Russians, However, Have to Admit Severe Defeat North of the Pinsk Marshes — Austrians, Also, Claim Success Against Rumanians—French Capture More Trenches—Aerial Fights Take Place

Driving against the centre of the Russian line on the eastern front, German troops have gained possession of Russian positions on a front of about two and a half miles The attack, which resulted also in the capture of more than 3,000 prisoners, took place in the district of Skrobowa, twelve miles north-east of Baranovichi, north of the Pinsk marshes, and where only isolated fighting has occurred lately The Russians, Berlin also says, lost 27 machine guns and 12 mine throwers.

The success of the Germans is admitted by the Petrograd War Office, which announces that the Russians, after stubborn resistance against seven onslaughts, were finally compelled to fall back to their second line of trenches. Elsewhere on the eastern front to the Carpathians, there has been little fighting, according to the communications.

In Dobrudja the advance of the Russo-Rumanian forces southward continues and Petrograd records a battle with Field Marshal Von Mackensen's troops in the region of Tchernavoda, abandoned recently by the Rumanians. At Tchernavoda is the bridge of the railroad running between Constanza and Bucharest, and it is for this bridge the Russians and Rumanians are fighting. Petrograd also announces the occupation of several towns between Hirsova and Tchernavoda. Berlin says there have been no important changes in Dobrudja.

On the Transylvania-Rumanian front Archduke Charles has assured the offensive and pushed back the Rumanians. In the Predeal sector stubborn fighting continues, with both the Austro-Germans and the Rumanians claiming progress. The Austrians have almost completely recovered the ground lost in the Georgeny mountains Nov. 4th.

Several trench elements north of the Somme near Les Boeufs and Saillisel have been captured by the French. Berlin states Franco-British attacks between Gueudecourt and Sailly were repulsed.

There has been much aerial fighting on the western front. Berlin records the destruction of seventeen Entente airplanes and Paris asserts that ten German machines were brought down. London admits that seven British aircraft failed to return to their base after fights in the air. In one of the fights a squadron of thirty British airplanes and a German squadron of between thirty and forty were engaged.

Inclement weather continues to hamper operations on a large scale on the Macedonia and Austro-Italian fronts.

ANOTHER OCCASION FOR INKSLINGING.

The Hague, Nov. 10, via London, Nov. 11—Three Americans were aboard the American 'cross-channel mail steamer Koningen Regentes, which was taken into Zeebrugge by the Germans after leaving Flushing on Friday morning for England. The Americans were Thomas Smith, a courier, Howard Kimblay and William Goodbody. The Zeeland Steamship Company informed The Associated Press at 8 o'clock tonight that no news of the release of the Americans had yet been received.

The Koningen Regentes carried 93 passengers, the majority of whom were Belgians. In the number were 36 women and 10 children.

A REBUKE FOR GREECE.

Athens, Nov. 9, via London, Nov. 10—An official Franco-British communication issued here says:

"The French and British Ministers have called the attention of the Premier to the state of public opinion in Paris and London, where, after the evidences of the Allied government's good-will toward the Greek government recently in the Katerina affair, it is considered that no efficacious measures have been taken by the Greek government to end the agitation kept up in quarters hostile to the Entente."

AUSTRIAN ENVOY TO STATES.

Washington, Nov. 10—Secretary of State Lansing announced late today that the Austrian government had named Count De Tarnow-Tarnovski Ambassador to the United States, and that he had been accepted by this government.

Records here show Count Tarnovski was Secretary of the Embassy here for two years. He has been in the diplomatic service since 1897 and has been attached to embassies and legations at Constantinople, Athens, Paris, Dresden, Brussels, London and Sofia.

The new Ambassador is a Pole, his home being in Galicia.

DEUTSCHLAND READY TO GO.

New London, Conn., Nov. 10—The Deutschland, the German merchant submarine, which arrived here on Nov. 1, is loaded and ready for her dash homeward. The exact time of her departure was a matter of conjecture tonight, but it was generally believed she would sail within the next 48 hours. The value of the cargo is said to be in the neighborhood of one and one-half million dollars, consisting largely of crude rubber, nickel, zinc and silver bars. The value of the latter is declared to be $250,000.

The engines and other machinery of the submersible were tested today. A sixty days' supply of provisions was loaded tonight.

WILSON'S VICTORY CLEAR AND DECISIVE AT POLLS

MESSAGE TO THE PRESIDENT STATES HE CARRIED TWO-THIRDS OF THE STATES OF THE UNION—PLURALITY OF 403,312.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Secretary to the President Tumulty tonight sent the following message to President Wilson at Williamstown, Mass: "Election returns conclusively demonstrate that your victory at the polls is clear and decisive. You have carried two-thirds of the states of the Union The four years of your administration have brought you approximately 2,266,614 more votes than when you were first elected in 1912. This is the greatest increase given to an American President for a second term since the Civil War. Your vote last Tuesday was 2,060,708 more than ever previously recorded for a Democratic candidate and, despite character of opposition, is the largest vote ever received by a President from the people of this country —952,955 more than the total Taft-Roosevelt vote of 1912. You have a popular plurality of 403,312 according to a bulletin received from The Associated Press."

Mr. Hughes Speaks.

New York, Nov. 10.—Charles E. Hughes, while not conceding that he has been defeated for President, made it clear yesterday that he would countenance no hasty or ill-considered charges of fraud being made against the Democrats by Republican campaign managers in the contest proceedings they are planning.

In a conference with Chairman William R. Willcox and George W. Wickersham, Mr. Hughes declared that in the absence of absolute proof of fraud no such cry should be raised to becloud the title of the next President of the United States. This attitude was announced in a statement by Chairman Willcox after his talk with Mr. Hughes. Supplementing this statement Mr. Willcox said last night that no step looking to a recount in close states would be taken until after an official count of the vote had disclosed good reasons for such action.

PROHIBITION DEFEATED.

San Francisco, Nov. 10—Complete prohibition in California was defeated in Tuesday's election. A measure (amendment No. 2), comprising many restriction on the sale, possession and use of alcoholics, appeared on available returns, to have lost Its opponents, on the strength of a canvass of the state today claimed a majority against it of 40,000. The California dry federation refused to concede this, charged fraud, and claimed that an honest count would carry the measure through. No figures were available in support of this contention.

CARRIES FRENCH FLAG.

Paris, Nov. 10—The transport Caryleinos, the first ship of the Greek navy to hoist the French flag, has entered Piraeus, says a Havas despatch from Athens.

LONDON COMMENT ON U.S. ELECTION

RE-ELECTION OF WILSON CONSIDERED A FAVORABLE EVENT FOR PEACE.

London, Nov. 10—The re-election of President Wilson is welcomed by the Weekly Nation as an event favorable both to peace and the cause of State liberty, and the paper thinks that his election offers hopes of an earlier end to the war agony than any nation enduring it can yet foresee. William Henry Massingham, the editor, in a special note referring to President Wilson says: "The resources of the European statesmanship are not so rich nor are its personalities so inspiring that it can readily dispense with an acute, powerful and in some degree prophetic intellect at the head of the greatest power that the war has left standing and the most sympathetic to ourselves. I think that most men and women here, who take more than casual interest in American politics, read the news of Mr. Hughes' earlier success with sinking hearts."

The New Statesman considers it better for the Entente Allies to have to do with t President whose mind they know and who is unlikely to raise serious difficulties concerning the British blockade. "Moreover," it adds, "Wilson is more likely to be interested personally in the promotion of an Anglo-American Entente, on the creation of which after the war so many important things will depend."

PROPOSED FRENCH CANADIAN BRIGADE

Montreal, Nov. 10.—Lieut.-Col. Mignault, says the proposed French-Canadian brigade will be an accomplished fact before the New Year, as he has received sufficient encouragement to justify the statement that a strong percentage of the people of this province are behind the movement. Permission has not yet been given at Ottawa for the formation of the brigade, but Col. Mignault says he has the sympathy of Premier Borden and Sir Sam Hughes. The headquarters of the Brigade will be in England, and men will be sent across in batches of 200.

BRITISH AVIATORS DISPERSE ENEMY

BRITISH LOSE SEVEN MACHINES AND THE ENEMY FIFTEEN.

London, Nov. 10—The British official communication issue this evening says:

"There was no change today on the battle front.

"As the result of the improvement in the weather there was great aerial activity yesterday. Much useful work was done, many bombing raids being carried out on the enemy's communications, billets and stores.

Air fighting was almost continuous

"One of our squadrons of thirty machines encountered a squadron of from thirty to forty machines. An aerial battle took place and the enemy squadron was broken up and dispersed. Six of his machines were seen to commence to fall out of control, but owing to the severity of the fighting it was not possible to watch them to the ground.

"As the result of other fights nine more hostile machines were driven down in a damaged condition, three of which are known to have been destroyed. A hostile kite balloon was also attacked and sent down in flames.

"Seven of our machines are missing."

Mark Francis Napier, chairman of the company, with whom are associated Lord Glenconner, chairman of the Union Bank of Stotland, Viscount Peel, a director of the London and Provincial Bank and Sir Leander Starr Jameson, president of the British South Africa Company.

"Certain investigations are now being undertaken on behalf of Mr. Napier and his friends and if the result is satisfactory to them the offer will promptly be submitted to the shareholders of the company for their approval.

"It may be stated that one of the principal objects of the acquisition of the undertaking is to insure that Reuter's Agency shall continue to be independent of any alien or undesirable control and its conduct and administration shall be entirely British.

"It is intended to continue the existing administration of the agency and Mr. Roderick Jones, the present head, will remain in that position with enlarged powers."

LAST CHANCE TODAY FOR QUEBECERS TO WITNESS "BATTLE OF SOMME" FILM

REMARKABLE MOVING PICTURES OF BRITISH ARMY IN ACTION AT THE FRONT WILL BE SHOWN FOR LAST TIME AUDITORIUM TODAY.

Packed houses were again the order at the Auditorium for the second day's run of the famous "Battle of the Somme" pictures, shown in Quezec under the auspices of The Chronicle.

Today will be afforded the Quebec public the last opportunity to see these magnificent, realistic views of the British army at work in the front line trenches in France, and no one should miss them.

The afternoon shows begin at 2.00 and 3.30, while in the evening the first representation is at 7.30, and the second at 9.00 o'clock.

Prominent Quebec people who witnessed the films pronounce it the most remarkable they have ever witnessed. In every city in the Dominion of Canada, record crowds have witnessed the screening of the views and as Quebec had but three days in which to witness the film, there is no doubt that today's performances will be attended by tremendous crowds which will tax the theatre's utmost capacity.

Wounded soldiers, returned from the front, are unanimous in their praise of the pictures and state that they are a true record of what the soldiers of Great Britain are doing in France and an accurate reflection of the routine life of the boys who are on the firing line.

Nothing like these pictures was ever before even possible to obtain. They are marvelous. Wherever they are shown they create a sensation. They show war, grim and gruesome as war is. They were considered superior to censorship as a demonstration of what the soldiers are doing and bearing to uphold the honor and glory of Great Britain and promote the cause of humanity.

Those are the reasons with many others why Quebec has been profoundly impressed with the Somme film and why the people of the city and province are making the film the most successful of any motion picture production.

KULLERVA BROTHERS AT THE AUDITORIUM ALL NEXT WEEK

The Kullerva Brothers will be the feature of the bill next week at the Auditorium. These two artists have been called the "Up-Side-Down" marvels, and they are real marvels for they perform feats on their head with just as much ease as other people do ordinary tricks on their feet.

In other cities, people that have seen them once wanted to see them a second time, for they couldn't understand how they managed to accomplish such wonderful feats that have made for them the biggest reputation of all head balancers in vaudeville.

The other attractions include: Le Maire & Blaise in some marvellous flexible feats; Timmons and Eddy, singers, violin and piano players; the Throwing Tabors, great club manipulators, and Kane, Jackson and Mack cabaret boys.

Save $250.00 Now

On the World-Record-Breaking HUDSON SUPER-SIX

You can save $250 on such a car as has won all worth-while records if you buy before December 1st. On that date we begin manufacture of cars made from materials that have advanced enormously in cost. There is to be no change in models. Some dealers have still a few cars due them of the present production. They can take care of car buyers up to their allotment at the present prices. But you must act quickly if you wish to obtain the saving.

This season's output of Hudson Super-Sixes is built of materials contracted a year ago. Our present prices are based on their cost.

Our next production, starting December 1, will be built of materials contracted lately. The costs have enormously advanced. And, to cover that added cost, our price on the Hudson must advance $250.

So cars of our present output, which dealers have still unsold, are the last Hudson Super-Sixes to be sold at present prices. We urge you to get one if you can.

There will be no change in motor, chassis or body. You get the same exclusively Hudson Super-Six motor. You get the same chassis, which in every worth-while test has shown endurance beyond what any other car has proved, and you get the same beauty and luxurious body with all its excellencies of detail. Changes, if any, will be slight. So 2,100 now buys the same car as $2,350 will next month.

It Can't Be Helped

We dislike these price advances fully as much as you do. They limit the number who can buy Hudsons.

But the Super-Six motor makes the Hudson supreme in performance and endurance. And we must continue to match that supremacy in quality and luxury.

We cannot skimp on this car if we wish to keep our pinnacle place. Nor shall we add an extra price for prestige. We add only our added costs. The new Hudson prices will be nowhere near as high as numerous other fine cars.

But that is a later question. Today you can save that $250 if your dealer has any cars left.

Can Any Other Car Content You?

If you want en enclosed model or a convertible model, now is the time to get it. If you want an open model, and could wait until spring, the advantage in buying now is the $250 saving.

When you buy a fine car—open or enclosed—you will want, we think, a Hudson Super-Six. It has been so this year with 25,000 buyers. It will be far more so next year.

This year the Super-Six was new. It takes time to gain great prestige. Also it takes time for surpassed cars to lose it.

Note the facts about the Super-Six. Mark its efficiency, matchless and amazing. Then ask yourself if a lesser car is likely to content you and then decide if it isn't worth while to save $250 by buying now.

Holds All Worth-While Records.

The Super-Six has won all the worth-while records. It has outperformed all cars, old or new, in all the tests attempted. Its endurance remains unequalled.

A Super-Six broke the ocean-to-ocean record. It ran from San Francisco to New York in 5 days, 3 hours and 31 minutes. Then that same car, on the same day, started back. And it completed the round trip—6972 miles—in 10 days and 21 hours. No other car ever even attempted the round trip ocean-to-ocean run against time.

It has broken all stock-car records for speed. A stock-car exceeded all other records by 52 per cent. for a 24-hour run. It holds the record in the Pike's Peak hill-climb against 20 famous rivals.

Does this not prove the Super-Six to be the unquestioned monarch of Motordom?

WILSON'S SERMON.

Williamstown, Mass., Nov. 10—In a speech here tonight before several thousand persons who came from nearby towns to congratulate him on his re-election, President Wilson said:

"I want to say that now the campaign is over we must think of only one thing, and that is not of parties but of the interest of the great country we all love. Let us forget all our differences and unite for common service. Only in that way can we work for the great nation that has given us liberty and peace."

WILSON'S ELECTION PERSONAL TRIUMPH SAYS DAILY NEWS

LONDON NEWSPAPERS PAYS TRIBUTE TO THE RETURNED U. S. PRESIDENT.

London, Nov. 11.—In an editorial on the result of the Presidential election in the United States, the Daily News regards President Wilson's election as a triumph both for his personality and his policies. The newspaper adds:

"In this country it is inevitable that predominant stress should be laid on President Wilson's attitude towards the European War, and it will be learned with general relief that the United States will be guided in the four critical months ahead, not by a defeated, but by a recommissioned President.

"We have never disguised our conviction that Mr. Wilson is qualified, as is no other American statesman, to guide the destinies of his country at this time and particularly in the field of domestic policy, and we desire as little as possible to disguise our satisfaction that the reins of power are to remain in his capable hands."

The Daily Telegraph says:—"It is clear that whatever his difficulties with domestic affairs may be, a man of President Wilson's character has now the opportunity of giving new weight to the influence of the greatest neutral nation—the most powerful trustee of the interests of humanity in connection with the world war. If he can be sure of a majority in Congress, he can be sure of decisive support for a clear and vigorous line of policy with regards to those questions of American rights which have most profoundly stirred the minds of his countrymen, and we do not doubt that the second Wilson administration will approach that part of its task with purpose re-emphasized and firmness reinforced."

NO DELAY FOR ARREARS IN TAXES

LOCKWELL MOTION DEFEATED IN COUNCIL BY 18 TO 3 VOTE.

The motion proposed by Ald. Lockwell that a notice of 30 days be given to those owing arrears in taxes to the City before any seizure of property be made, met the same fate before the City Council as it did last week before the Finance Committee and last night it was defeated by a vote of 18 to 3.

Only one change was made in the motion and that was that the time of notice was reduced from two months to one month, and this amendment was added with the consent of the Council, the majority of which refused to alter the instructions given by the Finance Committee to the City Treasurer who had served a ten day's notice to all those in arrears for the years 1913-14.

The debate on the motion was marked by an exchange of compliments between Ald. Lockwell and Ald Martin. The former was speaking in support of his motion and was explaining how aldermen were frequently approached by their electors to secure delays for them to pay their taxes.

Ald. Martin interrupted the representative of Montcalm Ward and stated that since he had been in the Council he had never been approached in this way by any of his electors.

Ald. Lockwell remarked that it was probably because Ald. Martin was not known in his ward.

Ald. Martin:—"I admit that Ald. Lockwell is better known than I am. He became known at a recent meeting of the Finance Commttee."

The passage of arms was becoming more and more personal, and Ald. Lockwell reproached Ald. Martin, saying that he was an obstructionist and had never proposed a motion in the Council.

Raising a point of order Ald. Martin asked the Mayor to compel Ald. Lockwell to treat on the motion before the chair.

"It is hurting him", said Ald. Lockwell, "but being a good physisician he should have pills to alleviate the pain."

Ald Lockwell continued and said that on the strength of the ten day's notice given, a bailiff had gone to a religious order in the City and served a notice of seizure for water taxes.

He closed his remarks by stating that he had nothing against City Treasurer Blais, but that he did not wish to give him carte blanche to do as he pleased in the matter.

Ald. Verret remarked that when the Finance Committee gave instructions to the Treasurer to collect the arrears it was not the intention to take anyone by the throat. Everyone had been amply notified as the committee had taken the decision months ago and all the papers had dealt with the question frequently since then. He remarked that the property arrears for 1913-14 and previous to that amounted to $59,000 and of that amount there was a sum of $13,000 which was due in Champlain Ward and owing to certain circumstances could not be collected.

The speaker was interrupted at this point by Ald. Collier who remarked that the arrears in Champlain ward were due on property which had been acquired by the Federal Government. This was admitted by Ald. Verret who explained that those were the circumstances to which he had referred.

Continuing, Ald. Verret said that besides the balance of $46,000 due on property, there was also $79,000 due for subsequent years and it was only reasonable that at least one-quarter of it should be collected without delay.

He pointed out that if the notices sent out by the Treasurer were counteracted by the Council it would only bring ridicule on the officials.

Ald. Lockwell, he said, had attempted to gain sympathy for his motion by citing the case of a religious community which had received a visit from a bailiff. He affirmed that no order had been given to make seizures, and Ald. Lockwell must have been misinformed. If any bailiff had taken upon himself to serve a seizure it must have been an over-zealous personage.

Ald. Collier thought that there was no reason to fear that City Treasurer Blais would harrass any poor taxpayer. On the contrary he would accept any amount no matter how small, providing the parties in arrears showed their willingness to pay. It was not a question of thirty days, but of three years that the arrears were due.

The motion was then voted upon and defeated by 18 to 3. Those supporting it were Aldermen Bedard, Theriault and Lockwell.

MR. A. SAUVE ON ONTARIO SCHOOLS

DENIES ARTICLE OF "LE DEVOIR" ATTRIBUTING CERTAIN UTTERANCES TO HIM.

Before the adjournment of the Legislative Assembly at the noon sitting yesterday, Mr. Arthur Sauve, Leader of the Opposition, rose on a question of privilege and took exception to certain constructions which "Le Devoir," of Montreal, he said, had placed on his speech during the debate on the address on Wednesday. Mr. Sauve said that the correspondent of the paper had used Sir Lomer Gouin's reply to comment on the speech of the Leader of the Opposition and it was for that reason that he had made the error complained of. "I shall not permit," said Mr. Sauve, "on such burning questions, that sentiments which I do not entertain be attributed to me. Let it be understood distinctly: I am of my race and my Province, I venerate their traditions, and it is from this point of view, it is to follow the example of the great patriots of my race, both lay and clerical, that my fellow-citizens of other origins may depend upon my loyalty, my respect and my sense of justice. As to those who for tactical purposes accuse me of violence for the purpose of supplying an opportunity to attack me, I do not fear to meet them, although I ardently desire to discuss in a friendly manner the questions which will be submitted to us.

Encouraging Progress.

Encouraging progress is being made in the Legislature and next week all the machinery will be working full capacity. At the noon sitting yesterday nine private bills were presented, five of which were given first reading and fixed for second reading at the next sitting, while the other four passed the first and second reading stages and were referred to the Private Bills Committee, where they are slated for study on Tuesday morning next.

The Bills read a second time were:

The Bill to amend the Charter of the City of Westmount, introduced by Mr. S. Letourneau, member for Hochelaga.

The Bill to amend the Charter of the City of Verdun, presented by Mr. Ashby.

Mr. Levesque's Bill regarding St. Leonard de Port Maurice.

Mr. Ashby's Bill concerning Pointe Claire.

The following Bills were read a first time:

Mr. Petit's Bill: An Act to incorporate the village of Bagotville, as a separate municipality.

Mr. Lucien Cannon's Bill: An Act to grant certain privileges to St. Patrick's Parish, Montreal.

Mr. S. Letourneau's Bill respecting the estate of the late Joseph Comte.

Mr. S. Letourneau's Bill: An Act respecting the Catholic Orphanage of Montreal.

Mr. Ashby's Bill: An Act to amend the Charter of the City of Lachine.

Government Bills.

Sir Lomer Gouin has given notice that on Monday next he will present seven measures, four of which are to amend the Revised Statutes, one to amend the Civil Code, one to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, and one to amend the law concerning coroners.

Most of those bills have for their object to correct errors in recent amendments, or to simplify certain procedures.

The bill amending the law concerning coroners is to oblige the latter to send to the Attorney-General a copy of the verdict rendered by the jury in each inquest.

Another of the bills is to simplify the manner of correcting electoral lists in the cities of Montreal, of Quebec, of Sherbrooke, of Valleyfield and of Maisonneuve.

Special Warrants.

Hon. W. Mitchell, Provincial Treasurer, has tabled in the Legislative Assembly a statement of the special warrants issued by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council since the last session.

The warrants reached a total of $238,601.63, of which $233,096.96 have been spent, which leaves a balance of $5,504.67.

The principal items are as follows: Agriculture, $37,854.07 and $9,286.87; legislation, for bindery, etc. $34,132.38; commission for employment of returned soldiers, $3,000 and $1,500; Provincial agent in London, $7,000; relief for fire victims in Northern Ontario, $10,000; relief for fire victims in Abitibi, $7,006; repairs to Spencer Wood, $15,790.37 and $10,000; construction of green house at Spencer Wood, $20,000.

The Assembly is adjourned until Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

DUTCH STEAMER IS TAKEN INTO ZEEBRUGGE.

London, Nov. 10—Reuter's Flushing correspondent says the Dutch cross channel mail steamer Koningin Regentees, which left Flushing this morning, has been taken into Zeebrugge.

Zeebrugge is a German naval base on the North Sea in Belgium.

COUNCIL DEBATES 6 WARD DIVISION

MEETING NOT LONG ENOUGH FOR DISCUSSION — SPECIAL SITTING TUESDAY.

Ald. Bouchard's motion to divide the City into six wards instead of eight with two aldermen for each ward, was the subject of a warm discussion at the meeting of the City Council last night. The motion was supported by Ald. Bouchard, Ald. Collier and Ald. Dussault (Belvedere) while Ald. Theriault and Ald. Fiset spoke strongly against it and in favor of the eight ward division which was approved by the Council at its last meeting.

As the debate was still going on at midnight Ald. Fiset moved that the Council adjourn until Tuesday evening next. The debate was adjourned on motion of Ald. Verret who will give his views at the next meeting.

Letters Read.

Among the letters read at the meeting of the Council were: From Mr A. E. Bateman, Chairman of the Dominion Royal Commission thanking the Mayor and citizens for the cordial reception extended the Commission during their recent visit here; from Lt.-Col. Readman, Commandant of the 167th Overseas Battalion thanking the City for the grant of $5,000 for recruiting in the City of Quebec; from Mr. P. Ouellet, Secretary of the Union of Carpenters asking that all City printing bear the union seal. This letter was referred to the Finance Committee; from Miss Thomson, of the Young Women's Christian Association thanking the City for the grant of $150, voted to the Y.W.C.A.

YOU WON'T REGRET IT.

Those Somme pictures are some pictures. This is not an advertisement for them, but they are really worth seeing. The alarm that a view of the realities of war would tend to discourage enlistment is not borne out by fact, the contrary seems to be the case. True, one sees men being killed in the fight, but the small proportion of these is well shown, and in any case, it is not the known dangers, but the unknown risks which deter men from joining.

Yes, apart from mere casual interest in the pictures, every Quebecer should see them, for he will then be in a a better position to judge of his own duty in the war, which some seem incapable of doing until the actuality presents itself.

The pictures are bing shown at the Auditorium—go in under the big electric sign, and after seeing them, go like a man to where the other electric sign reads "171st. Battalion Recruiting Office," and tell the officer in charge that you, too, are ready to do your bit.

Remember one thing—You won't regret it.

Ask any wounded returned hero and he will tell you that 'in spite of his wounds he would not exchange the experience he has gained for a million dollars." This was the actual declaration of one wounded man, and any other veteran will back him up. It's worth remembering.—(Communicated).

DUTCH RAILWAYS TO CURTAIL SERVICE

London, Nov. 11—It is semi-officially announced, says the Exchange Telegraph Amsterdam correspondent, that owing to the difficulty of obtaining coal from England, Germany and Belgium, the Dutch railways may be obliged temporarily to curtail their services. Two of the leading railroads, the correspondent adds, have taken the necessary measure for curtailment.

THE U. S. ELECTIONS.

To find anything like a parallel in sustaining interest to the present elections in the United States we must go back to 1876 and 1884. In reviewing these the Ottawa Citizen recalls how the most spectacular election, certainly the most sensational finish to a presidential contest, was that of 1876 when Tilden was the Democratic candidate and Hayes represented the Republicans. Tilden received over a quarter million more votes than his opponent. But Tilden lacked one vote necessary to make him president in the electoral college. Had the electoral vote of South Carolina, Florida and Louisiana been delivered in accordance with the popular vote Tilden would have had 203 votes and Hayes 156. But the Republicans entered into a conspiracy to divert these votes, and succeeded. An interesting side light is thrown on the story of this famous contest in the action of Kate Chase Sprague, daughter of Chief Justice Sprague, who inspired Conkling, the Louisiana elector, to throw the vote of that state to Hayes. The motive was one of revenge because Tilden had once defeated her father for a presidential nomination several years before. The result engendered unparalleled political bitterness for years. Dana, of the Sun, carried the portrait of Hayes for months with the word "thief" stamped across his forehead. Many Democratic journals refused to recognize the president. But Tilden, essentially a man of peace, refused to resort to extreme measures to enforce his rights,—a course much disappointing to fiery Southerners, who were ready to take up arms. Many years afterwards Tilden stated that he had acted as he did in order to avert civil war.

The campaign of 1884, known, because of the great indiscretion of Rev. Dr. Burchard, as the "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion" campaign was the second spectacular election within recent times. Cleveland was the Democratic candidate and Blaine the Republican. Blaine made the first great mistake when he gave orders that a scandal affecting the private life of his opponent be printed and spread broadcast. Cleveland cleverly made no attempt to deny the facts, and the public condoned them. But the Burchard incident killed Blaine politically. Arriving in New York in the closing days of the campaign the candidate was greeted by a delegation of some forty or fifty Protestant clergymen, among whom was Dr. Burchard. The original intention had been to have Dr. Tiffany, one of the most popular clergymen in the metropolis, greet the candidate, but unfortunately the illness of this clergyman put the task up to the man who really defeated Blaine. Dr. Burchard, animated by some inexplicable motive, made an address in which he referred to the candidate as the opponent of "Rum, Ramanism and Rebellion." Blaine, thinking up some suitable reply, did not hear the words—indeed, it is doubtful if he heard any part of Dr. Burchard's ill-chosen remarks. But the reporters did, and next day the newspapers were full of the address. It was then too late to deny the report. But as a matter of fact Blaine's mother was a Catholic and all his sisters were Catholics. Just the week before Burchard's remarks Blaine had visited his sister, who was not only a nun, but the head of a large religious institution in Indiana.

The election was remarkably close. For days the decision rested upon the outcome in New York state, where the Catholic vote was very strong. In the end Cleveland carried the state by a majority of a little over a thousand in a total vote of nearly a million and a quarter. For the first time since Buchanan's regime a Democrat went to the White House.

THE WAR FILMS.

Any mention of the war films now being shown in the Auditorium would be incomplete without quotation of the following verses written by Henry Newbolt and published in the London Times:—

O living pictures of the dead,
O songs without a sound,
O fellowship whose phantom tread
Hallows a phontom ground—
How in a gleam have these revealed
The faith we had not found.

We have sought God in a cloudy Heaven,
We Have passed by God on earth:
His seven sins and his sorrows seven,
His wayworn mood and mirth,
Like a ragged cloak, have hid from us
The secret of his birth.

Brother of men, when now I see
The lads go forth in line,
Thou knowest my heart is hungry in me
As for thy bread and wine:
Thou knowest my heart is bowed in me
To take their death for mine.

IRON TEARS.

Not long ago the German crown prince was interviewed by a retired clergyman in the interests of R. W. Hearst's newspapers ring. The interview is commented upon in a leading article in the (London) Times, and the two make good reading.

"These are the piping times for peace. Let America pipe up for peace", says (in effect) the German Crown Prince. "We all want peace, except such callous and bloodthirsty war-lords as King George V., King Ferdinand of Rumania, and M. Venizelos. Let these men of blood study the beautiful sentiments of the Sermon on the Mount. Also I am a family man. Think of my two last Christmases. Let me get back for my Christmas-tree in the bosom of my family!"

"Does the Kronprinz imagine," comments the Times, "that his record as a 'family man' is unknown in the United States?"

Every practical psychologist would admit that this apparently cynical excursion into the language of sentiment is quite likely to have been sincere. The tears of Xerxes, and the challenge of King Jehoram—"Is it Peace?"—and the Greek tragedian's eloquent picture of how the murderers of Iphigenia turned their heads away and crunched the gravel with their staves when the executioner, in obedience to their cruel behests, came forward with the gag and the knife of sacrifice, or the judicial murder of the gallant Duc d'Enghien—all these are cases in point.

But though we need not accuse the Crown Prince of playing a game with his ex-clerical interviewer, the message to the American people, with whom perhaps princes are more influential than any where else in a disillusioned world, is significant.

The Kaiser's immediate circle are perhaps the only Germans who have any just idea of what the military situation really is.

In connection therefore with the prince's utterance of the word "peace" we may interpret recent activities of two other public men, of very various calibre.

Not long ago in the Reichstag the Chancellor Bethman-Hollweg in the course of a violent denunciation of the recreant Ferdinand of Rumania exclaimed: "This time-serving people, the Rumanians, have always been influenced by the military situation." That surely was a blundering admission that the military situation is a good deal blacker for Germany than the millions of Germany have any idea of, and stultifies the whole of the argument of the rest of the speech.

In the same week one Hugo Muensterberg, who is never tired of proclaiming his intimate personal connection with the Emperor William in the prefaces of his notorious books, made a speech to the small German clique whom he has cleverly managed to keep going in cultured Boston, a city whose general voice is heart and soul with the Allies, to the following effect: "I am able to assure you that Germany is about to conclude a seperate peace with Russia, to be followed by a triple alliance between Germany, Russia and Japan, with a view to curbing Great Britain's aspirations towards world-dominance."

The Crown Prince in the role of Satan reproving sin, the chancellor, as a flustered bully eating his own words before the Reichstag, and the "friend of princes," Muensterberg, doling out his bladerdash in the presence of the wisest in America give us between them a composite picture, which is something like a prophecy, of Germany brought to its knees.

And in that picture and prophecy there is food for consolation and hope—but not for Germany.

If there is a man in this country who has been more bitterly pursued with vindictive slander than Sir Sam Hughes has been by the Liberal organs and politicians, we would like to know who the man is. They never gave him a day's peace or rest. He has been hounded and blackguarded, and most determined efforts have been made to smirch his private character and honor. While this desperate attack was being waged against him, Sir Sam was following the path of patriotic duty — performing herculean labor, and getting marvellous results, heedless of the tactics of "leading organs" that should have been giving him support. Now when the never ending work and strain of twenty-six months' continual duty—responsibility and work that would have killed many men—that only men of iron constitution could stand for a limited time, have made it imperative that Sir Sam be given a measure of relief from the grinding round of duty, these organs that pelted him with acrimony, insult, falsehood and personal slander, are busy inventing further lies, suggesting that he is being badly treated by the prime minister and hypocritically extendin their sympathy to him.

A HARD JOB.

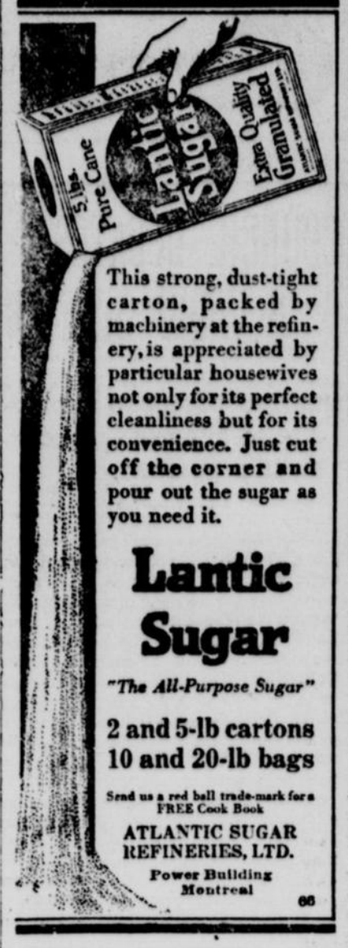

The hardest work an industrious man can do is nothing.

FLOUR PRICES RISE.

Winnipeg, Nov. 9.—Flour, now $10.20 per barrel, may cost $10.30 before tomorrow. The millers did not advance their prices to correspond with the rise in wheat prices yesterday, and were a little behind in their prices this morning. When they saw the market so strong they put the prices up twenty cents, making the price of top grade flour $10.20 per barrel.

PROHIBITION VICTORIES

Washington, Nov. 9.—The legislative committee of the anti-Saloon league of America issued a statement here tonight commenting on the prohibition victories Tuesday, when Michigan, Nebrasga, Montana and South Dakota joined the list of statewide prohibition states, and declaring that Congress this winter should pass the Federal amendment resolution, make the District of Columbia "dry" and deny the mails to liquor advertising.

"The White Flour Pinch"—have you felt it? With the advancing price of wheat "the seven-cent loaf is doomed," say the bakers. In its place we have the eight-cent loaf—in many cities only the sixteen-cent loaf. A loaf of white flour bread is not a complete ration. However wholesome and pure, it does not supply all the proteids the human body needs. In Shredded Wheat Biscuit you have all the body-building nutriment in the whole wheat grain prepared in a digestible form. It is always the same price, always the same high quality. Eat it for breakfast with milk or cream or with fruits.

YOU'RE BILIOUS! CLEAN LIVER AND BOWELS TONIGHT

DON'T STAY HEADACHY, SICK, OR HAVE BAD BREATH AND SOUR STOMACH.

Wake Up Feeling Fine! Best Laxative for Men, Women and Children.

Enjoy life! Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, breath offensive, and stomach sour. Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy, constipated and full of cold. Why don't you get a box of Cascarets from the drug store and eat one or two tonight and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. You will wake up feeling fit and fine. Cascarets never gripe or sicken like salts, pills and calomel. They act so gently that you hardly realize you have taken a cathartic. Mothers should give cross, sick, bilious or feverish children a whole Cascaret any time—they act thoroughly and are harmless.

Sunshine and Shadow

Born? With the advent of each "little stranger" happiness increases, but so does responsibility. A child has been called "a bundle of big possibilities." But these will not be realized if poverty comes in as a consequence of the father's death. Every birth is an unanswerable argument for a Mutual Life Policy—each child is "an accredited agent" of the Mutual.

Married? Every man who assumes the responsibilities of marriage requires ample life insurance protection. The husband will maintain his home in the greatest comfort while he lives. Should the unexpected happen and should he be called away, who will keep that dearest spot on earth? Elbert Hubbard said: "Life insurance avoids the necessity of leaving things to the neighbors."

Died? Whenever we hear of the passing of any acquaintance who had helpless dependents, instantly the question arises: Was his family provided for? Is not this query another unanswerable argument for life insurance protection? Every birth, every marriage, every death, advertises the benefits of sound life insurance such as the Mutual issues.

COUNCIL AGAINST INSURANCE TAX

LIVELY DEBATE ON MOTION TO TAX INSURANCE ON REVENUE.

By a vote of eleven to nine the City Council last night rejected a motion proposed by Ald. Verret, seconded by Ald. Lockwell to impose a tax of one per cent on the total amount of premiums collected by Fire Insurance companies over and above the tax of $500.00 charged at present.

Ald. Martin opposed the motion, arguing that if the taxes are increased on insurance companies the rates will be proportionately increased and it is the taxpayers who will suffer. Let it be one tax or the other, the percentage on the premiums or the fixed tax as it now exists, but not a double tax.

It was held by Ald. Lockwell that the tax would only affect large companies that were able to pay, and since the City needed revenue it was only fair to get it from the rich instead of from the poor. The tax would touch him since he was connected with insurance business, but he would not object to that.

Ald. Collier was not in favor of a second tax. He believed that insurance companies would welcome the percentage basis, but not the double tax. A double tax would simply give companies the opportunity of increasing their rates.

Mayor Lavigueur spoke in favor of the increase and stated that the insurance business had not decreased in Quebec, yet the revenue from the tax on insurance companies had been reduced by one-third owing to the mergers of insurance companies. Not only did he favor the motion, but he thought that the City might go farther and secure authorization from Legislature to place the tax at 2 per cent.

A few years ago thirty-seven companies paid $18,500 and due to mergers there were now 24 companies which paid $12,000 and if the mergers continued the revenue also would continue to decrease.

Ald. (Dr.) Dussault was opposed to the imposition of further taxation. It was not a strong argument to say that insurance companies and banks merged to avoid taxes. When one supported motions to levy taxes for the creation of additional revenue he should endeavor to at least advance some convincing arguments. He concluded by stating that he had voted against the motion in the Finance Committee and would do so again in the Council if the vote were called.

Mayor Lavigueur— "I do not believe that I said all the silly things which Ald. Dussault attributes to me, but the fact remains that the revenue from insurance companies in taxes dropped by one-third.

Ald. Madden affirmed that there was a lot of time being lost in useless discussion. Let the city impose a tax on percentage basis if they wished, but not two assessments.

It was evident, Ald. Verret said, that Ald. Madden was talking about a question of which he knew but little.

If there was a tax which would not reach the poor man it was the one proposed. It was the most practical way of attaining the large interests.

"I assert that we are losing time," said Ald. Madden. "Ald. Verret seems to think he is the only one who understands question which are discussed."

A vote was then taken and the motion was lost on the following division:—

For—Aldermen Gauvin, Bedard, Paquet, (Jacques-Cartief) Bouchard, Verget, Lockwell, Theriault, Bertrand, Paquet (St. Sauveur)—9.

Against—Aldermen Glode, Martin, Dussault (St. Louis), Collier, Lantier, Pettigrew, Mercier, Dussault, (Belvedere) Plamondon, Bourret, Madden.—11.

LECTURE BEFORE CANADIAN CLUB

LIEUT.-GOV. SIR EVARISTE LEBLANC'S ADDRESS ON ILLUSTRIOUS QUEEN VICTORIA

Facts concerning the early life of the illustrious late Queen Victoria and the important role she played in Canada's prosperity were dealt with in an admirable way by the Lieut.-Governor Sir Evariste LeBlanc, in his lecture at the Chateau Frontenac yesterday afternoon before the Women's Canadian Club.

A large and distinguished audience was present including Lady LeBlanc, Sir Louis Jette, Sir Lomer Gouin, Sir Francois Lemieux, Sir Adolphe Routhier, and a large number of cabinet ministers, members of the Quebec Parliament and other prominent citizens.

In introducing the speaker of the day, Mrs. Grondin, President of the Women's Canadian Club, during the course of her remarks, pointed to the most favorable circumstances under which the Club's season of lectures was opening, and said that the members would have reason to remember the event and the kindness of Sir Evariste LeBlanc in accepting the invitation to address the Club. Mrs. Grondin touched upon the patriotic good of past lectures which permitted the Women's Canadian Club to extend financial aid to patriotic work.

"Queen Victoria from Her Correspondence" was the subject of His Honor's address.

The sterling qualities, goodness of heart, charming personality, simplicity and other notable characteristics of the late lamented Queen Victoria, which she exhibited even before her ascension to the htrone at the tender age of eighteen years, were commented upon at length by Sir Evariste. The speaker laid stress on Victoria's expressed wish "I want to make my country happy and prosperous."

Her respect for the Catholic people, exhibited on many occasions, and the remarkable part this Sovereign took in Canada's years of peace, prosperity, Confederation were expressed in glowing terms by Lieut.-Governor. At the end of her reign, the longest of any British Sovereign, the glorious Victoria having won the esteem of millions of her subjects, departed this life in 1901.

Sir Evariste in conclusion said she loved her people and her people loved her.

His Honor the Lieut.-Governor was given an enthusiastic reception. In very appropriate terms Mrs. Ferdinand Roy proposed the vote of thanks on behalf of the large and appreciative attendance. Tea was afterwards served.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent In One Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weakness? If so, you will be glad to knew that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefitted by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two or four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family. "W. Brunet & Co. sell it."

BROWN SHADED WILLIE ANDREWS

In The World of Sport

GIBBONS OUTPOINTS "JACK" DILLON

BROWN OUTFOUGHT ANDREWS IN FAST, EXCITING CONTEST, AT GRANDE ALLEE RINK

U. S. Navy Champion Showed Cleverness and Ability to Hit Hard and Won Handily—Andrews Was Game But Took a Severe Lacing—Gagnon Defeated Dumont—White Made George Quit.

"Willie" Brown, the bantamweight champion of United States Navy, showed that he was more than a mere title-holder when he gave Willie Andrews, of New York, a severe lacing before the Irish-Canadian Club at the Grande Allee Rink last evening. Andrews, despite the mauling he received, never flinched and tried to take the initiative all the time. Brown was too clever and strong for Pepey's entry, however, and he cut loose occasionally with a left swing and a right uppercut which sent Andrews' head a-bobbing. Andrews showed speed and gameness, but was unable to penetrate the solid defence of the Sailor Boy, who met his attacks with skill; showing great judgment of distance in his hitting, seldom swinging wild or wasting his energy in superfluous boxing or running about.

The mill was a real exciting fight all the way and it is a pity that a larger crowd was not present. In the first round the going was fairly even, though Brown landed the most effective punches. Andrews looked to be the better in the in-fighting and generally liked to get at close quarters. He fought rather open when at long range.

The second round was a hard one for Andrews, as Brown landed a clean left to the head which dropped him for a second. Brown tried to press his advantage, but Andrews' condition and speed kept him from any further harm during this stanza. The third and fourth rounds were Brown's all the way and Andrews' face began to assume a ruddy hue from Brown's repeated jabs. In the fifth, Andrews made a good rally and by really fast work, kept Brown at long range and landed often to his head and body. Brown's rally at the finish of the round almost evened up matters. Andrews started out very fast in the sixth, but Brown got in some deadly blows and towards the close of the round peppered the New Yorker at will, his right uppercut doing effective execution.

While the crowd yelled for a knock out in the seventh, it proved to be Andrews' best round. He showed a good come-back, and though he did not land any really damaging blows, yet he certainly outboxed the Navy champion during this session.

Brown came back strong in the next round, and the bell saved Andrews from a knock-down as he was subjected to a most consistent bombardment close to the ropes. The crowd gave him a cheer for his gameness as he went to his corner, as he took a severe hammering in this round.

The ninth and tenth were Brown's though Andrews was still fresh and ready to exchange wallops at close quarters. Brown did not seem to push matters at times, but for a while in the tenth round he gave Andrews a most unpleasant time. The bell found both boys on their feet, but Brown earned a good margin on the ten rounds, and was unmarked and fresh.

Willie Brown is unquestionably one of the best bantams yet seen in Quebec and a match between Eggers and Brown would be a great attraction. Andrews is fast and clever, but lacks hitting power.

Gagnon-Dumont.

Albert Gagnon and Eloi Dumont, absorbed more punishment in the three rounds they were in the ring than the German army did in a week's bombardment. There were no Freddie Welsh love taps in this bout—every little punch had a real kick in it. The first round was even but Gagnon had the better of the second. In the third Gagnon sent his man down two or three times and though the latter was ready to take more wallops, Referee Montminy ended the bout, considering that Dumont had been punished enough.

Young White Won.

Young Charlie White, fighting his usual aggressive battle made Kid George quit at the end of the fourth round, though George did very well, especially in the third when he had a shade on White. In the fourth, White cut out a blinding pace and hammered George around the ring, only the bell saving the latter from a knockout. When the gong sounded for the beginning of the fifth round George would not respond, and White was loudly cheered, having forced his opponent to quit.

Joe Montminy was referee; Sam Murphy, timekeeper, and Romeo Lepine, announced the doings as usual.

"MIKE" GIBBONS SHADED DILLON

ST. PAUL PHANTOM EARNED SIX ROUNDS OF THE TEN FOUGHT.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 10—"Mike" Gibbons, of St. Paul, outpointed Jack Dillon, of Indianapolis, in a ten round no-decision contest here tonight. Gibbons led in six rounds. Three sessions went to Dillon and the other was even. At 5.00 p.m. today Gibbons weighed in at 153½, and Dillon at 162, the latter one pound under the agreed weight.

Newspapermen at the ringside uniformly gave the bout to Gibbons, some give him every round.

Gibbons' footwork and his left jabs were chief factors in his victory. Dillon's round were the fifth, sixth and tenth, and he battled like a tiger in those. In the nal he had Gibbons in a neutral corner and forced him to cover up to avoid punishment.

Dillon apparently hoped to wear down his lighter rival at first, but the St. Paul man refused to be cornered and slid out of every tight place. He was the aggressor nearly all the time and landed perhaps four good blows to Dillon's one. It was seldom that Dillon could get within striking distance. Gibbons' left worked back and forth like a piston. It landed seven times on Dillon's face in one round.

Round 1.—The men went into a clinch. Dillon forced Gibbons to the robes, the latter shot two sharp lefts to the jaw. Dillon came in again and in brisk fighting Gibbons had a shade. The St. Paul fighter's effective lefts gave him the round.

Round 2.—Both men proved ready mixers in the second period, but again Gibbons effective left made Dillon's efforts virtually fruitless. The St. Paul fighter stepped out of Dillon's drives and turned them into wild swings. Gibbons footwork and left jabs favored him. Gibbons round.

Round 3.—Dillon attempted to get Gibbons at the outset of third session, but the local lad pulled away with left and right swings to the jaw. The Hoosier came back strong, however, and kept Gibbons moving all the time. Just before the bell the men went into a clinch and broke away with a farewell jab from Gibbons. Gibbons round by a shade.

Round 4.—Both fighters showed some inclination to feel each other out, but when Dillon pressed the fight Gibbons came back with his piston drive left, effectively keeping the Indianapolis man away. Dillon got in two short blows, but Gibbons evened matters by swinging a right to the head and a short left to the body. The round ended with neither having a decided advantage. Round even.

Round 5.—Breaking away from a clinch, Gibbons sent a swift right to the body and then escaped Dillon's rush. The Hoosier led pressed forward and landed brisk drive to Dillon's head. Dillon seemed anxious to press the battle and while Gibbons footwork kept him out of danger it did not even the score. Dillon's round.

Round 6.—Gibbons sidestepped Dillon's attack at the outset of the round and when the Indianapolis man tried to rush Gibbons to the ropes, he ducked a sweeping right and they went into a clinch. On infighting they seemed about even, but Gibbons long range work was more effective. Dillon's aggressiveness earned him the round, by a shade.

Round 7.—The men went into a clinch, and as they broke away Dillon swung for Gibbons head, but the latter ducked and glided into a clinch. Gibbons showed a readiness to stand up against Dillon and frequently the St. Paul man changed a seeming disadvantage to a point in his favor by clever footwork. Dillon's heavy swings frequently rolled off Gibbons ducking shoulders. The St. Paul man kept the lead in the period. Gibbons' round.

Round 8.—Gibbons had the advantage at the opening of the eighth round. He was able to sidestep the blows of Dillon.

Gibbons' left jabs, supplemented by a sensational right to the head gave him a shade in the closing of the round. He rushed Dillon to the ropes. They rushed into clinches when the Indianapolis boy started his terrific rights. Gibbons round.

Round 9.—When the ninth round opened Gibbons showed great skill in disappearing before the sweeping swings of the Indianapolis man. Dillon attempted to force the fighting but Gibbons ducked under three high swings and came back with short lefts and a right to the body. The fighting was fast at the end of the round, with Gibbons slipping from the reaching swings of Dillon and landing effective rights to the body. Gibbons round.

Round 10.—Gibbons slipped away from three successive swings, but Dillon followed an advantage gained after a breakaway and landed his most effective blows of the fight to Gibbons jaw and body. The Indianapolis man forced the fighting for the first part of the round. Dillon pressed another advantage and when Gibbons broke away from a clinch but was unable to evade the Hoosier lad's encompassing swings and the final session went to Dillon. Dillon's round.

Sporting Notes

There will be no football game today. The boys of the 171st were inoculated yesterday. The game was to have been played on the Esplanade, despite statements to the contrary.

* * *

The team of McNamara and Spears was declared out of the 6 day's race early yesterday after MacNamara's collarbone had been broken in a fall. Great game, that.

* * *

The Wanderers claim that all their players living in Montreal have been signed up for the coming season. Anyway the Red Bands cannot do much worse than last season when the "team" sprained its ankle.

* * *

The Wanderers without Sprague Cleghorn were in the same shape as the "Stars" of Montreal would be without Malcolm Fraser.

* * *

Billy Hanson of the Crescents predicts a big year for the Red, Black and Yellow.

* * *

We hope nobody spent the money they won on Hughes.

* * *

The Wanderers and Canadiens should be able to get a big jump on the local team. Skating is in full blast in Montreal now.

* * *

Pierre Campagna has little use for Montreal "Anywhere, where they serve you oysters flavored with coal oil sauce, is no place for anyone" says Pierre.

* * *

Quebec fans will be able to see Eddie Oatman playing hockey this winter. Eddie is enlisting with the 228th. Battalion, in which are Goldie Prodgers, MacNamara and others. The soldiers should have a very strong line-up and look like the pick of the circuit on paper.

* * *

Though the Canadiens were hit hard through the loss of Prodgers and MacNamara, yet they have Vezina yet.

* * *

Some people do not believe in "one-man" teams.

* * *

Alderman Ulderic Gauvin will leave for Montreal where he will drive Frankie Bogash in the five mile match race against Marconi, tomorrow afternoon. Quite a lot of interest is being taken in this race and the result will be eagerly looked forward to.

* * *

"Crippen" was at the boxing bouts last evening. Don't you know who Crippin is?

* * *

According to the new Pacific Coast hockey league rules, goalkeepers will be allowed stop the puck anyway they want to. Come to think of it why should the goal-keeper not be allowed fall to save a score—he is taking big chances of getting hurt—just as a catcher does in blocking the plate off from a runner. "Paddy" Moran would welcome this rule in the N.H.A. Paddy never fails to slide on the puck to save if he thinks its the only way. Benedict, however, not only falls on it, but goes to sleep at the same time.

* * *

Ross Oatman, a younger brother of Eddie Oatman, who recently joined the 228th, has also enlisted with the 228th, and will try for a place on the 228th amateur team.

CONCERNING THAT PROPOSED LEAGUE

MONTREAL STORY ON PROPOSED ORGANIZATION OF CITY LEAGUES.

In connection with the proposition put forward by Mr. Cecil Hart, when in the city some time ago, the Montreal Star says:

Announcement of the intention to organize a Central Canada Amateur Hockey Association was made today by an officer of one of the local clubs, who has been interested in the plan. The formation of such a series was attempted last year, but it fell through for some mysterious reasons. Conditions at present are none too bright for the mobilization of any kind of sport, but the pitiable plight which various District Leagues found themselves in last spring through disputes, has apparently prompted the club managers to make another try. On this occasion it will likely prove successful.

The plan is to allow the Ottawa City League, the Lower Ottawa Hockey Association and the Upper Ottawa Hockey League to organize independently; then to merge them under the one governing body, with which will also be affiliated the Montreal and City League of Montreal, and the Quebec City League. The Art Ross Trophy will be presented as the championship emblem and finalists of the various leagues, if the present plans succeed, will play off at the close of each season to determine the championship and to decide who should defend the Ross Cup. As nearly all these teams are in the bad graces of the Ontario Hockey Association, it is likely that that astute body and its various worshippers will get out the hammer and rap the proposed eastern body, but these are additional reasons, according to local men, why it should succeed. In any event the O.H.A. will be ignored by the Montreal, Ottawa and Quebec clubs. Art Ross may be requested to take the presidency of the new league.

RING GOSSIP.

One of the classiest bouts of the season was put on at the Grande Allee Rink last evening, yet a small crowd attended.

Still Quebecers claim they want to see first-class boys in action.

* * *

Willie Brown is one of the cleverest bantams yet seen here. He would give Eggers or Buick a terrific battle.

* * *

Andrews is a regular "Frankie Conley" for punishment. He is a game boy, and took a hard lacing.

New York, Nov. 10—Benny Leonard, of this city, defeated Stanley Yoakum, of Denver, in a ten round bout here tonight. Leonard was the aggressor throughout, scoring a clean knockdown in the eighth round. Leonard weighed 134 pounds, and Yoakum, 134½.

* * *

Cleveland, O., Nov. 10 — Johnny Ertle, bantam champion claimant, easily disposed of Mickey Byrne, of Cleveland, in their ten round bout here tonight. The fight was stopped in the ninth round to save Byrne from a knockout. Byrne was badly punished throughout.

DARCY CALLED REAL MARVEL

CAPT. RICE DECLARES AUSTRALIAN ONE OF MOST BRILLIANT RING STARS.

Boston, Nov. 10—"Les Darcy is a real fighter; one of the most brilliant that has flashed across the pugilistic horizon for many years."

So says Captain Cushman A. Rice—and "Cappy" knows a real scrapper when he sees one. The retired army officer has seen in action every one of the pugilistic stars of America, Europe and Australia during the past five years. And to the Australian champion he accords the distinction of being a real wonder.

"Darcy knows the fight game," declared Captain Rice. "He is fast, shifty, can take a tremendous lot of punishment—and he surely can hit. Yet Darcy never seems to aim for a one-punch knockout. He cuts his man to ribbons first and then shoots over the crusher.

Darcy's Big Hands.

"The most remarkable thing about Darcy is his hands. I noticed them first when I saw him fight in Sydney, Australia, when I was there last winter. They impressed me as being the hugest I had ever seen. Later he was introduced to me and when we shook hands he practically smothered my right in his. Darcy, you know, was a blacksmith in his earlier youth and I guess they develop huge hands in that trade in Australia."

AT THE VICTORIA THEATRE YESTERDAY WILL BE SHOWN FOR LAST TIME TODAY.

The internationally celebrated dancers, Maurice and Florence Walton in "The Quest of Life," by Edmund Gouding and Gabriel Enthoven Famous Players production.

Monday and Tuesday.

The Reward of Patience, featuring Miss Louise Huff. Many are the difficulties which are encountered by directors and players in the staging of productions, but when the writer of "The Reward of Patience" in which Louise Huff is being featured by the Famous Players on the Paramount programme, decided to surround Miss Huff with a bevy of little children, he placed serious obstacles in the way of Robert G. Vignola, her director. For the picture was in progress during the infantile paralysis epidemic and it was almost impossible for the players to take the children that were needed for the picture outside of New York city, so strict were the regulations of the various health officials.

Wednesday and Thursday.

The startling, sensational love romance of the century, "One Day," in five parts, a sequel to Elinor Glyn's famous "Three Weeks."

Friday and Saturday

Pauline Frederick in "Ashes of Embers." Every one should see these pictures.

SEATS FOR RUSSIAN SYMPHONY ON SALE THIS MORNING

Concert Takes Place Next Thursday at the Auditorium.

When the sale of seats for the Russian Symphony opens this morning at the Auditorium it is expected it will be as big a rush as was the case for the grand opera week, proportionally, of course. There has been extraordinary interest manifested everywhere in town about this coming concert and the management has not the slightest doubt that the theatre will be filled to the doors on Thursday night. In fact only a packed house can bring the receipts up to the amount of expenses, which in such a case are enormous, considering that this big organization is brought here for one performance only.

The scale of prices is as follows:—Gallery, 50c; family circle (reserved) 75c; balcony, $1.00, $1.50 and $2.00; orchestra, $2.00 and $2.50.

It will be agreeable news to music lovers to know that Mr. Altschuler who had been requested to play the Tsckaikowsky Pathetique Symphony in Quebec has gracefully consented to put this great masterpiece on his Quebec programme. It is admitted as one of the finest symphonic works.

Resinol Soap

cleared mine completely

Many and many a girl has a clear, healthy complexion today because some friend came to her with that sound advice. Resinol Soap not only is delightfully cleansing and refreshing, but its daily use reduces the tendency to pimples, offsets many ill-effects of cosmetics, and gives nature the chance she needs to make red, rough skins white and soft.

If the skin is in bad shape, through neglect or improper treatment, a little Resinol Ointment should at first be used with the Resinol Soap, to hasten the return to normal conditions. Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment are sold by all druggists. For free samples, write to Dept. 3-N, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

"MIRACLE MAN'S" CAREER CHECKED

ALLEGED HEALER PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE OF PRACTISING MEDICINE WITHOUT LICENSE

The New York Herald, Thursday—Armando Dominguez, the Puerto Rican whose fame as the "Miracle Man" has been spread broadcast throughout the United States, Mexico, Puerto Rica and the Philippine Islands by magazine articles and press accounts of his alleged healing activities, changed his plea of not guilty to guilty yesterday before Judge Willis and was given a sentence of six months in the County Jail for practising medicine without a license, says the Los Angeles (Cal.,) Times. The sentence was suspended on condition that he cease violating the statues and give up his Latin clientele.

The case has been watched with interest not only locally but everywhere Dominguez has "practised," and espacially in San Bernadino and Mendocino counties, where hundreds of apparently miraculous cures have been attributed to the dark-skinned healer. His conviction is regarded by the State Medical Board as a signal victory since previous prosecutions of "Dr." Dominguez have resulted disastrously for the medical board.

In June, 1915, the "miracle man" was arrested in Chino for practicing without a license and was tried before a jury in the Superior Court at San Bernardino. Notwithstanding the records showed and the defendant admitted that he had no State license, the defense introduced evidence showing that he had cured the blind and made the lame walk, and the jury returned a verdict of not guilty, holding that he had a "divine license which was manifest and inalienable."

Secure in his divine right," the Puerto Rican healer continued to practice among the dark-skinned laborers of San Bernardino county without further molestation for practically a year. Then he crossed the county line and the Los Angeles county authorities arrested him at Puente about three months ago.

The feeling in San Bernardino county was intense during the previous trial and sensational scenes were enacted in the Superior Court when witness after witness took the stand and testified in behalf of the "medicine man." When Hellilano Moreno, wife of a Mexican laborer, took the stand her four-year-old son Jose sat in her lap and gazed at the judge through eyes which his mother swore had been sightless for three years before Dominguez saw him.

The two-year-old daughter of J. D. Hernandex was also an exhibit, and, according to witnesses, had been blind the first eighteen months of her life, notwithstanding medical treatment from a score or more eye specialists. Dominguez, the witness testified, had cured her with one treatment. After more of the same testimony regarding other patients the judge practically instructed the jury to bring in a "not guilty" verdict.

Since the Los Angeles authorities arrested Dominguez papers in Puente and Chino have attacked the medical board editorially and written columns commending the work of the "miracle man."

It is stated that in his "practice" Dominguez has never charged a fee. He is about thirty years of age, the son of a native druggist in Puerto Rico. He was once an attendant in the Government's hospital at Manila

GROWTH IN THE WEST.

Urban Increases Have Given Way Before War Conditions.

A preliminary return of the results of the quinquennial census of the Prairie Provinces, taken last June, gives the population of cities, towns, and villages in the three Provinces. In all but a few cases increases are shown, although the growth of urban population has not been nearly so great as was the case during the boom times of the two previous five1year periods. In the list given out recently Swift Current, for which the count is not yet compiled, is omitted, and all figures are subject to final revision. The total gain in population of the thirty cities and towns enumerated is approximately ninety thousand, as compared with a gain of over 150,000 between 1906 and 1911.

Winnipeg, the largest city in the middle west, increased its population from 136,035 in 1911 to 162,999 in 1816, being a gain of 26,964, or nearly 20 per cent., in five years. For the ten years 1906 to 1916 Winnipeg shows a increase of 72,852, or more than 80 per cent.

In Saskatchewan, Regina leads with 26,112, although a decrease of 4,108 has taken place. Both Saskatoon and Moose Jaw show material gains since 1911.

In Alberto, Calgary still stands first with a population of 56,353, followed by Edmonton with 53,792. Of the population of the latter 12,420 represents that of the former city of Strathcona, now municipally part of the Provincial capital. In 1911 Strathcona had a population of 5,379, and in 1906 one of 1,500.

QUEBEC SCRAP METAL & PAPER CO. Limited

14 ST. ROCH STREET - - - - - QUEBEC.

With a quarter just closed, the reports of the U. S. Steel Corporation shows the most wonderful three months in the history of this great company.

As steel is generally considered the barometer of Wall Street, it is likely that all manufacturing concerns are on the threshold of a tremendous boom.

Among American industrious the automobile business first feels the effects of prosperity.

Wise automobile manufacturers will capitalize this prosperity by setting aside a generous portion of their present profits to further established the good name of their cars in the minds of the public. "Those cars which will be most favorably known in years to come will be those whose makers have the foresight to advertise heavily now", says Allen Grant, former advertising manager of the Maxwell--Briscoe Company.

Continuing, Mr. Grant points out that the opportunity to enter the automobile business is particularly bright for the young man in the small town or city. That this is so must be evident when it is known that over 75 per cent of the automobiles made are sold into rural districts, and country boys are now finding out that driving an auto is more exciting than following a plow

The word "Chauffeur" has become a magical one in many rural districts Country boys are relizing more and more that the life of an automobile driver opens new fields—not grain and vegetable fields—but new experiences, sights and pleasures.

The adoption of the automobile for business purposes opens new fields for young men. Even the truck driver of today must keep up with the times, because the sturdy horse is fast giving way to the motor, and his driver must hustle for some knowledge of automobiles, if he would keep his job.

The opportunities will be even greater in the future, according to Mr. Grant, who believe that with the good roads movement now being agitated in the South, this section will absorb as many cars as the West does at present. During a three months' tour of the Middle West, Mr. Grant was so struck by the chanced afforded to young men in the automobile business that he has prepared a booklet for free distribution, explaining how any young man without previous experience can qualify to enter this fast growing industry. A copy may be had by addressing him at Tarrytown, N. Y.

* * *

Probably few outside of the automobile trade realize that British South America is beginning to absorb a large number of American built machines. Since the war, it has been practically impossible to buy foreign cars British South America, and this has turned the British South American farmer to the popular priced American car, which has done his work so well that it is unlikely that the foreign expensive car will ever regain the prestige that it once enjoyed.

Among the cars that are selling well in South America might be mentionned the Ford, Maxwell, Overland Buick, Studebaker, Dodge, ets.

Just what this market holds in the future for American Automobile Manufasturers is an unknown factor.

There are probably less than 16,000 cars in British South America, to-day.

There are three reasons which account for this small number. First, poor roads; second, high cost of gasoline, nearly 75c a gallon; third, lack of advertising mediums

It is not so many years ago that the familiar cry of "get a horse" was heard on every side In a few short years American Automobile manufacturers, by newspaper advertising, farm paper advertising, and general publicity, have educated the general public to the necessity of the modern automobile.

There is still a good deal of this kind of missionary work to be done in British South America, but American automobile manufacturers know what advertising means have accomplished for the automobile in country, and it is probable that when the time is ripe, they will pursue the same educational campaign in British South America.

MORE YOUNG MEN WANTED IN THE AUTOMOBILE BUSINESS.

The time has passed where an ignorant, reckless fellow can learn to start and steer a car, don in a leather suit and imposing air, expect to hold a place as a successful chauffeur. The requirements of the occupation have been raised and are constantly growing higher He must now have real ability and honesty or fail.

The chauffeur occupies a very important position: first, because of the responsible nature of his work; second, because his work throws him into somewhat intimate contact with his employer and his family He is not a servant on the one hand, nor a companion on the other. He is expected to be skilled, well trained, competent, gentlemanly employee His function is to drive with care, to make adjustments, to know when he needs important repairs and to have them made with economy; in general to see that his car operates with the greatest degree of efficiency and economy. Those who follow the more purely mechanical branches of the automobile business—the assemblers, the testers, repairmen, inspectors, etc, must not only be industrious and of good character, but also must possess a complete knowledge of automobile construction and operation. Men with these qualities are in demand at splendid salaries. This little talk applies to chauffeurs and garage men specialy but owners and prospective buyers should also have a good knowledge of automobile and its mechanism. The average owner of an automobile begins to operate his car with only a slight knowledge of its mechanism. The salesman who sold him the car taught him as much as his time would permit, but the rest of his knowledge he has to get by experience and experience is a high-priced teacher.

Many cases where owners have damaged their Cars to an amount of several times the price of an Automobile course because of ignorance of mechanism. Some little arrangement, slight at first, was allowed to grow until large damage was done and correspondingly a large repair bill occurred. Such is the price of not knowing how and why. This being the case why not take a good practical course in Automobile and its Mechanisim and not be worried by the least little noise that you hear in your engine for you will know what the trouble is, where it is and how to repair it.

CHAMPION SPARK PLUG PUBLICITY.

One of the interesting items revealed in a recent investigation concerning automobile accessory output is the fact that four out of five of all the motor cars manufactured in the United States and Canada are equipped with Champion Spark Plugs, made by the Champion Spark Plug Company, of Toledo, Ohio. In less than six years, the Toledo concern has risen from the very bottom until to-day it is the largest spark plug institution in the world.

R. A. Stranahan, president of the Champion Spark Plug Company, declares there is no secret responsible for the remarkable prosperity of his company. "Our success is due only to the vast demand for gasoline engines, both of the marine and automobile type, and the fact that we turn out an accessory which is absolutely efficient," he says.

When the Champion Spark Plug Company located in Toledo in 1910, the average production for that year was 2,000 plugs a week. To-day the plant is turning out more than 50,000 each day and even this vast production is said to be less than the demand. A new addition to the factory has just been completed which adds 60,000 more square feet to the factory's floor space and will give the company facilities for doubling its present enormous output.

One of the latest products of the Champion organization is a Champion Priming Plug, especially adapted for winter driving As every one acquainted with an automobile knows, cold weather starting is simply a matter of the first few explosions. The one positive way of getting those first few explosions is to put the gas right at the spark The Champion Priming Plugs, it is claimed, enable one to get the gas right at that point more quickly and neatly than any other method. The Priming Plugs carry the same guarantee which accompanies the Champion Spark Plugs.

By John N. Willys, President, Willys-Overland Limited.

Before the automobile industry had attained its present development the open season for selling cars was confined almost entirely to the summer months. A salesman, in order to sell a car after the first cold snap of winter, had to be endowed with an unusual amount persuasive power.

Automobiles at that time were looked upon as fair weather vehicles, to be used only when the sun was shining and to be stored away in a garage when cold weather set in. From April to November was the harvest time for manufacturers, after which there was nothing much left to do but take inventory and prepare for the next spring campaign.

But with the advent of electric lights and starting devices, motorists began to show more enthusiasm about winter travel It was a great relief to be able to light up the car without having to fuss around with matches in the cold. And the self-starter eliminated the back-breaking efforts that proved so objectionable to the old system of cranking the car by hand

Improvements followed in rapid order and with each new development the motor car was made more practical for winter driving. The weight of the car was reduced. Motors were made more dependable. Demountable rims enabled the driver to change a tire without the assistance of a corps of men. The simple construction and ease of operation of the modern car has made thousands of converts to the army of winter motorists.

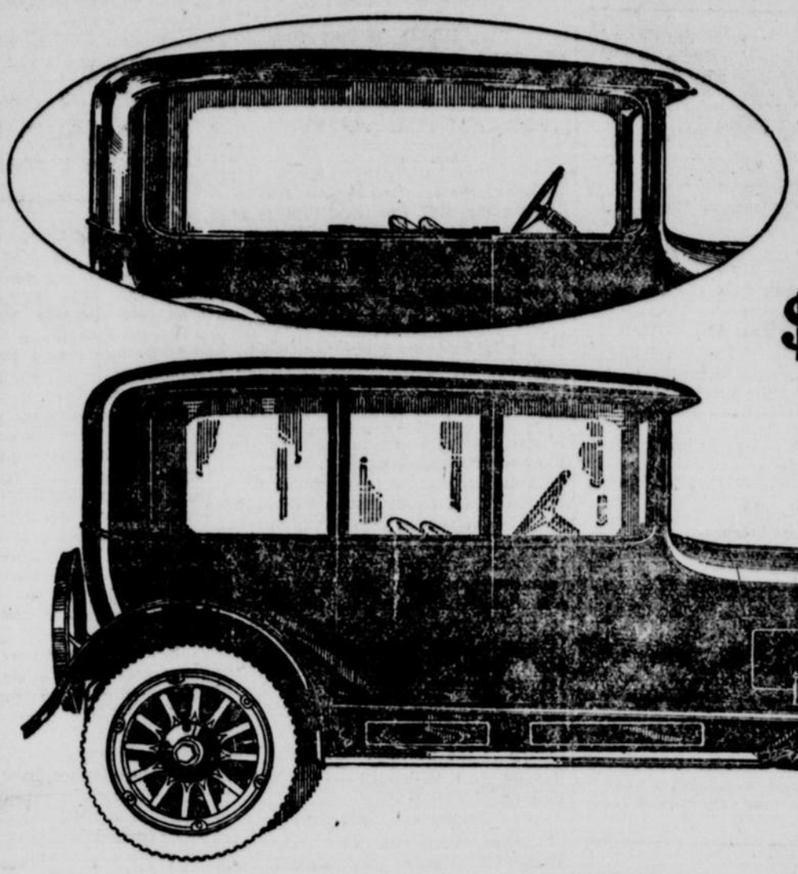

Closed cars, such as the Willys-Knight coupe and limousine, have accomplished wonders towards popularizing the motor car for winter use. Though not in demand in such large numbers as the open touring car, the closed body type have become a big factor in the business of every automobile manufacturer.

SHROUDED MIND SEES FAINT LIGHT

WHETHER MAN REGAINS HIS PLACE IN LIFE DEPENDS ON RESULT OF OPERATION.

Can a man—separated by the width of a continent and the legal machinery of the law—be reunited to his family through the achievements of medical science? asks the New York Herold.

Six years ago James Rice, a prosperous oil well contractor, was the father and husband of an affectionate family in Butler, Pa. Today he is in the Los Angeles County Farm, his former life blotted from his memory, while between him and his past stretch the unending miles of eternity.

While riding in an automobile near his eastern home one day the machine was wrecked and Rice was severely injured about the head. Apparently, he soon recovered. Soon his associates began to suspect something was wrong. Rice no longer evinced any interest in his work, family cares had no interest for him, his mind seemed to wander like that of a small child. Then one day he disappeared and for many months his family searched for him in vain. At length, believing she had been deserted, his wife obtained a divorce.

Rice, meanwhile, was a wanderer upon the face of the earth. Like the "Wandering Jew," he passed from one community to another, living only in the past, for his mind was shrouded in darkness and he had slipped back into childhood.

Many sympathetic persons interested themselves in the simple kindly old man. They gave him food and clothing and offered him work. Always willing to do the tasks assigned, Rice would manfully tackle any work given him, then, as a small child tires of a toy, he would forsake his work and trudge on to another community.

Five years passed in this manner, and at length he came to Los Angeles. Reduced to charity, he was taken in charge by the county.

From the first he was a puzzle to the medical department, who, though they had experienced many forms of mental aberration, had never found one like this. While apparently mildly insane, he would relate at times details of his past in a lucid manner. He repeatedly mentioned the name of Butler, in connection with his family. Medical men who observed him noted he had a curious manner of rubbing his head in a certain place, on which were the remains of a scar. They concluded he had been injured and that a bone fragment of the skull was pressing down upon the delicate brain tissue beneath.

The repeated mention of Butler, the authorities concluded, must mean the place in which he formerly had lived. There are many towns of that name in the United States, and some time elapsed before an answer was received from Pennsylvania, stating that a James Rice formerly had lived there, and that he had disappeared.

To questions of his former life Rice's answers were vague. Seemingly he recalled his past only in the dim, uncertain way that a man reviews the events of a strange dream, the details of which he cannot recall, though the overpowering sense of it remains. One of the puzzling phases of his strange, waking sleep, is that events which cover month and even years take place within a few moments, in so far as he is concerned. While he can discuss details of the past, when they are recalled to him, his intelligence ceases there.. Home ties, the love he bore his family, his responsibility to them and to society, all have ceased to have a meaning to him, for the human element is locked within the recesses of his clouded soul.

Butler, Pa., is but a few days' journey from the Los Angeles County Farm, yet between James Rice and his past life there is a vast gulf. And yet if the operation which the scientists are contemplating proves successful, Rice will emerge from his "Rip Van Winkle" sleep to take his place in life at the point where, years ago, his intelligence slipped down into darkness.

HOW FAT FOLKS MAY BECOME THIN.

By Elizabeth Thomas.

Perhaps you are suddenly becoming stout, or it may be that you have been putting on weight for years. In either case the cause is the same—lack of oxygen-carrying power of the blood. This trouble occurs in adults of both sexes and all ages, but it may be overcome very easily and without any of the privations that most people imagine necessary to reduce their weight.

Simply go to your druggist and get some oil of orilene capsules. Take one after each meal and one before going to bed. Weigh yourself so as to know just how fast you are losing weight. Wonderful results have been accomplished by this inexpensive recipe, but be sure to get the genuine oil of orilene in capsule form. It is sold only in original sealed packages. Any large druggist can supply you, or a large size box will be sent on receipt of $1.00, postal note or money order. Address D. J. Little Drug Co., Box 1240, Montreal, Can.

IN DAMP WEATHER.

Precautions to Be Taken by the Housewife.

A little while ago two young housewives were condoling with each other over the prolonged season of humidity and dampness.

"We can't get a single bureau drawer closed' said one. "And last night when I wanted to get out the very best table linen I own for an unexpected dinner guest we couldn't get the linen drawer open, and instead of showing off my best, we had to use paper napkins."

"We're in a worse state,"said the other. "Finally after much pulling I got a bureau drawer all the way out, and now I keep it ponped up on two chairs because I can't get it in again.

Summer dampness is really hard to guard against. It is sure to come every year. The weather is too warm to permit fires which might restore the house to a comfortable dryness, and as the dampness is only temporary not very much can be done to furniture or inside fixtures. It is a temptation to have the spreading drawers and doors planed off a little, but to do so is a mistake for the return of heat and dry weather will cause them to shrink back to their normal proportions. If they are planed off now they will let in most unpleasant draughts and dust later.

Perhaps no one thing about damp weather is more distressing than the condition it inflicts on the salt cellar If the salt cellar or shakers are emptied after each meal and thoroughly dried in a warming oven, and refilled just before the next meal, the salt will still be moist and sticky when it is used. One of the hotels at the seashore where dampness is inevitable keeps inverted water glasses over the salt dishes. Of course it is a little bit inconvenient to lift up a glass whenever you wish to get a spoonful of salt, but the results do make for dryness. Grains of uncooked rice can be mixed with salt used in shaking with rather satisfactory results.

Probably the fact that there is much greater humidity in England than in this country in part accounts for the fact that open cellars are always used there and that "salt shakers" are regarded as decided ... icanism. The obvious advantage of shakers is that in them the salt is kept free from dust and contact with the air, but in times of dampness one is tempted to use the English cellars, from which salt may be taken by means of a salt spoon so much more easily than it can be shaken out when it has absorbed a good share of moisture

WILLYS-OVERLAND LIMITED.

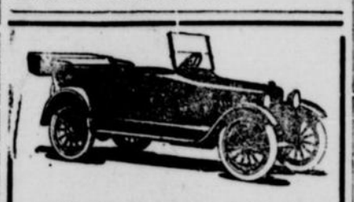

(By John N. Willys, President.

The users of automobiles are probably the greater of all motor salesmen.

Without their influence and hearty support, any automobile manufacturer might just as well close up shop and go home. He doesn't even have to worry about locking the doors, because if a motor car isn't a success, nobody wants it.

On the other hand, people continue to buy a certain make of motor car year after year, and recommend it to others, simply because it gives satisfactory service. Millions of dollars are spent in advertising and backed up by the most expert salesmanship, could not sell it otherwise. Today, there are more than two hundred thousand Overlands traversing the roads of the world. The producer of no other commodity is so entirely dependent upon his product for success of his business as the automobile manufacturer. The cars which he sends out of his factory carry his reputation with them and if they fail to "make good" in the hands of users, the manufacturer's reputation and success are either entirely destroyed or greatly impaired.

Inherent quality and satisfactory performance sold every one of these thousands of Overlands and is keeping them running day after day. And the big additions which are being made to the Overland factory to provide greatly increased manufacturing facilties, are imposing indications of the constantly growing demand for Overland cars

TALES OF A "TANK" BY ONE OF ITS CREW

AUSTRALIAN DESCRIBES SENSATIONS OF FIGHTING INSIDE A BULLET-PROOF HIDE.

London, Nov. 10—The week's work of a "tank" on the Somme front is told in the diary of a young Australian who was wounded while serving with one of these new engines of war. The Manchester Guardian prints the extracts from the diary, which follow:

"Out for the first time. Strange sensation. Worse than being in a submarine. At first unable to see anything, but imagined a lot. Bullets began to rain like hailstones on a galvanized roof at first; then like a series of hammer blows. We passed through it all unscathed. Suddenly we gave a terrible lurch. I thought we were booked through. Lookout said we were astride an enemy trench. 'Give them hell!' was the order. We gave them it. Our guns raked and swept trenches right and left.

"Got a peep at frightened Huns. It was grimly humorous. They tried to bolt like scared rabbits, but were shot down in bunches before getting to their burrows. Machine guns brought forward. Started vivious rattle on our 'hide.' Not the least impression was made. Shells began to burst. We moved on and overtook some more frightened Huns. Cut their ranks to ribbons with our fire. They ran like men possessed. Officers tried to rally them. They waited our coming for a while. As soon as our guns began to spit at them they were off once more. Infantry rounded them up and survivors surrendered. Very curious about us. Stood open-mouthed and wide-eyed watching, but weren't much the wiser.

"Experience was not altogether pleasant at first. 'Tank' sickness is as bad as seasickness until you get used to them.

"Tuesday—Off for another cruise. Pepperng begun at once. Thought old thing was going to be drowned in shower of bullets. Things quieted down quickly. Silly blighters though they could rush the tank like they would a fort. Dashed up from all sides. We fired at them point-blank. Devilish plucky chaps, some of them, for all their madness. The survivors had another try. We spat at them venomously. More of them went down.

"Suddenly a jolt, and our hearts jolted in our mouths in sympathy. Nothing doing in the mishap line. Only some unwonted obstacle. Heavier 'strumming' on our keyboard outside, and more regular. Machine guns at it now. Straddled on as though we liked it. A tremendous thud. The whole outfit seemed done for. Nearly jumped out of my skin. Looked at each other and wondered what it was. Still a roof over our heads, thank God. Thought we had got on the rocky road to Dublin, but it was only another Hun trench. Our 'spitting devils' opened fire and swept the trench clear of the enemy right and left. Some Huns tried the rushing dodge. Their rushing days are over.

"Wednesday—Early start. Roughest voyage yet. Waves of fire seemed to break over us. Tremendous crash. Then another, and several others at intervals. Silence for a time. Party of Huns come to meet us outside the village. Very stout gentleman in front. Thought it was the mayor and village big pots to give us a civic reception, but not as we understood the word. Let fly with machine guns. Then tried silly boarding tactics. We laughed. Our guns answered theirs. Tank Reception Committee dispersed in a cloud of smoke and flame; no trailing clouds of glory. Fat old gentleman only visible member of deputation. Stood open-mouthed. Purple with rage. Tank bore down. Old gent started to run. Funnier than a sack race. Old gent flung himself to earth with many signs of surrender.

"Thursday.—Got into the village and passed down between two irregular rows of wrecked houses. Hundreds of Huns came rushing up from cellars and from behind ruins to see us. Some had eyes startling out of head. Looked surprised and even frightened. One blighter made a rush at us with a clubbed rifle. Made a terrible swipe at the tank. Smashed his rifle, and made a nasty noise on our roof. Hurt himself more than he hurt us. Off for a joyride after some nice Huns who took to flight as we came up.

"Friday.—Early afloat. Usual showers of bullets and a few shells on the way. Got right across a trench. Made the sparks fly. Went along parapet routing out Huns everywhere Enemy terrified. Tried to run, but couldn't keep it up under our fire. Threw up the sponge, and surrendered in batches. One cheeky fellow said he didn't think it fair to fight with such things. We said that was our affair, and we could stand the racket Germany cared to make over it. Asked one chap if he thought we should have got permission from the Kaiser before using them. Didn't see the joke. Took about 200 prisoners. Killed and wounded as many more. Tired our when through.

"Saturday.—On the move before breakfast. Terrible crash first go-off. Thought we had collided with a wandering world. Weathered the storm. Got busy on enemy trenches. Rare good sport. Enemy tried a surprise for infantry—Yorkshire men—advancing to attack. We tried a surprise, too, and ours came off first. Huns weren't pleased. Didn't think it was playing the game, according to Potsdam rules. We waddled into their ambush for the attacking troops. Never saw men so frightened. Fled panic-stricken in all directions. Only a few chaps stayed behind and tried to stop us by machine-gun fire. Smashed them to bits, and left their machine guns to be picked up by the Yorkshire men they hoped to surprise.

"Went snorting after the enemy wherever we could find them. Their losses were terrible. Later strong detachments tried to make their way back supported by big guns. Lined up across the road and gave them hot time. Every time they tried to rush through we ripped their ranks to bits. At last they gave it up. Very wise of them.

"Sunday.—Good work of frightening Huns continued. Better day, better deed. Fritz didn't think that. Blighters opened rifle fire on us at 200 yards. It went like water off a duck's back. Fritz couldn't take it out. Kept up the fire, but got a bit nervy as the blessed old thing kept waddling up to him. Ladled out death as you might vamp out indifferent music from a hurdy-gurdy. Fritz got fits. No fight left in him. Prisoners scared to death. Some of them acted as though they believed that we used our tanks for making sausages out of prisoners. We had a lot of trouble explaining that once they surrendered they were safe.

"Finished an exciting week. Got plenty of fun, but one wants a good rest after a spell with a tank."

To Get Rid of Wrinkles and Bad Complexions

It is more important now than during the period of profuse perspiration, to keep the pores clean. All cosmetics clog the pores. In cool weather this interferes greatly with elimination of waste material, injuring instead of aiding the complexion. Ordinary mercolized wax serves all the purposes of creams, powders and rouges, giving far better results. It actually peels off an offensive skin, at the same time unclogging the pores. Minute particles of scarf skin come off day by day, causing not the least discomfort. Gradually the healthy, younger skin beneath peeps out, and in less than a fortnight you have a lovelier complexion than you ever dreamed of acquiring. Mercolized wax, obtainable at any drugstore, is spread on nightly like cold cream and washed off mornings. One ounce usually suffices.

For removing wrinkles, without stopping the pores with pasty stuff, here's a never-failing formula: One ounce powdered saxolite, dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Bathe the face in this daily for awhile; every line will vanish completely. Even the first application gives surprising results.

WAR REDEEMS ANOTHER MAN

KING GEORGE'S DISMISSED CHAPLAIN MAKES GOOD IN FOREIGN LEGION.

New York, Nov. 10.—The Evening World today says:

Another man has emerged from the European war purged of disgrace according to information received today. Frederick P. Farrar, of the French Foreign Legion, has been decorated for valor in the field and acclaimed for conspicuous gallantry.

He disappeared five years ago after his many friends here and in England learned that, as the Rev. Dr. Frederick Percival Farrar, rector of Sandringham, domestic chaplain to King George and honorary chaplain to Queen Alexandra, Queen Dawager of Great Britain, he had been dismissed from his court posts. He had not been heard of since in the United States or England, until a few days ago.

For a year he has been fighting in the Foreign Legion, but it is not known under what name. His persistent courage finally drew attention to him. In addition to other honors, it is understood, he was offered a commission in the British army by the King, but declined, preferring to fight in the ranks with his present comrades.

The former rector's wife was Miss Nora Davis, of Philadelphia, a sister of the late Richard Harding Davis. He had met her when he was a Philadelphia newspaper reporter, and they had been married only five months when his disgrace came.

Farrar is a son of the late Canon Farrar, author of the famous "Life of Christ."

He was graduated from Cambridge in 1897, and in 1907 he succeeded to the rectorship of Sandringham. Many celebrities were at his marriage at St. Andrew's, Westminster, to Miss Davis.

Then suddenly it was reported he was suspected of an offense that made the retention of his high office impossible. He is said to have refused to resign when asked. The next day he disappeared. It was reported later he was in British Columbia.

THEY CARRY LIVES IN THEIR HANDS.

Bombers really carry their lives in their hands. The Mills bomb, with its pineapple-like exterior, is a dangerous weapon. To use it successfully against an enemy, and at the same time guard against mishaps, requires special knowledge and training.

The British soldier takes naturally to bombing— that is, the offensive part, of attacking and hurling the missiles.

The Mills bomb is fused by releasing a spring, after which it takes a certain number of seconds to explode. It would, therefore, obviously be useless to release the spring and hurl it into the midst of an onrushing foe if it bursts some seconds later. To get the best results it is necessary to retain the bomb in the hand for as many seconds as will allow it to explode just as it reaches its objective. This, needless to say, requires cool judgment, practice, and iron nerves.

It is dawn. The air is damp with the white morning mist, through which the enemy's lines loom hazily from the British trench. Occasional rifle shots from either position are the only sounds of life—and strife.

Suddenly at a prearranged signal, forms creep out over the British parapet and down the sloping face. Then with bent bodies they move silently in an unending line towards the Hun trenches.

The attacking force gets to within a hundred yards of its objective before hoarse shouts, quickly followed by rifle and machine-gun fire, proclaim it is discovered. Simultaneously the khaki line dashes forward. Men fall on all sides with such regularity that it appears as though they were enacting some special drill. But the onrushing wave, gathering impetus every instant, rolls relentlessly forward.

The burst of Boche rifle fire increases in volume, then dwindles away as, with a cheer, the British surge into the trench.

Even before the resistance of the garrison has been overcome the Germans from their support trench a hundred yards away open a heavy rifle and machine-gun fire. To advance farther at present across the open would be impossible. It is now that the bombers' real work begins, and groups of them immediately dash for the communication trenches which connect the captured position with that held by the enemy. Then ensues a regular duel, Boche and Britisher hurling bomb for bomb. At last one from the enemy falls in the trench right among the men behind him and bursts.

The "thrower" swings around and takes in the situation in a glance.

"Get them out of range," he says to an apparently uninjured man, "then fetch me supports. Ah!"

The last ejaculation is drawn from him as he makes a sudden clutch at an object which would have fallen on the helpless men, catches it, and hurls it away. It bursts almost immediately in the air, though harmlessly.

A few moments later he is alone, stolidly continuing his duel. Guttural shouts from the right cause him to glance over the parapet and he perceives the Germans are counter-attacking. The same glance also shows the form of a Hun crawling, Mauser pistol in hand, towards him. There is no time to bomb him in the ordinary way, yet he picks one up and poises it. As the Hun's head shows over the parapet he hurls it as he would a ball at the wicket to stop a short run.

The Hun is "out."

But the bomber is not out of the wood yet. He hears heavy steps approaching down the trench. He snatches another bomb, extracts the pin, and holds it.

"One, two, three, four . . ." he counts, and the sounds of his approaching enemy rapidly draw nearer as he does so. Then just tossing the bomb around the corner, he draws back with the satisfied smile of a specialist.

The bomb, bursting on the instant, is followed by groans.

Then a British cheer proclaims that not only has the counter-attack of the Huns been defeated, but that they are being hunted back to their trench.

To Cure Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can be successfully treated at home by an internal remedy that in many instances has effected a complete cure after all else has failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear.

Therefore, if you know someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrh, or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them, and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home, and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home, and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose should begin to relieve the distressing head noises, headache, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat, are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are often entirely overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are said to be directly caused by catarrh, therefore, there must be many people whose hearing can be restored by this simple home treatment.

Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness or catarrh in any form, should give this prescription a trial.

Important Note: In ordering Parmint always specify that you want double strength. Your druggist has it or he can easily get it for you. If not send 75c. postal note or money order to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine St., Montreal, Que., Can., and they will supply you.

THE SPREAD OF WEEDS.

New Farmers Are Forgetting Old Quarantine Methods.

Mr. R. Y. Griffiths of Grey county, writing in Farm and Dairy, says that for twenty-five years a pest of mustard was confined to two farms in his neighbourhood. These farms had become infested in the early days. They were owned by men who did not live in the neighborhood, and for years were the only rented farms within several miles. For these reasons they had become very badly contaminated, and at a certain season of the year each was a yellow flower garden. But these farms were under an informal quarantine. "The tenants had to wait for the threshing machines until the end of the season, and after the threshing was done the machines were always run empty for half an hour so that all the seeds would be shaken out. The local miller would not chop grain from those forms for fear of losing the custom of good farmers. As long as these precaurtions were taken the mustard never spread beyond the line fences of the contaminated farms.

"Of late years no such care has been exercised, with the result that the mustard has now spread largely throughout the neighborhood. It broke through the line about fifteen years ago when the farmers started moving away and selling their farms. The new owners were not so careful of the land as the men and the sons of the men who cleared it. They would take the threshing machine whenever they could get it, with the result that the mustard soon got a start and is now found on half the farms of the neighborhood. Not only that, but other weeds equally bad have gained a foothold, and with the scarcity of labor and the rush of work have been neglected. Once the farmers got accustomed to the sight of weeds in the fields they seemed to become careless whether they spread or not. The result is that they are spreading and spreading fast.

"If you were to ask me what is the root cause of the spread of weeds in this neighborhood I would say that it is far deeper than our good friends, the agricultural advisers, seem to think. It is the policy adopted in this country years ago of building up city industries at the expense of agriculture, as a result of which farming became less attractive to our young men than work in the cities. When the farm boys began to leave the farms began passing out of the possession of the families founded by the old stalwarts who cleared the land and handed it down to their sons. There is nothing like the same pride taken in keeping the land free from weeds and in good condition by the new owners as was taken by those whose fathers hewed out the farms from the wilderness. That pride was the very soul of the agriculture of this district as practised twenty years ago. Had farming received as much encouragement as other and less important industries there is every reason to believe that most of the farms would now be in the possession of the descendants of the old pioneers, and that these men would be taking as much pride in keeping them clean as their fathers and grandfathers did."

We know other Machines! Autos Engines, etc

Why not our own Body Machine?

We study and admire the machinery invented by man, and too often overlook and neglect that most marvellous machine—the human body.

To understand and take care of the heart, lungs and liver; the arteries and veins, the skin, the teeth, the eyes and all the intricate machinery of the body, is no small task.

But, unlike any other machine, the body replaces its own wear and waste, and, consequently, the most attention required is that which has to do with the organs of digestion and excretion.

So long as proper food is supplied for nourishment and the liver, kidneys and bowels are regular in their work of eliminating poisonous waste matter from the system, the great majority of human ills are avoided.

In this connection Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are appreciated on account of their promptness and efficiency in arousing the action of these filtering and excretory organs, and thereby removing such disorders as liver complaint, biliousness, constipation, indigestion, kidney disease and backache. With these organs in healthful action there is no such thing as Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries and rheumatism.

INSECT TRAVELERS.

Moths, Butterflies and Beetles Make Long Distance Journeys.

Mr. William Evans, a Scottish naturalist, who has made a lifelong study of the fauna of Scotland, obtained from a dozen Scottish lighthouses 241 specimens of insects, which include two butterflies, 159 wings, forty diptera, ten beetles and worms, forty diptera, ten bettles and a dozen other species. Most of the specimens were males. To reach the Isle of May, in the Firth of Forth, where Mr. Evans collected most of the insects, many of the specimens must have flows across several miles of sea.

In his records Mr. Evans calls attention to several other extraordinary flights of insects.

Thus, the "painted lady," or thistle buttterfly (Pyrameis cardui), has been known to cross the Alps; the red admiral butterfly (Vanessa atalanta) has landed in numbers on the deck of a vessel 500 miles from the coast of England; the common white butterflies cross the English channel in clouds; the famous milkweed butterfly (Danias archippus,) abundant everywhere in the United States, is said to make the 2,000 mile journey from California to the Hawaiian Islands and has gradually progressed by way of the south sea islands as far as Australia.

A death's head moth has boarded a steamer 200 miles off the Cape Verde islands. Clouds of ladybirds miles in extent, so that they resembled smoke from a steamer, have been seen at sea. A swarm of locusts that passed over the Red Sea in 1889 is said to have extended over 2,000 square miles, and it was estimated to weigh 42,850,000,000 tons!

SAID BUGS DROVE HIM FROM HOUSE

JUDGE FINDS THAT ONLY TWO OF THESE "ANIMALS" WERE SEEN.

Scientists call the house or bed bug a Clibex lectularius, or something like that. Mr. Justice Greenshields calls it an "animal." W. S. Simms calls it a nuisance. An on that basis Mr. Simms asked the judge to sanction the quick order in which he removed his family and all their belongings from a house in Outremont avenue, two days after entering into possession, and at the same time dismiss the action of the landlord, T. Morin, who sought to have the two-day's tenant condemned in the Superior Court to pay six months' rent —$165 in all.

Justice Greenshields in a Montreal Court the other day declined to accede to Mr. Simms' plea, but gave judgment in favor of the landlord for the full amount claimed, his Lordship based his decision on the following considerations:

"That on February 14, 1916, defendant and his wife visited the house at least twice, examined the same, and afterwards signed the lease, declaring themselves satisfied;

"That, on April 28 following, they took possession of the house and occupied it until some time on May 1;

"That during the said period the defendant saw two bed bugs, one mouse and one cockroach; but—

"That the presence of these four animals is not sufficient to render the said premises uninhabitable."

T. Morin, the plaintiff, in his claim, said that on February 14 last, F. Morin leased to the defendant for a term of twenty-four months, as from May 1, 1916, an apartment on Outremont street, Outremont, at a rental of $27.50 per month. On February 28, F. Morin sold the property to plaintiff. Defendant took possession of the premises on April 28, but he had not paid any rent since. Plaintiff first claimed $27.50 as rent for May, and later made an incidental demand claiming, in addition, rent for June, July, August, September and October, the house being relet in November.

Defendant contested the claims, alleging that the house was uninhabitable because of bad smells, because it was infested with bed bugs and mice, and was not properly ventilated. He said he at once notified the plaintiff that the premises were not habitable and that he would not remain there. Plaintiff, he added, promised to remedy the defects, but did nothing. The condition of the place, he alleged further, brought about the illness of himself and his family, and after entering on April 28 he removed on May 1.

In giving judgment for the plaintiff, Justice Greenshields, in addition to stating the foregoing considerations, said that the evidence of a previous tenant of two years' standing, showed that there had been no bad smells during that period, and no trouble had been experienced from vermin. The defendant had not been advised by his medical adviser to quit the premises, but he decided to move before he consulted his physician. Defendant must pay the demand for $27.50 and the incidental demand for $137.50, with the costs of one action.

PRAISE FOR MRS. HAM FROM Y.W.C.A.

LOCAL BRANCH PAYS TRIBUTE TO WORK SHE HAS ACCOMPLISHED.

The following appreciation of the work accomplished by Mrs. Burrington Ham, the National Port Secretary of the Y.W.C.A., has been written by the officers of the local branch of the Association:

Very few of our friends who are interested in the work of the Young Women's Association realize the extent of the work done in this city. Within the last few years, great strides have been made in many directions. And, as the Association reaches out to help the young women of this city, new problems are constantly arising; problems of very complex character, and very often difficult of solution.

The young women and the girls who come within this radius of influence, are from many walks in life. Their connections with the Association are as difficult as their individual character and needs.

Some of them are more or less independent of the social ministrations of the Association. But very many are in sore need of help, that help which only a thoroughly trained worker along the lines of social service, can afford. In well organized communities such work is a civic undertaking, even where the various participation and charitable societies assist in this work through the help of a united Board.

Though we, as a city, have no such medium of service, the Young W. C. A. stands pledged to help such work to its utmost power. As a port city, Quebec has its own peculiar problems. Yet, just because it is a port city, it has had many months in the year, the unfailing help and sympathy of the Dominion Port Secretary, Mrs. Ham.

Her time is spent unsparingly in her special work at the harbor, when she meets all the incoming and the outgoing passenger steamers, this necessitates her being on duty at any hour of the day or night, but the amount of work that arises out of the individual cases which she meets in her port examinations, leaves little time for outside interests. Despite this, she has been of incalculable assistance to the local Association. On occasions too numerous to mention, she has furnished us with just the right idea, the necessary clue or the needed suggestion. On many a case she has spent hours of her valuable time, and always with the same result—that some one girl or group of girls has at last been reached and understood. From the nature of her work which is not merely local, as some might conclude, but Dominion-wide, she has brought to bear in our interests, an experience that few have had in this line of work.

We all realize that, to the immigrant who touches Canadian soil for the first time, at Quebec, there are many first impressions, and lasting. Not least among these, to the women especially, is their idea of the great Association to which we belong. To be met by a worker like Mrs. Ham, whose tact, courtesy and kindly help are unfailing is a direct comfort to a lonely heart, and a benefit to the local organization.

Out of her vast fund of knowledge to the problems that face young girls, particularly those whose hours of occupation make it difficult for us to reach them through the ordinary services of our work, Mrs. Ham has come forward with suggestions, sane and practical. And, when this newer phase of our social activities is well established, it will be found that many of the basic ideas were contributed by her, during her months in our midst.

We are prone to reflect on these facts, at this time of the year. Within the next few months Mrs. Ham will leave for the winter but only to carry us for the winter, but only to carry on her work in another city. In all her endeavors, whether here or elsewhere, we shall continue to regard her as one of the warmest friends this Association can claim, and we shall look forward with pleasure to her return in the early spring.

TENDING BRITISH GRAVES.

King George took advantage of his recent trip to France to visit some of those sacred spots which are the last resting places of fallen British soldiers. If anything were lacking to cement the sympathies of the French and English it would be supplied by the care with which the French people are tending the graves of the British. Long before the French Government decided to constitute the British burial grounds British territory for all time, the people of France took it upon themselves to tend these graves.

King George, during his recent visit to France, himself saw how this had been done, and specially thanked some of the Maires and cures who had helped. Many burials took place out of consecrated ground, and although the work of transferring buried bodies from casual graves to recognized cemeteries, wherever possible, is proceeding, there remain many graves yet untouched. The British Red Cross Society has caused all these graves to be marked with a permanent cross, and the French people keep them freshly supplied with flowers.

King George had a quick eye for these wayside burial places, and every time he saw one he never failed to raise his hand to salute. Once, standing bareheaded at a nameless grave, he quoted Rupert Brooke's matchless lines:

There's some corner of a foreign field
That is forever England.

REPORTED CANCER CURE.

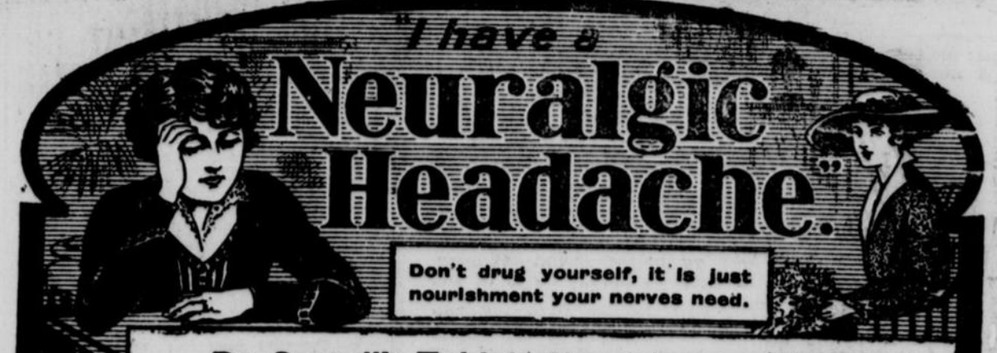

Dr. Robt. Bell, physician in charge of the research department of the Anti-Vivisection Hospital at Battersea, in a recent report described some remarkable success in the treatment of apparently hopeless cancer cases. Unfortunately, the war has caused the closing of the wards in the Cancer Department.

"Notwithstanding this, considerable success has crowned our efforts, and where absolute cures have not been recorded it has invariably been our pivilege to afford considerable relief," says the report.

Dr. Bell instanced seven patients, all of whom had previously been informed that their disease was cancer, and that their only hope lay in operation. "By assisting Nature's efforts, however," it was added, "it has afforder me the greatest pleasure to have been enabled to give to each and all of them a clean bill of health."

The doctor commended upon the importanc of diet, and said that they gave the patients tablets containing the active principle of the thyroid gland, which acted in combination with the active principles of the various glands. The glands were subject to attack in cases of cancer, and the object was to pacify them.

One woman who was regarded as in a perfectly hopeless state was now quite well, but the doctor added that cures were rare.

Dr. Cassell's Tablets Nourish your Nerves.

Neuralgia and Neuralgic Headache simply indicate that your nerves are weak and underfed. Why drug them into insensibility when it is nourishment they need? Drugs cannot supply that nourishment, they can only deaden the pain for a time at the cost of bad after-effects—heart-depression, faintness; and if persisted in a drug habit may be set up.

In Dr. Cassell's Tablets you have true nerve nutrients. The active principles in them are precisely what a specialist would prescribe in cases of Neuralgia Neuritis, Neurasthenia, and other forms of nerve weakness. They nourish every nerve-centre in the body and give to the entire system, that strength and vitality which make nerve troubles impossible. Read what a Scientist says about Dr. Cassell's Tablets.

Dr. Chas. W. Botwood, D.Sc., Ph.D., etc., of York, England, says:—"As a safe and reliable remedy for loss of flesh and vigour, nerve affections and bodily weakness, Dr. Cassell's Tablets appear to be unique. I have no hesitation in recommending them."

HUN COMMENT ON HOLLWEG'S SPEECH

PITY HE DIDN'T PUBLISH THE "FACTS" BEFORE SAY NEWSPAPERS.

Berlin, Nov. 10, via London.—The morning newspapers treat the speech of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg in the Reichstag yesterday as a document of the utmost importance in throwing light upon the responsibility for the war, the character of peace and the subsequent political status of the world and of Belgium in particular. What the Imperial Chancellor said concerning the Russian Imperial Order announcing mobilization as equivalent to war against Germany and the Chancellor's own communications to Austro-Hungary, are considered convincing proofs of the justice of Germany's course in the critical week preceding the breach, but the newspapers generally express regret that these matters were not published earlier.

What Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg has said about Germany's willingness to enter a world union for compelling peace is endorsed generally, except by some conservative newspapers. The Kreuz Zeitung, however, endorses it. The Vorwaerts points out that in favoring the settlement of difficulties by arbitration, the Chancellor takes up an old Socialist plank, and hopes also that the Chancellor's speech will tend to disperse the clouds of distrust in enemy countries. The Vorwaerts adds:—"In the Chancellor's speech we hear the rustle of the wings of the future which will bring these horrors to an end."

The Imperial Chancellor's remark that he never demanded the annexation of Belgium is generally treated as equivalent to a definite declaration of annexation. The Kreuz Zeitung says it understands his words in this sense and regrets them along with the other Conservative organs like Die Post, Tages Zeitung and the Taglische Rundschau. These papers also regret that the Chancellor did not define more clearly his position regarding Belgium.

The papers generally say that Viscount Grey, the British Foreign Minister, has been answered effectively, the Lokal Anzeiger says "splendidly refuted." The speech is regarded by the papers as the fullest and most convincing statement of the German case yet given.

WASHINGTON IS STILL IGNORANT

Washington, Nov. 9—Secretary of State Lansing tonight authorized the statement that while Vice-Consul Westacott at London had transmitted a Lloyds despatch saying the British liner Arabia had been torpedoed without warning no details of the case had been received in official despatches. Mr. Lansing would not comment on the situation created by the recent activity of German submarines although other officials admitted that the cases of three or four ships sunk during the last week presented serious aspects. So far as can be learned, no reply has been received to the request that Germany furnish information concerning the sinking of the British steamer Marina, on which six American horse tenders lost their lives.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR, THICK, WAVY, FREE FROM DANDRUFF

DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR AND DOUBLE ITS BEAUTY AT ONCE.

Save Your Hair! Dandruff Disappears and Hair Stops Coming Out.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—That's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after an application of Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few week's use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, charming, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

WON THE AUDIENCE.

Bernhardt's Clever Trick Turned Coldness to Enthusiasm.

Once when Sarah Bernhardt was acting in Italy the audience was rather unfriendly, owing to the fact that the prices of the seats had been considerably increased.

After the first act Mme. Bernhardt called her maid and gave her some directions in an undertone. The maid left the theatre, but speedily returned, and just before her mistress went on the stage again she handed her something as she stood in the wings.

The scene progressed. "The Divine Sarah" seemed hoarse. She tried to clear her throat, passed her handkerchief across her mouth, and suddenly a stream of blood poured from her lips, and she fell into the arms of the actor with whom she was playing.

The curtain was promptly rung down, and the audience waited breathlessly to hear the worst. All their previous vexation was turned to sympathy, and when it was announced that the great actress would shortly resume her part rather than dissapoint them the cheering was deafening. When madame came on again the people applauded her as loudly as formerly they had shown their disapproval, and the rest of the play was one long triumph.

But that audience never knew the truth, for when madame had sent her maid out of the theatre it was to get her a small bladder of red ink, which she kept in her handkerchief and which she bit through with her teeth so as to produce the alarming effect that had transformed her audience.

Hunger Stalks Through Belgium NOW!

While we in Canada are bringing in the harvests, filling our store-rooms and stocking our pantries with an abundance of good food—our Allies in overrun Belgium are facing another winter of near-starvation.

Women and children there by millions have gone for two years on short rations, for the Belgian Relief Fund has never been sufficient to provide full fare. Consequently they are in no condition to stand the still greater privations threatened on account of the growing number dependent on the Fund. Anything less than the present meagre allowance of bread and soup would, in thousands of cases, fail to hold bodies and souls together.

Shall we—can we—go on eating our three square meals a day—living well if not luxuriously—while Belgian children, pinched and cold, sobbingly beg their mothers for bread enough to stop the gnawing hunger?

$2.50 a month in the hands of the Belgian Relief Commission, will feed a Belgian family. A cigar less a day—a night missed from the theatre—simpler refreshments after an evening's cards—the price of any one of a dozen such habitual luxuries would provide the food that means life for a Belgian mother and her children till the end of the war.

Won't your own meals taste better when you know some little Belgians also are enjoying the food which you provide? Whatever you feel that you can spare, send your subscription weekly, monthly or in one lump sum. Send Cheques payable to Treasurer

BREAK A CHILD'S COLD BY GIVING SYRUP OF FIGS

CLEANSES THE LITTLE LIVER AND BOWELS AND THEY GET WELL QUICK.

When your child suffers from a cold don't wait; give the little stomach, liver and bowels, a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

If your child coughs, snuffles and has caught cold or is feverish or has a sore throat, give a good dose of "California Syrup of Figs," to evacuate the bowels no difference what other treatment is given.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

SAVANNAH CONSIDERS GREAT EXPOSITION

Discusses Celebration of One Hundredth Anniversary of First Atlantic Steamship.

Arrangements are being considered at Savannah looking to the celebration of the hundredth aniversary of the leaving of the steamship Savannah from that port to Liverpool in 1819. That was the first ship to cross the Atlantic ocean under steam and it started the greatest revolution in navigation that the world has ever known. The suggestion is to celebrate the event with a maritime exposition or some other appropriate display in which all the maritime powers of the world are to be invited to participate.

The first suggestion of such a celebration came from S. Guyt McLendon, former chairman of the railroad commission, in letters which he addressed to Mayor W. J. Pierpont, of Savannah, and Congressman Charles G. Edwards, of the First district. The proposition has been received with enthusiasm in Savannah and Mr. McLendon was in receipt of a letter from Mayor Pierpont inviting Mr. McLendon to appear before the Trade and Finance Committee of the Savannah City Council and outline his plan. Mr. Pierpont says in part:—

"It seems very proper to have a celebration of the inauguration of steam navigation between this country and Europe and Savannah is unquestionably the logical point for it. I would be pleased to assist in putting such a celebration on as large a scale as possible. It is my intention to place your suggestions before the Trade and Commerce Committee of the City Council for its consideration and I would be pleased to have you appear before that body and outline your plans."

Mr. McLendon will accept the invitation and appear before the committee at some early date that will be convenient, to outline plans for the celebration, which he has worked out in considerable detail. He regards the occasion as the greater opportunity in the history for Savannagh to show the world her advantages as a port, and feels that it is not only to the interest of Savannah but of Georgia and the entire Southeast to make the celebration a big success.

LOOKING FOR SHIRKERS.

The dragnet of military authorities to catch men attempting to evade military service was a few days ago extended to Marylebone Station, one of the great London terminals. As the passengers poured out from incoming trains military and civil police sorted the crowds, and passing men obviously over military age marched the suspects into a corral. When batches of thirty were collected in the coral they were marched through the streets guarded by constables to the police station. Top-hatted city men they were for the most part and many were able to satisfy the authorities at once as to their right to be at large. These were allowed to go to their offices. Others who were not carrying their papers wer allowed to telephone their offices and homes, and during the morning relief parties with the necessary papers arrived at the police station. At noon there were still about fifty men detained, some in the policemen's canteen, others in the waiting-rooms, and one by one these were released as they satisfied the authorities by their names and addresses. Others were taken and the local police communicated with. If the particulars were found correct these were also released pending inquiries.

The morning trains to Marlebone bring many city men to work and many protests were raised against the delays caused. Several newspapers published articles declaring against these methods, which the Star and Daily News liken to German barbarism.

Closing Letters - By the Can. Press

(Canadian Press)

New York, Nov. 10—With the dwindling of the political situation in the realm of popular discussion Wall street today gave free rein to its speculative optimism, the session being one of the most noteworthy in the history of the exchange.

Dealings aggregated 2,100,000 shares, a total only once exceeded this year. Fully half of the transactions consisted of United States Steel, Central Leather, the metals and related industrials and equipments. Rails were again neglected, when not actually heavy, and motors were mostly weak with subsidiary issues.

The turnover embraced the largest number of stocks offered in many weeks and was attended by about a score of new high records. Foremost among those were Central Leather, which later forfeited its advance and considerably more; the shipping issues, some of which also developed reactionary tendencies; and papers, coppers, Lackawanna, Gulf States and Nova Scotia steels, the last named making its initial appearance on the board, Laclede Gas of St. Louis and Acme Tea.

Gross gains in these diversified groups ranged from 3 to 22 points, but the net result was less advantageous Selling was extensive on the advance, but made no marked impression until the last hour, when realizing for profits seemed to exceed the purchasing power, important shares receded 1 to 3 points and greater impairment of the more volatile issues was witnessed.

Among the more favorable developments of the day and one that gave the market its greatest impetus was the sale of refined copper at the record price of 32 1-4 cents per pound. Foreign interests were again in the market for this commodity and according to reports a premium of half a cent was offered for early deliveries. United States Steel was firm, even before the publication of the October tonnage report, which established a new record for unfilled orders.

The bond market was moderately active and higher in the main, but trading in that quarter was overshadowed by the inquiry for stocks. Total sales, par value, aggregated $4,970,000.

(By L. G. Beaubien & Co)

New York, Nov. 10—The stock market paid very little attention to the political news. It continues a war market with the bulls in control Coppers were the principal feature and made new high record in several of these stocks. Central Leather was up 4 points to a new high. In the afternoon there was a great deal of profit taking all through the list. Market closed steady.

CANADA'S BIGGEST ROLE.

"Canada's biggest role in the play of nations is in the future," Baron Shaughnessy told New York reporters before he sailed for England.

Closing Letters By Local Brokers

(By Bruneau & Dupuis.)

New York, Nov. 10—Trading today has been exceedingly active and appears to be uninfluenced by the election as far as the general tone of the market is concerned. There has been however, some strong cross currents, such as the decided strength in the coppers, caused by the new high price for the metal and the report that a large order from France is about to be closed. On the other hand, the motor stocks have shown distinct heaviness. The steel tonnage figures show a substantial increase despite the fact that the mills have been operating at capacity all month and this is of course very encouraging feature. The railroads have commenced proceedings to test the eight hour law Probably this will have to go to the supreme court for final decision. The German amabssador has issued a statement on the submarine situation but it brings little light on the subject.

The general action of the market seems to indicate that at least for the present the potent factor is the marvelous prevailing prosperity and until this shows some signs of waning, politics and the European war will take a second place.

There seems little doubt of the reelection of Mr. Wilson but as we have had this administration for four years, there is no new or untried experiment ahead, which accounts for the philosophy of the market.

Total Sales, stocks 2,028,750.

(By McDougall & Cowans)

Montreal, Nov. 10—Nova Scotia had spectacular advance. At the close of the morning session, it was offered at 144; at the opening of the afternoon session, the first sale was at 151, an advance of 7 points. It reacted to 148 at the close. This advance was caused by the listing of the stock on the New York Exchange and an advance taking place there during noon hour. Dominion Iron was very active. It lost a point on the day's trading, opening 76 and closing 75 In the paper group, Laurentide was firm at 216 1-2, Riordon Paper made a new high at 140 1-4, closing strong and Wayagamack which sold during the day trading at 94 advanced to 102, Cement was better at 71 and Civic strong at 83. In the unlisted department, North American Pulp sold up to 14 3-4 and Brompton was traded in between 68 and 69 1-2. There is still a good demand for the active securities with recent advances well held.

SPLENDID LECTURE LAST EVENING

DR. J. A. BANCROFT SPEAKS ON "REPTILES OF THE PAST."

An unusually large audience greeted Professor Bancroft last night in Morrin College Hall at the first of the Douglas Lectures of the season.

Dr. Bancroft was introduced by the President of the Society, Dr. J. M. Harper, in a short speech.

The title of the lecture as announced was "Reptiles of the Past." The first picture thrown on the screen was that of the various geological periods from the Laurentians up to the present time. Dr. Bancroft gave an admirable resume of the geneological history, first as to the organic change of the continent in their respected proportion of land and water; then a rapid survey, but a most interesting one, of the development of organic forms from the reptilian period in the mesozon period, or the middle age of geneological time. Then followed a series of the restorations of the various forms of the reptilian life of that period,—the Denosaurs and their allies. The evolution of the reptilian into bear-like forms was also clearly illustrated by specimens of intermediate forms found on the rocks.

The lecture was listened to through out with the deepest interest.

A vote of thanks to the lecturer was proposed by Mr. J. C. Sutherland, seconded by the Hon. Judge McCorkill, and carried by acclamation.

The following is a short resume of Dr. Harpers remarks:

The Literary and Historical Society is in at the making of local history for itself tonight. Prof. Bancroft has come from Montreal to inaugurate what is going to be known, for many a year to come, I hope, the Douglas Course of Lectures; and in another three week's time Prof. Cunliffe, of Columbia University, New York, is expected to follow. Arrangements are in progress to have others high up in the ranks of scholarship to bring to the notice of Quebecers, if they will, their investigations in the realms of historical and scientific research. And this has been rendered possible through the beneficence of Dr. James Douglas, a native of Quebec, who, after attaining to several high positions in the scientific world, has given of his wealth to enable the Literary and Historical Society, conjointly with the Governors of Morrin College, to institute a lecture course of this kind. The intellectual uplift of the community is what is aimed at; and it is for Quebecers to say, by their attendance, whether they favor the purpose of the course or not. The audience of tonight cannot but welcome Dr. Bancroft to Old Quebec. He proposes to take us back to the periods of time preceding the advent of man on the world.

LECTURE ON PRESENT DAY ISSUE BY PASTOR W. C. YOUNG.

His many friends will be glad to know that he is to speak at the Grand Allee Garden Hall this afternoon at 3 o'clock and also Sunday night at 7.30. All are invited to hear him.

TOBACCO STORE GUTTED BY FIRE

BLAZE EARLY LAST EVENING DID CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE ON JOSEJH STREET.

Fire which broke out at 6.20 o'clock last evening did considerable damage in the store conducted by Mr. George Jobin, tobacconist, on St. Joseph street between St. Anselme street and Boulevard Langelier. The interior of the shop floor was badly gutted while the flat above occupied by Mr. Belleville also suffered by fire and water. The building is owned by Mr. Langlois.

The damage to the stock, etc., owned by Mr. Jobin is estimated at $800 which is said to be covered by insurance. Mr. Belleville's premises suffered damage to the extent of about $200. He also carries fire insurance. The firemen responded when an alarm was rung in from box 87.

THE DOOR TO HEALTH

Is Through the Rich, Red Blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Actually Make.

The blood is responsible for the health of the body. If it is good, disease cannot exist. If it is bad, the door is shut against good health disease is bound to appear in one form or another. One person may be seized with rheumatism or sciatica, another with anaemia, indigestion, heart palpitation, headaches or backaches, unstrung nerves or any of the many other forms of ailment that cames when the blood is weak and watery. There is just one certain, speedy cure—Dr. Williams Pink Pills. They make new, rich, blood, and this good blood strengthens the whole system and brings good health and happiness. Thousands owe their present good health, some, life itself, to the pills. Miss Devira Laliberti, St. Jerome, Que., says:—"Last year I seemed gradually to grow weak and run down. I did not sleep well, had a poor appetite, and grew pale and generally languid. I consulted a doctor who told me I was anaemic, and gave me a tonic. This I took faithfully for some time, but it did not help me, and I appeared to be growing worse, and finally I was hardly able to go about the house and almost wholly incapacitated for work While in this condition a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills, and I got several boxes. It was not long after I began their use when I could see an improvement, which just manifested itself in an improved appetite and better rest at night. From this on the improvement was rapid and I was not long in regaining perfect health. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a blessing for all weak girls."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CLOTHES AND THE MAN.

How to be Well Dressed and Not Look Like a Cloudy Winter Day.

In the American Magazine is an account of one of the most successful insurance solicitors in the country, who attributes a large part of his success to the fact that he always looks well dressed and prosperous.

"If you have only one suit of clothes, keep that one suit clean and pressed all the time," he says. "Press your trousers yourself every day if necessary. I have pressed my trousers lots of times. Keep your shoes shined.

"If you can afford several suits, change off from one suit to another frequently and keep all of them spotless and well pressed. I never wear a suit longer than the second day at a time. To change every day is better. It gives the clothes a chance to 'rest.' I always hang my clothes on hangers the minute I take them off. It gives them a chance to 'come back' into shape and the nap to come up again.

"It is a great economy to have lots of good clothes. A suit will last twice and three times as long and always look well if you keep changing off from one to another. Besides, people get tired of seeing a man in the same suit day after day for a whole season.

"When I started in the insurance business years ago I realized that to make a good appearance was to look prosperous, and I paid much attention to my dress. I avoided solid colors and always selected clothes with some life in them. A dash of color about your person, whether it be in the plaid of the suit, the shirt, tie, hat or handkerchief protruding from the coat pocket, will take away the monotony of one's appearance and is sure to please. But, in adding this 'life' and 'pep' to one's appearance, avoid above all things, the colors that clash. Get clothes with 'snap' and 'life;' avoid those which make the wearer look like a cloudy winter day."

HIS MISTAKE.

A long standing creditor resolutely climbed the steps, rang the bell and asked if Mr. Spender was at home.

"Yes, sir. Walk right in, sir," said the footman cordially. "Mr. Spender is at home, sir."

"Thank goodness," said the creditor. "I'm going to see my money at last."

"Oh, don't make that mistake, sir," said the footman. "If Mr. Spender had any money he wouldn't be at home."
