Postal talks showing a degree of progress

OTTAWA (CP) — Negotiators took fresh aim Sunday at a settlement of Canada's postal strike and apparently made some progress in 14 hours of talks. They recessed shortly before 3 a.m. EDT today and were to start again at 10 a.m. "I think we have done a good day's work," said Judge Rene Lippe, federal mediator, after the long session. He declined further comment on the status of the discussions. But a source close to the situation said extended talks in this new phase of mediation could be interpreted as a sign of progress. The nation-wide walk-out of 24,000 postal workers is in its 19th day, with speculation flying in Ottawa that the government will make a move to call Parliament into a strike-ending session unless an agreement is reached soon. CABINET TO MEET A meeting of the federal cabinet has been scheduled for Tuesday. Cabinet usually meets on Wednesday. Judge Lippe, during a dinner-break Sunday, told reporters: "Surely we must be coming to some deadline sometime." He added: "We have been talking very seriously." Mediation broke off Wednesday after Romeo Mathieu, chief negotiator for the Council of Postal Unions, turned down a new government wage offer. It took four days to get back to the bargaining table. MEET AT LUNCH Judge Lippe, Mr. Mathieu and Douglas Love, the treasury board official heading the government team, sat down together at noon and worked through a lunch of sandwiches and chocolate cake. There was a separate meeting during the afternoon between Judge Lippe and the government's negotiating team, then the mediator went back into a joint session with Mr. Mathieu and Mr. Love at 5 p.m. The three men went separate ways for dinner and a final joint session was launched at 10:30 p.m. There were indications that Sunday's talks went back to the conditions, at least in their early stages. Sources had predicted Saturday that new wage positions from both sides were in the works and that a break in the deadlock could come soon. The council's public position, unchanged from its original demand, asks a 75-cent hourly increase in a 14-month contract retroactive to Aug. 1 last year. This is an increase of about 29 per cent over the average hourly wage of $2.57. The government offer, laid down last Wednesday and rejected then by the council, would increase wages by 19 per cent over 38 months. This comes to about 49 cents an hour in a three-stage schedule.

News in brief Back English rights

News in brief 78 dead

MONTREAL (CP) — Leaders of two Quebec separatist groups which Friday announced merger plans, said Sunday English-speaking Quebecers will be guaranteed the right to educate their children in their own language, culture, heritage and traditions in an independent Quebec. The guarantee was made in a four-part statement signed by Rene Levesque, leader of the 7,000-member Mouvement Souverainete-Association, and Gilles Goggin, leader of the 12,000-member Rassemblement National. The statement, released at a news conference, said: "You cannot ignore Quebec's 1,500,000 Anglophones. They have the fundamental right to their language and education. A sovereign state of Quebec will work for its own needs, but we'll respect the rights of the minority." Following merger talks Friday, the MSA and the RN announced they would form a single organization and form a political party this fall. But a third organization involved in the merger talks, the 13,000-member Rassemblement pour l'Independence nationale led by Pierre Bourgault, refused to enter into the merger, saying it was unacceptable to give state support to English-language schools. Mr. Bourgault said his party could not accept Mr. Levesque's position that English-speaking Quebecers have "full rights." His party would continue to operate as a political party offering the Quebec electorate "the only choice for true independence." Mr. Levesque and Mr. Goggin said at the news conference Sunday they had spent the weekend working out policies to guide the MSA-RN merger which they said would come about at a convention to be held this fall. Mr. Levesque said they had agreed to work for the creation of a sovereign state with French as the first language and for the institution of a social, democratic and cultural program to develop the state of Quebec.

At least 78 persons died in weekend accidents across Canada, 57 in traffic. A survey by The Canadian Press from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday, local times, also showed 15 drownings, three deaths by fire and three in other accidents.

Yves Lagace dies after operation

MONTREAL (CP) — Yves Lagace, 21, of Sherbrooke, Que., died Saturday of pneumonia 24 hours after his second kidney transplant in six months. Dr. J. Gilbert Turner, executive director of Royal Victoria Hospital, where the operation was performed, said Mr. Lagace "developed a severe case of pneumonia" which doctors were unable to combat because of his "serious" condition.

Mr. Lagace, whom Dr. Turner described as "a very sick man," had undergone an operation earlier last week to remove his first substitute kidney and the two operations within such a short time severely weakened him. The doctor said the second transplanted kidney was functioning satisfactorily when the patient died at 10 p.m. The young man earlier had been reported "doing well" after receiving the kidney of Donald Robert Allen, an 18-year-old Montrealer killed when his motorcycle collided with a car at an intersection. Mr. Lagace had been ill with kidney disease for several years and was being kept alive by means of a dialysis machine, which removes impurities from the blood, normally cleaned by the kidneys. He received his first kidney transplant October but the organ was removed earlier last week when it showed signs of infection.

In Washington, the Catholic University of America announced that the number of American Catholic theologians opposing the Pope's ban on artificial contraception has risen. "I am surprised and saddened by the actions of these gentlemen—actions which are setting the church on fire," said Washington's Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle in a sermon urging obedience to the Pope. But later in the day 52 of the priests in the cardinal's archdiocese signed a declaration reaffirming the position taken before the encyclical by the Association of Washington Priests that Catholics have the right "to responsibility practice birth control." The Pope's position was also supported by John Cardinal Cody, the archbishop of Chicago, and by Msgr. Thomas J. McGovern of the archdiocese of New York. But in Albany, N.Y., Rev. Bernard J. Lannon told worshippers at Holy Spirit Church: "We must listen to other voices in the church and, in the final analysis, it is a personal decision."

Fire on car

YORK, Pa. — (AP) — A police vehicle was fired on Sunday night as a wave of sporadic shooting, window-smashing and rock throwing broke out here in what York's public safety director called "a planned operation." Two fires were set. Jacob W. Hesse said the trouble started at 9 p.m. EDT in the same area where a gun battle had erupted Saturday night. Police said Negro youths ranging from 18 to 25 began tossing rocks at passing motorists. Later in the evening, a meat store was "firebombed."

Up tight scene

MADRID — (Reuters) — Gen. Francisco Franco's government today placed the northern Basque province of Guipuzcoa under a state of emergency for three months following increasing violence by Basque nationalist terrorists. A law published in the official state bulletin suspended three articles of the Fuero de los Espanoles, Sapin's Bill of Rights.

Hits airliner

MILWAUKEE — (AP) — A project airliner, with wreckage of a light plane and the bodies of its three young passengers embedded in its side, landed safely Sunday before most of the 10 passengers aboard the bigger plane knew what happened. Capt. Ted Baum, 43, of Skokie, Ill., brought the twin-engine plane in with one engine dead and his co-pilot badly injured.

Bomb threat

GANDER, Nfld. (CP) — A big Lufthansa jetliner with 157 persons aboard made an unscheduled stop here early today after a bomb threat was received by the airline's New York office. A spokesman for Eastern Provincial Airways, the agents here, said a thorough search revealed no trace of a bomb aboard the Boeing 707, which left New York for Frankfurt.

Pope was misunderstood

Pope Paul said Sunday his encyclical banning artificial birth control has been misunderstood by some critics and emphasized it does not bar "reasonable" limitation of families. Meanwhile, the dispute among Roman Catholics over obedience to the papal ban showed no sign of abating. Addressing thousands of pilgrims to his summer residence south of Rome, the 70-year-old pontiff said the policy he proclaimed "is not in itself opposed—as some seem to think—to a reasonable limitation of birth, nor to scientific research and therapeutic cures, nor even to a truly responsible parenthood nor to peace and family harmony." The Pope's encyclical, Of Human Life, renewed the church's prohibition against chemical and mechanical methods of contraception. Total abstinence and the rhythm method during the wife's fertility period remain the only methods approved by the church. Obviously concerned by growing opposition to his decision, the Pope said: "We know that there are many who have not appreciated our teaching. In fact many oppose it. In a certain sense we can understand this incomprehension and also this opposition." But he gave no indications of retreating from his decision and said his encyclical "is derived from the laws of God." While not issued as infallible, the encyclical is considered binding on the world's 500,000 Roman Catholics.

In Washington, the Catholic University of America announced that the number of American Catholic theologians opposing the Pope's ban on artificial contraception has risen. "I am surprised and saddened by the actions of these gentlemen—actions which are setting the church on fire," said Washington's Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle in a sermon urging obedience to the Pope. But later in the day 52 of the priests in the cardinal's archdiocese signed a declaration reaffirming the position taken before the encyclical by the Association of Washington Priests that Catholics have the right "to responsibility practice birth control." The Pope's position was also supported by John Cardinal Cody, the archbishop of Chicago, and by Msgr. Thomas J. McGovern of the archdiocese of New York. But in Albany, N.Y., Rev. Bernard J. Lannon told worshippers at Holy Spirit Church: "We must listen to other voices in the church and, in the final analysis, it is a personal decision."

Nixon fights pincer move

MIAMI BEACH (CP) — A final-hour pincer move continued to deny Richard Nixon his second Republican presidential nomination as the party launched its 26th leadership convention today. That move—by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York from one side and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California from the other—provided the main drama in what appeared to be a cut-and-dried situation. Everett Dirksen, Senate Republican leader, bluntly put his money on Nixon, who was vice-president during the Eisenhower years from 1952 to 1960, by saying: "I think he is so close to striking distance that ... I don't think he can be stopped."

Rockefeller described the Vietnam plank as constructive—"a platform that we can win on and I want to run on." Even Reagan, a "fight-to-win" advocate on Vietnam, indicated he would accept the platform as a basic guidepost. The actual candidate choice will be made Wednesday night by the 1,333 official delegates from the 50 states, polled state by state. BLOCKING NIXON The Rockefeller-Reagan strategy, operating through demonstrations, final newspaper and television ads and last-ditch pressure applied to delegates, has been to stop Nixon from winning on the first or second ballots in hopes his support will crumble. The secondary choice for the convention will be a running mate as vice-president. In the past this has been much more of a formality. Republican nominee Barry Goldwater in 1964, for example, chose William Miller of New York state because, he said, Miller got under the skin of President Johnson.

Otherwise, generally, it was so imprecise as to provide Nixon, or whoever is chosen, with ample leeway in the campaign leading up to the Nov. 5 election. Backers of Nixon called the program "bold and positive."

Prague (CP) — A truce prevailed in the Soviet bloc today with Czechoslovakia's liberal Communist leaders and the Soviet press each assuring their people all is well in the wake of the Bratislava conference. Observers in Prague foresaw more strains between Czech leaders and such defenders of the Communist status quo as Water Ulbricht of East Germany and Wladyslaw Gomulka of Poland. But the future looked brighter for party chief Alexander Dubcek and his associates than it had in many weeks. Dubcek gave fresh assurances to dispel any lingering suspicions that his group had been forced off their liberal course by the Russians and their allies at the meetings in Slovakia last week. "We are determined to continue on the road we have taken," Dubcek said in a broadcast Sunday night. "For the people of this republic there is no other way." He noted that the joint declaration signed at the meeting contained a virtual hands-off pledge that leaves Czechoslovakia free to continue its new course. GIVEN GUARANTEE The document guaranteed the right of every party to develop along its own lines, "taking into account the national characteristics and conditions" of each country. It also bound all signatories to close co-operation in matters dealing with foreign policy. Dubcek appealed to the country to begin a sober implementation of the tasks set by the party's reformist program—including mending ideological fences with East Germany and Poland. Despite his assurances nothing vital was sacrificed in the summit talks, there were some persons here who sensed danger to the promise of free speech.

Czech chiefs and Red press assume people that all is well

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab and Israeli forces exchanged fire across the River Jordan for the second straight day today following a retaliatory strike by Israeli warplanes which the Israelis claimed destroyed Arab guerrilla only 15 miles from the Jordanian capital of Amman. An Israeli army spokesman said Jordanian troops rained bazooka and mortar shells on three settlements in the Beisan Valley. Israeli forces returned the fire, he said, and no Israeli casualties were reported. Israeli jets streaked across

The air strike—first in two months against Jordanian territory—"completely destroyed two guerrilla bases near the town of Salt, 11 miles across the River Jordan and 15 miles west of the capital, the Israeli chief of staff, Maj.-Gen. Haim Bar-Lev reported. Premier Levi Eshkol said the attack was in retaliation for a month of increased guerrilla activity by Arab infiltrators based in Jordan. He warned that stepped-up infiltration was creating "the same chain of events which led to the June war" in 1967.

"The enemy shall be made to pay the price in full," he declared. A similar warning was given in leaflets in Arabic dropped by the attacking Israeli warplanes. The leaflets proclaimed: "Saboteurs—we shall reach you. Those who succeed in crossing the Jordan River fall into our hands. Those who resist are killed, wounded or sentenced to long terms in jail. Forty-four of you were buried by us last month alone ... Death to whoever strives to cause death. Life to whoever wishes to live in peace."

Shooting continues across Jordan

Both Jordan and Israel notified the UN Security Council of the air raid, and Jordan charged the Israelis with aggression. But neither asked for any UN action.

Talk on regional concepts given to Rotary by McGill School leader

STANSTEAD—Regional concepts, was the topic of a talk by Dr. Jan Lundgren, head of the Regional Study, McGill Summer School at Stanstead College, who spoke on July 29 at the Boundary Rotary Club meeting at Dufferin Heights Country Club.

Describing how a region is actually established and how it changes with the passing of time, Dr. Lundgren said one finds the core is the human factor, a ten-year-old has a different outlook than a 50-year-old man. Other factors are educational background, geographical, depending upon the sources of supply, its economics and manufacturers look upon regions from the viewpoint of their markets, so various and different regions are established.

Transportation and purchase power enters into the picture, so does a poor farming area, and thus sets a different region. Regions and zones become fixed by countries, springing from functional factors, administration of regions, brought about by autoroutes and changes of accessibility.

Changes come as time passes from the pioneer days, from the horse and buggy days to the present space and atomic age. The early days are now old-fashioned, not good enough, obsolete.

Camera buff can have cheap profitable visit

WETZLAR, West Germany (CP) — Three days of any European holiday can be spent here both cheaply and profitably by any amateur photographer with a little foresight.

E. Leitz Co., makers of the world-renowned Leica cameras and high-quality lenses for science, operates a three-day school for camera buffs every week.

It's free, but arrangements have to be made well in advance by writing to the school for admission to a Monday-to-Wednesday course in English, French or another language.

Wetzlar is about an hour's train ride north of Frankfurt, in rolling hill country on a tributary of the Rhine River. The old part of the city, where Leitz will arrange modest hotel accommodation, perches on top of a hill dominated by its ancient cathedral.

On Tuesday there are lessons on filters and other lens attachments, a survey of color photography, and a session on copying and close-up photography.

There are fine telephoto shots across the lazy Lahn River of the old cathedral, 16th century buildings leaning into the cobbled streets, fountains, school boys fishing, and a wide range of subjects available.

Even the roll of black and white film you'll shoot is free from Leitz. The company will develop it, make a proof sheet, and blow up your four best shots to 8 by 10 inches.

PRACTICAL COURSE
Classes start sharp at 9 a.m. with a 45-minute lunch break, and continue to about 4:30 p.m. It's necessary to arrive in Wetzlar on a Sunday evening. And don't plan on leaving until Thursday morning.

Monday's first class is a survey of the latest models of Leica cameras, and each student is given a 35-mm. range-finder and a reflex camera to play with, along with an assortment of lenses.

Monday afternoon, if the weather is fine, the class takes to the streets of Wetzlar on a photo expedition.

On Tuesday there are lessons on filters and other lens attachments, a survey of color photography, and a session on copying and close-up photography.

Five people killed in weekend accidents

Five persons were killed and at least 11 were injured in an Eastern Townships weekend marked by a rash of accidents.

A young East Angus boy, Gilles Olivier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Olivier of 135 St. Pierre Street in East Angus, died while swimming in Willimantic, Connecticut.

A St. Ludger man, Roger Lachance, 27, was killed after falling from a moving tractor in a Maine logging camp. Mr. Lachance, who left a wife and child, was thrown from the tractor when struck by a branch.

Antonio Blideau, 55, of Audet near Lake Megantic, was asphyxiated after falling into a sawdust pit at a manufacturing plant near Andover, Maine.

Joanne Huculak, 11, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emilien Huculak, of 519 80th Avenue, Ville LaSalle, was killed about a quarter of a mile east of South Bolton on Highway 29 at 5:15 p.m. yesterday.

Miss Huculak was crossing the highway when she was struck by a car driven by Gerald Carrier, 26, of Mansonville.

Coroner Paul - Emile Roy has not yet fixed a firm date for the inquest.

A young Martinville boy was pronounced dead on arrival at the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital Saturday afternoon after being struck by a car on the cemetery road in Martinville. Daniel Gosselin, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fernand Gosselin, was hit while running across the road in front of his house. The driver, Mrs. Darling Carrier, of RR2, Bulwer, told police she was unable to avoid the boy.

Police say that the boy was thrown over 75 feet as a result of the impact.

A car driven by Cecile Lesard, 23, of 48 Mitchell Street in Thetford Mines was completely destroyed by flames after being struck by another vehicle last night on Bourque Boulevard in front of the Unic Motel.

Miss Lessard and Yvon Beaudette, 32, of Kingston Street in Sherbrooke, driver of the other car, suffered only minor injuries.

The accident occurred after Mr. Beaudette tried to pass the car driven by Miss Lessard.

Her car stopped near a roadside post and caught on fire.

Both were taken to the Hotel-Dieu Hospital for treatment by Brien ambulance.

Four people were injured, two seriously, when their car was struck by a Canadian National train at a railway crossing on Route 22 between Richmond and Drummondville.

Injured in the collision were Mrs. Francis Magliaro, of Orange, New Jersey; Mrs. Mary Petrozello, of Uniontown, New Jersey; and Mrs. Thomas Depalma, also of Orange.

The collision, which occurred early Saturday morning, sent the car hurtling for about 100 feet before it tumbled down a 30-foot ravine.

Police stated that the injuries were most probably caused by the drop down the ravine. The train was not travelling fast, as it was slowing down to enter the Richmond station.

Three people were slightly injured Saturday afternoon when the car they were driving struck a post on King Street in Sherbrooke.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frigon, of Drummondville, and Miss Jeanine Landry were taken to St. Vincent de Paul Hospital for observation.

An automobile - motorcycle collision Saturday afternoon in Magog sent two people to La Providence Hospital where they were treated for multiple injuries.

Normand Fontaine, 20, of 58 Papineau Street in Lake Megantic and Louise Hamel, 18, of 3578 Choquette Street in Lake Megantic were thrown off the motorbike after the collision at the corner of St. Patrick and Sherbrooke Streets.

Driver of the car was Jean-Roch Bernard of 14 St. Patrick Street in Magog.

Rotary luncheon to be replaced by Ladies' Day

Tomorrow's regular luncheon meeting of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club, normally held at the New Sherbrooke Hotel, is being replaced by a Ladies' Day at the farm home of president Paul Nadeau on Saturday.

Activities get underway at 2 p.m. with swimming, golf, and riding. There will be an outdoor supper at 6 p.m. followed by a bonfire. Signs will be posted on route 5 just past the Capleton turnoff indicating the way to Mr. Nadeau's home.

A WALK INTO THE PAST: Is what these three people are passing into as they enter the Richmond County Historical Society Museum which was officially opened Saturday in Upper Melbourn. On the far side is Newlands Coburn of Westmount who donated the more than century-old building to the society; in the middle is Norma Knowles, one of the many women who

Historical museum is now open

UPPER MELBOURNE — with an old-fashioned canopy bed, a bureau more than a century old and a woman's gown which might have been worn about 125 years ago.

In another bedroom, one woman was pushing down on a mattress and she laughed. She said it was a straw mattress and added she hadn't seen one like it since the one she had slept on at her grandmother's.

Downstairs, one item that stands out is a pedal organ, the kind that had to be pumped. A little white-haired woman sat down at the antique instrument and smiled wistfully as she ran her fingers over the keys.

On the walls are pictures that are painted by artists during the nineteenth century.

One picture was different from the others. It was a picture of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lewis. Mr. Lewis came to Canada in 1834 and he built the house which was then grey.

It has since been whitewashed and it now is distinguished by the sign near the roof marked, Richmond County Historical Society Museum.

A history of the house shows that in 1867, a young couple, Mr. and Mrs. James Mairs, moved into the house and it remained in the hands of their descendants for more than 90 years.

Two of their granddaughters, three great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren still survive this pioneer couple.

Many Richmond and Melbourn residents recall that ice-cream was sold on the premises from 1923 until 1945.

On April 8, 1928, the house was flooded by four feet of water when the St. Francis River surged over its banks.

Several changes were made in 1958 when the building was bought by Ed O'Dell.

He converted the house into a two-family dwelling.

The verandah which surrounded the house on three sides was torn down, the three tall spruce trees which were landmarks were cut.

A large hearth inside the house was removed and the living room was divided into two smaller rooms by a partition. This partition has been removed and the room is once again its former self. Even the furniture seems to fit as if the room had to be large. Much of the old furniture is larger than the compact chairs, sofas and tables of today.

Miss Jean Pepler, president of the society, told the group yesterday the society had been formed six years ago and said she was proud it finally has a museum.

The museum will be open from August until September from 2 to 4 p.m. and it is very worthwhile to pay a visit. It is really like walking in another century unnoticed and being able to observe.

UNVEILS GREAT GRAND-FATHER'S PLAQUE: John Henry Pope Jr. unveils the commemorative plaque in honor of his late great-grandfather, Senator John Henry Pope of Cookshire. The ceremony took place in Cookshire

Saturday night at the County Hall where the plaque is placed on the wall. The Senator was a pioneer railroad engineer and worked with Sir John A. MacDonald, Canada's first Prime Minister. (Record photo)

Large crowd attends the unveiling of Pope plaque

COOKSHIRE — (Special) — As part of the Centennial celebrations here and following a supper, sponsored by the English-speaking people of the town, a large crowd of people attended the unveiling of a plaque in memory of the late Honorable John Henry Pope, a noted philanthropist for Compton County and district.

The ceremony took place in the town park on Saturday evening, when his great-grandson, John Henry Pope, Jr., had the honor of pulling aside the Canadian flag covering the plaque which had been attached to the County Buildings. Others assisting in the ceremony were Mayor Donat Chapdelaine; M. Gosselin, representing his father, MLA Claude Gosselin; Lionel Hurd, president of the Historical Society; Omer Dionne and vice-president of ET Historical Society, Mr. G. McKean brought greetings.

WINDSOR — (Staff) — Going into its fourth week on Thursday, the Domtar employees' strike has already begun affecting merchants here and in East Angus and is causing an atmosphere of apprehension in the two paper - mill towns.

With no apparent settlement in view, Mayor Lewis Craig of Windsor said yesterday he met with Windsor merchants last week to discuss problems caused by the strike.

The mayor told the Record the merchants reported sharp decreases in business during the past two weeks.

"Business is going down", he said and grocers and butchers are being hurt especially hard.

Two Windsor hotel operators said their business hasn't slackened yet but they were apprehensive of a drop in drinking.

One of them said about the predicted decrease in business, "It's going to start next week." He said it is still about the same as it was before the strike.

The other hotel operator said there has been no change yet in business and wasn't certain there would be a decrease "later."

He explained that the way things are now, he couldn't tell what it will be like next week or the week after if the strike continues.

Police departments in the two towns report that there have been no incidents of disturbing the peace as a direct result of the strike.

A Windsor police official did say however, there has been one case of vandalism when a can of paint was thrown at the house of the assistant - manager in charge of personnel at the Domtar plant.

The guards at the two mills have reported no trouble during the strike.

As picketers marched up and down the hill in front of the Windsor plant, one Domtar mill employee said he was getting impatient.

He said he was having no trouble living and supporting his family but he looked bored after three weeks of unscheduled holidays.

He explained the union paid its men $20 a week and $3 extra for each child.

He said most of the men could "live quite comfortably on this" and added the employees were willing to continue with the strike.

On Friday, a letter was sent to the employees by the company's director general Raymond Pinard, explaining why the company couldn't afford to give in to the strikers' demand of a basic 35 cents an hour raise.

Mr. Pinard explained that the Domtar Pulp and Paper Limited couldn't be compared with newspaper mills.

He also pointed out the mills in the United States could undersell the Windsor and East Angus products because of more specialized, modern production methods and new, low tariffs.

He said in the letter a Domtar employee produces about $103 worth of material a day while his American counterpart produces $240 worth a day.

He said the company's economic situation did not permit the raise.

There are no known negotiation talks slated yet for this week.

Nadeau would like to hire a city urbanist

Mayor Armand Nadeau of Sherbrooke will present another new project to city council at its regular meeting tonight.

He will propose hiring a permanent urbanist for the city whom, he said, would plan Sherbrooke's development.

The mayor explained Sherbrooke was in need of someone to plan and outline the city's expansion in detail. He added the urbanist would be particularly effective in re-organizing Sherbrooke's zoning system.

The mayor admitted that the city's zoning was confused and tangled.

The mayor said the large-scale master plan for the expansion of the city as outlined by the LaHaye Report should be scrapped.

He described the plan as "out of date" and said it did not correspond with present day realities.

Mayor Nadeau said even a city like Trois Rivières, which has a much smaller population than Sherbrooke, employs a permanent urbanist.

Aldermen show wisdom on city hall project

With at least seven of the 10 aldermen voicing their opposition to Mayor Nadeau's project for the early erection of a new city hall, the scheme apparently will be put on the shelf for the time being at least.

And, in opposing the project, the dissenting aldermen are obviously reflecting the opinions of the great majority of the citizens who feel that the present is not an opportune time for the city to undertake any but the most vital capital expenditures.

None will deny the argument that additional space is needed to house the ever-expanding civic services but a number of alternatives are available to the construction of a new city hall — alternatives that would obviate the need for heavy borrowings at the present time when interest rates are high while other very urgent projects, such as the sewage disposal plant, must be carried out in the near future.

One particularly objectionable feature of the Mayor's city hall plan is calling for the levy of a special tax of $13 per family annually to meet the costs and for a one per cent increase in the business tax.

Probably the idea behind this suggestion is to relieve the fears of the proprietors — who must approve any loan by-law — that the real estate tax rate would be boosted.

But however it may be disguised, the carrying cost of a new city hall will be a direct added burden on the shoulders of the taxpayers, already loaded down with recently increased levies from all levels of government.

Desirable as a new city hall may be, especially from the viewpoint of civic pride, the project must be deferred until such time as the municipal finances improve.

Woman's work is never done — at least, not on the days dad is left in charge of the house.

Local pollution fight

Dramatic as they may be, the directives to the pulp and paper and the petroleum industries by the provincial government designed to cut down on the industrial pollution of Quebec waterways cover only a small portion of the problem.

Other industries contribute much to the unsatisfactory state of the lakes and rivers and the dumping of untreated sewage by individuals and municipalities also contributes to aggravating the situation.

But the action of the provincial government emphasizes the importance of public opinion in the fight against water pollution — and air pollution for that matter.

The directives undoubtedly were the result of pressure brought by well-organized interested groups on the provincial authorities and in all likelihood if citizens in other areas showed similar interest the anti-pollution campaign would be widely extended.

One of the reasons for public disinterest is the belief that pollution is a wide problem and that any action at the local level is useless.

But widespread as the problem may be, there is an important role for local action.

If each community would deal with conditions over which it has control, there would be an improvement in the general situation, even if the menace were not ended completely.

Some folk never gamble, but most of us sneak across streets on the red light now and then.

ET student visits the UN

The UN stands for world peace and that alone is its magic

ED. NOTE: Margaret Coddington, a Grade X student at St. Francis High School in Richmond, visited the United Nations in New York early in July under the sponsorship of IOOF Pioneer Lodge No. 7, Olive Branch Rebekah Lodge No. 9 and Jubilee Lodge No. 31. She is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Coddington, Richmond. This is her account of her impressions of the United Nations.

By MARGARET CODDINGTON
Ever had the opportunity to visit the United Nations? Thanks to the Rebekahs and the Oddfellows, I have, and my trip to the UN is something I'd never have missed.

My UN trip could be described in one word — educational. It taught me many things about people and different ideas, attitudes, and ways of thinking. But mostly, it taught me the value of this world organization called the United Nations. The value of the United Nations lies simply in its existence. And just how could this existence be defined? It's nations that are united for a common purpose, world peace; it is a peace treaty backed by a permanent body; it's the embodiment of a dream for "peace on earth." Whatever the definition, the United Nations is FOR peace. And that, alone, is the magic of the UN.

The value of the UN is often questioned, though, and seemingly with good reason. It has failed to stop the Vietnam war. It has failed to close the ever-widening poverty gap. It has failed to make peace in the Middle East or in Africa. Halt! The UN has not failed. Admittedly, the UN has experienced setbacks which, looked at in a negative manner, are sometimes called failures.

But the United Nations has a positive side and it has accomplished much. The Soviet Union and the United States working together is an accomplishment. So is the successful passing of the resolution concerning the non-proliferation of nuclear weapons. The recent UN aid to the Biafrans is another example. The UN has succeeded, but it has also failed. In this respect the UN resembles a mirror: it reflects both the good and bad. Nevertheless, it deserves our support simply because of that redeeming word "peace".

The UN, in its search for peace, deals with two levels of conflict — political and social and economic. I consider the latter more important as it is often the cause of political conflict, but that's a personal prejudice. The UN has various organizations employed on the political level — The General Assembly, the International Court of Justice, and the Security Council being the main ones. Their purpose is to save succeeding generations from the "scourge of war." This cause, while noble, is also difficult. The Arab-Israeli situation, the Vietnam war, the China question, the Nigeria-Biafra problem are examples of difficulties which the UN faces. Yet, as one of our speakers said, "Over time, the solutions to problems are found simply because the nature of the problem changes." Time, the necessary ingredient, is provided by the UN with its debate sessions and negotiating facilities. Besides peaceful settlement of disputes, the UN can use force with permission of the Security Council. The UN Peace Force is impartial to both sides and one such force is now proving to advantage in Cyprus. Although this situation is advantageous, others are not. One such is the Vietnam war. The UN is unable to stop this war because three of the four countries involved are non-members of the United Nations. Naturally, they do not feel responsible to the UN or the world peace it desires. And, as one of the speakers pointed out, "That's politics, UN or no UN." Social and economic matters are the concern of many UN groups — The Economic and Social Council, the United Nations Development Fund, the Food and Agricultural Organization and UNICEF. The organization which attracted me most was the F.A.O. which deals with food. Our speaker on this topic was ideal because he had been a prisoner of war and had actually seen three general fights over a crust of bread from a garbage tin. He knew the real meaning of the word hunger and proceeded to tell us the facts of life — facts which everyone ought to know. Two-thirds of the world's people live in poverty; only one-third, our third lives in comfort. Five hundred million people are undernourished. Three million die of starvation. Our leftovers from one day would feed a family in India for a whole week. One tenth of the world's food is lost in storage. The average Indian rat is better fed than its human counterpart. Those are the facts, but does anyone care? Not the hippies! Their motto is "Live and let live". The United Nations' motto is "Live and help live"! Do you care to help?

Goes up and down the scale

Castro popularity at low ebb

HAVANA (AP)—Signs saying, "Gracias, Fidel," popped up in Havana as Castro and his band of bearded guerrillas made their triumphant entry into the capital 9½ years ago. "Ninety-nine per cent of the people were behind him," an ex-Castro fan recalls.

The prime minister's popularity has gone up and down since. Evidence now indicates it is at its lowest point since he chased dictator Fulgencio Batista out of the country in 1959.

There seems little doubt that discontent today is more serious than government officials acknowledge. The middle ground of Cubans, people who could be identified in Canada or the U.S. as independent voters, are tired of rationing, tired of promises and tired of more restrictions. Ever since Castro took control there have been those who wanted to overthrow him, but organized opposition always has been minor and with little real popular support.

Today, the disenchantment is unorganized but widespread. It is grassroots discontent, caused principally by austere living conditions.

As such, it seems capable of flaring into something more threatening, or dissolving if the Communist government eliminates its economic problems.

MANY DISCONTENTED
Disaffected Cubans are complaining primarily about living conditions. But there is resentment against government pressure to demand more while giving less material rewards. The signs of discontent became public early this year when the party brought a few old-line, pro-Soviet Communists to trial for disagreeing with the party line.

Castro followed with his militant "revolutionary offensive," a campaign aimed at firming up ideology and the economy. Faced with more work and less for it, Cubans began grumbling. The incidents are isolated, but crude wall writings and homemade leaflets, few in number, have declared, "Down with Fidel, down with communism" and referred to "misery" and "hunger".

An outbreak of unexplained fires at production installations was reported in cities in April and May. In one instance, the evidence indicated sabotage.

STUDENTS PROTEST
At some Havana high schools, students were censured for distributing anti-government literature and demanding more freedom in school affairs. Education Minister Jose Llanusa warned them: "We are not going to have another Czechoslovakia in Cuba." During an assembly honoring the birthday of Ho Chi Minh, a handful of Havana University students shouted, "Down with Vietnam! We're hungry!" Witnesses say two were seized by police.

London Bridge isn't falling, just moving

LONDON (CP) — The biggest antique to leave Britain in exchange for United States dollars is on its way, stone by stone, on a 7,500-mile journey that will take three years to complete.

London Bridge is living up to the old nursery rhyme at last, coming apart from top to bottom under the onslaught of a machine that attacks mortar like a steel-beaked woodpecker.

The first ship load of old Cornish granite has already left the Canada Dock on a Norwegian freighter bound for Los Angeles and then to Lake Havasu City, Ariz., where the bridge will eventually be reconstructed. The herald of 10 or more consignments between now and 1971, the SS Fossun carried 855 tons of crated balustrades and uncrated coping-stones packed flat in her forward hold with pieces of protective timber wedged between.

One 616-pound block was flown as a souvenir to London, Ont., one of the Canadian cities which expressed interest in bidding for the bridge.

The operation has left the graceful, 137-year-old bridge looking somewhat toothless on its upstream side, an impression heightened by orange boarding put up by the demolition contractors to protect traffic from the open edge.

Otherwise, nothing dramatic has happened at the site, except the day the foreman came down with a skull under each arm and announced his crew had found two skeletons in the north-bank abutment—thought to be of workmen buried alive during construction.

The downstream side is still intact and will remain so until the next phase—construction of the new bridge—allows the traffic and pedestrians lanes to be shifted farther upstream.

Agents for the American buyers periodically fuss around the site, examining packing arrangements and trying to hustle the pace.

The 70-man demolition squad is working flat out, but outwardly the operation proceeds in leisurely, extremely thorough British fashion, directed by an urbane resident engineer who has fitted up his site office with African wood panelling, a Persian carpet, Victorian furniture and old prints.

"Well, why should I live like a pig for five years?" asked Robin Anderson, producing sherry for the visitor.

Anderson, who calls himself a river man, pulled off a technical triumph in 1962 when he replaced the water-soaked timbers in the bascules of Tower Bridge with polyurethane—a revolutionary use of this manmade fabric. The unpublicized operation, completed in 12 weekends of round-the-clock work, corrected an imbalance caused by 19 tons of water that had seeped into the heart of the famous Victorian bridge.

Bygone days

TEN YEARS AGO

Plans have been completed for the Annual Optimist Club picnic scheduled to take place at the St. Pat's Old Boys camp on Stoke Lake Sunday, August 17.

This was announced at the breakfast meeting yesterday by local club president Ron MacDonald.

Members were invited to bring their family, friends and any prospective members.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

Lennoxville's new police chief Alan O'Rourke has already slipped into the role of 'jack-of-all-trades' which the position has traditionally called for.

Saturday afternoon, he was a lone fireman.

A car owned by Mrs. Maskell of Bury was parked unoccupied on Main Street opposite the Georgian Hotel, and at about 5 o'clock, flames and smoke began to billow out of the front.

Mr. O'Rourke who had just driven up to the police station in a police car heard of the blaze, dashed out into the street with the car's portable fire extinguisher, and soon had the flames under control.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Lucien Robichaud, director of the Sherbrooke Tourist Bureau, told members of the Sherbrooke Optimist Club last night that American tourists spend $250,000,000 a year in Canada and that the tourist industry ranks right behind pulp and paper and electricity.

Republicans draft mild policy

Financial report

Deaths

MIAMI BEACH (CP) — A relatively moderate foreign policy platform has been pieced together in prolonged discussion for approval by the Republican convention.

There are few hard lines taken except on some questions of relations with Communist countries. The document, normally passed as a convention formality, is a guideline for the Republican presidential candidate.

This particular draft gives the party choice ample leeway on many major questions, including peace talks on Vietnam or even recognition of Communist China.

That deliberate ambiguity reflects conflict within the party on many major questions as well as concern about what the American voting public feels, or will feel by voting day Nov. 5.

One token of the platform tone was the immediate endorsement it received from Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, regarded as the most liberal of the trio seeking the Republican presidential nomination. Former vice-president Richard Nixon and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, on the right wing, are the others.

Predictably President Johnson's Vietnam policy is flayed as having "failed—militarily, politically, diplomatically and with relation to our own people."

NEW APPROACH
"It is time to realize that not every international conflict is susceptible of solution by American ground forces," it says, adding:

"We pledge to adopt a strategy relevant to the real problems of the war, concentrating on the security of the population, on developing a greater sense of nationhood, and on strengthening the local forces. It will be a strategy permitting a progressive de-Americanization of the war, both military and civilian."

As for a peace-negotiation policy, it affirms sincere and vigorous pursuit of negotiations but gives no details.

The keynote of the program is that "our best hope for enduring (world) peace lies in comprehensive international co-operation."

A Republican president would press for greater allied co-operation and "encourage regional approaches to defence, economic development and peaceful adjustments of disputes."

But tighter control would be imposed on foreign aid, with more emphasis on technical assistance and more regard for the domestic needs of the U.S. itself.

CUTS BACK AID
One of the few specific foreign-policy planks would bar aid to nations "which aid and abet the war efforts of North Vietnam."

Another would end U.S. efforts to improve East-West relations by expanded trade until "Communist nations prove by actual deeds that they genuinely seek world peace."

More aid to industries harmed by imports is proposed. But the party would seek to cure the overseas dollar drain by restraint in federal spending and foreign commitments and by reciprocal trade taxes.

It indicates it would end or modify the restraint imposed on overseas investment since 1965 and abandon present efforts to tax American travel outside the Western Hemisphere.

The program calls for all the military aid Israel needs to maintain her defences against Soviet arms in Arab nations and also for repairing relations with Western Europe, "needlessly and dangerously impaired."

Sales of $74.7 million of Northern and Central Gas Corp in the six months ended June 30, 1968 were 9% above $68.8 million in the first half of 1967, and net profit improved 14% to $9.2 million (80 cents per share) from $8 million (70 cents a share). In the 12 months ended June 30, 1968 sales totalled $131.9 million against $121.9 million in the preceding 12 months, and net profit was up 15% to $10.8 million (94 cents per share) as compared with $9.4 million (82 cents a share). Results assume interest in Quebec Natural Gas Corp. held throughout both 1967 periods.

Control of Quebec Natural Gas was acquired in March 1967. Quebec Natural Gas is meeting objectives and is expected to contribute to 1968 profit, says E. C. Bovey, President. Oil output and deliveries are increasing at Canadian Industrial Gas & Oil Ltd. Gains by the utility group . . . in load growth and customer acquisition are reflected in an almost doubling of gas appliance sales for the 1968 six-month period. Results are expected to improve in the second half, states Mr. Bovey.

Power Corp of Canada is reported to have acquired almost 97% of Trans-Canada Corp Fund common shares under its share exchange offer of April 26th which expired July 25th 1968. It is intended to invoke section 48 of the Companies Act of Quebec to acquire the remaining shares.

LARGE CROWD

This building, built in 1955, is on the same site of the old wooden county building, which was struck by lightning on Oct. 12, 1954 and completely demolished by fire. It was in the old building that John Henry Pope received the rudiments of his education; it had been a school before being the county building.

John Henry Pope was a descendant of United Empire Loyalists, who left the area near Boston, Mass., around 1800 to live in this vicinity. He was the son of Colonel John Pope and his wife Sophia Laberec Pope, and was born in 1819. He inherited from his forefathers that spirit of self-reliance characteristic of his life. He believed in enlarging and consolidating Imperial authority and interests.

Mr. Pope was interested in farming, cattle-raising, mining, railroads and water power and could always be relied on for financial assistance, guidance and moral support.

Entering the old Canada Assembly in 1857, Mr. Pope soon became an active spirit in politics. He was elected Member of Parliament for Compton County in 1857, and from then on served in various capacities. He was made Minister of Agriculture in 1871 and served until 1873, and again served in the same capacity from 1878, until 1885, when he was made Minister of Railways and Canals, which position he held until his death in 1889. He was buried in Cookshire Cemetery and a large family monument marks his last resting place.

Mr. Pope was a man of wide visions, and his experiences in farming, cattle raising, mining, railroads and finances proved an invaluable asset in the various tasks he undertook, not only in this district, but also in Ottawa.

Richmond

Dr. Margaret Bedard has returned to Richmond, after spending a month in Europe, during which time, after a tour of the west coast of Ireland, she spent some time at headquarters of the International Catholic Child Bureau in Geneva, Switzerland, and attended the meeting of the General Council of the organization in Monte Carlo, at which she was elected vice-president. For the past twelve years Dr. Bedard has been a representative at the United Nations in New York for the International Catholic Child Bureau, which has consultative status with the Economic and Social Council and UNICEF. Her work in Europe took her through parts of southern France and Italy.

Miami authorities nab armed man after tip

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Authorities acting on a tip from Nevada's governor arrested a 29-year-old man today who, they said, had shipped a rifle to his room at a hotel housing two delegations to the Republican national convention.

Dade County sheriff's police said James Chad Anderson of Kanab, Utah, was charged with vagrancy and volunteered to undergo psychiatric tests.

Nevada Gov. Paul Laxalt said he recognized Anderson and told hotel officials of his presence. Laxalt said authorities were called after the man inquired about fishing tackle he was having shipped here.

Lieut. James Vermilye, in charge of the Dade County criminal intelligence unit, said the FBI and Secret Service joined police in a check that "revealed a .22-calibre rifle had been shipped to Anderson's room at the hotel."

Vermilye quoted Anderson as saying the rifle was an antique that he had included in the package containing fishing tackle he planned to use at this

Florida resort city. From Las Vegas, Laxalt said he recognized Anderson, who had no connection with the convention, as a former Las Vegas, Nev., resident.

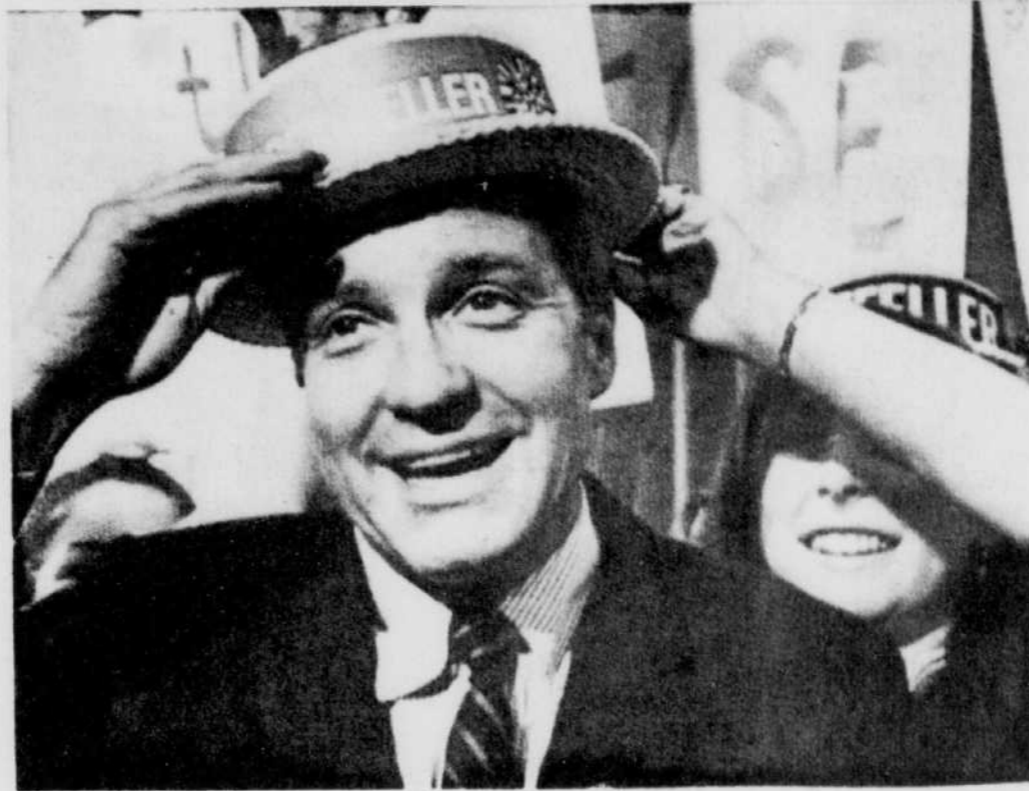

The governor told a state caucus the man had been writing unintelligible letters to some delegates.

He added, however, that the letters did not contain any threats. Laxalt described them as gibberish.

Both the Nevada and Oklahoma delegations are housed in the Golden Gate Hotel where Anderson was registered. The ocean front resort hotel is located in Golden Beach, a suburb north of Miami Beach about 11 miles from the site of the convention beginning today.

The arrest was the first such incident in the security-conscious convention atmosphere, where Secret Service men surround candidates and special passes are needed to approach campaign command posts.

Anderson, who was taken first to hospital, was being held today in Dade County jail, police said.

A HAT HE CAN WEAR — Illinois Senator Charles Percy is probably a Rockefeller supporter anyway but if he weren't, young Carole Miller is pretty enough to tempt any man to switch camps as she adjusts the campaign head gear at the Republican National Convention in Miami Beach. (AP Wirephoto)

Doctor pleased with patient's condition after knee transplant

QUEBEC (CP) — Dr. Andre Gilbert, who transplanted a knee to a 65-year-old woman Friday, said Sunday his patient's condition is "simply marvelous" and he will issue a complete medical bulletin tonight.

Earlier reports had said only a kneecap was involved.

The bone surgeon, who at the request of her family did not reveal the woman's name, said his patient bent her knee 90 degrees without difficulty.

If she retains this amount of movement, he said, she will show no sign of infirmity.

Dr. Gilbert said the woman, whom he has cared for for about seven months, had a disease in her left knee which eventually have required amputation of her leg above the knee.

Dr. Gilbert removed the upper part of the tibia (shin bone) and the lower part of the femur (thigh bone) of Fernand Gauthier, 49, of suburban Silery, who died the day before, and transplanted them to the knee of his patient.

The operation, which lasted nearly seven hours, may be the first in the world, Dr. Gilbert said. He said that to his knowledge there is no previous record of a similar operation.

Dr. Gilbert said the operation would not have been possible without the co-operation of Dr. Richard Authier, a medical-legal specialist, who was responsible for finding a compatible donor.

Dr. Gilbert was ready to carry out the operation for about 10 days before the "ideal knee" was obtained Friday. Dr.

Authier removed the healthy knee from Mr. Guthier's body at noon Friday in the Quebec morgue after obtaining the consent of the donor's family.

Dr. Gilbert's patient was placed under anesthetic about 2 p.m. and the operation began about 2:30 p.m. It was completed about 9:30 p.m.

The next day, the woman was able to bend her knee when physiotherapy treatments began, Dr. Gilbert said. He added that she had no circulatory trouble and the operation was considered a success.

However, Dr. Gilbert added that it will take six or seven months to determine whether the graft was a complete success and to decide whether there are grounds for proceeding with other similar operations.

Searchers dynamite lake in bid to find missing campers

MANIWAKI, Que. (CP) — Searchers for five young campers missing since Wednesday and believed drowned in Lake Basketong used dynamite Sunday in an effort to dislodge any bodies snagged on submerged trees.

Meanwhile, provincial police sent out a public appeal for compressed air to restore the supply of divers participating in the search.

The searchers believed the victims' bodies may have become entangled in the branches of tall trees covered by water when a dam was built at the lake's outlet into the Gatineau River 90 miles north of Ottawa.

The missing youngsters were in a party of seven campers and two counsellors on a five-day canoe trip when a violent storm upset their four canoes on the lake.

Survivors of the trip said they saw some of their friends drown. Four of the campers managed to swim to a small island in the large lake and were rescued by three men on a log raft used by a lumber company.

Provincial police said the campers hung onto their overturned canoes for about two hours but high waves pulled them under.

Missing are Elizabeth Richards, 17, Barbara Joan Doehler, 12, Kathy Faughnan, 11, and Ward Bailey, 17, all of Montreal, and Donald Vien, 12, of St. Sauveur des Monts, Que.

The search party, including several divers, was continuing the hunt.

Johnson looks to steel Corp.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, in an apparent replay of his successful 1966 rollback of steel prices, is looking to competitive pressure from giant U.S. Steel Corp. to bring the industry into line.

Aides said Sunday night Johnson feels a general steel-price increase can be avoided if U.S. Steel, the largest producer, keeps aloof from across-the-board increases posted by Bethlehem and Republic, the No. 2 and No. 3 producers.

U.S. Steel and five other members of the top 10 have raised prices only on certain items with increases ranging from four to seven per cent.

Only McLouth and Kaiser of the top 10 have made no increases at all.

Although U.S. Steel is regarded as the make-or-break factor, Johnson is tightening other screws one by one.

Latest turn came Sunday night when Chairman Paul Rand Dixon announced an emergency session of his Federal Trade Commission to consider a request by Senator Philip Hart (Dem.-Mich.) for an investigation of steel-pricing practices.

How much direct pressure—if any—is being brought on U.S. Steel to hold the line could not be learned.

But the situation closely parallels 1966, when Bethlehem led the way with a $5-a-ton increase on certain major items.

The company rolled back to remain competitive when Big Steel, under tremendous White House pressure, posted increases of $2.50 on the same items.

Johnson also ordered government agencies to avoid purchases from price-boosters in that confrontation, as he has done this time.

The orders were applied to defence purchases last week and extended during the weekend to all government steel-buying.

The White House campaign so far has been aimed mainly at Bethlehem and Republic, which posted across-the-board increases of slightly under five per cent only hours after the industry last Wednesday reached a agreement with the United Steelworkers on a new three-year contract. The past is expected to cost six per cent a year.

She holds the top-flight post

MONTREAL (CP) — When Georgette St. Cyr was appointed the Royal Bank of Canada's first woman branch manager she thought the directors were teasing her.

"It was so unusual. When I realized they were serious I was worried it might be too much responsibility for a woman."

But with the encouragement of her husband, Raymond, an inspector at an aircraft firm, and the statement of Georges Mercier, district general manager for Quebec, New Brunswick and eastern Ontario, that it was "simply a matter of selecting the proper person," she accepted the top-flight post.

When Mrs. St. Cyr began in 1941 as a stenographer—"on July 21, I remember it exactly"—the few women employees at the bank held relatively minor positions as ledger keepers and machine operators.

The picture changed during the later war years as more and more men were called overseas.

The bank now employs more women than men in its 1,100 Canadian branches and 114 branches in 26 other countries.

MORE CAREER WOMEN

Mrs. St. Cyr worked her way through the ranks until she became the bank's first woman accountant in a large city branch in 1965.

"I think there will be more and more women in important positions now. I was the first woman accountant and now there are several others."

"I think there will soon be more women managers. The problem is to find women who want to make a career of banking so that giving them the necessary training will not be a waste."

The high turnover in women employees, largely because of marriage, is the major reason why more women are not already in positions of authority, Mr. Mercier says.

"There's been a change in the past few years, however," he notes.

"For various economic reasons there are now more married women planning on careers. There are also large numbers of married women re-entering the labor force, something that is happening in all fields."

TAKES JOB SERIOUSLY

So far Mrs. St. Cyr has encountered no opposition to her being manager of the Place Longueuil branch.

"Male customers seem to have sensibly decided that if I've been appointed manager then I must be competent. Women have seemed very enthusiastic too, though I understand women are often more reluctant to deal with a woman than are men."

To keep up her responsibilities both to the bank and to her home Mrs. St. Cyr says she has to have an almost dual personality.

"When I am a bank manager, I'm all bank manager. When I leave the office, I am all woman."

For the time being she is making the acquaintance of her clients and in the fall will begin drumming up new business for the branch.

"The bank manager's prime responsibility is, after all, getting more business for his bank. And you can't do that if you set yourself up in an ivory tower."

For and about Women

Couple celebrate 50th anniversary

TROY ALLAN, 9½-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rothery, (nee Sharron Hodge) and brother of Kelly Lee of Eaton Corner.

BISHOPTON — Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Leonard were at home to more than 100 relatives and friends on their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Leonard wore a royal blue lace trimmed dress and a corsage of golden roses, the gift of the Brookbury Women's Institute.

Receiving with the bride and groom were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Leonard, the former having been best man at the wedding, 50 years ago.

The tea table was attractive with a cut work linen cloth, golden candles and a three-tier wedding cake, decorated in gold and topped with gold sweet-heart rose buds. The cake was decorated by Mrs. Flora McIntyre.

Five grandchildren of the bride and groom assisted in serving and in taking charge of the guest book.

Fouring tea were Mrs. Hilda Hooker, Mrs. Luecia Weir, Mrs. Lillian Gilbert and Mrs. Mabel Leonard.

In addition to many exceptionally attractive cards, the guests of honor received beautiful gifts from family and friends and from organizations in which Mr. Leonard has worked for many years.

Celebrate 25th wedding

SCOTSTOWN — An enjoyable evening was spent at the Panorama Motel, Lake Megantic, on the occasion of the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Lortitch.

The guests were received at the door by their daughter, Fiona, and a family friend, Mrs. Lorenzo Pilotte. Mr. and Mrs. Lortitch were taken by surprise as the date of their anniversary was earlier in the month.

Their daughter, Melinda gave an address in French and Fiona gave it in English. Mrs. Lortitch was presented with a bouquet of roses by her daughter, Melinda. Tony, Jr. presented his father with a purse of money.

Mr. Lortitch expressed his thanks on behalf of himself and his wife for the gifts presented by the children, and to all their friends, who donated to the gifts, as well as those who helped in any way with planning of the surprise.

The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Bennett wish to announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Sharon Evelynne, to Denis Michael Thompson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Thompson, all of Lennoxville.

Girls stop traffic

WEYBURN, Sask. (CP) — Every one of the three girls on the payroll of a Regina construction firm is guaranteed to stop traffic.

Diane and Loretta Brooker and Doreen Hein are spending the summer as flagmen for BACM, the contractor for a highway repair job between Weyburn and Yellowgrass, Sask., 70 miles southeast of Regina.

The three teen-agers put in 14 hours a day in all types of weather, flagging down motorists as they approach the construction crews.

They found the first few days hard on the feet and legs but say they are no longer bothered by physical aches nor by the stares of the drivers. The only part of the job they could do without is the inevitable dust that goes with road-building.

Knows working mom's problem

OTTAWA (CP) — A petite redhead who knows first hand about problems faced by the working wife-mother is chairman of the Ottawa public school board with its 53 schools and more than 26,500 pupils.

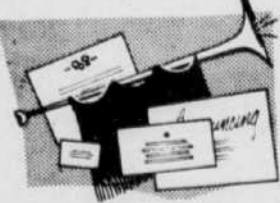

Eileen Scotton—mother of Anne, 14, Lindsay, 12, and Geoffrey, 8—was elected to the 12-member board in December, 1964. A year later she became chairman of its management committee, a position she held until becoming board chairman last year.

A lively, energetic woman, Mrs. Scotton grew up in England where she was evacuated from her London home to a girls' grammar school in Stamford, Lincolnshire, during the Second World War. She stayed in that "city of 108 pubs and six churches" for four years.

A few years after the war, 18-year-old Eileen started a course in English literature and modern languages at the University of London's Birkbeck College.

"My parents were not particularly well off so I arranged courses mostly in the evening and worked for a local newspaper."

WHAT IS

Good advertising

Some advertisers insist on small frequent ads with lots of copy and loads of information, never leaving an ounce of white space... and they claim these ads in the Record bring results!

Others want space... they claim results too!

Then we've got the advertisers who demand cleverly written messages that carry an abundance of superlatives every phase elegantly describing their merchandise, services or ideas. We are able to provide ads of this caliber, and have numerous customers who prevail on us for literally ingenious creations. We do our best, and these advertisers are satisfied with our work, and even more delighted with response.

Then we have the advertisers who believe effective art activity is the backbone to good advertising, and we are able to meet the highest expectations of these customers too. They're right, these impressive ads ring up sales.

Let's not forget our want-ad users, the individuals who want expensive hard-hitting ads. Oh, but it isn't only Tom, Dick and Harry; Jane, Mabel and Mary who believe in classified, many companies swear by the want ads. Proudly we can point to hundreds who claim our classified ads are the best!

We wonder, What is Best?

More than a hundred "top-rated" advertising agencies across Canada employ specialists who persist on searching out the magic formula to determining the most adequately suited type of advertising for various firms' needs! So far, most of them believe they have the right approach, and practically all of these wizards profess to personal beliefs which are miles apart in similarity. Is it any wonder newspaper ad salesmen will have differences of opinion? How in the world would anyone ever expect advertisers to agree on what's best!

Well friends, we believe our outlook is closest to the right answer... it's called common sense, reasoning and planning at the local level! No, our salesmen aren't listed among Canada's top advertising executives, because they don't specialize in the multi-million dollar national campaigns, but concentrate on the needs of Sherbrooke and Eastern Townships advertisers. You can be sure we learn from what others are doing, however applying facts and ideas to the local field is quite different. We prove it every day, with those jammed-packed little ads, the brief copy in lots of white space, the cleverly written texts, and in those artistic creations, even in our classified. You know, most of these local decisions originate with our salesmen, the local chaps and gals in the Record advertising department who know best what it takes to sell people locally!

The next time you have an advertising problem, don't drive yourself mad trying to determine the right way to promote, call in a Sherbrooke Record ad salesman. We don't pretend to have the world's leading authorities on what's best for advertisers, but we'll argue that our knowledge of promotion is as good as any you'll hope to find in this region!

Oh, by the way, you'll reach our advertising sales staff by calling 569-3636 — "anytime!"

Skills need sharpening

TORONTO (CP) — Many older women who return to work after years as housewives find a changing economy has out-dated their job skills.

Marion Royce, former director of the women's bureau of the federal department of labor, is one person who can help them find a new place in the business world.

"The increase of women in employment has pointed up the need for more education" — to sharpen up old job skills or acquire new ones, she says.

"A lot of women are waking up to the fact that they need more education. Women enter the labor force with little training, and that makes them vulnerable to exploitation."

"I don't think it's entirely a matter of a lot of special training for women. I think counselling is the key to the whole thing, a central source of information about what is available."

She said counselling facilities are rare, random and scattered, but a project she is doing for the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education will catalogue them and provide a storehouse of ideas as more organizations want them.

PROGRAMS CROWDED

Miss Royce says the OISE study found many of the existing programs over-subscribed.

A $75 seminar on second careers and whether and where to seek them drew 60 registrations and more inquiries from women. The sessions, held at Toronto's York University, had to be held to 25 members.

The Quo Vadis nursing school in Toronto, organized to train women aged 30 to 50, has had about 3,500 inquiries from potential students since 1964. Of these, 800 have completed applications and 450 have gone through preliminary testing. The first class had 32 members.

The nurse shortage has also produced a pilot series of refresher courses for out-of-practice registered nurses, run by the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario in Toronto.

Miss Royce comments that shortages often work for women.

"The degree of prejudice against them often depends on shortages. We still have a narrow conception of what women can do and what men can do that doesn't have any basis in fact."

UNIVERSITIES HELP

The OISE study found a few experimental efforts among universities.

Mount St. Vincent University in Halifax has a training program for older students in business, nursing, home economics courses. They attend classes with the ordinary undergraduates, and have formed an extra-curricular association for second careers.

The University of Calgary education faculty is accepting older students on the basis of personal interviews when their academic qualifications may not match traditional standards.

The University of British Columbia, helped by foundation money, is setting up counselling seminars in accessible downtown areas.

Registration figures at UBC underline the current interest in education among women past customary school age.

About one-tenth of the women students, 695 out of 6,175, are 25 or over and 54 per cent of these older women students are married.

Instant Hair Fashion

The curly look is now an instant hair fashion, thanks to curlytop wigs and hairpieces. The most revolutionary is the synthetic wig in a new denier that duplicates the look and feel of hair. These curly wigs will hold up in fog and wet weather, and can be crushed in a suitcase or washed like a piece of lingerie, hung up to dry and worn again without the need of a resetting.

Poulet-grille, plus a tasty French salad.

French call it 'poulet grille'

The French, devoted to their picnics, are now showing great interest in American-style portable grills and outdoor fireplaces. And, of course, they are also devoted to their chickens. So here is one of their newest recipes for Poulet Grille (grilled chicken), a perfect dish for that cookout in backyard or wherever you want to have it. Being experts in the use of wine in cooking, this recipe calls for both white wine and Armagnac brandy to bring out all the flavor and tenderness. The salad is unusually good, too. It is made with artichoke bottoms (very different from artichoke hearts) and flag-colets (green baby lima beans), both imported from France. It is marinated in olive oil, tarragon vinegar and Dijon mustard, plus salt and pepper.

- 2 tablespoons tomato paste
 - 2 tablespoons Armagnac brandy
- Put chicken halves in a shallow pan. Combine remaining ingredients and beat until well-blended. Pour over chicken and let stand 1 hour. Drain and broil 8 inches above coals, 20 minutes on each side, brushing chicken with marinade every 10 minutes.
- Serve with a salad of Boston lettuce, halved artichoke bottoms and drained flageolet, which have been marinated in equal parts olive oil, tarragon vinegar, salt, pepper and Dijon mustard to taste.

Polly's pointers

DEAR POLLY—D.A.S. could paper the area back of her bed and put a border around it to simulate a headboard. Also she could attach four wood poles across, fastened to the wall of the bed with equal distances between. Paint poles the desired color and then use silk braid with a tassle edge to go across from pole to pole, dropping in graceful curves like scallops. Framed pictures, of the same size, might be hung to form a rectangle the size of a headboard. If one uses plywood, padded with foam, the covering fabric might be stapled on.—MRS. D.

THE WELL CHILD

More to Infant Care Than Feeding, Changing

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

The transition of a child from a wholly dependent baby to an independent, self-reliant person is hard for many mothers to accept even though they know that this is the ultimate goal desired. A baby in his first months of life needs someone to care for him but he doesn't associate that care with any one person. He must, however, in the next few months become deeply attached to his mother if he is ever to become a loving and lovable person.

The care an infant gets must be more than regular feedings and a change of diapers. It must include warm cuddling and sweet talk. Even though your baby doesn't understand the words, the music of your voice will get your message of love across to him. Even though you can't be with him every moment he is awake in his first two years, you should try to remain where he can see you or hear your voice as much of the time as possible.

If you must leave him, try always to do so when he is awake; leave him with someone he knows and who loves babies, and tell him you will be back. Give him a reassuring smile and he will sense that all is well.

When he has learned to walk, discard the playpen. Encourage him to explore his surroundings, taking care first to remove anything that might hurt him and any treasured items he might break. This is an important step in teaching him self-reliance. Even though he may seem to dart out of sight in the twinkling of an eye at this stage, he won't go so far that he can't find you within a few seconds if he needs to.

Although toddlers do not, properly speaking, play together, being with others of their own age is a broadening experience. At this stage, however, their ability to adjust to strange adults is more important than their ability to get along with other children.

By the time your child reaches school age, how well you have prepared him to stand on his own feet will be put to the test. If you can take him to school on the first day and leave him without tears on either side you will have succeeded admirably. In this matter, it is helpful before school opens to drive or walk him past the school and describe to him what school will be like.

U.S. funds go for control of beetle pest

WASHINGTON (AP)—Scientists in Eastern Europe are being financed through United States farm exports to look for a parasite to control a beetle now described as a major threat to North American agriculture.

The parasite hunt is part of a research program conducted abroad by the U.S. department of agriculture with funds accumulated overseas through sales of U.S. farm commodities.

Dr. H. A. Fowells, who helps direct the research, cited the cereal leaf beetle as an example of what the overseas program offers to the American farmer.

The beetle attacks all grain crops, particularly wheat, Fowells said. It is potentially "the most dangerous agricultural pest in America today," he said.

The beetles can be controlled by chemical poisons, but the hazards involved have been well-documented, Fowells said. Instead, natural enemies—parasites—are being sought in Poland and Yugoslavia.

LIVE IN U.S.?
"There is a very good chance of finding these parasites," Fowells said. "In fact, some have been found already, but the question is whether they can live in the United States."

But the search abroad isn't limited to finding natural enemies of pest countering agriculture. Important discoveries continue to be made to help farmers grow better crops.

Oats is an important crop both for human and livestock food. It developed, scientists say, in the Tigris-Euphrates valley. Another discovery involved an oats variety in Israel which has a protein content of about 30 per cent, compared with about 20 per cent for the best.

Korea is theme of pageant given by Neweaton Valley High-C group

BULWER — At the regular service on July 28 the Bulwer United Church was the scene of a colorful pageant, put on by the members of the Neweaton Valley High-C, who were in charge of the service. Their theme was Korea. Herbert Halsall and Charles Grapes were the leaders and officiated from the pulpit, for the most part.

Other members of the group constituted the choir, which, with the girls wearing Korean costumes, gave a rendition of We Shall Overcome.

Two of the young ladies in costume, received the offering. Taking the place of the usual sermon, three of the members conducted a dialogue in the form of questions and answers the title being, Is That You.

Lord? It was conducted by two girls, Margaret Filshie and Marsha Merrill, with Herbert Halsall at the back of the Church, giving the impression that the Voice came from a great distance.

Following the service, the group invited the congregation to accompany them to the Community Centre, where they were staging a Korean Festival, complete with refreshments. The Korean atmosphere was maintained with pictures, cut-outs, festoons of oriental lanterns.

In a replica of a Korean Temple, slides of different aspects and sections of Korea were viewed. A film on Korea was also shown.

A table at one side of the room displayed many articles of Korean manufacture, a large part of which were of brass. A plate of hammered brass received the good-will offering.

Refreshments were served at small tables by girls in oriental dress and, as a specialty, they served green tea, a national drink of Koreans.

Over all the festivities fluttered the Korean flag. All the contributions will be sent to the United Church missionary, Dr. Florence Murray, in Korea.

School Years

The average number of years of school completed by Americans 25 years old and over is approximately 12, compared to about eight in 1940, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

"Just a big, filthy city" which she left after 10 days to begin travels which included visits to the neighboring states of Cambodia and Laos.

In early December she went to the 80-bed Canadian hospital and clinic in Quangnai, a provincial capital of 16,000 people about five miles from the coast. At first she worked in the office and then in the kitchen under direction of South Vietnamese cooks.

"We spoke fluent sign language," Tara said, smiling. "I sometimes did the shopping. I took a French-Vietnamese interpreter and it was great fun because he spoke French with a Vietnamese accent and I spoke it with an English accent."

"He'd bargain like mad and I'd fish out the money. It was a real provincial market."

"We had about 25 cents a day to feed each patient and we had to shop daily because the kitchen had no refrigeration system."

"Since most South-east Asian families move in with patients who are in hospital and feed them, it took us quite a while to persuade them that we would do the feeding."

Club for wine connoisseurs has limited membership, waiting list

TORONTO (CP) — Not for the typical tippler is this Toronto wine-minded group.

It's the Centennial Wine Society, a club that started less than two years ago with half a dozen members bent on keeping wine connoisseurs within their budget means.

Formed by John and Ellen Watley, it has 200 members and a long waiting list. "About 200 are all we can cope with at the moment," says Mr. Watley.

"Coping with" means supplying club members with six shipments a year, each containing six bottles of carefully selected wines, a few tins of gourmet food, cheeses and suggested menus.

Prime purpose of the club is to introduce little-known, inexpensive wines to members. The Watleys try to keep the price at about $2 a bottle.

Each shipment contains a full description of the wines so members can learn while they taste. Many of the wines selected are being introduced into Canada for the first time.

The Watleys would like to dispel the supposition that the more costly the wine the more knowledgeable the buyer.

Once a year the Watleys shop the European market for the wines that meet their standards of bouquet, taste and price.

Houle pitches one-hitter Sher-Lenn blanks Dorval 8-0

DORVAL — A grand slam home run by Yves Longpre and 12 strikeouts by Norman Houle was the story of the big 8-0 win by the Sher-Lenn Little League All-Stars over Dorval Little League Saturday afternoon at Courtland Park, Dorval.

This was the fourth win in a row for the Sher-Lenn squad as they defeated Cowansville 23-3, Valleyfield twice, 5-0 and 7-6. The Sher-Lenners now meet Kiwanis Maisonneuve at Dorval tonight at Courtland Park. Game time is 6 p.m.

Should the Sher-Lenners lose tonight they will meet Dorval Tuesday evening. The three teams left in the Regional playoffs must lose two games before they are eliminated.

Saturday's game was played under blazing hot sun with a temperature of eighty-four degrees but this did not seem to upset the youngsters as both teams played good ball.

The Sher-Lenn boys' power at the plate was another feature of the game. They connected for a total of 12 hits off Cook and Lebel, the respective Dorval pitchers.

Mayor Armand Nadeau of Sherbrooke arrived shortly before game time and his few words to Coach Amedee Roy and his players seemed to boost the morale of the Sher-Lenn boys.

The crowd of over two thousand who watched the game enjoyed all the action. A bus load of fans and quite a few cars made the journey to Dorval from Sherbrooke and the local fans really enjoyed it.

The Sher-Lenn boys were the first team to bat and they faced Cook, a rather edgy pitcher, who, in the innings he worked, seemed to have quite a dislike for the way the plate umpire was calling the play. A few words from the umpire soon put him straight as to who was calling the balls and strikes.

In the top of the opening inning Denis Rose, first man up went grounded out. Roger Roy fled to rightfield and Houle singled. Yves Longpre with a double sent Houle to third but Randy Warner struckout to end the inning.

In the last of the first Montgomery, Dorval's lead-off hitter grounded to shortstop Roy. The next two batters flied out. In the top of the second Deschanes went down swinging. Laforest went out shortstop to first and Pierre Provencher, next batter, connected for a long single to rightfield. Denis Choquette was grounded out to end the first part of the second inning.

Norman Houle sent the Dor-val batters all down on strikeouts in the last of the second. In the top of the third the Sher-Lenn boys got to Cook coming up with singles from Norman Houle and Conrad Deschanes. The hits coupled with two walks sent two runs across the plate. Houle duplicated his second inning feat by sending down the Dorval batters swinging in the last of the third. The fourth was the big Sher-Lenn inning that salted away the win. Pierre Provencher started things off with a single. Denis Choquette, next batter, also connected for a single sending Deschanes to second. Denis Rose with a single drove Provencher home.

Roger Roy got on with a walk as did Norman Houle to load the bases. Yves Longpre followed with a grand slam home run that made it eight nothing in Sher-Lenn's favor. Randy Warner and Deschanes struckout and Laforest was forced out at second base to end the inning.

It was nothing across for Dorval in the last of the fourth as Houle again retired the side on strikes. There was no further scoring in the fifth and sixth. The Sher-Lenn boys got singles from Longpre, Rose and Landry in the last two innings. Coach Roy went to his bench in the last two innings giving each boy a part in the win. Cook in the third inning was the only man to get a hit off Houle.

Big men for Sher-Lenn were Longpre with a single, double and grand slam. Denis Rose had two singles, Norma Houle singled and doubled.

Als drop into fourth spot, lose at home to Cards and Miners

Jose Herrera held the Sherbrooke Alouettes to three hits last night as the Thetford Miners trimmed the Als 5-2 before a good crowd at the Park Avenue Stadium. Saturday evening Marcel Guilbeault guided the Cards to a 2-1 victory over the Als.

The losses coupled with a 10-1 trouncing at the hands of the Braves on Friday night in Plessisville dropped the Larks into fourth spot, four and a half games behind the league-leading Cards.

In other Provincial League weekend action Lachine took a pair from the Miners, 9-8 in 10 innings Saturday evening and 4-3 yesterday afternoon. Quebec whipped the Braves 14-5 Saturday evening in Plessisville while the Royals and the Cards split a pair last night.

On July 18, a game between the Cards and the Braves was called in the ninth inning in Drummondville because of rain. At this point Granby was leading the Royals 9-6. With men on second and third and two away, Soto was at bat. Soto struckout last night to give the Cards an easy 9-6 win. In the scheduled tilt which followed Norm Angelini shutout the Cards 2-0.

Tonight in Provincial League play Sherbrooke travels to Quebec for a twinbill with the Indians. The Royals will meet the Miners in Thetford.

Jose Herrera was all the way for the Miners last night, giving up two runs on three hits, four walks and striking out three. Herrera faced a total of 33 Alouettes in the game, with only six reaching second base.

For Williams, Sherbrooke's starting pitcher, the loss brought his record to 2-2 on the season. Williams, who beat Thetford 8-4 last Tuesday night in Sherbrooke, gave up five runs, three of which were earned on 13 hits. The southpaw walked three and struckout five.

Tonight in Quebec, Coach Testa will probably go with Chaviano and Sierra. Sierra lost both of his last two starts. His record on the season is 10-5 while Chaviano is 8-5. Both are around the 2.50 earned run average mark.

Game stars were St. Onge, Felipe and Sabather while Saturday night Lema, Testa and St. Onge won the silver spoons. Thetford . . . 011 011—5 13 0

Olympics in playoffs, edge Indians, trounce Braves

Sherbrooke Olympics assured themselves of a playoff berth over the weekend by edging the Caughnawaga Indians 9-7 Saturday evening in Verdun and then returning home last night to trounce the Valleyfield Braves 15-4 before 1,453 fans at the Sports Palace. The wins coupled with a loss by Sorel last night gave the Olympics sole possession of third place in the Quebec Lacrosse League standings.

Drummondville downed the Sorel Titans 14-7 last night. The game ended Sorel's regular season play with 10 wins and 14 losses. Drummondville has one game left. This will be played tonight against the Caughnawaga Indians. The Indians will be in Sherbrooke tomorrow evening to meet the Olympics. If Sherbrooke wins tomorrow night then they will end their season tied in second place with the Braves. Drummondville, mathematically, won the league championship two weeks ago.

Sherbrooke's Terry Burgess has a comfortable 12 goal lead on Jean-Paul Tellier, Drummondville's goaltender, in the race for the best netminder award which Tellier won last year. Burgess has been scored upon 190 times while Tellier has been tallied against 202 times.

Again last night Burgess was by far the No. 1 star of the game. At the 17-minute mark of the first period Burgess made a phenomenal save on Valleyfield's Mike Collins. Local Olympics' supporters applauded Burgess for at least a half a minute on this occasion and while cheering on the Sherbrooke netminder, the Olympics scored their seventh goal of first period. Pandemonium followed as the fans roared at what they hoped to see all season.

The Olympics, knowing how important a victory was, struck hard and often. At 5:51 of the first period D. Dagenais, unassisted, began what was to be a long hard night for Dugas, the Braves' netminder. Less than two minutes later Denis Dagenais tallied again on a pass from Andre Despard.

Carpenter put the Olympics ahead 3-0 on a pass from Despard and 27 seconds later, at the 13:57 mark, Johnny Hansen scored, assisted by Jean Paul Groulx. Ronnie Thomson and Richard Dagenais scored on passes from Reni Fleury and D. Dagenais to round out first period scoring.

Sherbrooke added five more goals in the second while the Braves managed to put two by Burgess. Olympics' scorers in the second were Hein, Fleury, R. Dagenais, Hansen and Thomson. Goal-getters for Valleyfield were Martin from Donahue and F. Benedict from Martin. Assisting on the Olympics tallies were Despard, Thomson, D. Dagenais, Carpenter and Groulx.

Sherbrooke scored three more in the third while Valleyfield equalled their second period output. For Sherbrooke it was D. Dagenais, unassisted, Jean Franche, unassisted, and Fleury from Thomson. Goals by Donahue, unassisted, and Paquette rounded out the Braves scoring.

Offensively Denis Dagenais had the hatrick and a pair of assists for a five-point evening. Andre Despard had a goal and three assists while Captain Johnny Hansen, Richard Dagenais, Ronnie Thomson and Reni Fleury each scored twice.

In Tuesday night's game R. Dagenais, Andre Despard and Jean Franche cannot play. On the day the game was postponed all three players were under suspension by the Olympics' management for leaving the team to return home to Ottawa. The Olympics will attempt to re-enlist the services of Pierre Lepine and Robert Dagenais. One other ex-Olympic, whose name has been released, will also be asked to re-join the team for the game.

In other Olympics' news, Guy Hubert and Marc Brunet appear to be out for the remainder of the season because of leg injuries. Brunet was taken to hospital last night for X-rays to see if he suffered a fracture while Hubert has severely pulled muscles. In Brunet's case doctors do not think the leg is fractured.

Edson Warner wins match rifle shooting gold medal

SOUTH MARCH, Ont. (CP) — Robert Moon, a 30-year-old metallurgical technician from Baton, Ont., is a conscious favorite going into the final day of the four-day national small-bore rifle competition at Connaught Ranges today.

Moon scored 585 out of 600 with 23 bull's-eyes out of 60 rounds in the standing 50-yard sporting rifle shoot Sunday. That event is considered by most officials as a good indicator of the eventual winner.

His nearest rival is Alphonse Mayer, 40-year-old gun shop owner from Kitchener, Ont., with 575 and 26 bull's-eyes.

Saturday, Edson Warner, of Lennoxville, Que., came from behind to outpoint Mayer and win the gold medal for match rifle shooting.

Warner, a 36-year-old accountant, trailed Mayer by two points going into the final four events in the two-day competition.

PERFECT SCORE TWICE
A veteran shooter, he drilled two perfect 400 scores in two 50-yard events, bringing him within one point of Mayer who had a 400 in the first but dropped to 399 in the second.

Warner cemented his lead on the final two 100-yard events to capture the gold with a total score of 3,180 out of 3,200. Mayer had 3,178.

Both men said a fickle northerly wind gusting to 20 miles an hour made accurate shooting difficult.

"But I just didn't make many mistakes," Warner said.

Bev Pinney, a 36-year-old carpenter from Websters Corners, B.C., finished third with a 3,172 total.

The first two days of the small-bore meet are given to match rifle events. Sporting rifle shoots take up the last two days.

Sporting rifles are standard hunting gear while match rifles are more specialized, weighing up to 16 pounds—twice sporting rifle weight. Shooters are permitted to use slings and sometimes telescopic sights on match rifles, both of which are taboo on sporting rifles.

ONE STEP MORE — Granby Cardinals' starting pitcher, Marcel Guilbeault, is seen dashing for first base as Sherbrooke Alouettes' first baseman Erasmo Felipe grabs the ball at his shoe strings. Guilbeault pitched the Cards to a 2-1 victory over the Als Saturday evening at the Park Avenue Stadium. He didn't quite make it on this play. (Record photo: Gerry Lemay)

McLain wins 22nd, Tigers edge Twins, Orioles win

Denny McLain, whose toes let Detroit Tigers down a year ago, is making up for it with his arm this summer.

The Tigers ace won his 22nd game Sunday, beating Minnesota Twins 2-1 and staying on scheduled for his date with the record book.

McLain, 22-3, figures to get 13 or 14 more starts and needs eight victories to become the first 30-game winner since Dizzy Dean did it in 1934. His pace has kept Detroit on top of the American League and could pay off in the club's first pennant in 23 years.

It looked like the Tigers would end that long dry spell last year until McLain's foot fell asleep and he dislocated some toes with two weeks left in the season. The injury also dislocated the Tiger pennant dream and Boston walked off with the flag.

Now McLain, his foot awake and his arm alive, has the Tigers out in front again.

SENATORS FALL
Elsewhere Sunday, Chicago White Sox battered Washington Senators 7-2, Baltimore Orioles dumped New York Yankees 5-3, Boston Red Sox beat California Angels 5-1 in the completion of a suspended game and then the Angels walloped the Red Sox 12-6, and Oakland split with Cleveland, winning the first game 5-0 and dropping the nightcap 7-4.

Saturday scores were: Oakland 1 Cleveland 4; Detroit 0 Minnesota 4; California 3-3 Boston 8-5; Washington 3-2 Chicago 1-6; New York 3 Baltimore 1.

McLain scattered five hits and had the Twins shut out until the eighth when an error by Al Kaline, playing first base, set up an unearned run.

The victory kept Detroit six games up on Baltimore. The Orioles won a wild one at New York with the winning run scoring on a disputed play at home plate.

Mark Belanger, who had opened the seventh inning with a single and worked his way to third on an error and a muffed-up pickoff play, scored the run on Dave Johnson's bouncer to short.

The Yankees argued on the call and while they did, Frank Robinson tried to slide in with another run. But the umpires had called time and the Orioles argued on that decision. Manager Ralph Houk of New York and Earl Weaver of Baltimore were both jawing with the umpires at the same time.

Guinness pulls this off five million times a day

How's that for openers?

Why do people drink five million glasses of Guinness daily? Well, it could be Guinness' delightful touch of bitterness. Or that rich, creamy texture. Or perhaps its deep ruby colour. This old Irish brew is unique. Constantly unique. Guinness is now available where beer is sold in Quebec—at non-imported prices, but the same great Irish taste. Why don't you discover the brew that tastes like no other on earth. Just for a change.
