intermediate Champions for the right to play-off with the Senior Group Champions.

There are eight junior teams now competing for the new N.L.U. Trophy.

Thus there are approximately 1,000 registered players in the Q.A.L.A. who are signed under the Rules and Regulations of that body which is administered by E. A. Pilon, President, I. Raymond, Vice-Pres. Martin E. Conway, Secy-Treas. and Alde Gagnon, Jas. Flannagan, M. Lapierre, F. Skecher, H. Lachapelle and Guy Lavalle as Councilors.

Chances are very good that the Dominion Finals for the Mann Cup will be played here at the Forum and consequently the Senior teams especially are travelling at a fast clip to qualify for the honor to represent the Province and, as they feel they can do, win the solid gold Trophy.

Never was interest so keen in lacrosse as today with the innovation of Box Lacrosse and it is the boast of the Officials that once a person witnesses a game at the Forum they become regular customers.

ed flowers which are splendid for cutting and last surprisingly well in the house.

AFRICAN MARIGOLD, another useful plant which grows three feet high and makes a brilliant mass of color in gold, orange and yellow.

The following five plants owing to their lower habit of growth are suitable for planting in front of the taller ones just listed above:

The PETUNIA, blooming profusely as it does throughout the whole summer until finally killed by the frost, is possibly the most popular annual in this district. Although it comes in many colors the pink varieties are the best known. There are dwarf varieties of the petunia which do not exceed six inches in height and hence are suitable for the front of the border.

The CALENDULA, sometimes called POT Marigold, has brilliant orange and yellow flowers and is very easy to grow. It is one of the most decorative of cut flowers and is sold as such in the better flower shops.

BLUE CORNFLOWER (Centaurea Cyanis) That popular little blue flower which seems to have been created for the lapel of the well-dressed man, and which lasts for such a long time therein.

ZINNIAs, one of the most snowy of flowers blooming until frost. Splendid for cutting. Comes in purples, orange, crimson, violet, rose, scarlet and white.

CLARKIA. Another charming annual with its profusion of rose, white, red or purple flowers.

Among the dwarf plants suitable for the edge of beds or borders in the present case we might mention the following:

SWEET ALYSSUM, (Little Gem). Fragrant little white flowers in the greatest profusion.

LOBELIA (Crystal Palace). The finest dark blue flower for bedding, blooms profusely from June until frost.

FRENCH MARIGOLD. Brilliant velvety reds and golds.

PORTULACA. Showy masses of various bright colors.

PHLOX DRUMMONDII. A most beautiful and popular flower, produces blooms in great profusion throughout the summer until late autumn in numberless hues. A great favourite of the writer.

THE WEEKLY SHORT STORY

Nice To Read About

By RICHARD HILL WILKINSON

There is a spirit of adventure in all of us—I suppose. A desire to cut loose and go vagabonding about the world, a la Richard Halliburton. To leave civilization behind and live only for today, with never a thought or care about the future, possessed only of an over-powering desire to see what's around the next bend in the road.

Donna Hayes had that feeling. Of course, Donna is a woman, but women, after all, are people, and there is no reason why they shouldn't have the feeling as well as a man. Besides, Donna had been reading books, magazine stories and newspaper articles. And when a man (or a woman) vagabonds about the world through the pages of books, magazines and newspapers, if the writers are clever manipulators of words, there is a certain enchantment lent the sojourns that is a trifle misleading to such people as Donna.

The stories might be the cause for Donna's sudden desire to realize a dream and go vagabonding. This and the fact that it was spring, and ignorance of what lay beyond the outskirts of the city in which she was born and raised.

The decision came upon Donna abruptly one morning about 9 o'clock, an hour after Ken, her husband, had departed for the day. Donna was not ordinarily a selfish person, therefore she must excuse her on this particular day for giving no thought to the effect her plan might have upon her spouse's state of mind.

Within an hour's time Donna was on her way. She carried an improvised knapsack, containing a change of clothing, a toothbrush, a comb and a vanity case. She wore a heavy woollen skirt, one of Ken's flannel shirts, low-heeled shoes and a suede jacket.

The interurban trolley line deposited here on the outskirts of the city. From this point the open road, a main traffic artery, stretched away for endless miles into the unknown (or, according to the road map, to the next large city, 20 miles distant; but Donna, of course, didn't know this, because road maps were not part of her equipment). The artery was deserted now, save for several thousand motor cars.

Donna breathed deeply of the gasoline-scented air, employed her imagination, and sensed a feeling of freedom surging through her blood.

After an hour of strolling along in the gutter to avoid being struck by speeding motorists, she came to a cross-roads and turned off the main artery, because the intersecting highway seemed to be less travelled. It was. For almost 30 minutes no automobile passed her by. The road she traversed narrowed into a mere cart-path, hemmed in on either side by thick woods. There was a strangeness about the air that was new to her, and she wondered what it was.

Once she paused to remove a stone from her shoe, and decided that the strangeness was due to lack of noise. She paused to listen, and became curiously oppressed by the silence. Not even the distant honking of an automobile horn broke the quietude.

Donna tried to feel that surge of freedom again. But for some reason it eluded her. She cast a furtive glance into the woods on her left, and jumped as a gray squirrel sprang from the limb of one tree to another. She felt suddenly lonely, without knowing why, and wondered if, after all, she shouldn't have kept to the main highway.

After another few steps she paused again. The sun had disappeared. Cloud banks were rising over the tree-tops. It looked as if it might rain.

As she stood there, the distant roll of thunder reached her ears. The atmosphere took on a yellowish hue. Somewhere off in the woods there was a loud, crashing sound.

A new feeling clutched at Donna's heart. A feeling of fear. She looked anxiously up and down the road, wondering vaguely what vagabonds did when it rained and there was no shelter nearby. Again the loud crashing. Donna darted a look in that direction, and discovered that the woods were enshrouded in a weird sort of gloom. Even the light in the roadway was dimming.

And then when it seemed the world was closing about her in a suffocating embrace, she heard a new sound and her heart leaped. The headlights of an automobile swung around a bend in the road and came bumping toward her. Donna waved wildly and the car stopped.

A man with a stubble of black beard and bloodshot evil-looking eyes thrust out his head and leered at her questioningly. There was something about his expression that struck terror to Donna's heart. Impelled by a new and more dreadful fear, she shrieked and, without considering the consequences, turned and plunged into the woods.

After what seemed like hours of endless running, she paused, breathless, to listen. Far behind here she heard the diminishing chug-chug of an automobile. A sob escaped her lips. She sat down, dabbing at a scratch on her cheek, and discovered her skirt was torn in several places. Rain was sifting down through the leaves. The wilderness lay in almost total darkness on every hand.

At length Donna rose and started back toward the cart-path. A half-hour later she knew she was lost. Realization of it produced a fresh flood of terror. She sat down, sobbing brokenly. But there was no one near to hear her sobs; nothing to break the stillness but the soft patter of rain and the distant booming of thunder.

A rabbit crouched on its stomach some distance away and watched her curiously. When Donna looked up it bounded into a thicket. She screamed in mortal terror, stood up and went plunging off through the underbrush, heedless of low-hanging branches that struck at her stinging.

Toward 4 o'clock of that afternoon a bruised and torn figure, scarcely recognizable as a woman, broke through the brush that lined the main automobile highway and signalled frantically to an approaching bus. The driver at first seemed reluctant to stop, but on getting a closer look at the signaller's face, he applied his brakes and the woman climbed aboard. Passengers stared in frank astonishment. The man beside whom the woman sat down, moved gingerly away and presently arose and stepped across the aisle.

That evening Ken Hayes returned as usual to his home about 6 o'clock and discovered that his dinner wasn't ready and that the living room and kitchen of his apartment were empty. Perplexed, he divested himself of his coat and hat and went roaming from one room to the next in search of his wife.

He found her in the bedroom. She was sitting in a chair beneath a reading lamp, and when he entered she looked up, startled.

"Why Ken, I didn't hear you. Heavens! What time is it? After 6! Good gracious! Your dinner!" She paused, and a half-wistful, half-humorous look came into her eyes. "I started this book a half-hour ago and became so engrossed I forgot the time. It's an adventure story, Ken. The most thrilling thing you can imagine—Oh, Ken, it must be glorious to vagabond around the world, with never a worry, never a care, just living in the present, never having to think about the future or getting dinners, or bridge parties or teas gasoline at all, but in the carburetor or ignition system. If that is so, changing gasolines will get you nowhere, for the basic conditions of poor performance are still the same. Let your suspicions fall first on the carburetor adjustment. That generally is one of the main reasons why a car loses pep and vivacity.

When you fail to diagnose that mysterious noise in the car, try coasting for a while. That may clear up the mystery. If the noise is in the engine itself, the noise will vanish when the power plant is idle. If the noise is in the car body, it will continue while you are coasting. Service experts also say that on the whole in detecting noises four ears are better than two. A really elusive noise will more readily be run down by two persons than one.

The rule that a new car should be broken in slowly is no theory, but a well attested fact. Many cars are never able to show their real performance quality all because they have been hustled too much in the first thousand miles. Therefore control that impulse and impatience to find out just how good the new car really is. It is one more instance that the more haste means the less speed. If you put the new car through its paces too early you will find that it is inexplicably sluggish later on.

Do not be too free with the gasoline when using it to remove grease from the body of a car. Too much gasoline may be the finish of the finish. Do not soak the rag you are using. Merely dampen it with the fluid, and you will find that you have quite enough to remove the grease without, at the same time, spoiling the paint job.

"I didn't raise my daughter to be fiddled with," said the cat when she rescued her offspring from the violin factory.

REPAIR TIPS

There may seem to be an economy of fuel in coasting down a hill, but a good driving tip in respect of this thrifty habit is an emphatic "Don't." Many an accident has happened because the car was rolling swiftly down hill out of gear. You never can tell on strange hills when you may need your engine's braking power. A steep grade is no place to have an accident.

The one-eyed motor car is a menace. Many motorists are ignorant that they have only one headlight burning. Looking ahead at the road does not enlighten them. But they can easily discover their half blind condition if they will look at the back of the car ahead and see whether both lights are reflected from it.

Now is the worst time of the year for blow-outs and punctures. If you do not wish to ruin your clothes and reveal to your wife or girl friend as well as to yourself your latent powers of profanity, it is well by careful attention to your tires to obviate the use of the jack. It is heat that is the great enemy of rubber. After a long, fast run on a sizzling hot day, a tire check-up is very desirable. You invite inevitable disaster if you travel through the heat on threadbare tires. This is the season when a new tire may be a very wise economy.

Many motorists when their car acts sluggishly blame it on the gasoline and switch to a new brand. That may be a foolish fuel habit. As often as not the trouble is not in the or anything of that sort. It—it must be grand.

"To read about," Ken agreed, grinning.

And Donna sighed and laid down her book and went to get Ken his dinner.
