Police seek escapee from Cowansville jail

COWANSVILLE (JM) — Police are still searching for Rodrick Southam, one of two fugitives who fled the penitentiary here Wednesday evening.

Robert Bandford gave himself up to Cowansville Municipal Police yesterday afternoon.

Bandford, 19, of Montreal, was serving three years for armed robbery. Southam, 22, of Arvida, in the Saguenay District, was serving two years on charges of possession of burglary tools, breaking and entering, and theft.

Quebec Police revealed the two men escaped through the institution's sewage system and were discovered missing at the head count at 2300 hours.

Both were admitted to the regional reception center Montreal, June 5, and transferred here July 14.

Penitentiary officials said they had not sufficient time to evaluate them to determine whether or not they were dangerous.

IN MURDER AREA

The search for Southam is in a five square mile area in the Township of Dunham, near where Farnham taxi driver Jean-Maurice Tringle, 47, was killed as a result of having been struck on the head with a blunt instrument June 6, 1975.

Benoit Roy and Dennis

Pearson, both of Montreal, who escaped from Cowansville June 5, are now being detained as material witnesses in the slaying of Mr. Tringle.

They were the first prisoners to escape from Cowansville since May 1, 1973.

Police are expected to bring in tracking dogs as their search for Southam continues today.

2 city beaches ordered closed

SHERBROOKE (RM) — The city has ordered the closing of its two public beaches, following release of water test reports indicating a dangerous level of water pollution at both sites.

The city's public relations officer, Andre Collard, said late yesterday afternoon Blanchard and Jacques-Cartier beaches will remain "temporarily closed" until further notice.

The release added municipal employees are currently examining for sources of pollution. Dangerous levels have not been found since the city began testing beach water regularly in 1971.

Recently Sherbrooke Citizens Movement President Thomas Somsynsky called repeatedly for the closing of the beaches for health reasons.

On the other hand, last week pro-Mayor Romeo Quintal argued there was as of then no data indicating the pollution level was enough to justify closing the beaches.

Attendance at both beaches, located on the Magog River, has been significantly down since reports of serious pollution there were circulated.

Meanwhile, The Record has learned the city was actually considering closing the beaches last spring, for an unspecified reason.

The idea was rejected, however, with the decision to keep them open with only one lifeguard and a swimming area bounded by logs at each.

European borders to be formalized

HELSINKI (AP) — Leaders of 35 countries sign a declaration today formally acknowledging the frontiers of postwar Europe and promoting human rights.

President Ford was scheduled to speak on this third and final day of the European security conference.

The 30,000-word, 100-page declaration, which is not binding, recognizes the present map of Europe and pledges that participating countries will further civil liberties of their citizens and promote an East-West exchange of information.

Western countries insisted on these human rights clauses during 30 months of preparatory talks in Helsinki and Geneva.

In the waning days of the Geneva talks that ended July 21, the Soviets and East Europeans finally accepted enough of the Western wording to make the current meeting possible.

BREZHNEV PRIME MOVER

Leonid Brezhnev, 68, general-secretary of the Soviet Communist party, was a prime mover behind the conference, which some Western critics say recognizes Soviet absorption of large parts of Eastern Europe and hegemony over satellite Communist regimes.

For two decades, the Soviets pressed for such a conference which Brezhnev described in his speech Thursday as "a necessary summing up of the political outcome of the Second World War."

Brezhnev paved the way for the conference in 1971 by declaring a policy of detente with the West.

There have been persistent reports that Brezhnev's health is faltering, and he did nothing to ally them Thursday night when he left a seaside garden party after 20 minutes without giving an explanation.

On Wednesday night when Brezhnev left a state dinner, a Soviet spokesman said the Soviet leader had to attend to paper work.

Brezhnev met for 10 minutes Thursday with Pierre Trudeau, and the Canadian prime minister said later the Soviet Union is anxious to end its fisheries dispute with Canada.

Then officials of both countries began the first discussions since Canada banned the huge Soviet fleet from Atlantic ports.

Trudeau told reporters he and Brezhnev discussed a number of matters, including Canada's claim that the Soviet Union has violated international fishing quotas off the Atlantic Coast.

Cabinet shuffle results

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Robert Bourassa announced Thursday the appointment of two new deputy ministers and three new senior civil servants.

The announcement follows Wednesday's cabinet shuffle in which 12 of 27 government department heads were changed.

Gilles Laporte has been appointed deputy minister of labor while John H. Dinsmore becomes deputy minister of industry and commerce.

Mr. Laporte, 35, is a former consultant to former labor minister Jean Coutu while Mr. Dinsmore was, until 1970, a deputy minister in the education department.

The three other appointments are Jean Claude Lebel, 41, as secretary of the Treasury Board, Maurice Cusson, 43, as commissioner and vice-president of the Quebec Securities Commission and Claude Lefebvre, 46, as president of the newly-created Quebec Construction Employers' Board.

Littler's term littler

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec Court of Appeal has reduced a 1972 prison term imposed on Edmund Littler, 66, former president of Walter M. Lowney Co., following his conviction on charges of fraud involving $1.07 million.

Mr. Justice Francois Lajoie ruled Thursday the sentence be reduced to two years from five years in consideration of Littler's age and the fact that the full amount defrauded was repaid with accrued interest.

Littler, 66, was convicted of defrauding three companies in September, 1968, by inducing them to sell him Lowney shares for $32.50 each. Littler resold the shares to Standard Brands Ltd. for $68.22 each.

Women helped Blass

ST. JEROME, Que. (CP) — Two young women were each sentenced Thursday to one month in prison on charges of aiding and abetting Richard Blass, the fugitive shot dead by police in a Jan. 25 raid on a Laurentians chalet.

The women, Ginette Charron and Lucette Smith, were arrested by police during the raid on Blass's hideout at Val David, about 45 miles north of Montreal.

Both women pleaded guilty at sessions court here Thursday to charges of aiding and abetting Blass.

Kidnap aid is dead

ST. NAZAIRE, Que. (CP) — Michel Viger, 37, who spent four years in prison for hiding the FLQ kidnapers of Pierre Laporte, was crushed to death by the tractor he was driving at a nearby farm, police said.

Viger, a former insurance salesman, had recently purchased two farms with his brother Jean near this community 50 miles east of Montreal, and was having Tuesday when the accident occurred.

Truce developing in beef war

WASHINGTON (CP) — A truce seems to be developing in the so-called beef war between the United States and Canada with apparent agreement by both sides to start dismantling some of the barriers to intercountry agricultural trade.

High-level U.S. sources said in a series of interviews Thursday that authorities here have agreed to remove quotas limiting the import of Canadian cattle, hogs and pork in return for a lifting of Canadian barriers against U.S. cattle imports.

The new accord, these sources said, needs only the formal approval of President Ford to begin taking effect.

Most of the Canadian quotas are routinely scheduled to expire in mid-August. The general expectation here has been that they will be renewed rather than phased out.

Quotas on Canadian beef and veal will remain until at least the end of this year, sources added, mainly because of difficulties related to a U.S. regulation governing the amounts of foreign meats which can be sold on the American market.

Under this system, the U.S. each year negotiates voluntary restraint agreements with major meat suppliers in order to hold imports to a fixed ceiling. If Canadian meats now were suddenly allowed into the market, officials said, it would disrupt these arrangements.

The sources said they were reasonably confident, however, that the restrictions on meat imports from Canada may start to be phased out in 1976.

But they expressed extreme dissatisfaction with tough Canadian quotas imposed on U.S. egg imports which took effect July 5. At least one high-ranking official said there was mounting pressure on the U.S. administration to take some form of retaliatory action against the egg barriers.

The situation surrounding cattle and meat sales has been a source of dispute between Canada and the U.S. for several years but it became acute in April, 1974, when Canada banned imports of American beef fattened with the chemical diethylstilbestrol (DES), a synthetic growth hormone that some experts believe may cause cancer.

After a series of negotiations, trade resumed later in the year under an agreement on ways of certifying freedom from contamination.

But Canada then imposed world quotas on beef and cattle imports to protect its producers from the effects of an international surplus and after this and other actions Washington followed suit with quotas on Canadian cattle, swine, beef and pork.

A somewhat improved international market outlook and the likelihood of better prices for producers, sources say, made it easier to agree on the new package.

PEI potato crop predicted to drop 25% from last year

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — A seven-week drought in most of Prince Edward Island has begun withering potato fields and there are predictions that the yield could drop as much as 25 per cent from 1974.

P.E.I. has had less than two-tenths of an inch of rain in the last 22 days of June and it was generally dry in July. If the drought continues, industry analysts predict losses could reach 40 per cent.

However, the P.E.I. potato marketing board says it hopes to stabilize the industry with enforced minimum sale prices for the crop that survives the drought.

"Beginning on Aug. 5, we will set a minimum price for all potatoes leaving the province and we're going to enforce it," said potato board

"All potatoes leaving the province will need a transport permit and we won't issue one if we think the grower is trying to undercut the minimum," he said in an interview Thursday.

In 1974, the board had a "recommended" minimum sale price system, not an enforced one. This year they are using powers contained in a Potato Marketing Act passed in 1956 but never used.

In New Brunswick and Maine, two major competitors of P.E.I. growers, the situation is grim.

CROP DROPS
There, previous estimates that the crop could drop by as much as 20 per cent now are viewed as "optimistic". Some Maine growers say the situation is worse than it has been in the last 20 years. The Maine problem is compounded by the shortage in 1974 of high-quality seed potatoes. Some growers were forced to use lower-quality seed stock and are suffering because of lower resistance to drought and infections.

Acresages in P.E.I., N.B., and Maine are all down by as much as 10 per cent in comparison to 1974. For the consumer that means the combination of a smaller supply on the market and a steady demand which will lead to increased prices.

"That may be true but the aim of what we're trying to do in the industry is give it the kind of stability it has never had before," Mr. Cairns said.

Competitors in North Dakota and Minnesota also are hurting this year because floods have ruined several thousand acres of potatoes.

The Alberta Potato Commission said this week fields around Taber, Rainier, Vauxhall and Lethbridge may not have time to make a full crop.

LOWER PRICES
In British Columbia, growers have had to deal with imported potatoes from Washington which are selling $2 below the $6 per hundredweight B.C. price and are being forced to lower their prices to keep a foothold in the market.

In P.E.I., mostly because of reduced receipts, the potato crop has slipped to 40 per cent of the total value of the agricultural sector of the island economy from about 60 per cent two years ago.

"That's the kind of instability I'm talking about," Mr. Cairns said. "We don't care if growers sell above the minimum price we set, but we do care if they try to sell below it just to get rid of their crop."

Gas tax rebate forms due soon

OTTAWA (CP) — Forms for claiming rebates on the 10-cent-a-gallon federal excise tax on gasoline will be available in post offices across the country Sept. 2, the post office announced Thursday.

The special excise tax on gasoline for personal use was proposed in the June 23 budget, and became law Wednesday after being hotly debated by the opposition in Parliament.

A full refund of the special tax will be available for gasoline used for farming, fishing, construction, mining and most commercial transportation.

The refund forms will be distributed through the post offices on a "once-only" basis, after which replacement forms will be issued by the customs and excise division of the national revenue department.

OTTAWA (CP) — Consumer Affairs Minister Andre Ouellet denied Wednesday that it is "irregular" for auto companies to keep secret the programs they operate to repair basic production defects after the regular warranty has expired.

The practice is estimated by a Montreal consumer group to have cost car owners hundreds of thousands of dollars because they were not informed auto companies will make certain repairs free or on a part-payment basis after the normal 12 months—12,000 miles warranty expires.

The Automobile Protection Association (APA) sent copies of several dealer bulletins, authorizing free repairs up to 50,000 miles for certain defects, to the consumer affairs department in April.

John Rodriguez (NDP—Nickel Belt) said in the Commons Wednesday it was irregular for the auto makers not to advertise that they will make repairs after the warranty expires.

"I don't share that view," Mr. Ouellet said.

He said his department will make available, upon request by consumers, the information that APA sent to it in April. It covers repairs that auto makers including Ford Motor Co., General Motors Corp. and Canadian Motor Industries, importer for Toyota, will make after warranties have expired.

sumers affairs department. Consumers could then be made aware of the repairs they were entitled to through the department's monthly publication, Consumer Contact.

Currently, the auto companies say they reserve the discretionary right to decide when a customer shall receive service, even if a specific defect has been identified. In practice, the service generally is given only to those who complain loudly.

A spokesman for Mr. Ouellet said he plans to make a statement about the department's plans to deal with the issue early next week. Mr. Ouellet said last Friday that he would comment this week.

However, his spokesman said Mr. Ouellet needed more time to gather information about the secret programs and to consider a study prepared by the department's consumer services branch outlining policy options the department might choose.

New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market gave up a broad early gain to finish virtually unchanged Thursday as it closed out its first declining month of the year.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up more than six points in the early going and again shortly after noon, wound up with a .15 loss at 831.51.

That left the Dow with a 47.48 decline for July after a 262.75-point runup over the first six months of the year.

The NYSE's composite index eased off .01 to 47.52, and Standard and Poor's 500-stock index dropped .08 to 88.75.

NYSE volume dipped to a new low since April 8 at 14.54 million shares, compared with 16.15 million Wednesday.

The early buying was ascribed to the news that factory orders had risen again in June for their third consecutive monthly increase, with businesses continuing to work down their inventories.

Thursday's late pullback followed the report from the agriculture department at afternoon that farm prices had risen three per cent from June 15 to July 15.

Southern Co. was the day's most active issue, down 1/4 at $12 1/2 in trading marked by a 180,000-share block at $12 1/4. Among glamours, McDonald's fell 1 1/8 to $48 1/2. Polaroid 1 1/4 to $38. IBM 4 1/8 to $190 1/4. Digital Equipment 1 1/4 to $110 1/4, and Texas Instruments 1 1/4 lower to $97 1/2.

Moore McCormack Resources tumbled 7 to $72 1/2. Earlier in the week the company reported higher second-quarter earnings, but said its third-quarter results were likely to fall short of comparable year-ago levels.

Natoma, which reported sharply lower second-quarter earnings, was down 1 1/4 at $28 1/4. Alpha Portland Industries dropped a point to $8 3/4. The company reported a second-quarter loss Wednesday and omitted its dividend.

Charter Co. slipped 3/4 to $5 1/4 on lower second-quarter profits.

Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, on the other hand, climbed 2 1/2 to $24 1/4 on the company's report of a substantial gain in quarterly earnings.

The American Stock Exchange's market value index was unchanged for the day at 83.19.

Grain purchase, poor crops shock commodity markets

NEW YORK (Reuters) — Renewed fears of inflation linked to large Soviet grain purchases and weather-ravaged crops in Europe and Latin America have sent shock waves through major U.S. commodity markets.

Prices of nearly all U.S. commodity futures have seen-sawed since the Soviets stepped up their purchases of grain on world markets during the last two weeks.

The turmoil is reminiscent of 1972, when huge Soviet grain purchases and crop failures in various parts of the world sent international commodity prices rocketing to all-time highs.

Compounding the situation is the dispute among Washington officials over how much impact the Soviet purchases will have on food prices in the United States next year.

CROP ADEQUATE

Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz says bumper U.S. crops forecast this year will be adequate to take care of exports to the Soviets; but Federal Reserve Board chairman Arthur Burns warned that he "does not see any escape from higher food prices resulting from grain sales to the Soviet Union."

Grain prices in Chicago surged to six-month highs recently as reports circulated that 38 C-degree temperatures could cut 650 million bushels from the corn crop in Iowa.

High temperatures also are reported killing pasture lands in the Dakotas. This means farmers may be forced to market cattle earlier than expected.

High feed costs on farms have reduced hog numbers to a 40-year low and pushed wholesale bacon prices in the Midwest to a record 98 cents a pound.

Livestock analysts suggest these prices may translate to supermarket bacon prices of as high as $2.50 a pound.

FROST REPORTED

Some New York commodities have risen spectacularly amid reports of severe frost damage to the new season's coffee crop in Brazil, and the worst damage to the 1975 wheat crop in Brazil's history.

The full extent of the damage to the Brazilian coffee crop is not known, but leading U.S. and Canadian coffee manufacturers have warned of increasing prices.

Coffee past prices also have climbed sharply.

At the same time, drought has plagued sugar cane in some Caribbean countries and is affecting agriculture in Western Europe.

Drought in the Soviet Union also may affect sugar beets still in the fields, and could bring the Soviets into the world market as a larger buyer, some sugar traders speculate.

Xerox dominance ending

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) made final Wednesday an agreement designed to end dominance of the office copying business in the United States by the Xerox Corp.

Following a 60-day period for public comment, the commissioners voted unanimously to put into effect a consent order accepted by Xerox last April 16.

The agreement is intended to force Xerox to share its manufacturing expertise with competitors.

Under the consent order, Xerox is prohibited for five years from linking the rental of its most popular copiers to the prices charged for other machines in less demand. Competitors complained they were shut out of providing some copiers as a result of the practice, even though they charged less than Xerox.

Another key element in the agreement would permit a competitor to obtain three patents from Xerox without cost before having to pay for additional patents or provide its own trade secrets in return.

Let nature dry it

Instead of using the drying cycle on your dishwasher, which expends a considerable amount of electricity, open the washer's door after the rinse cycle, thus allowing the steam to escape, and pull the tray out. Let the dishes dry by themselves. It doesn't take as long as you think and certainly is cheaper as well as energy-conserving.

New program teaching skills to northerners

FORT CHIPEWYAN, Alta. (CP) — A pilot program to teach managerial skills to residents of this isolated far northeastern Alberta community has been started by the University of Western Ontario.

It's the first time the program has been attempted in Alberta and it promises to be a "long procedure," says Dave Burgoyne, associate professor of the university's school of business administration.

But it's a necessary step if this predominantly native settlement, about 360 miles northeast of Edmonton, is to shake its reputation as a "welfare town," says John Davies, a university graduate student working here.

"Fort Chipewyan will never be a major centre, but it can be reduced from its present 90 per cent on welfare," he said after two months on the job.

The biggest problem is lack of industry. Mr. Davies sees several promising businesses for the region, ranging from a laundromat to fishing lodges for tourists.

But none of the residents possess the business skills needed to launch and maintain such enterprises.

Mr. Davies is one of 16 University of Western Ontario students doing similar work across the country under a federally-funded Indian business assistance program.

DON'T UNDERSTAND

He concedes that it would be better to have a person more familiar to the residents administer the program. "They don't fully understand yet why I'm in Fort Chipewyan."

Part of his time is spent working with school children and he is training a high school student to act as a bookkeeper for the fishing co-operative.

One of the more encouraging signs of Indian business involvement is a bid by treaty natives to form a construction company. George Vermilion, administrator of the Athabasca Cree-Chipewyan band, says the band wants to buy out the town's lone contractor and form a sub contracting business.

A backhoe has been acquired in anticipation of winning a water extension contract from the municipal affairs department and an instructor from Keyano College in Fort McMurray is instructing band members on use of the machine.

FINANCIER RISES

OTTAWA (CP) — Earl Drake, 47, currently director of the finance department's international programs division, has been elected executive director of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development (World Bank), Finance Minister John Turner said Monday.

U.S. CLAIMS DUMPING

WASHINGTON (AP) — Imported vinyl-clad fence fabric from Canada is being sold in the United States at less than fair value in violation of American antidumping laws, the U.S. treasury department announced Monday. It said value of the imports during 1974 was approximately $6 million. A spokesman said the decision did not apply to the General Wire and Cable Co. Ltd., whose sales were found to be acceptable within the meaning of U.S. trade laws.

QUEBEC DEBT RISES

QUEBEC (CP) — The provincial debt rose 7.8 per cent to $3.1 billion dollars in the 1974-75 fiscal year, says a report issued by the department of industry and commerce. This represents 9.2 per cent of the gross provincial product—the total of goods and services produced—compared with 10 per cent of the product in the 1973-74 year. Total government spending which rose by 25.1 per cent over 1973-74, amounted to $7.1 billion, producing a budgetary deficit of $225 million.

Glove plant won't open unless imports cut

BEEBE (RM) — It is unlikely Dominion Glove's Coaticook plant, closed since December, will reopen unless the Federal government institutes measures protecting the Canadian glove manufacturing industry from tough Oriental competition, the manager of Dominion's Beebe plant said yesterday.

company officially declared the Coaticook installation closed yesterday, putting some 40 employees onto unemployment insurance and welfare.

Dominion has been lobbying in Ottawa for over eight months calling for Federal restrictions on the "dumping" of the cheaper, Oriental gloves that have all but put the domestic glove industry out of business.

Gas station destroyed by fire

KNOWLTON (SM) — The Petrofina Gas Station was completely destroyed by fire which started at 5 p.m. Tuesday, July 29. The garage is situated on Main Street, and within minutes the scene to battle an extremely stubborn fire fed by oil, gasoline, tires, which caused extremely dense smoke adding to their difficulties.

Damage is estimated at $15,000, not including a late model station wagon and a motor bicycle, which were totally destroyed. Injured severely was employee Michel Proulx, who, at the time was operating a welding torch, repairing the station wagon. The cause of the fire appears to have been hot metal sparks which fell into a drain in the centre of the garage floor. The drain apparently had some gasoline in the trap, which exploded and enveloped the entire garage within seconds.

"We would be happy to go back to Coaticook, if only we could get some action," Mr. Gaudreau said.

He was unable to comment if the troubled glove business in Canada may also take the Beebe plant, which has already cut down its payroll from about 225 last year to 58 now, in its toll.

The Beebe plant currently has a large inventory, ready for sale, Mr. Gaudreau said.

According to Mr. Gaudreau, the market cost for a dozen gloves made in the Orient is about $2.30, while the cost price alone for Dominion Glove's products is $4.68.

During 1974 alone, a million dozen more gloves were "dumped" in Canada from the Orient, than the previous year.

Stamp Collecting

By PAT CANGLEY
(Hobby Shop Reg'd)

After many requests, I should like to give again a few tips on how to start a stamp collection. Well, a few things are required, first a stamp album, but before choosing an album one should decide whether he or she wants to collect the entire world or a few countries or just one country.

If you can't decide then start worldwide and later on you may find the scope too wide and then you may go to country-collecting only.

When choosing an album the best type is looseleaf where you can add pages to your album as your collection grows. Tweezers may be a good aid also, by handling your stamps with these it avoids smears from gaining access to your stamps. Hinges are also necessary to mount your stamps although if you are collecting mint (new stamps with full gum) you may want to use stamp mounts.

Lastly but most important are the stamps themselves which you can obtain off mail, or from your friends or by purchasing same. These may be bought from a stamp dealer, department store or by mail on approval.

Many different facets of collecting have been appearing in the last 15 columns written before this one. You may obtain back copies of The Record and clip these columns for future reference. The following topics have already been treated, albums, catalogues, singles, blocks and plate blocks, accessories, approvals, stamp dealers, duplicates and their disposal, should women collect stamps, stamp packets and singles, stamps as investments, soaking stamps, F.D.C.'s and covers, Canadian Stamps, clubs and associations, plus many market tips and new issues news.

It will be a pleasure to answer any questions on this hobby which is of a general interest to all collectors. Write the author at 445-13th Ave. North, Apt. 5, Sherbrooke, Quebec. See you next week.

Service regrouping 'voluntary' — O'Bready

By ROBERT MACPHERSON
(Record Reporter)

SHERBROOKE — Despite initial unfavorable response from the mayors of some neighboring communities, Sherbrooke Mayor Jacques O'Bready is still optimistic for his plan to consolidate or "regroup" certain municipal services.

In an interview with The Record yesterday, Mr. O'Bready said his intention is not to form an urban community like those in Montreal and Quebec City, which he views as systems giving "poor results."

"My original idea is to have the cities involved to collaborate and correct problems," he said.

Services that might be consolidated in the proposed plan might include fire, garbage, technical services and electricity.

Currently, some communities without particular services, such as a fire department, call for Sherbrooke's assistance and pays for it on a per-use basis.

As services of Sherbrooke and the communities become consolidated, Mr. O'Bready said, the best use of these services is attained, "in five years it may be considered an urban community — but not in any way like Montreal."

"VERY VOLUNTARY" — One thing the Mayor is not prepared to do is make participation in such a structure obligatory in any way.

"I don't want to force any municipality," he stated, saying the plan would be on a very voluntary basis.

The proposal, which is hoped will produce "concrete" results in about three years, has not been responded to officially by any municipality that might join the venture.

Mayor O'Bready yesterday also expressed support for Bromptonville Mayor Dorilas Gagnon's suggestion that Scotch Road, along the northernmost limits of Sherbrooke, be repaired so as to handle ambulance traffic from the Transquebec Highway to the University Medical Center (CHU).

Mr. O'Bready said he would be glad to discuss the idea with Mr. Gagnon, perhaps get government funding and have Sherbrooke's own engineers study the situation.

Admitting the poor condition of the Scotch Road, Mr. O'Bready said, "Anything to improve the road patterns, I'm for."

Having ambulances take the Scotch Road shortcut rather than running through the downtown area of Sherbrooke would constitute a saving of time, as well as being safer. The poor condition of the Scotch Road currently makes high-speed emergency driving potentially dangerous, or as Mr. Gagnon stated, "impossible."

Historical society meeting set at border

BOUNDARY (IH) — The summer meeting of the Stanstead Historical Society will be held in Centenary United Church Hall, Stanstead on Saturday afternoon, August 9, at two o'clock, it is announced by President A.E. Curtis.

After the meeting all attending are cordially invited to Lady H. Banting's Lee Farm home in Rock Island where refreshments will be served under the joint sponsorship of Mrs. Margo Skelton, Mrs. Thelma Dustin and Mrs. Dorcas Pocock.

Professor Joel Andrews will be the afternoon guest speaker. He is a professor of geography at Washington State College. He will speak about early family migration patterns in these areas.

The Society museum in Beebe will be open for visitors from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and the Barn Museum at the Lee Farm from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. If visitors wish to bring their noon lunch Lady Banting has offered her grounds to be used. The same privilege is offered at the Beebe museum.

A fall pilgrimage is being planned for October 4 to go via bus to the Melbourne museum. Members of the Richmond Historical Society will meet the Stanstead travellers at Sherbrooke and give historical comments on the area from Sherbrooke to Melbourne. Further details on the trip will be supplied later.

Volume 6 of the Society Journal has been published and will be available at the August 9 meeting for a nominal sum. Other items will also be available for purchase. Membership dues may be paid to the treasurer, Malcolm MacDonald, Stanstead.

Area hit by storm

BOUNDARY (IH) — Monday, July 28, a severe storm hit this area with rain, thunder, lightning and 15 minutes of hail.

Along the Canadian Border, in Holland, Vt., nine cows were killed by lightning and a tenth injured so badly it is feared will have to be destroyed.

Although the hail storm was heavy, there was little wind and no reports of damage to gardens and crops. In the northeast section of Vermont, the electrical power was off for several hours.

Road to be resurfaced

BORDER (RM) — Motorists using Autoroute 55 to and from the U.S. border will have to detour through Rock Island and Stanstead for the next five days — if it doesn't rain.

The provincial Transport Department said last night the detour is required while Coaticook contractors Couillard Construction resurface the two Autoroute overpasses at the Tomifobia River.

"In case of rain, the reopening of the overpass will be held back for a number of days," the Ministry said.

The detour through the two border communities, where the downtown speed limit is 20 m.p.h., is about two miles long.

Richmond Guides active

RICHMOND — This is the year of "Guiding on the Move" and the First Richmond Company is certainly keeping on the move.

The company kept holding meetings until June 24. On June 26 the Guides, Brownies and Rangers were treated to a trip to Belmont Park in Montreal, where everyone had a tremendous time.

Many Guides are now making preparations to attend Camp Kinagawati at Spooner Pond for the week of July 28 to August 1. The Richmond Ranger Company has also been invited to participate. Swimming, hiking and making camp gadgets will be the main concern of the camp.

On August 3 two of the Guides, Laura Johnston and Susan Storry, will join a large group of Guides coming into the area from all across Canada. When this group visits Asbestos on August 6, the Richmond Company has been invited to meet and have lunch with them.

Guiding will start up again early in the fall for another busy year.

Harvest workers advised to contact Manpower Centre

Students and farm workers must be wary of the many rumours circulated at this period of the year to the effect that an unlimited number of jobs are available to all comers in harvesting areas, most particularly in tobacco, tomato and apple fields, the Quebec Department of Manpower and Immigration reports.

The department has already recorded a great many complaints from persons who, at great costs, had gone to agricultural operations often quite far from their homes particularly in Ontario. Such people have often been incited to undertake such travel by unfounded rumours.

Farm operations really need workers at this period of the year but this does not mean that it is enough to show up at a farmer's place to be hired.

All those interested in the harvesting sector should register as soon as possible at their Canada Manpower Centre or at offices of the Canada Farm Labour Service.

In this way, when job opportunities are pointed out, not only will such people be directed towards employers who really need their services but, further still, they could benefit from financial assistance to cover their going and return transportation costs.

Summer Theatre Fare

Canadians, and Anglophone Quebecers in particular, are forever bemoaning the cultural wasteland which they say exists throughout this province and the rest of the country. Canada has always had problems defining her identity, smothered as she is by American hype, British tradition and French nationalism. In the face of these giants, her attitude until recently has been to respect her "betters," and to skulk out of the international arts limelight nursing the oversized inferiority complex which she seems to feel is her birthright.

Now, however, like an adolescent in the throes of rebellion, Canada at last is beginning to shirk off the assumption "if it's foreign it's better", as the cultural consciousness of the populace is raised.

Nowhere is this more evident than in the Eastern Townships during the summer season — in fact, this area might be said to be largely responsible for the upsurge in Canadian cultural self-respect. Two brave theatre companies, Festival Lennoxville and The Piggery Theatre in North Hatley, for instance, have acquired a faithful and exuberant following in this province, despite cries from skeptics that Anglophone Quebec would not support English theatre. Both companies have shown they are capable of producing theatre fare comparable to and sometimes surpassing productions with similar budgets south of the border. Each, in its unique way, is helping Canadians realize it's time to come out of the cultural closet.

Festival Lennoxville, of course, produces plays written by Canadian playwrights only, bringing to public attention works that until now have been unfairly treated as inferior. As a result, names like Michael Cook and Robertson Davies, while not exactly household words throughout the country, are beginning to mean something to a fair number of people.

The Piggery Theatre, although it usually presents plays written by non-Canadians, is providing a forum for the actors and actresses of the country who, owing to a lack of theatre productions up until now, often had no medium by which to display their talents.

The remarkable thing about both these ambitious companies is that they are flourishing in an area which has suffered an exodus of English-speaking Canadians over the past 50 years. It is encouraging that this small pocket of Anglophone Quebec should make the rest of Canada sit up and take notice that a Canadian cultural identity not only exists, it is an object of pride.

Profiles of 10 Canadian women defy victim theme

HER OWN WOMAN by Myrna Kostash, Melinda McCracken, Valerie Miner, Erna Paris and Heather Robertson; MacMillan of Canada; 212 pages.

Her Own Woman is a series of highly personalized profiles of 10 Canadian women of varying ages, background and viewpoints. Some such as politician Judy LaMarsh and poet Margaret Atwood are well-known, while others are anonymous.

The profiles were written by five of Canada's most prolific and best known women journalists who worked together to write a book which would not treat the overused theme of woman as victim. Consequently they sought out women who lived successful personal lives, despite difficulties.

Although the five writers are of a similar age group, in their 30's, and likely have similar viewpoints, they chose their subjects from a wide variety of ages, occupations and classes.

What have I been, seen, done and what do I want were the key questions the five writers stimulated their subjects to ask themselves in interviews. The result is a lively series of portraits which succeeds in presenting a refreshing view of various Canadian women who are energetic and expressive and who are truly their own women.

A very sympathetic image is drawn of Judy LaMarsh who has fought to maintain her self-esteem in the face of humiliation by the cartoonlike depiction of her appearance and aggressive personality. Through politics she has defined herself, developed strength of character and contributed much to the nation.

The Heart of the Family, in sharp contrast with the preceding portrait, is a warmly, human account of the author's mother. She is the typical middle-class Canadian mom, settling for marriage, a comfortable materialism, volunteer work, cultural events, extension courses, curling, golf and bridge. But she is a fulfilled woman who is strong, not hard, who is happy because she is productive, and who has the wisdom of knowing the importance of love.

Again, in contrast, follows the portrait of a tough, defiant, shrewd 21-year-old, an inheritor of women's liberation who coolly goes after what she wants.

And then Abby Hoffman, Canada's hope for the 1976

Olympics in track, is profiled. Her development as an athlete, racing for the sheer satisfaction of effort is detailed as well as her development as an independent identity as a university teacher and political activist.

Quebec union organizer Madeleine Parent is an outrageously bold, iron-willed woman who organizes unskilled workers, putting in secondary place her marriage, family and friendship. Hers is a lifetime of action, commitment and risk.

Singer Rita MacNeil's frustration with a housewife's lot is described. She is a victim of the domestic life for which she is unsuited, but from which she escapes.

Esther Warkov's single-minded devotion to her art makes of her a woman of enormous self-discipline who achieves excellence in her paintings. She is a self-reliant loner who manages also to be a wife and mother.

Fifty-year-old Barbara Greene is outstanding for her vibrancy and her joy of living. She has retained her youthfulness through personal growth and a life of exploration, travel and through a refusal to accept a life of self-sacrifice as did her mother.

The elusive Margaret Atwood and her many sides as woman, artist, academic, wild creature is described through an interview and through quotes from her poetry.

Radio and TV interviewer Barbara Frum is lastly profiled, detailing her fast paced life of probing personalities and motives with her intelligence, tenacity and suspicion.

BARBARA STEVENSON

Hebert novel characterized by beautiful poetic images

The Silent Rooms by Anne Hebert (translated by Kathy Mezei); Musson Books; 167 pages.

Both Anne Hebert and Kathy Mezei (translator) deserve accolades for the prose in this novel. As in Kamouraska, the author has created a profoundly beautiful symbol.

"There were mornings filled with the fragrance of little girls, their shrill voices tearing at one another like claws and the interweaving of golden and jet-black curls." This passage is typical of the novel in its juxtaposition of positive and negative connotations. Unfortunately, the dark moments increase in frequency and intensity as the story progresses until they dominate almost completely.

The usual number of characters is involved in the main conflict, but in this story that triangle consists of the heroine, Catherine; her lover and husband, Michel; and his neurotic sister, Lia. The situations provide material for many a seminar on abnormal psychology. Catherine realizes during their courtship that Michel "talks and breathes on me like someone warming his fingers."

The ensuing marriage was barren in every possible aspect. Michel prevented any satisfaction for Catherine by concentrating on remaking her into his ideal (physical and emotional) of a woman, but not allowing her to achieve any personal fulfillment. His ideal woman was a combination of his mother, "who lived in perpetual idleness and frequently resorted to ostentation and cruelty," and his sister, a "tall, terracotta girl with her narrow, bony hips." Anne Hebert describes the relationship between Michel and Lia as "like fighting cocks, brother and sister confronted each other, face to face, having unknowingly reached the ill-guarded approaches of each other's furious hearth."

When Lia moved in with Catherine and Michel, she became the constant companion of her brother, leaving Catherine more and more in physical and emotional isolation. As far as Michel was concerned, "Catherine was the source of his shame and, through a thousand subterfuges, he avoided being in the same room with her." After many months of this unnatural situation, Catherine falls seriously ill, and makes a decision which changes things drastically for everyone.

While every page is highlighted with truly poetic images, and the descriptive material makes each character a life-size portrait, the action is painfully slow, and the suspense that turns prose into a plot is practically non-existent. This reader found that "the silent rooms" were also dark to a point of unrelieved gloom, with shadows almost impossible to penetrate.

LILLIAN ECHENBERG

Black Dougal provides light reading for long summer days

David Walzer's new novel, Black Dougal, provides the kind of light, entertaining reading that we tend to turn to on long summer days. The story is fast paced and the plot, though somewhat far-fetched, is not dull.

The story is set in Scotland and Quebec and for those familiar with Montreal and its surroundings there is this additional interest. While the author is definitely writing with tongue-in-cheek, some of his observations about Canadians and their customs are a little over-exaggerated. Black Dougal is a light-hearted story with enough action, suspense, sex and humor to keep the reader interested, and it even provides a moral.

Black Dougal is the tale of the escapades of Dougal Trocher, bachelor and horticulturalist, who inherits a title and the rundown Scottish estate of Drin. After much pondering he decides not to sell the estate and sets about to find the funds to restore it. He concocts a wild scheme, one that he would not seem capable of carrying out since he is, in his own words, "a vacillator and lacking in drive."

However, urged on by his friends, Lord and Lady Duncath, he begins to seriously plan for his venture abroad. Dougal is secretly in love with the Duncath's lovely and confused young daughter, Tirene, but she considers him impossibly out-dated and unchangeable. He despairs of ever being able to express his feelings for her. At last he embarks, somewhat dubiously, for Canada and a life of crime for the sake of Drin.

With the aid of the mysterious young stewardess, Diane Arden, who becomes his private secretary, he sets about perfecting the details of his scheme. However, Dougal soon finds himself more deeply involved in the criminal element than he ever anticipated. He discovers that he is capable of the daring and bravery of which before he only dreamed. Furthermore with the uninhibited Miss Arden as his mentor he becomes schooled in loving and living. In the end he returns to Scotland, successful in his endeavor and wins the favor of the elusive Tirene, proving that crime can pay.

Poetry

The clock of life is wound but once
And no man hath the power to say
Just when the hands will stop
At late or early hour
Now only is the time thine own
To live, and love and toil with a will,
Put no faith in Tomorrow
For the clock may then be still.

For those who delight in fascinating odds and ends

For those interested in making fascinating gifts from odds and ends, "How to Make Presents from Odds and Ends," by Felicity Lewis offers many suggestions.

There is a variety of gifts for all ages. This book provides clear, easy to follow instructions, with excellent illustrations. The materials needed are easily accessible in most homes. The list of materials needed for each article or gift, given at the beginning of the instructions, enables one to quickly assemble all that is required.

The very clear indexing of materials, with the articles to be made from it, also helps one find a use for materials on hand.

I am sure that this book will be appreciated, not only by those interested in making gifts from odds and ends around the house, but also by those doing group crafts.

DOVER, England — Marilyn Bell, conqueror of Lake Ontario, Sunday mastered the English Channel.

The 17-year-old Toronto school girl overcame strong tides and swift currents, which held her up towards the finish, and then sprinted 200 yards onto the stony beach beneath the 400-foot white cliffs of Dover.

Marilyn thus became the youngest swimmer to beat the 21-mile straits that divide England from France.

Setting out from Cap Gris Nez, France, at dawn, she landed at Abbotsclyff, between Folkestone and Dover, at 8:20 p.m. (4:29 p.m. ADT) after 14 hours and 36 minutes in the water.

A strong westerly current that swept her past the entrance of Dover harbor and delayed her triumphal landing for at least two hours may have deprived the youngster of setting a woman's record for the crossing.

As she stepped onto the beach, Marilyn, clad in a black nylon bathing suit with white shoulder straps, a red bathing cap and goggles, managed a big grin.

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal — Just one short paragraph in the official log of the giant dirigible R-100 which landed here today from Cardington, England, tells the story of a fight against the elements in the darkest hours of last night.

At 9:30 p.m., the R-100 was heading up the St. Lawrence River. She was making fairly good time. Suddenly she passed through a terrific thunderstorm. The air was in a turmoil, and the huge ship, 709 feet long, was tossed for hundreds of feet in the air. She sustained no damage from her buffeting, however, and while considerable delay resulted, she managed to ride out the storm without any serious difficulty.

In the log just this much of the story is told:

"At 9:30 p.m. (local time) passed through thunderstorm. Violent disturbed air currents. Ship's height varied rapidly between 1,500 and 4,000 feet. Slight damage to starboard fin, otherwise O.K. Avoided many thunderstorms.

The "slight damage to fin" mentioned in this particular paragraph of the log was caused when the big air liner struck a heavy bump off Father Point, Que., earlier in the day.

Downpour halts

Manitoba Open

WINNIPEG (CP) — A torrential downpour has provided a dose of badly-needed moisture heading into the opening round today in the $14,500 Manitoba Open golf tournament.

After days of dry weather and searing heat that sent temperatures soaring to 35 degrees Celsius, a cloudburst Thursday afternoon
soaked the par-72, 6,506-yard Breezy Bend Golf Club on the outskirts of Winnipeg.
The sudden change in weather helped soften greens and hard-pan fairways that had been the subject of criticism earlier in the week from the field of 112 professionals and 49
amateurs.

DUFFERIN (IH) — The annual Inter-Club tournament was played at Dufferin Heights Golf and Country Club Sunday, July 27, with players from St. Johnsbury, Newport, Orleans and Dufferin with 44 competing to make it a grand success.

Pat Norrie with a score of 45 and Rachel Pellerin with 75 won the Field Low gross

Old putter helps Messengale post seven-under in Westchester Golf Classic

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — An old, beat-up putter, mallet-headed and wooden-shafted—a gift from his caddy—turned the golf season around for Rik Messengale.

"Just like the last three, four years, I wasn't doing much of anything," Messengale said. "Out in Palm Springs early in the year my caddy, Denny Ferrell, was watching me putting one day and I was complaining about it and he said he had an old putter I ought to try."

"He brought it out the next day and I've used it ever since. I think that's the biggest change there's been in my season—the putting."

Messengale, armed with that putter, scored eight birdies on his way to a seven-under-par 65 and the first-round lead Thursday in the $250,000 Westchester Golf Classic.

Massengale, another faceless struggler on the tour for his first five years, broke through to his first triumph in the Tallahassee Open—after he'd gotten the caddy's putter—and, with $53,278 in official earnings, has more than tripled his earnings for the entire 1974 season.

He's going for a $50,000 first prize here, but isn't counting the money yet. "You can't say I'm about to win the golf tournament 'cause I had a good first round," he said. "I've led golf tournaments in the first round before and wound up making $500 for the week. Anything can happen yet."

WEISKOPF CLOSE
He had good reason to be less than over-confident. Lurking just a single shot off his pace with a 66 was Tom Weiskopf, a playoff winner over Jack Nicklaus for the Canadian Open title last weekend.

Jerry Pate, a former national amateur champion who is making his first American start as a pro, Pat Fitzsimons and Tommy Aaron were at 67, two strokes back and five under par on the 6,614-yard Westchester Country Club course that often yields some of the season's lowest scores.

The group at 68 was made up of British Open champion Tom Watson, veteran Gene Littler, Dick Lotz, Bud Allin and Rod Funseth.

Johnny Miller, the defending champion who needs to finish first or second here to pass the absent Nicklaus for the money winning lead, had a 69.

George Knudson of Toronto shot a 73 and South African Gary Player a 75. Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Arnold Palmer skipped this rich event.

Congratulations

Congratulations are extended to W.P. Sharman of Scotstown, Quebec, on the occasion of his 85th birthday, on Saturday, August 2.

Three types of cycles are eligible for competition — converted motocross, converted street bikes and factory-built models. Representatives from 12 motorcycle companies are expected to compete in the races.

Racers from many parts of Quebec, as well as some from Ontario and the United States plan to compete in the Quebec races this summer. Two Sherbrooke competitors, Guy Lussier and Daniel Thibault, will vie for top honors in the 250 intermediate class.

Sorel's Marcel Courchesne holds a two point lead over Gerard Filiatreault of St. Jerome in the races held to date and will provide the spectators with some thrilling action.

The revival of dirt track racing (not motocross) in Quebec began this year, with Sherbrooke being the fifth race during the season, and races will follow in Lachute, Amos and Drummondville.

Sports Brief

WON'T TESTIFY
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Sports activist Jack Scott and his wife Micki say they will not testify before a Pennsylvania grand jury investigating reports that Patricia Hearst may have stayed in the South Canaan, Pa., farmhouse they rented. Miss Hearst, daughter of San Francisco newspaper executive Randolph Hearst, was kidnapped by the Symbionese Liberation Army in February, 1974, and later said she had joined the terrorist organization.

The family

35th Anniversary

BEEBE (IH) — The weekend of July 12-13 were pleasant days for Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Labrie and their family, as it was the occasion of the 35th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Labrie, residents of Beebe, Que.

Arranged by the family of the couple, an anniversary Mass was held at four o'clock on Saturday afternoon, July 12 at St. Therese Church, Beebe. With Father Fernand Larochelle officiating, the couple renewed their nuptial vows in a double ring ceremony. During the mass, Mrs. John Boucher, on behalf of the family presented their mother with a family ring.

The servers for the Mass were Mr. and Mrs. Jean Paul Bergeron, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, from Waterville. The attendants were Paul Emile Bergeron, sister of the bride and Joseph Labrie, brother of the groom, of Waterville and East Angus.

Mrs. Raymonde Lecours played the organ music and accompanied the soloist, Jack St. Sauveur, who sang The Golden Ring, Ave Maria, and The Lord's Prayer. The ushers were Richard Labrie and John Boucher, son and son-in-law of the couple.

Baskets of multicolor gladioli and chrysanthemums blended with arrangements of mixed summer flowers to form the decor.

The bride was wearing a two piece light beige Nunina gown having a green rose at the front bodice and long puffed sleeves. Her corsage was deep rose and red sweetheart roses. The groom of the coral years had a green carnation boutonniere to complement the green frilled shirt worn with his grey polyester summer suit.

The other men in the party wore white carnation boutonnieres and the ladies, carnation corsages. George Goudreau, in-law, was chauffeur in a Chrysler car to convey the couple to the church and after the Mass to the Elks Club in Derby, Vt., for the reception.

Upon arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Labrie, the couple were presented with a beautiful album from their children and grandchildren. This was placed on a table where the many guests signed before passing through the receiving line to the tables for the dinner.

In the receiving line were the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Labrie and their children,

Mr. and Mrs. John (Suzanne) Boucher, Natalie and Christopher, of Rock Island; Mr. and Mrs. Michael (Pierrette) Marsh, Scott and Julie of Derby Line, Mr. and Mrs. George (Marcelle) Goudreau, of Stanstead, and Richard of Rock Island, also Mr. and Mrs. Jean Paul Bergeron, and the attendants, all of whom made up the head table.

The head table was centered with a spinning wheel, and flowers in a color tone of orange, yellow and green.

Paul Emile Bergeron was toastmaster and proposed a wine toast to the celebrating couple. He also invited the Elks staff to come into the hall and to them expressed appreciation for the excellent turkey dinner so well prepared and served to the guests, leaving nothing to be desired.

After the dinner, the celebrating continued with a dance to music played by the Shangri-las orchestra.

A son Gerald of Pompano Beach, Florida, was unable to attend but he sent a gift as he remembered the anniversary. The couple had another son, Michel who died at the age of 20 years, eleven years ago.

Guests attended from Miami, Fla., Connecticut, Maine, Grandby, East Angus, Island Pond, Cowansville, Sherbrooke, Lennoxville, Waterville, and Boundary Village areas.

Friday evening, July 11, following the rehearsal, a good number of the family and close friends gathered at the Labrie home in Beebe for refreshments, chatting and reminiscing.

Sunday, July 13 some 80 relatives gathered at the Labrie home for luncheon and a social visit.

The mass and reception was arranged by the family, who were thanked by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Labrie, who at the reception, voiced appreciation to everyone who had made the day such a memorable occasion.

Eugene Labrie and Laurette Bergeron were united in marriage at Waterville, Que., on July 14, 1940. For seven years they resided in Rock Island and the remaining years in Beebe. Mr. Labrie was retired close to ten months ago from the Butterfield plant, Rock Island. Their many friends join with the family to wish them many more happy years together. They plan now to visit their son, Gerald in Florida the coming winter.

Laveault-Hayes wed

SUTTON — A very pretty wedding took place in Grace Anglican Church Saturday evening July 12, 1975 at 7 p.m. with Rev. Roy Darcus officiating at the double ring ceremony when Diane Joan Hayes became the bride of Daniel Pierre Laveault of Ham Nord, Que.

The bride entered the church accompanied by Mr. Roland King who gave her in marriage. Mrs. Dennis Cowan, the church organist, played the wedding music and at the signing of the register she played Ave Maria.

The bride chose a long gown of white silk jersey with blue flowered daisies in princess style with long sleeves and a V neckline. She wore a strand of pearls and carried a bouquet of blue daisies and blue and white carnations filled with baby's breath fern tied with blue silk ribbon. She also wore a large white picture hat. The couple was unattended and the service was in both English and French. Baskets of summer flowers were the decorations in the church.

The bride's mother wore a long two-piece dress of blue silk jersey and a corsage of red miniature carnations. The groom's mother chose a beige pant suit with a flowered blouse. Her corsage was orange miniature carnations.

After the ceremony several pictures were taken on the church lawn. Then all returned to the bride's home on Western Ave. where a reception was held.

The rooms were decorated with baskets of summer flowers from the garden of Mrs. Myrtle Vincent and Mrs. Hugh Stetson. Also there were several vases of beautiful roses from the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Drouin and Mrs. Harold Miller, all of Western Avenue. A toast to the bride and groom was given by Mr. Laveault Sr. The wedding gifts were opened and viewed by the guests present. Money and many useful articles for their new home, were given to the couple.

Lunch was served buffet style from a decorated table of roses. The centerpiece was the three tier wedding cake made by the bride's mother and decorated by Mrs. R.C. Gibson. Beautiful roses decorated each corner of the table and two lovely orange roses were on each side of the cake.

The young couple are residing in Cowansville where both have positions. Relatives were present from Montreal, Victoriaville, Arthabaska, Ham Nord, Plessisville, Laval, St. Hubert, Knowlton and Sutton.

40th Anniversary

SUTTON — Mr. and Mrs. P.J. Shepard were honored on Sunday afternoon, July 13, when their daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas of Toronto, Ont., arranged a reception for them in Grace Church Parish Hall, the occasion being their 40th wedding anniversary.

Their many guests were welcomed at the door by this happy couple and their two granddaughters Carolyn and Alison Douglas were in charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Shepard looked charming in a floor length gown of old rose crepe and her corsage was of white carnations.

The hall was tastefully decorated with summer flowers, and two large punch bowls on each side of the room provided welcome refreshment, as the day was very warm. These were presided over by Miss Sharron Cowan of Montreal and Bob Clark of Richford, Vt., grand-niece and nephew of the Shepards.

Also occupying a place of honor was an attractively appointed table with the beautiful three tiered anniversary cake, which had been made and decorated by Mrs. Belle Jones of Richford, Vt.

A delicious buffet lunch provided by a committee of ACW ladies was served at a long table at the end of the hall and tea was poured by Mrs. Ann Hawley of Greenfield, Mass., Mrs. Leon Jordan and Mrs. Rufus Cromwell of Sutton.

After the bride and groom of forty years had made the first cut in the anniversary cake, Mr. Shepard spoke warmly to his guests, and expressed the deep appreciation he and Mrs. Shepard felt for the lovely party his daughter and son-in-law had arranged for them and also for the many lovely cards and gifts from their friends and relatives.

Paul Jackson Shepard and Esther Myrtle Hawley were married in an evening wedding in Sutton United Church on July 10, 1935, the late Rev. B. Mallalieu, B.D. officiated.

The bride was attended by three bridesmaids, a matron of honor and flower girl who were all present to help celebrate this anniversary, with the exception of the matron of honor, the late Mrs. Frederick Olmstead, (Mildred Hawley), who passed away in 1950.

The attendants present were Mrs. Ruth Hawley Cook, Sutton, Mrs. James Stevenson, Brockville, Ont., Mrs. Merton Casey, Maxville, Ont., and Mrs. F. Clark, (Jane Olmstead), flower girl.

Friends and relatives attending from out of town were Mr. Alan Barker, Mrs. O. Ann Landers

Kids learn from parents

Dear Ann Landers: I write this out of genuine concern for today's youth.

Parents, have you found your son or daughter, grade school and up —

Lying — but overlooked it? Cheating — felt a little disappointed? Swearing — got a little upset?

Smoking — got quite upset? Stealing — gave a lecture? Drinking — grounded him for a week?

O.K., Mom and Dad, just who set the examples for these children? Was it those bad kids at school or you in your own home? What you DO speaks louder than what you SAY! If the youth of today are going to get straightened out, the adult generation had better start setting standards kids can look up to.

What images do your children have of you? Puffing on a cigaret, sitting around before dinner with martinis, cheating on your income tax, telling a few small lies, swearing at them and each other? Not a very pretty picture, is it? What is life like at YOUR house? — Boca Raton

Dear Boca: I've said it before, but I'll say it again — children need models more than they need critics. Good parents don't set good examples it will become time to ask, "Where did we fail?"

Dear Ann Landers: Recently a daughter-in-law wrote and complained that her Sunday dinner plans were upset frequently because her mother-in-law insisted on waiting until Sunday morning to invite her family over for dinner.

Your answer was good, but I believe there's another angle. I speak for mothers as well as mothers-in-law. We would love to be invited to your place for Sunday dinner once in a while. We've been cooking for you and your family for many years. How about a break, girls? Maybe that late invitation is because your mother-in-law thinks, "Maybe THIS will be the week she'll invite me!" — Sore Bunions how many readers came up with that same reasoning! You may have something there, doll.

Dear Bun: It's amazing

Dear Ann Landers: Thank you for printing the letter from the person who received a corneal transplant through an eye bank. I'm the executive secretary of the Lions Eye Bank at the University of Washington in Seattle. Your letter stirred a great deal of interest in the donation of eyes and we are very grateful.

Did you know that in 1925 Helen Keller challenged the Lions Service Clubs all over the world to become her "Knights Of Blindness"? Since that time, the Lions have worked on projects such as buying glasses for children, supporting medical research for eye disease and paying for eye operations for the indigent.

There are about 55 eye banks in the U.S. and the Lions support nearly 75 per cent of them. Since the Seattle Eye Bank started in July '69, we have supplied 587 eyes for corneal transplants.

Thank you for making people aware of this important project. — Donna Oiland

Dear Donna: Bless you for giving me the opportunity to give the Lions their just due. They are beautiful people.

+++ Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong? Ann Landers' completely new "The Bride's Guide" will relieve your anxiety. To receive a copy, send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (10 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Growing Older

Happy 70th birthday — almost

By Harold Blumenfeld

I've just celebrated my 70th birthday. But, except for the calendar, what makes it any different than 69? Or 65, when I took my mandatory retirement? Or the years before 65 when I was an editor of an international news organization?

I feel great, probably better than I felt 10 years ago when I worked at a frenetic pace at my exciting and hectic job. A recent complete medical examination gave me top marks in all departments. My friends and the faithful mirror on the wall tell me I don't look my age. I eat and drink in moderation, indulge in mild physical exercise, have fun doing things and I have avoided the fat and flabbiness which is supposed to come to us during the process of aging.

My memory is good for remembering things I should do today and my recall of things in the past make me a sort of older Trivia Quiz Kid. My eyesight is only slightly off the 20-20 vision beam and my voice has retained its full stentorian power, even when I sing in the shower. I know I am as physically and mentally capable today as I was 20 years ago. I keep active by doing something each day and do not stretch out on a chaise longue watching coconuts fall off the trees. I don't feel old and I don't think old.

And I didn't want to merely grow older gracefully. Although my name and number had been forcibly removed from a payroll computer I wasn't ready to retire from an active life. Surely, I could do something which would be productive for the community and for me.

TODAY'S TREASURES

Price guide hangup cuts collecting fun

By Jean Barnes

Price guides might be helpful for comparison shopping in a grocery store but as a tool for collectors they are virtually useless.

Beginning collectors particularly are susceptible to the lure of the price guide as a means of avoiding costly mistakes. The "pro" would rather depend upon his own knowledge and skill in making purchases and when disposing of "culs."

Americans began their romance with collecting more than 20 years ago. In that time prices have gone up and up as new collectors joined the ranks and the supply of antiques and collectibles dwindled.

And, as we watched prices rise, even the non-collecting public became preoccupied with price. We go to antique shows and shops, for example, and hurry home to run a new total on our own hoard of treasures.

What we forget in this crass treatment of our collection is the joy of acquisition, the pleasure of the hunt, the love of a color, a texture or a shape. And no price guide can put a dollar sign on these.

We must remember that in dollars and cents our treasure is only worth what someone is willing to pay for it. The demand for an item might be greater on the West Coast

As an old rolling stone which may have been gathering moss I must have also picked up more than a smattering of experience and expertise during my 45-year professional career.

I had been recognized as a highly competent executive and photo editor and I make pictures of top professional quality. In addition to administering and directing a world-wide news operation, I prepared budgets, planned picture coverage of the news, was an idea innovator and handled public relations projects. I trained many young people, lectured on a scholastic level, conducted seminars for newspaper editors, appeared on radio and television talk shows. I am a published author of books and magazine articles.

These may seem to be small talents but I thought that after retirement my qualifications might be attractive to individuals or organizations whom I could help with their programs. I had planned being

Fashion and Beauty Tips

Traveling companion
A pastel cardigan in polyester makes an ideal traveling companion, especially in hot weather. Why? It packs easily, washes and dries quickly and is always at hand to slip on against the chill in air conditioned motel rooms or restaurants.

I.D., please
T-shirts, dresses, sweaters and evening sweaters sport signature initials in this latest craze to point up one's identity. Or, more fashionably, the identity of the designer such as quite active. And I wanted additional income to keep up with the spiraling cost of living.

Congressmen and others in government service, people in the fields of arts and letters, doctors, lawyers and other professionals and many in business and industry can continue working and earning money long after they are 65 and 70. Why not me, too?

Perhaps I had something to sell — myself and my services. I was looking for full or part-time work and sent a resume of my experience with a personal letter to a few hundred individuals and organizations. A few replied. Some said I was "over-qualified" or that it was nice knowing that someone with my talents and expertise was available on the local scene. But, apparently, the fact that I had been retired was a sure sign that I was "over the hill."

Would anyone hire me? Hell, no! I found out I was too old.

Sewers lode
Home sewers who faithfully keep small swatches of leftover materials will reap fashion benefits this fall. Patches of mix-and-match patterns and colors will dress jeans and jackets of new school designs. For one-upmanship, sew those patches on last year's clothes and be right in style.

Sun sense
Still wondering why you continue to sunburn easily. Perhaps you are not using a sunscreen preparation. Those with a very sensitive skin should constantly apply a screening cream. Tanning oils, butters and gels should be used only by those who tan easily.

Light make-up
Bright, sunny make-up complements the face much better than heavy, dark shades of lipstick, eye shadow and liner. The latter is best worn at night or in artificial light. Lighter shades give the face a softer look in sunlight.

Shave and...
Shaving can be more comfortable and safe for women. First, follow the male example and never shave dry. Wet hair is soft and pliable and nearly 75 per cent easier to cut. Most women find it convenient to shave during or directly following a warm shower or bath.

Honored on 90th birthday

AYER'S CLIFF — Mrs. W. B. Holmes entertained at a small tea party of close friends on July 24 in honor of the 90th birthday of her sister Mrs. Lillian Bockus, who is now a guest at the McKeage Rest Home in Sherbrooke.

The tea table was most attractive, covered with a madeira linen cloth with centerpiece of roses flanked by pink candles and a birthday cake decorated in pink and white, made by Mrs. Mable Whipple. Tea was poured by Mrs. W. Ewing of Sherbrooke, a sister of Mrs. Bockus.

Mrs. Bockus blew out the candles and made the initial cut in the cake, following which tea, cake and ice cream were served by Mrs. Carl Mayhew and Mrs. Doris Sutton, after which the guest of honor opened her cards and gifts.

She was wearing a corsage of pink and blue carnations, a gift from the Way's Mills U.C.W. where she had been closely associated for several years.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
You have some good ideas today. You'll try the pleasurable ones, shelling others more practical.

TAURUS (April 2-May 20)
Your financial prospects are mixed today. However, when you total the score gains will outweigh losses marginally.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Though in a gregarious mood today, you're hypersensitive to the way others treat you. Don't let it mar your fun.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Don't accept something long-desired if it means offending a friend or associate. Later, you can have it without strings.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
You're a bit of a wheeler-dealer today. You may pick up one tab too many to suit your aching purse.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
You could profit today by shrewd tactics, but not like yourself too well if you feel you're taking advantage of less-alert souls.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
An idea you're promoting will stand on its own. You could cloud the deal if you try to embellish on it too much.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
In a situation where you and a partner share an interest, seek only your fair share.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
You're apt to change your mind once too often today and miff a close friend. She felt your decision was firm.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Your ambitious interests are overly strong today. You'll do things without gaining pleasure. Take time to smile the roses.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
You could take a chance, with the outcome highly speculative, even though your common sense tells you "No."

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
A member of your family is entitled to your praise for going out of her way for you. Give her a few pats.

Your Birthday

You'll fare quite well this coming year with large organizations or social groups. Take any office you're offered. It has hidden benefits.

When you play that a reverse bid by opener is a one-round force, you can get to be "Reverse happy."

Thus, South hoped to get to notrump and decided to bid his three-card heart suit with that aim in mind. We assume that if North had raised hearts, South would have played a heart contract with three in his hand and four in dummy. When North rebid three clubs, South abandoned the idea of notrump and jumped to five clubs.

Five clubs is the right final contract. West really should have opened a diamond instead of a heart into South's bid suit, but West didn't like to lead from kings and he held equals in

DECISION

Ottawa, July 25, 1975
The Canadian Radio-Television Commission announces the following decision effective July 25, 1975.

Decision CRTC 75-323
SHERBROOKE, QUEBEC — 750392300
CHLT-TELE 7 Ltée

Application for renewal of its broadcasting licence for CHLT-TV Sherbrooke, Quebec expiring January 21, 1976.

Decision: APPROVED

In the notice of public hearing which dealt with this application, the Commission expressed its intention to review with the applicant, during the hearing, the progress of its local and regional programming in relation to its human and financial resources.

At the hearing, the applicant advised the Commission of its intention to "concentrate its programming efforts on local and regional points of interest," and to "stress community involvement" so that Télé 7 might reflect "the most active, the most interesting and the most diverse characteristics of the area," thus fulfilling its role towards the communities it serves. Because of the extensive interest surrounding this hearing and the numerous interventions received, some of which were very well prepared, and because of the important role CHLT-TV has played over the years, this hearing generated a very useful discussion on the importance locally of television as part of the numerous communication services available to the community.

The Commission wishes to follow up this public discussion by reasserting the function which television stations can and must carry out in the social and cultural context of the communities they serve, in addition to their participation in network programming.

The programming outlined by the applicant is in accordance with one of the Commission's most important objectives, which is the establishment and development of local and regional television stations. The policies and decisions of the Commission have always been directed at strengthening the resources of local stations, including a sufficient number of qualified staff, to enable them to produce an adequate number of quality programs to meet the needs and aspirations of the population.

The ownership in CHLT-TV as that of a number of other radio and television stations, was acquired by Télémedia (Québec) Inc. (now Beaudem Ltée) and the licence for CHLT-TV was issued to CHLT Télé 7 Ltée, in accordance with a decision of the CRTC dated June 17, 1970. This change in ownership came about as a result of financial transactions between Télémedia (Québec) Inc. and the Power Corporation group.

Télémedia Communications Ltée, a subsidiary of Beaudem Ltée, currently owns CHLT-TV and other radio and television stations referred to above.

The Commission considers therefore that CHLT-TV and the other Télémedia stations clearly are owned by a company of which the majority of the shares are owned by Philippe de Gaspé Beaudem. The Power Corporation group remains an important debt holder of the Télémedia group since it holds debentures.

Notwithstanding these financial interests, however, the Power Corporation group does not hold any shares in, and cannot assume the control of, any of the Télémedia stations, either directly or indirectly, without the CRTC intervening and holding a public hearing.

In this context, the Commission wishes to make reference to the following paragraph from its decision of June 17, 1970, which referred to the transactions which had just been approved by the Commission:

"In view of the amount of money involved in these transactions, the Commission improved the quality of its previous public announcements dated July 10, 1969, and March 5, 1970, which indicate that the Commission will not entertain applications for changes in conditions of licences or representations requesting changes in program responsibilities based on financial obligations resulting from capital valuation or terms of payment arrived at in the bargaining process."

The Commission notes that the number of hours of local and regional programming broadcast by CHLT-TV compares favorably with those produced by most other comparable television stations. However, having taken into account the applicant's programming policy and statements made at the hearing, the station's resources and the views expressed by the intervenors, the Commission considers it reasonable to expect that CHLT-TV gradually increase and improve its local and regional programming as proposed in the application. In this regard, the Commission requires that the applicant include in its schedule, between 6:00 p.m. and midnight, Monday through Friday, a daily half-hour program on public, social and cultural affairs of local and regional interest, and a weekly one-hour program, on week-ends, devoted to the review of current events. The applicant had already made partial reference to these programs in its application and at the public hearing.

Therefore, the Commission expects that CHLT-TV broadcasts a minimum of twenty hours per week of locally produced programs. This will be a condition of CHLT-TV's licence. The Commission has noted the difficulties encountered by CHLT-TV concerning the program substitution policy on the cable television undertakings. The Commission will do everything in its power to assure that the cable television licensees within CHLT-TV's coverage area will comply with the requests made by CHLT-TV.

The Commission will follow with interest the efforts made by CHLT-TV to increase and improve the quality of its programming, taking into account its available resources. The Commission will expect the licensee to submit an annual report on the activities of the station.

The Commission renews the licence from January 22, 1976 to March 31, 1979 subject to conditions to be specified therein.

Golden Eagle dumps Rand in LWSL play

LENNOXVILLE (BP) — Two games were played last night in Lennoxville Women's Softball League action. Leroux Golden Eagle banged in runs in the last five innings of their game to defeat Rand 19-7, while La Patrie won a rescheduled rain-out contest over Clark's Pharmacy by a 7-0 count.

Rand took an early lead. Shelley Morrow drove in Marg Hall from third with two out, but three runs in the third inning, and five more in the fourth sparked Golden Eagle to their second victory of the season.

Danielle Longpre was the winning pitcher, while Marg Hall was the loser. Golden Eagle doubled Rand in the hit department, getting 18-9. Nobody from Leroux was walked or struck out, but four batters from Rand received bases-on-balls and seven were struck out.

Ginette Biron had a triple and two singles, Johanne Roy hit two doubles and a single, Jocelyne Blouin got a double and a pair of singles, Michelle Leblanc made four singles and Denise Mercier had three singles for the winners. Marg Hall had a hot bat for Rand, nailing two triples, while Mary Mullin hit a double and a single and Denise Lussier had two singles.

One scheduled game on Sunday afternoon has Lemay Auto Electric opposing Rand in Lennoxville at 5 p.m. Monday night has La Patrie slated to visit LAE in Fleurimont at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Clark's and Golden Lion meet in Lennoxville.

Sherbrooke posts two wins

POINTE-AUX-TREMBLES (BP) — Sherbrooke Athletics made it two wins in as many nights as they smashed the hometown Jets 12-2 in Quebec Major Junior Baseball League action last night. Two other games featured shutouts, with St. Jean dumping Granby 8-0, while Trois-Rivières downed Shawinigan 3-0.

Serge Goodhue allowed just four Jets' hits en route to victory, while losing hurler Yvon Blackiere, and Michel Rouleau who replaced him in the seventh inning, conceded 15 hits to the A's.

Five big runs in the second inning by Sherbrooke paved the way to victory, while Pointe-aux-Trembles made their runs in the second and seventh innings. The Jets made three errors and Sherbrooke misused twice.

Expos dump Phillies with Dwyer's aid

MONTREAL (CP) — The deal that brought Jim Dwyer to Montreal Expos of baseball's National League from St. Louis Cardinals was not considered earth-shattering, but from Dwyer's view it may just be a new lease on his baseball life.

Dwyer was acquired last Friday in a deal that sent shortstop Larry Lintz to the Cardinals. Since joining Montreal, Dwyer has managed seven hits in 16 at-bats for a .438 average, and Thursday night he made his Jarrry Park debut with a sacrifice fly and an inside-the-park home run as Montreal downed Philadelphia Phillies 7-4.

"I'm not surprised he's hitting well," said Montreal manager Gene Mauch. "He has a good swing. I'd be surprised if he ended up hitting over .400, but he can hit the ball."

Dwyer hit the ball well for his inside-the-park homer which came off Philadelphia reliever Wayne Twitchell in the seventh inning. Dwyer lofted the ball into deep right centre and it appeared that right fielder Ollie Brown had made a homer-saving catch.

But just after Brown caught the ball, he slammed into the fence and had the wind knocked out of him as the ball slithered out of his glove.

"Brown had the ball and then he hit the fence and I saw it pop out," Dwyer said. "It ran through my mind that they might rule he had the ball long enough, then I saw the umpire wave the ball was still in play and just ran. I've gotten off to fast starts before. Don't forget, I've only had 16 at-bats. Still, it's always good to get off to a good start."

Dwyer now has five consecutive hits in five at-bats and is making the latest Expos deal look good.

WAS THIRD WIN

The win was the third for Montreal in nine meetings with the Phillies this season.

The Expos grabbed a three-run lead in the first inning with Larry Parrish slapping a two-run single to cap the outburst. The Phillies cut the margin to 3-2 by the fourth inning, but Montreal came back with three in the fifth with Dwyer's sacrifice fly and run-scoring doubles by Gary Carter and Mike Jorgensen accounting for the run-batted-in.

Philadelphia came back with a pair of runs in the seventh before Dwyer's homer cooled them off.

Left-hander Dan Warthen picked up his fifth win against four losses and his first victory in the majors as a starter. He left the game after six innings because of a tight muscle in his left shoulder and was replaced by Dale Murray, who picked up his fifth save of the year despite giving up two runs in the seventh.

Ron Schuler, the first of four Phillies pitchers, was charged with his third loss in seven decisions.

The teams play a two-night double-header tonight.

MAYOR'S TOURNAMENT — Frank Kerridge, Sherbrooke Country Club's match committee chairman; club president Aime Gagnon; and Pro Jos. Leblanc watch Sherbrooke Mayor Jacques

O'Bready tee off on the first — and only — hole in the nation-wide Mayor's Metric golf tournament. The mayor surprised even himself when he drove the ball 260 meters. (Record Photo by Robert MacPherson)

SHERBROOKE (RM) — Sherbrooke Mayor Jacques O'Bready teed off yesterday to compete in the week-long, nation-wide Mayor's one-hole golf tournament aimed at promoting the use of the metric system in the sport.

O'Bready, an avid though somewhat modest golfer, drove the ball for a 260 metre drive down the 434 metre — usually 520 yard — first hole of the Sherbrooke Country Club.

Club officials Frank Kerridge, Aime Gagnon and Joe Leblanc joined reporters from press, radio and TV in watching the mayor's impressive performance.

The promotion tournament for the metric tournament has the mayors of various cities across Canada teeing off at the first hole of a golf club in their community, measured in meters.

The distance of their drives, also measured in meters, are sent to a central tabulating center, where the mayor who made the longest distance will be declared the winner.

Sherbrooke Country Club, although not yet completely arranged in the metric system, temporarily converted its first hole especially for O'Bready's appearance.

Saskatchewan Roughriders hurting here tonight, simply ignores the five-yard restraining zone.

He employed the strategy with great success in Montreal Tuesday night when the Roughriders defeated the Alouettes 24-20. It made Montreal coach Marv Levy furious.

Of course, the Alouettes have Johnny Rodgers, probably the best in the CFL at returning punts with blocking help. Payne may not feel it's necessary to use the same play against the Argos, who are something less of a threat in that department.

There is a 10-yard penalty for failure to give the punt-receiver five yards but that's a bargain against a player like Rodgers.

HELD IN CHECK

The Alouettes' punt-return team of Rodgers and Dickie Harris averaged 17.7 yards on six returns against Hamilton Tiger-Cats a week ago. Against Saskatchewan they managed a total of just 20 yards on the seven punts that stayed in bounds—four caught by Harris and three by Rodgers.

"I'd just as soon take the 10-yard penalty than let them run for 15 or more yards," Payne said. "I don't care about the penalty."

If that's the case, Levy countered, then the officials should at least tack on an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty.

Noting that there is no fair-catch rule in Canada to protect the punt-return men, Levy described the strategy as "the scummiest thing I've ever seen."

"I don't know if it was his (Payne's) intention but if it was, and I stress the word 'if', then it's a real perversion of the coaching profession. If a coach teaches it, his professional standing in the eyes of other coaches is absolutely non-existent."

"It's just like telling my players, 'I don't care about clipping penalties, let's go out and break one of their legs.'"

QUARTERBACK INJURED — Although the Roughriders must play with only three days of rest, they rank as clear favorites to beat the Argonauts, who suffered a variety of injuries in their 18-16 loss to Ottawa Rough Riders in their season opener last Thursday.

With No. 1 quarterback Mike Rae hobbled by an injured knee, coach Russ Jackson will give the starting assignment to Bill Bynum, a six-foot-two 205-pound grad of Western New Mexico who was released by St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League last season and tried out with British Columbia Lions before being called by Toronto.

Bynum, 26, who will be backed up by Rae, is under considerable pressure. Bill Etter, late of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, and Charlie Napper, who spent three inactive seasons with Green Bay Packers, are in camp on five-day trials.
