

"MONSTER" BOMBER LEADS ATTACK ON BRITAIN

Five Nazis Were Shot Down Today In London Drive

Giant Nazi Plane Described as New, Four-Engined Bomber—German Squadrons Broken Up by Fighter Patrols and Sent Back in Disorder Across Channel—Britain Strikes New Counter-Blows Along German-Held Coast of France.

London, Sept. 23.—(P)—Nazi raiders, paced by a "monster" bomber, roared over England's coasts again today and some reached London, sending its millions underground twice after dawn and scattering the Western part of the capital with bombs.

Vigorous anti-aircraft fire quickly cleared the skies, however, and most of the invaders were believed to have been turned back by Royal Air Force fighter squadrons before they reached the capital.

Authoritative reports said five raiders were shot down in air battles with fighter planes this morning.

Four separate times waves of German planes surged across the coast as Nazi forces again intensified the Battle of Britain after a lull in daylight raids.

Fighter patrols, waiting for them, broke up the German squadrons and sent them back in disorder across the Channel.

One Nazi plane was described as a new, gigantic, four-engined bomber which crossed the Kent Coast. A police officer told Exchange Telegraph News Agency that he spotted the plane through binoculars and "I was astonished by the huge size of its wing span."

"Accompanying Messerschmitts were dots by comparison," he said. Attention was attracted to the giant raider by "smoke trails from twin engine ports," a correspondent of Exchange Telegraph said.

"The monster raider was followed by three formations each of nine bombers," he reported, all flying "at terrific height."

Coastal anti-aircraft batteries opened fire but their shells did not reach the planes. The formation, however, was scattered by Spitfires and Hurricanes and when last seen the great bomber was speeding toward the Channel with Spitfires in pursuit.

Two of the Nazi planes downed were Messerschmitt 109 fighters. A third was said to have fallen into the sea at Portsmouth and a fourth near the Isle of Wight.

The night-long bomb shower on the capital, starting more fires and spreading new ruin through the mid-city section, underscored increasing demands by the press and public for an underground network of shelters with sleeping quarters.

The press and public were bitter, too, over the news of the torpedoing last Tuesday of a refugee ship 600 miles out in the Atlantic on the way to Canada. Of 406 persons aboard, 295 were lost. Eighty-three of these were children removed from London, Liverpool and Middlesex County.

Londoners who viewed the air raid damage revealed by dawn in almost every section of the city heard with satisfaction the reports of the Royal Air Force's own blows at the Nazi coastal bases and into Belgium and France.

ONE KILLED, SEVERAL HURT IN COLLISION

Montreal, Sept. 23.—(P)—One man was killed and several other persons were injured, one seriously, when a truck collided with a Provincial Transport bus at nearby St. Henri de Mascouche Saturday.

James Blagrove, 28, of Rawdon, Que., a passenger on the bus, was killed. Another passenger, Donatien Perreault, 23, of St. Eustache, Montcalm, Que., was brought to Montreal with several leg injuries. The bus was en route to Rawdon when it met the truck on a sharp curve. Conrad Moore, of Montreal, driver of the truck, was not injured.

Akbarpu, India.—(P)—One person was killed and several injured in an agrarian riot between Hindus and Muslims in this village, thirty miles from Gondal.

Cardiff.—(P)—South Wales has produced a new weapon for its Home Guard—the "cucumber bomb." Clement Attlee, Labor member of the Cabinet, witnessed demonstrations of the bomb against armored vehicles.

MURDEROUS SINKING OF REFUGEE SHIP NOT TO HALT CHILDREN'S EVACUATION

NAZIS IN WEAK DENIAL U-BOAT TORPEDOED SHIP

Berlin, Sept. 23.—(P)—Official German circles today described the story of the sinking of a British refugee ship as a "tear jerker" intended to get the United States into the war on British's side.

(The announcement was a variation of the German propaganda method used when the Nazis blamed Britain for the sinking of the Athenia on the first day of war.) It was claimed officially no passenger vessel identifiable as such had been torpedoed by any German U-boat either within or outside the announced blockade zone.

Further, it was said officially, not even a freighter has been torpedoed outside the announced blockade zone unless it was clearly armed.

German official sources asked why the name of the ship was not given. A German source said the ship was not named.

Martial Law Proclaimed In Egypt To Speed-Up Defences

Reduced Cabinet Stands Committed Against Declaration of War on Italy Despite Fascists' Sixty-Mile Thrust—Entire Village of Sidi Barrani Reported Blown to Bits.

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 23.—(P)—The Mediterranean war for Africa and the Near East quickened today as the Royal Navy and Air Force raided Italian positions and the Government of Egypt declared martial law.

Martial law was invoked as a defence measure by Premier Hassan Sabry Pasha.

A naval communiqué said a fleet of warships attacked Italian positions about newly-occupied Sidi Barrani, Egypt, "with good results" early Sunday. This was the second naval bombardment of the area, 60 miles inside the Egyptian frontier, in an effort to disorganize Italian preparations for a further advance across the desert.

Sidi Barrani was declared by a Reuters News Agency dispatch to have been the scene of great slaughter among occupying Italian troops when British land mines were exploded, blowing the village to bits.

The proclamation of martial law in Egypt was in line with the Government's determination to defend the Nile Valley should Italians near that home of nearly all Egyptians. The country has been under a "state of siege" since September 1, 1939.

Ahmed Maher Pasha, leader of the Saadist Party, however, was reported to be attempting to bring the question of war or peace to an issue before Parliament next week.

Shelter Need Increases For London Bombed

Protest Mounting Against Crowding of Subways Each Night as Whole Families Seek Protection Underground.

By HAROLD FAIR, (Canadian Press Staff Writer) London, Sept. 23.—(P)—The plight of thousands of Londoners who spend their nights deep down in this city's subways and underground air raid shelters seeking safety from Nazi bombings has become one of the war's pressing problems.

The Sunday Pictorial printed pictures of mothers, babies and aged men and women sprawling on the concrete floor of a tube station and used the headline: "Shelter scandal: stop this now!"

The paper said: "It is surely not right that our future generations should be sleeping in such appalling conditions."

The Pictorial demanded the evacuation of women and children from the bombed areas and requisitioning of every country house, castle and mansion for them, and asked that the Government maintain such places.

Authorities, urgently seeking to deal with the need of adequate havens, have rejected proposals to construct deep rail shelters mainly because of the shortage of materials but they have arranged for shelters in big stores to be open always instead of just days. The basements of big houses also are being used.

Further moves to improve the shelter situation are forecast.

Londoners stream nightly into the tube stations to herd together on improvised beds amid the dirt of the platforms and passageways. The mass invasion of the underground world begins as early as five o'clock in the afternoon.

Access is gained by buying a penny ticket as if one were intending a subway trip. By six o'clock the most coveted spaces next to the wall are occupied. From then on they pack in the best they can.

Family groups often come with baggage and pets. Infants sleep in suitcases and orange crates.

The air is usually hot and heavy and becomes suffocating as night wears on.

The view along one subway line last night looked as if it were a rag's-to-riches tour because it runs from the poor district of London to

Mediterranean Fleet Smashes Fascist Plans For Big Drive

By LARRY ALLEN (Associated Press Staff Writer) Alexandria, Egypt, Sept. 23.—(P)—Britain's Mediterranean Fleet has dealt another punishing blow to Italian preparations for a big-scale drive into Egypt toward the Suez Canal, it was announced today.

The Royal Navy was reported making constant attacks to harass the Italians, and British sources said that Graziani now faces anew the task of reorganizing and consolidating his positions before proceeding with his campaign.

JAPS PROTEST ARREST OF SIX IN SINGAPORE

News Agency Claims British Apprehension of Consul Member and Sealing of Safe "National Affront."

Tokyo, Sept. 23.—(P)—The Japanese Foreign Office announced today it had directed its Consul-General in Singapore to lodge a formal protest against the arrest there of six Japanese and to demand their release at once.

The Foreign Office said one of those arrested by British Colonial authorities was a member of the staff of the Japanese Consulate at Singapore, and that the Consulate safe had been sealed.

The Singapore authorities were said to have sealed the safe after the Consul staff refused to turn over certain "secret documents."

Charges against those held were not disclosed here. Two Japanese girls, one employed in a Singapore bank and the other an employee of a foreign trade association, were said to be among those held.

Domei, Japanese news agency, said the British action was a "national affront" and connected the incident with current reports that the British may grant the United States Fleet facilities there for a naval base.

CARNEGIE TECH ANNOUNCES NEW USE FOR COAL

Process for Conversion of Coal into Oils Important to the Lacquer and Varnish Industries Patented.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 23.—(P)—Research scientists have developed a new process for conversion of coal into oils important to the dye, lacquer and varnish industries which may open up a new field of opportunity to the bituminous industry.

Carnegie Tech officials said the new chemical operation would convert the black fuel by means of a hydrogenation process into varnish oils in a manner far more efficient than hitherto known.

Although the by-product oils, being non-volatile, would probably be useless as an economic fuel, scientists agreed that perhaps some use as a lubricant may be found for them.

The new process was patented by Joseph F. Weiler, Research chemist in the Tech coal laboratories, and Bernard S. Biggs, of Summit, N.J., a fellow scientist who is employed

DOVER ARSENAL BLAST CLAIMED LIVES OF TWO

Dover, N.J., Sept. 23.—(P)—Two persons were killed and six injured today in an explosion at the United States Army's Picatinny Arsenal.

It was the second fatal munitions blast in the Dover area within a fortnight, the explosion of a smokeless powder line at the Kenvil plant of the Hercules Powder Company September 12 having taken fifty lives.

Names of the dead and injured at Picatinny were not immediately available.

Col. A. S. Bayers, Public Relations Officer at the arsenal, said the explosion occurred as employees were taking apart fuses of old shells, "a dangerous job at best."

They were in a building about thirty by fifty feet in size and set apart for this operation. Each employee was protected by screens, which apparently prevented serious

ELECTION DATA STILL OBSCURE IN AUSTRALIA

Government's 4 to 8 Majority Indefinite Until Receipt of Votes from Soldiers on Duty Overseas.

Melbourne, Sept. 23.—(P)—The result of the general election Saturday in Australia remained obscure today and likely will remain so until receipt and counting of the votes of Australian soldiers on duty overseas. The Government's majority in the House of Representatives is estimated at from four to eight, compared to 10 in the last general election in 1937.

Labor made substantial gains, especially in New South Wales although the apparent defeat of John Curtin, Labor leader, in Fremantle, West Australia, by an untied ministerial candidate, came as a great surprise. A re-assuring feature of the swing towards Labor in New South Wales was the rejection of two breakaway labor factions whose enthusiasm for the war effort was doubtful.

Since the war policies of R. G. Menzies, Government leader, and Curtin, largely were indistinguishable, the vote as a whole was regarded as a clear mandate for continuance of the vigorous war effort.

Mr. Menzies, commenting on the results, said that New South Wales, while sharply rejecting the isolationist policy of Labor minority factions, had administered a setback to the Government.

When the vote count is completed, Mr. Menzies will renew his invitation to Labor to participate in a National All-Party Government. Mr. Curtin's previous rejection of the invitation was regarded as a large factor in his defeat.

It is believed that the Government leader probably will reduce the personnel of the War Cabinet, divesting its members of departmental responsibilities.

87 Youngsters And 206 Grown-Ups Perished As Mercy Craft Torpedoed

Survivors, Numbering 113, Tossed in Lifeboats and Rafts for as Long as Fourteen Hours Before British Warship Was Able to Effect Their Rescue—German Submarine Sank Vessel Without Warning.

(By SAM ROBERTSON, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

London, Sept. 23.—(P)—A horrified and angry Britain vowed today to continue with the evacuation of children overseas from these bomb-scarred isles despite German torpedoing of a mercy ship with the loss of eighty-seven youngsters bound for Canadian havens and 206 grown-ups.

It was night and the Atlantic was heaving under the lashing of hail and rain when a U-boat fired a torpedo into the Canada-bound liner without warning last Tuesday. The Nazis must have known that the chances of rescue were practically nil for the boat was six hundred miles from the Irish Coast.

One hundred and thirteen survivors of the 406 passengers and crew tossed in lifeboats and rafts that constantly were awash for as long as fourteen hours before a British warship was able to back across great seas to their rescue.

Waves washed exhausted children and adults from the boats and off the rafts. Scantly clad against the chill water and hail, others died of exposure. The torpedo struck where many boys were asleep and a merciful instant death saved them from worse horrors.

It is stated reliably that the sinking will not be permitted to interfere with Government plans to send children to the safety of Canada, the Antipodes and other countries overseas.

The press generally agreed that "revolving tragedy must not be allowed to slow up the speed of overseas evacuation."

The Evening News commented that "If the lessons of this disaster are properly and promptly learned there is no reason why the Children's Overseas Reception Board should not go on with all the safety that is humanly possible."

"This is the sea war as it was always intended by Germany," said the Manchester Guardian in an editorial.

"The shame and horror of it will be remembered long after Hitler and his tools have been swept from power."

"The whole circumstances of the sinking and the heavy loss of life will no doubt be rigorously investigated at the earliest moment. No other scheme of action is possible if the scheme for sending children overseas is to be retained in the Government's dispersal policy. And since there are many reasons why the scheme should not be jettisoned, it is to be hoped

DRIVE FOR RED CROSS SOCIETY STARTED TODAY

Canvassers in Eastern Townships Begin Door-to-Door Campaign for Funds—Needs Increased Since War.

The nation-wide appeal for the Red Cross commenced this morning with the official start of the annual campaign. An estimated $5,000,000 is needed to carry on the work of the Society, considerably increased because of the war.

The objective for the Province of Quebec is $1,000,000, and that of the City of Sherbrooke $15,000 and the money will go towards the maintenance of seven convalescent hospitals throughout Canada, towards the British Red Cross who has asked for 10,000 parcels of food per week for prisoners in Germany, which will cost about $125,000 a month, and towards a British commission requesting clothing for 100,000 refugees who have fled their homelands and now in Britain.

This morning canvassers began their rounds throughout the Eastern Townships, with seventy-five to a hundred in Sherbrooke alone. Persons desiring to subscribe and who are not approached by canvassers are asked to telephone 3981 and canvassers will call, or to send their subscriptions to Post Office Box 558.

West End where luxury flats nestle among the mansions.

In the tube train passengers see sleepers in tattered blankets and dirty pillows at the start but when they progress West there are elaborate sleeping bags, steamers rugs and even portable radios. One woman worked a small sewing machine.

Here are some opinions taken at random from the shelters.

A mother said: "One gets kind of comforted when there are lots of people together. Anderson shelters are all right but you feel cut off. My kids look forward to coming here each night and sleep like angels."

A father said that it was not like his bed at home but that it stopped his wife from worrying.

A young girl said: "I never thought I could sleep with a tube train running past me a few yards away but now I get down to it in a few minutes."

The Sunday Pictorial's double page layout showed families, bedded, a concrete staircase, kiddies, old women and babies in the arms of their mothers.

In a picture captioned "Madonna of the Subway" a mother was shown nursing her child.

Other pictures showed a soldier on leave pilloving his wife's head in his arms; a woman, no longer young, holding up in her hands the nodding head of her white-haired mother; a young woman resting a protective hand across her two infants.

The Pictorial concluded with the remark that "Britain can do better than this for its future generations."

Bloodhounds have been credited with following a trail for as long as 30 hours.

RULE DEATH OF WINDSOR MILLS LAD ACCIDENT

Three-Year-Old Lucien Boileau Killed When Struck by Car—Another Sent to Hospital in Week-End Mishap.

A jury under Coroner Leonidas Bachand today returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of Lucien Boileau, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Boileau, of Windsor Mills, who was killed about six-thirty o'clock last night in one of a series of district week-end accidents which sent another person to hospital and caused considerable damage to cars involved in two collisions.

George Chaddock, of Danville, operating an automobile proceeding toward Windsor Mills, unavoidably struck the child when the latter suddenly dashed across the road from his home, which is just on the outskirts of Windsor Mills. Dr. Charles Tanner, of Windsor Mills, was immediately summoned but the child had met instantaneous death.

A head-on collision occurred about nine o'clock Saturday night about three miles on the other side of Bromptonville when one car, attempting to pass a vehicle ahead, apparently was unable to swing back to the right in time and collided with an American automobile proceeding toward Bromptonville. An unidentified girl was taken to hospital and both cars were severely damaged.

Another automobile collision, which occurred about 6:50 o'clock Sunday morning at the Alexander and Ball Street intersection, caused considerable damage to both cars and bent a fire hydrant and lamp post although no one was seriously injured.

Hector Hillard, operator of a vehicle owned by Richard Hillard, both of Sherbrooke, apparently not stopping at the intersection sign, continued across Alexander boulevard and his car was struck by one operated by Alfred Audet, the property of Leblanc Taxi, which was proceeding along Alexander Street from south to north. As the car driven by Audet struck the rear of Hillard's vehicle it continued straight on and damaged a lamp post and hydrant situated on the corner.

The Municipal Police were called to the scene and first aid was rendered Audet, whose face was slightly cut by shattered glass from the windshield, by Lieut. A. Chamberland and Constable J. P. Ranger.

Four Saadist members of the cabinet resigned Saturday over refusal of the Premier to entertain a declaration of war now. To get the issue before Parliament, however, the Saadists must induce the Premier to consent to a special session.

Saadists who quit the Cabinet declared in a letter that the Italians' "penetration of Egyptian territory and attempts to fortify themselves leaves no doubt of their decision before Parliament to declare the Italian declaration that he has no intention of aggression against Egypt."

The sufferings of war, no matter how great, were preferable to the "shame and cowardice of counting on others for her (Egypt's) defence," said the Saadists.

The Cabinet—reduced from fourteen members to ten—still is headed by Premier Hassan Sabry Pasha and has the exception of four Saadist Party members who resigned because of the Government's refusal to comply with their party's demand for an immediate declaration of war.

The new Ministry announced in favor of intensive defence preparations.

From Alexandria, Reuters reported an eye-witness said he had seen the entire village of Sidi Barrani, filled with Italian troops, blown to bits when the British detonated land mines they had planted.

Sidi Barrani, on the Mediterranean Coast of Egypt about sixty miles inside the Libyan-Egyptian border, had been reported raided by bombers which attacked the air-drome and troop positions. Fascist forces were digging in at Sidi Barrani as a base of operations.

British authorities reported an Italian attempt to bomb the naval base at Alexandria Saturday, but said raiders were driven off by anti-aircraft fire. A Fascist raid on Haifa, an oil port in Palestine, killed thirty-two persons and injured sixty-eight Saturday. The victims were reported to be Arabs.

The Premier's policy of not declaring war was based on the view that Italian troops now occupy only a strip of desert along the Mediterranean, and this does not yet constitute a threat to Egyptian independence.

Alexandria, Sept. 23.—(A)—The British Fleet carried out another bombardment of Italian forces along the Egyptian Coast yesterday, a communiqué of the Royal naval authorities here said today.

The communiqué:

"Our naval forces attacked enemy positions in the Sidi Barrani area during the early hours of Sunday, September 22, with good results."

Northern France.

In addition, the Air Ministry reported, an "important target in Germany" was attacked.

Other British communiqué told of day and night raids since last Saturday in which shipping and barges were reported smashed, oil stores ignited and huge fires touched off at Rotterdam and Flushing, in the Netherlands, in Antwerp and Ostend, Belgium, and the French ports of Dunkerque, Boulogne and Calais.

A War message by King George VI was awaited throughout the Empire. The King's broadcast was set for 6 p.m. (1 p.m. E.D.T.), but the specific nature of the message was not revealed.

Plans were announced to put ham-mocks and bunks in some London subway tubes so weary men, women and children can sleep through bombings. Work already is under way to convert a third of a mile of the Holborn-Aldwych tube into a shelter equipped for overnight sleeping.

Watchers who keep a close eye on the weather at the English Channel, important to any move for invasion, reported clearing skies have made visibility fair over the narrow Strait of Dover. The sea was calm with only a light Southwest wind.

Raiders which kept thousands of families in shelters all last night were reported somewhat more intense over London than the attacks on Friday or Saturday night.

A communiqué acknowledged there had been "a number of casualties," including some deaths, and that London again was the principal target, although bombs fell in several coastal towns as well as inland.

Damage in London was reported as widely scattered. Homes and industrial buildings were hit.

The raiders continued their recent tactics of coming singly. Many bombs from so high their motors hardly could be heard. Other planes glided in low, piercing the heavy anti-aircraft barrage and dumping their bombs from only a few hundred feet above their targets.

One German plane was reported to have exploded in mid-air when hit by anti-aircraft fire.

Five bombers fell in a row across a large central city building where scores of persons were working. There were no casualties, but a wing of the building was smashed, and windows in a nearby hotel were shattered. Two bombs hit an apartment house in Southeastern London.

In a Southeast town bombs smashed a 15th century church. In another town, twenty-four houses collapsed from heavy bombing.

A seaman, was arrested for illegal entry in 1925. The F.B.I. learned he had entered from Canada under the German quota ten years later.

The minimum penalty, upon conviction, would be life imprisonment under California's "Little Lindbergh" law.

Yesterday's hero, a hard-fisted, 220-pound sawmill owner named Cecil Wetzel, temporarily dropped from view after delivering the boy and his kidnapper to Federal men at River Pine, a village of fifty souls.

The child had not a mark or bruise, the de Tristram family physician said, yet it was learned he had been perilously close to death in the wild ride of the stolen kidnaper car.

Roundling a sharp curve in the mountain road, the car plunged over a forty-foot embankment. Man and child were unhurt, and Muhlenbroich climbed up to the road and at gunpoint took the car of the next passerby.

Transferring the child and his stock of canned goods and ammunition to the new vehicle, Muhlenbroich stepped on—until a few hours later he lost his way.

Then he met Wetzel, taking a log truck to his own ranch mill.

Wetzel, the San Francisco Chronicle said in a copyright story, noted the fair-haired child in the car.

The lumberman, a former Washington State College football player and wrestler, gave directions. Wetzel stepped to the road, moved in close and asked, "How about that baby?"

The suspected kidnapper drew a revolver and Wetzel dived for him. Ellis Wood, a lumberjack, arrived in time to help Wetzel.

by the Bell Telephone Company.

Under their process, powdered bituminous coal is subjected under pressure of 1,500 pounds per square inch of hydrogen gas at 842 degrees Fahrenheit to prevent cracking or violent decomposition of the basic coal atom.

The reaction is carried out in the presence of a catalyst, possibly copper oxide, chromium oxide or calcium oxide to clear the organic compounds of sulphur which would be fatal to the second hydrogenation step.

On this way, the sulphur-free oils formed by the first operation are treated with hydrogen under 750 pounds per square inch pressure at temperatures below 520 degrees Fahrenheit with nickel as the catalyst.

The chemists said that in this way 80 per cent of the coal may be converted into organic liquid hydrocarbons.

He declined to say whether the agreement provides for withdrawal of Japanese troops from Indo-China upon the termination of the Japanese conflict with China and said he was unable to make public the terms of the agreement.

In Hanoi, the provisions of the agreement were reported to be:

1.—Immediate landing of a "limited" number of Japanese troops at Haiphong.

2.—Establishment of three Japanese air bases in Tonkin North of the Red River, including one base near Hanoi.

3.—Permission for the Japanese to bring in 6,000 troops to garrison the air bases.

4.—The right to maintain a "few effectives" at Haiphong.

Suma said the troops were entering by way of Dangdang, but was unable to state where the naval entry was being made.

Preliminary agreement on "limited" military facilities for the passage of Japanese troops through the French colony was reached some time ago after conversations in Tokyo and Vichy, with details to be worked out at Hanoi.

The agreement was signed yesterday afternoon.

GIVEN SPECIAL FACILITIES TO CONTINUE WAR

Vichy, France, Sept. 23.—(A)—An accord giving the Japanese "special facilities in Indo-China" to continue the war against China was signed yesterday at Hanoi by Japanese and French military authorities, it was announced officially here today.

In exchange, a communiqué said, the Japanese promised to respect French rights and interests in the Far East, her sovereignty over the Asiatic colony, and the territorial integrity of French Indo-China.

Governmental circles added that Japanese troops entered the provinces Monday morning, presumably at dawn.

The negotiations, which began June 13, centered around Japanese demands for naval and air bases in Indo-China and the right for the passage of troops over the area.

Whether all these points were granted by the French was not made clear by the communiqué.

Almost at the outset, the French informed the Japanese they were willing to grant Tokyo's economic demands and give the Japanese first position, after the French, in the financial and economic life of Indo-China.

The communiqué issued by the Foreign Ministry began:

"With the view of making a contribution to the establishment of a new order in Eastern Asia and effecting a solution to the affairs of China."

Included with "The French and Japanese military authorities arrived at a satisfactory accord September 22."

to those nations the necessity of imposing the blockade against their trade with Europe.

The trade mission "has been fully explained in Washington and it has their approval and sympathy," it was announced.

One of the major topics which may be discussed—but this obviously requires the co-operation of the United States—is the accumulation of foodstuffs which can be distributed throughout Europe at the end of the war.

This undertaking, already announced by Prime Minister Churchill, has not been worked out in detail because it is so vast in scope, requires so much financing and takes in so many products that it requires the active co-operation of the United States.

An approach to it may be made, however, by the Willingdon mission.

that the investigation will lead to a thorough revision of the precautions and safeguards hitherto employed."

The casualties were the first in the transport to safety of nearly 3,000 youngsters, but it was not the first time that a Nazi undersea craft had imperiled evacuees. However, when The Netherlands liner Volendam was torpedoed August 30, 320 little refugees from totalitarian warfare and 800 others en route to Canada were saved. Only two members of the crew perished with the liner.

The Government waited until today to announce the tragedy, of almost a week ago to give welfare workers opportunity to notify the children's parents in London, Liverpool and Middlesex after exhausted survivors were brought to a Northern port of England.

The ship, her name undisclosed, was torpedoed 600 miles West of England and sank in a stormy sea within twenty minutes after she was wrecked at 10 p.m. last Tuesday, the announcement said.

Of 406 men, women and children aboard, only 113 were brought back alive by a warship which reached the scene at dawn. The stories of heroism and horror they told indicated many perished in the tremendous explosion which ripped the ship.

Scores more were swept from wave-tossed lifeboats, or died of injuries and exposure in the night of cold and sleet.

Whole boatloads sank while huddled children piped the hoisterous "Roll out the Barrel."

One boy comforted a dying nurse, long before rescue, with the words: "I can see boats, nurse. It won't be long now..."

The captain went down with his ship, shouting to the children to "take care of yourselves."

The Government said the children, from five to fifteen years old, were the first lost in child refugee evacuations that have taken others to safety. Another evacuee ship was torpedoed last August, but all 320 children aboard were saved.

The announcement did not identify the submarine in last Tuesday's war episode, but Geoffrey Shakespeare, Chairman of the Children's Overseas Reception Board, called the tragedy "another example of the barbarous methods associated with Nazi Germany."

Under an editorial heading of "Murder," the Daily Herald declared "Hitler, himself, directly, fully and personally bears the guilt. Let us write that in our hearts and never forget it."

The Daily Telegraph said, "While the world will be shocked by this deed without name, it must also be startled into a clearer, fuller recognition of what the Nazi code of conduct allows and what damnation of the world by Nazi power would mean for extinction not only of human freedom, but of human decency."

The Times called the sinking "criminal," and added "The German way of warfare knows no restraint or conscience."

The Government announcement said "tragic circumstances"—the violence of the explosion, the storm, and the cold-defeated careful precautions taken for the children's safety.

The survivors, thirteen children, eighteen women and eighty-two men and the latter including members of the crew that had numbered 251—were exhausted and drenched when taken aboard the British warship, but in good spirits by the time they returned to England last Friday.

They told of stark horror, suffering, shock and heroism, especially on the part of the children whose behavior was described as "magnificent."

Miss Em. Day, chief escort of the children, told this story:

"I was in my cabin when I heard an explosion. I dashed to the children's quarters and found them still asleep. Each child had a lifeboat officer shouted to the children to hurry on deck, and we started with the children behaving magnificently."

"We clambered into a lifeboat, but it had shipped much water, and it's a shame to go. We saw many other small boats. The children were singing 'Roll Out the Barrel.' As they came to the part that goes 'We'll have a barrel of fun' the ship sank."

Miss Day told of a night of terror in the darkness after the ship went down of cold and sleet and water "up to our hips" in a lifeboat.

HITLER SCORES ANOTHER VICTORY

To the policies of Nazi Germany goes the credit today for having achieved another great victory—the only victories which have so far characterized the brutes who so proudly serve under and obey the commands of a man devoid of all honor, justice and Christianity—the sinking of a vessel which was bringing women and children to Canada.

As a result of this achievement, which will bring so much pleasure and satisfaction to Hitler, two hundred and ninety-three persons, including eighty-seven children, lost their lives.

The disaster involved the greatest loss of civilian life since the Arandora Star was torpedoed early in July. It is unbelievable that any human being could order the sinking of a ship six hundred miles from land in a tempestuous sea. Yet it has now been proven that such action is not contrary to Nazi tactics. In all probability the submarine captain will be decorated with the Iron Cross, which symbolizes heroism in lowly exploits.

This latest of Nazi deeds is but another evidence of the brutality of Germany, a brutality which Britain is fighting boldly to eliminate.

Germany's greatest delight is apparently to bomb hospitals, schools, churches and to torpedo mercy ships. Sacrifice of civilian life seems to bring great glory to the Nazis.

The world is now well aware of the tactics to which Hitler will stoop. Germany is a nation without honor and unprovoked. Hitler, as his record proves, is nothing but a brute and a fanatic.

The world sympathizes with Britain in yesterday's loss. All sympathy is felt for the families of the dead. All precaution was taken but in times of war nothing can be certain.

Innocent little lives have been sacrificed at the shrine of Nazi glory, but certainly the deed will not go unpunished. God in His good time will demand restitution and Britain will exact punishment from a ruthless nation.

In the meantime there is but one thing to do—to keep up the fight which ultimately will result in Britain's victory. Then and only then will the slaughter of children cease.

THE RED CROSS CAMPAIGN

Today the Canadian Red Cross launches its appeal for $3,000,000, of which the Province of Quebec is asked to contribute $1,000,000 and the City of Sherbrooke the sum of $15,000.

There is no need to expound upon the services rendered by the Red Cross nor upon the importance of this great organization and the splendid work which it is doing. The Red Cross stands on its own record of service—a record of service which none can equal or surpass.

The people of the Eastern Townships are well organized to put the campaign over. Each community has its own group of campaign organizers, and there is every reason to feel that, as usual in such circumstances, this section of Quebec Province will live up to its splendid reputation.

By subscribing to the Red Cross campaign the people of Canada are showing their willingness to stand shoulder to shoulder with Britain. Every cent given to the campaign will be just that much more to beat the brutes of Germany, whose ruthless tactics, whose barbarity and whose cruelty is now so evident in many European countries. Britain is fighting to wipe out Hitlerism, in which task she will be successful. But she must have the support of everyone if her efforts are to bear fruit.

Everyone in Canada cannot fight, but everyone can do something to help Britain's cause. Every man, woman and child can make some sacrifices. Some personal comfort can be forsaken and the money devoted to the nation's war effort. This is not asking much, but such sacrifices can help greatly.

The Red Cross campaign affords such an opportunity. During the next week canvassers will solicit donations. Receive these workers kindly. They are willingly giving their time without recompense. Give as generously as you can. Do all you can to help put the campaign over in a big way.

NINE YEARS OF WAR IN CHINA

Recently three years of war in China were duly noted and the anniversary commented upon. But the Sino-Japanese war really dates back nine years. For it is nine years ago that the Japanese moved into Manchuria, first large-scale move in their determined drive to dominate East Asia.

Nine years of fighting and dying, with perhaps two million men moldering in the soil of old China! Yet the Chinese do not yield. Fighting an eternal rear-guard action, they have retreated and retreated until they have built virtually a new country in the deep interior of China.

There are signs that even this long, bitter struggle is coming nearer to an end. The trading of "space for time" by the Chinese must end some time, for the Chinese are running short of space, and the Japanese are running short of time.

PUSHING TO THE FRONT

By Grenville Kjelser.

Two capable young men were in my employ as temporary typists. They could operate a typewriter with equal accuracy and rapidity. About a year ago I said to them: "In order to secure a permanent position as a private secretary, or office assistant, you should study shorthand until you are thoroughly proficient."

One acted at once upon my suggestion, and today is at the head of an office staff connected with a large steamship company.

The other did not act upon my suggestion, and today is searching for employment.

It is vital to your success in any department of human activity to be thoroughly efficient—to train yourself in advance for the larger job you wish some day to fill.

Don't sit down and wait for a good position to come to you, but every day try to fit yourself for it. Give much time to reading of the better kind—the best books and newspapers, to study of subjects bearing directly upon your occupation, to quiet meditation about the splendid ideals you expect some time to translate into realities.

When you try to sell yourself, what have you really to sell? That something you covet—position, power, more salary—have you fitted yourself for it? Are you nearly one hundred per cent efficient? Have you brains, energy, initiative, originality, courage? What have you to sell?

Here are ten vital things for you to do, sifted from many letters I have received from highly successful American and British business men and industrialists. I have condensed them for your convenience use.

1. Work diligently.
2. Concentrate on your job.
3. Do everything thoroughly.
4. Persevere in face of difficulty.
5. Be uniformly patient and courteous.
6. Have confidence in yourself.
7. Initiate new ideas and plans.
8. Safeguard your health.
9. Observe the strictest integrity.
10. Make yourself indispensable.

These are the wise words of experienced men who had to blaze the way to success.

EDITOR'S NOTE-BOOK

Remember the Red Cross Campaign. The Red Cross is striving to preserve what the Iron Cross would destroy.

Canada's Second War Loan surpassed objective by $42,248,300. This proves that the people of Canada are behind the country's war effort.

Nazis' honor further enhanced by sinking of mercy ship containing women and children. It is on exploits such as this that Germany thrives.

TIME FOR LOVELINESS

Stand still to watch the flight of birds
Across the tender, evening sky;
Read once again the lovely words
Of singers from the years gone by.

Spare, from your life of busy days,
A little time to look for these—
The young moon's silver; golden rays
When sunset flames behind the trees.
Let not Life's exquisite, small things
Pass all unnoticed, for the mind
Fashions from Beauty shining wings,
With which to leave earth's cares behind!

FROM THE PEN OF E. T. WRITERS

AFTER ONE YEAR OF THE SECOND WORLD WAR.

To Thee, O God of Hosts, we raise
Our grateful hearts in thankful praise,
That through these awful, gruesome days,
Thy Hand has guarded our domain.

The terror of the fearsome Hun,
A year ago his work begun,
To banish all things 'neath the sun,
And all the world to overrun.

The madman Hitler did harangue,
His henchmen he'd, and danc'd, and sang
As he unfolded his foul plan
To hold all Europe in his hand.

His war machine began to roll,
Ponderously towards the Pole.
An obvious gesture that his goal,
Overwhelming world control.

Warsaw gamely held the onslaught,
(While her warriors bravely fought),
Made that city a splendid fort,
Yet all their gallantry for naught!

Assisted by the Trojan Horse,
Coupled with brutalizing force,
Acts of violence, treatments coarse,
Europe all independence lost.

Norway the Neutral, France the Fair,
Denmark Dubious, Belgium the Bear,
Holland the Haughty,—all did fare
Treatment that caused the world to stare.

Britain, the Bulldog from Dunkirk,
With far-flung navy that doth girt
All ocean waters of the earth,
Demonstrated she was alert.

Now Britain faces all alone,
Without a sigh, a sob or groan,
War in the air, on land and foam,
'Gainst boast of Berlin, wrath of Rome.

We know this war cannot be won
Over a fierce and bloody Hun
By soldier, sailor, airman, gun—
But only as we work as one.

Our Empire is united, free!
Come has Hitler's pride and glee!
He cannot make us bow the knee,
Only, O God, our Lord, to Thee!

HEAVY BURDEN OF AUSTRALIA

(Peterborough Examiner)

Canadians who may think that this country's war expenditures up to the present moment are heavy—and they undoubtedly are—have only to take a glance at the Australian record to realize that when it comes to paying taxes there are other parts of the Empire much harder hit than we have been.

Since the outbreak of war Australia has entered into war commitments that represent a total expenditure of approximately $1,479,000,000, an amount equal to the total expenditure for war purposes made by the Commonwealth during the whole first Great War.

What this means will be appreciated by Canadians as they realize that up to the present Canada's outlay for defence, enormous as the burden may seem, is in the neighborhood of $940,000,000. The indications are that it will soon be at the billion dollar mark, but even when it reaches that huge total it will still fall nearly half a billion dollars short of the war expenditure of our Australian cousins.

Australia, with a much smaller population than our own, is calling upon its people for a much heavier per capita war taxation than Canadians have yet been called upon to pay.

It is well to remember that when you may be inclined to grumble at the sum that the war is costing this country, if the people of Australia within the space of less than a year are willing to assume obligations amounting to nearly a billion and a half dollars, surely we can carry the considerably lighter load placed on our shoulders with reasonable cheerfulness. We have had to make nothing like the sacrifices the folk in the British Isles have been called upon to make, and the figure quoted for Australia shows that her financial obligations for war purposes are much less than the Commonwealth is facing without complaint.

HITLER'S AIMS FOR FRANCE

(London Times)

Of Hitler's ultimate designs for France little has yet been allowed to emerge. But there has been one revealing indiscretion by a member of the Petain cabinet. M. Pomaret, the Minister of Labor, has explained that the new France will abandon her "exaggerated industrialism" and become once more a land of peasant agriculture. This is the policy which Germany has for the last few years been trying, in virtue of her commercial stranglehold, to impose on the Balkans. It is the policy which she is even now trying to enforce in Denmark and Holland. According to the German reading of history, the power of Great Britain has been based on her position throughout the nineteenth century as the centre of the world's industrial production, using non-industrialized colonies and subject territories overseas as her market, as her granary, and as the source of her raw materials. The German dream is to emulate the British achievement, as Germany sees it.

PARIS NOT "RECONCILED,"

BY LONG SHOT

(Variety, New York)

Walter Kerr, former Paris correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune and sometimes broadcaster on trans-Atlantic, gave a quiet but telling description of the old French capital under Nazi rule, on radio programme "We, the People." Kerr, whom some listeners may have recalled for his graphic pictures of situation in Czechoslovakia two years ago, arrived via Clipper, after Nazi censor killed six or seven stories he wrote. Tale he related was different from those recently cabled and aired out of Paris.

Parisians and French people are not reconciled to German domination, he said. For the present they have to live, but "some day we will find out who betrayed us and we will come back." Kerr stated Paris was plastered with posters showing German soldiers feeding French children. Despite death penalty for defacing them, he had not seen one which was not torn badly.

French people also give food and money to escaped British prisoners, although this also involves death penalty. In addition to telling of Nazis goose-stepping, to band music, past tomb of Unknown Soldier every afternoon, with French ignoring parade, Kerr spoke of "the most terrifying" newsreels on bombings etc., shown by Germans in Paris. The few French patrons who watch screenings give no outward indications of their reactions except "occasional gasps."

THE GANGSTERS SQUAD

(Toronto Telegram)

In his boast that he is prepared for a five years' war, Hitler has made open confession of the failure of his planned lightning thrust against Britain. He has had to admit to those who have thought that he could not err, that his time-table of conquest has at last had to be abandoned. His chariot of victory has broken down.

The boast of his ability to carry on for five years was accompanied by frenzied shrieks about the iniquity of the British blockade. His hearers who are in a position to judge of the efficiency of that blockade may be able to reach their own conclusion as to the ability of Germany to carry on. Some at least will be able to see that the Nazi idol has feet of clay.

Nowhere will the frenzied tones of Hitler's confession of failure be received with greater exultation than among the people who have broken down the machine which Hitler has drawn up. Everywhere along the route of the bullying Huns Freedom will draw a new breath and look with renewed hope towards her British champion.

WHERE LABOR IS NEEDED

(Financial Times, Montreal)

It now appears that, with a plentiful supply of farm products and a surplus of wheat so huge that it is unmarketable for the present at least, the war-time shortage of labor is not on the farm but in our industrial plants which are turning out the planes, shells, tanks, etc., upon which the very life of the Empire is dependent. It would seem, therefore, that the registration form might much better have carried a section asking those who work on farms, and who have to do with the tractors and other farm machinery so widely employed in agriculture, as to their qualifications to fill jobs in munitions plants or to enter the military forces in any of the several capacities now requiring mechanical experience. For instance, the farm hand who has acquired that knowledge necessary to operate a tractor or a combine, and keep it going throughout the harvest season, might very readily be used in the tank corps or in some other arm of the service where mechanical knowledge is essential.

Sixty million phonograph records and 370,000 new radio-phonographs were purchased by Americans last year.

HELP THE RED CROSS

AN URGENT AND CHRISTIAN APPEAL TO ALL CANADIANS

ADVICE TO HUNTERS

(La Presse, de Montreal)

The hunting season is open now in the Province of Quebec for certain classes of game, and it should soon be in full swing for all kinds of wild animals. We would suggest that our lovers of the sport be extremely careful when they indulge in their favorite fall outdoor amusement. They will thus not only protect their fellowmen who may also be wandering in the bush, but will help in the protection and conservation of game. Indiscriminate slaughter benefits nobody and ultimately results in restrictions which limit very considerably the hunting sport.

It is sad to realize how many so-called hunters are inclined to kill for the simple pleasure of killing. As soon as they have a weapon in their hands they think of only one thing, the slaughter of animals. They fire at anything that flies or passes within reach of their gun or rifle. Like the man who is addicted to drink and feels that he must see the bottom of a bottle, they are bound to see the bottom of their empty cartridge bags. And when the slaughter is over they often do not know what to do with the game they have wantonly killed.

The same remarks apply to fishing, and particularly as regards trout, since the season will close within a few weeks. Why not be satisfied with the number of fish one can use instead of hooking every fish possible? Fishermen who do not use some discretion merely help deplete lakes and rivers and spoil future sport not only for themselves but for others who in future might enjoy a few days' pleasant fishing.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By Wm. E. McKenney, America's Card Authority

FAILURE TO WATCH DETAILS OF PLAY COSTS CONTRACTS

We all know that failure to give careful heed to details leads to defeat. Watching details pays big dividends in contract. Why does a player lead a certain card? Why does he fail to continue a suit? Such are the little details that must be analyzed.

Today's hand was sent to me by George W. Beynon, Southern tournament director of the American Contract Bridge League. Declarer is definitely off two club tricks and a heart, and if the queen of diamonds is wrong, the contract is doomed. Now let's pick up the details.

North opened the eight of clubs. South won with the queen, cashed the ace of clubs, but at this point shifted to a heart. Why? Because he did not hold five clubs.

Therefore, when North returns a heart, declarer takes out trumps, returns to dummy with a heart and leads the ten of clubs. South covers.

An aristocratic New York man, being requested by a vulgar young fellow for permission to marry "one of his girls," gave this rather crushing reply: "Certainly! Which would you prefer—the waitress or the cook?"

Mrs. Rigworthy-Rigworthy was interviewing the girl who had applied as a maid.

"Let me see your references," she said.

The maid looked blank.

"Haven't you any?" the mistress said, curiously. "I put in my advertisement 'excellent references.'"

"Oh, I thought that applied to you," replied the girl.

CHILD'S THREE-PIECE OUTFIT

MARIAN MARTIN
Pattern 9507

A playroom or schoolroom leader—this spirited outfit for "small fry." For Marian Martin has included three smart pieces in Pattern 9507—a jumper, a blouse and a bolero. The merrily scalloped straps cut in one piece with the front and back are a straight grain for dressmaking convenience. You might let the jumper open down the front so daughter can quickly "dress herself." Or perhaps you prefer just a button trim. Pockets and ruffling look gay on the jumper; the fresh little blouse may have lace edging and a ribbon bow. Now stitch up the jaunty bolero—and there's a complete three-piece costume. Follow the Sewing Instructor for short-cuts!

Pattern 9507 may be ordered only in children's sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12. Size 6, jumper, requires 1½ yards 35 inch fabric, and blouse, ¾ yard contrast.

Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address and style number.

Send your order to Sherbrooke Daily Record, Pattern Department, Sherbrooke, Quebec.

Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1—Should you put butter on a baked potato with your knife or fork?

2—Is it all right for a man to read a newspaper on a bus or street car if it is a woman with him?

3—If you are in a picture show where smoking is allowed, should you be careful to blow the smoke down, so that it will not annoy the person sitting in front of you?

4—Should a man who has taken a girl to a picture show see that she is not sitting directly behind a tall man?

5—When introducing two persons it is necessary to speak their names distinctly?

What would you do if—
You have been introduced to someone whose name you did not catch and the two of you are left taking together—

(a) Say, "I didn't understand your name when we were introduced."

(b) Feel you shouldn't admit you didn't catch his name?

ANSWERS

1—With the fork.

2—Yes, if he asks her first. "Do you want to look at part of the paper?" and she says "Yes."

3—Yes.

4—Yes.

5—Yes. "Don't mumble an introduction."

Best "What Would You Do?" solution—(a). It is quite all right to admit you didn't understand the name. If you don't ask immediately you may find you have to ask when someone comes up to be introduced, and then it will look as though you had forgotten.

Khaki Ball Proved Brilliant Social Event Saturday Night

The Sherbrooke Country Club, ablaze with lights, flashed a "beacon" of welcome to the "army" of guests as they approached from a distance Saturday evening to attend the Khaki Ball sponsored by the Sir John Sherbrooke Chapter, I.O. D.E., and held under the patronage of Colonel M. W. McNulty, officer Commanding, and Major Aime Biran, Second-in-Command, of the Sherbrooke Fusiliers Regiment, C.A.S.F., who with Mrs. McNulty and Mrs. William E. Baker, Regent, received at the entrance to the dance hall, "guarded" by the Chapter's Standard, a large silk Union Jack.

Mrs. Baker was wearing a smart black lace dinner gown with long sleeves, the sweetest neckline being finished with diamond clips matching the ornaments in her hair, silver accessories completing the chic ensemble.

Mrs. McNulty wore a gay flowered print frock cut on princess lines with a very full gored skirt and short puffed sleeves, a corsage of red roses and matching red slippers.

Practically the entire Club house was reserved for the Ball, its attractive furnishings, gay chintzes, many gleaming trophies and masses of late autumn flowers, together with the spacious sun-porches about which tables were arranged, forming an ideal setting for the smartly gowned guests whose colorful frocks were in pleasing contrast to the khaki uniforms which predominated.

The "Pleasant View Orchestra" from North Hatley furnished excellent music for dancing and also accompanied the guest artists, Betty Speirs, D.E.M., and Peter Miller, D.C.A., D.M.A., D.E.M., who gave an informal exhibition of ball room dancing, during intermission.

Betty Speirs was wearing a graceful frock of chiffon taffeta fastened with long, full panels in three harmonizing shades, the bodice continuing the three tone motif in shirred bands and shoulder straps.

The guest artists danced two solo numbers a tango and a waltz, their graceful interpretation of the "art of dancing," being much enjoyed by the large and appreciative audience.

Their gracious invitation to four couples to join them in a demonstration of "new ball room steps" proved very popular, so much so that several others were quite disappointed that they, too, had not enjoyed the privilege of gaining a few "tips" from the representatives from the well known "Betty Speirs School of Dancing," Westmont.

After the exhibition refreshments were served, a la buffet and afterwards dancing was resumed the last dance "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" ending in a jolly sing-song, at the close of which the orchestra played God Save the King.

Among the guests from out-of-town were several officers, including Major Halpenny and Lieutenant Conrad, from Headquarters, Montreal, Captain J. W. Phillips, R.C.A., and Lieutenant J. A. R. Letellier, Quebec City, and their ladies; while the Officers of the Sherbrooke Fusiliers Regiment, C.A.S.F., and other local units turned out in full force to help the I.O.D.E., and incidentally to enjoy a brief respite from the rigorous routine of life in barracks or camp.

There were also several representatives from the Windsor Mills Flying School.

Another member of the R.C.A.F., Mr. Carl Griffith, who was here on furlough for the week-end, was also a welcome guest, this being his first visit home since his enlistment.

There were many beautifully gowned women among the guests, including Mrs. Leopold Chevalier, in white French sheer with a smocked jacket of the same material, a corsage of natural roses and silver accessories; Mrs. Emilie Levesque, a lovely frock of rose pink chiffon with matching accessories; Mrs. Bertram Lyon, wearing an evening dress of Royal blue lace over taffeta with corsage of American Beauty roses; Mrs. Lyman Tomkins, an exquisite model of claret-cup crepe with gold girdle and accessories; Mrs. S. Why the Red Cross is in urgent need of funds

Here are a few tasks the Canadian Red Cross must tackle at once:

- 1 At the request of the British Red Cross, it has undertaken to provide 10,000 parcels of food each week from Canada for British prisoners of war in Germany. Canadians can thus help to lessen the strain on Britain's food supplies.
 - 2 The Canadian Red Cross will provide, equip and coordinate with the Department of National Defence in maintaining a number of convalescent hospitals in various parts of Canada for use by Canadian soldiers, here and from overseas, who are sick or wounded.
 - 3 The Canadian Red Cross will help to supply clothing and other necessities to the more than 100,000 evacuee children in Britain, and the 100,000 refugees from invaded countries who are seeking shelter under the Union Jack. Many articles of relief clothing have been supplied, but another half million articles will be needed from Canadian Red Cross workrooms.
 - 4 The Canadian Red Cross is sending an increasing flow of supplies for the alleviation of civilian suffering caused by enemy bombing of Britain.
 - 5 As Canada's own armed forces grow, on land, on sea and in the air, the need for Red Cross services increases.
 - 6 The Red Cross must be ready and fully equipped to meet any emergency at the moment it arises.
- These are tasks you must not leave undone.

Indians Stop Tigers As Yanks Defeat Sox

Cleveland Smashes Out 10-5 Victory in Third Game of Series with Detroit to Make American League Race Three-Way Scramble Again—Selkirk's Two Homers Spark Bombers' 6-3 Triumph Over Boston.

Like the old-time movie serials that used to end just after the heroine had fallen into the crocodile pond, the American League pennant race stops abruptly today.

After almost everybody had given up on the Yankees ever being able to make it five pennants in a row, and then had decided Detroit Tigers were too tough, Cleveland yesterday smashed out a 10-5 victory in the third game of their series at Detroit to make the race a three-way scramble again. And now, with everybody on edge, they all take the day off.

Resuming play Tuesday, the Tigers have a two-game series with Chicago White Sox and the Indians meet the Browns in a pair. All of which means that the pennant chase probably will not be decided until that three-game series starting next Friday between the Tigers and the Indians at Cleveland.

After losing the first two games of the "crocodile" series, the Indians victory yesterday—Bobby Feller's 27th of the year—left the pennant picture looking like this:

Teams w l pct gbl
Detroit . . . 87 62 .584
Cleveland . . 86 63 .577 1
New York . . . 82 64 .562 3 1/2

The Yanks kept within mathematical shouting distance of the leaders by trouncing Boston Red Sox, 6-3, thanks to George Selkirk's two homers.

In the other games Washington scored a pair of victories over the Athletics, 5-4 and 5-2, and the Chicago White Sox won a 10-0 victory over St. Louis Browns.

In the National League, Turner pitched a two-hitter to give the champion Cincinnati Reds a 2-1 victory over the Pirates in the first game but Johnny Vander Meer's wildness cost them the second game 8-1. He walked seven batters and hit one before Milt Shoffner came to his rescue.

Brooklyn Dodgers scored a twin victory over the Phillies 10-2 and 5-2.

Boston Bees and New York Giants split their doubleheader 4-3 and 7-3. St. Louis Cubs blasted Chicago Cubs 8-1 and 2-1, knocking Dizzy Dean dizzy in the first game and getting the best of a pitcher's duel in the nightcap between Max Lanier and Larry French.
