Timing is off, but the mails go through

SHERBROOKE (CJ) — Everett Nicol, North Ward alderman for 18 years defeated in last week's civic general elections has admiration for the determination if not the promptitude of the Canadian postal service.

During the latter part of the past week, after the voting results had been long decided, North Ward residents began receiving circulars through the mails presenting the appeals of Mr. Nicol for re-election.

"Well," explained the former alderman when questioned as to the delay in sending out his appeals, "the mails must go through and as these circulars have been placed with the post office they must be delivered."

"The only thing is that it took about 10 days to deliver them in the city. They were mailed at the main Post Office on Friday, Oct. 23, nine days before the election, which should have been plenty of time for their distribution," he said.

LAST BREATH: As the day lingers on into dusk and the sun hides behind the mountain, a young man leans against a wooden fence, rifle in hand, waiting for a lone bird to fly by. As the day comes slowly to an end, so does fall. The crisp coat of dried leaves that dresses up nature will in its turn soon be covered with a white carpet of snow.

Egypt, Libya, Sudan

Arab federation formed

CAIRO (Reuter) — Egypt, Sudan and Libya announced Sunday night that they have decided to form a three-country federation and have set up machinery to put the linkup into effect.

The decision was announced after five days of talks between President Anwar Sadat of Egypt, Gen. Jaafar Nimeiry of Sudan and Col. Muammar Gaddafi of Libya, who said they would form a triumvirate leadership to guide the new federation.

A joint communique said the federation of the three neighboring countries, which have a combined population of 50 million people, could form the basis of broader Arab unity later.

Egypt under the late President Nasser had remained shy of federal structures since its abortive union with Syria as the United Arab Republic between 1958 and 1961.

Egypt, Libya and Sudan have been linked in a tripartite alliance since last December. This alliance followed the rise to power of Nimeiry and Gaddafi through military coups last year.

The leaders announced immediate steps to establish the joint leadership and said they would meet every two months.

There will be a joint planning committee, made up of leaders of the higher executive committee of the Arab Socialist Union, Egypt's sole political party, and the revolutionary command councils of Libya and Sudan.

The three countries considered closer union necessary following the death of Nasser and in order to face the challenges of "imperialism and Zionism" in the area, the communique said.

A follow-up committee will work out the details of necessary steps to form the federation.

The wording of the communique suggested the aim was a loose federal structure rather than a close-knit political union on the lines of the former Egyptian-Syrian link, headed by Nasser.

A tripartite grouping was proclaimed between Egypt, Syria and Iraq in April 1963, but did not survive.

Since coming to power, Nimeiry and Gaddafi have emerged as hard-line left-wing leaders committed to the fight with Israel.

Both have established close links with Cairo and many of their political institutions are modelled on those evolved by Nasser and his followers after the 1952 revolution.

Libya, with massive oil revenues, is by far the richest of the trio. Sudan is relatively underdeveloped.

Bernard Lortie reveals Laporte kidnap details

MONTREAL (CP) — Bernard Lortie, arrested in the police hunt for terrorists who kidnaped two men in Montreal, said at an inquest Saturday he helped abduct Pierre Laporte but was absent when the Quebec labor minister was later strangled.

The 19-year-old Lortie, sought by police since Oct. 23, said he helped three other men in the Oct. 10 abduction of the provincial cabinet minister.

His arrest came four days after rewards of $150,000 were offered for information in the kidnappings of Mr. Laporte and James (Jasper) Cross, 49, British trade official who may still be alive.

Mr. Cross was kidnapped Oct. 5. The government has offered his abductors safe passage to Cuba in return for his release.

The Front de Liberation du Quebec, outlawed under the War Measures Act proclaimed Oct. 16, has claimed it is responsible for both kidnappings.

CAUGHT IN APARTMENT

The biggest break so far in the massive police search resulting from the kidnappings came about 7 p.m. Friday, when police surrounded an apartment building at 3720 Queen Mary Road and led Lortie out in handcuffs.

Also arrested were Richard Therrien, his sister Colette, and Francine Delisle, all in their early 20s, who rented an apartment in the building in September.

Marcel Champagne, 53, janitor in the apartment building, said Miss Therrien had said she was a teacher, Therrien a student, and Miss Delisle a nurse.

Michel Champagne, 22, son of the janitor, said a girl who lived near Apt. 12 told him she heard the following conversation as police entered:

"You're Lortie."
"No, I'm Bolduc."
"No, we know you're Lortie."
The younger Champagne said

Police handcuffed Lortie's hands behind him, then led him out with his back toward the janitor and his son.

"We had no idea that the guy who kidnaped Laporte was upstairs," said the shaken janitor. "My wife has been sick and nervous ever since."

Police later showed the Champagnes about 20 photos, several of women, but "we didn't recognize any of them," said the son.

Every apartment in the building was searched and Apt. 12 was padlocked by police.

Warrants were issued Oct. 18, two days after the Laporte slaying, for Paul Rose, 27, and Marc Carboneau, 37, wanted for kidnaping both Laporte and Cross.

More warrants went out Oct. 23 for Lortie, Jacques Rose, 23, and Francois Simard, 23, for

Theroux returned

MAGOG (Special) — Maurice Theroux was returned as mayor of Magog Saturday, Nov. 7, following an official recount of ballots cast in the municipal election of Nov. 1.

In the Sunday Nov. 1 contest, Gerard L. Longpre held a majority of 24 over serving mayor, Maurice Theroux. A recount was called for Thursday.

and was held Friday and Saturday at Magog, resulting in a majority of 11 for Mr. Theroux.

Under the supervision of Judge Gerard Normandin of Granby, the new tally saw Mayor Theroux with 2,272, and Gerard L. Longpre with 2,261.

Gilles Fontaine of the legal firm of Boily & Fontaine represented Mr. Theroux, and Denis Bouchard was lawyer for Mr. Longpre attending the Nov. 6 and 7 recount.

Major irregularities were discovered in 3 of the 28 polls, resulting in having 549 ballots rejected, 13 additional spoils declared, and 2 ballots were missing. The biggest upset was in poll 3B, where 173 of the 190 ballots were rejected besides the original 3 spoils. Originally, Mr. Longpre had 96 of these votes, and Mr. Theroux 92. In the outcome, Mr. Theroux was credited with 10, and Mr. Longpre 4.

All ballots cast in poll 3D were rejected, on the grounds that voting order numbers appeared on the ballots. The voters could not have been identified, but regardless, the court ruled that the irregularity constituted adequate reason to turn them down. Of the 190 valid votes, 3 rejects and 1 spoil in this poll, Mr. Longpre originally held 96 votes compared to Mr. Theroux' 91.

The third upset came in poll 5, again due to intialling. Mr. Longpre's lead of 106 dropped to 99, and Mr. Theroux dropped from 79 to 64.

A decisive change was also recorded in poll 50, where the biggest lead was recorded for Mr. Theroux. Originally, Mr. Longpre held 127 here, and after recount he was credited with 109 votes. Mr. Theroux' 88 on the other hand, jumped to 96.

While the court's ruling on the recount is supposed to be final, speculation is that petition for a re-election could be called for by Mr. Longpre's organization.

In the meantime, Mr. Theroux has received his certificate of re-election, and plans for resumption of municipal affairs are being implemented. The council will meet briefly this evening, Nov. 9, and the regular November council meeting will take place at city hall Thursday, Nov. 12.

E. T. Roundup

Pepin feted by Reform Club

SHERBROOKE (CJ) — Jean-Paul Pepin, Liberal Member of the National Assembly for Sherbrooke, was guest of honor at a reception at the Reform Club of Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships when the members gathered to fete the deputy on his birthday anniversary.

The function Saturday evening was presided over by L. Borneau, president of the Reform Club.

Georges Vaillancourt, MNA for Stanstead and parliamentary assistant to the Minister of Agriculture, presented the guest of honor with a set of den furniture on behalf of the gathering.

Rule today on Cormier death

SHERBROOKE — District coroner Louis Gagnon is expected to rule today into the death of the two persons who were killed as the result of a traffic accident here last month.

In a telephone interview last night, Dr. Gagnon said he would rule today in the case of Paul Laurencelle, held in connection with a traffic accident on King St. West last month in which attorney Jean Cormier, 34, and a 19-year-old Andre Chouinard were killed.

Because of the contradictory nature of testimony heard during the inquest, the verdict had been postponed to allow consultation with the Department of Justice in Quebec.

Two injured by train

WINDSOR (RS) — Two young girls were injured Saturday morning when they were struck by a Canadian National train traveling through Windsor.

Still in critical condition today at St. Vincent de Paul Hospital is Josee Bourbeau, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bourbeau of Bruneau lane, Windsor.

The other girl, seven-year-old Brigitte Perreault, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hercule Perreault of Craig St., Windsor, was released from hospital Saturday following treatment for minor cuts.

The incident occurred around 11 a.m. Saturday when the girls were caught between two trains crossing lanes to switch railcars.

$52,000 grant for S.W. Hooper

SHERBROOKE (RS) — Paul M. Gervais, member of the House of Commons for Sherbrooke, announced Friday that the federal government will grant $52,000 to S.W. Hooper Ltd. here for its expansion into the mining industry.

S.W. Hooper Ltd. announced recently it will be building a new section to its Sherbrooke plant in order to manufacture tools for the asbestos mining industry.

The announced $52,000 grant represents 15 per cent of the company's total cost for the project, of which $40,000 is to compensate the company for the 20 new jobs that will be created as a result of the company's expansion program.

Optimists plan youth week

LENNOXVILLE (WT) — The Lennoxville Optimist Club has announced plans for Youth Appreciation Week, a nationwide tribute to Canadian young people sponsored by local Optimists' Clubs.

Highlights of the week will be a banquet on Tuesday night and a trip to the Bombardier Ski-Doo Plant on Friday.

The banquet, to be held at the Lennoxville Intermediate School tomorrow night at 6:30 p.m., will honor the Little League and Pony League players of last season. Kentucky fried chicken will be featured, and players' friends and parents are invited.

On Friday, the Optimists plan a trip to the Bombardier plant in Valcourt. Students from Alexander Galt Regional School will spend the afternoon with the Optimists visiting the Ski-Doo manufacturer.

At the banquet Tuesday night, the club's Junior Citizenship Award will be presented to acknowledge the boy or girl who has made the biggest contribution to the Town of Lennoxville in the past year.

Two injured in Danville crash

TWO IN CRITICAL CONDITION — This late model vehicle, believed to be driven by the owner, Rejean Charrette of Longueuil, near Montreal, went out of control on the Nicolet Road at the Danville town limits, early Sunday morning.

Critically injured was Mr. Charrette and an unidentified passenger with an Asbestos address who were taken by Lafrance Ambulance to the CJM Clinic in Asbestos from where they were transferred to the University Centre in Sherbrooke. Both men were reported to have fractured skulls.

According to the investigating police, Chief Jacques Arguin of Danville, and Constable Bailey of the Quebec Police force, the vehicle struck a hydro pole to the left hand side of the road, careened along the ditch for a distance of some 150 feet, rolled over and stopped another 100 feet further down the roadway.

As seen in the photo, the vehicle is a total loss. The "X" is where Chief Arguin found the occupants after the incident. The "O" is where one of the winter jackets of one of the occupants was located in the field, some 15 feet away.

Krushchev memoirs from many sources

PARIS (AP) — Pierre Lazareff, director general of France-Soir, France's largest circulation newspaper, said Sunday the forthcoming memoirs of Nikita S. Khrushchev "are not written memoirs but remembrances taken down on a tape recorder which arrived in the United States in different ways and at different times."

Lazareff, whose newspaper has exclusive rights for the memoirs in France, told a radio interviewer he was sure of their authenticity.

"Naturally," Lazareff said, "the publisher cannot and does not want to reveal how these documents reached him. But I remind you that two years ago, the National Broadcasting Co. showed a film on Khrushchev's life accompanied with a text by Khrushchev himself taken down on a tape recorder. This text was never discovered by Khrushchev or by the Soviet authorities, and I think it is one of the parts of the recollections that are going to be published."

Lazareff added that the memoirs contained no criticism of the Soviet Union's present leaders. Moscow informants who say they have talked with the wife of former premier Khrushchev quoted her Sunday as denying that the ousted leader has "written" his memoirs.

They said they asked Nina Khrushchev by telephone to confirm that memoirs to be published in New York next month are authentic. She was quoted as replying: "It is untrue. It is impossible. It is a mistake. It is a joke."

The Khrushchevs live in a country house near Moscow and are inaccessible to all except a few friends of the family. He is reported ill.

Milan

Sympathy is extended to Howard Walker and family of Lennoxville on the death of Mrs. Walker, nee Catherine Morrison, which occurred at the Medical Center in Sherbrooke on Oct. 11. Mrs. Walker was well known here, having lived here several years with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Macdonald, when a young girl.

Mrs. Duncan McLeod, Mrs. George Macdonald, Mrs. David Nicholson, Mrs. Agnes Welch and Ruth Welch joined the cavalcade of the Compton County Historical Association on a tour to the Stanstead Museum held recently.

Mr. and Mrs. George Macdonald attended the golden wedding anniversary of Mrs. Macdonald's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie White in North Hatley on Oct. 10. They were accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Morrison and family, Pierreferonds, who spent Thanksgiving weekend with the Macdonalds.

Mrs. Catherine MacKay, Ottawa, who came to attend the funeral service of her niece Mrs. Howard Walker in Lennoxville, is spending two weeks with Mrs. George N. Macdonald.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Osler, Ottawa, Deanne Koshier, and Colin Brown, Montreal, spent Thanksgiving weekend at the Osler home here. Other visitors of the Oslers were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McPhatter and family, Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Tarrant, Bury.

Major Walter Murray, Montreal, was calling on friends in town recently.

Danny Waldron, Montreal, was a weekend visitor of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McLeod.

Doris McLeod, Montreal, is spending two weeks holidays at her home.

Malcolm Ross, Danny Lemay and Webb Dinning, Sherbrooke, spent a recent weekend at the Ross home here.

Leslie and Mary MacLeod accompanied by Mrs. Norrey Hunting, Lennoxville, were in Bellows' Falls, Vt., where they visited their aunt, Mrs. Annie Wilson.

L'Avenir

This community was deeply saddened by the death of William Smith of Ulverton.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Candlish Bogie, while here to attend the Armstrong Bogie wedding - included Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, Darwin, Lynne and Amanda of Halifax, N.S., Miss Diane Bogie of Edmonton, Alta., Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bogie of Pinetown, Ile Perrot, and Mr. and Mrs. James Woodside of Ottawa, Ont.

Evening guests at the same home were: Mr. and Mrs. William Gee of Melbourne, Mrs. Wilfred Lupien and Mr. A. B. Lyster of Kirkdale, Mr. and Mrs. Osborne Wilkins of Melbourne, and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Dunn of Ulverton, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Armstrong and Mrs. Percy Frazer of Richmond.

Pollution may not trouble the northlands

By BOB INGRAHAM

OTTAWA (CP) — Char Lake, near Resolute Bay on Cornwallis Island, is the focus of year-round research by Canadian government and university scientists in an unexpected direction.

They may learn that liberal doses of sewage can substantially increase the 13-acre lake's production of Arctic char, a trout-like fish.

Science Dimension, the bi-monthly publication of the National Research Council, reported recently on the researchers' work and on Char Lake itself.

Rigorous environmental conditions at the lake, 1,900 miles north of Winnipeg, present a host of problems and unknowns, but experts are optimistic that human wastes and fresh water may be far more compatible in the Arctic than they are in the south.

Unlike many more-southerly lakes, Char Lake is poor in nutrients such as phosphorus that fertilize microscopic water plants, commonly called algae.

GLACIERS TO BLAME?
Algae are primary or secondary sources of nutrition for all higher plants and animals in a lake, and a lake with few nutrients—and thus with little algae—will support few fish, at least compared with more fertile lakes.

Glaciers are partly to blame for Char Lake's infertility. During the last ice age, which ended about 9,000 years ago in that region, they scoured the soil off Cornwallis Island. The result is that the island has little fertile soil from which water running into Char Lake can pick up nutrients.

Arctic temperatures also contribute to Char Lake's infertility, inhibiting the activity of decomposer organisms that release nutrient chemicals from the remains of dead plants and animals.

Surprisingly, Char Lake is not a biological desert, Science Dimension reports.

A capable angler can catch hundreds of char there in a weekend.

But no one knows whether Char Lake produces its crop of fish on an annual basis, or over many years.

In other words, could little Char Lake produce enough fish to feed many people on a sustained basis, or would its supply fail after a few weeks-ends of heavy fishing?

HOPE FOR ANSWER

More important, in a time when increasing exploitation of the North means increasing pollution, how will lakes similar to Char Lake be affected? The researchers hope they can answer these questions.

They have surveyed and sounded the lake, sampled its plant and animal life and built laboratories.

In the next two years they will undertake intensive studies to determine how the lake's plants and animals interact with one another and with their environment.

Once the normal biology of the lake is better understood, experiments will be made to determine the effect of pollution on the lake.

Some scientists are optimistic about the outcome.

Dr. Fred Frye, a University of Toronto zoologist, worked on similar experiments at lakes in Algonquin Park in Ontario.

Those experiments failed, apparently because increased fertilization resulted in over-growth of algae.

When the algae died, processes of decomposition left the water almost devoid of oxygen.

Trout, which need large amounts of oxygen, couldn't survive, Dr. Frye said in an interview.

COULD BE RICH

But Char Lake is supercharged with oxygen. Little snow falls on its ice cover in winter to block sunlight and inhibit growth of oxygen-producing plants.

That, combined with an inflow of nutrients in the form of human sewage, might make Char Lake a permanently rich fishery.

Its fish might not be any bigger, but almost certainly they would grow faster and there would be more of them.

"I would say that factors are in favor of increased fertilization and increased production of fish," said Dr. Frye.

R. C. Passmore, executive director of the Ottawa-based Canadian Wildlife Federation, an organization committed to cleaning up the environment, is enthusiastic about the possibilities of a better Char Lake, and better Arctic lakes in general.

Mr. Passmore, a wildlife biologist, said in an interview that sewage enrichment of Char Lake would not constitute pollution. "It wouldn't harm anything, and would have the advantage of greater productivity."

If further research proves "pollution" is a good thing for Char Lake and other Arctic lakes, at least one of southern Canada's environmental problems won't be a worry to the North.

Four men and a cat end epic voyage

MOOLOOLABA, Australia (Reuter) — A raft drifting across the Pacific to prove that South Americans could have reached Australasia centuries ago came close to disaster on the Great Barrier Reef on the last stage of its epic voyage.

Moe's River

Those attending the annual Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Syd Sayer on Oct. 11 included, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Billing & Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Decoteau, Reginald and Linda, Mr. Edward Sayer, Deborah, Janet, Gregory, Adrian and Marion, and Mr. Robert Dowd from Sherbrooke; Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Graham and Laura-Ann, Huntingville; Mr. and Mrs. Danny Westman, Lennoxville; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Savage, Waterloo; Sharon Sayer, Acton, Ont.; Mr. Stephen Sayer, Montreal, and Misses Agnes Shattler and Lorraine Lavallee from St. Augustine, P. Q.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Haseltine and Julie motored to Amherst, Mass., on the holiday weekend, as did Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Patton where they were all guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fay.

With four men - two of them Montreal residents - and a cat aboard the raft, named La Balsa, landed Thursday at this tourist town, 60 miles north of Brisbane, at the end of a 161-day voyage from Ecuador covering 8,500 miles.

La Balsa's skipper, 37-year-old Spaniard Vital Alsar, told a news conference today that the raft ran into real difficulties when it approached the Australian coast.

"One of our centre boards cracked when we hit a submarine reef off the Great Barrier Reef," he said. "We also became lost for the first time."

Alsar added that he did not mind being towed for the last 30 miles "because we did not want to risk the raft on the reefs after coming so far."

RAFT TO BE SAVED

Alsar, from the northern Spanish town of Santander, said he planned to ship the raft to a museum in Spain.

With him on the voyage, which began May 29, were Marc Modena, 44, born in France and now living in Montreal; Norman Tetreault, 26, of Montreal; and Gabriel Salas, 27, of Santiago, Chile.

A crowd of 2,000 gave a rousing welcome to the four men as the fragile rafts, with its Aztec sun symbol painted on its mast by Spanish artist Salvador Dali, reached Mooloolaba just south of the Great Barrier Reef.

Meeting the press an hour after landing, Alsar said they had encountered several storms during their voyage. One near Samoa threw up huge nine-foot waves.

He said he fell overboard once and Tetreault four or five times.

WENT 8,562 MILES

Alsar calculated that the raft had drifted and sailed 8,562 miles.

The four men looked tanned and healthy at the news conference, which they attended barefoot. All sported heavy beards and long hair.

Animals arriving from South America normally are destroyed because of the threat of disease, but an exception was made for La Balsa's cat, Minette. The Swedish freighter Cirrus adopted her as its mascot, and she sailed for the United States today.

Tetreault said he believes the crossing was more hazardous than the Kon Tiki voyage.

The Montrealeur, youngest of the crew, said La Balsa covered almost twice the distance of Norwegian Thor Heyerdahl's expedition of 1947.

The Kon Tiki sailed from South America to Polynesia, covering 5,500 miles.

CHANGED CURRENTS

"And where they only followed the currents, we navigated from current to current, which is more hazardous," the bearded Canadian said.

Tetreault, an industrial designer and part-time sailor, said he was glad the voyage was over, but he added: "It was five exciting months in my life. I will never forget."

Though the expedition had succeeded in its aim, to prove that South Americans could have crossed the Pacific to Australasia centuries ago, he did not think they would have undertaken a voyage like that of La Balsa.

"It is more likely they sailed from island to island across the Pacific," he said.

May settle auto dispute

DETROIT (AP) — The answer to whether the United Auto Workers' strike against General Motors will end shortly or continue possibly beyond Christmas is likely to come within the next 48 hours.

Working under a news blackout, negotiators met for 8½ hours Saturday and resumed talks Sunday.

The walkout that started eight weeks ago has left idle more than 400,000 at General Motors plants in the United States and Canada, and thousands of others in supplier plants and auto-related industries.

GM Vice-President Earl Bramblett said Oct. 27 that unless settlement was reached within two weeks it would be impossible for GM to return to full production in November. The two weeks will be up Tuesday.

COUNCIL SUMMONED

The union Friday summoned its 350-member General Motors council to Detroit next Wednesday, an action which usually follows contract settlement. But the union said in its summons that if no contract is in hand by the meeting time, the council must make plans for strike continuation.

GM estimates it is losing $90 million a day in sales. Its dealers are running out of cars to sell and are complaining of parts shortages. Salesmen layoffs are mounting.

The union's original $120 million strike fund will not support benefit payments of $30 and $40 a week to strikers beyond the end of this month.

LOTO WINNERS — Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Dupont of 1445 Larocque Street in Sherbrooke are $5,000 richer today as a result of the weekly drawing of the Mini-Loto last week. Both agree the money will be used to pay off a piece of land the Duponts bought recently, and a few other things.

Nader's Raiders scrutinize quality of U.S. medicare

WASHINGTON (AP) — A study group sponsored by Ralph Nader said Sunday that the United States medical profession does not merit the trust placed in it, primarily because patients cannot be reasonably sure of receiving competent care.

The study group, composed of a former federal health official and students from law and medicine, proposed that the U.S. government take over the setting of standards for medical care in hospitals and doctors' offices.

"Although the world's best medical care has always been practised in the United States, the almost complete lack of internal quality control within the medical profession has also allowed a large measure of very poor medicine to be practised," the report said.

"Every citizen is at the mercy of a system devoid of a uniform, enforced standard of quality and must run the risks implied in the statistics of uneven levels of care among hospitals and physicians."

CRITICISM EXTENSIVE

The report criticized the federal government, state medical societies and licensing officials and national organizations such as the American Medical Association and the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. It accused them of recognizing "a developing crisis in our health care system" but failing to take rapid action or proposing ineffective measures.

The AMA issued a statement defending its record, saying:

"We are working almost continually with the Congress and the executive branch of the federal government to promote quality and cost controls."

The study group was headed by Dr. Robert S. McCleery, an officer of the American Board of Surgery and former deputy director of the Food and Drug Administration's bureau of medicine. McCleery, 57, also has been in private practice and has served on the staff of congressional committees.

The report noted that medical care is one area where people cannot judge for themselves the quality of the service they receive. For this reason, the medical profession has a unique responsibility to make sure that the system is monitored to weed out poor quality care. Monitoring is poor, if it exists at all, the report concluded.

Unique savings cooperative boosting city's development

By BILL TREXLER

SHERBROOKE — La Caisse d'Épargne et d'entraide Economique de Sherbrooke is rapidly becoming a major force in the city's economic life, according to M. Jean Daigneault, president of the new savings and credit cooperative.

Begun in January of 1969, the Caisse has experienced a rate of growth unprecedented in the Sherbrooke business community. Its original group of 15 investors has grown in the past two years to 1259, who have deposited over $900,000 and intend to create a mortgage and loan fund of over 3 million dollars within the next two years.

A purely cooperative effort, the Caisse's objective is to encourage savings at the best possible rate of interest and to reinvest these savings exclusively in the Sherbrooke area, M. Daigneault explained.

The administrative and executive staff of the Caisse is elected from the membership and serves a three year term without salary or compensation. Only members are eligible to borrow money, interest rates on which run from 10 to 14 per cent. All members are also investors, with a minimum of $1500 pledged to the Caisse and which they may make in monthly installments. In the past year, the Caisse paid an attractive interest rate of 12 per cent to these member-investors.

Administration costs are low, since the normally high cost of executive direction is provided free of charge by the elected directors. Other costs are met by charging new members a 4½ per cent administration charge on their proposed deposit in the first year.

M. Daigneault offered, for example, the case of a member who has agreed to deposit $3,000 over a three year period. This depositor, he said, is charged a $135 non-refundable administration fee lowering his first year interest to around 7½ per cent, however, the next year his rate will rise to 12 per cent on his deposited savings.

To date, M. Daigneault said the Caisse has financed mostly apartment buildings and residential development, but this is not their main objective. He explained that as the Caisse grows money will be channeled into industrial loans, again exclusively in the Sherbrooke area in keeping with the local development policy to which the Caisse is dedicated.

"You can imagine the economic force that we could have," Mr. Daigneault said pointing out the effect of the projected 3 million dollar fund for exclusively local investment. "It's our way of helping the community."

M. Daigneault is a chartered accountant, and acts as president of the Caisse on a part time basis along with the other directors who often devote lunch hours and nights to managing the cooperative.

The Caisse, which now has only a few English-speaking members, intends to become a fully bilingual institution in the near future, M. Daigneault said. "We're certainly not separatists."

If the past rate of growth continues, M. Daigneault's predictions of a beneficial economic effect for Sherbrooke may well become a reality from which both the Caisse's investors and the community as a whole will profit.

Mexico puts an end to quickie divorces

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — A new law went into effect Sunday, ending the "quickie" divorces which had brought millions of dollars into this border town.

Eighty lawyers and countless court clerks processed Sunday the remainder of the more than 1,000 applications taken in the last three days.

No applications under the old divorce laws were being accepted after midnight Saturday night.

The new divorce law, as the old law did, applies only in the state of Chihuahua of which Juarez is the main city. The remainder of Mexico is covered by a stiff divorce law requiring 90 days residency in addition to a waiting period for making final a divorce decree.

The new law in Chihuahua requires a six-week residency plus the appearance of both parties in court.

The 1933 divorce law, which appealed mainly to U.S. citizens, required only one litigant in court in mutual consent cases.

Mass of fighting frogs battle in Malayan melee

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — More than 3,000 frogs of four different varieties fought a furious battle lasting more than six hours, local reporters said Sunday.

They said the frog war took place in a swampy valley beside a Hindu temple at a rubber estate near Sungai Siput, 100 miles north of this Malaysian capital.

At first only about 50 frogs were involved but soon the numbers swelled, the reporters said, adding that about 1,000 persons assembled to watch the frogs bite and tear at each other.

Many were dead at the end of the battle.

Maria Soosay, 30, who has lived for years near the area, said the war is almost an annual event. "But they have been small fights," he said. "This is the biggest so far."

Local superstition says frog wars come just before big national disasters. Just 12 days before the Malay-Chinese race riots May 13 last year a small frog war was reported to have taken place at Butterworth, 200 miles northwest of here.

Other frog wars have been reported at various times in different parts of west Malaysia. But one has so far come forward with any theory of why such battles take place.

Green stands by Denver speech

TORONTO (CP) — J. J. Greene, federal minister of energy, mines and resources, said Saturday his "deepest convictions" were written into a speech he gave last May in Denver in which he warned the United States that Canadians were determined to own more of their own resources.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Toronto District Liberal Association, Mr. Greene said the controversy generated by the speech to the Independent Petroleum Association of America was due mainly to misunderstanding and misreading of it.

"The Denver speech said that we in Canada have made a clear determination as a people, in my view, to do our own thing. That is, to build a civilization and a people that are not pale shadows of any other civilization."

Mr. Greene said in the Denver speech that "a growing degree of Canadian ownership" of Canadian resources and industries was essential to the maintenance of a free and independent Canada, and suggested that Canadian natural gas would be available to the U.S. only if Canadian oil was given assured "stability of access" to export markets.

Mr. Greene said Saturday he made the Denver speech without any feeling of animosity towards the U.S. and that it in no way implied Canada would no longer do business with the U.S.

IAC Limited. Look at us this way.

A unique all-Canadian company.

We're not a bank. We're not a trust company. And we're more than a finance company. What we are in many different ways is a unique Canadian business stimulant.

We're all-Canadian. And the services we provide are basic to Canadian business and an integral part of the Canadian way of life. It's possible that thousands of Canadian businesses wouldn't be around if we hadn't been around to help.

To give you an idea of why we think we're unique. We develop sales financing systems — the foundation of IAC — extending sales and inventory credit to manufacturers and retailers. So a dealer can have a complete stock of cars and trucks or mobile homes or snowmobiles for you to choose from; and can offer credit to you at the point of sale.

In this world on the move, more and more machinery and equipment is involved. Whether it be for production, or the cranes, fork lift trucks or trailers to move it, IAC designs the unique financial services to make it all possible.

We provide Canadians with Niagara consumer loans and mortgages; Merit automobile and home insurance protection; Sovereign life insurance, guaranteed annuities, estate planning.

The health of the Canadian economy hinges on credit. Every working day, IAC companies make 6 million in funds available to consumers, business, and industry. We provide financial services totalling $1.5 billion to more than 600,000 individuals and companies, directly or through over 11,000 manufacturers, distributors and dealers handling an almost limitless range of products.

That, briefly, is what we do. What we are is an excited, eager group of people who want to grow and succeed — and to see Canada grow and succeed.

If you remember nothing else about us, next time you see our name, remember this:

Man's poisonous clouds

The pollution crisis is getting worse - not only in North America but around the world. The recent smog episodes over New York and Tokyo were ominous warnings of the problems mankind will face in the coming decades unless more rapid action is taken to control pollution.

New Yorkers were choked for more than a week by stagnant yellowish grey smog that enveloped the city's sky-scrapers. In time, the poisonous man-made filth spread for about 1,000 miles along the eastern seaboard of the United States.

In Tokyo, special police squads have donned gas masks because of the growing air pollution crisis, caused mainly by automobiles and industrial plants. The Japanese will impose ludicrously low fines on motorists whose automobiles pollute further the already foul air of the world's largest metropolis.

Already, thousands have been admitted to hospital in Tokyo because of air contaminated by large amounts of nitrogen oxide and sulphuric acid mist. Students in about a fifth of all the schools in Tokyo are suffering from the effects of environmental pollution.

In cities like New York and Tokyo, air pollution on some days reaches danger levels. In other cities, in lakes, streams and canals, along beaches and water frontages, pollution created by human carelessness is only too evident. Fish are dying and beaches rendered useless by oil, garbage and sewage. Unless not only local authorities but national governments, possibly even the United Nations, make more determined efforts to combat pollution of the air, the water, and the land, by next century this once lovely planet will become a foul-smelling, ugly global slum.

Revamping the language

The history of the English language is that of a living, evolving organism and certainly every age has had its own slang, much of which over the years has come to be accepted as proper usage.

But has there ever been a time when the language has been shaken up in the way it has been during these past few years? It has its amusing side and we are indebted to some unknown grammatical purist for the following witty contribution, in rhyme:

Remember when "hippie" meant big in the hips,
And a "trip" involved travel in cars, planes and ships?
When "pot" was a vessel for cooking things in,
Adn "hooked" was what grandmother's rug may have been?
When "acid" etched metal, instead of man's mind,
And "grass" was ground cover - normally green?
When "groovy" meant furrowed with channels and hollows,
And "birds" were winged creatures like robins and swallows?
When "union" meant marriage of two hand-in-hand,
And "pickets" were used to fence in one's land?
When "fuzzy" was a substance real fluffy like lint
And "bread" came from bakeries - not from the mint?
When "roll" meant a bun, and "rock" was a stone,
And "hang-up" was something you did with a phone?
It's a crazy man, crazy - but English it's not,
Methinks our life style is starting to rot!

Roman verbal snobbery

As generations of school children have learned from Shakespeare, Julius Caesar's last words as the senators stabbed him in the Forum (a sensitive place) were, "Et tu Brute!" The phrase is sometimes translated as "Oh, you Brute!" but more accurately "Thou, too, Brutus."

Well, there's always somebody that can't leave well enough alone. According to the language magazine, Quinto Lingo, Caesar did not say it. In fact, if he reproached Brutus at all, he probably spoke in Greek since Roman aristocrats commonly used Greek among themselves as a sort of class dialect.

Future productions of "Julius Caesar" valuing historical truth over poetry should change the famous speech in Act III to "Kai su, teknon!" say the magazine. Whaddya want-good drammer or good Greek?

Turner didn't snap at the bait

OTTAWA - Justice Minister John Turner was precise and informed Monday as he briefed the press on the new bill he brought to Parliament.

This so-called Public Order (Temporary Measures) Act, 1970, softens the terms and defines a phase-out date for the regulations proclaimed under the War Measures Act on Oct. 16.

The minister of justice was carefully and totally in charge of his material. He wouldn't snap on three different baits I gave him.

Firstly, he knew nothing about any old "draft bill" to replace the War Measures Act. There was one presented by a former minister of justice and a deputy minister eight years ago to a House committee. What I wanted to underline with a question on how useful this old draft had been to him, was the dither of three Liberal governments since 1962 in not tidying up the extraordinary powers of the War Measures Act long before this.

Mr. Turner knew nothing about such a draft, neither did his assistant deputy minister. What a poor institutional memory the department of justice has.

Secondly, was there anything in the new bill to handle the kind of treasonable or semi-treasonable intention embodied in the "provisional government plot" story current now, the story on which Mr. Trudeau says he had "solid information?"

Mr. Turner said there was nothing in the bill to take care of such an assumed situation.

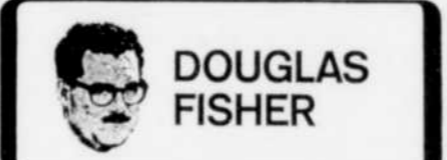

The new bill's powers hinge on stopping those who advocate the use of force and the application of it to change governments and our system.

Treason is still treason it seems to me if conspirators plan to change governments by short-circuiting our normal constitutional procedures even if they do not plan to use force but simply their allegedly enormous influence.

Thirdly, I took Mr. Turner back into American history and the war between the states.

The southern secessionists had at first thought they could leave the union peacefully. It was the federal government which decided this would not be, that the federation was not divisible through any unilateral action of one or more of the states.

What explanation did Mr. Turner have for the wide acceptance in Canada of the assumption that a province or provinces could separate from Confederation peacefully without any forceful response from the Federal Government?

Mr. Turner wasn't dealing with assumptions. He was present to explain the clauses and purposes of "this" bill. Did this mean that the conventional wisdom was right: That a province could separate once a separatist party attained power? Mr. Turner wasn't dealing with speculation of what may happen.

It would be dishonest of me not to admit that I was impinging at some distance from the FLQ crisis and the limited intentions of Mr. Turner's new bill.

But the question of peaceful separation following a separatist provincial victory does intrigue me.

The prospect of such separation first came to me when I was a teenager. I had an elderly favorite uncle, a Southern Ontario Tory and Orangeman, and a pretty mild man.

One time as he sounded off on politics to me he said that: "Some day you lads will have to cross the Ottawa River and put Quebec in order."

Why? "Sooner or later they'll want to go their own way and we'll have to stop them."

This family encounter came back to me in the early 60s when the idea of formal separatism from Canada began to get more and more advocacy in Quebec.

Eventually, post 1965, the House of Commons had an avowed separatist as a member in the person of a renegade Creditiste Gilles Grogier.

Why has no Federal minister ever declared that our Confederation shall not be peaceably sundered? If none wished to go that far, why not a declaration that any separation must be preceded by a national referendum, national because such separation would have tremendous consequences for everyone - say the Maritimes, if it should be Quebec which goes?

Well, we haven't had any Lincolns in charge of the Federal Government and you can reason why not as well as I can.

However, it is worth touching on what may happen if the separatists in Quebec move closer to power.

Remember these pointers. Two premiers of Quebec, Daniel Johnson and Jean Jacques Bertrand, did suggest in recent years that they might present a referendum, for Quebec only, on whether Quebecers chose to separate or remain within Confederation.

Jean Marchand, the present Prime Minister's chief lieutenant in Quebec, has said on at least one occasion that Quebec could not separate merely through the unilateral action of a separatist government came to power. It would have to hold a referendum. He wasn't explicit in his remarks but as I read them, Mr. Marchand did not mean a national referendum but a Quebec referendum.

One of the Trudeau Liberals, young MP Jean-Pierre Goyer (Montreal, Dollard) has been more definitive. Mr. Goyer is a bright chap, perhaps closer to the PM than any other backbencher. Early last spring he was a star turn in the crew of young Federal MPs who toured schools and colleges in Quebec to present the Federal option to those who seemed most ripe for the Parti Quebecois.

Mr. Goyer told one gathering that there would be military intervention by the Federal Government if the Parti Quebecois should win the forthcoming provincial election and then not accept a referendum on independence organized by the Federal Government.

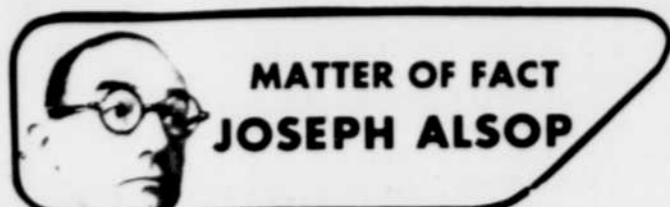

Does Goyer's statement represent the policy of the Trudeau Government?

Would Mr. Trudeau go further and demand a national referendum or the dispatching of troops? Or would the whole issue of a referendum, Quebec or Canada-wide, disappear quietly in the event of a separatist electoral victory?

These questions are worth asking. I am not so sanguine as most that the separatist cause has been beaten back for good, especially by the reaction to the FLQ crisis.

One must at least consider such doubts if the Bourassa Government with a grand mandate so recently as last April, could become so shaky after two kidnappings that an "influential group," as Mayor Drapeau described it, could consider a provisional government, a situation on which Mr. Trudeau says he had solid information.

If the democratic process is this shaky in Quebec, requiring the scale of response it brought on with Mr. Trudeau's leadership, it is hard to write off the prospect of separatism.

MATTER OF FACT
JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON - The underlying motive for President Nixon's extraordinary intervention in this election, as just reported in this space, is his genuine fear of a Congress that wants this country to have neither a serious foreign policy nor a solid national defense. The present Senate justifies that fear.

But with a Nixon defense program actually keyed to the present Senate, and with his own real views undisclosed to any but the members of his inmost circle, the President can hardly complain if the country is still fatly complacent.

We are entering another of those periods of acute danger that have already been produced three times since World War II by the three previous American disarmaments. Yet everyone talks as though the real threat to America were either Spiro T. Agnew or the New Left militants.

It is simplistic, moreover, to say that the Soviet Union is the threat. The threat, in essence, is the invitation to the Soviet Union that our own military weakness constitutes. This is an invitation the Soviets have always responded to—thrice before, as stated, since 1945—as automatically as Pavlov's dogs responded to the little bell. It is well therefore to understand the extent of the invitation.

The future of our conventional forces can be judged from the fact that the present plan is to run down the total manpower of the Army, Navy and Air Force to only two million men—or two-thirds of the Soviet total. As anyone knows, the Soviet "tail" is so much smaller than ours that they get nearly twice as many men in combat units from each 100,000 men in uniform.

So we are talking about Soviet fighting forces that are going to be at least three times stronger than the American fighting forces. In addition, the American manpower cost, within each defense budget, is already one-half of the total budget—before a single soldier is given a single gun—against a manpower cost that is certainly no more than one-quarter of the Soviet defense budget.

We are furthermore moving toward volunteer armed forces. This will vastly increase the cost per man in uniform. So our manpower cost will either reach two-thirds or more of the total defense budget. Or the budget itself will have to be greatly increased to provide additional funds for what may be called strength-investment.

In the year 1969, if you subtract the Vietnam costs, Soviet strength-investments were already about 50 per cent more than the U.S. strength investments. That was bad enough. But for the reasons above-indicated, we are now moving into a period when the difference between U.S. and Soviet strength investments will surely be vastly greater.

The trend of the balance of conventional forces is therefore pretty horrifying. The importance of that balance, meanwhile, can be judged from the seriousness of the threat to Israel that is posed by the Soviets in Egypt. And as though to maximize our danger—and, indeed, the danger to Israel and to our formal allies - we have further neglected the nuclear-strategic balance for a period of nearly 10 years.

The deployment of the enormous Soviet counterforce missile, the SS-9, continues relentlessly. The output of Soviet Yankee Class nuclear submarines, equal to our Poseidon, is so great that they will have 50 more than we do in 1974. The SS-9 is backed up, too, by an array of SS-11 missiles, resembling our Minuteman; and this array is almost as large as our entire Minuteman force.

Projecting the current rates of deployment, in fact, the Soviet nuclear-strategic lead will be really enormous by 1974. You do not have to argue, either, about whether the Soviets are truly aiming for a "first strike capability."

Any fool can predict that the Soviets will take far greater risks, will move with much greater boldness, will display far greater brutality when they enjoy this enormous nuclear-strategic lead of the future. And this is where we are presently heading.

The President himself has not been frank about all this with the country. To use the horrible current phrase, his secretary of defense has lost credibility. After the election, therefore, the President's best course will be to name a high-level study-group, like the Gaither Committee named by President Eisenhower.

The group should include known critics like Robert S. McNamara and McGeorge Bundy. All the ugly facts should be put before it. If the critics are frightened when they see the facts, as they unquestionably will be, something may get done at last.

Gorton faces test down under

By VINCENT MATTHEWS
CP Correspondent
CANBERRA (CP)—Australia's Liberal Country party coalition government led by Prime Minister John Gorton faces a crucial test in the Senate elections Nov. 21.

Because of the country's proportional representation voting system for the upper house of Parliament, there is a strong possibility the opposition Labor party could hold 30 of the 60 Senate seats after the election. It would then be in a position to block government legislation, an action which could force Gorton to seek an election for both the Senate and the House of Representatives to gain a clear mandate from the people.

The position of the prime minister himself could be in jeopardy in the Senate election. His position as leader was challenged after a House of Representatives election in October, 1969, when Labor made dramatic gains to get 59 seats to the government's 66. Since then Gorton has slowly consolidated his position. But the day he announced the Senate election date, a major crisis blew up in Australia's federal system.

REFUSED TO PAY
Victoria State Premier Sir Henry Bolte announced his government would defy the law and refuse to pay a payroll tax to the federal government. Sir Henry, who has been premier for 15 years, is in the same Liberal party as the prime minister but is a maverick and fights tenaciously for the rights of his own state against the federal government.

Gorton issued a warning in Parliament that Sir Henry would have to pay up on the payroll tax issue or lose out on federal government grants. Thus a few weeks before the Senate poll the Australian people were presented with the spectacle of two Liberal government leaders feuding in public over financial questions.

It was all embarrassing to the government, especially as it had been hoping to fight the election on the safer issues of defence and foreign policy.

Here it was felt the government had the Labor opposition on the run. Ministers had seized on a statement by the federal Labor leader, Gough Whitlam, about what a conscript should do when he was about to be sent to Vietnam.

Whitlam disclosed at a news conference that he had told a private meeting of his labor parliamentary colleagues that he would advise a draftee who had a conscientious objection to the Vietnam war to disobey an order to go there. RAISED AN UPROAR
There was uproar in Parliament when Gorton accused Whitlam of "advocating mutiny," and Deputy Prime Minister Jack McEwen charged the Labor leader with

In Manson trial

Prosecution case nearly complete

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The state is expected to rest its case this week against Charles Manson and three women in the Sharon Tate murder trial.

The prosecutors have relied on the testimony of one alleged eyewitness, Linda Kasabian, along with dozens of former members of Manson's hippie-styoe "family" who testified to circumstances of Manson's life before and at the time of the slayings.

Evidence against the three young women included testimony about alleged confessions in which they purportedly admitted roles in the slayings of Miss Tate or some of the six others.

All four are charged with murder-conspiracy in the August, 1969, killings of the blonde, pregnant actress, four visitors at her home, and a wealthy market owner and his wife.

FOUND FINGERPRINT
Physical evidence presented included a fingerprint of defendant Patricia Krenwinkel at the Tate mansion; a knife, a gun, a piece of rope, and a leather thong found at the slaying scene; and several sets of dark clothing found discarded a few miles from the Tate estate. As prosecutors wind up with the last of more than 80 witnesses, here in part is the case that has been presented against each defendant.

—Charles Manson Witnesses said they saw him carry a long-barrelled gun similar to the Tate murder weapon. The thong used to tie victim Leno LaBianca was described as similar to one taken from Manson's leather suit when he was arrested.

Testimony portrayed Manson, 35, as a man of violent obsessions who often urged family members to die for no reason. The state elicited testimony about Manson's fascination with a Beatles' song, Helter Skelter, which witnesses said he felt predicted a coming race war. The motive for killing, said some witnesses, could have been Manson's aim to start the race war.

Mrs. Kasabian, 21, said Manson sent followers on two midnight forays and said of the second mission: "I'm not positive, but I thought I heard him say: 'Don't let them know you're going to kill them.'"

GRANTED IMMUNITY
Mrs. Kasabian, who said she went on the missions, was granted immunity for her 18 days of testimony.

—Susan Atkins: Physical evidence against the 22-year-old brunette includes three letters written from jail, mentioning the crimes. Police also have samples of her hair which they say match bits of hair found on dark clothing believed abandoned by the Tate killings.

Two former cellmates said Miss Atkins told them details of her role in stabbing the pregnant actress.

—Patricia Krenwinkel: Her fingerprint was said to have been found in Miss Tate's mansion.

Mrs. Kasabian said she saw Miss Krenwinkel, 22, an upraised knife in her hand, chasing victim Abigail Folger across the lawn of the Tate estate.

—Leslie Van Houten: The pretty, 20-year-old Miss Van Houten is charged with murder only in the LaBianca killings, but is accused as a co-conspirator in the Tate killings. A former family member, said Miss Van Houten told her she had stabbed a person already dead and "the more she did it the more fun it was."

KIDNAP

conspiracy to kidnap Mr. Laporte.

Lortie and Mrs. Jean-Paul Rose, mother of Paul and Jacques, were the major witnesses as the inquest opened.

Mrs. Rose said she, her sons and Simard were on a trip to Texas when they heard of the Cross kidnaping Oct. 5. She said the three men drove hard to get back to Montreal by Oct. 8 and mentioned en route that the Cross kidnaping was "probably the work of Jacques, Pierre and Alain"—otherwise unidentified in testimony.

CALLED KIDNAP STUPID
The sobbing woman said her son Paul felt the Cross kidnaping was stupid because FLQ ransom demands wouldn't be met "for a man like that."

Lortie said he and the others belonged to the Chenier cell of the FLQ and had been planning for some time to kidnap someone.

He said he met Paul Rose last summer at a hippie hostel near the Gaspé resort town of Perce.

The four called the Laporte home shortly before the kidnaping, were told Mr. Laporte had just stepped out, and drove to his home to find him running for a football across the street. He said Paul Rose shoved Mr. Laporte into the car at gunpoint.

At the St. Hubert bungalow, Mr. Laporte was chained to a bed as police made nearby raids. "The police were in the area," said Lortie, "and Laporte was pretty nervous. We were nervous too."

USED LAPORTE'S CASH
The kidnapers ran out of money and used $60 Mr. Laporte had to buy barbecued chicken. They took turns watching him round-the-clock.

Lortie said Mr. Laporte tried to crash through a window in the bungalow Oct. 16 and gashed himself on the chest and arms, bleeding heavily. The wounds were bound.

Then Lortie left the bungalow at nightfall, travelling by bus and subway to Montreal to meet Paul Rose, who himself had left two days earlier because he was aware he was being followed.

Lortie said he told Rose what had happened at the bungalow and was given an address by Rose where he stayed 10 days. He didn't disclose the address.

He then moved to the Queen Mary Road apartment, sharing it with the Therriens and Miss Delisle.

VOLUNTEERS EVIDENCE
He declined both legal counsel and the protection of the Canada Evidence Act, giving his testimony, as he put it, "freely and voluntarily."

When testimony is given under the evidence act, it may not be used against the witness later unless perjury is involved.

Photos of Mr. Laporte's body were displayed at the inquest. His contorted face was hardly recognizable, his wrists, shoulders and chest were gashed, and there was an ugly mark about his neck, left by the religious medallion chain with which he was strangled.

Medical evidence ruled out torture. Doctors said the cuts were consistent with an attempt to dive out a window.

Lortie said the group bought automatic rifles at a pawnshop on Notre Dame Street in Montreal. He said they were armed during the kidnaping and Mr. Laporte offered no resistance.

WORE DISGUISES
The witness said the kidnapers wore disguises—Simard a false mustache, Jacques Rose a grey wig, Paul Rose a blonde wig and Lortie a sort of mask.

FLQ notes in the last month have said three cells were involved in the affair—the Liberation cell in the Cross kidnaping, and the Dieppe cell in the killing.

Quebec Justice Minister Jerome Choquette said Friday a photo of Mr. Cross received from the FLQ appeared to be recent and indicated he is still alive. The Associated Press in New York Saturday released a similar photo, showing a man resembling Mr. Cross playing cards.

Two similar photos turned up in Montreal Saturday as a result of anonymous telephone tips. One showed a glum-looking man reading a newspaper, the other has him sitting with hands folded, looking at the camera.

Barbara Cross, wife of the trade commissioner, is in Europe visiting friends.

Mrs. Rose, choking with sobs, testified under protection of the Canada Evidence Act.

She identified a dark sweater, worn by Mr. Laporte when his body was found in a car trunk near St. Hubert airport Oct. 18, as similar to one belonging to one of her sons.

She also identified a car seat blanket, a torn sheet and seal-skin boots she said belonged to one of her boys. Police witnesses said the blanket was found on Mr. Laporte's body and the sheet and the boots in a back room of the bungalow where he was held.

She said she last saw her sons Wednesday, Oct. 14, when they came to her house and stayed "two or three hours" before leaving with some clothing.

"They didn't seem upset," she said.

on what's happening

STEPPIN' LIGHTLY—Got to hand it to Gordon Lightfoot, the Canadian singer, who is coming on strong as one of the best young composer-performers in the business. Caught live at Carnegie Hall recently, Gordon was right on target with his audience (most of which was made up of teen-agers with songs like "Me and Bobby McGee," "Minstrel of the Dawn," "If You Could Read My Mind" and "Sit Down Young Stranger," which is the title of his latest album. Nice thing about Gordon's success is that he seems so surprised that people like him so much.

Gordon Lightfoot

"I don't dig politics as such," says Gordon, "I just write songs because I like to make music and I've got it in me. Sometimes I've been up half the night traveling or working and a song will just sort of happen. I just have to write it before I go to bed, even if it keeps me up 24 hours to get it all down."

DYLAN DOES IT—Bob Dylan's autograph was sold for $80 at the recent auction of rock artifacts at Bill Graham's Fillmore East. The biggest sale was a 1966 Cadillac, which went for $1,400 because, at one time or another, it transported the Beatles and other rock giants. A collection of George Harrison tapes of Indian music went for $105. Graham plans to donate the loot to political candidates of his choice.

Bob Dylan

RETURN OF BEATLES—According to Ringo Starr (you remember Ringo, don't you?) he and other members of the Beatles (you don't remember them either?) have all made plans to go to Nashville to do some recording. Nobody seems to know for sure if they'll all be in town at the same time, but it would be interesting if they ran into each other in the studio, wouldn't it?

3RD SHERBROOKE CUB PACK NORTH WARD

Friday, October 23, saw the Pack in full operation with its many scheduled activities being put into practice. The Leaders were relieved of the registration, apple day and calendar chores. The Pack received six new Chums in the past two weeks, bringing the total registration for the Pack to fifty-one. The new Chums are: Zachery Gillman, John Winslow, Gregory Pye, Alain Talbot, John Hodge, Philip Blouin and Steven Tucker (Cub) recently transferred from one of the Drummondville Packs. The following boys have been promoted to Cub Leaders: Grey Six, Ian Redford (six); Grey Six, Habib Massoud (second); White Six, Donald Currier (six); White Six, Reggie Allatt (second); Blue Six, Mark Latulippe (six); Blue Six, Steve Bendo (second); Green Six, Scott Chapman (six); Green Six, Bruce Jasper (second); Tawny Six, Steve Budning (six); Tawny Six, Calvin Peck (second).

The Meeting opened with the "Grand Howl" followed by inspection talk by Deborah Chilvers, "Bagheera." Gray and Red Six - nineteen points each. Green Six - eighteen points. White Six - seventeen points. Tawny and Blue Six - fourteen points each. This was followed by an instruction period where the boys are divided into various groups and instructed by the Leaders. Mrs. Taylor took the Sixers and Seconders and gave them their test for "First Aid Badge."

P.R.O.'S COMMENTS
For the parents (not familiar with Cubbing terms) a Sixer is a Leader of a group of boys called a six. This can consist of anywhere from two to six boys. His prime function is to set an example for his six and to carry out the instructions of "Akela" (jungle name for the Cubmaster) or any of the Pack Leaders pertaining to his six. Thus the basic steps unfold towards leadership and comradeship. The Second (2nd in command of the six) follows the instructions given him by his Sixer and takes over the six in his absence. This can prove to be quite a chore for a boy between ten and eleven years of age, as I am sure you can well appreciate. So if the Leaders have chosen a Sixer or Second, it is because they believe he can do the job and have put their faith in that boy to set the example of Cubbing. So Dad! what say! give the boy a pat on the back, he deserves it.

UNITED CAMPAIGN COMMUNITY CHEST

The 1970 "United Campaign" with its objective of $225,000.00 will be used to subsidize 21 services under the "United Campaign", which is not covered by the Government's Social Welfare plans. Included are the Boy Scout Association (Sherbrooke) and District Council (Sherbrooke Welfare Agency, Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A.), the Sherbrooke Library, only to name a few.

In order that these agencies are able to continue in their work and render their services for the benefit of our community as a whole, the "United Campaign" under the Chairmanship of Mr. J. Guy Blanchette, Q.C. President, has appealed to the public at large, as well as Industry and Commerce to support the Campaign with understanding.

Each of the twenty-one services have undertaken to canvass on behalf of the "United Campaign". The Boy Scout (Sherbrooke & District Council) are presently working to campaign for their contribution towards the objective. Our representatives at Campaign Headquarters, 1144 King Street West, P.O. Box 396, Sherbrooke, are Percy Gray and Andy Bougie. On behalf of the Boy Scout Association, I would appeal to all concerned to give generously.

COURSE AVAILABLE ARTIFICIAL RESUSCITATION

This course is available to all Groups in the District. All instructions are given free of charge by a member of the Royal Life Saving Society at a place of your own choosing. Having had the opportunity to witness a demonstration in artificial resuscitation, I can only urge you to act promptly. This course is available to adults (Group Committee Members)

Scouters, Scouts and Cubs. The course requires approximately ten to twelve hours of instructions. The final examination will be taken by a member of the Royal Life Saving Society. For further information contact Mr. Lorne Harding, 24 Clough Street in Lennoxville, phone 562-8620 or Miss Valerie Rawlings, 930 Fulton Avenue in Sherbrooke, phone 562-8630.

Also available are swimming instructions given by the Society. Why not add one or both of these projects as part of your winter program.

DISTRICT SCOUTS

The Sherbrooke Jaycees invited the Boy Scouts of Canada, under the jurisdiction of the Sherbrooke and District Council, to participate in a joint project in the interest of minimizing pollution by holding a paper drive. The drive was held on Saturday, November 7, 1970.

During the course of picking up paper, the Scouts sold "bumper stickers" commemorating the event. Cost for the sticker was 25 cents. All proceeds went to the Sherbrooke Jaycees in support of the development and expansion project for the Scout Camp at Lake Lovering.

SECOND-QUEBEC JAMBOREE '70

The Jamboree was held at Camp Tamaracouta located on a one thousand acre site and on a lake one mile long, and situated at Mille Isles, Bellefeuille, Quebec in the Laurentians. The dates for this Jamboree were August 22 to 29th. The camp was established in 1912. The various campsites are located well apart from each other and are named after famous "Trading Posts" of the Hudson Bay Company. The camp hospital is under the supervision of a resident physician.

(Lennoxville Group). On August 22, on arrival, registration took place at "Beaver Meadow." After the boys located their camp - No. 55 - situated on "White Trail" and on the shores of Lake Tamaracouta. After getting their camp gear settled, the boys went swimming. Supper was served (swiss steak). All meals were prepared and cooked by a caterer and were eaten at the Patrol site. The official opening was held that evening at "That Field" name given to the area for simplicity. Scouts being from the Caribbean, United States and Canada. Ian Roberts, Provincial Commissioner officiated. After the ceremonies had taken place, a camp fire was held at the camp site. On Sunday, August 23, they assembled at "That Field" for Ecumenical service.

In the afternoon the boys attended a water skiing demonstration. Skiers were from "Man and His World" waterfront. This was followed by a display of Indian dancing by the Indians from Caughnawaga. After supper, a band concert was held. At the camp fire that evening, the boys were paid a visit by Geoff Wheatley, Camp Chief and Bob Aikens, waterfront director.

Monday, August 24, the first of five activities planned for the week was to build a raft (Kon-Tiki). The boys started by lashing together, six (6) logs, four (4) floats and an inner tube for buoyancy. Two boys hopped on the raft and raced to a marker (buoy) out on the lake and back. Activity No. 2 - instruction period was given by the Quebec Provincial Police. The boys had their fingerprints taken and were shown the method by which they are processed and classified. In addition to this, the boys were showed the "Breathalyzer" and two patrol cars.

Gaiters muff crucial plays, Gee-Gees take CCIFC crown

By SCOTT ABBOTT

OTTAWA — University of Ottawa Gee-Gees engineered the end to Bishop's University Gaiters' Cinderella season here Saturday by downing the young Eastern Division champions 32-15 to capture the Central Canada Intercollegiate Football Conference title.
The play was actually much more even than the 17-point margin of defeat would indicate. "They came up with the big plays and we didn't," said a disappointed but proud Bruce Coulter, Gaiters' head coach.
"We had their guy covered in the endzone and couldn't take it away — we had it in the endzone and their guy took it away."
Bishop's hung close most of the way even without the services of running back Larry Smith who pulled a hamstring in the open field early in the contest.
Smith took a pass reception 10 yards for the opening score of the game, and Charlie MacLean's convert made it 7-0 Bishop's.

A chance to grab a larger lead dissipated with a fumble on the Ottawa five-yard line. What a score at that point might have meant can only be surmised.
Ottawa came back with a major but missed the point after, and the Gaiters had a 7-6 lead at the end of the first quarter.
Another Gee-Gee TD and a two-point conversion made it 14-6 for the home side at Lansdowne Park, and a single point resulting from an errant field goal attempt put the Western Division champions into a 15-7 halftime advantage.
Another Ottawa major put the passing-potent Gee-Gees ahead 22-7, but the Gaiters put together a drive to paydirt capped by quarterback Bill MacDonald's bootleg around right end from two yards out.
The Gaiters dropped eight points behind, at 23-15, when Ottawa managed another single, but what really hurt was an attempted interception by Don Campbell on the Gaiter five that turned into a Gee-Gee completion. The ensuing TD made it 30-15, and the Ottawa defence came to life to stifle the desperate Gaiters.

A safety touch added the final two points with 7:16 to play, but by that time the Gaiters' best opportunities to win this one had passed.
Even the nullification by a penalty of halfback Terry Bradley's 49-yard pass-and-run touchdown with two minutes left meant little.
The Gaiters' proximity to victory made the loss harder to take, of course, than would have been the case if it had been inevitable from the beginning.
"If you looked at the ballgame and not at the score, you'd have to say the teams were even," said coach Coulter.

"There's no doubt in my mind that the best team in our section is as good as the best team in the Western section. That's two years in a row we've proved it."
The Gaiters dropped the title game at home last year 23-22 to University of Windsor Lakers.
But what was described as a rebuilding season in the first week of September was an unqualified success in that respect, and the coach is enthusiastic about the team's chances next year.
"We lose eight or nine guys, but we get a lot back. The guys we lose are starting, but if we replace them and get a few who weren't eligible this year, there's no doubt that we're going to be contenders for the whole thing next year."
And from the way the coach said, "We're just a little bit away from being at the Atlantic Bowl," one got the distinct impression that "the whole thing" means aiming at the CCIFC championship from the outset of next season and winning a trip to a national semifinal. Next year the CCIFC opponent in that playoff should be the western titlist in the Prairie Bowl.
The way the Gaiter rookies came through this season, don't bet against the team getting an additional November game next year.

Beavers suffer losses to Rosemount, Three Rivers

By TED ANDERSON

THREE RIVERS — Three Rivers Dukes blasted Sherbrooke Beavers 9-2 here yesterday afternoon, directing 56 shots at Beaver netminders Yvon Pouliot, who allowed seven goals, and Yves Belanger.
Scorers for the Sherbrooke side were Claude St-Sauveur and Yvon Cloutier.
Richard Leduc had a hat trick for the Dukes, and Dave Johnson netted two goals.
LOSE 4-3 FRIDAY
Rosemount Nationalis gained their first victory of the season over the Beavers in three tries

Friday night at the Sherbrooke Sports Palace when speedy Mike Relihan led the visitors to a 4-3 triumph.
Relihan counted three goals before the crowd of more than 2,500 Sherbrooke fans and new Beaver coach Ron Racette, who was in the press box for an overall view of the action. He could not have been too impressed.
Relihan opened the scoring on a third-minute powerplay, and Normand St-Jean posted the Nats to a 2-0 lead after 12 minutes.
Yvon Cloutier, who had been the Beavers' most dangerous offensive weapon, pulled the home side to within one goal of the lead at the end of the first stanza.

Denys Gingras evened the count at 2-2 with a drive from the point at 7:58 of the middle frame, but Relihan took over from there, scoring at 9:07 and sending starting Beaver goaltender Yves Belanger out of the game with a misconduct.
Relihan was no more merciful to Belanger's successor, Yvon Pouliot, victimizing him at 14:49.
Jean Lemieux put the Beavers within range again with a goal in the ninth minute of the final period, but the Sherbrooke side could not get the equalizer even with Pouliot out of the cage in favor of an extra attacker.
Presumably the Beavers may have been tired from their game Thursday against Drummondville Rangers. Despite playing their second contest in as many nights, however, they outshot the Nationals 36-26.

Boston wins 6-1 over Canadiens

BOSTON (AP) — Phil Esposito, the National Hockey League's scoring leader, scored one goal and assisted on two others Sunday night in helping Boston Bruins to a 6-1 victory over Montreal Canadiens in a game marked by a first period free-for-all.
Esposito set up a shorthanded goal by Eddie Westfall at 8:13 of the first period and assisted on a goal by Ken Hodge. He scored his goal early in the third period.
The Bruins took a 2-0 lead on Johnny Bucyk's ninth goal at 2:49 of the first period and Westfall's fourth goal after a steal by Esposito.
Montreal capitalized on a two-player advantage for a goal by Mickey Redmond at 12:29, but Hodge made it 3-1 from just outside the crease.

Dallas Smith scored in the second period while Esposito and Derek Sanderson capped the Bruins' surge into sole possession of first place in the East Division with third-period goals.
The brawl, at 19:33 of the first period, was touched off by Boston's Ken Hodge and Montreal's Claude Larose.
Players from both benches poured onto the ice to join in the fighting and it spilled over into the Montreal bench, where police had to restrain the Canadiens from going after fans.
Three players on each team were given major penalties for fighting.

Field goals make the difference

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Last-minute field goals, one of them breaking a National Football League record, carried New Orleans Saints and Oakland Raiders to narrow victories Sunday.
Tom Dempsey booted a record 63-yard field goal on the game's last play as the Saints upset Detroit Lions 19-17. Veteran George Blanda, who tossed a late touchdown pass to tie the game, kicked a 52-yarder with only three seconds remaining to give Oakland a 23-20 win over Cleveland Browns.
In other games Sunday, Minnesota Vikings moved two full games ahead of Detroit in the Central Division by edging Washington Redskins 19-10. Los Angeles Rams tied Atlanta Falcons 10-10. San Francisco 49ers smashed Chicago Bears 37-

16. New York Giants upset Dallas Cowboys 23-20. San Diego Chargers nipped Denver Broncos 24-21. Kansas City Chiefs downed Houston Oilers 24-9. St. Louis Cardinals shut out Boston Patriots 31-0. Pittsburgh Steelers beat New York Jets 21-7. Cincinnati Bengals trounced Buffalo Bills 43-14 and Philadelphia Eagles defeated Miami Dolphins 24-17.
Baltimore Colts take on Green Bay Packers at Milwaukee tonight.
Detroit appeared to have beaten the Saints when Erroll Mann kicked an 18-yard field goal with 11 seconds left to give the Lions a one-point lead. But New Orleans quarterback Billy Kilmer completed a pass after the ensuing kickoff, setting up Dempsey's record-shattering kick with two seconds left.

Argonauts, Eskimos defeated in sudden-death semi-finals

TORONTO (CP) — Montreal Alouettes eliminated Toronto Argonauts from the Eastern Football Conference playoff race Saturday and the hometown fans serenaded the losing coach with the refrain "Good-bye, Leo."
The Alouettes defeated the Argos 16-7 with a patched-up attack that took advantage of the breaks and submerged the host team in almost every category in the game statistics.
After the game, John Bassett, chairman of the board of Argos, denied speculation that head coach Leo Cahill would be fired and paid tribute to the "guts" of rival coach Sam Etcheverry.

EDMONTON (CP) — Calgary Stampeders blew a nine-point lead but marched 75 yards for a touchdown in the dying minutes to defeat Edmonton Eskimos 16-9 Sunday in the Western Football Conference sudden-death semi-final.
The Stampeders now meet Saskatchewan Roughriders in a best-of-three Western final, which starts Saturday in Regina.
A pass interference call against the Eskimos spelled the difference in a bruising defensive game in which all scoring came in the second half.
The infraction came on second down and cost the Eskimos 22 yards, but more important kept the winning Calgary drive going.
Herm Harrison and Hugh McKinnis got the touchdowns that sent Edmonton down to its first loss at home in a semi-final game. Larry Robinson kicked a field goal and a convert.

Etcheverry, less than a week before the sudden-death semi-final contest, suspended fullback Dennis Duncan — the team's top groundgainer — and Bob McCarthy, a wide receiver, for breaking club curfew regulations.
"I want to pay tribute to the guts Etcheverry showed in taking disciplinary action against two of his regulars at that critical time. In my view it was a very gutsy move and was fantastic for football."
Bassett said Montreal has "a fine team and we didn't deserve to win on the basis of our offensive play."
"If we weren't to win the East, I would like to see Etcheverry and the Alouettes represent the EFC in the Grey Cup."
Bassett said he had not heard broadcast reports that Cahill might not be fired next year.

COMEBACK FAILS
Dave Cutler got all the Edmonton points on field goals in the fourth quarter as the Eskimos made a comeback bid that had the crowd of 23,105 on its feet. Cutler was good from 21, 53 and 20 yards.
But Edmonton hopes were dashed when Calgary quarterback Jerry Keeling turned to the pass to move the Stampeders downfield. Keeling threw 20 yards to Harrison, six to Gerry Shaw and 22 to McKinnis to set the stage for the big fullback's touchdown plunge.
Tempers flared in the last seconds of the game as Calgary drove in to stop the last Eskimo hopes. There was a pushing, pulling and swinging match deep in the Edmonton zone, with players rushing to the scene from both benches, but the exact cause of the melee was not immediately determined.
Calgary had the edge on offence, collecting 14 first downs on 199 yards passing and 66 rushing. Keeling, who played all but a small portion of the game, and Larry Lawrence completed 13 of 28 passes.
Edmonton passed for 141 yards and rushed for 34 to pick up eight first downs. Don Trull and Rusty Clark completed 12 of 26 pass attempts.

MR. and MRS. WILLIAM BELL celebrating their 30th wedding anniversary. (Photo: Studio Lavigne)

Surprise Anniversary party

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Bell were honored guests on Oct. 24th when approximately 186 relatives and friends gathered together at the Legion Hall on Bowen Street in Sherbrooke to celebrate their 30th Wedding Anniversary. Upon their arrival Mr. and Mrs. Bell were piped into the reception hall by three members of the Eastern Townships Highland Pipe Band, David Perkins, David Moore and Dick Brady. Mrs. Andre Vallee, sister of Mrs. Bell, presented Mrs. Bell with a corsage and Mr. Bell with a boutonniere. After receiving congratulations and best wishes from everyone present, dancing was enjoyed with music supplied by Mr. Ed Stiles. During the evening Miss Alice Bell, hostess, presented her parents, on behalf of those present, with a purse of money.

Mr. Bell expressed their surprise and appreciation in being remembered on their anniversary in such a delightful way by so many friends and relatives and thanked those who had helped to organize the party. Mrs. Bell also expressed her appreciation and made mention of how much she was enjoying the music supplied by Mr. Stiles and his band. Mrs. Flora Perkins and Miss Ann Smith were in charge of the guest book at the door.

Golden wedding

GOULD — The Town Hall was the scene of a delightful event, when relatives and friends gathered to honor Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Wintle, on the occasion of their Golden Wedding Anniversary. The hall was decorated with streamers, bells, autumn flowers and leaves. The honored couple were ushered into the reception to the tune of "How Happy We are Together", played on the bagpipes by Charles Gordon, of Lennoxville, attired in full Highland dress.

to the couple for all they had achieved during their 50 yrs. together, he presented them with a golden purse of money. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wintle expressed their sincere appreciation. Garnet then invited everyone to the dining hall, where the head table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake, made by daughter Alice Vance and decorated by Mrs. Jean Cass of Ayer's Cliff. Being unable to attend, a phone call was received from a niece, Mrs. Jack Butler, in Connecticut and a telegram from Mrs. Eileen Runge and family of Kitchener, Ont.

The buffet table was colorfully decorated with an assortment of sandwiches, hors d'oeuvres, squares, and a three-tiered anniversary cake. Out of town guests were from Hamilton, Ont.; Farnham; Cowansville; Montreal; Waterville; Katevale; North Hatley; Lennoxville; Danville; St. Lambert; Drummondville; Huntingville and Bromptonville.

Following the Grand March everyone extended congratulations and best wishes, after which Irene Matheson presented a corsage of yellow roses to her mother, attired in a moonbeam blue crimplene dress, made by her granddaughter, Linda Vance. Bernard Wintle presented a white carnation boutonniere to his father. Alice Vance presented a corsage of pink roses to Mrs. Levi Duncan, a bridesmaid of 50 yrs ago. Prior to a buffet lunch being served, dancing was enjoyed to the music of the Country Kings of Lennoxville. Miss Diane Grenier of Beauce afforded further entertainment, with several tap dancing routines. Mr. Garnet Morrison, of Bury, M.C., called each member of the Wintle family to join their parents on the stage. He then called upon Marlene Matheson and Gary Vance, as eldest grandchildren, to present the guests with gifts from the family. Expressing admiration

Relatives and friends attending were from Chicago, Port Colborne, Niagara Falls, Drumbo, Kingston, Ont., Quebec City, Montreal, Granby, Sherbrooke, Lennoxville, Ayer's Cliff, Beebe, Bromptonville, Sawyerville, East Hereford, Scotstown, Bury, Cookshire, Theford Mines, St. Simon Les Mines, Saint Victor de Beauce and St. George de Beauce, in Quebec.

Weddings in the Townships

Johnston-Boisvert

RICHMOND — The marriage of Dawn Caroline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Boisvert, to Frederick William Johnston, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnston of Melbourne took place on Sept. 26, in Chalmers United Church, Richmond. The Rev. R. A. Cameron officiated at the double ring ceremony. The wedding music was played by Mr. Bruce Kerr. Baskets of mauve, bronze and pink chrysanthemums decorated the church, and the guest pews were marked with white satin bows. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white Spanish style floor length gown of rayon peau and wore a tiar length mantilla lace veil attached to the shoulders. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and shasta daisies. Miss Judi Dunn, maid-of-honor, wore a floor-length empire style blue gown with short sleeves. The bodice was trimmed with a white velvet ribbon with floor length streamers. She wore small white velvet ribbon bows in her hair and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white shasta daisies. Miss Helen Boisvert, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Brian Roberts were the bridesmaids. They were dressed identical to the maid-of-honor, in a deeper shade of blue and carried bouquets similar to the maid-of-honor. The flower girls, Kimberley Mills, niece of the bride, and Joanne Bean, cousin of the bride, were dressed in light blue identical to the other attendants. Each carried a miniature bouquet of pink carnations and white shasta daisies. John Bean, cousin of the bride was ring-bearer and wore a brown striped suit, gold colored shirt and brown tie. He carried a heart shaped white satin pillow edged in lace with the rings nestled in the centre. Brian Roberts acted as best man and the ushers were Beverly Skillen, brother-in-law of the groom, and Robert Dunn. The bride's mother wore a blue lace over taffeta dress, black accessories and corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother chose a two-piece blue dress trimmed with lace, navy accessories and corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Russell Bean, maternal grandmother, was dressed in a wine satin dress black accessories and corsage of white roses. Mrs. William Gilchrist, paternal grandmother chose a navy and white dress and accessories with a corsage of white roses. The reception was held in the Royal Canadian Legion Hall, where the bridal party and guests enjoyed a cold dinner. The bride's table was centred with the three-tiered wedding cake, flanked by vases of pink mums and the bridal party bouquets. The wedding cake was made by Mrs. Ashley Gemmill, aunt of the bride and decorated by Mrs. Donald Johnston. Dancing was enjoyed during the afternoon by music by the Westernaires. The happy couple left for a honeymoon in Virginia and various places in the U.S.A. For travelling the bride wore a blue crepe jumper suit with navy accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston took up residence in Melbourne. Out-of-town guests were from Keene, N.H., Clarkson, Ont., Beebe, Que., Ways Mills, Lennoxville, Sherbrooke, South Durham, Ulverton, Kingsbury, Valcourt, Melbourne, Upper Melbourne and Victoria, B.C. Prior to her marriage the bride was entertained at a miscellaneous shower at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Harold Bean, Upper Melbourne. Bowker-Christensen WATERLOO — The marriage of Doreen E., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bowker of Warden, and Glenn M. Christensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Christensen, St. Lambert, took place on Oct. 10th, at St. Luke's Anglican Church. Rev. D. Mercer officiated at the double ring ceremony. He was assisted by Rev. A. Van Seters of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church St. Lambert. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length white gown of peau-de-charme, with detachable train, trimmed at the hemline and cuffs with chantilly lace. An elbow length scalloped veil was held in place by a cluster of three white satin roses. She carried a bouquet of white mums and baby's breath. Miss Christina Bowker, maid of honour, wore a floor length gown of gold peau-de-charme and carried a bouquet of light bronze mums. The bridesmaids, Cheryl Bowker, Valerie Christensen and Debbie Christensen, wore identical floor length dresses of green peau-de-charme and carried bouquets of yellow mums. The junior attendants, Frances and Sandra Bowker, wore pink floor length gowns of peau-de-charme and carried baskets of red roses and white mums. Mr. John Amyot of St. Lambert was best man. The ushers were Brian Harding of Montreal and Fred and Ritchie Bowker of Warden. The mother of the bride chose a floral brocade dress with matching coat and wore a corsage of yellow roses and brown accessories. The mother of the groom wore a yellow dress with matching coat and a corsage of light bronze mums and brown accessories. The reception was held at the Royal Canadian Legion in Waterloo. A roast beef dinner was catered by the UCW of St. Paul's United Church, Waterloo. Out-of-town friends and relatives attended from New York, Toronto, Ottawa, Matapedia, Montreal and surrounding areas. Among the guests were the grandmothers and grandfather of the groom — Mr. and Mrs. C. Christensen of Chambly and Mrs. M. Beeho of Verdun. Mrs. Annie Lodge of Matapedia, grandmother of the bride was also present. For travelling, the bride wore a green and blue tweed knit skirt and best with a long sleeve cream coloured turtle neck sweater. The couple drove to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina for their honeymoon. Prior to the wedding the bride was entertained at the following showers: a mixed shower given by Miss Joyce Westover of Montreal; a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Dianna Hentschel, Warden; a china shower given by Mrs. J. Christensen, St. Lambert; a cup and saucer shower given by Miss Margaret McKergow, Waterloo; a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Alice Bowker, Warden; a pantry shower given by Mrs. Trudy Valin, Montreal, and a kitchen shower by Mrs. Don McGee and Miss Jean Fraser, Waterloo. The newlyweds will reside in St. Lambert, Quebec.

Superior Council appointment

Mrs. Mildred Clark has been appointed to the Protestant Superior Council of Education by the Minister of Education, Mr. Guy Saint Pierre by an order in council of National Assemblies. Mr. Maurice Hauser, Area Representative of the Quebec Federation of Home and School Associations and President of the District of Bedford Home and School Association, wishes to announce to the Public this important appointment. It perhaps represents for the first time, a local district representative has been appointed to this Council. It is an honour for the Eastern Townships.

MRS. MILDRED CLARK

Many people know Mrs. Clark has devoted her life through the Quebec Federation of Home and School Associations over the last 15 years. It is people like her who have given unstintingly their time and effort to further and upgrade the education of all the children in the province. Mrs. Clark has been area representative of the District of Bedford and in 1968 was elected Vice-President of the Quebec Federation of Home and Schools. Her interest of supervision comprised the District of Bedford, Magog, Sherbrooke, Richmond and Lennoxville. In other words the full district known as the Eastern Townships. Many of the people she has met during the visit of her mandate have come to know her as a good friend and colleague of outstanding character, always ready to help in developing interest in Education. She is well known by all the authorities in the Schools of her District, and I am sure they wish her success in the Superior Council of Education at Quebec. Her motto is: "Your interests are my interests, which I will accomplish to the best of my ability."

'Pop Porn' Movies Appall British Censor

(EDITOR'S NOTE: While Americans debate how to bring pornographic books and films under control, NEA's London correspondent, Tom Cullen, has been talking to Britain's film censor, who explains how British censorship works in this, the second of two articles.)

By TOM CULLEN
LONDON — (NEA) — Movie houses kept their doors open in the 1950s by selling pop porn; today they peddle pop porn," quips John Trevelyan, Britain's film censor. Then he adds, "God help the film industry."

Secretary of the British Board of Film Censors, Trevelyan determines which films can be shown publicly to British audiences. He is appalled by the movie filth which is being shown in big American cities.

"New York, which is one of my favorite cities, is becoming nothing but a dirty sink," he says.

U.S. court decisions have favored sexual permissiveness. Trevelyan contends:

"American courts have never been able to make up their minds about the first amendment to the Constitution, which guarantees freedom of communication," he says. "Does this guarantee the right to distribute pornographic books and films? On balance, the

The American exhibitor can ignore the Hollywood code seal ratings or not, as he chooses," Trevelyan explains. "If a British exhibitor lets children under 14 years of age in to see an AA-rated film, he can be had up in court and fined.

"Catholics in America were not opposed to violence, but they were down on sex," he says. "As a result from 1930 to 1960 Hollywood went in for continuous violence, but with very little sex. This was the heyday of the gangster and war films, and of such stars as Humphrey, Bogart, James Cagney and Edward G. Robinson."

The Hays censorship office — so-called because it was headed by Will Hays, the former postmaster general — was set up directly as a result of pressure from Catholic and women's organizations. Trevelyan claims.

Films the Catholic Legion of Decency condemned, such as Greta Garbo's "Two-Faced Woman," were denounced from the pulpit, and Catholics were forbidden to see them under pain of sin.

"Nowadays the Legion of Decency has changed into the National Catholic Office of Motion Pictures," Trevelyan points out. "Instead of blacklisting films, it merely gives them ratings, and there is no more thunder from the p.p.it's."

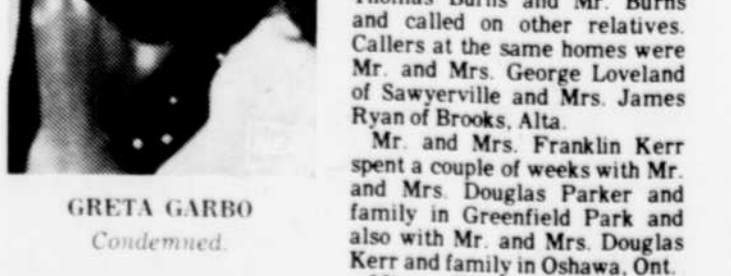

The British Board of Film Censors differs from both the Hollywood Code Seal Office and from state censorship boards in America in that it is independent, accountable neither to the film industry nor to government.

British and American censorship also differ in rating films. Both countries grade movies suitability for general viewing, or whether children in certain age groups should be excluded.

The Hollywood code seal office has created a special category of "X-films," those to which it cannot give its approval. Trevelyan thinks that this is a mistake.

"Film producers brandish their X-certificates as though they were Academy Awards," he says, "and the Times Square movie houses that show X-films do a huge business."

The big difference between the two systems is that British ratings are enforceable, while Hollywood ratings are not.

GRETA GARBO Condemned.
a tawdry sex film. "No, I'm not proud of it," the president admitted, "but I have to think of my stockholders and my balance sheets."

the East hand. She let East hold the first heart and took the second one. Next came the play of the jack of clubs toward dummy. West played low and Karen went right up with dummy's king. When it held, four no-trump was home. She abandoned clubs and went after spades. She was sure of three spade tricks and that, plus two hearts, four diamonds and a club, counted to 10.

Jim: "I understand that the slam was bid at the other table so Karen's team gained 12 IMPs that they would have lost if West held the queen of clubs."

Jim: "The easiest way to use Blackwood is to play that all four no-trump calls ask for aces. This is simple, but rather ineffective because there are occasions when four no-trump should be used as a strong bid in no-trump, not as an artificial asking bid."

Oswald: "Today's hand, played in an IMP team match shows a non-Blackwood four no-trump in action. Karen Allison of New York used one of the modern-modern bids when she responded two no-trump and continued to four after her partner merely took her to game. In her system, this bid showed the equivalent of a maximum strong no-trump, rather than the normal 13-15. With that normal 13-15 she would simply have let the hand play at three."

PAST ... In the 19th century, boys made whistles out of smooth reeds. If the inside was clean, it made a good whistle; hence the expression "clean as a whistle."

FUTURE ... The streetcar — or tram — may be heading for a comeback. Advantages include: cheaper than conventional railway; quieter, freer from exhaust fumes than buses.
