

All Saints Guild at Dunham plan for receptions

DUNHAM — The Ladies Guild of All Saints' Anglican Church held its regular meeting on May 31, at the home of Mrs. C. H. Rindon.

A motion was passed giving Mrs. Elsie Doherty authority to select suitable material to finish assembling a dresden plate quilt, which when finished will be for sale.

Plans were made for catering to two wedding receptions and two members were authorized to purchase punch glasses instead of renting them for these events. There is a possibility that the church may be undergoing repairs at the time of one of the receptions and Mrs. Yates stated that use of the United Church Hall had been offered.

Mrs. Bracey resigned as Flower Fund secretary and Mrs. Warren offered to take charge. Mrs. Bracey was thanked for the fine work she had done.

After the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. Syming and Mrs. Elsie Doherty. As it was Mrs. Bracey's birthday, the hostess decorated the cake with a candle and while members sang, Happy Birthday, the honoree member blew it out.

Nfld. hit by forest fire

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Rain forecast for today is expected to aid firefighters battling the first major forest fire in Newfoundland since last year's disastrous outbreaks. A fire which blazed up on Bell Island in Conception Bay about 12 miles east of here Sunday was being contained on a front about a mile wide and half a mile deep.

It destroyed a house and barn on the less populated part of the island and a lighthouse had to be evacuated when flames came within 50 feet of it.

Three other homes, which had been saved by water sprayed from fire trucks, were left standing in a patch of blackened brush.

The fire burned an area three miles long and two miles wide before it was contained. Fought by resources department firefighters, Bell Island residents and the Bell Island Fire Department, the fire burned mainly in brush but at times ate its way into spruce timber.

MINE SAFE

A Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation iron ore mine, Bell Island's principal industry, is about two miles from the fire and was not in any danger. Another major fire was burning out of control early today in heavy stands of spruce and fire about 20 miles south of here.

A forest ranger said it was impossible to determine the size of the fire. There were no reports of buildings in danger but the area, a few miles east of the community of Bay Bulls, is dotted with summer cabins.

The Municipal Officer's Finance Association adopted the resolution on the last day of their four-day 20th convention held at the New Sherbrooke Hotel during the past week. The resolution has been referred for study to the year's new executive, also elected on Saturday, the last day of the convention.

Other resolutions had to do with the setting up of a pension fund for municipal employees and minor changes to the association's charter. In their report, the constitution committee, suggested a change in the association's name from the Municipal Finance Officer's Association to the Municipal Finance and Administration Officer's Association.

Before adjourning for another year, the association chose its new executive for the coming year.

Georges Carrier of Arvida was chosen as the year's new president, replacing Olivier Routhier, treasurer of the city of Sherbrooke.

Other members of the new executive are, Edmund O'Neil, of St. Foye, vice-president, and directors, Fernand Poiré of Thetford Mines, Oscar Ruel, of Shawinigan Falls, Marveau Alexander, of Richmond, Cleophas Viau of St. Jerome, and Ronald Beaupre of St-Vincent-de-Paul.

Tragedy averted at Stoke Lake

2 adults, 4 children sink in boat

A tragedy was averted Saturday afternoon when quick thinking and fast action combined to save the lives of four children and two adults when the outboard motor boat in which they were riding sank some 50 to 75 feet from the shore.

The accident took place at the St. Pat's Old Boys Camp at Stoke Lake during the annual St. Pat's Parish picnic.

The children in the boat were Cathy Welsh, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Welsh of 1361 Prospect St.; Deborah Fontaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francois Fontaine of 835 Malouin Street, Laura Coley, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Coley of 1658 Vermont St.; and Muriel Pryce, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Pryce of Beckett Rd.

Don Clowery of 560 Laporte Street, the driver, and Mrs. Thomas Coley of 814 Malouin Street were the only two adults in the boat.

"I was standing on the wharf watching the boat come in and all of a sudden there it was sinking," Mrs. Lyle Sager of 814 Malouin said.

"As we went across the lake, I saw that we were taking in water, and on the way back it got worse. I felt that we would get back to shore all right, but about 60 feet out the boat went down," Mrs. Coley said.

Immediately after the boat sank, another boat put out from shore to lead the rescue work, and a courageous teenager dove into the water and swam out to the scene of the accident to help.

The teenager, Jimmy Maysenholder, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jean Maysenholder of 1450 Tetrault Street, saved little Cathy Welsh and dragged her into shore, where artificial respiration was performed by the St. John Ambulance Corps. She was then taken to Sherbrooke Hospital for an examination and was later released.

The other boat saved the remaining three children, who except for swallowing quantities of water were none the worse for the experience.

Jimmy Maysenholder said that none of the children could swim and that none of them were wearing life jackets.

Don Clowery, the driver, said that he had already taken out over 20 boat loads of kids, and that he could give no reason why the boat went down as it was of good fiberglass construction.

"Had the boat gone down nearer the middle of the lake, I'm afraid that almost all of the kids would have drowned," Mrs. Coley said.

Mrs. Coley herself went down twice and was badly bruised from hitting the sides of the boat.

The depth of the water at the point of the sinking was estimated to be about 10 feet by Mr. Clowery.

Lost in the near tragedy were the purse of Mrs. Coley, and various towels, shoes and other personal effects as well as Mr. Clowery's motor.

In all there were some 275 children attending the St. Patrick's Parish annual picnic.

Jim Coley, father of one of the girls in the boat, said "it was by the mercy of God that the children are alive today".

C of C seeks aid for RC board

The Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce has sent a resolution to Quebec Youth Minister Paul Gerin-Lajoie asking that the government grant the Sherbrooke Roman Catholic School money to meet its financial commitments for 1962-63.

The chamber drafted the resolution at a regular meeting of the directors June 11 and sent it to the minister last week.

It also recommended that Mr. Gerin-Lajoie whose department is in charge of education matters in the province "temporarily accept" a deficit budget for the commission. The directors that the commission not be received to date.

Elsewhere, the chamber asked that the government adopt a law applying to the Sherbrooke board which would permit the commission to draw higher revenues. The resolution does not mention how this money could be raised.

The chamber remarked that the government had promised to grant $375,000 to the commission to overcome a 1961-62 deficit but that the money has not been received to date.

No. 9 Militia Group begins week training at Camp Farnham

Number Nine Militia Group's annual summer camp began last weekend, when approximately 800 militiamen, consisting of officers, NCOs and men moved into Camp Farnham. They will remain at this centre until June 23rd, for a full week of training.

No. 9 Militia Group consists of eight units:

The Sherbrooke Regiment, RCAC, of Sherbrooke; 7/XI Hussars, RCAC, Richmond, Danville, Windsor, East Angus, Cookshire, Bury and Scotstown; 27th Field Artillery Regiment, RCA, Cowansville, Farnham and Granby; 46th Field Artillery Regiment, RCA, Drummondville, Victoriaville, and Coaticook; 61eme Battalion Royal 22nd Regiment, RCIC, St. Hyacinthe, Actonville, Sorel and St. Hilaire; Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke, RCIC, Sherbrooke and Magog; 8th Medical Company, RCAMC, Sherbrooke; and 24 Technical Squadron, RCME, Sherbrooke.

Lt-Col. F. L. Armitage, EM, ED, AA & QMG for 9 Militia Group H.Q. is acting commander in the absence of Brig. J. P. Gautier, who will arrive at Farnham only on Thursday.

Commenting on the six days that follow, Lt-Col. Armitage expressed his belief that this year's camp will prove a most beneficial one, as most of the time will be spent in corps training, with some national survival instruction, which is contrary to camps of the past two years.

Both weeks spent at Camp Farnham in 1960 and '61 were largely devoted to national survival training, with little emphasis on corps practical instruction. The Militia's role as a combatant force is again being given greater consideration.

While at this camp, each of the two armoured units, two field artillery, and two infantry regiments will have separate training areas, with special locations allocated to the RCME and Meds to carry on training.

There will be range and rifle classification firing all through the week. However, because of the rifle range's location, firing will occasionally interfere with the armoured training.

FULL PROGRAM

Contrary to belief, militiamen attending a summer camp have a full program ahead of them from 6:15 a.m. when reveille sounds till lights out at 10 p.m. The daily routine calls for breakfast from 7 till 7:45, form-up at 8 a.m., training until noon; lunch from 12 till 1 p.m.; training from 1 till 5; dinner from 5 till 6; and sports each evening from 7 until 9 p.m.

Until lights-out there is usually plenty to do, preparing for the coming day, and when a soldier gets the day in, he is usually ready to tuck in for a good night's sleep.

Saturday, 71 of the approximate 800 arrived here to make preparations for the coming week. Sunday the main body arrived, and there was the normal bustle to get ready; issuing of bedding, allotment of tents, etc.

The officers' lines consist of bell tents, with two officers to a tent. The WO and sergeants' lines are much the same, and the corporals and men are billeted in marquees. Accommodations are identical to the past two years, and from all accounts, throughout the ranks, everyone is quite pleased with circumstances.

The big question always asked by soldiers is, "How's food?" It's hard to say at this point, but if meals served Saturday and Sunday are any indication of what are to follow, there shouldn't be complaints from anyone.

Church parades were held Sunday evening. There will be individual unit parades daily, and the whole Group will go on a brigade parade Friday afternoon, following up.

The annual camp officers' mess dinner will be held on Friday evening following the brigade parade, when guest of honour will be Major-General Frank J. Fleury, CBE, ED, CD, General Officer Commanding Quebec Army Command.

By CHARLES CATCHPAUGH (Record correspondent)

Sunday a little rain fell, but not sufficient to make much difference. High winds have blown over the area for the past two days, which would assist a fire should one get started.

VISITS ARMOURD UNITS

Sunday Major-General F. F. Worthington returned to Camp Farnham, where he reviewed the armoured units' arrival whom he visited in Sherbrooke Saturday afternoon and evening. Guest of The Sherbrooke Regiment and 7/XI Hussars, the World-War II Armoured Commander of the Second Division, of which the Sherbrookes were officers of the Sherbrookes and 7/XI Hussars as hosts.

Lt-Col. Alfred Penhale, honorary colonel of The Sherbrookes presented the guest with a copy of The Sherbrooke Regiment history, which was of special meaning to Major-General Worthington, as he commanded the Second Division in the Second World War, of which this unit was a part.

In making reference to the corps school in Camp Borden, Lt-Col. M. Bateman of Thetford Mines who now commands the 7/XI Canadian Hussars, RCAC, and Brig. Mel Gordon, now in Ottawa, all former members of the Sherbrooke unit.

GENERAL NOTES

There are only three members of the opposite sex in camp this year, two nursing sisters, Lt. Phyllis Price, 2/Lt. Pauline Holmes and A/Sgt. Harriet Edmond, who was just promoted from Corporal. All three of these ladies are members of the 8th Medical Company, RCAMC.

Arriving in Sherbrooke mid-afternoon Saturday, Major-General Worthington visited The Sherbrooke Regiment armoury, and the McBain tank training farm, escorted by Lt-Col. D. W. Ward, C.O. of The Sherbrookes; Lt-Col. J. J. Gardiner, C.O. of the 7/XI; Majors J. Hawkins and J. Milson, 2ics of the two units; and Capt. Edward Stiles who acted as aid to the retired commander.

One of the party's main stops was at the Sherbrooke Parade Grounds, where Major-General Worthington viewed "Tank Bomb", which was a vehicle of his command in the last war.

Following the Sherbrooke tour, Major-General Worthington was taken to dinner at the St. George's Club, and in the evening a special reception was held in the Sherbrooke Regiment officers' mess, with officers of the Sherbrookes and 7/XI Hussars as hosts.

Lt-Col. Alfred Penhale, honorary colonel of The Sherbrookes presented the guest with a copy of The Sherbrooke Regiment history, which was of special meaning to Major-General Worthington, as he commanded the Second Division in the Second World War, of which this unit was a part.

Cutting off a promising future

Within the next few days, high schools across the country will be shutting for the summer holidays and many of the students will not return next fall to complete their secondary education.

These young people will become statistics to be added to the lengthy report on the tragic situation of high school drop-outs. Poorly equipped to meet the demands of a modern technological society, these youngsters often find their way to the lineups in the Unemployment Insurance offices.

In some cases, teenagers are forced by circumstances — financial situation of the family, health, lack of ability — to leave high school. Obviously, the solution to this kind of drop-out deserves special study. Educationists have called for more educational and vocational guidance, greater diversity of educational opportunity and increased financial support and student aid. As they point out, many of those who drop out do so for excellent reasons.

But there are many other students who have no valid reasons for leaving high school. They join the two-thirds of all Canadians who do not complete a regular high school course. An increasing proportion of jobs need special skills or professional training, but as a report recently prepared by education authorities notes "it is apparent that two-thirds of the labor force is competing for one-third of the jobs."

The authors of the report claim that society is inadvertently encouraging drop-outs. One principal is quoted as saying that today's students do not really see why they should exert themselves when everyone aims at getting along as effortlessly as possible. Young people evidently lack "a sense of mission", the report maintains, that used to be characteristic of earlier generations.

Drop-outs are having an adverse effect on the manpower situation and are a cause of serious loss to both the individual and the economy. At the heart of the drop-out problem apparently is the young people's desire to earn money as quickly as possible. One Quebec study showed that more than half the pupils leaving school at Grade Seven were from the two lowest of nine classified income brackets. The situation is no doubt similar on the secondary school level.

Parental encouragement and supervision are essential if a young man or woman is to appreciate the value of a high school education. In the past few years, the high school leaving certificate has become a must for an increasing number of jobs. The young people who ignore this fact are cutting themselves off from a promising future.

Soviets launch another 'peace' blitz

It was not so long ago that Fidel Castro, faced with drastic food shortages in Cuba, urged the youth of his country to "greater heights" for the cause of Communism, in effect attempting to fill empty stomachs with stirring slogans.

Now the Soviet Union is attempting somewhat the same kind of play.

Food shortages plague most of the Communist bloc countries in Europe and Asia. Indeed, the situation has become so serious in Russia in recent weeks that the Soviet people now must pay 30 per cent more for meat and butter, when they can get them. They have been told they must live with the idea of nagging shortages because of agricultural failures.

Hard on the heels of this announcement comes news of a major propaganda offensive to be launched in Moscow July 9 when what is termed a "world congress for general disarmament" opens under the sponsorship of the Moscow-directed World Peace Council.

Artist Pablo Picasso has designed a new "peace dove" for the occasion — a bird hovering over a head of destroyed weapons supposed to dramatize Premier Khrushchev's proposals for disarmament, which, as the whole world knows, rule out any kind of control system based on mutual inspection.

The congress will not be the first peace offensive launched by the Soviet Union. Meetings such as the scheduled July one have been going on periodically since the postwar years. Frequently, they have been used to obscure trouble on the home front or divert attention from it as the July gathering is undoubtedly designed to do.

But the peace congresses have also served another purpose. In 1958, it will be remembered, a peace council drive was a prelude to Premier Khrushchev's sudden offensive against West Berlin. Another peace propaganda blitz was mounted before the Korean invasion, and others were called before other major Russian moves in the international cold war sphere.

It is likely that the July congress signals the beginning of yet another Russian operation of harassment and/or aggression.

Where it will strike will be difficult to predict at this point. There are any number of alternatives open to Premier Khrushchev, ranging from Laos to Berlin to West New Guinea to South American to Cuba. One thing is certain. If and when the blow comes, it will be delivered in the name of world peace and harmony for the benefit of the austerly-stricken masses at home.

Devaluation makes tourists richer

Dear Sir:
The tourist season is just around the corner. Let's look at the small print to see if devaluation is all sunshine. In 1961 Canadians spent $663,000,000 outside of Canada — $453,000,000 of it in the U.S.A. The total was $160,000,000 more than visitors spent in our country.
The retail sales tax is no deterrent to spending nor is the all too common 20 to 25% interest rate on installment purchases. So I don't think devaluation will make much difference either way except maybe the extra $40 on transportation to Gt. Britain, to people who skimp and save to get home for a visit.

Based on 1961 figures, devaluation would cost Canadians $53,000,000 more — $40, 000,000 of which would be given to visitors when they exchange their foreign money. I doubt whether Americans coming to their summer home or to visit friends will spend more than formerly. Why short change ourselves to make them richer.

Yours truly,
John Gilbert,

Refutes arguments for fluoridation

Dear Sir:
Maybe you will favor me in printing this open letter to Dr. G. Bates, General Director of "Health Magazine." People should be permitted to read something against, as well as so much for "Fluoridation."

Under "Fluorophobia" "Helps Mislead Public" — you not only cheapen yourself by calling names unnecessarily, but cry about "truth" four times. Let us have more truth, please.

It amused me to see the truth under "What is Holding Up Fluoridation?" in "Health" — copied from "Changing Times." You showed two skulls and cross bones — we know that stands for poison.

Sherbrooke has prospered my practice for nearly thirty years and when patients asked if saccharin is harmful I looked into the toxicology and recommended saccharin. But, alas for "Fluoridation" — it is strongly indicated for bugs, "roach powder" the book mentions. It should stop tooth decay — if not rot teeth — I have no trouble believing that mottled teeth have been caused by it.

Chlorine is used to decontaminate our water supply and helps prevent disease — it is quite strong, but is it not fluorine that is used to eat into glass to frost it?

Let us admit there may be organic fluorine in the human body and even in some foods, but why is not more of such food recommended in "Health" rather than a promiscuous plan of further adulteration of public water supply. Individual treatment of water supply gives adequate and more precise administration of fluoride for any who want it. And it is more economical than fluoridation of mass quantities for general use, which wastes this powerful antiseptic. Rust is an enemy of plumbing. And chlorine helps to rot pipes, but where general fluoridation has been tried, it has been found that plumbing bills increase even more rapidly. Who wants that?

If only one city had tried

"Fluoridation" and abandoned it, that would be enough to turn people against it. But there are some few cities that used fluorides in their water supply but stopped using it.

Someone else may add to the above to inform Mr. Public here as to the source of this "waste product fluowhat kind of citizens would they make? It seems easy to guess, as the leopard does not change his spots.

We condemned (and rightly so) the Nazis & Fascists for their regimes of oppression, cruelty, brutality and mass murder, but what is going on in Algeria is equally heinous! There is not much difference in the mind which must torture a victim, kill him, then mutilate his body beyond recognition and the one which directed cremation of the Jews. Both are motivated by hate and extermination of a people.

We "civilized" white westerners cry loud and strong when a man with a black skin commits an outrage such as in the Belgian Congo and dub them as savages who know no law but that of the jungle "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." But they have not been in contact with civilization nor Christianity for long compared to us, and if both have had so little impact on us "the whites of Christendom" how can we expect others to accept and abide as a way and code of living what we as a race have failed to assimilate and communicate during our centuries of "civilization and progress." Until men live by the Golden Rule, (Luke 6, verse 31), such atrocities will be committed.

I think the Canadian government would do much better in accepting instead that

Intensive campaign launched

Race to keep deaths down is on as toll matches vehicle increase

By MEL SUFRIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A critical race is being run on Canadian roads.

It's a contest to keep the number of deaths from rising in proportion to the annual increase in motor vehicles.

Two years ago there were 5,341,008 cars and trucks on the roads. Accidents killed 3,308 persons.

Last year the number of vehicle registrations rose to about 5,500,000. The death toll more than kept pace, rising to 3,429.

This year the number of vehicles is expected to jump by three to five per cent.

Will the death rate again rise?

Safety experts are ever hopeful of turning the tide. During the first three months their hopes were buoyed by the fact that while there were 523 fatalities, the figure was smaller than the 559 in the same period of 1961.

What are they doing to help curb the slaughter on the highways?

A Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press shows the campaign is being carried on with a variety of new laws, efforts to make highways safer and a large number of public and private educational campaigns.

On the main road leading south from Calgary Easter weekend, members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce halted automobiles and poured coffee for drivers. It was the start of a campaign to impress them with the importance of driving safely.

In Saskatchewan, starting July 1, all new cars will be required to have anchors for seat belts.

In Nova Scotia and Newfoundland some highways for the first time have 40-mile-an-hour minimum speed limits — recognition that driving too slowly can be dangerous.

In Ontario the government has trailers scouting the province offering safety checks of motor vehicles.

Quebec employs a dozen persons whose sole task is to visit schools to impress students with the need for highway safety.

In Fredericton in August a two-week course in driver education for teachers, first of its kind in the Maritimes, will be offered by the Canadian Highway Safety Council with money provided by the All-Canadian Insurance Federation.

British Columbia, like Manitoba and Prince Edward Island, has no new legislation on the books since government officials feel the only answer is to continue to deal with poor drivers by keeping their cases under constant review.

B.C. gives its magistrates considerable scope, and motor vehicle department officials say firm treatment in courts is the most successful approach.

Manitoba's motor vehicle branch, responsible for licensing and driver testing, continues to rely chiefly on the demerit points system for violations of the Highway Traffic Act which gives it power to suspend driver's licences.

Prince Edward Island in April put on an eight-week television course in safe driving.

The educational program in Newfoundland is carried out by the RCMP which talks to teenagers on safe driving. The Mounties and highway patrol officers have been given a special course in highway safety. And the province has boosted fines for going through stop signs.

While setting a minimum speed limit, Nova Scotia has also changed the penalty for speeding from a straight fine to loss of points and of driving privileges for one week. Motor patrol cars will be on the highways this summer.

Quebec is amending the Highway Code to authorize temporary driving permits to students of driving schools at 16 and will issue licences when they have taken an approved course of at least 25 hours of theory and six hours on the road. However, parental consent is still required for all under 21 who want to drive. Jaywalking and speeding fines are being boosted.

New Brunswick is continuing its program to eliminate road hazards, including adherence to the Canadian manual of uniform road signs. Extensive revisions were made this year to clarify and strengthen the Motor Vehicle Act but there has been no increase in penalties.

Ontario is continuing a series of regional conferences on accident prevention and is also boosting two programs, one on bicycle safety and another on pedestrian safety among elderly people.

The demerit point system has been changed, with some increases in loss of points for certain violations. At the same time it now takes 15 points for loss of licence instead of 12.

Saskatchewan's Highway Safety Council produced four 15-minute weekly broadcasts heard by 43,000 students in the first three grades. It has completed a safety check of cars through nearly all garages in the province.

Explaining the requirement that new cars have seat belt anchors, council director Len Bowman says police reports show that 101 of the 171 fatalities in 1961 could have been prevented with belts.

The Alberta Safety Council, relying on news media and local organizations for promotion, is carrying on a summer safe-driving campaign. The province has new legislation boosting insurance requirements for drivers and providing for 65 m.p.h. speed limits on designated stretches of highway. At present this speed is limited to daylight hours on four-lane stretches. Highways Minister Taylor has often maintained that speed alone is not a major cause of accidents.

Last year's fatality toll rose in six provinces, the exceptions being Nova Scotia, Newfoundland, New Brunswick and Alberta.

However, in the first three months this year Alberta and Nova Scotia were up, along with Manitoba and P.E.I.

Fatalities by provinces in 1961 (with 1960 figures bracketed):
British Columbia 320 (284); Alberta 279 (310); Saskatchewan 171 (164); Manitoba 134 (122); Ontario 1,268 (1,166); Quebec 859 (853); New Brunswick 154 (166); Prince Edward Island 15 (13); Nova Scotia 57 (174); Newfoundland 42 (46).

Deaths in the first three months of this year compared with the same period a year ago:
British Columbia 55 (72); Alberta 23 (25); Saskatchewan 12 (19); Manitoba 17 (14); Ontario 214 (215); Quebec 132 (142); New Brunswick 22 (27); Prince Edward Island 3 (1); Nova Scotia 35 (30); Newfoundland 5 (14).

Plan said uncovered

Coup d'etat in Formosa?

TOKYO — (TNS) — There may have been an attempted coup d'etat in Formosa last fall about which the world heard nothing.

This was disclosed by a Formosan exile, Dr. Thomas W. Liao, who stated that a plan to oust Chiang Kai-shek was uncovered and that "some 300 local leaders were arrested last August and now are facing secret court-martial."

Liao's disclosure was made in a tape-recorded interview following his recent re-election here as president of the self-styled Provisional Government of the Republic of Formosa — a group of exiles who claim to be the legitimate representatives of the 10,000,000 Taiwanese.

This is the first report or hint of active unrest inside Formosa. If true, it is of considerable importance since anything concerning this island stronghold which challenges and is challenged by Communist China, also concerns world peace.

Recent reports of economic mismanagement and increasing talk by Chiang of military adventurism, would tend to support the idea that the generalissimo's hold is weakening.

Liao (pronounced Lee-O) confidently proclaims that revolt in Formosa is but a matter of time. The circumstances and activities of Liao's "provisional government" would therefore seem worthwhile documenting.

GUNS OF THE U.S. FLEET
In 1947, there was a popular but poorly organized revolt in Formosa against Chiang Kai-shek and his 2,000,000 Nationalist camp-following who, in fleeing the mainland subjugated and fortified Taiwan.

Two divisions of Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese troops put down the revolt. Liao states that upward of 40,000 Formosans were killed — which again, if true, is news. Compulsory conscription followed, and the guns of the United States 7th Fleet, then, as now, endorsed Nationalist rule.

The leaders of that revolt, of which Liao claims to be the architect fled to Hong Kong, then the Philippines, and finally assembled in Tokyo, where, on Feb. 28, 1956, commemorating the day of revolution nine years before, they formed a government in exile.

New Brunswick is continuing its program to eliminate road hazards, including adherence to the Canadian manual of uniform road signs. Extensive revisions were made this year to clarify and strengthen the Motor Vehicle Act but there has been no increase in penalties.

To acknowledge the generosity of the PC candidate they decided to enter the meeting and provide enthusiastic applause for the speaker.

But, unfortunately, the small fry were not too sure of their parents' political affiliation as became apparent when a couple of indignant fathers entered the hall to withdraw their blue-bedeked offspring.

When they insisted upon giving their opinions to the PC workers at the door, a patrol car was called. After a little more argument, the elders promised to behave and the police were allowed to return to their normal duties.

Sunday afternoon, the Liberal candidate, Fernand Joyal, staged a rally at Dufresne Park at which the attractions of the orators were supplemented by a liberal supply of ice cream for citizens of pre-voting age.

Among speakers supporting Mr. Joyal were Hon. George Marler, MLC, Minister without Portfolio in the Quebec Government; Senator Charles B. Howard and L. P. Brousseau, MPP for Sherbrooke.

Gerard Chapdelaine, Social Credit candidate, wound up his electoral appeal with a monster but brief meeting at Portland Square in the North Ward.

The meeting itself lasted barely 20 minutes but was preceded by motorcade of several hundred cars which, in addition to creating much unnecessary noise, disrupted traffic throughout the city.

the Commons.

By dissolution of Parliament April 19, deaths and by-election losses had cut the Conservative standing to 203. There were 51 Liberals, eight in the CCF-NDP group and three vacancies.

In the 1958 election, there was a record turnout of 79.5 per cent as 7,287,297 of the 9,165,986 eligible voters cast ballots.

While the Conservatives swept the country on the civilian vote, the armed forces gave the Liberals more than 57 per cent of their vote. This resulted in one change, a Conservative victory by 65 votes election day becoming a Liberal win by 199 votes when the result of the service polling was added about a week later. The service vote also defeated Mackenzie King in Prince Albert in 1945.

This year, there are 139,183 eligible service voters—servicemen in Canada and overseas, servicemen's wives in Europe and veterans in hospitals in Canada. The result of their vote, taken all last week, will likely be announced next Saturday and could influence the decision in close races as before.

Added to the voters list for the first time this election by act of Parliament are all Indians of voting age, and 3,000 to 4,000 residents of the far-north districts of Keewatin and Franklin, the latter in the enlarged constituency of Northwest Territories.

An estimated 59,000 to 60,000 Indians will be eligible to vote. Previously, only a limited number could vote.

Eligibility for voting in advance polls—held June 9 and 11—also was broadened and produced a record turnout of possibly 100,000. The highest previous total was 11,780 in 1957.

The size of the advance turnout and the big crowds the leaders attracted in the last stages of the campaign may point to a record vote.

For voting day, three of the leaders were in their home constituencies—Mr. Diefenbaker in Prince Albert, Sask., NDP Leader T. C. Douglas in Regina and Robert Thompson, leader of the Social Credit party, in Red Deer, Alta. Mr. Pearson, defending Algoma East in Ontario, was at Ottawa.

During the eight-week campaign leading up to the election, attention was concentrated on unemployment, devaluation of the Canadian dollar's exchange rate and the state of the national economy.

Mr. Diefenbaker defended the government's handling of the economy and maintained that the unemployment problem was being beaten. Mr. Pearson, taking a leaf out of John Kennedy's 1960 American presidential campaign, said a Liberal government was needed to get the country rolling again.

The other two leaders, T. C. Douglas, 57, of the New Democrats and Robert Thompson, 48, of Social Credit, sounded the theme that the two old parties had been failures in office and that fresh policies were needed in Ottawa.

The four leaders barnstormed chiefly by air, running up big air mileage and often jumping overnight from one end of the country to the other.

Closing phases of the campaigns centred on Ontario and Quebec which have 159 of the seats—excluding deferred Stormont—and hold the key to power.

The government looked to traditionally - Conservative Ontario, with 84 seats, for the core of its strength. The province has given the Conservatives a majority of its seats in 18 out of 24 elections and in 1958 elected 67 Conservatives, 15 Liberals and three CCF.

The Liberals held high hopes in Quebec which four years ago went Conservative for the first time since 1930, giving Mr. Diefenbaker 50 seats and the Liberals 25. The other parties were shut out.

There are 70 seats in the four western provinces. The Conservatives swept the West in 1958, winning all 14 seats in Manitoba, all 17 in Alberta, 17 out of 18 in Saskatchewan and 18 of the 22 in British Columbia. The CCF collected the other five.

It was much the same story in the 33 ridings of the Atlantic region. Conservatives took Nova Scotia's 12 and Prince Edward Island's four. New Brunswick picked seven Conservatives and three Liberals. Newfoundland gave the Liberals a 5-2 edge, the only province to resist the national sweep.

The far-north ridings of Yukon and Northwest Territories were split by the Conservatives and Liberals. The N.W.T. seat, then called Mackenzie River, was the only Liberal victory west of Ontario.

Turns down offer

BATH, England (AP) — Princess Margaret attended a jazz session that lasted into the early hours Sunday, but turned down an offer to sit in at piano, the party's host, Ted Leather, reported. Leather, a member of Parliament, said the musicians included some of the country's top performers. When they asked the princess to play, "she said she was not an accomplished enough jazz musician to play with professionals," Leather said.

In Memoriam

DAVIS — In loving memory of Clinton E. Davis, who passed away June 12, 1961.

A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we loved is still,
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
God in his wisdom has recalled,
The heart his love was given,
And though his body slumbers here,
His soul is safe in heaven.

Mary Brooks Picken on sewing

It's a delight to sew for a little girl

It is such a delight to sew for a little girl, to make her look like a dressed-up doll. Teaching your little girl good taste in clothes is important from the beginning. Teach her appropriateness, and how to protect her dresses.

Buy the most appropriate fabric you can find in a color most flattering to your darling. Remember: blue makes blue eyes bluer, and yellow and the orange prints are wonderfully flattering to brown eyes. And of course pink is always a favorite with little girls as well as their mothers.

Drip dry fabrics are a boon to a busy mother because they require just a good pressing to look as good as new. Of course, if you use starch, which many mothers like, then a complete ironing is in order.

The bottom of the print dress can have a scalloped edge, should you feel that ambitious. Scallops can have a 1 to 1½-inch facing as the illustration shows. And the entire shoulder epaulet can be of two thicknesses of fabric.

Notice the notching and trimming of the seam, so important for a nice, flat, easy-to-iron finish.

The collar on the little sailor suit should be double; buttonholes in dress, bound, or hand or machine-worked.

It's a delight to dress little girls.

Your local sewing machine shop will usually make buttonholes for you at a reasonable cost. Buttonhole making makes good television viewing work.

Our grandmothers took great pride in being able to make a beautiful buttonhole.

Dear Mrs. Picken: My husband is broad through the shoulders, has a 30-inch waist. There is too much shirttail in his dress shirts, making them bulky around the belt. What can I do about this? — N. L. C.

Dear N. L. C.: Lay 4 darts in the body of the shirt—2 in front and 2 in back, each 4 to 5 inches from the center back and center front—tapering them in at the waistline and extending up 6 inches above the waist and about 8 inches below.

Taper the dart to within ½-inch of your seam. This way you will get rid of the bulk and have a good-fitting shirt. (A dart like this is used by the wardrobe departments of the movie industry to avoid bulk around the waist both for men and women.)

Buttonhole details: 1—Draw lines width of buttonholes; 2—Thread on each side 1/16th inch from edge; 3—Overcast edge, making stitches ¼-inch apart; 4—Pick up thread, bring under needle; 5—Detail showing purled top stitches; 6—Stay or finish for inside of buttonhole; 7—Squared ends show worked stitches; 8—Flared buttonhole for wash garments; 9—Button loops, four strands of thread; 10—Worked eyes and blanket stitch for hook; 11—Eyelet finish, over-and-over stitch; 12—Blanket stitch, purled on outside edge.

Comb talk

Nowadays we don't consider combing out hair a luxury. There was a time, though, when a comb was strictly a luxury item and only the wealthy could afford to own one.

A few generations ago all combs were handmade. The materials were limited to those provided by nature—bone, wood, metal, stone, horn and shell. Even the crudest comb took hours of painstaking labor with knives, files and saws. Each tooth was carved out individually.

In these days of fast-changing styles, however, combs have remained almost static in basic design. The change has been in the materials used. Today we have nylon combs that will last a lifetime and that can be bent, twisted, or even boiled, if necessary. Tough, nylon combs can get through the thickest head of hair with no breakage or other damage to either the comb or the hair.

New man-made materials and mass production methods have lifted today's comb from the luxury class. Huge machines mould combs at a rapid rate in any color or size. Today combs cost from 10 to 50 cents, a far cry from the old days, and it is not unusual for a woman to own half a dozen combs as well as several decorative ones for ornament.

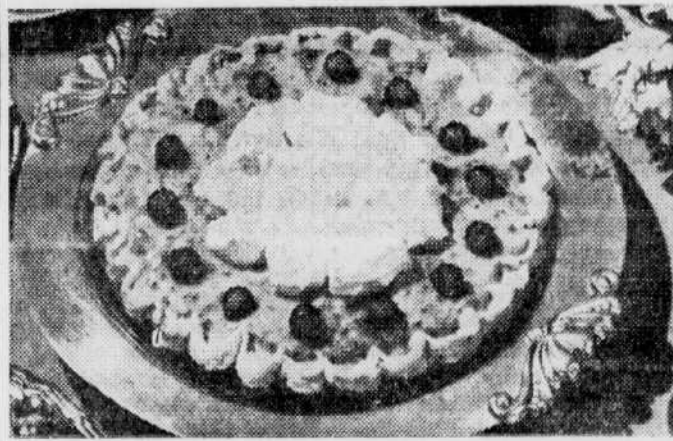

Do-it-yourself frozen pop

Cool comfort for the younger set in hot weather traditionally comes in the form of a frozen pop stick. A newly developed mould for freezing these sticks at home now is on the market.

The moulds, which are made of polyethylene, can be filled with any fruit juice and placed upright in the freezer. They can also be sterilized in boiling water. They are sold in sets of four through supermarkets, chain and department stores.

A "REAL COOL" DESSERT FOR A WARM SUMMER DAY

Here's a dessert to inaugurate June Dairy Month in grand style! It's Raspberry Chiffon Pie... cool as a cucumber and light as a feather. The fluffy texture we attribute to whipped skim milk powder... so economical, so easy to use and so low in calories. The good raspberry flavor comes from packaged frozen raspberries or fresh ones when they reach our markets. Although we suggest this recipe for June and the summer months that follow, the frozen berry option makes it possible to enjoy this good dessert all year 'round. And here's another suggestion... why not try a strawberry version? Sliced fresh or frozen strawberries would fill the bill very nicely and give you another lusciously-flavored pie.

J111 RASPBERRY CHIFFON PIE (Makes 6 To 8 Servings)

1 baked and cooled 9-inch pie shell; 1 (15-ounce) package frozen raspberries, thawed OR 1½ cups fresh raspberries plus 3 tablespoons sugar; 1 (3- or 4-ounce) package raspberry jelly powder; 1 cup boiling water; ½ cup sugar; few grains salt; 2 tablespoons lemon juice; ½ cup cold water; ½ cup ice water; ½ cup skim milk powder. If using frozen raspberries, thaw and drain, reserving syrup. If using fresh raspberries, wash and drain; add and mix in the 3 tablespoons sugar. Dissolve jelly powder in boiling water. Add the ½ cup sugar and salt; stir until dissolved. Add drained raspberry syrup, lemon juice and cold water. Chill until mixture is softly set. Measure ice water into a bowl; sprinkle with milk powder. Beat with electric mixer or rotary beater until soft peaks form. Beat partially-set jelly mixture until light and foamy; fold in raspberries and whipped milk powder. Turn into prepared pie shell; chill until firm.

Redlegs are having trouble with Phillies, Dodgers rally for win as Giants polish off Cards 6-3

What a difference a year makes in baseball. If Cincinnati Reds had to pick a team which contributed most to their 1961 National League pennant, Philadelphia Phillies would have won hands down. The Phils curled up and played dead at the mere sight of a Cincinnati uniform, losing 19 of 22.

The Reds are finding a different bunch of Phils in 1962. They came into Philadelphia fresh from shutout victories over San Francisco Giants, only to lose three straight to the Phils.

Roy Sievers and Don Demeter did the heavy damage Sunday, driving in five runs in a 7-2 rout of Jim O'Loole. The three straight gave Gene Muach's young men an 8-5 edge over the 1961 champs for the year.

While the Reds were stumbling, league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers finally broke a three-game losing streak by beating Houston Colts 6-2. The scrappy Colts had been making mischief in Walter O'Malley's new stadium and had rolled up a four-game winning string.

The Dodgers needed the win, too, because second-place San Francisco Giants polished off St. Louis Cardinals 6-3 on a three-run homer by Tom Haller in the last of the ninth. As a result, the Dodgers still lead the Giants by one game.

RETIRES 10 CRAVES
Pittsburgh hopped on Warren Spahn, working with only three days rest, and bagged out a 7-3 decision over Milwaukee behind little Harvey Haddix who struck out 10 Braves.

New York Mets, specialists in losing streaks, now have a new six-game string going after losing two to the Chicago Cubs 8-7 and 4-3. Home runs did the job for the Cubs. Rookie Lou Brock became the first player to hit a ball into the right centre field bleachers in the Polo Grounds in the opener and Ron Santo cracked No. 10 with the score tied in the ninth inning of the second game.

In Saturday's play, San Francisco blanked St. Louis 5-0, Chicago downed New York 6-3, Milwaukee defeated Pittsburgh 2-1 and Philadelphia edged Cincinnati 4-3. Houston downed Los Angeles 4-1.

Jack Baldschun of the Phils notched his second victory over the Reds in eight days when he came to the rescue of Paul Brown in the fourth inning at Connie Mack Stadium. Baldschun came in with the bases loaded and two runs in and struck out Leo Cardenas and got pinch hitter Wally Post on a pop fly.

COME FROM BEHIND
Tom Davis's three-run homer enabled the Dodgers to come from behind against the Colts. Los Angeles, which had scored a total of six runs in its five previous games, broke out with five in the sixth inning against Ken Johnson, Dean Stone and Bob Tiefenauer. Ed Roebuck was the winner in relief of rookie Joe Moeller although Larry Sherry came on to get pinch hitter Hidge Browne on a game-ending double play.

Haller, a former University of Illinois quarterback, was the Giants' hero with his homer off Ray Washburn. The Cards had fought back to tie the score at 3-3 in the eighth on a two-run homer by Red Schoendienst. Lindy McDaniel allowed only one hit in 5 1/3 relief innings before being lifted for a pinch hitter. Washburn got into trouble in the ninth when he walked Jim Davenport and gave up a single to Jose Pagan before Haller hit his sixth home.

Hernandez stops Rosi in first round Saturday

NEW YORK (AP)—Venezuelan Carlos Hernandez stopped Paoli Rosi in 2:11 of the first round of their scheduled 10-round bout Saturday night in Madison Square Garden when the 34-year-old New Yorker went down three times. Both weighed 136.

Under the rules of the New York State Athletic Commission, a fighter who goes to the canvas three times in one round — except in world championship fights — is automatically finished.

Hernandez, who wears suede trunks with his initials in silver lettering, didn't even muss his slicked-down hair.

70,918 on hand as Indians complete sweep over Yanks, Twins take over in second, Tigers-Red Sox split

The resurrection of Cleveland as a baseball town seems to be complete. After years of disappointing attendance and frustrating play by the Indians, the Tribe leads the American League by two games after sweeping a four-game series from New York Yankees.

It was like the old days of Bill Veeck and company as a roaring throng of 70,918, largest in the majors this season, lapped up 6-1 and 6-3 victories over the Yanks Sunday.

With only five more games to play against New York this year, the Indians have a 9-4 edge and are assured of at least a tie in the season series with their hated rivals.

By winning nine of their last 12 games while the slumping Yanks dropped seven of eight, Cleveland has moved front and centre as a most important pennant possibility.

The Indians are sitting pretty while the second-place Minnesota Twins and third-place Yanks are stumbling. At the moment, the hottest threat is Los Angeles Angels, only half a game behind the Yanks after beating Chicago White Sox 5-3 and 6-5. Kansas City Athletics are also charging.

SNAP OUT OF SLUMP
Detroit Tigers finally broke out of their seven-game losing slump by beating Boston Red Sox in the first game 8-5 with the help of two homers by rookie Purnell Golden, but fell 5-0 before Ike Delock's seven hit pitching in the second game.

Kansas City stretched its winning streak to six by defeating the Twins again 10-6, another victory for the surprising Dave Wickersham, who owns an 8-2 record. Norm Siebern's two homers were the big blows of a 12-hit attack against Jack Kralick and a long line of relief men.

Baltimore Orioles continued to revel in the surroundings at Washington's new stadium, beating the Senators for the sixth straight time in their home park. Jerry Adair drove in three runs and Hoyt Wilhelm shut the door on relief in a 4-3 victory.

In Saturday action Cleveland edged New York 10-9, Boston beat Detroit 4-2, Chicago defeated Los Angeles 4-3 in 11 innings, Baltimore edged Washington 4-3 and Kansas City belted Minnesota 6-2.

Jerry Kindall, Bubba Phillips and Jim Mahoney put the big Cleveland crowd in a happy mood by hitting successive homers off Bill Stafford in the second inning of the opener. Dick Donovan rolled to his 10th victory, first pitcher to hit the mark in the American League although he had to be replaced in the seventh inning when he strained a thigh muscle.

Willie Kirkland's two-run homer routed starter Jim Coates in the second game, in which Pedro Ramos required late-inning help from Gary Bell to win his fourth.

Two homers by Leon Wagner, his 18th and 19th of the year, and a fine relief job by Bo Belinsky turned the trick for the Angels at Chicago. A four-run rally in the eighth inning featured by Felix Torres' two-run double led the Angels to their second victory of the day. Siebern and Joe Azcue each lashed three hits in the Athletics' attack against the Twins. Wickersham, who left the game because he was bothered by a back strain, has a 5-1 record since he became a starter May 22.

Goldy, the big noise for the Tigers in spring training, hit his first two major league homers in the first game. Norm Cash added his 16th and Rocky Colavito his 13th.

But the Tigers could do nothing with Delock in the second game while Frank Malzone and Pete Runnels hit home runs. Malzone, also hit one in the opener.

Wilhelm retired the first eight men he faced at Washington. With two out in the ninth inning, he gave up a single, hit a batter and let loose a wild pitch before he got the final out.

Wightman Cup journey may be dropped
LONDON (AP)—The 1962 version of the Wightman Tennis Cup tournament, which has pitted the girls of England against those of the United States for 40 years, may have been the last.

This year's event ended Sunday with a 4-3 American victory. The cup was donated by Mrs. George W. Wightman, who played on the first American team in 1923 and was non-playing captain from 1946 to 1948.

The contest has been held yearly since 1923 except during the Second World War. The United States has won 28 times, Britain six.

There is general feeling the series is too exclusive. The girls want a tournament open to all and there is a plan afoot for starting a DuPont Cup tournament next year. The proposal will go before the International Tennis Federation next month.

The DuPont cup is to be donated by Mrs. Margaret Osborne DuPont of Joseph, Ore., non-playing captain of this year's American Wightman Cup team.

The American girls, sparked by Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., ran off the first four matches of this year's tournament to a 4-0 lead.

Australia and South Africa have been trying to join the Wightman series for some time.

Jerome paces NCAA victory

EUGENE, Ore. (CP-AP)—Dyrol Burleson of Oregon won his third consecutive mile championship by running the fifth sub-four-minute mile of his career. He was timed in 3:59.8 for a meet record. Burleson set the U.S. collegiate mile record of 3:57.6 last year.

Dallas Long of Southern California took the shotput title with a throw of 64 feet, seven inches. Dave Steen of Burnaby, B.C., an Oregon athlete, was fifth with a mark of 58-5 1/2.

Oregon, which won four individual championships, compiled 85 points in winning this meet for the first time, dethroning perennial champion Southern California. It was a poor day for Southern Cal, which finished in third place, behind Villanova, the runnerup with 40 3-7. Southern Cal had 27 3-7.

In the 100, defending champion Budd shot out of the blocks but had to hold on to win by a nose over the fast-closing Jerome. Budd, Jerome and the third-place finisher, Dennis Johnson of San Jose State, all were timed in 9.4 seconds.

Down St. Johns 6-3 Saturday but lose 5-4 and 11-9 to Drummondville in slugging contests, Monette homers

Acton Vale Beavers struck for victories in two one-run ball games over the weekend and took over sole possession of first place in the Eastern Townships Provincial Baseball League.

The Sherbrooke Alouettes skidded from first to third place over the weekend as they defeated the St. John Pirates 6-3 Saturday night and then lost both games of a doubleheader against Drummondville on Sunday.

In other Sunday action, St. John and Granby split in a home and home series, St. John winning the first 13-9 and Granby countering with a 15-1 victory last night.

Next games in the league will be played tomorrow night as the Sherbrooke Alouettes play yesterday afternoon and last night at the Park Avenue Stadium and the St. John Pirates travel to Drummondville to play the Royals.

In St. John Saturday night Marcel Durand with a double the eight-hit pitching of Gary Romberg and Jacques Monette's seventh inning three run homer did the job for the Alouettes. It marked the third time in a row that Sherbrooke has defeated the Pirates.

On Sunday Drummondville put an end to any threat the Als might have had for a first place birth. The Royals won a 5-4 squeaker on home grounds yesterday afternoon and last night at the Park Avenue Stadium bombed three Sherbrooke pitchers for 18 hits and an 11-9 victory.

Brazil stops Czechoslovakia 3-1 to win World Soccer championship, great team is to be disbanded

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Brazil's aging stars proved themselves anew Sunday with a 3-1 defeat of Czechoslovakia in a successful defence of the World Cup soccer championship.

The Brazilian team that retained the title included eight of the 11 players who won the World Cup for Brazil in 1958 by defeating Sweden 5 - 2 in Stockholm.

But now the fabulous Brazilians will disband their team and begin reorganizing for the 1966 world championship in England. Because of their age, most Brazilian team members will not play again in a World Cup soccer championship.

The breakup of the great Brazilian squad is a milestone in history just as important in the soccer world as the breakup of the immortal Hungarian team of a decade ago.

GREATS TO RETIRE
Brazilian greats like Djalma Santos, Nilton Santos, Gylmar, Didi, and Zagallo probably have played their last World Cup championship.

Djalma Santos is 31. Nilton Santos 37. Gylmar 31. Didi 33 and Zagallo 30.

The question now is: Can the Brazilians pull together another great team in time for the 1966 championship?

The Hungarians, whose team of 10 years ago rated with the finest ever in the world, found it difficult to reproduce another top World Cup class team after the 1956 Hungarian revolution.

The Brazilians by their victory over Czechoslovakia, became the second team in the 32-year history of the championship to win two straight titles. Italy won in 1934 and 1938.

The Czechs, who produced some brilliant soccer in the final, finished second in the championship with Chile third and Yugoslavia fourth. Sixteen teams were entered originally.

The Czechs went into the final after using mostly defensive tactics in the early games.

Jack Nicklaus cops U. S. Open in 18-hole playoff

Fires par 71 to edge Palmer by three strokes, mistake on 13th was Palmer's downfall in match

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, professional golfer's most glittering newcomer, threw off a late charge by the great Arnold Palmer Sunday to capture the United States Open crown in an 18-hole playoff.

The 22-year-old strongboy from Columbus, Ohio, fired a par 71 over the Oakmont Country Club course to beat Palmer by three strokes.

It was Nicklaus' first tournament win since turning pro last November and he became the youngest man to bag the event since Bobby Jones took it as a 21-year-old in 1923.

Although the dramatic head-to-head duel went to the 18th hole, the turning point came on the 13th.

'GOT BIG BREAK'

"That's where I got my big break," said Nicklaus, a six-foot, 200-pounder who can belt the ball as far as any man in the game.

"That's where I made my big mistake," groaned Palmer, who saw his hopes for a grand slam of golf's four major championships shattered.

Palmer, in one of his typical comebacks, had whittled a four-stroke deficit to one stroke with birdies on the ninth, 11th and 12th holes.

On the 13th, a 161-yard, par-three test, Palmer stood on the tee debating whether to hit a full No. 5 iron or to take a No. 4 iron and try to "hit a soft shot."

He chose the four iron and didn't hit it well. The ball landed barely on the green 40 feet from the pin. He three-putted. Nicklaus got his par and Palmer was two strokes down with only five holes to go.

NEVER CAUGHT UP
He never caught up and slipped another stroke behind when he took a half-hearted six on the 18th hole, where his chance was already gone.

"It was putting and chipping that did it," a beaming Nicklaus said. He had only one three-putt green in 90 holes over the rugged, 6,894-yard layout second round.

Palmer, from nearby Latrobe, had 11 three-putt greens during the tournament.

Nicklaus' determination not to crack under pressure set him up as the No. 1 threat to Palmer for supremacy in golf.

The triumph was worth $17,500 ($15,000 first prize and a playoff bonus of $2,500) to Nicklaus, U.S. amateur king in 1959 and 1961. It increased his year's money-winnings to $45,698, the most any rookie pro has grabbed on the tough touring trail. He won $10,000 for finishing second last week in the Thunderbird classic at Upper Montclair, N.J.

Palmer collected $10,250 for second place, also including a $2,500 bonus, and boosted his 1962 earnings to $70,581.66. He leads the money-winnings.

Nicklaus tied Palmer with rounds of 72 and 69 on Saturday's 36-hole marathon. Palmer slipped to 73-71. Bobby Nichols and Phil Rodgers were deadlocked for third spot with 285 and won $5,500 apiece.

Veteran Stan Leonard of Vancouver led Canadians with 297, scoring 78-74 Saturday. He won $500. Al Balding of Toronto had 78-75 Saturday for 303 and laus said. He had only one three-putt green in 90 holes over the rugged, 6,894-yard layout second round.

Cards drop two to Miners as Magog-Asbestos split

WINDSOR — (Staff) — Windsor Cardinals blew a doubleheader to the Thorford Miners here yesterday afternoon and went skidding to last place in the Eastern Townships Junior Baseball League.

In the other games, the Dominic Savio team from Magog and the Asbestos Angels split a doubleheader. The two teams are deadlocked in third place.

In the same old story for the Cardinals. They struck for more hits but left 18 men on the base paths in both games. Four unearned runs in the first inning was all the Miners needed to put away the first game. The Cards showed a little flourish in the sixth inning and rallied for one run but Meilleur, the Thorford pitcher, struck out the side with the bases loaded.

Jacques Leclerc paced the Cards with three hits in a 10-hit Windsor attack. The Miners won the game on nine hits, two of them going to Gilles Laverdiere, their clean-up man. Michele Raymond was tagged for the Windsor loss. Meilleur went the distance for the Thorford win.

In the second game the Cards blew a two-run last inning lead in a game marked by two home runs. Thorford picked up a run in the first on a walk, a stolen base and a single. Windsor countered in the fourth when Gerald Raymond lined a two-out shot over the left field wall, the club's first home-run of the season.

The Miners struck for two runs in the fifth when their first baseman, Lanchance, homered with one on.

In their half of the sixth, Windsor rallied scoring four runs and took a 5-3 lead. The runs came on a bases-loaded walk followed by George Gault's double off the centre field wall.

Andre Couture failed in his attempt to put the Miners out in the last inning as Laverdiere doubled with two on to give Thorford the 6-5 win. Johnston, who pitched to only three men won the second game.

Guy Lacroix (Magog) and Jacques Drapeau (Asbestos) were the winning pitchers in the Angel-Magog clash. In the first game, Marcel Rancourt singled twice with the bases loaded to pace Magog to the win.

Although they had difficulty going over the horns of the 500-pound young bulls, they came through with flying colors.

They were members of a group sponsored by Cavazos' father.

The crowd watched as the light-haired Cavazos stood out from their feisty two performances. Each killed two bulls.

Sanchez, a tall, lanky youngster, got the wind knocked out of him twice but came back to kill his adversaries.

Cavazos was undisputedly the best of the two. He killed his first bull with the first thrust and then tried twice on the second before felling the animal.

Maritimer is injured in wild pileup
MONCTON (CP) — Harvey Cormier, one of the Maritimes' top harness racing drivers, was seriously injured Saturday in a wild pileup involving six horses on a racetrack here.

Cormier was in slightly improved condition in hospital here early today after regaining semi-consciousness. He had been unconscious for more than 24 hours.

The accident happened when Cormier, driving Junior Frank apparently attempted to pass the leading horse, Dorothy T. The two became tangled and four trailing horses crashed into the pileup. All six drivers were thrown from their sulkies.

Ahoy wins Tyro Stakes while Kelso walks off with Clem McCarthy purse

NEW YORK (AP)—Ahoy, an aptly named son of Sailor, has moved into the front ranks of two-year-old colts in the eastern United States after winning the Tyro Stakes Saturday at Monmouth Park for his third victory in as many starts.

It will be a long time before they start counting ballots for the juvenile championship next fall, but Ahoy has a good chance of being there at the finish.

The star colt won the 5½-furlong Tyro by 2½ lengths over Walnut Hill farm's Gray Pet. David's Folly was third.

Harbor View farm's Omarbread, considered Ahoy's toughest rival, finished a disappointing sixth. Ahoy paid $3.20 for a $2 win ticket.

WINS EASILY
Mrs. Richard C. DuPont's Kelso, U.S. champion the last two years, easily won the $7,500 mile Clem McCarthy purse at Belmont Park for his first 1962 victory.

Kelso skipped the Belmont feature, the $26,850 Nassau County Stakes, and is pointing for the $100,000 suburban Handicap July 4 at Aqueduct and another clash with Carry Back. In his only other start of the year, May 30, Kelso was upset by Carry Back in the $100,000 Metropolitan.

Maple Leafs knock over Suns in 10-inning duel with Ridzik going route, Nelson belts his 10th homer Toronto Maple Leafs' Rocky Nelson and Steve Ridzik didn't let Jacksonville Suns, leaders in the International League pennant race, stand in their way Sunday as they barged to the top of the league's statistics list.

Ridzik went all the way to beat the Suns 6-3 in a 10-inning game decided by Nelson's 11th home run of the season with two men on and two out.

The win left Ridzik's won-loss record at 6-1, best of the league, and tied Nelson for the top in the home run department.

Only one other pitcher went all the way Sunday. Nat Martinez did the trick in pitching a five-hitter in a seven-inning nightcap for Rochester Red Wings, who beat Richmond Virginians 6-1. In the opener, Richmond came from behind with seven runs in the last two frames to beat the Wings 9-6.

BISONS LOSE CHANCE
The second-place Buffalo Bisons lost a chance to close the gap on the Suns, bowing 3-1 to Atlanta Crackers, and Columbus Jets shoved Syracuse Chiefs into the cellar with a 9-6 sweep of a doubleheader.

In games Saturday, Toronto overpowered Atlanta 7-2, Richmond beat Syracuse 6-3 and Columbus shut out Rochester 6-0. Jacksonville and Buffalo split a doubleheader, the Suns winning the first game 3-2 in 13 innings.

27 --- More Power

Don't press in your effort to add distance.

If your swing and timing are functioning smoothly, there is only one way I know of to increase the length of woods.

That is by increasing the speed of the clubhead. If your hands are snapping into action at the proper time and as they should, this can be done only by increasing the length of your swing and using a fuller pivot.

This is a dangerous procedure because it creates a tendency to sway, which destroys proper pivoting, and may cause the hands to lose that intimate contact with the club that is so essential. Keep your head firmly anchored with relation to the ball at all times during the swing, although it may turn. Keep your grip firm, but not tense.

Try the lengthened swing on the practice tee. But remember, better a good shot with a restricted swing than a bad one with more swing.

Like everything else in golf, it should be worked out in practice.

NEXT: Flat swing.

Flaming Page, Taylor's great filly, wins Queen's Plate

One-two Taylor punch sweeps event with Choperion taking second with 32,169 on hand, seventh victory

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian horsemen may as well face it: Even with a little bit of luck they can rarely beat expansive E. P. Taylor.

This was proven Saturday when Taylor's great filly, Flaming Page, whipped a 13-horse field in the 103rd running of the Queen's Plate for Canadian-bred three-year-olds with staminate Choperion in the place slot. The one-two Taylor punch started in September, 1960.

At that time the Toronto industrialist-sportsman held his annual pre-priced yearling sale. After half his stock was sold he called it off, took the leftovers and, sure enough, Flaming Page and Choperion were still in his national stud barns at Oshawa, Ont.

Owners among the record 32,169 crowd at Woodbine track must have recalled that September night as the top-hatted and beaming Taylor, with the Queen Mother at his side, walked to the winner's enclosure to accept the Queen's traditional guineas.

SEVENTH PLATE WIN

It was the seventh time in the last 14 years that Taylor has made the short trot from the clubhouse to the horse - shoe shaped bit of real estate as owner of the plate winner. Four other times in that period men who bought his yearlings were lucky enough to latch onto a winner of the country's richest race.

They still have a long way to go to catch up to the man who has dominated the Canadian racing scene since 1949.

Saturday's crowd was the largest ever to witness a day's racing in Canada. The handle of $1,228,580 beat the previous Canadian mark of $1,136,175 set on plate day a year ago. Taylor's share of the purse—$51,225 for his filly's win and $7,500 for Choperion's place finish—gave him $63,725, the largest one-race haul by any owner in Canada.

That wasn't all. Wagering on the Plate race was an all-time high of $252,290. The former record was $214,220 set in 1961. And the bettors poured $112,562 into the mutuel machines to set a record Canadian daily double pool.

IN OPEN CARRIAGE

Everything was in tune for the big day. Temperatures were in the mid-80s, the track was fast and the appearance of the Queen Mother riding in an open carriage around the mile track with the Governor - General's Horse Guards in attendance supplied all the color of a royal outing.

The bettors wouldn't argue with success. They made the Taylor entry even-money favorites for the 1¼-mile gallop and the pair responded nobly with spurts from about the mile that left no doubt in the minds of the throng that they would finish one-two.

Flaming Page, with Calgary-born jockey Jim Fitzsimmons aboard, crossed the finish line 1¼ lengths ahead of Choperion, ridden by Bill Hartack. Peter's Chop, owned by Peter Del Greco of Toronto, was third, another 1¼ lengths in the rear. King Gorm, purchased for $35,000 at the Taylor 1960 yearling sale, took fourth place for Mrs. M. J. Boylen of Toronto, wife of mining magnate Jim Boylen.

Flaming Page was clocked in 2:04 3/5, well off the 2:02 record set by Victoria Park, also owned by Taylor, in 1960. The entry returned $4.20 $3.80 and $2.60 and Peter's Chop paid into the mutuel machines to set

Sweden's Ingemar Johansson belts Dick Richardson of Wales out of action in 8th, ready for Patterson

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—Ingemar Johansson took the European heavyweight title under his care today and said he had earned a rest before challenging either Floyd Patterson or Sonny Liston for the world championship.

Johansson was back as the pride of Sweden after demolishing tough Dick Richardson of Wales with an eighth - round knockout in the opening air Ulevi Stadium Sunday night.

Ingo, boxing with cool calculation despite a cut left eye, dethroned the Welshman with a display of sheer power punching. More than 50,000 fans cheered him to the deep blue sky.

"Ingo is better now than he was in all of his three world title fights against Patterson," said Whitey Bimstein, Johansson's American trainer.

Johansson, riding high after three knockout victories since he went on the comeback trail, told reporters:

"I want to fight Patterson or Liston, whoever wins the title match in September."

Yvon Durelle to stage comeback, trying to lineup a couple of fights before touring country

By JACK SULLIVAN

Eighteen months ago Yvon Durelle vowed he would never return to boxing. "I'll never be that hard up," said the craggy-faced former Canadian and British Empire light - heavyweight champion.

He was already hard up when he made that statement at his home town of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B. People had heard this sort of thing from many other fighters over the years.

They came from men who collected—and blew—big purses and then slipped into the ranks of the beaten - up, almost penniless fighter. Fans felt sorry for them, but they didn't knock down any doors in the rush to see these chaps trying to make a comeback.

With this background, it wasn't surprising the other day when Durelle announced at Calgary that he would return to fighting. He is lining up a couple of bouts in Western Canada in July and then he hopes to tour the country.

WAS CROWD-PLEASER

Maybe someone should stop him right now. Promoters would have licked their chops if Durelle made his announcement a couple of years ago when he was quite a name in Canadian fight circles. He was a crowd - pleaser but his four career - ending fights left him sitting on his pants, a badly beaten man.

His last fight was in Moncton, N.B., against Paul Wright, an unknown from Trenton, N.J. and the Moncton boxing and wrestling commission immediately barred him from fighting in that city again.

The battle - scarred French-Canadian became known nationally in 1957 when he beat highly - rated Tony Anthony in Detroit. A year later he earned about $40,000 from six fights, including $15,000 for his first battle with champion Archie Moore.

He had floored the champ several times and was within minutes of winning the title when Archie tagged him with a knockout punch in the 11th round. In 1959 his purses totalled about $18,000 from a rematch with Moore when he was knocked out in the third round, and a losing bout with Toronto heavyweight George Chuvalo.

Chualo, a journeyman battler, gave him a fancy beating and Durelle then announced his retirement, which didn't stick. His next fight was against Wright.

Then things really went wrong for the 33 - year - old fighter-fisherman. He sold his car, a fishing boat and a $3,000 speedboat.

He took an $8 - a - day job with the New Brunswick department of lands and mines surveying Crown land. He was fined $33 for failing to file a 1959 income tax return and almost went to jail but managed to borrow $100 to pay the fine and buy Christmas presents for his family.

"I know I probably spent a lot of money foolishly," he told Eddie St. Pierre of the Moncton Times in January, 1961. "I kept some car companies in business."

Bo Belinsky, Angels' ace playboy hurler, is mending his ways, stops Cubs on one hit in 3 2-3 innings

CHICAGO (AP) — Bo Belinsky, 25, Los Angeles Angels' playboy pitcher, is mending his ways.

In fact, the rookie southpaw who pitched the only no-hitter in the majors this season, claims he has had three successive nights of "normal" life.

Then he made his debut Sunday as a major league relief pitcher and saved the Angels a 5-3 victory in the first game of a doubleheader with Chicago. Bo pulled Dean Chance out of a sixth inning jam and held the Sox to one hit in the final 3 2-3 innings. Los Angeles also won the second game 6-5.

"I have to like working in relief," said Bo after the game. "The way I've been going as a starter something had to happen. But I don't mind. It's good to help out the team like that."

And it counts as a save.

REACHES HAPPY MEDIUM

Belinsky, who has become more notorious as a Hollywood night life figure than a big league pitcher, swears he's going to reach a happy medium in his extra curricular activities.

"It's all right to go out like that once in a while but not weeks at a time. So I decided to take stock of myself and reach a happy medium. It's not only baseball that worried me. But there's that $500 fine staring me in the face and I'm worried about my health. I could wind up with cancer or TB or something."

Manager Bill Rigney said "in spite of everything, that boy can throw a baseball."

PROBABLE STARTERS

Stanstead County Fish and Game Club holds annual social program,

AYER'S CLIFF—The annual dinner and social evening of the Stanstead County Fish and Game Club was held in Ayer's Cliff. The dinner at the Fair Grounds dining hall and the social program in the school gym, both were largely attended.

Senator John Boylan, of the Vermont Fish and Game Service, Montpelier, and Jean Paul Currier, Dept. of Northern Affairs National Parks, Ottawa, were the speakers of the evening.

Senator Boylan told the assembly about the projects of the State Department of Fish and Game in Vermont, about what had been done on the tremendous program on water pollution, and invited all to all to visit the State whenever possible.

Mr. Currier's talk was illustrated by a film as he told about National Parks in the country taking up some 29,000 square miles. Some of the parks are from 5 to 4,000 square miles and referred to the various species of fish in Banff and the Prairies, the propagation of fish, poisoning of the lakes and so forth, all of which was very interesting to see on the screen and explained by Mr. Currier.

Philip Poaps, president of the Club, gave a brief history of the club. He spoke on the past project as well as plans for the future, and paid tribute to all volunteer workers of the club, the cooperation of the biologists, employee's of the Baldwin Mills Government hatchery, and the Wardens. He also thanked everyone who had contributed in various ways to the success of the annual get together.

The grand prizes were won by Mac Armstrong, Papineau St., Sherbrooke, winner of the boat, Danny Stark, Hazardville, Conn., the motor and Mrs. Lise Beaudoin, Omerville, the polaroid camera.

The women of Beulah United church, assisted by the men served another delectable family style turkey dinner with delicious pies to about 250 persons. They received many compliments for the excellent meal.
