World News In Brief

Ottawa, Oct. 25.—(P)—The scheduled hanging of four German prisoners of war in Lethbridge will equal the record for the number of hangings in any one jail in Canada on a single day, a Justice Department source said today.

On Oct. 24, 1924, four persons were hanged in Montreal for their part in the now famous Hochelaga Bank robbery case. Six persons in all were sentenced to death for participation in the murder-marked robbery, but two had their sentences commuted.

The four hanged were Gui Seraphini, Tony Frank, Frank Gambino, and Louis Morel. The prisoners of war, tentatively scheduled to hang Nov. 13, are Bruno Perzenowski, Walter Wolf, Heinrich Busch and Willie Mueller. They were convicted on charges of murdering a fellow prisoner, Karl Lehmann.

St. Eustache, Que., Oct. 25.—(P)—Everything else would be useless if matters vital to Quebec Province had to be dealt with outside the province. Lt. Col. Paul Saue, Provincial Minister of Social Welfare and of Youth, and Union Nationale member for Laval-Deux Montagnes, said last night at a banquet held in his honor here.

He said he realized the tasks ahead of him were numerous and maybe difficult. He might not be capable of doing the job but if effort, the use of all talents he did have, and the co-operation of his colleagues and hearty wishes of his loyal friends counted, he would be able to make a good try of it.

Ottawa, Oct. 25.—(P)—F. E. Hanratty, diminutive but stormy head of the Veterans' Housing League which has seized a half dozen buildings in Ottawa as squatters' quarters, last night raised a stormy scene at a meeting of the newly-formed citizens' housing committee when he charged that "only half-truths" were being told the committee.

Hanratty charged that 800 Ottawa families were in need of emergency shelter instead of the 217 the committee's survey has shown, and said a plan to house Veterans' families in former R.C.A.F. women's division barracks at Rockcliffe was "inadequate."

Chairman C. E. Pickering, who set up the committee a week ago at the request of Mayor Stanley Lewis, said Mr. Hanratty was out of order. When the fiery veterans leader continued to hold the floor, Mr. Pickering adjourned the meeting.

Vancouver, Oct. 25.—(P)—Two-and-a-half year old Rudy Goudin, missing with her mother since they left in the family automobile Tuesday to go shopping was found late last night.

She was alone in the car, which had been abandoned on Burnaby Mountain. The mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Goudin, is still missing.

Some Bright Spots On U.S. Labor Front Appear Today

New York, Oct. 25.—(P)—The threat of a shutdown of United States' soft coal remained today but there were a few bright spots on the labor front.

One strike nearly six months old involving 900 workers at the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company plant at La Crosse, Wis., ended and there were indications of breaks in the country-wide maritime walk-out, the work stoppage of world airline pilots and in the A.F.L. jurisdictional dispute in the Hollywood movie studios.

The ending of the walkout of the Allis-Chalmers plant at La Crosse left only two of the company's factories still strike-bound, in Milwaukee, the firm's largest, and Boston.

In Washington, President Truman did not enter into the soft coal dispute, leaving Interior Secretary J. A. Krug work out the problem of meeting with John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers (A.F.L.) Nov. 1 to re-open wage negotiations. Mr. Lewis has warned Mr. Krug that failure to re-open the discussions will mean a work stoppage for 400,000 soft coal miners.

A strike affecting Pennsylvania's entire brewing industry was called today by the Teamsters Union (A.F.L.) in Pittsburgh. The teamsters challenging bargaining rights

Russian Attempt To Block U.N. Debate On Veto Issue Is Likely To Be Defeated

Churchill And Attlee Join In Verbal Blasts At Reds

By WILLIAM L. PHILLIPS

London, Oct. 25.—(P)—Winston Churchill and Prime Minister Attlee captured Britain's headlines today with almost simultaneous verbal blasts against Russia in what appeared to be shaping up as a solid British front against Communism.

Mr. Churchill told his constituents in suburban Loughborough last night that he had "facts" and "evidence" to support his suggestions—made in the form of a question before the House of Commons Wednesday—that the Soviet Union now has 200 divisions—more than 2,000,000 men—on a full war footing in Russian-occupied eastern Europe.

He lauded Mr. Attlee's speech before the Trades Union Congress at Brighton, Sussex, earlier in the day in which the Prime Minister bluntly accused Soviet leaders of erecting a "wall of ignorance and suspicion" between the Russian people and the rest of the world.

"The fact that the British Government have decisively broken with the Communists and are fronted with them, although it does not immediately affect the course of affairs in this island," said Mr. Churchill, "has an important and beneficial result abroad."

because there are countries on the continent—like France—quivering under the Communist attack."

He said his Wednesday speech should be regarded as "a serious warning," and added:

"I did not ask the question (about Russian forces) without weighing very carefully the whole matter and without consulting others, my friends and colleagues, and laying before them the evidence on which I proceeded."

Government spokesmen remained silent with regard to Mr. Churchill's inquiry, but some sections of the press were increasingly critical of the wartime Prime Minister's methods.

"What ought not to be done," said the Daily Mirror, "is to state (Britain's differences with Russia) in the form of insult and innuendo as Mr. Churchill has inclined to do 25 years ago and is doing again today."

Mr. Attlee, in his Brighton speech, sharply accused "Communists, their dupes and fellow travellers" of practicing "misrepresentation" and said "deeply regretted" the policy by which "the Soviet Government appears deliberately to prevent intercourse between the Russian people and the rest of the world."

According to the Russians, he declared, whoever was not a Communist was necessarily a Fascist.

Meanwhile the assembly itself was pushing forward through a lengthy general debate which today was scheduled to include addresses by Philip Noel-Baker of Britain, Jose Arce of Argentina, Dr. Carlos Stok of Venezuela and Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit of India.

Mrs. Pandit was understood to be prepared to present India's charges of racial discrimination against Indians in South Africa, even in addition of formal action on that issue by the steering committee. In general debate a speaker may talk about anything he wants to.

The situation was this: More than 50 years ago South Africa imported many Indians as laborers. The Indian Government today considers their descendants are being discriminated against and has asked that the assembly consider the situation.

Prime Minister Smuts of South Africa first asked the United Nations to strike the Indian charge from the Assembly agenda. He contended that the issue was purely a domestic one for South Africa.

Mr. Spaak ruled that the committee had no right to prevent the assembly from discussing anything a member country wanted to bring up. One argument after another in the 14-power committee made it apparent that this was a majority view, and Mr. Smuts agreed.

Andrieu V. Vishinsky, deputy Russian Foreign Minister, argued that the committee did have power to strike an issue from the agenda but rejected Mr. Smuts' argument that the welfare of the Indians was a domestic problem. He said the international because there was a treaty between India and South Africa designed to protect the welfare of the Indian minority.

The veto issue was raised in the assembly today.

Britain and United States Spearheading Opposition to Soviet Move—Russians Hold Debate Might Add New Tensions to U.S.-U.K.-Soviet Relations.

New York, Oct. 25.—(P)—Russian efforts to block a United Nations Assembly debate on the veto issue today appeared destined to defeat, with majority opinion in the Assembly's key steering committee reportedly lined up against the Soviet move.

Britain and the United States are spearheading the opposition. The steering committee held its first session on approving the program of 53 issues, plus a supplemental list, last night, but became involved in a legalistic snarl over a row between India and South Africa and failed to get to the veto dispute.

The India-South Africa fight was settled only after Britain's Sir Hartley Shawcross asserted hotly that "we are in danger of reducing this committee to a laughingstock" by failing to decide a relatively minor question.

Committee Chairman Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium said he was not quite sure about the meaning of two votes taken on the question, but added that the assembly could figure things out for itself.

Squatters' Rights

Two British War Brides talk over housing troubles at the former hostel they occupied before five families of returned veterans "invaded" the vacant premises at 2054 McGill College Ave., a former gambling house, and proceeded to set up housekeeping. Judge Maurice Tremblay refused to issue warrants for the arrest of the squatters as complainants demanded, but he did grant summonses returnable in eight days which means that the veterans will appear in court sometime during the forthcoming week. Lawyers acting for Henry Joseph and Company, Ltd., real estate operators, had asked for arrest warrants under Article 103 of the Criminal Code which states that anyone "who forcibly enters or forcibly detains land, is guilty of an indictable offense and liable to one year's imprisonment." Henri Gagnon, newly-elected president of the Homeless Veterans League, hotly declared that he had offered the Joseph firm for the premises to be fixed by the War-time Prices and Trades Board. Meanwhile the five homeless families have shelter at least until the court rules to evict them.

to commit the act." At his own trial he was defending himself but at the Gaudet trial he felt no need to keep anything back.

The trial judge, Justice C. D. Richards, in his charge to the jury, said there were three possible verdicts: guilty, not guilty or not guilty for reason of insanity. The jury deliberated more than two hours before acquitting Miss Gaudet.

Saint John, N.B., Oct. 25.—(P)—Beatrice Margaret Gaudet, of Sydney, N.S., was a free woman today but her father and convicted murderer of her three-week-old daughter is under sentence to be hanged.

A Supreme Court jury yesterday returned a verdict of not guilty against Miss Gaudet, also charged with the murder of her daughter, whose body was found in Saint John harbor early last month.

Chief Crown witness at her trial was John Stewart Simpkins, formerly of Winnipeg and St. James, Man., and who has a wife and family at Merigomish, N.S. Simpkins, confessed father of the child, had previously been convicted of the infant's murder and sentenced to hang.

In previous court testimony Simpkins told of walking to the waterfront with Miss Gaudet and carrying the baby in his arms. The baby was thrown into the water and they walked away, he said.

Summing up the defence yesterday, defence counsel Kenneth P. Lawton declared motives for revenge lay behind Simpkins' testimony. "If he was going to hang he wanted her to hang, too."

23 NAZI DOCTORS INDICTED

Nuernberg, Oct. 25.—(P)—Twenty-three Nazi doctors were indicted today on charges that they "murdered hundreds of thousands of human beings" in Germany's wartime program of medical killings and brutal experiments with living prisoners.

A woman, Herta Oberhauser, and Dr. Karl Brandt, one of Hitler's personal physicians, were among the 23, who will be tried next month in the first of a series of war crimes trials by special American military courts.

Brig.-Gen. Telford Taylor, chief counsel for the courts, said between 250 and 500 former Nazi military, industrial, financial and government leaders would be arraigned during the trials, expected to last through 1947.

Crown Closes Case Against J.S. Benning

Only Minor Evidence Given by Majority of Prosecution Witnesses in Espionage Hearing at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Oct. 25.—(P)—The Crown expects to complete its case early today against James Stewart Benning, 33, former munitions Department official charged with communicating information to Russia.

Seven witnesses have testified since the third in a series of espionage trials began Tuesday in Ontario Supreme Court before Chief Justice J. C. McRuer, but the majority of them have given minor evidence. In the two previous cases, Harold Samuel Brown was convicted of conspiracy and sentenced to five years and Eric George Adams was acquitted of conspiracy.

Crown counsel John R. Cartwright cited numerous extracts from Benning's evidence before the Royal Commission on espionage in building up his case. One showed that he could give no satisfactory explanation for having both the office and house phone numbers of Fred Rose, Labor Progressive Member of Parliament who has appealed a six-year sentence for espionage.

Benning said Rose was only a casual acquaintance. He admitted

Miners Seek Reduction Of Income Levy

Truro Convention Also Raps Government Stand on Wage and Price Controls—Sale of Beer Discussed.

By MEL SUFRIN

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Truro, N.S., Oct. 25.—(P)—Resolutions calling for reduced income taxes and criticizing the government's stand on wage and price controls were placed on the minutes of the United Mine Workers (C.G.L.) District 26 convention today.

The decisions were made at a busy session when topics ranged from social security to the sale of beer in Nova Scotia.

First of the motions to be approved yesterday by 88 delegates representing 13,000 Nova Scotia and New Brunswick miners, asked for a six-point public works program. It would give work to 16,000 and its chief projects would include bridging the strait of Canso and double-tracking the Canadian National Railways line from Sydney, N.S., to Moncton, N.B.

After that delegates went on record as asking the Nova Scotia Government to call for reconvention of the Dominion-Provincial Conference. They requested the province's consent to a federal social security plan.

One resolution suggested the miners join with other unions throughout the Dominion to press for reduction of income taxes in the lower wage groups.

Another criticized the government's stand that wage increases must be followed by price boosts. It suggested that control of profits should come before wage control and that the government should "reinforce" price controls to protect living standards and offset economic depression.

Turning to provincial matters, the union heard a report from a former district president, Mayor D. W. Morrison of Glace Bay, N.S., that new liquor laws would be passed by the Nova Scotia Legislature.

But delegates asked that the province's attorney general and liquor commission chief appear before them to explain the government's stand in the light of recent municipal plebiscites favoring sale of beer by the glass, at present banned by Nova Scotia law.

Jew Suspects Are Detained After Blasts

Eleven Soldiers Wounded as Fresh Mine Blasts Rock Holy Land — Explosions Preceded by Stern Gang Threat.

Jerusalem, Oct. 25.—(C)—Police detained nearly 150 Jerusalem Jews today following a night of bomb and mine blasts which came less than three days after a Stern-gang warning of intensified mine war against British Forces.

Twelve persons—11 soldiers and a civilian—were wounded in four bomb and grenade explosions in Jerusalem. The condition of three was listed as "dangerous."

The Jews were detained after an all-night police screening of Jewish residents at the scenes of the bombings. The army said, however, that no actual suspects had been arrested. The city was tense today. Soldiers on patrol seemed sullen and grim.

The explosion of three bombs and a hand grenade in the Jewish quarter here followed the 6.30 p.m. deadline of a nightly dawn-to-dusk curfew imposed in the quarter a week ago by the British because of a "serious recurrence of Jewish terrorism in the Jerusalem area."

The soldiers wounded were enforcing the curfew.

Soon after, heavy firing went on for half an hour near the Sarona police station east of Tel Aviv.

Shortly before midnight, part of a highway bridge near Hadera on the North Coastal Plain.

At about the same time, a military truck was demolished by a road mine a few miles away. The driver was taken to a hospital bleeding and unconscious.

Alarm sirens sounded in Jerusalem, Jaffa and Tel Aviv after the incidents occurred, and all Jerusalem was under curfew for

REVENUE GAIN REGISTERED BY QUEBEC POWER

The interim of revenue and expenses of Quebec Power Company for the nine months ended September 30, 1946, was issued today by Mr. James Wilson, president. Gross revenue of $3,575,903 for the period was $279,858 higher than in 1945 and net earnings after all charges, showed an increase of $40,067 over those of the first nine months of 1945.

Charges for operation, taxes and other expenses for the period amounted to $2,112,769, as compared with $1,862,421, while fixed charges at $355,758 showed a reduction of $18,245, reflecting savings in interest charges through the refinancing operations carried out this year. The provision for depreciation remained unchanged at $377,500. After making provision of $296,620 for income and excess profits taxes for the period as compared with $288,931 in 1945 and after setting aside $414,898 in respect of dividends declared and paid for the first nine months of the year which were unchanged from the previous year, surplus for the period amounted to $58,358 as compared with $18,291 last year.

formal proposals put forward by Cuba and Australia to curb the power of the Big Five powers (the United States, Britain, France, China and Russia) in the Security Council by amending the United Nations charter.

Russian officials are understood to argue that a big debate on the veto at this session could bring no change in the charter and might add new tensions to the relations among the United States, Russia and Britain.

American and British delegates argue, on the other hand, that the powers have a right to block discussion in the assembly and that anyway a veto debate might do some good in building up moral force against misuse of the power.

Yesterday Mexico, Belgium, Brazil and Peru, all attacked the continued existence of the absolute veto power provided in the San Francisco charter by which any one of the Big Five may nullify any decision of the Security Council even though all others on the 11-member body, may support it.

Outside the assembly the Cuban delegate, Dr. Guillermo Belt, who has presented a resolution calling for removal of the veto power, indicated to reporters that his delegation might walk out if the resolution is killed. There was no point in a small nation remaining in the organization without equal voting rights, he said.

Secretary General Trygve Lie laid the foundations for future controversy when he delivered a speech calling upon the assembly to do something about the Franco regime in Spain.

"As long as the Franco regime remains in Spain it will remain a cause of mistrust and disagreement among the United Nations," he declared.

This brought an almost immediate charge from the Spanish embassy in Washington that Mr. Lie, who is the salaried administrative officer of the United Nations, was "acting for good of his friends."

Mr. Lie, a Norwegian, was the candidate of Russia for his high position and is empowered by the charter to bring before the assembly any situation he believes to be a danger to world peace.

Following Mr. Lie's address the assembly began hearing the presentations that are expected to be made by every delegation leader.

Mexico, Belgium, Brazil and Peru ran off their speeches and all spoke bitterly of the "abuse" of the veto power which it had been expected would never be used except in an extreme case.

Problems were being handled, they said, not in the light of justice but in the light of big power selfishness and clashing ideologies.

Canadian delegates took no part in yesterday's proceedings, except as listeners in the plenary sessions. Canada is not on the steering committee which is composed of the Big Five and chairmen of the six standing committees, with South Africa and Venezuela as elected members.

It is believed the Canadian attitude in the General Assembly will be that there is no possibility of eliminating the veto power but that it should be exercised only in extreme cases.

On the Franco question it is expected Canada will go along with the United States and United Kingdom in the belief that nothing should be done in the way of cutting off relations at the moment.

U.K. To Publicize Palestine Horrors

London, Oct. 25.—(C)—Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones told the House of Commons today that Britain would publicize in the United States details of new Palestinian outrages which he termed "abominations and cold blooded outrages."

"I should like to express the abhorrence which I am confident the House feels at these abominations and cold blooded outrages and our keen realization of the trials and dangers which beset troops, police, administration and indeed all concerned with the maintenance of law and order in Palestine," Creech Jones declared.

Tom Briberg, Labor, asked the Colonial Secretary whether the Foreign Office "will see the facts of this situation are made widely known in New York, where there is intensive propaganda not only on behalf of the Zionist case but actually on behalf of the terrorists."

"We are alive to that," Mr. Creech Jones replied, "and that will be done."

The small, bespectacled native of Montreal had admitted before the commission that it appeared "to be more than coincidental" that a number of items of information credited by the Russian Embassy to the Canadian agent Foster were available to him in his work. But he said those items had a wide circulation and denied that he had ever given confidential facts to anyone but an authorized official.

One new bit of evidence was an excerpt from commission testimony by Igor Gouzenko, former Embassy cipher clerk and again the star Crown witness in this case. At that time, Gouzenko had said that the secretary of a foreign military mission in Ottawa worked for the Russians and was given the code name of Jan or Ian.

Erroneous Report About Eden Visit

Toronto, Oct. 25.—(C)—It all boiled down to an erroneous announcement by a press relations man, this business about R. Hon. Anthony Eden and his wife being en route to Toronto via New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Eden came to Toronto today but they were not the former British Foreign Secretary and his wife. They were Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Howard Eden.

American Airlines announced yesterday that the wartime Foreign Secretary and his wife were coming to Toronto Friday morning. Government officials in Ottawa, Washington and London all said in effect: "Really? We've heard nothing of it. The visit must be unofficial."

The story was published in newspapers, was broadcast and cabled abroad.

Finally, in London today, conservative headquarters said Mr. Eden was still there, had no intention of flying to Canada.

In Toronto today, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Howard Eden arrived by plane from Britain.

MAYOR BRYANT DEPLORES LACK OF INTEREST IN REFERENDUM

Education And Euthanasia Are Topic Of Debates At Bishop's

A resolution was upheld at Bishop's University last evening that true education was a mental training and not a preparation for special pursuits. Old Arts representatives Douglas McVie and Bruce Fairbairn based their argument on the statement that training for some specialized occupations only developed certain facets of the individual and there could be no true education unless all facets of a person's mind had been trained. New Arts debaters for the negative were Irwin Gliserman and John Ouellet. An introductory debate was won by first year who defeated the resolution that euthanasia should be adopted.

The affirmative win by the in-house debating team representing the Old Arts, climaxed some telling arguments by both Mr. McVie and Mr. Fairbairn, who after defining the term education as systematic instruction, and the development of character and mental powers, stressed the value of the normal in education. Mr. McVie stated that true education should be more than merely training for a specialized pursuit, for it only meant that a few related topics were studied and the broad field of learning neglected. After emphasizing the cradle to the grave potentials of learning, he illustrated his argument against specialization by mentioning chaotic conditions in specialized gold rush and

LOCAL MAN IS BOUND OVER TO KING'S BENCH

Angelo Fabi, 27-year-old local trucker, was committed to stand trial on a charge of manslaughter before the next session of the Criminal Assizes of the Court of King's Bench by Judge Anatole Gaudet in Magistrate's Court this morning. Fabi, whose preliminary hearing ended today after the testimony of four Crown witnesses, made no voluntary statement before the Magistrate, ordered him to stand trial at the Assizes term which opens in Superior Court on November 5.

Fabi was found criminally responsible for the death of Joseph Rouleau, 68, St. Denis de Brompton, by a coroner's jury after the victim succumbed to injuries received on the east side Brompton Road on the night of September 26. The accused was granted bail of $950.

Last witness heard this morning was Dame Rose-Aime Ethier, one of the three occupants of the truck driven by the accused which allegedly struck Rouleau on the night in question. The witness told the court that while returning to Sherbrooke with Fabi at the wheel of the truck and another companion, Etienne Dupre, the latter had told Fabi that the truck had struck something and that he had better stop to investigate. The witness on the other hand said she had no sensation of the vehicle striking anything. However, Dupre, a previous witness, testified that when the truck swerved on the road, which was followed by a dull thud, the woman had screamed.

Finally Fabi returned to the scene after travelling about one mile and a half, the woman said, and found Rouleau lying unconscious on the road. The victim was put in the cab of the truck and brought to Sherbrooke.

Only 400 Of 3,360 Eligible Voters Turned Out To Approve By-Law For $650,000 Loan

Commenting on the small number of ballots cast to approve yesterday's $650,000 loan referendum, which brought only 400 of a possible 3,361 eligible voters to the polls, Mayor Guy Bryant today issued a statement to the effect that the lack of public spirit in such referendums might necessitate the borrowing of money for public works without the approval of ratepayers.

Mayor Bryant stated that the results show "a woeful lack of interest in local government" and "if this situation continues, it may be necessary to borrow money for public works without the approval of ratepayers by having the loan approved by the Municipal Commission only" which is presently done in Montreal and Quebec City. The 10 per cent minimum vote to approve any issue put before the people was barely exceeded in yesterday's referendum by 1.87 per cent.

In this respect, Mayor Bryant said that the defeat of by-law No. 664 was narrowly averted due to the fact that only 11.8 per cent of the property-owners cast votes.

MESSAGE SENT BY SOVEREIGNS TO MRS. HENRY

Knowlton, Oct. 25. — A cable from Their Majesties King George and Queen Elizabeth and a personal letter from Prime Minister Mackenzie King congratulating her on the occasion of her 100th birthday were only two of the highlights of Mrs. Henry's day yesterday.

Mrs. Henry, who lives with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hastings, here, was the guest of honor yesterday yesterday at a tea for over one hundred guests, relatives and friends, many of whom came from distant points to mark the memorable occasion.

Mrs. Henry received the guests in a floor-length black taffeta dress, with a corsage of orchids. During the day she received over one hundred and fifty birthday cards, several telegrams and quantities of flowers. Among those who sent flowers were the Knowlton Ladies' Circle, United Church, the Sutton Baptist Church, the Cowansville Bank of Commerce, the Brome Centre United Church and the Sutton W.C.T.U.

The cable from Their Majesties was dated from Buckingham Palace and read: "The King and Queen are much interested to hear that you are celebrating your 100th birthday and send hearty congratulations and good wishes."

The letter from the Prime Minister read: "It has in the past given me much pleasure to extend greetings to you on several birthday anniversaries. This year as you attain your 100th birthday, I would like to send very hearty congratulations to you on so notable an event. This I do most warmly and in the hope that on the day itself and for many days thereafter you may be blessed in the words of Robert Burns: 'With health and peace and sweet content.'"

Yesterday, Mrs. Henry had her picture taken with her great-granddaughter, Sharon Elizabeth McGovern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle McGovern, the former Helen Hastings, and Mr. Donald Hastings, a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hastings. Mrs. Henry is the mother of Mrs. H. L. Hastings.

They were all in Knowlton for the party yesterday, together with a number of other relatives and many friends.

ANNUAL SUPPER IS STAGED BY LOCAL FIREMEN

Gaily be-decked with flags, streamers and lanterns, No. 1 Fire Station on Marquette Street last night was the scene of the annual supper held by the Sherbrooke Fire Department for its members and specially invited guests, the men being accompanied by their wives and girl friends.

Toasts to the Pope's health, the city council, the firemen, the press and the Canadian Fraternity of Fire Employees were proposed by Andre Aube, secretary of the Fire Department, who acted as master of ceremonies during the evening, and these were replied to by Canon J. N. Codere, His Worship Mayor Guy Bryant, Fire Director Donahue, Jean Paul Laine, of La Tribune, and Armand Vanasse, in that order.

Canon Codere in a brief address referred to the members of the Fire Department as protectors rather than servants of the city's residents and spoke humbly of his own interest in fire, while Mayor Guy Bryant in his turn stated that the City Fathers were proud of the work done by the local firemen and he stressed the low fire rate prevailing here.

Director Donahue's address included an expression of satisfaction at the number of people present for the occasion and in French and English he extended thanks to the firm of S. Rubin, Ltd., for their financial contribution to the event. In replying to the toast to the press, Jean Paul Laine referred to the recent Fire Prevention Week and declared that both local daily papers were glad to co-operate with the Department.

Leo Thibault, president of the Civilian Committee for Fire Prevention, also spoke briefly and referred to the work accomplished along these lines.

Those seated at the head table were His Worship Mayor Guy Bryant and Mrs. Bryant, Fire Director Percy Donahue and Mrs. Donahue, Chief of Police Edouard Moreau, Alderman Alphonse Trudeau and Mrs. Trudeau, Canon J. N. Codere, Alderman Paul Hamel and Mrs. Hamel, Alderman Wesley Bradley, A. J. Wener and Roland Beaudoin, the latter two representing S. Rubin, Ltd.

Following the supper and speeches, the tables were removed and space arranged for dancing for the balance of the evening.

In all about one hundred and thirty members and guests attended this highly successful get-together, which happily was not interrupted by a major fire call. In the latter part of the evening a summons came in but it was a minor one.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT

JOHNS-MANVILLE

MODERN MAGIC IS CENTURIES OLD

From marine life which was alive millions of years ago comes a material called diatomaceous silica. Possibly you've never heard of it, but, it plays an important part in the dry cleaning of your clothes. You see, this is the raw material from which Johns-Manville Celite is produced — and, a form of Celite called Hyflo is widely used in the dry cleaning industry to remove dirt and other impurities from the cleaning fluids.

Hyflo, plus the modern equipment used in the dry cleaning industry today, enables dry cleaners to turn out high quality work in the shortest possible time, at the lowest possible cost.

For details on Hyflo and Celite write Canadian Johns-Manville, 199 Bay Street, Toronto.

BRITISH LABOR DOCTRINES

Much has been heard in Canada during recent weeks of the need of full production to ensure prosperity and a buoyant economic condition, but unfortunately major strikes have dealt an irreparable blow to the success of this policy. This is in marked contrast to Britain where labor leadership has been fighting strikes and has been to the forefront in calling for increased production and efficiency by the workers.

At the current sessions of the Trades Union Congress in Brighton, the chairman, Charles Dukes, declared that the traditional trade union practices which required restrictive measures to protect the worker against the employer must now be reconsidered. This is a new principle at the British labor masthead. The worker, in producing more, does not only enrich the employer but the nation as a whole. In producing plenty for all, the worker is improving his own lot and doing a patriotic duty. That does not imply any abrogation of the right to strike against conditions, hours of labor or wages, but the record is that they use collective bargaining as an instrument of conciliation, and have avoided major strikes since the war.

The idea is effectively expressed by Sir Godfrey Ince, permanent secretary of the United Kingdom Department of Labor in these words:—

"One reason why we have been able to deal pretty successfully with labor disputes in the fact that in the years between two wars we built up a solid system of collective bargaining.

"In each industry we have established the machinery for the settlement of wages and working conditions disputes. Very often employers and employees set up their own collective bargaining machinery. In other instances we help them do it. It is a system of voluntary collective bargaining and conciliation, and we had covered the major part of industry before the outbreak of the war just ended."

Production is expanding steadily in the Old Land and the movement is encouraged by the leaders of the trade union movement who preach full production without interruption by unofficial strikes and walkouts, all in the community interest and welfare.

REAL REFORESTATION

The drive for an extensive reforestation program through this section of the Province of Quebec which is steadily gaining impetus lends special interest to the movement now underway in Wisconsin which is expected to result in the almost complete restoration of the great pine forest which once covered the northern half of the state. Federal, state and county authorities are co-operating with private enterprise to restore millions of now virtually worthless acres to the taxation lists with the expectation that the expenditures now being made will be returned many times in the future.

The scope of the development can best be realized from the fact that the federal government is planting pine trees on 2,000,000 acres, the state government on another 2,000,000 acres, the counties some 500,000 acres and private industry yet another 1,800,000 acres. This is a total of 6,300,000 acres or approximately 10,000 square miles.

One county which has planted 220,000 acres of public forests expects within a few years to pay all its governmental expenses from the income from the new forests. The paper mills which are backing the private enterprise portion of the program expect to save themselves vast sums in raw material costs, for they have been forced for many years to obtain most of their pulpwood from outside the state.

The economic returns from this vast program will be matched by other benefits to be obtained in the form of restored wild life, aesthetic values and recreational opportunities.

In many sections of the Eastern Townships there are thousands of acres of land which have been denuded of their trees and which are virtually useless from an agricultural point of view. Some co-operative policy as now effective in Wisconsin would within a few years restore the economic value of these lands and at the same time strike a strong blow against one of the greatest problems facing this district—that of the periodical floods which are undermining agricultural values. The costs should be modest in comparison with the many benefits which will accrue.

THE DEMOCRACIES STAND TOGETHER

The declaration by Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin in the British House of Commons in which he gave unreserved support to the views expressed on more than one occasion by U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes is an encouraging proof that the two great democracies are standing together to prevent aggression and exploitation in Europe. The remarks of the British Foreign Minister were filled with realism. They stated bluntly the British view that only by strict observance of the principle of the Potsdam declaration could the world hope to retain a permanent peace and he left no doubt that Britain regarded the chief menace to continued peace the Russian demands being made periodically upon its smaller neighbors such as Turkey.

However, he left plenty of room for Russian co-operation and apparently would like to accept the peaceful words of the Soviet leaders as the true feelings of that country. This pious hope was tinged with the realization that more than words are required to form an effective basis for world unity and agreement. His direct statements concerning Turkey and Greece provide ample proof that the British Government is convinced that concessions cannot all come from the western democracies. The Russians themselves must be prepared to co-operate.

Furthermore it is apparent that the British Government is prepared to support the United States in any display of force that might be needed to impress upon the Russians the need for a common effort.

The whole address only serves to emphasize that a British Government, regardless of its internal policies, will not subject itself to those of another state. The mere fact that the present British administration is Socialist does not make the Russian doctrines and policies any more pleasing to it than they would be to an ultra-Tory regime. It is this continuity of principle that permits British Government spokesmen to accept certain foreign obligations, for they are reasonably sure that these decisions will not be countermanded in the event a political party of differing views assumes office.

Washington Column

BY PETER EDSON

REPUBLICAN HOPES

Now is the time when only the low-grade, run-of-the-mine newspapermen are left in Washington.

All the experts and hot-shots are out touring the country. They're feeling the public pulse, holding both ears to the ground at the same time to hear the heartbeats of democracy, sticking moistened fingers into the political winds to see which way they blow, strapping lie-detectors to the hairy chests of taxi drivers and the billowing bosoms of taxi dancers to learn how that mythical American—the average citizen—will vote in November.

It could be, however, that the outcome of the election was decided right here in Washington while the political journalists were away from home on the road. For if Uncle Harry and the Democratic administration bosses thought they were taking meat out of the congressional campaign by decontrolling it, they're learning better now.

Lifting meat controls won't produce enough more meat before election day. Saying that other decontrols will be speeded up is easier said than done, and can hardly be done before election day.

Still under control are a fourth of the food products, over half of the non-food items. Iron and steel, other raw materials, building materials, autos, household goods, clothing and rents remain under control and will probably stay that way as long as supply is less than demand.

GOP THRIVES ON ANTI-CONTROL PRESSURE
But the pressure to get all these controls off is tremendous, and the Republicans are making the most of it. They aren't going to let the decontrol issue die.

"You made a mistake by keeping meat controls on as long as you did, and you admit it," they can yell at the Democrats, in evidence that all within the administration is confusion.

This bull over the meat situation has caused Republican bosses in Washington to raise their sights and aim at targets they never hoped to reach a month ago. Then they were hoping to carry the House by only a slim margin. The less said about their chances in the Senate the better.

Now Republican National Committee Chairman Carroll Reece is making at least 10—possibly 13—states for GOP senatorial victories. Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Ohio, Missouri, Washington, Idaho, Montana, and Wyoming are his sure bets. Rhode Island, Nevada, and West Virginia he considers less sure, but hopeful.

Indiana Congressman Charlie Halleck, chairman of the GOP congressional campaign committee, would add New Mexico and Utah to the list, with the Republicans sure to hold California and Wisconsin. They need nine seats to win control of the Senate.

Reece, Halleck, and Ohio Congressman Clarence Brown at GOP headquarters are now all saying that the Republicans will pick up close to 50 seats in the House, to win a good, safe working majority control there.

THE DEMOCRATS ARE BEATING THEMSELVES
If the Republicans do come through winners in this election, it will be largely because the Democrats have done everything they possibly could to defeat themselves. Their combination of errors since the campaign got hot has been utterly fantastic.

By comparison, all the Republicans have to be sorry for are Senator Robert A. Taft's outcry against the Nazi war criminal trials and Chairman Reece's statement that he would cut two million employees off the federal payroll, when there are only 2,300,000 on it and it takes 490,000 just to carry the mails.

As for a constructive Republican platform, it simply doesn't exist. Charlie Halleck is still terribly proud of the Statement of Principles which a committee of GOP congressmen drafted a year ago. But it is all written in glittering generalities, trying to be all things to all people.

Maybe the strongest asset the Republicans have is that they have no program. Harding and Coolidge, McKinley and Taft before them, rode to power and saw the country through periods of boom on complete lack of program. The country may be in for another cycle of that.

Take off all the controls! Let Nature, with her own mysterious mutations of inflation and deflation, take her own sweet course. How would you like a load of that for a while?

JUSTICE BEFORE POLITICS

Toronto Globe and Mail

It is now more than four weeks since the King Government arbitrarily changed the regulations of the Veterans' Land Act by raising the minimum amount of land which can be acquired under the small holdings provision from one-half acre to two acres. The Dominion Command of the Canadian Legion, under pressure from branches in every section in Canada, publicly denounced the Government's discriminatory action. It, and properly so, pointed to the injustice being done veterans who had planned for smaller plots, or who for various reasons, not excluding the advice of the Government's own agents, had not yet submitted their applications.

The Legion, however, decided against lodging a direct protest until the return from overseas of Veterans' Affairs Minister Mackenzie. The Minister is now back in Ottawa and if at any time there was an adequate reason for delay certainly it no longer exists. Reports reaching this office suggest that the department has stretched a point or two to correct the few glaring cases which have been brought to public attention, but the fact remains that so long as the new order stands, thousands upon thousands of returned men will be the victims of an unjust act of Government. Those who have no possible use for a two-acre plot, or have not the time or finances to develop one properly, will find themselves denied benefits under the act.

Those injured veterans who placed their confidence in the Legion will now be expecting immediate action on its part. There can be no possible excuse for another day's delay. Nor should the Legion be content with dealing with Mr. Mackenzie alone. The record, in fact, furnishes ample evidence that the idea of raising the minimum did not originate with him. He thought he was doing very nicely until more influential members of the Government interfered. The whole thing is a matter which can only be satisfactorily dealt with at the Cabinet level, particularly since it is obvious that Mr. Mackenzie is powerless to make a decision. From the use being made of the issue by the Liberal candidate in the Parkdale bye-election, there is every reason to suspect that the Veterans' Land Act is deliberately being exploited as political bait.

Performances on the public platform by that candidate, in simulating anger against the Government he seeks to join, adds strength to this suspicion. Even in the presence of a Cabinet Minister he brand the two-acre requirement as "ridiculous." The Government willingly accepts this humiliation, in the expectation that it will draw votes. If the intended implication is that the sheer weight of the candidate's criticism will force a reversal of Government policy, then why must the veterans be kept waiting? The answer is obvious, but the Legion should not permit itself to be dragged along by political shuffling. The only way this can be avoided is for the Legion to act promptly on the protests of its branches and demand an immediate answer from the Government. The Legion has already allowed too much time to lapse. Its only consideration is the welfare of the veterans, not the embarrassment of a Government involved in bye-elections.

THAT DEEPER HUNGER

Christian Science Monitor

There is a great hunger in the world's heart today—the hunger for enlightenment. Millions groping their way out of dense darkness look desperately for the light. Appeals from young people in former enemy countries tell of their starved longing for ideas, for knowledge, for a new hope.

What are Americans doing to meet this need? All too little.

Young Japanese students searching eagerly for an understanding of the world they live in can pick up a copy of the Communist Manifesto at any bookstore. Soviet literature in Japanese translation is to be found everywhere. But where are the challenging American books, the great statements and analyses of democracy and freedom and a new world order? Not in the bookshelves of Tokyo and Kobe. Their publication in Japan is prevented by "currency difficulties." And similar conditions exist elsewhere.

Americans have never been slow to surmount the difficulties of material accomplishment when their minds were made up. Why then should they lag behind the Russians in meeting the world's hunger for ideas? Is this failure to meet the challenge related to the spiritual apathy which allows the United States to devote a paltry 1.4 per cent of its annual income to education, as compared with 6 per cent spent by Great Britain and 14 per cent by Soviet Russia.

If Americans show so little concern for their own future citizens, it is not surprising perhaps that they should be slow to recognize the opportunities and responsibilities of taking enlightenment to other parts of the world. It is well to remember America's failure till late in the war to see the value of bringing out a Russian-language propaganda magazine in Moscow, though a skillful propaganda organ published there by the British had long been read with enthusiastic interest by the Russians.

Americans are, of course, rightly chary of State-sponsored propaganda, at home or abroad. But they cannot be content to leave the task of enlightening the world regarding American life and ideals to an irresponsible Hollywood. There is hope in the National Educational Scientific and Cultural Commission, newly formed American arm of UNESCO, if it does not become a mere instrument of State Department policy. The people should support it and see that it fulfills its broader purpose as part of a world-wide onslaught on ignorance.

TOO MUCH GOVERNMENT

Moncton Transcript

A great many people seem to think that when there is a job to do, the government can do it better, forgetting, apparently, that every time the government undertakes something, the citizen has to pay for it in their tax bill. And of course there has to be a bureaucracy to carry out the assignment.

A case in point comes from Great Britain where it was considered necessary to do something about the rats. So they were destroying precious food. So the people looked to the government to rid the country of these pests. In due time a rat-catching department was set up which now costs the country—the tax payers—more than $435,000 a year. This is how the scheme worked out.

A departmental was organized and manned by a total of 298 personnel; in Ottawa they would be called civil servants. Of that number there were 194 actually engaged in killing rats. Approximately 170 were engaged in clerical work, keeping accounts, possibly counting tails, generally supervising those who were charged with the kill, and, no doubt, taking time out for tea.

This is a typical example of what happens once a government department goes into action. And once established it is a matter of record that it is almost impossible to get rid of the drain on the treasury. But we do not have to look across the ocean for an object lesson. We have in Ottawa approximately 150,000 civil servants, permanent and temporary. Add to that number the provincial and municipal employees and we gain a very clear idea of what we are paying for being governed.

MARRIAGES

BEATTIE-STIMSON
Richmond, Oct. 25.—The marriage of Lyla Jean, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie E. Stimson, of Melbourne, Que., to Mr. Kenneth Graham Beattie, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Beattie, of Richmond, took place in Chalmers' United Church, Saturday, September 7th, Rev. T. N. Mitchell, officiating.

The church was decorated with gladioli, larkspur and ferns and the guest pews were marked with white phlox, held in place with ribbon from parachute straps. The wedding march was played by Suse Blemings who also played "I Love You Truly" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white nylon silk, made by the groom's mother, and fashioned on princess lines, with a sweetheart neckline and short train. The wedding gown was made from the silk fabric of a parachute which the groom brought from Japan, where he was a prisoner of war for four years. This was the first parachute to drop food to the Canadians after the fall of Japan.

Her full length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a crown of orange blossoms, which had been worn by her mother on her wedding day. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, a gift of the groom, and she carried an arm bouquet of African beauty and white roses with baby's breath.

Miss Shirley Beattie, sister of the groom, as maid of honor, wore a floor-length gown of pink taffeta made on princess lines, with a sweetheart neckline. Her matching heddress of flowers was worn with a shoulder-length veil, and she carried an arm bouquet of Tailsman roses and baby's breath.

Miss Barbara Riff, as bridesmaid, wore a floor-length gown of blue taffeta made on the same lines as that of the maid of honor, with a matching heddress, and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath.

The best man was Mr. Elmer Stimson, brother of the bride. Mr. Malcolm Beattie, brother of the groom, and Mr. Allan Boa, cousin of the bride, were ushers.

Mrs. Stimson, mother of the bride, wore a street-length dress of grey and mauve flowered silk jersey, grey hat, matching accessories, and wore a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Beattie, mother of the groom, wore a street-length dress of blue flowered silk jersey, blue feathered hat, matching accessories and a corsage of red roses. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's table, covered with a Pointe de Venice cloth, was decorated with pink and white streamers and white tapers in crystal holders, and centred

It was decided to have a social evening at a members home October 31, for members and their friends. A card party for November 12, will be advertised in the daily papers. MIND YOUR MANNERS

The Situation: Dinner guests say to the hostess, who hasn't a maid, "Let's do the dishes now." Wrong Way: She takes them up on their offer of help and does the dishes with their assistance.

Right Way: She realizes that the person who has eaten a good meal would much rather sit and talk than do dishes, and so she leaves the dishwashing until after her guests have gone home.

DOROTHY DIX

Over-Strict Parents

Restraint of Daughters Often Develops Appetite For The Forbidden

Dear Miss Dix: I was brought up by very strict parents. During my teens I was not allowed to go to any parties, have any boy friends, very few girl friends, and none of these could I bring to my parents' house. I had some harrowing experiences, but through the mercy of God and my own instinct I have come through safely, and now I am going to marry a fine man.

DOROTHY DIX

But I have a young sister, 15 years old, and my narrow, blind parents are bringing her up the same way. She is very pretty and attractive and my blood runs cold when I think of what she may go through and that she may not be as fortunate as I. How can I keep my parents from making the mistake with her that they made with me?

Answer: I don't think you can change strict parents because they are so sure of their own motives in bringing up their children that they refuse to see that their plan doesn't work, and that in trying to protect their youngsters, especially their girls, from danger, they are simply running them into it.

TWO FUNDAMENTAL TRUTHS
They ignore two of the fundamental truths of life. One is that we all hanker after forbidden fruit, and that the more they shut their children off from the pleasures that belong to their time of life, the more determined they will be to have them. And when they get them they will not know how to take them in moderation. Like starving people, they will gorge themselves on opies that will wreck them. The second thing that parents forget is that their children must live in this world, such as it is, and that instead of being kept in ignorance of its perils they should have its every danger spot diagrammed for them. Ignorance is not innocence and, as a matter of fact, the way to keep a girl innocent is to make her wise to the temptations that are going to beset her on every side so that she will know how to handle them, and play safe.

Dear Miss Dix: My mother had promised to give me a bicycle for my birthday, but since the war has cut that out I begged her to give me a dog because I wanted one more than anything else in the world. At first she half-promised to do it, but now she refuses and talks about rabies, etc.

The Quality Tea

My heart is broken and I don't believe I will ever get over my disappointment. Don't you think every boy should have a dog?

A HEARTBROKEN BOY.

ANSWER: Indeed, I do. A boy without a dog is as forlorn as a dog without a boy. It takes the two, with their ineffable devotion and understanding of each other, to make the full picture of human and canine bliss that should be boyhood. They belong together.

Nobody can explain what a dog means to a boy, because both are dumb when it comes to describing their emotions, but certain it is that a dog satisfies some inner need of a boy's soul as nothing else does. It feeds his heart-hunger, and it teaches him as no moralist can, loyalty and courage and a love so great that it can lick the hand that strikes it.

So I say that at whatever trouble and sacrifice to her best rugs, every mother should let her little boy have a dog.

Dear Dorothy Dix: We have been married eight months. My husband has a good job and all has gone well until now when his mother wants to move in with us and bring her husband, two sons and a daughter. Her husband and children are all working at good jobs. I do not want them to live with us as I would have to do all the cooking and housework for them. What shall I do?

R. S.

ANSWER: Absolutely and firmly refuse to let them come. Say NO, and stick to it. It is not financially necessary for them to crowd in on you. They should establish their own home and live apart from you. And if you have the backbone that God promised a worm, you will see that they do it. Not once in a million times can in-laws live together in peace and harmony, so if you want to keep on good terms with your husband's people never undertake to live with them.

FARM AND LOCAL NEWS

LOCAL FARMERS URGED TO FORM FORUM GROUPS

The Farm Forums and interested friends of the Farm Forums of Sherbrooke County met for their annual fall rally at the Community Hall, Brompton Road, last Monday evening.

The county representative on the Farm Forum Council, Lawrence Copping, presided and welcomed the large number of guests and friends.

The chief speakers of the evening were Ralph Staples, secretary of Radio Farm Forum and Jos. Galway, secretary of the Provincial Farm Forums, with headquarters at MacDonald College.

Mr. Staples gave a brief outline of Farm Forums. He discussed the set-up of them and pointed out that since the Farm Forums were part of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, they had a voice in the set-up of the Agricultural policies of Canada. He was introduced by W. G. MacDougall, district agriculturist, Lennoxville, and thanked

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK MARKET

Montreal, Oct. 25.—(AP)—During the week ending Oct. 24, there were 3,850 cattle, 5,084 sheep and lambs, 6,253 hogs and 2,969 calves for sale on the two Montreal markets. In addition, 679 cattle, 508 sheep and lambs, 398 hogs and 258 calves were received on direct consignment to local plants and 202 cattle were handled on through billing to Canadian points.

The two Montreal livestock markets registered a fairly heavy run on all classes. Cattle trading started very slowly on Monday, and prices dropped fully 25 to 50 cents lower, especially on cows. Calves were active and sold at strong prices. Lambs brought 25 to 50 cents higher in most of sales. Hogs moved slowly at stronger prices.

Cattle quality was better. A couple of carloads of top steers brought 13, good quality made 11.75 to 12.50, a few 12.75, medium kinds 10.50 to 11.50, common light ones 8 up. Heifers ranged from 7 to 11, with an extreme top of 11.50. Good butcher cows made 9 to 10, mostly 9 to 9.50, medium kinds 8 to 9, common 7.75 down. Canners and cutters were 5.50 to 6.75, mostly 6.00 to 6.50. Good bulls sold at 9.50 to 10.50, bologna bulls 7 up.

Best vealers sold at stronger prices 15 to a top of 16. Mediums were 14 to 15. Drinkers and light grassers made the bulk of the offerings and selling between 9.50 and 10.50. When sold separately light grassers brought 9 to 10. Yearlings 7 to 8.

Mr. Galway spoke about the Farm Forum work in Quebec. He pointed out that indications were that there would be at least 50 new forums in Quebec this winter. There were several people present who indicated that there would be new forums in Sherbrooke County this year.

Miss Thelma Crawford of Lennoxville sang several solo selections for which she was heartily applauded. Mr. Thomas Kealey of Sherbrooke led a pleasing sing-song after which the ladies present served delicious refreshments.

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

"You have wonderful taste in clothes—that suit, for instance! Actually it makes you good looking!"

FORMATION OF FORUM GROUPS IS ADVOCATED

A Farm Radio Forum is not only a group of neighbors in a home. It is a national discussion group, a threshing bee of the airwaves and once a Forum gets established, results are immediately apparent, Ralph Staples, Secretary of National Farm Forums, Toronto, declared in a broadcast over CKTS yesterday.

A Farm Forum is for the purpose of discussion and planning, he continued. "We farmers are not very good at group action. We have never depended to any great degree on our ability to work together. We have not much confidence in the ability of ourselves and our neighbors to solve our problems in an organized way. If we had confidence a good many of our difficulties would not last very long. Farm Forum is just a device for carrying on purposeful, conclusive and constructive discussions in a great many Canadian agricultural communities."

Mr. Staples pointed out that "once people get in the habit of meeting regularly and planning together, it is not long before they feel ready to undertake some of the tasks around them."

He noted that the first broadcast of the National Farm Radio Forum will take place from Quebec on October 28 and each Monday thereafter and pointed out that these broadcasts deal with "subjects on which there is as yet no general agreement in Canada." In these talks, he said, an attempt is made to have all the main points of view presented.

The final five minutes of the half-hour broadcast, he added, is broken down into Provincial news, works and the provincial secretary of the Farm Radio Forum is given an opportunity of presenting to the people of the province, a summary of the findings of the Forum in that area, on their discussion on the previous Monday.

He urged his listeners to establish forums immediately in order that advantages may be taken of the broadcasts.

W. G. MacDougall, District Agriculturist, Lennoxville, speaking at the Sherbrooke Station on Monday directed his address particularly to farmers of the area who raise meat producing animals for the Sherbrooke Winter Show and Sale.

"Now is the time to commence planning for 1947," he declared, stressing the importance of selecting animals of proper breeding, type and conformation for feeding.

"Good breeding is the background for a successful show career in the exhibiting of any class of livestock," Mr. MacDougall stated.

He continued by listing the various essentials in the preparation of show animals both in cattle, sheep and in hogs.

In conclusion he asked that anyone having purebred breeding stock or grade beef cattle for sale contact him in Lennoxville.

Kansas City, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A 15-year-old farm boy from Ida Grove, Ia., said goodbye to his grand champion Hereford steer yesterday and pocketed almost $1,000 with a record price of $1,000.00.

Jack Hoffman, 4-H Club (farm youth organization) member whose T.O. Pride was named 1946 grand champion steer of the American Royal Livestock Show was still bewildered today by the bidding last night, E. W. Williams of the Williams Meat Company paid the record price. American Royal officials said the previous world record price was $11.50 a pound.

MRS. MARY JANE BAKER, OF ST. SYLVESTER

St. Sylvester, Oct. 25.—There passed away at her home in St. Sylvester, on October 12, Mrs. Mary Jane Baker, nee Macchell, beloved mother of Donald Ramsey, and beloved sister of James Macchell, of St. Sylvester; and Etta, Mrs. William Smith, of Hartland, Va.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. E. Patterson, of Leeds, assisted by Mr. B. Midgley, of Leeds.

Relatives from out-of-town attending the funeral were Mrs. R. Wark, of Leeds; Miss Hazel Canty and Mr. R. Canty, of Quebec; Mr. Robert Lipsey, of Lennoxville; Mr. Philip Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lipsey and Mr. Armine Edwards, of Inverness.

The deceased was laid to rest in St. George's Cemetery. The bearers were the Messrs. John Mullen, James Noonan, Philip Cox, Bernard Nadeau, Leo Brown and Napoleon Nadeau, and Mr. Albert Stevenson drove the hearse.

A large cortege of friends and neighbors from the surrounding districts attended the funeral.

MR. FRANCIS M. PERKINS

St. Armand, Oct. 25.—Funeral services for Mr. Francis M. Perkins, who passed away suddenly at the St. Armand Hospital, on Monday, October 7, were held in the Phillipsburg United Church on Wednesday, October 9, and was one of the largest funerals ever held in this vicinity.

Rev. T. W. Tyson, pastor of the church, conducted the service and the hymns sung were "Unto The Hills," "O Master, Let Me Walk with Thee," and "Abide with Me." The St. Armand Masonic Lodge, Nelson, No. 9, of which the deceased was a member, attended in a body.

The bearers were Messrs. C. Dean and M. Young, of the Canadian Customs; G. L. Kidd and A. S. Baker, of the Canadian Immigration, and C. J. Morse and J. Smith, all being brother Masons.

Burial took place in the Phillipsburg Cemetery, where a Masonic service was held.

The deceased was born in Sutton on April 22, 1916, the second son of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Perkins. He attended school in Sutton, Phillipsburg and St. Cessario, after which he entered the employ of the Missisquoi Stone and Marble Company, where he remained until the outbreak of war, when he enlisted in the 17th Duke of York Royal Canadian Hussars. He served overseas for five years, returning home in September, 1945, and in December of the same year he entered the Canadian Customs office at the St. Armand port.

Being of a kind and genial disposition, Mr. Perkins was a general favorite among all his fellow officers, as well as among the people of the community at large and his sudden passing cast a gloom over the entire vicinity and among his many friends who mourn the loss of a trusted friend.

To his bereaved wife, parents and family, the sympathy of the community and district is extended at this time.

He is survived by his wife, Janet Thomas, to whom he was married on September 29, 1945; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Perkins; a sister, Miss Carlotta Perkins, and a brother, Mr. Ivan Perkins, all of Sherbrooke; a brother, Cpl. Robert Perkins, R.C.A.F., of Rockcliffe, Ont.; his father and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Thomas, and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wade.

There was a profusion of flowers, silent tokens of the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

DON'T BORROW FROM personal FRIENDS

It was Shakespeare who said:
"Neither a borrower nor a lender be;
"For loan oft loses both itself and friend."

Shakespeare's advice is as sound today as it was when he wrote it, but, then, he was talking of personal friends.

Today, there is no need to lose friends because you need money, for lending money is everyday business at the Bank of Montreal, and because it is done on a sound and businesslike basis, the Bank, instead of losing friends, makes more and more every day.

To anyone in a position to repay without hardship, the Bank of Montreal lends money for any constructive purpose and at a rate so low as to be negligible—

27¢ a MONTH for a $100 loan

... repayable in 12 monthly instalments (equal to 6% interest per annum)

The Bank is glad to do it. That is what it is there for, and no true friend should ever trouble another friend for a loan while such a service is at his command.

The Doctor Says

DRUGS MAY DESTROY WHITE BLOOD CELLS

By William A. O'Brien, M.D.

In agranulocytosis cases the granulated white cells of the bone marrow and blood are destroyed by drugs and an infection of the body results. The white cells are the shock troops of the body which drive off invading germs, and in their absence the body is not protected against certain infections.

The agranulocytosis usually tells of having taken some drug (often amidopyrin).

When white-blood-cell counts are made in agranulocytosis cases, the number may be found to have been reduced from 8,000 in every cubic centimeter of blood to less than 500. In uncomplicated cases, the other blood cells are normal.

As the patient recovers and the white cells return, abscesses form. These couldn't form previously, for an abscess consists mainly of white blood cells which have died in killing off bacteria.

Offending Drug Dropped

In treating agranulocytosis, use of the drug causing the condition is stopped.

Penicillin can be employed to destroy the invading bacteria. This gives the bone marrow a chance to recover, in certain cases.

Bone marrow stimulants have been tried in cases of agranulocytosis, with varying degrees of success.

The outcome of agranulocytosis cases depends upon the degree of bone-marrow and blood-cell destruction and the ability of the marrow to come back.

In the majority of instances, agranulocytosis is a serious condition which demands prompt and energetic treatment.

No patient should take drugs over a long period of time without having his blood checked periodically. And he should not hesitate to tell his physician what drug he had been taking prior to the onset of agranulocytosis.

Question: I had a caruncle removed with an electric cautery about four months ago. The mouth of my bladder is still inflamed and swollen. What treatment do you recommend?

Answer: Consult the physician who removed the caruncle and ask his advice.

Don't Let Your Money HIBERNATE

Throughout the war years, with a patriotism perhaps unprecedented in the history of this country, Canadians invested regularly in government war loans and victory loans, handing to the authorities the fruits of their toil, so that it might be useful in the purchase of materials with which to manufacture the armaments to overcome a vicious and powerful enemy.

Today, in the ensuing peace era, provision is being made to perpetuate the habit of thrift that was engendered under such dramatic circumstances.

Canadians are now provided with an opportunity to continue to invest their savings in a government bond that carries the security of this great Dominion behind it.

Hollywood Highlights

By Bob Thomas

Hollywood, Oct. 25—(AP)—While it might not be fair to call her the laziest star in Hollywood, Ann Sheridan certainly leads an existence which is the envy of other top actresses.

Ann is looking about her Encino rancho after returning from a four-month jaunt to Mexico, Cuba, New York and Connecticut. Before that, she worked 15 weeks in "Nora Prentiss." Before that, she took an 18-month vacation because she didn't like the roles Warners wanted her to do. She'll go to work soon in "The Unfaithful," but there's no hurry about that, so far as Ann is concerned.

Ann came to Hollywood in 1933 as a beauty contest winner. Among her first pictures was a dilly called "Car 99," with a newcover named Fred MacMurray.

"Brother, did I work!" she emphasized. "I was at the studio from nine in the morning until four the next morning, and got up at nine again. I'd finish one picture in 18 days, then start another."

So now you see why Annie is taking life easy these days.

Charles Trenet, who has been about the task of translating his French love songs into English, is giving up the job. His reason: the language is inadequate.

"French is the only language of love," he signed.

Mary Anderson writes from "The Stronghold" company in Montreal that the director speaks only Russian, the producer and most of the cast only French and Helmut Dantine and Paul Lukas converse in German. That leaves her Alabamian accent out in the cold.

TO MY GRANDMA ON HER BIRTHDAY

October the Ninth was a joyous day,
For in England — many miles away
A little girl was born.
They let just a few years slip away,
When to Collingwood they came to stay
With Alice Margueretta.
She grew to be a gracious lady,
Auburn haired and very stately,
Before very long she lost her heart
To Robert Webster — and then did start
A happy marriage.
'Twas seven long years before she was blessed
With a little boy to hug to her breast.
Alas, the years roll by — 'twas ever thus,
Autumn in life has caught up with us.
A man, is now the little boy,
Who once did give so much joy.
The husband was called before the throne,
By Him whom we love from the unknown.
Her auburn hair has now turned to silver,
But as spry as ever, a generous giver.
She is loved by all, both young and old,
So kind and good — a heart of gold,
And so dear Grandma, it is time to say,
Best wishes to you on this special day.

Rock Island, Oct. 25. — Plans are underway for a gala free Halloween party for all the boys and girls under High School age in the Border Communities. The event, which is designed to keep the youngsters entertained on Halloween and keep them off the street, is being staged under the auspices of the Frontier Community Centre.

The community Halloween party will be held on Thursday night, October 31st, beginning at 7.15 p.m., in the Haskell Opera House, which is situated directly on the International Border Line between Rock Island and Derby Line, thus bearing out the truly international aspect of this eagerly-anticipated event.

A splendid program of variety entertainment is being prepared, including sing-songs, a costume show, amateur show and movies. There will be cash prizes for the best acts given by the boys and girls themselves, and also for the best costumes, three prizes in each class. There will be other prizes for those who take part and as a special feature, free apples for everybody.

It is hoped that all the boys and girls of the Border Communities will avail themselves of this splendid opportunity to celebrate Halloween in such a jolly manner, and that each and every one will come in costume.

Transportation will be provided for children from a distance, leaving the post offices in Stanstead and Beebe at 7 p.m. and returning after the show. Children will be well-supervised, both coming and going, and while in the Opera House, but the parents of children who are not old enough to attend school will be responsible for their own offspring.

All boys and girls wishing to take part in the Amateur Show are asked to give their names, and state what they wish to do, to the director of the Community Centre, Mr. J. P. Galbraith, or to their school teacher, before Wednesday, October 30th.

For all information on the Halloween party, parents or children may contact any of the following members of the committee: I. B. Corey, G. M. Seguin or H. R. Worthen of Beebe; Mrs. A. M. Aldrich, G. R. Darby, in Derby Line; L. L. Roberge, Mr. Quillman, Rock Island; K. Benbow or J. E. Beaulac or Mr. Galbraith of Stanstead, or call at the Community Centre, telephone 500, in the Southern Canada Building, Rock Island.

Quebec Entries Will Compete In National Horse Show In New York

New York, Oct. 25.—(P)—The National Horse Show will open here Nov. 4 with half a dozen Quebec entries competing with the best hunters, jumpers and saddle horses the United States has to offer.

Biggest individual Canadian entry is from Vernon C. Cardy's Mount Vernon Ranch at Val David, Que. Cardy has three hunters and two jumpers entered while Dr. Paul Latour of Montreal has entered a saddle horse and Leo Ruelland of Quebec is sending an open jumper. Ned King, manager of the show, said the Canadian entry is unusually large. He added that the more than 300 horses competing at Madison Square Garden for six days provide one of the largest entry lists in the event's 63-year history.

Each horse is entered in an average of four events. The open jumping class alone has drawn 332 contestants—the largest entry for this section in the show's history.

The hunter division follows with 238 in the conformation hunter class, 143 for the working hunter contests and 774 for the young hunters.

Geographically the entries range from Canada to Virginia and from Massachusetts to Ohio.

Among the competitions are classes for three and five-gaited saddle horses, harness pony events, children's equitation championship and military jumping competitions.

LOCAL HIGH PLAY AGAINST ST. LAMBERT

The Sherbrooke High School senior grid squad left this morning for Montreal where they meet St. Lambert in an exhibition tilt. In their first encounter played two weeks ago in Sherbrooke St. Lambert emerged the winner 16-0 on a rain-soaked gridiron.

There is a possibility, too, that it would mean the university's withdrawal from the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union which arranged sports contests between Canadian colleges.

Warning of these drastic steps aimed at heading off a repetition of expensive incidents of other football seasons came last night from Dr. R. C. Wallace, Queen's principal, and from Geoff F. Bruce, president of the Queen's Alma Mater Society.

A paid advertisement inserted in Toronto newspapers by the Alma Mater Society urged Queen's supporters to refrain from damaging University of Toronto property and

Queen's Fans Urged To Curb Wild Antics At Varsity - Queen's Game

Toronto, Oct. 25.—(P)—If boisterous students or ex-students of Queen's University of Kingston, Ont., smear paint on University of Toronto buildings or otherwise damage property when football teams of the two universities meet at Varsity Stadium tomorrow, the Queen's team will be withdrawn from the Intercollegiate Rugby Union.

There is a possibility, too, that it would mean the university's withdrawal from the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union which arranged sports contests between Canadian colleges.

Warning of these drastic steps aimed at heading off a repetition of expensive incidents of other football seasons came last night from Dr. R. C. Wallace, Queen's principal, and from Geoff F. Bruce, president of the Queen's Alma Mater Society.

A paid advertisement inserted in Toronto newspapers by the Alma Mater Society urged Queen's supporters to refrain from damaging University of Toronto property and

Dr. Wallace said in a telephone interview that the appeal had his full approval.

"We can't have this kind of thing happening," said Dr. Wallace. "And we have to take some action to ensure that it doesn't recur."

"Does this mean if students or supporters create further damage in Toronto, Queen's will withdraw from the Intercollegiate Rugby Union?" Dr. Wallace was asked.

"Very definitely," he answered. University of Toronto officials recalled that on the occasion of one Intercollegiate game last year Queen's students and supporters got the blame.

"The pillars of Convocation Hall were painted and Hart House was literally sprinkled with paint," said Warren Stevens, Director of Athletics for University of Toronto. "It cost $500 merely to try to remove the paint. This type of vandalism accomplishes no good purpose."

McGill University billed Queen's for $450 campus damage.

Notre Dame Acquired Outstanding Halfback From Army In Zaleski

New York, Oct. 25.—If it were true that Notre Dame had no climactic runner, the Army gave the Irish one in Ernie Zaleski.

Frank Leahy thinks so highly of young Zaleski that the coach tossed him into the Purdue party for three or four plays just two days after the homegrown freshman returned from Japan, where he closed service that started following three years of spectacular play for South Bend's Washington High.

During his preparatory days, Zaleski was considered the greatest backfield prospect to ever come out of the Northern Indiana High School Conference, on the toughest leagues of its kind in the country.

Zaleski was so rated by those who saw Tom Harmon of Michigan and numerous other renowned backs perform in the same circuit.

Cmdr. Bill Ingram, who has scouted Notre Dame for Navy this fall, is not the first competent observer to point to the one seemingly apparent flaw in the Celtic's attack.

"If Frank Leahy has a break-away back, he certainly has kept him well hidden," the youngest member of the famous Ann Arbor football family told New York football writers at their weekly luncheon.

But those who know Ernie Zaleski predict that the youngster will be out there in the clear for all to see by the time the Micks trip into Yankee Stadium to tackle Army Nov. 9.

As Commander Ingram pointed out, Navy is in the unenviable position of having its easier games behind it with nothing more than a narrow victory over Villanova to show as against three defeats. The harder ones are ahead, with Notre Dame and Georgia Tech following Pennsylvania, and Penn State sandwiched in between Georgia Tech and Army.

Commander Ingram stressed that the middies could have won the skirmishes they lost had they been smart and experienced.

"We're in a foxhole and trying to fight back," he said.

Perhaps the hard knocks incurred with each week-end will ultimately pay the midshipmen some dividends and help Capt. Tom Hamilton salvage something out of what scarcely can be called a miserable season.

Wild Capt. Dick Scott at center and Pistol Pete Williams at tailback, the future admirals' forwards and backs are vastly better than their record would indicate.

Experts are now around to compare Glenn Davis with Red Grange, which is the ultimate Army's Mr. Outside had to reach.

Junior Davis again has passed his bruising teammate, Doc Blanchard, in the rave department.

But when Army was penalized for having 12 men on the field against Columbia, the first thought that came to mind was: "With Blanchard in the lineup, Army always has an extra man on the field."

FELLER'S ALL-STARS EKE OUT WIN OVER ROBINSON'S

San Diego, Calif., Oct. 25.—(P)—With Bob Feller striking out 11 men in the five innings he pitched, the Feller Major Leaguers defeated Jackie Robinson's All-Stars, 4-2, in an exhibition baseball game here last night. Robinson, star infielder for Montreal Royals, led the International League in batting the past season.

Feller's nine won the game in the eighth inning with three runs.

SECOND PLACE TIE CREATED IN U.S.H.L.

Minneapolis Millers moved into a tie for second place with St. Paul in the United States Hockey League's Northern division last night by whipping the Saints 6-2.

The Millers, who snapped a two-game St. Paul winning streak, took a first period lead and held it to the final stop. Roy Kelly led the Millers with two goals while Tom Forgie and Maurice Vaillancourt each collected a goal and an assist.

Earl Baranowski and Melnyk tallied the other Minneapolis points while Baker and Dew accounted for St. Paul's markers.

BISHOP'S AND AGGIES PLAY RETURN MATCH

With the injury list growing smaller day by day and newcomers turning out for practices, Bishop's College footballers have been hard at work in preparation for Saturday's C.I.A.U. match against Macdonald College of Ste. Anne de Bellevue.

The locals, badly handicapped by injuries sidelining key men during the past few games, are now in better shape and greater in number than at any time during the season and are confident of victory over the visiting Aggies.

When the two teams last met, two weeks ago at Ste. Anne, the Purple and White were turned back by a 0-0 score. This time however, with Bishop's at full strength again, it appears that the result will be entirely different, if the week's snappy practices can be taken as any indication.

Among those returning after a long layoff is Jack Harrington, an end who was put out of action before the first game and has thus not played yet this season though he performed on last year's aggregation. Another returnee is Bob Wright, a spare linesman, who has been out of action with a twisted ankle. Fred Anderson, who worked on the line last year, has also come out for the past few scrimmages, while Allan Burns, a newcomer to the college, has been showing lots of speed in trying out for a backfield position.

Other newcomers to the squad are Dick Turpin and Jim MacDiarmid.

The kick-off for tomorrow's game, which will take place on the Bishop's campus, is slated for 2.30 and a good turnout is expected.

YELLOWS AND BLUES WIN TO TIE TOP SPOT

Blues and Yellows each came through with two straight strings in games played in the Kayser Ladies' Bowling League at New Wellington alleys. The triumphs, however, left them still in a deadlock for first place in the League standing. Reds strengthened their hold on third place by gaining one out of the two strings they played with Greens.

Blues highlighted the night's play, an edge in marksmanship giving them the highest scores. Miss A. Aube bowled the high single, which was 120, and Miss P. Boisland's 297 turned out to be the high for two strings. As a team, the Blues also were tops, their 538 being the team high for one string and their 1003 heading the team-high-for-two-strings department.

QUILTY RECALLED FROM BUFFALO

Montreal, Oct. 25.—(P)—Montreal Canadiens have called in Johnny Quilty from Buffalo's American Hockey League team to bolster their injury-weakened forward lines. General Manager Frank Selke announced today.

Centre Elmer Lach joined Murph Chamberlain and Buddy O'Connor on the injured list last night and defenceman Butch Bouchard received a foot cut which may keep him out of action for a few days. Quilty is a centre.

Rangers Prepare To Move Into Glass House For Home Games

With the teams resting up for an all-out week-end, the National Hockey League came up today with a couple of choice "off-the-cuff" items in a hearty blast at its officials and the revelation that the amazing New York Rangers intend to live in a glass house.

Peppy Conn Smythe of Toronto, Maple Leafs was the man with the beef, charging specifically that the scorers at Boston had robbed his Leafs of three scoring assists in the Leafs' 3-3 draw with the Bruins. He added he was writing League President Campbell asking points for Bob Goldham, Gus Bonar and Gus Morison.

The Rangers came up with a more intriguing item in the announcement that Madison Square Gardens' playing surface will be enclosed in glass when the team moves in for their first home game Oct. 30.

The announcement last night said the tempered plate glass screen was put around the rink surface to protect fans from flying pucks and swinging sticks. Perhaps so, but from the way the Rangers finished a consistent last in the past three seasons, the management might have had the players' protection at heart too.

How were they to know that the Rangers, who whipped the Stanley Cup Canadiens, 4-1, in Montreal Wednesday night, would start off the first team to chalk up two victories while holding a first-place tie with Toronto in this young season?

The glass screen, put up at a cost of $23,000, rises just two feet above the 3-1-2 foot boards along the length of the playing surface; five feet high behind the goals.

The Montreal Forum, which originally introduced the glass idea, uses it behind the goals only. They may be thinking now of extending it after the injury to a woman spectator Wednesday night when Maurice Richard lifted the puck over the boards.

With the league standings tightened to a point where only one point separates the first five clubs, the next chance to scramble the standings comes Saturday night when three games are carded. Even the last-place Detroit Red Wings could move into the thick of things with a victory.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Highland Park, N.J.—Davey Allen, 125, New York, outpointed Joey Pontana, 131, Brooklyn (8). Saginaw, Mich.—Harvey Dubs, 148½, Windsor, Ont., knocked out Willie Edmonds, 150, Grand Rapids, Mich. (9).

CLIMBS BALCONY OF BURNING HOUSE TO FREE TRAPPED MAN

GERARD CHARETTE

WINS Dow Award

THE DOW AWARD is a citation for outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Victory Bond. Winners are selected by The Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Montreal daily newspapers.

A crowd gathered excitedly around a two-story house in St. Jerome, Que., watching with fear and awe the heavy smoke pouring from the windows. Then the news broke. A boarder was asleep in a room on the second floor—trapped! The firemen had not yet arrived... and Gerard Charette, a neighbour, decided to act. Quickly, he leapt onto the balcony and climbed a post to the balcony roof. Then, smashing a window, he stepped inside. In a matter of seconds he found the man—unconscious at the foot of his bed! Charette then carried him back through the window to the balcony roof. By this time, firemen had put up a ladder... and both rescuer and victim were helped down to safety.

To Gerard Charette of St. Jerome, father of three children, we are proud to pay tribute through the presentation of The Dow Award.
